The HIV/AIDS Section, in collaboration with the Bureau of Public Health Pharmacy is pleased to announce:

1. Two updates to the Test and Treat (T&T) formulary, and
2. The approved use of manufacturers' pharmaceutical samples for T&T in County Health Departments (CHDs) as a cost savings measure.

Test and Treat Formulary Updates

A. Symtuza® (a co-formulated tablet of Prezcobix® and Descovy®) is now available for the Test and Treat Issuance Program. Practitioners in the CHD are asked to use existing Prezcobix®/Descovy® stock before using Issuance Program Symtuza®.

B. New a regimen for women living with HIV intending to conceive:

- Raltegravir 400 mg (Isentress®) twice daily with or without food
  WITH
- Tenofovir disoproxil fumarate 300 mg/emtricitabine 200 mg (Truvada®) one tablet daily with or without food

Manufacturers' Pharmaceutical Samples

In fiscal year 2018-2019, the Department spent approximately $6,080,429 on T&T medications. As a potential cost-savings measure for the Department, we ask that CHD practitioners consider the use of manufacturer samples and vouchers for T & T clients, as appropriate, and in accordance with the Bureau of Public Health Pharmacy's Policy DOHP 395-1, which states CHD practitioners are allowed to obtain manufacturer samples.

There are two types of samples available with the current T & T formulary:

Symtuza® vouchers which are submitted along with a prescription to most retail pharmacies for the client to receive a bottle of Symtuza® at no cost (one per lifetime); or Biktarvy® sample packages which are requested and maintained per the DOH Policy 395-1.

Please see the attached manufacturer pharmaceutical representative rosters to contact your representative. (Symtuza® is available through Janssen and Biktarvy® is available through Gilead).

Please feel free to direct any questions or concerns to Dr. Jeff Beal, HIV Section medical director at Jeff.Beal@flhealth.gov or Jeannette Iriye, HIV Section registered nurse consultant at Jeannette.Iriye@flhealth.gov.

Together, we can end the HIV epidemic in Florida.

Talk to CDC SME yesterday, she reassured me that they are moving a similar direction, might end up being slightly shorter time period, and guidance should be released soon. Please let me know why I can message this approach to our CHDs in the interim. We will work on a FL version of this helpful document to explain the process.

TN Department of Health

RELEASING CASES AND CONTACTS FROM ISOLATION AND QUARANTINE

Created March 12, 2020

CASES

Must be isolated for a minimum of 14 days after onset and can be released after afebrile and feeling well (without fever-reducing medication) for at least 72 hours.

Note: Lingering cough should not prevent a case from being released from isolation.

Examples:

- A case that is well on day 3 and afebrile and feeling well for 72 hours must remain isolated until day 14.
- A case that is well on day 11 and afebrile and feeling well for 72 hours can be released on day 14.
- A case that is still symptomatic on day 14, and symptoms last until day 17, cannot be released until day 20.

HOUSEHOLD CONTACTS

Must be quarantined for 14 days after the case has been afebrile and feeling well (because exposure is considered ongoing within the house).

If a household contact develops symptoms, they should be tested.

This means that household contacts may need to remain at home longer than the initial case.

Examples:

- A case is well 3 days after onset. The household contact must remain quarantined until day 17.
- A case is well 7 days after onset. The household contact can be released on day 21.
- A case is well 14 days after onset. The household contact can be released on day 28.

NON-HOUSEHOLD CONTACTS

Must be quarantined for 14 days from the date of last contact with the case.

Hi Carina,

Thanks for looping CDC in on the evolving assisted living potential cluster. Sounds like the SG is going to set up the call for tomorrow, but if you could forward my way just in case he didn't catch my email that would be great. I will make sure the other folks from CDC who need to be on the call join as well.

Thanks for all your work!

The American Veterinary Medical Association (AVMA) has updated their COVID-19 webpage https://www.avma.org/resources-tools/animal-health-and-welfare/covid-19. They are "…working with federal agencies, including the CDC and FDA; gathering expertise from veterinarians and others working in public health and disaster response; collaborating with state veterinary medical and species-specific organizations, the AAVMC, veterinary schools, and the AAVSB; and other colleagues across the healthcare system…"

I've attached the two FAQ documents posted on the AVMA website (current as of 3-15-20). The guidelines for veterinarians and clinics may be useful for animal shelters as well.

COVID-19: FAQs FOR PET OWNERS

Updated as of 4:30 PM March 15, 2020

Below are answers to some questions we have received about Coronavirus Disease 2019 (COVID-19), which is caused by SARS-CoV-2. The AVMA has additional information and resources available on at avma.org/coronavirus. This is a rapidly evolving situation and information will be updated as it becomes available.

Q: Hong Kong's Agriculture, Fisheries, and Conservation Department (AFCD) has indicated that a pet dog whose owner had contracted COVID-19 had been tested for SARS-CoV-2 and that multiple tests over several days' time had come back "weak positive." Do you have more information and should we be worried for our pets or for ourselves?

A: The ACFD first collected samples from the pet dog, reportedly a 17-year-old Pomeranian, on February 26 and detected low levels of SARS-CoV-2 material in samples from its nasal and oral cavities on February 27, using a real time reverse transcriptase polymerase chain reaction (PT PCR) test. The RT PCR test is sensitive, specific, and does not cross-react with other coronaviruses of dogs and cats. The ACFD repeated the test on February 28, March 2, and March 5 with continued "weak positive" results (nasal and oral sample, nasal sample, nasal sample, respectively). "Weak positive" suggests a small quantity of SARS-CoV-2 RNA in the samples. It doesn't distinguish whether the samples contain intact viruses, which are infectious, or only fragments of the RNA. To better understand what this finding means, additional testing has been, and continues to be, conducted.

Part of that testing is serology to see if the dog is mounting an immune response to the virus. An acute phase sample was negative, indicating there are currently not measurable amounts of antibodies to the virus in the dog's blood. This does not mean the dog is not infected with the virus, because it is not uncommon to have a negative result in earlier stages of infection. It can take 14 days or more for measurable levels of antibodies to be detected. Hong Kong officials advised that a second "convalescent" phase sample will be obtained later for further testing. In addition, gene sequencing of the SARS-CoV-2 virus from the dog and its close human contacts has been done and the viral sequences are very similar.

Experts from the School of Public Health of the University of Hong Kong and the College of Veterinary Medicine and Life Sciences of the City University of Hong Kong believe the consistency and persistence of the results suggest the virus may have spread from the infected people to the dog in this particular case. Follow-up serology is pending.

Testing has been conducted by the laboratories of the AFCD and the School of Public Health of the University of Hong Kong. The latter is an accredited reference laboratory for the WHO for the testing of SARS-CoV-2.

This pet dog is one of two pet dogs under quarantine in separate rooms in a facility at the Hong Kong Port of Hong Kong-Zhuhai-Macao Bridge; the second pet dog has had negative results of tests for the virus. The pet dogs are being cared for and neither has shown any signs of being ill with COVID-19.

In other testing, IDEXX announced on March 13 that it had evaluated thousands of canine and feline specimens during validation of its new veterinary test system for the COVID-19 virus and had obtained no positive results. The specimens used for test development and validation were obtained from specimens submitted to IDEXX Reference Laboratories for PCR testing.

Considering this information in total, infectious disease experts and multiple international and domestic human and animal health organizations agree there is no evidence at this point to indicate that pets become ill with COVID-19 or that they can spread COVID-19 to other animals, including people.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Q: Can SARS-CoV-2 infect pets and can it be spread by pets to other animals, including people?

A: We do not have a clear answer as to whether SARS-CoV-2 can infect pets at this time. That said, currently, there is no evidence that pets become sick. Infectious disease experts, as well as the CDC, OIE, and WHO indicate there is also no evidence to suggest that pet dogs or cats can be a source of infection with SARS-CoV-2, including spreading COVID-19 to people. More investigation is underway and, as we learn more, we will update you.

However, because animals can spread other diseases to people and people can also spread diseases to animals, it's a good idea to always wash your hands before and after interacting with animals.

Q: Can pets serve as fomites in the spread of COVID-19?

A: COVID-19 appears to be primarily transmitted by contact with an infected person's bodily secretions, such as saliva or mucus droplets in a cough or sneeze.

COVID-19 might be able to be transmitted by touching a contaminated surface or object (i.e., a fomite) and then touching the mouth, nose, or possibly eyes, but this appears to be a secondary route. Smooth (non-porous) surfaces (e.g., countertops, door knobs) transmit viruses better than porous materials (e.g., paper money, pet fur), because porous, and especially fibrous, materials absorb and trap the pathogen (virus), making it harder to contract through simple touch.

Because your pet's hair is porous and also fibrous, it is very unlikely that you would contract COVID-19 by petting or playing with your pet. However, because animals can spread other diseases to people and people can also spread diseases to animals, it's always a good idea to wash your hands before and after interacting with animals; ensure your pet is kept well-groomed; and regularly clean your pet's food and water bowls, bedding material, and toys.

Q: If I am ill with COVID-19 are there special precautions I should take to prevent spreading disease, including when caring for my pet?

A: If you are sick with COVID-19 you need to be careful to avoid transmitting it to other people. Applying some common-sense measures can help prevent that from happening. Stay at home except to get medical care and call ahead before visiting your doctor. Minimize your contact with other people, including separating yourself from other members of your household who are not ill; using a different bathroom, if available; and wearing a facemask when you are around other people or pets and before you enter a healthcare provider's office. Wash your hands often, especially before touching your face, and use hand sanitizer. Use a tissue if you need to cough or sneeze and dispose of that tissue in the trash. When coughing or sneezing, do so into your elbow or sleeve rather than directly at another person.

Out of an abundance of caution, the AVMA recommends you take the same common-sense approach when interacting with your pets or other animals in your home, including service animals. You should tell your physician and public health official that you have a pet or other animal in your home. Although there have not been reports of pets becoming sick with COVID-19, it is still recommended that people sick with COVID-19 limit contact with animals until more information is known about the virus. So, if you are ill with COVID-19, have another member of your household take care of walking, feeding, and playing with your pet. If you have a service animal or you must care for your pet, then wear a facemask; don't share food, kiss, or hug them; and wash your hands before and after any contact with your pet or service animal. You should not share dishes, drinking glasses, cups, eating utensils, towels, or bedding with other people or pets in your home. While we are recommending these as good practices, it is important to remember there is currently no evidence that pets can spread COVID-19 to other animals, including people.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Q: What should I do to prepare for my pet's care in the event I do become ill?

A: Identify another person in your household who is willing and able to care for your pet in your home should you contract COVID-19. Make sure you have an emergency kit prepared, with at least two weeks' worth of your pet's food and any needed medications. Usually we think about emergency kits like this in terms of what might be needed for an evacuation, but it's also good to have one prepared in the case of quarantine or self-isolation when you cannot leave your home.

Q: My pet or service animal is not ill but has a scheduled appointment at the veterinarian and I am not ill with COVID-19 – what should I do?

A: If you are not ill with COVID-19 or another communicable disease (e.g., cold, flu),and your pet is not ill, call your veterinarian to discuss the need for an appointment. Given current efforts to reduce the potential for human exposure to COVID-19, including recommendations for social distancing, your veterinarian may recommend postponing elective visits or procedures (e.g., wellness visits, vaccination visits, routine dentals). If you would prefer to remain in your home and you have an established relationship with the veterinarian (i.e., they have seen your pet/service animal in the recent past), telemedicine might be an excellent way to conduct your visit, depending on what services are required.

Your veterinarian can help you determine what kind of appointment might work best for you and your pet/service animal in your particular situation.

Q: My pet or service animal needs to go to the veterinarian and I am ill with COVID-19 – what should I do?

A: If you are sick with COVID-19 or another communicable disease, you should stay at home, minimizing contact with other people, until you are well. Accordingly, if this is a non-urgent appointment that needs to be scheduled for your pet or service animal (e.g., annual wellness examination, routine vaccination, elective surgery), you should wait to schedule that appointment until your physician and/or your public health official believe you no longer present a risk of transmitting your infection to other people you may encounter during such a visit, including owners of pets or other animals and veterinary clinic staff.

If you are sick with COVID-19, and you believe your pet or service animal is ill, you should seek assistance from your veterinarian to determine how to best ensure your pet or service animal can be appropriately cared for while minimizing risks of transmitting COVID-19 to other people.

Don't forget – if you have an established relationship with your veterinarian (i.e., they have seen your pet/service animal in the recent past), telemedicine can be an excellent way to connect you, your pet/service animal, and your veterinarian. It can be used to help determine the urgency with which an animal needs to be seen and can also be used to conduct rechecks of certain types of ongoing medical problems.

Be sure to contact your veterinarian before heading to the veterinary hospital to see what they recommend for your particular situation.

Q: What should I do if my pet or service animal becomes ill after being around someone who has been sick with COVID-19?

A: Contact your veterinarian before you bring your pet or service animal to the clinic. You should tell them why you are concerned about your animal being ill (e.g., what clinical signs of illness you are seeing) and also that the animal has been exposed to someone who has been sick with COVID-19. Advance notice will help your veterinarian determine whether your animal needs to be seen immediately and, if so, will support the veterinary clinic/hospital in preparing for the proper admittance of that animal, including the preparation of an isolation area as needed. Do not take the animal to a veterinary clinic until you have consulted with your veterinarian. And, of course, a telemedicine consult should be considered as an option as well.

Remember, currently we have no evidence that pets become ill with COVID-19 or that they can spread the disease. If you pet is ill there is most likely a different cause for that illness.

Q: What precautions should be taken for animals that have recently been imported from high-risk areas?

A: Any animals imported into the United States will need to meet CDC and USDA requirements for entering the United States. At this time there is no evidence that pets can spread COVID-19. As with any animal introduced into a new environment, recently imported animals should be observed daily for signs of illness. If an animal becomes ill, the animal should be examined by a veterinarian. Call your veterinarian before bringing the animal into the clinic and let them know that the animal was imported from an area identified as high-risk for COVID-19.

Q: Is testing for SARS-CoV-2 available for animals in the United States?

A: IDEXX announced the availability of a test on March 13, but neither the CDC, AVMA, nor IDEXX is recommending pets be tested at this time. In announcing the availability of their test, IDEXX indicated that thousands of canine and feline specimens had been evaluated during their validation of the test and none had come up as being positive. These results align with the current expert understanding that COVID-19 is primarily transmitted person-to-person and supports current recommendations against testing pets for the COVID-19 virus. Dogs or cats with respiratory signs should be evaluated by a veterinarian for more common respiratory pathogens, before looking to evaluate them for COVID-19.

It's important to remember there is currently limited evidence that pets can be infected with SARS-CoV-2. There is no evidence to suggest that pets can spread COVID-19 to other people or other pets.

COVID-19: FAQs FOR VETERINARIANS AND VETERINARY CLINICS

Q: How do I best protect myself and my veterinary team from infection with COVID-19?

A: Stay informed about the local COVID-19 situation. Know where to turn for reliable, up-to-date information in your local community. Monitor the CDC's COVID-19 website and your state and local health department websites.

Coordination with state and local health officials is strongly encouraged for all businesses so that timely and accurate information can guide appropriate responses in each location where their operations reside. Since the intensity of an outbreak may differ according to geographic location, local health officials will be issuing guidance specific to their communities.

Because there is currently no vaccine available to prevent COVID-19, the best way to prevent illness is to avoid exposure to the virus. Taking typical preventive action is key: team members should avoid close contact (defined as being within approximately 6 feet [2 meters] of an individual ill with COVID-19 for a prolonged period of time) with other people who are ill; avoid touching their eyes, nose, and mouth; cover their coughs or sneezes with a tissue, then throw the tissue in the trash; wash their hands often with soap and water for at least 20 seconds, especially after blowing their nose, coughing, or sneezing, going to the bathroom, and before eating (if soap and water are not readily available, use an alcohol-based hand sanitizer with at least 60% alcohol); and stay at home when they are sick.

Surfaces in the veterinary clinic/hospital that are touched frequently, such as workstations, keyboards, doorknobs, countertops, and stethoscopes, should be cleaned often and wiped down by employees with disposable wipes between cleanings. Provide no-touch disposal receptacles. Place hand sanitizers in multiple locations, including in exam rooms, offices, and conference rooms to encourage hand hygiene.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Veterinary healthcare team members who have symptoms of acute respiratory illness should stay at home and should not return to work until they are free of fever (fever is defined as 100.4 F or higher, using an oral thermometer), signs of a fever, and any other symptoms for at least 24 hours without the use of fever-reducing or other symptom-altering medicine (e.g., cough suppressants). Communicate about COVID-19 with your team. Flexible sick leave policies are important and team members should be made aware of these policies. Team members who appear to have symptoms of acute respiratory illness upon arrival at work or who become sick during the day should be separated from other team members and sent home immediately.

If a team member is confirmed to have COVID-19, the veterinary practice owner should inform other team members of their possible exposure to COVID-19, but maintain confidentiality as required by law. Team members who are exposed to another employee with confirmed COVID-19 should contact their physician or local health department to determine how best to proceed.

Telemedicine can be an excellent option to support good patient care while also helping to prevent person-to-person (including client to veterinary staff and vice versa) and minimize community spread of COVID-19. You'll need to have appropriately established a veterinarian-client-patient relationship with an in-person examination (or visits to the facility for groups of animals) and a telemedicine visit will need to be appropriate for the medical concern to be addressed.

Q: The animal of a client who is ill with COVID-19 needs to be seen urgently, how do I proceed?

A: In the case that a client is ill and their animal needs to be seen urgently, ensuring that a healthy individual is taking the animal to the hospital is a priority, as an ill owner poses a risk of transmitting COVID-19 to veterinary hospital staff and other clients. If the owner is unable to find another person to bring the animal to the hospital, the use of telemedicine should be considered.

Consider meeting clients with ill animals at their cars, rather than having them bring those animals into your waiting room. When meeting clients, as a precaution, veterinary team members should wear appropriate PPE. This should reduce risk for both veterinary team members and clients, as human-to-human contact is still believed to be the primary mode of transmission.

Current information indicates that contact with human COVID-19 cases, not animals, poses the greatest risk of transmission. If the animal appears ill, existing hospital biosecurity and personal protective equipment (PPE) protocols should be adhered to, as would be the case with any other animal that presents with illness.

Mobile and house call veterinarians can consider examining animals in their vehicle, outside, seeking the assistance of a local clinic, or using telemedicine (assuming a veterinarian-client-patient relationship has already been established). If a mobile or house call veterinarian must examine an animal in a home where someone is ill with COVID-19 and no other options are available, they should consult with local public health officials for guidance. Appropriate PPE should be considered in all cases, and mobile and house call veterinarians should ensure they have access to handwashing and disinfection materials.

COVID-19 aside, it is always a good idea to take steps to prevent the spread of disease by following the guidance provided in the National Association of State Public Health Veterinarians' Compendium of Veterinary Standard Precautions for Zoonotic Disease Prevention in Veterinary Personnel.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Q: Is there a test I can use to check my patients for SARS-COV-2?

A: IDEXX announced the availability of a test on March 13, but neither the CDC, AVMA, nor IDEXX is recommending that pets be tested at this time. In announcing the availability of their test, IDEXX indicated that thousands of canine and feline specimens had been evaluated during their validation of the test and none had come up as being positive. It's important to remember that there is currently limited evidence that pets, can be infected with SARS-CoV-2. There is no evidence to suggest that pets can spread COVID-19 to other people or other pets.

Q: We're starting to see challenges in obtaining masks and gowns for use in our practice. What should we do?

A: Given expanding needs for personal protective equipment (PPE), all healthcare professionals are being encouraged to conserve. The FDA has shared some surgical mask and gown conservation strategies. While FDA's recommendations are primarily directed toward human healthcare providers, some of these strategies might be considered in veterinary practice (e.g., extended use of masks; reusable, rather than disposable, gowns). Suggestions specific to veterinary practice are also available from the Centre for Public Health and Zoonoses (see March 5 entry in their Worms & Germs Blog).

With our two new staff members joining the Central Purchasing Office team, the MFMP Buyer Code Assignments have been updated.

With the exception of Buyer Code 007, all CHDs/programs now have an assigned buyer. Those assigned 007 will continue to be worked by all Central Purchasing Office staff until this last vacancy is filled. We will send a final updated spreadsheet accordingly.

Please join us in welcoming Amber Wyartt (Buyer Code 005) and Niki Overstreet (Buyer Code 008) to the team!

Subject: BULLETIN: Updates to Assigned Buyer Codes (MFMP)

Due to reorganization of workload within the Central Purchasing Office, we have updated the assigned Buyer Code Assignments (available in SharePoint). Effective immediately, please use the buyer code assigned to your CHD/ program when submitting purchasing requisitions. This does not affect PR's already in the approval flow process.

The list has been provided as an excel document and has three separate tabs. We kept the old format (tab 1) for familiarity reasons, however a new format has been generated (tab 2) to make the document easier to search/filter. The third tab merely identifies the Central Purchasing Office staff members assigned to each buyer code.

CHDs/programs assigned a "Vacant" buyer code will be worked by all Central Purchasing Office Staff until the positions are filled. When those positions are filled, we will update the spreadsheet accordingly.

Please make sure you review the new assignments prior to submitting new requisitions.

Thank you.

Dear Partners,

As described in an email sent from the CSTE COVID-19 Leadership Team (see attached), CDC is instituting a standard process for confirming publicly reported cases by jurisdiction.

What you need to do/know now:

- We will conduct case confirmation daily (for web posting Monday–Friday). As the response evolves, the frequency of these requests will likely decrease.
- At the bottom of this email, you will find a table with the current preliminary case counts we have for each jurisdiction as of 4 pm ET on Wednesday, March 11.
- By 9 am ET Thursday, March 12, please confirm case counts for your jurisdiction (your numbers as of 4 pm ET Wednesday, March 11) using the CDC Case Confirmation Portal (data are collected via Epi Info and stored on a secure CDC server):

https://go.usa.gov/xdftq

What you need to know about how your information will be presented:

- These data represent cases detected and tested in the United States through U.S. public health surveillance systems since January 21, 2020. They do not include people who returned to the United States via State Department-chartered flights. We ask that the preliminary information shared in this email not be distributed.
- What will be shared on the CDC website (updated daily at 12 pm, ET):
  - The total case count [presumptive + lab-confirmed], i.e., the actual number of total cases (e.g., 0, 6, 35) will be posted. EXCEPTION: Jurisdictions with one to five cases will be depicted as a range: "1–5 cases"
  - Other information shared will be used for internal awareness and will not be shared publicly at this time.

What you need to do/know later:

- DCIPHER users can update and analyze their own jurisdiction's data at: https://dcipher.cdc.gov/. If your jurisdiction does not currently have DCIPHER users, but you would like to move to Phase 2 reporting as described in the attached guidance, please email eocevent118@cdc.gov to confirm your readiness.

Sincerely,

CDC COVID-19 Epidemiology Task Force

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Updated Sunday, March 8 (major updates are highlighted in yellow)

Dear state and territorial partners:

Thank you for your continued partnership in the ongoing emergency response to COVID-19. The information included below aligns with what was shared by CDC during the 5 pm ET CSTE call on Saturday, February 29th and a CSTE email sent Friday, March 6th regarding: 1) confirming a jurisdiction's 'Phase 2' status for reporting PUI and cases; 2) updates to the PUI and Case Report Form; 3) an update on the status of historical PUI data imports into DCIPHER; 4) clarifications to the CDC reporting process for PUI/Case Report Forms and lab findings; 5) management of the PHLIP laboratory reporting process; 6) grouping of the PUI/Case Report variables into 3 tiers; and 7) major avoidable issues we hope to overcome with your assistance.

Jurisdictional 'Phase 2' Status

As we have previously outlined, jurisdictions need to be able to do several tasks before they can move into 'Phase 2'. These include assessing ill persons and determining PUI status; assigning unique identifiers to PUI and cases at the reporting jurisdiction level; and reporting PUI and cases of COVID-19 using a brief, combined form.

As of March 6th, CDC made the reporting of PUI to CDC through DCIPHER optional for jurisdictions in Phase 2. Jurisdictions should continue to report presumptive positive and confirmed positive cases to CDC.

Given the need to maintain timely, actionable data at the national level, and process laboratory results at CDC for initial or confirmatory testing, all jurisdictions should now be, or actively working towards being, onboarded to 'Phase 2'. If your jurisdiction has not yet confirmed its 'Phase 2' status, including how you will be inputting data into DCIPHER (preferred method: direct entry), please email eocevent118@cdc.gov.

Updates to PUI and Case Report Form on CDC's Website

On the PUI and Case Report Form included in the CSTE email on Wednesday, February 26th, there were 2 'current status of person' options: "person under investigation" or "laboratory-confirmed case." Given increased laboratory capacity at the state and local level to test for the virus that causes COVID-19 and the need to send presumptive positive specimens to CDC for confirmatory testing, there will now be 5 status classifications.

1. PUI, testing pending*
2. PUI, tested negative*
3. Presumptive case (positive local test), confirmatory testing pending†
4. Presumptive case (positive local test), confirmatory testing negative†
5. Laboratory-confirmed case†

Testing conducted by local lab (public health, commercial or hospital lab) or CDC lab*
† At this time, all confirmatory testing occurs at CDC

We have also added critical laboratory testing result fields at the end of the PUI and Case Report Form to reflect COVID-19 laboratory test results from state or local laboratories and CDC. CDC will work towards populating our laboratory results into the CDC result field for each specimen sent to us so that results can be viewed in DCIPHER as they are resulted and communicated to individual jurisdictions.

These updates to the PUI and Case Report Form, as well as data dictionary and instructions, can be found in Attachments 2-4, and were made available on CDC's website as of March 1, 2020.

Historical PUI Data Imported into DCIPHER

As of February 28, data reported to CDC on PUI, presumptive cases, and laboratory-confirmed cases have been made available in DCIPHER.

- Jurisdictions in 'Phase 2' are now able to go into the DCIPHER platform to view and edit existing records of PUI, presumptive positive, and laboratory-confirmed cases, as their status changes or more data become available.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Jurisdictions in 'Phase 1' should continue to call the EOC Watch Desk at 770-488-7100 to update information on existing PUI, presumptive positive, or laboratory-confirmed cases of COVID-19.

CDC Reporting Process for PUI/Case Reports and Lab Findings – Revised March 6th

As of March 6, information for PUIs no longer needs to be entered into DCIPHER. However, jurisdictions may use NNDSS or DCIPHER to manage their PUIs.

For reporting jurisdictions that have the capacity to do their own testing:
For jurisdictions that are in 'Phase 2':

1. The jurisdiction should enter Presumptive Cases (persons with a positive test performed locally without CDC lab confirmation*) into DCIPHER with the jurisdiction-issued nCoV ID, unless other arrangements to transmit data have been made and approved by CDC.
2. If a specimen is tested locally and is NEGATIVE:
    a. If the person is already in DCIPHER, please update the person's disposition to 'PUI, tested negative' in DCIPHER.
3. If a specimen is tested locally, is POSITIVE, and is the jurisdiction's first case (presumptive or confirmed) or is part of a unique event (e.g., part of a large cluster of potential cases within a group at high risk):
    a. Call the EOC Watch Desk/PUI desk at 770-488-7100 and notify CDC of the positive result. The specimen will be identified as a 'presumptive positive'* until the result is confirmed at CDC per the Emergency Use Agreement.
    b. On the call with CDC, please provide: (1) jurisdiction-issued nCoV ID and (2) a brief summary of the person's information that aligns with information collected and submitted on the PUI and Case Report Form.
    c. Send the specimen to CDC for confirmatory testing, labeled with the nCoV ID.
    d. Please also update the person's disposition in DCIPHER to "Presumptive Case, confirmatory testing pending"
4. If a specimen is tested locally, is POSITIVE, and is from a jurisdiction with existing presumptive or confirmed cases and is not part of a unique event (e.g., part of a large cluster of potential cases within a group at high risk):
    a. Send the specimen to CDC for confirmatory testing, labeled with the nCoV ID.
    b. Update the person's disposition in DCIPHER to "Presumptive Case, confirmatory testing pending"

For jurisdictions that are in 'Phase 1':

1. The jurisdictions should call the EOC Watch Desk/PUI desk at 770-488-7100 to receive a CDC-issued nCoV ID, and to complete a PUI and Case Report Form.
2. If a specimen is tested locally and is NEGATIVE, no further action is needed unless the person has already been reported to CDC as a PUI; if so:
    a. Please email eocevent118@cdc.gov and provide the nCoV ID and test result.
3. If a specimen is tested locally and is POSITIVE:
    a. Call the EOC Watch Desk/PUI desk at 770-488-7100 and notify them of the positive result. The specimen will be identified as a 'presumptive positive'* until the result is confirmed at CDC per the Emergency Use Agreement.
    b. On the call with CDC, please provide: (1) jurisdiction-issued nCoV ID and (2) a brief summary of the person's information that aligns with information collected on the PUI and Case Report form.
    c. Send the specimen to CDC for confirmatory testing, labeled with the nCoV ID.

For reporting jurisdictions that do not have testing capacity and are sending specimens to CDC for testing:

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

For jurisdictions that are in 'Phase 2':

1. The jurisdiction should enter all PUIs into DCIPHER with the jurisdiction-issued nCoV IDs, unless other arrangements to transmit data have been made and approved by CDC.
2. Please ensure the jurisdiction-issued nCoV ID is entered in the alternative specimen ID field on the 50.34/DASH form sent in with the specimen to CDC for testing.
3. Testing results will be returned to the state lab per current protocol.

For jurisdictions that are in 'Phase 1':

1. The jurisdiction should call the EOC Watch Desk/PUI desk at 770-488-7100 to obtain a CDC-issued nCoV ID number, and complete a PUI and Case Report Form.
2. Please make sure the CDC-issued nCoV ID is entered in the alternative specimen ID field on the 50.34/DASH form sent in with the specimen to CDC for testing.
3. Testing results will be returned to the state lab per current protocol.

Specimens from Presumptive Cases must be tested at CDC to change their disposition to 'Confirmed Case'. However, local public health action is recommended for Presumptive Cases identified through local or state laboratory testing.*

Management of the PHLIP reporting process

CDC and APHL have been working with public health laboratories to add automated reporting of the novel coronavirus test results through their existing influenza reporting mechanism, which is most frequently PHLIP.

We ask that participating PHLIP labs begin including nCoV IDs within the lab test message reported through PHLIP. This will allow CDC to: (1) Match these records with persons reported into DCIPHER and (2) work with states to properly characterize the status of persons without existing records in DCIPHER. Information on how to include the nCoV ID in the message is available via APHL starting at the bottom of Page 4 (Attachment 5).

Grouping of the PUI/Case Report variables into 3 tiers

To support jurisdictions in providing timely case information, the variables included in the Persons Under Investigation (PUI) and Case Report Form have been grouped into 3 tiers. While all the information being collected is important to inform the response, Tier 1 variables are key in understanding the current burden within communities and are typically more readily available. CDC asks that Tier 1 variables be entered/submitted within 24 hours of being collected. The remaining variables should be submitted as soon as possible.

- Tier 1 Variables (to be reported directly into DCIPHER or via csv file upload)

2. Laboratory samples that are not able to be linked with PUI or case-patients
3. Incorrect reports of national and state-level PUI and case burden

We appreciate your ongoing partnership. Please email eocevent118@cdc.gov with any questions regarding the PUI or case reporting process.

Dear Partners,

As described in an email sent from the CSTE COVID-19 Leadership Team (see attached), CDC is instituting a standard process for confirming publicly reported cases by jurisdiction.

What you need to do/know now:

- We will conduct case confirmation daily (for web posting Monday–Friday). As the response evolves, the frequency of these requests will likely decrease.
- At the bottom of this email, you will find a table with the current preliminary case counts we have for each jurisdiction as of 4 pm ET on Thursday, March 12.
- By 9 am ET Friday, March 13, please confirm case counts for your jurisdiction (your numbers as of 4 pm ET Thursday, March 12) using the CDC Case Confirmation Portal (data are collected via Epi Info and stored on a secure CDC server):

https://go.usa.gov/xdftq

What you need to know about how your information will be presented:

- These data represent cases detected and tested in the United States through U.S. public health surveillance systems since January 21, 2020. They do not include people who returned to the United States via State Department-chartered flights. We ask that the preliminary information shared in this email not be distributed.
- What will be shared on the CDC website (updated daily at 12 pm, ET):
  - The total case count [presumptive + lab-confirmed], i.e., the actual number of total cases (e.g., 0, 6, 35) will be posted. EXCEPTION: Jurisdictions with one to five cases will be depicted as a range: "1–5 cases"
  - Other information shared will be used for internal awareness and will not be shared publicly at this time.

What you need to do/know later:

- DCIPHER users can update and analyze their own jurisdiction's data at: https://dcipher.cdc.gov/. If your jurisdiction does not currently have DCIPHER users, but you would like to move to Phase 2 reporting as described in the attached guidance, please email eocevent118@cdc.gov to confirm your readiness.

Sincerely,

CDC COVID-19 Epidemiology Task Force

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Updated Sunday, March 8 (major updates are highlighted in yellow)

Dear state and territorial partners:

Thank you for your continued partnership in the ongoing emergency response to COVID-19. The information included below aligns with what was shared by CDC during the 5 pm ET CSTE call on Saturday, February 29th and a CSTE email sent Friday, March 6th regarding: 1) confirming a jurisdiction's 'Phase 2' status for reporting PUI and cases; 2) updates to the PUI and Case Report Form; 3) an update on the status of historical PUI data imports into DCIPHER; 4) clarifications to the CDC reporting process for PUI/Case Report Forms and lab findings; 5) management of the PHLIP laboratory reporting process; 6) grouping of the PUI/Case Report variables into 3 tiers; and 7) major avoidable issues we hope to overcome with your assistance.

Jurisdictional 'Phase 2' Status

As we have previously outlined, jurisdictions need to be able to do several tasks before they can move into 'Phase 2'. These include assessing ill persons and determining PUI status; assigning unique identifiers to PUI and cases at the reporting jurisdiction level; and reporting PUI and cases of COVID-19 using a brief, combined form.

As of March 6th, CDC made the reporting of PUI to CDC through DCIPHER optional for jurisdictions in Phase 2. Jurisdictions should continue to report presumptive positive and confirmed positive cases to CDC.

Given the need to maintain timely, actionable data at the national level, and process laboratory results at CDC for initial or confirmatory testing, all jurisdictions should now be, or actively working towards being, onboarded to 'Phase 2'. If your jurisdiction has not yet confirmed its 'Phase 2' status, including how you will be inputting data into DCIPHER (preferred method: direct entry), please email eocevent118@cdc.gov.

Updates to PUI and Case Report Form on CDC's Website

On the PUI and Case Report Form included in the CSTE email on Wednesday, February 26th, there were 2 'current status of person' options: "person under investigation" or "laboratory-confirmed case." Given increased laboratory capacity at the state and local level to test for the virus that causes COVID-19 and the need to send presumptive positive specimens to CDC for confirmatory testing, there will now be 5 status classifications.

1. PUI, testing pending*
2. PUI, tested negative*
3. Presumptive case (positive local test), confirmatory testing pending†
4. Presumptive case (positive local test), confirmatory testing negative†
5. Laboratory-confirmed case†

Testing conducted by local lab (public health, commercial or hospital lab) or CDC lab*
† At this time, all confirmatory testing occurs at CDC

We have also added critical laboratory testing result fields at the end of the PUI and Case Report Form to reflect COVID-19 laboratory test results from state or local laboratories and CDC. CDC will work towards populating our laboratory results into the CDC result field for each specimen sent to us so that results can be viewed in DCIPHER as they are resulted and communicated to individual jurisdictions.

These updates to the PUI and Case Report Form, as well as data dictionary and instructions, can be found in Attachments 2-4, and were made available on CDC's website as of March 1, 2020.

Historical PUI Data Imported into DCIPHER

As of February 28, data reported to CDC on PUI, presumptive cases, and laboratory-confirmed cases have been made available in DCIPHER.

- Jurisdictions in 'Phase 2' are now able to go into the DCIPHER platform to view and edit existing records of PUI, presumptive positive, and laboratory-confirmed cases, as their status changes or more data become available.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Jurisdictions in 'Phase 1' should continue to call the EOC Watch Desk at 770-488-7100 to update information on existing PUI, presumptive positive, or laboratory-confirmed cases of COVID-19.

CDC Reporting Process for PUI/Case Reports and Lab Findings – Revised March 6th

As of March 6, information for PUIs no longer needs to be entered into DCIPHER. However, jurisdictions may use NNDSS or DCIPHER to manage their PUIs.

For reporting jurisdictions that have the capacity to do their own testing:
For jurisdictions that are in 'Phase 2':

1. The jurisdiction should enter Presumptive Cases (persons with a positive test performed locally without CDC lab confirmation*) into DCIPHER with the jurisdiction-issued nCoV ID, unless other arrangements to transmit data have been made and approved by CDC.
2. If a specimen is tested locally and is NEGATIVE:
    a. If the person is already in DCIPHER, please update the person's disposition to 'PUI, tested negative' in DCIPHER.
3. If a specimen is tested locally, is POSITIVE, and is the jurisdiction's first case (presumptive or confirmed) or is part of a unique event (e.g., part of a large cluster of potential cases within a group at high risk):
    a. Call the EOC Watch Desk/PUI desk at 770-488-7100 and notify CDC of the positive result. The specimen will be identified as a 'presumptive positive'* until the result is confirmed at CDC per the Emergency Use Agreement.
    b. On the call with CDC, please provide: (1) jurisdiction-issued nCoV ID and (2) a brief summary of the person's information that aligns with information collected and submitted on the PUI and Case Report Form.
    c. Send the specimen to CDC for confirmatory testing, labeled with the nCoV ID.
    d. Please also update the person's disposition in DCIPHER to "Presumptive Case, confirmatory testing pending"
4. If a specimen is tested locally, is POSITIVE, and is from a jurisdiction with existing presumptive or confirmed cases and is not part of a unique event (e.g., part of a large cluster of potential cases within a group at high risk):
    a. Send the specimen to CDC for confirmatory testing, labeled with the nCoV ID.
    b. Update the person's disposition in DCIPHER to "Presumptive Case, confirmatory testing pending"

For jurisdictions that are in 'Phase 1':

1. The jurisdictions should call the EOC Watch Desk/PUI desk at 770-488-7100 to receive a CDC-issued nCoV ID, and to complete a PUI and Case Report Form.
2. If a specimen is tested locally and is NEGATIVE, no further action is needed unless the person has already been reported to CDC as a PUI; if so:
    a. Please email eocevent118@cdc.gov and provide the nCoV ID and test result.
3. If a specimen is tested locally and is POSITIVE:
    a. Call the EOC Watch Desk/PUI desk at 770-488-7100 and notify them of the positive result. The specimen will be identified as a 'presumptive positive'* until the result is confirmed at CDC per the Emergency Use Agreement.
    b. On the call with CDC, please provide: (1) jurisdiction-issued nCoV ID and (2) a brief summary of the person's information that aligns with information collected on the PUI and Case Report form.
    c. Send the specimen to CDC for confirmatory testing, labeled with the nCoV ID.

For reporting jurisdictions that do not have testing capacity and are sending specimens to CDC for testing:

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

For jurisdictions that are in 'Phase 2':

1. The jurisdiction should enter all PUIs into DCIPHER with the jurisdiction-issued nCoV IDs, unless other arrangements to transmit data have been made and approved by CDC.
2. Please ensure the jurisdiction-issued nCoV ID is entered in the alternative specimen ID field on the 50.34/DASH form sent in with the specimen to CDC for testing.
3. Testing results will be returned to the state lab per current protocol.

For jurisdictions that are in 'Phase 1':

1. The jurisdiction should call the EOC Watch Desk/PUI desk at 770-488-7100 to obtain a CDC-issued nCoV ID number, and complete a PUI and Case Report Form.
2. Please make sure the CDC-issued nCoV ID is entered in the alternative specimen ID field on the 50.34/DASH form sent in with the specimen to CDC for testing.
3. Testing results will be returned to the state lab per current protocol.

Specimens from Presumptive Cases must be tested at CDC to change their disposition to 'Confirmed Case'. However, local public health action is recommended for Presumptive Cases identified through local or state laboratory testing.*

Management of the PHLIP reporting process

CDC and APHL have been working with public health laboratories to add automated reporting of the novel coronavirus test results through their existing influenza reporting mechanism, which is most frequently PHLIP.

We ask that participating PHLIP labs begin including nCoV IDs within the lab test message reported through PHLIP. This will allow CDC to: (1) Match these records with persons reported into DCIPHER and (2) work with states to properly characterize the status of persons without existing records in DCIPHER. Information on how to include the nCoV ID in the message is available via APHL starting at the bottom of Page 4 (Attachment 5).

Grouping of the PUI/Case Report variables into 3 tiers

To support jurisdictions in providing timely case information, the variables included in the Persons Under Investigation (PUI) and Case Report Form have been grouped into 3 tiers. While all the information being collected is important to inform the response, Tier 1 variables are key in understanding the current burden within communities and are typically more readily available. CDC asks that Tier 1 variables be entered/submitted within 24 hours of being collected. The remaining variables should be submitted as soon as possible.

Dear Partners,

CDC continues to institute a standard process for confirming publicly reported cases by jurisdiction.

What you need to do/know now:

- We will conduct case confirmation daily (for web posting Monday–Friday). As the response evolves, the frequency of these requests will likely decrease.
- At the bottom of this email, you will find a table with the current preliminary case counts we have for each jurisdiction as of 4 pm ET on Sunday, March 15.

https://go.usa.gov/xdftq

What you need to know about how your information will be presented:

- These data represent cases detected and tested in the United States through U.S. public health surveillance systems since January 21, 2020. They do not include people who returned to the United States via State Department-chartered flights. We ask that the preliminary information shared in this email not be distributed.
- What will be shared on the CDC website (updated daily at 12 pm, ET):
  - The total case count [presumptive + lab-confirmed], i.e., the actual number of total cases (e.g., 0, 6, 35) will be posted. EXCEPTION: Jurisdictions with one to five cases will be depicted as a range: "1–5 cases"
  - Other information shared will be used for internal awareness and will not be shared publicly at this time.

What you need to do/know later:

- DCIPHER users can update and analyze their own jurisdiction's data at: https://dcipher.cdc.gov/. If your jurisdiction does not currently have DCIPHER users, but you would like to move to Phase 2 reporting as described in the attached guidance, please email eocevent118@cdc.gov to confirm your readiness.

Updated guidance: See Attachment 1 that addresses commonly asked questions and the effects of new laboratory testing guidance on use of the National Case Report Form. Key changes are highlighted in yellow. These updates are reflected in the National Case Report Form Instruction Guide (attachment: 2019nCoV_PUICRF instructions_2020Mar15_final), which will be posted to the CDC website later this week.

Instructions for Completing the Human Infection with 2019 Novel Coronavirus (COVID-19) Person Under Investigation (PUI) and Case Report Form

Purpose: This document describes the procedures for completing the 2019 Novel Coronavirus (COVID-19) Person Under Investigation (PUI) and Case Report Form (CRF) for persons under investigation who are being tested or have been tested for the virus that causes COVID-19.

- PUI: Any person who is currently under investigation for having the virus that causes COVID-19, or who was under investigation but tested negative for the virus.
- Laboratory-confirmed case of COVID-19: Individual who has tested positive for the virus that causes COVID-19 in at least one respiratory specimen (Note: effective 3/14/2020 there is no longer the designation of "presumptive positive").

If a sample from a PUI tests positive for the virus that causes COVID-19, the form should be updated to indicate an individual's change in status from a PUI to being a laboratory-confirmed case.

The form should be completed if a person has a positive laboratory result for the virus that causes COVID-19, even when not previously identified as a PUI.

General:

1. All dates should be formatted MM/DD/YYYY.
2. If completing the .pdf version of the form, use an "X" to mark boxes. Make sure to carefully mark boxes so that the "X" does not cross multiple boxes.

Header:

PATIENT IDENTIFIER INFORMATION IS NOT TRANSMITTED TO CDC AND IS FOR LOCAL-USE ONLY:
Patient first name: Enter case's first (given) name.
Patient last name: Enter case's last (family) name.
Date of birth (MM/DD/YYYY): Enter date of birth in MM/DD/YYYY format.

ID information:

Reporting jurisdiction: Enter the reporting jurisdiction where the PUI or case was identified. The reporting jurisdiction must be a state/city/territory authorized to submit data through NNDSS.

Reporting health department: Enter the name of the health department completing the PUI or case report.

Case state/local ID: Enter a local-use ID assigned by the state or local health department if desired for patient tracking or matching.

CDC 2019-nCoV ID: Enter the CDC 2019-nCoV ID assigned to the PUI or case. If the case was already identified as a PUI in collaboration with CDC, or was part of a contact investigation in which CDC was collaborating with the state or local health department, this CDC 2019-nCoV ID should have already been assigned and the CDC 2019-nCoV ID that was already provided by CDC should be entered. The CDC 2019 nCoV ID should be a part of the state or local health departments records; please check with the reporting jurisdiction. This may have previously been called a PUI ID. Do not assign a new 2019-nCoV ID for these individuals.

If this is a new PUI or case that was not previously under investigation or reported, the CDC 2019-nCoV ID should be assigned by the jurisdiction. CDC 2019-nCoV IDs should be assigned for all PUIs and laboratory-confirmed cases so that this person can be tracked at the jurisdictional and national level. The reporting jurisdiction should assign the CDC 2019-nCoV ID, and use this ID for all specimens and data transmitted to CDC for that person. The structure of the ID should be as follows:

!!! Important !!!

Do not add special characters, dashes, or white spaces to the nCoV ID. The alpha- and numeric-portions of the ID are seamless. The numeric portion of the ID cannot begin with zero ('0').

This ID will be used to track information about the PUI or case-patient in CDC data systems and must be provided on all forms or specimens related to this individual.

Contact ID: Only fill out this field if a PUI or case-patient is a known contact to another confirmed case of COVID-19. Contact IDs are assigned using the original (source) case-patient's nCoV ID followed by a hyphen and a sequential number indicating the order in which the contact was identified (e.g., Confirmed case CA102034567 may have contacts CA102034567 -01 and CA102034567 -02). If the person was previously under investigation in collaboration with CDC, or was part of a contact investigation in which CDC was collaborating with state/local health departments, this Contact ID may have been assigned previously. This should be a part of the state or local health departments records; please check with the reporting jurisdiction.

NNDSS loc. rec. ID/Case ID: For NNDSS reporters, enter the GenV2 or NETSS patient identifier.

Interviewer information

Name of interviewer: Enter the last name and first name of the person performing the interview.

Affiliation/Organization: Enter the interviewer's affiliation/organization.

Did the patient have an abnormal chest X-ray?: Select appropriate response. Select "unknown" if missing chart. Select 'yes' if—at any time—the person had an abnormal chest X-ray as part of this illness.

Symptoms present during course of illness?: This question refers to the PUI or case-patient's symptom status related to the entire duration of illness. If the PUI or case-patient was ever symptomatic as part of this illness with COVID-19, select "symptomatic." If the PUI or case-patient was asymptomatic (never experienced symptoms as part of this illness), please select "asymptomatic." If symptom status is unknown, select "unknown."

In the 14 days prior to illness onset, did the patient have any of the following exposures: Check all that apply. For healthcare contact with another lab-confirmed COVID-19 case-patient, check if the PUI or case-patient identified in the current form was a patient, a visitor (e.g., accompanying family member who was seeking care), or a healthcare worker, when they contacted a lab-confirmed COVID-19 case-patient.

If the PUI or case-patient traveled to a non-US country that was not China, select all of the countries that the person traveled to within the past 14 days by selecting all relevant response options from the drop-down menu. AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Symptoms, clinical course, past medical history and social history:

Collected from (check all that apply): Please select “patient interview” or “medical record review.” If both sources were used to collect information on symptoms, clinical course, past medical history, and social history, please select both response options.

During this illness, did you experience any of the following symptoms? Please select “Yes,” “No,” or “Unknown” for each specific symptom. Please indicate the symptoms that the PUI or case-patient has experienced to date, even if he/she is no longer experiencing these symptoms. All symptoms should have an answer. If other symptoms were experienced, then describe the symptom in the space after “Other”.

Pre-existing medical conditions?: Mark the appropriate response based on whether the PUI or case-patient has any pre-existing medical conditions prior to investigation or confirmation of COVID-19. If PUI or case-patient has no pre-existing medical conditions, mark “No.” If not collected during interview and medical chart is missing, mark “Unknown.” After answering the initial (summary) question, please provide a response for each pre-existing condition. All questions—other than pregnancy—pertain to a current or past history of the condition. If “Yes” to neurologic/neurodevelopment/intellectual disability or Other Chronic Diseases, please specify. The pregnancy question should be marked “Yes” if the PUI or case-patient is female and currently or recently pregnant (i.e., gave birth while ill with COVID-19).

Current smoker: Select the appropriate response.

Former smoker: Select the appropriate response.

Respiratory diagnostic testing: For each pathogen, indicate whether the test was positive, negative, pending, or not done. If the PUI or case-patient had a test performed for another pathogen, please check the appropriate test result and specify the name of the pathogen next to “Other, Specify.” (In DCIPHER, please specify additional tests/pathogens only if they are positive.) If multiple tests for the same pathogen were completed, mark “Positive” if any of the tests for that pathogen were positive during the course of the illness suspected to be COVID-19.

Specimens for COVID-19 testing: For each specimen tested for the virus that causes COVID-19, record if the specimen was from a nasopharyngeal swab (NP), oropharyngeal swab (OP), sputum, or other specimen (specify type). If combined NP/OP swabs are collected, record results in the field for NP swabs. Jurisdictions can provide up to three results for each type of specimen; if additional specimens are collected, please provide information about these specimens in the “additional state/local specimen ID” fields below this question. If there are still additional specimens, please use the notes field following the specimen collection information to provide specimen IDs. Provide the local, state, or jurisdictional specimen ID associated with each specimen, as well as the date the specimen was collected in MM/DD/YYYY format. For specimens tested at a local or state public health laboratory or at a commercial laboratory, select ”State Lab Tested.” For specimens tested at CDC, select “Sent to CDC.” For each test performed, indicate the result: positive, negative, pending, not done, or indeterminate.

Please update these test results as they become available.

Additional state/local Specimen IDs: Provide additional specimen IDs from state/local laboratories for specimens tested for the virus that causes COVID-19. If needed, prioritize listing those specimens testing positive for the virus that causes COVID-19, regardless of specimen type.

Updated Sunday, March 15 (major updates are highlighted in yellow)

Dear state and territorial partners:

Thank you for your continued partnership in the ongoing emergency response to COVID-19. The information included below aligns with what was shared by CDC during the 5 pm ET CSTE call on Saturday, February 29th, a CSTE email sent Friday, March 6th, and in a CSTE email sent during the weekend of March 14 regarding: 1) confirming a jurisdiction's 'Phase 2' status for reporting PUI and cases; 2) additional guidance on using the current PUI and Case Report Form, including classification of all positive laboratory tests as confirmed cases; 3) update on the status of historical PUI data imports into DCIPHER; 4) clarifications to the CDC reporting process for PUI/Case Report Forms and lab findings; 5) management of the PHLIP laboratory reporting process; 6) prioritization of the PUI/Case Report variables; and 7) major avoidable issues we hope to overcome with your assistance.

1. Jurisdictional 'Phase 2' Status

Given the need to maintain timely, actionable data at the national level, and process laboratory results at CDC for testing, all jurisdictions should now be, or actively working towards being, onboarded to 'Phase 2', which includes being able to assign unique identifiers to PUI/cases at the reporting jurisdiction level. If your jurisdiction has not yet confirmed its 'Phase 2' status, including how you will be inputting data into DCIPHER (preferred method: direct entry), please email eocevent118@cdc.gov.

Reminder: as of March 6th, CDC made the reporting of PUI to CDC through DCIPHER optional for jurisdictions in Phase 2. Jurisdictions should continue to report positive cases to CDC using the combined PUI/Case Report Form.

2. Updates to PUI and Case Report Form (CRF) on CDC's Website

Please continue to use the 5 status classifications below when completing a CRF. However, note the changes in how to apply the classifications.

1. PUI, testing pending
2. PUI, tested negative
3. Presumptive case (positive test by state or local health department lab*), confirmatory testing pending
4. Presumptive case (positive test by state or local health department lab*), confirmatory testing negative
5. Laboratory-confirmed case†

These designations are no longer applicable on or after 3/14/2020*

†Now includes positive tests conducted by the CDC laboratory, commercial lab using FDA-validated COVID 19 NAA, or state or local health department lab.

These changes reflect FDA's acceptance of CDC's request for "enforcement discretion" to allow state and local public-health laboratories to consider positive samples to be interpreted as "positive" with no need for confirmatory testing. This action was supported by data submitted by CDC showing agreement between results in state and local public health labs with corresponding results from CDC. These changes are retrospective such that samples already submitted to CDC for confirmation and had been awaiting confirmation may now be considered to be positive. CDC is still interested in receiving any specimens for which testing was "inconclusive" and which could not be resolved by repeat testing. For reporting purposes, these persons can be classified as "PUI, testing pending" until resulted by the CDC Laboratory. For epidemiologists, this will have little impact operationally, since the policy from the beginning was to act on "presumptive positives" as though they have already been confirmed. This means that the cases that previously were considered "presumptive" will all now be considered "confirmed". For CDC analyses, presumptive and confirmed positive cases will be treated the same. Jurisdictions do not need to make changes to the historical data previously reported to CDC.

Critical laboratory testing result fields are included at the end of the CRF to reflect COVID-19 laboratory test results. To minimize the need for making changes to the CRF at this time, please use the same fields to report specimens tested at the local level whether the testing laboratory was the state or jurisdiction public health laboratory or commercial laboratory. Further, if the specimen was from a combined nasopharyngeal (NP) and oropharyngeal (OP) swab, record the results in the NP swab field. CDC will work towards populating our laboratory results into the CDC result field for each specimen sent to us so that results can be viewed in DCIPHER as they are resulted and communicated to individual jurisdictions. To support this matching process and to ensure the specimen is tested, please make sure to include an nCoV ID when submitting the specimen(s) to CDC.

If the PUI or case-patient had traveled on a cruise, had exposure to large social gatherings (e.g. conference, concert), or work-related exposures to large groups (e.g. airport screeners, port workers), please indicate in the free text field available with the "Other, specify:" option for the question: "In the 14 days prior to illness onset, did the patient have any of the following exposures (check all that apply)."

Updates to the CRF instructions were made available in an email to all jurisdictions sent on March 16, 2020; these changes will also be reflected in the material made available on CDC's website.

3. Historical PUI Data Imported into DCIPHER

As of February 28, data reported to CDC on PUI, presumptive cases, and laboratory-confirmed cases have been made available in DCIPHER.

- Jurisdictions in 'Phase 2' are now able to go into the DCIPHER platform to view and edit existing records of PUI, presumptive positive, and laboratory-confirmed cases, as their status changes or more data become available.
- Jurisdictions in 'Phase 1' should continue to call the EOC Watch Desk at 770-488-7100 to update information on existing PUI, cases of COVID-19.

4. CDC Reporting Process for PUI/Case Reports and Lab Findings – Revised March 6th

CDC laboratory has received several specimens that were not assigned an nCoV ID. Please note that all specimens need an nCoV ID for submission to CDC laboratory. In the event that a sample is missing an nCoV ID, the specimen will be frozen, our staff will reach out to the point-of-contact listed on the submission form, and we will test the specimen once the nCoV ID has been submitted. Please provide an nCoV ID with all specimens to avoid delays in testing.

As of March 6, information for PUIs no longer needs to be entered into DCIPHER. However, jurisdictions may use NNDSS or DCIPHER to manage their PUIs.

For reporting jurisdictions that have the capacity to do their own testing:
For jurisdictions that are in 'Phase 2':

1. The jurisdiction should enter cases into DCIPHER with the jurisdiction-issued nCoV ID, unless other arrangements to transmit data have been made and approved by CDC.
2. If a specimen is tested locally and is NEGATIVE:
    a. If the person is already in DCIPHER, please update the person's disposition to 'PUI, tested negative' in DCIPHER.
3. If a specimen is tested locally, is POSITIVE, and is the jurisdiction's first case or is part of a unique event (e.g., part of a large cluster of potential cases within a group at high risk):
    a. Call the EOC Watch Desk/PUI desk at 770-488-7100 and notify CDC of the positive result.
    b. On the call with CDC, please provide: (1) jurisdiction-issued nCoV ID and (2) a brief summary of the person's information that aligns with information collected and submitted on the PUI and Case Report Form.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

4. If a specimen is tested locally, is POSITIVE, and is from a jurisdiction with existing presumptive or confirmed cases and is not part of a unique event (e.g., part of a large cluster of potential cases within a group at high risk):
    a. Update the person's disposition in DCIPHER to "Confirmed Case"

For jurisdictions that are in 'Phase 1':

1. The jurisdictions should call the EOC Watch Desk/PUI desk at 770-488-7100 to receive a CDC-issued nCoV ID, and to complete a PUI and Case Report Form.
2. If a specimen is tested locally and is NEGATIVE, no further action is needed unless the person has already been reported to CDC as a PUI; if so:
    a. Please email eocevent118@cdc.gov and provide the nCoV ID and test result.
3. If a specimen is tested locally and is POSITIVE:
    a. Call the EOC Watch Desk/PUI desk at 770-488-7100 and notify them of the positive result.
    b. On the call with CDC, please provide: (1) jurisdiction-issued nCoV ID and (2) a brief summary of the person's information that aligns with information collected on the PUI and Case Report form.

For reporting jurisdictions that do not have testing capacity and are sending specimens to CDC for testing:
For jurisdictions that are in 'Phase 2':

1. The jurisdiction should enter all PUIs into DCIPHER with the jurisdiction-issued nCoV IDs, unless other arrangements to transmit data have been made and approved by CDC.
2. Please ensure the jurisdiction-issued nCoV ID is entered in the alternative specimen ID field on the 50.34/DASH form sent in with the specimen to CDC for testing.
3. Testing results will be returned to the state lab per current protocol.

For jurisdictions that are in 'Phase 1':

1. The jurisdiction should call the EOC Watch Desk/PUI desk at 770-488-7100 to obtain a CDC-issued nCoV ID number, and complete a PUI and Case Report Form.
2. Please make sure the CDC-issued nCoV ID is entered in the alternative specimen ID field on the 50.34/DASH form sent in with the specimen to CDC for testing.
3. Testing results will be returned to the state lab per current protocol.

5. Management of the PHLIP reporting process

CDC and APHL have been working with public health laboratories to add automated reporting of the novel coronavirus test results through their existing influenza reporting mechanism, which is most frequently PHLIP.

We ask that participating PHLIP labs begin including nCoV IDs within the lab test message reported through PHLIP. This will allow CDC to: (1) Match these records with persons reported into DCIPHER and (2) work with states to properly characterize the status of persons without existing records in DCIPHER. Information on how to include the nCoV ID in the message has been made available via APHL starting at the bottom of Page 4 (https://www.aphl.org/Materials/02.12.2020_Informatics_FAQs_and_Guidance.pdf).

6. Prioritization of PUI/Case Report variables

To support improved data reporting, CDC has employed the Data Collation & Integration for Public Health Event Response (DCIPHER) platform that jurisdictions can use to directly enter or import and view their data. As of Friday, March 13, all 50 states and 3 jurisdictions (New York City, Washington DC, and U.S. Virgin Islands) are using DCIPHER for the COVID-19 response. Previously, to support jurisdictions in providing timely case information, CDC group the variables included in the National Case Report into 3 tiers to help jurisdictions prioritize what data are collected and reported. While all the information being collected is important, the variables that were included on CDC's list of Tier 1 and Tier 2 variables [High Priority Variables] are key to understanding the current burden of disease and its transmission within communities. Further, it is important that this information be entered/submitted within 24 hours of the case being identified to provide adequate situational awareness. The remaining variables (previously referred to as Tier 3 variables) should be submitted as soon as possible, some, of which, may require following up with cases over time.

7. Major avoidable challenges we hope to overcome with your assistance

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

We recognize the challenges that public health emergencies bring. With your assistance, we hope to avoid the following challenges by following the processes outlined above:

1. Unclear data flow processes for jurisdictional data on PUI and case-patients to CDC
2. Laboratory samples that are not able to be linked with PUI or case-patients
3. Incorrect reports of national and state-level PUI and case burden, as well as descriptive statistics about the population impacted

We appreciate your ongoing partnership. Please email eocevent118@cdc.gov with any questions regarding the PUI or case reporting process.

Best,
CDC COVID-19 Epidemiology Task Force

Dear CSTE Colleagues,

Summary: State and local public health laboratories are no longer required to send “presumptive positive” samples to CDC for confirmation. From now on, respiratory samples positive for SARS-CoV2 in a state and public-health laboratory will be considered “positive” with no need for further testing.

More details: Last night, FDA accepted CDC’s request for “enforcement discretion” to allow state and local public-health laboratories to consider positive samples to be interpreted as “positive” with no need for confirmatory testing. This action was supported by data submitted by CDC showing agreement between results in state and local public health labs with corresponding results from CDC. CDC was asked to submit an amendment to its emergency-use authorization (EUA) for formal review.

For epidemiologists, this means that the cases that previously were considered “presumptive” will all now be considered “confirmed.”

Your laboratories should have received notification of this change already through APHL. These changes are retrospective such that samples already submitted to CDC for confirmation and had been awaiting confirmation may now be considered to be positive. CDC is still interested in receiving any specimens for which testing was “inconclusive” and which could not be resolved by repeat testing.

Sincerely,

Gregory Armstrong, MD

Dear Partners,

CDC continues to institute a standard process for confirming publicly reported cases by jurisdiction.

What you need to do/know now:

- We will conduct case confirmation daily (for web posting Monday–Friday). As the response evolves, the frequency of these requests will likely decrease.
- At the bottom of this email, you will find a table with the following:
  - current preliminary case counts we have for each jurisdiction as of 4 pm ET on Monday, March 16.
  - general community level transmission characterization (current options: Yes [community transmission is occurring], Undetermined, N/A)
- By 9 am ET Tuesday, March 17, please use the CDC Case Confirmation Portal (data are collected via Epi Info and stored on a secure CDC server) to:
  - confirm case counts for your jurisdiction (your numbers as of 4 pm ET Monday, March 16)
  - if needed, modify your "community level transmission characterization" by using the "additional information" field in the link below

https://go.usa.gov/xdftq

What you need to know about how your information will be presented:

- These data represent cases detected and tested in the United States through U.S. public health surveillance systems since January 21, 2020. They do not include people who returned to the United States via State Department-chartered flights. We ask that the preliminary information shared in this email not be distributed.
- What will be shared on the CDC website (updated daily at 12 pm, ET):
  - The total case count, i.e., the actual number of total cases (e.g., 0, 6, 35) will be posted. EXCEPTION: Jurisdictions with one to five cases will be depicted as a range: "1–5 cases"
  - General community level transmission characterization
  - Other information shared will be used for internal awareness and will not be shared publicly at this time.

What you need to do/know later:

- DCIPHER users can update and analyze their own jurisdiction's data at: https://dcipher.cdc.gov/. If your jurisdiction does not currently have DCIPHER users, but you would like to move to Phase 2 reporting as described in the attached guidance, please email eocevent118@cdc.gov to confirm your readiness.

Resending updated guidance [initially sent on 3/15]: See Attachment 1 that addresses commonly asked questions and the effects of new laboratory testing guidance on use of the National Case Report Form. Key changes are highlighted in yellow. These updates are reflected in the National Case Report Form Instruction Guide (attachment: 2019nCoV_PUICRF instructions_2020Mar15_final), which will be posted to the CDC website later this week.

Sincerely,

CDC COVID-19 Epidemiology Task Force

Instructions for Completing the Human Infection with 2019 Novel Coronavirus (COVID-19) Person Under Investigation (PUI) and Case Report Form

Purpose: This document describes the procedures for completing the 2019 Novel Coronavirus (COVID-19) Person Under Investigation (PUI) and Case Report Form (CRF) for persons under investigation who are being tested or have been tested for the virus that causes COVID-19.

- PUI: Any person who is currently under investigation for having the virus that causes COVID-19, or who was under investigation but tested negative for the virus.
- Laboratory-confirmed case of COVID-19: Individual who has tested positive for the virus that causes COVID-19 in at least one respiratory specimen (Note: effective 3/14/2020 there is no longer the designation of "presumptive positive").

If a sample from a PUI tests positive for the virus that causes COVID-19, the form should be updated to indicate an individual's change in status from a PUI to being a laboratory-confirmed case.

The form should be completed if a person has a positive laboratory result for the virus that causes COVID-19, even when not previously identified as a PUI.

General:

1. All dates should be formatted MM/DD/YYYY.
2. If completing the .pdf version of the form, use an "X" to mark boxes. Make sure to carefully mark boxes so that the "X" does not cross multiple boxes.

Header:

PATIENT IDENTIFIER INFORMATION IS NOT TRANSMITTED TO CDC AND IS FOR LOCAL-USE ONLY:
Patient first name: Enter case's first (given) name.
Patient last name: Enter case's last (family) name.
Date of birth (MM/DD/YYYY): Enter date of birth in MM/DD/YYYY format.

ID information:

Reporting jurisdiction: Enter the reporting jurisdiction where the PUI or case was identified. The reporting jurisdiction must be a state/city/territory authorized to submit data through NNDSS.

Reporting health department: Enter the name of the health department completing the PUI or case report.

Case state/local ID: Enter a local-use ID assigned by the state or local health department if desired for patient tracking or matching.

CDC 2019-nCoV ID: Enter the CDC 2019-nCoV ID assigned to the PUI or case. If the case was already identified as a PUI in collaboration with CDC, or was part of a contact investigation in which CDC was collaborating with the state or local health department, this CDC 2019-nCoV ID should have already been assigned and the CDC 2019-nCoV ID that was already provided by CDC should be entered. The CDC 2019 nCoV ID should be a part of the state or local health departments records; please check with the reporting jurisdiction. This may have previously been called a PUI ID. Do not assign a new 2019-nCoV ID for these individuals.

If this is a new PUI or case that was not previously under investigation or reported, the CDC 2019-nCoV ID should be assigned by the jurisdiction. CDC 2019-nCoV IDs should be assigned for all PUIs and laboratory-confirmed cases so that this person can be tracked at the jurisdictional and national level. The reporting jurisdiction should assign the CDC 2019-nCoV ID, and use this ID for all specimens and data transmitted to CDC for that person. The structure of the ID should be as follows:

!!! Important !!!

Do not add special characters, dashes, or white spaces to the nCoV ID. The alpha- and numeric-portions of the ID are seamless. The numeric portion of the ID cannot begin with zero ('0').

HCP might include (but are not limited to) physicians, nurses, nursing assistants, therapists, technicians, emergency medical service personnel, dental personnel, pharmacists, laboratory personnel, autopsy personnel, students and trainees, contractual staff not employed by the health-care facility, and persons (e.g., clerical, dietary, housekeeping, laundry, security, maintenance, administrative, billing, and volunteers) not directly involved in patient care but potentially exposed to infectious agents that can be transmitted to and from HCP and patients.

Does the patient have a history of being in a healthcare facility (as a patient, worker, or visitor) in China?: Select the appropriate response.

In the 14 days prior to illness onset, did the patient have any of the following exposures: Check all that apply. For healthcare contact with another lab-confirmed COVID-19 case-patient, check if the PUI or case-patient identified in the current form was a patient, a visitor (e.g., accompanying family member who was seeking care), or a healthcare worker, when they contacted a lab-confirmed COVID-19 case-patient.

If the PUI or case-patient traveled to a non-US country that was not China, select all of the countries that the person traveled to within the past 14 days by selecting all relevant response options from the drop-down menu. AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Symptoms, clinical course, past medical history and social history:

Collected from (check all that apply): Please select “patient interview” or “medical record review.” If both sources were used to collect information on symptoms, clinical course, past medical history, and social history, please select both response options.

During this illness, did you experience any of the following symptoms? Please select “Yes,” “No,” or “Unknown” for each specific symptom. Please indicate the symptoms that the PUI or case-patient has experienced to date, even if he/she is no longer experiencing these symptoms. All symptoms should have an answer. If other symptoms were experienced, then describe the symptom in the space after “Other”.

Pre-existing medical conditions?: Mark the appropriate response based on whether the PUI or case-patient has any pre-existing medical conditions prior to investigation or confirmation of COVID-19. If PUI or case-patient has no pre-existing medical conditions, mark “No.” If not collected during interview and medical chart is missing, mark “Unknown.” After answering the initial (summary) question, please provide a response for each pre-existing condition. All questions—other than pregnancy—pertain to a current or past history of the condition. If “Yes” to neurologic/neurodevelopment/intellectual disability or Other Chronic Diseases, please specify. The pregnancy question should be marked “Yes” if the PUI or case-patient is female and currently or recently pregnant (i.e., gave birth while ill with COVID-19).

Current smoker: Select the appropriate response.

Former smoker: Select the appropriate response.

Respiratory diagnostic testing: For each pathogen, indicate whether the test was positive, negative, pending, or not done. If the PUI or case-patient had a test performed for another pathogen, please check the appropriate test result and specify the name of the pathogen next to “Other, Specify.” (In DCIPHER, please specify additional tests/pathogens only if they are positive.) If multiple tests for the same pathogen were completed, mark “Positive” if any of the tests for that pathogen were positive during the course of the illness suspected to be COVID-19.

Specimens for COVID-19 testing: For each specimen tested for the virus that causes COVID-19, record if the specimen was from a nasopharyngeal swab (NP), oropharyngeal swab (OP), sputum, or other specimen (specify type). If combined NP/OP swabs are collected, record results in the field for NP swabs. Jurisdictions can provide up to three results for each type of specimen; if additional specimens are collected, please provide information about these specimens in the “additional state/local specimen ID” fields below this question. If there are still additional specimens, please use the notes field following the specimen collection information to provide specimen IDs. Provide the local, state, or jurisdictional specimen ID associated with each specimen, as well as the date the specimen was collected in MM/DD/YYYY format. For specimens tested at a local or state public health laboratory or at a commercial laboratory, select ”State Lab Tested.” For specimens tested at CDC, select “Sent to CDC.” For each test performed, indicate the result: positive, negative, pending, not done, or indeterminate.

Please update these test results as they become available.

Additional state/local Specimen IDs: Provide additional specimen IDs from state/local laboratories for specimens tested for the virus that causes COVID-19. If needed, prioritize listing those specimens testing positive for the virus that causes COVID-19, regardless of specimen type.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Updated Sunday, March 15 (major updates are highlighted in yellow)

Dear state and territorial partners:

Thank you for your continued partnership in the ongoing emergency response to COVID-19. The information included below aligns with what was shared by CDC during the 5 pm ET CSTE call on Saturday, February 29th, a CSTE email sent Friday, March 6th, and in a CSTE email sent during the weekend of March 14 regarding: 1) confirming a jurisdiction's 'Phase 2' status for reporting PUI and cases; 2) additional guidance on using the current PUI and Case Report Form, including classification of all positive laboratory tests as confirmed cases; 3) update on the status of historical PUI data imports into DCIPHER; 4) clarifications to the CDC reporting process for PUI/Case Report Forms and lab findings; 5) management of the PHLIP laboratory reporting process; 6) prioritization of the PUI/Case Report variables; and 7) major avoidable issues we hope to overcome with your assistance.

1. Jurisdictional 'Phase 2' Status

Given the need to maintain timely, actionable data at the national level, and process laboratory results at CDC for testing, all jurisdictions should now be, or actively working towards being, onboarded to 'Phase 2', which includes being able to assign unique identifiers to PUI/cases at the reporting jurisdiction level. If your jurisdiction has not yet confirmed its 'Phase 2' status, including how you will be inputting data into DCIPHER (preferred method: direct entry), please email eocevent118@cdc.gov.

Reminder: as of March 6th, CDC made the reporting of PUI to CDC through DCIPHER optional for jurisdictions in Phase 2. Jurisdictions should continue to report positive cases to CDC using the combined PUI/Case Report Form.

2. Updates to PUI and Case Report Form (CRF) on CDC's Website

Please continue to use the 5 status classifications below when completing a CRF. However, note the changes in how to apply the classifications.

1. PUI, testing pending
2. PUI, tested negative
3. Presumptive case (positive test by state or local health department lab*), confirmatory testing pending
4. Presumptive case (positive test by state or local health department lab*), confirmatory testing negative
5. Laboratory-confirmed case†

These designations are no longer applicable on or after 3/14/2020*

†Now includes positive tests conducted by the CDC laboratory, commercial lab using FDA-validated COVID 19 NAA, or state or local health department lab.

These changes reflect FDA's acceptance of CDC's request for "enforcement discretion" to allow state and local public-health laboratories to consider positive samples to be interpreted as "positive" with no need for confirmatory testing. This action was supported by data submitted by CDC showing agreement between results in state and local public health labs with corresponding results from CDC. These changes are retrospective such that samples already submitted to CDC for confirmation and had been awaiting confirmation may now be considered to be positive. CDC is still interested in receiving any specimens for which testing was "inconclusive" and which could not be resolved by repeat testing. For reporting purposes, these persons can be classified as "PUI, testing pending" until resulted by the CDC Laboratory. For epidemiologists, this will have little impact operationally, since the policy from the beginning was to act on "presumptive positives" as though they have already been confirmed. This means that the cases that previously were considered "presumptive" will all now be considered "confirmed". For CDC analyses, presumptive and confirmed positive cases will be treated the same. Jurisdictions do not need to make changes to the historical data previously reported to CDC.

Critical laboratory testing result fields are included at the end of the CRF to reflect COVID-19 laboratory test results. To minimize the need for making changes to the CRF at this time, please use the same fields to report specimens tested at the local level whether the testing laboratory was the state or jurisdiction public health laboratory or commercial laboratory. Further, if the specimen was from a combined nasopharyngeal (NP) and oropharyngeal (OP) swab, record the results in the NP swab field. CDC will work towards populating our laboratory results into the CDC result field for each specimen sent to us so that results can be viewed in DCIPHER as they are resulted and communicated to individual jurisdictions. To support this matching process and to ensure the specimen is tested, please make sure to include an nCoV ID when submitting the specimen(s) to CDC.

If the PUI or case-patient had traveled on a cruise, had exposure to large social gatherings (e.g. conference, concert), or work-related exposures to large groups (e.g. airport screeners, port workers), please indicate in the free text field available with the "Other, specify:" option for the question: "In the 14 days prior to illness onset, did the patient have any of the following exposures (check all that apply)."

Changes will also be reflected in the material made available on CDC's website.

3. Historical PUI Data Imported into DCIPHER

As of February 28, data reported to CDC on PUI, presumptive cases, and laboratory-confirmed cases have been made available in DCIPHER.

- Jurisdictions in 'Phase 2' are now able to go into the DCIPHER platform to view and edit existing records of PUI, presumptive positive, and laboratory-confirmed cases, as their status changes or more data become available.
- Jurisdictions in 'Phase 1' should continue to call the EOC Watch Desk at 770-488-7100 to update information on existing PUI, cases of COVID-19.

4. CDC Reporting Process for PUI/Case Reports and Lab Findings – Revised March 6th

CDC laboratory has received several specimens that were not assigned an nCoV ID. Please note that all specimens need an nCoV ID for submission to CDC laboratory. In the event that a sample is missing an nCoV ID, the specimen will be frozen, our staff will reach out to the point-of-contact listed on the submission form, and we will test the specimen once the nCoV ID has been submitted. Please provide an nCoV ID with all specimens to avoid delays in testing.

As of March 6, information for PUIs no longer needs to be entered into DCIPHER. However, jurisdictions may use NNDSS or DCIPHER to manage their PUIs.

For reporting jurisdictions that have the capacity to do their own testing:

For jurisdictions that are in 'Phase 2':

1. The jurisdiction should enter cases into DCIPHER with the jurisdiction-issued nCoV ID, unless other arrangements to transmit data have been made and approved by CDC.
2. If a specimen is tested locally and is NEGATIVE:
    a. If the person is already in DCIPHER, please update the person's disposition to 'PUI, tested negative' in DCIPHER.
3. If a specimen is tested locally, is POSITIVE, and is the jurisdiction's first case or is part of a unique event (e.g., part of a large cluster of potential cases within a group at high risk):
    a. Call the EOC Watch Desk/PUI desk at 770-488-7100 and notify CDC of the positive result.
    b. On the call with CDC, please provide: (1) jurisdiction-issued nCoV ID and (2) a brief summary of the person's information that aligns with information collected and submitted on the PUI and Case Report Form.
4. If a specimen is tested locally, is POSITIVE, and is from a jurisdiction with existing presumptive or confirmed cases and is not part of a unique event (e.g., part of a large cluster of potential cases within a group at high risk):
    a. Update the person's disposition in DCIPHER to "Confirmed Case"

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

For jurisdictions that are in 'Phase 1':

1. The jurisdictions should call the EOC Watch Desk/PUI desk at 770-488-7100 to receive a CDC-issued nCoV ID, and to complete a PUI and Case Report Form.
2. If a specimen is tested locally and is NEGATIVE, no further action is needed unless the person has already been reported to CDC as a PUI; if so:
    a. Please email eocevent118@cdc.gov and provide the nCoV ID and test result.
3. If a specimen is tested locally and is POSITIVE:
    a. Call the EOC Watch Desk/PUI desk at 770-488-7100 and notify them of the positive result.
    b. On the call with CDC, please provide: (1) jurisdiction-issued nCoV ID and (2) a brief summary of the person's information that aligns with information collected on the PUI and Case Report form.

For reporting jurisdictions that do not have testing capacity and are sending specimens to CDC for testing:
For jurisdictions that are in 'Phase 2':

1. The jurisdiction should enter all PUIs into DCIPHER with the jurisdiction-issued nCoV IDs, unless other arrangements to transmit data have been made and approved by CDC.
2. Please ensure the jurisdiction-issued nCoV ID is entered in the alternative specimen ID field on the 50.34/DASH form sent in with the specimen to CDC for testing.
3. Testing results will be returned to the state lab per current protocol.

For jurisdictions that are in 'Phase 1':

1. The jurisdiction should call the EOC Watch Desk/PUI desk at 770-488-7100 to obtain a CDC-issued nCoV ID number, and complete a PUI and Case Report Form.
2. Please make sure the CDC-issued nCoV ID is entered in the alternative specimen ID field on the 50.34/DASH form sent in with the specimen to CDC for testing.
3. Testing results will be returned to the state lab per current protocol.

5. Management of the PHLIP reporting process

CDC and APHL have been working with public health laboratories to add automated reporting of the novel coronavirus test results through their existing influenza reporting mechanism, which is most frequently PHLIP.

We ask that participating PHLIP labs begin including nCoV IDs within the lab test message reported through PHLIP. This will allow CDC to: (1) Match these records with persons reported into DCIPHER and (2) work with states to properly characterize the status of persons without existing records in DCIPHER. Information on how to include the nCoV ID in the message has been made available via APHL starting at the bottom of Page 4 (https://www.aphl.org/Materials/02.12.2020_Informatics_FAQs_and_Guidance.pdf).

6. Prioritization of PUI/Case Report variables

To support improved data reporting, CDC has employed the Data Collation & Integration for Public Health Event Response (DCIPHER) platform that jurisdictions can use to directly enter or import and view their data. As of Friday, March 13, all 50 states and 3 jurisdictions (New York City, Washington DC, and U.S. Virgin Islands) are using DCIPHER for the COVID-19 response. Previously, to support jurisdictions in providing timely case information, CDC group the variables included in the National Case Report into 3 tiers to help jurisdictions prioritize what data are collected and reported. While all the information being collected is important, the variables that were included on CDC's list of Tier 1 and Tier 2 variables [High Priority Variables] are key to understanding the current burden of disease and its transmission within communities. Further, it is important that this information be entered/submitted within 24 hours of the case being identified to provide adequate situational awareness. The remaining variables (previously referred to as Tier 3 variables) should be submitted as soon as possible, some, of which, may require following up with cases over time.

7. Major avoidable challenges we hope to overcome with your assistance
We recognize the challenges that public health emergencies bring. With your assistance, we hope to avoid the following challenges by following the processes outlined above:

1. Unclear data flow processes for jurisdictional data on PUI and case-patients to CDC
2. Laboratory samples that are not able to be linked with PUI or case-patients
3. Incorrect reports of national and state-level PUI and case burden, as well as descriptive statistics about the population impacted

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

We appreciate your ongoing partnership. Please email eocevent118@cdc.gov with any questions regarding the PUI or case reporting process.

Best,

Dear CSTE Colleagues,

Summary: State and local public health laboratories are no longer required to send “presumptive positive” samples to CDC for confirmation. From now on, respiratory samples positive for SARS-CoV2 in a state and public-health laboratory will be considered “positive” with no need for further testing.

More details: Last night, FDA accepted CDC’s request for “enforcement discretion” to allow state and local public-health laboratories to consider positive samples to be interpreted as “positive” with no need for confirmatory testing. This action was supported by data submitted by CDC showing agreement between results in state and local public health labs with corresponding results from CDC. CDC was asked to submit an amendment to its emergency-use authorization (EUA) for formal review.

For epidemiologists, this means that the cases that previously were considered “presumptive” will all now be considered “confirmed.”

Your laboratories should have received notification of this change already through APHL. These changes are retrospective such that samples already submitted to CDC for confirmation and had been awaiting confirmation may now be considered to be positive. CDC is still interested in receiving any specimens for which testing was “inconclusive” and which could not be resolved by repeat testing.

Sincerely,

Gregory Armstrong, MD

Dear Partners,

CDC continues to institute a standard process for confirming publicly reported cases by jurisdiction.

What you need to do/know now:

- We will conduct case confirmation daily (for web posting Monday–Friday). As the response evolves, the frequency of these requests will likely decrease.
- At the bottom of this email, you will find a table with the following:
  - current preliminary case counts we have for each jurisdiction as of 4 pm ET on Tuesday, March 17.
  - general community level transmission characterization
- By 9 am ET Wednesday, March 18, please use the CDC Case Confirmation Portal (data are collected via Epi Info and stored on a secure CDC server) to:
  - confirm case counts for your jurisdiction (your numbers as of 4 pm ET Tuesday, March 17)
  - if needed, modify your "community level transmission characterization"

https://go.usa.gov/xdtyJ

What you need to know about how your information will be presented:

- These data represent cases detected and tested in the United States through U.S. public health surveillance systems since January 21, 2020. They do not include people who returned to the United States via State Department-chartered flights. We ask that the preliminary information shared in this email not be distributed.
- What will be shared on the CDC website (updated daily at 12 pm, ET):
  - The total case count, i.e., the actual number of total cases (e.g., 0, 6, 35) will be posted. EXCEPTION: Jurisdictions with one to five cases will be depicted as a range: "1–5 cases"
  - Community level transmission characterization
  - Other information shared will be used for internal awareness and will not be shared publicly at this time.

What you need to do/know later:

- DCIPHER users can update and analyze their own jurisdiction's data at: https://dcipher.cdc.gov/. If your jurisdiction does not currently have DCIPHER users, but you would like to move to Phase 2 reporting as described in the attached guidance, please email eocevent118@cdc.gov to confirm your readiness.

Sincerely,

CDC COVID-19 Epidemiology Task Force

Instructions for Completing the Human Infection with 2019 Novel Coronavirus (COVID-19) Person Under Investigation (PUI) and Case Report Form

Purpose: This document describes the procedures for completing the 2019 Novel Coronavirus (COVID-19) Person Under Investigation (PUI) and Case Report Form (CRF) for persons under investigation who are being tested or have been tested for the virus that causes COVID-19.

- PUI: Any person who is currently under investigation for having the virus that causes COVID-19, or who was under investigation but tested negative for the virus.
- Laboratory-confirmed case of COVID-19: Individual who has tested positive for the virus that causes COVID-19 in at least one respiratory specimen (Note: effective 3/14/2020 there is no longer the designation of "presumptive positive").

If a sample from a PUI tests positive for the virus that causes COVID-19, the form should be updated to indicate an individual's change in status from a PUI to being a laboratory-confirmed case.

The form should be completed if a person has a positive laboratory result for the virus that causes COVID-19, even when not previously identified as a PUI.

General:

1. All dates should be formatted MM/DD/YYYY.
2. If completing the .pdf version of the form, use an "X" to mark boxes. Make sure to carefully mark boxes so that the "X" does not cross multiple boxes.

Header:

PATIENT IDENTIFIER INFORMATION IS NOT TRANSMITTED TO CDC AND IS FOR LOCAL-USE ONLY:
Patient first name: Enter case's first (given) name.
Patient last name: Enter case's last (family) name.
Date of birth (MM/DD/YYYY): Enter date of birth in MM/DD/YYYY format.

ID information:

Reporting jurisdiction: Enter the reporting jurisdiction where the PUI or case was identified. The reporting jurisdiction must be a state/city/territory authorized to submit data through NNDSS.

Reporting health department: Enter the name of the health department completing the PUI or case report.

Case state/local ID: Enter a local-use ID assigned by the state or local health department if desired for patient tracking or matching.

CDC 2019-nCoV ID: Enter the CDC 2019-nCoV ID assigned to the PUI or case. If the case was already identified as a PUI in collaboration with CDC, or was part of a contact investigation in which CDC was collaborating with the state or local health department, this CDC 2019-nCoV ID should have already been assigned and the CDC 2019-nCoV ID that was already provided by CDC should be entered. The CDC 2019 nCoV ID should be a part of the state or local health departments records; please check with the reporting jurisdiction. This may have previously been called a PUI ID. Do not assign a new 2019-nCoV ID for these individuals.

If this is a new PUI or case that was not previously under investigation or reported, the CDC 2019-nCoV ID should be assigned by the jurisdiction. CDC 2019-nCoV IDs should be assigned for all PUIs and laboratory-confirmed cases so that this person can be tracked at the jurisdictional and national level. The reporting jurisdiction should assign the CDC 2019-nCoV ID, and use this ID for all specimens and data transmitted to CDC for that person. The structure of the ID should be as follows:

!!! Important !!!

Do not add special characters, dashes, or white spaces to the nCoV ID. The alpha- and numeric-portions of the ID are seamless. The numeric portion of the ID cannot begin with zero ('0').

What is the current status of this person?

- Select "PUI, testing pending" if a PUI has been identified but the initial laboratory testing has not yet been completed.
- Select "PUI, tested negative" if a PUI was previously identified, but the laboratory testing for the virus that causes COVID-19 was negative.
- Select "laboratory-confirmed case" if a person has at least one respiratory specimen that tested positive for the virus that causes COVID-19 by a CDC laboratory, state or local public health laboratory, or commercial laboratory using FDA-validated COVID 19 NAA. HCP are defined as all paid and unpaid persons working in health-care settings who have the potential for exposure to patients and/or to infectious materials, including body substances, contaminated medical supplies and equipment, contaminated environmental surfaces, or contaminated air. HCP might include (but are not limited to) physicians, nurses, nursing assistants, therapists, technicians, emergency medical service personnel, dental personnel, pharmacists, laboratory personnel, autopsy personnel, students and trainees, contractual staff not employed by the health-care facility, and persons (e.g., clerical, dietary, housekeeping, laundry, security, maintenance, administrative, billing, and volunteers) not directly involved in patient care but potentially exposed to infectious agents that can be transmitted to and from HCP and patients.

Does the patient have a history of being in a healthcare facility (as a patient, worker, or visitor) in China?: Select the appropriate response.

In the 14 days prior to illness onset, did the patient have any of the following exposures: Check all that apply. For healthcare contact with another lab-confirmed COVID-19 case-patient, check if the PUI or case-patient identified in the current form was a patient, a visitor (e.g., accompanying family member who was seeking care), or a healthcare worker, when they contacted a lab-confirmed COVID-19 case-patient.

If the PUI or case-patient traveled to a non-US country that was not China, select all of the countries that the person traveled to within the past 14 days by selecting all relevant response options from the drop-down menu. AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Symptoms, clinical course, past medical history and social history:

Collected from (check all that apply): Please select “patient interview” or “medical record review.” If both sources were used to collect information on symptoms, clinical course, past medical history, and social history, please select both response options.

During this illness, did you experience any of the following symptoms? Please select “Yes,” “No,” or “Unknown” for each specific symptom. Please indicate the symptoms that the PUI or case-patient has experienced to date, even if he/she is no longer experiencing these symptoms. All symptoms should have an answer. If other symptoms were experienced, then describe the symptom in the space after “Other”.

Pre-existing medical conditions?: Mark the appropriate response based on whether the PUI or case-patient has any pre-existing medical conditions prior to investigation or confirmation of COVID-19. If PUI or case-patient has no pre-existing medical conditions, mark “No.” If not collected during interview and medical chart is missing, mark “Unknown.” After answering the initial (summary) question, please provide a response for each pre-existing condition. All questions—other than pregnancy—pertain to a current or past history of the condition. If “Yes” to neurologic/neurodevelopment/intellectual disability or Other Chronic Diseases, please specify. The pregnancy question should be marked “Yes” if the PUI or case-patient is female and currently or recently pregnant (i.e., gave birth while ill with COVID-19).

Current smoker: Select the appropriate response.

Former smoker: Select the appropriate response.

Respiratory diagnostic testing: For each pathogen, indicate whether the test was positive, negative, pending, or not done. If the PUI or case-patient had a test performed for another pathogen, please check the appropriate test result and specify the name of the pathogen next to “Other, Specify.” (In DCIPHER, please specify additional tests/pathogens only if they are positive.) If multiple tests for the same pathogen were completed, mark “Positive” if any of the tests for that pathogen were positive during the course of the illness suspected to be COVID-19.

Specimens for COVID-19 testing: For each specimen tested for the virus that causes COVID-19, record if the specimen was from a nasopharyngeal swab (NP), oropharyngeal swab (OP), sputum, or other specimen (specify type). If combined NP/OP swabs are collected, record results in the field for NP swabs. Jurisdictions can provide up to three results for each type of specimen; if additional specimens are collected, please provide information about these specimens in the “additional state/local specimen ID” fields below this question. If there are still additional specimens, please use the notes field following the specimen collection information to provide specimen IDs. Provide the local, state, or jurisdictional specimen ID associated with each specimen, as well as the date the specimen was collected in MM/DD/YYYY format. For specimens tested at a local or state public health laboratory or at a commercial laboratory, select ”State Lab Tested.” For specimens tested at CDC, select “Sent to CDC.” For each test performed, indicate the result: positive, negative, pending, not done, or indeterminate.

Please update these test results as they become available.

Additional state/local Specimen IDs: Provide additional specimen IDs from state/local laboratories for specimens tested for the virus that causes COVID-19. If needed, prioritize listing those specimens testing positive for the virus that causes COVID-19, regardless of specimen type.

Updated Sunday, March 15 (major updates are highlighted in yellow)

Dear state and territorial partners:

Thank you for your continued partnership in the ongoing emergency response to COVID-19. The information included below aligns with what was shared by CDC during the 5 pm ET CSTE call on Saturday, February 29th, a CSTE email sent Friday, March 6th, and in a CSTE email sent during the weekend of March 14 regarding: 1) confirming a jurisdiction's 'Phase 2' status for reporting PUI and cases; 2) additional guidance on using the current PUI and Case Report Form, including classification of all positive laboratory tests as confirmed cases; 3) update on the status of historical PUI data imports into DCIPHER; 4) clarifications to the CDC reporting process for PUI/Case Report Forms and lab findings; 5) management of the PHLIP laboratory reporting process; 6) prioritization of the PUI/Case Report variables; and 7) major avoidable issues we hope to overcome with your assistance.

1. Jurisdictional 'Phase 2' Status

Given the need to maintain timely, actionable data at the national level, and process laboratory results at CDC for testing, all jurisdictions should now be, or actively working towards being, onboarded to 'Phase 2', which includes being able to assign unique identifiers to PUI/cases at the reporting jurisdiction level. If your jurisdiction has not yet confirmed its 'Phase 2' status, including how you will be inputting data into DCIPHER (preferred method: direct entry), please email eocevent118@cdc.gov.

Reminder: as of March 6th, CDC made the reporting of PUI to CDC through DCIPHER optional for jurisdictions in Phase 2. Jurisdictions should continue to report positive cases to CDC using the combined PUI/Case Report Form.

2. Updates to PUI and Case Report Form (CRF) on CDC's Website

Please continue to use the 5 status classifications below when completing a CRF. However, note the changes in how to apply the classifications.

1. PUI, testing pending
2. PUI, tested negative
3. Presumptive case (positive test by state or local health department lab*), confirmatory testing pending
4. Presumptive case (positive test by state or local health department lab*), confirmatory testing negative
5. Laboratory-confirmed case†

These designations are no longer applicable on or after 3/14/2020*

†Now includes positive tests conducted by the CDC laboratory, commercial lab using FDA-validated COVID 19 NAA, or state or local health department lab.

These changes reflect FDA's acceptance of CDC's request for "enforcement discretion" to allow state and local public-health laboratories to consider positive samples to be interpreted as "positive" with no need for confirmatory testing. This action was supported by data submitted by CDC showing agreement between results in state and local public health labs with corresponding results from CDC. These changes are retrospective such that samples already submitted to CDC for confirmation and had been awaiting confirmation may now be considered to be positive. CDC is still interested in receiving any specimens for which testing was "inconclusive" and which could not be resolved by repeat testing. For reporting purposes, these persons can be classified as "PUI, testing pending" until resulted by the CDC Laboratory. For epidemiologists, this will have little impact operationally, since the policy from the beginning was to act on "presumptive positives" as though they have already been confirmed. This means that the cases that previously were considered "presumptive" will all now be considered "confirmed". For CDC analyses, presumptive and confirmed positive cases will be treated the same. Jurisdictions do not need to make changes to the historical data previously reported to CDC.

Critical laboratory testing result fields are included at the end of the CRF to reflect COVID-19 laboratory test results. To minimize the need for making changes to the CRF at this time, please use the same fields to report specimens tested at the local level whether the testing laboratory was the state or jurisdiction public health laboratory or commercial laboratory. Further, if the specimen was from a combined nasopharyngeal (NP) and oropharyngeal (OP) swab, record the results in the NP swab field. CDC will work towards populating our laboratory results into the CDC result field for each specimen sent to us so that results can be viewed in DCIPHER as they are resulted and communicated to individual jurisdictions. To support this matching process and to ensure the specimen is tested, please make sure to include an nCoV ID when submitting the specimen(s) to CDC.

If the PUI or case-patient had traveled on a cruise, had exposure to large social gatherings (e.g. conference, concert), or work-related exposures to large groups (e.g. airport screeners, port workers), please indicate in the free text field available with the "Other, specify:" option for the question: "In the 14 days prior to illness onset, did the patient have any of the following exposures (check all that apply)."

Changes will also be reflected in the material made available on CDC's website.

3. Historical PUI Data Imported into DCIPHER

As of February 28, data reported to CDC on PUI, presumptive cases, and laboratory-confirmed cases have been made available in DCIPHER.

- Jurisdictions in 'Phase 2' are now able to go into the DCIPHER platform to view and edit existing records of PUI, presumptive positive, and laboratory-confirmed cases, as their status changes or more data become available.
- Jurisdictions in 'Phase 1' should continue to call the EOC Watch Desk at 770-488-7100 to update information on existing PUI, cases of COVID-19.

4. CDC Reporting Process for PUI/Case Reports and Lab Findings – Revised March 6th

CDC laboratory has received several specimens that were not assigned an nCoV ID. Please note that all specimens need an nCoV ID for submission to CDC laboratory. In the event that a sample is missing an nCoV ID, the specimen will be frozen, our staff will reach out to the point-of-contact listed on the submission form, and we will test the specimen once the nCoV ID has been submitted. Please provide an nCoV ID with all specimens to avoid delays in testing.

As of March 6, information for PUIs no longer needs to be entered into DCIPHER. However, jurisdictions may use NNDSS or DCIPHER to manage their PUIs.

For reporting jurisdictions that have the capacity to do their own testing:

For jurisdictions that are in 'Phase 2':

1. The jurisdiction should enter cases into DCIPHER with the jurisdiction-issued nCoV ID, unless other arrangements to transmit data have been made and approved by CDC.
2. If a specimen is tested locally and is NEGATIVE:
    a. If the person is already in DCIPHER, please update the person's disposition to 'PUI, tested negative' in DCIPHER.
3. If a specimen is tested locally, is POSITIVE, and is the jurisdiction's first case or is part of a unique event (e.g., part of a large cluster of potential cases within a group at high risk):
    a. Call the EOC Watch Desk/PUI desk at 770-488-7100 and notify CDC of the positive result.
    b. On the call with CDC, please provide: (1) jurisdiction-issued nCoV ID and (2) a brief summary of the person's information that aligns with information collected and submitted on the PUI and Case Report Form.
4. If a specimen is tested locally, is POSITIVE, and is from a jurisdiction with existing presumptive or confirmed cases and is not part of a unique event (e.g., part of a large cluster of potential cases within a group at high risk):
    a. Update the person's disposition in DCIPHER to "Confirmed Case"

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

For jurisdictions that are in 'Phase 1':

1. The jurisdictions should call the EOC Watch Desk/PUI desk at 770-488-7100 to receive a CDC-issued nCoV ID, and to complete a PUI and Case Report Form.
2. If a specimen is tested locally and is NEGATIVE, no further action is needed unless the person has already been reported to CDC as a PUI; if so:
    a. Please email eocevent118@cdc.gov and provide the nCoV ID and test result.
3. If a specimen is tested locally and is POSITIVE:
    a. Call the EOC Watch Desk/PUI desk at 770-488-7100 and notify them of the positive result.
    b. On the call with CDC, please provide: (1) jurisdiction-issued nCoV ID and (2) a brief summary of the person's information that aligns with information collected on the PUI and Case Report form.

For reporting jurisdictions that do not have testing capacity and are sending specimens to CDC for testing:
For jurisdictions that are in 'Phase 2':

1. The jurisdiction should enter all PUIs into DCIPHER with the jurisdiction-issued nCoV IDs, unless other arrangements to transmit data have been made and approved by CDC.
2. Please ensure the jurisdiction-issued nCoV ID is entered in the alternative specimen ID field on the 50.34/DASH form sent in with the specimen to CDC for testing.
3. Testing results will be returned to the state lab per current protocol.

For jurisdictions that are in 'Phase 1':

1. The jurisdiction should call the EOC Watch Desk/PUI desk at 770-488-7100 to obtain a CDC-issued nCoV ID number, and complete a PUI and Case Report Form.
2. Please make sure the CDC-issued nCoV ID is entered in the alternative specimen ID field on the 50.34/DASH form sent in with the specimen to CDC for testing.
3. Testing results will be returned to the state lab per current protocol.

5. Management of the PHLIP reporting process

CDC and APHL have been working with public health laboratories to add automated reporting of the novel coronavirus test results through their existing influenza reporting mechanism, which is most frequently PHLIP.

We ask that participating PHLIP labs begin including nCoV IDs within the lab test message reported through PHLIP. This will allow CDC to: (1) Match these records with persons reported into DCIPHER and (2) work with states to properly characterize the status of persons without existing records in DCIPHER. Information on how to include the nCoV ID in the message has been made available via APHL starting at the bottom of Page 4 (https://www.aphl.org/Materials/02.12.2020_Informatics_FAQs_and_Guidance.pdf).

6. Prioritization of PUI/Case Report variables

To support improved data reporting, CDC has employed the Data Collation & Integration for Public Health Event Response (DCIPHER) platform that jurisdictions can use to directly enter or import and view their data. As of Friday, March 13, all 50 states and 3 jurisdictions (New York City, Washington DC, and U.S. Virgin Islands) are using DCIPHER for the COVID-19 response. Previously, to support jurisdictions in providing timely case information, CDC group the variables included in the National Case Report into 3 tiers to help jurisdictions prioritize what data are collected and reported. While all the information being collected is important, the variables that were included on CDC's list of Tier 1 and Tier 2 variables [High Priority Variables] are key to understanding the current burden of disease and its transmission within communities. Further, it is important that this information be entered/submitted within 24 hours of the case being identified to provide adequate situational awareness. The remaining variables (previously referred to as Tier 3 variables) should be submitted as soon as possible, some, of which, may require following up with cases over time.

7. Major avoidable challenges we hope to overcome with your assistance
We recognize the challenges that public health emergencies bring. With your assistance, we hope to avoid the following challenges by following the processes outlined above:

1. Unclear data flow processes for jurisdictional data on PUI and case-patients to CDC
2. Laboratory samples that are not able to be linked with PUI or case-patients
3. Incorrect reports of national and state-level PUI and case burden, as well as descriptive statistics about the population impacted

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

We appreciate your ongoing partnership. Please email eocevent118@cdc.gov with any questions regarding the PUI or case reporting process.

Best,

Dear CSTE Colleagues,

Summary: State and local public health laboratories are no longer required to send “presumptive positive” samples to CDC for confirmation. From now on, respiratory samples positive for SARS-CoV2 in a state and public-health laboratory will be considered “positive” with no need for further testing.

More details: Last night, FDA accepted CDC’s request for “enforcement discretion” to allow state and local public-health laboratories to consider positive samples to be interpreted as “positive” with no need for confirmatory testing. This action was supported by data submitted by CDC showing agreement between results in state and local public health labs with corresponding results from CDC. CDC was asked to submit an amendment to its emergency-use authorization (EUA) for formal review.

For epidemiologists, this means that the cases that previously were considered “presumptive” will all now be considered “confirmed.”

Your laboratories should have received notification of this change already through APHL. These changes are retrospective such that samples already submitted to CDC for confirmation and had been awaiting confirmation may now be considered to be positive. CDC is still interested in receiving any specimens for which testing was “inconclusive” and which could not be resolved by repeat testing.

Sincerely,

Gregory Armstrong, MD

Dear Partners,

CDC continues to institute a standard process for confirming publicly reported cases by jurisdiction.

What you need to do/know now:

- We will conduct case confirmation daily (for web posting Monday–Friday). As the response evolves, the frequency of these requests will likely decrease.
- At the bottom of this email, you will find a table with the following:
  - current preliminary case counts we have for each jurisdiction as of 4 pm ET on Wednesday, March 18.
  - general community level transmission characterization
- By 9 am ET Thursday, March 19, please use the CDC Case Confirmation Portal (data are collected via Epi Info and stored on a secure CDC server) to:
  - confirm case counts for your jurisdiction (your numbers as of 4 pm ET Wednesday, March 18)
  - if needed, modify your "community level transmission characterization"

https://go.usa.gov/xdtyJ

What you need to know about how your information will be presented:

- These data represent cases detected and tested in the United States through U.S. public health surveillance systems since January 21, 2020. They do not include people who returned to the United States via State Department-chartered flights. We ask that the preliminary information shared in this email not be distributed.
- What will be shared on the CDC website (updated daily at 12 pm, ET):
  - The total case count, i.e., the actual number of total cases (e.g., 0, 6, 35) will be posted. EXCEPTION: Jurisdictions with one to five cases will be depicted as a range: "1–5 cases"
  - Community level transmission characterization
  - Other information shared will be used for internal awareness and will not be shared publicly at this time.

What you need to do/know later:

- DCIPHER users can update and analyze their own jurisdiction's data at: https://dcipher.cdc.gov/. If your jurisdiction does not currently have DCIPHER users, but you would like to move to Phase 2 reporting as described in the attached guidance, please email eocevent118@cdc.gov to confirm your readiness.

Sincerely,

CDC COVID-19 Epidemiology Task Force

Instructions for Completing the Human Infection with 2019 Novel Coronavirus (COVID-19) Person Under Investigation (PUI) and Case Report Form

Purpose: This document describes the procedures for completing the 2019 Novel Coronavirus (COVID-19) Person Under Investigation (PUI) and Case Report Form (CRF) for persons under investigation who are being tested or have been tested for the virus that causes COVID-19.

- PUI: Any person who is currently under investigation for having the virus that causes COVID-19, or who was under investigation but tested negative for the virus.
- Laboratory-confirmed case of COVID-19: Individual who has tested positive for the virus that causes COVID-19 in at least one respiratory specimen (Note: effective 3/14/2020 there is no longer the designation of "presumptive positive").

If a sample from a PUI tests positive for the virus that causes COVID-19, the form should be updated to indicate an individual's change in status from a PUI to being a laboratory-confirmed case.

The form should be completed if a person has a positive laboratory result for the virus that causes COVID-19, even when not previously identified as a PUI.

General:

1. All dates should be formatted MM/DD/YYYY.
2. If completing the .pdf version of the form, use an "X" to mark boxes. Make sure to carefully mark boxes so that the "X" does not cross multiple boxes.

Header:

PATIENT IDENTIFIER INFORMATION IS NOT TRANSMITTED TO CDC AND IS FOR LOCAL-USE ONLY:
Patient first name: Enter case's first (given) name.
Patient last name: Enter case's last (family) name.
Date of birth (MM/DD/YYYY): Enter date of birth in MM/DD/YYYY format.

ID information:

Reporting jurisdiction: Enter the reporting jurisdiction where the PUI or case was identified. The reporting jurisdiction must be a state/city/territory authorized to submit data through NNDSS.

Reporting health department: Enter the name of the health department completing the PUI or case report.

Case state/local ID: Enter a local-use ID assigned by the state or local health department if desired for patient tracking or matching.

CDC 2019-nCoV ID: Enter the CDC 2019-nCoV ID assigned to the PUI or case. If the case was already identified as a PUI in collaboration with CDC, or was part of a contact investigation in which CDC was collaborating with the state or local health department, this CDC 2019-nCoV ID should have already been assigned and the CDC 2019-nCoV ID that was already provided by CDC should be entered. The CDC 2019 nCoV ID should be a part of the state or local health departments records; please check with the reporting jurisdiction. This may have previously been called a PUI ID. Do not assign a new 2019-nCoV ID for these individuals.

If this is a new PUI or case that was not previously under investigation or reported, the CDC 2019-nCoV ID should be assigned by the jurisdiction. CDC 2019-nCoV IDs should be assigned for all PUIs and laboratory-confirmed cases so that this person can be tracked at the jurisdictional and national level. The reporting jurisdiction should assign the CDC 2019-nCoV ID, and use this ID for all specimens and data transmitted to CDC for that person. The structure of the ID should be as follows:

!!! Important !!!

Do not add special characters, dashes, or white spaces to the nCoV ID. The alpha- and numeric-portions of the ID are seamless. The numeric portion of the ID cannot begin with zero ('0').

Did the patient die as a result of this illness? Select appropriate response. If "Yes," then enter date of death in MM/DD/YYYY format. If unknown date of death, please select “Unknown date of death.” (In DCIPHER, this is phrased as “Check if date of death unknown.”)

Is the patient a health care worker in the United States?: Select the appropriate response. HCP are defined as all paid and unpaid persons working in health-care settings who have the potential for exposure to patients and/or to infectious materials, including body substances, contaminated medical supplies and equipment, contaminated environmental surfaces, or contaminated air. HCP might include (but are not limited to) physicians, nurses, nursing assistants, therapists, technicians, emergency medical service personnel, dental personnel, pharmacists, laboratory personnel, autopsy personnel, students and trainees, contractual staff not employed by the health-care facility, and persons (e.g., clerical, dietary, housekeeping, laundry, security, maintenance, administrative, billing, and volunteers) not directly involved in patient care but potentially exposed to infectious agents that can be transmitted to and from HCP and patients.

Does the patient have a history of being in a healthcare facility (as a patient, worker, or visitor) in China?: Select the appropriate response.

In the 14 days prior to illness onset, did the patient have any of the following exposures: Check all that apply. For healthcare contact with another lab-confirmed COVID-19 case-patient, check if the PUI or case-patient identified in the current form was a patient, a visitor (e.g., accompanying family member who was seeking care), or a healthcare worker, when they contacted a lab-confirmed COVID-19 case-patient.

If the PUI or case-patient traveled to a non-US country that was not China, select all of the countries that the person traveled to within the past 14 days by selecting all relevant response options from the drop-down menu. If the country that the PUI or case-patient traveled to in the past 14 days is not listed, you may write the appropriate country in the text field. If the PUI or case-patient had traveled on a cruise, had exposure to large social gatherings (e.g. conference, concert), or had work-related exposures to large groups (e.g. airport screeners, port workers), please include details in the free text field.

If the patient had contact with another COVID-19 case, was this person a U.S. case?: Select the appropriate response. If yes, please provide the nCoV ID of the source case. If the patient did not have contact with another case, please select “N/A.”

Under what process was the PUI or case first identified? Please check all that apply. If identified by the EpiX notification of travelers, please provide the DGMQID. If other, please specify.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Symptoms, clinical course, past medical history and social history:

Collected from (check all that apply): Please select “patient interview” or “medical record review.” If both sources were used to collect information on symptoms, clinical course, past medical history, and social history, please select both response options.

During this illness, did you experience any of the following symptoms? Please select “Yes,” “No,” or “Unknown” for each specific symptom. Please indicate the symptoms that the PUI or case-patient has experienced to date, even if he/she is no longer experiencing these symptoms. All symptoms should have an answer. If other symptoms were experienced, then describe the symptom in the space after “Other”.

Pre-existing medical conditions?: Mark the appropriate response based on whether the PUI or case-patient has any pre-existing medical conditions prior to investigation or confirmation of COVID-19. If PUI or case-patient has no pre-existing medical conditions, mark “No.” If not collected during interview and medical chart is missing, mark “Unknown.” After answering the initial (summary) question, please provide a response for each pre-existing condition. All questions—other than pregnancy—pertain to a current or past history of the condition. If “Yes” to neurologic/neurodevelopment/intellectual disability or Other Chronic Diseases, please specify. The pregnancy question should be marked “Yes” if the PUI or case-patient is female and currently or recently pregnant (i.e., gave birth while ill with COVID-19).

Current smoker: Select the appropriate response.

Former smoker: Select the appropriate response.

Respiratory diagnostic testing: For each pathogen, indicate whether the test was positive, negative, pending, or not done. If the PUI or case-patient had a test performed for another pathogen, please check the appropriate test result and specify the name of the pathogen next to “Other, Specify.” (In DCIPHER, please specify additional tests/pathogens only if they are positive.) If multiple tests for the same pathogen were completed, mark “Positive” if any of the tests for that pathogen were positive during the course of the illness suspected to be COVID-19.

Specimens for COVID-19 testing: For each specimen tested for the virus that causes COVID-19, record if the specimen was from a nasopharyngeal swab (NP), oropharyngeal swab (OP), sputum, or other specimen (specify type). If combined NP/OP swabs are collected, record results in the field for NP swabs. Jurisdictions can provide up to three results for each type of specimen; if additional specimens are collected, please provide information about these specimens in the “additional state/local specimen ID” fields below this question. If there are still additional specimens, please use the notes field following the specimen collection information to provide specimen IDs. Provide the local, state, or jurisdictional specimen ID associated with each specimen, as well as the date the specimen was collected in MM/DD/YYYY format. For specimens tested at a local or state public health laboratory or at a commercial laboratory, select ”State Lab Tested.” For specimens tested at CDC, select “Sent to CDC.” For each test performed, indicate the result: positive, negative, pending, not done, or indeterminate.

Please update these test results as they become available.

Additional state/local Specimen IDs: Provide additional specimen IDs from state/local laboratories for specimens tested for the virus that causes COVID-19. If needed, prioritize listing those specimens testing positive for the virus that causes COVID-19, regardless of specimen type.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Updated Sunday, March 15 (major updates are highlighted in yellow)

Dear state and territorial partners:

Thank you for your continued partnership in the ongoing emergency response to COVID-19. The information included below aligns with what was shared by CDC during the 5 pm ET CSTE call on Saturday, February 29th, a CSTE email sent Friday, March 6th, and in a CSTE email sent during the weekend of March 14 regarding: 1) confirming a jurisdiction's 'Phase 2' status for reporting PUI and cases; 2) additional guidance on using the current PUI and Case Report Form, including classification of all positive laboratory tests as confirmed cases; 3) update on the status of historical PUI data imports into DCIPHER; 4) clarifications to the CDC reporting process for PUI/Case Report Forms and lab findings; 5) management of the PHLIP laboratory reporting process; 6) prioritization of the PUI/Case Report variables; and 7) major avoidable issues we hope to overcome with your assistance.

1. Jurisdictional 'Phase 2' Status

Given the need to maintain timely, actionable data at the national level, and process laboratory results at CDC for testing, all jurisdictions should now be, or actively working towards being, onboarded to 'Phase 2', which includes being able to assign unique identifiers to PUI/cases at the reporting jurisdiction level. If your jurisdiction has not yet confirmed its 'Phase 2' status, including how you will be inputting data into DCIPHER (preferred method: direct entry), please email eocevent118@cdc.gov.

Reminder: as of March 6th, CDC made the reporting of PUI to CDC through DCIPHER optional for jurisdictions in Phase 2. Jurisdictions should continue to report positive cases to CDC using the combined PUI/Case Report Form.

2. Updates to PUI and Case Report Form (CRF) on CDC's Website

Please continue to use the 5 status classifications below when completing a CRF. However, note the changes in how to apply the classifications.

1. PUI, testing pending
2. PUI, tested negative
3. Presumptive case (positive test by state or local health department lab*), confirmatory testing pending
4. Presumptive case (positive test by state or local health department lab*), confirmatory testing negative
5. Laboratory-confirmed case†

These designations are no longer applicable on or after 3/14/2020*

†Now includes positive tests conducted by the CDC laboratory, commercial lab using FDA-validated COVID 19 NAA, or state or local health department lab.

These changes reflect FDA's acceptance of CDC's request for "enforcement discretion" to allow state and local public-health laboratories to consider positive samples to be interpreted as "positive" with no need for confirmatory testing. This action was supported by data submitted by CDC showing agreement between results in state and local public health labs with corresponding results from CDC. These changes are retrospective such that samples already submitted to CDC for confirmation and had been awaiting confirmation may now be considered to be positive. CDC is still interested in receiving any specimens for which testing was "inconclusive" and which could not be resolved by repeat testing. For reporting purposes, these persons can be classified as "PUI, testing pending" until resulted by the CDC Laboratory. For epidemiologists, this will have little impact operationally, since the policy from the beginning was to act on "presumptive positives" as though they have already been confirmed. This means that the cases that previously were considered "presumptive" will all now be considered "confirmed". For CDC analyses, presumptive and confirmed positive cases will be treated the same. Jurisdictions do not need to make changes to the historical data previously reported to CDC.

Critical laboratory testing result fields are included at the end of the CRF to reflect COVID-19 laboratory test results. To minimize the need for making changes to the CRF at this time, please use the same fields to report specimens tested at the local level whether the testing laboratory was the state or jurisdiction public health laboratory or commercial laboratory. Further, if the specimen was from a combined nasopharyngeal (NP) and oropharyngeal (OP) swab, record the results in the NP swab field. CDC will work towards populating our laboratory results into the CDC result field for each specimen sent to us so that results can be viewed in DCIPHER as they are resulted and communicated to individual jurisdictions. To support this matching process and to ensure the specimen is tested, please make sure to include an nCoV ID when submitting the specimen(s) to CDC.

If the PUI or case-patient had traveled on a cruise, had exposure to large social gatherings (e.g. conference, concert), or work-related exposures to large groups (e.g. airport screeners, port workers), please indicate in the free text field available with the "Other, specify:" option for the question: "In the 14 days prior to illness onset, did the patient have any of the following exposures (check all that apply)."

Changes will also be reflected in the material made available on CDC's website.

3. Historical PUI Data Imported into DCIPHER

As of February 28, data reported to CDC on PUI, presumptive cases, and laboratory-confirmed cases have been made available in DCIPHER.

- Jurisdictions in 'Phase 2' are now able to go into the DCIPHER platform to view and edit existing records of PUI, presumptive positive, and laboratory-confirmed cases, as their status changes or more data become available.
- Jurisdictions in 'Phase 1' should continue to call the EOC Watch Desk at 770-488-7100 to update information on existing PUI, cases of COVID-19.

4. CDC Reporting Process for PUI/Case Reports and Lab Findings – Revised March 6th

CDC laboratory has received several specimens that were not assigned an nCoV ID. Please note that all specimens need an nCoV ID for submission to CDC laboratory. In the event that a sample is missing an nCoV ID, the specimen will be frozen, our staff will reach out to the point-of-contact listed on the submission form, and we will test the specimen once the nCoV ID has been submitted. Please provide an nCoV ID with all specimens to avoid delays in testing.

As of March 6, information for PUIs no longer needs to be entered into DCIPHER. However, jurisdictions may use NNDSS or DCIPHER to manage their PUIs.

For reporting jurisdictions that have the capacity to do their own testing:

For jurisdictions that are in 'Phase 2':

1. The jurisdiction should enter cases into DCIPHER with the jurisdiction-issued nCoV ID, unless other arrangements to transmit data have been made and approved by CDC.
2. If a specimen is tested locally and is NEGATIVE:
    a. If the person is already in DCIPHER, please update the person's disposition to 'PUI, tested negative' in DCIPHER.
3. If a specimen is tested locally, is POSITIVE, and is the jurisdiction's first case or is part of a unique event (e.g., part of a large cluster of potential cases within a group at high risk):
    a. Call the EOC Watch Desk/PUI desk at 770-488-7100 and notify CDC of the positive result.
    b. On the call with CDC, please provide: (1) jurisdiction-issued nCoV ID and (2) a brief summary of the person's information that aligns with information collected and submitted on the PUI and Case Report Form.
4. If a specimen is tested locally, is POSITIVE, and is from a jurisdiction with existing presumptive or confirmed cases and is not part of a unique event (e.g., part of a large cluster of potential cases within a group at high risk):
    a. Update the person's disposition in DCIPHER to "Confirmed Case"

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

For jurisdictions that are in 'Phase 1':

1. The jurisdictions should call the EOC Watch Desk/PUI desk at 770-488-7100 to receive a CDC-issued nCoV ID, and to complete a PUI and Case Report Form.
2. If a specimen is tested locally and is NEGATIVE, no further action is needed unless the person has already been reported to CDC as a PUI; if so:
    a. Please email eocevent118@cdc.gov and provide the nCoV ID and test result.
3. If a specimen is tested locally and is POSITIVE:
    a. Call the EOC Watch Desk/PUI desk at 770-488-7100 and notify them of the positive result.
    b. On the call with CDC, please provide: (1) jurisdiction-issued nCoV ID and (2) a brief summary of the person's information that aligns with information collected on the PUI and Case Report form.

For reporting jurisdictions that do not have testing capacity and are sending specimens to CDC for testing:
For jurisdictions that are in 'Phase 2':

1. The jurisdiction should enter all PUIs into DCIPHER with the jurisdiction-issued nCoV IDs, unless other arrangements to transmit data have been made and approved by CDC.
2. Please ensure the jurisdiction-issued nCoV ID is entered in the alternative specimen ID field on the 50.34/DASH form sent in with the specimen to CDC for testing.
3. Testing results will be returned to the state lab per current protocol.

For jurisdictions that are in 'Phase 1':

1. The jurisdiction should call the EOC Watch Desk/PUI desk at 770-488-7100 to obtain a CDC-issued nCoV ID number, and complete a PUI and Case Report Form.
2. Please make sure the CDC-issued nCoV ID is entered in the alternative specimen ID field on the 50.34/DASH form sent in with the specimen to CDC for testing.
3. Testing results will be returned to the state lab per current protocol.

5. Management of the PHLIP reporting process

CDC and APHL have been working with public health laboratories to add automated reporting of the novel coronavirus test results through their existing influenza reporting mechanism, which is most frequently PHLIP.

We ask that participating PHLIP labs begin including nCoV IDs within the lab test message reported through PHLIP. This will allow CDC to: (1) Match these records with persons reported into DCIPHER and (2) work with states to properly characterize the status of persons without existing records in DCIPHER. Information on how to include the nCoV ID in the message has been made available via APHL starting at the bottom of Page 4 (https://www.aphl.org/Materials/02.12.2020_Informatics_FAQs_and_Guidance.pdf).

6. Prioritization of PUI/Case Report variables

To support improved data reporting, CDC has employed the Data Collation & Integration for Public Health Event Response (DCIPHER) platform that jurisdictions can use to directly enter or import and view their data. As of Friday, March 13, all 50 states and 3 jurisdictions (New York City, Washington DC, and U.S. Virgin Islands) are using DCIPHER for the COVID-19 response. Previously, to support jurisdictions in providing timely case information, CDC group the variables included in the National Case Report into 3 tiers to help jurisdictions prioritize what data are collected and reported. While all the information being collected is important, the variables that were included on CDC's list of Tier 1 and Tier 2 variables [High Priority Variables] are key to understanding the current burden of disease and its transmission within communities. Further, it is important that this information be entered/submitted within 24 hours of the case being identified to provide adequate situational awareness. The remaining variables (previously referred to as Tier 3 variables) should be submitted as soon as possible, some, of which, may require following up with cases over time.

7. Major avoidable challenges we hope to overcome with your assistance
We recognize the challenges that public health emergencies bring. With your assistance, we hope to avoid the following challenges by following the processes outlined above:

1. Unclear data flow processes for jurisdictional data on PUI and case-patients to CDC
2. Laboratory samples that are not able to be linked with PUI or case-patients
3. Incorrect reports of national and state-level PUI and case burden, as well as descriptive statistics about the population impacted

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

We appreciate your ongoing partnership. Please email eocevent118@cdc.gov with any questions regarding the PUI or case reporting process.

Best,

Dear CSTE Colleagues,

Summary: State and local public health laboratories are no longer required to send “presumptive positive” samples to CDC for confirmation. From now on, respiratory samples positive for SARS-CoV2 in a state and public-health laboratory will be considered “positive” with no need for further testing.

More details: Last night, FDA accepted CDC’s request for “enforcement discretion” to allow state and local public-health laboratories to consider positive samples to be interpreted as “positive” with no need for confirmatory testing. This action was supported by data submitted by CDC showing agreement between results in state and local public health labs with corresponding results from CDC. CDC was asked to submit an amendment to its emergency-use authorization (EUA) for formal review.

For epidemiologists, this means that the cases that previously were considered “presumptive” will all now be considered “confirmed.”

Your laboratories should have received notification of this change already through APHL. These changes are retrospective such that samples already submitted to CDC for confirmation and had been awaiting confirmation may now be considered to be positive. CDC is still interested in receiving any specimens for which testing was “inconclusive” and which could not be resolved by repeat testing.

Sincerely,

Gregory Armstrong, MD

CORONAVIRUS DISEASE 2019 (COVID-19) NAMING

- The International Committee on Taxonomy of Viruses named the novel coronavirus causing an outbreak of respiratory illness that was first detected in Wuhan, Hubei Province, China, Severe Acute Respiratory Syndrome Coronavirus 2 (SARS-CoV-2).
    - Due to potential for confusion with SARS-CoV, where possible, public communications will use "the virus that causes COVID-19."
- On February 11, 2020, the World Health Organization (WHO) named the disease caused by this virus Coronavirus Disease 2019 (COVID-19).
    - Disease name: COVID-19

OUTBREAK SUMMARY

- There is an expanding outbreak of COVID-19 caused by a novel (new) coronavirus.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

    - The outbreak began in China but is spreading worldwide and is now considered a pandemic.
- Initially, many of the patients reportedly had some link to a large seafood and animal market, suggesting animal-to-person spread. Since then, sustained (ongoing) person-to-person spread in the community is occurring in some international locations.
- The newly emerged COVID-19 is a respiratory disease that seems to be spreading much like flu. It can spread from person-to-person.
- The new virus can cause illness varying from mild to severe, including potentially resulting in death.
- Outbreaks like this — when a new virus has emerged to infect people and spread between people — are especially concerning.

International

- Global case numbers are reported by WHO in their COVID-19 situation reports.
    - As of March 16, more than 167,511 cases have been identified worldwide. More than 86,434 of these cases have occurred outside of China.
- On January 30, WHO declared this outbreak a Public Health Emergency of International Concern (PHEIC). A PHEIC is declared if an event poses a public health threat to other nations through the spread of disease and potentially requires a coordinated international response.
- On March 11, 2020, WHO announced that the outbreak of COVID-19 can be characterized as a pandemic.

Domestic

- On January 31, Health and Human Services Secretary Alex M. Azar II declared a public health emergency for the United States to aid the nation's healthcare community in responding to COVID-19.
- This is a very serious public health threat and the federal government is working closely with state, local, tribal, and territorial partners, as well as public health partners, to respond to this public health threat.
- The goal of the ongoing US public health response is to minimize introductions of this virus, detect new cases quickly, and reduce community spread of this new coronavirus in the US.
- As the virus continues to spread internationally and in the United States, it becomes harder and harder contain its spread.
- What is currently known about the potential cases of community spread has raised the level of concern about the immediate threat for COVID-19 for certain communities.
- The coming days and weeks are likely to bring more confirmed cases of COVID-19 in the United States and globally, but strong public health measures now may blunt the impact of the virus in the United States.
- Pandemics of respiratory disease follow a certain progression outlined in the Pandemic Intervals Framework, part of the National Pandemic Strategy.
    - Pandemics begin with an investigation phase, followed by recognition, initiation, and acceleration phases.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

    - The peak of illnesses occurs at the end of the acceleration phase, which is followed by a deceleration phase, during which there is a decrease in illnesses.
    - Different countries can be in different phases of the pandemic at any point in time and different parts of the same country can also be in different phases of a pandemic.
    - Nationally, the United States is currently in the initiation phase, but states where community spread is occurring are in the acceleration phase.
    - The duration and severity of each phase can vary depending on the characteristics of the virus and the public health response.
- Public health partners are encouraged to review their pandemic preparedness plans at this time. Selected pandemic preparedness materials are available online.
- On March 13, the President of the United States declared the COVID-19 outbreak a national emergency.
- On March 16, the White House announced a program called "15 Days to Slow the Spread." This is a nationwide effort to slow the spread of COVID-19 through the implementation of social distancing at all levels of society.

U.S. OUTBREAK STATISTICS

Cases in the United States as of March 16, 2020:

- Travel-related: 205
- Close contact: 214
- Under investigation: 3,068
- Total cases: 3,487
- Deaths: 68
- Jurisdictions reporting cases: 53 (49 states and the District of Columbia)

For global cases, please see the WHO daily situation reports.

SITUATION IN THE U.S.

- Different parts of the country are seeing different levels of COVID-19 activity. The United States nationally is currently in the initiation phase, but states where community spread is occurring are in the acceleration phase. The duration and severity of each phase can vary depending on the characteristics of the virus and the public health response.
- CDC and state and local public health laboratories are testing for the virus that causes COVID-19.
- More and more states are reporting cases of COVID-19 to CDC.
- U.S. COVID-19 cases include:
    - Imported cases in travelers
    - Cases among close contacts of a known case
    - Community-acquired cases where the source of the infection is unknown.
- Three U.S. states are experiencing sustained community spread: Washington, California, and New York.

CLUSTER IN WASHINGTON STATE

- On February 29, CDC and public health officials in the state of Washington reported three hospitalized patients who have tested presumptive-positive for the virus that causes COVID-19.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- One of the patients died and was the first reported death in the United States from COVID-19.
- Two of the patients are from a long-term care facility where one is a healthcare worker.
    - This was the first reported case in a healthcare worker.
- Additional residents and staff of the long-term care facility who have not yet been tested for COVID-19 are reportedly either ill with respiratory symptoms or hospitalized with pneumonia of unknown cause.
- The patient who died was being treated in the same hospital as one of the other presumptive positive cases, but was not a resident of the long-term care facility.
- While there is an ongoing investigation, the source of these infections is currently unknown.
- Circumstances suggest person-to-person spread, including in the long-term care facility.
- CDC has deployed a team to Washington to support the ongoing investigation to find and identify how the patients were exposed and do extensive contact tracing of people who were exposed or might have been exposed to the patients.
- CDC infection control experts are assessing the risk of additional healthcare worker exposures and carefully reviewing infection control practices within the facility to protect residents and healthcare workers from further spread of COVID-19.
    - The general strategies CDC recommends to prevent the spread of COVID-19 in long-term care facilities (LTCF) are the same strategies these facilities use every day to detect and prevent the spread of other respiratory viruses like influenza. View Strategies to Prevent the Spread of COVID-19 in LTCF for more information.
    - All healthcare facilities can take steps now to prepare for COVID-19 and protect both their patients and staff.

CORONAVIRUS BACKGROUND

- Coronaviruses are a group of viruses that have a halo or crown-like (corona) appearance when viewed under a microscope. They are common in many different species of animals, including camels, cattle, cats, and bats.
- It is rare for animal coronaviruses to become capable of infecting humans and then spreading between people.
    - Severe acute respiratory syndrome (SARS-CoV) and Middle East respiratory syndrome (MERS-CoV) are examples of coronaviruses that originated in animals and spread to people.
    - That is what is suspected happened with the virus that causes the current outbreak of COVID-19.
- Human coronaviruses are a common cause of mild to moderate upper-respiratory illness. But three coronaviruses have emerged to cause more severe illness: Severe Acute Respiratory Syndrome (SARS-CoV), Middle East Respiratory Syndrome (MERS-CoV), and now the virus that causes COVID-19.
    - At this time, there is no evidence that companion animals, including pets, can spread COVID-19. CDC has not received any reports of pets or other animals becoming sick with COVID-19.
    - There is no reason to think that any animals, including pets, in the United States might be a source of infection with this new coronavirus.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- On February 28, the Hong Kong Agriculture, Fisheries and Conservation Department (AFCD) reported a pet dog had tested "weak positive" to COVID-19 through nose and mouth samples. The dog had contact with a person infected with COVID-19.
- CDC is working with human and animal health partners to monitor this situation and will continue to provide updates as information becomes available.
- It's important to remember that dogs have their own coronaviruses, which cannot spread to people.
    - AFCD official report available

TRANSMISSION

- Much is unknown about how the new coronavirus that causes COVID-19 spreads. Current knowledge is largely based on what is known about similar coronaviruses.
- Most often, person-to-person spread is thought to happen among people in close contact (about 6 feet) with each other.
- Person-to-person spread is thought to occur mainly through respiratory droplets produced when an infected person coughs or sneezes, similar to how influenza and other respiratory pathogens spread. These droplets can land in the mouths or noses of people who are nearby or possibly be inhaled into the lungs.
- How easily a virus spreads person-to-person can vary. Some viruses are highly contagious (like measles), while other viruses are less so.
- It may be possible that a person can get COVID-19 by touching a surface or object that has the virus on it and then touching their own mouth, nose, or possibly their eyes, but this is not thought to be the main way the virus spreads.
- Typically, with most respiratory viruses, people are thought to be most contagious when they are most symptomatic (sickest).
- Mother-to-child transmission during pregnancy is unlikely, but after birth a newborn is susceptible to person-to-person spread.
- To date, CDC does not have any evidence to suggest that animals imported from China pose a risk for spreading the new coronavirus in the United States.
- At this time, CDC has no data to suggest that this new coronavirus or other similar coronaviruses are spread by mosquitoes or ticks.
    - Mosquitoes and ticks cannot spread all types of viruses. For a virus to pass to a person through a mosquito or tick bite, the virus must be able to replicate inside the mosquito or tick.
- There is much more to learn about the spread of this new coronavirus, severity of the disease, and other features associated with this outbreak and investigations are ongoing. This information will further inform the risk assessment.

DIAGNOSIS AND TREATMENT

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- CDC developed a real time Reverse Transcription-Polymerase Chain Reaction (rRT-PCR) test to detect SARS-CoV-2 (the virus that causes COVID-19) in respiratory samples from clinical specimens.
- On January 24, CDC publicly posted the assay protocol for this test.
- CDC submitted an Emergency Use Authorization (EUA) package to the U.S. Food and Drug Administration on February 3 for its test.
- FDA approved the Emergency Use Authorization on February 4.
- The first manufactured batch of CDC test kits were made available for ordering by domestic and international partners through the agency's International Reagent Resource (IRR) on February 5.
- Upon arrival at public health laboratories, when laboratories began trying to verify the assay, several laboratories reported issues.
    - Specifically, some laboratories found sporadic reactivity in the negative control of one of the three assay components.
    - This sporadic activity resulted in an inconclusive test result.
- Routine quality control (QC) measures aim to identify these types of issues. It is unclear why QC did not detect this issue before the kits were sent out to states.
- On February 18, CDC stood up a new surge laboratory to support testing for COVID-19. This expanded capacity to 350 samples per day
- On February 20, CDC completed contracts with 2 large commercial manufacturers to ensure reagent availability for the public health laboratories
- On February 26, CDC, in conjunction with FDA, determined how to move forward and shared this information immediately with public health labs through the Association of Public Health Laboratories (APHL):
    - CDC is remanufacturing the test kits to ensure that laboratories have effective and reliable kits. The new kits include the two components (e.g., reagents) that are specific to novel coronavirus.
    - Before new test kits were available:
        - States that were able to validate all three assays should continue to test in this manner.
        - States that were able to validate the other two assays (N1 and N2) can test using these two assays.
    - FDA granted CDC "enforcement discretion," which means that testing in this manner was able to move forward while an updated EUA is officially completed.
    - CDC distributed updated instructions for use through APHL.
- On February 27, CDC distributed new test kits to 7 laboratories to serve as evaluation sites to ensure these health departments are able to verify the assay. An additional 40 test kits were hand-carried to IRR for repackaging and distribution to additional public health labs.
- On February 29, IRR began to distribute new test kits to the additional 40 laboratories.
- As of the evening of March 16, at least one lab in all 50 states (and Washington, D.C.) is able to run the CDC assay. 89 public health labs are running the CDC test.
- Commercial manufacturers are now producing their own tests.
- As of March 16th, CDC has tested over 4255 samples.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- There is no specific antiviral treatment for COVID-19. People with COVID-19 should receive supportive care to help relieve symptoms.
- For severe cases, treatment should include care to support vital organ functions.

PREVENTION

- There is currently no vaccine to prevent COVID-19. The best way to prevent infection is to avoid being exposed to the virus.
- CDC always recommends everyday preventive actions to help prevent the spread of respiratory viruses, including:
    - Avoid touching your eyes, nose, and mouth with unwashed hands.
    - Avoid close contact with people who are sick.
    - Stay home when you are sick.
    - Cover your cough or sneeze with a tissue, then throw the tissue in the trash.
    - Clean and disinfect frequently touched objects and surfaces using a regular household cleaning spray or wipe.
    - Wash your hands often with soap and water for at least 20 seconds, especially after blowing your nose, coughing or sneezing; going to the bathroom; and before eating or preparing food.
    - If soap and water are not readily available, use an alcohol-based hand sanitizer with at least 60% alcohol. Always wash hands with soap and water if hands are visibly dirty.

PEOPLE AT RISK FOR SERIOUS ILLNESS

- Older adults and people who have severe underlying medical conditions seem to be at higher risk for more serious COVID-19 illness.
- Based upon available information to date, those most at risk include—
    - People 65 years and older
    - People who live in a nursing home or long-term care facility
    - People of any age with the following underlying medical conditions, particularly those that are not well controlled
        - Heart disease
        - Diabetes
        - Lung disease
- Early data suggest older people are twice as likely to have serious COVID-19 illness.
- If you are at increased risk for COVID-19 complications due to age or because you have a serious underlying medical condition, it is especially important for you to take actions to reduce your risk of exposure.
- If you are a person with a serious underlying medical condition that can put you at higher risk, stay home and away from other people.
    - Stock up on supplies
    - Make a plan with family members, friends, caregivers, and/or healthcare providers and consider including the following in your plan:

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

        - Alternate caregiver in case your caregiver is sick or paid service is limited or unavailable—it's a good idea to have at least three alternate caregivers
        - A 30-day supply of medications and a checklist to monitor usage
        - Nonperishable food items for at least 30 days
        - Phone bank plan in case of quarantine (this reduces feelings of loneliness and isolation)
    - If you feel sick, use these guidelines to reduce the risk of spread:
        - Stay home.
        - Call your healthcare provider and let them know about your symptoms. Tell them that you have or may have COVID-19. This will help them take care of you and keep other people from getting infected or exposed.
        - If you need emergency help, call 911.
        - If you are not sick enough to be hospitalized, you can recover at home. Follow CDC instructions for how to take care of yourself at home.

What people at higher risk can do to prepare

- Have supplies on hand
    - Contact your healthcare professional to ask about obtaining extra necessary medications to have on hand in case there is an outbreak of COVID-19 in your community and you need to stay home.
    - If you cannot get extra medications, consider using mail-order for medications.
    - Be sure you have over-the-counter medicines and medical supplies (tissues, etc.) to treat fever and other symptoms. Most people will be able to recover from COVID-19 at home.
    - Have enough household items and groceries on hand so that you will be prepared to stay at home for at least 14 days.
- Take everyday precautions
    - Avoid close contact with people who are sick.
    - Take everyday preventive actions.
        - Wash your hands often with soap and water for at least 20 seconds, especially after blowing your nose, coughing, or sneezing, or having been in a public place.
        - If soap and water are not available, use a hand sanitizer that contains at least 60% alcohol.
        - To the extent possible, avoid touching high-touch surfaces in public places – elevator buttons, door handles, handrails, handshaking with people, etc. Use a tissue or your sleeve to cover your hand or finger if you must touch something.
        - Wash your hands after touching surfaces in public places.
        - Avoid touching your face, nose, eyes, etc.
        - Clean and disinfect your home to remove germs. Practice routine cleaning of frequently touched surfaces (for example: tables, doorknobs, light switches, handles, desks, toilets, faucets, sinks and cell phones).

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

        - Avoid crowds, especially in poorly ventilated spaces. Your risk of exposure to respiratory viruses like COVID-19 may increase in crowded, closed-in settings with little air circulation if there are people in the crowd who are sick.
- If COVID-19 is spreading in your community, take extra measures to put distance between yourself and other people.
    - Stay home as much as possible.
        - Consider ways of getting food brought to your house through family, social, or commercial networks.
- Have a plan for if you get sick.
    - Consult with your healthcare provider for more information about monitoring your health for symptoms suggestive of COVID-19.
    - Stay in touch with others by phone or email. You may need to ask for help from friends, family, neighbors, community health workers, etc. if you become sick.
    - Determine who can provide you with care if your caregiver gets sick.
    - Plan for how you will get more supplies if you need them before you recover.
- Watch for symptoms and emergency warning signs.
    - Pay attention for potential COVID-19 symptoms including, fever, cough, and shortness of breath. If you feel like you are developing symptoms, call your doctor.
    - If you develop emergency warning signs for COVID-19 get medical attention immediately. In adults, emergency warning signs*:
        - Difficulty breathing or shortness of breath
        - Persistent pain or pressure in the chest
        - New confusion or inability to arouse
        - Bluish lips or face

          *This list is not all inclusive. Please consult your medical provider for any other symptom that is severe or concerning.

What to do if you are at higher risk and get sick:

- Stay home and call your doctor.
- Call your healthcare provider and let them know about your symptoms. Tell them that you have or may have COVID-19. This will help them take care of you and keep other people from getting infected or exposed.
- If you are not sick enough to be hospitalized, you can recover at home. Follow CDC instructions for how to take care of yourself at home.
- Know when to get emergency help.
- Get medical attention immediately if you have any of the emergency warning signs listed above.

Community Support for Older Adults

- Community preparedness planning for COVID-19 should include older adults and people with disabilities, and the organizations that support them in their communities, to ensure their needs are taken into consideration.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

    - Many of these people live in the community, and many depend on services and supports provided in their homes or in the community to maintain their health and independence.
- Long-term care facilities should be vigilant to prevent the introduction and spread of COVID-19. Information for long-term care facilities can be found here.

Family and Caregiver Support

- Know what medications your loved one is taking and see if you can help them have extra on hand.
- Monitor food and other medical supplies (hearing aid batteries, oxygen, incontinence, dialysis, wound care) needed and create a back-up plan.
- Stock up on non-perishable food items to have on hand in your home to minimize trips to stores.
- If you care for a loved one living in a care facility, monitor the situation, ask about the health of the other residents frequently and know the protocol if there is an outbreak.

Coping for People at Risk for Serious Illness and Caregivers

- People at higher risk for COVID-19 (including older people and people with severe underlying medical conditions), as well as the people who care for and about them, may feel especially stressed, worried, or anxious.
    - Things you can do to take care of yourself and help the people you care for:
        - Take breaks from watching, reading, or listening to news stories, including social media. Remind others that you care for to do the same.
        - Stay connected to others through calls (audio or video), instant messaging, email, letters, or other forms of communication, even if you cannot be together in person.
        - Talk with people you trust about your concerns and how you are feeling.
- If you, or someone you care about, is feeling overwhelmed with emotions like sadness, depression, or anxiety, or if you are concerned about harming yourself or others, call 911 or the SAMHSA Disaster Distress Helpline: 1-800-985-5990 or text TalkWithUs to 66746 (TTY 1-800-846-8517).

Tribal Elders and Multi-generational Tribal Families

- Tribal communities and Urban American Indians and Alaska Natives are particularly vulnerable to COVID-19 because of unique characteristics of health that impact tribal members.
- Any exposure to COVID-19 can pose a threat to tribal and urban American Indian and Alaska Native communities.
- Many tribal communities are made up of interdependent multi-generational families that house many Elders. These families may be both geographically and socially close. For tribal families, avoiding sick children or Elders may not seem practical or desirable.
- Families can take steps to protect the health and safety of Elders.
    - Consider limiting visitation except for caregivers or healers.
    - Avoid communing at social tribal events or gatherings, supermarkets, or casinos.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

    - Consider seeking out other partners in the community to help with housing accommodations or optional caregiving, in case of illness.

Rural Communities

- Rural communities face some COVID-19 challenges that are different from urban and suburban communities. These differences warrant additional guidance.
- Many rural communities have experienced multiple closings of hospitals and healthcare facilities. This can leave an already vulnerable population without immediate access to healthcare, should an outbreak occur in the community.
- People living in rural communities can take steps to prepare.
    - Identify the two closest healthcare facilities to contact in case of an outbreak
    - Create an information card with the numbers and addresses of healthcare facilities and the family and friends who are physically nearest to you.
    - Locate state, local, or tribal health centers in advance to identify available resources
    - Create a phone tree system (activating a group of people by telephone to get a message out quickly) with family, friends, and neighbors

People with Asthma

- People with asthma may be at higher risk of getting infected with COVID-19. COVID-19 can affect your respiratory tract (nose, throat, lungs), cause an asthma attack, and possibly lead to pneumonia and acute respiratory disease.
- If you have asthma, you should prepare for COVID-19 and follow your Asthma Action Plan.
    - Take your asthma medication exactly as prescribed.
        - Talk to your healthcare provider, insurer, and pharmacist about creating an emergency supply of prescription medications, such as asthma inhalers.
        - Make sure that you have 30 days of non-prescription medications and supplies on hand too, in case you need to stay home for a long time.
    - Know how to use your inhaler.
    - Avoid your asthma triggers.
    - Clean and disinfect frequently touched surfaces like tables, doorknobs, light switches, countertops, handles, desks, phones, keyboards, toilets, faucets, and sinks daily to protect yourself against COVID-19.
        - Avoid disinfectants that can cause an asthma attack.
    - As more cases of COVID-19 are discovered and our communities take action to combat the spread of disease, it is natural for some people to feel concerned or stressed. Strong emotions can trigger an asthma attack. Take steps to help yourself cope with stress and anxiety.
- If you have symptoms
    - Contact your health care provider to ask about your symptoms.

For Pregnant People:

- Pregnant people may be at higher risk for having severe illness from COVID-19.
- CDC has limited information on adverse pregnancy outcomes in pregnant people with COVID-19.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

    - Pregnancy loss, including miscarriage and stillbirth, has been observed in cases of infection with other related coronaviruses [SARS-CoV and MERS-CoV] during pregnancy.
    - There is limited information on infant outcomes of COVID-19 illness during pregnancy.
    - Other respiratory viral infections during pregnancy, such as influenza, have been associated with adverse neonatal outcomes, including low birth weight and preterm birth.
    - High fevers during the first trimester of pregnancy can increase the risk of certain birth defects.
- It is especially important for pregnant people to take actions to reduce their risk of exposure.

MINIMIZING STIGMA AND MISINFORMATION

- Minimizing stigma and misinformation is important, especially during contagious disease outbreaks.
- Everyone: Know the facts about COVID-19 and help prevent the spread of rumors:
    - Fight stigma by supporting people who are coming back to school or work after completing their quarantine or isolation period for COVID-19 exposure or illness.
    - Someone who has completed their quarantine or met the requirements to discontinue infection control measures does not pose a risk of spreading COVID-19.
    - People of Asian descent, including Chinese Americans, are not more likely to get coronavirus than anyone else. Let people know that being of Asian descent does not increase the chance of getting or spreading COVID-19.
    - Viruses cannot target people from specific populations, ethnicities, or racial backgrounds.
        - People who have not been in contact with a person who is a confirmed or suspected case are not at greater risk of acquiring and spreading this new virus than others.
- People who returned more than 14 days ago from an area with widespread or ongoing community spread and do not have symptoms of coronavirus do not put others at risk.
- To help counter stigma, public health professionals can:
    - Maintain privacy and confidentiality of those seeking health care and those who may be part of any contact investigation.
    - Communicate the risk or lack of risk from associations with products, people, and places in a timely manner.
    - Raise awareness of COVID-19 while showing empathy for people's concerns and fears.
    - Share accurate information about how the virus spreads.
    - Speak out against negative behaviors, including negative statements on social media about groups of people, or exclusion of people who pose no risk from regular activities.
        - Be cautious about the images that are shared. Make sure they do not reinforce stereotypes.
        - Engage with stigmatized groups in person and through media channels including news media and social media.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Share with others the need for social support for people who have returned from an area with ongoing spread or are worried about friends or relatives in the affected areas.

    - Level 2 Travel Health Notices (Practice Enhanced Precautions) for the global outbreak

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- CDC has posted a webpage about COVID-19 and considerations for travel in the United States.

Repatriation flights and quarantine orders:

- CDC has supported the Department of State in the safe and expedient ordered departure of US citizens and residents affected by outbreaks of COVID-19.
- Chartered flights returned passengers from Wuhan City, China and passengers from a cruise ship docked in Japan. (See section: Diamond Princess).
- The Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) Secretary, under statutory authority, issued federal quarantine orders to all such passengers entering the United States.
    - The quarantine period is for 14 days.
    - The quarantine is a precautionary and preventive step to maximize the containment of the virus in the interest of the health of the American public.
    - This quarantine order also serves to protect the health of the repatriated persons, their families, and their communities.
- Based on what is known about this virus and other coronaviruses, CDC believes the risk to the communities temporarily housing these people is low.
- At the end of the 14-day period, people who have not developed symptoms have their quarantine order lifted and are free to return home.
- As of March 6th, almost everyone from the repatriation flights who were quarantined has been released and returned home.

Diamond Princess*:

- CDC supported the Department of State-led mission to repatriate US citizens returning to the United States from Japan who were aboard the Diamond Princess cruise ship.
    - Due to the dynamic nature of the ongoing outbreak, the US government recommended that US citizens disembark and return to the United States.
- On February 16, 329 American citizens returned by flights chartered by the State Department.
    - The planes were met by a team of U.S. government personnel deployed at the bases to assess the health of the passengers.
    - The passengers were screened before leaving the ship and were monitored and evaluated by medical and public health personnel during the trip and after arrival. They will continue to be monitored by medical and public health personnel throughout the 14-day quarantine period.
- Americans returned by flights chartered by the State Department are subject to a 14-day federal quarantine and were housed at two existing federal quarantine sites for repatriated travelers:
    - Travis Air Force Base in California
    - Joint Base San Antonio-Lackland in Texas
    - All of these individuals completed their quarantine.
- No US citizens remain on the Diamond Princess.
- More than 25 Americans who were on board the Diamond Princess remain in Japan, hospitalized with COVID-19, including some who are reportedly severely ill.

Grand Princess*:

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- CDC has been working with the California Department of Public Health, other federal, state, and local partners and the Princess Cruise Line to investigate a possible cluster of COVID-19 cases connected with a Grand Princess voyage from February 11-21. Additionally, CDC worked with the same partners to assess the risk for passengers currently aboard the Grand Princess.
    - CDC notified states about the risk and management of passengers aboard the Grand Princess between February 11 and 21 who might have COVID-19 symptoms.
- At this time, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) is working with state and local partners in California to support the return of passengers currently aboard the Grand Princess.
- On March 8, HHS announced that the Grand Princess would dock in the Port of Oakland.
    - Passengers are being transferred to federal military installations for medical screening, COVID-19 testing, and a 14-day quarantine.
    - Nearly 1,000 passengers who are California residents are completing the mandatory quarantine at Travis Air Force Base.
    - Additional residents of California and residents of other states are completing the mandatory quarantine at Marine Corps Air Station Miramar in San Diego, Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio, or Dobbins Air Reserve Base in Georgia.
    - Throughout the quarantine, passengers will be monitored for symptoms of COVID-19.
    - The Department of State is working closely with the home countries of several hundred passengers to arrange for repatriation to their countries.
    - If you were on the initial—February 11-21—Grand Princess cruise and have COVID-19 symptoms, please call your healthcare provider and explain your symptoms and potential exposure.
        - Your healthcare provider will advise you of how to move forward.
        - In the meantime, CDC always recommends everyday preventive actions to help prevent the spread of respiratory diseases.
    - CDC is monitoring a number of other cruises for potential and confirmed COVID-19 cases, including a cluster of cases among people who traveled on Nile River Cruises in Egypt in late February and early March.
        - CDC is notifying states of known returned travelers who may have been exposed.

Please continue to look for updates in CDC's Daily Key Points and in next week's Key Messages document. The situation is rapidly evolving and CDC will provide updates as they become available.*

WHAT CDC IS DOING

CDC Response in the US:

- The federal government is working closely with state, local, tribal, and territorial partners, as well as public health partners, to respond to this public health threat.
- The goal of the ongoing US public health response is to detect new cases quickly and prevent further spread of COVID-19 in this country.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- CDC established a COVID-19 Incident Management Structure on January 7. On January 21, CDC activated its Emergency Operations Center to better provide ongoing support to the COVID-19 response.
    - The US government has taken unprecedented steps with respect to travel in response to the growing public health threat posed by this new coronavirus.
    - Effective February 2, at 5pm, the US government suspended entry of foreign nationals who have been in China within the past 14 days.
        - US citizens, residents, and their immediate family members who have been in Hubei province and other parts of mainland China are allowed to enter the United States, but they are subject to health monitoring and possible quarantine for up to 14 days.
    - On February 29, the U.S. government announced it was suspending entry of foreign nationals who have been in Iran within the past 14 days.
    - As of March 13, all American citizens and exempted persons coming from most of Europe (knows as the Schengen Area) will be funneled through 13 airports (listed in the above Travel section). As of March 16, all American citizens and exempted persons coming from the United Kingdom (excluding overseas territories outside of Europe) or the Republic of Ireland will also be funneled through those 13 airports.
        - CDC and partners will conduct enhanced illness response at these points of entry.
    - CDC has issued the following travel guidance related to COVID-19:

    - On March 2, FDA announced that commercial companies may sell test kits under CDC's EUA.
    - CDC has deployed multidisciplinary teams to support state health departments with clinical management, contact tracing, and communications.
    - CDC has helped mobilize state health departments to receive returned repatriated travelers.
    - Through the Public Health Emergency Preparedness (PHEP) cooperative agreement, 62 state PHEP programs across the country are part of the multi-agency infrastructure working on quarantine, isolation, case finding, protecting health care workers and assuring medical supply chains.

- State PHEP programs stand ready to address future developments in the outbreak.
- CDC has developed a fast-track approval method that enables jurisdictions to request the redirection of Public Health Emergency Preparedness (PHEP) cooperative agreement funds for the rapid procurement of services, supplies, and equipment needed during the COVID-19 response.
- CDC has reduced the normal 30-day request process to one to three business days for urgent requests.
- CDC has coordinated a funding strategy and developed guidance for awarding an initial $35 million to jurisdictions responding to COVID-19.
- The funding is being awarded through two mechanisms:
    - Component A of the Crisis Response Cooperative Agreement, and
    - The Epidemiology and Laboratory Capacity (ELC) Cooperative Agreement to select state and local jurisdictions.
- These initial awards support activities such as monitoring of travelers, data management, laboratory equipment, supplies, staffing, shipping, infection control, surge staffing, and sentinel surveillance.
- Awards were issued March 6.
- CDC has worked with the Department of State, supporting the safe return of Americans who have been stranded as a result of the ongoing outbreaks of COVID-19 and related travel restrictions. CDC has worked to assess the health of passengers as they return to the United States and provided continued daily monitoring of people who are quarantined.
- An important part of CDC's role during a public health emergency is to develop a test for the pathogen and equip state and local public health labs with testing capacity. CDC developed a molecular test to detect COVID-19 from human clinical specimens and distributed this test to state and local health laboratories.
- After distribution of a CDC rRT-PCR test to diagnose COVID-19 to state and local public health labs started, performance issues were identified related to a problem in the manufacturing of one of the reagents. Laboratories were not able to verify the test performance.
- CDC worked on two potential resolutions to this problem.
    - CDC developed a new protocol that uses two of the three components of the original CDC test kit to detect the virus that causes COVID-19 after establishing that the third component, which was the problem with the original test, can be excluded from testing without affecting accuracy.
        - CDC is working with FDA to amend the existing Emergency Use Authorization (EUA) for the test.
    - Further, newly manufactured kits were provided to the International Reagent Resource for distribution.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

        - On February 27, CDC distributed new test kits to 7 laboratories to serve as evaluation sites to ensure health departments are able to verify the assay. On February 29, 6 of 7 pilot laboratories reported successful completion of the verification panel.
        - An additional 40 test kits were hand carried to IRR for repackaging and distribution to additional public health labs.
        - On February 28, IRR began to distribute new test kits to the additional 40 laboratories.
        - As of March 16, 89 public-health labs are now testing samples with the CDC assay (50 states plus Washington DC and Guam).
    - Combined with other reagents that CDC has procured, there are enough testing kits to test more than 75,000 people.
    - In addition, CDC is conducting laboratory testing in two of its laboratories at its headquarters in Atlanta. CDC can test approximately 350 specimens per day.
    - CDC has been uploading the entire genome of the viruses from reported cases in the United States to GenBank as sequencing was completed.
    - CDC has grown the virus in cell culture, which is necessary for further studies, including for additional genetic characterization. The cell-grown virus was sent to NIH's BEI Resources Repository for use by the broad scientific community.
    - CDC has deployed staff to assist in local areas experiencing clusters of COVID-19.

Internationally:

Note: Due to the rapidly changing situation, any statements on CDC involvement in China need case-by-case clearance.

- CDC is working diligently and closely with partners to support the response to this novel coronavirus outbreak.
- CDC has staff stationed in more than 60 countries across the globe. CDC has offices in China, in a number of the countries reporting cases of COVID-19, and in countries that have not yet reported cases of COVID-19 but are busy with planning and preparedness efforts.
    - CDC and the government of China have collaborated for the past 30 years addressing public health priorities affecting the US, China, and the world.
- In addition to working with host country officials, CDC staff are working in coordination with Department of State and other agencies within US embassies.
- CDC is mobilizing Atlanta-based staff to support the response. Many of these staffers have extensive experience responding to global outbreaks.
- CDC has identified experts who are prepared to join a planned WHO mission to support efforts to better understand the severity and transmissibility of the virus.
- CDC is providing technical assistance to the Government of Italy for exit screening flights departing from Italy to the United States.
- In China, CDC is an important technical partner for the Chinese Field Epidemiology Training Program (FETP). and has been involved in the program since 2004.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

    - More than 800 FETP-trained residents or graduates of FETP are supporting ongoing COVID-19 response efforts.
    - In 2019 specialized FETP training tracks were established in non-communicable diseases and tuberculosis.
- CDC has supported China CDC's national influenza laboratory for more than 20 years.
- CDC works in close partnership with the China CDC's National Influenza Epidemiology, Virology, and Pandemic Preparedness Centers, China's provincial and local CDCs, hospitals, and academic institutions.
- CDC supports Chinese partners in monitoring seasonal and novel influenza viruses, as well as enhancing efforts to detect and respond to seasonal, avian, and other novel influenza viruses with pandemic potential. CDC's key supporting activities include:
    - Strengthening influenza surveillance for seasonal and novel influenza viruses
    - Conducting research to estimate disease burden and vaccine effectiveness among populations at greatest risk (including young children, older adults, and pregnant women)
    - Promoting influenza vaccination policy development and coverage
    - Supporting novel virus risk assessments
    - Establishing pandemic influenza preparedness in China
    - Maintaining close ties between US and China influenza experts
- In other countries, CDC is collaborating with WHO to support Ministries of Health to prepare and respond to the epidemic.
    - CDC is helping to support countries to implement WHO recommendations related to the diagnosis and care of patients, tracking the epidemic, and identifying people who might have COVID-19.
    - CDC staff are also starting to work together with country colleagues to conduct investigations that will help inform response efforts going forward.
    - CDC works closely with countries to establish FETPs that train a workforce of field epidemiologists —or disease detectives— to identify and contain outbreaks close to the source.
    - For country-specific information, please contact CDCglobal@cdc.gov.

RECOMMENDATIONS

- CDC routinely advises that people help protect themselves from respiratory illnesses by washing their hands often, avoiding touching their face with unwashed hands, avoiding close contact with people who appear sick, and cleaning frequently touched surfaces.
    - CDC defines close contact as—
        - Being within about 6 feet (2 meters) of someone with COVID-19 for a prolonged period of time, such as living with, visiting, caring for or sharing a room in a healthcare facility

          - or –

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

        - By having direct contact with infectious secretions from a patient, such as being coughed on.
    - If you are a resident in a community where person-to-person spread of COVID-19 has been detected and you develop COVID-19 symptoms, call your healthcare provider and tell them about your symptoms.
    - For people who are ill with COVID-19, but are not sick enough to be hospitalized, please follow CDC guidance on how to reduce the risk of spreading your illness to others. People who are mildly ill with COVID-19 are able to isolate at home during their illness.

Recent International Travelers:

- If you have traveled internationally, watch your health, and limit interactions with others for 14 days after returning to the United States.
- If you feel sick with fever, cough, or difficulty breathing during this time, you should:
    - Seek medical advice. Before you go to a doctor's office or emergency room, call ahead and tell them about your recent travel and your symptoms.
    - Avoid contact with others.
    - Not travel while sick.
    - Cover your mouth and nose with a tissue or your sleeve (not your hands) when coughing or sneezing.
    - Clean your hands often by washing them with soap and water for at least 20 seconds or using an alcohol-based hand sanitizer that contains at least 60% alcohol immediately after coughing, sneezing or blowing your nose. Soap and water should be used if hands are visibly dirty.
    - If you were in a country with widespread sustained (ongoing) transmission—China, Iran, South Korea, most of Europe (known as the Schengen Area), the United Kingdom, or the Republic of Ireland—stay home, monitor yourself, and practice social distancing for 14 days after you left that country.

People Confirmed to Have, or Being Evaluated for, COVID-19:

- Your doctors and public health staff will evaluate whether you can be cared for at home. If it is determined that you can be isolated at home, you will be monitored by staff from your local or state health department. You should follow the prevention steps below until a healthcare professional or local or state health department says you can return to your normal activities. Detailed information is available at Interim Guidance for Preventing COVID-19 from Spreading to Others in Homes and Communities.
    - Stay home except to get medical care.
    - Separate yourself from other people in your home.
    - Call ahead before visiting your doctor.
    - Wear a facemask.
    - Cover your coughs and sneezes with a tissue or cough or sneeze into your sleeve.
    - Wash your hands often with soap and water for at least 20 seconds.
    - Avoid sharing household items like eating utensils, cups, or linens.
    - Monitor your symptoms and seek prompt medical attention if your symptoms worsen.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

On February 27, CDC updated interim guidance for state and local public health officials on how to assess and manage the risks posed by patients who may have been exposed to this new coronavirus.

- This guidance establishes four risk categories: High, Medium, Low and No Identifiable Risk.
- The categories are based on a person's travel history and possible contact with patients who have laboratory-confirmed infections.
- The guidance offers recommendations for movement restrictions and public health evaluations for people in different risk categories.
- In most cases, state and local authorities will make these decisions. Federal public health authority primarily extends to international arrivals at ports of entry and preventing interstate communicable disease threats.
- These guidelines are subject to change as the situation requires. They do not apply retroactively to people who have been in an affected area with sustained transmission during the previous 14 days and are already in the United States, or those being managed as part of a contact investigation.
- CDC will provide separate guidance for healthcare settings.

Close Contacts of Patients Under Investigation:

People who have had close contact with someone who is confirmed to have, or being evaluated for, COVID-19, should:

- Monitor your health starting from the day you first had close contact with the person and continue for 14 days after you last had close contact with the person. Watch for these signs and symptoms:
    - Fever—take your temperature twice a day.
    - Coughing.
    - Shortness of breath or difficulty breathing.
    - Other early symptoms to watch for are chills, body aches, sore throat, headache, diarrhea, nausea, vomiting, and runny nose.
- If you develop fever or any of these symptoms, call your healthcare professional right away.
    - Before going to your medical appointment, be sure to tell your healthcare professional about your close contact with someone who is confirmed to have, or being evaluated for, COVID-19. This notification will help the healthcare professional's office take steps to keep other people from getting infected. Ask your healthcare professional to call the local or state health department.
- On March 16, the White House recommended that if someone in your household has tested positive for COVID-19, the entire household should stay home and you should contact your medical provider.
- Detailed information for caregivers and household members can be found on the Interim Guidance for Preventing COVID-19 from Spreading to Others in Homes and Communities web page.

Healthcare Professionals

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- As availability of diagnostic testing for COVID-19 increases, clinicians will be able to access laboratory tests for diagnosing COVID-19 through clinical laboratories performing tests authorized by FDA under an Emergency Use Authorization (EUA).
    - Clinicians will also be able to access laboratory testing through public health laboratories in their jurisdictions.
- This expands testing to a wider group of symptomatic patients. Clinicians should use their judgment to determine if a patient has signs and symptoms compatible with COVID-19 and whether the patient should be tested.
    - Decisions on which patients receive testing should be based on the local epidemiology of COVID-19, as well as the clinical course of illness.
    - Most patients with confirmed COVID-19 have developed fever and/or symptoms of acute respiratory illness (e.g., cough, difficulty breathing).
    - Clinicians are strongly encouraged to test for other causes of respiratory illness, including infections such as influenza.
- Epidemiologic factors that may help guide decisions on whether to test include: any persons, including healthcare workers, who have had close contact with a laboratory-confirmed COVID-19 patient within 14 days of symptom onset, or a history of travel from affected geographic areas within 14 days of symptom onset.

Recommendations for Reporting, Testing, and Specimen Collection:

- Clinicians should immediately implement recommended infection prevention and control practices if a patient is suspected of having COVID-19. They should also notify infection control personnel at their healthcare facility and their state or local health department if a patient is classified as a PUI for COVID-19.
- State health departments that have identified a PUI or a laboratory-confirmed case should complete a PUI and Case Report form through the processes identified on CDC's Coronavirus Disease 2019 website.
- State and local health departments can contact CDC's Emergency Operations Center (EOC) at 770-488-7100 for assistance with obtaining, storing, and shipping appropriate specimens to CDC for testing, including after hours or on weekends or holidays.
- Currently, diagnostic testing for COVID-19 is being performed at state public health laboratories and CDC. Testing for other respiratory pathogens should not delay specimen testing for COVID-19.
- On March 13, CDC updated its guidance for specimen collection for testing for COVID-19to to collect a single upper respiratory nasopharyngeal swab (NP) instead of an NP and oropharyngeal swab (OP).
- For patients who develop a productive cough, sputum should be collected and tested for SARS-CoV-2. The induction of sputum is not recommended.
- For patients for whom it is clinically indicated (e.g., those receiving invasive mechanical ventilation), a lower respiratory tract aspirate or bronchoalveolar lavage sample should be collected and tested as a lower respiratory tract specimen.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Specimens should be collected as soon as possible once a PUI is identified, regardless of the time of symptom onset. See Interim Guidelines for Collecting, Handling, and Testing Clinical Specimens from Patients Under Investigation (PUIs) for COVID-19 and Biosafety FAQs for handling and processing specimens from suspected cases and PUIs.
- Clinical specimens should be collected from PUIs for routine testing of respiratory pathogens at either clinical or public health labs. Note that clinical laboratories should NOT attempt viral isolation from specimens collected.
- Maintain proper infection control when collecting specimens.
- Additional guidance for collection, handling, and testing of clinical specimens is available on CDC's website.
- Detailed information on specimen types and shipping can be found on the Information for Laboratories web page

COMMUNITY BASED INTERVENTIONS (AKA COMMUNITY MITIGATION)

- Protect yourself and your community from getting and spreading respiratory illnesses like coronavirus disease 2019. Everyone has a role to play in getting ready and staying healthy.
    - For most people in the U.S., the immediate risk of being exposed to the virus that causes COVID-19 is thought to be low. The virus is not currently widespread in the U.S.
    - In places where ongoing community spread of the virus that causes COVID-19 has been reported, people are at elevated risk of exposure.
- Currently a vaccine is not available for COVID-19. Until a vaccine is developed, community-based interventions, such as temporary school dismissals, postponing or cancelling large events, social distancing (i.e. limiting face-to-face contact) can help slow the spread of coronavirus.
- Your local public health department and community partners have been preparing for disease outbreaks, like COVID-19 and have plans in place. Now is a good time for businesses, community and faith-based organizations, and health-care systems to reexamine their preparedness plans to make sure they are ready.
- Strong community partnerships between local public health departments, the healthcare sector, faith-based organizations, and other community partners are vital for this response, and will be necessary to prepare for and coordinate if an outbreak occurs in their local communities.
- Community-based interventions can be grouped in three categories:
    - Personal protective measures (e.g., voluntary home isolation of ill persons, voluntary home quarantine of exposed household members, respiratory and cough etiquette, using facemasks in community settings when ill, practicing hand hygiene)
    - Community measures aimed at increasing social distancing (e.g., temporary school dismissals, social distancing in workplaces (like working remotely), postponing or cancelling mass gatherings)
    - Environmental measures (e.g., routine cleaning of frequently touched objects or surfaces)

Household/Personal Protective Measures

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Everyone can do their part to help plan for, prepare, and respond to this emerging public health threat.
- CDC recommends that individuals/households create an emergency plan of action, practice good personal health habits and plan for home-based care (if needed), be prepared for your child's school or childcare facility to be temporarily dismissed, and plan for changes at your workplace.
- During an outbreak in your community, stay home when you are sick with COVID-19 symptoms, keep away from others who are sick, and limit face-to-face contact with others.

Community Measures

- Mass gatherings:
  - Mass gatherings and events, such as concerts, festivals, conferences, worship services, and sporting events, increase the chance of a virus, like COVID-19, to spread and infect people crowded together within a close proximity.
  - On March 16, the White House recommended avoiding social gatherings in groups of more than 10 people.
- Community and faith-based organizations:
  - Local leaders and community organizers play a vital role to bring the community together to help plan for and reduce the impact of a potential COVID-19 outbreak. Since you know your community members the best, you can ensure groups most vulnerable to COVID-19 are considered and included in the planning process.
  - CDC recommends finding out if your local government has a private-public emergency planning group that meets regularly that you can join. If not, suggest one that should be set up. Building strong alliances before an outbreak can help provide your organization with the support and resources needed.
  - CDC has created interim guidance to help you create an emergency plan for your community and faith-based organization.
- Administrators of U.S. childcare programs and K-12 schools:
  - Schools should plan for and prepare for a potential community-level outbreak of COVID-19. Fortunately, many of the steps to plan and prepare for COVID-19 are the same steps schools take to keep students healthy and safe from the flu.
  - The decision to dismiss a school should be made locally. CDC recommends working with local health officials to determine if, when, and for how long schools may need to be dismissed in the event of an outbreak. (NOTE: The U.S. Department of Education does not recommend using "school closure" terminology.)
  - School administrators should plan to provide critical support services, such as continuity of education and continuity of school meal programs, if schools are dismissed.
  - CDC has posted guidance for school settings on its website.
  - CDC has posted recommendations of considerations for school dismissals.

Information for Law Enforcement

- For law enforcement personnel performing daily routine activities, the immediate health risk is low.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- CDC has developed recommendations for law enforcement to protect themselves from exposure.
    - Law enforcement who must make contact with individuals confirmed or suspected to have COVID-19 should follow CDC's Interim Guidance for EMS.
    - Have a trained Emergency Medical Service/ Emergency Medical Technician (EMS/EMT) assess and transport anyone you think might have COVID-19 to a healthcare facility.
    - Ensure only trained personnel wearing appropriate personal protective equipment (PPE) have contact with individuals who have or may have COVID-19.
- Different styles of PPE may be necessary to perform operational duties.
    - These alternative styles (i.e. coveralls) must provide protection that is at least as great as that provided by the minimum amount of PPE recommended.
- Learn your employer's plan for exposure control and participate in all-hands training on the use of PPE for respiratory protection, if available.
- If close contact occurs during apprehension:
    - Clean and disinfect duty belt and gear prior to reuse. Use a household cleaning spray or wipe, according to the product label.
    - Follow standard operating procedures for the containment and disposal of used PPE.
    - Follow standard operating procedures for containing and laundering clothes. Avoid shaking the clothes.

HAND HYGIENE IN COMMUNITY SETTINGS (ENVIRONMENTAL MEASURES)

- Handwashing is one of the best ways to protect yourself and your family from getting sick.
- Clean hands can stop germs from spreading from one person to another and throughout an entire community—from your home and workplace to childcare facilities.
- Wash your hands often with soap and water for at least 20 seconds, especially after blowing your nose, coughing, or sneezing; going to the bathroom; and before eating or preparing food.
- If soap and water are not readily available, use an alcohol-based hand sanitizer with at least 60% alcohol.
- Always wash hands with soap and water if hands are visibly dirty.
- Follow these steps to make sure you wash your hands properly:
    1. Wet your hands with clean, running water (warm or cold), turn off the tap, and apply soap.
    2. Lather your hands by rubbing them together with the soap. Lather the backs of your hands, between your fingers, and under your nails.
    3. Scrub your hands for at least 20 seconds. Need a timer? Hum the "Happy Birthday" song from beginning to end twice.
    4. Rinse your hands well under clean, running water.
    5. Dry your hands using a clean towel or air dry them.

INFECTION PREVENTION AND CONTROL FOR HEALTHCARE SETTINGS

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Healthcare facilities are increasingly unable to procure reliable and sufficient supplies for infection control, including N95 respirators.
- Because of demands associated with the COVID-19 response, CDC has updated the current national COVID-19 infection control guidance for healthcare in the midst of supply realities and growing insight about the spread of COVID-19.
- Protection of healthcare personnel is a priority. CDC's updated guidance on infection control aims to prioritize the use of N95 respirators and other respiratory protection devices for use during high-risk procedures while still protecting health care personnel with facemasks and eye protection during other routine patient care activities, in the setting of respirator shortages.
- CDC's updated, interim IPC guidance also aims to support health care facilities in practical decision-making at the local level to maintain a functional health care system while protecting healthcare workers.
- The guidance also outlines multiple interventions that can be implemented to enhance protection of health care personnel
- CDC has updated guidance on the PPE healthcare personnel should use when caring for patients with known or suspected COVID-19:
    - Eye protection, gown, and gloves continue to be recommended.
    - While respirators remain preferred, facemasks are an acceptable alternative until the supply chain is restored.
        - Facemasks protect the wearer from splashes and sprays.
        - Respirators, which filter inspired air, offer respiratory protection.
    - Respirators should be prioritized for procedures that are likely to generate respiratory aerosols, which would pose the highest exposure risk to healthcare professionals.
- The risk of transmission can be reduced by several types of actions, like prompt screening and triage, limiting personnel in the room, hand hygiene, source control, and effective environmental cleaning.
- CDC reminds all employers and healthcare personnel about the hierarchy of controls.
    - PPE is only one aspect of patient and worker safety and involves a high level of worker involvement and is highly dependent on proper fit and correct use.
- All healthcare facilities should continuously review their infection control supply inventories and taking steps to optimize supplies.
    - This is particularly true for areas in facilities where aerosol-generating procedures are performed, so that appropriate PPE will be available for high-risk procedures now and as potential COVID-19 cases increase.
- Healthcare administrators should continue to do everything possible to acquire the needed supplies to protect their staff and patients.
- When the supply chain is restored, facilities with a respiratory protection program should return to use of respirators for patients with known or suspected COVID-19.
- The anticipated timeline for return to routine levels of PPE is not known.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

    - CDC has posted information about strategies to optimize the current supply of N95 respirators, including the use of devices that provide higher levels of respiratory protection (e.g., powered air purifying respirators [PAPRs]) when N95s are not available.
    - CDC has also posted a companion checklist to help healthcare facilities prioritize the implementation of the strategies is available.
- The majority of nursing homes and outpatient clinics, including hemodialysis facilities, do not typically procure N-95 respirators, currently have respiratory protection programs, nor fit-tested HCP. Therefore, they would not be able to implement all the recommended infection control interventions for care of COVID-19 patients.
    - Without respiratory protection programs and fit testing, unnecessary transfer of stable patients with known or suspected COVID-19 to another facility (e.g., acute care hospital) for evaluation and care may occur.
    - In areas with community transmission, acute-care facilities will be quickly overwhelmed by transfers of patients who have only mild illness and do not require hospitalization.
- Healthcare personnel (HCP) are on the front lines of caring for patients with confirmed or possible COVID-19. HCP caring for these patients have an increased risk of exposure to this virus.
- HCP can minimize their risk of exposure when caring for confirmed or possible COVID-19 patients by following CDC infection prevention and control (IPC) guidelines, including use of recommended personal protective equipment (PPE).
- Infection control procedures and appropriate use of PPE are necessary to prevent infections from spreading while caring for patients. CDC reminds all employers and HCP that PPE is only one aspect of safe care of patients with COVID-19.
    - Focusing only on PPE gives a false sense of security of safe care and worker safety.
    - It is critical to focus on other strategies to prevent spread of COVID-19 in healthcare settings. Examples include prompt screening and triage of patients and limiting the numbers of healthcare personnel entering the patient room.
- CDC's current guidelines are designed to prevent the spread of COVID-19 within healthcare facilities to healthcare personnel, visitors, and other patients who may be exposed to a patient with COVID-19.
- Healthcare personnel caring for patients with confirmed or suspected COVID-19 should adhere to CDC recommendations for infection prevention and control (IPC):
    - Assess and triage patients with acute respiratory symptoms and risk factors for COVID-19 to minimize chances of exposure. Care for patients with known or suspected COVID-19 in a single-person room with the door closed. Reserve Airborne Infection Isolation Rooms (AIIRs) for patients undergoing aerosol-generating procedures.
    - Use Standard, Contact, and Airborne Precautions, including eye protection, when caring for patients with confirmed or possible COVID-19.
    - Perform hand hygiene with alcohol-based hand sanitizer before and after all patient contact, before and after contact with potentially infectious materials, and before putting on and upon removal of PPE, including gloves. Use soap and water if hands are visibly soiled.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

    - Practice how to properly don, use, and doff PPE in a manner to prevent self-contamination.
    - Perform aerosol-generating procedures (e.g., sputum induction, open suctioning of airways) in an AIIR, while following appropriate IPC practices, including use of appropriate PPE.
    - The collection of respiratory specimens (e.g., nasopharyngeal swabs) are not considered aerosol generating procedures. These procedures should take place in an examination room with the door closed.
    - Healthcare facilities can minimize the chance for exposures by ensuring facility policies and practices are in place and implemented before patient arrival, upon patient arrival, and throughout the duration of the affected patient's time in the healthcare setting.
    - CDC has created Interim Considerations for Infection Prevention and Control of Coronavirus Disease 2019 (COVID-19) in Inpatient Obstetric Healthcare Settings
- Healthcare facilities should promptly notify state or local public health authorities of patients with known or possible COVID-19 (i.e., persons under investigation or PUIs), and should designate specific persons within the healthcare facility who are responsible for communication with public health officials and dissemination of information to HCP.
- All healthcare facilities should ensure that their healthcare personnel are correctly trained and capable of implementing infection control procedures. Individual healthcare personnel should ensure they understand and can adhere to infection control requirements.
- Routine cleaning and disinfection procedures are appropriate for SARS-CoV-2 in healthcare settings, including those patient-care areas in which aerosol-generating procedures are performed.
    - Products with EPA-approved emerging viral pathogens claims are recommended for use against SARS-CoV-2, the virus that causes COVID-19.
- Management of laundry, food service utensils, and medical waste should also be performed in accordance with routine procedures. Federal, state, and local guidelines and regulations specify the categories of medical waste that are subject to regulation and outline the requirements associated with treatment and disposal.
- CDC recommends that employees who are confirmed to have COVID-19, those who appear to have acute respiratory illness symptoms upon arrival to work, and persons who become sick during the work day promptly put on a facemask, be separated from other people, and be sent home immediately.
- If facemasks are not available, sick healthcare personnel should cover their noses and mouths with a tissue when coughing or sneezing (or an elbow or shoulder if no tissue is available), prior to leaving the facility.

WHAT CDC IS DOING TO PROTECT HEALTHCARE PERSONNEL

- CDC is providing regular communication to the US healthcare community through targeted outreach activities.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- CDC is rapidly developing guidance and resources to protect US healthcare personnel. Current guidance and recommendations are designed to protect healthcare personnel and prevent the spread of the virus that causes COVID-19 within US healthcare facilities.
- CDC has deployed field teams to provide onsite infection control assessment and consultation to the US healthcare facilities currently treating confirmed COVID-19 patients and the passengers returning from China.
- CDC is preparing first responders, healthcare providers, and health systems, by:
    - Establishing visibility across healthcare systems to understand healthcare use, particularly surges in demand for medical care and associated resources.
    - Conducting extensive outreach to clinical and hospital professional organizations to ensure health system preparedness.
    - Producing guidance documents on infection control, hospital clinical evaluation and patient management.
    - Working closely with healthcare facilities and providers to reinforce infection control principles that recognize PPE is one component of a larger set of practices that help to limit the spread of disease.
    - Developing a range of respirator conservation strategies, including strategies to make supplies last longer (such as using alternative products like reusable respirators) and extending the use of disposable respirators.
    - Leveraging existing telehealth tools to direct people to the right level of care.
    - Working with supply chain partners to understand supply usage, what products are available, and when more aggressive measures may need to be taken to ensure that HCPs at highest risk have access to PPE.
    - Sharing information with stakeholders to help them recognize when to shift the strategies they are using.
- The first report of an infected healthcare provider occurred on February 29 in a long-term care facility in Washington.
- Healthcare personnel (HCP) often have prolonged close contact with patients in healthcare settings and may come in contact with a person infected with COVID-19. HCPs can protect themselves by properly following recommended infection control practices, including the appropriate use of PPE when caring for patients with COVID-19.
- CDC recommends evaluating asymptomatic HCPs with close contact or a potential exposure to COVID-19 by assessing risk, monitoring symptoms, and determining the need for appropriate work restrictions.

OPTIMIZING THE SUPPLY OF N95 RESPIRATORS

- Protection of healthcare workers is a priority. CDC's Strategies for Optimizing the Supply of N95 Respirators offers a series of strategies or options to optimize supplies of disposable N95 filtering facepiece respirators (commonly called "N95 respirators") in healthcare settings where there is limited supply.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- It also includes considerations for use by federal, state, and local public health officials, respiratory protection program managers, occupational health service leaders, infection prevention and control program leaders, and other leaders in healthcare settings who are responsible for developing and implementing policies and procedures for preventing pathogen transmission in healthcare settings.
- CDC has provided additional resources related to these strategies:
    - Checklist for Healthcare Facilities: Strategies for Optimizing the Supply of N95 Respirators during the COVID-19 Response is intended to help healthcare facilities prioritize the implementation of the strategies presented in the Strategies for Optimizing the Supply for N95 Respirators guidance.
    - Release of Stockpiled N95 Filtering Facepiece Respirators Beyond the Manufacturer-Designated Shelf Life: Considerations for the COVID-19 Response
        - In times of increased demand and decreased supply, consideration can be made to use the N95s listed in the guidance past their manufacturer-designated shelf life when responding to COVID-19.
        - This preliminary information from the NIOSH study suggests certain N95 models beyond their manufacturer-designated shelf life will be protective. CDC recommends that N95s that have exceeded their manufacturer-designated shelf life should be used only as outlined in the Strategies for Optimizing the Supply of N95 Respirators.

MANAGEMENT OF PATIENTS GUIDANCE FOR HEALTHCARE PROVIDERS

Clinical Presentation

- Most frequently reported symptoms of COVID-19 include fever, cough, sore throat, myalgia, or fatigue. Less commonly reported symptoms include sputum production, headache, hemoptysis, and diarrhea. Older patients and people with chronic medical conditions may be at higher risk of severe illness.
    - Possible risk factors for progressing to severe illness may include, but are not limited to, older age and people of any age with underlying chronic medical conditions such as heart disease, lung disease and diabetes.

Clinical Course

- Symptoms among reported cases of COVID-19 vary in severity from mild illness to severe or fatal illness.
- Some reports suggest the potential for clinical deterioration during the second week of illness.
- Among hospitalized patients with confirmed COVID-19, some will develop complications:
    - Acute respiratory distress syndrome (ARDS)
    - Intensive care for respiratory support
    - Pneumonia resulting in death
    - Secondary infection

Laboratory and Radiographic Findings

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- SARS-CoV-2 RNA has been detected from upper and lower respiratory tract specimens, and the virus has been isolated from bronchoalveolar lavage fluid.
- The duration of shedding of SARS-CoV-2 RNA in the upper and lower respiratory tracts is not yet known but may be several weeks or longer.

Clinical Management and Treatment

- No specific treatment for COVID-19 is currently available. Prompt infection prevention and control measures and supportive management of complications is recommended.
- Remdesivir is an investigational antiviral drug that is being studied in patients with COVID-19.
    - There are two clinical trials available for patients with COVID-19 in the United States, one for patients with severe coronavirus disease and one for patients with moderate coronavirus disease.
- Patients with mild clinical presentation may not initially require hospitalization.
- The decision to monitor a patient in the inpatient or outpatient setting should be made on a case-by-case basis.

INTERIM GUIDANCE FOR BUSINESSES AND EMPLOYERS (NON-HEALTHCARE SETTINGS)

- Interim guidance for businesses and employers to plan for and respond to COVID-19 is now available on CDC's website. This interim guidance may help prevent workplace exposures to acute respiratory illnesses, including COVID-19, in non-healthcare settings. The guidance also provides planning considerations if there are more widespread, community outbreaks.
- Employers can use strategies now to prevent workplace exposures to acute respiratory illness:
    - Actively encouraging sick employees to stay home
    - Separating sick employees
    - Emphasizing staying home when sick, respiratory etiquette, and hand hygiene by all employees
    - Performing routine environmental cleaning
    - Advising employees before traveling to take certain steps
    - Checking the CDC's Traveler's Health Notices website for the latest guidance and recommendations for each country to which you will travel
- For the general public, who are unlikely to be exposed to this virus, the immediate health risk from COVID-19 is considered low at this time. Some people, like healthcare workers caring for COVID-19 patients and other close contacts of COVID-19 patients, will have an increased risk of infection.
    - Employees who are well but who have a sick family member at home with COVID-19 should notify their supervisor and refer to CDC guidance for how to conduct a risk assessment of their potential exposure. Recommendations released March 16 state that if someone in a household has tested positive, keep the entire household at home.
    - If an employee is confirmed to have COVID-19, employers should inform fellow employees of their possible exposure to COVID-19 in the workplace but maintain confidentiality as required by the Americans with Disabilities Act. Employees exposed to a co-worker with confirmed COVID-19 should refer to CDC guidance for how to conduct a risk assessment of their potential exposure.

- Employers should be ready to implement strategies to protect the workforce from COVID-19 while ensuring the continuity of operations.
    - An infectious disease outbreak response plan should include possible work-related exposures and health risks to employees. The plan should also explore flexible worksites (e.g., telecommuting) and work hours in accordance with human resource policies.

CDC Daily Key Points
Coronavirus Disease 2019 (COVID-19) Outbreak
March 17, 2020 as of 10:00pm

SNAPSHOT

- CDC has reported:
  - 4,226 confirmed and presumptive positive cases of COVID-19
  - 75 COVID-19 related deaths
  - 49 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, Guam, and the US Virgin Islands have reported cases

MAIN KEY POINTS

- On March 16, 2020 President Trump and the White House Coronavirus Task Force issued new guidelines to help protect Americans during the Coronavirus pandemic.
  - The initiative, called "15 Days to Slow the Spread," lays out guidelines for a nationwide effort to slow the spread of COVID-19. It calls for the implementation of measures to increase social distancing between people at all levels of society.
  - This is a massive proactive, preventive response to COVID-19. It aims to slow the spread and blunt the impact of this disease on the United States.
- All segments of U.S. society have a role to play at this time:
  - People across the country are asked to stay home as much as much as possible and otherwise practice social distancing.
  - This includes canceling or postponing gatherings of more than 10 people and closing schools in some areas as determined by local and state governments.
  - It also includes special measures to protect those people who are most vulnerable to this disease.
- The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) has taken new measures to keep America's nursing home residents safe from COVID-19. These measures are based on the newest CDC recommendations.
  - Those who are sick are asked to stay home and follow the new guidance for when it's OK for them to interact with other people again.
- There is no vaccine to protect against COVID-19 and no medications approved to treat it.
- There is a body of evidence—based on about 200 journal articles—that supports the effectiveness of social distancing measures, both when used alone and in combination with other measures.
  - Much of this data is outlined in CDC's Community Mitigation Guidelines to Prevent Pandemic Influenza — United States, 2017.
  - These recommendations work better when implemented in concert.
- While the new guidelines are recommended for the next 15 days, government leaders will continually reassess the status of the outbreak in the United States. It may be possible to extend these recommended measures for additional periods of time.
- This is a historic, unprecedented outbreak, the likes of which have not been seen since the influenza pandemic of 1918.

CDC Daily Key Points
Coronavirus Disease 2019 (COVID-19) Outbreak
March 17, 2020 as of 10:00pm

SITUATION UPDATE

- 4,226 reported cases of COVID-19 have been detected in all states except West Virginia.
- 245 of these cases occurred through close contact with another case.
- 229 cases occurred in persons who had traveled to international areas with sustained (ongoing) transmission and among their close contacts.
- 3,752 cases are still being investigated to determine the source of exposure.
- As of the evening of March 15, 89 state and local public health labs in 50 states and the District of Columbia have verified they are successfully using COVID-19 diagnostic tests. This includes one or more PHL in 50 states plus D.C. and Guam. (See map showing which states and territories have one or more laboratories that have successfully verified and are currently using COVID-19 diagnostic tests.)
- As of the evening of March 16, 2020, CDC and local and state public health laboratories had tested a total of 31,878 specimens.

- The agency will roll out a COVID-19 surveillance report in the coming days.
- On Monday, March 16 CDC reported the first confirmed case in a CDC employee.

CDC GUIDANCE UPDATES

- CDC is reviewing and updating travel notices almost on a daily basis.
  - U.S. citizens, residents, and their immediate family members who have been in China, Iran, the United Kingdom, Ireland or any one of 26 European countries within in the past 14 days can enter the United States, but they are subject to health monitoring and possible quarantine for up to 14 days.
  - CDC also has a Global Level 2 Travel Health Notice recommending older adults and those who have chronic medical conditions consider postponing nonessential travel.
  - On March 17, CDC posted a Level 3 Travel Health Notice for Cruise Ship Travel, recommending travelers defer all cruise ship travel worldwide.
- CDC updated its guidance for specimen collection for testing for COVID-19 to collect a single upper respiratory nasopharyngeal swab (NP) instead of an NP and oropharyngeal swab (OP).
- CDC also posted new guidance on when people who have had COVID-19 and have been isolating at home can discontinue isolating in "Discontinuation of Home Isolation for Persons with COVID-19."
  - Persons with COVID-19 who have symptoms and were directed to care for themselves at home may discontinue home isolation if:
    - At least 3 days (72 hours) have passed since recovery—defined as resolution of fever without the use of fever-reducing medications and improvement in respiratory symptoms (e.g., cough, shortness of breath); and,
    - At least 7 days have passed since symptoms first appeared.
- CDC posted Guidance for child care settings, including a decision tree on when schools should close.

PANDEMIC INFORMATION

- Pandemics happen when a disease emerges to infect people easily and spreads from person to person in an efficient and sustained way globally.
- This is the first pandemic known to be caused by the emergence of a new coronavirus.
- In the past century, there have been four pandemics caused by the emergence of novel influenza viruses.
    - Pandemic guidance developed in anticipation of an influenza pandemic is being repurposed and adapted for a COVID-19 pandemic.
- The federal government has been working closely with state, local, tribal, and territorial partners, as well as public health partners, to prepare for and respond to this public health threat for months.
- CDC has been implementing its pandemic preparedness and response plans, working on multiple fronts, including providing specific guidance on measures to prepare communities to respond to local spread of the virus that causes COVID-19.
- Pandemics of respiratory disease follow a certain progression outlined in a "Pandemic Intervals Framework."
    - Pandemics begin with an investigation phase, followed by recognition, initiation, and acceleration phases.
    - The peak of illnesses occurs at the end of the acceleration phase, which is followed by a deceleration phase, during which there is a decrease in illnesses.
- Different countries can be in different phases of the pandemic at any point in time and different parts of the same country can also be in different phases of a pandemic.
- Nationally, the United States is currently in the initiation phase, but states where community spread is occurring are in the acceleration phase.
- The duration and severity of each phase can vary depending on the characteristics of the virus and the public health response.
- Public health partners are encouraged to review their pandemic preparedness plans at this time.

WHAT YOU CAN DO

- Everyone can do their part to help respond to this emerging public health threat:
    - On March 16, the White House announced a program called "15 Days to Slow the Spread," which is a nationwide effort to slow the spread of COVID-19 through the implementation of social distancing at all levels of society.
    - Older people and people with severe chronic conditions should take special precautions because they are at higher risk of developing serious COVID-19 illness.
    - If you are a healthcare provider, use your judgement to determine if a patient has signs and symptoms compatible with COVID-19 and whether the patient should be tested. Factors to consider, in addition to clinical symptoms, may include:
        - Does the patient have recent travel from an affected area?
        - Has the patient been in close contact with someone with COVID-19 or patients with pneumonia of unknown cause?
        - Does the patient reside in an area where there has been community spread of COVID-19?

CDC Daily Key Points
Coronavirus Disease 2019 ("COVID-19") Outbreak
March 12, 2020 as of 9:30pm

SNAPSHOT

- CDC has reported:
  - 1,215 confirmed and presumptive positive cases of COVID-19
  - 36 COVID-19 related deaths
  - 42 states and the District of Columbia

MAIN KEY POINTS

- The global outbreak of respiratory illness caused by a new coronavirus that emerged from China has reached pandemic proportions, according to the World Health Organization.
- The United States is in the early phase of the outbreak.
- Public health efforts at this time are focused concurrently on containing spread of this virus and mitigating the impact of this virus.
- There is no vaccine to protect against COVID-19 and no medications approved to treat it.
- Nonpharmaceutical interventions are actions, apart from getting vaccinated and taking medicine, that people and communities can take to help slow the spread of respiratory illnesses like COVID-19 and reduce the impact of that outbreak.
- School closures are one of a number of nonpharmaceutical interventions.
- On March 12, CDC posted "Considerations for school closures" which provides information about the appropriate timing of school closures.
- More cases of COVID-19 are expected in the United States in the coming days, including more instances of community spread.
- As the outbreak continues, at some point, widespread transmission of the virus that causes COVID-19 in the United States is expected occur.
- Many people will get sick, but based on what is known about this virus, most people will not develop serious illness.
- Based on data out of China, where this virus first emerged, older adults and persons of all ages who have serious long-term health problems seem to be at higher risk for more serious COVID-19 illness.
  - It's important that people who are at higher risk of serious COVID-19 illness take special precautions to reduce their risk of getting sick and that the people around them take action to help protect those who are most vulnerable.
  - CDC has guidance for what people at higher risk should do at this time.
- All communities can take measures to reduce the spread of COVID-19. Everyone has a role to play in getting ready and staying healthy.

SITUATION UPDATE

- 1,215 reported cases of COVID-19 have been detected in Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Hawaii, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York (and New York City), North

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, and Wisconsin.
    - 102 of these cases occurred through close contact with another case.
    - 125 cases occurred in persons who had traveled to international areas with sustained (ongoing) transmission and among their close contacts.
    - 988 cases are still being investigated to determine the source of exposure.
- CDC has developed a map of the U.S. that shows affected states and how many COVID-19 cases they have reported.
- Because states are reporting their results directly and publicly, sometimes in near real-time, CDC case counts may be different from what states, local authorities, or media are reporting.
    - In the event of a discrepancy between case counts reported by state or local public health officials versus CDC-reported numbers, the numbers reported by states should be considered the most up to date.
- As of the evening of March 11, 81 state and local public health labs in 50 states and the District of Columbia have verified they are successfully using COVID-19 diagnostic tests.
- CDC has developed a map showing which states and territories have one or more laboratories that have successfully verified and are currently using COVID-19 diagnostic tests.
    - This list is provided by the Association of Public Health Laboratories (APHL).
    - The same page includes information on the number of COVID-19 specimens tested.
- As of the evening of March 11, 2020, CDC and local and state public health laboratories had tested a total of 13,624 specimens.
- CDC is reviewing and updating travel notices almost on a daily basis.
- U.S. citizens, residents, and their immediate family members who have been in China or Iran within in the past 14 days can enter the United States, but they are subject to health monitoring and possible quarantine for up to 14 days.
- On March 11, President Trump issued a proclamation that foreign nationals who have been in one or more of 26 European countries within the past 14 days cannot enter the United States for a period of 30 days.
- On March 11, CDC issued a:
    - Level 3 Travel Health Notice recommending travelers avoid all nonessential travel to most of Europe.
    - Global Level 2 Travel Health Notice recommending older adults and those who have chronic medical conditions consider postponing nonessential travel.
- On March 8, CDC recommended travelers, particularly those with underlying health issues, defer all cruise ship travel worldwide.

CONSIDERATIONS FOR SCHOOL CLOSURES

- There is a role for school closures in response to school-based cases of COVID-19:
    - For decontamination and contact tracing (few days of closure)
    - In response to significant absenteeism of staff and students (short to medium length, i.e., 2–4 weeks of closure)
    - As part of a larger community mitigation strategy for jurisdictions with substantial community spread (medium to long length, i.e., 4–8 weeks or more of closure)
- Available modeling data indicate that short- to medium-length closures early in the outbreak will not impact the spread of COVID-19 or health care measures (e.g., hospitalizations). There may be some impact of much longer closures (8 or more weeks) further into the outbreak when there is more community spread.

- The same model shows other mitigation efforts (e.g., handwashing, home isolation) have more impact on both spread of disease and health care measures.
- In other countries, places that closed schools (e.g., Hong Kong) have not had more success in reducing spread than those that did not (e.g., Singapore).
- In places where school closures are necessary, the anticipated academic and economic impacts and unintended impacts on disease outcomes must be planned for and mitigated. All of the following must be addressed:
    - Provision of academic support (e.g., tele-ed)
    - Alternatives for school-based meals and other services (e.g., behavioral and mental health services) for economically and physically vulnerable children
    - Support for families for whom telework and paid sick leave is not available
    - Continued protection for high risk individuals
- Special consideration must be given for healthcare workers so that school closures do not impact their ability to work.

PANDEMIC INFORMATION

- Pandemics happen when a disease emerges to infect people easily and spreads from person to person in an efficient and sustained way globally.
- This is the first pandemic known to be caused by the emergence of a new coronavirus.
- In the past century, there have been four pandemics caused by the emergence of novel influenza viruses.
    - Pandemic guidance developed in anticipation of an influenza pandemic is being repurposed and adapted for a COVID-19 pandemic.
- The federal government has been working closely with state, local, tribal, and territorial partners, as well as public health partners, to prepare for and respond to this public health threat for months.

    - Pandemics begin with an investigation phase, followed by recognition, initiation, and acceleration phases.
    - The peak of illnesses occurs at the end of the acceleration phase, which is followed by a deceleration phase, during which there is a decrease in illnesses.
- Different countries can be in different phases of the pandemic at any point in time and different parts of the same country can also be in different phases of a pandemic.
- Nationally, the United States is currently in the initiation phase, but states where community spread is occurring are in the acceleration phase.
- The duration and severity of each phase can vary depending on the characteristics of the virus and the public health response.
- Public health partners are encouraged to review their pandemic preparedness plans at this time.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

PEOPLE AT HIGHER RISK OF EXPOSURE/INFECTION

- The immediate risk of being exposed to this virus is still low for most Americans, but as the outbreak expands, that risk will increase. Cases of COVID-19 and instances of community spread are being reported in a growing number of states.
- Right now, people are at higher risk of exposure/infection include:
    - People in communities where ongoing community spread of the virus that causes COVID-19 has been reported are at elevated risk of exposure, with level of risk dependent on the location.
    - Healthcare workers caring for patients with COVID-19 are at elevated risk of exposure.
    - Close contacts of persons with COVID-19 also are at elevated risk of exposure.
    - Travelers returning from affected international locations where community spread is occurring also are at elevated risk of exposure, with level of risk dependent on where they traveled.

PEOPLE AT HIGHER RISK OF SERIOUS COVID-19 ILLNESS

- Early information out of China, where COVID-19 first started, shows that some people are at higher risk of getting very sick from this illness. This includes:
    - Older adults, with risk increasing by age
    - People who have serious chronic medical conditions like
        - Heart disease
        - Diabetes
        - Lung disease

WHAT YOU CAN DO

- Everyone can do their part to help respond to this emerging public health threat:
    - Individuals and communities should familiarize themselves with recommendations to protect themselves and their community from getting and spreading respiratory illnesses like COVID-19.
    - Older people and people with severe chronic conditions should take special precautions because they are at higher risk of developing serious COVID-19 illness.
    - If you are a healthcare provider, use your judgement to determine if a patient has signs and symptoms compatible with COVID-19 and whether the patient should be tested. Factors to consider, in addition to clinical symptoms, may include:
        - Does the patient have recent travel from an affected area?
        - Has the patient been in close contact with someone with COVID-19 or patients with pneumonia of unknown cause?
        - Does the patient reside in an area where there has been community spread of COVID-19?
    - If you are a healthcare provider or a public health responder caring for a COVID-19 patient, please take care of yourself and follow recommended infection control procedures.
    - If you are a close contact of someone with COVID-19 and develop symptoms of COVID-19, call your healthcare provider and tell them about your symptoms and your exposure. They will decide whether you need to be tested. Keep in mind that there is no treatment for COVID-19 and people who are mildly ill are able to isolate at home.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- If you are a resident in a community where there is ongoing spread of COVID-19 and you develop COVID-19 symptoms, call your healthcare provider and tell them about your symptoms. They will decide whether you need to be tested. Keep in mind that there is no treatment for COVID-19 and people who are mildly ill are able to isolate at home.
- For people who are ill with COVID-19, but are not sick enough to be hospitalized, please follow CDC guidance on how to reduce the risk of spreading your illness to others. People who are mildly ill with COVID-19 are able to isolate at home during their illness.
- If you have been in China or another affected area or have been exposed to someone sick with COVID-19 in the last 14 days, you will face some limitations on your movement and activity. Please follow instructions during this time. Your cooperation is integral to the ongoing public health response to try to slow spread of this virus.

CDC ACTIONS

- The federal government is working closely with state, local, tribal, and territorial partners, as well as public health partners, to respond to this public health threat.
- The public health response is multi-layered, with the goal of detecting and minimizing introductions of this virus in the United States to reduce the spread and the impact of this virus.
- CDC is operationalizing all of its pandemic preparedness and response plans, working on multiple fronts to meet these goals, including specific measures to prepare communities to respond to local transmission of the virus that causes COVID-19.
- CDC is aggressively responding to the global outbreak of COVID-19 and preparing for the potential of community spread in more parts of the United States.
- CDC's Action for Preparing Communities for Potential Spread of COVID-19 include:
    - Preparing first responders, healthcare providers, and health systems
    - Reinforcing state, territorial, and local public health readiness
    - Supporting communities, businesses, and schools

COMMUNITY BASED INTERVENTIONS (AKA COMMUNITY MITIGATION)

- Americans should be prepared for the possibility of a COVID-19 outbreak in their community. Everyone has a role to play.
- Currently, a vaccine is not available for COVID-19. Until a vaccine is developed, community-based interventions, such as school dismissals, event cancellations, social distancing, and plans to work remotely, can help slow the spread of coronavirus.
- Your local public health department and community partners have been preparing for an event like COVID-19 and have plans in place. Now is a good time for businesses, community and faith-based organizations, schools, and health-care systems to reexamine their preparedness plans to make sure they are ready.
- Strong community partnerships between local health departments, the health care sector, faith-based organizations, and other community partners are vital for this response, and will be necessary to prepare for and coordinate if an outbreak occurs.
    - Community-based interventions can be grouped in three categories:
        - Personal protective measures (e.g., voluntary home isolation of ill persons, voluntary home quarantine of exposed household members, covering nose/mouth when coughing or sneezing, hand hygiene, using face masks in community settings when ill)

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

    - Community measures aimed at increasing social distancing (e.g., school dismissals, social distancing in workplaces, postponing or cancelling mass gatherings)
    - Environmental measures (e.g., routine cleaning of frequently touched surfaces)
- CDC has recommendations to protect yourself and your community from getting and spreading respiratory illnesses like COVID-19.

Summary

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) recommends all persons defer any travel on cruise ships, including river cruises, worldwide because of the increased risk of SARS-CoV-2 transmission onboard ships. Deferring travel is especially important for older adults and all people with serious chronic medical conditions (such as heart disease, diabetes or lung disease), because of their increased risk for severe disease. This health update provides information to clinicians and state and local health departments about the current coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19) situation and the risks associated with travel on cruise ships, including river cruises.

Information and Guidance about Global Travel on Cruise Ships, Including River Cruises, due to Coronavirus Disease 2019 (COVID-19)

Summary

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) recommends all persons defer any travel on cruise ships, including river cruises, worldwide because of the increased risk of SARS-CoV-2 transmission onboard ships. Deferring travel is especially important for older adults and all people with serious chronic medical conditions (such as heart disease, diabetes or lung disease), because of their increased risk for severe disease. This health update provides information to clinicians and state and local health departments about the current coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19) situation and the risks associated with travel on cruise ships, including river cruises.

Background

Cruise ship passengers, including those who take river cruises, are at increased risk of exposure to SARS-CoV-2, the virus that causes COVID-19. In the past month, there have been reports of outbreaks of COVID-19 among passengers and crew on cruises. Recent examples include 696 cases and 8 deaths on the Diamond Princess cruise ship in Japan, 28 cases on the Grand Princess cruise ship in the United States, and at least 60 cases in 15 states associated with multiple Nile River voyages in Egypt as of March 14, 2020. Illness onset occurred both onboard ships and after passengers returned to the United States. The proximity of passengers and crew on small ships and boats traveling on rivers may result in an even higher number of COVID-19 infections.

Recommendations for Clinicians

Ask all patients about their planned or recent cruise ship travel, including river cruises.

1. Pre-travel advice
   a. Advise patients to defer all cruise ship travel, including river cruises, worldwide.
   b. Explain that their return travel to the United States may be impacted, and formal quarantine procedures may be implemented if confirmed cases are identified on board.
   c. Explain that appropriate medical care or medical evacuation may not be available internationally.
   d. Explain that some countries may refuse docking or disembarkation if there are known or suspected cases on board.
   e. For patients who still intend to cruise, advise them to practice social distancing and monitor their health both during travel and for 14 days from the time they disembark. Social distancing means staying out of crowded places, avoiding group gatherings, and maintaining distance (approximately 6 feet or 2 meters) from others, when possible.
2. Post-travel management
   a. Tell patients to follow CDC's guidance on steps to prevent the spread of COVID-19 (https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/about/steps-when-sick.html) if they develop acute febrile or respiratory illness after travel.
   b. Implement recommended infection prevention and control practices (https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/infection-control/control-recommendations.html) if you suspect a patient has COVID-19.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

c. Immediately notify the local health department (https://www.naccho.org/membership/lhd-directory) if a patient meets clinical and epidemiologic criteria for a person under investigation (PUI) (https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-nCoV/hcp/clinical-criteria.html) for COVID-19 and test as appropriate.

Recommendations for State and Local Health Departments
Check The Epidemic Information Exchange (Epi-X) notification system for information on COVID-19 cases on cruise ships and river cruises.

For More Information
State and local health departments can contact CDC's Emergency Operations Center (EOC) at 770-488-7100 for assistance with obtaining, storing, and shipping appropriate specimens to CDC for testing, including after hours, weekends, or holidays.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) protects people's health and safety by preventing and controlling diseases and injuries; enhances health decisions by providing credible information on critical health issues; and promotes healthy living through strong partnerships with local, national, and international organizations.

The following is a message from FLHAN Everbridge System.

Summary

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) recommends all persons defer any travel on cruise ships, including river cruises, worldwide because of the increased risk of SARS-CoV-2 transmission onboard ships. Deferring travel is especially important for older adults and all people with serious chronic medical conditions (such as heart disease, diabetes or lung disease), because of their increased risk for severe disease. This health update provides information to clinicians and state and local health departments about the current coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19) situation and the risks associated with travel on cruise ships, including river cruises.

Information and Guidance about Global Travel on Cruise Ships, Including River Cruises, due to Coronavirus Disease 2019 (COVID-19)

Summary
The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) recommends all persons defer any travel on cruise ships, including river cruises, worldwide because of the increased risk of SARS-CoV-2 transmission onboard ships. Deferring travel is especially important for older adults and all people with serious chronic medical conditions (such as heart disease, diabetes or lung disease), because of their increased risk for severe disease. This health update provides information to clinicians and state and local health departments about the current coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19) situation and the risks associated with travel on cruise ships, including river cruises.

Background
Cruise ship passengers, including those who take river cruises, are at increased risk of exposure to SARS-CoV-2, the virus that causes COVID-19. In the past month, there have been reports of outbreaks of COVID-19 among passengers and crew on cruises. Recent examples include 696 cases and 8 deaths on the Diamond Princess cruise ship in Japan, 28 cases on the Grand Princess cruise ship in the United States, and at least 60 cases in 15 states associated with multiple Nile River voyages in Egypt as of March 14, 2020. Illness onset occurred both onboard ships and after passengers returned to the United States. The proximity of passengers and crew on small ships and boats traveling on rivers may result in an even higher number of COVID-19 infections.

Recommendations for Clinicians
Ask all patients about their planned or recent cruise ship travel, including river cruises.

1. Pre-travel advice
   a. Advise patients to defer all cruise ship travel, including river cruises, worldwide.
   b. Explain that their return travel to the United States may be impacted, and formal quarantine procedures may be implemented if confirmed cases are identified on board.
   c. Explain that appropriate medical care or medical evacuation may not be available internationally.
   d. Explain that some countries may refuse docking or disembarkation if there are known or suspected cases on board.
   e. For patients who still intend to cruise, advise them to practice social distancing and monitor their health both during travel and for 14 days from the time they disembark. Social distancing means staying out of crowded places, avoiding group gatherings, and maintaining distance (approximately 6 feet or 2 meters) from others, when possible.
2. Post-travel management
   a. Tell patients to follow CDC's guidance on steps to prevent the spread of COVID-19 (https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/about/steps-when-sick.html) if they develop acute febrile or respiratory illness after travel.
   b. Implement recommended infection prevention and control practices (https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/infection-control/control-recommendations.html) if you suspect a patient has COVID-19.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

c. Immediately notify the local health department (https://www.naccho.org/membership/lhd-directory) if a patient meets clinical and epidemiologic criteria for a person under investigation (PUI) (https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-nCoV/hcp/clinical-criteria.html) for COVID-19 and test as appropriate.

Recommendations for State and Local Health Departments
Check The Epidemic Information Exchange (Epi-X) notification system for information on COVID-19 cases on cruise ships and river cruises.

For More Information
State and local health departments can contact CDC's Emergency Operations Center (EOC) at 770-488-7100 for assistance with obtaining, storing, and shipping appropriate specimens to CDC for testing, including after hours, weekends, or holidays.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) protects people's health and safety by preventing and controlling diseases and injuries; enhances health decisions by providing credible information on critical health issues; and promotes healthy living through strong partnerships with local, national, and international organizations.

CDC Reports first known employee with COVID-19 Infection

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) today confirmed the first case of 2019 novel coronavirus disease (COVID-2019) in a CDC employee. Laboratory testing done at CDC confirmed this diagnosis. This individual is in good condition and is isolated to prevent spread of infection to others. Our best wishes go to the employee for a rapid and full recovery.

This individual was not involved in the COVID-19 response, has not been present in the CDC workplace since March 6, and was asymptomatic at that time. Staff working in the same unit are teleworking while we will do a deep cleaning of the office space.

After developing symptoms, the individual took the appropriate action and stayed home. CDC will handle each case with the utmost respect to privacy, while also informing potentially affected staff and taking swift measures to mitigate spread of the virus. Please understand that out of respect for individual privacy, there are details about this case (or others moving forward) that we will not be able to share.

CDC is considering and taking all necessary actions to further protect the health and safety of our workforce. CDC has been taking proactive steps to reduce the risk of infection among its workforce. These steps have included encouraging sick employees to stay home, increasing the frequency of cleaning CDC facilities, canceling large meetings and staff travel, increasing the use of teleworking among staff, and encouraging social distancing and other preventive measures.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

The health and safety of the CDC workforce is a top priority for the agency. CDC will continue to assess and improve ways to protect staff from COVID-19 and other health risks. For more information about COVID-19, see https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-nCoV/index.html

Hello Dr. Villalta –

One of the requirements just presented by CDC is as follows:

1. For an air ambulance/medical evacuation flight, passengers should go to pre-determined clinical facility as arranged by cruise line/air ambulance company. This plan must be in place and cleared with local and state health authorities before departure of the charter flight.

Is this something you could help arrange? The air ambulance company is not doing so.

Dear Colleague:

Today, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) will post on its website a new Vital Signs report on colorectal cancer screening in the U.S. The findings show that many adults wait too long to get screened. Colorectal cancer is the second biggest cancer killer in the U.S. but is highly preventable. Screening catches abnormal growths (polyps) in the colon and rectum before they become cancers. Testing for colorectal cancer is recommended beginning at age 50, but only half of adults have gotten a screening test in their early 50s.

According to the Vital Signs report:

- 68.8% of adults were up to date with screening: 79.2% of those age 65–75, but only 63.3% of those age 50–64.
- At ages 50–64, screening was lowest among those without health insurance (32.6%) and highest among those with a reported household income of $75,000 or more (70.8%).
- Among states, the screening rate was highest in Massachusetts (76.5%) and lowest in Wyoming (57.8%).

About 20%–30% of adults screened will have precancerous polyps in their colon. About nine out of every 10 people whose colorectal cancers are found early and treated appropriately are still alive five years later.

There are several test options available that can be done either at home or in a clinic to prevent or detect cancer early. The six different ways to get screened for colorectal cancer are the fecal occult blood test (FOBT), the fecal immunochemical test (FIT), the multi-target stool DNA (FIT-DNA) test, computed tomographic colonography (CTC), sigmoidoscopy, or colonoscopy. Different tests may be best for different people; a healthcare provider can explain the benefits and drawbacks of each.

This issue of Vital Signs addresses some of the common questions people have about colorectal cancer screening and highlights what healthcare providers and individuals can do to ensure on-time screening.

Thank you for your continued hard work and ongoing collaboration. Please visit the Vital Signs website to learn more about colorectal cancer and the importance of screening. We also encourage you to share these materials with your colleagues.

50 Screening for colorectal cancer is recommended beginning at age 50.

1 in 2 But only one-half of adults have gotten a screening test in their early 50s (age 50–54).

6 There are six different screening tests, some that can be done either at home or in a clinic, that can prevent or detect cancer early.

Overview:

Colorectal cancer is the #2 cancer killer of both men and women in the US. But colorectal cancer is a preventable disease. Colorectal cancer starts with a precancerous polyp (abnormal growth) in the colon, which can be removed without surgery. The US Preventive Services Task Force recommends that adults of average risk begin screening for colorectal cancer at age 50. While screening increases as people get older, national targets for screening have not been met. Adults are likely to get screened when healthcare providers talk to them about their options. Adults ages 50–75 should talk to their doctor about when they should be screened.

PROBLEM:

Not starting screening at 50

Question: What if I don't have any symptoms?

Answer: Colorectal cancer often doesn't cause symptoms early on.

Question: Is the test unpleasant or embarrassing?

Answer: There are several kinds of tests that can be done in the clinic or at home. Talk with your healthcare provider about the best option for you.

Question: Do I need to be screened if no one in my family had colorectal cancer?

Answer: Yes. Family history can put you at higher risk, but most colorectal cancers happen in people with no family history.

THE WAY FORWARD

HEALTHCARE PROVIDERS CAN:

- Take advantage of any medical visit to tell patients they need to get screened starting at 50.
- Let patients know that there is more than one test option that can be done in the clinic or at home.
- Offer recommended test options with advice about each.
- Use reminder systems to notify patients when to get a test done and if they need follow-up tests.

EVERYONE CAN:

- Learn about the six different screening test options.
- Talk to your doctor about the best test for you based on your preferences.
- Find out if you're at higher risk than most people because of family history or other reasons.
- Ask about which tests are covered by insurance.
- Don't wait: Use age 50 as your time to start screening to prevent colorectal cancer or find it early, when treatments work best.

Vital Signs: Colorectal Cancer Screening Test Use — United States, 2018

Abstract

Background: Colorectal cancer (CRC) is the second leading cause of cancer death in the United States of cancers that affect both men and women. Despite strong evidence that screening for CRC reduces incidence and mortality, CRC screening prevalence is below the national target. This report describes current CRC screening prevalence by age, various demographic factors, and state.

Methods: Data from the 2018 Behavioral Risk Factor Surveillance System survey were analyzed to estimate the percentages of adults aged 50–75 years who reported CRC screening consistent with the United States Preventive Services Task Force recommendation.

Results: In 2018, 68.8% of adults were up to date with CRC screening. The percentage up to date was 79.2% among respondents aged 65–75 years and 63.3% among those aged 50–64 years. CRC screening prevalence was lowest among persons aged 50–54 years (50.0%) and increased with age. Among respondents aged 50–64 years, CRC screening prevalence was lowest among persons without health insurance (32.6%) and highest among those with reported annual household income of ≥$75,000 (70.8%). Among respondents aged 65–75 years, CRC screening prevalence was lowest among those without a regular health care provider (45.6%), and highest among those with reported annual household income ≥$75,000 (87.1%). Among states, CRC screening prevalence was highest in Massachusetts (76.5%) and lowest in Wyoming (57.8%).

Discussion: CRC screening prevalence is lower among adults aged 50–64 years, although most reported having a health care provider and health insurance. Concerted efforts are needed to inform persons aged <50 years about the benefit of screening so that screening can start at age 50 years.

Introduction

Of cancers that affect both men and women, colorectal cancer (CRC) is the second leading cause of cancer death in the United States. In 2016, 141,270 cases were diagnosed, and 52,286 persons died from the disease (1). The U.S. Preventive Services Task Force recommends that adults at average risk (those who do not have a personal or family history of CRC or polyps, do not have inflammatory bowel disease, or a history of genetic syndromes associated with CRC) aged 50–75 years be screened for CRC by any of six available tests: 1) fecal occult blood test (FOBT), 2) fecal immunochemical test (FIT), 3) multitarget stool DNA (FIT-DNA), 4) computed tomographic colonography (CTC), 5) sigmoidoscopy, or 6) colonoscopy (2). Strong evidence exists that screening for CRC reduces incidence and mortality (2). Both CRC incidence and mortality have declined steadily over the past 30 years; the decline is attributable in part to the increasing percentage of adults aged 50–75 years who are up to date with CRC screening (i.e., have completed a CRC screening test within the recommended time interval) (3,4). Despite steady gains, the prevalence of CRC screening is lower than the stated national Healthy People 2020 target of 70.5%, and not all populations have achieved equivalent gains in CRC screening (5). This report describes current CRC screening among U.S. adults aged 50–75 years, by demographic characteristics and state.

Methods

The Behavioral Risk Factor Surveillance System (BRFSS) is an annual, state-based, random-digit–dialed telephone survey of the civilian, noninstitutionalized adult population aged ≥18 years that collects information on health risk behaviors, preventive health practices, and health care access in the United States. The median response rate for the 2018 BRFSS combined landline and cellular phone survey was 49.9% (6). All states and the District of Columbia asked BRFSS respondents aged ≥50 years a series of questions about their CRC screening status.* Among 222,490 respondents aged 50–75 years, 16,127 (7.2%) declined to answer, had a missing answer, or answered "don't know/not sure" and were excluded from the analysis. Screening status (up to date with CRC screening†) was analyzed by age groups, various demographic characteristics, and state. Data were weighted to the age, sex, and racial/ethnic distribution of each state's adult population using intercensal estimates and were age-standardized to the 2018 BRFSS population. Chi-squared tests were used to evaluate significant (p<0.005) differences in screening compliance by

* The following questions were asked as part of the Colorectal Cancer Screening module: "A blood stool test is a test that may use a special kit at home to determine whether the stool contains blood. Have you ever had this test using a home kit?," "How long has it been since you had your last blood stool test using a home kit?," "Sigmoidoscopy and colonoscopy are exams in which a tube is inserted in the rectum to view the colon for signs of cancer or other health problems. Have you ever had either of these exams?," "For a sigmoidoscopy, a flexible tube is inserted into the rectum to look for problems. A colonoscopy is similar, but uses a longer tube, and you are usually given medication through a needle in your arm to make you sleepy and told to have someone else drive you home after the test. Was your most recent exam a sigmoidoscopy or a colonoscopy?," and "How long has it been since you had your last sigmoidoscopy or colonoscopy?."

† Current U.S. Preventive Services Task Force recommendations for CRC screening include more detailed test type information than can be fully assessed using the data available in BRFSS. To best match the updated recommendations, "up to date" was defined as the percentage of adults aged 50–75 years who reported having had a blood stool test (FOBT or FIT) within the past year, a sigmoidoscopy within the past 5 years, and/or a colonoscopy within the past 10 years.

age group (50–64 years and 65–75 years). A test for trend was used to evaluate a significant (p<0.005) relationship between age and up-to-date screening status. SAS-callable SUDAAN (version 9.4: RTI International) was used to analyze all data.

Results

In 2018, 68.8% of respondents reported they were up to date with CRC screening, including 79.2% of respondents aged 65–75 years and 63.3% of respondents aged 50–64 years (Table 1). Among all demographic groups studied, a significantly higher percentage of respondents aged 65–75 years reported being up to date with CRC screening than did respondents aged 50–64 years (p<0.005). The difference in the percentage of respondents who were up to date between those aged 65–75 years and those aged 50–64 years was largest (23.1 percentage points) among those without health insurance and smallest (11.1 percentage points) among respondents who identified as non-Hispanic other/multiracial. The percentage of respondents who were up to date was lowest among those aged 50–54 years (50.0%) and highest among those aged 70–75 years (81.3%); increasing age was significantly associated with an increasing percentage of persons who were up to date (p<0.005) (Figure).

Among younger respondents (those aged 50–64 years), reported CRC screening prevalence was lowest among those without a regular health care provider (32.7%) and those without health insurance (32.6%) and highest among those reporting an annual household income of ≥$75,000 (70.8%) and college graduates (70.7%) (Table 1). In this age group, the percentage of respondents who were up to date with CRC screening was higher among women (65.4%), those with health insurance (66.7%), those with a regular health care provider (68.1%), and those living in metropolitan areas (68.1%) than it was among men (61.1%), those without health insurance (32.6%), those without a regular health care provider (32.7%), and those living in non-metropolitan areas (64.4%). As education level and annual household income increased, the percentage of respondents who were up to date with CRC testing also increased.

Among older respondents (aged 65–75 years), reported screening prevalence was lowest among those without a regular health care provider (45.6%) and highest among those who reported annual household income ≥$75,000 (87.1%). Similar to respondents aged 50–64 years, the percentage up to date with screening was higher among women, those with health insurance, those with a health care provider, and those living in metropolitan areas and increased with increasing education and annual household income levels. Overall, 81% of respondents aged 50–64 years and 94% of those aged 65–75 years who had never been screened reported having health insurance.

Among states, Massachusetts had the highest percentage of all adults aged 50–75 years and those aged 50–64 years who were up to date with CRC screening (76.5% and 72.1%, respectively), whereas Wyoming had the lowest percentage (57.8% and 51.5%, respectively) (Table 2). Among adults aged 65–75 years, Rhode Island had the highest percentage who were up to date (84.9%) and Wyoming had the lowest (68.5%). The percentage of adults aged 50–64 years who were up to date was ≥70.5% in four states and <60% in 11 states. In contrast, among adults aged 65–75 years the percentage who were up to date exceeded 70.5% in 49 states and the District of Columbia.

Discussion

An estimated 68.8% of adults aged 50–75 years were up to date with CRC screening in 2018; however, screening prevalence among adults aged 50–64 years was 15.9 percentage points lower than that among persons aged 65–75 years. The percentage up to date with CRC screening varied widely across subgroups, with a 54.5 percentage-point difference between the subgroups with the highest (persons aged 65–75 years with reported annual household income ≥$75,000) and the lowest (persons aged 50–64 years without health insurance) screening prevalence. Up to date CRC screening status increased with increasing age, suggesting that many eligible adults are not receiving important screening that can prevent or detect CRC early, when treatment is more effective.

CRC screening has increased steadily among adults over the past twenty years, but screening prevalence has been consistently higher among those aged 65–75 years than among those aged 50–64 years (7). Visits to a primary care provider have been associated with participation in CRC screening (8–10). In one study, among Medicaid enrollees who had reached age 50 years within the study time frame, 75% had at least one primary care visit within 1 year, but only 17% were screened for CRC during that year. The percentage who initiated screening increased as the number of primary care visits within the previous year increased (9). Having a primary care visit at age 49 years was associated with higher CRC screening initiation at age 50 years, but only 69% of patients saw a provider at age 49 years (11). Modeling studies have estimated that initiating screening at age 50 years results in larger decreases in population CRC incidence and mortality than when screening is started at age 55 years, suggesting that delayed or slow uptake of CRC screening might diminish the beneficial effect of screening on the population (12).

Although lack of health insurance has been strongly associated with low CRC screening prevalence (7), the majority of persons in this study who had never been screened reported having health insurance. Other patient barriers to CRC screening include lack of a provider recommendation, being offered colonoscopy only instead of a choice of tests, lack of awareness of the need to be screened, fear, expense, competing priorities, inability to take time off work if referred for a colonoscopy, and the perceived undesirable nature of screening tests (e.g., sampling and storing fecal matter for stool tests or completing a bowel preparation for colonoscopy) (13–16). Other factors positively associated with CRC screening include use of other preventive services such as cholesterol testing, receiving influenza vaccination, and mammography or cervical cancer screening. Factors negatively associated with CRC screening include provider workload and increasing distance to facilities that perform colonoscopy. Patient comorbid disease might be positively associated with CRC screening because these patients might see their health care provider more frequently, thus increasing the number of opportunities to offer screening, or negatively associated as patients with multiple comorbid diseases might be sicker and unable to participate in screening (10,11,17,18). Less is known about how these factors vary and consequently affect CRC screening by age.

There was substantial state variation in the percentage of adults aged 50–75 years who reported being up to date with CRC screening. Given that adults aged 50–64 years accounted for 60%–70% of the population of adults aged 50–75 years in each state, in general, states with the highest reported CRC screening prevalence for this age group also had the highest overall CRC screening prevalence. Variations in the percentage of the population without health insurance, who are racial/ethnic minorities, or who live in rural or frontier areas, as well as the availability of providers who perform colonoscopy and the number of primary care providers per capita, might also contribute to differences in CRC screening by state.

The findings in this report are subject to at least three limitations. First, CRC screening prevalence might be overestimated because BRFSS does not specify whether tests were done for screening or diagnostic purposes. Second, data are self-reported and not validated by medical record review. Third, response rates were low (49.9%), although the BRFSS weighting procedure accounts for nonresponse, and 7.2% of all respondents did not answer all of the questions and were excluded from the analysis.

Summary

What is already known about this topic?

Screening for colorectal cancer (CRC), the second leading cause of cancer death among cancers affecting men and women, reduces incidence and mortality. The percentage of persons who report being up to date with CRC screening has increased, but not equally among all populations.

What is added by this report?

In 2018, 68.8% of adults were up to date with CRC screening test use, but screening prevalence was 15.9 percentage points lower among those aged 50–64 years than among those aged 65–75 years.

What are the implications for public health practice?

Specific population-based efforts to increase CRC screening are needed so that screening might start at age 50 years and continue as recommended through age 75 years for maximum benefit.

CRC screening is a grade A recommendation from the U.S. Preventive Services Task Force, meaning that there is strong evidence it effectively decreases CRC incidence and mortality. A microsimulation modeling study found that increasing CRC screening prevalence to 80% had the potential to decrease CRC incidence and mortality by 22% and 33% respectively by 2030 (19). This would result in 277,000 new cases averted and 203,000 deaths prevented by 2030. These results assume that participants start screening at age 50 years and continue periodic screening as recommended through age 75 years.

Whereas 68.8% of the U.S. population aged 50–75 years reports being up to date with CRC screening, screening prevalence is lower among younger adults, especially those aged 50–54 years. To achieve further increases in CRC screening to maximize benefit, specific efforts to increase screening in persons aged 50–64 years are needed. Partnerships between public health and health care systems to implement evidence-based interventions such as those described in The Community Guide (20) (e.g., provider reminders, patient reminders, provider assessment and feedback, and reduction of structural barriers) can increase CRC screening even in hard-to-reach populations, as demonstrated by CDC's Colorectal Cancer Control Program (CRCCP) (https://www.cdc.gov/cancer/crccp/about.htm). The CRCCP funds states, tribes, and universities to partner with primary care clinics to implement evidence-based interventions to increase CRC screening. Over 3 years, recipients partnered with approximately 600 clinics reaching approximately 1 million adults aged

50–75 years. Most clinics were Federally Qualified Health Centers, which provide health care in underserved areas. Implementation of evidence-based interventions resulted in an average 10 percentage-point increase in screening prevalence in participating clinics. Additional efforts might include educating adults about the benefit of screening well before age 50 years so that screening can start at age 50 years, providing education about insurance coverage for preventive services, providing clear communication about test options, and conducting research to identify and understand barriers and facilitators to CRC screening specific to this younger age group to inform effective interventions to increase screening.

Since implementation of Standard Precautions* for the prevention of bloodborne pathogen transmission in 1985, health care–associated transmission of human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) in the United States has been rare (1). In October 2017, the New York City Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (NYCDOHMH) and the New York State Department of Health (NYSDOH) were notified by a clinician of a diagnosis of acute HIV infection in a young adult male (patient A) without recognized risk factors (i.e., he was monogamous, had an HIV-negative partner, and had no injection drug use) who had recently been hospitalized for a chronic medical condition. The low risk coupled with the recent hospitalization and medical procedures prompted NYSDOH, NYCDOHMH, and CDC to investigate this case as possible health care–associated transmission of HIV. Among persons with known HIV infection who had hospitalization dates overlapping those of patient A, one person (patient B) had an HIV strain highly similar to patient A's strain by nucleotide sequence analysis. The sequence relatedness, combined with other investigation findings, indicated a likely health care–associated transmission. Nucleotide sequence analysis, which is increasingly used for detecting HIV clusters (i.e., persons with closely related HIV strains) and to inform public health response (2,3), might also be used to identify possible health care–associated transmission of HIV to someone with health care exposure and no known HIV risk factors (4).

Investigation and Results

Medical record review and interview of patient A by NYCDOHMH and NYSDOH revealed a low risk for HIV acquisition (i.e., monogamous sex with an HIV-negative female partner and no injection drug use). In July 2017, upon admission to hospital 1 for complications of chronic kidney disease (99 days before diagnosis of HIV), patient A's HIV antigen/antibody rapid test was negative (Figure 1). In October 2017 (25 days before HIV diagnosis), patient A was readmitted to hospital 1 and started hemodialysis. During this admission, patient A underwent vascular access placement by outpatient interventional radiology at hospital 2, and hemodialysis was begun at hospital 1 the same day (22 days before diagnosis). Patient A was discharged 10 days later (12 days before diagnosis) and began hemodialysis at an outpatient dialysis facility 2 days later (10 days before diagnosis).

Patient A was readmitted to the same hospital 9 days later with a 5-day history of fever, sore throat, nausea, vomiting, and diarrhea. The next day, a diagnosis of acute HIV infection was laboratory-confirmed (i.e., HIV-1 and HIV-2 antibody plus HIV-1 p24 antigen test, a negative HIV-1/2 differentiation antibody test, and a detectable HIV-1 RNA qualitative test). The finding of detectable antigen and HIV-1 virus without detectable antibody indicated acute HIV infection (5,6) and suggested that infection likely occurred 10–22 days earlier, coinciding with the period from his admission to hospital 1 (day -22) (Figure 1) to beginning outpatient hemodialysis (day -10) (Figure 1). Patient A was referred to HIV care but was not prescribed antiretroviral treatment (ART). Sixty-six days after the HIV diagnosis, patient A died from complications related to chronic kidney disease (Figure 1).

Given the likely period when infection occurred was during patient A's hospitalization, NYSDOH initiated an infection control investigation. A total of 232 patients were identified who had undergone treatment at the same time as patient A on either the hospital 1 inpatient ward or in the hemodialysis unit, or the hospital 2 interventional radiology unit, or the outpatient hemodialysis unit. Using all of the person-identifying information provided by the facilities (i.e., first name, last name, and date of birth) and matching that information against the statewide NYSDOH HIV registry, of the 232, investigators identified 10 persons with previously diagnosed HIV infection. Three were inpatients on the hospital 1 ward with at least one coincident day with patient A's admission, five received outpatient hemodialysis in the same outpatient hemodialysis unit as patient A, and two received inpatient hemodialysis at hospital 1. Nine of the 10 had documented sustained HIV viral suppression with all viral load results <200 HIV RNA copies/mL throughout 2017. One person with HIV infection diagnosed decades earlier (patient B) was identified as having an increasing HIV viral load between spring and fall 2017. Patient B's HIV diagnosis was known to hospital 1, and patient B received antiretroviral drugs while in hospital 1. Patient B subsequently died in November 2017. from 1) the hospital 1 ward and hemodialysis unit, 2) the hospital 2 interventional radiology unit, and 3) the outpatient hemodialysis unit yielded no matches.

HIV-1 polymerase (pol) sequences generated through standard HIV drug resistance testing and reported as part of HIV surveillance were analyzed by NYSDOH to identify molecular relatedness (2,3). Patient A and eight of the 10 matched persons, including patient B, had at least one HIV pol sequence reported to NYSDOH. Patient A had a November 2017 sequence, and patient B had pol sequences available from 2006 and 2010. CDC also generated HIV pol sequences from remnant specimens from patients A and B collected in 2017 less than 30 days apart (6,7).

All pol sequences from patients A and B showed >98% nucleotide identity, with the patient A and patient B sequences from 2017 sharing over 99% identity. HIV-1 sequences for the other nine patients were not closely related to those from patients A or B, showing <96% nucleotide identity (Figure 2). HIV-1 sequences from samples collected from patients A and B were not closely genetically related to those of the 295,000 NYSDOH sequences, 400,000 pol sequences available to CDC, or 800,000 HIV sequences at GenBank (as of May 9, 2019). Phylogenetic analysis of the 15 sequences from all 11 patients using maximum likelihood methods showed that all five sequences from patients A and B clustered together strongly in a monophyletic clade with high confidence and with the three 2017 sequences also forming a tight subcluster with high confidence (Figure 2) (7).

Medical record review established that, in October 2017, patients A and B were on the same inpatient ward of hospital 1 for 25 hours (shared ward time) (Figure 1). Patients A and B also received inpatient hemodialysis in the same hemodialysis unit. However, they never received hemodialysis on the same day, nor did patient A follow patient B on the same hemodialysis machine. Patient B had no interventional radiology procedures during the hospitalization.

NYSDOH conducted site visits focused on infection control practices at hospital 1's inpatient ward and hemodialysis unit, hospital 2's interventional radiology unit, and the outpatient hemodialysis unit. Observations made on hospital 1's inpatient ward and hemodialysis unit and hospital 2's interventional radiology unit did not identify any directly observed infection

* Branch length is related to the number of nucleotide substitutions. The more substitutions a sequence has, the longer its branch will be. More evolved sequences will be further from their ancestor. Some nodes are collapsed for better visualization of the whole tree and are depicted as triangles with the number of taxa shown in parentheses. GenBank accession numbers for sequences identified by BLAST analysis are provided when nodes are not collapsed. Confidence values for the branching pattern were assessed with the Shimodaira-Hasegawa (SH) test and are given as probabilities to the left of each branching node. SH values <0.8 are not shown.

Summary

What is already known about this topic?

Health care–associated human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) transmission is uncommon in the United States. Adherence to Standard Precautions can help to prevent health care–related spread of bloodborne pathogens.

What is added by this report?

In this investigation of an acute HIV infection in a patient with chronic kidney disease who received care in a hospital and other health care settings, epidemiologic and nucleotide sequence data support likely health care–associated transmission.

What are the implications for public health practice?

Investigators of acute HIV infection in persons with recent health care exposure and no known risk factors for HIV might consider the possibility of health care–associated transmission and conduct nucleotide sequence analysis.

control lapses, nor were opportunities for transmission identified in the hemodialysis unit or interventional radiology unit. The site visits included interviews with clinical providers and other key personnel. Hospital 1 pharmacy records indicated the only medications prescribed to both patients were intravenous saline flushes and injectable darbepoetin. Patient A did not receive narcotics on the hospital 1 ward. Hospital 1 used 3 mL and 10 mL prefilled, plastic-wrapped, sealed, saline syringes stored in locked clean utility rooms. Darbepoetin (used to treat anemia related to chronic kidney disease) was supplied in patient-specific, prefilled, single-use syringes of various strengths delivered by the hospital A pharmacy to the hemodialysis unit. All other medications were tracked and dispensed via a biometric-controlled and password-controlled automated dispensing system.

Patients A and B had no known social contact, and no specific mechanism for transmission between these patients was confirmed. However, the epidemiologic evidence and high degree of viral genetic relatedness were most compatible with transmission having occurred at hospital 1 during mid-October 2017 (Figure 1).

Public Health Response

NYSDOH recommended a notification of potential exposure to bloodborne pathogens at hospital 1 for any patient who had an injection, infusion, or other invasive procedure while an inpatient on the same unit in hospital 1 or who received inpatient hemodialysis at hospital 1 during the period when both patients A and B were inpatients at hospital 1 (days -20 to -12 before patient A tested positive for HIV) (Figure 1). The hospital mailed letters to the 36 living patients meeting NYSDOH criteria; the letters described potential HIV exposure and offered free testing for HIV as well as for hepatitis B and hepatitis C viruses, although neither patient had hepatitis B or hepatitis C infections. Ongoing surveillance has not identified any additional cases related to this investigation.

Discussion

In this investigation of acute HIV infection with a narrow transmission window, low reported behavioral risks associated with HIV acquisition and the timing and results of HIV testing indicate the infection likely occurred when patient A was hospitalized. Analysis of HIV nucleotide sequence data for persons with overlapping health care exposures helped to identify a possible source of infection.

The inpatient hemodialysis unit, interventional radiology unit, and outpatient hemodialysis unit were excluded as likely transmission locations because of an absence of a source patient or opportunity for transmission. Although no specific infection control lapses were directly observed, the epidemiologic data and nucleotide sequence analyses provide support for possible health care–associated transmission while both patients were hospital 1 inpatients on the same ward. However, the possibility cannot be excluded that transmission involved a person (hospitalized or not) with undiagnosed HIV infection or a person with diagnosed HIV infection without an available HIV-1 pol sequence for comparison.

This incident serves as a reminder of the importance of strict adherence to Standard Precautions within health care settings. It also underscores the utility of sequence analysis to identify transmission to persons with no known HIV risk factors through uncommon health care routes that might otherwise go unrecognized.

Screening for Alcohol Use and Brief Counseling of Adults — 13 States and the District of Columbia, 2017

Binge drinking* is a leading preventable public health problem. From 2006 to 2010, binge drinking contributed to approximately 49,000 annual deaths resulting from acute conditions (e.g., injuries and violence) (1). Binge drinking also increases the risk for adverse health conditions, including some chronic diseases (e.g., breast cancer) and fetal alcohol spectrum disorders (2). In 2004, 2013, and again in 2018, for all U.S. adults aged ≥18 years in primary care, the U.S. Preventive Services Task Force (USPSTF) recommended alcohol screening and brief intervention (alcohol SBI) or counseling for persons whose screening indicated drinking in excess of recommended limits or in ways that increase risk for poor health outcomes (3–5). However, previous CDC surveillance data indicate that patients report rarely talking to their provider about alcohol use,† and alcohol SBI is traditionally delivered through conversation. CDC recently analyzed 2017 data from the Behavioral Risk Factor Surveillance System (BRFSS) survey's five-question module, which asked adults in 13 states§ and the District of Columbia (DC) about the delivery of alcohol SBI during their most recent checkup in the past 2 years. Overall, 81.4% of adults (age-standardized estimate) reported being asked about alcohol use by a health professional in person or on a form during a checkup in the past 2 years, but only 37.8% reported being asked a question about binge-level alcohol consumption, which is included on USPSTF recommended instruments (3). Among module respondents who were asked about alcohol use at a checkup in the past 2 years and reported current binge drinking (past 30 days) at time of survey, only 41.7% were advised about the harms of drinking too much at a checkup in the past 2 years, and only 20.1% were advised to reduce or quit drinking at a checkup in the past 2 years. These findings suggest that missed opportunities remain for health care providers to intervene with patients who report binge drinking. Working to implement alcohol SBI at a systems level, including the provision of the new Healthcare Effectiveness Data Information Set (HEDIS) measure, Unhealthy Alcohol Use Screening and Follow-Up, can improve alcohol SBI's use and benefit in primary care.

BRFSS is an ongoing state-based, random-digit–dialed telephone survey of the noninstitutionalized U.S. adult population aged ≥18 years in all 50 states, DC, and participating U.S. territories. Information is collected on various health conditions, health practices, and risk behaviors, including alcohol use. CDC analyzed 2017 data from the 13 states and DC that administered an optional alcohol SBI module. All BRFSS respondents are asked about the timing of their last routine checkup. Those who had a checkup in the past 2 years were asked alcohol SBI module questions.¶ All module respondents were asked four questions: 1) "You told me earlier that your last routine checkup was [within the past year/within the past 2 years]. At that checkup, were you asked in person or on a form if you drink alcohol?"; 2) "Did the health care provider ask you in person or on a form how much you drink?"; 3) "Did the health care provider specifically ask whether you drank (5 for men/4 for women) or more alcoholic drinks on an occasion?"; and 4) "Were you offered advice about what level of drinking is harmful or risky for your health?" Persons who responded affirmatively to any of the first three questions (alcohol use screening–related) were also asked "Healthcare providers may also advise patients to drink less for various reasons. At your last routine checkup, were you advised to reduce or quit your drinking?" to assess brief counseling. BRFSS assesses current binge drinking by report of drinking four (women) or five (men) or more drinks on one or more occasions during the past 30 days.

Analyses were conducted to account for BRFSS's complex sampling design. Weighted crude and age-standardized prevalence estimates of responses to alcohol SBI module questions were calculated. Estimates were stratified by demographic characteristics and selected drinking patterns. Subanalyses were performed among alcohol SBI module respondents who indicated that they had been asked at least one of three alcohol use screening–related questions in the past 2 years and who reported current binge drinking (in the past 30 days) at time of survey. Only age-standardized estimates are included in the text of this report. Wald chi-squared tests were used to determine significant within-group differences. SUDAAN (version 11.0.3; RTI International) was used for analyses. Only significant differences are reported. The median cooperation rate for the 14 sites was 71.7%, and median response rate was 43.8%.

* The National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism defines binge drinking as a pattern of drinking that brings blood alcohol concentration levels to 0.08 g/dL. This typically occurs after four drinks for women and five drinks for men, in approximately 2 hours. https://pubs.niaaa.nih.gov/publications/Newsletter/winter2004/Newsletter_Number3.pdf.

Overall, 81.4% of module respondents indicated being asked by their health care provider about alcohol use in person or by form, 71.8% reported being asked how much they drink, and 37.8% reported being asked about binge drinking (Table 1). The prevalence of module respondents being asked about binge drinking was higher among males (40.1%) and persons with less than a high school diploma (46.2%) than among females (36.0%) and persons with higher levels of education (36.1% [college or technical school] to 37.1% [high school diploma]). A higher percentage of persons with a household income <200% of the federal poverty level were asked about binge drinking than were persons with an income ≥200% of the federal poverty level. Hispanic adults reported being asked about binge drinking more than other racial/ethnic groups. Prevalence of being asked about binge drinking was also higher among module respondents who reported binge drinking (47.3%) than among those who did not (36.1%).

Among module respondents who were asked at least one of the alcohol use screening–related questions at a checkup in the past 2 years and reported current binge drinking (past 30 days) at time of survey, only 41.7% were advised about the harms of drinking too much at a checkup in the past 2 years, and only 20.1% were advised to reduce or quit drinking at a checkup in the past 2 years (Table 2). Among module respondents who were asked at least one of the alcohol use screening–related questions and reported current binge drinking in the past 30 days at time of survey, the prevalence of being advised to reduce drinking at a checkup in the past 2 years was higher among males (24.1%), persons with a disability (28.2%), persons with less than a high school education (38.2%), persons with income <100% of the federal poverty level (37.5%), and those without health insurance coverage (36.2%) than among their counterparts. Prevalence was also higher among Hispanic adults (28.5%) than among white adults (16.8%).

Discussion

In 2017, although 81% of U.S. adults reported being asked by their health care provider about alcohol use, only 38% reported being asked about binge drinking during a checkup in the past 2 years, based on BRFSS data from 13 states and DC. Fewer than half (42%) of module respondents who were asked about alcohol use at a checkup in the past 2 years and reported current binge drinking (past 30 days) at time of survey were advised of harmful drinking levels; almost 80% (four of five persons) received no advice to reduce their drinking (only 20% were advised to reduce their drinking). Previous overall 2014 estimates, using the BRFSS alcohol SBI module from 17 states and DC (6), were similar to overall 2017 findings, but not directly comparable because of differences in states repeating the module in 2014 and 2017 (only five states implemented the module both years). State-level trend analysis might occur in future reports. An assessment of binge-level consumption is included on USPSTF-recommended screening tools (5).

Screening alone is not effective at reducing binge drinking (5). Brief counseling involves feedback based on screening results, a conversation about the dangers of excessive drinking on the patient's health, and development of a plan to reduce drinking if the patient chooses to do so (5,7). Behavioral counseling is a necessary component of alcohol SBI for reduction in consumption and adherence to drinking limits (5). Persons with dependence are to be referred to treatment, but referral might not occur, or patients might not accept the referral, obtain treatment, or respond to treatment (5,7). The Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration, which has long promoted SBI through grant programs, has a treatment locator†† to assist with the referral process. A 2018 USPSTF review found that "Among adults identified through screening, counseling interventions to reduce unhealthy alcohol use were associated with reductions in alcohol use (by a mean of 1.6 drinks/wk) and in the odds of exceeding recommended drinking limits (by 40%) and heavy use episodes (by 33%) at 6 to 12 months of follow-up….Among pregnant women, counseling interventions were associated with an odds ratio of 2.26 for remaining abstinent from alcohol during pregnancy." (5).

The demographic differences in this report might be a consequence of some adults having more contact with health systems, such as those with a disability (8) or veterans, which could increase their likelihood of receipt of alcohol SBI. In addition, screening practices might vary in health care systems that have systematically implemented alcohol SBI (e.g., U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs and federally qualified health centers) (9).

Health system changes, such as the acceptance of a new 2018 HEDIS measure: Unhealthy Alcohol Use Screening and Follow-Up,§§ might increase the provision of alcohol SBI.

 The cooperation rate is the number of complete and partial complete interviews divided by the number of contacted and eligible respondents.

¶ Poverty categories are based on the ratio of the respondent's annual household income to the appropriate simplified 2016 federal poverty threshold (given family size: number of adults (1–14) in the household and number of children in the household) defined by the U.S. Census Bureau. This ratio is multiplied by 100 to be expressed as a percentage, and federal poverty thresholds were then used to categorize respondents into four FPL categories: 1) <100% of FPL (poor), 2) ≥100%–<200% of FPL (near poor), 3) ≥200% of FPL (not poor), and 4) unknown.

Further, federal agencies have promoted broad implementation of alcohol SBI, including CDC's funding initiatives to organizations working on fetal alcohol spectrum disorder,¶¶ the development of training and implementation resources, and cross-agency, medical, and private sector partnerships.

The 2015–2020 Dietary Guidelines for Americans recommends that if alcohol is consumed, it should be in moderation (up to one drink a day for women, two for men) and only by adults of legal drinking age.††† The 2015–2020 Dietary Guidelines for Americans and the National Institute for Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism also indicate or advise that some persons should not drink alcohol at all, including pregnant women (10) or those who might be pregnant or persons who have certain medical conditions or are taking medications that can interact with alcohol (10).

The findings in this report are subject to at least four limitations. First, BRFSS data are self-reported, which can result in recall and social desirability biases around the period of recall for the checkup. Second, data in this report were from 14 sites, and thus, these results cannot be used to estimate the prevalence of alcohol SBI across all states and territories. Third, although respondents indicated current binge drinking in response to a BRFSS survey question, whether they reported binge drinking to their health care provider at time of checkup in the past 2 years is unknown; many respondents reported not being asked about binge drinking at a checkup in the past 2 years. Finally, the survey median response rate was only 43.8%, which increases the possibility of response bias.

Binge drinking among U.S. adults continues to be a leading preventable cause of considerable morbidity and mortality (1). Alcohol SBI is an effective clinical preventive service for reducing excess alcohol use,§§§ including binge consumption (3,5,7). This report suggests that alcohol SBI is not being fully implemented as recommended. If alcohol SBI is implemented as recommended by USPSTF (3,5,7) and coupled with population-level interventions recommended by the U.S. Community Preventive Services Task Force for the prevention of excessive drinking (e.g., increasing alcohol taxes and regulating alcohol outlet density¶¶¶), an opportunity exists to also reduce alcohol-related morbidity and mortality. Working to implement alcohol SBI at a systems level, including the provision of the new HEDIS measure, Unhealthy Alcohol Use Screening and Follow-Up, can improve alcohol SBI's use and benefit in primary care.

Summary

What is already known about this topic?

Binge drinking increases the risk for adverse health conditions and death. Alcohol screening and brief intervention (SBI), recommended by the U.S. Preventive Services Task Force (USPSTF) for all adults in primary care, is effective in reducing binge drinking.

What is added by this report?

In 2017, 81% of survey respondents were asked by their health care provider about alcohol consumption and 38% about binge drinking at a checkup in the past 2 years. Among those asked about alcohol use and who reported current binge drinking, 80% received no advice to reduce their drinking.

What are the implications for public health practice?

Implementation of alcohol SBI as recommended by USPSTF, coupled with population-level evidence-based interventions, can reduce binge drinking among U.S. adults.

Opioid-Involved Overdose Deaths with Fentanyl or Fentanyl Analogs Detected — 28 States and the District of Columbia, July 2016–December 2018

Julie O'Donnell, PhD[1]; R. Matt Gladden, PhD[1]; Bruce A. Goldberger, PhD[2]; Christine L. Mattson, PhD[1]; Mbabazi Kariisa, PhD[1]

Approximately two thirds of the 70,237 U.S. drug overdose deaths reported in 2017 involved opioids (1). Since 2013, opioid-involved overdose deaths involving illicitly manufactured fentanyl has sharply increased (1,2). Fentanyl analogs are structurally similar to fentanyl but vary in potency, are primarily illicitly distributed, and require specific postmortem toxicology testing for detection.* Deaths involving fentanyl analogs, particularly carfentanil, increased in 10 states during 2016–2017 and often co-occurred with fentanyl (3). CDC funded 32 states and the District of Columbia (DC) to enhance postmortem toxicology testing and abstract data from death certificates and medical examiner and coroner reports on opioid-involved overdose deaths of unintentional and undetermined intent through the State Unintentional Drug Overdose Reporting System (SUDORS).† Twelve states have collected data since July 2016, and an additional 20 states and DC began collecting data in July 2017 as part of a rapid expansion of SUDORS. This analysis 1) reports rapid changes in opioid-involved overdose deaths with fentanyl§ and fentanyl analogs detected during July 2016–December 2018 among 10 states with available SUDORS data¶ and 2) provides a description of the most recent data on deaths with fentanyl and fentanyl analogs detected among 28 states and DC. Tracking specific drugs involved in overdose deaths is critical because the risk for overdose for fentanyl and fentanyl analogs varies substantially. There are considerable differences in potency, dose, purity, and co-use patterns among drug products.††

During July 2016–December 2018, a total of 26,104 opioid-involved overdose deaths were reported in the 10 states, including 5,083 (19.5%) for which at least one fentanyl analog was detected. Among these deaths, more than 15 different fentanyl analogs were identified, with more than one analog detected in some deaths; the five most commonly detected were acetylfentanyl (2,178 deaths; 8.3% of opioid-involved overdose deaths), carfentanil (1,724; 6.6%), furanylfentanyl (497; 1.9%), cyclopropylfentanyl (371; 1.4%), and acrylfentanyl (353; 1.4%). Deaths associated with carfentanil, furanylfentanyl, cyclopropylfentanyl, and acrylfentanyl peaked at different times (Figure). Deaths with carfentanil detected peaked twice, in September 2016 (87 deaths) and in April 2017 (235). Deaths with furanylfentanyl detected peaked in January 2017 (100), those with acrylfentanyl detected peaked in February 2017 (122), and those with cyclopropylfentanyl detected peaked in September 2017 (49). Deaths with these four analogs detected decreased to fewer than five each by December 2018. In contrast, acetylfentanyl was increasingly detected in opioid-involved overdose deaths over time, reaching 179 in December 2018. Fentanyl deaths increased by 25.8%, from 3,086 during July–December 2016 to 3,881 during July–December 2018.

During July–December 2018, in 28 states and DC, one or more fentanyl analogs were detected in 2,824 (19.4%) of 14,571 opioid-involved overdose deaths. The most commonly detected analogs during that period were acetylfentanyl (2,363; 16.2% of opioid-involved overdose deaths), a combined group of "fluorofentanyls"§§ (269; 1.8%), butyrylfentanyl (86; 0.6%), methoxyacetylfentanyl (85; 0.6%), and valerylfentanyl (71; 0.5%). Excluding acetylfentanyl, all other fentanyl analogs were detected in <5% of opioid-involved overdose deaths. Fentanyl was detected in 73.9% of opioid-involved overdose deaths.

* Fentanyl analogs, also known as fentanyl-related substances, are synthetic opioids similar in chemical structure to fentanyl but modified to produce distinct substances. Fentanyl analogs vary in potency, with some more potent than fentanyl (e.g., carfentanil and 3-methylfentanyl) and others with potency similar to or less than that of fentanyl (e.g., acetylfentanyl and furanylfentanyl). https://www.deadiversion.usdoj.gov/drug_chem_info/frs.pdf.

† SUDORS funded 32 states and DC to collect detailed information on toxicology, route of administration, and other risk factors that might be associated with a fatal opioid-involved overdose. SUDORS was part of CDC's Enhanced State Opioid Overdose Surveillance program. SUDORS data are reported to CDC twice yearly, documenting deaths that occur during the first half (January–June) and the second half (July–December) of each calendar year. Data for this report were downloaded on October 30, 2019, and might differ from earlier or future reports because states continually update death data and investigations of suspected drug overdose deaths might involve lengthy investigations. https://www.cdc.gov/drugoverdose/foa/state-opioid-mm.html.

§ A positive test for fentanyl indicates the use of prescription fentanyl, illicitly manufactured fentanyl, or both. Previous reports have established that most overdose deaths testing positive for fentanyl are related to the use of illicitly manufactured fentanyl. https://www.cdc.gov/mmwr/volumes/67/wr/mm6734a2.htm.

¶ The 10 states included are Kentucky, Maine, Massachusetts, Missouri, New Hampshire, New Mexico, Ohio, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, and Wisconsin. Data were considered validated if data quality checking processes identified no substantial issues with the number of deaths entered (e.g., unable to obtain data from a portion of the state) or quality of data entered on required SUDORS variables.

 The 29 jurisdictions included are Alaska, Connecticut, DC, Delaware, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Missouri, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, North Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

§§ Because of the rapid emergence of fentanyl analogs in overdose deaths, fentanyl analogs detected on forensic toxicology laboratory tests were entered into SUDORS using a dropdown menu (preferred) or direct entry into a text field for substances not in the menu. Consequently, certain analogs cannot be distinguished in the current data and have therefore been combined into a group of analogs with "fluoro" appearing in the name: fluorobutyrylfentanyl, 4/para-fluorobutyrylfentanyl, fluoroisobutyrylfentanyl, and 4/para-fluoroisobutyrylfentanyl.

FIGURE. Number of opioid-involved overdose deaths with fentanyl or the five most common fentanyl analogs detected — State Unintentional Drug Overdose Reporting System, 10 states,* July 2016–December 2018

* Kentucky, Maine, Massachusetts, Missouri, New Hampshire, New Mexico, Ohio, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, and Wisconsin.

The declines in overdose deaths with the fentanyl analogs carfentanil, furanylfentanyl, acrylfentanyl, and cyclopropylfentanyl detected contributed to previously reported declines in opioid-involved overdose deaths during 2018 among 25 states, even as deaths with fentanyl detected increased over time (4). This suggests a shift away from illicit fentanyl analog distribution to distribution of illicitly manufactured fentanyl.¶¶ Increased acetylfentanyl detection must be interpreted cautiously. Specifically, acetylfentanyl might be a byproduct or contaminant in illicitly manufactured fentanyl products rather than being intentionally distributed (5). Although fentanyl analog–associated deaths occurred infrequently by the end of 2018, recent reports indicate that fentanyl analogs might reemerge. An Ohio county reported sharp increases in carfentanil-involved deaths in 2019, and Ontario, Canada, issued a 2019 alert reporting increases in carfentanil-involved overdose deaths.††† Timely toxicologic surveillance is critical to accurately detect opioid-involved overdose deaths and, in turn, to inform interventions that could mitigate health consequences of rapid illicit drug market changes.

¶¶ With few exceptions, fentanyl analogs are illicitly distributed because they do not have a legitimate medical use in humans. The three fentanyl analogs with legitimate human medical use are alfentanil, remifentanil, and sufentanil.

Notes from the Field

Carbapenemase-Producing Klebsiella pneumoniae in a Ventilator-Capable Skilled Nursing Facility — Maricopa County, Arizona, July–November 2018

Sarah E. Scott, MD[1,2,3]; James Matthews, MPH[2]; Katherine C. Hobbs, MPH[2]; Keila Maldonado[2]; Rachana Bhattarai, PhD[3]; Rebecca Sunenshine, MD[2,4]; Siru Prasai, MD[2]

On August 2, 2018, Maricopa County (Arizona) Department of Public Health (MCDPH) identified two isolates of carbapenemase-producing Klebsiella pneumoniae (KPC-KP), a type of carbapenemase-producing carbapenem-resistant Enterobacteriaceae (CP-CRE), from urine specimens collected on July 17 and July 23 from two residents of a ventilator-capable unit in a skilled nursing facility. CP-CRE are multidrug-resistant organisms typically isolated from persons with a health care exposure (1,2). Invasive CP-CRE infections are associated with a 50% case-fatality rate (3); however, only 31%–63% of asymptomatic carriers are identified with clinical cultures (4,5) and might serve as sources of CP-CRE transmission. Both residents at this skilled nursing facility had indwelling urinary catheters and urinary tract infections, resided in neighboring rooms, and were dependent on nursing care for their activities of daily living; one resident was mechanically ventilated. The Antibiotic Resistance Laboratory Network Mountain Region laboratory in Austin, Texas, performed pulsed-field gel electrophoresis (PFGE) on the two clinical isolates, which were found to have indistinguishable PFGE patterns, suggesting health care–associated transmission. MCDPH and the Arizona Department of Health Services (ADHS) investigated the cluster to prevent additional cases.

MCDPH recommended that the ventilator-capable unit perform contact screening for KPC-KP colonization by rectal swab and culture. The skilled nursing facility had 192 resident beds, 48 (25%) of which were in the ventilator-capable unit; the average length of stay was 14 days. A case was defined as isolation of KPC-KP with a PFGE pattern indistinguishable from that of the two index patients from any specimen source collected from a resident of the ventilator-capable unit during July–November 2018. Contacts were defined as residents residing for ≥3 days in the same ventilator-capable unit as either of the two index patients. On August 13, among 42 identified contacts, six (14%) declined screening, seven (17%) had been discharged, two (5%) were deceased, and one (2%) had a recent infection with a different carbapenem-resistant organism. Among the remaining 26 (62%) residents who were screened, KPC-KP isolates were detected in five (19%) asymptomatic contacts, three of which had indistinguishable PFGE patterns from those of the two index patients.

On September 6, MCDPH and ADHS conducted a site visit to the facility to observe infection control practices with emphasis on the ventilator-capable unit and recommend targeted control measures. Observations included missed opportunities for hand hygiene before and after physical contact with residents and lapses in aseptic technique during routine sterile procedures. MCDPH recommended housing residents with CP-CRE infection in the same ward or in the same room when possible; implementing contact precautions with room restriction for residents with CP-CRE infection who are mechanically ventilated, have tracheostomies, or have uncontained body fluids; requiring staff members to perform hand hygiene with alcohol-based hand sanitizer before and after physical contact with residents; increasing access to alcohol-based hand sanitizer by installing additional dispensers; and offering trainings to staff members for commonly performed sterile procedures.

On November 5, contacts were rescreened to determine whether recommended control measures were successful in containing the cluster. Twenty-eight residents, none of whom had had KPC-KP isolates detected previously, were identified using the previous criteria for rescreening; nine (32%) declined and 19 (68%) consented, 10 of whom had been screened previously. All 19 (100%) rescreened cultures were negative for KPC-KP. Both index patients were treated with antibiotics for KPC-KP urinary infections, and neither died. Following this investigation, one patient had multiple urine specimens collected in which a KPC-KP isolate was identified, suggesting urinary colonization.

Among 26 screened ventilator-capable unit contacts, the investigation identified three (12%) additional cases of KPC-KP colonization with an isolate that had an indistinguishable PFGE pattern from that of the two index patients, which supported health care–associated transmission. Closer adherence to CDC recommendations that could prevent health care–associated KPC-KP transmission include housing together residents with infection, improving adherence to hand hygiene, using gowns and gloves when interacting with residents who require mechanical ventilation or have tracheostomies, and implementing contact precautions for uncontained body fluids (6).

QuickStats

FROM THE NATIONAL CENTER FOR HEALTH STATISTICS

Percentage* of Children and Adolescents Aged 4–17 Years with Serious Emotional or Behavioral Difficulties,† by Sex and Urbanization Level§ — National Health Interview Survey, 2016–2018¶

* With 95% confidence intervals indicated by error bars.

† Serious emotional or behavioral difficulties is determined by parents' response of "yes, definite difficulties" or "yes, severe difficulties" to the survey question "Overall, do you think that (child) has difficulties in any of the following areas: emotions, concentration, behavior, or being able to get along with people?"

§ Urbanization level is based on the Office of Management and Budget's February 2013 delineation of metropolitan statistical areas (MSAs), in which each MSA must have at least one urbanized area of ≥50,000 inhabitants. Areas with <50,000 inhabitants are grouped into the nonmetropolitan category.

¶ Estimates are based on household interviews of a sample of the civilian, noninstitutionalized U.S. population and are derived from the National Health Interview Survey's Sample Child component.

During 2016–2018, the percentage of children and adolescents aged 4–17 years with serious emotional or behavioral difficulties was higher among those living in nonmetropolitan areas (6.7%) than among those living in metropolitan areas (5.3%). Among boys, those living in nonmetropolitan areas (8.5%) were more likely to have serious emotional or behavioral difficulties than those living in metropolitan areas (6.6%), but the difference among girls was smaller and not significant. Among children and adolescents living in either metropolitan or nonmetropolitan areas, boys were more likely than girls to have serious emotional or behavioral difficulties.

Shamarial,

Please see the information below that we propose Dr. Traul send out to the CHD Dental Directors.

The Florida Department of Health (FDOH) acknowledges the growing concern and risks the public and dental professionals face from COVID-19. All dental providers and healthcare professionals play an important role in mitigating the spread of COVID-19. Please review the CDC Guidance for Healthcare Professionals.

On March 16, 2020 federal recommendations were released suggesting social distance and the prevention of groups ten or more. Also on March 16, 2020 the American Dental Association released ADA Guidance to postpone elective procedures for the next three weeks.

Due to the extraordinary situation, the Florida Department of Health recommends dental programs postpone elective procedures for the next three weeks and reassess the situation at that time. Concentrating on the provision of emergency dental care will serve the public and alleviate any emergencies from placing more stress on hospitals and emergency rooms. Clinics should establish procedures to provide care for these patients after taking appropriate precautions to limit the risk of spreading COVID-19. The FDOH recommends all living in Florida practice social distancing and take steps to limit the risk of spreading COVID-19.

Just Released: Third Edition of the CIFOR Guidelines for Foodborne Disease Outbreak Response

The Council to Improve Foodborne Outbreak Response (CIFOR) released the streamlined and easy-to-read third edition of the CIFOR Guidelines for Foodborne Disease Outbreak Response. The CIFOR Guidelines are a comprehensive source of information on foodborne disease investigation and control for local, state and federal health agencies.

The Guidelines describe (a) the overall approach to addressing foodborne disease outbreaks, including preparation, detection, investigation, control and follow-up; and (b) the roles of key organizations in foodborne disease outbreaks.

These are a few of the updates in the new third edition:

- Provides information on the value and use of complaint systems
- Highlights Whole Genome Sequencing and Culture-Independent Diagnostic Testing
- Better illustrates how epidemiology, lab, and environmental health data come together
- Highlights importance of environmental assessments
- Recommends routine interviewing to collect detailed exposure information
- Expands effective models of sub-cluster investigations and product tracebacks
