China appears to have constrained transmission of COVID-19 outside of Hubei Provence through rapid and intensive containment and mitigation interventions. Most countries only attempt social distancing and hygiene interventions when widespread transmission is apparent. This gives the virus many weeks to spread with a higher basic reproduction number (R0) than if they were in place before transmission was detected or widespread. Pre-emptive, low cost, hygiene enhancement and social distancing in the context of imminent community transmission of novel coronavirus COVID-19 should be considered. Early interventions to reduce the average frequency and intensity of exposure to the virus might reduce infection risk, reduce the average viral infectious dose of those exposed, and result in less severe cases who are less infectious. A pre-emptive phase would also assist government, workplaces, schools, and businesses to prepare for a more stringent phase. Countries, and subregions of countries, without recognised COVID-19 transmission should assume it is present and consider implementation of low cost enhanced hygiene and social distancing measures.

Rationale for Pre-emptive Interventions

It is estimated that approximately two thirds of COVID-19 cases exported from China from 1st to 13th of January have gone undetected globally.[1] Most of these exported cases will be mild and may only be detected after several hundred cases have accumulated and severe or fatal cases are recognised 5 to 8 weeks later, as has likely occurred in the recent COVID-19 outbreaks in Iran, South Korea, Italy, and Seattle in the USA.[2]

The spread of novel coronavirus COVID-19 transmission globally has been very rapid. The basic reproduction number is estimated at between 2 to 3.[3,4] The mode of transmission is thought to be droplet and contact infection, although opportunistic or close range airborne infection may be involved.[4]

The transmission dynamics of the early cases of COVID-19 were significantly different to those during the SARS epidemic. In particular the proportion of cases from healthcare settings was low and the proportion with no known risk exposures was high.[4] Another significant factor is that viral loads in nasopharyngeal and respiratory secretions are highest soon after symptom onset in COVID-19 cases[5] compared to a peak of around 10 days in SARS cases,[6] making transmission before entering health care facilities more likely.

Even though the understanding of transmission dynamics is at an early stage, they do suggest that the step-wise introduction of stringent measures will be necessary to control this epidemic and highlights the importance of early community control.

Quarantine, city "lockdowns", complete childcare, school, university and work closures, and cancellation of mass gatherings/events have significant social and economic impact and are unlikely to be implemented until significant transmission is confirmed – when it may be less effective. However, there are a range of lower level, potentially cost neutral, pre-emptive interventions that could be considered when transmission is only suspected or anticipated. Here we explore whether low cost pre-emptive enhanced hygiene and social distancing should be implemented prior to confirmation of community transmission in countries without, or with minimal, confirmed person-to-person transmission of COVID-19.

The purpose of pre-emptive interventions is to slow the transmission of disease and limit the impact on health services, particularly hospitals and intensive care units, to ensure access to high level care when needed.

The concept of pre-emptive deployment is based upon the following assumptions which require further exploration and are elaborated upon below:

1. Community wide COVID-19 transmission may be occurring undetected or may only be recognised after containment is no longer feasible.
2. Interventions implemented after community wide transmission is detected will be less effective.
3. Reducing the force of infection, particularly early, will delay the epidemic peak, blunt the epidemic peak, spread cases over a longer time, and help to limit the potential for critical care services to be overwhelmed, which may be lifesaving.[7,8]
4. Enhanced hygiene and social distancing interventions should:
    a. Decrease the total number of cases per week but extend duration of the epidemic
    b. Decrease the severity of cases through reducing viral inocula.

Figure 1 below illustrates the concept of limiting the peak in cases so that health services are less likely to be overwhelmed (red dashed line) and there is less unmet health service need. Unmet need may include inability to admit patients to a hospital or to provide hospitalised patients in critical condition access to intensive care. Interventions to reduce infection lead to longer, but less peaked, epidemics. A slower evolution in the epidemic also allows time for health care staff to provide better care, for recovery of infected health care workers, for learning and adapting to the evolving situation by administrators, and for vaccines and treatments to be developed. Although we have not validated this principle for COVID-19 epidemics it is sufficiently validated in simulations for influenza that it would appear a reasonable assumption in response to this emergent disease.[9]

Figure 1: Intended impact of enhanced hygiene and social distancing measures on the COVID-19 pandemic adapted from Fong.[8]

Enhanced hygiene and social distancing measures may reduce both numbers of cases and severity of cases through several mechanisms.

We suggest that a pre-emptive implementation of low cost interventions prior to detection, but in imminent expectation of community transmission should be considered because it may decrease both the total numbers of cases and severity of cases. This principle applies equally well to subregions of countries that have not as yet detected community transmission events.

The basic reproductive number (R0) is the average number of secondary cases of an infectious disease that arise from cases in a totally susceptible population, and reflects the epidemic potential of a pathogen.[10] R0 is a function of the number of contacts an infectious person has, the risk of transmission per contact, and the duration of infectiousness.

Social distancing mostly acts on the first factor, by reducing the number of contacts each person makes. Hygiene measures mostly act on the second factor, as they reduce the risk of transmission if a contact occurs. There are epidemiological observations from the outbreak in China that might indicate the effectiveness of pre-emptive implementation of the measures in the community. The WHO-China Joint Mission on COVID-19 determined that widespread community transmission and outbreaks occurred in Wuhan prior to the implementation of comprehensive control measures.[4] However in other parts of China, community transmission has been limited and most transmission has occurred in families. For example, among 344 clusters involving 1308 cases (out of a total 1836 cases reported) in Guangdong Province and Sichuan Province, 78%-85% have occurred in families.[4] This is likely due to the intense quarantine and social distancing measures implemented in areas outside Hubei prior to the establishment of widespread community transmission.

Community wide interventions may decrease the average viral exposure dose encountered in the community. People exposed to a higher viral dose (inoculum) are more likely to become infected and suffer more severe disease. Animal models for other coronavirus infections demonstrate that increased viral inocula lead to more severe disease and higher viral loads in the lungs and other organs/fluids.[11] The Amoy Gardens SARS outbreak in 2003

provided evidence that cases with presumed higher exposure to the index case had higher nasopharyngeal viral loads and more severe illness.[12] Modelling of the 2009 influenza pandemic also supported a hypothesis that severe illness was due to a higher infectious dose of the virus mediated by the number of simultaneous infectious contacts.[13] Viral loads in severe MERS cases were higher than those in a mild group and the patients in the severe group had more prolonged viral shedding in respiratory secretions, beyond 21 days after the onset of symptoms, whereas viral RNA was no longer detected by 21 days in the mild group.[14]

Therefore, it is proposed that early measures that lower the number of contacts, the likelihood of transmission, and average viral infective dose in an area of new transmission could have a multiplier effect leading to less cases, and less severe cases who are less infectious. This early reduction of the R0 would result in fewer cases overall and have a significant negative multiplier effect on the overall impact of the epidemic, including the number of deaths (Figure 2). The higher case fatality rate in Wuhan, compared with other provinces in China may partially relate to health-care resource availability and shortages in the face of overwhelming community transmission, as well as greater severity of disease due to higher infection doses.[7,12] These interventions will be particularly important for people over 60 years of age and those with underlying medical conditions.

- Videoconferencing as default for meetings
- Defer large meetings
- Enforced sanitisation of hands at entrance
- Regular hand sanitation schedule reminders via email
- Lunch at desk rather than in lunch room

- Analyse the root cause of crowding events on site and prevent through rescheduling, staggering, cancelling.

Box 1. Notes: *"Ill" person refers to someone with an undiagnosed respiratory illness or fever, who is not yet under investigation for COVID-19 but nevertheless could be an unrecognised case.  This could be costly unless used judiciously while awaiting exclusion of COVID-19 in the case and should be introduced based on likelihood of local transmission.  Evidence that low temperature and low humidity in air conditioned environments may enhance the survival of coronaviruses such as SARS.[15] * Sites such as the CDC travel risk assessment site may be useful https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/travelers/index.html

Box 2. School Interventions

- Supervised sanitisation of hands at entrance and at regular intervals
- Defer activities that lead to mixing between classes and years.
- Promote cough and sneeze etiquette (but focus on excluding ill persons)
- Strict stay at home policy if ill
- Gamifying hygiene rules e.g. to discourage touching face
- Regular handwashing schedule
- Disinfect high touch surfaces regularly and between users
- Outdoor lessons where possible
- Consider opening windows and adjusting conditioning
- Enhance hygiene and screening for illness among food preparation (canteen) staff and their close contacts
- Review after-school care arrangements that lead to mixing of children from multiple classes and ages

Box 3. Household-based Interventions

All Households

- Enhanced hand sanitisation
- Gamifying hygiene rules e.g. to discourage touching face
- Disinfect high touch surfaces regularly
- "Welcome if you are well" signs on front door.
- Increase ventilation rates in the home by opening windows or adjusting air conditioning
- Promote cough and sneeze etiquette

Households with ill members (in addition to measures above)

- Ill household members are given own room if possible and only one person cares for them
- The door to the ill persons room is kept closed*
- Wearing simple surgical/dust masks by both infected persons and other family members caring for the case.
- Consider extra protection or alternative accommodation for household members over 65 years or with underlying illness.

*Reference Wein.[16]

Box 4. Commercial/entertainment/transport setting Interventions

- Sanitisation of hands at building entrance encouraged
- Tap and pay preferred to limit handling of money.
- Disinfect high touch surfaces regularly
- Avoiding crowding through booking and scheduling, online pre-purchasing, limiting attendance numbers.
- Enhance hygiene and screening for illness among food preparation staff and their close contacts.
- Enhance airflow and adjust air conditioning
- Public transport workers/taxi/ride share – vehicle windows opened where possible, increased air flow, high-touch surfaces disinfected.

Organisational capacity benefits

A pre-emptive phase would assist organisations to build capacity for future implementation of more stringent social distancing interventions including allocating responsibilities, consulting with staff and adapting protocols and practicing implementation. WHO is supportive of pre-emptive interventions to prevent COVID-19 in work places.[17]

The Costs of Pre-emptive intervention

The suite of low cost pre-emptive interventions, other than a working from home policy, is unlikely to affect work productivity and may provide the community with some re-assurance that all is being done to prevent the epidemic. Some may see it as an over-reach but thus far

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Electronic copy available at: https://ssrn.com/abstract=3549276

communities seem to accept or voluntarily adopt low cost interventions and acceptance may be enhanced through consultation and trust building.[18,19]

Influenza co-benefits

For regions approaching their influenza season, optimal prevention and control of seasonal influenza, such as vaccination, in the face of potential COVID-19 co-circulation is also crucial, to minimise the double burden on health services. The measures discussed here (enhanced hygiene and social distancing) are also effective against influenza, resulting in potential co-benefits for both pathogens.

Limitations

Most of the research on mitigation is based on influenza control and it is clear that SARS-CoV-2 transmission dynamics will be different, however, droplet, contact and airborne precautions and the interventions deployed in China align with recommended influenza transmission controls. The assumptions should be modelled to better understand the costs and benefits. The use of masks outside of health settings is controversial and it is important that masks not be diverted from health care supplies. However, surgical masks are protective of large droplet spread and have approximately half the effectiveness of N95 mask for small droplet transmission, and are suggested to be cost saving in some modelled pandemic influenza scenarios.[20] They may have a limited role in the community setting prior to widespread transmission if there are adequate supplies and should be considered for use in households caring for COVID-19 cases at home.[16]

Conclusion

Given the ongoing global dissemination of COVID-19, as of early March 2020, it would be sensible for most countries and regions to assume they have had an importation of at least one case of COVID-19 and that the disease is spreading locally whether recognised or not. We believe these practices should be implemented in all countries as soon as possible.

Hello Dr. Villalta –

One of the requirements just presented by CDC is as follows:

1. For an air ambulance/medical evacuation flight, passengers should go to pre-determined clinical facility as arranged by cruise line/air ambulance company. This plan must be in place and cleared with local and state health authorities before departure of the charter flight.

Is this something you could help arrange? The air ambulance company is not doing so.

Thanks,

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

The Florida Department of Health (FDOH) acknowledges the growing concern and risks the public and dental professionals face from COVID-19. All dental providers and healthcare professionals play an important role in mitigating the spread of COVID-19. Please review the CDC Guidance for Healthcare Professionals.

On March 16, 2020 federal recommendations were released suggesting social distance and the prevention of groups ten or more. Also on March 16, 2020 the American Dental Association released ADA Guidance to postpone elective procedures for the next three weeks.

Due to the extraordinary situation, the Florida Department of Health recommends dental programs postpone elective procedures for the next three weeks and reassess the situation at that time. Concentrating on the provision of emergency dental care will serve the public and alleviate any emergencies from placing more stress on hospitals and emergency rooms. Clinics should establish procedures to provide care for these patients after taking appropriate precautions to limit the risk of spreading COVID-19. The FDOH recommends all living in Florida practice social distancing and take steps to limit the risk of spreading COVID-19.

Shay

COVID-19 OUTBREAK

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

An outbreak of a new coronavirus was detected in late 2019.

- Respiratory illness outbreak first detected in Wuhan City, Hubei Province, China
- First cases linked to a seafood and live animal market
- Person-to-person spread
- Spread to other countries, including the United States
- As of 3/2/2020:
  - 43 cases in U.S.
  - 2 cases in Florida

Florida HEALTH

Update the numbers in red as needed

The first cases were linked to a seafood and live animal market which suggests that it may have first spread for an animal to a person. We know other similar viruses have been spread from camels, cats, and bats. Now we know that it is spreading from person to person in China and has spread to people in other countries, Including the US. As of XXX date, there are XXX cases in the world in XX countries, XX cases in the US in XX states and XX cases in Florida.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

COVID-19 is caused by the virus severe acute respiratory syndrome coronavirus 2 (SARS-CoV-2)

- Spikes on the surface of coronaviruses give this virus family its name – corona, which is Latin for "crown"
- Similar to some other betacoronaviruses
  - MERS-CoV (Middle East respiratory syndrome coronavirus, which emerged in 2012)
  - SARS-CoV (severe acute respiratory syndrome coronavirus, which emerged in 2002)

DRAFT

This transmission electron microscope image shows SARS-CoV-2, the virus that causes COVID-19—isolated from a patient in the U.S. Virus particles are shown emerging from the surface of cells cultured in the lab. The spikes on the outer edge of the virus particles give coronaviruses their name, crown-like.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Most likely spread from a single, recent emergence from an animal reservoir[1]

- Many different coronaviruses are common in animal species, including:
  - Camels
  - Cattle
  - Cats
  - Bats
- Rarely spread to humans
- Sequences of the virus from U.S. patients are similar to the one that China initially posted[1]
- Suggests spread from single, recent emergence of the virus from an animal reservoir[1]

Coronaviruses are a large family of viruses that are common in many different species of animals, including camels, cattle, cats, and bats. Rarely, animal coronaviruses can infect people and then spread between people such as with MERS, SARS, and now with this new virus that causes COVID-19.

The virus that causes COVID-19 is a betacoronavirus, like MERS and SARs, both of which have their origins in bats. The sequences from U.S. patients are similar to the one that China initially posted, suggesting a likely single, recent emergence of this virus from an animal reservoir.

Early on, many of the patients in the COVID-19 outbreak in Wuhan, China had some link to a large seafood and live animal market, suggesting animal-to-person spread. Later, a growing number of patients reportedly did not have exposure to animal markets, indicating person-to-person spread.

TRANSMISSION AND SYMPTOMS

DRAFT

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

COVID-19 most often spreads from person to person.

- Spread through respiratory droplets from an infected person who coughs or sneezes.
- Most often among close contacts.
- Transmission may occur before symptoms develop[3] and from a person who remains asymptomatic.

DRAFT

10

There is much to learn about the newly emerged COVID-19, including how and how easily it spreads. Based on what is currently known about COVID-19 and what is known about other coronaviruses, spread is thought to occur mostly from person-to-person via respiratory droplets among close contacts.

Close contact can occur while caring for a patient, including:

- being within approximately 6 feet (2 meters) of a patient with 2019-n-CoV for a prolonged period of time.
- having direct contact with infectious secretions from a patient with COVID-19. Infectious secretions may include sputum, serum, blood, and respiratory droplets.

If close contact occurs while not wearing all recommended PPE, health care personnel may be at risk of infection.

With most respiratory viruses, people are expected to be most contagious while they have symptoms.
However, transmission from a person in their incubation period was documented in Germany and asymptomatic transmission was recently documented in Taiwan.

It is still unknown what specimens will contain viable virus that causes COVID-19.

Viable coronavirus found in various specimens

- SARS-CoV (2002)
  - Respiratory
  - Blood
  - Urine
  - Stool
- MERS-CoV (2012)
  - Respiratory only
- Virus that causes COVID-19 (2019)
  - Respiratory
  - Research ongoing on other specimens…

DRAFT

While viable, infectious SARS-CoV has been isolated from respiratory, blood, urine, and stool specimens, in contrast – viable, infectious MERS-CoV has only been isolated from respiratory tract specimens. It is not yet known whether other non-respiratory body fluids from an infected person including vomit, urine, breast milk, or semen can contain viable, infectious COVID-19.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Fever, Cough, and Shortness of Breath are predominant symptoms and are part of the persons under investigation criteria.

Reported illnesses have ranged from people with mild symptoms to people being severely ill and dying. Frequently reported signs and symptoms include fever (83–98%), cough (46%–82%), myalgia or fatigue (11–44%), and shortness of breath (31%) at illness onset.

Sore throat has also been reported in some patients early in the clinical course. Less commonly reported symptoms include sputum production, headache, hemoptysis, and diarrhea. Some patients have experienced gastrointestinal symptoms such as diarrhea and nausea prior to developing fever and lower respiratory tract signs and symptoms. The fever course among patients with COVID-19 infection is not fully understood; it may be prolonged and intermittent. Asymptomatic infection has been described in one child with confirmed COVID-19 infection and chest computed tomography (CT) abnormalities.

Severe symptoms may appear 7 days or more after onset.

One study[5] found that severe symptoms including dyspnea and acute respiratory distress syndrome (ARDS) may develop later in the course of illness.

DRAFT

This suggests that a person with mild or moderate symptoms that does not require hospitalization may need to need follow-up during the second week of illness

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Older adults and those with comorbidities may be at higher risk of severe illness.

- Risk factors for severe illness are not yet clear.
- Older patients[6] and those with chronic medical conditions may be at higher risk for severe illness.
- In one study,[5] compared to patients not admitted to an intensive care unit, critically ill patients were:
  - Older (median age 66 years versus 51 years)
  - More likely to have underlying co-morbid conditions (72% versus 37%)

- Diagnosed cases: 10567 (15%)
- Asymptomatic cases: 889 (1%)

Of the over 44,000 confirmed cases, 5% were considered critical.
Most cases were classified as mild (81%; ie, nonpneumonia and mild pneumonia). However, 14% were severe (ie, dyspnea, respiratory frequency ≥30/min, blood oxygen saturation ≤93%, partial pressure of arterial oxygen to fraction of inspired oxygen ratio <300, and/or lung infiltrates >50% within 24 to 48 hours), and 5% were critical (ie, respiratory failure, septic shock, and/or multiple organ dysfunction or failure)

Clinical Features and Epidemiologic Risk for PUI[7]

Clinical Features		Risk Criteria
Fever or signs/symptoms of lower respiratory illness (e.g. cough or shortness of breath)	AND	Any person, including health care workers, who has had close contact with a laboratory-confirmed COVID-19 patient within 14 days of symptom onset
Fever and signs/symptoms of a lower respiratory illness (e.g. cough or shortness of breath)	AND	A history of travel from an affected geographic area with sustained community transmission within 14 days of symptom onset
Fever with severe acute lower respiratory illness (e.g. pneumonia, ARDS) requiring hospitalization and without alternative explanatory diagnosis (e.g. influenza)	AND	No source of exposure has been identified

Footnotes

1Affected areas are defined as geographic regions where sustained community transmission has been identified. Countries with CDC Level 2 or 3 Travel Health Notices include: China, South Korea, Iran, Italy, and Japan (as of February 28,2020). A current list of affected areas can be found at www.cdc.gov/ coronavirus/2019-ncov/travelers/.

2Close contact is defined as: (1) being within approximately 6 feet (2 meters) of a COVID-19 case for a prolonged period of time; close contact can occur while caring for, living with, visiting, or sharing a healthcare waiting area or room with a COVID-19 case, or (2) having direct contact with infectious secretions of a COVID-19 case (e.g., being coughed on). If such contact occurs while not wearing recommended personal protective equipment or PPE (e.g., gowns, gloves, NIOSH-certified disposable N95 respirator, eye protection), criteria for PUI consideration are met. Data to inform the definition of close contact are limited. Considerations when assessing close contact include the duration of exposure (e.g., longer exposure time likely increases exposure risk) and the clinical symptoms of the person with COVID-19 (e.g., coughing likely increases exposure risk as does exposure to a severely ill patient). Special consideration should be given to healthcare personnel exposed in healthcare settings

4For healthcare personnel, testing may be considered if there has been exposure to a person with suspected COVID-19 without laboratory confirmation.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

5Category includes single or clusters of patients with severe acute lower respiratory illness (e.g., pneumonia, ARDS) of unknown etiology in which COVID-19 is being considered.
6Fever may be subjective or confirmed.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

If the PUI criteria are met, take these steps:

- Notify infection control immediately.
- Notify the county health department immediately (FloridaHealth.gov/CHDEpiContact).
- Ask the patient to wear a mask.
- Initiate contact and airborne precautions, including use of eye protection (e.g., goggles or a face shield) for all health care personnel entering the room.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Reporting Requirements

- Copies of medical records

CDC provides a health alert for travelers from China.

Florida HEALTH

https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/travelers/from-china.html

CDC and US Customs and Border Protection (CBP) are implementing enhanced health screenings to detect travelers with fever, cough, or difficulty breathing when entering the United States.

The screening procedures include:

Travelers fill out a short questionnaire about their travel, any symptoms, and contact information.

CDC staff take the temperature of each traveler with a hand-held non-contact thermometer (thermometers that do not touch the skin) and observe the traveler for cough or difficulty breathing. If sick travelers are identified, CDC evaluates them further to determine whether they should be taken to a hospital for medical evaluation and to get care as needed.

If the traveler does not have symptoms, CDC staff will provide health information cards to take with them. The cards tell travelers what symptoms to look out for, and what to do if they develop symptoms within 14 days after leaving China.

This health assessment and request for persons to monitor their health is part of a layered approach to limiting the spread of disease. When used with other public health measures, enhanced entry screening can strengthen our efforts to protect the United States from COVID-19 and other diseases.

PUBLIC HEALTH MONITORING

DRAFT

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

The Florida Department of Health is monitoring those possibly exposed.

- Personnel at the agency's 67 county health departments and the State Health Office in Tallahassee work together to protect Floridians from emerging diseases.

The Florida Department of Health Monitoring Process

For people who may have been exposed, but have no symptoms:

- Monitor for symptoms for 14 days.
- Self isolate for 14 days.
  - Stay home as much as possible.
  - Avoid travel on publicly used vehicles, gathering with groups of people, and going out in public.
  - Excluded from work, school, and other public places.
- Follow provided education on prevention of spread.

- Isolate at home or health care facility.
- Avoid public activities.
- Travel by ambulance or private car and avoid public transportation.

DRAFT

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

The immediate risk to Americans remains low.

- For the general American public, who are unlikely to be exposed to this virus at this time, the immediate health risk from COVID-19 is considered low.
- More cases are likely to be identified in the coming days, including more cases in the U.S. and Florida.
- Person-to-person spread will continue to occur, including in the U.S.
- Everyone can do their part to prevent the spread of COVID-19 and other respiratory viruses.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Health care facilities should prepare now for community transmission of COVID-19.

In each health care facility, the primary goals include:

- Provision of the appropriate level of medical care
- Protecting health care personnel and non-COVID-19 patients accessing health care from infection
- Preparing for a potential surge in patients with respiratory infection
- Preparing for potential personal protective equipment supply and staff shortages

For more specific steps to take:

www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/healthcare-facilities/guidance-hcf.html

DRAFT

Currently there are no medications to treat or vaccines to prevent COVID-19. Therefore, community approaches to slowing transmission including appropriate hand hygiene, cough etiquette, social distancing, and reducing face-to-face contact with potential COVID-19 cases are needed to slow disease transmission and reduce the number of people who get sick.

COVID-19

The World Health Organization made an announcement Feb. 11 that the official name for the illness caused by the new coronavirus (previously known as 2019 Novel Coronavirus or 2019-nCoV) is now COVID-19.

The Florida Department of Health (Department) is working closely with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) to closely monitor the current outbreak of 2019 novel coronavirus and is actively working to ensure that the most up-to-date CDC guidance is quickly and accurately disseminated to local partners. Though no cases have been reported in Florida to date, the Department is coordinating closely with our local partners to investigate, confirm, contain and report any suspected cases, should they occur.

COVID-19 OUTBREAK

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

An outbreak of a new coronavirus was detected in late 2019.

- Respiratory illness outbreak first detected in Wuhan City, Hubei Province, China
- First cases linked to a seafood and live animal market
- Person-to-person spread
- Spread to other countries, including the United States
- As of 3/2/2020:
  - 43 cases in U.S.
  - 2 cases in Florida

Florida HEALTH

Update the numbers in red as needed

The first cases were linked to a seafood and live animal market which suggests that it may have first spread for an animal to a person. We know other similar viruses have been spread from camels, cats, and bats. Now we know that it is spreading from person to person in China and has spread to people in other countries, Including the US. As of XXX date, there are XXX cases in the world in XX countries, XX cases in the US in XX states and XX cases in Florida.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

COVID-19 is caused by the virus severe acute respiratory syndrome coronavirus 2 (SARS-CoV-2)

- Spikes on the surface of coronaviruses give this virus family its name – corona, which is Latin for "crown"
- Similar to some other betacoronaviruses
  - MERS-CoV (Middle East respiratory syndrome coronavirus, which emerged in 2012)
  - SARS-CoV (severe acute respiratory syndrome coronavirus, which emerged in 2002)

DRAFT

This transmission electron microscope image shows SARS-CoV-2, the virus that causes COVID-19—isolated from a patient in the U.S. Virus particles are shown emerging from the surface of cells cultured in the lab. The spikes on the outer edge of the virus particles give coronaviruses their name, crown-like.

Most likely spread from a single, recent emergence from an animal reservoir[1]

- Many different coronaviruses are common in animal species, including:
  - Camels
  - Cattle
  - Cats
  - Bats
- Rarely spread to humans
- Sequences of the virus from U.S. patients are similar to the one that China initially posted[1]
- Suggests spread from single, recent emergence of the virus from an animal reservoir[1]

DRAFT

Coronaviruses are a large family of viruses that are common in many different species of animals, including camels, cattle, cats, and bats. Rarely, animal coronaviruses can infect people and then spread between people such as with MERS, SARS, and now with this new virus that causes COVID-19.

The virus that causes COVID-19 is a betacoronavirus, like MERS and SARs, both of which have their origins in bats. The sequences from U.S. patients are similar to the one that China initially posted, suggesting a likely single, recent emergence of this virus from an animal reservoir.

Early on, many of the patients in the COVID-19 outbreak in Wuhan, China had some link to a large seafood and live animal market, suggesting animal-to-person spread. Later, a growing number of patients reportedly did not have exposure to animal markets, indicating person-to-person spread.

DRAFT

COVID-19 most often spreads from person to person.

- Spread through respiratory droplets from an infected person who coughs or sneezes.
- Most often among close contacts.
- Transmission may occur before symptoms develop[3] and from a person who remains asymptomatic.

DRAFT

10

There is much to learn about the newly emerged COVID-19, including how and how easily it spreads. Based on what is currently known about COVID-19 and what is known about other coronaviruses, spread is thought to occur mostly from person-to-person via respiratory droplets among close contacts.

Close contact can occur while caring for a patient, including:

- being within approximately 6 feet (2 meters) of a patient with 2019-n-CoV for a prolonged period of time.
- having direct contact with infectious secretions from a patient with COVID-19. Infectious secretions may include sputum, serum, blood, and respiratory droplets.

If close contact occurs while not wearing all recommended PPE, health care personnel may be at risk of infection.

With most respiratory viruses, people are expected to be most contagious while they have symptoms.
However, transmission from a person in their incubation period was documented in Germany and asymptomatic transmission was recently documented in Taiwan.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

It is still unknown what specimens will contain viable virus that causes COVID-19.

Viable coronavirus found in various specimens

- SARS-CoV (2002)
  - Respiratory
  - Blood
  - Urine
  - Stool
- MERS-CoV (2012)
  - Respiratory only
- Virus that causes COVID-19 (2019)
  - Respiratory
  - Research ongoing on other specimens…

DRAFT

While viable, infectious SARS-CoV has been isolated from respiratory, blood, urine, and stool specimens, in contrast – viable, infectious MERS-CoV has only been isolated from respiratory tract specimens. It is not yet known whether other non-respiratory body fluids from an infected person including vomit, urine, breast milk, or semen can contain viable, infectious COVID-19.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Fever, Cough, and Shortness of Breath are predominant symptoms and are part of the persons under investigation criteria.

Reported illnesses have ranged from people with mild symptoms to people being severely ill and dying. Frequently reported signs and symptoms include fever (83–98%), cough (46%–82%), myalgia or fatigue (11–44%), and shortness of breath (31%) at illness onset.

Sore throat has also been reported in some patients early in the clinical course. Less commonly reported symptoms include sputum production, headache, hemoptysis, and diarrhea. Some patients have experienced gastrointestinal symptoms such as diarrhea and nausea prior to developing fever and lower respiratory tract signs and symptoms. The fever course among patients with COVID-19 infection is not fully understood; it may be prolonged and intermittent. Asymptomatic infection has been described in one child with confirmed COVID-19 infection and chest computed tomography (CT) abnormalities.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

There can be additional symptoms and asymptomatic infections.

- Sore throat
- Sputum production
- Headache
- Hemoptysis
- Diarrhea
- Asymptomatic[4,6]

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Severe symptoms may appear 7 days or more after onset.

One study[5] found that severe symptoms including dyspnea and acute respiratory distress syndrome (ARDS) may develop later in the course of illness.

DRAFT

This suggests that a person with mild or moderate symptoms that does not require hospitalization may need to need follow-up during the second week of illness

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Older adults and those with comorbidities may be at higher risk of severe illness.

- Risk factors for severe illness are not yet clear.
- Older patients[6] and those with chronic medical conditions may be at higher risk for severe illness.
- In one study,[5] compared to patients not admitted to an intensive care unit, critically ill patients were:
  - Older (median age 66 years versus 51 years)
  - More likely to have underlying co-morbid conditions (72% versus 37%)

Florida HEALTH

16

The report included 72314 Cases (as of February 11, 2020)

- Confirmed cases: 44672 (62%)
- Suspected cases: 16186 (22%)
- Diagnosed cases: 10567 (15%)
- Asymptomatic cases: 889 (1%)

Of the over 44,000 confirmed cases, 5% were considered critical.
Most cases were classified as mild (81%; ie, nonpneumonia and mild pneumonia). However, 14% were severe (ie, dyspnea, respiratory frequency ≥30/min, blood oxygen saturation ≤93%, partial pressure of arterial oxygen to fraction of inspired oxygen ratio <300, and/or lung infiltrates >50% within 24 to 48 hours), and 5% were critical (ie, respiratory failure, septic shock, and/or multiple organ dysfunction or failure)

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Chinese CDC report[6] finds most cases age 30–79.

Age distribution (N=44,672)

- ≥80 years: 3% (1,408 cases)
- 30–79 years: 87% (38,680 cases)
- 20–29 years: 8% (3,619 cases)
- 10–19 years: 1% (549 cases)
- <10 years: 1% (416 cases)

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Incubation period can range from 2–14 days.

Early study for COVID-19 estimated the incubation period at ~5 days (95% confidence interval, 4 to 7 days).[2]

CDC believes at this time that symptoms of COVID-19 may appear in as few as 2 days or as long as 14 after exposure. This is based on what has been seen previously as the incubation period of SARS-CoV and MERS-CoV viruses.

Rapidly triage and isolate suspected COVID-19 patients.

Clinical Features and Epidemiologic Risk for PUI[7]

Clinical Features		Risk Criteria
Fever or signs/symptoms of lower respiratory illness (e.g. cough or shortness of breath)	AND	Any person, including health care workers, who has had close contact with a laboratory-confirmed COVID-19 patient within 14 days of symptom onset
Fever and signs/symptoms of a lower respiratory illness (e.g. cough or shortness of breath)	AND	A history of travel from an affected geographic area with sustained community transmission within 14 days of symptom onset
Fever with severe acute lower respiratory illness (e.g. pneumonia, ARDS) requiring hospitalization and without alternative explanatory diagnosis (e.g. influenza)	AND	No source of exposure has been identified

DRAFT

Please update as necessary

Footnotes

1Affected areas are defined as geographic regions where sustained community transmission has been identified. Countries with CDC Level 2 or 3 Travel Health Notices include: China, South Korea, Iran, Italy, and Japan (as of February 28,2020). A current list of affected areas can be found at www.cdc.gov/ coronavirus/2019-ncov/travelers/.

2Close contact is defined as: (1) being within approximately 6 feet (2 meters) of a COVID-19 case for a prolonged period of time; close contact can occur while caring for, living with, visiting, or sharing a healthcare waiting area or room with a COVID-19 case, or (2) having direct contact with infectious secretions of a COVID-19 case (e.g., being coughed on). If such contact occurs while not wearing recommended personal protective equipment or PPE (e.g., gowns, gloves, NIOSH-certified disposable N95 respirator, eye protection), criteria for PUI consideration are met. Data to inform the definition of close contact are limited. Considerations when assessing close contact include the duration of exposure (e.g., longer exposure time likely increases exposure risk) and the clinical symptoms of the person with COVID-19 (e.g., coughing likely increases exposure risk as does exposure to a severely ill patient). Special consideration should be given to healthcare personnel exposed in healthcare settings

4For healthcare personnel, testing may be considered if there has been exposure to a person with suspected COVID-19 without laboratory confirmation.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

5Category includes single or clusters of patients with severe acute lower respiratory illness (e.g., pneumonia, ARDS) of unknown etiology in which COVID-19 is being considered.
6Fever may be subjective or confirmed.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

If the PUI criteria are met, take these steps:

- Notify infection control immediately.
- Notify the county health department immediately (FloridaHealth.gov/CHDEpiContact).
- Ask the patient to wear a mask.
- Initiate contact and airborne precautions, including use of eye protection (e.g., goggles or a face shield) for all health care personnel entering the room.

DRAFT

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Reporting Requirements

Potential cases of COVID-19 should be reported immediately, 24 hours/7 days per week, by phone to your county health department. The county health department will ask for:

- Travel history and relevant exposures
- Where the infected person lives and works
- Copies of laboratory results
- Copies of medical records
- Filled out interim person screening form: FloridaHealth.gov/diseases-and-conditions/disease-reporting-and-management/disease-reporting-and-surveillance/_documents/2019-ncov-pui-form.pdf

https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/travelers/from-china.html

CDC and US Customs and Border Protection (CBP) are implementing enhanced health screenings to detect travelers with fever, cough, or difficulty breathing when entering the United States.

The screening procedures include:

Travelers fill out a short questionnaire about their travel, any symptoms, and contact information.

CDC staff take the temperature of each traveler with a hand-held non-contact thermometer (thermometers that do not touch the skin) and observe the traveler for cough or difficulty breathing. If sick travelers are identified, CDC evaluates them further to determine whether they should be taken to a hospital for medical evaluation and to get care as needed.

If the traveler does not have symptoms, CDC staff will provide health information cards to take with them. The cards tell travelers what symptoms to look out for, and what to do if they develop symptoms within 14 days after leaving China.

This health assessment and request for persons to monitor their health is part of a layered approach to limiting the spread of disease. When used with other public health measures, enhanced entry screening can strengthen our efforts to protect the United States from COVID-19 and other diseases.

DRAFT

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

The Florida Department of Health is monitoring those possibly exposed.

- Personnel at the agency's 67 county health departments and the State Health Office in Tallahassee work together to protect Floridians from emerging diseases.
- DOH receives information from CDC on U.S. citizens/residents/family returning from impacted areas.
- CHDs work with travelers to restrict their movement, monitor for illness, isolate persons with symptoms, and ensure health care providers use proper infection control techniques.

DRAFT

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

The Florida Department of Health Monitoring Process

For people who may have been exposed, but have no symptoms:

- Monitor for symptoms for 14 days.
- Self isolate for 14 days.
  - Stay home as much as possible.
  - Avoid travel on publicly used vehicles, gathering with groups of people, and going out in public.
  - Excluded from work, school, and other public places.
- Follow provided education on prevention of spread.

Florida HEALTH

Those with suspected or confirmed COVID-19 are asked to take precautions.

- Isolate at home or health care facility.
- Avoid public activities.
- Travel by ambulance or private car and avoid public transportation.
- Wear a mask when around other people.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

The immediate risk to Americans remains low.

- For the general American public, who are unlikely to be exposed to this virus at this time, the immediate health risk from COVID-19 is considered low.
- More cases are likely to be identified in the coming days, including more cases in the U.S. and Florida.
- Person-to-person spread will continue to occur, including in the U.S.
- Everyone can do their part to prevent the spread of COVID-19 and other respiratory viruses.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Health care facilities should prepare now for community transmission of COVID-19.

In each health care facility, the primary goals include:

- Provision of the appropriate level of medical care
- Protecting health care personnel and non-COVID-19 patients accessing health care from infection
- Preparing for a potential surge in patients with respiratory infection
- Preparing for potential personal protective equipment supply and staff shortages

For more specific steps to take:

www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/healthcare-facilities/guidance-hcf.html

DRAFT

Currently there are no medications to treat or vaccines to prevent COVID-19. Therefore, community approaches to slowing transmission including appropriate hand hygiene, cough etiquette, social distancing, and reducing face-to-face contact with potential COVID-19 cases are needed to slow disease transmission and reduce the number of people who get sick.

COVID-19 OUTBREAK

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

An outbreak of a new coronavirus was detected in late 2019.

- Respiratory illness outbreak first detected in Wuhan City, Hubei Province, China
- First cases linked to a seafood and live animal market
- Person-to-person spread
- Spread to other countries, including the United States
- As of 3/11/2020:
  - 938 U.S. cases
  - 28 Florida cases

Florida HEALTH

Update the numbers in red as needed

The first cases were linked to a seafood and live animal market which suggests that it may have first spread for an animal to a person. We know other similar viruses have been spread from camels, cats, and bats. Now we know that it is spreading from person to person in China and has spread to people in other countries, Including the US. As of XXX date, there are XXX cases in the world in XX countries, XX cases in the US in XX states and XX cases in Florida.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

COVID-19 is caused by the virus severe acute respiratory syndrome coronavirus 2 (SARS-CoV-2)

- Spikes on the surface of coronaviruses give this virus family its name – corona, which is Latin for "crown"
- Similar to some other betacoronaviruses
  - MERS-CoV (Middle East respiratory syndrome coronavirus, which emerged in 2012)
  - SARS-CoV (severe acute respiratory syndrome coronavirus, which emerged in 2002)

DRAFT

This transmission electron microscope image shows SARS-CoV-2, the virus that causes COVID-19—isolated from a patient in the U.S. Virus particles are shown emerging from the surface of cells cultured in the lab. The spikes on the outer edge of the virus particles give coronaviruses their name, crown-like.

Most likely spread from a single, recent emergence from an animal reservoir[1]

- Many different coronaviruses are common in animal species, including:
  - Camels
  - Cattle
  - Cats
  - Bats
- Rarely spread to humans
- Sequences of the virus from U.S. patients are similar to the one that China initially posted[1]
- Suggests spread from single, recent emergence of the virus from an animal reservoir[1]

DRAFT

Coronaviruses are a large family of viruses that are common in many different species of animals, including camels, cattle, cats, and bats. Rarely, animal coronaviruses can infect people and then spread between people such as with MERS, SARS, and now with this new virus that causes COVID-19.

The virus that causes COVID-19 is a betacoronavirus, like MERS and SARs, both of which have their origins in bats. The sequences from U.S. patients are similar to the one that China initially posted, suggesting a likely single, recent emergence of this virus from an animal reservoir.

Early on, many of the patients in the COVID-19 outbreak in Wuhan, China had some link to a large seafood and live animal market, suggesting animal-to-person spread. Later, a growing number of patients reportedly did not have exposure to animal markets, indicating person-to-person spread.

  - Self-isolate until cleared by Florida Department of Health (DOH).
- All health care providers, hospitals, and labs should immediately report suspected cases of COVID-19 to DOH.

- DOH may take actions such as quarantine, isolation, and other interventions pursuant with Florida Statutes to protect the health of the public.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

DRAFT

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

COVID-19 most often spreads from person to person.

- Spread through respiratory droplets from an infected person who coughs or sneezes.
- Most often among close contacts.
- Transmission may occur before symptoms develop[3] and from a person who remains asymptomatic.

DRAFT

10

There is much to learn about the newly emerged COVID-19, including how and how easily it spreads. Based on what is currently known about COVID-19 and what is known about other coronaviruses, spread is thought to occur mostly from person-to-person via respiratory droplets among close contacts.

Close contact can occur while caring for a patient, including:

- being within approximately 6 feet (2 meters) of a patient with 2019-n-CoV for a prolonged period of time.
- having direct contact with infectious secretions from a patient with COVID-19. Infectious secretions may include sputum, serum, blood, and respiratory droplets.

If close contact occurs while not wearing all recommended PPE, health care personnel may be at risk of infection.

With most respiratory viruses, people are expected to be most contagious while they have symptoms.
However, transmission from a person in their incubation period was documented in Germany and asymptomatic transmission was recently documented in Taiwan.

It is still unknown what specimens will contain viable virus that causes COVID-19.

Viable coronavirus found in various specimens

- SARS-CoV (2002)
  - Respiratory
  - Blood
  - Urine
  - Stool
- MERS-CoV (2012)
  - Respiratory only
- Virus that causes COVID-19 (2019)
  - Respiratory
  - Research ongoing on other specimens…

DRAFT

While viable, infectious SARS-CoV has been isolated from respiratory, blood, urine, and stool specimens, in contrast – viable, infectious MERS-CoV has only been isolated from respiratory tract specimens. It is not yet known whether other non-respiratory body fluids from an infected person including vomit, urine, breast milk, or semen can contain viable, infectious COVID-19.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Fever, Cough, and Shortness of Breath are predominant symptoms and are part of the persons under investigation criteria.

Reported illnesses have ranged from people with mild symptoms to people being severely ill and dying. Frequently reported signs and symptoms include fever (83–98%), cough (46%–82%), myalgia or fatigue (11–44%), and shortness of breath (31%) at illness onset.

Sore throat has also been reported in some patients early in the clinical course. Less commonly reported symptoms include sputum production, headache, hemoptysis, and diarrhea. Some patients have experienced gastrointestinal symptoms such as diarrhea and nausea prior to developing fever and lower respiratory tract signs and symptoms. The fever course among patients with COVID-19 infection is not fully understood; it may be prolonged and intermittent. Asymptomatic infection has been described in one child with confirmed COVID-19 infection and chest computed tomography (CT) abnormalities.

Severe symptoms may appear 7 days or more after onset.

One study[5] found that severe symptoms including dyspnea and acute respiratory distress syndrome (ARDS) may develop later in the course of illness.

DRAFT

This suggests that a person with mild or moderate symptoms that does not require hospitalization may need to need follow-up during the second week of illness

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Older adults and those with comorbidities may be at higher risk of severe illness.

- Risk factors for severe illness are not yet clear.
- Older patients[6] and those with chronic medical conditions may be at higher risk for severe illness.
- In one study,[5] compared to patients not admitted to an intensive care unit, critically ill patients were:
  - Older (median age 66 years versus 51 years)
  - More likely to have underlying co-morbid conditions (72% versus 37%)

The report included 72314 Cases (as of February 11, 2020)

- Confirmed cases: 44672 (62%)
- Suspected cases: 16186 (22%)
- Diagnosed cases: 10567 (15%)
- Asymptomatic cases: 889 (1%)

Of the over 44,000 confirmed cases, 5% were considered critical.
Most cases were classified as mild (81%; ie, nonpneumonia and mild pneumonia). However, 14% were severe (ie, dyspnea, respiratory frequency ≥30/min, blood oxygen saturation ≤93%, partial pressure of arterial oxygen to fraction of inspired oxygen ratio <300, and/or lung infiltrates >50% within 24 to 48 hours), and 5% were critical (ie, respiratory failure, septic shock, and/or multiple organ dysfunction or failure)

Criteria for PUI testing at the DOH laboratory

A. Any person, including health care workers1, who has had close contact2 with a laboratory-confirmed3 COVID-19 case within 14 days of symptom onset and fever4 or symptoms of lower respiratory illness (e.g., cough, shortness of breath).
B. Person is part of a non-household outbreak of suspected COVID-19.
C. Person hospitalized with unexplained respiratory illness or person who died from unexplained respiratory illness.
D. Person traveled to or from an affected geographic area5 with widespread community transmission and has fever4 or symptoms of lower respiratory illness (e.g., cough, shortness of breath).

Please update as necessary
Based on the FDOH Enhanced Surveillance and Preparedness for Coronavirus Disease 2019 (COVID-19) - March 10, 2020

Footnotes

1Close contact is defined as a) being within approximately 6 feet (2 meters) of a COVID -19 case for a prolonged period; close contact can occur while caring for, living with, visiting, or sharing a healthcare waiting area or room with a COVID-19 case– or –b) having direct contact with infectious secretions of a COVID-19 case (e.g., being coughed on) If such contact occurs while not wearing recommended personal protective equipment (PPE) (e.g., gowns, gloves, NIOSH-certified disposable N95 respirator, eye protection), criteria for PUI consideration are met. Data to inform the definition of close contact are limited. Considerations when assessing close contact include the duration of exposure (e.g., longer exposure time likely increases exposure risk) and the clinical symptoms of the person with COVID-19 (e.g., coughing likely increases exposure risk as does exposure to a severely ill patient). Special consideration should be given to healthcare personnel exposed in healthcare settings. 2For healthcare personnel, testing may be considered if there has been exposure to a person with suspected COVID-19 without laboratory confirmation. Because of their often extensive and close contact with vulnerable patients in healthcare settings, even mild signs and symptoms (e.g., sore throat) of COVID-19 should be evaluated among potentially exposed healthcare personnel. 3Documentation of laboratory-confirmation of COVID-19 may not be possible for travelers or persons caring for patients in other countries. 4Fever may be subjective or confirmed. 5Affected areas are defined as

PUI to consider testing at a commercial laboratory

E. Person had community contact (e.g., attended the same gathering or stayed on the same cruise ship) with a laboratory-confirmed COVID-19 case and fever or symptoms of lower respiratory illness (e.g., cough, shortness of breath).

F. Person is age ≥ 65 years, has chronic medical conditions, or is in an immunocompromised state and has fever or symptoms of lower respiratory illness (e.g., cough, shortness of breath).

Consider testing at a commercial laboratory. If commercial testing is not available, contact your CHD for patients that meet CDC priority criteria.

Follow routine cleaning and disinfection procedures.

- Ensure that environmental cleaning and disinfection procedures are followed consistently and correctly.
- Routine cleaning and disinfection procedures are appropriate for COVID-19 in health care settings, including those patient care areas in which aerosol-generating procedures are performed.
- Products with EPA-approved emerging viral pathogens claims are recommended for use against COVID-19.
- If there are no available EPA-registered products that have an approved emerging viral pathogen claim for COVID-19, products with label claims against human coronaviruses should be used according to label instructions.
- Management of laundry, food service utensils, and medical waste should also be performed in accordance with routine procedures.

Ensure that environmental cleaning and disinfection procedures are followed consistently and correctly.
Routine cleaning and disinfection procedures (e.g., using cleaners and water to pre-clean surfaces prior to applying an EPA-registered, hospital-grade disinfectant to frequently touched surfaces or objects for appropriate contact times as indicated on the product's label) are appropriate for COVID-19 in health care settings, including those patient-care areas in which aerosol-generating procedures are performed.
Products with EPA-approved emerging viral pathogens claims are recommended for use against COVID-19.

Use dedicated equipment for COVID-19 patients when possible.

- Dedicated medical equipment should be used for patient care.
- All non-dedicated, non-disposable medical equipment used for patient care should be cleaned and disinfected according to manufacturer's instructions and facility policies.

Negative rRT-PCR results from 2 sets of nasopharyngeal and throat swabs collected at least 24 hours apart from a patient with COVID-19 are needed before discontinuing Transmission-Based Precautions is considered. A total of four negative specimens are needed to meet this requirement.

Confirmed cases of COVID-19 can be discharged from the hospital after consultation with public health

- For confirmed COVID-19 cases, the decision to discharge is based on public health and medical assessment in consultation with the DOH.

- Patients can be discharged from the healthcare facility whenever clinically indicated in consultation with public health.
- Isolation should be maintained at home if the patient returns home before the decision is made to discontinue Transmission-Based Precautions. The decision to send the patient home should be made in consultation with the patient's clinical care team and local or state public health departments and should include considerations of the home's suitability for and patient's ability to adhere to home isolation recommendations, and potential risk of secondary transmission to household members with immunocompromising conditions. Optimize supplies of N95 respirators.

Work to minimize exposure using engineering and administrative controls as well as proper use of personal protective equipment (PPE)

- Engineering controls
  - Placing a barrier between the HCP and the hazard, such as in reception areas
  - Closed suctioning systems for airway suctioning of intubated patients
- Administrative controls
  - Exclude HCP not directly involved in patient care from rooms with COVID-19 cases
  - Exclude visitors to patients with known or suspected COVID-19
  - Limit face-to-face HCP encounters with patients
  - Provide training on the use on N95 respirators

COVID-19 and Cruise Ship Travel

- CDC recommends travelers, particularly those with underlying health issues, defer all cruise ship travel worldwide.
- Sustained community spread of respiratory illness caused by COVID-19 has been reported in many countries.
- Cruise ship passengers are at increased risk of person-to-person spread of infectious diseases, including COVID-19.
- Older adults and travelers with underlying health issues should avoid situations that put them at increased risk for more severe disease. This entails avoiding crowded places, avoiding non-essential travel such as long plane trips, and especially avoiding embarking on cruise ships.

The U.S. Government has limited entry from China.

On February 2, 2020:

- The U.S. suspended entry of foreign nationals who have been in China within the past 14 days.
- U.S. citizens, residents and their immediate family members who traveled to Hubei Province and other parts of mainland China in the last 14 days:
  - Are allowed to enter the United States.
  - Are subject to health monitoring and possible quarantine for up to 14 days.

CDC provides a health alert for travelers from China.

Florida HEALTH

https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/travelers/from-china.html

CDC and US Customs and Border Protection (CBP) are implementing enhanced health screenings to detect travelers with fever, cough, or difficulty breathing when entering the United States.

The screening procedures include:

Travelers fill out a short questionnaire about their travel, any symptoms, and contact information.

CDC staff take the temperature of each traveler with a hand-held non-contact thermometer (thermometers that do not touch the skin) and observe the traveler for cough or difficulty breathing. If sick travelers are identified, CDC evaluates them further to determine whether they should be taken to a hospital for medical evaluation and to get care as needed.

If the traveler does not have symptoms, CDC staff will provide health information cards to take with them. The cards tell travelers what symptoms to look out for, and what to do if they develop symptoms within 14 days after leaving China.

This health assessment and request for persons to monitor their health is part of a layered approach to limiting the spread of disease. When used with other public health measures, enhanced entry screening can strengthen our efforts to protect the United States from COVID-19 and other diseases.

DRAFT

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

The Florida Department of Health is monitoring those possibly exposed.

- Personnel at the agency's 67 county health departments and the State Health Office in Tallahassee work together to protect Floridians from emerging diseases.
- DOH receives information from CDC on U.S. citizens/residents/family returning from impacted areas.
- CHDs work with travelers to restrict their movement, monitor for illness, isolate persons with symptoms, and ensure health care providers use proper infection control techniques.

The Florida Department of Health Monitoring Process

For people who may have been exposed, but have no symptoms:

- Monitor for symptoms for 14 days.
- Self isolate for 14 days.
  - Stay home as much as possible.
  - Avoid travel on publicly used vehicles, gathering with groups of people, and going out in public.
  - Excluded from work, school, and other public places.
- Follow provided education on prevention of spread.

Those with suspected or confirmed COVID-19 are asked to take precautions.

- Isolate at home or health care facility.
- Avoid public activities.
- Travel by ambulance or private car and avoid public transportation.
- Wear a mask when around other people.

The immediate risk to Americans remains low.

- For the general American public, who are unlikely to be exposed to this virus at this time, the immediate health risk from COVID-19 is considered low.
- More cases are likely to be identified in the coming days, including more cases in the U.S. and Florida.
- Person-to-person spread will continue to occur, including in the U.S.
- Everyone can do their part to prevent the spread of COVID-19 and other respiratory viruses.

Health care facilities should prepare now for community transmission of COVID-19.

In each health care facility, the primary goals include:

- Provision of the appropriate level of medical care
- Protecting health care personnel and non-COVID-19 patients accessing health care from infection
- Preparing for a potential surge in patients with respiratory infection
- Preparing for potential personal protective equipment supply and staff shortages

DRAFT

Currently there are no medications to treat or vaccines to prevent COVID-19. Therefore, community approaches to slowing transmission including appropriate hand hygiene, cough etiquette, social distancing, and reducing face-to-face contact with potential COVID-19 cases are needed to slow disease transmission and reduce the number of people who get sick.

COVID-19

The World Health Organization made an announcement Feb. 11 that the official name for the illness caused by the new coronavirus (previously known as 2019 Novel Coronavirus or 2019-nCoV) is now COVID-19.

The Florida Department of Health (Department) is working closely with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) to closely monitor the current outbreak of 2019 novel coronavirus and is actively working to ensure that the most up-to-date CDC guidance is quickly and accurately disseminated to local partners. Though no cases have been reported in Florida to date, the Department is coordinating closely with our local partners to investigate, confirm, contain and report any suspected cases, should they occur.

Protecting Travelers from Coronavirus with AI: The Radiance Solution

With the federal government's restrictions on travel related to the coronavirus, the travel industry, and those who regulate it, face significant challenges in identifying passengers who may be infected with the coronavirus.

Customs and Border Protection has been on high alert since January. And while the Department of Homeland Security has told employees to look for visible symptoms, search through travel documents, and investigate passenger origins via a federal database, the challenges are significant – not only as it relates to the immediate flood of Americans funneled to the 13 designated airports from multiple European countries but also as we navigate the near-term ramifications of additional travel restrictions and the long-term effects as those restrictions are eased.

Lumina's AI-driven Radiance platform provides a tool to help identify those passengers that might be at higher risk for the coronavirus by integrating open source data and publicly available information into the screening of passengers inbound to the U.S. from coronavirus hotspots and those travelling domestically as the virus continues to spread in the U.S. Radiance provides an opportunity to expedite and enhance the screening process.

RADIANCE℠

Radiance is a deep-web listening tool that uses machine learning and artificial intelligence to assess and prioritize risk. Passenger names entered into Radiance are correlated with our proprietary Coronavirus Behavioral Affinity Model (BAM), encompassing more than 100 phrases, across 15 languages – all related to coronavirus risk. Radiance conducts extensive deep web searches in just minutes, finding all applicable, open source content that includes both the passenger name and associated risks. The results are prioritized by relevant and non-relevant designations, making it easy to further analyze the findings and determine potential passenger risks.

Keep in mind, Radiance's deep web search capabilities are designed to find the needle in the haystack.

Its power is in identifying all the web content that includes the name being searched and a term related to the behaviors' affinities. The fact that Radiance flags a passenger as relevant does not mean that a risk is necessarily involved. The results are designed as a tool to help expedite an agent's ability to assess risk beyond visibly obvious symptoms and prioritize passengers accordingly.

Coronavirus Symptom BAM

This BAM consists of terms and phrases that may indicate an individual has been diagnosed or shows signs consistent with a positive case of COVID-19.

It is intended to find the digital "coronavirus footprint" of an individual or organization.

Coronavirus Hotbed BAM

This BAM consists of terms and phrases that are intended to identify potential new epicenters of the coronavirus outbreak. It uses known locations of high risk to help screen for individuals that have recently traveled to or are connected to those areas.

Colonel Moran,
Some communications have transpired before we have had an opportunity discuss testing. Dr. Rowlinson and I were notified that NAX Jax would be routing COVID-19 testing for Guantanamo base to a DOD facility in Dayton Ohio; however, I am understanding this is under your purview. Additionally, Dr. Rowlinson was advised by Dr. Deussing, stationed at the CDC EOC, that it would be preferable for us to perform testing.
We are certainly willing and able to assist by conducting COVID-19 testing with a reasonable volume with the understanding that once commercial reference laboratories are fully operational and available, testing will be diverted to those laboratory facilities.
Please advise on how you would like to proceed.
Thanks,
Patty

Patty
I received your name through our CDC contacts. Our office is responsible for the health of all US service members currently assigned to Central/South America and much of the Caribbean. If one of our deployers fell ill with COVID-19 in our Area of Responsibility, then they would be treated at host nation hospital or one of our few overseas military medical facilities (depending upon their location). While we expect that their initial test would be done by a host nation lab, the Dept of Defense requires confirmatory testing with a CDC-approved lab. We have one site (Cuba - Guantanamo Bay) that does not have any host nation services nearby that they can use. In their case, we have a small military hospital on their island (caring for a population of 6000 people). Routinely all of their specialty labs go to Naval Hospital Jacksonville. If a patient is sick enough in Cuba, then they will be medically-evacuated to South FL.

We are trying to determine what CDC-approved lab we can use for COVID-19 testing. I understand we had a relationship with the FL Dept of Health to run Zika samples for the DoD years back.

Our team here reached out this AM to the FL Dept of Health Miami lab. Mr. Henry Uribarri, in the Epidemiology Department (at 305-470--6955), was very helpful. While he stated they can assist us, I wanted to make sure you that there were no concerns from your office regarding supporting DoD overseas sites.

I would anticipate that if we have samples to run they would be sent thru the mail to the receiving lab. This would be for asymptomatic or mildly symptomatic. Patients who are severely ill that require med-evac would be sent back to the US through other channels & those samples can then be run at their gaining US hospital. One exception to that plan is for our troops in Cuba. Since their labs normally go to Jacksonville and our Naval Hospital works with the Jacksonville health dept, ideally those samples would be able to go that facility instead of Miami.

In the future as US reference labs gain capability to do testing, we could shift to that model as needed.

Please let me know your thoughts. I'm at the #s below if it's easier to chat. Know you are very busy - appreciate your help!

FL DOH Reporting 11:00 HRS March 16, 2020: Duval County has four (4) individuals who have tested positive for COVID-19 and are in isolation until cleared by public health officials. Governor Ron DeSantis announced that FDOH will publish updated COVID-19 case counts at 11 AM and 6 PM going forward.

During a meeting with the Jacksonville City Council today, March 16, Mayor Lenny Curry declared that he is limiting crowd capacity of recreational and social gatherings and establishments to 50 people. These new limits are focused specifically on unnecessary social contact — for example, at shopping malls, restaurants, bars, churches and movie theaters. While office buildings, manufacturing plants, grocery stores, and many other businesses are exempt from these new limits, Mayor Curry advises that the safest option is for employees to perform duties from home or a more isolated place if possible. The directive took effect at 5 PM today and follows calls for residents to adhere to the CDC's guidelines about social distancing.

In addition to the restriction on capacity, alcohol sales will be suspended between midnight and 8 AM until further notice. Those who don't follow these regulations could be shut down by the City of Jacksonville. The City is working with State and Federal partners to find solutions for business owners who may be impacted by the mandate.

Infrastructure

- Telecoms Networks are at normal operations.
- Xfinity Services has implemented the following new policies and other important initiatives for the next 60 days:
  - Xfinity WiFi Free For Everyone: Xfinity WiFi hotspots across the country will be available to anyone who needs them for free – including non-Xfinity Internet subscribers. For a map of Xfinity WiFi hotspots, visit www.xfinity.com/wifi. Once at a hotspot, consumers should select the "xfinitywifi" network name in the list of available hotspots, and then launch a browser.
  - Pausing Our Data Plan: With so many people working and educating from home, we want our customers to access the internet without thinking about data plans. While the vast majority of our customers do not come close to using 1TB of data in a month, we are pausing our data plans for 60 days giving all customers Unlimited data for no additional charge.
  - No Disconnects or Late Fees: We will not disconnect a customer's internet service or assess late fees if they contact us and let us know that they can't pay their bills during this period. Our care teams will be available to offer flexible payment options and can help find other solutions.
  - Internet Essentials Free to New Customers: As announced yesterday, it's even easier for low-income families who live in a Comcast service area to sign-up for Internet Essentials, the nation's largest and most comprehensive broadband adoption program. New customers will receive 60 days of complimentary Internet Essentials service, which is normally available to all qualified low-income households for $9.95/month. Additionally, for all new and existing Internet Essentials customers, the speed of the program's Internet service was increased to 25 Mbps downstream and 3 Mbps upstream. That increase will go into effect for no additional fee and it will become the new base speed for the program going forward.
  - News, Information and Educational Content on X1 and Flex: For those with school-age students at home, we've created new educational collections for all grade levels in partnership with Common Sense Media. Just say "education" into your X1 or Flex voice remote. To help keep customers informed, we also have created a collection of the most current news and information on Coronavirus. Just say "Coronavirus" into your X1 or Flex voice remote. 24x7 Network Monitoring: Underpinning all of these efforts, Comcast's technology and engineering teams will continue to work tirelessly to support our network operations. We engineer our network capacity to handle spikes and shifts in usage patterns, and continuously test, monitor and enhance our systems and network to ensure they are ready to support customer usage. Our engineers and technicians staff our network operations centers 24/7 to ensure network performance and reliability. We are monitoring network usage and watching the load on the network both nationally and locally, and to date it is performing well.

The crew will remain on the vessels while the ships are in Jacksonville, unless an exception is deemed necessary by U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP).
- The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) recommends all persons defer any travel on cruise ships, including river cruises, worldwide because of the increased risk of SARS-CoV-2 transmission onboard ships. Deferring travel is especially important for older adults and all people with serious chronic medical conditions (such as heart disease, diabetes or lung disease), because of their increased risk for severe disease.
- US Navy is increasing its health protection measures to HPCON to B "moderate," in the 48 contiguous U.S. States and Alaska, which are part of the NORTHCOM AOR. The current number of cases in the U.S. and potential exposure during CDC's "sustained community spread" and current DoD guidance warrant increasing health protection measures such as: Strict hygiene (no handshaking, wipe common-use items); if exposed, self-isolate (wear mask or remain home); avoid contaminated water/food or risk area; vector control if applicable.

What you Should Know

COVID-19 can spread from person to person through small droplets from the nose or mouth, including when an individual coughs or sneezes. These droplets may land on objects and surfaces. Other people may contract COVID-19 by touching these objects or surfaces, then touching their eyes, nose or mouth.

Symptoms of COVID-19 are fever, cough and shortness of breath. Symptoms may appear in as few as two days or as many as 14 days following exposure. Most people recover from COVID-19 without needing special treatment. The elderly and those with underlying medical problems like high blood pressure, heart problems and diabetes are more likely to develop serious illness.

There is currently no vaccine to prevent COVID-19. The best way to prevent illness is to avoid being exposed to the virus. The Department recommends everyday preventive actions to help stop the spread of respiratory diseases, including:

- Avoiding close contact with people who are sick;
- Staying home when you are sick and avoiding contact with persons in poor health;
- Avoiding touching your eyes, nose and mouth with unwashed hands;
- Covering your cough or sneeze with a tissue, then disposing of the tissue;
- Washing your hands often with soap and water for at least 20 seconds, especially after going to the bathroom, before eating, after blowing your nose, coughing or sneezing;
- If soap and water are not readily available, use an alcohol-based hand sanitizer with at least 60% alcohol. Always wash hands with soap and water if hands are visibly dirty; and
- Cleaning and disinfecting frequently touched objects and surfaces using a regular household cleaning spray or wipe.

The CDC does not recommend that asymptomatic, healthy people wear a facemask to protect themselves from respiratory diseases, including COVID-19. Facemasks should be used by people who show symptoms of COVID-19 to help prevent the spread of the disease to others. The use of facemasks is also crucial for health workers and people who are taking care of someone in close settings (at home or in a health care facility).

A person that experiences a fever and symptoms of respiratory illness, such as fever, cough or shortness of breath, within 14 days after travel from China, Italy, Iran, South Korea, Japan and any other destination under CDC travel advisory should call ahead to their health care provider and local CHD and mention their recent travel or close contact.

If a person has had close contact with someone showing these symptoms who has recently traveled from this area or been in contact with a person with laboratory-confirmed COVID-19, they should call ahead to a health care professional and the CHD. The health care provider will work with the Department to determine if the person should be tested for COVID-19.

- Covering your cough or sneeze with a tissue, then disposing of the tissue;
- Washing your hands often with soap and water for at least 20 seconds, especially after going to the bathroom, before eating, after blowing your nose, coughing or sneezing;
- If soap and water are not readily available, use an alcohol-based hand sanitizer with at least 60% alcohol. Always wash hands with soap and water if hands are visibly dirty; and
- Cleaning and disinfecting frequently touched objects and surfaces using a regular household cleaning spray or wipe.

The CDC does not recommend that asymptomatic, healthy people wear a facemask to protect themselves from respiratory diseases, including COVID-19. Facemasks should be used by people who show symptoms of COVID-19 to help prevent the spread of the disease to others. The use of facemasks is also crucial for health workers and people who are taking care of someone in close settings (at home or in a health care facility).

A person that experiences a fever and symptoms of respiratory illness, such as fever, cough or shortness of breath, within 14 days after travel from China, Italy, Iran, South Korea, Japan and any other destination under CDC travel advisory should call ahead to their health care provider and local CHD and mention their recent travel or close contact.

If a person has had close contact with someone showing these symptoms who has recently traveled from this area or been in contact with a person with laboratory-confirmed COVID-19, they should call ahead to a health care professional and the CHD. The health care provider will work with the Department to determine if the person should be tested for COVID-19.

- Avoiding close contact with people who are sick;
- Staying home when you are sick and avoiding contact with persons in poor health;
- Avoiding touching your eyes, nose and mouth with unwashed hands;
- Covering your cough or sneeze with a tissue, then disposing of the tissue;
- Washing your hands often with soap and water for at least 20 seconds, especially after going to the bathroom, before eating, after blowing your nose, coughing or sneezing;
- If soap and water are not readily available, use an alcohol-based hand sanitizer with at least 60% alcohol. Always wash hands with soap and water if hands are visibly dirty; and

The Florida Department of Health is actively involved in enhanced surveillance for respiratory illness that may be COVID-19. Epidemiologists will follow up on any suspected cases that meet criteria for COVID-19 to arrange for testing when needed and monitor contacts of any confirmed cases, if they occur.

The Department will communicate regularly with the public and health care providers with updates on COVID-19 and other respiratory illnesses.

Everyone plays a part in lowering the impact within our communities and workplaces – taking every day preventative actions helps to impede the spread of respiratory diseases such as COVID-19. Preventative actions include:

- Washing your hands frequently with soap and water for at least 20 seconds, especially after going to the bathroom, before eating, and after blowing your nose, coughing or sneezing. If soap and water are not available, use an alcohol-based hand sanitizer with at least 60% alcohol.
- Avoiding close contact with people who are sick.
- Staying home when you are sick. This message cannot be emphasized enough.
- Employees who have symptoms of acute respiratory illness are recommended to stay home and not come to work until they are free of fever (100.4° F or greater using an oral thermometer), signs of a fever, and any other symptoms for at least 24 hours, without the use of fever-reducing or other symptom-altering medicines (e.g. cough suppressants). Employees should notify their supervisor and stay home if they are sick.
- Before traveling take certain steps:
    - Check CDC's Traveler's Health Notices for the latest guidance and recommendations for each country to which you will travel.
    - Employees who become sick while traveling must understand that they should notify their supervisor and should promptly call a healthcare provider for advice if needed.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

The Department of Health has set up a dedicated COVID-19 Call Center for questions about this virus. Anyone with questions may call 1-(866) 779-6121 or email COVID-19@flhealth.gov. The Call Center is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

If Asked:

"What is the Department doing about the cruise ships near Florida that could be carrying individuals infected with COVID-19?"

- On Sunday, March 8th, the U.S. Coast Guard allowed the Regal Princess cruise ship to disembark following negative tests for COVID-19.

-There is another cruise ship, the Caribbean Princess, which is expected to disembark in a timely fashion.

Although this issue falls under federal jurisdiction, since being notified, the department has been working closely with the cruise industry, CDC, Coast Guard and other partners to ensure every effort is made to keep the Floridians on board safe, while also protecting Florida residents across the state. We will continue to work with these partners to provide support.

"What is the number of patients tested in my county?"

-We appreciate the desire to understand how many Floridians in each community have been tested, received a negative test or are under public health monitoring as a result of suspicion they may have COVID-19 or has been in contact with someone who have COVID-19. Balancing the privacy of the individuals being tested and monitored and the confidentiality of the epidemiological investigations with the responsibility to Floridians to disclose information to protect the public is a vital role of the Florida Department of Health (DOH). The DOH strives to protect the identity of individuals tested or affected by COVID-19, while also ensuring information necessary for the public health is available.

As such, in order to protect personally identifiable health information (PHI) of Floridians, the Florida Department of Health is unable to break down the number of individuals who have received a negative test, have pending test results or are under public health monitoring by community.

Floridians can view the aggregate state level information at www.FLHealth.gov/COVID-19. This information is updated daily.

Additionally, the Florida Department of Health is encouraging all Floridians to be aware. Floridians should practice good hand hygiene and wash their hands with soap and water for a minimum of 20 seconds, use a tissue when they sneeze or cough and immediately dispose of it in the trash and stay home if they are sick."

Information on the transmission of the COVID-19 virus can be found here. https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-nCoV/summary.html
The CDC states people are thought to be most contagious when they are sick and most symptomatic. Some spread might be possible before people show symptoms; there have been reports of this occurring with this new coronavirus, but this is not thought to be the main way the virus spreads.
If there are community outbreaks of COVID-19 the decision to regarding schools will be made by the local school district in coordination with county health and emergency management officials.

COVID-19 Call Center

Limited Tests in Florida-

Thank you for contacting the COVID-19 Call Center,

As availability of diagnostic testing for COVID-19 increases, clinicians will be able to access laboratory tests for diagnosing COVID-19 through clinical laboratories performing tests authorized by FDA under an Emergency Use Authorization (EUA). Clinicians will also be able to access laboratory testing through public health laboratories in their jurisdictions.
This expands testing to a wider group of symptomatic patients. Clinicians should use their judgment to determine if a patient has signs and symptoms compatible with COVID-19 and whether the patient should be tested. Decisions on which patients receive testing should be based on the local epidemiology of COVID-19, as well as the clinical course of illness. Most patients with confirmed COVID-19 have developed fever[1] and/or symptoms of acute respiratory illness (e.g., cough, difficulty breathing). Clinicians are strongly encouraged to test for other causes of respiratory illness, including infections such as influenza.
Epidemiologic factors that may help guide decisions on whether to test include: any persons, including healthcare workers[2], who have had close contact[3] with a laboratory-confirmed[4] COVID-19 patient within 14 days of symptom onset, or a history of travel from affected geographic areas[5] (see below) within 14 days of symptom onset.
At this time the State of Florida has not been allocated anymore tests. Once more tests have been allocated to the state, epidemiologist will of course follow guidelines from the CDC.

6. Ban Cruises:

Thank you for contacting the COVID-19 Call Center,

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

As of now, the CDC only recommends that all travelers reconsider cruise ship voyages into or within ASIA.

However, cruises put large numbers of people, often from countries around the world, in frequent and close contact with each other. This can promote the spread of respiratory viruses, such as the virus that causes COVID-19. You may get sick from close contact with an infected person or by touching contaminated surfaces.

To reduce spread of respiratory viruses, including COVID-19, CDC recommends that crew members and passengers:

- Avoid close contact with people who are sick.
- Avoid touching your eyes, nose, and mouth with unwashed hands.
- Wash your hands often with soap and water for at least 20 seconds, especially after going to the bathroom; before eating; and after blowing your nose, coughing, or sneezing.
- If soap and water are not readily available, use an alcohol-based hand sanitizer that contains 60%–95% alcohol.
- Stay in your cabin when you are sick and let the onboard medical center know immediately if you develop a fever (100.4°F/38°C or higher), begin to feel feverish, or have other symptoms (such as cough, runny nose, shortness of breath, or sore throat).

Our call center can be reached by calling 1-866-779-6121 or emailing COVID-19@flhealth.gov and is currently available 24/7.

8. Refunds for Travel:

Thank you for contacting the COVID-19 Call Center,

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

The state of Florida follows CDC guidance. The CDC states each company establishes its own refund policies, and will not intervene to get them to change their policies.

Some companies may base their policies on CDC's travel health notices. The decision to post or change the level of a travel health notice is based on the best available science and takes into account numbers of cases, sustained spread, geographic spread of cases, risk to travelers, and other factors. https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/travelers/index.html

12. Face mask questions

Should I wear a facemask to protect myself?
A: The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) does not recommend that people who are well wear a facemask to protect themselves from respiratory diseases, including COVID-19. Improper use of a facemask could increase your risk of exposing yourself to infectious diseases.
Facemasks should be only used by people who show symptoms of COVID-19 to help prevent the spread of the disease to others.
The use of facemasks is also crucial for health workers and people who are taking care of someone in close settings (at home or in a health care facility).

13. Shipping from China

Thank you for contacting the COVID-19 Call Center,

https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/faq.html
There is still a lot that is unknown about the newly emerged COVID-19 and how it spreads. Two other coronaviruses have emerged previously to cause severe illness in people (MERS-CoV and SARS-CoV). The virus that causes COVID-19 is more genetically related to SARS-CoV than MERS-CoV, but both are betacoronaviruses with their origins in bats. While we don't know for sure that this virus will behave the same way as SARS-CoV and MERS-CoV, we can use the information gained from both of these earlier coronaviruses to guide us. In general, because of poor survivability of these coronaviruses on surfaces, there is likely very low risk of spread from products or packaging that are shipped over a period of days or weeks at ambient temperatures. Coronaviruses are generally thought to be spread most often by respiratory droplets. Currently there is no evidence to support transmission of COVID-19 associated with imported goods and there have not been any cases of COVID-19 in the United States associated with imported goods. Information will be provided on the Coronavirus Disease 2019 (COVID-19) website as it becomes available.

14. COVID-19 and Animals

Thank you for contacting the COVID-19 Call Center,

https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/faq.html
Should I be concerned about pets?
While this virus seems to have emerged from an animal source, it is now spreading from person-to-person in China. There is no reason to think that any animals including pets in the United States might be a source of infection with this new coronavirus. To date, CDC has not received any reports of pets or other animals becoming sick with COVID-19. At this time, there is no evidence that companion animals including pets can spread COVID-19. However, since animals can spread other diseases to people, it's always a good idea to wash your hands after being around animals. For more information on the many benefits of pet ownership, as well as staying safe and healthy around animals including pets, livestock, and wildlife, visit CDC's Healthy Pets, Healthy People website.
If you have any more concerns, feel free to contact us 24/7 at 866-779-6121 or email us at COVID-19@flhealth.gov

COVID-19 Call Center

Should I avoid contact with pets if I have COVID-19?

Thank you for contacting the COVID-19 Call Center,

You should restrict contact with pets and other animals while you are sick with COVID-19, just like you would around other people. Although there have not been reports of pets or other animals becoming sick with COVID-19, it is still recommended that people sick with COVID-19 limit contact with animals until more information is known about the virus. When possible, have another member of your household care for your animals while you are sick. If you are sick with COVID-19, avoid contact with your pet, including petting, snuggling, being kissed or licked, and sharing food. If you must care for your pet or be around animals while you are sick, wash your hands before and after you interact with pets and wear a facemask.
If you have any more concerns, feel free to contact us 24/7 at 866-779-6121 or email us at COVID-19@flhealth.gov

15. General Information about what Florida Department of Health and local County Health Departments are doing about COVID-19

Thank you for contacting the COVID-19 Call Center,

Here are some things your local county health department is doing.

- Your County Health Department (CHD) is reinforcing important public health messaging—like symptom monitoring, infection prevention and stopping or slow down the spread of disease—that will help keep you safe if you come into contact with someone with COVID-19 or other viral respiratory pathogens like flu.
- Your CHD is monitoring the health trends in your community on a daily basis to help identify any possible cases of COVID-19.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Your CHD is serving as an expert resource for health care providers and the public, and working to make sure that health care providers know what to look for and what to do if they suspect COVID-19 in a patient.
- Your CHD will coordinate the collection of specimens from patients and will submit these specimens to the CDC or the Florida Bureau of Public Health Laboratories for testing of suspected COVID-19.
- Your CHD will isolate (quarantine) a patient who tests positive for COVID-19 and determine the patient's travel history and who they may have had close contact with while sick—this is called contact tracing. People who may have been exposed would be notified and may be quarantined and observed for symptoms of COVID-19.
- Your CHD is preparing for the possibility that COVID-19 may become a global pandemic and ensuring that local plans, resources and capabilities are in place to respond to a widespread outbreak and lessen the impacts on Florida's communities.

Here are some things Florida Department of Health is doing.

- The Florida Department of Health is actively involved in enhanced surveillance for respiratory illness that may be COVID-19. Epidemiologists will follow up on any suspected cases that meet criteria for COVID-19 to arrange for testing when needed and monitor contacts of any confirmed cases, if they occur. Epidemiologic consultation is available 24/7 through the county health departments and Bureau of Epidemiology at 850-245-4401.

- The Florida Department of Health will communicate regularly with the public and health care providers with updates on COVID-19 and other respiratory illnesses.

Thank you for contacting the COVID-19 Call Center,

Information on the transmission of the COVID-19 virus can be found here. https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-nCoV/summary.html
The CDC states people are thought to be most contagious when they are sick and most symptomatic. Some spread might be possible before people show symptoms; there have been reports of this occurring with this new coronavirus, but this is not thought to be the main way the virus spreads.
If there are community outbreaks of COVID-19 the decision to regarding schools will be made by the local school district in coordination with county health and emergency management officials.

Thank you for contacting the COVID-19 Call Center,

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) recommends that patients diagnosed with COVID-19 be isolated either in the hospital or at home (depending on how sick they are) until they are better and no longer pose a risk of infecting others. People can prevent becoming sick by not traveling to impacted areas (see travel health notices), staying away from sick persons, and washing their hands frequently.

COVID-19 Call Center

Limited Tests in Florida-

Thank you for contacting the COVID-19 Call Center,

As availability of diagnostic testing for COVID-19 increases, clinicians will be able to access laboratory tests for diagnosing COVID-19 through clinical laboratories performing tests authorized by FDA under an Emergency Use Authorization (EUA). Clinicians will also be able to access laboratory testing through public health laboratories in their jurisdictions.
This expands testing to a wider group of symptomatic patients. Clinicians should use their judgment to determine if a patient has signs and symptoms compatible with COVID-19 and whether the patient should be tested. Decisions on which patients receive testing should be based on the local epidemiology of COVID-19, as well as the clinical course of illness. Most patients with confirmed COVID-19 have developed fever[1] and/or symptoms of acute respiratory illness (e.g., cough, difficulty breathing). Clinicians are strongly encouraged to test for other causes of respiratory illness, including infections such as influenza.
Epidemiologic factors that may help guide decisions on whether to test include: any persons, including healthcare workers[2], who have had close contact[3] with a laboratory-confirmed[4] COVID-19 patient within 14 days of symptom onset, or a history of travel from affected geographic areas[5] (see below) within 14 days of symptom onset.
At this time the State of Florida has not been allocated anymore tests. Once more tests have been allocated to the state, epidemiologist will of course follow guidelines from the CDC.

6. Ban Cruises:

Thank you for contacting the COVID-19 Call Center,

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

As of now, the CDC only recommends that all travelers reconsider cruise ship voyages into or within ASIA.

However, cruises put large numbers of people, often from countries around the world, in frequent and close contact with each other. This can promote the spread of respiratory viruses, such as the virus that causes COVID-19. You may get sick from close contact with an infected person or by touching contaminated surfaces.

To reduce spread of respiratory viruses, including COVID-19, CDC recommends that crew members and passengers:

- Avoid close contact with people who are sick.
- Avoid touching your eyes, nose, and mouth with unwashed hands.
- Wash your hands often with soap and water for at least 20 seconds, especially after going to the bathroom; before eating; and after blowing your nose, coughing, or sneezing.
- If soap and water are not readily available, use an alcohol-based hand sanitizer that contains 60%–95% alcohol.
- Stay in your cabin when you are sick and let the onboard medical center know immediately if you develop a fever (100.4°F/38°C or higher), begin to feel feverish, or have other symptoms (such as cough, runny nose, shortness of breath, or sore throat).

Some companies may base their policies on CDC's travel health notices. The decision to post or change the level of a travel health notice is based on the best available science and takes into account numbers of cases, sustained spread, geographic spread of cases, risk to travelers, and other factors. https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/travelers/index.html

12. Face mask questions

Should I wear a facemask to protect myself?
A: The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) does not recommend that people who are well wear a facemask to protect themselves from respiratory diseases, including COVID-19. Improper use of a facemask could increase your risk of exposing yourself to infectious diseases.
Facemasks should be only used by people who show symptoms of COVID-19 to help prevent the spread of the disease to others.
The use of facemasks is also crucial for health workers and people who are taking care of someone in close settings (at home or in a health care facility).

13. Shipping from China

Thank you for contacting the COVID-19 Call Center,

https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/faq.html
There is still a lot that is unknown about the newly emerged COVID-19 and how it spreads. Two other coronaviruses have emerged previously to cause severe illness in people (MERS-CoV and SARS-CoV). The virus that causes COVID-19 is more genetically related to SARS-CoV than MERS-CoV, but both are betacoronaviruses with their origins in bats. While we don't know for sure that this virus will behave the same way as SARS-CoV and MERS-CoV, we can use the information gained from both of these earlier coronaviruses to guide us. In general, because of poor survivability of these coronaviruses on surfaces, there is likely very low risk of spread from products or packaging that are shipped over a period of days or weeks at ambient temperatures. Coronaviruses are generally thought to be spread most often by respiratory droplets. Currently there is no evidence to support transmission of COVID-19 associated with imported goods and there have not been any cases of COVID-19 in the United States associated with imported goods. Information will be provided on the Coronavirus Disease 2019 (COVID-19) website as it becomes available.

14. COVID-19 and Animals

Thank you for contacting the COVID-19 Call Center,

https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/faq.html
Should I be concerned about pets?
While this virus seems to have emerged from an animal source, it is now spreading from person-to-person in China. There is no reason to think that any animals including pets in the United States might be a source of infection with this new coronavirus. To date, CDC has not received any reports of pets or other animals becoming sick with COVID-19. At this time, there is no evidence that companion animals including pets can spread COVID-19. However, since animals can spread other diseases to people, it's always a good idea to wash your hands after being around animals. For more information on the many benefits of pet ownership, as well as staying safe and healthy around animals including pets, livestock, and wildlife, visit CDC's Healthy Pets, Healthy People website.

COVID-19 Call Center

Should I avoid contact with pets if I have COVID-19?

Thank you for contacting the COVID-19 Call Center,

You should restrict contact with pets and other animals while you are sick with COVID-19, just like you would around other people. Although there have not been reports of pets or other animals becoming sick with COVID-19, it is still recommended that people sick with COVID-19 limit contact with animals until more information is known about the virus. When possible, have another member of your household care for your animals while you are sick. If you are sick with COVID-19, avoid contact with your pet, including petting, snuggling, being kissed or licked, and sharing food. If you must care for your pet or be around animals while you are sick, wash your hands before and after you interact with pets and wear a facemask.

15. General Information about what Florida Department of Health and local County Health Departments are doing about COVID-19

Thank you for contacting the COVID-19 Call Center,

Here are some things your local county health department is doing.

- Your County Health Department (CHD) is reinforcing important public health messaging—like symptom monitoring, infection prevention and stopping or slow down the spread of disease—that will help keep you safe if you come into contact with someone with COVID-19 or other viral respiratory pathogens like flu.
- Your CHD is monitoring the health trends in your community on a daily basis to help identify any possible cases of COVID-19.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Your CHD is serving as an expert resource for health care providers and the public, and working to make sure that health care providers know what to look for and what to do if they suspect COVID-19 in a patient.
- Your CHD will coordinate the collection of specimens from patients and will submit these specimens to the CDC or the Florida Bureau of Public Health Laboratories for testing of suspected COVID-19.
- Your CHD will isolate (quarantine) a patient who tests positive for COVID-19 and determine the patient's travel history and who they may have had close contact with while sick—this is called contact tracing. People who may have been exposed would be notified and may be quarantined and observed for symptoms of COVID-19.
- Your CHD is preparing for the possibility that COVID-19 may become a global pandemic and ensuring that local plans, resources and capabilities are in place to respond to a widespread outbreak and lessen the impacts on Florida's communities.

Here are some things Florida Department of Health is doing.

- The Florida Department of Health is actively involved in enhanced surveillance for respiratory illness that may be COVID-19. Epidemiologists will follow up on any suspected cases that meet criteria for COVID-19 to arrange for testing when needed and monitor contacts of any confirmed cases, if they occur. Epidemiologic consultation is available 24/7 through the county health departments and Bureau of Epidemiology at 850-245-4401.

- The Florida Department of Health will communicate regularly with the public and health care providers with updates on COVID-19 and other respiratory illnesses.

A Framework for Mitigation: Implementation of Mitigation Strategies for Communities with Local COVID-19 Transmission (10-page frame work for States, localities, and communities)
Protect yourself and your community from getting and spreading respiratory illnesses like coronavirus disease 2019. Everyone has a role to play in getting ready and staying healthy. CDC is aggressively responding to the global outbreak of COVID-19 and community spread in the United States. CDC's all of community approach is focused to slow the transmission of COVID-19, reduce illness and death, while minimizing social and economic impacts. Framework includes:

- Local Factors to Consider for Determining Mitigation Strategies
- Community mitigation strategies by setting and by level of community transmission or impact of COVID-19
- Potential mitigation strategies for public health functions

Background & Additional Information (Updated)

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Background: Under the leadership of President Trump and Vice President Pence, the full weight of the U.S. Government is working to protect the health and safety of the American people. Decisive action from President Trump at the beginning of the COVID-19 outbreak—including prudent travel restrictions and an early containment strategy—has given State and local officials and private sector partners time to prepare. In January, the President formed a Coronavirus Task Force, led by Vice President Mike Pence and comprised of subject-matter experts, to organize a whole-of-government response. The Coronavirus Task Force and broader Administration have worked and will continue to work with State-Local-Tribal officials and private sector and non-profit partners in preparing for and responding to the Coronavirus. It is important to note that at this time, the risk for the average American remains low, and all agencies are working aggressively to monitor this continuously evolving situation and to keep our partners and the public informed.

A Framework for Mitigation: Implementation of Mitigation Strategies for Communities with Local COVID-19 Transmission (10-page frame work for States, localities, and communities)
Protect yourself and your community from getting and spreading respiratory illnesses like coronavirus disease 2019. Everyone has a role to play in getting ready and staying healthy. CDC is aggressively responding to the global outbreak of COVID-19 and community spread in the United States. CDC's all of community approach is focused to slow the transmission of COVID-19, reduce illness and death, while minimizing social and economic impacts. Framework includes:
- Local Factors to Consider for Determining Mitigation Strategies
- Community mitigation strategies by setting and by level of community transmission or impact of COVID-19
- Potential mitigation strategies for public health functions

Background & Additional Information (Updated)

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Background: Under the leadership of President Trump and Vice President Pence, the full weight of the U.S. Government is working to protect the health and safety of the American people. Decisive action from President Trump at the beginning of the COVID-19 outbreak—including prudent travel restrictions and an early containment strategy—has given State and local officials and private sector partners time to prepare. In January, the President formed a Coronavirus Task Force, led by Vice President Mike Pence and comprised of subject-matter experts, to organize a whole-of-government response. The Coronavirus Task Force and broader Administration have worked and will continue to work with State-Local-Tribal officials and private sector and non-profit partners in preparing for and responding to the Coronavirus. It is important to note that at this time, the risk for the average American remains low, and all agencies are working aggressively to monitor this continuously evolving situation and to keep our partners and the public informed.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Background: Under the leadership of President Trump and Vice President Pence, the full weight of the U.S. Government is working to protect the health and safety of the American people. Decisive action from President Trump at the beginning of the COVID-19 outbreak—including prudent travel restrictions and an early containment strategy—has given State and local officials and private sector partners time to prepare. In January, the President formed a Coronavirus Task Force, led by Vice President Mike Pence and comprised of subject-matter experts, to organize a whole-of-government response. The Coronavirus Task Force and broader Administration have worked and will continue to work with State-Local-Tribal officials and private sector and non-profit partners in preparing for and responding to the Coronavirus. It is important to note that at this time, the risk for the average American remains low, and all agencies are working aggressively to monitor this continuously evolving situation and to keep our partners and the public informed.

Subject: RE: COVID-19 Update: Resources for All Americans & Framework for Mitigation

Good Afternoon,

As a follow-up to this morning's update, below you will find details on CDC's awarding of over $560 million State and local jurisdictions in support of COVID-19 response, and community mitigation strategies for Seattle (WA) and Santa Clara (CA).

CDC to Award Over $560 Million to State & Local Jurisdictions in Support of COVID-19 Response (more here)
The Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) is announcing another upcoming action by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) to provide resources to state and local jurisdictions in support of our nation's response to the coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19). The $8.3 billion dollar Supplemental passed by Congress included statutory language which prescribed the exact formula for disbursing the money: states will receive 90% of their 2019 CDC PHEP grants. This marks the first tranche of funding to states from the $8.3 billion supplemental. Your state health officers are receiving a letter today from CDC outlining what is needed to receive the funding, essentially they need to submit a spend plan and they will receive guidance on what that spend plan should contain.

White House Coronavirus Task Force Announces Community Mitigation Strategies for Seattle, Santa Clara
The White House Coronavirus Task Force today recommended 30-day mitigation strategies for Seattle-King, Pierce, and Snohomish County, Washington, and Santa Clara County, California due to widespread transmission of coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19). These mitigation activities are designed to address the effects of COVID-19 on areas that are experiencing community spread.

"President Trump has made clear that the Task Force must move decisively to protect the health and safety of the American people," said Vice President Mike Pence. "These recommendations outline a whole-of-community approach to immediately minimize the impacts of coronavirus in these cities and towns. I look forward to the continued partnership between the Task Force and State and local leaders."

Earlier today, Vice President Pence spoke with California Governor Gavin Newsom and Washington Governor Jay Inslee about these community mitigation strategies. The Task Force and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) have worked closely with state and local leaders in California, Washington, and around the Nation to develop these strategies. Additionally, CDC has teams in these areas working with public health partners to respond to the situation on the ground.

Cooperation with communities, businesses, and healthcare organizations is necessary to implement extensive community mitigation activities with the goal of protecting:

- Individuals at risk for severe illness, including persons with underlying health conditions including immune suppression and especially seniors with underlying health conditions;
- The healthcare workforce; and
- Critical infrastructure workforces.

Due to widespread community transmission of COVID-19 in these communities, examples of mitigation strategies for these areas include, but are not limited to:

- Individuals should practice protective measures (e.g., hand washing);
- Schools should conduct regular health checks of students, staff, and visitors;
- Senior living facilities should implement social distancing measures;
- Workplaces should encourage staff to telework and expand sick leave policies;
- Community and faith-based organizations should move gatherings of any size to video-accessible venues or postpone/cancel; and
- Healthcare facilities should implement triage before entering facilities.

In making these recommendations, the Task Force considered guidance from multiple Federal agencies, including technical advice from CDC. These community mitigation strategies are recommended for 30 days, after which local and state public health officials, in coordination with CDC will reassess the individual community situations.

Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) Nursing Home Guidance

As you know, nursing homes and their residents are vulnerable populations for COVID-19. This week, CMS released updated guidance for infection control and prevention of COVID-19 in Nursing Homes which can be found here (3/9). The Press Release can be found here and all CMS guidance related to COVID-19 can be found here.

Subject: COVID-19 Update

To All,

The COVID-19 virus is changing how we do things.
Please read the latest update. We will continue to update as we know more.

The Florida Department of Health (FDOH) acknowledges the growing concern and risks the public and dental professionals face from COVID-19. All dental providers and healthcare professionals play an important role in mitigating the spread of COVID-19. Please review the CDC Guidance for Healthcare Professionals.

On March 16, 2020 federal recommendations were released suggesting social distance and the prevention of groups ten or more. Also on March 16, 2020 the American Dental Association released ADA Guidance to postpone elective procedures for the next three weeks.

Due to the extraordinary situation, the Florida Department of Health recommends dental programs postpone elective procedures for the next three weeks and reassess the situation at that time. Concentrating on the provision of urgent dental care will serve the public and alleviate any emergencies from placing more stress on hospitals and emergency rooms. Clinics should establish procedures to provide care for these patients after taking appropriate precautions to limit the risk of spreading COVID-19, including screening of patients and caregivers prior to their arrival in our dental offices. The FDOH recommends all living in Florida practice social distancing and take steps to limit the risk of spreading COVID-19.

Thank you all for your help.

Subject: Cruise ships debarking

Hi, cruise ships have been debarking in Miami and Fort Lauderdale without any health screenings for the passengers. I've contacted Port Everglades, and they said to reach out to you because the Celebrity Summit, which debarked this morning, had been cleared by the CDC and the Health Department. What does that mean? What goes into such a clearing? And why is there no health screening?

Thank you.
