Good afternoon,

MUSC is an academic health center, with many (but not all) offices working remotely. Governor McMaster has switched students to distance education platform
Our HR office says FWS students are allowed to work from remote. Is this for FWS? If so, how would you address inequity?

For example, the Gymnasium is closed to the public (no opportunity to work from home) while the Diversity and Pharmacy College can provide work to their student workers remotely.

Please advise and thanks,

Good morning!
I work at a private college with a study abroad campus in Florence. Due to COVID-19, we asked all students at our Florence site to return to the US and will be providing instruction online for the remainder of the Spring 2020 term.
The institution decided to prorate housing, fee and meal plan charges for impacted students. These changes to institutional charges are occurring after our census date.
Are we required to adjust cost of attendance and aid for impacted students?

Subject: COVID-19 Compliance Question

Good afternoon,

In order to deal with the current public health crisis, Dean College has extended spring break for 1 week. We plan to continue with online learning next week.

According to the electronic announcement dated 3-5-2020, "Guidance for interruptions of study related to Coronavirus (COVID-19)", if a school closes as a result of a campus health emergency it may contact the school participation team to request a temporary reduction in the length of it's academic year. I have reached out to the school participation team, but I have not received a response.

My compliance question is, by extending spring break for one extra week, do we need approval to have a temporary reduction in length of our academic year? Additionally, if we need permission to reduce the length of our academic year, how does that affect our R2T4 calendar for the remainder of the term?

I know this is a difficult time for all schools and I imagine you are inundated with these types of questions. I truly appreciate any guidance you can provide.

All the best,

Frank

At this time no Department specific guidance has been issued.

In the past, States that had schools missing assessment due to extraordinary events have requested waivers from the assessment requirements. The Department has approved some of these waivers. The Department does not, however, approve such waivers pre-emptively.

Good morning,

As our State Department of Education coordinates our response to the possibility of COVID-19 in Alaksa, the question has come up about what to do about large scale assessment if schools need to be closed during the testing window or if schools are closed for large portions of the academic year prior to testing. Has U.S. ED developed any guidance for states COVID-19 and school closures, specifically related to assessment, beyond what is available on the CDC web site and the U.S. ED COVID-19 page? Is there a possibility for waivers, etc., for states that suspend testing due to virus-related school closures?

Good afternoon,

By Executive Order of Governor Henry McMaster, all South Carolina public schools are closed through the end of March. Of course, we do not know if this will be extended beyond this timeframe. With school closures, LEAs are beginning to question our office about waivers and extensions for grants expiring in 2020. What is the USED's stance of possibly extending the grant window? Another concern is a district's ability to meet the 15% carryover threshold. Will we be able to provide a blanket waiver to all districts that are not able to meet the requirement without penalty?

We are of course advising district's to review what is in their plans and amend as necessary.

Thank you for any help you can provide.

RE: Waiver Request as allowed by Section 8401 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act

Assistant Secretary Brogan:

The Tennessee Department of Education (TDOE) is requesting Secretary DeVos to utilize the wavier authority pursuant to Section 8401 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (20 U.S.C §7861) as the state continues to address both the COVID-19 outbreak and the state of emergency resulting from recent tornadoes across Tennessee.

Tennessee counties experienced seven EF3 and EF4 tornadoes on March 2 and 3 which destroyed numerous homes, schools, and lives—the second deadliest tornado outbreak in Tennessee history. We are continuing to support our district and school leaders in recovering from this natural disaster, but many schools are not yet able to resume a normal school schedule, and the impact on communities is significant. On March 3, Governor Bill Lee declared a state of emergency for this natural disaster.

While in this state of emergency, Tennessee continues to have a growing number of districts that have suspended classes over the past week with the number of confirmed cases of COVID-19 continuing to increase daily. Last week alone, schools serving over 50% of the state's 973,659 students have suspended classes. Today, Governor Bill Lee announced that all public schools in Tennessee would close through the end of March—a decision that would be reevaluated and possibly extended later in the month. Districts are working to develop and implement continuity of instruction plans; however, many of our largest urban and suburban districts, serving over 500,000 of Tennessee's students, also serve most of the state's highest poverty schools whose students, which in many instances, do not have appropriate access to technology in their homes, making instructional continuity more challenging.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

To ensure that the TDOE is equipped to serve our districts and schools in recovering from these crises while continuing to meet our state requirements, Tennessee is seeking available flexibilities and waivers for assessment, accountability determinations, and accountability components, as well as other requirements of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, as amended by the Every Student Succeeds Act.

Assessment:
As this is an evolving situation expected to intensify in the weeks and months to come, Tennessee is requesting flexibility and approval to apply either of the following waivers as determined by the needs of the state:

- With Tennessee addressing needs from both COVID-19 and a natural disaster and with all schools closing, we are seeking a one-year waiver to exclude assessments for the 2019-20 school year from accountability determinations and reporting. This will require Tennessee to adjust or extend the assessment window as appropriate to accommodate as many students as possible. With the health crisis still evolving, it is indeterminable at this time what adjustments may be necessary.
- With Tennessee addressing needs from both COVID-19 and a natural disaster and with all schools closing, we are seeking a one-year waiver on all assessments currently outlined in our approved ESSA state plan.

Accountability determinations:

- The state is seeking a targeted, one-year waiver to identify schools for comprehensive and targeted support and improvement as required in §1111(c)(4)(C)(iii) in the four counties impacted by the tornadoes: Davidson, Wilson, Benton, and Putnam counties.

As this is an evolving situation expected to intensify in the weeks and months to come, Tennessee is requesting flexibility and approval to apply either of the following waivers noted below as determined by the needs of the state:

- The state is seeking a one-year waiver on the identification of schools for comprehensive and targeted support and improvement as required in §1111(c)(4)(C)(iii) for all impacted schools.
- The state is seeking a one-year waiver on Tennessee's current accountability framework pursuant to §1111(c) as detailed in the state's approved ESSA state plan.

Accountability components:

- The state is seeking a statewide waiver for the 95 percent assessment student participation rate as required in § 1111(c)(4)(E) of ESSA not to be considered when calculating the Academic Achievement indicator for end of year assessments.
- One-year waiver to exclude chronic absenteeism from the school quality and student success indicator in its accountability system—which in Tennessee is the chronically out of school indicator.

Fiscal and other requirements:
The TDOE does not expect that districts will expend their Title I, A allocations according to the requirements during the period of availability due to the current medical and natural disasters noted above. As such, we are requesting the following:

- A waiver to extend the period of availability for Tennessee's the Title I, part A award (S010A190001) to September 30, 2022. With extended school closures, this waiver would allow districts time and flexibility to reset and reevaluate how best to support students following the current crisis.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- A waiver of the 15% carryover cap for Title I, part A funds and is also requesting to exclude any district waiver requested for the 2019-20 school year from the carryover limitation (no more than one in a three-year period).
- Consideration for other maintenance of effort flexibilities that may be forthcoming to states and districts during the current COVID-19 outbreak.

Due to the evolving nature and scope of the current crises Tennessee is facing, we did not provide public notice prior to submission of this waiver request. We will actively communicate this request and provide appropriate follow-up communication with stakeholders.

School and district leaders currently have to balance decisions regarding the safety and education of their students. This balance may be impacted by leaders' fear of repercussions in accountability, assessment, and funding. These waiver requests represent the best faith efforts of the TDOE to assuage these fears so district leaders can make the decisions that are in the best interest of students, teachers, and families without fear of repercussion.

Thank you for consideration of these requests. Tennessee is committed first to ensuring that all students are safe and fed during these crises; we are also committed to ensuring that the TDOE supports the recovery of impacted districts and schools so we can continue to focus on the provision of an excellent education and setting all students on a path to success.

Please feel free to contact Eve Carney, by telephone at 615-532-1245 or at Eve.Carney@tn.gov if there are questions regarding this request or if additional information is needed.

Subject: Reimbursing Spending for Interrupted Professional Development

Good Morning,

A number of Vermont LEAs have reached out with this type of question: they have spent local funds on plane tickets, registration fees, etc., for Professional Development events that were approved in their Title applications. Due to COVID-19 concerns, they have either elected not to take the trips or to attend the events, or in some case the events have simply been cancelled.

Our understanding is that we cannot reimburse with federal funds for activities that didn't end up happening—for example a flight that wasn't taken or a conference that wasn't attended—which leaves our LEAs, some of which can't afford to cover the costs ultimately with local funds, in a tough spot.

I guess I have two questions. First, is our understanding of the rules correct; that we can not reimburse for a purchased plane ticket or a conference registration with Title funds if attendance doesn't actually happen? Second, if this is the case, can the DOE provide some flexibility around this restriction in light of the circumstances?

Greetings,

We have read the COVID-19 announcement but have a few questions.

If decide to close our dorms and offer a refund for housing and meal plans. Are we required to adjust their Cost of Attendance (COA).

We have already locked in enrollment, so I do not believe we need to adjust Pell grant or Direct loans but if we adjust the COA, then in some situation, we will have over awards.

Thank you for your assistance in this confusing time.

Good Afternoon,

The campus has extended the spring break by 1 week, March 16 thru 20, 2020. Now that we've extended our break, will we need to modify the entire academic calendar for Spring 2020? We have mini-sessions and refund dates that will be affected. We want to ensure that we remain compliant in all cases.

The electronica announcement shows the following:

We address five potential student and campus scenarios: that may prompt an institution to have questions about how to comply with Title IV, HEA requirements if the Coronavirus impacts a student or a campus:

A campus temporarily stops offering ground-based classes in order to prevent the spread of COVID-19;

Length of Academic Year
The Department is authorized under 34 CFR § 668.3 to approve a reduced academic year. If at any point an institution determines it will close as the result of a campus health emergency, it may contact the School Participation team to request a temporary reduction in the length of its academic year.

Please assist as soon as possible,

Subject: COVID-19 Question

Good afternoon,
I work at a private college with a location in Florence, Italy. Students who were studying abroad for spring were enrolled in a traditional on-ground term from January 21, 2020 to May 15, 2020.
These students were asked to return to the US on 2/28 and are scheduled to resume instruction online as of 3/23. To reflect the work completed in Florence, the courses these students were enrolled in are being updated from 3 credit courses to 2 credit courses, presumably ending as of 2/28. The students are then being enrolled in online courses for the remainder of the term (3/23 to 5/15) that will bring them back up to a full-time course load.
Questions:
1- If a student does not complete the online portion of the term, we should treat them as a withdrawal and perform a R2T4 as they were originally scheduled to attend until May, correct?
2- If a student does not continue the online portion, after adjusting the academic credit value of the on-ground portion, they will no longer reflect full-time status. Would their Pell and other aid need to be recalculated before performing an R2T4, or no because they were enrolled full-time as of our census date?
3- Are there any other financial aid implications/ issues that could arise from this solution?
Thank you again in advance for any guidance!

Subject: COVID-19 Response from U.S. Department of Education

Dear Ms. Tauro:

Thank you for your letter to Secretary DeVos at the U.S. Department of Education (Department) concerning COVID-19 ("coronavirus") and its impact on schools.

While there is currently no vaccine to prevent COVID-19, health officials are currently taking steps to prevent the introduction and spread of this respiratory disease. Schools can play an important role in this effort. Schools can also prepare to take additional steps to prevent the spread of COVID-19, should State and local health officials identify such a need.

As you have noted, administrators and health officials are making difficult decisions related to potential school closures. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) offers the most up-to-date information on COVID-19 and has issued recommendations on school closures based on available data, reports from other countries and consultation with school health experts. For further information, please visit www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-nCoV.

The Department has established the "COVID-19 Information and Resources for Schools and School Personnel" webpage, available at www.ed.gov/coronavirus, to support schools and communities as they plan, prepare and potentially respond to possible cases of COVID-19. The Department will regularly update this webpage as more information and guidance becomes available.

Thank you for sharing your concerns with us. We invite you to send questions on which the Department can be helpful to the following email address: COVID-19@ed.gov.

Sincerely,

COVID-19 Response Team

Subject: School Timelines

Good evening! We are very concerned about the timelines that require schools to look at calendar days for compliance. This would include initial referrals where testing is completed and ARDs have been scheduled to meet the timeline. The mandatory school break interferes with some of these meetings, causing us to miss the 30 day timeline. Similar for annual reviews and reevaluations. My assessment staff is already stretched so thin with the increase of referrals due to the Corrective Action Plan. It would make sense for us to have the liberty to NOT count the days missed due to COVID-19 as calendar days and continue the timeline count on the first instructional day back. I have a team of people making a good faith effort daily to meet timelines. It does not make sense to hold them to a standard that is frankly not attainable considering the circumstances that are out of our control. Let's say we do have meetings during this mandatory school break. If the child is not at school to receive the services, then the meeting would really be unnecessary until we are back in a scenario where the child is able to receive services.

Please consider these facts above when discussing timeline requirements

Subject: CLOCK HOUR

Good morning,

I am the Financial Aid Coordinator for the Lee County Technical Colleges: Fort Myers Technical College and Cape Coral Technical College. These are CLOCK HOUR schools. Based on decisions made by the Florida Department of Education and our local school district, that we are a part of, our school will be shut down until March 30th. Our school is on our regular scheduled spring break this week, March 16-20. However, the closure next week, March 23-27 is my concern, as it was not planned. I have read the documentation available on ifap regarding this. However, due to the fact that we are a clock hour school, is there anything different we need to do? Will distance learning be accepted for clock hours? Should we, instead, make up the time upon the students return?

I know that you must be overwhelmed with questions. I appreciate your assistance.

Our school is evaluating a refund of a portion of room and board for this semester based on changing to an online format for the time being (until at least April 12)due to COVID-19. We have given the students the option to move home for now. Of course, it may be the remainder of the semester if needed. My question is, if we refund a portion of room and board for some students, do we have to adjust those students' COA ? I want to be able to provide our Cabinet members thorough information as to if it would affect their financial aid.

Thank you!!

Hello,

Could we please be put on your email list to receive updates and recommendations regarding how schools should respond to coronavirus? I'm seeing that public schools have been advised by DOE to close through March 27, but I haven't received any information about what is advised for private schools. Also, I'm not seeing such advice on the http://www.fldoe.org/em-response/index.stml. We would be very grateful for any information you could provide to keep us informed.

Sincerely,

Christie Dittmer

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Dear NAME:

Thank you for contacting the U.S. Department of Education (Department) concerning COVID-19 ("Coronavirus").

While there is currently no vaccine to prevent COVID-19, health officials are currently taking steps to prevent the introduction and spread of this respiratory disease. Schools can play an important role in this effort.

Through collaboration and coordination with local health authorities and other agencies, schools can disseminate important information about this disease and its potential transmission. Schools can also prepare to take additional steps to prevent the spread of COVID-19, should State and local health officials identify such a need.

The Department recommends that schools continue to promote everyday disease prevention strategies:

- If you are sick, stay home from school.
- Avoid close contact with those who are already sick.
- Cover your nose and mouth when coughing or sneezing with a tissue or the crook of your arm.
- Wash your hands often with soap and water.
- Avoid touching eyes, nose, or mouth.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) offers the most up-to-date information on COVID-19. Schools can share relevant CDC fact sheets to help students, families, and staff understand COVID-19, along with steps they can take to protect themselves. For further information, please visit www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-nCoV.

In addition, the Department has established a "COVID-19 Information and Resources for Schools and School Personnel" webpage, available at www.ed.gov/coronavirus, to support schools and communities as they plan, prepare and potentially respond to possible cases of COVID-19. The Department will regularly update this webpage as more information and guidance becomes available.

Thank you for sharing your concerns with us. We invite you to send questions on which the Department can be helpful to the following email address: COVID-19@ed.gov.

Sincerely,

COVID-19 Response Team

Subject: Conversation with South Carolina Dept of Education (SCDE)

Melissa, Patrick, & COVID-19 response:

I wanted to summarize a call I had with John Payne (Deputy Superintendent, Division of Federal Programs, Accountability and School Improvement, South Carolina Department of Education) today, 3/16:

I (Evan Skloot) spoke with John Payne on the phone on Mon, 3/16. We discussed SCDE's plan to suspend all spring assessments and hold harmless all school identification from the previous year; accordingly, he wanted to know what the protocol and logistics would be for waivers. SCDE had reached out to Deputy Secretary Zais earlier in the day, but had not heard back from him yet. I pointed him to our current COVID-19 guidance and explained that this was just a starting point, and that we were working to answer more questions and provide more guidance as the situation evolves. I noted that the Department is looking at ways to provide statutorily allowable flexibility, and understands that the needs will vary by State. I recommended that John send all questions as he has them to the COVID-19@ed.gov mailbox and copy me and the Title I mailbox, so that we can keep track of all questions and see what the FAQs are. John also noted that the State Superintendent was exploring sending formal correspondence to the Department about SCDE's decision to suspend spring assessments and its intent to seek a waiver, and asked who to address it to. I noted that although this is not required at this time, it is the State's prerogative to do so, and could be sent to Assistant Secretary Brogan with the COVID-19 email copied. Additionally, John mentioned that he was receiving requests from several districts to speak directly with ED about needing waivers. I confirmed that SCDE should speak directly with ED about assessment-related waivers, as any potential waivers would most likely be on the State level. John thanked me and said the reassurance that ED plans to work with States on necessary flexibility, as possible, is what the SEA and the Governor were hoping to get to ease anxieties on both the local and State level.

Best,

To whom it may concern,
My name is Kaley and I receive US federal aid for my law degree at the University of Sydney. I am being told that my loan money will stop if classes are moved online due to COVID-19. That is illegal. In the face of an international crisis, you are going to stop providing funding to students for circumstances that are beyond their control? This has to stop. Something needs to be done now to change this rule as the way things are heading, it looks like all universities will be shut down sooner rather than later. This is unacceptable behaviour from the government to not take care of its citizens in a crisis. I am appalled that you could even think to do this to helpless people who are working day and night to get their degrees just to be told that because the government has decided to quarantine people and shut down schools, they can no longer receive funding. I do not want to be told I have to take out additional loans at this time. This is YOUR responsibility. I refuse to accept that the law cannot be changed in this regard. This needs to end, now.

Sincerely,
Kaley DellaSala

These questions are for the Office of the Under Secretary or Office of Postsecondary Education.

On March 5, 2020, ED published an electronic announcement titled Guidance for interruptions of study related to Coronavirus (COVID-19).

This guidance explains ED's broad approval for institutions of higher education participating in the Title IV programs to use online technologies to accommodate students on a temporary basis without going through ED's regular approval process. However, as noted in the March 5 guidance, this flexibility only applies to a program during a payment period that overlaps the date of the March 5 electronic announcement or the following payment period.

Several of our member schools have expressed growing concern that limiting the ability to offer online courses to the payment period that overlaps the date of the March 5 electronic announcement or the following payment period and maintain Title IV eligibility will significantly impede the ability to enroll new students. As you know, many career schools offer short-term programs that start every few weeks. Without the ability to enroll and fund new students using online technologies during this unprecedented time, many small career schools' financial positions will be adversely impacted.

National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases Director Anthony Fauci told lawmakers last week that, "Things will get worse than they are right now." See: https://www.washingtonpost.com/health/coronavirus-forecasts-are-grim-its-going-to-get-worse/2020/03/11/2a177e0a-63b4-11ea-acca-80c22bbee96f_story.html. Dr. Fauci's statement suggests that institutions of higher education need longer-term flexibilities beyond those provided for in the March 5 electronic announcement, including the ability for schools to enroll new students using online technologies and maintain Title IV eligibility.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Is ED working on guidance that will extend the ability for institutions of higher education to enroll new students using online technologies and maintain Title IV eligibility? If so, when does ED hope to publish this guidance? If not, does ED have a process to expediate the review and approval of distance education for those institutions not currently approved for online delivery?

We recognize this pandemic is rapidly evolving, and ED staff are working tirelessly to help mitigate the impact to institutions and students. We thank you for your service during these uncertain times and your response to these questions.

Support Contacts at US Department of Education:

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

we have some school districts reaching out about 2018-2019 grant funds that will expire at the end of September. Some districts have grant balances from funds that started July 1, 2018. They have plans that have been in place and approved for using the funds, but some of the activities were to be executed through this school year and summer.

What can we do as an agency to request a longer period of availability (if that is even an option) for these dying grant funds? Or, will the US Department of Education be understanding if states have to return grant funds that were unused because of the current circumstances that are causing disruptions?

The best examples I can share:
Cancelled Professional Development that uses Title II-A funds.
Cancelled additional tutoring services provided using Title I-A funds.
Cancelled Parent and Family Engagement activities that use Title I-A, and Title III funds.

Thank you so much for a quick response so that we can support our districts.

Jess

Good afternoon,

MUSC is an academic health center, with many (but not all) offices working remotely. Governor McMaster has switched students to distance education platform
Our HR office says FWS students are allowed to work from remote. Is this for FWS? If so, how would you address inequity?

For example, the Gymnasium is closed to the public (no opportunity to work from home) while the Diversity and Pharmacy College can provide work to their student workers remotely.

Good afternoon,

In order to deal with the current public health crisis, Dean College has extended spring break for 1 week. We plan to continue with online learning next week.

According to the electronic announcement dated 3-5-2020, "Guidance for interruptions of study related to Coronavirus (COVID-19)", if a school closes as a result of a campus health emergency it may contact the school participation team to request a temporary reduction in the length of it's academic year. I have reached out to the school participation team, but I have not received a response.

My compliance question is, by extending spring break for one extra week, do we need approval to have a temporary reduction in length of our academic year? Additionally, if we need permission to reduce the length of our academic year, how does that affect our R2T4 calendar for the remainder of the term?

I know this is a difficult time for all schools and I imagine you are inundated with these types of questions. I truly appreciate any guidance you can provide.

All the best,

Frank

If decide to close our dorms and offer a refund for housing and meal plans. Are we required to adjust their Cost of Attendance (COA).

We have already locked in enrollment, so I do not believe we need to adjust Pell grant or Direct loans but if we adjust the COA, then in some situation, we will have over awards.

Good Afternoon,

The campus has extended the spring break by 1 week, March 16 thru 20, 2020. Now that we've extended our break, will we need to modify the entire academic calendar for Spring 2020? We have mini-sessions and refund dates that will be affected. We want to ensure that we remain compliant in all cases.

The electronica announcement shows the following:

We address five potential student and campus scenarios: that may prompt an institution to have questions about how to comply with Title IV, HEA requirements if the Coronavirus impacts a student or a campus:

A campus temporarily stops offering ground-based classes in order to prevent the spread of COVID-19;

Length of Academic Year
The Department is authorized under 34 CFR § 668.3 to approve a reduced academic year. If at any point an institution determines it will close as the result of a campus health emergency, it may contact the School Participation team to request a temporary reduction in the length of its academic year.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Dear NAME:

Thank you for contacting the U.S. Department of Education (Department) concerning COVID-19 ("Coronavirus").

While there is currently no vaccine to prevent COVID-19, health officials are currently taking steps to prevent the introduction and spread of this respiratory disease. Schools can play an important role in this effort.

Through collaboration and coordination with local health authorities and other agencies, schools can disseminate important information about this disease and its potential transmission. Schools can also prepare to take additional steps to prevent the spread of COVID-19, should State and local health officials identify such a need.

The Department recommends that schools continue to promote everyday disease prevention strategies:

- If you are sick, stay home from school.
- Avoid close contact with those who are already sick.
- Cover your nose and mouth when coughing or sneezing with a tissue or the crook of your arm.
- Wash your hands often with soap and water.
- Avoid touching eyes, nose, or mouth.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) offers the most up-to-date information on COVID-19. Schools can share relevant CDC fact sheets to help students, families, and staff understand COVID-19, along with steps they can take to protect themselves. For further information, please visit www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-nCoV.

In addition, the Department has established a "COVID-19 Information and Resources for Schools and School Personnel" webpage, available at www.ed.gov/coronavirus, to support schools and communities as they plan, prepare and potentially respond to possible cases of COVID-19. The Department will regularly update this webpage as more information and guidance becomes available.

Thank you for sharing your concerns with us. We invite you to send questions on which the Department can be helpful to the following email address: COVID-19@ed.gov.

Sincerely,

COVID-19 Response Team

Good afternoon,

I work at a private college with a location in Florence, Italy. Students who were studying abroad for spring were enrolled in a traditional on-ground term from January 21, 2020 to May 15, 2020.

These students were asked to return to the US on 2/28 and are scheduled to resume instruction online as of 3/23. To reflect the work completed in Florence, the courses these students were enrolled in are being updated from 3 credit courses to 2 credit courses, presumably ending as of 2/28. The students are then being enrolled in online courses for the remainder of the term (3/23 to 5/15) that will bring them back up to a full-time course load.

Questions:
1- If a student does not complete the online portion of the term, we should treat them as a withdrawal and perform a R2T4 as they were originally scheduled to attend until May, correct?
2- If a student does not continue the online portion, after adjusting the academic credit value of the on-ground portion, they will no longer reflect full-time status. Would their Pell and other aid need to be recalculated before performing an R2T4, or no because they were enrolled full-time as of our census date?
3- Are there any other financial aid implications/ issues that could arise from this solution?

Thank you again in advance for any guidance!

Greetings,

Downey Adult School's Administration has advised me to ask ED for clarification regarding flexibilities afforded to institutions as a result of our on-campus school closure due to COVID-19.

Background:
Our school district has moved to provide instruction via an online modality. As a non-term, clock-hours school, we have received approval from the licensure bodies (BVNPT, EMS, and CAMTC) which typically prohibit online instruction, to temporarily provide online instruction during our school closure. In addition, we have amended a few policies which align with the guidelines and flexibilities afforded to us through the ELECTRONIC ANNOUNCEMENTS March 05, 2020 (OPE Announcements) Subject: Guidance for interruptions of study related to Coronavirus (COVID-19). Many of our non-term, clock hour programs offer new start dates (points of entry) that begin approximately every 5 weeks.

We need specific clarification on the following:
Since these programs are already approved for online instruction by our accreditor, The Council on Occupational Education, can we still allow new students to begin their respective programs on start dates that fall within the period of our school's closure? The "new" student would begin their instruction through the already-approved online modality. Furthermore, are institutions allowed to extend the flexibilities allowed by ED to students who begin instruction on a date after March 5th, 2020, which is the release of the ELECTRONIC ANNOUNCEMENTS

Good afternoon

PCI has made the decision to change the modality of teaching effective 3/17/20. The Institution has notified the Accrediting Agency and the State. Attached is what was sent to them. Are there any other actions necessary? PCI wants to make sure we have covered all of our basis and are in compliance.

Please advise

Thank You

We are struggling to find a way to complete evaluations and maintain the recommended 6 foot social distancing requirement. Having to point to specific test items, observe student responses, give students manipulatives are just a few examples of things done in the evaluation session which won't allow the evaluator to maintain the appropriate distance. We can't find a way to do these virtually, either. I would ask that your department seriously considers allowing districts to suspend evaluation timelines until we are able to work with students face to face. We want our students to have the services they need, but not at the risk of their or our staff members' health.

Hello,

We have a culinary weekend program, however due to Covid-19, our labs were unable to start this past weekend. The question came from our Academic department to see if we could have these students make up the lab at the end of our term adding 4 weeks to the end of this program. It would overlap into our summer term. I do not believe that we can do this, but wasn't sure if there was any leeway with the state of affairs we are in.

Thank you.

Subject: Federal Work Study Question

To Whom It May Concern: In its Guidance for interruptions of study related to Coronavirus (COVID-19) issued March 5, 2020, ED advised the following under the heading Federal Work Study (FWS): "For students enrolled and performing FWS at a campus that must close due to COVID-19, or for a FWS student who is employed by an employer that closes as a result of COVID-19, the institution may continue paying the student Federal work-study wages during that closure if it occurred after the beginning of the term, the institution is continuing to pay its other employees (including faculty and staff), and the institution continues to meet its institutional wage share requirement." We represent institutions of higher education who plan to discontinue paying non-FSW student employees after closure due to COVID-19 (and conversion to remote instruction) because they will no longer be on campus and/or be working during the closure. However, institutions will continue paying other employees, including faculty and staff, after closure (and conversion to remote instruction) because they will continue to be working during the closure. As we interpret ED's March 5, 2020 guidance quoted above, it is permissible for institutions to continue paying the student FSW wages while discontinuing payment to non-FSW student employees because they will no longer be on campus and/or be working during the closure. Is this the correct interpretation? If you need further information, my contact information is below. Thank you for your assistance. Charlie.

Good afternoon,

We have two questions as it relates to the information provided below
030520Guidance4interruptionsrelated2CoronavirusCOVID19, Posted Date, March 05, 2020
Author, Office of Postsecondary Education, regarding the information provided in this electronic announcement:

1. The decision has been made to move all of our classes to on-line effective March 21st. What is the guidance for handling Federal Student Aid funding for room & board if students are not on /or returning to campus due to the COVID-19? What should we do about refunds to students for room & board?

2. In reference to the Department of Education guidance for when institutions of higher education can pay students using federal Title IV funds. Can we assume that work study students whose activities are impacted by Coronavirus (COVID-19), either directly being affected or indirectly because the student can no longer participate in working because the institution has asked them temporarily not to report to duty, will be paid for their regular shifts?

3. If so, how do we determine how much we should pay work-study students? For example, if the maximum hours weekly is 20, do we pay them for the aforementioned hours?

Please advise.

Best,

Subject

Guidance for interruptions of study related to Coronavirus (COVID-19)
This electronic announcement addresses concerns expressed by higher education leaders regarding how they should comply with Title IV, Higher Education Act (HEA) policies for students whose activities are impacted by Coronavirus (COVID-19), either directly because the student is ill or quarantined, or indirectly because the student was recalled from travel-abroad experiences, can no longer participate in internships or clinical rotations, or attends a campus that temporarily suspended operations. This information provides flexibilities for schools that are working to help students complete the term in which they are currently enrolled.
These instructions do not contemplate accommodations for students who have not yet enrolled or whose term has not yet begun, with certain exceptions. We will continue to monitor the situation and make a later determination of what accommodations may be necessary should longer-term interruptions become likely. We will continue to provide updates to this information as appropriate.

We encourage institutions to visit the Department's Coronavirus webpage, https://www.ed.gov/coronavirus?src=feature, on this topic frequently, as we will post updates as they become available. In addition, the Department's webpage has links to guidance from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, including for how Institutions of Higher Education should manage human health risks associated with Coronavirus.
We address five potential student and campus scenarios: that may prompt an institution to have questions about how to comply with Title IV, HEA requirements if the Coronavirus impacts a student or a campus:

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- A student was enrolled or was supposed to begin a travel-abroad experience and either the student has been called back to the U.S. or was never able to begin the travel abroad experience;
- A student was enrolled in a program and met the requirements for full-time enrollment; however, due to the COVID-19, one or more classes – such as an internship, a clinical rotation, student teaching or fieldwork – have been cancelled and now the student has fallen below the 12 credit hour minimum and is no longer considered to be a full-time student;
- A student is quarantined and misses class or a student is incapacitated due to COVID-19 illness;
- A campus temporarily stops offering ground-based classes in order to prevent the spread of COVID-19;
- A foreign school that serves U.S. students who participate in title IV programs temporarily suspends operations due to COVID-19.

We offer information below about options we are making available to institutions under our current statutory authority to provide as much flexibility as possible so that you can continue to serve students. In some instances, we have been asked to consider providing flexibilities that are beyond our statutory authority. As a result, we cannot provide those flexibilities. If you have questions about the information provided in this electronic announcement, or you are encountering a scenario that we have not addressed, please email the Department at COVID-19@ed.gov.
We recommend that institutions document, as contemporaneously as possible, any actions taken as a result of COVID-19, including those actions described in this document.

Accommodating Students Whose Enrollment is Disrupted by Coronavirus

Our goal is to work with institutions and find ways to enable you to accommodate students and help them continue their education despite interruptions caused by COVID-19. For many institutions, online education will provide a viable option for continuing to teach students through COVID-19-related interruptions. In some instances, students enrolled in ground-based programs at campuses that must temporarily close could participate in distance education for a period of time and then resume ground-based attendance when the campus reopens. In other instances, an institution may provide online learning opportunities for a student who was recalled from a travel-abroad program but the student is too late into the semester to enroll in other classes offered by the home campus, or the student who arrived in a foreign country intending to complete a travel abroad experience finds that the program has now been cancelled or temporarily suspended. We are providing the following flexibilities to institutions to help them understand what options they can make available to students and remain in compliance with Title IV requirements.

Approval to Offer Distance Education

The Department is providing broad approval to institutions to use online technologies to accommodate students on a temporary basis, without going through the regular approval process of the Department in the event that an institution is otherwise required to seek Departmental approval for the use or expansion of distance learning programs. This flexibility only applies to a program during a payment period that overlaps the date of this electronic announcement or the following payment period. If an institution chooses to continue offering a new program or use distance education in a manner requiring the Department's approval after that point, it must seek approval under the Department's normal process.
We are also permitting accreditors to waive their distance education review requirements for institutions working to accommodate students whose enrollment is otherwise interrupted as a result of COVID-19. We currently are limiting that permission to distance learning opportunities developed for the purpose of serving students who were already in attendance, but whose attendance was interrupted by COVID-19. Please note that this flexibility is not available for clock-hour courses that lead to licensure if the licensure body will not accept distance learning courses or hours or give credit for them toward the number of hours a student must complete.

We want to make clear to institutions that for Title IV, HEA purposes, distance learning does not require the use of sophisticated learning management systems or online platforms, though accreditors may have additional standards included in their review of distance learning programs. We are, however, permitting accreditors to waive those standards for schools implementing distance learning programs solely for the purpose of allowing currently enrolled students to complete a term that is interrupted by COVID-19 closures. To meet the Department's requirements for providing distance education, an institution must communicate to students through one of several types of technology – including email – described under 34 CFR § 600.2, and instructors must initiate substantive communication with students, either individually or collectively, on a regular basis. In other words, an instructor could use email to provide instructional materials to students enrolled in his or her class, use chat features to communicate with students, set up conference calls to facilitate group conversations, engage in email exchanges or require students to submit work electronically that the instructor will evaluate.

Institutions may provide distance learning temporarily to accommodate students as a result of a COVID-19 interruption, including in cases where students began attendance in classes offered in a brick-and-mortar setting but were transitioned to a distance education format in the middle of the term. In these cases, we will accept the accreditation and state authorization of the institution for the programs in which those students were enrolled prior to the interruption due to COVID-19 to enable students to complete the current term.

Institutions may also enter into temporary consortium agreements with other institutions so that students can complete courses at other institutions but be awarded credit by their home institution. In addition, in instances where accrediting agencies require students to complete a final number or percentage of credits in residence at the institution, accrediting agencies may waive that requirement for students impacted by COVID-19 without objection by the Department.

The Department will permit students who wish to take an approved leave of absence for COVID-19-related concerns or limitations (such as interruption of a travel-abroad program), to take such leave, even if the student notifies the institution in writing after the approved leave of absence has begun. In such a case, the institution may retain those Title IV funds to apply when the student continues enrollment. If the student does not return to complete their program within 180 days, the school would then be expected to perform the Return of Title IV funds calculation based on the date on which the leave-of-absence began. Note that in term-based programs, if a student takes an approved leave of absence from a term-based program, the institution must ensure that the student is permitted to complete the coursework he or she began prior to the leave of absence.

Finally, because we understand that some students may have been recalled from travel abroad programs or canceled-out of experiential learning opportunities after the semester began, institutions may offer courses to those students on a schedule that would otherwise be considered a non-standard term, if doing so enables those students to complete the term. These flexibilities will also be provided to institutions, or their additional locations or programs, that must temporarily close as a result of COVID-19.

Foreign Schools

We cannot extend flexibility regarding the use of distance learning to foreign schools since the Higher Education Act does not permit foreign schools to provide distance learning to U.S. students who participate in Title IV, HEA programs. We continue to consider if there are any other flexibilities we could extend to foreign schools that temporarily close due to COVID-19.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Federal Work Study (FWS)

Federal law includes a provision allowing an institution to make FWS payments under certain limited circumstances to disaster-affected students who are unable to continue working. Given the unique nature of this situation, it is unlikely that an entire region would be declared a Federal disaster area, yet to students enrolled at a campus that must close temporarily, the loss of this important form of financial aid can be devastating. The impact may be magnified if the institution accommodates students by providing alternative instructional opportunities and the student is required to continue paying tuition, but the student loses FWS as an important part of their financial aid award. For students enrolled and performing FWS at a campus that must close due to COVID-19, or for a FWS student who is employed by an employer that closes as a result of COVID-19, the institution may continue paying the student Federal work-study wages during that closure if it occurred after the beginning of the term, the institution is continuing to pay its other employees (including faculty and staff), and the institution continues to meet its institutional wage share requirement. Students who were prevented from beginning a term at the institution as a result of a COVID-19-related disruption would not be eligible for Federal Student Aid for that term, and therefore could not be paid FWS wages for hours they did not work. Graduate students who are paid FWS wages on salary may continue to be paid for the remainder of the term if the institution is also paying its faculty and staff during that period. In these instances, institutions should document (as contemporaneously as feasible) that the COVID-19 disruption was the reason the student received FWS funds without documentation of hours worked.

Length of Academic Year

The Department is authorized under 34 CFR § 668.3 to approve a reduced academic year. If at any point an institution determines it will close as the result of a campus health emergency, it may contact the School Participation team to request a temporary reduction in the length of its academic year.

Professional Judgement

Financial aid administrators (FAA) have statutory authority to use professional judgement to make adjustments on a case-by-case basis to the cost of attendance or to the data elements used in calculating the EFC to reflect a student's special circumstances. The use of professional judgement where students and/or their families have been affected by COVID-19 is permitted, such as in the case where an employer closes for a period of time as a result of COVID-19. In making professional judgement determinations, FAAs must obtain documentation and retain it in each student's file. This documentation must substantiate the reason for any adjustment. Institutions are reminded that, regardless of how broadly an event may affect its student population, professional judgement determinations must be made and documented on a case-by-case basis.

Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP)

An institution's SAP appeal policy (34 CFR § 668.34(a)(9)) must, among other things, describe the basis on which a student may file an appeal: the death of a relative, an injury or illness of the student, or other special circumstances. Circumstances related to an outbreak of COVID-19, including, but not limited to, the illness of a student or family member, compliance with a quarantine period, or the general disruption resulting from such an outbreak may form the basis of a student's SAP appeal even if not specifically articulated in the institution's SAP policy.

Students Who Did Not Begin Attendance

We are aware that many U.S. students enrolled in eligible foreign institutions and in study abroad programs offered by domestic institutions have already been affected by local outbreaks of COVID-19 and the measures taken by institutions in response. Of immediate concern are those students who travelled to overseas destinations but were unable to begin classes due to school closures. There may also be instances where students at domestic institutions are similarly affected and unable to begin classes. Because these students did not begin attendance in a payment period or period of enrollment, 34 CFR § 668.21 (rather than Return of Title IV Funds) applies. In such a situation, the institution must return all Title IV grant funds disbursed for the payment period or period of enrollment and all Direct Loan funds that were credited to the student's account at the institution for that period. The institution must also return Direct Loan funds in the amount of payments made directly by or on behalf of the student to the institution for the period, up to the total amount of the loan funds disbursed. The institution is not responsible for returning Direct Loan funds that were disbursed directly to the student in the form of a credit balance as long as the institution was not aware that the student would not attend prior to the disbursement, and students will be able to repay those funds as a part of their educational loans. In these circumstances, institutions are permitted, but not required, to return all of a student's Direct Loan funds, including the amount comprising the credit balance.

Normally institutions, once aware that a student will not begin or has not begun attendance, must notify the loan servicer which results in issuance of a final demand letter to the borrower. However, we have determined that in the case where a student was unable to begin attendance due to a COVID-19-related school closure, the provisions of 34 CFR § 668.21(a)(2)(ii), requiring the institution to notify the servicer of that student's failure to begin attendance, do not apply because the option for the student to begin attendance did not exist. Accordingly, the institution should not notify the servicer that the student did not begin attendance. He or she will be permitted to repay any Direct Loan funds received under the terms of the promissory note. This will also prevent a student from being required to enter repayment within six months of withdrawing if the student withdrew as a result of a Coronavirus-related interruption.

Enrollment Status Changes

We do not have the authority to waive the requirement to award or disburse Title IV funds based on a student's actual enrollment status. For example, assuming an institution defines full-time enrollment as 12 credit hours, when a full-time student enrolled for 12 credit hours drops or withdraws from three credits, that student is now enrolled at three-quarter time status. However, we remind institutions that for Direct Loans, the institution must only confirm at least half-time enrollment status as of the time of disbursement. It is not necessary to recalculate a student's Direct Loan eligibility based on changes in enrollment status that occur after the institution originates a Direct Loan. For enrollment status changes that occur after an institution's established Pell Grant recalculation (census) date, we do not require recalculation. Note that the student must have begun attendance in all courses comprising the enrollment status on which the Pell Grant payment was based.

Return of Title IV Funds

Even in the case of a disruption from COVID-19, an institution must return any Title IV funds for which it is responsible in accordance with the provisions of 34 CFR § 668.22 when a student withdraws. Currently, we do not have the authority to waive the statutory requirement for the return of unearned Title IV funds in the case where a student (who receives Title IV assistance) withdraws from an institution during a payment period or period of enrollment after having begun attendance. However, the guidance provided below explains the requirements for performing Return of Title IV Funds calculations in situations where an institution has temporarily ceased operations as a result of a COVID-19 disruption.

Definition of a Withdrawal Date

If an institution ceases operation during a payment period and fails to reopen by the end of that payment period, its students are considered no longer in attendance and must be considered withdrawn for that payment period or period of enrollment, and would be subject to Return of Title IV funds requirements. Similarly, if an institution closes and subsequently reopens during a payment period, any students who began attendance during that payment period but failed to return when the institution reopens must be considered withdrawn for that payment period. If the institution is required to take attendance, the withdrawal date is the last day of documented attendance prior to the closure. If the institution is not required to take attendance, the institution can use any applicable option under 34 CFR

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

§ 668.22(c), including the midpoint of the payment period or period of enrollment under 34 CFR § 668.2(c)(1)(iii) or, because the closure was a circumstance that the student could not control under 34 CFR § 668.22(c)(1)(iv), the date that the institution ceased operation. When determining the number of days in the payment period or period of enrollment (the denominator of the calculation), the institution should include all the days that the student was scheduled to attend during that period on the date of the withdrawal. For a clock-hour program, an institution should not include as "scheduled hours" any hours on days that it was closed.

Date of Determination and Timeframes for Returns

Normally, if a student does not provide notification to an institution of his/her withdrawal, the date of determination that the student has withdrawn is the date that the institution becomes aware that the student ceased attendance. This is, in most cases when an institution closes for reasons beyond its control, the date of the closure. Therefore, the timeframes for completing Return of Title IV Funds calculations and making the appropriate returns or post-withdrawal disbursements begin on that date (e.g. 30 days to perform the calculation, 45 days to return the funds, etc.).

Reentering the Same Payment Period

If an institution that has closed subsequently reopens during the same payment period or period of enrollment, and permits students to continue coursework that they were taking at the time of the closure, students that return to class at that time are considered to have reentered the same period and retain eligibility for Title IV aid that they were otherwise eligible to receive before the closure. If a student in this situation subsequently withdraws, the institution must exclude the number of days that it was closed (if the closure was for at least five consecutive days, in combination with weekends or other scheduled breaks) from both the number of days the student completed and the total number of days in the payment period or period of enrollment. If the institution altered the number of days in the payment period or period of enrollment following the closure (e.g. if it adds days to the term to make up for the time when it was closed), the institution should use the new number of days in the student's Return of Title IV funds calculation.

NSLDS Enrollment Reporting

In general, when a student withdraws during a payment period, the effective date for the withdrawn ('W') status for enrollment reporting purposes is the withdrawal date used by the institution in accordance with 34 CFR § 668.22(b) or (c). However, notwithstanding the requirement that the institution perform a Return of Title IV funds calculation for students when an institution unexpectedly ceases operation during a payment period and fails to reopen during that payment period, we permit an institution to defer reporting an affected student's enrollment status as "withdrawn" in these circumstances when the institution has a reasonable expectation that—

1. The institution will reopen at the start of a payment period that begins no later than 90 days following the closure; and
2. The student will resume attendance when the institution reopens.

In these cases, the institution should continue reporting the most recent enrollment status that it reported for the affected student prior to the closure. If the student does not resume attendance as expected, the institution must change the student's enrollment status to "withdrawn" using the student's actual withdrawal date as the enrollment status effective date.

While the coronavirus threat to the American public remains low, we encourage school communities to take all steps to ensure the health and well-being of students, faculty, and staff. We established the website, https://www.ed.gov/coronavirus?src=feature, to provide general information and guidance for school communities, including links to information posted by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. We appreciate your cooperation and welcome any additional questions at COVID-19@ed.gov.

Good afternoon,

We have two questions as it relates to the information provided below 030520Guidance4interruptionsrelated2CoronavirusCOVID19, Posted Date, March 05, 2020, Author, Office of Postsecondary Education, regarding the information provided in this electronic announcement:

1. The decision has been made to move all of our classes to on-line effective March 21st. What is the guidance for handling Federal Student Aid funding for room & board if students are not on /or returning to campus due to the COVID-19? What should we do about refunds to students for room & board?

2. In reference to the Department of Education guidance for when institutions of higher education can pay students using federal Title IV funds. Can we assume that work study students whose activities are impacted by Coronavirus (COVID-19), either directly being affected or indirectly because the student can no longer participate in working because the institution has asked them temporarily not to report to duty, will be paid for their regular shifts?

3. If so, how do we determine how much we should pay work-study students? For example, if the maximum hours weekly is 20, do we pay them for the aforementioned hours?

Please advise.

Best,

Guidance for interruptions of study related to Coronavirus (COVID-19)
This electronic announcement addresses concerns expressed by higher education leaders regarding how they should comply with Title IV, Higher Education Act (HEA) policies for students whose activities are impacted by Coronavirus (COVID-19), either directly because the student is ill or quarantined, or indirectly because the student was recalled from travel-abroad experiences, can no longer participate in internships or clinical rotations, or attends a campus that temporarily suspended operations. This information provides flexibilities for schools that are working to help students complete the term in which they are currently enrolled.
These instructions do not contemplate accommodations for students who have not yet enrolled or whose term has not yet begun, with certain exceptions. We will continue to monitor the situation and make a later determination of what accommodations may be necessary should longer-term interruptions become likely. We will continue to provide updates to this information as appropriate.

We encourage institutions to visit the Department's Coronavirus webpage, https://www.ed.gov/coronavirus?src=feature, on this topic frequently, as we will post updates as they become available. In addition, the Department's webpage has links to guidance from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, including for how Institutions of Higher Education should manage human health risks associated with Coronavirus.
We address five potential student and campus scenarios: that may prompt an institution to have questions about how to comply with Title IV, HEA requirements if the Coronavirus impacts a student or a campus:

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- A student was enrolled or was supposed to begin a travel-abroad experience and either the student has been called back to the U.S. or was never able to begin the travel abroad experience;
- A student was enrolled in a program and met the requirements for full-time enrollment; however, due to the COVID-19, one or more classes – such as an internship, a clinical rotation, student teaching or fieldwork – have been cancelled and now the student has fallen below the 12 credit hour minimum and is no longer considered to be a full-time student;
- A student is quarantined and misses class or a student is incapacitated due to COVID-19 illness;
- A campus temporarily stops offering ground-based classes in order to prevent the spread of COVID-19;
- A foreign school that serves U.S. students who participate in title IV programs temporarily suspends operations due to COVID-19.

We offer information below about options we are making available to institutions under our current statutory authority to provide as much flexibility as possible so that you can continue to serve students. In some instances, we have been asked to consider providing flexibilities that are beyond our statutory authority. As a result, we cannot provide those flexibilities. If you have questions about the information provided in this electronic announcement, or you are encountering a scenario that we have not addressed, please email the Department at COVID-19@ed.gov.
We recommend that institutions document, as contemporaneously as possible, any actions taken as a result of COVID-19, including those actions described in this document.

Accommodating Students Whose Enrollment is Disrupted by Coronavirus
Our goal is to work with institutions and find ways to enable you to accommodate students and help them continue their education despite interruptions caused by COVID-19. For many institutions, online education will provide a viable option for continuing to teach students through COVID-19-related interruptions. In some instances, students enrolled in ground-based programs at campuses that must temporarily close could participate in distance education for a period of time and then resume ground-based attendance when the campus reopens. In other instances, an institution may provide online learning opportunities for a student who was recalled from a travel-abroad program but the student is too late into the semester to enroll in other classes offered by the home campus, or the student who arrived in a foreign country intending to complete a travel abroad experience finds that the program has now been cancelled or temporarily suspended. We are providing the following flexibilities to institutions to help them understand what options they can make available to students and remain in compliance with Title IV requirements.

Approval to Offer Distance Education
The Department is providing broad approval to institutions to use online technologies to accommodate students on a temporary basis, without going through the regular approval process of the Department in the event that an institution is otherwise required to seek Departmental approval for the use or expansion of distance learning programs. This flexibility only applies to a program during a payment period that overlaps the date of this electronic announcement or the following payment period. If an institution chooses to continue offering a new program or use distance education in a manner requiring the Department's approval after that point, it must seek approval under the Department's normal process.
We are also permitting accreditors to waive their distance education review requirements for institutions working to accommodate students whose enrollment is otherwise interrupted as a result of COVID-19. We currently are limiting that permission to distance learning opportunities developed for the purpose of serving students who were already in attendance, but whose attendance was interrupted by COVID-19. Please note that this flexibility is not available for clock-hour courses that lead to licensure if the licensure body will not accept distance learning courses or hours or give credit for them toward the number of hours a student must complete.

We want to make clear to institutions that for Title IV, HEA purposes, distance learning does not require the use of sophisticated learning management systems or online platforms, though accreditors may have additional standards included in their review of distance learning programs. We are, however, permitting accreditors to waive those standards for schools implementing distance learning programs solely for the purpose of allowing currently enrolled students to complete a term that is interrupted by COVID-19 closures. To meet the Department's requirements for providing distance education, an institution must communicate to students through one of several types of technology – including email – described under 34 CFR § 600.2, and instructors must initiate substantive communication with students, either individually or collectively, on a regular basis. In other words, an instructor could use email to provide instructional materials to students enrolled in his or her class, use chat features to communicate with students, set up conference calls to facilitate group conversations, engage in email exchanges or require students to submit work electronically that the instructor will evaluate.

Institutions may provide distance learning temporarily to accommodate students as a result of a COVID-19 interruption, including in cases where students began attendance in classes offered in a brick-and-mortar setting but were transitioned to a distance education format in the middle of the term. In these cases, we will accept the accreditation and state authorization of the institution for the programs in which those students were enrolled prior to the interruption due to COVID-19 to enable students to complete the current term.

Institutions may also enter into temporary consortium agreements with other institutions so that students can complete courses at other institutions but be awarded credit by their home institution. In addition, in instances where accrediting agencies require students to complete a final number or percentage of credits in residence at the institution, accrediting agencies may waive that requirement for students impacted by COVID-19 without objection by the Department.

The Department will permit students who wish to take an approved leave of absence for COVID-19-related concerns or limitations (such as interruption of a travel-abroad program), to take such leave, even if the student notifies the institution in writing after the approved leave of absence has begun. In such a case, the institution may retain those Title IV funds to apply when the student continues enrollment. If the student does not return to complete their program within 180 days, the school would then be expected to perform the Return of Title IV funds calculation based on the date on which the leave-of-absence began. Note that in term-based programs, if a student takes an approved leave of absence from a term-based program, the institution must ensure that the student is permitted to complete the coursework he or she began prior to the leave of absence.

Finally, because we understand that some students may have been recalled from travel abroad programs or canceled-out of experiential learning opportunities after the semester began, institutions may offer courses to those students on a schedule that would otherwise be considered a non-standard term, if doing so enables those students to complete the term. These flexibilities will also be provided to institutions, or their additional locations or programs, that must temporarily close as a result of COVID-19.

Foreign Schools

We cannot extend flexibility regarding the use of distance learning to foreign schools since the Higher Education Act does not permit foreign schools to provide distance learning to U.S. students who participate in Title IV, HEA programs. We continue to consider if there are any other flexibilities we could extend to foreign schools that temporarily close due to COVID-19.

Federal Work Study (FWS)

Federal law includes a provision allowing an institution to make FWS payments under certain limited circumstances to disaster-affected students who are unable to continue working. Given the unique nature of this situation, it is unlikely that an entire region would be declared a Federal disaster area, yet to students enrolled at a campus that must close temporarily, the loss of this important form of financial aid can be devastating. The impact may be magnified if the institution accommodates students by providing alternative instructional opportunities and the student is required to continue paying tuition, but the student loses FWS as an important part of their financial aid award. For students enrolled and performing FWS at a campus that must close due to COVID-19, or for a FWS student who is employed by an employer that closes as a result of COVID-19, the institution may continue paying the student Federal work-study wages during that closure if it occurred after the beginning of the term, the institution is continuing to pay its other employees (including faculty and staff), and the institution continues to meet its institutional wage share requirement. Students who were prevented from beginning a term at the institution as a result of a COVID-19-related disruption would not be eligible for Federal Student Aid for that term, and therefore could not be paid FWS wages for hours they did not work. Graduate students who are paid FWS wages on salary may continue to be paid for the remainder of the term if the institution is also paying its faculty and staff during that period. In these instances, institutions should document (as contemporaneously as feasible) that the COVID-19 disruption was the reason the student received FWS funds without documentation of hours worked.

The Department is authorized under 34 CFR § 668.3 to approve a reduced academic year. If at any point an institution determines it will close as the result of a campus health emergency, it may contact the School Participation team to request a temporary reduction in the length of its academic year.

Professional Judgement

Financial aid administrators (FAA) have statutory authority to use professional judgement to make adjustments on a case-by-case basis to the cost of attendance or to the data elements used in calculating the EFC to reflect a student's special circumstances. The use of professional judgement where students and/or their families have been affected by COVID-19 is permitted, such as in the case where an employer closes for a period of time as a result of COVID-19. In making professional judgement determinations, FAAs must obtain documentation and retain it in each student's file. This documentation must substantiate the reason for any adjustment. Institutions are reminded that, regardless of how broadly an event may affect its student population, professional judgement determinations must be made and documented on a case-by-case basis.

Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP)

An institution's SAP appeal policy (34 CFR § 668.34(a)(9)) must, among other things, describe the basis on which a student may file an appeal: the death of a relative, an injury or illness of the student, or other special circumstances. Circumstances related to an outbreak of COVID-19, including, but not limited to, the illness of a student or family member, compliance with a quarantine period, or the general disruption resulting from such an outbreak may form the basis of a student's SAP appeal even if not specifically articulated in the institution's SAP policy.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Students Who Did Not Begin Attendance

We are aware that many U.S. students enrolled in eligible foreign institutions and in study abroad programs offered by domestic institutions have already been affected by local outbreaks of COVID-19 and the measures taken by institutions in response. Of immediate concern are those students who travelled to overseas destinations but were unable to begin classes due to school closures. There may also be instances where students at domestic institutions are similarly affected and unable to begin classes. Because these students did not begin attendance in a payment period or period of enrollment, 34 CFR § 668.21 (rather than Return of Title IV Funds) applies. In such a situation, the institution must return all Title IV grant funds disbursed for the payment period or period of enrollment and all Direct Loan funds that were credited to the student's account at the institution for that period. The institution must also return Direct Loan funds in the amount of payments made directly by or on behalf of the student to the institution for the period, up to the total amount of the loan funds disbursed. The institution is not responsible for returning Direct Loan funds that were disbursed directly to the student in the form of a credit balance as long as the institution was not aware that the student would not attend prior to the disbursement, and students will be able to repay those funds as a part of their educational loans. In these circumstances, institutions are permitted, but not required, to return all of a student's Direct Loan funds, including the amount comprising the credit balance.

Normally institutions, once aware that a student will not begin or has not begun attendance, must notify the loan servicer which results in issuance of a final demand letter to the borrower. However, we have determined that in the case where a student was unable to begin attendance due to a COVID-19-related school closure, the provisions of 34 CFR § 668.21(a)(2)(ii), requiring the institution to notify the servicer of that student's failure to begin attendance, do not apply because the option for the student to begin attendance did not exist. Accordingly, the institution should not notify the servicer that the student did not begin attendance. He or she will be permitted to repay any Direct Loan funds received under the terms of the promissory note. This will also prevent a student from being required to enter repayment within six months of withdrawing if the student withdrew as a result of a Coronavirus-related interruption.

Enrollment Status Changes

We do not have the authority to waive the requirement to award or disburse Title IV funds based on a student's actual enrollment status. For example, assuming an institution defines full-time enrollment as 12 credit hours, when a full-time student enrolled for 12 credit hours drops or withdraws from three credits, that student is now enrolled at three-quarter time status. However, we remind institutions that for Direct Loans, the institution must only confirm at least half-time enrollment status as of the time of disbursement. It is not necessary to recalculate a student's Direct Loan eligibility based on changes in enrollment status that occur after the institution originates a Direct Loan. For enrollment status changes that occur after an institution's established Pell Grant recalculation (census) date, we do not require recalculation. Note that the student must have begun attendance in all courses comprising the enrollment status on which the Pell Grant payment was based.

Return of Title IV Funds

Even in the case of a disruption from COVID-19, an institution must return any Title IV funds for which it is responsible in accordance with the provisions of 34 CFR § 668.22 when a student withdraws. Currently, we do not have the authority to waive the statutory requirement for the return of unearned Title IV funds in the case where a student (who receives Title IV assistance) withdraws from an institution during a payment period or period of enrollment after having begun attendance. However, the guidance provided below explains the requirements for performing Return of Title IV Funds calculations in situations where an institution has temporarily ceased operations as a result of a COVID-19 disruption.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Definition of a Withdrawal Date

If an institution ceases operation during a payment period and fails to reopen by the end of that payment period, its students are considered no longer in attendance and must be considered withdrawn for that payment period or period of enrollment, and would be subject to Return of Title IV funds requirements. Similarly, if an institution closes and subsequently reopens during a payment period, any students who began attendance during that payment period but failed to return when the institution reopens must be considered withdrawn for that payment period. If the institution is required to take attendance, the withdrawal date is the last day of documented attendance prior to the closure. If the institution is not required to take attendance, the institution can use any applicable option under 34 CFR § 668.22(c), including the midpoint of the payment period or period of enrollment under 34 CFR § 668.2(c)(1)(iii) or, because the closure was a circumstance that the student could not control under 34 CFR § 668.22(c)(1)(iv), the date that the institution ceased operation. When determining the number of days in the payment period or period of enrollment (the denominator of the calculation), the institution should include all the days that the student was scheduled to attend during that period on the date of the withdrawal. For a clock-hour program, an institution should not include as "scheduled hours" any hours on days that it was closed.

Date of Determination and Timeframes for Returns

Normally, if a student does not provide notification to an institution of his/her withdrawal, the date of determination that the student has withdrawn is the date that the institution becomes aware that the student ceased attendance. This is, in most cases when an institution closes for reasons beyond its control, the date of the closure. Therefore, the timeframes for completing Return of Title IV Funds calculations and making the appropriate returns or post-withdrawal disbursements begin on that date (e.g. 30 days to perform the calculation, 45 days to return the funds, etc.).

Reentering the Same Payment Period

If an institution that has closed subsequently reopens during the same payment period or period of enrollment, and permits students to continue coursework that they were taking at the time of the closure, students that return to class at that time are considered to have reentered the same period and retain eligibility for Title IV aid that they were otherwise eligible to receive before the closure. If a student in this situation subsequently withdraws, the institution must exclude the number of days that it was closed (if the closure was for at least five consecutive days, in combination with weekends or other scheduled breaks) from both the number of days the student completed and the total number of days in the payment period or period of enrollment. If the institution altered the number of days in the payment period or period of enrollment following the closure (e.g. if it adds days to the term to make up for the time when it was closed), the institution should use the new number of days in the student's Return of Title IV funds calculation.

NSLDS Enrollment Reporting

In general, when a student withdraws during a payment period, the effective date for the withdrawn ('W') status for enrollment reporting purposes is the withdrawal date used by the institution in accordance with 34 CFR § 668.22(b) or (c). However, notwithstanding the requirement that the institution perform a Return of Title IV funds calculation for students when an institution unexpectedly ceases operation during a payment period and fails to reopen during that payment period, we permit an institution to defer reporting an affected student's enrollment status as "withdrawn" in these circumstances when the institution has a reasonable expectation that—

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

1. The institution will reopen at the start of a payment period that begins no later than 90 days following the closure; and
2. The student will resume attendance when the institution reopens.

In these cases, the institution should continue reporting the most recent enrollment status that it reported for the affected student prior to the closure. If the student does not resume attendance as expected, the institution must change the student's enrollment status to "withdrawn" using the student's actual withdrawal date as the enrollment status effective date.

While the coronavirus threat to the American public remains low, we encourage school communities to take all steps to ensure the health and well-being of students, faculty, and staff. To Whom It May Concern:

Thank you for the information that you have offered to guide higher education leaders during this time of continual changes. I am writing to request guidance on grading of courses that began in-person, then experienced a pause, and then resumed in alternative delivery (such as online). Some faculty may find it difficult to assess and evaluate students fairly, systematically, and consistently in this context of change. One potential solution is to move all classes to an automatic pass-fail (S/NC or S/U) grading scheme. One limitation, however, is this would preclude an opportunity for a student to increase their GPA…and in some instances this would automatically lead to continuation of a student on Academic Probation (I.e., not in good academic standing) by the qualitative standard. This could lead to situations where students are continued become ineligible for federal financial aid.

Is there flexibility in any of the financial aid policies to permit flexible grading this semester?

Thank you,

Bryan

Good morning,

I'm trying to follow guidance in the March 5 EA, and from the San Francisco School Participation team who asked me to use this email address for my questions. Thanks in advance for your help.

1. We are planning to start Spring quarter a week later than scheduled. That change gives us a 33-week academic year instead of the scheduled 34-week academic year.

2. The change to Spring quarter puts our scheduled disbursement date 1 day outside the allowed 10 day period before the start of the payment period. Will schools get temporary relief from that requirement, or will we need to change all of our disbursement dates and aid program records?

Again, thanks for all that you're doing.

Dear Dr. Colón:

Subject to the Executive Order issued by the Governor of Puerto Rico, Columbia Central University has ceased all ground operations from March 16, 2020 thru March 30, 2020. As an alternative, the institution has decided to continue offering its courses to all undergraduate students using distance education. The determination has been made based on the Guidance for interruptions of study related to Coronavirus (COVID-19) issued by the Office of Postsecondary Education on March 05, 2020.

This guidance states that "to meet the Department's requirements for providing distance education, an institution must communicate to students through one of several types of technology – including email – described under 34 CFR § 600.2, and instructors must initiate substantive communication with students, either individually or collectively, on a regular basis. In other words, an instructor could use email to provide instructional materials to students enrolled in his or her class, use chat features to communicate with students, set up conference calls to facilitate group conversations, engage in email exchanges or require students to submit work electronically that the instructor will evaluate."

Columbia will maintain communication and academic activity with its students via one or more of the following: institutional email, Big Blue Button, Edmodo, group chats, conference calls, Skype, amongst others. All activities will be properly documented and followed up by the Academic Deanship. In regards to the graduate level, the March – May academic term has been postponed until March 31, 2020. This change will not affect the remaining academic term of the year's academic calendar.

We remain available for any other information that may be required.

Can you please provide guidance on the following questions?

- If the university makes a decision to reduce an institutional fee such as a non-resident surcharge for the term (example: as a result of moving to an online environment) does the cost of attendance need to be adjusted accordingly?

- Term calendar changes: If a spring break is extended from 5 to 10 days in the middle of the term, and the end date of the term is extended to maintain almost the same number of days of instruction, does the calendar change need to be reported and require approval from the Department of Education?

Thanks for clarification! We appreciate the assistance as we continue to navigate institutional impacts of COVID-19. Vicki

Good afternoon!

As a campus, we are allowing students to move off-campus to finish their semester at home or elsewhere as we move all of our courses to an online format. As part of this, we are providing housing refunds to our students who do choose to leave our residence halls. This change technically would impact a student's COA for the semester and could in some cases impact unmet need and remaining cost. I know that this does not impact Direct Loan eligibility for loans that have been disbursed; however, the FSA Handbook does discuss the impact of changes in enrollment levels and the impact of additional resources on Campus-base eligibility. There is actually no reference to how a change in COA relate impacts Campus-based aid; however, a change in COA can in fact impact a student's need.

Under this current unique situation, are schools required to recalculate COA if a student moves off-campus?

Thank you for any guidance you can provide.

Hello,

The guidance states that federal work study students can continue to be paid (without working) if a school closes. Many schools including ours haven't closed completely, but rather have moved to distance learning for the duration of the semester and encouraged students to leave campus if they can. This is different than truly closing, but is the guidance applicable nonetheless?

Also, if employees are moving to remote work, may FWS students also continue working remotely?

Thank you for the clarification.

Subject: Federal Work Study Question

To Whom It May Concern: In its Guidance for interruptions of study related to Coronavirus (COVID-19) issued March 5, 2020, ED advised the following under the heading Federal Work Study (FWS): "For students enrolled and performing FWS at a campus that must close due to COVID-19, or for a FWS student who is employed by an employer that closes as a result of COVID-19, the institution may continue paying the student Federal work-study wages during that closure if it occurred after the beginning of the term, the institution is continuing to pay its other employees (including faculty and staff), and the institution continues to meet its institutional wage share requirement." We represent institutions of higher education who plan to discontinue paying non-FSW student employees after closure due to COVID-19 (and conversion to remote instruction) because they will no longer be on campus and/or be working during the closure. However, institutions will continue paying other employees, including faculty and staff, after closure (and conversion to remote instruction) because they will continue to be working during the closure. As we interpret ED's March 5, 2020 guidance quoted above, it is permissible for institutions to continue paying the student FSW wages while discontinuing payment to non-FSW student employees because they will no longer be on campus and/or be working during the closure. Is this the correct interpretation? If you need further information, my contact information is below. Thank you for your assistance. Charlie.

We have students who started in country face-to-face study abroad programs at foreign institutions who have or will be coming home from level 3+ countries. Some of those foreign institutions are helping prevent the students from losing an entire semester of classes by completing coursework remotely using various modalities of "distance learning". Are we now required to cancel their federal aid for this semester as foreign institutions are not approved for distance learning? If so, this would be financially catastrophic for students who have already experienced considerable academic and personal disruption due to no fault of their own.

Please advise.

Due to COVID19, the ED included provisions for institution to continue to pay FWS students who are impacted by COVID19. This allowance is based on institutions that are closed and/or employers that are closed. May you please confirm if this also include instances where the campus is open but all classes and academic related activities are suspended and students in residential Life and Housing are asked to leave the halls until classes resume? In addition, does the provision to pay FWS student during COVID19 include allowances where ground classes are suspended and moving to online platforms and/or classes are suspended but students are able to participate in online academic related activities, such as discussions?

Will there be exceptions allowed to the Federal Work Study Community Service Expenditure Requirements for not being able to expend at least seven percent of our FWS allocation due to COVID-19? Our students are employed at the local YMCA which has closed for at least two weeks. The guidance for interruptions of study related to COVID-19 states:
FWS student who is employed by an employer that closes as a result of COVID-19, the institution may continue paying the student Federal work-study wages during that closure if it occurred after the beginning of the term, the institution is continuing to pay its other employees (including faculty and staff), and the institution continues to meet its institutional wage share requirement.

Are we allowed to only pay the students employed at our community service partner in order to meet our seven percent requirement or must we pay all FWS students?

To: AskAFed <askafed@ed.gov>

My question regarding this provision has to do with alternative form of instruction and the variance in temporary closure vs closure for the term. As an institution we have extended our Spring break (cancelled classes) during the week of March 16-20. Beginning March 21, 2020 we will resume instruction under an alternative format (i.e. Distance Education) through April 3, 2020. I suspect this will be extended but, at this point that is the University directive. Since this "closure" is temporary can we pay FWS to students during the "closure?" If so, would we calculate hours worked based on an average from the current term (i.e. total number of hours worked to date (from the start of the Spring term) divided by the total weeks (8)? If the answer is no because the closure is currently temporary and the closure extends through the payment period would we be required to back pay those students that would have otherwise been eligible?

"Federal law includes a provision allowing an institution to make FWS payments under certain limited circumstances to disaster-affected students who are unable to continue working. Given the unique nature of this situation, it is unlikely that an entire region would be declared a Federal disaster area, yet to students enrolled at a campus that must close temporarily, the loss of this important form of financial aid can be devastating. The impact may be magnified if the institution accommodates students by providing alternative instructional opportunities and the student is required to continue paying tuition, but the student loses FWS as an important part of their financial aid award. For students enrolled and performing FWS at a campus that must close due to COVID-19, or for a FWS student who is employed by an employer that closes as a result of COVID-19, the institution may continue paying the student Federal work-study wages during that closure if it occurred after the beginning of the term, the institution is continuing to pay its other employees (including faculty and staff), and the institution continues to meet its institutional wage share requirement. Students who were prevented from beginning a term at the institution as a result of a COVID-19-related disruption would not be eligible for Federal Student Aid for that term, and therefore could not be paid FWS wages for hours they did not work. Graduate students who are paid FWS wages on salary may continue to be paid for the remainder of the term if the institution is also paying its faculty and staff during that period. In these instances, institutions should document (as contemporaneously as feasible) that the COVID-19 disruption was the reason the student received FWS funds without documentation of hours worked."

Excellent job on the EA0305. Regarding paying the institutional share ... if a student has a job that meets the 100% America Reads/Counts requirement (and there is no inst. share), are we still able to pay them their "earnings"? Thus, their total wages would be non-institutional?

Also, NASFAA provided direction last week and noted, with other criteria, that a school sends "all" students home. I do not see this in the EA0305. For example, we are completely online instruction and we have about 50 students who are on campus due to the hardship they face in returning home (mostly international students). Thus, while there is no in-class instruction right now, we have not sent all students home ... is this an issue?

Thank you,

Hello,

I have read the FWS guidance you all have provided but I am not finding an answer to a question I was just asked by a department:

The Distance Learning department, on our campus has two FWS students who traveled to another country over spring break, the week of March 9th, who are being required to self-quarantine.
Our college has extended spring break, this week, the week of March 16th. These two students could have come in and worked but are unable to, due to being self-quarantined.
The DL department wants to know, "Can the two students work from home, under this circumstance, assisting their department by addressing emails and handling phone calls and get paid FWS, during the additional spring break for students?"

At this time, our college is open and as I mentioned above have extended spring break, this week. Our college plans on moving towards offering classes online, the week of March 23rd.
I understand the FWS guidance, if the college decides to close or if the college decides not to close but decides to send students home, and moves to online classes.

If you could answer the question, since it is outside of the guidance, that would be great. The COVID-19 virus/self-quarantine part is the tricky part. If this was a routine spring break and these students were sick and could not work, we would not pay them FWS, since they would not be under supervision.

Thank you,

Importance: High

Good morning.
We received the question below from New York State Education Department Testing office this morning. They are asking for a rapid response regarding their State tests; it reads like they are considering statewide cancellation. If they do this, they need to decide quickly as the logistics of their testing program require time to start and stop.

We've directed them to the March 12 fact sheet, but they desire something more targeted from ED. I think they want an assurance that should they cancel tests Statewide, that the waiver request they'd submit would be favorably considered by ED.

I might suggest that we consider a response as follows:
"In the event that a State chooses to cancel Statewide assessment as a result of Statewide school closures, ED will consider one year waivers of ESEA testing requirements by that State. "

Don,

I am reaching out to you at the request of my Deputy Commissioner for P12 Kim Wilkins. As I'm sure that you're aware, NY is now the state with the most confirmed cases of COVID-19 and that number is expected to continue growing in the coming weeks. At this point, many schools in NY have closed for extended periods of time with April 20 being the most commonly scheduled return date. All of the Big 5 City School Districts have closed which accounts for approximately half of NY's student population.

We are seeking guidance on our Grades 3-8 ELA tests. The test window is scheduled to open one week from tomorrow. In line with the guidance issued by the USDE last week, we extended our window by an additional week. However, the schools closures have also extended in duration and leave us at a point where many (if not all, as the numbers continue to grow) schools in NY may be closed. We know that the USDE does not preliminarily consider waivers, so we are looking for guidance at this time. It does not seem practicable to administer our ELA tests and end up with results that inform instruction or contribute to accountability.

One additional consideration is that, as you recall, NY's assessment program is still predominantly paper-based. This further complicates any shifting of administration windows and creates additional decision points regarding shipping tests to empty school buildings and how to best avoid test material breaches.

We would appreciate any guidance that the USDE can offer us since we need to address these issue immediately as schools continue to close statewide. If a phone call would be a better approach, we can make time today for that.

Many thanks!
Zach

Good afternoon.

Is there any guidance on adjusting cost of attendance for schools that go to online instruction? Also any guidance on refunds to students for housing/meals (as applicable)? (Students may be encouraged to stay away from campus, and do so, but still have open housing and meal plans.)

Thanks in advance for your guidance answers.

To Whom it May Concern,

Serious Questions about evaluations.

1) With the shortage of evaluation staff and some with their own health concerns, how are we to meet the high demand of evaluations and timelines? Norm referenced tests can not be done virtually.

2) As part of the evaluation, observations should be done in an educational setting. How are we to accomplish this and keep staff and students safe in multiple home environments?

3) We are in a rural district with little wifi and internet service. Providing instruction or services is not a viable option. How are we to provide special education services?

4) Many of our related services are delivered directly or small group, by contracted people. How can we possibly send providers into student homes?

5) Early intervention transition to school (Three is Three) evaluations, may be hard to meet as schools may not be in brick and mortar. Will those timelines be extended?

Subject: Inquiry re Temporary Closures

Greetings,

We appreciate the Department's guidance to institutions impacted by the Coronavirus (COVID-19) and have two additional questions relating to the Department's March 5, 2020 electronic announcement and the discussion therein relating to Return of Title IV funds (R2T4) issues.

Date of Determination following Temporary Closure

First, we are having difficulty reconciling the guidance under "Date of Determination and Timeframes for Returns" with the other R2T4-related guidance in the March 5 announcement. The announcement appears to indicate that institutions need not perform R2T4 calculations during a temporary closure period, and that students who return following the temporary closure are not considered to have withdrawn provided the institution resumes operations within the same payment period. However, the March 5 guidance also indicates that the date of determination and required timeframes run from the start of the closure:

> Normally, if a student does not provide notification to an institution of his/her withdrawal, the date of determination that the student has withdrawn is the date that the institution becomes aware that the student ceased attendance. This is, in most cases when an institution closes for reasons beyond its control, the date of the closure. Therefore, the timeframes for completing Return of Title IV Funds calculations and making the appropriate returns or post-withdrawal disbursements begin on that date (e.g. 30 days to perform the calculation, 45 days to return the funds, etc.).

As an example, assume an institution has closed for 50 days, reopens during the same payment period, and learns that a student has not returned (i.e., has unofficially withdrawn). Per the above excerpts, the date of determination for this student would be the date of closure, but in fact, the institution would not become aware of the student's unofficial withdrawal until it reopened 50 days later. By this point, the 30- and 45-day deadlines noted above would have expired.

Does this mean the Department expects institutions to process returns of Title IV funds for any closure that will last more than 30 days?

We believe that under the circumstances it would be more feasible for the date of determination to be the date an institution resumes operations and learns which of its students have not returned to school. This would be consistent with the March 5 guidance, which looks to "the date that the institution becomes aware that the student ceased attendance." While the student's withdrawal date may rightly be regarded as the date of closure, the institution would not actually "become aware" of an unofficial withdrawal until reopening.

Scope of R2T4 Guidance

We assume the discussion of R2T4 issues in the March 5 guidance applies also to individual educational program closures where an institution otherwise continues to operate. Is this right?

For example, assume an institution is moving toward online-only operations in response to COVID-19 concerns but concludes that a certain laboratory-intensive program must be suspended altogether because the coursework cannot be completed online, and that enrolled students would therefore need to stop receiving any instruction while the program is suspended. We presume the R2T4 discussion in the March 5 guidance, including the related timing and other accommodations, should extend to students in this individual program, who would experience an interruption in study due to reasons beyond their or the institution's control. Does the Department agree?

We again thank the Department for its efforts. Please do not hesitate to let us know if additional information is needed in connection with the above inquiries.

Regards,
Sherry

Hello,

I hope this email find you well. We have couple questions:

Background:
GIA is non-profit private school. We have 3 on-campus clock hours FSA approved programs. Each one is 780 clock hours and 26 instructional weeks (Approx: 6 months). Due to the COVID-19, we have to suspend all on-campus classes for an initial period of two weeks or might be longer beginning Monday, March 16, 2020. Our program does not lead to licensure. Some of the program cannot offer the online learning, it must be hands-on.

Questions:

1. Since our program is only 6 months long and the Maximum Time-Frame (MTF) within 150% is 9 months, it become mathematically impossible for some of the class/students. Can student submit an appeal to extend their 150%MTF exceed 9 months due to COVID-19?
2. If the entire class (20 students Max) will be extended until the school re-open, Instead of approving the appeal for each student, can we document the situation and extend the entire class to exceed 150% MTF?

Please feel free to call me at 760-603-4175 or cell 760-697-2559

Thank you.

Aloha e Joanne,
Hope all is well. I was unable to leave a voice mail for you this morning due to your voicemail box being full, so hope you'll have a moment to respond. Please feel free to call my cell, if easier, at (b)(6)

Please advise any guidance addressing our NHEP grantees as they make adjustments to their programming for the safety of their staff and community. Yesterday I talked with Partners In Development and they are already making accommodations for staff that can work from home. However, their concern is regarding other program staff unable to work from home.

Some initial quick questions and guessing this may also prompt some follow-up, so feel free to call me if easier. Or, feel free to let me know a good time to reach you over the phone.

- What allowances/guidance can US DOE share for grantees in compensating their staff amid COVID-19 adjustments?
- Any guidance DOE can share on extended timelines for grantee reporting and/or milestones?

Of course, please let me know how NHEC can help support our grantees during this time.

Subject: FW: NHEP grantees x COVID-19?
Importance: High

Here are several questions from grantees of the Native Hawaiian Education Program. The most urgent question is whether they can pay staff supported through the grant who are not able to do the planned work (e.g. work with children or communities) but who may be relying on the pay to support themselves and their families.

Let me know if you have any questions.

Hi Pat- see the email below- my initial response would be -we recommend that grantees follow state/local mandates and to take precautions to ensure project participants are safe.

Surely, other grant programs are asking similar questions. Have you heard about any [planned] guidance that will come from the Department to grantees?
thanks-

Aloha e Joanne,
Hope all is well. I was unable to leave a voice mail for you this morning due to your voicemail box being full, so hope you'll have a moment to respond. Please feel free to call my cell, if easier, at (b)(6)

Please advise any guidance addressing our NHEP grantees as they make adjustments to their programming for the safety of their staff and community. Yesterday I talked with Partners In Development and they are already making accommodations for staff that can work from home. However, their concern is regarding other program staff unable to work from home.

Some initial quick questions and guessing this may also prompt some follow-up, so feel free to call me if easier. Or, feel free to let me know a good time to reach you over the phone.

- What allowances/guidance can US DOE share for grantees in compensating their staff amid COVID-19 adjustments?
- Any guidance DOE can share on extended timelines for grantee reporting and/or milestones?

Of course, please let me know how NHEC can help support our grantees during this time.

Mahalo in advance for your guidance and response,

Hey Pat,

Do you know how OESE will be handling No Cost Extensions due to the Corona Virus. I have a few grantees that are in their No Cost Extension year, however due the virus the grantee has postponed a lot of their travel and activities.

Do you know if OESE will be working with grantees to graciously grant a 2nd time No Cost Extension to grantees due to the Corona pandemic. Patrick briefly touched on some of this last week, however nothing was firm, he was just getting ideas of ways that we could support our grantees.

Please advise.

Question for you: in response to COVID-19, many institutions of higher education are moving to online coursework for the remainder of the semester. The CTP program requirements say that students must be physically attending the institution. For students with intellectual disability who are attending CTP programs, will there be any impact on federal financial aid they have received now that they are not physically on campus?

Just thinking through the questions we might get over the next couple of weeks as we all adjust to the new reality.

Dear NAME:

Thank you for contacting the U.S. Department of Education (Department) concerning COVID-19 ("Coronavirus").

While there is currently no vaccine to prevent COVID-19, health officials are currently taking steps to prevent the introduction and spread of this respiratory disease. Schools can play an important role in this effort.

Through collaboration and coordination with local health authorities and other agencies, schools can disseminate important information about this disease and its potential transmission. Schools can also prepare to take additional steps to prevent the spread of COVID-19, should State and local health officials identify such a need.

The Department recommends that schools continue to promote everyday disease prevention strategies:

- If you are sick, stay home from school.
- Avoid close contact with those who are already sick.
- Cover your nose and mouth when coughing or sneezing with a tissue or the crook of your arm.
- Wash your hands often with soap and water.
- Avoid touching eyes, nose, or mouth.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) offers the most up-to-date information on COVID-19. Schools can share relevant CDC fact sheets to help students, families, and staff understand COVID-19, along with steps they can take to protect themselves. For further information, please visit www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-nCoV.

In addition, the Department has established a "COVID-19 Information and Resources for Schools and School Personnel" webpage, available at www.ed.gov/coronavirus, to support schools and communities as they plan, prepare and potentially respond to possible cases of COVID-19. The Department will regularly update this webpage as more information and guidance becomes available.

Thank you for sharing your concerns with us. We invite you to send questions on which the Department can be helpful to the following email address: COVID-19@ed.gov.

Sincerely,

COVID-19 Response Team

Dear Sir/ Madam,

I am writing to follow-up on my previous email.

I would like to inform you that in addition to JU Rector's decision on cancellation of lectures at Jagiellonian University, the Government of Poland has announced other restrictions, including closures of all schools, universities, and cultural institutions until March 25, 2020.

Please let me know if the above precautions taken due to COVID-19 have any impact to Title IV recipients as Jagiellonian Univeristy is a foreign school. The 2019-2020 summer semester disbursement will not be made until we receive the information from you. Please note, that there are thirteen U.S. students at JU who are waiting for the summer semester disbursements which cover their costs of living while studying in Poland.

I look forward to receiving your updates.

Subject: Enquiry regarding students' eligibility for Title IV in connection with the distance learning due to COVID-19

Dear Sir/ Madam,

I am writing in connection with the Office of Postsecondary Education's electronic announcement of March 05, 2020 and the part regarding foreign schools: "We cannot extend flexibility regarding the use of distance learning to foreign schools since the Higher Education Act does not permit foreign schools to provide distance learning to U.S. students who participate in Title IV, HEA programs. We continue to consider if there are any other flexibilities we could extend to foreign schools that temporarily close due to COVID-19."

Due to the spread of Coronavirus (COVID-19) in Europe and following the safety recommendations of the Chief Sanitary Inspectorate, JU Rector Prof. Wojciech Nowak has cancelled all lectures conducted at Jagiellonian University. Wherever applicable, lectures should be made available online. Other classes (which take place in a smaller groups) will be held as per usual, with any additional restrictions to be introduced by the Faculties.

Please let me know if the above regulations (authorizing distance learning at programs which are not usually distance) do have an impact on students' eligibility for Title IV funds in the 2019-2020 summer semester and should we withhold the disbursements for this semester. Please note that these are exceptional circumstances and all decisions have been made to ensure student safety.

I would appreciate a reply asap as we have just evaluated students' Satisfactory Academic Progress after winter semester and we are ready to make the Title IV funds disbursements for the second semester.

Thank you,
Ewa Stankiewicz

Good afternoon,

By Executive Order of Governor Henry McMaster, all South Carolina public schools are closed through the end of March. Of course, we do not know if this will be extended beyond this timeframe. With school closures, LEAs are beginning to question our office about waivers and extensions for grants expiring in 2020. What is the USED's stance of possibly extending the grant window? Another concern is a district's ability to meet the 15% carryover threshold. Will we be able to provide a blanket waiver to all districts that are not able to meet the requirement without penalty?

We are of course advising district's to review what is in their plans and amend as necessary.

Thank you for any help you can provide.

Hello,

We have a culinary weekend program, however due to Covid-19, our labs were unable to start this past weekend. The question came from our Academic department to see if we could have these students make up the lab at the end of our term adding 4 weeks to the end of this program. It would overlap into our summer term. I do not believe that we can do this, but wasn't sure if there was any leeway with the state of affairs we are in.

Thank you.

Subject: Question about federal funds

Good evening,
My name is Adelis Alvarez and I am a student from the University of Puerto Rico Rio Piedras who receives federal funds and who is currently on a study abroad program in Rennes 2, France; and I find myself in a difficult situation regarding our federal funds along with 3 other students here in France.Due to the current situation regarding the COVID-19, the president of France has decided to temporarily close down schools and universities to avoid spreading the virus. The university of Rennes 2 here in France has offered to continue the courses online (distance learning) meanwhile we're on lockdown, but the university of Puerto Rico has sent us an email las Friday stating that if we were to decide to stay abroad and take the clases online here in France we are to return all federal funds and loans inmediately. [email below]

They state that they will not accept any courses that we take temporarily online in France, but the students that receive federal funds in the University of Puerto Rico are not being asked to return any type of federal loans even though Puerto Rico finds itself in the exact same circumstances as France and they are also currently taking courses online.

Their email doesn't make any sense to us since first of all, the federal loans have a certain time period in which we are allowed to pay them and to our knowdlege taking courses online temporarily due to a pandemic isn't a reason to immediately pay back the loans that we received in full 2 weeks a ago.
Especially since last Friday the House, Senate released an article regarding Title IV concerns due to the coronavirus stating that: ...the bill expands the eligible program definition, which currently excludes foreign institutions from providing distance education to U.S. students not enrolled in a study abroad program. The bill adds an exemption to this prohibition that would allow foreign institutions to offer distance education in the case of a public health emergency, major disaster or emergency, or national emergency declaration by the foreign government where the foreign institution is located. Note that current law allows a student enrolled at a U.S. institution participating in a study abroad program to take courses via distance education from a foreign institution. (https://www.nasfaa.org/news-item/21196/House_Senate_Introduce_Coronavirus_Legislation_Addressing_Title_IV_Concerns)

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Finally we would like to know that since we will be taking clases in Europe online temporarily due to the pandemic, does this act exempt us from receiving any federal funds or loans? Or is our university giving us false information? Thank you in advance.

Cordially,
Adelis Alvarez

Email from University of Puerto Rico sent on the 13th of March 2020
Estimado estudiante:

La Universidad de Puerto Rico, ha decretado la cancelación de clases presenciales para la semana del 16 al 23 de marzo de 2020. Se realizarán tareas administrativas limitadas en los Departamentos, Facultades y oficinas de servicio. Por tanto, la mejor forma de gestionar y solicitar trámites con nuestra oficina será vía correo electrónico y teléfono. Por favor no acuda al recinto y maneje sus peticiones por estos medios.

Si usted determina regresar y completar sus estudios del semestre en la UPR:

- Debe comunicarse por teléfono o correo electrónico directamente con el Decano Auxiliar de Asuntos Estudiantiles de su Facultad, quien ha recibido instrucciones de gestionar su solicitud. Se adjunta la lista de Decanos y su información de contacto. Los Decanos realizarán una evaluación académica individual para identificar los cursos que pueda tomar para completar la carga académica completa, mínima de 12 créditos.

- Se han planteado las siguientes alternativas:

    a. Estudios independientes: el estudiante se matricula en un curso y realiza estudios individualizados en coordinación con el profesor. Se coordinan reuniones, trabajos y exámenes entre ambos.

    a. Cursos en UPR Carolina- cuatrimestre de abril 2020: podría optar por tomar cursos en este recinto mediante un permiso especial, conforme a la oferta disponible allí.

    b. Acreditación de cursos en línea: si su universidad de destino le ha ofrecido la oportunidad de continuar tomando cursos en línea desde Puerto Rico, debe presentar evidencia de esta autorización. Recuerde que en toda instancia se requiere una transcripción oficial para completar el ACOI y que se le acrediten los cursos en la Oficina del Registrador.

        Observación importante: Por disposición del Departamento de Educación Federal ( ver anejo – Guidance for interruptions of study related to Coronavirus – Foreign Schools) , no se pueden convalidar cursos no presenciales de instituciones en el extranjero a estudiantes que hayan recibido los beneficios de asistencia económica federal para pagar su matrícula en los programas de intercambio. Si usted interesa que le sean convalidados, deberá devolver el dinero recibido. Si usted no recibió beca ni préstamo federal, no le aplica esta .

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Si tiene alguna duda sobre estos asuntos, recuerde ponerse en contacto con el personal de su Facultad y Programa.

Reiteramos que se mantengan vigilantes a los avisos y comunicados administrativos oficiales de la UPR y su universidad de destino . De igual forma,  que repasen las recomendaciones emitidas en el correo electrónico del pasado lunes 9 de marzo.

First, I have read and re-read your Q&A document regarding school closures due to COVID-19 and kids with IEPs.

However, it does not address one issue: There is a segment of students, albeit a small percentage, for whom online learning, packets and telephone learning is not appropriate. For some students, the only way for them to receive FAPE would be direct teaching, in person, from a qualified professional provider.

That practice is in direct conflict with what the general societal guidelines are--to stay away from each other.

What is your guidance on that?

Idaho's question: For districts that have already received a Title I-A waiver (Sec. 1127(b)) within the last three years, will they be eligible for another waiver for carryover beyond 15% for 2019-2020 due to these unprecedented circumstances beyond their control?

To Whom It May Concern:
There seems to be circulation of this question on a FA listserv and further guidance is needed:

Due to Covid-19, if a college closes its campus for the remainder of the semester and moves instruction online and provides a proration for room and board charges, does the student's cost of attendance need to be adjusted? Our on-campus COA is higher than our off campus COA.

If the COA is adjusted down, we understand any Pell and DL already originated and disbursed does not need to be adjusted, but does FWS and FSEOG funding need to be adjusted?

What if an overaward in all types of financial aid (loans, state, federal, institutional) is created because of the adjustment?

I think my answer is Yes but I wanted to reach out and verify it due to the Coronavirus situation.

Our college extended the spring break an extra week to set up courses for online deliverance. My questions are:

1. Do I need to extend my spring break week in the R2T4 calculation from one week to two weeks to include this extra week?
2. Do I need to re-process any R2T4 calculations on prior students? (as long as the period includes this time of the semester-we have four-blocks within our semester & depending on how the student was enrolled, may or may not have included this period of time)

Thank you in advance for your guidance,

Louise

Do we need to recalculate all R2T4s completed prior to the Spring Break extension due to the COVID-19 situation?

Good morning,

I had a question on the calculation of Return of Title IV funds. Our school is extending spring break by one week. I understand that we should adjust our numerator and denominator to accommodate this change. We have already calculated many R2T4's prior to the COVID-19 guidance and our institution's decision to extend spring break. Do we need to recalculate all prior R2T4's? Or is this change effective from the change? Please advise.

Subject: Rt4 questions

As we have started getting very specific questions regarding school closures related to the Coronavirus and how it will affect the RT4's we want to ensure that our understanding of the guidelines are correct so that we may assist moving forward.

A couple of scenarios.

The school elects to extend their spring break by a week. So now there two weeks, student does not return after the extended spring break, do we exclude both weeks or just the scheduled break?

HI,
The school closes and does not reopen within the same payment period and/or the student does not return within the same payment period. The student is a withdrawal. The payment period will remain the full length of the original payment period as the LDA will be prior to the school closure. The RT4 will be based on the full number of days in the payment period no excluded days for the numerator or denominator in the RT4 for the closure.

The school closes/reopens and the student returns to class but then subsequently withdraws. The payment period will exclude the number of days the school was closed from both the numerator and the denominator in the RT4 calculation.

There is a piece of the guidelines that state that a campus can be approved for a shortened academic year. Can you give me some explanation on what this would look like? I think my specific interest is will this consist of shortened payment periods or just fewer payment periods within the academic year.

Subject: School Closure Guidance

Greetings,

We are a public, clock-hour school required to take attendance. We are currently facing a district mandated shut down and are putting a plan in place for continued learning.

We are accredited by the Council on Occupational Education. They have issued guidance that, in accordance with ED's March 5th memorandum, they will grant temporary approval for distance learning. They have further clarified that they do not require any approval for distance learning that will not be substantive, i.e. electronic submission of assignments, email, chat forums, etc. The memorandum from ED, though, says those things are distance learning.

Here are my questions:

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

1. Regardless as to whether we offer learning via platforms our accreditor doesn't consider distance learning, do we have to have their temporary approval in order for it to count?

2. We are not currently approved for any distance learning and do not offer it. If we chose to include distance learning in our plan, how does that affect the attendance requirements for our school? In other words, what do we have to do to be able to count the distance learning towards students meeting the hours in their payment periods?

Thank you,
Stephanie

RE: Waiver Request as allowed by Section 8401 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act

Assistant Secretary Brogan:

The Tennessee Department of Education (TDOE) is requesting Secretary DeVos to utilize the wavier authority pursuant to Section 8401 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (20 U.S.C §7861) as the state continues to address both the COVID-19 outbreak and the state of emergency resulting from recent tornadoes across Tennessee.

Tennessee counties experienced seven EF3 and EF4 tornadoes on March 2 and 3 which destroyed numerous homes, schools, and lives—the second deadliest tornado outbreak in Tennessee history. We are continuing to support our district and school leaders in recovering from this natural disaster, but many schools are not yet able to resume a normal school schedule, and the impact on communities is significant. On March 3, Governor Bill Lee declared a state of emergency for this natural disaster.

While in this state of emergency, Tennessee continues to have a growing number of districts that have suspended classes over the past week with the number of confirmed cases of COVID-19 continuing to increase daily. Last week alone, schools serving over 50% of the state's 973,659 students have suspended classes. Today, Governor Bill Lee announced that all public schools in Tennessee would close through the end of March—a decision that would be reevaluated and possibly extended later in the month. Districts are working to develop and implement continuity of instruction plans; however, many of our largest urban and suburban districts, serving over 500,000 of Tennessee's students, also serve most of the state's highest poverty schools whose students, which in many instances, do not have appropriate access to technology in their homes, making instructional continuity more challenging.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

To ensure that the TDOE is equipped to serve our districts and schools in recovering from these crises while continuing to meet our state requirements, Tennessee is seeking available flexibilities and waivers for assessment, accountability determinations, and accountability components, as well as other requirements of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, as amended by the Every Student Succeeds Act.

Assessment:
As this is an evolving situation expected to intensify in the weeks and months to come, Tennessee is requesting flexibility and approval to apply either of the following waivers as determined by the needs of the state:

- With Tennessee addressing needs from both COVID-19 and a natural disaster and with all schools closing, we are seeking a one-year waiver to exclude assessments for the 2019-20 school year from accountability determinations and reporting. This will require Tennessee to adjust or extend the assessment window as appropriate to accommodate as many students as possible. With the health crisis still evolving, it is indeterminable at this time what adjustments may be necessary.
- With Tennessee addressing needs from both COVID-19 and a natural disaster and with all schools closing, we are seeking a one-year waiver on all assessments currently outlined in our approved ESSA state plan.

Accountability determinations:

- The state is seeking a targeted, one-year waiver to identify schools for comprehensive and targeted support and improvement as required in §1111(c)(4)(C)(iii) in the four counties impacted by the tornadoes: Davidson, Wilson, Benton, and Putnam counties.

As this is an evolving situation expected to intensify in the weeks and months to come, Tennessee is requesting flexibility and approval to apply either of the following waivers noted below as determined by the needs of the state:

- The state is seeking a one-year waiver on the identification of schools for comprehensive and targeted support and improvement as required in §1111(c)(4)(C)(iii) for all impacted schools.
- The state is seeking a one-year waiver on Tennessee's current accountability framework pursuant to §1111(c) as detailed in the state's approved ESSA state plan.

Accountability components:

- The state is seeking a statewide waiver for the 95 percent assessment student participation rate as required in § 1111(c)(4)(E) of ESSA not to be considered when calculating the Academic Achievement indicator for end of year assessments.
- One-year waiver to exclude chronic absenteeism from the school quality and student success indicator in its accountability system—which in Tennessee is the chronically out of school indicator.

Fiscal and other requirements:
The TDOE does not expect that districts will expend their Title I, A allocations according to the requirements during the period of availability due to the current medical and natural disasters noted above. As such, we are requesting the following:

- A waiver to extend the period of availability for Tennessee's the Title I, part A award (S010A190001) to September 30, 2022. With extended school closures, this waiver would allow districts time and flexibility to reset and reevaluate how best to support students following the current crisis.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- A waiver of the 15% carryover cap for Title I, part A funds and is also requesting to exclude any district waiver requested for the 2019-20 school year from the carryover limitation (no more than one in a three-year period).
- Consideration for other maintenance of effort flexibilities that may be forthcoming to states and districts during the current COVID-19 outbreak.

Due to the evolving nature and scope of the current crises Tennessee is facing, we did not provide public notice prior to submission of this waiver request. We will actively communicate this request and provide appropriate follow-up communication with stakeholders.

School and district leaders currently have to balance decisions regarding the safety and education of their students. This balance may be impacted by leaders' fear of repercussions in accountability, assessment, and funding. These waiver requests represent the best faith efforts of the TDOE to assuage these fears so district leaders can make the decisions that are in the best interest of students, teachers, and families without fear of repercussion.

Thank you for consideration of these requests. Tennessee is committed first to ensuring that all students are safe and fed during these crises; we are also committed to ensuring that the TDOE supports the recovery of impacted districts and schools so we can continue to focus on the provision of an excellent education and setting all students on a path to success.

Please feel free to contact Eve Carney, by telephone at 615-532-1245 or at Eve.Carney@tn.gov if there are questions regarding this request or if additional information is needed.

Ms. Guadio,

We need further guidance on a few things in relation to the impact of COVID-19 and federal aid eligibility.

1. If students are not allowed on campus beginning May 16 and all courses will be moved to online beginning May 23, can we continue to pay federal work study funds to students that would normally be working on campus? We also have students that work off campus either as a reading tutor or for a non-profit organization. Are they required to continue working if they are off campus, or can they be treated the same as an on campus work study student?

2. If any housing or meal plans are prorated and refunded to the student, are we required to adjust the cost of attendance for that term?

1. Our on campus classes have been canceled for March 16 – March 22 for all classes except for those offered by College of Medicine. Starting May 23, all courses will be moved online. Since this not a scheduled break and will not affect our on-line courses, must this time period be excluded for R2T4 calculations for those students who are only enrolled in all on campus courses (the FSA Handbook references that any temporary closures due to a circumstance that is outside of the control of the institution be addressed with our FSA School Participation Division)?

3. If emergency displacement aid is made available to a student due to COVID-19, do we have to adjust aid for any over award that this may cause?

I realize that your office is probably inundated with questions right now, but we would appreciate a response as soon as possible.

Good evening. The Q & A released on 3/12/20 regarding providing services to students with disabilities is very helpful. However, there is no guidance on special education timelines for evaluations and the eligibility/IEP process when schools are closed due to COVID-19. The governor of Virginia mandated that all K-12 schools close for at least 2 weeks. Please direct me where to find this very important information.

Hello,

My name is Adriana Márquez and I am currently studying abroad at the University of Rennes 2 in Rennes, France. My home institution is the University of Puerto Rico - Río Piedras located in San Juan, Puerto Rico. I am writing you because I recently received an email from my home institution indicating that if I were to stay and take online classes from my host institution, I would be required to give back the Pell Grant money I received for this semester.

I accessed NASFAA's website this morning and saw this article: "Senators Introduce Coronavirus Legislation Addressing Title IV Concerns" (https://www.nasfaa.org/news-item/21196/Senators_Introduce_Coronavirus_Legislation_Addressing_Title_IV_Concerns).

I am still doubtful of how I will have to proceed. If I decide to continue taking the classes online provided by my host institution, will I still have to give the Pell Grant money back? I find this incredibly inflexible considering the extraordinary circumstances we are in currently. I have been here for almost 3 months, and have already spent that money on the flight here, the rent, groceries, and other necessities.

I just want to know how to proceed. I want to stay here and continue taking the classes online for two reasons: first, I don't know if the classes will go back to being in-person before the semester ends, and second, the classes I am taking here are not offered at my home institution. This is a once in a lifetime opportunity. However, I don't have the means to return the Pell Grant funds I received. I hope that you can shed some light on this situation and provide the best alternative.

Thank you for you attention. I await your response.

Sincerely,

Hi. My name is Paola S. Navier Nazario and I am currently studying abroad at Université Rennes 2 in France. As you probably know, all the universities in the country are closed. We don't know if they are going to open anytime soon, but the University of Rennes is giving us the option of continuing our classes online. My home institution (the University of Puerto Rico) sent en email yesterday saying that if I want my clases to be validated, I have to give back the pell grant I receive and the loan I took to be able to do this exchange program. They said that students who receive federal aid and are in a foreign institution cannot have their classes validated because they are not in-person classes, but online classes. And for my classes to be validated, I have to give the money back. All this is if I decide to return to Puerto Rico. If I decide to stay, do I still need to give the money back? This situation has me very confused, and I honestly don't know what to do. If I have to give the money back, then I will not have any to return home, and even then, I have used half of the money for rent, food, to pay the tuition, etc. It's not my decision not to take in-person classes, it's not in my hands. I would appreciate if you could clear up this situation for me.
I await your response, thank you.

Hi, my name is Adriana G. Hernández Mercado, and I am currently studying abroad in France at the University of Rennes 2. My home school is the University of Puerto Rico, Río Piedras campus. I approach because I am concerned due to a mail that was sent to us yesterday from our university. As you might know, we are experiencing a very tough time due to the pandemic. The alternative that the university here at France offers is to continue the classes online because almost every university in Europe is closed. In my case, we haven't been given an exact date to restart classes. The email said that the students that receive federal aid must give the money back if they want their online classes to be validated in Puerto Rico. Basically, if we don't give the money back our classes won't be validated. This is what concerns me because not only me, but the other puertoricans that are here, rely on that money to cover expenses such as: food, rent, tuition, tickets to go back to P.R, and other basic needs. Also, we have been living here for almost three months and we have been using that money to cover the expenses to live here. I would like to recieve clearer information about this subject because it isn't clear. We need to be sure to make decisions. We would like to know if it's better to go back or stay here. I would like to stay here, but if I need to give the money back, it would be impossible because I rely on that money to cover the expenses, and most importantly, a ticket to go back to Puerto Rico when the semester is finished.
Thank you for your regard, I await your response.

I did not know my refund was to be offset I applied for my taxes early.

The payment I made for February is extremely close to when my refund was processed for the Dept of Ed. I have had financial hardship since that time to now. I been applying for employment diligently. With the COVID-19 outbreak, it has put even more of a strain for me. With all the closures, looking for work to even be financially independent has been difficult. Being able to receive my refund during this harsh time would be helpful and if there is anyway to reach out to someone please let me know who to reach. Hello:

After reading the https://ifap.ed.gov/electronic-announcements/030520Guidance4interruptionsrelated2CoronavirusCOVID19, I have a question:

We are not an approved distance education school. I understand from this document we do not need to have distance education technology in place and we may be able to continue educational services through e-mail and instructor/student interaction.

However, how do we document student participation/time so there is no interruption? Students' attendance was entered daily here at the institution. We are a quarter credit institution. Our state will be mandating a closure.

Please advise.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Dear NAME:

Thank you for contacting the U.S. Department of Education (Department) concerning COVID-19 ("Coronavirus").

While there is currently no vaccine to prevent COVID-19, health officials are currently taking steps to prevent the introduction and spread of this respiratory disease. Schools can play an important role in this effort.

Through collaboration and coordination with local health authorities and other agencies, schools can disseminate important information about this disease and its potential transmission. Schools can also prepare to take additional steps to prevent the spread of COVID-19, should State and local health officials identify such a need.

The Department recommends that schools continue to promote everyday disease prevention strategies:

- If you are sick, stay home from school.
- Avoid close contact with those who are already sick.
- Cover your nose and mouth when coughing or sneezing with a tissue or the crook of your arm.
- Wash your hands often with soap and water.
- Avoid touching eyes, nose, or mouth.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) offers the most up-to-date information on COVID-19. Schools can share relevant CDC fact sheets to help students, families, and staff understand COVID-19, along with steps they can take to protect themselves. For further information, please visit www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-nCoV.

In addition, the Department has established a "COVID-19 Information and Resources for Schools and School Personnel" webpage, available at www.ed.gov/coronavirus, to support schools and communities as they plan, prepare and potentially respond to possible cases of COVID-19. The Department will regularly update this webpage as more information and guidance becomes available.

Thank you for sharing your concerns with us. We invite you to send questions on which the Department can be helpful to the following email address: COVID-19@ed.gov.

Sincerely,

COVID-19 Response Team

Subject: Paying FWS Students during extended break

Hello,

Our College has extended the spring break to allow for the school to determine if/when classes will resume back on campus physically or if it will pursue alternative methods of delivery (online) and most likely it will pursue the latter. My question is and several people on email threads have been asking, can students be paid during the extended spring break? Also, what about students that stay on campus once campus moves to the online format, can they still be paid? We will continue to have classes, so the college itself perceives it will remain "open", but we encourage students not to return to campus for health concerns. Is there a difference between students who remain on campus that are pd that actually work vs those who don't work and are still paid?

One other question, if the college gives a partial refund for housing and dining, are we able to apply it to the student account for next year (for those that return) in the form of a credit to their account instead of giving them a refund this year?

Thank you for your time,

Hello everyone - One big issue, as I know you're aware, is what can be done to help Work-Study students who can no longer work their jobs.

A recent question to NASFAA'S Ask Regs was:
Does the term "other employees" include other student employees not being paid through Work-Study? While our institution currently plans to continue paying faculty and staff, we may not pay all other types of student employees during the time period that we will conduct online instruction only. Are we permitted to pay faculty, staff, and Work-Study employees who are not working, but not pay students who are not working and are paid from other sources?

The answer was:
It is our understanding that "other employees" specifically includes all non-FWS employees. This includes non-FWS student employees, as well as faculty and staff (not just faculty and staff). If you don't pay non-FWS student employees during the closure or interruption in classes, then you cannot pay FWS students under the guidance provided in the March 5, 2020 Electronic Announcement.

I have told our administration that I thought we should follow this guidance unless told differently from DOE directly. Do you agree this is a correct interpretation?

Also, it sounds like it is up to the school to determine HOW to pay once we determine if we actually will pay. So can the Work-Study funds be processed through financial aid basically like a grant, or must it be disbursed by pushing it through payroll? The latter would be kinda weird because we would have to log in actual dates and hours for specific days, when there was really no work... And then taxes are taken out, etc. Do you have any advice? NASFAA seems to be saying that that we should do timesheets.

Per ED, the school can have the student submit a timesheet for the hours he or she was scheduled to work and pay FWS wages based on that. Beyond that, ED's guidance is silent on how and when the school will pay these students, so it is the school's decision to make.

If we have to pay the OTHER students (non-W-S), will that be a grant from the school? Or can we still get that funding treated as "wages"? Otherwise it goes in the FA packages, which no one wants.

I would appreciate any guidance you can provide

-Laura

I have a question about paying students work study for the remainder of spring..

Because students are not on campus anymore, is it okay if the department manager submits a request to pay the student for the remaining balance of the term rather than having the student complete a time card? We are going with the assumption that the amount we pay students' for the second half of the spring term will be the same as the first half.

For example, if the student only worked 4 shifts during the first 8 weeks of the term, we are going to assume they would have worked 4 shifts the second 8 weeks.

Any guidance you can offer will be greatly appreciated.

I e-mailed questions regarding FWS and Distance Learning for students returning from Study Abroad programs. I received answers for both questions.
However, the guidance that NASFAA has come out with, especially regarding Study Abroad programs offering distance learning, is the exact opposite of the answer I received from this address. Supposedly, NASFAA's guidance came from ED.
I normally believe ED over NASFAA, but I'm confused now and would like to know which guidance I should believe.

Subject: School Closure Guidance

Greetings,

We are a public, clock-hour school required to take attendance. We are currently facing a district mandated shut down and are putting a plan in place for continued learning.

We are accredited by the Council on Occupational Education. They have issued guidance that, in accordance with ED's March 5th memorandum, they will grant temporary approval for distance learning. They have further clarified that they do not require any approval for distance learning that will not be substantive, i.e. electronic submission of assignments, email, chat forums, etc. The memorandum from ED, though, says those things are distance learning.

Here are my questions:
1. Regardless as to whether we offer learning via platforms our accreditor doesn't consider distance learning, do we have to have their temporary approval in order for it to count?

2. We are not currently approved for any distance learning and do not offer it. If we chose to include distance learning in our plan, how does that affect the attendance requirements for our school? In other words, what do we have to do to be able to count the distance learning towards students meeting the hours in their payment periods?

Thank you,
Stephanie

Ms. Guadio,

We need further guidance on a few things in relation to the impact of COVID-19 and federal aid eligibility.

1. If students are not allowed on campus beginning May 16 and all courses will be moved to online beginning May 23, can we continue to pay federal work study funds to students that would normally be working on campus? We also have students that work off campus either as a reading tutor or for a non-profit organization. Are they required to continue working if they are off campus, or can they be treated the same as an on campus work study student?

2. If any housing or meal plans are prorated and refunded to the student, are we required to adjust the cost of attendance for that term?

1. Our on campus classes have been canceled for March 16 – March 22 for all classes except for those offered by College of Medicine. Starting May 23, all courses will be moved online. Since this not a scheduled break and will not affect our on-line courses, must this time period be excluded for R2T4 calculations for those students who are only enrolled in all on campus courses (the FSA Handbook references that any temporary closures due to a circumstance that is outside of the control of the institution be addressed with our FSA School Participation Division)?

3. If emergency displacement aid is made available to a student due to COVID-19, do we have to adjust aid for any over award that this may cause?

I realize that your office is probably inundated with questions right now, but we would appreciate a response as soon as possible.

I have been having an issue that needs addressing. My refund was offset due to just one missed payment, the month I became unemployed. I called to figure out a new payment plan since I was unable to pay the $300+ being unemployed. I continued making payments after I found out the new amount. I did not know my refund was to be offset I applied for my taxes early.

The payment I made for February is extremely close to when my refund was processed for the Dept of Ed. I have had financial hardship since that time to now. I been applying for employment diligently. With the COVID-19 outbreak, it has put even more of a strain for me. With all the closures, looking for work to even be financially independent has been difficult. Being able to receive my refund during this harsh time would be helpful and if there is anyway to reach out to someone please let me know who to reach. I recently saw this article and saw the portion about receiving my offset back. If you can call me with more info, my number is 516-603-5410, my name is Annelie Rios.

Subject: what constitutes a school closure - for payment of FWS wages

Hello,

If our school moves to online instruction to the extent possible, and requires school employees to work from home, does that constitute a school closure for purposes of paying Federal Work Study (FWS) wages? This question relates to the following guidance we received regarding a school's ability to continue paying FWS student wages in the event of school closure. Would we be able to continue paying FWS student wages if online classes continue and we are requiring our employees to work from home, since our FWS students would not have the ability to work from home? Thank you for the information.

Guidance:
For students enrolled and performing FWS at a campus that must close due to COVID-19, or for a FWS student who is employed by an employer that closes as a result of COVID-19, the institution may continue paying the student Federal work-study wages during that closure if it occurred after the beginning of the term, the institution is continuing to pay its other employees (including faculty and staff), and the institution continues to meet its institutional wage share requirement. Students who were prevented from beginning a term at the institution as a result of a COVID-19-related disruption would not be eligible for Federal Student Aid for that term, and therefore could not be paid FWS wages for hours they did not work.

Subject: West Penn Hospital School of Nursing

To whom it may concern,

West Penn Hospital School of Nursing is looking for recommendation as to best practices/protocol in regards to Title IV aid. We are a nursing school that is affiliated with Allegheny Health Network. Allegheny Health Network is no longer allowing nursing students at the clinical sites due to the COVID-19 outbreak. We have 4 terms in our academic year. The students just finished their 3rd term and have one week break before they are due to come back on March 23rd. We are discussing the option of offering online course work for the theory portion of the course. We are trying to plan what to do for the clinical aspect. For our first year students they can do clinical simulations within our SIM lab but we are worried about our 2nd year students. The 2nd year students will be taking their transition to the nursing practice and is 80/20 in regards to clinical/theory. We are planning to have the students complete most of their theory for the first portion of the course. Our question is what if they will not be able to complete their clinical portion? We can offer them a leave of absents correct? But what if they will not be able to come back to the clinical site before the term was suppose to end? What would your recommendations be?

Sincerely,

Our not-for-profit, Exceptional Lives, provides information for families of kids with special needs. We are sharing information with people about how to get support during school closings.

Is there a national, or state-by-state page people can go to for information about how to get school meals during the closures, and how they can get support for kids with urgent needs for ongoing therapy like speech, OT or ABA?

thanks so much,

Subject: what constitutes a school closure - for payment of FWS wages

Hello,

If our school moves to online instruction to the extent possible, and requires school employees to work from home, does that constitute a school closure for purposes of paying Federal Work Study (FWS) wages? This question relates to the following guidance we received regarding a school's ability to continue paying FWS student wages in the event of school closure. Would we be able to continue paying FWS student wages if online classes continue and we are requiring our employees to work from home, since our FWS students would not have the ability to work from home? Thank you for the information.

Guidance:
For students enrolled and performing FWS at a campus that must close due to COVID-19, or for a FWS student who is employed by an employer that closes as a result of COVID-19, the institution may continue paying the student Federal work-study wages during that closure if it occurred after the beginning of the term, the institution is continuing to pay its other employees (including faculty and staff), and the institution continues to meet its institutional wage share requirement. Students who were prevented from beginning a term at the institution as a result of a COVID-19-related disruption would not be eligible for Federal Student Aid for that term, and therefore could not be paid FWS wages for hours they did not work.

Thank you so much for providing this detailed information.

My question is in regards to work-study. Our university is going online, but student workers are allowed on-campus to work if they feel comfortable.

In order to continue to pay students work-study funds when they are unable to work, does the university have to not allow student workers on campus or can this be case-by case basis when a student tells us they are unable to since classes are going online, etc.

Just wanted to clarify if this needed to be across the board that students lost access to their positions or on a case-by-case basis.

Thank you in advance for any clarification.

Good morning! Not sure who this should go to but hoping you can loop in the correct folks at ED to confirm our understanding of the following provision. Stay healthy – thanks!
**********

Q. Does the President's March 13, 2020 declaration of a national emergency to combat the coronavirus trigger use of administrative forbearance?

A. Yes.

Rationale:

1. The 90-day administrative forbearance [682.211(f)((12), 685.205(b)(8)] is triggered by either a "natural disaster", "local or national emergency", or military mobilization".

- FFELP - 682.211(f)((12) - For a period not to exceed 3 months when the lender determines that a borrower's ability to make payments has been adversely affected by a natural disaster, a local or national emergency as declared by the appropriate government agency, or a military mobilization;
- Direct - 685.205(b)(8) - A period during which the Secretary has authorized forbearance due to a national military mobilization or other local or national emergency;

2. Servicers have used this forbearance for weather/fire related disasters which the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act (Public Law 93-288, as amended, 42 U.S.C. 5121) defines as:

- Sec. 102. Definitions (42 U.S.C. 5122) – "Major disaster" means any natural catastrophe (including any hurricane, tornado, storm, high water, wind driven water, tidal wave, tsunami, earthquake, volcanic eruption, landslide, mudslide, snowstorm, or drought), or, regardless of cause, any fire, flood, or explosion, in any part of the United States, which in the determination of the President causes damage of sufficient severity and magnitude to warrant major disaster assistance under this Act to supplement the efforts and available resources of States, local governments, and disaster relief organizations in alleviating the damage, loss, hardship, or suffering caused thereby.

3. Although servicers have not used it for instances such as an infectious disease (i.e., virus); the forbearance should be triggered by the March 13, 2020 presidential declaration of a national emergency to combat the coronavirus because the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act definition of "emergency" is broad enough to include any "catastrophe":

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Sec. 102. Definitions (42 U.S.C. 5122) - "Emergency" means any occasion or instance for which, in the determination of the President, Federal assistance is needed to supplement State and local efforts and capabilities to save lives and to protect property and public health and safety, or to lessen or avert the threat of a catastrophe in any part of the United States.

Subject: FWS during University closure - COVID-19
To: AskAFed <askafed@ed.gov>

My question regarding this provision has to do with alternative form of instruction and the variance in temporary closure vs closure for the term. As an institution we have extended our Spring break (cancelled classes) during the week of March 16-20. Beginning March 21, 2020 we will resume instruction under an alternative format (i.e. Distance Education) through April 3, 2020. I suspect this will be extended but, at this point that is the University directive. Since this "closure" is temporary can we pay FWS to students during the "closure?" If so, would we calculate hours worked based on an average from the current term (i.e. total number of hours worked to date (from the start of the Spring term) divided by the total weeks (8)? If the answer is no because the closure is currently temporary and the closure extends through the payment period would we be required to back pay those students that would have otherwise been eligible?

"Federal law includes a provision allowing an institution to make FWS payments under certain limited circumstances to disaster-affected students who are unable to continue working. Given the unique nature of this situation, it is unlikely that an entire region would be declared a Federal disaster area, yet to students enrolled at a campus that must close temporarily, the loss of this important form of financial aid can be devastating. The impact may be magnified if the institution accommodates students by providing alternative instructional opportunities and the student is required to continue paying tuition, but the student loses FWS as an important part of their financial aid award. For students enrolled and performing FWS at a campus that must close due to COVID-19, or for a FWS student who is employed by an employer that closes as a result of COVID-19, the institution may continue paying the student Federal work-study wages during that closure if it occurred after the beginning of the term, the institution is continuing to pay its other employees (including faculty and staff), and the institution continues to meet its institutional wage share requirement. Students who were prevented from beginning a term at the institution as a result of a COVID-19-related disruption would not be eligible for Federal Student Aid for that term, and therefore could not be paid FWS wages for hours they did not work. Graduate students who are paid FWS wages on salary may continue to be paid for the remainder of the term if the institution is also paying its faculty and staff during that period. In these instances, institutions should document (as contemporaneously as feasible) that the COVID-19 disruption was the reason the student received FWS funds without documentation of hours worked."

Due to COVID19, the ED included provisions for institution to continue to pay FWS students who are impacted by COVID19. This allowance is based on institutions that are closed and/or employers that are closed. May you please confirm if this also include instances where the campus is open but all classes and academic related activities are suspended and students in residential Life and Housing are asked to leave the halls until classes resume? In addition, does the provision to pay FWS student during COVID19 include allowances where ground classes are suspended and moving to online platforms and/or classes are suspended but students are able to participate in online academic related activities, such as discussions?

Excellent job on the EA0305. Regarding paying the institutional share ... if a student has a job that meets the 100% America Reads/Counts requirement (and there is no inst. share), are we still able to pay them their "earnings"? Thus, their total wages would be non-institutional?

Also, NASFAA provided direction last week and noted, with other criteria, that a school sends "all" students home. I do not see this in the EA0305. For example, we are completely online instruction and we have about 50 students who are on campus due to the hardship they face in returning home (mostly international students). Thus, while there is no in-class instruction right now, we have not sent all students home ... is this an issue?

Hello,

I have read the FWS guidance you all have provided but I am not finding an answer to a question I was just asked by a department:

The Distance Learning department, on our campus has two FWS students who traveled to another country over spring break, the week of March 9th, who are being required to self-quarantine.
Our college has extended spring break, this week, the week of March 16th. These two students could have come in and worked but are unable to, due to being self-quarantined.
The DL department wants to know, "Can the two students work from home, under this circumstance, assisting their department by addressing emails and handling phone calls and get paid FWS, during the additional spring break for students?"

At this time, our college is open and as I mentioned above have extended spring break, this week. Our college plans on moving towards offering classes online, the week of March 23rd.
I understand the FWS guidance, if the college decides to close or if the college decides not to close but decides to send students home, and moves to online classes.

If you could answer the question, since it is outside of the guidance, that would be great. The COVID-19 virus/self-quarantine part is the tricky part. If this was a routine spring break and these students were sick and could not work, we would not pay them FWS, since they would not be under supervision.

To Whom it May Concern,

Serious Questions about evaluations.

1) With the shortage of evaluation staff and some with their own health concerns, how are we to meet the high demand of evaluations and timelines? Norm referenced tests can not be done virtually.

2) As part of the evaluation, observations should be done in an educational setting. How are we to accomplish this and keep staff and students safe in multiple home environments?

3) We are in a rural district with little wifi and internet service. Providing instruction or services is not a viable option. How are we to provide special education services?

4) Many of our related services are delivered directly or small group, by contracted people. How can we possibly send providers into student homes?

5) Early intervention transition to school (Three is Three) evaluations, may be hard to meet as schools may not be in brick and mortar. Will those timelines be extended?

To whom it may concern,

I am a TA working for a professor of physics at the University of New Orleans, namely, Dr. Ashok Puri. With the advent of the coronavirus disruption, normal in-person class schedules have been transferred to online; we are struggling, to say the least, with this transition.

Of many problems I could raise, our greatest concern is presently how to give exams online. We do not want to use online e-proctoring companies, like ProctorU, because this would cause undue financial hardship to our student body, which is already struggling to cope with this unprecedented event.

Would you, or anyone in your staff, know of an open source e-proctoring solution? Are there any resources available through the Depart. of Ed. to assist us in setting up such a system? Any help in this regard would be greatly appreciated.

Thank you,

Subject: Inquiry re Temporary Closures

Greetings,

We appreciate the Department's guidance to institutions impacted by the Coronavirus (COVID-19) and have two additional questions relating to the Department's March 5, 2020 electronic announcement and the discussion therein relating to Return of Title IV funds (R2T4) issues.

Date of Determination following Temporary Closure

First, we are having difficulty reconciling the guidance under "Date of Determination and Timeframes for Returns" with the other R2T4-related guidance in the March 5 announcement. The announcement appears to indicate that institutions need not perform R2T4 calculations during a temporary closure period, and that students who return following the temporary closure are not considered to have withdrawn provided the institution resumes operations within the same payment period. However, the March 5 guidance also indicates that the date of determination and required timeframes run from the start of the closure:

> Normally, if a student does not provide notification to an institution of his/her withdrawal, the date of determination that the student has withdrawn is the date that the institution becomes aware that the student ceased attendance. This is, in most cases when an institution closes for reasons beyond its control, the date of the closure. Therefore, the timeframes for completing Return of Title IV Funds calculations and making the appropriate returns or post-withdrawal disbursements begin on that date (e.g. 30 days to perform the calculation, 45 days to return the funds, etc.).

As an example, assume an institution has closed for 50 days, reopens during the same payment period, and learns that a student has not returned (i.e., has unofficially withdrawn). Per the above excerpts, the date of determination for this student would be the date of closure, but in fact, the institution would not become aware of the student's unofficial withdrawal until it reopened 50 days later. By this point, the 30- and 45-day deadlines noted above would have expired.

Does this mean the Department expects institutions to process returns of Title IV funds for any closure that will last more than 30 days?

We believe that under the circumstances it would be more feasible for the date of determination to be the date an institution resumes operations and learns which of its students have not returned to school. This would be consistent with the March 5 guidance, which looks to "the date that the institution becomes aware that the student ceased attendance." While the student's withdrawal date may rightly be regarded as the date of closure, the institution would not actually "become aware" of an unofficial withdrawal until reopening.

Scope of R2T4 Guidance

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

We assume the discussion of R2T4 issues in the March 5 guidance applies also to individual educational program closures where an institution otherwise continues to operate. Is this right?

For example, assume an institution is moving toward online-only operations in response to COVID-19 concerns but concludes that a certain laboratory-intensive program must be suspended altogether because the coursework cannot be completed online, and that enrolled students would therefore need to stop receiving any instruction while the program is suspended. We presume the R2T4 discussion in the March 5 guidance, including the related timing and other accommodations, should extend to students in this individual program, who would experience an interruption in study due to reasons beyond their or the institution's control. Does the Department agree?

We again thank the Department for its efforts. Please do not hesitate to let us know if additional information is needed in connection with the above inquiries.

Regards,
Sherry

Regarding the student loan interest rate freeze announced by President Trump, does this apply to Federal Perkins student loans? My understanding through my contact at FSA is the freeze does apply to federally held Perkins loans but for loans that are school held, I was advised to send a message to this email address.

If the interest rate freeze does not apply to school held Perkins loans, can those schools decide to impose their own interest rate freeze on those loans?

Subject: Maximum Time-Frame_ Clock hour programs

Hello,

I hope this email find you well. We have couple questions:

Background:
GIA is non-profit private school. We have 3 on-campus clock hours FSA approved programs. Each one is 780 clock hours and 26 instructional weeks (Approx: 6 months). Due to the COVID-19, we have to suspend all on-campus classes for an initial period of two weeks or might be longer beginning Monday, March 16, 2020. Our program does not lead to licensure. Some of the program cannot offer the online learning, it must be hands-on.

Questions:

1. Since our program is only 6 months long and the Maximum Time-Frame (MTF) within 150% is 9 months, it become mathematically impossible for some of the class/students. Can student submit an appeal to extend their 150%MTF exceed 9 months due to COVID-19?
2. If the entire class (20 students Max) will be extended until the school re-open, Instead of approving the appeal for each student, can we document the situation and extend the entire class to exceed 150% MTF?

Please feel free to call me at 760-603-4175 or cell 760-697-2559

Thank you.

Greetings. I'm an educational diagnostician at Hallsville. My school is closed for the next two weeks. During that time, I was supposed to have 11 meetings, most all are annuals and one is a 30 day transfer ARD.

According to all I've read thus far, I'm still held responsible for meeting these timelines. Teachers aren't permitted at school. I don't have video conference capabilities from my home. I'm unsure as to how I can proceed and meet these timelines.

I was hoping for further guidance as to what a meeting would look like under these circumstances with all the major players at different places at their homes.

Thank you for any help,

Subject: National Emergency and Commercial FFELP Borrowers

Good Afternoon! MOHELA submits the following in regards to our Commercial FFELP portfolio:

Based on President Trump's declaration of a national emergency on Friday, March 13th this would allow the use of the administrative forbearance under 34 CFR 682.211(f)(12). The declaration will allow MOHELA to apply the forbearance for up to 3 months based on "a borrower's ability to make payments has been adversely affected by a natural disaster, a local or national emergency as declared by the appropriate government agency, or a military mobilization". Since this is an administrative forbearance we are not required to have the borrower's request upfront however we must notify the borrower of the application of the forbearance and that they have the option to end the forbearance at any time. Also, this would allow the borrower the ability to suspend payment and not utilize their discretionary forbearance time. MOHELA has been discussing taking the following actions and welcome your thoughts or any concerns you may have:

- Delinquent Borrowers
  - If the borrower is one or more days delinquent as of 3/13/2020 or after, we would apply the administrative forbearance for up to 3 months into the future and cover any prior delinquency with a "delinquency" forbearance.
  - Notify the borrower that MOHELA applied the forbearance and they have the option to end this forbearance.
  - Notate the system of our actions.

- Non-delinquent Borrowers
  - Esign: "Due to the National Emergency declared for the Coronavirus, I have been adversely affected, please apply a forbearance for 3 months into the future."
  - Verbally: "Due the National Emergency declared for the Coronavirus, I have been adversely affected, please apply a forbearance for 3 months into the future."
  - Notify the borrower that MOHELA applied the forbearance and they have the option to end this forbearance.
  - Notate the system of our actions.

Thanks,

Colleen

Dear Sir/ Madam,
I am writing to follow-up on my previous email.
I would like to inform you that in addition to JU Rector's decision on cancellation of lectures at Jagiellonian University, the Government of Poland has announced other restrictions, including closures of all schools, universities, and cultural institutions until March 25, 2020.
Please let me know if the above precautions taken due to COVID-19 have any impact to Title IV recipients as Jagiellonian Univeristy is a foreign school. The 2019-2020 summer semester disbursement will not be made until we receive the information from you. Dear Sir/ Madam,

I am writing in connection with the Office of Postsecondary Education's electronic announcement of March 05, 2020 and the part regarding foreign schools: "We cannot extend flexibility regarding the use of distance learning to foreign schools since the Higher Education Act does not permit foreign schools to provide distance learning to U.S. students who participate in Title IV, HEA programs. We continue to consider if there are any other flexibilities we could extend to foreign schools that temporarily close due to COVID-19."

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Due to the spread of Coronavirus (COVID-19) in Europe and following the safety recommendations of the Chief Sanitary Inspectorate, JU Rector Prof. Wojciech Nowak has cancelled all lectures conducted at Jagiellonian University. Wherever applicable, lectures should be made available online. Other classes (which take place in a smaller groups) will be held as per usual, with any additional restrictions to be introduced by the Faculties.

Please let me know if the above regulations (authorizing distance learning at programs which are not usually distance) do have an impact on students' eligibility for Title IV funds in the 2019-2020 summer semester and should we withhold the disbursements for this semester. Please note that these are exceptional circumstances and all decisions have been made to ensure student safety.

I would appreciate a reply asap as we have just evaluated students' Satisfactory Academic Progress after winter semester and we are ready to make the Title IV funds disbursements for the second semester.

Subject: Paying FWS students during the coronavirus pandemic once the school moves to online instruction only

Hello everyone - One big issue, as I know you're aware, is what can be done to help Work-Study students who can no longer work their jobs.

A recent question to NASFAA'S Ask Regs was:
Does the term "other employees" include other student employees not being paid through Work-Study? While our institution currently plans to continue paying faculty and staff, we may not pay all other types of student employees during the time period that we will conduct online instruction only. Are we permitted to pay faculty, staff, and Work-Study employees who are not working, but not pay students who are not working and are paid from other sources?

The answer was:
It is our understanding that "other employees" specifically includes all non-FWS employees. This includes non-FWS student employees, as well as faculty and staff (not just faculty and staff). If you don't pay non-FWS student employees during the closure or interruption in classes, then you cannot pay FWS students under the guidance provided in the March 5, 2020 Electronic Announcement.

I have told our administration that I thought we should follow this guidance unless told differently from DOE directly. Do you agree this is a correct interpretation?

Also, it sounds like it is up to the school to determine HOW to pay once we determine if we actually will pay. So can the Work-Study funds be processed through financial aid basically like a grant, or must it be disbursed by pushing it through payroll? The latter would be kinda weird because we would have to log in actual dates and hours for specific days, when there was really no work... And then taxes are taken out, etc. Do you have any advice? NASFAA seems to be saying that that we should do timesheets.

Per ED, the school can have the student submit a timesheet for the hours he or she was scheduled to work and pay FWS wages based on that. Beyond that, ED's guidance is silent on how and when the school will pay these students, so it is the school's decision to make.

If we have to pay the OTHER students (non-W-S), will that be a grant from the school? Or can we still get that funding treated as "wages"? Otherwise it goes in the FA packages, which no one wants.

I would appreciate any guidance you can provide

-Laura

Subject: Paying Work Study

I have a question about paying students work study for the remainder of spring..

Because students are not on campus anymore, is it okay if the department manager submits a request to pay the student for the remaining balance of the term rather than having the student complete a time card? We are going with the assumption that the amount we pay students' for the second half of the spring term will be the same as the first half.

For example, if the student only worked 4 shifts during the first 8 weeks of the term, we are going to assume they would have worked 4 shifts the second 8 weeks.

Any guidance you can offer will be greatly appreciated.

Good evening,
My name is Adelis Alvarez and I am a student from the University of Puerto Rico Rio Piedras who receives federal funds and who is currently on a study abroad program in Rennes 2, France; and I find myself in a difficult situation regarding our federal funds along with 3 other students here in France.Due to the current situation regarding the COVID-19, the president of France has decided to temporarily close down schools and universities to avoid spreading the virus. The university of Rennes 2 here in France has offered to continue the courses online (distance learning) meanwhile we're on lockdown, but the university of Puerto Rico has sent us an email las Friday stating that if we were to decide to stay abroad and take the clases online here in France we are to return all federal funds and loans inmediately. [email below]

They state that they will not accept any courses that we take temporarily online in France, but the students that receive federal funds in the University of Puerto Rico are not being asked to return any type of federal loans even though Puerto Rico finds itself in the exact same circumstances as France and they are also currently taking courses online.

Their email doesn't make any sense to us since first of all, the federal loans have a certain time period in which we are allowed to pay them and to our knowdlege taking courses online temporarily due to a pandemic isn't a reason to immediately pay back the loans that we received in full 2 weeks a ago. Especially since last Friday the House, Senate released an article regarding Title IV concerns due to the coronavirus stating that: ...the bill expands the eligible program definition, which currently excludes foreign institutions from providing distance education to U.S. students not enrolled in a study abroad program. The bill adds an exemption to this prohibition that would allow foreign institutions to offer distance education in the case of a public health emergency, major disaster or emergency, or national emergency declaration by the foreign government where the foreign institution is located. Note that current law allows a student enrolled at a U.S. institution participating in a study abroad program to take courses via distance education from a foreign institution. (https://www.nasfaa.org/news-item/21196/House_Senate_Introduce_Coronavirus_Legislation_Addressing_Title_IV_Concerns)

Finally we would like to know that since we will be taking clases in Europe online temporarily due to the pandemic, does this act exempt us from receiving any federal funds or loans? Or is our university giving us false information? Thank you in advance.

Cordially,
Adelis Alvarez

La Universidad de Puerto Rico, ha decretado la cancelación de clases presenciales para la semana del 16 al 23 de marzo de 2020. Se realizarán tareas administrativas limitadas en los Departamentos, Facultades y oficinas de servicio. Por tanto, la mejor forma de gestionar y solicitar trámites con nuestra oficina será vía correo electrónico y teléfono. Por favor no acuda al recinto y maneje sus peticiones por estos medios.

Si usted determina regresar y completar sus estudios del semestre en la UPR:

- Debe comunicarse por teléfono o correo electrónico directamente con el Decano Auxiliar de Asuntos Estudiantiles de su Facultad, quien ha recibido instrucciones de gestionar su solicitud. Se adjunta la lista de Decanos y su información de contacto. Los Decanos realizarán una evaluación académica individual para identificar los cursos que pueda tomar para completar la carga académica completa, mínima de 12 créditos.
- Se han planteado las siguientes alternativas:
    a. Estudios independientes: el estudiante se matricula en un curso y realiza estudios individualizados en coordinación con el profesor. Se coordinan reuniones, trabajos y exámenes entre ambos.
    a. Cursos en UPR Carolina- cuatrimestre de abril 2020: podría optar por tomar cursos en este recinto mediante un permiso especial, conforme a la oferta disponible allí.
    b. Acreditación de cursos en línea: si su universidad de destino le ha ofrecido la oportunidad de continuar tomando cursos en línea desde Puerto Rico, debe presentar evidencia de esta autorización. Subject: question about services during extended school closings

First, I have read and re-read your Q&A document regarding school closures due to COVID-19 and kids with IEPs.

However, it does not address one issue: There is a segment of students, albeit a small percentage, for whom online learning, packets and telephone learning is not appropriate. For some students, the only way for them to receive FAPE would be direct teaching, in person, from a qualified professional provider.

That practice is in direct conflict with what the general societal guidelines are--to stay away from each other.

What is your guidance on that?

To Whom It May Concern:
There seems to be circulation of this question on a FA listserv and further guidance is needed:

Due to Covid-19, if a college closes its campus for the remainder of the semester and moves instruction online and provides a proration for room and board charges, does the student's cost of attendance need to be adjusted? Our on-campus COA is higher than our off campus COA.

If the COA is adjusted down, we understand any Pell and DL already originated and disbursed does not need to be adjusted, but does FWS and FSEOG funding need to be adjusted?

What if an overaward in all types of financial aid (loans, state, federal, institutional) is created because of the adjustment?

I think my answer is Yes but I wanted to reach out and verify it due to the Coronavirus situation.

Our college extended the spring break an extra week to set up courses for online deliverance. My questions are:

1. Do I need to extend my spring break week in the R2T4 calculation from one week to two weeks to include this extra week?
2. Do I need to re-process any R2T4 calculations on prior students? (as long as the period includes this time of the semester-we have four-blocks within our semester & depending on how the student was enrolled, may or may not have included this period of time)

Thank you in advance for your guidance,

Hello,

Can you please provide some guidance on the following situation regarding the COVID-19:

Our school had a scheduled Spring Break, 03.08.20 - 03.14.20. The school has decided to extend Spring Break by one week, to allow faculty to develop a transition plan to online teaching. All prior R2T4s included the original Spring Break into the calculation.

Do we need to recalculate all R2T4s completed prior to the Spring Break extension due to the COVID-19 situation?

If you have any questions or need additional assistance, please feel free to contact me.

Good morning,

I had a question on the calculation of Return of Title IV funds. Our school is extending spring break by one week. I understand that we should adjust our numerator and denominator to accommodate this change. We have already calculated many R2T4's prior to the COVID-19 guidance and our institution's decision to extend spring break. Do we need to recalculate all prior R2T4's? Or is this change effective from the change? Please advise.

Thank you.

Some districts/schools in Wyoming are closing for 2-3 weeks in lieu of COVID-19 precautions. State and local funds will still pay contract teachers. The question from one of our districts is: can federal funds continue to pay contracted teachers (such as Title I teachers) during these closure events? What about hourly paid federally funded staff, such as Title I tutors, paraprofessionals, and district Consolidated Grant Managers?

Our team would like to allow this, but need guidance from US Department of Education since time and effort requirements are a consideration with federal grant funds.

Good morning,

In our planning at FSU, we have come up with some possible options on how to best protect our students during this critical time, but do need some guidance to ensure we are meeting FSA compliance.

1. If we chose to shorten the spring 2020 semester in the following ways, how would that impact FSA?
    a. Shorten term by 2 weeks (reduced to 13 weeks of instruction)
        i. COA adjustments required?
        ii. Loan period adjustments required?
        iii. Other impacts?
    b. Shorten term by 3 weeks (reduced to 12 weeks of instruction)
        i. COA adjustments required?
        ii. Loan period adjustments required?
        iii. Other impacts?
2. If we chose to pause the spring semester for 2 weeks and then extend the term by two weeks. (Initially, the term would have ended 5/1/2020 but instead it will end on 5/15/2020 to make up the instructional time).
        i. COA adjustments required?
        ii. Loan period adjustments required?
        iii. Other impacts?

Additional notes that may help: The 60% point in the semester was 3/11/2020 for FSU and we are not a school that recalculates.

We greatly appreciate your help and guidance.

Hi Shaina-

Thank you for your quick response.

In order to eliminate the possibility of misinterpreting the guidance and additional details you have provided, can you define "unable to work?"

At FSU, I can foresee a few possible scenarios for our FWS students:

1. A student becomes ill and is unable to work
2. A student has traveled on spring break (March 16-20) and has potentially been exposed to COVID-19
3. A student has traveled and wants to return to work, but has been encouraged to remain off-campus for a two week period (March 23- April 6)
4. A student did not leave campus

Of the scenarios above, I could clearly say that 1 and 2 would be "unable to work," but I am unsure if scenarios 3 and 4 qualify and we would like to be consistent in our guidance to all FWS students.

Again, please know that we truly appreciate your guidance during this critical time.

Good morning,

Florida State University has proactively monitored and responded to daily developments as the novel coronavirus (COVID-19) has spread in Florida and across the United States. Therefore, we will be shifting to an online instruction mode for a temporary period of two weeks beginning March 23rd. During this time our campus will be open, but students are encouraged to leave campus but are not required to do so. We are requesting additional guidance and clarity on the language released by the USDOE recently:https://ifap.ed.gov/electronic-announcements/030520Guidance4interruptionsrelated2CoronavirusCOVID19

We would like to know whether in our situation, we can continue to pay our FWS students without the need for them to be present and working on campus.
We do greatly appreciate your guidance.

Federal Work Study (FWS)
Federal law includes a provision allowing an institution to make FWS payments under certain limited circumstances to disaster-affected students who are unable to continue working. Given the unique nature of this situation, it is unlikely that an entire region would be declared a Federal disaster area, yet to students enrolled at a campus that must close temporarily, the loss of this important form of financial aid can be devastating.The impact may be magnified if the institution accommodates students by providing alternative instructional opportunities and the student is required to continue paying tuition, but the student loses FWS as an important part of their financial aid award. For students enrolled and performing FWS at a campus that must close due to COVID-19, or for a FWS student who is employed by an employer that closes as a result of COVID-19, the institution may continue paying the student Federal work-study wages during that closure if it occurred after the beginning of the term, the institution is continuing to pay its other employees (including faculty and staff), and the institution continues to meet its institutional wage share requirement. Students who were prevented from beginning a term at the institution as a result of a COVID-19-related disruption would not be eligible for Federal Student Aid for that term, and therefore could not be paid FWS wages for hours they did not work. Graduate students who are paid FWS wages on salary may continue to be paid for the remainder of the term if the institution is also paying its faculty and staff during that period. In these instances, institutions should document (as contemporaneously as feasible) that the COVID-19 disruption was the reason the student received FWS funds without documentation of hours worked.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Good morning.
We received the question below from New York State Education Department Testing office this morning. They are asking for a rapid response regarding their State tests; it reads like they are considering statewide cancellation. If they do this, they need to decide quickly as the logistics of their testing program require time to start and stop.

We've directed them to the March 12 fact sheet, but they desire something more targeted from ED. I think they want an assurance that should they cancel tests Statewide, that the waiver request they'd submit would be favorably considered by ED.

I might suggest that we consider a response as follows:
"In the event that a State chooses to cancel Statewide assessment as a result of Statewide school closures, ED will consider one year waivers of ESEA testing requirements by that State. "

Don,

I am reaching out to you at the request of my Deputy Commissioner for P12 Kim Wilkins. As I'm sure that you're aware, NY is now the state with the most confirmed cases of COVID-19 and that number is expected to continue growing in the coming weeks. At this point, many schools in NY have closed for extended periods of time with April 20 being the most commonly scheduled return date. All of the Big 5 City School Districts have closed which accounts for approximately half of NY's student population.

We are seeking guidance on our Grades 3-8 ELA tests. The test window is scheduled to open one week from tomorrow. In line with the guidance issued by the USDE last week, we extended our window by an additional week. However, the schools closures have also extended in duration and leave us at a point where many (if not all, as the numbers continue to grow) schools in NY may be closed. We know that the USDE does not preliminarily consider waivers, so we are looking for guidance at this time. It does not seem practicable to administer our ELA tests and end up with results that inform instruction or contribute to accountability.

One additional consideration is that, as you recall, NY's assessment program is still predominantly paper-based. This further complicates any shifting of administration windows and creates additional decision points regarding shipping tests to empty school buildings and how to best avoid test material breaches.

We would appreciate any guidance that the USDE can offer us since we need to address these issue immediately as schools continue to close statewide. If a phone call would be a better approach, we can make time today for that.

Many thanks!
Zach

Thank you all—I can only imagine how much you are responding to right now.

I would like to add to my original request that now, in light of school closures statewide, Vermont (and I'm guessing SEAs in general) would welcome guidance around reimbursing LEAs for the work of Title-funded staff in the weeks and months that students will not attend.

Subject: Reimbursing Spending for Interrupted Professional Development

Good Morning,

A number of Vermont LEAs have reached out with this type of question: they have spent local funds on plane tickets, registration fees, etc., for Professional Development events that were approved in their Title applications. Due to COVID-19 concerns, they have either elected not to take the trips or to attend the events, or in some case the events have simply been cancelled.

Our understanding is that we cannot reimburse with federal funds for activities that didn't end up happening—for example a flight that wasn't taken or a conference that wasn't attended—which leaves our LEAs, some of which can't afford to cover the costs ultimately with local funds, in a tough spot.

I guess I have two questions. First, is our understanding of the rules correct; that we can not reimburse for a purchased plane ticket or a conference registration with Title funds if attendance doesn't actually happen? Second, if this is the case, can the DOE provide some flexibility around this restriction in light of the circumstances?

Appreciatively,

Subject: Rt4 questions

As we have started getting very specific questions regarding school closures related to the Coronavirus and how it will affect the RT4's we want to ensure that our understanding of the guidelines are correct so that we may assist moving forward.

A couple of scenarios.

The school elects to extend their spring break by a week. So now there two weeks, student does not return after the extended spring break, do we exclude both weeks or just the scheduled break?

HI,
The school closes and does not reopen within the same payment period and/or the student does not return within the same payment period. The student is a withdrawal. The payment period will remain the full length of the original payment period as the LDA will be prior to the school closure. The RT4 will be based on the full number of days in the payment period no excluded days for the numerator or denominator in the RT4 for the closure.

The school closes/reopens and the student returns to class but then subsequently withdraws. The payment period will exclude the number of days the school was closed from both the numerator and the denominator in the RT4 calculation.

There is a piece of the guidelines that state that a campus can be approved for a shortened academic year. Can you give me some explanation on what this would look like? I think my specific interest is will this consist of shortened payment periods or just fewer payment periods within the academic year.

Subject: grades vs pass/fail

Hello.

We have closed the campus temporarily for students and are teaching on-line. Our Provost's Office is asking about changing the grading structure for this semester for students who choose to switch their courses from a grade to a pass/fail.

Our typical pass/fail policy:
A student may choose to take up to a maximum of four courses on a Grade/Pass/Fail (GPF) option during their academic career. Only one GPF can be taken during a semester. Under this option, a student may specify a minimum course grade of "D-" or higher* by contract with the course instructor.
If the final grade is at or above the contracted grade, the professor will report that grade. The grade will be included in the overall grade point average.
If the final grade is a passing grade but is lower than the contracted minimum grade, the professor will award a "P." The "P" grade will not be included in the overall grade point average.
If a student fails to achieve course goals, the professor will assign an "F." The "F" will be include in the overall grade point average and credit will not be granted for the course.
The GPF is not an option in courses in the student's major, except field experience courses that may be part of the major. Only one "P" grade be used in a minor. *Please note: when exploring the GPF option, students must confirm any minimum course grade requirements with individual departments and programs. The GPF is not an option in credit-bearing graduate courses.

I am seeking guidance on pass/fail impact to SAP:

1. Can we change our documented grade/pass/fail policy because of the current situation and allow students more of these options than policy dictates?
2. IF the answer to #1 above is yes and if a student chooses to do all courses as pass/fail, they would not receive a grade point average. Therefore, how do we incorporate in to SAP? Our SAP policy requires a minimum 2.0 for GPA. The percent of credits attempted and passed/failed works even with the pass/fail option selected but it is unclear how we would treat someone who passed all courses with a "P" but receives no GPA for the semester.

Thank you for your time.

Hello,

We have a situation where a student had started their term abroad and the abroad institution has now closed so they are unable to complete the term there with the exception of a portion of their credits that has already been completed.

Because their abroad campus has closed, we have advised the student to return to the US and have secured accommodations for them to do so this week. We can offer this student distance learning courses through our campus and can provide opportunities to work with them to be able to continue their education and complete their term here at the home institution.

However, the student is indicating that they have travel fears and have a place to stay in Germany with extended family and want to remain in Germany for the time being because they feel travelling right now is putting themselves at a greater risk of contracting the COVID-19 virus.

I believe their campus closed approximately 5-7 days ago. It is my understanding that they would need to be back in the US if their abroad school has closed for us to offer alternate learning opportunities from the students home campus. Can you please confirm that if we offer the student distance learning opportunities from our campus that they can or cannot complete that work while remaining in Germany?

If they must be back in the US for us to offer these opportunities, I am aware that we can have some flexibility on some non-standard dates as far as completion of the coursework that we can provide. If their abroad campus closed on approximately March 10th and our campus term here at the home institution technically ends May 3rd how long can we give them to get here to resume courses? Is there a regulatory time limit on this and is there any regulatory guidance we should follow if the student does not want to travel back to the states at this point in time?

Thanks

Dear Colleagues in public health,

I am a WHO retiree with over two decades of experience advising governments across Asia on how to deal with various types of outbreaks of bacterial and viral infections. I am also one of the lead research scientists that discovered Hepatitis E in humans and Hepatitis A in monkeys.

I am writing to you because I believe there is an opportunity to save lives. We can improve the global response to the COVID-19 pandemic by making better use of two widely available medicines. As described in my briefing (link and attached), there is strong evidence in support of using a hydrogen peroxide rinse and a povidone-iodine solution in the fight against COVID-19. Furthermore, these treatments are easy to self-administer and do not have side effects as long as instructions are followed.

I believe greater awareness on the availability of these treatments is in the public interest. I would appreciate if you would consider informing the public about these measures. I am available to discuss any aspect of these findings at your convenience.

Kind regards,

Dr. Alex

HOW TO FIGHT COVID-19

Dr. Alexander Andjaparidze, 13 March 2020

- We can improve our response to the COVID-19 pandemic by making better use of two widely available medicines.
- In addition to the protective behaviors[1] communicated by WHO against COVID-19, the below measures will strengthen prevention and better treat infected patients by reducing virus load:
    1. Once daily gargling for 60 seconds of hydrogen peroxide solution, concentration of 0.5 - 1% - do not swallow and after 10 minutes gargle again with warm water (not recommended for children under the age of 16)
    2. Four times a day nasal spray and gargling for 15 seconds of povidone-iodine solution, concentration of 0.23% - do not swallow
- Coronavirus can be killed in the throat and nasal passage by using two readily available medicines hydrogen peroxide and povidone-iodine-based solutions.
- This procedure is recommended for medical staff, suspected patients (personal isolation, quarantine) confirmed patients at early stage of infection and persons who had close contact with COVID-19 patients. It is not recommended for severe patients who already developed pulmonary manifestation.

Widely available medicines to help prevent and treat COVID-19

Source: Dr. Alexander Andjaparidze using images from Darius Dan and Good Ware
Note: These measures are in addition to the protetive behaviors communicated by WHO
*After 10 minutes gargle with warm water. Hydrogen peroxide solution is not recommended for children below the age of 16.

Hydrogen peroxide: benefits, user instructions and results

- Hydrogen peroxide rinse is a mild antiseptic commonly used for gargling and to help relieve minor mouth irritation. It works by releasing oxygen when it is applied to the affected area. The release of oxygen causes foaming, which helps to remove mucus and clean the area.
- It is well documented that hydrogen peroxide in concentrations of 0.5% is able to inactivate similar viruses, such as the human coronavirus 229E and SARS CoV FFM. This has been shown under experimental conditions on hard surfaces when hydrogen peroxide is applied for 60 to 120 seconds.[i]

[1] Key protective behaviors communicated by WHO against COVID-19 include frequently cleaning hands, covering nose when sneezing and mouth when coughing, and avoiding contact with people exhibiting flu like symptoms.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Prevention will be strengthened, and treatment of infected persons improved with daily gargling for 60 seconds (followed by spitting out) of hydrogen peroxide solution with a concentration of 0.5 - 1% - do not swallow and after 10 minutes gargle again with warm water (not recommended under the age of 16). The hydrogen peroxide may cause some foaming in the mouth which is normal.
- Generally, hydrogen peroxide is available in pharmacies in 3% of water solution. For gargling, hydrogen peroxide should be further diluted in water (3 portion of water and one portion of 3% hydrogen peroxide solution). The diluted solution will be around 0.75% hydrogen peroxide.
- For those infected, the use of hydrogen peroxide in the early phase of infection can have the benefit of reducing virus load while allowing the immune system to prepare.
- The majority of patients that show signs of illness due to COVID-19 start with low or high temperature and flu like symptoms. The replication of the virus in early phases is more concentrated in the throat and nasal track. Inflammation in the lungs generally happens only during or after the second week. Reducing the virus load in early phases of infection, may prevent inflammation in the lungs and give sufficient time for the immunological response. This should reduce disease severity.
- Several studies investigated hydrogen peroxide ability to preserve antigenic epitopes and other studies used it as inactivating agent for development of viral vaccines against both DNA and RNA viruses including Lymphocytic Choriomeningitis Virus (LCMV), Yellow Fever Virus (YFV), West Nile Virus (WNV), Vaccinia virus (VV) and Monkeypox Virus (MPV) Rabis Virus.[ii,iii,iv] In other words, the virus killed by hydrogen peroxide will act as antigen for production of specific antibodies.

Povidone-iodine: benefits, user instructions and results

- Povidone-iodine is a broad-spectrum antimicrobial that has been used in infection control and prevention for over 60 years.[v] Povidone-iodine has well established general antimicrobial activity, demonstrating in vitro efficacy against many bacteria [vi,vii,viii] and a wide range of enveloped and non-enveloped viruses [ix,x, xi] including Ebola virus and MERS-CoV.[xii,xiii]
- Considering the proven in vitro efficacy, gargling with povidone-iodine may be an effective method of preventing the spread of respiratory viruses. The benefit of gargling with povidone-iodine has been noted in Japanese clinical respiratory guidelines.[xiv]
- Four times a day nasal spray and gargling for 15 seconds of povidone-iodine solution (do not swallow), concentration of 0.23% is sufficient to kill the coronavirus in the nasal and oral cavity. This has been documented in published research.[xv]
- The safety profile of povidone-iodine is well established. In contrast to other antiseptic agents, oral povidone-iodine care products do not lead to any irritation or damage of the oral mucosa, even with prolonged use.[xvi] Although measurable systemic iodine absorption may occur with the long-term use of, povidone-iodine its clinical manifestation as thyroid dysfunction is not very common.[xvii]

Dear U.S. Department of Education,

America and the world at large is encountering unprecedented challenges in the face of the COVID-19 pandemic. I am writing on behalf of Texas Barber College (TBC) to notify you of an interruption in the normal delivery of barber instruction (classroom theory and practical training on the clinic floor with live clients and mannequins) at TBC.

To navigate through these troubling times, TBC intends to do the following:

Clinic services – we will cease clinic floor operations on the general public at or before the close of business on 3/18/2020.

Scheduled Hours – we will immediately cease our scheduled educational activities effective 3/18/2020 lasting through 4/1/2020.

Makeup Hours – during the period of 3/18 – 4/1/2020, we intend to make "make up" hours available to students who have fallen behind within their educational program. Students who are on pace to graduate according to their course schedule will not be eligible to participate in these services.

It is our team's conviction that this strategy will serve our student population in the following ways:

- This will allow those students who are at the highest risk of dropping out to maintain continuity with their educational program
- This will facilitate preparation for licensure, as those who need the assistance will have small-group access to instructors
- This strategy will undoubtedly drive down the daily population within our schools, allowing us to implement the social distancing methods prescribed by the CDC.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Please share any questions or concerns you have about TBC moving forward with the above-described plan. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Kathleen B. Colt

Hi there! My name is Diana Walle and I am currently a 1st-year college student receiving financial aid. With classes being pushed back a couple of weeks, I have verified with my college's financial aid office that we will not be getting the disbursements from what is left over after tuition until later than originally planned.
The reason for this message is that I have seen a lot of claims online (but not a lot of specifics) stating that the Department of Education will be giving help for those who rely on that sum for other necessities such as food, bills, and such. Is this accurate information? If so, could I be given a bit more information?
Thank You

Subject: looking for guidance on temporary school closures due to COVID-19

Hello,
I am from school OPEID #011481-00. Our school is located in King County in the state of WA; and I do believe that we have had the highest total number of confirmed COVID-19 cases in the country located right here in King County. On Friday 03/13/2020 during the afternoon, our Governor, Jay Inslee, issued a proclamation that all institutions of higher education in WA shut down ground based operations starting by 12:01am on 03/17/2020 and going through 04/24/2020. Unfortunately, our training is so very specialized that we are not able to offer online training; enter into consortium agreements with other schools, or be able to be considered lab type work where persons would be able to keep the required 6 foot distance from another (per the governor). We considered all alternative options that were presented to us by the state, and unfortunately, this was the only choice we were able to make to be compliant with the Governor's proclamation. We fully intend to resume operations as usual starting on 04/27/2020 (unless otherwise directed).
I have a few questions and points of clarification that I would like to ask for from topics that were addressed in the 03/05/2020 electronic announcement. Questions like:

- How do I report these students' enrollment status moving forward?
- Do we have to put everyone on a LOA, though it's not possible to get signed LOA requests from an entire student body when we were just told the afternoon of Friday 03/13/2020 that we had to close the school by 12:01am on 03/17/20? If we do have to put everyone on LOAs, do we have to go back and have every single student that was still in active attendance submit their official request for a COVID-19 LOA in writing? Could their requests be via email? Prior to the Governor's proclamation coming down, only one of our students had officially requested a COVID-19 LOA. So, they did not all "choose" to request this leave.
- If we don't put everyone on LOA, we'd have to drop every single student and perform R2T4 calculations on them all after 14 days?

I am sure more things will come to mind, and these are all of my most immediate initial thoughts. Please advise. I need to ensure we are taking whatever measures are necessary so that we may remain operation and return to training as planned on 04/27/2020.

Hello,

I'm a legal editor with LRP Publications in Palm Beach Gardens, Fla. I'm researching issues related to COVID-19 for LRP's Special Ed Connection® website, and I was hoping you could answer a few questions.

Given the number of schools and offices that are closing to help stop the spread of coronavirus, we're likely to see delays in resolving IDEA due process complaints. These closures may affect the 15-day period for convening a resolution session, the 30-day resolution period, and the timeliness of due process hearings and hearing decisions.

I'd like to know what steps state and local educational agencies should be taking right now to ensure that IDEA disputes are resolved in a timely manner. Specifically, I'd like to know:

- Does the Part B regulation at 34 CFR 300.328 (Alternative means of meeting participation) allow a district to convene a "virtual" resolution session in which all team members participate by phone or video conference? Would the 30-day time frame for resolving the dispute apply?
- If a virtual resolution session is not feasible, is the district still bound by the 15-day timeline for convening a resolution session? If not, when would the 15-day period begin?
- Does the 45-day timeline for hearing officer decisions still apply? What about the 30-day time frame for state-level review? Can the deadline be extended due to a shortage of hearing officers?
- Do states have the option of conducting virtual due process hearings? What happens if one or more witnesses are unavailable due to illness?
- What advice would you give to district administrators about trying to resolve IDEA disputes during a COVID-19 outbreak?

Any answers you can provide will be greatly appreciated. If you'd prefer to speak by phone, let me know what time works best for you. I can call you at your convenience.

Northeast Community College had a scheduled winter break from March 9 thru March 13, the decision was made to extend that winter break by an additional 5 days due to COVID-19 which brought this payment period to 16 weeks so we are still above the 30 week minimum requirement. Am I correct that since we are still above the required minimum of 30 week academic year that I do not need to notify my program participation team?

Also if you extended an already scheduled break which impacts the start date of a module do you need to adjust your student information system so all sections of that module have the new start date? Currently we extended an already scheduled winter break by one week; however we still have 16 weeks scheduled in the semester so we are meeting the 30 week minimum requirement. No decision has been made to extend the term yet. We are moving courses that we can to online format and some of the applied tech labs at this time are planning on meeting. The module is part of our standard term is there any guidance that I need to be aware of if extending an already scheduled break impacted a module start date?

Thanks

I have read the guidance provided on March 5th and have a few follow up questions. If we are mandated to close by State of Federal Government order, who do we notify and what is the preferred method of contact?

We would also notify that we plan to resume operations as of the date the order is lifted. Please confirm that if that is within 30 days, we would not be required to perform R2T4 calculations.

For NSLDS reporting, we are a clock hour school so each student is at a different place in the payment period. All student would be returning in the same period the temporary school closure occurred, would we be able to defer reporting students as withdrawn as long as they return when the school reopens?

How would students on a current approved leave of absence be affected by a temporary school closure? Would they be able to resume the LOA once the school reopened and how would the days the schools was closed be considered when determining the length of the LOA?

Do we know how to answer Sarah's email?

We are aware of this issue. NASFAA just held a webinar that 6,000 people attended, and in that webinar they announced that schools would need to contact their School Participation Divisions to request a reduction in their academic year if they were forced to reduce the length of their terms as a result of COVID-19.

As you know, FSA has been asked to forward questions about Coronavirus issues to federalstudentaid@ed.gov, and that currently still applies to requests like the ones Sarah received via voicemail. I would recommend escalating this to make management aware of the issue. We are doing the same on the policy side.

PIP is also saying to update applications which will cause eligibility work to dramatically increase while we are still figuring out how to do everything from home.

I've told her I was reaching out to see if you all knew how we are responding. Do all of these requests go to the email?

Sorry if I missed an announcement about the webinars and what they would say.

Was anyone on this webinar? Do they only have to call and tell us? On the PIP elig concall this afternoon there was just a discussion of having the schools submit an e-app with that information, but if the schools are being told to only call do I only make a notation in PEPS permanent comments?

Good Morning,

So we have gotten our first request for information on state testing and extended school closure. I imagine this won't be the first or the last request from an EDFacts Coordinator. It might be helpful if we could create a generic response for PSC to give states that directs them to the appropriate people about this policy decisions.

Cheers,

OESE/OSEP,

We just got the below escalation from New York and I am sure they are not the only ones who will be asking this question. Do we have any guidance on how states should manage state assessment testing in the event that schools and/or districts closed for an extended amount of time during the assessment window due to the current health concern surrounding the Coronavirus?

Thanks,
Liz

I have one other question and this is in regard to taking attendance. With this adjustment to all online classes due to the COVID-19, how are schools determining attendance? Are schools required to take attendance during this time of emergency? Is the 14-day policy still in effect, especially if a school's spring break has been extended or the student is having to find ways to do their work online? If a student does have the COVID-19 and doesn't do any school related activities while they have the virus is the school required to take attendance on that student?

Subject: Questions in regards to moving online only

Good morning,
I have just a couple of questions that were not addressed in the "Dear Colleague" letter nor the electronic letters that I'm hoping you could assist me with.

1. If we pro-rate Room and Board and refund the student back the pro-rated amount, is the school required to complete a Cost of Attendance adjustment, even though the decision to move all classes online and to have the student move off-campus was beyond their and the school's control due to the federal emergency of COVID-19?
2. On students who are on Federal Work-study, since all students have been sent home because of COVID-19, can the school, based on the average hours the student has worked to this point, calculate wages for the rest of the semester as if the student was still here and working? With sending students home and still having to pay for tuition, a loss of a job will create a financial hardship for the student. If a school cannot average out hours worked, can the student stay on campus and continue to work while continuing to take classes online for the remainder of the year?

Guidance for interruptions of study related to Coronavirus (COVID-19)

Seeking clarity on a few questions:

- We fall under the scenario of a campus temporarily stops offering education in a clock hour school to prevent the spread of COVID-19. We have obtained state approval to offer theory instruction via distance Education. We have applied for temporary approval of distance education with NACCAS.
- Once we obtain approval from NACCAS do we need to get approval from DOE to offer distance education for this direct interruption?
- We offer a Full Time program and a Part Time program – Does the approval stand for Part-Time programs the same as Full Time programs or are they treated differently? I didn't see any scenario referencing a part time program, just full time.
- What documentation do you recommend we keep on hand if needed for future review from DOE?
- Do you have any examples of documentation you could send.

I appreciate your direction! If more clarity is needed please reach out to me by phone or email (847-702-8772, tiffany@kenoshatspa.com)

Our academy has received approval by our state and is awaiting approval by NACCAS for temporary approval of distance education. We offer a 1550 hr Cosmetology program and 600 hr Aesthetics program. # Background & Additional Information for State & Local Officials

U.S. Department of Health & Human Services (HHS)

- The Department of Health and Human Services is committed to providing as much information as possible to prepare communities for response to COVID-19. The Department, through the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, the Food and Drug Administration, and other agencies, continuously provide guidance to healthcare providers, laboratories, communities, and state and local officials for dealing with suspected or confirmed cases of COVID-19. The most up-to-date information can be found at www.coronavirus.gov.
- Wednesday, March 12, CDC announced the imminent release of almost $600 million to support state and local authorities respond to the COVID-19 outbreak. Full funding amounts are here.
- CDC released their "Implementation of Mitigation Strategies for Communities with Local COVID-19 Transmission." This is a guide for communities describing possible coronavirus transmission. Community mitigation strategies are often the most available interventions to help slow the transmission of COVID-19 in communities.
- The CDC has been actively working to address the need for testing across the country. You can find more information about testing here. We encourage review of the Updated Guidance on Evaluating and Testing Persons for Coronavirus Disease 2019, as well as the recently updated the FAQ website for laboratories to determine best practices for testing.
- The U.S. Public Health Service Commissioned Corps has deployed hundreds of officers to help with this response. As America's Health Responders, the Commissioned Corps is currently very involved in assisting the CDC with airport screenings, deploying staff to support hospitals, among other important missions. Find out more about Commissioned Corps activities here.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Part of preparedness includes a robust blood supply. The current situation around COVID-19 heightens the need for a ready blood supply, please encourage your health community members to keep their appointments to donate blood.
- CDC released updated guidance on infection prevention and control recommendations for healthcare workers. Healthcare workers are fighting this outbreak on the front lines, and this guidance is intended to provide assistance to healthcare settings that are handling suspected or confirmed cases of COVID-19. This guidance is applicable to all U.S. healthcare settings.

U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA)

- The Small Business Administration will work directly with state Governors to provide targeted, low-interest loans to small businesses and non-profits that have been severely impacted by the Coronavirus (COVID-19). The SBA's Economic Injury Disaster Loan program provides small businesses with working capital loans of up to $2 million that can provide vital economic support to small businesses to help overcome the temporary loss of revenue they are experiencing.
- The Coronavirus Preparedness and Response Supplemental expanded the disaster definition for the Small Business Administration's Economic Injury Disaster Loans (EIDL) to include COVID-19. Economic Injury Disaster Loans are SBA loans that are available to eligible Small Businesses, Small agricultural cooperatives, and most non-profits that have experienced substantial economic injury as a result of a disaster.
    - EIDLs are available in areas that are declared a disaster area by the SBA.
    - There has to be an SBA Disaster Declaration in an area for EIDL loans to be made available, which originates from a request made by the Governor.
    - To assist in the efforts, the SBA engages with States' Emergency Response Teams to help them comply with the requirements before a request is made.
- EIDL Loan Details
    - Entities that can apply for EIDL loans are eligible Small Businesses, Small agricultural cooperatives, and most private nonprofit organizations.
    - EIDL Loans are up to $2million and have terms as long as 30 years.
- State and local officials who have been contacted by Small Businesses that may have been affected should share that information with their Governor or the State's Emergency Response Officials. More information on SBA's disaster loans, including eligibility and how to apply for loans, can be found here: www.SBA.gov/disaster

U.S. Department of Education (DoED)

- The Department of Education has established a dedicated Coronavirus webpage, which includes resources for institutions of higher education and for K-12.
    - The website includes guidance for students at institutions of higher education, and covers Coronavirus-related scenarios that could impact students who are enrolled in study abroad programs, students who meet full-time requirements but fall below 12 credit hours, students who are quarantined and miss class, campuses that have temporarily stopped offering ground-based classes to prevent the spread of Coronavirus, and foreign schools that serve Americans who receive Federal financial aid. Also see a letter from the Office for Civil Rights that addresses potential discrimination associated with coronavirus.
- The Department is working on additional information for families and communities including:
    - Information regarding certain flexibilities under the Every Student Succeeds Act, or "ESSA;"

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

    - Information regarding services to children with disabilities;
    - A fact sheet from our Office for Civil Rights on the risk of Coronavirus in schools while protecting the civil rights of students; and
    - Information on the Family Education Records Privacy Act, or "FERPA," as it pertains to K-12 and higher education students.
- The Department will continue to update its website, ed.gov/coronavirus. Please direct education related questions to COVID-19@ed.gov.

U.S. Department of Transportation (DOT)

- The U.S. Department of Transportation, in its important supporting role, has and will continue to coordinate with transportation stakeholders, foreign counterparts and other federal agencies to manage the risk in the United States.
- DOT continues to ensure: an active air bridge remains in place for the safe return of Americans from affected areas; airlines are funneling passenger flights to one of the eleven designated U.S. airports equipped to health-screen Americans returning from affected areas; continued air and sea cargo traffic between the US and China; health protocols are established to protect the crews of aircraft continuing to fly between the US and foreign locations; and, dissemination of health messages about the virus, for airlines to use to inform their passengers.
- The U.S. government's travel restrictions and advisories have been a remarkably effective 'first layer' of containment. These travel requirements delayed the arrival of the virus to the United States, giving the nation precious time to prepare further measures, and plan for mitigation. This achievement took the cooperation of nearly 200 commercial airlines, a like number of overseas airports, and the Civil Aviation Authority of China.
- External Stakeholder outreach is being actively conducted throughout the modes of transportation in DOT. DOT has already hosted calls with stakeholders for the Federal Aviation Administration, Federal Transit Authority, Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration, and others. Additional calls are scheduled for outreach to additional stakeholders in all surface transportation, maritime, and labor.

U.S. Department of Labor (DOL)

- The Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) developed COVID-19 planning guidance for employers to implement engineering, administrative, and work practice controls and personal protective equipment (PPE). The guidance is intended for planning purposes – employers and workers should use the planning guidance to help identify risk levels in workplace settings and to determine any appropriate control measures to implement.
- The U.S. Office of Personnel Management (OPM), an independent agency that serves as the chief human resources agency and personnel policy manager for the Federal Government, issued guidance for Federal Agencies regarding COVID-19 and human resources policies.
- DOL announced new guidance outlining flexibilities that States have in administering their unemployment (UI) programs to assist Americans affected by the COVID-19 outbreak. Under the guidance, federal law.

U.S. Department of Housing & Urban Development (HUD)

- The health and well-being of our country's most vulnerable citizens is Secretary Ben Carson's highest priority. At the direction of Secretary Carson senior HUD, officials have developed an Infectious Disease Toolkit for Continuum of Care homeless shelters (CoC).

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

This includes specific documents addressing preparedness in shelters and encampment settings. More here.

- HUD has sent communication to CoC and Housing Opportunities for Persons With AIDS (HOPWA) grantees, highlighting the importance of infectious disease preparedness and linking to CDC and Healthcare for the Homeless resources: Infectious Disease Preparedness Among Homeless Assistance Providers
- HUD is coordinating with the CDC, Healthcare for the Homeless, United States Interagency Council on Homelessness (USICH) on messaging and cross-promoting resource materials. This will continue on an ongoing basis. Also, the Department is reaching out to Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA) and Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA) for future coordination.
- HUD has plenty of resources for your communities including:
    - Communities can use their unspent Emergency Solutions Grants and Continuum of Care Program funds to help address needs related to coronavirus. Additionally, a portion of CDBG funds are also available for public services, including health care.
    - Technical Assistance is available for ESG and CoC Program recipients if requested. Additionally, communities that want to amend their CDBG plans, can reach out to their CPD representative if they need assistance.

U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA)

- USDA Secretary Sonny Perdue announced proactive flexibilities to allow meal service during school closures to minimize potential exposure to the coronavirus. During an unexpected school closure, schools can leverage their participation in one of USDA's summer meal programs to provide meals at no cost to students. Under normal circumstances, those meals must be served in a group setting. However, in a public health emergency, the law allows USDA the authority to waive the group setting meal requirement, which is vital during a social distancing situation.
- USDA intends to use all available program flexibilities and contingencies to serve program participants across our 15 nutrition programs. USDA has already begun to issue waivers to ease program operations and protect the health of participants. USDA is receiving requests for waivers on an ongoing basis. As of today, USDA has been asked to waive congregate feeding requirements in Washington, California, Maryland, Alaska, Utah, Pennsylvania, Wyoming, Maine, Kansas, New Jersey, New York, South Carolina, South Dakota, and Virginia and USDA has granted those requests.
- For more information about the coronavirus response across USDA, please visit: www.usda.gov/coronavirus.

U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS)

- While the overall risk to the American public remains low, actions by DHS and the administration are decreasing the strain on public health officials by screening incoming travelers, expediting the processing of U.S. citizens returning from China, and ensuring resources are focused on the health and safety of the American people. It is important to recognize, that while there is a significant focus on containing and mitigating the spread of COVID-19, all departments and agencies of DHS are continuing to perform their regular duties with no impact on their mission.
- DHS is working to recognize, detect, and assist individuals attempting to enter the U.S. through our, airports, land ports, or waterways who may be carrying the virus: Cruise Lines International Association, CDC, USCG, and CBP. DHS is working with the Department of State, HHS, and the senior public health leadership with the Government of Mexico to prepare for any COVID-19 cases identified along the South West

Border. This effort includes coordination with state, and local Public Health Officials to develop reporting and response courses of action.
- FEMA has rostered 56 four-person Incident Management Assistance Teams.
- The Countering Weapons of Mass Destruction Office, which contains the National Biosurveillance Integration Center and the Chief Medical Officer, has maintained close coordination with our Components and U.S. Government partners regarding the status of the outbreak and associated U.S. Government response actions.

COVID-19: Background & Additional Information

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Background

Under the leadership of President Trump and Vice President Pence, the full weight of the U.S. Government is working to protect the health and safety of the American people. Since the beginning of the outbreak, President Trump has taken unprecedented steps – including prudent travel restrictions and an early containment strategy – to protect the health of Americans in response to the coronavirus. In January, the President formed a Coronavirus Task Force, led by Vice President Mike Pence and comprised of subject-matter experts, to organize a whole-of-government response (President Donald J. Trump Has Taken Unprecedented Steps to Respond To the Coronavirus and Protect the Health and Safety of Americans). The Coronavirus Task Force and broader Administration have and will continue to work with State-Local-Tribal officials and private sector and non-profit partners in preparing for and responding to the Coronavirus. It is important to note that at this time, the risk to the average American remains low. All agencies are working aggressively to monitor this continuously evolving situation and to keep our partners and the public informed.

Dear Ms. Mendel:

Thank you for contacting the U.S. Department of Education (Department) about COVID-19 ("coronavirus").

These are challenging times for schools and communities, and administrators and public health officials are facing difficult decisions related to preventing the spread of this respiratory disease. Unfortunately, there are no easy answers.

Regarding your specific concern, please note that, in accordance with the most recent interim guidance issued by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), the Department is recommending that decisions related to implementing school-based strategies (e.g., dismissals, event cancellations, and other social distancing measures) be made locally, in collaboration with local health officials who can help determine the level of transmission in the community. For further information, and the most up-to-date information on COVID-19, please visit www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-nCoV.

The Department has also established the "COVID-19 Information and Resources for Schools and School Personnel" webpage, available at www.ed.gov/coronavirus, to support schools and communities as they plan, prepare and potentially respond to possible cases of COVID-19. The Department will regularly update this webpage as more information and guidance becomes available.

Thank you for sharing your concerns with us. We invite you to send questions on which the Department can be helpful to the following email address: COVID-19@ed.gov.

Hello. I am a concerned parent in the villages Florida area. I understand other schools are closing down or extending their vacation or spring break however my daughters beauty school she attends in the villages is still open and I'm not sure I understand why? She attends to ""Tenja salon Institute ""and there are quite a few kids and staff that attend there and although they are not excepting clients it is still a large amount of people in each room and a closed in building. Makes it very dangerous considering we just had a brand new Lady Lake coronavirus case as of St. Patrick's Day! I would like To know if somebody has been in contact with the school and is helping them close the school? I believe it's an issue of financial aid but I'm not sure can somebody please touch base with the school and find out why they are still open?!!!

Hi,

Due to the Corona Virus and Washington State's Governor Jay Inslee's request for public education, we are planning to shorten our academic year from 34 weeks to 32 weeks, we will still be within the required 30 weeks of instruction. Our planned term dates for Spring were 4/6/20-6/18/20 but it will now be 4/20/20-6/18/20. NASFAA is telling schools that if we don't add these two weeks on to the end of the term, which would make our term dates 4/20/20-7/2/20 that we must do a new PPA. Please advise on how we should proceed.

STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA
DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION
MOLLY M. SPEARMAN
STATE SUPERINTENDENT OF EDUCATION

March 17, 2020

The Honorable Mitchell Zais
Deputy Secretary of Education
United States Department of Education
400 Maryland Avenue, SW
Washington, D.C. 20202

Dear Deputy Secretary Zais:

The United States and our public school systems are experiencing an unprecedented, historic crisis related to the novel coronavirus, COVID-19. South Carolina joins many other states in statewide closures of our public schools to contain and reduce the contagion, to protect our most valuable assets–the students we serve. We know that hard days still lie ahead as we have yet to feel the impact of this virus on our citizens and society.

On March 15, 2020, I joined South Carolina Governor Henry McMaster, as he issued an Executive Order to close all public schools, from 4k through universities, until March 31, 2020. That date is subject to extension based upon the scientific guidance we receive from the Centers for Disease Control and our South Carolina Department of Health and Environmental Control.

This closure comes as we gear up for how we hold our state, districts, and schools accountable–our end-of-year testing season. At the March 15 press conference, I announced with the support of our Governor, our intent to suspend spring assessments required by the Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA) and our intent to seek a waiver from the United States Department of Education (USED).

I understand that the USED is continuing to review the impact of COVID-19 on state accountability systems and assessments along with developing processes for statewide waivers, and we look forward to you releasing additional guidance in the coming days. I want to share South Carolina's intent for the following and stand ready to submit any documentation or information as you deem appropriate:

PHONE: 803-734-8500 · FAX: 803-734-3389 · ED.SC.GOV

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

1. South Carolina intends to suspend all federally-required testing during spring 2020 and requests a waiver of those testing requirements, including ESSA's 95 percent assessment participation requirement;
2. South Carolina intends to request a waiver to delay the identification of any school for comprehensive or targeted support and improvement based upon 2019–20;
3. South Carolina intends to apply a hold-harmless provision and keep ratings from the 2018–19 state report cards in place until the 2020–21 school year; and
4. South Carolina may seek additional waivers related to funding and programs, when we determine any impact that COVID-19 may have on the use of ESSA funds.

We hope that the USED will consider broad waivers and expedited approvals so that states and local school districts can focus on ensuring the health and wellness of our students, faculty, and their families, during these unparalleled times.

We appreciate your guidance and leadership.

Sincerely,

Molly M. Spearman
State Superintendent of Education

Subject: Student Loans Not Disbursing - Foreign School

Hello,

I am a first year graduate student currently enrolled full-time at Jagiellonian University in Poland. Several days ago, classes were temporarily suspended in the country, and as a result, we have shifted to remote learning methods. I've been told by the financial aid office at Jagiellonian that I am now ineligible to receive my disbursement of aid due to the suspension of regular classes on campus. A March 5th announcement indicated this in the section below:

"We cannot extend flexibility regarding the use of distance learning to foreign schools since the Higher Education Act does not permit foreign schools to provide distance learning to U.S. students who participate in Title IV, HEA programs. We continue to consider if there are any other flexibilities we could extend to foreign schools that temporarily close due to COVID-19."

Due to this situation, I am no longer able to afford my tuition or basic cost of living--nor am I able to afford a return ticket to the United States. In other words, I am stuck in a rather precarious situation where I cannot stay in Poland yet also cannot return home. I know that I am not the only student going through difficulties right now, but I do not feel that my aid being delayed/withheld--despite the fact that I'm still enrolled full-time and completing required coursework--is a reasonable measure.

At this point, some level of clarification would be extremely helpful. I know that the effects of COVID-19 are unpredictable, but American students studying at foreign institutions should be afforded the means to continue their studies while remaining in a state of quarantine, just as other students are. If you could provide me with any updated information I would really appreciate it.

Best regards,

Eric Bruce

If our school is temporarily closed, and we are anticipating using distance/online learning to continue their classes do they have to request an approved Leave of Absence, and if they don't, do I have to withdrawal them?

I know I have three options: 1. LOA 2. Withdrawal 3. Do nothing if the students resume attendance no later than 90 days from the closure date.

Last question. If I wait for the 90 days and the students do not resume attendance or the school does not reopen, I know I have to complete the withdraws, but am I out of compliance because my determination date will be well passed 14 days from the LDA?

Any guidance would be greatly appreciated.

See attached emails from CDE received 3/12/20 and 3/13/20, asking about the use of Federal (Title I, Part C – MEP) funds for cancellation fees charged by hotels— for event space/costs and hotel rooms. Events were cancelled by CDE and its subgrantees, or are in the process of being cancelled, in response to the State Governor's guidance regarding large gatherings. OME recommends providing a combined response to both questions related to cancellation fees. We have sent the issue to our program attorneys, but we believe this will not be a program-specific response.

In CDE's 3/12/20 email, there is a separate question regarding in-person signatures on the MEP Certificate of Eligibility (COE). OME has drafted a response to this question, as it has been raised by other MEP grantees. The draft response is currently with our program attorneys.

Hello Lisa and Sarah,

Apologies for bringing this up again, but the Mariott has decided to bill our subgrantees for a cancellation fee for one night. I just received the email below and the cancellation fee is one nights stay for about 25 people for this subgrantee, but, as you know, we have 20 subgrants. The total for all our subgrantees one-night cancellation will be about $108,000. If we don't contest the charges now, there will be no way to do it in the future as they will receive their payment by cashing the checks and billing the credit cards.

Should we move forward and contest the charges? Or will you allow us to utilize funds to pay this cancellation fee?

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Kind regards,
Celina

Hello Lisa and Sarah,

Hope you are well. I'm sending you a copy of an update I just sent to the field (see below). In it, at the bottom, I reference that I've submitted a few questions to you related to the event and service cancellations taking place because of the corona virus. Here they are:

- Do recruiters have to acquire an in-person signature for the COE? Is there a short-term alternative?
- Can the mep pay for cancellation fees in contracts where no services were rendered?

On the CDE end, as you know, we had to cancel the parent conference from last weekend because the day before the event, the Santa Clara County Department of Public Health recommended cancellation of large events. Our contracted hotel is now asking for $220,000 in cancellation fees. We are not able to reschedule such a large event in the time that remains in the current school year. Also, this is a biennial event and next year, local conference are held so we cannot hold it next year.

On another note, we also have our Speech and Debate Tournament coming up in May and the local superintendent in Fresno (where it will be hosted) wants to cancel all events/student activities. This event is coordinated by our subgrantee Fresno County Office of Education and their hotel contract has a cancellation fee of $154,000. Because we are a local control state, its very difficult estimating if all the different counties will allow students to attend so if we don't cancel we may not even have enough students to compete.

Just a few of the issues we are facing. Your guidance is greatly appreciated.

Kind regards,
Celina

Subject: Migrant Program Update 3/12/20

Hello MEP Directors and Asst. Superintendents,

We have a few updates regarding upcoming events. As you are all aware, the guidance about the corona virus is changing daily and we will try to bring you updates quickly when there is a change. I'm providing you an update from the Governor's office that was posted yesterday, 3/11/20 at this link: https://www.gov.ca.gov/2020/03/11/california-public-health-experts-mass-gatherings-should-be-postponed-or-canceled-statewide-to-slow-the-spread-of-covid-19/. I've cut and pasted the first paragraph at the end of the message, and I've also attached the guidance they reference in the press release.

Briefly, to protect the public health, the Governor is recommending, in the month of March, cancellation or postponement of events that are of 250 or more and cancellation or postponement of events where we are not able to provide "social distancing of 6 feet or more."

Therefore, as some of our activities/events cross into early April, we will be rescheduling those events and, where possible, will re-evaluate mid-April to determine if other activities/events need to be rescheduled. Here is our current schedule:

- March 19 Virtual I&R Committee Meeting – Will continue as scheduled
- March 30 I&R Coordinators Meeting in Sacramento – Rescheduled to June
- March 31 I&R State Training – Rescheduled to June
- April 4 State Parent Advisory Council Meeting – Rescheduled to June
- April 23-24 Family Biliteracy - Will be rescheduled – Update coming next week
- May 15-17 Speech and Debate Tournament - In discussion with Fresno COE and Fresno Unified with an update in a few days.
- July Migrant Student Leadership Institute, CSU Channel Islands - To be discussed with an update next week.

Regarding local events with migrant funds

As always, please follow the guidance from your local Superintendent. If you see the need to cancel an event/activity, we recommend you to try to reschedule. If that's not possible, please review cancellation clauses in contracts and determine how you will pay for incurred costs. Please ensure your supervisor is aware of the cost and approves the fees. We do not yet have a response from the federal office regarding payment for services not rendered.

Migrant Parent Conference
We are working with the hotel to determine cost. Please do not reallocate funds to other projects. If you have questions on this matter, contact Lizette Rocha by email lrocha@cde.ca.gov or by phone at 916.323.2241.

Other related issues
Some regions have called asking about alternatives to acquiring signatures on COEs. We have forwarded this concern to the federal office this week. We will notify you when there is guidance provided. Another region requested an extension to the due date for BR 4. We will respond next week.

Be well!
Kind regards,
Celina

Text from the Governor's Press Release
SACRAMENTO – Governor Gavin Newsom announced that California public health officials this evening issued an updated policy on gatherings to protect public health and slow the spread of COVID-19. The state's public health experts have determined that gatherings should be postponed or canceled across the state until at least the end of March. Non-essential gatherings must be limited to no more than 250 people, while smaller events can proceed only if the organizers can implement social distancing of 6 feet per person. Gatherings of individuals who are at higher risk for severe illness from COVID-19 should be limited to no more than 10 people, while also following social distancing guidelines.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

To protect public health and slow the rate of transmission of COVID-19, gatherings as described below should be postponed or canceled across the state of California for at least the remainder of the month of March.

The California Department of Public Health finds the following:

- Large gatherings that include 250 people or more should be postponed or canceled.
    - This includes gatherings such as concerts, conferences, and professional, college, and school sporting events.
- Smaller gatherings held in venues that do not allow social distancing of six feet per person should be postponed or canceled.
    - This includes gatherings in crowded auditoriums, rooms or other venues.
- Gatherings of individuals who are at higher risk for severe illness from COVID-19 should be limited to no more than 10 people.
    - This includes gatherings such as those at retirement facilities, assisted living facilities, developmental homes, and support groups for people with health conditions.
- A "gathering" is any event or convening that brings together people in a single room or single space at the same time, such as an auditorium, stadium, arena, large conference room, meeting hall, cafeteria, or any other indoor or outdoor space.

This applies to all non-essential professional, social, and community gatherings regardless of their sponsor. Gatherings that do not meet the aforementioned criteria should only be conducted when they are essential—that is, if the activity is essential and could not be postponed or achieved without gathering, meaning that some other means of communication could not be used to conduct the essential function.

What will this achieve?

The timely implementation of aggressive strategies that create social distance and those that reduce close contact of people not regularly together, including limiting gatherings, has proven effective in prior pandemics at delaying rates of transmission and reducing illness and death.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

By decreasing the prevalence of disease across California we will:

- Reduce the number of Californians who contract COVID-19 before an effective treatment or vaccine is available.
- Protect those most likely to experience severe symptoms, such as older Californians and those with underlying chronic conditions.
- Preserve and protect our health care delivery system, including our health care workforce, so they can care for the least healthy individuals in the community for any medical condition, not just COVID-19.
- Minimize the social and economic impacts of COVID-19 over the long run.

How long will these limitations apply?

This guidance will remain in place at least through the month of March. As with all guidance that relates to COVID-19 response, authorities will revisit this guidance on a regular basis to evaluate the continued public health need for it and to evaluate if any elements need to be changed. To stay informed, continue to monitor this link:
https://www.cdph.ca.gov/Programs/CID/DCDC/Pages/Guidance.aspx

What is Social Distancing and how is it achieved?

Social distancing is a practice recommended by public health officials to stop or slow down the spread of contagious diseases. It requires the creation of physical space between individuals who may spread certain infectious diseases. The key is to minimize the number of gatherings as much as possible and to achieve space between individuals when events or activities cannot be modified, postponed, or canceled.

Although the Department expects most events with more than 250 attendees to be postponed or canceled, we emphasize that the venue space does matter. Achieving space between individuals of approximately six feet is advisable. Additionally, there is a particular focus on creating space between individuals who have come together on a one-time or rare basis and who have very different travel patterns such as those coming from multiple countries, states or counties.

What can be done to a make a gathering safer if it is essential or small?

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Stagger activities.
- Add frequency of an event to spread out attendance, e.g. hold more, smaller gatherings.
- Add distance between where individuals sit or stand around tables.
- Add additional hand washing stations and restrooms.
- Limit the number of people in lines.
- Avoid direct physical contact, such as hand-shaking, holding hands, and hugging.
- Extend hours to allow for staggering of attendance or participation.
- Use phones, videos or video conferencing to reduce the need for close interactions.
- Consider ways to encourage anyone with fever and respiratory symptoms to stay home when sick, such as
    - Offering refunds or support reselling of tickets for persons who become ill.
    - Placing messages on websites, tickets, and venue entrances reminding people to protect one another by staying home if sick.

Examples of Essential Events this Does Not Apply To

The goal of this recommendation is to prevent people physically coming together unnecessarily, where people who have the infection can easily spread it to others. This guidance does not apply to activities such as attendance at regular school classes, work, or essential services.

Please see the guidance for schools document for additional information.

Certain activities are essential to the functioning of our state and must continue. Hence, this does not apply to essential public transportation, airport travel, or shopping at a store or mall. Other specific guidance can be found on the CDPH website to help people take actions that can protect them in those settings.

This does not apply to congregate living situations, including dormitories and homeless encampments. For more information on what can be done to protect homeless individuals, please see the Guidance for Homeless Assistance Providers on Novel Coronavirus (COVID-19) (PDF).

Dear Representatives,

Please be advised that, out of great concern for the welfare of our students, faculty, staff and community at large, Universal Training Institute, is taking some initial steps towards the prevention of the COVID-19 virus within our immediate environment. UTI has therefore updated our Emergency Preparedness Plan to mediate some of the concerns and issues the COVID-19 virus has presented to our campus.

Our Objective:

The goal of updating the Emergency Preparedness Plan is to accommodate students and help them continue their education despite interruptions caused by the COVID-19. Anytime coursework is interrupted, it is incumbent that the school take immediate and necessary steps to help students navigate through the program till such time they have completed the program. To this end UTI will initiate the following protocols:

Risk Factors:

- The risk that students and faculty members including administrative staff could be unduly exposed to Covid-19 if UTI continues to hold regular classes in its facility is present
- Most of our students work in Health Care facilities across the State and might be exposed to other individuals with known/ unknown symptoms that could be a major risk factor for other members of UTI if they continue to be present at school on a regular basis.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- A number of students and faculty members do daily commute to school by public transportation system which may not be deemed safe at this period of outbreak
- Failure to comply by the various pronouncement by government agencies across the nation and particularly the State of New Jersey will not be a prudent choice for UTI.

Impact of the Risks:

- Students may contract the virus and infect others within UTI facility even before symptoms manifest
- Students may contract the virus and infect their family members and others in their community
- A sick ( possibly infected) member of staff or faculty member could infect others or students if they continue to be present at work
- The possibility of the Coronavirus outbreak lasting longer than anticipated
- Inability to access needed resources (IT and Human) in the event of delayed action to support continuity and recovery when needed

Operation Continuity strategies:

- Close the school for an initial period of two weeks effective 3/18/20 (with possible extension as events unfold)
- Clean and disinfect the school (including classrooms, bathrooms, labs and computer assets during this period).
- Institute online classes to consist of a combination of lecture, discussions, written assignments and examinations by deploying "Zoom web conferencing" platform to augment our legacy SIS platform.
    - It is believed that online (ground-based) education provides a viable option for continuing to teach students through COVID-19 related interruptions.

    - The student's attendance will be taken by the faculty and monitored throughout the course of the day to ensure they are meeting the requisite daily requirements.

- Discontinued all clinical rotations at local healthcare facilities and to this effect, students are now required to participate in online video case-studies and presentations to enhance and support their clinical knowledge.
- All faculty members will be lecturing and testing offsite from their respective homes, and they will be monitored to meet all UTI expectations.
- Students will be given the opportunity to take a 'Leave of Absence' if they feel they cannot cope with any of the aforementioned expectations and requirements
- All students, faculty and staff have been thoroughly informed about the signs and symptoms of the virus including any and all steps for prevention and treatment as outlined by the Center for Disease Control (CDC).

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

First Responder Team:

- Two staff members have been approved and dedicated to attend to all issues related to IT Assets, online platform issues resolution, class facilitation and; compliance issues as it relates to communication with the students and staff as well as the regulatory bodies in this time of unforeseen outbreak:

        - 732-841-1095
    - Anne-marie Emanuel- Compliance and Communications Support
        - 347-430-6744

Communication Tree:

UTI recognizes that online Distance Learning Education is for a limited time. It is our sincere intention to offer a robust and comprehensive program for the duration of the interruption. We further understand that no formal approval is required by the accrediting bodies or DOE. However, because UTI is a clock-hour based program, we are reaching out to your office for approval and assistance during this transition.

Support Contacts at US Department of Education:

we have some school districts reaching out about 2018-2019 grant funds that will expire at the end of September. Some districts have grant balances from funds that started July 1, 2018. They have plans that have been in place and approved for using the funds, but some of the activities were to be executed through this school year and summer.

What can we do as an agency to request a longer period of availability (if that is even an option) for these dying grant funds? Or, will the US Department of Education be understanding if states have to return grant funds that were unused because of the current circumstances that are causing disruptions?

The best examples I can share:
Cancelled Professional Development that uses Title II-A funds.
Cancelled additional tutoring services provided using Title I-A funds.
Cancelled Parent and Family Engagement activities that use Title I-A, and Title III funds.

An additional question specific to school closures and staff pay:
Some districts/schools in Wyoming are closing for 2-3 weeks in lieu of COVID-19 precautions. State and local funds will still pay contract teachers. The question from one of our districts is: can federal funds continue to pay contracted teachers (such as Title I teachers) during these closure events? What about hourly paid federally funded staff, such as Title I tutors, paraprofessionals, and district Consolidated Grant Managers?

Our team would like to allow this, but we need guidance from the US Department of Education since time and effort requirements are a consideration with federal grant funds. We have found CFR 200.431, where if an agency has granted authorized leave (ie, emergency leave categorized under fringe benefits) the staff may be paid if there is a policy written around that leave. We are wondering if that is the category this pay would stem from?

Sincerely,
Jess

To whom it may concern,

The March 5, 2020 USDE Electronic Announcement indicates that a student may take a Leave of Absence (LOA) of up to 180 days due to the Coronavirus. Current USDE regulations state that an LOA cannot exceed 180 days in any 12 month period of time. Our question is that if a student had previously taken a six month LOA from 8/1/19 – 2/1/20, does the LOA language in the March 5, 2020 EA, allow the student to take an additional 180 day LOA due to the coronavirus, even in cases where this would cause the student to exceed the 180 days in any 12 month period of time LOA USDE regulation?

Thank you in advance for your response!

I have a few questions regarding the course of which our academics is attempting to meet all course learning outcomes in light of our current environment with COVID. Please see my questions below. I greatly appreciate your assistance.

- How will seat time be treated if a course is completed earlier than anticipated? This would come into effect if a student were to complete all of the courses for which they are registered prior to the normally scheduled term.
- What if a student were to have a skills assessment in order to satisfy course learning outcomes; much like a challenged course. This is really only being done in order to minimize students from the need to be on campus for those programs that can only be completed in-person. This is the case for our trades programs (welding, diesel, auto, aviation, machining).
    - I understand that normally this would be treated as a challenged course and no aid would be available. However, this course of action is due to the extraordinary circumstances we are all facing at this time.

Just minutes ago, I was actually made aware that the Chief Academic Officers in Montana were discussing attempting to complete all coursework by April 24th. This is apparently the timeframe that has been calculated as to when the virus will truly hit the state with full force. Even if we are offering online courses, it still is not optimal for students who are truly sick.

Stay well,

Hello,

This email is from Advanced Barber College and we would like some insight on our plans for next week. Our licencing agency TDLR has given us permission to use distance learning to keep large crowds from forming. We could have upwards of 100 students, faculty, and customers in a building at a time. So this being said are we allowed to give the students the six hours they are scheduled if they finish the assigned work sent by email? If so how long is this going to be allowed?

I appreciate your response to the matter, we just want to be safe but also still be able to function and pay our employees their wages.

Hello,

We are a clock-hour school that has been forced to close until 3/31/2020 due to COVID-19. Regarding the Department's guidance on 3/5/2020, I wanted to clarify the need for R2T4. Since we are clock-hour and therefore BBAY, each students' payment period will not end until they actually reach hours (and the number of weeks) in their payment period. Since they won't be attending for the next two weeks, none of their payment periods will end because they will not be accumulating hours. Therefore we should not need to do R2T4 for anyone UNLESS we reopen and a student does not return, correct?

Subject: Coronovirus Interruptions

Hi – I have some questions regarding the 3/5/20 electronic announcement regarding interruptions resulting from Coronavirus. Many of our clients have continued normal operations during the Coronavirus outbreak including beginning new terms and new students. Some clients have starts all throughout the year such as monthly. Some of these clients are now considering changes such as moving to online distance education in order to allow students to continue their education without interruption. The 3/5/20 electronic announcement states "These instructions do not contemplate accommodations for students who have not yet enrolled or whose term has not yet begun, with certain exceptions." This has led to a number of questions:

If a client makes the decision to change their operations, are they permitted to apply the 3/5/20 electronic announcement to all students currently enrolled including those that may have started after the 3/5/20 electronic announcement? For example, if a school had a start on 3/9/20 and they make a decision today to move to online education, can they apply ED's guidance from the 3/5/20 electronic announcement to those students that started on 3/9/20?

How should a college handle a new class of students scheduled to begin in the future? For example, a college has a new class scheduled to start on 3/23/20. Is the school permitted to allow those students to begin on 3/23/20 and apply the 3/5/20 guidance to that group? For example, if the college made the decision to move to online distance education, would it be permissible to provide instruction to these new starts through distance education if the program had not previously been approved for distance education?

Cancelling all upcoming new starts will be a hardship on some of our clients. Are they permitted to continue normal operations regarding enrollment of new students and allow those students to begin classes under their modified format such as using distance education for a program that had not previously been approved for distance education?

If a student had previously attended and withdrawn, can they be allowed to re-enter and resume their education even if the re-entry date is after the 3/5/20 electronic announcement? Is the school able to apply the 3/5/20 electronic announcement guidance to these re-entry students? For example, a student wants to return on 3/23/20 to resume their education. However, the school which was not previously approved for distance education has made the decision to move to online instruction to avoid interruptions. Would this student be allowed to re-enter in the distance education format or would they need to postpone their return date until the school returns to normal ground-based instruction?

Any guidance you can provide on the questions above is greatly appreciated.

We are receiving many inquiries such as the one below for the subgrantees ability to use migrant funds to pay salaries when schools are closed. More and more counties are closing. This would be salaries for recruiters, after school programs and cancelation fees for hotels etc...

Migrant is a unique program and we need confirmation that we can pay for services not rendered due to the pandemic.

I understand Nevada closed all their schools. California is slowly closing schools county by county as each local area is making that determination.

Subgrantees are seeking direction on the use of migrant funds.

I know you are gathering questions and appreciate your prompt response.

- Can OME waive the face to face ID&R interview requirement?
- Could ID&R be done by phone?
- What about the signature? Can it be waived, obtain by mail?

Subject: COVID-19 question

Good Morning,

I am seeking clarification regarding new enrollments and re-entry students after the implementation of a temporary online course delivery due to the COVID-19 outbreak. Spartan College operates on a rolling/continuous start model where new and re-entry students begin classes every few weeks. The ED guidance released March 5th appears to have been written using a traditional semester-based model and does not speak to rolling starts. Given the fluid situation of this outbreak, are any updates expected? Do you know how schools like ours are dealing with this?

1. The COVID-19 ED guidance addressed students enrolled as of 3/5.
    a. For new students that began posting attendance for the first time after 3/5/20, can they be part of the transfer to modified online instruction along with students that were posting attendance on or before 3/5?
    b. In an effort to cause minimal or no disruption, we proceeded with traditional educational delivery for our students who began on March 9thand March 16th with the anticipation that the impact of the COVID-19 virus would pass. Given that the virus now has far reaching implications, we are beginning the implementation phase of the online alternative to all students.

2. Our plan is to use synchronous instruction via Zoom and/or Canvas teleconference. Students will be participating during the scheduled class time, but from home via video teleconference.

3. Does the fact that our delivery will be provided via synchronous learning change the guidance related to moving to a distance learning model rather than standard distance learning using an asynchronous model?

We are well equipped to teach the online format as we already deliver an online Hybrid program at one of our campuses which is approved by the FAA, our accreditor, and our state agency.

Thank you for your response. Follow up question: We have gone to an online modality for classes but the campus is considered "open" and "fully operational". Are we still able to pay FWS students who do not work their hours? Our students have been offered the option to work (if they are local) but for those who are not and have gone home (due to closing of the resident's halls), they are unable. Should they be getting paid?

Good morning,

In response to COVID-19, our institution has decided to begin our final 1920 term 1 week later and end 1 week later. We will not be shortening our year, but we will be offering all online instruction for the next few weeks or longer if we need to keep the campus closed. We contacted our school participation team in San Francisco to make sure we didn't need special permission to change our period of enrollment dates, and they referred us to you. Please advise.

Subject: Extended Spring Break due to COVID-19

Hello,
Huntington University is switching to an online teaching format to complete the rest of the spring semester. To prepare our faculty and campus for this adjustment, spring break has been extended two days. Before this occurred, we had completed a handful of return of Title 4 calculations (R2T4) for students who had withdrawn from our spring semester. These withdrawals occurred before any changes to our spring break were made so the published spring break dates were used in the R2T4 calculations.

We now have a student who has just withdrawn and an R2T4 needs to be completed. It seems appropriate to use the updated spring break dates, since the break will now be two days longer. However, using the longer spring break dates would cause the number of days in the semester to be different than our previous R2T4 calculations.

Can it be confirmed if we should use the longer spring break dates for this current R2T4, or should we use the original published spring break dates? If we are to use the updated spring break dates, can the previous R2T4 calculations we completed be considered correct based on the spring break dates that were in place at the time in R2T4 calculation was completed? Meaning, we just want to confirm we do not have to redo any previous R2T4 calculations that were completed on the original spring break dates, as they were correct at the time.

Thank you for clarification on this,

Subject: Extending Spring Term with overlap of summer

Hello,

With the COVID-19 updates, our university administration is looking into extending our Spring 2020 term to incorporate time to host clinical time, internships, etc. our current term is a 17 standard week term ending May 8. Summer term begins May 11th. As we know, adding two weeks to Spring 2020 would overlap with Summer 2020 therefore creating a non term. Our goal is to extend the semester, yet keep within standard term. We've heard there's accommodations for the overlaps due to COVID-19. Is this true and possible?

If so, do we need to notify our school participation term or notify (if at all)?

Thank you for your help with this. Your response is appreciated.

Subject: Federal Work Study clarification

Hi all,

In the language provided on the flexibility in paying FWS students who are not able to work due to the COVID-19. The language implies that the institution needs to remain fair and equitable as follows:

For students enrolled and performing FWS at a campus that must close due to COVID-19, or for a FWS student who is employed by an employer that closes as a result of COVID-19, the institution may continue paying the student Federal work-study wages during that closure if it occurred after the beginning of the term, the institution is continuing to pay its other employees (including faculty and staff), and the institution continues to meet its institutional wage share requirement.

My question is: Are institutions required to pay non-federal work study students for work not performed the same as FWS?

Thanks,

Sarah

Hello
My name is Eve and I am a work study student at a local community college.
I'm wondering why the school isn't paying us for the time being?
According to the link:
https://ifap.ed.gov/electronic-announcements/030520Guidance4interruptionsrelated2CoronavirusCOVID19
The school should be paying us since we aren't being able to work but I don't think the school is paying us or we can work from home.
For me, FWS is one of my main income to pay bills and I'm not gonna be able to look for another job while going to school and especially at this time of covid-19.
I need this matter to be take seriously and fwd it to someone higher who's In charge,pls.
The way that I'm being treated is unfair because the website clearly states some instructions.

We are currently having discussions regarding extending the length of the Spring term by two days. I would like to know how this would affect R2T4 calculations as well as cost of attendance.

Dear Sir/Madam,

At the University of Amsterdam (School code 837700) in the Netherlands, we had to move all education online due to COVID-19.

Seeing that we are a foreign school with Title IV, the implications for our Direct Loan students appear to be disastrous. The last communication I could find from IFAP is the following:

> Foreign Schools
> We cannot extend flexibility regarding the use of distance learning to foreign schools since the Higher Education Act does not permit foreign schools to provide distance learning to U.S. students who participate in Title IV, HEA programs. We continue to consider if there are any other flexibilities we could extend to foreign schools that temporarily close due to COVID-19.

I was hoping to receive an update regarding steps we need to take. It is not clear for the communication. Do I need to report all our students as withdrawn and file and R2T4? Even if we re-open within this payment period?

I hope you understand that this will have a major impact on those students, putting them in immediate financial distress and possibly forcing them to discontinue their degree. We are very much hoping that there will be further flexibilities regarding foreign schools with Title IV eligibility.

In any case: please assist us in the next step. Hoping to hear from you soon.

Hi There,

As the global crisis of COVID-19 takes charge, I am reaching out to gain some understanding of what we as a foreign school we can or can't do in regards to students with Title IV, Federal Loan funds.

The University of Western Australia will be hosting the majority of our face to face class teaching to online lectures and tutorials as of Monday 23rd March which means no Face to face classes on campus.

This off course does not comply with the Title IV Education Act for distance learning.

- What is are the measure we can take to assist the student we have enrolled with us to ensure that they are supported?
- What is the US Government doing about student who are currently residing in foreign countries due to Exchange programs and study etc?
- What advice can we provide our students to ensure we are not providing misguided information that they maybe receiving through their channels in the US?
- Are students expected to withdraw and return back to the US?

I have attached the information presented on IFAP but need further assistance in relation to foreign schools and next steps with student loan, NSLDS Reporting etc.

Kind regards

Subject: Guidance for interruptions of study related to Coronavirus (COVID-19)

This electronic announcement addresses concerns expressed by higher education leaders regarding how they should comply with Title IV, Higher Education Act (HEA) policies for students whose activities are impacted by Coronavirus (COVID-19), either directly because the student is ill or quarantined, or indirectly because the student was recalled from travel-abroad experiences, can no longer participate in internships or clinical rotations, or attends a campus that temporarily suspended operations. This information provides flexibilities for schools that are working to help students complete the term in which they are currently enrolled.

These instructions do not contemplate accommodations for students who have not yet enrolled or whose term has not yet begun, with certain exceptions. We will continue to monitor the situation and make a later determination of what accommodations may be necessary should longer-term interruptions become likely. We will continue to provide updates to this information as appropriate.

We encourage institutions to visit the Department's Coronavirus webpage, https://www.ed.gov/coronavirus?src=feature, on this topic frequently, as we will post updates as they become available. In addition, the Department's webpage has links to guidance from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, including for how Institutions of Higher Education should manage human health risks associated with Coronavirus.

We address five potential student and campus scenarios: that may prompt an institution to have questions about how to comply with Title IV, HEA requirements if the Coronavirus impacts a student or a campus:

- A student was enrolled or was supposed to begin a travel-abroad experience and either the student has been called back to the U.S. or was never able to begin

the travel abroad experience;

- A student was enrolled in a program and met the requirements for full-time enrollment; however, due to the COVID-19, one or more classes – such as an internship, a clinical rotation, student teaching or fieldwork – have been cancelled and now the student has fallen below the 12 credit hour minimum and is no longer considered to be a full-time student;
- A student is quarantined and misses class or a student is incapacitated due to COVID-19 illness;
- A campus temporarily stops offering ground-based classes in order to prevent the spread of COVID-19;
- A foreign school that serves U.S. students who participate in title IV programs temporarily suspends operations due to COVID-19.

We offer information below about options we are making available to institutions under our current statutory authority to provide as much flexibility as possible so that you can continue to serve students. In some instances, we have been asked to consider providing flexibilities that are beyond our statutory authority. As a result, we cannot provide those flexibilities. If you have questions about the information provided in this electronic announcement, or you are encountering a scenario that we have not addressed, please email the Department at COVID-19@ed.gov.

We recommend that institutions document, as contemporaneously as possible, any actions taken as a result of COVID-19, including those actions described in this document.

Accommodating Students Whose Enrollment is Disrupted by Coronavirus

Our goal is to work with institutions and find ways to enable you to accommodate students and help them continue their education despite interruptions caused by COVID-19. For many institutions, online education will provide a viable option for continuing to teach students through COVID-19-related interruptions. In some instances, students enrolled in ground-based programs at campuses that must temporarily close could participate in distance education for a period of time and then resume ground-based attendance when the campus reopens. In other instances, an institution may provide online learning opportunities for a student who was recalled from a travel-abroad program but the student is too late into the semester to enroll in other classes offered by the home campus, or the student who arrived in a foreign country intending to complete a travel abroad experience finds that the program has now been cancelled or temporarily suspended. We are providing the following flexibilities to institutions to help them understand what options they can make available to students and remain in compliance with Title IV requirements.

Approval to Offer Distance Education

The Department is providing broad approval to institutions to use online technologies to accommodate students on a temporary basis, without going through the regular approval process of the Department in the event that an institution is otherwise required to seek Departmental approval for the use or expansion of distance learning programs. This flexibility only applies to a program during a payment period that overlaps the date of this electronic announcement or the following payment period. If an institution chooses to continue offering a new program or use distance education in a manner requiring the Department's approval after that point, it must seek approval under the Department's normal process.

We are also permitting accreditors to waive their distance education review requirements for institutions working to accommodate students whose enrollment is otherwise interrupted as a result of COVID-19. We currently are limiting that permission to distance learning opportunities developed for the purpose of serving students who were already in attendance, but whose attendance was interrupted by COVID-19. Please note that this flexibility is not available for clock-hour courses that lead to licensure if the licensure body will not accept distance learning courses or hours or give credit for them toward the number of hours a student must complete.

We want to make clear to institutions that for Title IV, HEA purposes, distance learning does not require the use of sophisticated learning management systems or online platforms, though accreditors may have additional standards included in their review of distance learning programs. We are, however, permitting accreditors to waive those standards for schools implementing distance learning programs solely for the purpose of allowing currently enrolled students to complete a term that is interrupted by COVID-19 closures. To meet the Department's requirements for providing distance education, an institution must communicate to students through one of several types of technology – including email – described under 34 CFR § 600.2, and instructors must initiate substantive communication with students, either individually or collectively, on a regular basis. In other words, an instructor could use email to provide instructional materials to students enrolled in his or her class, use chat features to communicate with students, set up conference calls to facilitate group conversations, engage in email exchanges or require students to submit work electronically that the instructor will evaluate.

Institutions may provide distance learning temporarily to accommodate students as a result of a COVID-19 interruption, including in cases where students began attendance in classes offered in a brick-and-mortar setting but were transitioned to a distance education format in the middle of the term. In these cases, we will accept the accreditation and state authorization of the institution for the programs in which those students were enrolled prior to the interruption due to COVID-19 to enable students to complete the current term.

Institutions may also enter into temporary consortium agreements with other institutions so that students can complete courses at other institutions but be awarded credit by their home institution. In addition, in instances where accrediting agencies require students to complete a final number or percentage of credits in residence at the institution, accrediting agencies may waive that requirement for students impacted by COVID-19 without objection by the Department.

The Department will permit students who wish to take an approved leave of absence for COVID-19-related concerns or limitations (such as interruption of a travel-abroad program), to take such leave, even if the student notifies the institution in writing after the approved leave of absence has begun. In such a case, the institution may retain those Title IV funds to apply when the student continues enrollment. If the student does not return to complete their program within 180 days, the school would then be expected to perform the Return of Title IV funds calculation based on the date on which the leave-of-absence began. Note that in term-based programs, if a student takes an approved leave of absence from a term-based program, the institution must ensure that the student is permitted to complete the coursework he or she began prior to the leave of absence.

Finally, because we understand that some students may have been recalled from travel abroad programs or canceled-out of experiential learning opportunities after the semester began, institutions may offer courses to those students on a schedule that would otherwise be considered a non-standard term, if doing so enables those students to complete the term. These flexibilities will also be provided to institutions, or their additional locations or programs, that must temporarily close as a result of COVID-19.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Foreign Schools

We cannot extend flexibility regarding the use of distance learning to foreign schools since the Higher Education Act does not permit foreign schools to provide distance learning to U.S. students who participate in Title IV, HEA programs. We continue to consider if there are any other flexibilities we could extend to foreign schools that temporarily close due to COVID-19.

Federal Work Study (FWS)

Federal law includes a provision allowing an institution to make FWS payments under certain limited circumstances to disaster-affected students who are unable to continue working. Given the unique nature of this situation, it is unlikely that an entire region would be declared a Federal disaster area, yet to students enrolled at a campus that must close temporarily, the loss of this important form of financial aid can be devastating. The impact may be magnified if the institution accommodates students by providing alternative instructional opportunities and the student is required to continue paying tuition, but the student loses FWS as an important part of their financial aid award. For students enrolled and performing FWS at a campus that must close due to COVID-19, or for a FWS student who is employed by an employer that closes as a result of COVID-19, the institution may continue paying the student Federal work-study wages during that closure if it occurred after the beginning of the term, the institution is continuing to pay its other employees (including faculty and staff), and the institution continues to meet its institutional wage share requirement. Students who were prevented from beginning a term at the institution as a result of a COVID-19-related disruption would not be eligible for Federal Student Aid for that term, and therefore could not be paid FWS wages for hours they did not work. Graduate students who are paid FWS wages on salary may continue to be paid for the remainder of the term if the institution is also paying its faculty and staff during that period. In these instances, institutions should document (as contemporaneously as feasible) that the COVID-19 disruption was the reason the student received FWS funds without documentation of hours worked.

Length of Academic Year

The Department is authorized under 34 CFR § 668.3 to approve a reduced academic year. If at any point an institution determines it will close as the result of a campus health emergency, it may contact the School Participation team to request a temporary reduction in the length of its academic year.

Professional Judgement

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Financial aid administrators (FAA) have statutory authority to use professional judgement to make adjustments on a case-by-case basis to the cost of attendance or to the data elements used in calculating the EFC to reflect a student's special circumstances. The use of professional judgement where students and/or their families have been affected by COVID-19 is permitted, such as in the case where an employer closes for a period of time as a result of COVID-19. In making professional judgement determinations, FAAs must obtain documentation and retain it in each student's file. This documentation must substantiate the reason for any adjustment. Institutions are reminded that, regardless of how broadly an event may affect its student population, professional judgement determinations must be made and documented on a case-by-case basis.

Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP)

An institution's SAP appeal policy (34 CFR § 668.34(a)(9)) must, among other things, describe the basis on which a student may file an appeal: the death of a relative, an injury or illness of the student, or other special circumstances. Circumstances related to an outbreak of COVID-19, including, but not limited to, the illness of a student or family member, compliance with a quarantine period, or the general disruption resulting from such an outbreak may form the basis of a student's SAP appeal even if not specifically articulated in the institution's SAP policy.

Students Who Did Not Begin Attendance

We are aware that many U.S. students enrolled in eligible foreign institutions and in study abroad programs offered by domestic institutions have already been affected by local outbreaks of COVID-19 and the measures taken by institutions in response. Of immediate concern are those students who travelled to overseas destinations but were unable to begin classes due to school closures. There may also be instances where students at domestic institutions are similarly affected and unable to begin classes. Because these students did not begin attendance in a payment period or period of enrollment, 34 CFR § 668.21 (rather than Return of Title IV Funds) applies. In such a situation, the institution must return all Title IV grant funds disbursed for the payment period or period of enrollment and all Direct Loan funds that were credited to the student's account at the institution for that period. The institution must also return Direct Loan funds in the amount of payments made directly by or on behalf of the student to the institution for the period, up to the total amount of the loan funds disbursed. The institution is not responsible for returning Direct Loan funds that were disbursed directly to the student in the form of a credit balance as long as the institution was not aware that the student would not attend prior to the disbursement, and students will be able to repay those funds as a part of their educational loans. In these circumstances, institutions are permitted, but not required, to return all of a student's Direct Loan funds, including the amount comprising the credit balance.

Normally institutions, once aware that a student will not begin or has not begun attendance, must notify the loan servicer which results in issuance of a final demand letter to the borrower. However, we have determined that in the case where a student was unable to begin attendance due to a COVID-19-related school closure, the provisions of 34 CFR § 668.21(a)(2)(ii), requiring the institution to notify the servicer of that student's failure to begin attendance, do not apply because the option for the student to begin attendance did not exist. Accordingly, the institution should not notify the servicer that the student did not begin attendance. He or she will be permitted to repay any Direct Loan funds received under the terms of the promissory note. This will also prevent a student from being required to enter repayment within six months of withdrawing if the student withdrew as a result of a Coronavirus-related interruption.

Enrollment Status Changes

We do not have the authority to waive the requirement to award or disburse Title IV funds based on a student's actual enrollment status. For example, assuming an institution defines full-time enrollment as 12 credit hours, when a full-time student enrolled for 12 credit hours drops or withdraws from three credits, that student is now enrolled at three-quarter time status. However, we remind institutions that for Direct Loans, the institution must only confirm at least half-time enrollment status as of the time of disbursement. It is not necessary to recalculate a student's Direct Loan eligibility based on changes in enrollment status that occur after the institution originates a Direct Loan. For enrollment status changes that occur after an institution's established Pell Grant recalculation (census) date, we do not require recalculation. Note that the student must have begun attendance in all courses comprising the enrollment status on which the Pell Grant payment was based.

Return of Title IV Funds

Even in the case of a disruption from COVID-19, an institution must return any Title IV funds for which it is responsible in accordance with the provisions of 34 CFR § 668.22 when a student withdraws. Currently, we do not have the authority to waive the statutory requirement for the return of unearned Title IV funds in the case where a student (who receives Title IV assistance) withdraws from an institution during a payment period or period of enrollment after having begun attendance. However, the guidance provided below explains the requirements for performing Return of Title IV Funds calculations in situations where an institution has temporarily ceased operations as a result of a COVID-19 disruption.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Definition of a Withdrawal Date

If an institution ceases operation during a payment period and fails to reopen by the end of that payment period, its students are considered no longer in attendance and must be considered withdrawn for that payment period or period of enrollment, and would be subject to Return of Title IV funds requirements. Similarly, if an institution closes and subsequently reopens during a payment period, any students who began attendance during that payment period but failed to return when the institution reopens must be considered withdrawn for that payment period. If the institution is required to take attendance, the withdrawal date is the last day of documented attendance prior to the closure. If the institution is not required to take attendance, the institution can use any applicable option under 34 CFR § 668.22(c), including the midpoint of the payment period or period of enrollment under 34 CFR § 668.2(c)(1)(iii) or, because the closure was a circumstance that the student could not control under 34 CFR § 668.22(c)(1)(iv), the date that the institution ceased operation. When determining the number of days in the payment period or period of enrollment (the denominator of the calculation), the institution should include all the days that the student was scheduled to attend during that period on the date of the withdrawal. For a clock-hour program, an institution should not include as “scheduled hours” any hours on days that it was closed.

Date of Determination and Timeframes for Returns

Normally, if a student does not provide notification to an institution of his/her withdrawal, the date of determination that the student has withdrawn is the date that the institution becomes aware that the student ceased attendance. This is, in most cases when an institution closes for reasons beyond its control, the date of the closure. Therefore, the timeframes for completing Return of Title IV Funds calculations and making the appropriate returns or post-withdrawal disbursements begin on that date (e.g. 30 days to perform the calculation, 45 days to return the funds, etc.).

Reentering the Same Payment Period

If an institution that has closed subsequently reopens during the same payment period or period of enrollment, and permits students to continue coursework that they were taking at the time of the closure, students that return to class at that time are considered to have reentered the same period and retain eligibility for Title IV aid that they were otherwise eligible to receive before the closure. If a student in this situation subsequently withdraws, the institution must exclude the number of days that it was closed (if the closure was for at least five consecutive days, in combination with weekends or other scheduled breaks) from both the number of days the student completed and the total number of days in the payment period or period of enrollment. If the institution altered the number of days in the payment period or period of enrollment following the closure (e.g. if it adds days to the term to make up for the time when it was closed), the institution should use the new number of days in the student's Return of Title IV funds calculation.

NSLDS Enrollment Reporting

In general, when a student withdraws during a payment period, the effective date for the withdrawn ('W') status for enrollment reporting purposes is the withdrawal date used by the institution in accordance with 34 CFR § 668.22(b) or (c). However, notwithstanding the requirement that the institution perform a Return of Title IV funds calculation for students when an institution unexpectedly ceases operation during a payment period and fails to reopen during that payment period, we permit an institution to defer reporting an affected student's enrollment status as "withdrawn" in these circumstances when the institution has a reasonable expectation that—

1. The institution will reopen at the start of a payment period that begins no later than 90 days following the closure; and

2. The student will resume attendance when the institution reopens.

In these cases, the institution should continue reporting the most recent enrollment status that it reported for the affected student prior to the closure. If the student does not resume attendance as expected, the institution must change the student's enrollment status to "withdrawn" using the student's actual withdrawal date as the enrollment status effective date.

While the coronavirus threat to the American public remains low, we encourage school communities to take all steps to ensure the health and well-being of students, faculty, and staff. We established the website, https://www.ed.gov/coronavirus?src=feature, to provide general information and guidance for school communities, including links to information posted by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. We appreciate your cooperation and welcome any additional questions at COVID-19@ed.gov.

Dear Sir/Madam,
I would like to inquire about more information on what are recommended steps for foreign schools which are temporarily closed due to COVID-19 outbreak. Our school is closed since 12 March: https://www.muni.cz/en/coronavirus Our Rector's decision followed governmental order to close down all schools, which was followed by further closings and limitations of public life, ending now in state quarantine.

In Guidance for interruptions of study related to Coronavirus (https://ifap.ed.gov/electronic-announcements/030520Guidance4interruptionsrelated2CoronavirusCOVID19) we have learned the flexibility of use of distance learning does not apply to foreign schools, however, since then we could not find any more updates or information on how should we proceed. Furthermore, there are students who have not been disbursed their aid yet due to various reasons. We are unsure how to proceed in their case as well.

I would be very grateful for any information or direction whom to contact with these questions.
Thank you very much in advance,
With my best regards,

Dear Dr. Walker,

Please be advised that, out of great concern for the welfare of our students, faculty, staff and community at large, Universal Training Institute, is taking some initial steps towards the prevention of the COVID-19 virus within our immediate environment.

UTI has therefore updated our Emergency Preparedness Plan to mediate some of the concerns and issues the COVID-19 virus has presented to our campus. The goal of this plan is to accommodate students and help them continue their education despite the interruptions caused by COVID-19.

We also request approval to enable us transition to online platform for classes and academic activities and we have attached the request for your review. We have forwarded the same request to our Accrediting Agency and the Department of Labor for processing.

Thank you for your continued support particularly in this difficult period.

Sincerely.

Support Contacts at US Department of Education:

we have some school districts reaching out about 2018-2019 grant funds that will expire at the end of September. Some districts have grant balances from funds that started July 1, 2018. They have plans that have been in place and approved for using the funds, but some of the activities were to be executed through this school year and summer.

What can we do as an agency to request a longer period of availability (if that is even an option) for these dying grant funds? Or, will the US Department of Education be understanding if states have to return grant funds that were unused because of the current circumstances that are causing disruptions?

The best examples I can share:
Cancelled Professional Development that uses Title II-A funds.
Cancelled additional tutoring services provided using Title I-A funds.
Cancelled Parent and Family Engagement activities that use Title I-A, and Title III funds.

An additional question specific to school closures and staff pay:
Some districts/schools in Wyoming are closing for 2-3 weeks in lieu of COVID-19 precautions. State and local funds will still pay contract teachers. The question from one of our districts is: can federal funds continue to pay contracted teachers (such as Title I teachers) during these closure events? What about hourly paid federally funded staff, such as Title I tutors, paraprofessionals, and district Consolidated Grant Managers?

Our team would like to allow this, but we need guidance from the US Department of Education since time and effort requirements are a consideration with federal grant funds. We have found CFR 200.431, where if an agency has granted authorized leave (ie, emergency leave categorized under fringe benefits) the staff may be paid if there is a policy written around that leave. We are wondering if that is the category this pay would stem from?

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Jess

To whom it may concern,

The March 5, 2020 USDE Electronic Announcement indicates that a student may take a Leave of Absence (LOA) of up to 180 days due to the Coronavirus. Current USDE regulations state that an LOA cannot exceed 180 days in any 12 month period of time. Our question is that if a student had previously taken a six month LOA from 8/1/19 – 2/1/20, does the LOA language in the March 5, 2020 EA, allow the student to take an additional 180 day LOA due to the coronavirus, even in cases where this would cause the student to exceed the 180 days in any 12 month period of time LOA USDE regulation?

I have a few questions regarding the course of which our academics is attempting to meet all course learning outcomes in light of our current environment with COVID. Please see my questions below. I greatly appreciate your assistance.

- How will seat time be treated if a course is completed earlier than anticipated? This would come into effect if a student were to complete all of the courses for which they are registered prior to the normally scheduled term.
- What if a student were to have a skills assessment in order to satisfy course learning outcomes; much like a challenged course. This is really only being done in order to minimize students from the need to be on campus for those programs that can only be completed in-person. This is the case for our trades programs (welding, diesel, auto, aviation, machining).
    - I understand that normally this would be treated as a challenged course and no aid would be available. However, this course of action is due to the extraordinary circumstances we are all facing at this time.

Just minutes ago, I was actually made aware that the Chief Academic Officers in Montana were discussing attempting to complete all coursework by April 24th. This is apparently the timeframe that has been calculated as to when the virus will truly hit the state with full force. Even if we are offering online courses, it still is not optimal for students who are truly sick.

Stay well,

I recently became our primary contact on Titles I and II and want to make sure that I did not miss any recent communications, particularly pertaining to flexibilities being extended to states due to COVID.
Thanks so much,

Hi Stephanie,

Thanks for reaching out! I look forward to working with you.

The only question that I have at this time is whether there have been any communications about delays, suspensions, or holds on any ESEA requirements due to COVID-19? I was on the call last week that was jointly held by CCSSO, USDE, OCR, FCC, and a couple of other agencies. But I was not sure if there has been any other communications directly from ED?

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

I recently became our primary contact on Titles I and II and want to make sure that I did not miss any recent communications, particularly pertaining to flexibilities being extended to states due to COVID.
Thanks so much,

Good Afternoon,

I have verbally been instructed by our Dallas School Participation Team to direct clarification questions regarding the COVID-19 guidance published on 3/5/20 to this email address (federalstudentaid@ed.gov). I am also sending to COVID-19@ed.gov due to guidance received from the National Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators (NASFAA).

In the electronic announcement, it states that "If at any point an institution determines it will close as the result of a campus health emergency, it may contact the School Participation team to request a temporary reduction in the length of its academic year." Our institution, as well as many others, have decided to extend spring break (cancel classes) for an additional week and to offer classes remotely only for the two weeks following that break. For now, the plan is to begin offering normal classes after that timeframe but, as you know, that depends on how our community is effected by COVID-19. Also, if institutions are required to notify the Department of their closure plans, please know you can find that evolving information for our institution anytime at https://www.txstate.edu/coronavirus.

The question we have is do we have to extend our term end date to make up those days classes are cancelled? Or is the intent of this Electronic Announcement flexibility there to enable institutions to end on the original term end date (essentially it will shorten the term)?

Please know that we are aware of and have educated ourselves on the published guidance from ED thus far, including the COVID-19 ("Coronavirus") Information and Resources for Schools and School Personnel Website. This clarification would be most helpful to enable institutions to make decisions that will ultimately effect students' educational future.

Hello,

This email is from Advanced Barber College and we would like some insight on our plans for next week. Our licencing agency TDLR has given us permission to use distance learning to keep large crowds from forming. We could have upwards of 100 students, faculty, and customers in a building at a time. So this being said are we allowed to give the students the six hours they are scheduled if they finish the assigned work sent by email? If so how long is this going to be allowed?

I appreciate your response to the matter, we just want to be safe but also still be able to function and pay our employees their wages.

Hello,

We are a clock-hour school that has been forced to close until 3/31/2020 due to COVID-19. Regarding the Department's guidance on 3/5/2020, I wanted to clarify the need for R2T4. Since we are clock-hour and therefore BBAY, each students' payment period will not end until they actually reach hours (and the number of weeks) in their payment period. Since they won't be attending for the next two weeks, none of their payment periods will end because they will not be accumulating hours. Therefore we should not need to do R2T4 for anyone UNLESS we reopen and a student does not return, correct?

Subject: Coronovirus Interruptions

Hi – I have some questions regarding the 3/5/20 electronic announcement regarding interruptions resulting from Coronavirus. Many of our clients have continued normal operations during the Coronavirus outbreak including beginning new terms and new students. Some clients have starts all throughout the year such as monthly. Some of these clients are now considering changes such as moving to online distance education in order to allow students to continue their education without interruption. The 3/5/20 electronic announcement states "These instructions do not contemplate accommodations for students who have not yet enrolled or whose term has not yet begun, with certain exceptions." This has led to a number of questions:

If a client makes the decision to change their operations, are they permitted to apply the 3/5/20 electronic announcement to all students currently enrolled including those that may have started after the 3/5/20 electronic announcement? For example, if a school had a start on 3/9/20 and they make a decision today to move to online education, can they apply ED's guidance from the 3/5/20 electronic announcement to those students that started on 3/9/20?

How should a college handle a new class of students scheduled to begin in the future? For example, a college has a new class scheduled to start on 3/23/20. Is the school permitted to allow those students to begin on 3/23/20 and apply the 3/5/20 guidance to that group? For example, if the college made the decision to move to online distance education, would it be permissible to provide instruction to these new starts through distance education if the program had not previously been approved for distance education?

Cancelling all upcoming new starts will be a hardship on some of our clients. Are they permitted to continue normal operations regarding enrollment of new students and allow those students to begin classes under their modified format such as using distance education for a program that had not previously been approved for distance education?

If a student had previously attended and withdrawn, can they be allowed to re-enter and resume their education even if the re-entry date is after the 3/5/20 electronic announcement? Is the school able to apply the 3/5/20 electronic announcement guidance to these re-entry students? For example, a student wants to return on 3/23/20 to resume their education. However, the school which was not previously approved for distance education has made the decision to move to online instruction to avoid interruptions. Would this student be allowed to re-enter in the distance education format or would they need to postpone their return date until the school returns to normal ground-based instruction?

Any guidance you can provide on the questions above is greatly appreciated.

Subject: COVID-19 question

Good Morning,

I am seeking clarification regarding new enrollments and re-entry students after the implementation of a temporary online course delivery due to the COVID-19 outbreak. Spartan College operates on a rolling/continuous start model where new and re-entry students begin classes every few weeks. The ED guidance released March 5th appears to have been written using a traditional semester-based model and does not speak to rolling starts. Given the fluid situation of this outbreak, are any updates expected? Do you know how schools like ours are dealing with this?

1. The COVID-19 ED guidance addressed students enrolled as of 3/5.
    a. For new students that began posting attendance for the first time after 3/5/20, can they be part of the transfer to modified online instruction along with students that were posting attendance on or before 3/5?
    b. In an effort to cause minimal or no disruption, we proceeded with traditional educational delivery for our students who began on March 9thand March 16th with the anticipation that the impact of the COVID-19 virus would pass. Given that the virus now has far reaching implications, we are beginning the implementation phase of the online alternative to all students.

2. Our plan is to use synchronous instruction via Zoom and/or Canvas teleconference. Students will be participating during the scheduled class time, but from home via video teleconference.

3. Does the fact that our delivery will be provided via synchronous learning change the guidance related to moving to a distance learning model rather than standard distance learning using an asynchronous model?

We are well equipped to teach the online format as we already deliver an online Hybrid program at one of our campuses which is approved by the FAA, our accreditor, and our state agency.

Thank you for your response. Follow up question: We have gone to an online modality for classes but the campus is considered "open" and "fully operational". Are we still able to pay FWS students who do not work their hours? Our students have been offered the option to work (if they are local) but for those who are not and have gone home (due to closing of the resident's halls), they are unable. Should they be getting paid?

Subject: Extended Spring Break due to COVID-19

Hello,
Huntington University is switching to an online teaching format to complete the rest of the spring semester. To prepare our faculty and campus for this adjustment, spring break has been extended two days. Before this occurred, we had completed a handful of return of Title 4 calculations (R2T4) for students who had withdrawn from our spring semester. These withdrawals occurred before any changes to our spring break were made so the published spring break dates were used in the R2T4 calculations.

We now have a student who has just withdrawn and an R2T4 needs to be completed. It seems appropriate to use the updated spring break dates, since the break will now be two days longer. However, using the longer spring break dates would cause the number of days in the semester to be different than our previous R2T4 calculations.

Can it be confirmed if we should use the longer spring break dates for this current R2T4, or should we use the original published spring break dates? If we are to use the updated spring break dates, can the previous R2T4 calculations we completed be considered correct based on the spring break dates that were in place at the time in R2T4 calculation was completed? Meaning, we just want to confirm we do not have to redo any previous R2T4 calculations that were completed on the original spring break dates, as they were correct at the time.

Thank you for clarification on this,

Hello,

With the COVID-19 updates, our university administration is looking into extending our Spring 2020 term to incorporate time to host clinical time, internships, etc. our current term is a 17 standard week term ending May 8. Summer term begins May 11th. As we know, adding two weeks to Spring 2020 would overlap with Summer 2020 therefore creating a non term. Our goal is to extend the semester, yet keep within standard term. We've heard there's accommodations for the overlaps due to COVID-19. Is this true and possible?

If so, do we need to notify our school participation term or notify (if at all)?

Thank you for your help with this. Your response is appreciated.

Hi all,

In the language provided on the flexibility in paying FWS students who are not able to work due to the COVID-19. The language implies that the institution needs to remain fair and equitable as follows:

For students enrolled and performing FWS at a campus that must close due to COVID-19, or for a FWS student who is employed by an employer that closes as a result of COVID-19, the institution may continue paying the student Federal work-study wages during that closure if it occurred after the beginning of the term, the institution is continuing to pay its other employees (including faculty and staff), and the institution continues to meet its institutional wage share requirement.

My question is: Are institutions required to pay non-federal work study students for work not performed the same as FWS?

Thanks,

Sarah

Hello
My name is Eve and I am a work study student at a local community college.
I'm wondering why the school isn't paying us for the time being?
According to the link:
https://ifap.ed.gov/electronic-announcements/030520Guidance4interruptionsrelated2CoronavirusCOVID19
The school should be paying us since we aren't being able to work but I don't think the school is paying us or we can work from home.
For me, FWS is one of my main income to pay bills and I'm not gonna be able to look for another job while going to school and especially at this time of covid-19.
I need this matter to be take seriously and fwd it to someone higher who's In charge,pls.
The way that I'm being treated is unfair because the website clearly states some instructions.

We are currently having discussions regarding extending the length of the Spring term by two days. I would like to know how this would affect R2T4 calculations as well as cost of attendance.

I'm most concerned with R2T4. Once we announce an extension, would we need to calculate any complete term WDs with the new term dates but students that withdrew prior to the announcement would be okay with the calculation that have already been completed?

Subject: Foreign School with Title IV - What to do?

Dear Sir/Madam,

At the University of Amsterdam (School code 837700) in the Netherlands, we had to move all education online due to COVID-19.

Seeing that we are a foreign school with Title IV, the implications for our Direct Loan students appear to be disastrous. The last communication I could find from IFAP is the following:

> Foreign Schools
> We cannot extend flexibility regarding the use of distance learning to foreign schools since the Higher Education Act does not permit foreign schools to provide distance learning to U.S. students who participate in Title IV, HEA programs. We continue to consider if there are any other flexibilities we could extend to foreign schools that temporarily close due to COVID-19.

I was hoping to receive an update regarding steps we need to take. It is not clear for the communication. Do I need to report all our students as withdrawn and file and R2T4? Even if we re-open within this payment period?

I hope you understand that this will have a major impact on those students, putting them in immediate financial distress and possibly forcing them to discontinue their degree. We are very much hoping that there will be further flexibilities regarding foreign schools with Title IV eligibility.

In any case: please assist us in the next step. Hoping to hear from you soon.

Hi There,

As the global crisis of COVID-19 takes charge, I am reaching out to gain some understanding of what we as a foreign school we can or can't do in regards to students with Title IV, Federal Loan funds.

The University of Western Australia will be hosting the majority of our face to face class teaching to online lectures and tutorials as of Monday 23rd March which means no Face to face classes on campus.

This off course does not comply with the Title IV Education Act for distance learning.

- What is are the measure we can take to assist the student we have enrolled with us to ensure that they are supported?
- What is the US Government doing about student who are currently residing in foreign countries due to Exchange programs and study etc?
- What advice can we provide our students to ensure we are not providing misguided information that they maybe receiving through their channels in the US?
- Are students expected to withdraw and return back to the US?

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

I have attached the information presented on IFAP but need further assistance in relation to foreign schools and next steps with student loan, NSLDS Reporting etc.

Kind regards
Sandra

Subject: Guidance for interruptions of study related to Coronavirus (COVID-19)

This electronic announcement addresses concerns expressed by higher education leaders regarding how they should comply with Title IV, Higher Education Act (HEA) policies for students whose activities are impacted by Coronavirus (COVID-19), either directly because the student is ill or quarantined, or indirectly because the student was recalled from travel-abroad experiences, can no longer participate in internships or clinical rotations, or attends a campus that temporarily suspended operations. This information provides flexibilities for schools that are working to help students complete the term in which they are currently enrolled.

These instructions do not contemplate accommodations for students who have not yet enrolled or whose term has not yet begun, with certain exceptions. We will continue to monitor the situation and make a later determination of what accommodations may be necessary should longer-term interruptions become likely. We will continue to provide updates to this information as appropriate.

We encourage institutions to visit the Department's Coronavirus webpage, https://www.ed.gov/coronavirus?src=feature, on this topic frequently, as we will post updates as they become available. In addition, the Department's webpage has links to guidance from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, including for how Institutions of Higher Education should manage human health risks associated with Coronavirus.

We address five potential student and campus scenarios: that may prompt an institution to have questions about how to comply with Title IV, HEA requirements if the Coronavirus impacts a student or a campus:

- A student was enrolled or was supposed to begin a travel-abroad experience and either the student has been called back to the U.S. or was never able to begin

the travel abroad experience;

- A student was enrolled in a program and met the requirements for full-time enrollment; however, due to the COVID-19, one or more classes – such as an internship, a clinical rotation, student teaching or fieldwork – have been cancelled and now the student has fallen below the 12 credit hour minimum and is no longer considered to be a full-time student;
- A student is quarantined and misses class or a student is incapacitated due to COVID-19 illness;
- A campus temporarily stops offering ground-based classes in order to prevent the spread of COVID-19;
- A foreign school that serves U.S. students who participate in title IV programs temporarily suspends operations due to COVID-19.

We offer information below about options we are making available to institutions under our current statutory authority to provide as much flexibility as possible so that you can continue to serve students. In some instances, we have been asked to consider providing flexibilities that are beyond our statutory authority. As a result, we cannot provide those flexibilities. If you have questions about the information provided in this electronic announcement, or you are encountering a scenario that we have not addressed, please email the Department at COVID-19@ed.gov.

We recommend that institutions document, as contemporaneously as possible, any actions taken as a result of COVID-19, including those actions described in this document.

Accommodating Students Whose Enrollment is Disrupted by Coronavirus

Our goal is to work with institutions and find ways to enable you to accommodate students and help them continue their education despite interruptions caused by COVID-19. For many institutions, online education will provide a viable option for continuing to teach students through COVID-19-related interruptions. In some instances, students enrolled in ground-based programs at campuses that must temporarily close could participate in distance education for a period of time and then resume ground-based attendance when the campus reopens. In other instances, an institution may provide online learning opportunities for a student who was recalled from a travel-abroad program but the student is too late into the semester to enroll in other classes offered by the home campus, or the student who arrived in a foreign country intending to complete a travel abroad experience finds that the program has now been cancelled or temporarily suspended. We are providing the following flexibilities to institutions to help them understand what options they can make available to students and remain in compliance with Title IV requirements.

Approval to Offer Distance Education

The Department is providing broad approval to institutions to use online technologies to accommodate students on a temporary basis, without going through the regular approval process of the Department in the event that an institution is otherwise required to seek Departmental approval for the use or expansion of distance learning programs. This flexibility only applies to a program during a payment period that overlaps the date of this electronic announcement or the following payment period. If an institution chooses to continue offering a new program or use distance education in a manner requiring the Department's approval after that point, it must seek approval under the Department's normal process.

We are also permitting accreditors to waive their distance education review requirements for institutions working to accommodate students whose enrollment is otherwise interrupted as a result of COVID-19. We currently are limiting that permission to distance learning opportunities developed for the purpose of serving students who were already in attendance, but whose attendance was interrupted by COVID-19. Please note that this flexibility is not available for clock-hour courses that lead to licensure if the licensure body will not accept distance learning courses or hours or give credit for them toward the number of hours a student must complete.

We want to make clear to institutions that for Title IV, HEA purposes, distance learning does not require the use of sophisticated learning management systems or online platforms, though accreditors may have additional standards included in their review of distance learning programs. We are, however, permitting accreditors to waive those standards for schools implementing distance learning programs solely for the purpose of allowing currently enrolled students to complete a term that is interrupted by COVID-19 closures. To meet the Department's requirements for providing distance education, an institution must communicate to students through one of several types of technology – including email – described under 34 CFR § 600.2, and instructors must initiate substantive communication with students, either individually or collectively, on a regular basis. In other words, an instructor could use email to provide instructional materials to students enrolled in his or her class, use chat features to communicate with students, set up conference calls to facilitate group conversations, engage in email exchanges or require students to submit work electronically that the instructor will evaluate.

Institutions may provide distance learning temporarily to accommodate students as a result of a COVID-19 interruption, including in cases where students began attendance in classes offered in a brick-and-mortar setting but were transitioned to a distance education format in the middle of the term. In these cases, we will accept the accreditation and state authorization of the institution for the programs in which those students were enrolled prior to the interruption due to COVID-19 to enable students to complete the current term.

Institutions may also enter into temporary consortium agreements with other institutions so that students can complete courses at other institutions but be awarded credit by their home institution. In addition, in instances where accrediting agencies require students to complete a final number or percentage of credits in residence at the institution, accrediting agencies may waive that requirement for students impacted by COVID-19 without objection by the Department.

The Department will permit students who wish to take an approved leave of absence for COVID-19-related concerns or limitations (such as interruption of a travel-abroad program), to take such leave, even if the student notifies the institution in writing after the approved leave of absence has begun. In such a case, the institution may retain those Title IV funds to apply when the student continues enrollment. If the student does not return to complete their program within 180 days, the school would then be expected to perform the Return of Title IV funds calculation based on the date on which the leave-of-absence began. Note that in term-based programs, if a student takes an approved leave of absence from a term-based program, the institution must ensure that the student is permitted to complete the coursework he or she began prior to the leave of absence.

Finally, because we understand that some students may have been recalled from travel abroad programs or canceled-out of experiential learning opportunities after the semester began, institutions may offer courses to those students on a schedule that would otherwise be considered a non-standard term, if doing so enables those students to complete the term. These flexibilities will also be provided to institutions, or their additional locations or programs, that must temporarily close as a result of COVID-19.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Foreign Schools

We cannot extend flexibility regarding the use of distance learning to foreign schools since the Higher Education Act does not permit foreign schools to provide distance learning to U.S. students who participate in Title IV, HEA programs. We continue to consider if there are any other flexibilities we could extend to foreign schools that temporarily close due to COVID-19.

Federal Work Study (FWS)

Federal law includes a provision allowing an institution to make FWS payments under certain limited circumstances to disaster-affected students who are unable to continue working. Given the unique nature of this situation, it is unlikely that an entire region would be declared a Federal disaster area, yet to students enrolled at a campus that must close temporarily, the loss of this important form of financial aid can be devastating. The impact may be magnified if the institution accommodates students by providing alternative instructional opportunities and the student is required to continue paying tuition, but the student loses FWS as an important part of their financial aid award. For students enrolled and performing FWS at a campus that must close due to COVID-19, or for a FWS student who is employed by an employer that closes as a result of COVID-19, the institution may continue paying the student Federal work-study wages during that closure if it occurred after the beginning of the term, the institution is continuing to pay its other employees (including faculty and staff), and the institution continues to meet its institutional wage share requirement. Students who were prevented from beginning a term at the institution as a result of a COVID-19-related disruption would not be eligible for Federal Student Aid for that term, and therefore could not be paid FWS wages for hours they did not work. Graduate students who are paid FWS wages on salary may continue to be paid for the remainder of the term if the institution is also paying its faculty and staff during that period. In these instances, institutions should document (as contemporaneously as feasible) that the COVID-19 disruption was the reason the student received FWS funds without documentation of hours worked.

Length of Academic Year

The Department is authorized under 34 CFR § 668.3 to approve a reduced academic year. If at any point an institution determines it will close as the result of a campus health emergency, it may contact the School Participation team to request a temporary reduction in the length of its academic year.

Professional Judgement

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Financial aid administrators (FAA) have statutory authority to use professional judgement to make adjustments on a case-by-case basis to the cost of attendance or to the data elements used in calculating the EFC to reflect a student's special circumstances. The use of professional judgement where students and/or their families have been affected by COVID-19 is permitted, such as in the case where an employer closes for a period of time as a result of COVID-19. In making professional judgement determinations, FAAs must obtain documentation and retain it in each student's file. This documentation must substantiate the reason for any adjustment. Institutions are reminded that, regardless of how broadly an event may affect its student population, professional judgement determinations must be made and documented on a case-by-case basis.

Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP)

An institution's SAP appeal policy (34 CFR § 668.34(a)(9)) must, among other things, describe the basis on which a student may file an appeal: the death of a relative, an injury or illness of the student, or other special circumstances. Circumstances related to an outbreak of COVID-19, including, but not limited to, the illness of a student or family member, compliance with a quarantine period, or the general disruption resulting from such an outbreak may form the basis of a student's SAP appeal even if not specifically articulated in the institution's SAP policy.

Students Who Did Not Begin Attendance

We are aware that many U.S. students enrolled in eligible foreign institutions and in study abroad programs offered by domestic institutions have already been affected by local outbreaks of COVID-19 and the measures taken by institutions in response. Of immediate concern are those students who travelled to overseas destinations but were unable to begin classes due to school closures. There may also be instances where students at domestic institutions are similarly affected and unable to begin classes. Because these students did not begin attendance in a payment period or period of enrollment, 34 CFR § 668.21 (rather than Return of Title IV Funds) applies. In such a situation, the institution must return all Title IV grant funds disbursed for the payment period or period of enrollment and all Direct Loan funds that were credited to the student's account at the institution for that period. The institution must also return Direct Loan funds in the amount of payments made directly by or on behalf of the student to the institution for the period, up to the total amount of the loan funds disbursed. The institution is not responsible for returning Direct Loan funds that were disbursed directly to the student in the form of a credit balance as long as the institution was not aware that the student would not attend prior to the disbursement, and students will be able to repay those funds as a part of their educational loans. In these circumstances, institutions are permitted, but not required, to return all of a student's Direct Loan funds, including the amount comprising the credit balance.

Normally institutions, once aware that a student will not begin or has not begun attendance, must notify the loan servicer which results in issuance of a final demand letter to the borrower. However, we have determined that in the case where a student was unable to begin attendance due to a COVID-19-related school closure, the provisions of 34 CFR § 668.21(a)(2)(ii), requiring the institution to notify the servicer of that student's failure to begin attendance, do not apply because the option for the student to begin attendance did not exist. Accordingly, the institution should not notify the servicer that the student did not begin attendance. He or she will be permitted to repay any Direct Loan funds received under the terms of the promissory note. This will also prevent a student from being required to enter repayment within six months of withdrawing if the student withdrew as a result of a Coronavirus-related interruption.

Enrollment Status Changes

We do not have the authority to waive the requirement to award or disburse Title IV funds based on a student's actual enrollment status. For example, assuming an institution defines full-time enrollment as 12 credit hours, when a full-time student enrolled for 12 credit hours drops or withdraws from three credits, that student is now enrolled at three-quarter time status. However, we remind institutions that for Direct Loans, the institution must only confirm at least half-time enrollment status as of the time of disbursement. It is not necessary to recalculate a student's Direct Loan eligibility based on changes in enrollment status that occur after the institution originates a Direct Loan. For enrollment status changes that occur after an institution's established Pell Grant recalculation (census) date, we do not require recalculation. Note that the student must have begun attendance in all courses comprising the enrollment status on which the Pell Grant payment was based.

Return of Title IV Funds

Even in the case of a disruption from COVID-19, an institution must return any Title IV funds for which it is responsible in accordance with the provisions of 34 CFR § 668.22 when a student withdraws. Currently, we do not have the authority to waive the statutory requirement for the return of unearned Title IV funds in the case where a student (who receives Title IV assistance) withdraws from an institution during a payment period or period of enrollment after having begun attendance. However, the guidance provided below explains the requirements for performing Return of Title IV Funds calculations in situations where an institution has temporarily ceased operations as a result of a COVID-19 disruption.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Definition of a Withdrawal Date

If an institution ceases operation during a payment period and fails to reopen by the end of that payment period, its students are considered no longer in attendance and must be considered withdrawn for that payment period or period of enrollment, and would be subject to Return of Title IV funds requirements. Similarly, if an institution closes and subsequently reopens during a payment period, any students who began attendance during that payment period but failed to return when the institution reopens must be considered withdrawn for that payment period. If the institution is required to take attendance, the withdrawal date is the last day of documented attendance prior to the closure. If the institution is not required to take attendance, the institution can use any applicable option under 34 CFR § 668.22(c), including the midpoint of the payment period or period of enrollment under 34 CFR § 668.2(c)(1)(iii) or, because the closure was a circumstance that the student could not control under 34 CFR § 668.22(c)(1)(iv), the date that the institution ceased operation. When determining the number of days in the payment period or period of enrollment (the denominator of the calculation), the institution should include all the days that the student was scheduled to attend during that period on the date of the withdrawal. For a clock-hour program, an institution should not include as “scheduled hours” any hours on days that it was closed.

Date of Determination and Timeframes for Returns

Normally, if a student does not provide notification to an institution of his/her withdrawal, the date of determination that the student has withdrawn is the date that the institution becomes aware that the student ceased attendance. This is, in most cases when an institution closes for reasons beyond its control, the date of the closure. Therefore, the timeframes for completing Return of Title IV Funds calculations and making the appropriate returns or post-withdrawal disbursements begin on that date (e.g. 30 days to perform the calculation, 45 days to return the funds, etc.).

Reentering the Same Payment Period

If an institution that has closed subsequently reopens during the same payment period or period of enrollment, and permits students to continue coursework that they were taking at the time of the closure, students that return to class at that time are considered to have reentered the same period and retain eligibility for Title IV aid that they were otherwise eligible to receive before the closure. If a student in this situation subsequently withdraws, the institution must exclude the number of days that it was closed (if the closure was for at least five consecutive days, in combination with weekends or other scheduled breaks) from both the number of days the student completed and the total number of days in the payment period or period of enrollment. If the institution altered the number of days in the payment period or period of enrollment following the closure (e.g. if it adds days to the term to make up for the time when it was closed), the institution should use the new number of days in the student's Return of Title IV funds calculation.

NSLDS Enrollment Reporting

In general, when a student withdraws during a payment period, the effective date for the withdrawn ('W') status for enrollment reporting purposes is the withdrawal date used by the institution in accordance with 34 CFR § 668.22(b) or (c). However, notwithstanding the requirement that the institution perform a Return of Title IV funds calculation for students when an institution unexpectedly ceases operation during a payment period and fails to reopen during that payment period, we permit an institution to defer reporting an affected student's enrollment status as "withdrawn" in these circumstances when the institution has a reasonable expectation that—

1. The institution will reopen at the start of a payment period that begins no later than 90 days following the closure; and

2. The student will resume attendance when the institution reopens.

In these cases, the institution should continue reporting the most recent enrollment status that it reported for the affected student prior to the closure. If the student does not resume attendance as expected, the institution must change the student's enrollment status to "withdrawn" using the student's actual withdrawal date as the enrollment status effective date.

While the coronavirus threat to the American public remains low, we encourage school communities to take all steps to ensure the health and well-being of students, faculty, and staff. We established the website, https://www.ed.gov/coronavirus?src=feature, to provide general information and guidance for school communities, including links to information posted by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. We appreciate your cooperation and welcome any additional questions at COVID-19@ed.gov.

Dear Sir/Madam,
I would like to inquire about more information on what are recommended steps for foreign schools which are temporarily closed due to COVID-19 outbreak. Our school is closed since 12 March: https://www.muni.cz/en/coronavirus Our Rector's decision followed governmental order to close down all schools, which was followed by further closings and limitations of public life, ending now in state quarantine.

In Guidance for interruptions of study related to Coronavirus (https://ifap.ed.gov/electronic-announcements/030520Guidance4interruptionsrelated2CoronavirusCOVID19) we have learned the flexibility of use of distance learning does not apply to foreign schools, however, since then we could not find any more updates or information on how should we proceed. Furthermore, there are students who have not been disbursed their aid yet due to various reasons. We are unsure how to proceed in their case as well.

I would be very grateful for any information or direction whom to contact with these questions.
Thank you very much in advance,
With my best regards,

Good afternoon Susan:

I hope you are safe and well. I apologize in advance for our persistence as I am sure you are being inundated with questions.
Counsel for the AACS sent the information below.
All Florida based Cosmo schools are hoping to gain Emergency temporary approval from CIE today for distance ed:

Clock Hour Programs Not Fully Addressed Importantly for schools that measure attendance in clock hours, this flexibility is not available for courses that lead to state licensure if the licensure body will not accept distance learning courses or hours or give credit for them toward the number of hours a student must complete. Therefore, clock hour institutions will want to work with their state licensure agencies to urge them to accept online learning options on an emergency basis or risk having enrolled students deemed Title IV ineligible if part or all of an affected program is provided through distance education.

If you can email me back to update us on whether we can anticipate receiving such approval today, that would be most appreciated during this time of uncertainty.

Thank you in advance, as always!

U.S. Department of Education Issues COVID-19 Guidance to Schools

March 12, 2020

> The Department considers its March 5 guidance to be interim, and may follow up with additional guidance addressing these and other topics.

Due to the outbreak of coronavirus (COVID-19), the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recommends that institutions of higher education consider postponing or canceling upcoming study abroad or foreign exchange programs. However, this advice has raised pressing questions about how this would affect Title IV, Higher Education Act (HEA) federal financial aid and a student's ability to finish the term if a program is interrupted or canceled. In response, on March 5, 2020, the U.S. Department of Education's office of Federal Student Aid (FSA) offered guidance permitting temporary flexibility and clarifying how higher education institutions can continue to comply with Title IV regulations for students whose activities are impacted by COVID-19.

Please note that on March 10, 2020, Senator Patricia Murray and 32 other senators wrote to Education Secretary Betsy DeVos seeking additional guidance from the Department on a number of additional issues including:

- Online educational options for students without home computers or high speed internet access;
- Assistance with ensuring accessible online instructional materials for students with disabilities;
- Continuity of mental health services;
- Ensuring quality of online education including guidance around the "regular and substantive" online interaction requirement;
- Greater flexibility for Satisfactory Academic Progress measurement;
- Proactive warnings to students regarding return of Title IV procedures for mid-term withdrawals to avoid unnecessary federal aid expenditures for students;

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Loan deferment and forbearance opportunities for students with interrupted income;
- How to report withdrawal dates to avoid triggering repayment obligation grace period; and
- Institutional partnerships with non-Title IV entities.

The Department considers its March 5 guidance to be interim, and may follow up with additional guidance addressing these and other topics. The timing of such guidance is unknown at this time.

FSA's March 5 announcement covers five scenarios:

1. A student is enrolled in a travel abroad program and was called back or was never able to start the program.
2. A student was enrolled in a class or program that was canceled due to the virus and is no longer considered to be a full-time student because of inability to earn sufficient credits.
3. A student is quarantined and misses class, or a student has the coronavirus.
4. A campus temporarily stops offering classes to prevent the spread of the virus.
5. A foreign school temporarily suspends operations.

Note: The scenarios do not include students who have not yet enrolled or whose programs have not yet started.

Temporary Use of Distance Education Permitted

FSA's guidance temporarily allows U.S. institutions (not foreign schools) to use online instruction without going through the regular approval process. In doing so, the Department also makes clear that accreditors can waive their distance education review requirements. However, it is up to each accreditor to announce that policy. The guidance states that instructors must initiate and be able to document substantive communication with students, either individually or collectively, on a regular basis.

Institutions can temporarily move classes online until they are given the "all clear" to resume classroom instruction; enter into temporary agreements with other schools for students to complete courses; ask the Department for permission for a temporary, reduced academic year; and/or or accreditors can waive their requirements for students to complete a certain number of credits at an institution to finish their degrees. Again, the flexibility offered to accrediting agencies is dependent upon the agencies agreeing to adopt such policies.

Clock Hour Programs Not Fully Addressed

Importantly for schools that measure attendance in clock hours, this flexibility is not available for courses that lead to state licensure if the licensure body will not accept distance learning courses or hours or give credit for them toward the number of hours a student must complete. Therefore, clock hour institutions will want to work with their state licensure agencies to urge them to accept online learning options on an emergency basis or risk having enrolled students deemed Title IV ineligible if part or all of an affected program is provided through distance education.

Federal Student Aid Funds

The Department will also allow students to request a leave of absence and let institutions keep the Title IV funds to use when the students return, as long as they come back within the current length of an acceptable leave of absence, which is 180 days. For students who have not yet started their programs, the institution must return all Title IV funds and all Direct Loan funds credited to a student's account for the period. Institutions should also notify students' loan servicers that the student did not begin attendance to protect them from entering repayment within six months of withdrawing.

The Department will also allow schools to continue paying student federal work-study wages during a temporary coronavirus-related closure. However, the Department does not have the authority to waive the requirement to award Title IV funds based on a student's enrollment status if they fall below full-time enrollment or 12 credit hours.

For additional updates, please continue to check the Department's resource page.

Hello all,

Since the webinar AACS hosted last week on the Coronavirus preparedness for our schools, things have escalated.
-Cities have declared a state of emergency.
-State surgeon generals have declared a Public Health Emergency.
-President Trump declared a national emergency.

I noted that Ed Cramp mentioned during the presentation that if a public health emergency was declared we would have to have additional considerations. That declaration has now occurred, at all government levels (at least in our area). In our area (as is the case for many areas in the country), public schools (at all levels --elementary, middle, high and colleges/universities) are closing, effective Monday 3/16/20. Some are closing for 2 weeks, others indefinitely, while some have closed and moving their classes to a virtual/distance setting.

We now have been experiencing elevated pressure (though questions and facial expressions) from our students and staff to determine if we remain open or if we follow others and close. It feels as if our school community expects us to close "since we are a school and all other schools are closing." We are strongly considering closing for 2 weeks, but also have considered the consequences of closing. If we close is mostly to follow along with other (public) schools and as a courtesy to students and staff to allow them to make family arrangements, but luckily, our school community has not been directly affected or disturbed (as of now). Another consideration is, what will be different in 2 weeks? Perhaps we will have reports of many more cases, more public panic and would be expected to close further days/weeks.

So, any further thoughts? Is AACS working on further guidance for the membership. Any legal considerations?

Stay safe everyone!

Attached is the CDC's guidance on the decision to close schools, including the attached "decision tree" that may be helpful to you.

The US Department of Education has set up a dedicated web page at https://www.ed.gov/coronavirus where new guidance will be posted. Last week they added FERPA guidance.

Also, please see our latest alert that includes information on issues on which a group of Senators are pressing the Department for an answer including regarding online accessibility and SAP measurement issues.

U.S. Department of Education Issues COVID-19 Guidance to Schools

March 12, 2020

> The Department considers its March 5 guidance to be interim, and may follow up with additional guidance addressing these and other topics.

Due to the outbreak of coronavirus (COVID-19), the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recommends that institutions of higher education consider postponing or canceling upcoming study abroad or foreign exchange programs. However, this advice has raised pressing questions about how this would affect Title IV, Higher Education Act (HEA) federal financial aid and a student's ability to finish the term if a program is interrupted or canceled. In response, on March 5, 2020, the U.S. Department of Education's office of Federal Student Aid (FSA) offered guidance permitting temporary flexibility and clarifying how higher education institutions can continue to comply with Title IV regulations for students whose activities are impacted by COVID-19.

Please note that on March 10, 2020, Senator Patricia Murray and 32 other senators wrote to Education Secretary Betsy DeVos seeking additional guidance from the Department on a number of additional issues including:

- Online educational options for students without home computers or high speed internet access;
- Assistance with ensuring accessible online instructional materials for students with disabilities;
- Continuity of mental health services;

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Ensuring quality of online education including guidance around the "regular and substantive" online interaction requirement;
- Greater flexibility for Satisfactory Academic Progress measurement;
- Proactive warnings to students regarding return of Title IV procedures for mid-term withdrawals to avoid unnecessary federal aid expenditures for students;
- Loan deferment and forbearance opportunities for students with interrupted income;
- How to report withdrawal dates to avoid triggering repayment obligation grace period; and
- Institutional partnerships with non-Title IV entities.

The Department considers its March 5 guidance to be interim, and may follow up with additional guidance addressing these and other topics. The timing of such guidance is unknown at this time.

FSA's March 5 announcement covers five scenarios:

1. A student is enrolled in a travel abroad program and was called back or was never able to start the program.
2. A student was enrolled in a class or program that was canceled due to the virus and is no longer considered to be a full-time student because of inability to earn sufficient credits.
3. A student is quarantined and misses class, or a student has the coronavirus.
4. A campus temporarily stops offering classes to prevent the spread of the virus.
5. A foreign school temporarily suspends operations.

Note: The scenarios do not include students who have not yet enrolled or whose programs have not yet started.

Temporary Use of Distance Education Permitted

FSA's guidance temporarily allows U.S. institutions (not foreign schools) to use online instruction without going through the regular approval process. In doing so, the Department also makes clear that accreditors can waive their distance education review requirements. However, it is up to each accreditor to announce that policy. The guidance states that instructors must initiate and be able to document substantive communication with students, either individually or collectively, on a regular basis.

Institutions can temporarily move classes online until they are given the "all clear" to resume classroom instruction; enter into temporary agreements with other schools for students to complete courses; ask the Department for permission for a temporary, reduced academic year; and/or or accreditors can waive their requirements for students to complete a certain number of credits at an institution to finish their degrees. Again, the flexibility offered to accrediting agencies is dependent upon the agencies agreeing to adopt such policies.

Clock Hour Programs Not Fully Addressed

Therefore, clock hour institutions will want to work with their state licensure agencies to urge them to accept online learning options on an emergency basis or risk having enrolled students deemed Title IV ineligible if part or all of an affected program is provided through distance education.

Federal Student Aid Funds

The Department will also allow students to request a leave of absence and let institutions keep the Title IV funds to use when the students return, as long as they come back within the current length of an acceptable leave of absence, which is 180 days. For students who have not yet started their programs, the institution must return all Title IV funds and all Direct Loan funds credited to a student's account for the period. Institutions should also notify students' loan servicers that the student did not begin attendance to protect them from entering repayment within six months of withdrawing.

The Department will also allow schools to continue paying student federal work-study wages during a temporary coronavirus-related closure. However, the Department does not have the authority to waive the requirement to award Title IV funds based on a student's enrollment status if they fall below full-time enrollment or 12 credit hours.

Good afternoon,

In the Dear Colleague letter from March 5 relating to COVID-19, it stated that with FWS:

Given the unique nature of this situation, it is unlikely that an entire region would be declared a Federal disaster area, yet to students enrolled at a campus that must close temporarily, the loss of this important form of financial aid can be devastating. The impact may be magnified if the institution accommodates students by providing alternative instructional opportunities and the student is required to continue paying tuition, but the student loses FWS as an important part of their financial aid award. For students enrolled and performing FWS at a campus that must close due to COVID-19, or for a FWS student who is employed by an employer that closes as a result of COVID-19, the institution may continue paying the student Federal work-study wages during that closure if it occurred after the beginning of the term, the institution is continuing to pay its other employees (including faculty and staff), and the institution continues to meet its institutional wage share requirement.

My question with this is wondering if this is the case if our University voluntarily closes or is it only in a case of a State or National Emergency requiring colleges and universities to close?

Thank you in advance for your clarification,

Hello.

We have closed the campus temporarily for students and are teaching on-line. Our Provost's Office is asking about changing the grading structure for this semester for students who choose to switch their courses from a grade to a pass/fail.

Our typical pass/fail policy:
A student may choose to take up to a maximum of four courses on a Grade/Pass/Fail (GPF) option during their academic career. Only one GPF can be taken during a semester. Under this option, a student may specify a minimum course grade of "D-" or higher* by contract with the course instructor.
If the final grade is at or above the contracted grade, the professor will report that grade. The grade will be included in the overall grade point average.
If the final grade is a passing grade but is lower than the contracted minimum grade, the professor will award a "P." The "P" grade will not be included in the overall grade point average.
If a student fails to achieve course goals, the professor will assign an "F." The "F" will be include in the overall grade point average and credit will not be granted for the course.
The GPF is not an option in courses in the student's major, except field experience courses that may be part of the major. Only one "P" grade be used in a minor. *Please note: when exploring the GPF option, students must confirm any minimum course grade requirements with individual departments and programs. The GPF is not an option in credit-bearing graduate courses.

I am seeking guidance on pass/fail impact to SAP:

1. Can we change our documented grade/pass/fail policy because of the current situation and allow students more of these options than policy dictates?

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

2. IF the answer to #1 above is yes and if a student chooses to do all courses as pass/fail, they would not receive a grade point average. Therefore, how do we incorporate in to SAP? Our SAP policy requires a minimum 2.0 for GPA. The percent of credits attempted and passed/failed works even with the pass/fail option selected but it is unclear how we would treat someone who passed all courses with a "P" but receives no GPA for the semester.

Thank you for your time.

Hello,

We have a situation where a student had started their term abroad and the abroad institution has now closed so they are unable to complete the term there with the exception of a portion of their credits that has already been completed.

Because their abroad campus has closed, we have advised the student to return to the US and have secured accommodations for them to do so this week. We can offer this student distance learning courses through our campus and can provide opportunities to work with them to be able to continue their education and complete their term here at the home institution.

However, the student is indicating that they have travel fears and have a place to stay in Germany with extended family and want to remain in Germany for the time being because they feel travelling right now is putting themselves at a greater risk of contracting the COVID-19 virus.

I believe their campus closed approximately 5-7 days ago. It is my understanding that they would need to be back in the US if their abroad school has closed for us to offer alternate learning opportunities from the students home campus. Can you please confirm that if we offer the student distance learning opportunities from our campus that they can or cannot complete that work while remaining in Germany?

If they must be back in the US for us to offer these opportunities, I am aware that we can have some flexibility on some non-standard dates as far as completion of the coursework that we can provide. If their abroad campus closed on approximately March 10th and our campus term here at the home institution technically ends May 3rd how long can we give them to get here to resume courses? Is there a regulatory time limit on this and is there any regulatory guidance we should follow if the student does not want to travel back to the states at this point in time?

Thanks

Buenas yan Hafa Adai! Thank you for meeting with us last week on the Quarterly Progress Update in DC. We appreciate the feedback and inquiries.

As noted during our meeting last week, the Guam Department of Education (GDOE) – Federal Programs Division (FPD)/Grants Office seeks guidance on the following as it relates to the use and security of Consolidated Grant Application (CGA) funds amid the COVID-19 Global Pandemic. On March 14, 2020, the Governor of Guam, Lourdes Leon Guerrero, had issued an Executive Order declaring a Public Health Emergency as a result of 3 confirmed cases of COVID-19 in the last few days. The following are in place, effective March 14, 2020, as a result of the Executive Order:

- Closure of non-essential government of Guam offices
- Closure of all public, private and charter schools
- Prohibition of large gatherings of 50 or more

FY2018 Carryover/FY2019 Consolidated Grant Application:

In light of the Executive Order, the global pandemic, and the undetermined length of time of school closures GDOE– Federal Programs Division (FPD)/Grants Office seeks guidance from the US Department of Education (US-Ed) on the allowability and flexibility to amend the FY2019 CGA amending project activities to align with the current and evolving educational needs of students, and situation as a result of this unprecedented event.

GDOE seeks guidance on the following relative to mitigating the potential reduced use/expenditure of CGA funds for both the FY18 Carryover and the FY19, limited draw-down activity, and decreased implementation of approved project activities:

- GDOE has postponed and/or cancelled professional development activities for teachers and staff as allowed within the CGA. Numerous project activities, performance measures, and other relative reporting requirements will be impacted as a result.

- GDOE has considered postponing the 31st Pacific Educational Conference (PEC) scheduled for July 2020. Postponement will result of excess unobligated/unexpended funding due to the number of participant registration fees.

- Payment of personnel not able to work as a result of the current situation. Hourly CGA personnel will be severely impacted such as Teacher Assistants, Part-time teachers for Summer School, Eskuelan Puengi and ASPIRE. GDOE seeks guidance with regard to addressing these circumstances.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Teacher Assistants: Hourly pay is their primary source for household income

- Part-time Teachers: Part-time pay supplements their regular school year salaries, providing supplemental income to support their families.

❖ As a result of the COVID-19 Global Pandemic and the closure of Guam's schools (public, private, and charters), kindly advise of any Federal legislation that safeguards Part-Time employees who are adversely impacted by the closure of schools.

Consequently, due to activity cancelations and/or postponement, and school closures, CGA expenditures will reduce significantly. In an effort to safeguard Federal funds while still supplementing the educational needs of Guam's students in light of the current situation, GDOE proposes to amend the FY2019 CGA for the following:

- Procurement of health and safety supplies and materials such as masks, hand sanitizers, disinfectant wipes, rubbing alcohol, disinfectant solutions, spray bottles and other essential health and safety supplies for teachers, students, CGA social workers and essential CGA funded personnel under the ISLA-Ayudante' Project, Student, Parent and Community Engagement Project, and State Administration.

  - The three projects include health and safety supplies and materials or for students and teachers for the Summer School, Eskuelan Puengi, ASPIRE, social worker activities, as well as for Teacher Assistants throughout the year.

- Procurement of additional laptops/carts and other relative equipment to support students and teachers as GDOE may need to distribute laptops to students to continue school work from home.

- Procurement of supplemental education services and supplemental portable Wi-Fi services to support the educational needs of students who do not possess the means, infrastructure, and/or live in sub-standard conditions.

- Special arrangements for personnel such as teacher assistants, to support and accommodate students who do not possess the means or infrastructure, and/or live in sub-standard conditions and possibly, assist in the delivery of school meals to at-risk students.

As a result of this unprecedented event, GDOE foresees additional challenges ahead, a constantly evolving situation, therefore, circumstances may require additional adjustments to the FY2019 CGA as Guam possesses a large number of economically challenged at-risk students, other unforeseen issues may arise, and the needs of the students to be served is expected to fluctuate.,

The GDOE Federal Programs/Grant Office seeks US-Ed's guidance as to the allowability and flexibility with regard to amending project activities to align with the current needs and situation while remaining within the scope of the approved application. Your utmost attention and assistance is greatly appreciated.

RELATIVE TO RESPONDING TO CONFIRMED CASES OF NOVEL CORONAVIRUS (COVID-19)

WHEREAS, on March 14, 2020, I, Lourdes A. Leon Guerrero, I Maga'hågan Guåhan, Governor of Guam, acting pursuant to the power provided to me by the Organic Act and the laws of Guam, declared a public health emergency in the island of Guam due to the potential dangers posed by the 2019 novel coronavirus ("COVID-19"); and

WHEREAS, since the declaration of a public health emergency, Guam has confirmed three cases of COVID-19; and

WHEREAS, it is of the upmost importance that I Maga'hågan Guåhan utilizes all available resources of the government of Guam to respond to this public health threat evidenced by these newfound cases; and

WHEREAS, the Director of the Guam Department of Public Health and Social Services ("DPHSS") and members of the Federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention ("CDC") have advised that Guam undergo an "investigatory period" to detect and track the potential spread of COVID-19; and

WHEREAS, as a community, we place special emphasis on care for those most vulnerable among us, especially the manåmko', who, along with those with pre-existing medical conditions, are most at risk of severe effects from COVID-19; and

WHEREAS, the CDC and DPHSS recommend implementation of community mitigation strategies, including limiting government operations to essential services and the prohibition of large gatherings in an effort to further prevent the transmission of COVID-19.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, LOURDES A. LEON GUERRERO, I Maga'hågan Guåhan, Governor of Guam, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Organic Act of Guam, as amended, do hereby order:

The definition of habitual truancy pursuant to Article 4, Chapter 6, of Title 17, Guam Code Annotated, is suspended. And student absences due to school closures and absences connected to the transmission of COVID-19 during the effect of this Executive Order shall not contribute to the calculation of habitual truancy.\

3. PROHIBITION ON LARGE GATHERINGS. Pursuant to Section 3317, Article 3, Chapter 3, of Title 10, Guam Code Annotated, effective immediately and through March 30, 2020, gatherings of 50 people or more in a single room or single space at the same time for social, spiritual and recreational activities, including, but not limited to, community, civic, public, leisure, faith-based, or sporting events, parades, concerts, festivals, fiestas, conventions, fundraisers and similar activities are prohibited throughout the island of Guam.

4. EMERGENCY MEASURES CONCERNING FACILITIES AND MATERIALS. Effective immediately and through March 30, 2020, any place of business or public accommodation for which attendance is anticipated to be fewer than 50 people, shall operate at no greater than 50% occupancy, and no greater than 50% of seating capacity.

   The preceding directive shall not apply to retail establishments providing basic food and necessities (e.g. grocery and convenience stores), hospitals, pharmacies, or other medical offices/facilities. This Order is not intended to prohibit routine business gatherings held at the place of business.

5. MANDATORY SOCIAL-DISTANCING. In all other instances not captured by this prohibition, it is strongly recommended that mitigation measures are implemented and enforced. These measures include but are not limited to social distancing of at least six feet; frequent cleaning of all surfaces; posting of signs; and permitting/encouraging teleworking. Older residents and those with pre-existing medical conditions are encouraged to limit excursions of any type.

6. RESTRICTING ENTRY INTO GUAM. Pursuant to Section 3333, Article 3, Chapter 3, of Title 10, Guam Code Annotated, all persons who are non-residents who have been in a country with confirmed COVID-19 cases for more than one (1) week and do not possess a DPHSS recognized and certified document that attests that they are not infected with COVID-19, shall be restricted entry into Guam. The date of the test must not be more than one (1) week from the date of attempted entry into Guam.

   Any individual who enters into Guam without the proper documentation shall be quarantined pursuant to this Section and Sections 19604 and 19605 of Article 6, Chapter 19 of Title 10, Guam Code Annotated.

   Any and all costs associated with the quarantine and/or treatment of individuals who are subject to restricted entry into Guam pursuant to this Executive Order shall be the responsibility of the individual and the carrier that the individual contracted with to travel to Guam.

7. ENFORCEMENT. DPHSS is directed to issue guidance, subject to my approval to implement the terms of this Order. DPHSS shall enforce this Order and, if necessary, may do so with the assistance of the Guam Police Department.

Leslie and Lisa,

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Thank you for your reply. I have seen this document and the question I have is "sort-of" answered. Here's the language:

"If an LEA closes its schools to slow or stop the spread of COVID-19, and does not provide any educational services to the general student population, then an LEA would not be required to provide services to students with disabilities during that same period of time. Once school resumes, the LEA must make every effort to provide special education and related services to the child in accordance with the child's individualized education program (IEP) or, for students entitled to FAPE under Section 504, consistent with a plan developed to meet the requirements of Section 504. The Department understands there may be exceptional circumstances that could affect how a particular service is provided. In addition, an IEP Team and, as appropriate to an individual student with a disability, the personnel responsible for ensuring FAPE to a student for the purposes of Section 504, would be required to make an individualized determination as to whether compensatory services are needed under applicable standards and requirements."

The problem is that our district is unsure if this language postpones IEP meetings or services or both. Do "services to students" as stated in the language include IEP meetings or just the implementation of the IEP?

Thank you for getting back to me in such a timely fashion. Either of you is welcome to call me as well.

Sincerely,
Bill Gehrlein

Hello,
Due to COVID-19, are schools required to have IEP meetings during a statewide school closure? Can the date of the IEP be changed to a later date even though the IEP would technically be out of compliance?

Thank you,

Thank you for your question. The U.S. Department of Education's Office of Special Education Programs (OSEP) is collecting, reviewing, and responding to questions. As you might expect, we have received many questions about the effect of school closures on timelines. I will be in touch with a response as soon as I have updated information to share.

Thank you in advance for your patience and understanding as we work to address your question.

Leslie and Lisa,
Thank you for your reply. I have seen this document and the question I have is "sort-of" answered. Here's the language:

"If an LEA closes its schools to slow or stop the spread of COVID-19, and does not provide any educational services to the general student population, then an LEA would not be required to provide services to students with disabilities during that same period of time. Once school resumes, the LEA must make every effort to provide special education and related services to the child in accordance with the child's individualized education program (IEP) or, for students entitled to FAPE under Section 504, consistent with a plan developed to meet the requirements of Section 504. The Department understands there may be exceptional circumstances that could affect how a particular service is provided. In addition, an IEP Team and, as appropriate to an individual student with a disability, the personnel responsible for ensuring FAPE to a student for the purposes of Section 504, would be required to make an individualized determination as to whether compensatory services are needed under applicable standards and requirements."

The problem is that our district is unsure if this language postpones IEP meetings or services or both. Do "services to students" as stated in the language include IEP meetings or just the implementation of the IEP?

Thank you for getting back to me in such a timely fashion. Either of you is welcome to call me as well.

Sincerely,
Bill Gehrlein

Is the school districts going to provide therapy to the children that need it daily during the extended school closures?

Dear U.S. Department of Education,

America and the world at large is encountering unprecedented challenges in the face of the COVID-19 pandemic. I am writing on behalf of Texas Barber College (TBC) to notify you of an interruption in the normal delivery of barber instruction (classroom theory and practical training on the clinic floor with live clients and mannequins) at TBC.

To navigate through these troubling times, TBC intends to do the following:

Clinic services – we will cease clinic floor operations on the general public at or before the close of business on 3/18/2020.

Scheduled Hours – we will immediately cease our scheduled educational activities effective 3/18/2020 lasting through 4/1/2020.

Makeup Hours – during the period of 3/18 – 4/1/2020, we intend to make "make up" hours available to students who have fallen behind within their educational program. Students who are on pace to graduate according to their course schedule will not be eligible to participate in these services.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

It is our team's conviction that this strategy will serve our student population in the following ways:

- This will allow those students who are at the highest risk of dropping out to maintain continuity with their educational program
- This will facilitate preparation for licensure, as those who need the assistance will have small-group access to instructors
- This strategy will undoubtedly drive down the daily population within our schools, allowing us to implement the social distancing methods prescribed by the CDC.

Please share any questions or concerns you have about TBC moving forward with the above-described plan. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Hi there! My name is Diana Walle and I am currently a 1st-year college student receiving financial aid. With classes being pushed back a couple of weeks, I have verified with my college's financial aid office that we will not be getting the disbursements from what is left over after tuition until later than originally planned.

The reason for this message is that I have seen a lot of claims online (but not a lot of specifics) stating that the Department of Education will be giving help for those who rely on that sum for other necessities such as food, bills, and such. Is this accurate information? If so, could I be given a bit more information?

Thank You

Hello,
I am from school OPEID #011481-00. Our school is located in King County in the state of WA; and I do believe that we have had the highest total number of confirmed COVID-19 cases in the country located right here in King County. On Friday 03/13/2020 during the afternoon, our Governor, Jay Inslee, issued a proclamation that all institutions of higher education in WA shut down ground based operations starting by 12:01am on 03/17/2020 and going through 04/24/2020. Unfortunately, our training is so very specialized that we are not able to offer online training; enter into consortium agreements with other schools, or be able to be considered lab type work where persons would be able to keep the required 6 foot distance from another (per the governor). We considered all alternative options that were presented to us by the state, and unfortunately, this was the only choice we were able to make to be compliant with the Governor's proclamation. We fully intend to resume operations as usual starting on 04/27/2020 (unless otherwise directed).
I have a few questions and points of clarification that I would like to ask for from topics that were addressed in the 03/05/2020 electronic announcement. Questions like:

- How do I report these students' enrollment status moving forward?
- Do we have to put everyone on a LOA, though it's not possible to get signed LOA requests from an entire student body when we were just told the afternoon of Friday 03/13/2020 that we had to close the school by 12:01am on 03/17/20? If we do have to put everyone on LOAs, do we have to go back and have every single student that was still in active attendance submit their official request for a COVID-19 LOA in writing? Could their requests be via email? Prior to the Governor's proclamation coming down, only one of our students had officially requested a COVID-19 LOA. So, they did not all "choose" to request this leave.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- If we don't put everyone on LOA, we'd have to drop every single student and perform R2T4 calculations on them all after 14 days?

I am sure more things will come to mind, and these are all of my most immediate initial thoughts. Please advise. I need to ensure we are taking whatever measures are necessary so that we may remain operation and return to training as planned on 04/27/2020.

Hello,

I'm a legal editor with LRP Publications in Palm Beach Gardens, Fla. I'm researching issues related to COVID-19 for LRP's Special Ed Connection® website, and I was hoping you could answer a few questions.

Given the number of schools and offices that are closing to help stop the spread of coronavirus, we're likely to see delays in resolving IDEA due process complaints. These closures may affect the 15-day period for convening a resolution session, the 30-day resolution period, and the timeliness of due process hearings and hearing decisions.

I'd like to know what steps state and local educational agencies should be taking right now to ensure that IDEA disputes are resolved in a timely manner. Specifically, I'd like to know:

- Does the Part B regulation at 34 CFR 300.328 (Alternative means of meeting participation) allow a district to convene a "virtual" resolution session in which all team members participate by phone or video conference? Would the 30-day time frame for resolving the dispute apply?
- If a virtual resolution session is not feasible, is the district still bound by the 15-day timeline for convening a resolution session? If not, when would the 15-day period begin?
- Does the 45-day timeline for hearing officer decisions still apply? What about the 30-day time frame for state-level review? Can the deadline be extended due to a shortage of hearing officers?
- Do states have the option of conducting virtual due process hearings? What happens if one or more witnesses are unavailable due to illness?
- What advice would you give to district administrators about trying to resolve IDEA disputes during a COVID-19 outbreak?

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Any answers you can provide will be greatly appreciated. If you'd prefer to speak by phone, let me know what time works best for you. I can call you at your convenience.

Northeast Community College had a scheduled winter break from March 9 thru March 13, the decision was made to extend that winter break by an additional 5 days due to COVID-19 which brought this payment period to 16 weeks so we are still above the 30 week minimum requirement. Am I correct that since we are still above the required minimum of 30 week academic year that I do not need to notify my program participation team?

Also if you extended an already scheduled break which impacts the start date of a module do you need to adjust your student information system so all sections of that module have the new start date? Currently we extended an already scheduled winter break by one week; however we still have 16 weeks scheduled in the semester so we are meeting the 30 week minimum requirement. No decision has been made to extend the term yet. We are moving courses that we can to online format and some of the applied tech labs at this time are planning on meeting. The module is part of our standard term is there any guidance that I need to be aware of if extending an already scheduled break impacted a module start date?

Thanks

I have read the guidance provided on March 5th and have a few follow up questions. If we are mandated to close by State of Federal Government order, who do we notify and what is the preferred method of contact?

We would also notify that we plan to resume operations as of the date the order is lifted. Please confirm that if that is within 30 days, we would not be required to perform R2T4 calculations.

For NSLDS reporting, we are a clock hour school so each student is at a different place in the payment period. All student would be returning in the same period the temporary school closure occurred, would we be able to defer reporting students as withdrawn as long as they return when the school reopens?

How would students on a current approved leave of absence be affected by a temporary school closure? Would they be able to resume the LOA once the school reopened and how would the days the schools was closed be considered when determining the length of the LOA?

Hello! Hope you are well. Quick question, is it advised to provide parents with a Prior Written Notice when a school decides to move to "school dismissal" and provide online/distance learning to their students? Is there a generic template that has been created? Thank you.

No problem. This is an evolving process as things are changing rapidly. As for best way to proceed and responding- let me get back to you in an hour or two. Since this involves two other POCs I am not sure what is the best way to proceed.

Good Morning,

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

So we have gotten our first request for information on state testing and extended school closure. I imagine this won't be the first or the last request from an EDFacts Coordinator. It might be helpful if we could create a generic response for PSC to give states that directs them to the appropriate people about this policy decisions.

Cheers,
Amanda

We just got the below escalation from New York and I am sure they are not the only ones who will be asking this question. Do we have any guidance on how states should manage state assessment testing in the event that schools and/or districts closed for an extended amount of time during the assessment window due to the current health concern surrounding the Coronavirus?

Thanks,

New York's EDFacts Coordinator, Kristen DeSalvatore, contacted PSC requesting guidance on how states should manage state assessment testing in the event that schools and/or districts closed for an extended amount of time during the assessment window due to the current health concern surrounding the Coronavirus. She writes:

> Good afternoon,

> New York is wondering if there is any guidance expected from ED on how states are to manage state assessment testing in the event that schools and/or districts are closed for extended periods of time during the assessment window. I've looked on https://www.ed.gov/coronavirus and didn't see anything. I would imagine this is a question on the minds of many states and a prompt response would be very helpful.

How would ED like to respond to the state?

Hello there,

Per the response I received from David Barnicki. I am asking the question below for guidance:

We are currently waiting for temporary approval for online distance education because we are an on campus vocational/career school. My question is, once approved, would I need to repackage the currently enrolled students due to a possible COA change due to no longer having transportation included? Or since the students enrolled prior, do we keep the award letter as is?

Would we even have a COA update during this time since the school is asking for temporary online distance approval for our enrolled students?

We have 5 programs: Barbering, Cosmetology, Hairstyling, Esthetician, and Nail Technician.

We are not enrolling any future students per Fed. Guidelines.

I hope I explained this correctly, if you need more info, please let me know ☺

Good Morning,

I hope this email finds you well. I am need of clarification as we work to figure out how to best serve our students during the COVID-19 pandemic. I have a main campus and a branch located in two different cities. The main campus is credit based and the branch is hour based. We can make accommodations for the main campus but we are unable to accommodate the branch so we are considering leaving the branch campus open. If we wanted to close the main campus and keep the branch open, is that allowed? Or would we need to close both? I am unable to find any guidance online. Any guidance you could offer would be greatly appreciated.

I am attorney and have a question regarding the March 5 "Guidance for interruptions of study related to Coronavirus (COVID-19)" as it relates to Federal Work Study:
Does the relief described in the Guidance apply when the school sends all students home but moves all class to an online format? The sentence about which I am asking states:
"For students enrolled and performing FWS at a campus that must close due to COVID-19, or for a FWS student who is employed by an employer that closes as a result of COVID-19, the institution may continue paying the student Federal work-study wages during that closure if …."

We interpret the section to include within the word "close," moving to an online-only environment rather than just a complete cessation of all instruction, but request verification. We note that the sentence that precedes the above reads:
"The impact may be magnified if the institution accommodates students by providing alternative instructional opportunities and the student is required to continue paying tuition, but the student loses FWS as an important part of their financial aid award."
Thank you for your attention to this question!

Hello,

Franklin Pierce University opted to extend our scheduled spring break by an additional 5 days in order to fully transition to an online delivery of academic programs for our on-campus students.

From your March 5, 2020 memo:

"If an institution has closed subsequently reopens during the same payment period or period of enrollment and permits students to continue coursework that they were taking at the time of closure, students that return to class at that time are considered to have reentered the same period and retain eligibility for Title IV aid that they were otherwise eligible to receive before the closure."

1. We are technically closing for 1 week beyond planned and then transitioning to online all within the same payment period
    a. Do we need to recalculate aid eligibility based on one, less week in the academic year? Or does this only impact Return of Title IV funds?

Thanks,
Ken

I have one other question and this is in regard to taking attendance. With this adjustment to all online classes due to the COVID-19, how are schools determining attendance? Are schools required to take attendance during this time of emergency? Is the 14-day policy still in effect, especially if a school's spring break has been extended or the student is having to find ways to do their work online? If a student does have the COVID-19 and doesn't do any school related activities while they have the virus is the school required to take attendance on that student?

Subject: Questions in regards to moving online only

Good morning,
I have just a couple of questions that were not addressed in the "Dear Colleague" letter nor the electronic letters that I'm hoping you could assist me with.

1. If we pro-rate Room and Board and refund the student back the pro-rated amount, is the school required to complete a Cost of Attendance adjustment, even though the decision to move all classes online and to have the student move off-campus was beyond their and the school's control due to the federal emergency of COVID-19?
2. On students who are on Federal Work-study, since all students have been sent home because of COVID-19, can the school, based on the average hours the student has worked to this point, calculate wages for the rest of the semester as if the student was still here and working? With sending students home and still having to pay for tuition, a loss of a job will create a financial hardship for the student. If a school cannot average out hours worked, can the student stay on campus and continue to work while continuing to take classes online for the remainder of the year?

Good morning,

Guidance on March 5th under "Reentering the Same Payment Period" for colleges that close then reopen (resulting in a longer or additional break), it is clear that R2T4 calculations after the closure should be calculated using the updated days in term and break days.

It is also my understanding that a school is not required to complete a recalculation for an R2T4 processed before the closure and updated term/break days. Please correct if that is wrong.

Can a school choose to recalculate based on the updated term/breaks days if a recalculation for an R2T4 processed before a closure would be beneficial to the student (i.e. result in more aid earned by the student)?

Thank you for the clarification.

As a result of the COVID-19 pandemic, our institution has elected to cancel brick-and-mortar classes for two days (March 16-17, 2020) as we convert to an online delivery method for the remainder of our scheduled spring term. Online classes that were scheduled for 3/16-3/17 still took place as normal.

Our regularly scheduled spring break ran from 3/9-3/13 (but since we do not offer courses on Saturdays or Sundays, we count all of the period of 3/7-3/15 as our break for r2t4 purposes). Since the COVID-19 class cancellation occurs on immediately subsequent days, we are thinking 3/16 and 3/17 must now be included in our break period of 5+ days. Is this a fair assumption?

Could you please review the scenarios below and let us know if we are on the right track?

Students who withdrew prior to March 16th:

Both 3/16 and 3/17 were days the student was scheduled to attend at the point of withdrawal. Therefore, these days should still be included in the denominator of the r2t4 calculation.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Students who withdrew during the class cancellation on either 3/16 or 3/17:

Since they withdrew as a direct result of circumstances outside of their control, their withdrawal date should be 3/16. Both 3/16 and 3/17 should still be included in the denominator of the r2t4 calculation.

Students who re-enter the payment period and subsequently withdraw:

Student withdraws on or after 3/18: We assume this student has re-entered the payment period and subsequently withdrawn. Both 3/16 and 3/17 should now be treated as 'break days' for this student and will not be included in the denominator nor the numerator of the r2t4 calculation.

Good Afternoon,

I am with a third party servicer and asking this question on behalf of my clients. A school has a credit hour residential program. If a student unofficially withdraws during a term the school does not determine that a student is no longer enrolled until the end of the term. For that same program due to COVID-19 the school is closing for a week to get a temporary online process in place for their students. Is the DOD process the same if student is in the term and after school closed for a week, the student starts the online process but then unofficially withdraws and again the school does not determine the student unofficially withdrew until end of term?

Thank you for your assistance.

I understand other schools are closing down or extending their vacation or spring break however my daughters beauty school she attends in the villages is still open and I'm not sure I understand why? She attends to ""Tenja salon Institute ""and there are quite a few kids and staff that attend there and although they are not excepting clients it is still a large amount of people in each room and a closed in building. Makes it very dangerous considering we just had a brand new Lady Lake coronavirus case as of St. Patrick's Day! I would like To know if somebody has been in contact with the school and is helping them close the school? I believe it's an issue of financial aid but I'm not sure can somebody please touch base with the school and find out why they are still open?!!!

Hi,

Due to the Corona Virus and Washington State's Governor Jay Inslee's request for public education, we are planning to shorten our academic year from 34 weeks to 32 weeks, we will still be within the required 30 weeks of instruction. Our planned term dates for Spring were 4/6/20-6/18/20 but it will now be 4/20/20-6/18/20. NASFAA is telling schools that if we don't add these two weeks on to the end of the term, which would make our term dates 4/20/20-7/2/20 that we must do a new PPA. Please advise on how we should proceed.

March 17, 2020

The Honorable Mitchell Zais
Deputy Secretary of Education
United States Department of Education
400 Maryland Avenue, SW
Washington, D.C. 20202

Dear Deputy Secretary Zais:

The United States and our public school systems are experiencing an unprecedented, historic crisis related to the novel coronavirus, COVID-19. South Carolina joins many other states in statewide closures of our public schools to contain and reduce the contagion, to protect our most valuable assets–the students we serve. We know that hard days still lie ahead as we have yet to feel the impact of this virus on our citizens and society.

On March 15, 2020, I joined South Carolina Governor Henry McMaster, as he issued an Executive Order to close all public schools, from 4k through universities, until March 31, 2020. That date is subject to extension based upon the scientific guidance we receive from the Centers for Disease Control and our South Carolina Department of Health and Environmental Control.

This closure comes as we gear up for how we hold our state, districts, and schools accountable–our end-of-year testing season. At the March 15 press conference, I announced with the support of our Governor, our intent to suspend spring assessments required by the Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA) and our intent to seek a waiver from the United States Department of Education (USED).

I understand that the USED is continuing to review the impact of COVID-19 on state accountability systems and assessments along with developing processes for statewide waivers, and we look forward to you releasing additional guidance in the coming days. I want to share South Carolina's intent for the following and stand ready to submit any documentation or information as you deem appropriate:

PHONE: 803-734-8500 · FAX: 803-734-3389 · ED.SC.GOV

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

1. South Carolina intends to suspend all federally-required testing during spring 2020 and requests a waiver of those testing requirements, including ESSA's 95 percent assessment participation requirement;
2. South Carolina intends to request a waiver to delay the identification of any school for comprehensive or targeted support and improvement based upon 2019–20;
3. South Carolina intends to apply a hold-harmless provision and keep ratings from the 2018–19 state report cards in place until the 2020–21 school year; and
4. South Carolina may seek additional waivers related to funding and programs, when we determine any impact that COVID-19 may have on the use of ESSA funds.

We hope that the USED will consider broad waivers and expedited approvals so that states and local school districts can focus on ensuring the health and wellness of our students, faculty, and their families, during these unparalleled times.

We appreciate your guidance and leadership.

Sincerely,

Molly M. Spearman

Hello,

I am a first year graduate student currently enrolled full-time at Jagiellonian University in Poland. Several days ago, classes were temporarily suspended in the country, and as a result, we have shifted to remote learning methods. I've been told by the financial aid office at Jagiellonian that I am now ineligible to receive my disbursement of aid due to the suspension of regular classes on campus. A March 5th announcement indicated this in the section below:

"We cannot extend flexibility regarding the use of distance learning to foreign schools since the Higher Education Act does not permit foreign schools to provide distance learning to U.S. students who participate in Title IV, HEA programs. We continue to consider if there are any other flexibilities we could extend to foreign schools that temporarily close due to COVID-19."

Due to this situation, I am no longer able to afford my tuition or basic cost of living--nor am I able to afford a return ticket to the United States. In other words, I am stuck in a rather precarious situation where I cannot stay in Poland yet also cannot return home. I know that I am not the only student going through difficulties right now, but I do not feel that my aid being delayed/withheld--despite the fact that I'm still enrolled full-time and completing required coursework--is a reasonable measure.

At this point, some level of clarification would be extremely helpful. I know that the effects of COVID-19 are unpredictable, but American students studying at foreign institutions should be afforded the means to continue their studies while remaining in a state of quarantine, just as other students are. If you could provide me with any updated information I would really appreciate it.

Guidance for interruptions of study related to Coronavirus (COVID-19)

Seeking clarity on a few questions:

- We fall under the scenario of a campus temporarily stops offering education in a clock hour school to prevent the spread of COVID-19. We have obtained state approval to offer theory instruction via distance Education. We have applied for temporary approval of distance education with NACCAS.
- Once we obtain approval from NACCAS do we need to get approval from DOE to offer distance education for this direct interruption?
- We offer a Full Time program and a Part Time program – Does the approval stand for Part-Time programs the same as Full Time programs or are they treated differently? I didn't see any scenario referencing a part time program, just full time.
- What documentation do you recommend we keep on hand if needed for future review from DOE?
- Do you have any examples of documentation you could send.

I appreciate your direction! If more clarity is needed please reach out to me by phone or email (847-702-8772, tiffany@kenoshatspa.com)

To whom this may concern,

I hope this email finds you well!

Our academy has received approval by our state and is awaiting approval by NACCAS for temporary approval of distance education. If you would please assist me with the proper documentation that the DOE needs to approve our distance education once we receive approval from NACCAS that would be greatly appreciated. We offer a 1550 hr Cosmetology program and 600 hr Aesthetics program. I have attached our NACCAS application for reference on the theory units we are requesting to offer, if approved for distance education.

If our school is temporarily closed, and we are anticipating using distance/online learning to continue their classes do they have to request an approved Leave of Absence, and if they don't, do I have to withdrawal them?

I know I have three options: 1. LOA 2. Withdrawal 3. Do nothing if the students resume attendance no later than 90 days from the closure date.

Last question. If I wait for the 90 days and the students do not resume attendance or the school does not reopen, I know I have to complete the withdraws, but am I out of compliance because my determination date will be well passed 14 days from the LDA?

Any guidance would be greatly appreciated.

Good afternoon,

Due to the COVID-19 Pandemic, we have been fielding some unique questions from LEAs, and we are seeking ED's guidance.

1. The Governor of Arizona has closed all public schools for two weeks. LEAs are allowed to submit a 15% carryover waiver once every three years. Are there any exceptions to the 15% carryover waiver due to these unprecedented circumstances we are all facing?

2. If LEAs continue to pay non-Title-I employees during these closures, will LEAs be allowed to use Title-I funds to pay currently funded Title-I staff?

We look forward to your response.

Good Afternoon Steve,
Due to the coronavirus (COVID-19) outbreak and concerns regarding domestic travel, the USF office of Student Success is cancelling all university-sponsored Alternative Spring Break trips. Each year CAMP sponsors approximately 10-13 students on these service trips throughout the United States. It is a remarkable opportunity for our students to learn about other issues impacting local communities such homelessness and hunger, human trafficking, women empowerment and others. We have promoted this throughout the year, so the students are very disappointed.
I am writing to see if there is any way to provide this opportunity next year for these students. I know they are no longer considered freshman, but the funds have been budgeted and returned to our account. Please let me know what is possible.

Dear Dr. Walker,

Please be advised that, out of great concern for the welfare of our students, faculty, staff and community at large, Universal Training Institute, is taking some initial steps towards the prevention of the COVID-19 virus within our immediate environment.

UTI has therefore updated our Emergency Preparedness Plan to mediate some of the concerns and issues the COVID-19 virus has presented to our campus. The goal of this plan is to accommodate students and help them continue their education despite the interruptions caused by COVID-19.

We also request approval to enable us transition to online platform for classes and academic activities and we have attached the request for your review. We have forwarded the same request to our Accrediting Agency and the Department of Labor for processing.

Thank you for your continued support particularly in this difficult period.

Sincerely.

Dear Representatives,

Please be advised that, out of great concern for the welfare of our students, faculty, staff and community at large, Universal Training Institute, is taking some initial steps towards the prevention of the COVID-19 virus within our immediate environment. UTI has therefore updated our Emergency Preparedness Plan to mediate some of the concerns and issues the COVID-19 virus has presented to our campus.

Our Objective:

The goal of updating the Emergency Preparedness Plan is to accommodate students and help them continue their education despite interruptions caused by the COVID-19. Anytime coursework is interrupted, it is incumbent that the school take immediate and necessary steps to help students navigate through the program till such time they have completed the program. To this end UTI will initiate the following protocols:

Risk Factors:

- The risk that students and faculty members including administrative staff could be unduly exposed to Covid-19 if UTI continues to hold regular classes in its facility is present
- Most of our students work in Health Care facilities across the State and might be exposed to other individuals with known/ unknown symptoms that could be a major risk factor for other members of UTI if they continue to be present at school on a regular basis.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- A number of students and faculty members do daily commute to school by public transportation system which may not be deemed safe at this period of outbreak
- Failure to comply by the various pronouncement by government agencies across the nation and particularly the State of New Jersey will not be a prudent choice for UTI.

Impact of the Risks:

- Students may contract the virus and infect others within UTI facility even before symptoms manifest
- Students may contract the virus and infect their family members and others in their community
- A sick ( possibly infected) member of staff or faculty member could infect others or students if they continue to be present at work
- The possibility of the Coronavirus outbreak lasting longer than anticipated
- Inability to access needed resources (IT and Human) in the event of delayed action to support continuity and recovery when needed

Operation Continuity strategies:

- Close the school for an initial period of two weeks effective 3/18/20 (with possible extension as events unfold)
- Clean and disinfect the school (including classrooms, bathrooms, labs and computer assets during this period).
- Institute online classes to consist of a combination of lecture, discussions, written assignments and examinations by deploying "Zoom web conferencing" platform to augment our legacy SIS platform.
    - It is believed that online (ground-based) education provides a viable option for continuing to teach students through COVID-19 related interruptions.

    - The student's attendance will be taken by the faculty and monitored throughout the course of the day to ensure they are meeting the requisite daily requirements.

- Discontinued all clinical rotations at local healthcare facilities and to this effect, students are now required to participate in online video case-studies and presentations to enhance and support their clinical knowledge.
- All faculty members will be lecturing and testing offsite from their respective homes, and they will be monitored to meet all UTI expectations.
- Students will be given the opportunity to take a 'Leave of Absence' if they feel they cannot cope with any of the aforementioned expectations and requirements
- All students, faculty and staff have been thoroughly informed about the signs and symptoms of the virus including any and all steps for prevention and treatment as outlined by the Center for Disease Control (CDC).

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

First Responder Team:

- Two staff members have been approved and dedicated to attend to all issues related to IT Assets, online platform issues resolution, class facilitation and; compliance issues as it relates to communication with the students and staff as well as the regulatory bodies in this time of unforeseen outbreak:
    - Nicholas Stewart – IT Assets and Online platform support
        - 732-841-1095
    - Anne-marie Emanuel- Compliance and Communications Support
        - 347-430-6744

Communication Tree:

UTI recognizes that online Distance Learning Education is for a limited time. It is our sincere intention to offer a robust and comprehensive program for the duration of the interruption. We further understand that no formal approval is required by the accrediting bodies or DOE. However, because UTI is a clock-hour based program, we are reaching out to your office for approval and assistance during this transition.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

We wish to thank you for your guidance and assistance during this difficult time. I can be reached at schooladministratot@universalui.gov or (732) 744-4287.

Hi Steve,

As a FYI, USF is making preparations to offer classes all online. Although this will not impact CAMP students attending class, it will impact our support services, mentoring, tutoring and counseling if implemented. The bigger concern though is HEP since we are a residential program, and our students hail from various parts of the state. I just wanted to put that on the table and see if there had been any discussion within OME on its impact on residential programs if our HEP students are sent home..

Best,

Patrick

Good Morning!

Based on President Trump's recent comments on waiving interest on Federal Student loans, should we be placing a freeze on interest accruals on the Perkins loans from yesterday forward? Will ED be providing guidance on how this should be handled? (ie: just stop accruing for a designated period of time, process a benefit type TBD to track waived interest accruals, some other process???)

Thank you!

Subject: FWS and voluntary closure

Good afternoon,

In the Dear Colleague letter from March 5 relating to COVID-19, it stated that with FWS:

Given the unique nature of this situation, it is unlikely that an entire region would be declared a Federal disaster area, yet to students enrolled at a campus that must close temporarily, the loss of this important form of financial aid can be devastating. The impact may be magnified if the institution accommodates students by providing alternative instructional opportunities and the student is required to continue paying tuition, but the student loses FWS as an important part of their financial aid award. For students enrolled and performing FWS at a campus that must close due to COVID-19, or for a FWS student who is employed by an employer that closes as a result of COVID-19, the institution may continue paying the student Federal work-study wages during that closure if it occurred after the beginning of the term, the institution is continuing to pay its other employees (including faculty and staff), and the institution continues to meet its institutional wage share requirement.

My question with this is wondering if this is the case if our University voluntarily closes or is it only in a case of a State or National Emergency requiring colleges and universities to close?

Thank you in advance for your clarification,

Good Afternoon,

I have a question regarding compensating FWS students during the COVID-19 pandemic. Due to the COVID-19, we extended our spring break to include this current week of March 16th thru March 20th and then we are moving to online instruction as of next Monday, March 23rd. We've asked students to not come to campus and we would like to compensate our FWS students during this time.

My question is: Do I start compensating students starting this week for our extended spring break or starting next Monday, March 233rd, which is when we will resume classes through online modality?

Additional Question, specific to School Closures and staff pay:

Some districts/schools in Wyoming are closing for 2-3 weeks in lieu of COVID-19 precautions. State and local funds will still pay contract teachers. The question from one of our districts is: can federal funds continue to pay contracted teachers (such as Title I teachers) during these closure events? What about hourly paid federally funded staff, such as Title I tutors, paraprofessionals, and district Consolidated Grant Managers?

Our team would like to allow this, but need guidance from US Department of Education since time and effort requirements are a consideration with federal grant funds.

What can we do as an agency to request a longer period of availability (if that is even an option) for these dying grant funds? Or, will the US Department of Education be understanding if states have to return grant funds that were unused because of the current circumstances that are causing disruptions?

The best examples I can share:
Cancelled Professional Development that uses Title II-A funds.
Cancelled additional tutoring services provided using Title I-A funds.
Cancelled Parent and Family Engagement activities that use Title I-A, and Title III funds.

Thank you so much for a quick response so that we can support our districts.

I am writing in connection with the Office of Postsecondary Education's electronic announcement of March 05, 2020 and the part regarding foreign schools: "We cannot extend flexibility regarding the use of distance learning to foreign schools since the Higher Education Act does not permit foreign schools to provide distance learning to U.S. students who participate in Title IV, HEA programs. Due to the spread of Coronavirus (COVID-19) in Europe and following the safety recommendations of the Chief Sanitary Inspectorate, JU Rector Prof. Wojciech Nowak has cancelled all lectures conducted at Jagiellonian University. Other classes (which take place in a smaller groups) will be held as per usual, with any additional restrictions to be introduced by the Faculties.

Please let me know if the above regulations (authorizing distance learning at programs which are not usually distance) do have an impact on students' eligibility for Title IV funds in the 2019-2020 summer

Good afternoon. My name is Dr. Adam Starke, director of state and federal programs in the Socorro Independent School District (El Paso, Texas). Our school district is currently closed. Plans are to reopen the schools to students on April 6, 2020, but the situation, as in every other locality in our country, is fluid at this time. With the closure, spending has been halted and I now have a concern about meeting requirements that we normally meet as a matter of course. Questions I have are below:

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

1. We always meet maintenance of effort. If we were not able to solely because of the COVID-19 closing, would we be able to receive a waiver?

2. We always exceed the 85% Title I, Part A expenditure requirement; we carry over less than 15% each fiscal year. If we cannot do that this year for this reason, will that be waived?

3. If we cannot reach the 85% Title I-A expenditure requirement and it is waived, will our carryover be capped at 15% or will we receive what we could not expend due to the closure?

4. Through our first/second allocation and carryover, our participating Private/Non-Profit schools have received all required funding by the prescribed formula. If they do not expend their allocations to the percentage required due to closures, will that be waived as a requirement for this year?

5. Will districts be required to submit any kind of waiver application if MOE, Title I-A 85%, etc., are not met due to the prolonged school closure?

6. As we are all well aware, our entire country is affected by COVID-19. Will that cause the planning amounts and the availability of the 2020-2021 ESSA Consolidated Application to be delayed or will the availability be around the normal time (April to May)?

7. We currently have one school that was identified to receive the School Improvement grant. Expenditures were steady before the closure; this campus has received these funds in previous years and has always spent close to 100% of the funding. If that maintenance of effort was not met this year due to the closure, will that be waived?

I thank you in advance for answering my questions; I look forward to hearing from you soon. Thank you.

Mr. Russell,

Belmont Abbey College (002910) is seeking approval to have a temporary reduction of our academic year due to COVID -19.

The State of North Carolina has declared a State of Emergency and cases have been identified local to the Charlotte metro area. In alignment with guidance from the Centers for Disease Control (CDC), the U.S. Department of Education, and state and local authorities, the College is preparing to extend Spring Break and temporarily relocate instruction on-line.

Students enrolled in traditional 15- week spring semester courses are currently on Spring Break so those classes are not held this week. We are extending Spring Break and do not plan to hold 15-week classes the week of March 23-29, 2020.
We will use this time to provide significant support to faculty to prepare for the likelihood of moving some, and potentially all, of our courses to remote course delivery. The earliest we would shift these courses to on-line is Monday, March 30, 2020.

For students taking classes in our 8-week term, we began on-line instruction on Monday, March 16, 2020. There are limited courses offered in the condensed session and most are already offered in a hybrid format. As such, we are positioned to move quickly to shift those courses to remote delivery.

Once classes are shifted to on-line delivery we expect them to remain on-line through the end of the spring term, May 12, 2020. At this time, our plan is to return all courses to in-person classes for the Summer term.

Thank you for your consideration of our request to have a temporary reduction of our academic year.

Greetings!
On March 16 the Governor of Puerto Rico, Hon. Wanda Vazquez Garced has issue an Executive Order decreeing a total curfew from March 16 through the 30th. This means that everyone need to stay at home 24/7 unless you work on health and security. This decision is base on the several case confirm on COVID-19 in the island. The intentions with this action is to control the propagation of the virus to an extent that the health system can handle it.
We will be returning to the University the first week of april. For that reasons we ask you to consider our petition to grant us an extension on the due date to submit the Single Audit Report.
Any help will be appreciated,
Sincerely,

Greetings,

Due to response to COVID-19, if a school offers a partial refund of spring 2020 room and board charges as a credit to the fall 2020 term charges because classes were moved online, is the credit counted as EFA in Fall 2020 or would COA need to be adjusted?

Subject: Student Interns/Student Teaching

My name is Wanda Laducer. I am the Dean of Students at the Turtle Mountain Community College- a tribal college in North Dakota. We are moving to online instruction after our spring break next week until April 13, 2020. At that time, the Coronavirus situation will be reassessed to see if we need to continue with online instruction.

My question is - How will this affect our students enrolled in Bachelor's degree programs who are doing their student teaching in the school systems? If the school closes for the next three to four weeks and possibly for the rest of the school year, how will this impact the 12 credits that they would have earned for the student teaching portion of their program of study in order to complete the requirement of the number of hours that the needed to student teach.

The same situation arises for our students who are in a Bachelor's degree program that requires they do an internship at an organization within the community. Our students are required to take 12 credits of internship at an organization in our community. What if the organization closes down temporarily because of COVID-19? How will this affect those 12 credits and with completing their program of study?

Are students required to have so many contact hours - in the classroom or internship to have considered completing the 12 credit hours? How will this impact those hours if everything gets shut down in our community?

Thank you and I look forward to a response.

Wanda

Corona virus Safe Education Initiative

Summary

The Uganda has thousands of seafarers and Overseas Ugandan Workers (OFWs) which might carry the novel corona-virus back to their home-place and spread the contagion. The virus emanates from Wuhan, China and is now spreading worldwide. This project will educate local people by means of leaflets, launch our sensitization Centre, social media and small meetings on how to detect symptoms, what to do in order to prevent transmission and how to practice health precautions when a case starts to appear and infect people.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Challenge

The novel corona-virus emanating from Wuhan, China is spreading rapidly mainly due to the ease of travel nowadays. The Uganda has thousands of seafarers and overseas workers who may be unknowing carriers and spreaders of the virus when they go back home or when their ships dock in the country. With little education, the virus can spread quickly with destructive impact to the people. The need for education while this is still not the case is urgent and the time is now!

Solution

We will provide education campaign, launch A sensitization centre via multiple sources and mainly through social media, flyers and leaflets, bulletin boards and small meetings in order to inform the public about symptoms of the virus, what to do in order to prevent transmission and what health precautions to take when a suspected case arise.

Long-Term Impact

The health and wellness of people and communities is paramount. With very little education and when the virus spreads, it will spread very quickly and will result to thousands if not millions in morbidity and mortality. With pro-active prevention, the spread will be contained and damage minimal.

Dear DOE COVID-19 Response Team:

The Tunica-Biloxi Council declared a state of emergency on Thursday, March 12, following the Louisiana public health emergency declared by Governor Edwards on Wednesday, March 11. The Tunica-Biloxi tribal government offices are likely to close due to safety concerns related to the COVID-17. Local schools closed as of March 16.

As of today, the Avoyelles Parish School District is still compiling electronic and paper resource packets for students. The district is counting on parents to reach out to pick up these paper packets or retrieve them online. The School District has been distributing USDA Food and Nutrition Service funded meals via drive-by pickup for students up to age 18.

During school and office closures, Tunica-Biloxi Education Program (TBEP) staff will encourage program students to take part in activities via online applications. (See the attached plan). TBEP will be contacting parents and guardians of all enrolled grant program students to make sure they are taking advantage of work to help them stay caught up.

I received the attached letter from USET which outlines OMB guidance on the emergency response related to COVID-19 during the period formally declared by the Department of Health and Human Services through the 90 Day Public Health Emergency Declaration (Public Health Emergency Period).

Can you provide specific guidance on whether we can still pay our NYCP-Demonstration grant coordinator, academic counselors, outreach specialist/administrative assistant and project director from our NYCP Demonstration Grant – Tunica-Biloxi Education Program to Prevent Drop-outs (S299A160104) during our Tribe's potential shutdown?

WASHINGTON, D.C. 20503

DEPUTY DIRECTOR
FOR MANAGEMENT

March 9, 2020

M-20-11

MEMORANDUM FOR THE HEADS OF EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENTS AND AGENCIES

FROM: Margaret Weichert
Deputy Director of Management

SUBJECT: Administrative Relief for Recipients and Applicants of Federal Financial Assistance Directly Impacted by the Novel Coronavirus (COVID-19)

The Office of Management and Budget (OMB) has identified the following agency actions to relieve short term administrative, financial management and audit requirements under 2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost principles and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards, without compromising Federal financial assistance accountability requirements. In accordance with 2 CFR § 200.102, Exceptions, OMB is allowing Federal agencies to grant class exceptions in instances where the agency has determined that the purpose of the Federal awards is to support the continued research and services necessary to carry out the emergency response related to COVID-19. Further, agencies are reminded of their existing flexibility to issue exceptions on a case-by-case basis in accordance with 2 CFR § 200.102, Exceptions.

The Administration will evaluate if these flexibilities should be extended to recipients whose operations have been adversely impacted in the emergency response related to COVID-19 at a later date.

Awarding agencies are authorized to take the following actions, as they deem appropriate, with respect to the administrative provisions that apply to this class of Federal awards. These exceptions are time limited and are only applicable for those awards that support the continued research and services necessary to carry out the emergency response related to COVID-19 during the period formally declared by the Department of Health and Human Services through the 90 Day Public Health Emergency Declaration (Public Health Emergency Period).

1. Flexibility with SAM registration/recertification for applicants.

Awarding agencies can relax the requirement for active SAM registration at time of application in order to expeditiously issue funding. At the time of award, the requirements of 2 CFR § 200.205, Federal awarding agency review of risk posed by applicants, continue to apply.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

2. Waiver for Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFOs) Publication.

Awarding agencies can publish emergency Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFOs) for less than thirty (30) days without separately justifying shortening the timeframe for each NOFO. Awarding agencies would still be required to document and track NOFOs published for less than thirty (30) days under this emergency waiver.

3. Pre-award costs.

Awarding agencies may allow necessary pre-award costs that are incurred (i) from January 20, 2020 through the Public Health Emergency Period and (ii) prior to the effective date of a Federal award.

4. No-cost extensions on expiring awards.

Awarding agencies may extend awards which are active as of March 31, 2020 and scheduled to expire prior or up to December 31, 2020, automatically at no-cost for a period up to twelve (12) months. This will allow time for recipient assessments, the resumption of many individual projects, and a report on program progress and financial status to agency staff. Project-specific financial and performance reports will be due 90 days following the end date of the extension. Agencies will examine the need to extend other project reporting as the need arises.

5. Abbreviated non-competitive continuation requests.

For non-competitive continuation requests scheduled to come in from April 1, 2020 to December 31, 2020 from projects with planned future support, awarding agencies may accept a brief statement from grantee organizations to verify that they are in a position to: (i) resume or restore their project activities and (ii) accept a planned continuation award. Agencies should post any specific instructions on their website. Agencies will examine the need to extend this approach on subsequent continuation award start dates as grantee organizations have an opportunity to assess the situation.

6. Expenditure of award funds for salaries and other project activities.

Awarding agencies may allow recipients to continue to charge salaries and benefits to currently active Federal awards consistent with the recipient organization's policy of paying salaries (under unexpected or extraordinary circumstances) from all funding sources, Federal and non-Federal. Agencies may allow other costs to be charged to Federal awards, including those necessary to resume activities supported by the award, consistent with applicable Federal cost principles and the benefit to the project. Federal agencies may also evaluate the recipient's ability to resume the project activity in the future and the appropriateness of future funding, as done under normal circumstances, based on subsequent progress reports and other communications with the recipient.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

7. Waivers from prior approval requirements.

Awarding agencies are authorized to waive prior approval requirements as necessary to effectively address the response. All costs charged to Federal awards must be consistent with Federal cost policy guidelines and the terms of the award, except where specified in this memorandum.

8. Exemption of certain procurement requirements.

Awarding agencies may waive the procurement requirements contained in 2 CFR § 200.319(b) regarding geographical preferences and 2 CFR § 200.321 regarding contracting small and minority businesses, women's business enterprises, and labor surplus area firms.

9. Extension of financial and other reporting.

Awarding agencies may allow recipients to delay submission of financial and other reports up to three (3) months beyond the normal due date. If an agency allows such a delay, recipients will continue to draw down Federal funds without the timely submission of these reports. However, these reports must be submitted at the end of the postponed period.

10. Extension of Single Audit submission.

Awarding agencies should allow grantees to delay the completion and submission of the Single Audit report as required under Subpart F of 2 CFR 200, Audit Requirements, to twelve (12) months beyond the normal due date. The delayed completion and submission would still qualify the grantee as a "low-risk auditee" under the criteria of 2 CFR § 200.520(a), Criteria for a low-risk auditee.

Questions regarding the above administrative relief provisions should be directed to Office of Federal Financial Management – Gilbert Tran at (202) 395-3052 or Rhea Hubbard at (202) 395-2743.

Greetings

I have a question related to Verification groups 4 and 5 and the documentation schools are required to collect to verify student identity. I have attached a PDF of the relevant pages from the 2019/2020 FSA Application and Verification Guide.

Presently, a student who is selected for verification group 4 or 5 is required to appear in person at the school and sign ("wet" signature) the statement of educational purpose that certifies who s/he is and that the federal student aid s/he may receive will only be used for educational purposes and for the cost of attending the school for the 2019–2020 year. The student must then submit to the school that statement (again, with the "wet" signature), and present a valid, unexpired, government-issued photo identification (ID) such as a passport or a driver's license or other state-issued ID.

If the student is unable to appear at the school, s/he must go in person to a notary public and sign the statement of educational purpose. The student must then submit to the school that statement (again, with the "wet" signature), a certification from the notary that s/he appeared before the notary and presented a government issued photo ID confirming his/her identity, and a copy of the same ID (presented).

Currently, ED does not does not authorize the use of online notary services as an alternative to traditional, in person notary services.
During the current COVID-19 emergency, will this guidance be revisited to allow an impacted student use an online notary service to complete the documentation required to completed V4 or V5?

Please advise.

- An academic transcript that indicates the student successfully completed at least a two-year program that is acceptable for full credit toward a bachelor's degree at any participating school. You do not have to collect proof of high school status for graduate students if admission into their program required the completion of at least two years of undergraduate coursework.
- For a student who has not completed high school and is seeking enrollment in a program that leads to at least an associate degree or its equivalent, documentation from the high school that he excelled academically and from your school that he meets your written policy for admitting such students. This should be a rare occurrence.
- For homeschooled students, a copy of a secondary school completion credential for homeschool (other than a high school diploma or its recognized equivalent) if state law requires homeschooled students to get that credential. If it is not required, a transcript or the equivalent signed by the parent or guardian that lists the secondary school courses the student completed and documents the successful completion of a secondary school education in a homeschool setting.
- For students in an "eligible career pathway program," documentation that they passed an approved ATB test or completed at least 6 credit hours or 225 clock hours that are applicable toward a degree or certificate offered by your school. See the margin note.

If your school has already received one of these documents as part of the admission process, you do not need to ask for another. If you successfully verified a student's high school completion in a prior year, you do not need to do it again. Some schools collect seventh semester high school transcripts prior to students receiving an actual diploma, or they collect high school transcripts for some but not all of their students because they may have special programs that admit students without a high school diploma. In both cases, schools must collect separate documentation that shows the date when the diploma was awarded.

When documentation of high school completion is unavailable—e.g., the school is closed and no information is available from another source such as the school district or state department of education, or the parent or guardian who homeschooled the student is deceased—you may accept alternative documentation, such as a military DD Form 214 Certificate of Release or Discharge from Active Duty that indicates that the student is a high school graduate or equivalent. However, a student's self-certification is not acceptable except in rare instances for refugees, asylees, and victims of human trafficking, as explained in the margin note on page 88.

Identity and statement of educational purpose

Students should appear in person at your school and present a valid, unexpired,* government-issued photo identification (ID) such as a passport or a driver's license or other state-issued ID. You must maintain an annotated copy of that ID that includes the date it was received and the name of the person your school authorized to receive it. Note that an ID issued by a state university or college is not sufficient for this purpose.

Timing of signature

Any required signatures, such as signatures on worksheets or on copies of tax returns, must be collected at the time of verification—they can't be collected after the verification deadline for that award year.

Electronic signatures

For verification documentation, a school may collect an electronic signature for an applicant, parent, or spouse if the process includes an assurance of the identity of the person signing. This is often accomplished with a PIN or password that is assigned only after the identity of the person receiving the PIN or password has been authenticated.

V4 and V5 reporting

As explained on page 79, schools are required to report through FAA Access the outcomes of verifying high school completion status and identity/statement of educational purpose for applications with tracking flags V4 and V5.

* The ID just needs to be unexpired at the time it is checked. For proving identity, it does not matter if the ID is due to expire during the award year.

 The school may determine which of its staff are authorized to review an applicant's identity. We do recommend that the person(s) be full-time staff and that the school keep a record of who they are.

Good Morning,

I hope this email finds you well. I am need of clarification as we work to figure out how to best serve our students during the COVID-19 pandemic. I have a main campus and a branch located in two different cities. The main campus is credit based and the branch is hour based. We can make accommodations for the main campus but we are unable to accommodate the branch so we are considering leaving the branch campus open. If we wanted to close the main campus and keep the branch open, is that allowed? Or would we need to close both? I am unable to find any guidance online. Any guidance you could offer would be greatly appreciated.

Subject: Question regarding March 5 COVID-19 Guidance - Federal Work Study

I am attorney and have a question regarding the March 5 "Guidance for interruptions of study related to Coronavirus (COVID-19)" as it relates to Federal Work Study:
Does the relief described in the Guidance apply when the school sends all students home but moves all class to an online format? The sentence about which I am asking states:
"For students enrolled and performing FWS at a campus that must close due to COVID-19, or for a FWS student who is employed by an employer that closes as a result of COVID-19, the institution may continue paying the student Federal work-study wages during that closure if …."

We interpret the section to include within the word "close," moving to an online-only environment rather than just a complete cessation of all instruction, but request verification. We note that the sentence that precedes the above reads:
"The impact may be magnified if the institution accommodates students by providing alternative instructional opportunities and the student is required to continue paying tuition, but the student loses FWS as an important part of their financial aid award."
Thank you for your attention to this question!

Subject: Question regarding number of weeks of enrollment

Hello,

Franklin Pierce University opted to extend our scheduled spring break by an additional 5 days in order to fully transition to an online delivery of academic programs for our on-campus students.

From your March 5, 2020 memo:

"If an institution has closed subsequently reopens during the same payment period or period of enrollment and permits students to continue coursework that they were taking at the time of closure, students that return to class at that time are considered to have reentered the same period and retain eligibility for Title IV aid that they were otherwise eligible to receive before the closure."

1. We are technically closing for 1 week beyond planned and then transitioning to online all within the same payment period
    a. Do we need to recalculate aid eligibility based on one, less week in the academic year? Or does this only impact Return of Title IV funds?

Thanks,
Ken

Good morning,
I have just a couple of questions that were not addressed in the "Dear Colleague" letter nor the electronic letters that I'm hoping you could assist me with.

1. If we pro-rate Room and Board and refund the student back the pro-rated amount, is the school required to complete a Cost of Attendance adjustment, even though the decision to move all classes online and to have the student move off-campus was beyond their and the school's control due to the federal emergency of COVID-19?
2. On students who are on Federal Work-study, since all students have been sent home because of COVID-19, can the school, based on the average hours the student has worked to this point, calculate wages for the rest of the semester as if the student was still here and working? With sending students home and still having to pay for tuition, a loss of a job will create a financial hardship for the student. If a school cannot average out hours worked, can the student stay on campus and continue to work while continuing to take classes online for the remainder of the year?

Good morning,

Guidance on March 5th under "Reentering the Same Payment Period" for colleges that close then reopen (resulting in a longer or additional break), it is clear that R2T4 calculations after the closure should be calculated using the updated days in term and break days.

It is also my understanding that a school is not required to complete a recalculation for an R2T4 processed before the closure and updated term/break days. Please correct if that is wrong.

Can a school choose to recalculate based on the updated term/breaks days if a recalculation for an R2T4 processed before a closure would be beneficial to the student (i.e. result in more aid earned by the student)?

Thank you for the clarification.

As a result of the COVID-19 pandemic, our institution has elected to cancel brick-and-mortar classes for two days (March 16-17, 2020) as we convert to an online delivery method for the remainder of our scheduled spring term. Online classes that were scheduled for 3/16-3/17 still took place as normal.

Our regularly scheduled spring break ran from 3/9-3/13 (but since we do not offer courses on Saturdays or Sundays, we count all of the period of 3/7-3/15 as our break for r2t4 purposes). Since the COVID-19 class cancellation occurs on immediately subsequent days, we are thinking 3/16 and 3/17 must now be included in our break period of 5+ days. Is this a fair assumption?

Could you please review the scenarios below and let us know if we are on the right track?

Students who withdrew prior to March 16th:

Both 3/16 and 3/17 were days the student was scheduled to attend at the point of withdrawal. Therefore, these days should still be included in the denominator of the r2t4 calculation.

Students who withdrew during the class cancellation on either 3/16 or 3/17:

Since they withdrew as a direct result of circumstances outside of their control, their withdrawal date should be 3/16. Both 3/16 and 3/17 should still be included in the denominator of the r2t4 calculation.

Students who re-enter the payment period and subsequently withdraw:

Student withdraws on or after 3/18: We assume this student has re-entered the payment period and subsequently withdrawn. Both 3/16 and 3/17 should now be treated as 'break days' for this student and will not be included in the denominator nor the numerator of the r2t4 calculation.

Good Afternoon,

I am with a third party servicer and asking this question on behalf of my clients. A school has a credit hour residential program. If a student unofficially withdraws during a term the school does not determine that a student is no longer enrolled until the end of the term. For that same program due to COVID-19 the school is closing for a week to get a temporary online process in place for their students. Is the DOD process the same if student is in the term and after school closed for a week, the student starts the online process but then unofficially withdraws and again the school does not determine the student unofficially withdrew until end of term?

Thank you for your assistance.

Good Afternoon,

I have verbally been instructed by our Dallas School Participation Team to direct clarification questions regarding the COVID-19 guidance published on 3/5/20 to this email address (federalstudentaid@ed.gov). I am also sending to COVID-19@ed.gov due to guidance received from the National Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators (NASFAA).

In the electronic announcement, it states that "If at any point an institution determines it will close as the result of a campus health emergency, it may contact the School Participation team to request a temporary reduction in the length of its academic year." Our institution, as well as many others, have decided to extend spring break (cancel classes) for an additional week and to offer classes remotely only for the two weeks following that break. For now, the plan is to begin offering normal classes after that timeframe but, as you know, that depends on how our community is effected by COVID-19. Also, if institutions are required to notify the Department of their closure plans, please know you can find that evolving information for our institution anytime at https://www.txstate.edu/coronavirus.

The question we have is do we have to extend our term end date to make up those days classes are cancelled? Or is the intent of this Electronic Announcement flexibility there to enable institutions to end on the original term end date (essentially it will shorten the term)?

Please know that we are aware of and have educated ourselves on the published guidance from ED thus far, including the COVID-19 ("Coronavirus") Information and

I think some of these individuals are getting confused with what their state is telling them to do vs what the federal government is telling them. I will go ahead and respond to this person, but we should be directing people who are asking about their state directives to reach out to their own state Department of Education. Granted, we can also give them information from the CDC and the White House. But when it comes to K-12 private schools, they are under the jurisdiction of their state.

If we have to shutdown, campus leadership wonders if we can extend the Spring 2020 semester past our published end date to allow students time to finish their classes. If extending the semester end date is an option, do we have to leave a certain amount of time between the new Spring end date and the published start of the summer semester? Subject: Clarification of language re: distance ed

Good morning,
I was hoping to receive some language clarification regarding the temporary approval to offer distance education.
We are a semester based school with a BBAY that starts 4 times per year. We have just this week moved to 100% online instruction in light of the Pennsylvania Governor's request to close all non-essential businesses due to the risks around COVID-19.
When referring to the IFAP document "Guidance for interruptions of study related to Coronavirus (COVID-19)", I understand that the flexibility to offer distance education applies to the current term and following term only, unless otherwise notified.
I think it's important to note that our next term begins in 11 days, on Monday, March 30th.
The related language that I was hoping for clarification on states the following: "We are currently limiting that permission to distance learning opportunities developed for the purpose of serving students who were already in attendance, but whose attendance was interrupted by COVID-19."
So the way this is written indicates that we would not be able to offer Title IV aid to any students new to our school for the start of our next term on 3/30/20, if in fact we are still using distance ed only (which quite frankly seems as though it will be likely since it's only 11 days out.) Is this accurate, that we cannot offer Title IV aid to new students if we are still in distance learning only mode strictly because of COVID-19?
Please feel free to respond with any follow-up questions as needed. I greatly appreciate your time.
Sincerely,
Megan McQuiston

Can you provide some guidance for clock-hour programs, please?

Question #1) We're required to take attendance and process R2T4 if a student has not been in attendance for 14 days. Our institution officially closed on 3/16 and is projected to be closed until at least 4/6 at this point (3 weeks). Will every student in our clock-hour program need an R2T4 since they will not be in attendance for 14 days? We are little more than a month into our payment period, so any R2T4 will result in a return on funds for our students and significant financial liability.

Question #2) We are required to make multiple disbursements in a payment period because of our default rate. The students received their first disbursement right before the school closed, however, because of school closure, their second disbursement will be delayed until they meet half the hour/weeks in their payment period. We have a number of students who are relying on refunds from their student aid to pay for educational related expenses, including rent and utilities. The clock-hour program is a nursing program, so the state licensing board at this point has not indicated that they will accept distance learning hours, therefore, the students have no opportunity to progress through their payment period in order to receive those additional funds. Is there any guidance on making additional disbursements during closure or possibility of waiving the multiple disbursement requirement?

Thank you for your help.

Dear Mr. Reyes,
Cornell University is requesting a temporary reduction in the weeks of instruction for the 2019-2020 academic year for the Ithaca campus in order to minimize the risks associated with the COVID-19 pandemic. For students in almost all programs on the Ithaca campus, classes were suspended at 5pm on Friday, March 13, 2020 and will resume online on Monday, April 6, 2020. The time of class suspension includes a scheduled spring break. The last day of the semester will be extended by one week. This change results in a one week reduction in the weeks of instruction for the 2019-2020 academic calendar from 33 weeks to 32 weeks and reduces the Spring 2020 semester from 16 weeks to 15 weeks. With our move to a revised academic calendar and remote instruction, the total learning time will remain the same, redistributing contact hours across alternative modes of interaction including extra asynchronous course lectures, discussion boards, email exchanges, reading, assignments, research, and group work.
Please let me know if you have questions.
Thank you,
Diane

Good morning COVID-19 Team,

In-person classroom/lecture was postponed from 3/12/20-3/18/20. The University and all its campuses is/are open, and are continuing to provide all academic related activities necessary to lead to the completion of the term. Faculty is available on campus for student office visits, and student/faculty academic engagement is continuing to take place throughout via several types of technology, ranging from email and conference calls to more sophisticated learning management platforms, applications and cloud resources that are available, including Blackboard, CUNYfirst, our PeopleSoft system, Microsoft Office 365 (including OneDrive), Dropbox, and WebEx available to faculty and students as they transition to a distance learning modality. The academic calendar for the term is not changing, as we are also making use of previously not scheduled days and extending class meeting times to accommodate all instruction. Given the continuous academic engagement, should any days be considered for exclusion from the numerator or the denominator of the Return to Title IV calculations or academic calendar?

Dear Department:

In your posting on 11 March on exceptions due to COVID-19, I see two areas where schools are given permission to shorten an academic year but it does not address if a school wants to extend the academic year. We are a two year MBA program. I have been approached by one of our formats since before the student graduates they have an intensive one week residency that will need to be moved on-line now. The students in this format work full-time and because of child care issues, nurses and doctors being required to work, etc. that they would like to extend the academic year for the graduating class only to break the on-line residency into separate weeks; thus extending the end of the academic year by a week or two. Students that are in the same format that are in their first year would begin their 'summer' session so there would be a different end date based on year in school too.

Have you considered this possibility and would this be an exception that could be considered?

My name is Wanda Laducer. I am the Dean of Students at the Turtle Mountain Community College in Belcourt, ND.

My question is - do we continue to pay students who are under the federal work study program if our campus has moved to online instruction only until April 13, 2020? There will be no students on campus due to temporary social isolation. The situation will be reassessed in April to see if the time of online instruction needs to be extended.

When I read the announcement it states that "For students enrolled and performing FWS at a campus that must close due to COVID-19, or for a FWS student who is employed by an employer that closes as a result of COVID-19, the institution may continue paying the student". When you say "MUST" close - does that also mean - choosing to close the campus to students and the college having online instruction so that students don't come on campus?

It seems like it is just a matter of interpretation however I am just looking for something more specific.

Thanks, Wanda

Dear Secretary DeVos:

During the COVID-19 crisis, we write to strongly urge that you waive the requirement that students nationally take state summative assessments.

As you are aware, states across the country, including Michigan, have closed schools for at least three weeks, as have many districts in states that have not yet closed their schools entirely. It is certainly possible that these closures could extend further into the spring in parts of the country.

Last Friday, we inquired of the United States Department of Education if we were permitted to cancel or waive the requirement to do annual state testing under the federal Every Student Succeeds Act. We were told that such permission was possible only if the window for state testing overlapped with the closure period. In Michigan, ours does not. Rather, our three-week closure period goes from Monday, March 16 until Sunday, April 5. Many schools have spring break the following week of April 6, and our testing window begins the week of April 13. In other words, assuming that our school closure ends April 5, for these districts, the first day back at school would be April 13, and students would begin to test April 14.

For a variety of reasons, this is not simply an undesirable situation; it is a completely unacceptable one. Many children will struggle with the long absence from school. It will take many districts a considerable period of time to resume normal functioning, not to mention refocusing on the instruction of children.

When we return to school, the focus should be on tending to children's immediate needs: physical, socioemotional, and academic. In many cases, children will have experienced trauma. In other cases, they will simply need to be re-acclimated into their schools. In all cases, students will have missed instruction, and this lost instruction will render any conclusions about test results dubious, especially any comparisons across school years and in light of the pending public health concerns of parents, students, and staff.

Upon return to school, our focus nationally should be on instruction, supports, and nurturing of students, not on state summative assessments. Any state summative assessment results would not be an accurate reflection of student learning given the tremendous disruption in children's education and lives during this extraordinary period.

By waiving the requirement nationally to provide state assessments under ESSA, you help schools put students first and focus on providing the supports that students will need in the coming weeks and months.

State Education Leaders Urge National Waiver of State Assessments

March 17, 2020

LANSING – Michigan's president of the State Board of Education and its state superintendent urged U.S. Secretary of Education Betsy DeVos today to grant a nationwide waiver of statewide student assessments.

With the current coronavirus pandemic closing schools in Michigan and across the United States for weeks leading up to scheduled statewide assessments, State Board of Education President Dr. Casandra Ulbrich and State Superintendent Dr. Michael Rice wrote to DeVos to say that federally mandated state testing should be waived this year in favor of focusing on the more immediate needs of children.

"It's time for Betsy DeVos to do the right thing on behalf of our students and waive statewide assessments," said Governor Gretchen Whitmer. "When our kids get back to school, our number one priority must be ensuring they have the resources they need to get back on track."

Dr. Rice noted, "When we return to school, the focus should be on tending to children's immediate needs: physical, socioemotional, and academic. In many cases, children will have experienced trauma. In other cases, they will simply need to be re-acclimated into their schools. In all cases, students will have missed instruction, and this lost instruction will render any conclusions about test results dubious, especially any comparisons across school years and in light of the pending public health concerns of parents, students, and staff."

Michigan's annual M-STEP tests are scheduled to begin the week of April 13 and run through May 28. An executive order by Governor Whitmer closed all K-12 schools in Michigan for a three-week period, from March 16 through April 5. The trajectory and duration of the pandemic remain uncertain.

"For a variety of reasons, this is not simply an undesirable situation; it is a completely unacceptable one," Drs. Ulbrich and Rice included in their letter to DeVos. "Many children will struggle with the long absence from school. It will take many districts a considerable period of time to resume normal functioning, not to mention refocusing on the instruction of children."

Any state summative assessment results would not be an accurate reflection of student learning given the tremendous disruption in children's education and lives during this extraordinary period, Dr. Rice added.

"Upon return to school, our focus nationally should be on instruction, supports, and nurturing of students, not on state summative assessments," the letter to DeVos added. "By waiving the requirement nationally to provide state assessments under the federal Every Student Succeeds Act, you help schools put students first and focus on providing the supports that students will need in the coming weeks and months."

Dr. Rice said he will also be working with Michigan's state legislators to waive the requirements in state law to administer the M-STEP tests.

LANSING – Michigan's president of the State Board of Education and its state superintendent urged U.S. Secretary of Education Betsy DeVos today to grant a nationwide waiver of statewide student assessments.

With the current coronavirus pandemic closing schools in Michigan and across the United States for weeks leading up to scheduled statewide assessments, State Board of Education President Dr. Casandra Ulbrich and State Superintendent Dr. Michael Rice wrote to DeVos to say that federally mandated state testing should be waived this year in favor of focusing on the more immediate needs of children.

"It's time for Betsy DeVos to do the right thing on behalf of our students and waive statewide assessments," said Governor Gretchen Whitmer. "When our kids get back to school, our number one priority must be ensuring they have the resources they need to get back on track."

Dr. Rice noted, "When we return to school, the focus should be on tending to children's immediate needs: physical, socioemotional, and academic. In many cases, children will have experienced trauma. In other cases, they will simply need to be re-acclimated into their schools. In all cases, students will have missed instruction, and this lost instruction will render any conclusions about test results dubious, especially any comparisons across school years and in light of the pending public health concerns of parents, students, and staff."

Michigan's annual M-STEP tests are scheduled to begin the week of April 13 and run through May 28. An executive order by Governor Whitmer closed all K-12 schools in Michigan for a three-week period, from March 16 through April 5. The trajectory and duration of the pandemic remain uncertain.

"For a variety of reasons, this is not simply an undesirable situation; it is a completely unacceptable one," Drs. Ulbrich and Rice included in their letter to DeVos. "Many children will struggle with the long absence from school. It will take many districts a considerable period of time to resume normal functioning, not to mention refocusing on the instruction of children."

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Any state summative assessment results would not be an accurate reflection of student learning given the tremendous disruption in children's education and lives during this extraordinary period, Dr. Rice added.

"Upon return to school, our focus nationally should be on instruction, supports, and nurturing of students, not on state summative assessments," the letter to DeVos added. "By waiving the requirement nationally to provide state assessments under the federal Every Student Succeeds Act, you help schools put students first and focus on providing the supports that students will need in the coming weeks and months."

Dr. Rice said he will also be working with Michigan's state legislators to waive the requirements in state law to administer the M-STEP tests.

Support Contacts at US Department of Education:

we have some school districts reaching out about 2018-2019 grant funds that will expire at the end of September. Some districts have grant balances from funds that started July 1, 2018. They have plans that have been in place and approved for using the funds, but some of the activities were to be executed through this school year and summer.

What can we do as an agency to request a longer period of availability (if that is even an option) for these dying grant funds? Or, will the US Department of Education be understanding if states have to return grant funds that were unused because of the current circumstances that are causing disruptions?

The best examples I can share:
Cancelled Professional Development that uses Title II-A funds.
Cancelled additional tutoring services provided using Title I-A funds.
Cancelled Parent and Family Engagement activities that use Title I-A, and Title III funds.

An additional question specific to school closures and staff pay:
Some districts/schools in Wyoming are closing for 2-3 weeks in lieu of COVID-19 precautions. State and local funds will still pay contract teachers. The question from one of our districts is: can federal funds continue to pay contracted teachers (such as Title I teachers) during these closure events? What about hourly paid federally funded staff, such as Title I tutors, paraprofessionals, and district Consolidated Grant Managers?

Our team would like to allow this, but we need guidance from the US Department of Education since time and effort requirements are a consideration with federal grant funds. We have found CFR 200.431, where if an agency has granted authorized leave (ie, emergency leave categorized under fringe benefits) the staff may be paid if there is a policy written around that leave. We are wondering if that is the category this pay would stem from?

Sincerely,
Jess

Is there any idea how long it will take to get a response? We're kind of leaving districts hanging, so if I knew what to expect it would help me set that expectation for them.

Hello,

Numerous OIE grantees are wondering if OIE grant budgeted staff, employees, contractors will continue to get paid via those funds if their school remains closed. Then, with a follow-up question: What about grant budgeted staff members' pay for schools do not make up that missed time? Meaning, are we going to pay them grant funds even if they are not able to tele-work/work?

Hope that make sense.

If you could take the lead, it would be most helpful. I think this could be worked outside of the RRT since it seems more complex.

I'm looping Marilyn and Crystal since their programs came up.

Thanks for reminding me about this. Questions on it have seemed to die down but clearly it is something we need to consider.

Hi Ruth,

We didn't get to the question below during our meeting, but I've actually run it by our program attorneys for REAP and it is not an issue, since we already have data for FY 20 awards and will not need to collect until that data again till October/November. They did reply that it is an issue for OIE and Impact Aid. Would it be helpful if our team took that lead on coordinating a response to ADA/ADM questions? If so, should we be preparing a response for the COVID-19 OESE workgroup or someone else?

> Questions related to ADA/ADM (average daily attendance/membership) have come up. We think there are minor issues for ADA in Title I but more serious implications for rural. Are there other programs where there are implications? Is anyone willing to try to flesh out this issue?

continue to pay contracted teachers (such as Title I teachers) during these closure events? What about hourly paid federally funded staff, such as Title I tutors, paraprofessionals, and district Consolidated Grant Managers?

Our team would like to allow this, but need guidance from US Department of Education since time and effort requirements are a consideration with federal grant funds.

we have some school districts reaching out about 2018-2019 grant funds that will expire at the end of September. Some districts have grant balances from funds that started July 1, 2018. They have plans that have been in place and approved for using the funds, but some of the activities were to be executed through this school year and summer.

What can we do as an agency to request a longer period of availability (if that is even an option) for these dying grant funds? Or, will the US Department of Education be understanding if states have to return grant funds that were unused because of the current circumstances that are causing disruptions?

The best examples I can share:
Cancelled Professional Development that uses Title II-A funds.
Cancelled additional tutoring services provided using Title I-A funds.
Cancelled Parent and Family Engagement activities that use Title I-A, and Title III funds.

Good Morning.

Our office has been receiving numerous emails and calls regarding their student loans during this COVID-19 crisis. My understanding of the U.S. Department of Education's regulations is the interest waiver and other changes only pertains to Stafford loans or loans handled by the Government. Is this accurate?

Do you have any information regarding assistance due to COVID-19 for Federal Perkins loans and institutional loans?

I was looking for clarification so our office is giving our borrowers the appropriate information.

Stay healthy and safe.

Do we know how to answer Sarah's email?

Here is what Musser just replied with:

We are aware of this issue. NASFAA just held a webinar that 6,000 people attended, and in that webinar they announced that schools would need to contact their School Participation Divisions to request a reduction in their academic year if they were forced to reduce the length of their terms as a result of COVID-19.

As you know, FSA has been asked to forward questions about Coronavirus issues to federalstudentaid@ed.gov, and that currently still applies to requests like the ones Sarah received via voicemail. I would recommend escalating this to make management aware of the issue. We are doing the same on the policy side.

PIP is also saying to update applications which will cause eligibility work to dramatically increase while we are still figuring out how to do everything from home.

I've told her I was reaching out to see if you all knew how we are responding. Do all of these requests go to the email?

Sorry if I missed an announcement about the webinars and what they would say.

Good morning COVID-19 Team,

Our State Governor announced that our institution will be transiting to fully online distance education instruction beginning 3/19/20 for the duration of the spring 2020 term. In-person classroom/lecture was postponed from 3/12/20-3/18/20. The University and all its campuses is/are open, and are continuing to provide all academic related activities necessary to lead to the completion of the term. Faculty is available on campus for student office visits, and student/faculty academic engagement is continuing to take place throughout via several types of technology, ranging from email and conference calls to more sophisticated learning management platforms, applications and cloud resources that are available, including Blackboard, CUNYfirst, our PeopleSoft system, Microsoft Office 365 (including OneDrive), Dropbox, and WebEx available to faculty and students as they transition to a distance learning modality. The academic calendar for the term is not changing, as we are also making use of previously not scheduled days and extending class meeting times to accommodate all instruction. Given the continuous academic engagement, should any days be considered for exclusion from the numerator or the denominator of the Return to Title IV calculations or academic calendar?

We cannot extend flexibility regarding the use of distance learning to foreign schools since the Higher Education Act does not permit foreign schools to provide distance learning to U.S. students who participate in Title IV, HEA programs. Dear Sir/ Madam,

I am writing to follow-up on my previous email.

I would like to inform you that in addition to JU Rector's decision on cancellation of lectures at Jagiellonian University, the Government of Poland has announced other restrictions, including closures of all schools, universities, and cultural institutions until March 25, 2020.

Please let me know if the above precautions taken due to COVID-19 have any impact to Title IV recipients as Jagiellonian Univeristy is a foreign school. The 2019-2020 summer semester disbursement will not be made until we receive the information from you. Please note, that there are thirteen U.S. students at JU who are waiting for the summer semester disbursements which cover their costs of living while studying in Poland.

I look forward to receiving your updates.

Dear Sir/ Madam,

I am writing in connection with the Office of Postsecondary Education's electronic announcement of March 05, 2020 and the part regarding foreign schools: "We cannot extend flexibility regarding the use of distance learning to foreign schools since the Higher Education Act does not permit foreign schools to provide distance learning to U.S. students who participate in Title IV, HEA programs. We continue to consider if there are any other flexibilities we could extend to foreign schools that temporarily close due to COVID-19."

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Due to the spread of Coronavirus (COVID-19) in Europe and following the safety recommendations of the Chief Sanitary Inspectorate, JU Rector Prof. Wojciech Nowak has cancelled all lectures conducted at Jagiellonian University. Wherever applicable, lectures should be made available online. Other classes (which take place in a smaller groups) will be held as per usual, with any additional restrictions to be introduced by the Faculties.

Please let me know if the above regulations (authorizing distance learning at programs which are not usually distance) do have an impact on students' eligibility for Title IV funds in the 2019-2020 summer semester and should we withhold the disbursements for this semester. Please note that these are exceptional circumstances and all decisions have been made to ensure student safety.

I would appreciate a reply asap as we have just evaluated students' Satisfactory Academic Progress after winter semester and we are ready to make the Title IV funds disbursements for the second semester.

Dear Department:

In your posting on 11 March on exceptions due to COVID-19, I see two areas where schools are given permission to shorten an academic year but it does not address if a school wants to extend the academic year. We are a two year MBA program. I have been approached by one of our formats since before the student graduates they have an intensive one week residency that will need to be moved on-line now. The students in this format work full-time and because of child care issues, nurses and doctors being required to work, etc. that they would like to extend the academic year for the graduating class only to break the on-line residency into separate weeks; thus extending the end of the academic year by a week or two. Students that are in the same format that are in their first year would begin their 'summer' session so there would be a different end date based on year in school too.

Have you considered this possibility and would this be an exception that could be considered?

Best,
Susan

Ms. Bangura,

In response to COVID 19, Farmingdale State College cancelled classes March 12 - March 14 and has extended Spring break one week to prepare for the switch to on-line learning, to the extent possible, and prepare for remote services for offices and faculty. We received approval for such changes from the State Education department as we are using flexibility to adjust the time in class and assigned work that can be completed outside the classroom with the assurance that all course learning outcomes will continue to be met.

We are requesting approval to continue to process all federal financial aid and calculate our R2T4s based upon these changes for the Spring 2020 semester.

Please let me know if there is anything else you need.

Thank you for your consideration of this request.

Hello,

I am a FWS and was wondering as to what would be the process to obtain my remaining grant money due to the COVID-19 precautions? As of Friday 13th, 2020 my FWS job at CSULB left me without work. Unable to seek unemployment, I am left in distress. What is the process of obtaining my grant money as I'm worried for next month's check.... I have a remaining 76.5 hours I believe and would like to know any updates on what will happen.

I would appreciate it if I heard back by the end of the week, thanks in advance. I have already been provided the following information and would like feedback on a process implementation:

Federal Work Study (FWS)
Federal law includes a provision allowing an institution to make FWS payments under certain limited circumstances to disaster-affected students who are unable to continue working. Given the unique nature of this situation, it is unlikely that an entire region would be declared a Federal disaster area, yet to students enrolled at a campus that must close temporarily, the loss of this important form of financial aid can be devastating. The impact may be magnified if the institution accommodates students by providing alternative instructional opportunities and the student is required to continue paying tuition, but the student loses FWS as an important part of their financial aid award. For students enrolled and performing FWS at a campus that must close due to COVID-19, or for a FWS student who is employed by an employer that closes as a result of COVID-19, the institution may continue paying the student Federal work-study wages during that closure if it occurred after the beginning of the term, the institution is continuing to pay its other employees (including faculty and staff), and the institution continues to meet its institutional wage share requirement. Students who were prevented from beginning a term at the institution as a result of a COVID-19-related disruption would not be eligible for Federal Student Aid for that term, and therefore could not be paid FWS wages for hours they did not work. Graduate students who are paid FWS wages on salary may continue to be paid for the remainder of the term if the institution is also paying its faculty and staff during that period. In these instances, institutions should document (as contemporaneously as feasible) that the COVID-19 disruption was the reason the student received FWS funds without documentation of hours worked.

Good morning,

We are currently not allowing our FWS students to work. Our campus is open to an extent but we can only have a max of 10 people in a given space. Our college has stated that only essential personnel should be here which would exclude the FWS students. Can we pay the FWS students even though we are technically open since they are unable to work? I sat in on a NASFAA webinar yesterday that it sound as though we could (since they are unable to work) but I wanted to get your take. Thank you.

Hello,

We had a borrower whose original termination date with the Peace Corp was to be September of 2020. Since the agency suspended all operations due to the COVID-19 pandemic, a certificate of eligibility was issued to him with a close date of March 5, 2020. He was due for a cancellation in June. Can you guide me on how to proceed with the Peace Corp cancellations for Perkins and how COVID-19 suspension of activities affect these?

Thanks in advance,

Hi Steve,

I wanted to check in and see if there has been any guidance from OME about allowances for not being able to meet grant objectives by June 30th. Our program is already 100% online, so we are probably faring better than most, but we have been impacted by not being able to test students and of course, we do not know when testing centers will be open again. I will be evaluating our budget and objectives with our grants office this week. Do you have any information from your office about the current situation?

Thanks, and be well!

Importance: High

Hello – we recognize you are incredibly busy but we have a clarifying question on the OSEP Q/A re: Providing Services to Children with disabilities during the Coronavirus Disease 2019 Outbreak.

We are seeking clarification of provision of Part C services for states such as Nebraska, who are birth mandate states and provide FAPE to infants/toddlers with disabilities. If a state lead agency (in Nebraska this equates to Department of Education and Dept of Health and Human Services) remains open; and the EIS program's (in Nebraska this equates to the local school district and the services coordination agency) office buildings are closed but the school district continues to provide educational opportunities to the general student population during a school closure, then must the school ensure equal access to the same opportunities, including the provision of FAPE to infants/toddlers with disabilities? Is the SEA and EIS program (school district) required to ensure that each infant/toddler with a disability be provided the FAPE services identified in the infant/toddlers IFSP in this instance?

Our school districts are asking if they are responsible for the provision of Part C services if their building is closed but yet are providing educational opportunities to students ages 3-21.

Any guidance you can provide would be extremely helpful to us as we want to be sure we are correctly implementing the Q/A guidance in accordance with FAPE. Thank you!

Will the Department allow institutions to accept copies instead of originals during this time? The plan is to work remotely. With that said, will there be an exception made since we will not be seeing students in person?

Due to response to COVID-19, if a school offers a partial refund of spring 2020 room and board charges as a credit to the fall 2020 term charges because classes were moved online, is the credit counted as EFA in Fall 2020 or would COA need to be adjusted?

Hi Steve,

Hope all is well. I just completed a conference call with our HEP staff in Imperial County, Fresno County, and Santa Barbara County regarding the corona virus that is impacting so many communities. There were several questions that were raised and I was hoping you might be able to answer for us. As a result of the school closures and other facilities in each county, we are unable to continue with classes, as we have been using these facilities to conduct HEP instruction. Also the local Adult Education Programs have closed as well and are not providing HSE testing until further notice. That being said I'd like to know if the HEP will still be held to the performance measures for this year and if we are able to pay staff while we deal with this situation or will they have to apply for state unemployment? If you need more clarification please feel free to contact me.

Here are a couple of scenarios that I need some guidance on.

We are able to deliver instruction to students either on-ground or on-line but for students who require contact hours (clinicals/labs) could the term be extended to accommodate the lost time?

If permitted, what would be the repercussions for R2T4?

Or would it be simpler to give Incompletes and provide the opportunities for those students to make up the labs etc. when it is safe?

Frank T. Brogan
Assistant Secretary for Elementary and Secondary Education
Office of Elementary and Secondary Education
U.S. Department of Education
400 Maryland Avenue, SW Washington, DC 20202

Dear Mr. Brogan:

The Texas Education Agency (TEA) is requesting a waiver from select statutes and regulations relating to the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA), as amended by the Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA). On March 13, 2020, Governor Abbott issued a disaster declaration in response to the COVID-19 pandemic. On March 16, 2020, Governor Abbott waived the state requirements related to State of Texas Assessments of Academic Readiness (STAAR®) for the 2019-2020 school year. In light of this waiver and at the request of Governor Abbott, TEA is requesting the Department of Education (DOE) to waive the federal testing and accountability requirements for the 2019-2020 school year, which include the end-of-course (EOC) and grade 3–8 assessments for every school district and open-enrollment charter school in the state.

Governor Abbott is working closely with the Texas Education Agency (TEA) to ensure that schools continue to deliver instruction to students while students are absent or while schools are closed due to COVID-19. This includes tailoring instruction for students with special needs so that they have access to the same education as other students in the district. Governor Abbott will continue to work with the TEA on developing additional methods to ensure that students are learning and ready to succeed at the next grade level.

Texas is seeking to waive the assessment and accountability requirements under ESSA for 2019–2020 in this extraordinary circumstance where the closure of schools during the state's testing window has inhibited the ability of the state to accurately measure students' performance and report results to parents and stakeholders.

Waiver Request Plan

State educational agencies seeking a waiver are required to include a plan addressing the requirements of section 8401(b) of ESSA. TEA has addressed each of these requirements below.

Federal Programs Affected by the Requested Waiver—ESEA, §8401(b)(1)(A)

The approval of this waiver by the U.S. Department of Education would affect Title I, Part A, Subpart 1— Basic Program Requirements. Section 1111(b)(2)(B)(i)(I–II) requires "the same academic assessments used to measure the achievement of all public elementary school and secondary school students in the State; and administered to all public elementary school and secondary school students in the State." Section 1111(b)(2)(D) allows a State to provide alternate assessments aligned with challenging State academic standards. Section 1111(b)(4)(C) requires "a system of meaningfully differentiating, on an annual basis, all public schools in the State." Section 1111(b)(4)(D) requires the state to identify schools "based on the system of meaningful differentiation." Approval of this waiver would align federal requirements with the prioritization of public health during this pandemic crisis. TEA has not identified any avoidable consequences to the State's assessment and accountability systems or to students and educators that would result from the approval of this request.

Federal Statutory or Regulatory Requirements to be Waived—ESEA, §8401(b)(1)(B)

TEA is requesting a waiver for the 2019–2020 school year of the assessment and accountability requirements in sections 1111(b)(2)(B)(i), 1111(b)(2)(D), 1111(b)(4)(C), and 1111(b)(4)(D), which detail the required frequency of assessments, accountability, and identification of schools for improvement.

Advancing Student Achievement—ESEA, §8401(b)(1)(C)

The approval of this waiver would support the state's prioritization of student and public health in the face of the COVID-19 pandemic crisis.

Monitoring and Evaluation of Implementation Effectiveness—ESEA, §8401(b)(1)(D)

The approval of this waiver will not break the chain of consecutive years of low performance under section 1111(b)(4)(D). TEA will monitor the performance of previously identified campuses.

Sincerely,

Mike Morath
Commissioner of Education

Federal Programs Affected by the Requested Waiver—ESEA, §8401(b)(1)(A)

Approval of this waiver would align federal requirements with the prioritization of public health during this pandemic crisis. TEA has not identified any avoidable consequences to the State's assessment and accountability systems or to students and educators that would result from the approval of this request.

Federal Statutory or Regulatory Requirements to be Waived—ESEA, §8401(b)(1)(B)

TEA is requesting a waiver for the 2019–2020 school year of the assessment and accountability requirements in sections 1111(b)(2)(B)(i), 1111(b)(2)(D), 1111(b)(4)(C), and 1111(b)(4)(D), which detail the required frequency of assessments, accountability, and identification of schools for improvement.

The approval of this waiver would support the state's prioritization of student and public health in the face of the COVID-19 pandemic crisis.

Monitoring and Evaluation of Implementation Effectiveness—ESEA, §8401(b)(1)(D)

The approval of this waiver will not break the chain of consecutive years of low performance under section 1111(b)(4)(D). TEA will monitor the performance of previously identified campuses.

Subject: Title I-A and ESSA Consolidated Application Fiscal Questions

Good afternoon. My name is Dr. Adam Starke, director of state and federal programs in the Socorro Independent School District (El Paso, Texas). Our school district is currently closed. Plans are to reopen the schools to students on April 6, 2020, but the situation, as in every other locality in our country, is fluid at this time. With the closure, spending has been halted and I now have a concern about meeting requirements that we normally meet as a matter of course. Questions I have are below:

1. We always meet maintenance of effort. If we were not able to solely because of the COVID-19 closing, would we be able to receive a waiver?

2. We always exceed the 85% Title I, Part A expenditure requirement; we carry over less than 15% each fiscal year. If we cannot do that this year for this reason, will that be waived?

3. If we cannot reach the 85% Title I-A expenditure requirement and it is waived, will our carryover be capped at 15% or will we receive what we could not expend due to the closure?

4. Through our first/second allocation and carryover, our participating Private/Non-Profit schools have received all required funding by the prescribed formula. If they do not expend their allocations to the percentage required due to closures, will that be waived as a requirement for this year?

5. Will districts be required to submit any kind of waiver application if MOE, Title I-A 85%, etc., are not met due to the prolonged school closure?

6. As we are all well aware, our entire country is affected by COVID-19. Will that cause the planning amounts and the availability of the 2020-2021 ESSA Consolidated Application to be delayed or will the availability be around the normal time (April to May)?

7. We currently have one school that was identified to receive the School Improvement grant. Expenditures were steady before the closure; this campus has received these funds in previous years and has always spent close to 100% of the funding. If that maintenance of effort was not met this year due to the closure, will that be waived?

I thank you in advance for answering my questions; I look forward to hearing from you soon. Thank you.

How should we treat the "no working during class times" regulation for FWS students that are working remotely for our University while classes have all moved online? How should teachers handle IEPs that will expire while out of school?

Subject: Odp.: Enquiry regarding students' eligibility for Title IV in connection with the distance learning due to COVID-19

Dear Larry,

Thank you very much for the response.
According to the OPE's guidance on March 5, 2020, Jagiellonian University is not allowed to disburse Title IV funds for the U.S. students who participate in Title IV programs at JU even if they are enrolled for the programs which do not usually offer online courses, but due to this unusual circumstances, have been temporarily adapted to the distance learning.
Due to the above I have two following questions to you:
1. As the 2019/2020 summer semester at JU has started on February 24, 2020 and all JU's programs have been adapted to the distance learning on March 10, 2020, is JU allowed to disburse Title IV funds for the period from February 24 to March 10, 2020?
Also, if the disbursement for this period will be possible, I have concerns regarding how to calculate the COA amount for this period. Please see JU's COA based on a 9-month period (academic year): https://studiuje.uj.edu.pl/financial-aid/attendance-cost
There is no problem to divide the rent, food, transportation, course materials etc. costs accordingly, however the cost of international flights (return ticket x 1 as for one semester) is undivided.
2. Please let me know whether the JU will be allowed to disburse Title IV funds (costs reduced according to the duration of distance learning) to students if their programs are switched to the standard, non-distance mode? Due to the decision issued by the Minister of Science and Higher Education in Poland all classes are cancelled until March 25, 2020 (wherever applicable, lectures should be made available online) and we do not know if the cancelation will be extended.
Thank you in advance for your clarification and I look forward to your reply.

Please keep me posted with any future ED's guidance for foreign schools due to the COVID-19.

Dear Sir/ Madam,

I am writing in connection with the Office of Postsecondary Education's electronic announcement of March 05, 2020 and the part regarding foreign schools: "We cannot extend flexibility regarding the use of distance learning to foreign schools since the Higher Education Act does not permit foreign schools to provide distance learning to U.S. students who participate in Title IV, HEA programs. We continue to consider if there are any other flexibilities we could extend to foreign schools that temporarily close due to COVID-19."

Due to the spread of Coronavirus (COVID-19) in Europe and following the safety recommendations of the Chief Sanitary Inspectorate, JU Rector Prof. Wojciech Nowak has cancelled all lectures conducted at Jagiellonian University. Wherever applicable, lectures should be made available online. Other classes (which take place in a smaller groups) will be held as per usual, with any additional restrictions to be introduced by the Faculties.

Please let me know if the above regulations (authorizing distance learning at programs which are not usually distance) do have an impact on students' eligibility for Title IV funds in the 2019-2020 summer semester and should we withhold the disbursements for this semester. Please note that these are exceptional circumstances and all decisions have been made to ensure student safety.

Lisa and Sarah,

Oregon schools are now closed till April 28th. The big question for us and other states is how to recruit during this time. The worse scenario would be a recruiter that doesn't show symptoms of the virus and goes into the homes of our migrant families and passes on the disease. I have told recruiters not to go into homes to recruit, but to work on paperwork, filing, ID&R local Plan, etc. during these two weeks that are now stretching into 6 weeks and maybe more.
In the past with the H1 N1 I believe you allowed phone interviews in CA. Would that be allowed now? During the interview, the recruiter would ask if he/she could sign the COE for the family.
Maybe another option could be video conferencing used that records the questions and answers. In May we are moving towards an Electronic COE that would add to the steps in recruitment during the COVID-19 season.
I believe it would be beneficial to get some guidance from you and you allowing a phone conference for recruitment during this time (s).
Please let me know your thoughts.
Kind Regards,
Jonathan

Subject: Professional Judgment

Hello.
I'm hoping to clarify a statement in the electronic announcement dated March 5, 2020, Guidance for interruptions of study related to Coronavirus (COVID-19).
The announcement indicated that FAAs have the 'authority to use professional judgment to make adjustments to cost of attendance on a case-by-case basis.' The final sentence in that paragraph states that while many students may have the same circumstances, PJ determinations and the corresponding documentation must be made on a case-by-case basis. This seems to indicate that schools can adjust the COA for all students who have similar circumstances, as long as it is done on a case-by-case basis.
If my understanding is correct, that means that the direction in the announcement is in direct conflict with HEA Sec. 479(a) which states: Special circumstances shall be conditions that differentiate an individual student from a class of students rather than conditions that exist across a class of students.
So, I just want to be sure that I understand the 3/5/2020 announcement correctly.
1. Is it saying that in this unique situation due to COVID-19, because of which schools are opting to (a) move all classes online and (b) students have to vacate on-campus housing, FAAs can perform PJs to adjust COA?
2. And further, is the announcement saying that this adjustment may be made for ALL students in this circumstance, as long as each PJ is done on an individual basis?
Thanks in advance for your response.

Dear Dept. of Education Representative:

Due to COVID-19, our school is interested in allowing students to complete their classes for this semester on a pass/fail basis. This would be an exception to our usual academic policies, which allow students to take one course per semester on a pass/fail basis, and there are other restrictions with our usual policy as well.

Are there any problems with Title IV eligibility if we make such a change for this semester only? We are aware that this will affect students who are not making SAP, as they will not be able to raise their cumulative GPAs with this semester's grades if they take all of their classes on a pass/fail basis.

Thanks in advance for any answers you can provide.

In all other circumstances we are only allowed to complete 48 of the 96 hours in this format(50% of the hours) do we still have to abide by this and give incompletes to students until they can get to a clinical setting potentially this summer or can we complete all 96 hours (100% of the time required) in this format. Good Afternoon,

I know everyone is busy but I had 3 questions about work-study. I received the links, videos, etc. but I am still confused.

1. Do you have to pay students Federal Work Study if we are going strictly online and they won't be on campus?

2. We have students that were using their work-study money that they earned each month(after working their hours) to help pay off their bill. Assuming that we don't have to pay them can we choose to only pay those that are using their work-study to cover their balances on their bills? Or would we have to pay all of them if we decided to pay some?

3. If we did pay everyone that had Federal Work-Study how would we go off of their previous time sheets? Do they mean what they received for the previous semester or what they worked previous time-sheet?

I am sorry for the many questions I just want to make sure we are getting clarification and completing things correctly.

Support Contacts at US Department of Education:

we have some school districts reaching out about 2018-2019 grant funds that will expire at the end of September. Some districts have grant balances from funds that started July 1, 2018. They have plans that have been in place and approved for using the funds, but some of the activities were to be executed through this school year and summer.

What can we do as an agency to request a longer period of availability (if that is even an option) for these dying grant funds? Or, will the US Department of Education be understanding if states have to return grant funds that were unused because of the current circumstances that are causing disruptions?

The best examples I can share:

Cancelled Professional Development that uses Title II-A funds.

Cancelled additional tutoring services provided using Title I-A funds.

Cancelled Parent and Family Engagement activities that use Title I-A, and Title III funds.

An additional question specific to school closures and staff pay:

Some districts/schools in Wyoming are closing for 2-3 weeks in lieu of COVID-19 precautions. State and local funds will still pay contract teachers. The question from one of our districts is: can federal funds continue to pay contracted teachers (such as Title I teachers) during these closure events? What about hourly paid federally funded staff, such as Title I tutors, paraprofessionals, and district Consolidated Grant Managers?

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Our team would like to allow this, but we need guidance from the US Department of Education since time and effort requirements are a consideration with federal grant funds. We have found CFR 200.431, where if an agency has granted authorized leave (ie, emergency leave categorized under fringe benefits) the staff may be paid if there is a policy written around that leave. We are wondering if that is the category this pay would stem from?

Sincerely,

Jess

Subject: 2nd Attempt - Hoping for responses

Support Contacts at US Department of Education:

we have some school districts reaching out about 2018-2019 grant funds that will expire at the end of September. Some districts have grant balances from funds that started July 1, 2018. They have plans that have been in place and approved for using the funds, but some of the activities were to be executed through this school year and summer.

What can we do as an agency to request a longer period of availability (if that is even an option) for these dying grant funds? Or, will the US Department of Education be understanding if states have to return grant funds that were unused because of the current circumstances that are causing disruptions?

The best examples I can share:
Cancelled Professional Development that uses Title II-A funds.
Cancelled additional tutoring services provided using Title I-A funds.
Cancelled Parent and Family Engagement activities that use Title I-A, and Title III funds.

An additional question specific to school closures and staff pay:
Some districts/schools in Wyoming are closing for 2-3 weeks in lieu of COVID-19 precautions. State and local funds will still pay contract teachers. The question from one of our districts is: can federal funds continue to pay contracted teachers (such as Title I teachers) during these closure events? What about hourly paid federally funded staff, such as Title I tutors, paraprofessionals, and district Consolidated Grant Managers?

Our team would like to allow this, but we need guidance from the US Department of Education since time and effort requirements are a consideration with federal grant funds. We have found CFR 200.431, where if an agency has granted authorized leave (ie, emergency leave categorized under fringe benefits) the staff may be paid if there is a policy written around that leave. We are wondering if that is the category this pay would stem from?

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Jess

Good Afternoon,

I know everyone is busy but I had 3 questions about work-study. I received the links, videos, etc. but I am still confused.

1. Do you have to pay students Federal Work Study if we are going strictly online and they won't be on campus?

2. We have students that were using their work-study money that they earned each month(after working their hours) to help pay off their bill. Assuming that we don't have to pay them can we choose to only pay those that are using their work-study to cover their balances on their bills? Or would we have to pay all of them if we decided to pay some?

3. If we did pay everyone that had Federal Work-Study how would we go off of their previous time sheets? Do they mean what they received for the previous semester or what they worked previous time-sheet?

I am sorry for the many questions I just want to make sure we are getting clarification and completing things correctly.

Thanks,

I was asked to collect and send to this mailbox the questions we have received related to the COVID-19 emergency. These can be seen below.

From TIIPA folks

- Can Title IV-A well rounded funds pay for hot spots so students and staff can continue learning at home ?
- Will there be a waiver for Title IVA cap of 15% for Effective Use of Technology ?

From MT

Please let me know if there is guidance forthcoming specific to any reporting requirements or flexibility to SEAs for the Title II, Part A State Level Activities funds.

From SETDA

1. Can Title IIA SEA funds be used to purchase devices (tablets/laptops or hot spots for connectivity) for students to ensure equitable access to effective educators since students can't go to school? Or will there be a waiver about purchasing devices?

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

2. Since for many districts, engaging in online learning is not part of regular instruction - is this supplemental? What types of purchases would be permitted?

3. Will there be a waiver for Title IVA cap of 15% for Effective Use of Technology ?

4. Are any plans to extend the federal grant period?
    a. Will dates for both 2018-19 and 19-20 be moved? Districts are concerned about carryover that expires this September 2020.

From GA

Is there guidance on ways Title II, Part A State Activities funds and LEA allocated funds can be used during this time to improve equitable access to effective teachers?

From MN (FAQ document for LEAs)

What is the impact of this closure on MCA/MTAS? MDE does not have the authority to cancel/exempt districts from providing the MCA/MTAS. We are closely monitoring federal guidance and conversations to determine whether or not there will be any national decisions that shift testing expectations.

From NY (guidance for LEAs)

Designing for Unique Needs of All Students. Instructional design, course design and plans for support must be aligned with the skill level of age groups and abilities, including students with disabilities and English Language Learners, to the greatest extent possible. For example, those serving the elementary and middle-school levels might have to consider creating instructional materials for both students and parents, while high school students are likely more capable independent learners.

• Ensuring Accessibility. Not all students may have access to the Internet, phone lines, TV or radio at the same time, or at all, during a prolonged school closure or student absence. Therefore, it is important to offer a variety of methods of learning. Districts considering online learning will need to ensure that the means used complies with all applicable laws, including the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act and Education Law S. 2-d, and Section 508 of the Rehabilitation Act which provides accessibility guidelines for students with disabilities.

Hello,

I would like to ask for clarification regarding the Coronavirus R2T4 AskRegs Q&A published on 3/16/2020 (https://www.nasfaa.org/news-item/21209/Must_the_School_Redo_R2T4_Calculations_That_Were_Done_Before_Payment_Period_Adjustments_Were_Made_Due_To_Coronavirus)).

In the response, it indicates "Any R2T4 calculations that are performed after the school's action to close and/or extend scheduled breaks will need to be performed using the adjusted payment period dates, and will need to exclude any scheduled breaks of five or more consecutive days (numerator and denominator)." I would like clarification on the "action to close and/or extend" phrasing.

Should an adjusted R2T4 calendar be used beginning on the date the decision was announced to extend a break or close? Or is it used beginning on the effective date of the change?

For example, our institution was scheduled for Spring Break 3/14-3/22. The decision to extend Spring Break through 3/29 was announced on 3/12. Would the adjusted calendar be used as of 3/12 or as of 3/23 (the beginning of the extended break)?

On the NASFAA webinar this week it was said that we would not have to adjust COA based on refunds, however in email threads, there was an answer from Shaina Hilsey that said schools must change the COA. Which is true?

Subject: Request for Temporary Reduction of Academic Year

Mr. Russell,

Belmont Abbey College (002910) is seeking approval to have a temporary reduction of our academic year due to COVID -19.

The State of North Carolina has declared a State of Emergency and cases have been identified local to the Charlotte metro area. In alignment with guidance from the Centers for Disease Control (CDC), the U.S. Department of Education, and state and local authorities, the College is preparing to extend Spring Break and temporarily relocate instruction on-line.

Students enrolled in traditional 15- week spring semester courses are currently on Spring Break so those classes are not held this week. We are extending Spring Break and do not plan to hold 15-week classes the week of March 23-29, 2020.
We will use this time to provide significant support to faculty to prepare for the likelihood of moving some, and potentially all, of our courses to remote course delivery. The earliest we would shift these courses to on-line is Monday, March 30, 2020.

For students taking classes in our 8-week term, we began on-line instruction on Monday, March 16, 2020. There are limited courses offered in the condensed session and most are already offered in a hybrid format. As such, we are positioned to move quickly to shift those courses to remote delivery.

Once classes are shifted to on-line delivery we expect them to remain on-line through the end of the spring term, May 12, 2020. At this time, our plan is to return all courses to in-person classes for the Summer term.

Thank you for your consideration of our request to have a temporary reduction of our academic year.

Hi Tanya:

Thank you for checking in on us and your kind words are very soothing when everything around us is little chaotic.

Things are changing rapidly here in Northern California. The schools are all closed yesterday till April 13. And Governor just announced that all schools will most likely be out for the rest of the school year. We had two emergency meetings at the Tribal and program level for last two days. For our project, Mentoring program staff at our Partner site are all required to work at home since yesterday so all mentoring group activities are suspended till further notice. For cultural education on reservation and an in schools, everything is cancelled while each partner is waiting for more directives. For tutoring and counseling, we just submitted requests for online meeting software subscription for tutors and Microsoft Team integration to have capacity to run partnership meetings/staff meeting. It is expected that Mendocino County will issue Residence Shelter in Plane order at 5:00 p.m. effective 10 pm tonight.

In the meanwhile, we trained tutoring staff yesterday and today on how to use free Zoom software to deliver online tutoring sessions (limited to 40 minutes). Because everything happened so fast, we are still in the middle of surveying 50 Native students served by the tutoring and counseling program on their availability, computer & internet availability, transportation need, students who are too young to be tutored online, Elders in the household and adults who are able to supervise youth in on-line sessions. So things are not really together at this moment. We are planning and responding as changes happen daily.

Our school district are asking our program to help some Native students who has no internet access purchase hotspot in order to complete their homework online. I asked the school district to survey % Native students (around 600 AI students total in our district) and find out how many have the need. We have some savings in personnel that can be allocated to deal with this emergency. I will run this by you after I get an idea of the needs are and cost estimate to fulfill the need. Can you help me figure out if this is an allowable cost? We did anticipated coronavirus coming when we wrote our proposal.

Hope things are calmer your way or keep your Center calm.

Dear Grantees:

As the news of COVID-19 begins to affect our communities, I just wanted to check in with you and ask how your Tribe/Educational Institution is preparing for the pandemic? Have the schools been closed and if so, for how long? How will any closures impact your project? Make sure to note this in your APR. Hi Tanya:

Thank you for checking in on us and your kind words are very soothing when everything around us is little chaotic.

Things are changing rapidly here in Northern California. The schools are all closed yesterday till April 13. And Governor just announced that all schools will most likely be out for the rest of the school year. We had two emergency meetings at the Tribal and program level for last two days. For our project, Mentoring program staff at our Partner site are all required to work at home since yesterday so all mentoring group activities are suspended till further notice. For cultural education on reservation and an in schools, everything is cancelled while each partner is waiting for more directives. For tutoring and counseling, we just submitted requests for online meeting software subscription for tutors and Microsoft Team integration to have capacity to run partnership meetings/staff meeting. It is expected that Mendocino County will issue Residence Shelter in Plane order at 5:00 p.m. effective 10 pm tonight.

In the meanwhile, we trained tutoring staff yesterday and today on how to use free Zoom software to deliver online tutoring sessions (limited to 40 minutes). Because everything happened so fast, we are still in the middle of surveying 50 Native students served by the tutoring and counseling program on their availability, computer & internet availability, transportation need, students who are too young to be tutored online, Elders in the household and adults who are able to supervise youth in on-line sessions. So things are not really together at this moment. We are planning and responding as changes happen daily.

Our school district are asking our program to help some Native students who has no internet access purchase hotspot in order to complete their homework online. I asked the school district to survey % Native students (around 600 AI students total in our district) and find out how many have the need. We have some savings in personnel that can be allocated to deal with this emergency. I will run this by you after I get an idea of the needs are and cost estimate to fulfill the need. Can you help me figure out if this is an allowable cost? We did anticipated coronavirus coming when we wrote our proposal.

Hope things are calmer your way or keep your Center calm.

Dear Grantees:

As the news of COVID-19 begins to affect our communities, I just wanted to check in with you and ask how your Tribe/Educational Institution is preparing for the pandemic? Have the schools been closed and if so, for how long? How will any closures impact your project? Make sure to note this in your APR. I also want to remind you to make sure that you take care of yourself too! Your program is important but you are more important. ☺

Have a Great Day and an even better week!

Subject: School Closure

Hello Team,

My school is a clock hour program and has been closed by the my school district Beaumont Unified, who was instructed to close all schools by the Riverside County Public Health Officer in our county due to the COVID-19. Due to this closure our VN students are not allowed to come onto the campus nor continue with their clinical hours. We are not able to provide online or distance learning for the program. Nor are the students able to attend their clinical sites. I would like to know what I need to do to stay in compliance with Title IV. Do I need to update NSLDS enrollment, and what should I do with the students financial aid? The students will continue where they left off once we are able to return to school.

We are scheduled to return back to school on April 30, 2020.

Thank you,

Question: If schools are providing review materials, are not requiring it to be completed, are not grading it and are not providing any new teaching. Are they required to provide the same materials to students with disabilities or would they have to ensure the materials follow the students' IEP guidelines? Would they have to ensure students are able to access and are able to use online resources during the time the students are out of school?

In light of the current situation facing our nation the pandemic of COVID-19 all schools in New Jersey are closed for now. I want to be prepared to preserve our federal funding. Hi.

Our students are taking classes remotely, but have been given the option of staying in the dorms (although encouraged to not stay, if it's an option)

Some students live in the area, and some stayed, and are continuing to do their FWS jobs. Others have gone home, but do not have the option of working remotely.

Are we to continue paying those that are not still working, or because they could have stayed and worked, and didn't, their pay end? I have seen varying opinions on listserves.

Thanks.

Your assistance is needed with the following situations:
Our institution has not closed due to COVID-19; however, classes are being offered Distance Ed and most services are being offered remotely. Some students are unable to continue to do FWS due to issues with childcare because the kinds schools have closed. Other FWS will not be able to work because the departments (services) for whom they worked are now being offered remotely.
Can we continue to pay FWS for those students affected by the unavailability of childcare and for those students whose department is operating remotely?

Hello,
I was wondering if the grant proposal deadlines will be postponed due to the pandemic we are all dealing with? California has a shelter in place and unless you are essential to the University, you are not working from home. It has been very tough to try and collect CV's and data needed to complete any proposals for grant projects. Some cycles are only done on a 4 year basis so we really don't want to miss the deadlines but submissions may not be the best quality under the circumstances. I have seen most other sponsors have delayed or postponed deadlines but I haven't heard anything about the Dept. of Education making any announcements.

To whom would I make this request?

2. Advice for family engagement and recruitment staff who provide in-home consultation with families?

If not, could we use an electronic signature like Docusign?

Or, could we mail paper copies of COEs to homes for signature?

Dear Department,

With regard to the guidance issued March 05, 2020 "Guidance for Interruption of Study Related to Coronavirus (COVID-19)", it is my understanding the guidance is primarily to be used for current students only whose studies were interrupted due to COVID-19. If so, what guidance is there for new enrollments during COVID-19? Can a school continue to enroll and start new students (on campus) during COVID-19, providing they are six-feet apart and no more than 10 in a classroom?

Now, there's a section within the guidance that says "the Department will grant approval to institutions to use online technologies to accommodate students". Is this guidance intended for institutions to accommodate new & current students? See the excerpt below…

Approval to Offer Distance Education

The Department is providing broad approval to institutions to use online technologies to accommodate students on a temporary basis, without going through the regular approval process of the Department in the event that an institution is otherwise required to seek Departmental approval for the use or expansion of distance learning programs. This flexibility only applies to a program during a payment period that overlaps the date of this electronic announcement or the following payment period. If an institution chooses to continue offering a new program or use distance education in a manner requiring the Department's approval after that point, it must seek approval under the Department's normal process.

Your prompt response regarding our concerns are greatly appreciated.

Dear Larry,

I would like to assure you that Jagiellonian University is acquainted with the OPE's guidance of March 5, 2020.

On behalf of Prof. Armen Edigarian, Ph.D., Vice-Rector for Educational Affairs, I would like to ask you for the definitive interpretation of the OPE's guidance. By Jagiellonian University Rector's decision made in connection with the Government of Poland's regulations due to COVID-19, Jagiellonian University provides distance learning from March 10, 2020 until further notice. The 2019/2020 summer semester at Jagiellonian University starts on February 24, 2020 and ends on September 30, 2020. Therefore, please determine whether Jagiellonian University is not allowed to disburse Title IV funds for the entire 2019-2020 summer semester?

Due to numerous inquiries from students, I would appreciate your prompt reply.

Thank you in advance,
Ewa

Hi Ewa,

I am only allowed to tell you to refer to the guidance on March 5, 2020.

What is your understanding of the guidance? Do you think you are allowed or not allowed to disburse aid under your situation? If so or if not, why do you think that?

Dear Larry,

Thank you very much for the response.

According to the OPE's guidance on March 5, 2020, Jagiellonian University is not allowed to disburse Title IV funds for the U.S. students who participate in Title IV programs at JU even if they are enrolled for the programs which do not usually offer online courses, but due to this unusual circumstances, have been temporarily adapted to the distance learning.

Due to the above I have two following questions to you:

1. As the 2019/2020 summer semester at JU has started on February 24, 2020 and all JU's programs have been adapted to the distance learning on March 10, 2020, is JU allowed to disburse Title IV funds for the period from February 24 to March 10, 2020?
Also, if the disbursement for this period will be possible, I have concerns regarding how to calculate the COA amount for this period. Please see JU's COA based on a 9-month period (academic year): https://studiuje.uj.edu.pl/financial-aid/attendance-cost
There is no problem to divide the rent, food, transportation, course materials etc. costs accordingly, however the cost of international flights (return ticket x 1 as for one semester) is undivided.

2. Please let me know whether the JU will be allowed to disburse Title IV funds (costs reduced according to the duration of distance learning) to students if their programs are switched to the standard, non-distance mode? Due to the decision issued by the Minister of Science and Higher Education in Poland all classes are cancelled until March 25, 2020 (wherever applicable, lectures should be made available online) and we do not know if the cancelation will be extended.

Thank you in advance for your clarification and I look forward to your reply.

Please keep me posted with any future ED's guidance for foreign schools due to the COVID-19.

Best,
Ewa

Please let me know if the above regulations (authorizing distance learning at programs which are not usually distance) do have an impact on students' eligibility for Title IV funds in the 2019-2020 summer semester and should we withhold the disbursements for this semester. Please note that these are exceptional circumstances and all decisions have been made to ensure student safety.

Subject: Question about impact on COA

Good afternoon,

Can you please provide clarification on the impact of a refund of housing and meals on the COA and estimated financial assistance?

The scenario is that our school will be adjusting the charges for students for the remainder of the semester since they are no longer in housing and no longer using their meal plans. For example, our original COA will have approximately $7000 for spring 2020 in room and board (I'm rounding). Once we refund students, the total charges to the students will be $3500 for the semester. Are we required to adjust the COA?

If the charge is not adjusted, and the student receives a waiver instead… Is it correct to not adjust the COA and to add the amount of the waiver as part of the student's total estimated financial assistance for spring?

Or it is ok to refund or waive the room and board with no changes to COA or estimated financial assistance? This is the rumor going around, and I have a lot of non-Financial Aid professionals pushing for this.

I would appreciate any guidance you can provide as I would like to make sure we are documenting students files accurately.

Subject: Question regarding limit of permission to offer distance learning opportunities to students

To whom it may concern,

After reading your March 5th 2020 memorandum, Guidance for interruptions of study related to Coronavirus (COVID-19), it became clear we needed additional guidance relative to the highlighted portion of the guidance below. It appears there is no opportunity for students who began their new term after March 5th to participate in the temporary online delivery of their classes due to the COVID-19 pandemic.
We believe this was not the intention of the Department.
We ask you to research this matter and make whatever adjustments are necessary to provide the opportunity for these students to participate in the temporary online delivery of their classes during the COVID-19 pandemic.

I look forward to your action and response.

Thank you. David Heckeler

Approval to Offer Distance Education
The Department is providing broad approval to institutions to use online technologies to accommodate students on a temporary basis, without going through the regular approval process of the Department in the event that an institution is otherwise required to seek Departmental approval for the use or expansion of distance learning programs. This flexibility only applies to a program during a payment period that overlaps the date of this electronic announcement or the following payment period. If an institution chooses to continue offering a new program or use distance education in a manner requiring the Department's approval after that point, it must seek approval under the Department's normal process.
We are also permitting accreditors to waive their distance education review requirements for institutions working to accommodate students whose enrollment is otherwise interrupted as a result of COVID-19. We currently are limiting that permission to distance learning opportunities developed for the purpose of serving students who were already in attendance, but whose attendance was interrupted by COVID-19. Please note that this flexibility is not available for clock-hour courses that lead to licensure if the licensure body will not accept distance learning courses or hours or give credit for them toward the number of hours a student must complete.

From MT

Please let me know if there is guidance forthcoming specific to any reporting requirements or flexibility to SEAs for the Title II, Part A State Level Activities funds.

From SETDA

1. Can Title IIA SEA funds be used to purchase devices (tablets/laptops or hot spots for connectivity) for students to ensure equitable access to effective educators since students can't go to school? Or will there be a waiver about purchasing devices?

2. Since for many districts, engaging in online learning is not part of regular instruction - is this supplemental? What types of purchases would be permitted?

3. Will there be a waiver for Title IVA cap of 15% for Effective Use of Technology ?

4. Are any plans to extend the federal grant period?

What is the impact of this closure on MCA/MTAS? MDE does not have the authority to cancel/exempt districts from providing the MCA/MTAS. We are closely monitoring federal guidance and conversations to determine whether or not there will be any national decisions that shift testing expectations.

From NY (guidance for LEAs)

Designing for Unique Needs of All Students. Instructional design, course design and plans for support must be aligned with the skill level of age groups and abilities, including students with disabilities and English Language Learners, to the greatest extent possible. For example, those serving the elementary and middle-school levels might have to consider creating instructional materials for both students and parents, while high school students are likely more capable independent learners.

• Ensuring Accessibility. Not all students may have access to the Internet, phone lines, TV or radio at the same time, or at all, during a prolonged school closure or student absence. Therefore, it is important to offer a variety of methods of learning. Districts considering online learning will need to ensure that the means used complies with all applicable laws, including the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act and Education Law S. 2-d, and Section 508 of the Rehabilitation Act which provides accessibility guidelines for students with disabilities.

Should an adjusted R2T4 calendar be used beginning on the date the decision was announced to extend a break or close? Or is it used beginning on the effective date of the change?

For example, our institution was scheduled for Spring Break 3/14-3/22. The decision to extend Spring Break through 3/29 was announced on 3/12. Would the adjusted calendar be used as of 3/12 or as of 3/23 (the beginning of the extended break)?

Good afternoon,

Among the determinations announced by the Governor of Puerto Rico, a state of emergency was declared throughout the Island, the National Guard was activated, and the work of the central government, agencies and public instrumentalities unrelated to safety and health were canceled.

In relation to the general population and as a precautionary measure to reduce the risk of contagion, the cancellation of all activities where many people are concentrated was recommended until March 30, 2020. Similarly, a closing order has been decreed of shops from March 15 at 6:00 pm and a curfew starting at 9:00 p.m., until five in the morning until March 30.

Within the announced recommendations, the Government of Puerto Rico has requested private companies to establish work plans so that employees, to the extent possible and within the pertinent parameters and labor rules, work from their homes. This to avoid exposure to possible contagion.

Consistent with the Government's request, the Escuela Técnica de Electricidad, Inc. has decided to suspend face-to-face activities in our campuses through an academic break from March 16, 2020 to March 30, 2020.

We have faith and hope that we will succeed in controlling the spread of COVID-19 and that we will soon be able to resume our work as normal.

Importance: High

Good afternoon,

Among the determinations announced by the Governor of Puerto Rico, a state of emergency was declared throughout the Island, the National Guard was activated, and the work of the central government, agencies and public instrumentalities unrelated to safety and health were canceled.

In relation to the general population and as a precautionary measure to reduce the risk of contagion, the cancellation of all activities where many people are concentrated was recommended until March 30, 2020. Similarly, a closing order has been decreed of shops from March 15 at 6:00 pm and a curfew starting at 9:00 p.m., until five in the morning until March 30.

Within the announced recommendations, the Government of Puerto Rico has requested private companies to establish work plans so that employees, to the extent possible and within the pertinent parameters and labor rules, work from their homes. This to avoid exposure to possible contagion.

Consistent with the Government's request, the Escuela Técnica de Electricidad, Inc. has decided to suspend face-to-face activities in our campuses through an academic break from March 16, 2020 to March 30, 2020.

We have faith and hope that we will succeed in controlling the spread of COVID-19 and that we will soon be able to resume our work as normal.

Best regards,

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Subject: Compliance During COVID-19

Hello,

Our schools are concerned regarding the many compliance related documents and/or reports that they would address during the normal course of the school year (i.e., LCAP, Title I, etc.).

We have shifted ALL of our focus, resources, and support to instruction and operations that would support our students and families. We are concerned about the capacity to focus on these things in addition to these compliance related documents and/or reports.

Will there be any guidance about whether schools will be required to submit these documents/reports and all the activities required to engage families?

Any guidance is appreciated.

ONPE actually submitted these two inquiries as we will need the involvement of OESE and OGC in resolving them. I have looped in Todd who may be aware that ONPE submitted these two COVID-19 inquiries.

Hello!

Is there a place on the website where we can track which states have received permission from USED to enact waivers of assessments/accountability? I have seen some states announce that they won't be conducting statewide testing but couldn't find a list of approvals on the USED website.

Hi Leigh,

Thank you so much for reaching out—and thank you for all you are doing during this time to support students experiencing homelessness across Minnesota. As you know, the Department is closely monitoring the impact of COVID-19, and the Department is working to issue guidance as quickly as possible. To date we have not released guidance specific to the McKinney-Vento EHCY program. As the Department releases additional guidance, we will share it via our listservs and update the Department's COVID-19 website, which is available at www.ed.gov/coronavirus. I've also copied the Department's COVID-19 mailbox to this email; we are trying to route all COVID-19 related questions (and responses) through this mailbox.

Finally, I wanted to share a link to a recent resource from the U.S. Interagency Council on Homelessness (USICH): https://www.usich.gov/tools-for-action/supporting-children-and-youth-experiencing-homelessness-during-the-covid-19-outbreak-questions-to-consider. While this is officially a USICH resource, our team did collaborate with USICH to finalize the document. I hope you will find it helpful.

Of course, please don't hesitate to reach out if I can be helpful in any other way, and we will be in contact with additional information as soon as possible. Thank you for your partnership!

Hello,

I have seen/heard answers that do not agree with each other in regards to COA and partial refunds for housing and dining and let's throw in tuition.

On the NASFAA webinar this week it was said that we would not have to adjust COA based on refunds, however in email threads, there was an answer from Shaina Hilsey that said schools must change the COA. Which is true?

Hello Team,

My school is a clock hour program and has been closed by the my school district Beaumont Unified, who was instructed to close all schools by the Riverside County Public Health Officer in our county due to the COVID-19. Due to this closure our VN students are not allowed to come onto the campus nor continue with their clinical hours. We are not able to provide online or distance learning for the program. Nor are the students able to attend their clinical sites. I would like to know what I need to do to stay in compliance with Title IV. Do I need to update NSLDS enrollment, and what should I do with the students financial aid? The students will continue where they left off once we are able to return to school.

We are scheduled to return back to school on April 30, 2020.

Importance: High

Good afternoon,

Among the determinations announced by the Governor of Puerto Rico, a state of emergency was declared throughout the Island, the National Guard was activated, and the work of the central government, agencies and public instrumentalities unrelated to safety and health were canceled.

In relation to the general population and as a precautionary measure to reduce the risk of contagion, the cancellation of all activities where many people are concentrated was recommended until March 30, 2020. Similarly, a closing order has been decreed of shops from March 15 at 6:00 pm and a curfew starting at 9:00 p.m., until five in the morning until March 30.

Within the announced recommendations, the Government of Puerto Rico has requested private companies to establish work plans so that employees, to the extent possible and within the pertinent parameters and labor rules, work from their homes. This to avoid exposure to possible contagion.

Consistent with the Government's request, the Escuela Técnica de Electricidad, Inc. has decided to suspend face-to-face activities in our campuses through an academic break from March 16, 2020 to March 30, 2020.

We have faith and hope that we will succeed in controlling the spread of COVID-19 and that we will soon be able to resume our work as normal.

Subject: Academic Calendar

Hi Department,

With the guidance about changes in the academic terms structure presented in November 2019, we were told that terms do not have to be equal length and could be 14-21 weeks. On Tuesday, it was shared by NASFAA that flexibility was granted, due to COVID-19, that we could overlap our term into the summer and where we would normally be considered nonstandard because of such, we would not. Is this correct? If so, here's a scenario that I'd like you to confirm my accuracy.

We are an institution that has a j-term, a three (3) week session that is attached to our Spring 2020 semester - which is 16 weeks. Therefore, our Spring term is a total of 19 weeks. Due to COVID, our institution wants to extend our spring break next week. However, it wants to make up the instruction in summer. I understand if we do the extended spring break and do nothing it's a reduced academic year which I must get permission from our School Participation Office. Spring ends on May 15, 2020 and Summer begins the next week on May 16, 2020. Is it accurate that although we have guidance to crossover into the next term, it does not eliminate the academic term length guidance - essentially only have two weeks to utilize to make up the lost week based on our current term length of 21 weeks? This would allow us to extend our Spring term to May 29, 2020.

What are your thoughts?

Good morning!
Our campus has moved to online courses to finish the semester. But a new decision was made this week to close the campus but continue online courses. Which is allowed, etc.

The issue that I have is that the VP of Academic Affairs canceled classes for today and tomorrow, which takes our semester below 15 weeks. It puts us at 14 weeks.

Can you advise what we need to do about this?
Do we only see approval from you or do we need to add the days back to the end of the semester somehow?

I apologize, I was notified of this decision as it was being announced and not asked before.

Let me know.
Thanks for all you do!

If a school decides to go online but then decides to close for the remainder of the semester, are we required to complete R2T4s for every student if their courses are not offered until the following spring semester?

Good morning,

I looking for additional guidance in regards to students who are inquiring about re-entering into a non-standard term program within or after 180 days of their initial withdrawal date.

Our institution has converted to distance learning effective on 03/23/2020 due to COVID19 and the guidance released in the electronic announcement on March 5, 2020. If any previously withdrawn students were not active as of the date of the electronic announcement or prior to the dates of temporary closure, are we allowed to re-enter the students into their program on or after 03/23/2020?

Please contact me if any additional clarification is required.

Hello -

I have a question based on something I learned on the NASFAA webinar Tuesday… It was about shortening the academic year and needing to get permission. As you know, a lot of schools extended their spring break. We started ours early for in-person classes and extended it for in-person classes, but we did not adjust online classes. Does that require permission/submission or no?

Thanks!

Subject: Do Cash Management Rules Apply for Refunds and Credits of Title IV Funds to Students?
Importance: High

To Whom it May Concern:

The State University of New York System is seeking guidance and clarification on whether the cash management rules apply when issuing refunds and/or credits to students who have completed over 60% of their semester who have not withdrawn, but are seeking refunds and/or credits for a specific purpose. These are still Title IV funds, however. These refunds and/or credits would be in relation to room and board costs, potentially meal plan costs as well, along with other non-tuition related costs depending upon the circumstances. The System was considering issuing refunds for these costs where applicable, and/or credits for returning students where applicable, but wanted to ensure we were complying with all proper rules and regulations. Thus far, we have not seen any specific guidance from the Department, and were wondering if the Department would be providing any guidance on this for colleges and universities across the country.

Our understanding is that an authorization from the student would be sufficient and that the cash management rules would not apply here. Please let us know if this is correct. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Kelly Hendricken

Subject: Academic Calendar

Hi Department,

With the guidance about changes in the academic terms structure presented in November 2019, we were told that terms do not have to be equal length and could be 14-21 weeks. On Tuesday, it was shared by NASFAA that flexibility was granted, due to COVID-19, that we could overlap our term into the summer and where we would normally be considered nonstandard because of such, we would not. Is this correct? If so, here's a scenario that I'd like you to confirm my accuracy.

We are an institution that has a j-term, a three (3) week session that is attached to our Spring 2020 semester - which is 16 weeks. Therefore, our Spring term is a total of 19 weeks. Due to COVID, our institution wants to extend our spring break next week. However, it wants to make up the instruction in summer. I understand if we do the extended spring break and do nothing it's a reduced academic year which I must get permission from our School Participation Office. Spring ends on May 15, 2020 and Summer begins the next week on May 16, 2020. Is it accurate that although we have guidance to crossover into the next term, it does not eliminate the academic term length guidance - essentially only have two weeks to utilize to make up the lost week based on our current term length of 21 weeks? This would allow us to extend our Spring term to May 29, 2020.

What are your thoughts?

We didn't get to the question below during our meeting, but I've actually run it by our program attorneys for REAP and it is not an issue, since we already have data for FY 20 awards and will not need to collect until that data again till October/November. They did reply that it is an issue for OIE and Impact Aid. Would it be helpful if our team took that lead on coordinating a response to ADA/ADM questions? If so, should we be preparing a response for the COVID-19 OESE workgroup or someone else?

> Questions related to ADA/ADM (average daily attendance/membership) have come up. We think there are minor issues for ADA in Title I but more serious implications for rural. Are there other programs where there are implications? Is anyone willing to try to flesh out this issue?

Hi Danielle,

I hope this email finds you well.

I'm reaching out because some of our states have questions about how they might handle identification if they request and receive assessment and accountability waivers. Do you have any guidance for states on what this might look like? Some states are curious about what this will mean for schools that will likely move from ATSI to CSI.

If you have any guidance to share with school improvement and accountability/assessment leads that I might share that would be helpful.

Thanks so much,
Dani

Hi,

Are there options for extending the semester if we have a campus shutdown due to safety issues related to the coronavirus? Our Spring 2020 semester is supposed to end May 1st and Summer 2020 is supposed to begin June 1st. If we have to shutdown, campus leadership wonders if we can extend the Spring 2020 semester past our published end date to allow students time to finish their classes. If extending the semester end date is an option, do we have to leave a certain amount of time between the new Spring end date and the published start of the summer semester? Are there options for bumping back the beginning of the Summer semester as well?

Good morning!
Our campus has moved to online courses to finish the semester. But a new decision was made this week to close the campus but continue online courses. Which is allowed, etc.

The issue that I have is that the VP of Academic Affairs canceled classes for today and tomorrow, which takes our semester below 15 weeks. It puts us at 14 weeks.

Can you advise what we need to do about this?
Do we only see approval from you or do we need to add the days back to the end of the semester somehow?

I apologize, I was notified of this decision as it was being announced and not asked before.

Let me know.
Thanks for all you do!

Good Evening,

My campus is cancelling on campus classes for one week and then bringing up all classes online. We did not extend spring break. We returned from spring break for 3 days and then decided to cancel on campus classes only. All in-person classes are cancelled beginning Thursday and will resume the following Wednesday online. During this time, all online classes will continue as normal and with no interruption.

Two questions related to this-
Do I need to update my calendar for R2T4 because we had an additional break?
Do I need to request a temporary reduction in the length of our academic year?

Thanks,
April

Subject: Clarification of language re: distance ed

Good morning,

I was hoping to receive some language clarification regarding the temporary approval to offer distance education.

We are a semester based school with a BBAY that starts 4 times per year. We have just this week moved to 100% online instruction in light of the Pennsylvania Governor's request to close all non-essential businesses due to the risks around COVID-19.

When referring to the IFAP document "Guidance for interruptions of study related to Coronavirus (COVID-19)", I understand that the flexibility to offer distance education applies to the current term and following term only, unless otherwise notified.

I think it's important to note that our next term begins in 11 days, on Monday, March 30th.

The related language that I was hoping for clarification on states the following: "We are currently limiting that permission to distance learning opportunities developed for the purpose of serving students who were already in attendance, but whose attendance was interrupted by COVID-19."

So the way this is written indicates that we would not be able to offer Title IV aid to any students new to our school for the start of our next term on 3/30/20, if in fact we are still using distance ed only (which quite frankly seems as though it will be likely since it's only 11 days out.) Is this accurate, that we cannot offer Title IV aid to new students if we are still in distance learning only mode strictly because of COVID-19?

Please feel free to respond with any follow-up questions as needed. I greatly appreciate your time.

Sincerely,

Subject: Clock-Hour Program & COVID-19

Can you provide some guidance for clock-hour programs, please?

Question #1) We're required to take attendance and process R2T4 if a student has not been in attendance for 14 days. Our institution officially closed on 3/16 and is projected to be closed until at least 4/6 at this point (3 weeks). Will every student in our clock-hour program need an R2T4 since they will not be in attendance for 14 days? We are little more than a month into our payment period, so any R2T4 will result in a return on funds for our students and significant financial liability.

Question #2) We are required to make multiple disbursements in a payment period because of our default rate. The students received their first disbursement right before the school closed, however, because of school closure, their second disbursement will be delayed until they meet half the hour/weeks in their payment period. We have a number of students who are relying on refunds from their student aid to pay for educational related expenses, including rent and utilities. The clock-hour program is a nursing program, so the state licensing board at this point has not indicated that they will accept distance learning hours, therefore, the students have no opportunity to progress through their payment period in order to receive those additional funds. Is there any guidance on making additional disbursements during closure or possibility of waiving the multiple disbursement requirement?

Thank you for your help.

In past, ED would flag users who signed in from multiple IP addresses. Is this going to cause problem for financial aid administrators over the next few weeks as they work from home? Thanks.

Hello,

Our schools are concerned regarding the many compliance related documents and/or reports that they would address during the normal course of the school year (i.e., LCAP, Title I, etc.).

We have shifted ALL of our focus, resources, and support to instruction and operations that would support our students and families. We are concerned about the capacity to focus on these things in addition to these compliance related documents and/or reports.

Will there be any guidance about whether schools will be required to submit these documents/reports and all the activities required to engage families?

Any guidance is appreciated.

Dear Mr. Reyes,
Cornell University is requesting a temporary reduction in the weeks of instruction for the 2019-2020 academic year for the Ithaca campus in order to minimize the risks associated with the COVID-19 pandemic. For students in almost all programs on the Ithaca campus, classes were suspended at 5pm on Friday, March 13, 2020 and will resume online on Monday, April 6, 2020. The time of class suspension includes a scheduled spring break. The last day of the semester will be extended by one week. This change results in a one week reduction in the weeks of instruction for the 2019-2020 academic calendar from 33 weeks to 32 weeks and reduces the Spring 2020 semester from 16 weeks to 15 weeks. With our move to a revised academic calendar and remote instruction, the total learning time will remain the same, redistributing contact hours across alternative modes of interaction including extra asynchronous course lectures, discussion boards, email exchanges, reading, assignments, research, and group work.
Please let me know if you have questions.
Thank you,
Diane

Hi Laura and Angela,
I hope you are staying healthy during these challenging times. I promise, this is the last time today I will write you!! No promises about not contacting you tomorrow, however!

In past conversations with OSEP, it's my understanding that NYSED was provided approval from OSEP at the time of Hurricane Sandy in 2012, that we should clearly acknowledge in guidance to the field that the State is not authorized to provide waivers to federal law and regulation requirements, nor may USDOE, however that we could indicate we would not issue findings of noncompliance to a school district because of its failure to meet these requirements when it is evident that they are the direct result of the an extreme emergency. It is expected that school districts will use such flexibility only to the extent and for the duration as absolutely necessary and consistent with the conditions they are facing to bring normalcy back to the education programs for their students with disabilities. We were hoping to apply this same guidance in the current pandemic situation. Please advise and thank you for your consideration of this request.

Good morning,

I looking for additional guidance in regards to students who are inquiring about re-entering into a non-standard term program within or after 180 days of their initial withdrawal date.

Our institution has converted to distance learning effective on 03/23/2020 due to COVID19 and the guidance released in the electronic announcement on March 5, 2020. If any previously withdrawn students were not active as of the date of the electronic announcement or prior to the dates of temporary closure, are we allowed to re-enter the students into their program on or after 03/23/2020?

Please contact me if any additional clarification is required.

Rockingham community college is unsure how to proceed with work study as the college transitions to completely online instruction. We are not a residential college, and are still open to the public. I am not sure if previous guidance from DOE that work study students can continue to be paid for hours they were schedule to work applies to our situation. Does this guidance apply to all colleges with a work study program that are transitioning to completely online instruction? Or, should we require work study students to continue to work on campus in order to be paid since the college is still technically open?

Please advise.

Looping in Ron and Rachel, too, since I flagged this question for them yesterday and I believe they are working on this.

This seems like a question with a potentially wide-ranging implications, I think, but I'm hoping we can provide some flexibility for uncontrollable circumstances like this.

Do you know if your Department will be releasing any guidance on travel expenditure impacts due to the Coronavirus? As you know the National Afterschool Association (NAA) Conference was scheduled to begin on Sunday at the Gaylord there, but they changed that to a virtual platform as of yesterday. Some airlines are making exceptions to cancellation fees, etc. and others are not but I think you can still cancel a flight and just apply that money to another upcoming flight within a year (to which they could then attend another allowable afterschool event, etc.). One of the other hotels there in DC for the conference had a seven-day cancellation policy and don't want to budge on cancellation policies, but one of my sub-grantees was able to get the hotel to make a 50% refund but no more. Our CFO suggested contacting federal departments to see if you have any suggestions on what would be allowable for our sub grantees affected by travel costs, what should be refunded to states/federal, etc.

Thank you for any help you can provide.

Hi Miriam,

Two of my states recently contacted me regarding guidance due to the COVID-19 . Thinking perhaps general guidance may need to go on the Listserv to assist SEA with questions regarding school and program closings.

Connecticut – Shelby Pon Question:

1. During school and program closings due to the COVID-19, may subgrantee staff continue to be paid?
2. Can subgrantee staff take online Y4Y courses to keep their time running while working off-site?

Illinois – Kristy Jones ask the same question. Also, Illinois is also undergoing travel restrictions and unable to complete monitoring schedule for 2020.

Hi Team OGC – In light of the number of states that announced they are closing schools, I suspect we will get a lot more questions like the one below (which we have gotten a few times this week already from 21st CCLC folks). I think we need to be able to provide some sort of response to this question ASAP. Has any progress been made on the Department sharing the OMB memo from March 9?

I would propose a response along the lines of:

Thank you for sharing that information, Raquel. I wanted to pass along a notice from the Office of Management and Budget earlier this week that may be helpful. In particular, I think question 6 provides information about flexibility that may be available to Oregon regarding staff on 21st CCLC subrecipients.

Hello Patrick, Miriam and Debbie,

Our Governor announced a statewide closure of all Oregon schools from March 16th through March 31st due to the public health threat of coronavirus. Our agency's director confirmed this includes 21st CCLC programs across our state. Is it allowable for hourly 21st CCLC staff to be paid during the closure? These are people who are counting on a paycheck to support themselves and their families. Also, does the Department have any guidance for SEAs in the event a program is unable to fulfill the required number of program hours in a school year?

I've included a message sent out to Superintendents and Principals tonight:

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Date: March 12, 2020 (8:30 PM)

To: Superintendents and Principals

From: Colt Gill, Director of the Oregon Department of Education and Deputy Superintendent of Public Instruction

RE: Governor Kate Brown Announces Statewide School Closure for Students in Oregon from Monday, March 16 through Tuesday, March 31

In consideration of staffing challenges and health concerns due to the public health threat of coronavirus, Governor Kate Brown today announced a statewide closure of Oregon K-12 schools from Monday, March 16 through Tuesday, March 31.

"Schools are critical institutions that provide important services for all our students, but especially our most vulnerable, and during this crisis I have worked hard to ensure those critical services continue. So many of our families depend on school in order for parents to go to their jobs, and for students to access health care and receive nutrition assistance," said Governor Brown.

"However, I have heard from superintendents, school board members, teachers, parents, and students that it has now become impossible to functionally operate schools due to workforce issues and student absences. Schools are experiencing critical shortages in staff, and superintendents are concerned for school personnel who are at elevated risk such as those over age 60 and those with underlying medical issues.

"I want to be very clear: sending Oregon children home will not stop the spread of the coronavirus. While children are home, when at all possible, they should not be in the care of older adults or those with underlying health issues that are most at-risk from COVID-19.

"This is a trying time for our community and I am reluctant to increase the burden on families who are already struggling to adapt to and stay healthy during this crisis. However, we are left with little choice in light of school districts' staff capacity and operational concerns. I want to thank all of the teachers and school employees who have worked hard to keep our schools open until now."

Per the Governor's directives and with the support of the Oregon Department of Education and the state's Early Learning Division, during the closure:

- School districts are directed to develop plans for returning to school that accommodate ongoing impacts of coronavirus. Staff should utilize the final two days of March to finalize plans for operating schools under updated measures, with students expected to return on Wednesday, April 1.
- Districts are tasked with developing plans to continue nutrition services during the closure.
- The Oregon Department of Education will examine the impact the closure will have on instructional time.
- School districts will ensure adequate cleaning supplies for increased cleaning protocols following the closure.
- The Early Learning Division will support child care programs and will work to identify resources to support child care needs for our most vulnerable families, as well as health care professionals and first responders.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

"We are in close communication with school districts across the state, and they will be communicating regularly with their school communities throughout the closure period," said Colt Gill, Director of the Oregon Department of Education. "Due to the evolving nature of this crisis, these timelines will be reevaluated in late March in consultation with school administrators."

Governor Brown will be available to answer questions in a teleconference tomorrow, March 13, at 11:00 am with state agency directors and superintendents. A teleconference number will be provided in a morning advisory.

Thank you for your guidance in this matter.
Kind regards,
Raquel

Can you give me some guidance on the potential closing of programs for Coronavirus? Do you believe 21st CCLC should be consider an "essential" or "non-essential" program (See our Governor's statement below). Your thoughts on this would be helpful as we determine guidance for our programs.
Thanks,

Good Morning Raquel,

Is there somewhere I can go to find more specific information about continuing afterschool programs? I'm not sure if the state considers 21st Century programs as essential or non-essential in regard to the Governor's press release.

I am having community partners pull out daily, as well as feilding emails and phone calls from parents and community members about the mesures we are taking to prevent the COVID-19 in the after school program.

Thanks for any assistance you can give me.

"The governor's new measures affect large gatherings, schools, workplaces and long-term care and assisted-living facilities. A statement from Brown's office included the following list:

1. Large gatherings: All large gatherings over 250 people will be canceled statewide effective immediately for four weeks. A gathering is defined as any event in a space in which appropriate social distancing of a minimum of three feet cannot be maintained.
2. Schools: In addition to previous guidance issued on March 8, 2020 to keep schools open, all non-essential school-associated gatherings and group activities should be canceled — such as group parent meetings, field trips, and competitions."

Good evening! We are very concerned about the timelines that require schools to look at calendar days for compliance. This would include initial referrals where testing is completed and ARDs have been scheduled to meet the timeline. The mandatory school break interferes with some of these meetings, causing us to miss the 30 day timeline. Similar for annual reviews and reevaluations. My assessment staff is already stretched so thin with the increase of referrals due to the Corrective Action Plan. It would make sense for us to have the liberty to NOT count the days missed due to COVID-19 as calendar days and continue the timeline count on the first instructional day back. I have a team of people making a good faith effort daily to meet timelines. It does not make sense to hold them to a standard that is frankly not attainable considering the circumstances that are out of our control. Let's say we do have meetings during this mandatory school break. If the child is not at school to receive the services, then the meeting would really be unnecessary until we are back in a scenario where the child is able to receive services.

Please consider these facts above when discussing timeline requirements

Hi,
I wanted to check if Department of Education plan to shutdown Pre-schools/daycares?
The schools like Genius kids sent email saying "our centers are not under the jurisdiction of the school district and if the school district closes the schools, this does not require us to close. We are mandated by the Department of Education, Department of Health and Department of Social Services. If and when they require us to close, that is when we will follow those instructions and act accordingly." .
They also require parents to give 15 days notice if we want to pull out kid from school. We do not want to pull kid out of school but want to keep them home till COVID is under control. We do not want to pay the school while we worry if our kids are safe. No one can take full responsibility of kids safety.
I feel like the schools are acting greedy in this sensitive situation.

I as a parent of pre-schooler, request Department of Education and Department of Health to order pre-school/daycare closure like jurisdiction of school district ordered the closure of public schools.

Importance: High

Good morning.
We received the question below from New York State Education Department Testing office this morning. They are asking for a rapid response regarding their State tests; it reads like they are considering statewide cancellation. If they do this, they need to decide quickly as the logistics of their testing program require time to start and stop.

We've directed them to the March 12 fact sheet, but they desire something more targeted from ED. I think they want an assurance that should they cancel tests Statewide, that the waiver request they'd submit would be favorably considered by ED.

I might suggest that we consider a response as follows:
"In the event that a State chooses to cancel Statewide assessment as a result of Statewide school closures, ED will consider one year waivers of ESEA testing requirements by that State. "

Subject: Guidance for NY on Assessments in Light of School Closures
Importance: High

Don,

I am reaching out to you at the request of my Deputy Commissioner for P12 Kim Wilkins. As I'm sure that you're aware, NY is now the state with the most confirmed cases of COVID-19 and that number is expected to continue growing in the coming weeks. At this point, many schools in NY have closed for extended periods of time with April 20 being the most commonly scheduled return date. All of the Big 5 City School Districts have closed which accounts for approximately half of NY's student population.

We are seeking guidance on our Grades 3-8 ELA tests. The test window is scheduled to open one week from tomorrow. In line with the guidance issued by the USDE last week, we extended our window by an additional week. However, the schools closures have also extended in duration and leave us at a point where many (if not all, as the numbers continue to grow) schools in NY may be closed. We know that the USDE does not preliminarily consider waivers, so we are looking for guidance at this time. It does not seem practicable to administer our ELA tests and end up with results that inform instruction or contribute to accountability.

One additional consideration is that, as you recall, NY's assessment program is still predominantly paper-based. This further complicates any shifting of administration windows and creates additional decision points regarding shipping tests to empty school buildings and how to best avoid test material breaches.

We would appreciate any guidance that the USDE can offer us since we need to address these issue immediately as schools continue to close statewide. If a phone call would be a better approach, we can make time today for that.

Many thanks!
Zach

Dear NAME:

Thank you for contacting the U.S. Department of Education (Department) concerning COVID-19 ("Coronavirus").

While there is currently no vaccine to prevent COVID-19, health officials are currently taking steps to prevent the introduction and spread of this respiratory disease. Schools can play an important role in this effort.

Through collaboration and coordination with local health authorities and other agencies, schools can disseminate important information about this disease and its potential transmission. Schools can also prepare to take additional steps to prevent the spread of COVID-19, should State and local health officials identify such a need.

The Department recommends that schools continue to promote everyday disease prevention strategies:

- If you are sick, stay home from school.
- Avoid close contact with those who are already sick.
- Cover your nose and mouth when coughing or sneezing with a tissue or the crook of your arm.
- Wash your hands often with soap and water.
- Avoid touching eyes, nose, or mouth.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) offers the most up-to-date information on COVID-19. Schools can share relevant CDC fact sheets to help students, families, and staff understand COVID-19, along with steps they can take to protect themselves. For further information, please visit www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-nCoV.

In addition, the Department has established a "COVID-19 Information and Resources for Schools and School Personnel" webpage, available at www.ed.gov/coronavirus, to support schools and communities as they plan, prepare and potentially respond to possible cases of COVID-19. The Department will regularly update this webpage as more information and guidance becomes available.

Thank you for sharing your concerns with us. We invite you to send questions on which the Department can be helpful to the following email address: COVID-19@ed.gov.

Sincerely,

COVID-19 Response Team

If services are not provided, wouldn't that be a delay in services and the equitable service amount should be carried forward? If that is the case, what is the source of the teacher's salary during the period when she is not providing services?"

Additionally, the ED*Facts* Coordinator provided this update to their request on March 18th, 2020:

The California Department of Education has closed their office as of today, and staff are working from home. With the last minute decision to have the building closed, many staff may not have access to our database/work folders, and it may take days before we receive access. At this time, we are uncertain if we will be able to submit these files on time. We asked that the ED understands our situation during this pandemic. We will keep you updated as things change. If you have any questions, please reach out to me.

Hello All,

This is a general ticket about CSPR and the CDQR. OH did not specify content or program areas so I directed this to the OESE Front Office folks, but I have included all of you because I believe they probably are looking for guidance (dispensation?) from ALL of the programs involved. This will probably have to go through the ED COVID-19 Task Force (is that the correct name for it?) for a response, but I wanted to make sure everyone was aware.

Ohio's CSPR Coordinator, Ardith Allen, contacted PSC on March 18, 2020 seeking guidance from ED regarding the submission of the SY 2018-19 CSPR and December ESEA CDQR spreadsheet due to the COVID-19 virus. She writes:

> My name is Ardith Allen, and I am both the State Coordinator for the CSPR and the director of the ED*Facts* CDQR in Ohio. I have been receiving questions from some of our state's contributors to the CSPR and/or the CDQR. We would like to know whether the USDOE anticipates any extensions of any deadlines for submitting or returning responses to the CSPR or CDQR due to the coronavirus pandemic.
> As you may know, the state of Ohio is currently under a state of emergency as ordered by our Governor last week. Many state employees, and most Ohio Department of Education employees, are currently teleworking. While this arrangement is generally working well for us, there are some tasks that are hindered, such as the ability to have interactive discussions with our program offices about data quality review findings and to connect remotely to ODE to get our files that are necessary for submitting, checking, and responding to items in the CSPR and CDQR.
> We would appreciate any guidance you have about this issue. Thank you.

Hello All,

This is a general ticket about CSPR and the CDQR. OH did not specify content or program areas so I directed this to the OESE Front Office folks, but I have included all of you because I believe they probably are looking for guidance (dispensation?) from ALL of the programs involved. This will probably have to go through the ED COVID-19 Task Force (is that the correct name for it?) for a response, but I wanted to make sure everyone was aware.

Thanks,
Joe

Ohio's CSPR Coordinator, Ardith Allen, contacted PSC on March 18, 2020 seeking guidance from ED regarding the submission of the SY 2018-19 CSPR and December ESEA CDQR spreadsheet due to the COVID-19 virus. She writes:

> My name is Ardith Allen, and I am both the State Coordinator for the CSPR and the director of the ED*Facts* CDQR in Ohio. I have been receiving questions from some of our state's contributors to the CSPR and/or the CDQR. We would like to know whether the USDOE anticipates any extensions of any deadlines for submitting or returning responses to the CSPR or CDQR due to the coronavirus pandemic.
> As you may know, the state of Ohio is currently under a state of emergency as ordered by our Governor last week. Many state employees, and most Ohio Department of Education employees, are currently teleworking. While this arrangement is generally working well for us, there are some tasks that are hindered, such as the ability to have interactive discussions with our program offices about data quality review findings and to connect remotely to ODE to get our files that are necessary for submitting, checking, and responding to items in the CSPR and CDQR.

Importance: High

Hi Steven,

As you may know, many institutions of higher education and their operations have been impacted by the Coronavirus, and CSUSM is no exception.

I am reaching out to you to share how CSUSM CAMP is coping with these ever evolving changes/updates. Please see the attached memo.

Two strong concerns CSUSM CAMP has at this point is as follows:

- Student academic performance for Spring 2020 - Given that all instruction has moved to an online/virtual platform, and historically our CAMPers don't tend to do well in this type of instruction, we worry that students may struggle with successfully passing all of their courses. CSUSM CAMP is serving as a liaison and providing support services to students and monitoring their academic performance via different channels.
- Recruitment for incoming CAMP students (fall 2020) – Students are feeling uncertain with their decision to commit to our university given the situation with the Coronavirus changes daily. Our team is keeping a great channel of communication with potential CAMPers, but we will not know until students commit their enrollment to our institution.

I wanted to keep you in the loop of what is happening at CSUSM CAMP. As I have stated in my memo, while not ideal, the CAMP team understands that all measures CSUSM is taking is in the best interest of student and faculty/staff safety. The CAMP team will continuously reassess its operations taking into consideration the feedback from CAMP Scholars. CAMP is committed to evolving its practices to meet the needs of our CAMP Scholars as best as we are able to.

Sincerely,

María Venegas Escobedo, M.A.

MEMORANDUM

DATE: March 18, 2020

TO: Steven Carr
Office of Migrant Education

FROM: María Venegas Escobedo
CAMP Director

SUBJECT: CAMP Operations Emergency Plan of Action

Summary

As CSU San Marcos moves into an online platform for student instruction as a preventative measure to slow the spread of the Coronavirus for the remainder of the spring 2020, the College Assistance Migrant Program (CAMP) will modify its operations to continue fulfilling its mission of supporting first year seasonal migrant/ farm working students. Listed below are strategies the CAMP program is implementing to meet student and program needs given current situation and in anticipation of partial or full campus closure, leveraging technology as a main component to deliver services to current and potential first year CSUSM students.

CAMP Programming Components

Student Appointments – All CAMP staff, inclusive of student staff, is, or will be, trained in the usage of Zoom for direct student contact. CAMP Scholars will be able to continue to use Accudemia to schedule appointments with their advisors. The CAMP team is looking into implementing virtual "drop-in" hours throughout the week to accommodate students who have last minute questions or concerns.

Student Programming Events – All CAMP in person events have been cancelled for the remainder of the term. CAMP staff is strategizing using online platforms to continue to deliver workshops.

Student Engagement – CAMP is exploring the implementation of "CAMP Hour" where workshops or group check-ins will be hosted by CAMP Staff or guest speakers. This initiative will also be an opportunity for students to continue to feel a sense of connection to the CSUSM campus. Student communication will continue to be via different platforms, in form of e-mail, Instagram posts, Facebook updates and Zoom meetings.

Student Academic Monitoring – While CAMP Advisors will continue to oversee the caseload of all 42 CAMP Scholars, CAMP Advisors along with CAMP Peer Mentors will be tasked to handle a caseload of 6-7 students for the remainder of the term and virtually (Zoom or telephone) meet with students once a week. The virtual check-ins will be both formal and informal to learn how CAMP can continue to support students and serve as a channel to learn from student and their needs during this unprecedented time where instruction is fully online.

Tel: 760.750.8532 E-mail: mescobedo@csusm.edu Web: www.csusm.edu/camp

Summer CAMP 2020 – CAMP will continue to plan for the Summer CAMP Experience as usual, working with campus partners such as First Year Programs, the Office of Financial Aid, Housing, Enrollment Management Services and others. If the current health situation persists and online instruction will continue past spring 2020 or other changes arise, the Summer CAMP 2020 Experience will need to be re-evaluated.

Recruitment for Next Year's CAMP Cohort (incoming class of 2020) – CAMP will use technology such as Zoom and telephone services to connect with students and their families. Given our annual recruitment event for potential CAMP Scholars and their families is cancelled, a heavy call campaign with each potential CAMP Scholar will be held instead.

Administration – Project Director will continue to oversee all operations as usual and attend virtual or in person meetings as required. CAMP staff will keep in communication using online virtual platforms such as CSUSM e-mail, Teams, OneDrive, OneNote, Zoom, etc. If all operations must transition into remote work, the CAMP team will have daily check-ins using Zoom to discuss topics of concerns. Regular staff meetings will continue to happen as normal using Zoom.

Conclusion

While not ideal, the CAMP team understands that all measures CSUSM is taking is in the best interest of student and faculty/staff safety. The CAMP team will continuously reassess its operations taking into consideration the feedback from CAMP Scholars. CAMP is committed to evolving its practices to meet the needs of our CAMP Scholars as best as we are able to.

Please let me know if you have any questions, or would like to discuss a particular item further.

SUBJECT: CAMP Operations Emergency Plan of Action

Summary

As CSU San Marcos moves into an online platform for student instruction as a preventative measure to slow the spread of the Coronavirus for the remainder of the spring 2020, the College Assistance Migrant Program (CAMP) will modify its operations to continue fulfilling its mission of supporting first year seasonal migrant/ farm working students. Listed below are strategies the CAMP program is implementing to meet student and program needs given current situation and in anticipation of partial or full campus closure, leveraging technology as a main component to deliver services to current and potential first year CSUSM students.

CAMP Programming Components

Student Appointments – All CAMP staff, inclusive of student staff, is, or will be, trained in the usage of Zoom for direct student contact. CAMP Scholars will be able to continue to use Accudemia to schedule appointments with their advisors. The CAMP team is looking into implementing virtual "drop-in" hours throughout the week to accommodate students who have last minute questions or concerns.

Student Programming Events – All CAMP in person events have been cancelled for the remainder of the term. CAMP staff is strategizing using online platforms to continue to deliver workshops.

Student Engagement – CAMP is exploring the implementation of "CAMP Hour" where workshops or group check-ins will be hosted by CAMP Staff or guest speakers. This initiative will also be an opportunity for students to continue to feel a sense of connection to the CSUSM campus. Student communication will continue to be via different platforms, in form of e-mail, Instagram posts, Facebook updates and Zoom meetings.

Student Academic Monitoring – While CAMP Advisors will continue to oversee the caseload of all 42 CAMP Scholars, CAMP Advisors along with CAMP Peer Mentors will be tasked to handle a caseload of 6-7 students for the remainder of the term and virtually (Zoom or telephone) meet with students once a week. The virtual check-ins will be both formal and informal to learn how CAMP can continue to support students and serve as a channel to learn from student and their needs during this unprecedented time where instruction is fully online.

Summer CAMP 2020 – CAMP will continue to plan for the Summer CAMP Experience as usual, working with campus partners such as First Year Programs, the Office of Financial Aid, Housing, Enrollment Management Services and others. If the current health situation persists and online instruction will continue past spring 2020 or other changes arise, the Summer CAMP 2020 Experience will need to be re-evaluated.

Recruitment for Next Year's CAMP Cohort (incoming class of 2020) – CAMP will use technology such as Zoom and telephone services to connect with students and their families. Given our annual recruitment event for potential CAMP Scholars and their families is cancelled, a heavy call campaign with each potential CAMP Scholar will be held instead.

Administration – Project Director will continue to oversee all operations as usual and attend virtual or in person meetings as required. CAMP staff will keep in communication using online virtual platforms such as CSUSM e-mail, Teams, OneDrive, OneNote, Zoom, etc. If all operations must transition into remote work, the CAMP team will have daily check-ins using Zoom to discuss topics of concerns. Regular staff meetings will continue to happen as normal using Zoom.

Conclusion

While not ideal, the CAMP team understands that all measures CSUSM is taking is in the best interest of student and faculty/staff safety. The CAMP team will continuously reassess its operations taking into consideration the feedback from CAMP Scholars. CAMP is committed to evolving its practices to meet the needs of our CAMP Scholars as best as we are able to.

Please let me know if you have any questions, or would like to discuss a particular item further.

Hello -

I have a question based on something I learned on the NASFAA webinar Tuesday… It was about shortening the academic year and needing to get permission. As you know, a lot of schools extended their spring break. We started ours early for in-person classes and extended it for in-person classes, but we did not adjust online classes. Does that require permission/submission or no?

Thanks!

Subject: Do Cash Management Rules Apply for Refunds and Credits of Title IV Funds to Students?
Importance: High

To Whom it May Concern:

The State University of New York System is seeking guidance and clarification on whether the cash management rules apply when issuing refunds and/or credits to students who have completed over 60% of their semester who have not withdrawn, but are seeking refunds and/or credits for a specific purpose. These are still Title IV funds, however. These refunds and/or credits would be in relation to room and board costs, potentially meal plan costs as well, along with other non-tuition related costs depending upon the circumstances. The System was considering issuing refunds for these costs where applicable, and/or credits for returning students where applicable, but wanted to ensure we were complying with all proper rules and regulations. Thus far, we have not seen any specific guidance from the Department, and were wondering if the Department would be providing any guidance on this for colleges and universities across the country.

Our understanding is that an authorization from the student would be sufficient and that the cash management rules would not apply here. Please let us know if this is correct. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Kelly Hendricken

Dear Program Officer/Administrator,

We have not seen any specific guidance regarding Covid-19/Managing Grant Awards so here are two quick questions:

1. Do you have guidance regarding positions funded through a DoED award? In the event the university is officially closed as a result of the COVID-19 outbreak, can award funds be used to pay employment costs? If my institution has a policy for allowable remote/telework and/or emergency operations, would charges to the grant be allowable?

2. A conference has been canceled, but I have nonrefundable travel, registration, and/or hotel costs. Can these be charged to an DoED grant?

Thank you so much for your guidance in this matter.

CIS Guidance to the Field Re: COVID 19

March 19, 2020

Hello Children's Integrated Services Partners,

While the situation continues to rapidly evolve, we want to provide as much information as possible to you at this point regarding impacts of COVID-19. Please review the information below carefully and distribute it to your staff and partners, including private therapists in your region. We recognize additional detail will be necessary in some areas and guidance may change in the coming days and weeks. We will share further information as clarification becomes available. If the Vermont Department of Health subsequently releases any direction that differs from the guidance below, the VDH direction takes precedence.

General Public Health Guidance

Please ensure you are accessing the Vermont Department of Health (VDH) website for guidance regarding public health measures. This is updated regularly and has topic-specific information including Early Childhood Care and Education Program Closure and Dismissal Guidance to many of our programs and clients. This is also a good source for information and resources to share with clients.

Service Delivery, Documentation & Billing

The Vermont Department of Health (VDH) has issued guidance regarding home-based service delivery, available here: Guidance: Home Based Service Delivery. As stated in the guidance, no home-based service delivery should occur if either a household member or the provider are exhibiting symptoms or have had contact with a person who has COVID-19. Early Intervention is considered an essential service, and additional direction is detailed below. The remainder of home-based CIS services reimbursed through the bundled contracts are considered non-essential and therefore should shift to delivery by alternate means whenever possible.

Alternate means of service delivery may include use of telemedicine following appropriate privacy protections and Medicaid guidelines. Please note that the Office for Civil Rights (OCR) at the U.S Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) announced, effective immediately, that it will exercise its enforcement discretion and will waive potential penalties for HIPAA violations against health care providers that serve patients through everyday communications technologies, like FaceTime and Skype, during the COVID-19 nationwide public health emergency. The Notification of Enforcement Discretion on telehealth remote communications may be found at: https://www.hhs.gov/hipaa/for-professionals/special-topics/emergency-preparedness/index.html.

Services delivered via telemedicine, as well as care coordination and parent/caregiver guidance and support provided via telephone, qualify a case to be billed to the CIS bundle for the month in question, as long as there has been at least one 15-minute unit of service delivered (defined by Medicaid as greater than or equal to 8 minutes).

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

CIS providers should contact families to determine appropriate changes to service delivery methods or OnePlans. These conversations must be clearly documented and maintained in the child and family's files. If discussions result in any OnePlan updates, consent should be obtained via email or postal mail (with a self-addressed stamped envelope to be provided to the family), with a copy maintained in the child and family's file.

Fiscal Impacts

We understand the impacts of COVID-19 could pose significant hardship to CIS providers and we will communicate more information as it becomes available regarding the Federal, State and CDD's efforts in this area. CDD and DCF are working to ensure as little disruption as possible to existing payment processes to ensure continuity.

OSEP Part C Early Intervention Guidance

The Child Development Division (CDD) and the Agency Of Education (AOE) have jointly developed the guidance below related to IDEA Part C services, in accordance with the direction received from the federal Office of Special Education Programs (OSEP) and Vermont Department of Health (VDH). We recognize additional detail may be necessary in some areas and we will share further information as clarification becomes available and as the situation evolves.

The Vermont Department of Health has issued guidance for home-based service delivery which may be found here: Guidance: Home Based Service Delivery. Early Intervention (EI) services are considered essential and therefore should continue to be delivered at this time. This includes EI services reimbursed through the CIS bundled contracts, as well as fee-for-service. However, these may be provided using alternate means of delivery as articulated below. Early Intervention providers are directed to take the following measures to ensure continuity of service delivery:

- Early Intervention providers shall contact families to review their OnePlan in order to determine alternate methods of service delivery as detailed in #3 below for the purpose of ensuring OnePlan goals and service needs are met.
    - Conversations with families must be clearly documented and maintained in the child and family's files.
    - OnePlan updates require written parental consent which may be obtained via email or postal mail (a self-addressed stamped envelope will be provided to the family), with a copy maintained in the child and family's file.
- Once the Governor has directed students to return to schools, full in-person service delivery must resume. At this point, Early Intervention providers should hold a meeting with each family to update OnePlans, including reassessing the child's present levels of functioning and reviewing outcomes with the family.

Additionally, The State has reviewed guidance from OSEP regarding impacts of COVID-19. The implications of this for Vermont Early Intervention includes the following:

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

1. If the State Part C office (the Child Development Division) is closed, Part C services are not required to be provided. The current shift to remote operations does not qualify as closure.
2. If a regional Early Intervention program is no longer operational (This decision should only be made in close coordination with CDD; a shift to remote operations does not qualify as closure) due to an outbreak in that area, Part C services in that region are not required to be provided, even if the State Part C office is open.
3. If State Part C Office (CDD) and the regional Early Intervention program are both operational, but in-person service delivery is not an option based on VDH guidance, the following must be done to ensure continuity of services:
    a. use an alternate provider;
    b. use an alternate location; or
    c. provide services through alternate means, such as consultative services to the parent. Alternate means may include telemedicine delivered with appropriate privacy protocols, or phone consultation.
4. If Child Find, Part C service delivery, and/or transition activities and timelines are impacted by COVID-19 in any way, this explanation should be clearly documented in the child's file and in all data reported to CDD.

This is a quickly evolving and uncertain time for everyone, and we understand the stress that you are all under in striving to continue to meet the needs of vulnerable kids and families while also addressing the health and well-being of your families and yourselves. We are working hard to provide guidance and support in every way possible and will communicate more information as soon as it becomes available. Thank you for the incredible work you are doing in these challenging circumstances.

From: Ann M. Freiburg, Chief AMF
Bureau of Early Intervention

Date: March 16, 2020

RE: COVID-19 (Coronavirus) Exception Policy/Procedures

The Bureau of Early Intervention (EI) has received guidance from the Office of Special Education Programs (OSEP), our federal oversight. We have received information that allows us to provide additional guidance as it relates to the EI service delivery amid the Illinois State of Emergency and the World Health Organizations pandemic assignment over the outbreak of COVID-19, also known as the Coronavirus.

Effective immediately, face-to-face services are discontinued. Please follow the adopted COVID-19 Exception Policy guidance until April 15, 2020 or until notified of any other timeframe.

It is important to know that the EI Program supports families, children, EI providers and Service Coordinators (SC) who are working so closely together. We previously provided information which is located on the EI Training Program for your review at https://blogs.illinois.edu/view/6096/807027. We advise you to continue to stay current with information on the federal and state websites who continue to provide updates from the Centers for Disease Control and Public Health Agencies. For another great resource to help support families is the EI Clearinghouse Parent Pack found at https://eiclearinghouse.org/resources/trying-times/.

With the OSEP guidance received, multiple EI stakeholders have helped craft our COVID-19 Exception Policy and Procedures, attached to this informational notice. In the current situation, the policies and procedures are meant to best support our diverse population we serve, as well as allow for the flexibility of the structure of the EI Payee/Provider community within the limitation of allowable models currently available in Illinois.

Remember that there is no acceptable virtual option available for Illinois Early Intervention. There is a workgroup of the Illinois Interagency Council on Early Intervention whose members are currently working towards that option, but it is not available currently.

This notice also reminds you to continually review the EI Provider Connections website for further updates. Given the nature of this situation, it would behoove you to review on a more frequent schedule, even daily, as things are changing very quickly!

Thank you for your continued dedication to the infants/toddlers and their families within the Illinois EI Program!

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Exception Policy-Procedures for Service Coordinators and EI Payees/EI Providers
Effective March 16, 2020

In the light of recent limitations due to the COVID-19, aka Coronavirus, and information released to the Illinois Early Intervention (EI) Program from the US Department of Education, Office of Special Education Programs (OSEP), the Bureau is adopting the following policy and procedures. To view current OSEP guidance, please go to https://www2.ed.gov/policy/speced/guid/idea/memosdcltrs/qa-covid-19-03-12-2020.pdf. Illinois Early Intervention has no approved method of teletherapy in place and will not approve any virtual (screen time) service delivery until a platform and practice is finalized.

These guidelines were created through the intention of the OSEP guidance and are acceptable methods to maintain interaction with families and support to the maximum amount possible, those affected by the COVID-19 pandemic.

Effective today, March 16, 2020, the Illinois EI Program is suspending all face-to-face contact with families. All CFC staff and EI Payee/EI Providers should cease going to family's homes until April 15, 2020. Everyone should monitor the EI Provider Connections and other partners websites for updates on a daily basis as this situation may change at any moment.

It is imperative that we practice the recommended social distancing to minimize the spread of the COVID-19 virus to the maximum extent possible.

ACTIVE IFSP Cases:
Based on the severity of the situation, the Bureau has developed a temporary solution to support the continued progress of children and families currently on active caseloads.

The Bureau will temporarily approve allowing the use of existing IFSP Development authorizations for EI Providers to conduct phone-based Consultation with families and submit claims under IFSP Development Time. The frequency/duration would not necessarily match the direct service authorization but is designed to provide time to support the family until regular direct service provision can resume. This Consultation call is to be used solely for reviewing the strategies previously provided to the family to use with their child during daily routines and the progress or barriers associated with the strategies. As a note, according to written policy within the Illinois Early Intervention Provider Handbook, Chapter 6, Billing Guidelines and Use of Insurance, billing for time spent speaking with a parent via the telephone is not allowed. The exception allowing the submission of claims for IFSP Development Time utilized for parent consultation, is due to the current pandemic over COVID-19 in our country. The exception will be voided once IDHS determines the crisis is over through guidance of the CDC and other professional organizations or the Governor of the State of Illinois office.

The time anticipated for this Consultation is between 15 to 30 minutes per week, but each child and family is unique which could result in less or additional time. As with all IFSP Development Time, it is imperative that documentation support the time billed and should not be used socially or to discuss non-EI services.

In general, all EI direct service Providers have been authorized for IFSP Development Time (estimated one hour per month use). The EI Provider is responsible for keeping track of all authorizations and should be able to determine when/if the authorization in hand may be exceeded. If additional time is needed on a current authorization to conduct Consultation by phone, it is the responsibility of the EI Provider to contact their Service Coordinator to adjust the authorization. Please note if your current authorization has sufficient time left to allow these Consultations to occur through the pandemic exception period, there is no need to contact your Service Coordinator to increase the amount of time allowed on the authorization until the amount is at risk of being exceeded. As with all EI services, authorizations must be "in hand" prior to the provision of any service

(with the exception of IFSP Meetings). The Service Coordinator for each individual family will continue to make monthly contact via telephone.

NEW REFERRALS:
When referrals are received by Child and Family Connections (CFC) offices, the Intake meeting will be handled similarly as above. CFCs will support the referral and Intake process through telephone and mail or fax, as applicable. Necessary paperwork will be mailed to the family with a stamped, self-addressed envelope for return with instructions to review the forms upon receipt. The Service Coordinator, during a call with the family, will go through the documents individually and answer any questions the parents might have. We understand this will lengthen the period of time to work with the family. The OSEP Guidance released allows states to utilize whatever time is needed without risk of non-compliance with federal regulations during this pandemic.

We acknowledge that Initial Evaluations/Assessments cannot be completed at this time. This means the case must be put on hold. The 45-day policy will be waived in this scenario as a family exceptional circumstance.

Assistive Technology requests and Letters of Developmental Necessity will also be affected by an inability to provide in-person services. The Bureau will review these issues on a case-by-case basis, while working to support the provision of any needed Assistive Technology as quickly as possible.

TRANSITION:
Transition activities and timelines could be affected. If possible, use of phone conferencing for those is an option.

FAMILY PARTICIPATION FEES:
The Bureau will consider Family Participation Fee Credit Requests that are submitted once this exception period is over.

COVID-19 EXCEPTION POLICY:
This Exception policy will be in place for 30 calendar days beginning Monday, March 16, 2020 and will be rescinded effective Wednesday, April 15, 2020. As the information continues to evolve daily, the Bureau will evaluate the most current recommendations for addressing COVID-19 and make any necessary extensions as needed.

It is imperative that all EI Payees, Providers, Service Coordinators and families monitor the EI Provider Connections site on a daily basis, as things are ever-changing. You may view the site by going to www.wiu.edu/providerconnections.

Additionally, please visit the EI Training Program's website to review the Facts and other useful information on COVID-19, aka Coronavirus at https://blogs.illinois.edu/view/6096/807027.

Another great resource to help support families is the EI Clearinghouse Parent Pack found at https://eiclearinghouse.org/resources/trying-times/.

We appreciate all the efforts put forth to protect the citizens of Illinois and the people serving these families during this unprecedented time. If you have any questions about this notice, please contact the Bureau directly at 217/782-1981.

Service Delivery, Documentation & Billing

The Vermont Department of Health (VDH) has issued guidance regarding home-based service delivery, available here: Guidance: Home Based Service Delivery. As stated in the guidance, no home-based service delivery should occur if either a household member or the provider are exhibiting symptoms or have had contact with a person who has COVID-19. Early Intervention is considered an essential service, and additional direction is detailed below. The remainder of home-based CIS services reimbursed through the bundled contracts are considered non-essential and therefore should shift to delivery by alternate means whenever possible.

Alternate means of service delivery may include use of telemedicine following appropriate privacy protections and Medicaid guidelines. Please note that the Office for Civil Rights (OCR) at the U.S Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) announced, effective immediately, that it will exercise its enforcement discretion and will waive potential penalties for HIPAA violations against health care providers that serve patients through everyday communications technologies, like FaceTime and Skype, during the COVID-19 nationwide public health emergency. The Notification of Enforcement Discretion on telehealth remote communications may be found at: https://www.hhs.gov/hipaa/for-professionals/special-topics/emergency-preparedness/index.html.

Services delivered via telemedicine, as well as care coordination and parent/caregiver guidance and support provided via telephone, qualify a case to be billed to the CIS bundle for the month in question, as long as there has been at least one 15-minute unit of service delivered (defined by Medicaid as greater than or equal to 8 minutes).

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

CIS providers should contact families to determine appropriate changes to service delivery methods or OnePlans. These conversations must be clearly documented and maintained in the child and family's files. If discussions result in any OnePlan updates, consent should be obtained via email or postal mail (with a self-addressed stamped envelope to be provided to the family), with a copy maintained in the child and family's file.

Fiscal Impacts

We understand the impacts of COVID-19 could pose significant hardship to CIS providers and we will communicate more information as it becomes available regarding the Federal, State and CDD's efforts in this area. CDD and DCF are working to ensure as little disruption as possible to existing payment processes to ensure continuity.

OSEP Part C Early Intervention Guidance

The Child Development Division (CDD) and the Agency Of Education (AOE) have jointly developed the guidance below related to IDEA Part C services, in accordance with the direction received from the federal Office of Special Education Programs (OSEP) and Vermont Department of Health (VDH). We recognize additional detail may be necessary in some areas and we will share further information as clarification becomes available and as the situation evolves.

The Vermont Department of Health has issued guidance for home-based service delivery which may be found here: Guidance: Home Based Service Delivery. Early Intervention (EI) services are considered essential and therefore should continue to be delivered at this time. This includes EI services reimbursed through the CIS bundled contracts, as well as fee-for-service. However, these may be provided using alternate means of delivery as articulated below. Early Intervention providers are directed to take the following measures to ensure continuity of service delivery:

- Early Intervention providers shall contact families to review their OnePlan in order to determine alternate methods of service delivery as detailed in #3 below for the purpose of ensuring OnePlan goals and service needs are met.
    - Conversations with families must be clearly documented and maintained in the child and family's files.
    - OnePlan updates require written parental consent which may be obtained via email or postal mail (a self-addressed stamped envelope will be provided to the family), with a copy maintained in the child and family's file.
- Once the Governor has directed students to return to schools, full in-person service delivery must resume. At this point, Early Intervention providers should hold a meeting with each family to update OnePlans, including reassessing the child's present levels of functioning and reviewing outcomes with the family.

Additionally, The State has reviewed guidance from OSEP regarding impacts of COVID-19. The implications of this for Vermont Early Intervention includes the following:

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

1. If the State Part C office (the Child Development Division) is closed, Part C services are not required to be provided. The current shift to remote operations does not qualify as closure.
2. If a regional Early Intervention program is no longer operational (This decision should only be made in close coordination with CDD; a shift to remote operations does not qualify as closure) due to an outbreak in that area, Part C services in that region are not required to be provided, even if the State Part C office is open.
3. If State Part C Office (CDD) and the regional Early Intervention program are both operational, but in-person service delivery is not an option based on VDH guidance, the following must be done to ensure continuity of services:
    a. use an alternate provider;
    b. use an alternate location; or
    c. provide services through alternate means, such as consultative services to the parent. Alternate means may include telemedicine delivered with appropriate privacy protocols, or phone consultation.
4. If Child Find, Part C service delivery, and/or transition activities and timelines are impacted by COVID-19 in any way, this explanation should be clearly documented in the child's file and in all data reported to CDD.

This is a quickly evolving and uncertain time for everyone, and we understand the stress that you are all under in striving to continue to meet the needs of vulnerable kids and families while also addressing the health and well-being of your families and yourselves. We are working hard to provide guidance and support in every way possible and will communicate more information as soon as it becomes available. Thank you for the incredible work you are doing in these challenging circumstances.

Bureau of Early Intervention

Date: March 16, 2020

RE: COVID-19 (Coronavirus) Exception Policy/Procedures

The Bureau of Early Intervention (EI) has received guidance from the Office of Special Education Programs (OSEP), our federal oversight. We have received information that allows us to provide additional guidance as it relates to the EI service delivery amid the Illinois State of Emergency and the World Health Organizations pandemic assignment over the outbreak of COVID-19, also known as the Coronavirus.

Effective immediately, face-to-face services are discontinued. Please follow the adopted COVID-19 Exception Policy guidance until April 15, 2020 or until notified of any other timeframe.

It is important to know that the EI Program supports families, children, EI providers and Service Coordinators (SC) who are working so closely together. We previously provided information which is located on the EI Training Program for your review at https://blogs.illinois.edu/view/6096/807027. We advise you to continue to stay current with information on the federal and state websites who continue to provide updates from the Centers for Disease Control and Public Health Agencies. For another great resource to help support families is the EI Clearinghouse Parent Pack found at https://eiclearinghouse.org/resources/trying-times/.

With the OSEP guidance received, multiple EI stakeholders have helped craft our COVID-19 Exception Policy and Procedures, attached to this informational notice. In the current situation, the policies and procedures are meant to best support our diverse population we serve, as well as allow for the flexibility of the structure of the EI Payee/Provider community within the limitation of allowable models currently available in Illinois.

Remember that there is no acceptable virtual option available for Illinois Early Intervention. There is a workgroup of the Illinois Interagency Council on Early Intervention whose members are currently working towards that option, but it is not available currently.

This notice also reminds you to continually review the EI Provider Connections website for further updates. Given the nature of this situation, it would behoove you to review on a more frequent schedule, even daily, as things are changing very quickly!

Thank you for your continued dedication to the infants/toddlers and their families within the Illinois EI Program!

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Exception Policy-Procedures for Service Coordinators and EI Payees/EI Providers
Effective March 16, 2020

In the light of recent limitations due to the COVID-19, aka Coronavirus, and information released to the Illinois Early Intervention (EI) Program from the US Department of Education, Office of Special Education Programs (OSEP), the Bureau is adopting the following policy and procedures. To view current OSEP guidance, please go to https://www2.ed.gov/policy/speced/guid/idea/memosdcltrs/qa-covid-19-03-12-2020.pdf. Illinois Early Intervention has no approved method of teletherapy in place and will not approve any virtual (screen time) service delivery until a platform and practice is finalized.

These guidelines were created through the intention of the OSEP guidance and are acceptable methods to maintain interaction with families and support to the maximum amount possible, those affected by the COVID-19 pandemic.

Effective today, March 16, 2020, the Illinois EI Program is suspending all face-to-face contact with families. All CFC staff and EI Payee/EI Providers should cease going to family's homes until April 15, 2020. Everyone should monitor the EI Provider Connections and other partners websites for updates on a daily basis as this situation may change at any moment.

It is imperative that we practice the recommended social distancing to minimize the spread of the COVID-19 virus to the maximum extent possible.

ACTIVE IFSP Cases:
Based on the severity of the situation, the Bureau has developed a temporary solution to support the continued progress of children and families currently on active caseloads.

The Bureau will temporarily approve allowing the use of existing IFSP Development authorizations for EI Providers to conduct phone-based Consultation with families and submit claims under IFSP Development Time. The frequency/duration would not necessarily match the direct service authorization but is designed to provide time to support the family until regular direct service provision can resume. This Consultation call is to be used solely for reviewing the strategies previously provided to the family to use with their child during daily routines and the progress or barriers associated with the strategies. As a note, according to written policy within the Illinois Early Intervention Provider Handbook, Chapter 6, Billing Guidelines and Use of Insurance, billing for time spent speaking with a parent via the telephone is not allowed. The exception allowing the submission of claims for IFSP Development Time utilized for parent consultation, is due to the current pandemic over COVID-19 in our country. The exception will be voided once IDHS determines the crisis is over through guidance of the CDC and other professional organizations or the Governor of the State of Illinois office.

The time anticipated for this Consultation is between 15 to 30 minutes per week, but each child and family is unique which could result in less or additional time. As with all IFSP Development Time, it is imperative that documentation support the time billed and should not be used socially or to discuss non-EI services.

In general, all EI direct service Providers have been authorized for IFSP Development Time (estimated one hour per month use). The EI Provider is responsible for keeping track of all authorizations and should be able to determine when/if the authorization in hand may be exceeded. If additional time is needed on a current authorization to conduct Consultation by phone, it is the responsibility of the EI Provider to contact their Service Coordinator to adjust the authorization. Please note if your current authorization has sufficient time left to allow these Consultations to occur through the pandemic exception period, there is no need to contact your Service Coordinator to increase the amount of time allowed on the authorization until the amount is at risk of being exceeded. As with all EI services, authorizations must be "in hand" prior to the provision of any service

(with the exception of IFSP Meetings). The Service Coordinator for each individual family will continue to make monthly contact via telephone.

NEW REFERRALS:
When referrals are received by Child and Family Connections (CFC) offices, the Intake meeting will be handled similarly as above. CFCs will support the referral and Intake process through telephone and mail or fax, as applicable. Necessary paperwork will be mailed to the family with a stamped, self-addressed envelope for return with instructions to review the forms upon receipt. The Service Coordinator, during a call with the family, will go through the documents individually and answer any questions the parents might have. We understand this will lengthen the period of time to work with the family. The OSEP Guidance released allows states to utilize whatever time is needed without risk of non-compliance with federal regulations during this pandemic.

We acknowledge that Initial Evaluations/Assessments cannot be completed at this time. This means the case must be put on hold. The 45-day policy will be waived in this scenario as a family exceptional circumstance.

Assistive Technology requests and Letters of Developmental Necessity will also be affected by an inability to provide in-person services. The Bureau will review these issues on a case-by-case basis, while working to support the provision of any needed Assistive Technology as quickly as possible.

TRANSITION:
Transition activities and timelines could be affected. If possible, use of phone conferencing for those is an option.

FAMILY PARTICIPATION FEES:
The Bureau will consider Family Participation Fee Credit Requests that are submitted once this exception period is over.

COVID-19 EXCEPTION POLICY:
This Exception policy will be in place for 30 calendar days beginning Monday, March 16, 2020 and will be rescinded effective Wednesday, April 15, 2020. As the information continues to evolve daily, the Bureau will evaluate the most current recommendations for addressing COVID-19 and make any necessary extensions as needed.

It is imperative that all EI Payees, Providers, Service Coordinators and families monitor the EI Provider Connections site on a daily basis, as things are ever-changing. You may view the site by going to www.wiu.edu/providerconnections.

Additionally, please visit the EI Training Program's website to review the Facts and other useful information on COVID-19, aka Coronavirus at https://blogs.illinois.edu/view/6096/807027.

Another great resource to help support families is the EI Clearinghouse Parent Pack found at https://eiclearinghouse.org/resources/trying-times/.

We appreciate all the efforts put forth to protect the citizens of Illinois and the people serving these families during this unprecedented time. If you have any questions about this notice, please contact the Bureau directly at 217/782-1981.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

I am reaching out about whether your states are providing guidance on the identification of ELs during these unprecedented times. I have received several emails today, suggesting that despite lessened mobility currently, there is still a need to ensure that we provide clear guidance on identification procedures. Questions have pertained to whether the timeframe for identification would be waived and guidance on how to carry out the identification process currently. As an extension to this, I am wondering if, given the circumstances we are faced with, anyone is suggesting that districts presumptively provide potential ELs with resources, and recommended websites and tools until such time as they can be formally screened. If you have a moment, I would so appreciate your feedback on these questions:

- How are you advising districts to screen potential ELs currently?
- Are you providing potential ELs with distance learning pertaining to ELs if they are unable to be identified?

I am curious to hear any thoughts you may have on this topic and any recommendations or suggestions that you may have, as we all try to navigate this challenging situation.

Thank you, in advance, for any information that you are willing to share!

Best,
Megan

Dear Larry,

I would like to assure you that Jagiellonian University is acquainted with the OPE's guidance of March 5, 2020.

On behalf of Prof. Armen Edigarian, Ph.D., Vice-Rector for Educational Affairs, I would like to ask you for the definitive interpretation of the OPE's guidance. By Jagiellonian University Rector's decision made in connection with the Government of Poland's regulations due to COVID-19, Jagiellonian University provides distance learning from March 10, 2020 until further notice. The 2019/2020 summer semester at Jagiellonian University starts on February 24, 2020 and ends on September 30, 2020. Therefore, please determine whether Jagiellonian University is not allowed to disburse Title IV funds for the entire 2019-2020 summer semester?

Due to numerous inquiries from students, I would appreciate your prompt reply.

Subject: Odp.: Enquiry regarding students' eligibility for Title IV in connection with the distance learning due to COVID-19

Dear Larry,

Thank you very much for the response.

According to the OPE's guidance on March 5, 2020, Jagiellonian University is not allowed to disburse Title IV funds for the U.S. students who participate in Title IV programs at JU even if they are enrolled for the programs which do not usually offer online courses, but due to this unusual circumstances, have been temporarily adapted to the distance learning.

Due to the above I have two following questions to you:

1. As the 2019/2020 summer semester at JU has started on February 24, 2020 and all JU's programs have been adapted to the distance learning on March 10, 2020, is JU allowed to disburse Title IV funds for the period from February 24 to March 10, 2020?

Also, if the disbursement for this period will be possible, I have concerns regarding how to calculate the COA amount for this period. Please see JU's COA based on a 9-month period (academic year): https://studiuje.uj.edu.pl/financial-aid/attendance-cost

There is no problem to divide the rent, food, transportation, course materials etc. costs accordingly, however the cost of international flights (return ticket x 1 as for one semester) is undivided.

2. Please let me know whether the JU will be allowed to disburse Title IV funds (costs reduced according to the duration of distance learning) to students if their programs are switched to the standard, non-distance mode? Due to the decision issued by the Minister of Science and Higher Education in Poland all classes are cancelled until March 25, 2020 (wherever applicable, lectures should be made available online) and we do not know if the cancelation will be extended.

Thank you in advance for your clarification and I look forward to your reply.

Subject: Enquiry regarding students' eligibility for Title IV in connection with the distance learning due to COVID-19

Dear Sir/ Madam,

I am writing in connection with the Office of Postsecondary Education's electronic announcement of March 05, 2020 and the part regarding foreign schools: "We cannot extend flexibility regarding the use of distance learning to foreign schools since the Higher Education Act does not permit foreign schools to provide distance learning to U.S. students who participate in Title IV, HEA programs. We continue to consider if there are any other flexibilities we could extend to foreign schools that temporarily close due to COVID-19."

Due to the spread of Coronavirus (COVID-19) in Europe and following the safety recommendations of the Chief Sanitary Inspectorate, JU Rector Prof. Wojciech Nowak has cancelled all lectures conducted at Jagiellonian University. Wherever applicable, lectures should be made available online. Other classes (which take place in a smaller groups) will be held as per usual, with any additional restrictions to be introduced by the Faculties.

Please let me know if the above regulations (authorizing distance learning at programs which are not usually distance) do have an impact on students' eligibility for Title IV funds in the 2019-2020 summer semester and should we withhold the disbursements for this semester. Please note that these are exceptional circumstances and all decisions have been made to ensure student safety.

I would appreciate a reply asap as we have just evaluated students' Satisfactory Academic Progress after winter semester and we are ready to make the Title IV funds disbursements for the second semester.

Hi,

How would we go about getting approval to extend our academic year? Our fall semester was 17 weeks and our spring semester was 17 weeks, but we added a week to spring break, making spring 16 weeks. It is being consider to extend the spring semester for our career and technical programs since they have labs and hands on requirements. For example: our dental hygiene students have labs at Creighton University and they are possibly not allowing students in for 6-8 weeks. I'm not sure how long they would like to extend, but they wanted to see how we go about getting approval to extend and if there was a limit on how far we could extend?

In response to COVID 19, Farmingdale State College cancelled classes March 12 - March 14 and has extended Spring break one week to prepare for the switch to on-line learning, to the extent possible, and prepare for remote services for offices and faculty. We received approval for such changes from the State Education department as we are using flexibility to adjust the time in class and assigned work that

We had to cancel classed for three days, Thursday, March 12th through Saturday, March 14th, while we prepare to switch to an almost all on-line instruction mode.

I am requesting permission for us to reduce our Spring 2020 semester by those three days.

I understand that we also must change the number of days in that semester in our R2T4 calculations going forward from that tie.

My name is Wanda Laducer. I am the Dean of Students at the Turtle Mountain Community College in Belcourt, ND.

My question is - do we continue to pay students who are under the federal work study program if our campus has moved to online instruction only until April 13, 2020? There will be no students on campus due to temporary social isolation. The situation will be reassessed in April to see if the time of online instruction needs to be extended.

When I read the announcement it states that "For students enrolled and performing FWS at a campus that must close due to COVID-19, or for a FWS student who is employed by an employer that closes as a result of COVID-19, the institution may continue paying the student". When you say "MUST" close - does that also mean - choosing to close the campus to students and the college having online instruction so that students don't come on campus?

It seems like it is just a matter of interpretation however I am just looking for something more specific.

Thanks, Wanda

Hi Curtis,

I know you are probably getting slammed with questions so I am trying to limit what we are sending. This one can wait but I wanted you to have it to think about.

With so many special educational activities being shut down due to COVID-19 state education agencies as well as local education agencies are in many cases slowing the expenditure of their IDEA funds. This is especially impactful for funds that are associated with personnel who work on an hourly basis and are being laid off. Other areas impacted are of course supplies and materials, contracts for various services and general costs across the board. At the SEA level we fund multiple state level activities that have also slowed their work as well. Is the US Department of Education or the Office of Special Education Programs (OSEP) contemplating going to Congress to ask for an extension to the availability of funds beyond the Tydings amendment? Especially for those funds that have a period of availability expiring on September 30, 2020 and September 30, 2021.

Hi Curtis,

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

I know you are probably getting slammed with questions so I am trying to limit what we are sending. This one can wait but I wanted you to have it to think about.

With so many special educational activities being shut down due to COVID-19 state education agencies as well as local education agencies are in many cases slowing the expenditure of their IDEA funds. This is especially impactful for funds that are associated with personnel who work on an hourly basis and are being laid off. Other areas impacted are of course supplies and materials, contracts for various services and general costs across the board. At the SEA level we fund multiple state level activities that have also slowed their work as well. Is the US Department of Education or the Office of Special Education Programs (OSEP) contemplating going to Congress to ask for an extension to the availability of funds beyond the Tydings amendment? Especially for those funds that have a period of availability expiring on September 30, 2020 and September 30, 2021.

Thanks and stay healthy!

Gretta

Hello,

I am a FWS and was wondering as to what would be the process to obtain my remaining grant money due to the COVID-19 precautions? As of Friday 13th, 2020 my FWS job at CSULB left me without work. Unable to seek unemployment, I am left in distress. What is the process of obtaining my grant money as I'm worried for next month's check.... I have a remaining 76.5 hours I believe and would like to know any updates on what will happen.

I would appreciate it if I heard back by the end of the week, thanks in advance. I have already been provided the following information and would like feedback on a process implementation:

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Federal Work Study (FWS)
Federal law includes a provision allowing an institution to make FWS payments under certain limited circumstances to disaster-affected students who are unable to continue working. Given the unique nature of this situation, it is unlikely that an entire region would be declared a Federal disaster area, yet to students enrolled at a campus that must close temporarily, the loss of this important form of financial aid can be devastating. The impact may be magnified if the institution accommodates students by providing alternative instructional opportunities and the student is required to continue paying tuition, but the student loses FWS as an important part of their financial aid award. For students enrolled and performing FWS at a campus that must close due to COVID-19, or for a FWS student who is employed by an employer that closes as a result of COVID-19, the institution may continue paying the student Federal work-study wages during that closure if it occurred after the beginning of the term, the institution is continuing to pay its other employees (including faculty and staff), and the institution continues to meet its institutional wage share requirement. Students who were prevented from beginning a term at the institution as a result of a COVID-19-related disruption would not be eligible for Federal Student Aid for that term, and therefore could not be paid FWS wages for hours they did not work. Graduate students who are paid FWS wages on salary may continue to be paid for the remainder of the term if the institution is also paying its faculty and staff during that period. In these instances, institutions should document (as contemporaneously as feasible) that the COVID-19 disruption was the reason the student received FWS funds without documentation of hours worked.

A free valuable online video resource for AP Calculus teachers !!!

Because of the Coronavirous, many high school AP Calculus teachers may find themselves in the position of returning from spring break and suddenly ( and unexpectedly ) having to switch to some form of online instruction to complete the school year.

To assist teachers who find themselves in this position, with no time to develop their own individual video lessons, this free series of 240 AP Calculus video lessons created at Stillwater High School in Oklahoma might prove to be a very beneficial resource to administrators, teachers, and students preparing for the upcoming AP Calculus exam.

These free videos may be accessed directly at the following address:

apcalculusstillwater.wordpress.com

Please feel free to use these videos in any way you choose !!!

(Please share this information with other teachers, administrators, and students )

Hope this helps and good luck !!!

Hi Jenay and Isadora –

I hope you are safe and healthy! I know we are in an unprecedented time and processes and procedures are not normal. I have a question: "If an LEA has entered into a contract with a teacher to provide equitable services at a private school, and during this school building shutdown, the teacher does not provide any Title I supplemental services (working remotely is against the LEA Union contract), can that teachers salary come from the equitable service amount"? If services are not provided, wouldn't that be a delay in services and the equitable service amount should be carried forward? If that is the case, what is the source of the teacher's salary during the period when she is not providing services?"

Thank you for any guidance you can provide.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT
OFFICE OF MANAGEMENT AND BUDGET
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20503

DEPUTY DIRECTOR
FOR MANAGEMENT

March 9, 2020

M-20-11

MEMORANDUM FOR THE HEADS OF EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENTS AND AGENCIES

FROM: Margaret Weichert
Deputy Director of Management

SUBJECT: Administrative Relief for Recipients and Applicants of Federal Financial Assistance Directly Impacted by the Novel Coronavirus (COVID-19)

The Office of Management and Budget (OMB) has identified the following agency actions to relieve short term administrative, financial management and audit requirements under 2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost principles and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards, without compromising Federal financial assistance accountability requirements. In accordance with 2 CFR § 200.102, Exceptions, OMB is allowing Federal agencies to grant class exceptions in instances where the agency has determined that the purpose of the Federal awards is to support the continued research and services necessary to carry out the emergency response related to COVID-19. Further, agencies are reminded of their existing flexibility to issue exceptions on a case-by-case basis in accordance with 2 CFR § 200.102, Exceptions.

The Administration will evaluate if these flexibilities should be extended to recipients whose operations have been adversely impacted in the emergency response related to COVID-19 at a later date.

Awarding agencies are authorized to take the following actions, as they deem appropriate, with respect to the administrative provisions that apply to this class of Federal awards. These exceptions are time limited and are only applicable for those awards that support the continued research and services necessary to carry out the emergency response related to COVID-19 during the period formally declared by the Department of Health and Human Services through the 90 Day Public Health Emergency Declaration (Public Health Emergency Period).

1. Flexibility with SAM registration/recertification for applicants.

Awarding agencies can relax the requirement for active SAM registration at time of application in order to expeditiously issue funding. At the time of award, the requirements of 2 CFR § 200.205, Federal awarding agency review of risk posed by applicants, continue to apply.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

2. Waiver for Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFOs) Publication.

Awarding agencies can publish emergency Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFOs) for less than thirty (30) days without separately justifying shortening the timeframe for each NOFO. Awarding agencies would still be required to document and track NOFOs published for less than thirty (30) days under this emergency waiver.

3. Pre-award costs.

Awarding agencies may allow necessary pre-award costs that are incurred (i) from January 20, 2020 through the Public Health Emergency Period and (ii) prior to the effective date of a Federal award.

4. No-cost extensions on expiring awards.

Awarding agencies may extend awards which are active as of March 31, 2020 and scheduled to expire prior or up to December 31, 2020, automatically at no-cost for a period up to twelve (12) months. This will allow time for recipient assessments, the resumption of many individual projects, and a report on program progress and financial status to agency staff. Project-specific financial and performance reports will be due 90 days following the end date of the extension. Agencies will examine the need to extend other project reporting as the need arises.

5. Abbreviated non-competitive continuation requests.

For non-competitive continuation requests scheduled to come in from April 1, 2020 to December 31, 2020 from projects with planned future support, awarding agencies may accept a brief statement from grantee organizations to verify that they are in a position to: (i) resume or restore their project activities and (ii) accept a planned continuation award. Agencies should post any specific instructions on their website. Agencies will examine the need to extend this approach on subsequent continuation award start dates as grantee organizations have an opportunity to assess the situation.

6. Expenditure of award funds for salaries and other project activities.

Awarding agencies may allow recipients to continue to charge salaries and benefits to currently active Federal awards consistent with the recipient organization's policy of paying salaries (under unexpected or extraordinary circumstances) from all funding sources, Federal and non-Federal. Agencies may allow other costs to be charged to Federal awards, including those necessary to resume activities supported by the award, consistent with applicable Federal cost principles and the benefit to the project. Federal agencies may also evaluate the recipient's ability to resume the project activity in the future and the appropriateness of future funding, as done under normal circumstances, based on subsequent progress reports and other communications with the recipient.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

7. Waivers from prior approval requirements.

Awarding agencies are authorized to waive prior approval requirements as necessary to effectively address the response. All costs charged to Federal awards must be consistent with Federal cost policy guidelines and the terms of the award, except where specified in this memorandum.

8. Exemption of certain procurement requirements.

Awarding agencies may waive the procurement requirements contained in 2 CFR § 200.319(b) regarding geographical preferences and 2 CFR § 200.321 regarding contracting small and minority businesses, women's business enterprises, and labor surplus area firms.

9. Extension of financial and other reporting.

Awarding agencies may allow recipients to delay submission of financial and other reports up to three (3) months beyond the normal due date. If an agency allows such a delay, recipients will continue to draw down Federal funds without the timely submission of these reports. However, these reports must be submitted at the end of the postponed period.

10. Extension of Single Audit submission.

Awarding agencies should allow grantees to delay the completion and submission of the Single Audit report as required under Subpart F of 2 CFR 200, Audit Requirements, to twelve (12) months beyond the normal due date. The delayed completion and submission would still qualify the grantee as a "low-risk auditee" under the criteria of 2 CFR § 200.520(a), Criteria for a low-risk auditee.

Questions regarding the above administrative relief provisions should be directed to Office of Federal Financial Management – Gilbert Tran at (202) 395-3052 or Rhea Hubbard at (202) 395-2743.

Hi.

Our students are taking classes remotely, but have been given the option of staying in the dorms (although encouraged to not stay, if it's an option)

Some students live in the area, and some stayed, and are continuing to do their FWS jobs. Others have gone home, but do not have the option of working remotely.

Are we to continue paying those that are not still working, or because they could have stayed and worked, and didn't, their pay end? I have seen varying opinions on listserves.

Thanks.

Our institution has not closed due to COVID-19; however, classes are being offered Distance Ed and most services are being offered remotely. Some students are unable to continue to do FWS due to issues with childcare because the kinds schools have closed. Other FWS will not be able to work because the departments (services) for whom they worked are now being offered remotely.

Can we continue to pay FWS for those students affected by the unavailability of childcare and for those students whose department is operating remotely?

Subject: grant proposal deadlines postponed?

Hello,
I was wondering if the grant proposal deadlines will be postponed due to the pandemic we are all dealing with? California has a shelter in place and unless you are essential to the University, you are not working from home. It has been very tough to try and collect CV's and data needed to complete any proposals for grant projects. Some cycles are only done on a 4 year basis so we really don't want to miss the deadlines but submissions may not be the best quality under the circumstances. I have seen most other sponsors have delayed or postponed deadlines but I haven't heard anything about the Dept. of Education making any announcements.

To Whom it May Concern,

I'm writing to ask for guidance on how to request a reduction in weeks of instruction for the current semester at my university, the San Francisco Art Institute. We are considering our options as the COVID-19 pandemic continues to prevent us from having face to face instruction. As an art school, we struggle with teaching fine art online and remotely without access to studio facilities.

To whom would I make this request?

I appreciate your help.

Best,
Jennifer

Mr. Bradshaw.

This is Johnny Jackson with LRP Publications, writing for Title1Admin® and ESEA Now. Regarding OMB uniform grants guidance on travel. Some school administrators have questions regarding travel expenses during this novel coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic. For example, how should a school district approach canceled travel plans with regard to documentation, payments, etc.? It is not explicit in guidance under 2 CFR 200.747. Is there additional guidance regarding travel costs and federal grants? Thank you for your consideration.

Good morning.

With regard to Federal-Work Study, I have two questions:

1. Are Title III school that have a waiver for the 25% matching able to use the provision in the March 5, 20120 correspondence to allow students to still work?
2. Can schools pay a "lump sum" for remaining FWS or do we need to pay it bi-weekly? (We do not yet know how long that we are going to be closed.)

Thanks,

Thanks!

1. How do we advise recruiters to determine eligibility if they can't physically get a signature on an eCOE or paper COE?
2. Advice for family engagement and recruitment staff who provide in-home consultation with families?
3. Advice if summer programming has to be drastically changed or cancelled?
4. If so, potential to use the Summer 2019 summer school #s for funding purposes rather than Summer 2020?

What is the guidance OSEP is providing regarding evaluation timelines? Parents gave permission for initial evaluations, which are to be conducted within sixty days. The MET meeting to determine eligibility must be held within fifteen days of the completion of then assessment report. Due to school closures, some of these timelines will not be met.

How should teachers handle IEPs that will expire while out of school?

Your guidance is generate appreciated.

During a state of emergency where social distancing is required, can we have COEs completed by phone where parents verbally agree to the signature, until the emergency is over? Then we can go and get the signature in person?

If not, could we use an electronic signature like Docusign?

Or, could we mail paper copies of COEs to homes for signature?

Whatever guidance you can provide is much appreciated! Thank you.

Greetings. I'm an educational diagnostician at Hallsville. My school is closed for the next two weeks. During that time, I was supposed to have 11 meetings, most all are annuals and one is a 30 day transfer ARD.

According to all I've read thus far, I'm still held responsible for meeting these timelines. Teachers aren't permitted at school. I don't have video conference capabilities from my home. I'm unsure as to how I can proceed and meet these timelines.

I was hoping for further guidance as to what a meeting would look like under these circumstances with all the major players at different places at their homes.

Thank you for any help,

Debra Coulter

MEMORANDUM FOR THE HEADS OF EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENTS AND AGENCIES

FROM: Margaret Weichert
Deputy Director of Management

SUBJECT: Administrative Relief for Recipients and Applicants of Federal Financial Assistance Directly Impacted by the Novel Coronavirus (COVID-19)

The Office of Management and Budget (OMB) has identified the following agency actions to relieve short term administrative, financial management and audit requirements under 2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost principles and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards, without compromising Federal financial assistance accountability requirements. In accordance with 2 CFR § 200.102, Exceptions, OMB is allowing Federal agencies to grant class exceptions in instances where the agency has determined that the purpose of the Federal awards is to support the continued research and services necessary to carry out the emergency response related to COVID-19. Further, agencies are reminded of their existing flexibility to issue exceptions on a case-by-case basis in accordance with 2 CFR § 200.102, Exceptions.

The Administration will evaluate if these flexibilities should be extended to recipients whose operations have been adversely impacted in the emergency response related to COVID-19 at a later date.

Awarding agencies are authorized to take the following actions, as they deem appropriate, with respect to the administrative provisions that apply to this class of Federal awards. These exceptions are time limited and are only applicable for those awards that support the continued research and services necessary to carry out the emergency response related to COVID-19 during the period formally declared by the Department of Health and Human Services through the 90 Day Public Health Emergency Declaration (Public Health Emergency Period).

1. Flexibility with SAM registration/recertification for applicants.

Awarding agencies can relax the requirement for active SAM registration at time of application in order to expeditiously issue funding. At the time of award, the requirements of 2 CFR § 200.205, Federal awarding agency review of risk posed by applicants, continue to apply.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

2. Waiver for Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFOs) Publication.

Awarding agencies can publish emergency Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFOs) for less than thirty (30) days without separately justifying shortening the timeframe for each NOFO. Awarding agencies would still be required to document and track NOFOs published for less than thirty (30) days under this emergency waiver.

3. Pre-award costs.

Awarding agencies may allow necessary pre-award costs that are incurred (i) from January 20, 2020 through the Public Health Emergency Period and (ii) prior to the effective date of a Federal award.

4. No-cost extensions on expiring awards.

Awarding agencies may extend awards which are active as of March 31, 2020 and scheduled to expire prior or up to December 31, 2020, automatically at no-cost for a period up to twelve (12) months. This will allow time for recipient assessments, the resumption of many individual projects, and a report on program progress and financial status to agency staff. Project-specific financial and performance reports will be due 90 days following the end date of the extension. Agencies will examine the need to extend other project reporting as the need arises.

5. Abbreviated non-competitive continuation requests.

For non-competitive continuation requests scheduled to come in from April 1, 2020 to December 31, 2020 from projects with planned future support, awarding agencies may accept a brief statement from grantee organizations to verify that they are in a position to: (i) resume or restore their project activities and (ii) accept a planned continuation award. Agencies should post any specific instructions on their website. Agencies will examine the need to extend this approach on subsequent continuation award start dates as grantee organizations have an opportunity to assess the situation.

6. Expenditure of award funds for salaries and other project activities.

Awarding agencies may allow recipients to continue to charge salaries and benefits to currently active Federal awards consistent with the recipient organization's policy of paying salaries (under unexpected or extraordinary circumstances) from all funding sources, Federal and non-Federal. Agencies may allow other costs to be charged to Federal awards, including those necessary to resume activities supported by the award, consistent with applicable Federal cost principles and the benefit to the project. Federal agencies may also evaluate the recipient's ability to resume the project activity in the future and the appropriateness of future funding, as done under normal circumstances, based on subsequent progress reports and other communications with the recipient.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

7. Waivers from prior approval requirements.

Awarding agencies are authorized to waive prior approval requirements as necessary to effectively address the response. All costs charged to Federal awards must be consistent with Federal cost policy guidelines and the terms of the award, except where specified in this memorandum.

8. Exemption of certain procurement requirements.

Awarding agencies may waive the procurement requirements contained in 2 CFR § 200.319(b) regarding geographical preferences and 2 CFR § 200.321 regarding contracting small and minority businesses, women's business enterprises, and labor surplus area firms.

9. Extension of financial and other reporting.

Awarding agencies may allow recipients to delay submission of financial and other reports up to three (3) months beyond the normal due date. If an agency allows such a delay, recipients will continue to draw down Federal funds without the timely submission of these reports. However, these reports must be submitted at the end of the postponed period.

10. Extension of Single Audit submission.

Awarding agencies should allow grantees to delay the completion and submission of the Single Audit report as required under Subpart F of 2 CFR 200, Audit Requirements, to twelve (12) months beyond the normal due date. The delayed completion and submission would still qualify the grantee as a "low-risk auditee" under the criteria of 2 CFR § 200.520(a), Criteria for a low-risk auditee.

Questions regarding the above administrative relief provisions should be directed to Office of Federal Financial Management – Gilbert Tran at (202) 395-3052 or Rhea Hubbard at (202) 395-2743.

Hi Jenay and Isadora –

I hope you are safe and healthy! I know we are in an unprecedented time and processes and procedures are not normal. I have a question: "If an LEA has entered into a contract with a teacher to provide equitable services at a private school, and during this school building shutdown, the teacher does not provide any Title I supplemental services (working remotely is against the LEA Union contract), can that teachers salary come from the equitable service amount"? If services are not provided, wouldn't that be a delay in services and the equitable service amount should be carried forward? If that is the case, what is the source of the teacher's salary during the period when she is not providing services?"

Thank you for any guidance you can provide.

Importance: High

Hello – we recognize you are incredibly busy but we have a clarifying question on the OSEP Q/A re: Providing Services to Children with disabilities during the Coronavirus Disease 2019 Outbreak.

We are seeking clarification of provision of Part C services for states such as Nebraska, who are birth mandate states and provide FAPE to infants/toddlers with disabilities. If a state lead agency (in Nebraska this equates to Department of Education and Dept of Health and Human Services) remains open; and the EIS program's (in Nebraska this equates to the local school district and the services coordination agency) office buildings are closed but the school district continues to provide educational opportunities to the general student population during a school closure, then must the school ensure equal access to the same opportunities, including the provision of FAPE to infants/toddlers with disabilities? Is the SEA and EIS program (school district) required to ensure that each infant/toddler with a disability be provided the FAPE services identified in the infant/toddlers IFSP in this instance?

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Our school districts are asking if they are responsible for the provision of Part C services if their building is closed but yet are providing educational opportunities to students ages 3-21.

Any guidance you can provide would be extremely helpful to us as we want to be sure we are correctly implementing the Q/A guidance in accordance with FAPE. Thank you!

Subject: New Enrollments During COVID-19

Dear Department,

With regard to the guidance issued March 05, 2020 "Guidance for Interruption of Study Related to Coronavirus (COVID-19)", it is my understanding the guidance is primarily to be used for current students only whose studies were interrupted due to COVID-19. If so, what guidance is there for new enrollments during COVID-19? Can a school continue to enroll and start new students (on campus) during COVID-19, providing they are six-feet apart and no more than 10 in a classroom?

Now, there's a section within the guidance that says "the Department will grant approval to institutions to use online technologies to accommodate students". Is this guidance intended for institutions to accommodate new & current students? See the excerpt below…

Approval to Offer Distance Education
The Department is providing broad approval to institutions to use online technologies to accommodate students on a temporary basis, without going through the regular approval process of the Department in the event that an institution is otherwise required to seek Departmental approval for the use or expansion of distance learning programs. This flexibility only applies to a program during a payment period that overlaps the date of this electronic announcement or the following payment period. If an institution chooses to continue offering a new program or use distance education in a manner requiring the Department's approval after that point, it must seek approval under the Department's normal process.

Your prompt response regarding our concerns are greatly appreciated.

Kind regards,

Richard Ortiz

Diane- I hope you are well during these extraordinary times. I wanted to share some concerns raised by our members regarding NSLDS reporting. While the Department has provided much appreciated flexibility around many of their obligations under Title IV, FSA is continuing normal activities regarding NSLDS reporting, including creating NSLDS Enrollment Rosters, producing error reports, and asking schools to respond in a timely manner. This is creating tremendous challenges to our institutions as they attempt to navigate very fluid student enrollments.

We would welcome the opportunity to work with FSA to find ways to relieve some of the burdens of NSLDS reporting while ensuring responsible use of federal resources during this challenging period.

Thanks very much for your consideration. -Mike

While the Department has provided much appreciated flexibility around many of their obligations under Title IV, FSA is continuing normal activities regarding NSLDS reporting, including creating NSLDS Enrollment Rosters, producing error reports, and asking schools to respond in a timely manner. This is creating tremendous challenges to our institutions as they attempt to navigate very fluid student enrollments.

We would welcome the opportunity to work with FSA to find ways to relieve some of the burdens of NSLDS reporting while ensuring responsible use of federal resources during this challenging period.

Thanks very much for your consideration. -Mike

Subject: Recruitment ideas

Lisa and Sarah,

Oregon schools are now closed till April 28th. The big question for us and other states is how to recruit during this time. The worse scenario would be a recruiter that doesn't show symptoms of the virus and goes into the homes of our migrant families and passes on the disease. I have told recruiters not to go into homes to recruit, but to work on paperwork, filing, ID&R local Plan, etc. during these two weeks that are now stretching into 6 weeks and maybe more.
In the past with the H1 N1 I believe you allowed phone interviews in CA. Would that be allowed now? During the interview, the recruiter would ask if he/she could sign the COE for the family.
Maybe another option could be video conferencing used that records the questions and answers. In May we are moving towards an Electronic COE that would add to the steps in recruitment during the COVID-19 season.
I believe it would be beneficial to get some guidance from you and you allowing a phone conference for recruitment during this time (s).
Please let me know your thoughts.
Kind Regards,
Jonathan

Hi Leigh,

Thank you so much for reaching out—and thank you for all you are doing during this time to support students experiencing homelessness across Minnesota. As you know, the Department is closely monitoring the impact of COVID-19, and the Department is working to issue guidance as quickly as possible. To date we have not released guidance specific to the McKinney-Vento EHCY program. As the Department releases additional guidance, we will share it via our listservs and update the Department's COVID-19 website, which is available at www.ed.gov/coronavirus. I've also copied the Department's COVID-19 mailbox to this email; we are trying to route all COVID-19 related questions (and responses) through this mailbox.

Finally, I wanted to share a link to a recent resource from the U.S. Interagency Council on Homelessness (USICH): https://www.usich.gov/tools-for-action/supporting-children-and-youth-experiencing-homelessness-during-the-covid-19-outbreak-questions-to-consider. While this is officially a USICH resource, our team did collaborate with USICH to finalize the document. I hope you will find it helpful.

Of course, please don't hesitate to reach out if I can be helpful in any other way, and we will be in contact with additional information as soon as possible. Thank you for your partnership!

Subject: Professional Judgment

Hello.
I'm hoping to clarify a statement in the electronic announcement dated March 5, 2020, Guidance for interruptions of study related to Coronavirus (COVID-19).

The announcement indicated that FAAs have the 'authority to use professional judgment to make adjustments to cost of attendance on a case-by-case basis.' The final sentence in that paragraph states that while many students may have the same circumstances, PJ determinations and the corresponding documentation must be made on a case-by-case basis. This seems to indicate that schools can adjust the COA for all students who have similar circumstances, as long as it is done on a case-by-case basis.

If my understanding is correct, that means that the direction in the announcement is in direct conflict with HEA Sec. 479(a) which states: Special circumstances shall be conditions that differentiate an individual student from a class of students rather than conditions that exist across a class of students.

So, I just want to be sure that I understand the 3/5/2020 announcement correctly.
1. Is it saying that in this unique situation due to COVID-19, because of which schools are opting to (a) move all classes online and (b) students have to vacate on-campus housing, FAAs can perform PJs to adjust COA?
2. And further, is the announcement saying that this adjustment may be made for ALL students in this circumstance, as long as each PJ is done on an individual basis?

Thanks in advance for your response.

Hopefully your business at ED is going well. Some of the projects have begun to see impacts with the corona virus. Recently, the University of Washington closed their campus and moved classes to an online platform. At our institution, we are submitting a Continuity of Operation Plan to address how we would continue to offer services if we were faced with a closure or needed to work with a student who was quarantined.

Some of the project directors have connected with me to see if OME has any guidance or will give any consideration for projects that may be impacted by the corona virus. Are you planning to send any communication out on this topic or is there something I can let people know?

Dear Dept. of Education Representative:

Due to COVID-19, our school is interested in allowing students to complete their classes for this semester on a pass/fail basis. This would be an exception to our usual academic policies, which allow students to take one course per semester on a pass/fail basis, and there are other restrictions with our usual policy as well.

Are there any problems with Title IV eligibility if we make such a change for this semester only? We are aware that this will affect students who are not making SAP, as they will not be able to raise their cumulative GPAs with this semester's grades if they take all of their classes on a pass/fail basis.

Thanks in advance for any answers you can provide.

Subject: Question posed by Faculty

Question: With the virtual learning formats suggested in their original response, how many of the 96 required clinical hours can be completed in this virtual format during this crisis mode? In all other circumstances we are only allowed to complete 48 of the 96 hours in this format(50% of the hours) do we still have to abide by this and give incompletes to students until they can get to a clinical setting potentially this summer or can we complete all 96 hours (100% of the time required) in this format. (the one exception I realize is the PN OB clinical which can be delivered 100% in a simulated format, but we do not have one of these PN clinics until June).

Thank you in advance.

Hello-

We have a question regarding the highlighted part of the excerpt below from the IFAP Announcement dated 03-05-2020 concerning the Coronavirus (COVID-19).

Question: Would you please clarify this statement from the IFAP Announcement dated 03-05-2020 regarding paying FWS wages for hours not worked: "For students enrolled and performing FWS at a campus that must close due to COVID-19, … the institution may continue paying the student Federal work-study wages during that closure if it occurred after the beginning of the term, the institution is continuing to pay its other employees (including faculty and staff)…"? We need additional guidance on the definition of employee. Does the definition include other part-time, non-permanent employees, such as student employees whose wages are paid solely from institutional funds?

We appreciate your assistance and look forward to hearing from you.

Subject: Question regarding limit of permission to offer distance learning opportunities to students

To whom it may concern,

After reading your March 5th 2020 memorandum, Guidance for interruptions of study related to Coronavirus (COVID-19), it became clear we needed additional guidance relative to the highlighted portion of the guidance below. It appears there is no opportunity for students who began their new term after March 5th to participate in the temporary online delivery of their classes due to the COVID-19 pandemic.
We believe this was not the intention of the Department.
We ask you to research this matter and make whatever adjustments are necessary to provide the opportunity for these students to participate in the temporary online delivery of their classes during the COVID-19 pandemic.

I look forward to your action and response.

Thank you. David Heckeler

Approval to Offer Distance Education
The Department is providing broad approval to institutions to use online technologies to accommodate students on a temporary basis, without going through the regular approval process of the Department in the event that an institution is otherwise required to seek Departmental approval for the use or expansion of distance learning programs. This flexibility only applies to a program during a payment period that overlaps the date of this electronic announcement or the following payment period. If an institution chooses to continue offering a new program or use distance education in a manner requiring the Department's approval after that point, it must seek approval under the Department's normal process.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

We are also permitting accreditors to waive their distance education review requirements for institutions working to accommodate students whose enrollment is otherwise interrupted as a result of COVID-19. We currently are limiting that permission to distance learning opportunities developed for the purpose of serving students who were already in attendance, but whose attendance was interrupted by COVID-19. Please note that this flexibility is not available for clock-hour courses that lead to licensure if the licensure body will not accept distance learning courses or hours or give credit for them toward the number of hours a student must complete.

To Whom It May Concern:
My name is Melissa Ferguson and I am the Vice President of Student Affairs at The Modern College of Design in Kettering Ohio. As we work through the transition of taking courses on-line due to COVID-19, we are continuing to prepare not only for this semester but also trying to better understand how future semesters might look. Currently we have a summer semester and new cohort start that will begin on June 8, 2020. Should we still be under a no face-to-face class advisement, will we be able to start the semester with online classes? We are just wanting to make sure we are fully prepared in case we do not get the clearing to resume face-to-face classes. Thank you in advance for your help through all of this.

Sincerely,
Melissa Ferguson

Hello
I am wondering if you could give guidance around the use of IDEA funds to pay salaries if school has been closed by the governor. Also should private providers of special education be expected to receive continued tuition for students who are not allowed to attend because of the districts interpretation of the governors order?

Also, I just read the guidance from the Office of Civil Rights that says face to face evaluations should not be done, however OSEP is stating that timelines will not be waived, these seem to contradict each other. Can you please clarify.

Any help or guidance you can provide would be great. As a new director I am seeking as much support as I can get.

Subject: Texas Evaluation Response During School Closures

To Whom This May Concern:

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

My name is Gracee Condor, and I am an evaluator for Texas public schools in the state of Texas.

We are facing unprecedented times with the COVID-19 pandemic. As such our districts have had to turn to distance learning to continue providing instructional time to our Texas students. As such, because "school has resumed" through "virtual classrooms," Texas evaluators are being forced to continue to evaluate students that have an open Full Individual Initial Evaluation (FIIE) or Reevaluation consent.

While the Office of Civil Rights (OCR) document suggests that face-to-face evaluations should be discontinued while school is not in session and can resume when school is in session, The Texas Education Agency (TEA) has put a directive that the timeline continues and the majority of evaluators, in order to obtain valid and reliable data, will be forced to meet face-to-face with the student.

If evaluators consider to do teleconferencing testing, the evaluators may not be properly trained or do not have access to instruments that are designed to be used in that format; therefore, the reliability or the validity of the data obtained will be compromised.

Furthermore, these are unique circumstances that are in fact fear or anxiety inducing, which will lead to issues with the validity of the data obtained. At this time, our families should not be worried about anything, but being together and following the directive to remain at home and reducing social contact.

I am reaching out to you as policy makers and as someone who could potentially advocate for us practitioners in this unprecedented unique situation. We are treading in uncharted waters and ultimately we want to act with an abundance of caution where we will not be hurting the student or our community.

While I understand the parents desire to get answers to their child's academic, behavioral, development, and/or emotional concerns, my hope is that TEA will adopt the recommendation from OCR that "If an evaluation of a student with a disability requires a face-to-face assessment or observation, the evaluation would need to be delayed until school reopens. Evaluations and re-evaluations that do not require face-to-face assessments or observations may take place while schools are closed, so long as a student's parent or legal guardian consents." The state of California has followed this guidance and will not be completing face-to-face evaluations until normal school routines have returned for all students. We ask that Texas adopts similar guidelines during this delicate and uncertain time.

My goal as a practitioner is to consider the best interests of the students and families we serve, while not abandoning their social, emotional, academic, and mental health needs. We have an ethical responsibility to maintain the integrity of our profession and conducting assessments during this pandemic would not be deemed as such.

Sincerely,

Furthermore, these are unique circumstances that are in fact fear or anxiety inducing, which will lead to issues with the validity of the data obtained. At this time, our families should not be worried about anything, but being together and following the directive to remain at home and reducing social contact.

I am reaching out to you as policy makers and as someone who could potentially advocate for us practitioners in this unprecedented unique situation. We are treading in uncharted waters and ultimately we want to act with an abundance of caution where we will not be hurting the student or our community.

While I understand the parents desire to get answers to their child's academic, behavioral, development, and/or emotional concerns, my hope is that TEA will adopt the recommendation from OCR that "If an evaluation of a student with a disability requires a face-to-face assessment or observation, the evaluation would need to be delayed until school reopens. Evaluations and re-evaluations that do not require face-to-face assessments or observations may take place while schools are closed, so long as a student's parent or legal guardian consents." The state of California has followed this guidance and will not be completing face-to-face evaluations until normal school routines have returned for all students. We ask that Texas adopts similar guidelines during this delicate and uncertain time.

My goal as a practitioner is to consider the best interests of the students and families we serve, while not abandoning their social, emotional, academic, and mental health needs. We have an ethical responsibility to maintain the integrity of our profession and conducting assessments during this pandemic would not be deemed as such.

Sincerely,

Good Afternoon,

My name is Christy Lindahl and I am an evaluator for Texas public schools in the state of Texas.

We are facing unprecedented times with the COVID-19 pandemic. As such our districts have had to turn to distance learning to continue providing instructional time to our Texas students. As such, because "school has resumed" through "virtual classrooms," Texas evaluators are being forced to continue to evaluate students that have an open consent for a Full and Individual Initial Evaluation or Reevaluation.

While the OCR document suggests that face-to-face evaluations should be discontinued while school is not in session and can resume when school is in session, TEA has put a directive that the timeline continues and the majority of evaluators, in order to obtain valid and reliable data, will be forced to meet face-to-face with the student.

If evaluators consider to do teleconferencing testing, the evaluators may not be properly trained or do not have access to instruments that are designed to be used in that format; therefore, the reliability or the validity of the data obtained will be compromised.

Furthermore, these are unique circumstances that are in fact fear or anxiety inducing, which will lead to issues with the validity of the data obtained. STATUS DUE TO CORONAVIRUS (COVID-19)
THEOLOGICAL UNIVERSITY OF THE CARIBBEAN (TUC) (PR)

Greetings from Universidad Teológica del Caribe (Theological University of the Caribbean) in Puerto Rico.

Hereby we notify that our Executive President, Rev. Francisco Ortiz, in consultation with the Chairman of the Board of Directors, Rev. Pablo Valentín, decided to fully operate all Theological University of the Caribbean (UTC) academic programs online or remotely through the Zoom platform from Monday, March 16 to Monday, March 30, 2020. This applies to all diurnal and nocturnal courses, both on the Home Campus and the North-Central Campus (Dorado), including the Graduate School. It is worth mentioning that, since June 27, 2014, UTC has been authorized by ABHE, our accrediting agency, to offer 50% or more of its programs in the distance education modality.

A small number of staff members are working remotely until March 30, 2020. UTC facilities will remain closed during the above-mentioned two (2) weeks to ensure social distancing and safeguard the health of our university community. This decision is in response to the recent Executive Order No. 2020-023 of the Puerto Rico Governor, Hon. Wanda Vázquez, which orders a curfew due to the Coronavirus pandemic (COVID-19). At the end of the two (2) weeks, an evaluation will be made and, if necessary, decisions will be taken that will be shared through institutional emails, our official website and social media.

The Online Program platform continues to operate as usual. At the same time, the Faculty of the face-to-face courses has been implementing an action plan to adjust the courses in order to adopt distance education modality in all the courses offered in this academic period. The professors are using various alternative methodologies such as: video conferences, virtual presentations, videos, presentations (Power Point/Prezi), virtual forums, instructional kits, lesson dictated by the professor using audio, virtual short tests, readings, written assignments via email and/or WhatsApp, etc. In this way, all material is covered, contact hours are met remotely and students who do not have the necessary technology are supported.

The academic calendar remains the same. In case any changes to the academic program are necessary, we will notify you immediately. In addition, the Faculty is reporting the attendance of students enrolled in their courses and the academic activity they are generating on a daily basis.

On the other hand, we recently invested in acquiring access to the EBSCO database. This tool provides the entire university community with over 180,000 online resources that help students to complete assignments remotely without having to physically visit the Library facilities. This database provides resources at all academic levels. It also contains academic books, peer reviewed journals, updated resources, etc. The Librarian is available to provide technical assistance via email.

The Theological University of the Caribbean advances despite the unpredictable situations that occur. We trust that the Angel of the Lord will encamp all around those who fear Him and delivers them. If you need additional information, please do not hesitate to contact us by e-mail at DecanaAcademica@utcpr.edu.

Hello,

IDOE is going to request a tydings waiver for additional time to expend FFY 18 funds considering the mass closures due to coronavirus.

However, in reading this memo: https://www.whitehouse.gov/wp-content/uploads/2020/03/M-20-17.pdf

It appears that USED now is directed to give automatic extensions. So I am emailing to find out if the waiver process is still needed, or if we are going to hear further instructions on the extended deadlines to encumber and liquidate funds that expire 12/31/20?

Thank you,

Nathan

Subject: U.S. Student Attending a Foreign Institution, Loan Funds Will Not be Disbursed? Urgent Help Needed
Importance: High

Good afternoon,

I hope this email finds you well.

My name is Amanda Nicole Alarcon and I am a U.S. citizen and student. I am currently studying at the Jagiellonian University and I am a participant in the William D. Ford Student Loan program that is currently offered at my foreign institution.

As you may know, the Jagiellonian University's physical operations were temporarily disrupted on 11 March, due to the COVID-19 virus. Until March 25, we conduct classes via distance learning (online). Through the financial aid officer responsible for the disbursement of our funds (Ewa Stankiewicz at the Jagiellonian University), we were told today that our loans would not be disbursed AT ALL this semester, without warning. It was a great shock, as we had previously been informed that once classes physically resumed, we would likely get our disbursement.

Is this information correct? If so, how can it be possible to leave a plethora of US students, who were studying at foreign institutions without the funding and loans that they took out? I would like to note that I attended ALL my classes before the disruptions and I still AM. I am still a full-time student. All of the necessary paperwork was given to my financial aid officers. I maintained a near perfect GPA in my program. I did everything that I needed to do to receive the money.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

If this is true, I want to express my utter disbelief and shock, considering that we were to start classes again in person on 25 March. Our semester started BEFORE the operations were impacted, as we began our semester the last week on February (24th of February to be precise). We were even informed that there just may be a delay in the disbursement, when we resumed classes on 25 March.

Secondly, I want to express that I depend on my student loans to pay for my tuition fees and living expenses, when I am here. While I have a small part-time job, it could not cover my tuition fees and my living expenses that I have been stuck with.

What will be my options now? Is there anyway that I can appeal this decision through the Department of Education directly?

As an American student and citizen, I would like to note that I am in Krakow, Poland (where the Jagiellonian University) is currently located. I did NOT return to the United States, as I WILL be attending classes physically when they resume here! What am I expected to do now that the Department of Education has told the Jagiellonian University they cannot disburse my loan funds at all? How can we be left without these funds?

I do apologize if the tone of my email has been rather crass, however this is an extreme stress and burden that makes this time all the more difficult for me. Can the Department of Education not reconsider their policy on US students receiving these funds abroad? Can we not get some exception made?

I look forward to your response soon.

Best regards,
Amanda Nicole Alarcon

Good morning,

OPEID 00111000

Our institution has moved to an extended spring break beginning March 14,2020 until March 29, 2020. Our on-campus courses are not being held during this extended spring break, however our online courses are still being held. During the NASFAA webinar, it was mentioned that since this break will cause my academic year to be shortened, I would need to request an approval for reduction in length of academic year. I have few questions regarding this guidance.

1. Do I need to request an approval for reduction in length of Academic year due to this extended spring break?
2. Will this have an repercussions for the school, or will this negatively affect students Title IV eligibility?
3. Does my institution need to extend our spring 2020 semester by 1 week, if this will have repercussions?
4. If my institution decides to extend the semester by 1 week, do I need to request an extension of my academic aid year, since my payment period was originally set to end on May 8th?

Please let me know if you need any further information.

Thanks,

Hi,

Due to the corona virus my placement is temporarily on hold, the university has discussed having us do online classes so that we are able to continue with our degree. Would I still be eligible for financial aid if that were the case? I am at the University of Melbourne in Australia.

Thank you,

Can our schools verify via a video chat platform? As long as it is documented? I have not seen any guidance on this so I apologize if you have issued guidance and I missed it.

Greetings

I have a question related to Verification groups 4 and 5 and the documentation schools are required to collect to verify student identity. I have attached a PDF of the relevant pages from the 2019/2020 FSA Application and Verification Guide.

Presently, a student who is selected for verification group 4 or 5 is required to appear in person at the school and sign ("wet" signature) the statement of educational purpose that certifies who s/he is and that the federal student aid s/he may receive will only be used for educational purposes and for the cost of attending the school for the 2019–2020 year. The student must then submit to the school that statement (again, with the "wet" signature), and present a valid, unexpired, government-issued photo identification (ID) such as a passport or a driver's license or other state-issued ID.

If the student is unable to appear at the school, s/he must go in person to a notary public and sign the statement of educational purpose. The student must then submit to the school that statement (again, with the "wet" signature), a certification from the notary that s/he appeared before the notary and presented a government issued photo ID confirming his/her identity, and a copy of the same ID (presented).

Currently, ED does not does not authorize the use of online notary services as an alternative to traditional, in person notary services.
During the current COVID-19 emergency, will this guidance be revisited to allow an impacted student use an online notary service to complete the documentation required to completed V4 or V5?

Please advise.
Thanks

- An academic transcript that indicates the student successfully completed at least a two-year program that is acceptable for full credit toward a bachelor's degree at any participating school. You do not have to collect proof of high school status for graduate students if admission into their program required the completion of at least two years of undergraduate coursework.
- For a student who has not completed high school and is seeking enrollment in a program that leads to at least an associate degree or its equivalent, documentation from the high school that he excelled academically and from your school that he meets your written policy for admitting such students. This should be a rare occurrence.
- For homeschooled students, a copy of a secondary school completion credential for homeschool (other than a high school diploma or its recognized equivalent) if state law requires homeschooled students to get that credential. If it is not required, a transcript or the equivalent signed by the parent or guardian that lists the secondary school courses the student completed and documents the successful completion of a secondary school education in a homeschool setting.
- For students in an "eligible career pathway program," documentation that they passed an approved ATB test or completed at least 6 credit hours or 225 clock hours that are applicable toward a degree or certificate offered by your school. See the margin note.

If your school has already received one of these documents as part of the admission process, you do not need to ask for another. If you successfully verified a student's high school completion in a prior year, you do not need to do it again. Some schools collect seventh semester high school transcripts prior to students receiving an actual diploma, or they collect high school transcripts for some but not all of their students because they may have special programs that admit students without a high school diploma. In both cases, schools must collect separate documentation that shows the date when the diploma was awarded.

When documentation of high school completion is unavailable—e.g., the school is closed and no information is available from another source such as the school district or state department of education, or the parent or guardian who homeschooled the student is deceased—you may accept alternative documentation, such as a military DD Form 214 Certificate of Release or Discharge from Active Duty that indicates that the student is a high school graduate or equivalent. However, a student's self-certification is not acceptable except in rare instances for refugees, asylees, and victims of human trafficking, as explained in the margin note on page 88.

Identity and statement of educational purpose

Students should appear in person at your school and present a valid, unexpired,* government-issued photo identification (ID) such as a passport or a driver's license or other state-issued ID. You must maintain an annotated copy of that ID that includes the date it was received and the name of the person your school authorized to receive it. Note that an ID issued by a state university or college is not sufficient for this purpose.

Timing of signature

Any required signatures, such as signatures on worksheets or on copies of tax returns, must be collected at the time of verification—they can't be collected after the verification deadline for that award year.

Electronic signatures

For verification documentation, a school may collect an electronic signature for an applicant, parent, or spouse if the process includes an assurance of the identity of the person signing. This is often accomplished with a PIN or password that is assigned only after the identity of the person receiving the PIN or password has been authenticated.

V4 and V5 reporting

As explained on page 79, schools are required to report through FAA Access the outcomes of verifying high school completion status and identity/statement of educational purpose for applications with tracking flags V4 and V5.

* The ID just needs to be unexpired at the time it is checked. For proving identity, it does not matter if the ID is due to expire during the award year.
 The school may determine which of its staff are authorized to review an applicant's identity. We do recommend that the person(s) be full-time staff and that the school keep a record of who they are.

My college is closed to students 03/16/2020 – 03/31/2020. This has stopped all of our FWS student from being able to work. In the 03/05/2020 the FWS section indicated the FWS student could be paid as long as particular requirements were met. One of the conditions was "the institution is continuing to pay its other employees (including faculty and staff)" and I need some clarification on this statement. Our college was closed as a result of a mandate by the SC governor. At this point, we have not been told if we, as state employees, will be paid for those 12 day without having to use annual or sick leave. In other words we are waiting to see how many days the governor is going to give faculty and staff. At this point faculty and staff are looking at the options below.

1. Government grants 1-12 days
2. Work from home for any days not granted by the governor
3. Use annual or sick leave for any days
4. Leave without pay.

In light of the above information, are my FWS students going to be eligible to be paid for all, part, or none of the time we are closed. Is being required to annual or sick leave considered "continuing to be paid"? I want to be able to pay my FWS student, but I also want to be sure I am in compliance with FSA guidance.

Thanks!

Good afternoon, I have a question regarding students who haven't started school yet. I have read the Covid-19 Electronic Announcement a few times and I just want to be clear on one thing, are we allowed to give Federal Student Aid to students who have not yet started (We dont do early disbursements or give any aid until the student has actually attended). We are a clock-hour school and are implementing Distance Learning during this time until we are able to reopen our campus. We start new classes approx every 8 weeks and we have a new class starting April 7th. It's unclear to me if we are able to provide those students with Financial Aid? We have approval from the state but I just wanted to double check with the Dept that we are allowed to start new students during this time or if we are only allowed to serve currently enrolled students? Any guidance would be greatly appreciated. Thank you very much!

Subject: FWS

This was asked and answered (mostly) in the Q&A. We are an institution that has temporarily moved all courses online until April 3rd. Our campus is still open for services (dorms, dining hall (carryout only), computer labs, library, financial aid office and advising, etc.). We would like to discourage students from coming back on campus if they don't have to. Since we are not "closed" can we still pay our FWS students without them technically working?

Thanks again,
Teri

From the Q&A

Our institution is not closed, but we have suspended classes on campus and moved them to a distance education format. May we pay Federal Work Study (FWS) wages to students who are unable to work because they have been impacted by COVID-19?

Yes. The FWS guidance in the Electronic Announcement dated March 5, 2020, applies when the student is unable to work because the school made the decision to close or to move to online/distance education classes and the institution meets the conditions described in Q&A #3 below.
If an FWS student is unable to work his/her scheduled hours because of COVID-19 disruptions (school closures, employer closures, student quarantined, etc.), the school may pay the student for any scheduled hours or allow the student to work by another means (on-line, remote, telecommute, etc.).
Students should be paid the wage rate that they would have been paid if they were able to work the scheduled hours.
In this circumstance, when a school pays the student for the hours the student was scheduled to work, but did not work, the school is not required to submit any documentation to the Department. However, the school must document the number of scheduled hours a student should be paid prior to paying the student. Schools should also document in the student's file any actions that were taken regarding payment of FWS funds for scheduled hours that were not worked by the student.

Good Day,

I work in legal affairs for the University of Texas at El Paso. As our institution does its best to cope with the COVID-19 pandemic, as we look forward to the recovery process, I write to ask if the Dept of Ed. has any sort of matrix, fact sheet, white paper, or other guidance that advises of waive-able or potentially waive-able laws, regulations, etc., in furtherance of and with respect to institutions of higher education?...

Your guidance on such matter is truly truly appreciated.

Subject: question about special education documentation during school shutdown

Good morning DOE authorities,
I communicated with Dr. Allen Pratt of the National Rural Education Association and he shared this email address to submit questions. Thanks for all of your hard work during these extraordinary times.

Many school districts in Iowa are continuing to pay staff during our schools COVID-19 shutdown, at least for the first four weeks, and will have to consider options if the shutdown is extended. The way school finance works in Iowa, however, districts will have to use general funds to pay for special education teachers and paras, if there isn't relief from documentation concerning the hours used to provide special education services.

Schools remain concerned that hourly support staff in particular will search for other work or more affordable living circumstances and may not be available to return when school resumes if they have to live on reduced income levels from unemployment insurance, especially if the shutdown is extended. With many school districts budgeting in survival mode for the last several years, there just aren't sufficient local dollars to supplant the salaries of our special education staff. We need them to be ready to jump in and help make up for missed time and services when school resumes.

Please consider allowing districts to flexibility use special education funds to continue to pay special education staff, which would include some short term relief from the regulations to document hours and services provided if employees are paid by schools for days of shutdown due to COVID-19.

Again, thank you for your hard work during this unprecedented and extraordinary series of events.
Margaret

If a school is closed until April 14, why would the teachers and staff still be required to come to work? I myself am 55 years old and already have respiratory issues due to medications that I take. There is a lot of confusion on this issue for different parishes in Louisiana that are telling us that we will not get paid if we do not come to work! That if we do not come it will take our sick time then when it is gone it will be time taken without pay!!!!
Please help me understand!!!!

My name is Wanda Laducer. I am the Dean of Students at the Turtle Mountain Community College- a tribal college in North Dakota. We are moving to online instruction after our spring break next week until April 13, 2020. At that time, the Coronavirus situation will be reassessed to see if we need to continue with online instruction.

My question is - How will this affect our students enrolled in Bachelor's degree programs who are doing their student teaching in the school systems? If the school closes for the next three to four weeks and possibly for the rest of the school year, how will this impact the 12 credits that they would have earned for the student teaching portion of their program of study in order to complete the requirement of the number of hours that the needed to student teach.

The same situation arises for our students who are in a Bachelor's degree program that requires they do an internship at an organization within the community. Our students are required to take 12 credits of internship at an organization in our community. What if the organization closes down temporarily because of COVID-19? How will this affect those 12 credits and with completing their program of study?

Are students required to have so many contact hours - in the classroom or internship to have considered completing the 12 credit hours? How will this impact those hours if everything gets shut down in our community?

Thank you and I look forward to a response.

Wanda

Corona virus Safe Education Initiative

Summary

The Uganda has thousands of seafarers and Overseas Ugandan Workers (OFWs) which might carry the novel corona-virus back to their home-place and spread the contagion. The virus emanates from Wuhan, China and is now spreading worldwide. This project will educate local people by means of leaflets, launch our sensitization Centre, social media and small meetings on how to detect symptoms, what to do in order to prevent transmission and how to practice health precautions when a case starts to appear and infect people.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Challenge

The novel corona-virus emanating from Wuhan, China is spreading rapidly mainly due to the ease of travel nowadays. The Uganda has thousands of seafarers and overseas workers who may be unknowing carriers and spreaders of the virus when they go back home or when their ships dock in the country. With little education, the virus can spread quickly with destructive impact to the people. The need for education while this is still not the case is urgent and the time is now!

Solution

We will provide education campaign, launch A sensitization centre via multiple sources and mainly through social media, flyers and leaflets, bulletin boards and small meetings in order to inform the public about symptoms of the virus, what to do in order to prevent transmission and what health precautions to take when a suspected case arise.

Long-Term Impact

The health and wellness of people and communities is paramount. With very little education and when the virus spreads, it will spread very quickly and will result to thousands if not millions in morbidity and mortality. With pro-active prevention, the spread will be contained and damage minimal.

However, considering this ongoing economic crisis will affect my finances in relation to tuition fees, I am writing to seek any advice, guidance, assistance, or help as to how I will survive financially given my status and not being able to access any financial benefits that may be made available for American citizens at home.

I am hoping to hear from someone soon.

Thank you!

From the guidance issued on March 5. It was my understanding that term schools could also have LOA's with the understanding that the student will still have to be able to come back exactly where they left off? Or the ED LOA rules remain the same and an LOA is not something a term school can consider as this is happening in the middle of the term?

Dear NAME:

Thank you for contacting the U.S. Department of Education (Department) concerning COVID-19 ("Coronavirus").

While there is currently no vaccine to prevent COVID-19, health officials are currently taking steps to prevent the introduction and spread of this respiratory disease. Schools can play an important role in this effort.

Through collaboration and coordination with local health authorities and other agencies, schools can disseminate important information about this disease and its potential transmission. Schools can also prepare to take additional steps to prevent the spread of COVID-19, should State and local health officials identify such a need.

The Department recommends that schools continue to promote everyday disease prevention strategies:

- If you are sick, stay home from school.
- Avoid close contact with those who are already sick.
- Cover your nose and mouth when coughing or sneezing with a tissue or the crook of your arm.
- Wash your hands often with soap and water.
- Avoid touching eyes, nose, or mouth.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) offers the most up-to-date information on COVID-19. Schools can share relevant CDC fact sheets to help students, families, and staff understand COVID-19, along with steps they can take to protect themselves. For further information, please visit www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-nCoV.

In addition, the Department has established a "COVID-19 Information and Resources for Schools and School Personnel" webpage, available at www.ed.gov/coronavirus, to support schools and communities as they plan, prepare and potentially respond to possible cases of COVID-19. The Department will regularly update this webpage as more information and guidance becomes available.

Thank you for sharing your concerns with us. We invite you to send questions on which the Department can be helpful to the following email address: COVID-19@ed.gov.

Sincerely,

Dear DOE COVID-19 Response Team:

The Tunica-Biloxi Council declared a state of emergency on Thursday, March 12, following the Louisiana public health emergency declared by Governor Edwards on Wednesday, March 11. The Tunica-Biloxi tribal government offices are likely to close due to safety concerns related to the COVID-17. Local schools closed as of March 16.

As of today, the Avoyelles Parish School District is still compiling electronic and paper resource packets for students. The district is counting on parents to reach out to pick up these paper packets or retrieve them online. The School District has been distributing USDA Food and Nutrition Service funded meals via drive-by pickup for students up to age 18.

During school and office closures, Tunica-Biloxi Education Program (TBEP) staff will encourage program students to take part in activities via online applications. (See the attached plan). TBEP will be contacting parents and guardians of all enrolled grant program students to make sure they are taking advantage of work to help them stay caught up.

Good afternoon USET Board of Directors and Committee members,

The Office of Management and Budget (0MB) has identified the following agency actions to relieve short term administrative, financial management and audit requirements under 2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost principles and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards, without compromising Federal financial assistance accountability requirements. In accordance with 2 CFR § 200.102, Exceptions, 0MB is allowing Federal agencies to grant class exceptions in instances where the agency has determined that the purpose of the Federal awards is to support the continued research and services necessary to carry out the emergency response related to COVID-19. Further, agencies are reminded of their existing flexibility to issue exceptions on a case-by-case basis in accordance with 2 CFR § 200.102, Exceptions.

The Administration will evaluate if these flexibilities should be extended to recipients whose operations have been adversely impacted in the emergency response related to COVID-19 at a later date.

Please see the attached document for additional information regarding Administrative Relief for Recipients and Applicants of Federal Financial Assistance Directly Impacted by the Novel Coronavirus (COVID-19).

EXECUTIVE OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT
OFFICE OF MANAGEMENT AND BUDGET
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20503

DEPUTY DIRECTOR
FOR MANAGEMENT

March 9, 2020

M-20-11

MEMORANDUM FOR THE HEADS OF EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENTS AND AGENCIES

FROM: Margaret Weichert
Deputy Director of Management

SUBJECT: Administrative Relief for Recipients and Applicants of Federal Financial Assistance Directly Impacted by the Novel Coronavirus (COVID-19)

The Office of Management and Budget (OMB) has identified the following agency actions to relieve short term administrative, financial management and audit requirements under 2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost principles and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards, without compromising Federal financial assistance accountability requirements. In accordance with 2 CFR § 200.102, Exceptions, OMB is allowing Federal agencies to grant class exceptions in instances where the agency has determined that the purpose of the Federal awards is to support the continued research and services necessary to carry out the emergency response related to COVID-19. Further, agencies are reminded of their existing flexibility to issue exceptions on a case-by-case basis in accordance with 2 CFR § 200.102, Exceptions.

The Administration will evaluate if these flexibilities should be extended to recipients whose operations have been adversely impacted in the emergency response related to COVID-19 at a later date.

Awarding agencies are authorized to take the following actions, as they deem appropriate, with respect to the administrative provisions that apply to this class of Federal awards. These exceptions are time limited and are only applicable for those awards that support the continued research and services necessary to carry out the emergency response related to COVID-19 during the period formally declared by the Department of Health and Human Services through the 90 Day Public Health Emergency Declaration (Public Health Emergency Period).

1. Flexibility with SAM registration/recertification for applicants.

Awarding agencies can relax the requirement for active SAM registration at time of application in order to expeditiously issue funding. At the time of award, the requirements of 2 CFR § 200.205, Federal awarding agency review of risk posed by applicants, continue to apply.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

2. Waiver for Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFOs) Publication.

Awarding agencies can publish emergency Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFOs) for less than thirty (30) days without separately justifying shortening the timeframe for each NOFO. Awarding agencies would still be required to document and track NOFOs published for less than thirty (30) days under this emergency waiver.

3. Pre-award costs.

Awarding agencies may allow necessary pre-award costs that are incurred (i) from January 20, 2020 through the Public Health Emergency Period and (ii) prior to the effective date of a Federal award.

4. No-cost extensions on expiring awards.

Awarding agencies may extend awards which are active as of March 31, 2020 and scheduled to expire prior or up to December 31, 2020, automatically at no-cost for a period up to twelve (12) months. This will allow time for recipient assessments, the resumption of many individual projects, and a report on program progress and financial status to agency staff. Project-specific financial and performance reports will be due 90 days following the end date of the extension. Agencies will examine the need to extend other project reporting as the need arises.

5. Abbreviated non-competitive continuation requests.

For non-competitive continuation requests scheduled to come in from April 1, 2020 to December 31, 2020 from projects with planned future support, awarding agencies may accept a brief statement from grantee organizations to verify that they are in a position to: (i) resume or restore their project activities and (ii) accept a planned continuation award. Agencies should post any specific instructions on their website. Agencies will examine the need to extend this approach on subsequent continuation award start dates as grantee organizations have an opportunity to assess the situation.

6. Expenditure of award funds for salaries and other project activities.

Awarding agencies may allow recipients to continue to charge salaries and benefits to currently active Federal awards consistent with the recipient organization's policy of paying salaries (under unexpected or extraordinary circumstances) from all funding sources, Federal and non-Federal. Agencies may allow other costs to be charged to Federal awards, including those necessary to resume activities supported by the award, consistent with applicable Federal cost principles and the benefit to the project. Federal agencies may also evaluate the recipient's ability to resume the project activity in the future and the appropriateness of future funding, as done under normal circumstances, based on subsequent progress reports and other communications with the recipient.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

7. Waivers from prior approval requirements.

Awarding agencies are authorized to waive prior approval requirements as necessary to effectively address the response. All costs charged to Federal awards must be consistent with Federal cost policy guidelines and the terms of the award, except where specified in this memorandum.

8. Exemption of certain procurement requirements.

Awarding agencies may waive the procurement requirements contained in 2 CFR § 200.319(b) regarding geographical preferences and 2 CFR § 200.321 regarding contracting small and minority businesses, women's business enterprises, and labor surplus area firms.

9. Extension of financial and other reporting.

Awarding agencies may allow recipients to delay submission of financial and other reports up to three (3) months beyond the normal due date. If an agency allows such a delay, recipients will continue to draw down Federal funds without the timely submission of these reports. However, these reports must be submitted at the end of the postponed period.

10. Extension of Single Audit submission.

Awarding agencies should allow grantees to delay the completion and submission of the Single Audit report as required under Subpart F of 2 CFR 200, Audit Requirements, to twelve (12) months beyond the normal due date. The delayed completion and submission would still qualify the grantee as a "low-risk auditee" under the criteria of 2 CFR § 200.520(a), Criteria for a low-risk auditee.

Questions regarding the above administrative relief provisions should be directed to Office of Federal Financial Management – Gilbert Tran at (202) 395-3052 or Rhea Hubbard at (202) 395-2743.

Can someone please assist us in getting this approval for our institution? Classes will resume online for the remainder of the term.

Subject: Verification Question: Required documentation to complete V4/V5

Greetings

I have a question related to Verification groups 4 and 5 and the documentation schools are required to collect to verify student identity. I have attached a PDF of the relevant pages from the 2019/2020 FSA Application and Verification Guide.

Presently, a student who is selected for verification group 4 or 5 is required to appear in person at the school and sign ("wet" signature) the statement of educational purpose that certifies who s/he is and that the federal student aid s/he may receive will only be used for educational purposes and for the cost of attending the school for the 2019–2020 year. The student must then submit to the school that statement (again, with the "wet" signature), and present a valid, unexpired, government-issued photo identification (ID) such as a passport or a driver's license or other state-issued ID.

If the student is unable to appear at the school, s/he must go in person to a notary public and sign the statement of educational purpose. The student must then submit to the school that statement (again, with the "wet" signature), a certification from the notary that s/he appeared before the notary and presented a government issued photo ID confirming his/her identity, and a copy of the same ID (presented).

Currently, ED does not does not authorize the use of online notary services as an alternative to traditional, in person notary services.
During the current COVID-19 emergency, will this guidance be revisited to allow an impacted student use an online notary service to complete the documentation required to completed V4 or V5?

Please advise.
Thanks

- An academic transcript that indicates the student successfully completed at least a two-year program that is acceptable for full credit toward a bachelor's degree at any participating school. You do not have to collect proof of high school status for graduate students if admission into their program required the completion of at least two years of undergraduate coursework.
- For a student who has not completed high school and is seeking enrollment in a program that leads to at least an associate degree or its equivalent, documentation from the high school that he excelled academically and from your school that he meets your written policy for admitting such students. This should be a rare occurrence.
- For homeschooled students, a copy of a secondary school completion credential for homeschool (other than a high school diploma or its recognized equivalent) if state law requires homeschooled students to get that credential. If it is not required, a transcript or the equivalent signed by the parent or guardian that lists the secondary school courses the student completed and documents the successful completion of a secondary school education in a homeschool setting.
- For students in an "eligible career pathway program," documentation that they passed an approved ATB test or completed at least 6 credit hours or 225 clock hours that are applicable toward a degree or certificate offered by your school. See the margin note.

If your school has already received one of these documents as part of the admission process, you do not need to ask for another. If you successfully verified a student's high school completion in a prior year, you do not need to do it again. Some schools collect seventh semester high school transcripts prior to students receiving an actual diploma, or they collect high school transcripts for some but not all of their students because they may have special programs that admit students without a high school diploma. In both cases, schools must collect separate documentation that shows the date when the diploma was awarded.

When documentation of high school completion is unavailable—e.g., the school is closed and no information is available from another source such as the school district or state department of education, or the parent or guardian who homeschooled the student is deceased—you may accept alternative documentation, such as a military DD Form 214 Certificate of Release or Discharge from Active Duty that indicates that the student is a high school graduate or equivalent. However, a student's self-certification is not acceptable except in rare instances for refugees, asylees, and victims of human trafficking, as explained in the margin note on page 88.

Identity and statement of educational purpose

Students should appear in person at your school and present a valid, unexpired,* government-issued photo identification (ID) such as a passport or a driver's license or other state-issued ID. You must maintain an annotated copy of that ID that includes the date it was received and the name of the person your school authorized to receive it. Note that an ID issued by a state university or college is not sufficient for this purpose.

Timing of signature

Any required signatures, such as signatures on worksheets or on copies of tax returns, must be collected at the time of verification—they can't be collected after the verification deadline for that award year.

Electronic signatures

For verification documentation, a school may collect an electronic signature for an applicant, parent, or spouse if the process includes an assurance of the identity of the person signing. This is often accomplished with a PIN or password that is assigned only after the identity of the person receiving the PIN or password has been authenticated.

V4 and V5 reporting

As explained on page 79, schools are required to report through FAA Access the outcomes of verifying high school completion status and identity/statement of educational purpose for applications with tracking flags V4 and V5.

* The ID just needs to be unexpired at the time it is checked. For proving identity, it does not matter if the ID is due to expire during the award year.

 The school may determine which of its staff are authorized to review an applicant's identity. We do recommend that the person(s) be full-time staff and that the school keep a record of who they are.

Hello,
I am looking for some clarification on the 12 page guidance letter that was posted on March 5, 2020, referring to interruptions of study related to the Coronavirus (COVID-19). On page 3 of the letter under "Approval to Offer Distance Learning" it states that the institution may offer online technologies to students to accomodate them. It says that the flexibility only applies to a program during a payment period that overlaps the date of the electronic announcement (3-5-2020) OR the following payment period.
The "OR" that is used is making some confusion in determining what we should be looking at. Can you further define what you would consider the "following payment period" and possibly give an example of how it could be used? Thank you very much for you help.

Subject: IDEA timelines

With most schools experiencing closures, or engaging in virtual learning with students not physically attending school, we (Indiana Department of Education) are receiving a number of questions about how to meet timelines to conduct educational evaluations and convene IEP meetings. While national and state health emergencies are in effect, is USED going to grant waivers for conducting timely evaluations and IEP team meetings, as well as annual case review meetings? Evaluations require in-person meetings with the student as well as classroom observations. These required components of an educational evaluation are not reasonably possible at this time, and may not be for a month or more.

In a similar vein, conducting timely complaint investigations, mediations, and due process hearings may not be possible at this time. While cognizant of OSEP Memo 13-08, which indicates several instances that do not constitute exceptional circumstances to extend the 60 day time limit for state complaints, OSEP has not provided guidance as to what might constitute exceptional circumstances. Would a national or state health emergency which closes all schools in a state qualify? If an LEA is unable to provide documentation to adequately respond to a complaint, or if LEA personnel are not available for interviews during the investigation, due to the state or national health emergency, would that qualify as an exceptional circumstance permitting the SEA to extend the timelines?

For due process complaints (hearings), can the following timelines be extended when the school is not in session due to a health emergency (COVID-19)?

1. 10 days to file response (34 CFR §300.508(e) & (f)).
2. 15 days to object to the sufficiency (34 CFR §300.508(d)).
3. 15 days to conduct the resolution meeting (34 CFR §300.510(a))

While we recognize that an independent hearing officer can grant extensions of time (EOT) at the request of a party for most hearings, the same is not true for expedited hearings. 34 CFR §300.532. Is there any relief that can be granted for expedited hearings? We realize that the timelines for expedited hearings are based on school days. However, school days include virtual or eLearning days during the time when states, including schools, are prohibited from conducting in-person meetings. If a school is providing distance instruction or virtual learning, instructional days still accrue, but at a distance to keep everyone safe. But these regulations would require hearings that bring people together, in violation of state health emergency orders.

Any guidance on these matters would be greatly appreciated.

Thank you.

During Ohio's ordered school-building closure, the health and safety of Ohio's students and educators remains the primary focus of the Ohio Department of Education. As Ohio's students with disabilities are among our state's most vulnerable children, Ohio is working closely with local school districts to ensure that our students with disabilities have access to a free and appropriate education during this very atypical period of time for learning and teaching. However, our districts and schools are seeking greater flexibilities with regard to deadlines and certain key regulations. Ohio is looking for flexibility specifically with timelines associated with IDEA, such as: IEP, ETR, reporting and monitoring, dispute resolution, state and local eligibility and use of funds. More detail on each of these specific issues is included in the attachment.

We recognize the extraordinary circumstances and appreciate the flexibility that the US Department of Education is providing in other areas of federal law. We understand that many states are asking similar questions. We respectfully submit this information for your consideration. Based on the March 20, 2020 CCSSO call, there appears to be some uncertainty about where flexibilities exist. We are interested in seeking flexibility if available for any of our identified issues. Likewise, we would be happy to engage in larger conversation to address issues that do not appear to have immediate remedies with the Office of Special Education Programs, as well as the organizations you are working with regarding the needs across all states (i.e., NAESDE and CCSSO). I am asking this question on behalf of a state Part C program. This state is working on major revisions to policies and procedures that they plan to submit to OSEP in the summer, after July 1. They will be conducting the public participation review and comment period in May and June. In mid-June they had planned to hold two face-to-face public hearings. If the prohibition of public group meetings is still in place in that state in June, they are seeking guidance from OSEP on whether they may fulfill the public hearing requirement in 303.208(b) via virtual public hearings conducted using Zoom or a similar format?

Hello,
I am an Admin of a clock hour school, we have received approval from state and accreditor to implement the Distance Education due to COVID-19. Our brick and mortar is closed, but we have adapted distance education to make a smooth transition for students to continue their education.
Where can I read up on Distance Education requirements? I saw the Dear Coll. Letter 3/5 but cant seem to locate any other standards that I may need to be aware of.
Anything else I should know as a clock hour school as it correlates to this?
Thank you,

Hello from Southwestern University - OPE ID 00362000

I have a question about the Federal Work Study payments. We have decided to move forward with paying our FWS students regardless of whether they work. We are migrating to distance learning protocol, so our students will be unable to work in the jobs they previously had.

In this situation, are we able to pay these students in a lump sum? The amount would be what we would pay them from now through the end of the semester. Or should we pay them every two weeks as we normally would? I couldn't find anything in the guidance that addressed this.

Thank you for your help.

Subject: Question regarding Special Education procedural regulations

Hello,

Thank you for your call today to school system leaders. Very helpful! We have two questions:

1) Will USDOE will provide waivers to school districts for not being able to meet timelines for IEP meetings or eligibility processes that were under-way before massive school closures.

We appreciate the guidance on the provision of services to students with disabilities, but we are still struggling to figure out how we can adhere to the strict timelines around annual IEPs and eligibility timeframe requirements.

Will USDOE suspend these requirements until school resumes? If not, what guidance, given that many families are unable to join virtually (nor is this desirable), to school districts to meet these timelines when staff may be unable to be present themselves, when student files may still be left at school sites, or when related services providers or contractors (such as educational evaluators) are not available?

2) The stringent rules governing reimbursable meals through the Federal School Lunch Program: we are being told that we must follow every protocol to the letter and our state agency has reinforced this. While we respect the importance of regulations, and the need to provide nutritious meals, the myriad regs are making it extremely stressful to provide meals-- particularly in high-poverty school districts. What relief and/or support is USDA or ED providing to school districts to make it easier (and be able to guarantee reimbursement) to provide meals to our students who need them?

Thank you,
Tracy

Dear Colleagues,

Colorado LEAs have experienced challenges due to closures and event cancellations caused by COVID-19. We are seeking guidance on the following questions:

- Many LEAs will have in excess of 15% carryover of Title I funds due to so many event cancellations and refunds associated with closures/cancellations. Will there be a waiver of the carryover cap?
- Due to school closures and social distancing requirements in the State, consultations have been limited or not able to be conducted. Will LEAs and schools be able to conduct consultations after social distancing requirements have been lifted (possibly as late as August or later)?
- What flexibilities can be extended to schools and LEAs wanting to use ESEA funds to support distance and online learning for students? Can they purchase chromebooks? Pay for hot spots for students who do not have internet access otherwise? Can they pay for subscriptions to online educational resources?
- If an LEA is continuing to pay salaries of staff and teachers during closures, can they continue to use ESEA funds to also pay salaries? If so, what guidance or restrictions are there on the percentages to be paid out of ESEA funds?

We look forward to receiving your guidance and greatly appreciate your support in these difficult and challenging times.

Nazie

We received the following questions from Glenna Gallo, the Special Education Director for WA

- Staff paid out of IDEA funds are being asked to provide child care on emergency/occasional basis for first responders or other personnel. Is this permissible?
- Current State position on the use of State funds, is that teachers can only get paid if they are working (could be providing services or engaging in professional development). There is some opposition to this from teachers unions. Regarding time and effort for IDEA:
    - If staff were not to be working, how would that be documented for time and effort?
    - If staff are engaged in non IDEA issues (such as child care), how would that be documented?
- What is impact on specific IDEA fiscal requirements: LEA MOE, Excess Cost and MFS? Note potential for increased State funds to pay for compensatory services, may result in a bump in State level of effort, which may not be sustained.
- If IDEA funds have already been obligated, but because of delays, cannot be expended prior to expiration what can be done (

1) Are school districts expected to adhere to the IDEA's timelines for conducting student evaluations?

a) Are the timelines tolled or suspended when schools are closed and/or school staff are not in the building as a result of COVID-19?

2) How are the special education dispute resolution timelines affected by closures resulting from COVID-19?

3) How are the state complaint timelines affected by closures resulting from COVID-19?

4) How are school districts expected to provide certain in-home services, such as ABA home programs or parent training, during the COVID-19 pandemic?
Also, will data submission timelines via EdFacts be adjusted? Data managers do not have access to SEA servers to submit timely because they do not have access to buildings.

Subject: Adjusting Timelines for Evaluations

To Whom This May Concern:

My name is Bobbi Davenport and I am an evaluator for Texas public schools in the state of Texas.

We are facing unprecedented times with the COVID-19 pandemic. As such our districts have had to turn to distance learning to continue providing instructional time to our Texas students. As such, because "school has resumed" through "virtual classrooms,"

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Texas evaluators are being forced to continue to evaluate students that have an open FIIE or Reevaluation consent.

While the OCR document suggests that face-to-face evaluations should be discontinued while school is not in session and can resume when school is in session, TEA has put a directive that the timeline continues and the majority of evaluators, in order to obtain valid and reliable data, will be forced to meet face-to-face with the student.

If evaluators consider to do teleconferencing testing, the evaluators may not be properly trained or do not have access to instruments that are designed to be used in that format; therefore, the reliability or the validity of the data obtained will be compromised.

Furthermore, these are unique circumstances that are in fact fear or anxiety inducing, which will lead to issues with the validity of the data obtained. At this time, our families should not be worried about anything, but being together and following the directive to remain at home and reducing social contact.

I am reaching out to you as policy makers and as someone who could potentially advocate for us practitioners in this unprecedented unique situation. We are treading in uncharted waters and ultimately we want to act with an abundance of caution where we will not be hurting the student or our community.

While I understand the parents desire to get answers to their child's academic, behavioral, development, and/or emotional concerns, my hope is that TEA will adopt the recommendation from OCR that "If an evaluation of a student with a disability requires a face-to-face assessment or observation, the evaluation would need to be delayed until school reopens. Evaluations and re-evaluations that do not require face-to-face assessments or observations may take place while schools are closed, so long as a student's parent or legal guardian consents." The state of California has followed this guidance and will not be completing face-to-face evaluations until normal school routines have returned for all students. We ask that Texas adopts similar guidelines during this delicate and uncertain time.

My goal as a practitioner is to consider the best interests of the students and families we serve, while not abandoning their social, emotional, academic, and mental health needs. We have an ethical responsibility to maintain the integrity of our profession and conducting assessments during this pandemic would not be deemed as such.

My question focuses on the TPSID model projects funded through HEOA 2008. In the HEOA regulations, students with intellectual disabilities have been required to attend courses with their nondisabled peers on the physical campus in order to maintain their eligibility for federal student aid. Due to the CoVID19 virus many of Florida's and the nation's Institutes of Higher Education (IHE), that implement inclusive postsecondary education for students with intellectual disability, have closed their campuses and are serving college students online and not physically on campus.

Victoria,

Thank you so much for the recent update regarding the waivers for accountability and assessment. I know all of the states are greatly appreciative for this decision and will relieve a lot of anxiety and pressure the States and school districts are facing at this time. In Secretary DeVos's letter to the Chief State Officers, she wrote the following statement that I would like to pursue.

I recognize that you have many questions and will need additional supports, including the possibility of additional waivers, as you deal with the COVID-19 national emergency.

I realize USDE is inundated with questions, and responding as quickly as possible. Our State Superintendent is in the same situation, and making every effort to ease the burden for school districts by implementing wise and prudent decisions to help the schools.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

In the near future, our State, as well as other states will need to take immediate action by making decisions that possibly conflict with federal requirements. Our State has every intention to follow federal law and will need guidance on an issue such as

- School district teachers, administrators, and support personnel paid with federal funds will request to pay staff without evidence of timesheets or services technically rendered

The accountability for the use of the funds will not be documented for actual work performed, but the evidence to pay the federally funded personnel would be to demonstrate that the district was closed due to extenuating circumstances, such as COVID-19. The question is, "Will this evidence be sufficient enough due to this unique situation?"

I anticipate in the near future there will arise other occasions that waivers outside of accountability and assessment will need to be addressed to provide relief for our school districts. Does USDE anticipate a date for States to consider submitting other waivers impacting federal funding that will most likely be impossible for States and districts to meet the requirement?

A special thanks to you and Patrick for always being so prompt with your responses.

We will get through this together – hopefully, healthy and safe!

Kate and Ashley,

Attached is a request for a waiver (and application amendment) for Florida's 2016 CSP grant (Award U282A160012). The purpose of the request is to seek a waiver of the statutory and regulatory requirements that govern the CSP. Specifically, the Florida Department of Education seeks an amendment to award CSP sub-grants to new and established operators to provide them funds to purchase the hardware and software necessary to enable all of their students to access curriculum and lessons from home. Essentially, as public schools face a growing crisis from the threat of COVID-19 and increasingly plan for virtual instruction for the foreseeable future, the FDOE wants to equip all charter schools in Florida, to the extent possible, with a one-to-one student-to-device ratio. For that, we would need the Secretary of Education to exercise the waiver authority granted her under both the Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA) and the No Child Left Behind Act (NCLB, which governs Florida's award).

I appreciate your attention to this, knowing that you both are just as busy and active as we are. However, given the urgency of this request and the need for relief in Florida, I am asking that the U.S. Department of Education review this request as soon as possible.

There's obviously something going on with special education that I don't really understand. I've been hearing this kind of stuff percolate up from educators around the country, but I don't know what is myth and fact. In any regard, I told this Alumni Fellow that I would share her concern with those working on these issues.

I believe the best information for her is the attached if anyone wants to get in touch with her.

Hey Gillian. I hope all is well with you. I know this is a long shot but rural schools need help from ED a result of covid-19? Rural America could use help. Because of sped law and regs, we cannot provide educational services to our reg Ed kids. In districts where maybe only 30% of students have access to internet bc of their location, it is tying our hands to do any good work that we can. Oregon just posted they won't offer any learning bc of the equity issues it could get them in. This is a national crisis and we need relaxed regs to ensure our entire population of students doesn't miss months of instruction bc of laws aimed to protect sped kids. Can u help?

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

With the current significantly low interest rate environmental, is it possible to refinance student loans at these lower interest rates? My loans are from the early to mid-1990's and early 2000's where interests were higher when compared to current rates. My interest rates are 6.125%. This could substantially lower my monthly payment and provided the needed relief for my family.

Any feedback would be greatly appreciated.

All-

I received the below note regarding the negative economic impact of COVID to the private school bus industry. I do believe this warrants follow-up. Thank you.

Subject: [EXTERNAL] private school bus companies and corona

Mr. Latcham –
My client, the National School Transportation Association, has been working the Hill and administration with the attached proposal for relief from the negative impacts of corona. Secretary DeVos has been unresponsive and I understand DOEd is not on the task force. I have sent this to Larry Kudlow and Derek Kan. Can you direct me to anyone on the task force specifically dealing with education issues?

As background, NSTA members are private companies that provide 38% of the nation's school bus service under contract to school districts. As you can imagine, with the massive school closings across the country that may go on for several months, they are facing dire circumstances if their contracts are not paid for the time schools are closed. Some States have already announced schools will be closed for the remainder of the normal school year. Additional school activity and sports trips are also cancelled. Public school bus districts are continuing to receive funding and pay their drivers during this crisis.

NSTA is seeking a directive from Secretary DeVos (letter attached) or Congress asking school districts to continue to pay contractors for the duration of the shutdown as the funds have already been allocated for this at the State level. This would not cost the federal government any money at all but would keep 250,000 people in their jobs and 40% of the school transportation industry viable for when schools do resume. In the absence of that, NSTA is seeking $2.8 billion to cover losses due to the closing of schools in order to pay 250,000 drivers and mechanics and keep nearly 40% of the nation's school transportation capability in place for when schools do resume.

Appreciate it very much,
Becky Weber

I was asked to collect and send to this mailbox the questions we have received related to the COVID-19 emergency. These can be seen below.

From TIIPA folks

- Can Title IV-A well rounded funds pay for hot spots so students and staff can continue learning at home ? . Yes - Title IV-A funds may be used for this expense if the SEA determines it is an allowable activity consistent with the purposes of at least one of the three content areas (in this case well rounded), and as usual if it is reasonable, necessary and allocable to the grant. Please note that the 15 percent special rule, ESEA Section 4109(b), only applies to the effective use of technology content area, not well rounded.

- Will there be a waiver for Title IVA cap of 15% for Effective Use of Technology ?

From MT

Please let me know if there is guidance forthcoming specific to any reporting requirements or flexibility to SEAs for the Title II, Part A State Level Activities funds.

From SETDA

1. Can Title IIA SEA funds be used to purchase devices (tablets/laptops or hot spots for connectivity) for students to ensure equitable access to effective educators since students can't go to school? Or will there be a waiver about purchasing devices?

2. Since for many districts, engaging in online learning is not part of regular instruction - is this supplemental? What types of purchases would be permitted?

3. Will there be a waiver for Title IVA cap of 15% for Effective Use of Technology ?

4. Are any plans to extend the federal grant period?
    a. Will dates for both 2018-19 and 19-20 be moved? Districts are concerned about carryover that expires this September 2020.

From GA

Is there guidance on ways Title II, Part A State Activities funds and LEA allocated funds can be used during this time to improve equitable access to effective teachers?

From MN (FAQ document for LEAs)

What is the impact of this closure on MCA/MTAS? MDE does not have the authority to cancel/exempt districts from providing the MCA/MTAS. We are closely monitoring federal guidance and conversations to determine whether or not there will be any national decisions that shift testing expectations.

From NY (guidance for LEAs)

Designing for Unique Needs of All Students. Instructional design, course design and plans for support must be aligned with the skill level of age groups and abilities, including students with disabilities and English Language Learners, to the greatest extent possible. For example, those serving the elementary and middle-school levels might have to consider creating instructional materials for both students and parents, while high school students are likely more capable independent learners.

• Ensuring Accessibility. Not all students may have access to the Internet, phone lines, TV or radio at the same time, or at all, during a prolonged school closure or student absence. Therefore, it is important to offer a variety of methods of learning. Districts considering online learning will need to ensure that the means used complies with all applicable laws, including the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act and Education Law S. 2-d, and Section 508 of the Rehabilitation Act which provides accessibility guidelines for students with disabilities.

Subject: Special Education Evaluations

Mr. Al Jones,

My name is Laurie Miller and I am an evaluator, or Educational Diagnostician, for Texas public schools in the state of Texas.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

We are facing unprecedented times with the COVID-19 pandemic. As such our districts have had to turn to distance learning to continue providing instructional time to our Texas students. As such, because "school has resumed" through "virtual classrooms," Texas evaluators are being forced to continue to evaluate students that have an open FIE or Reevaluation consent.

While the OCR document suggests that face-to-face evaluations should be discontinued while school is not in session and can resume when school is in session, TEA has put a directive that the timeline continues and the majority of evaluators, in order to obtain valid and reliable data, will be forced to meet face-to-face with the student.

If evaluators consider to do teleconferencing testing, most evaluators are not properly trained and do not have access to instruments that are designed to be used in this format; therefore, the reliability or the validity of the data obtained will be compromised.

Furthermore, these are unique circumstances that are in fact fear or anxiety inducing, which will lead to issues with the validity of the data obtained. At this time, our families should not be worried about anything, but being together and following the directive to remain at home and reducing social contact.

I am reaching out to you as policy makers and as someone who could potentially advocate for us practitioners in this unprecedented unique situation. We are treading in uncharted waters and ultimately we want to act with an abundance of caution where we will not be hurting the student or our community.

While I understand the parents desire to get answers to their child's academic, behavioral, development, and/or emotional concerns, my hope is that TEA will adopt the recommendation from OCR that "If an evaluation of a student with a disability requires a face-to-face assessment or observation, the evaluation would need to be delayed until school reopens. Evaluations and reevaluations that do not require face-to-face assessments or observations may take place while schools are closed, so long as a student's parent or legal guardian consents." The state of California has followed this guidance and will not be completing face-to-face evaluations until normal school routines have returned for all students. We ask that Texas adopts similar guidelines during this delicate and uncertain time.

My goal as an examiner is to consider the best interests of the students and families we serve, while not abandoning their social, emotional, academic, and mental health needs. We have an ethical responsibility to maintain the integrity of our profession and conducting assessments during this pandemic would not be deemed as such.
