A frequently asked question listed on the health department document is whether the agency can "provide legal advice so that medical professionals and patients can know what is and is not legal." "No," the factsheet states. "DHSS is not authorized to provide legal advice to third parties." Prosecutors had been relying on the health department to issue guidance. Darrell Moore, the head of the Missouri Association of Prosecuting Attorneys, said the factsheet helpfully points to definitions of medical emergencies, abortions and what constitutes reasonable medical judgment in Missouri law. "The truth is that the decision on ... the law — in real time and on the frontlines of care — where clinical judgement matters." "The uncertainty of whether that judgement will be second-guessed is the challenge for physicians," Dillon said. "It is impossible to know in advance whether a prosecutor or member of law enforcement will agree about a clinician determination of risk to the life of the mother." Health department spokeswoman Lisa Cox said there's nothing more the agency can do. "The department is unable to formulate advisory responses to various situations with distinct fact patterns," Cox said. "The complexity of each situation is why Missouri law gives that analysis to physicians to utilize 'reasonable medical judgement.'"

ST. LOUIS — Missouri health officials on Wednesday released answers to questions about Missouri's abortion ban, but some say they do little to address confusion about exceptions for medical emergencies and how the law will be enforced. The one-page document created by the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services listed answers to four "frequently asked questions" about the regulations. The answers stressed that DHSS does not determine whether an abortion is conducted legally, and that only law enforcement, local prosecutors and the Missouri Attorney General's Office can investigate and decide if a crime has been committed. In trying to answer what constitutes a "medical emergency," the ... her pregnancy to avert the death of the pregnant woman or for which a delay will create a serious risk of substantial and irreversible physical impairment of a major bodily function of the pregnant woman." Under the law, providers who violate the abortion ban can be charged with a Class B felony, punishable by five to 15 years in prison, and lose their medical license. Lisa Cox, spokeswoman for DHSS, told the Post-Dispatch that DHSS will not share abortion reports (which providers submit each time an abortion is performed) with law enforcement, and would only provide reports under a court order. The abortion report form that's currently in use, which requires providers to explain the medical threat to the pregnant woman only in late-term abortions when the fetus could be ... viable outside the womb, also is out of date. Cox said DHSS regulation and licensure staff are currently reviewing the forms and discussing if any changes need to be made. The Post-Dispatch submitted questions to Missouri Attorney General Eric Schmitt, asking how the abortion ban will be enforced — whether his office plans to rely on whistleblowers, subpoena abortion report forms from DHSS or use other measures. Chris Nuelle, spokesman ... for Schmitt's office, responded with the following statement: "The Missouri Attorney General's Office will work to uphold Missouri law and protect the sanctity of life." Richard Muniz, general counsel for Planned Parenthood of the St. Louis Region and Southwest Missouri, said, the fact sheet from DHSS is "cold comfort" to Missouri hospital and providers. "If history is any indication, we know the state of Missouri will weaponize its health oversight authority to second-guess the abortion care that is provided in the state …," Muniz said, referring a legal fight in 2019 where DHSS refused to grant a license to the state's only abortion facility. ... states dealing with their own abortion questions. "If you're wondering what will happen if Kansas loses access to abortion care, you can look at Missouri where contraception questions, emergency situations, ectopic pregnancies are all up for discussion, and providers are scrambling to figure out what's legal and what's not," said Emily Wales with Planned Parenthood Great Plains. This week, the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services responded with a one-page, four-question document entitled Regulation of Missouri Abortion Facilities — Frequently Asked Questions in response to questions from doctors and hospitals seeking clarification on the state's interpretation of the new law. In the document, the DHSS says while the department regulates abortion facilities to ensure patient safety, the enforcement of the ... criminal provision are up to prosecutors and Missouri Attorney General's office. It goes on to say that the DHSS cannot provide legal advice to providers or facilities. It also provides links the the legal definition of a "medical emergency" and "reasonable medical judgement." Jeffrey S. Howell, the executive vice president of the Missouri State Medical Association, said he's not surprised by the department's action. "It's not DHSS' job to interpret that law," said Howell. ... fowleri, a rare brain infection. "Unfortunately, the patient died due to Primary Amebic Meningoencephalitis (PAM)," the state's health department said in a statement. "While the occurrence of Naegleria fowleri infection is extremely rare, once infected it is usually fatal. Of the 154 known cases of PAM in the United States over the past 60 years, sadly only four have survived." ORIGINAL STORY The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services has confirmed a case of Naegleria fowleri, a rare brain infection. It's the first case in state in 35 years. KANSAS CITY, Mo. — A Missouri man infected with Naegleria fowleri, which typically infects people when water containing the ameba enters the body through the nose according to the Centers for Disease Control, has died. The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services confirmed to CNN Friday night the man died after swimming off an Iowa beach. The victim's name will not be released. Information from the CDC states Naegleria fowleri infects people when water containing the ameba enters the body through the nose. This typically occurs when people go swimming or diving in warm freshwater places, like lakes and rivers. The Naegleria fowleri ameba then travels up ...

The patient died of primary amebic meningoencephalitis, a usually deadly infection caused by the naegleria fowleri amoeba, The Associated Press reported. NBC News has reached out to the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services for more information. July 11, 202200:18 The death of the Missouri resident was first reported by The Des Moines Register. ... Missouri health officials have not identified the patient, who was in the intensive care unit prior to their death, the Register reported. "Because these cases are so incredibly rare and out of respect for the family, we do not intend to release additional information about the patient which could lead to the person's identification," Lisa Cox, communications director from the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services, told the Register in an email. The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services learned of the infection on July 6, the Register reported. Officials believed the patient swam in an Iowa lake suspected of carrying the amoeba in late June. The Lake of Three Fires in Taylor ... County, Iowa, where the Missouri resident is believed to have contracted the amoeba, was closed earlier this month as a "precautionary response." The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services warned in a tweet that the amoeba "isn't contagious" but can be lethal if a person is infected. "Although rare, infection can occur when water containing Naegleria fowleri enters through the nose from warm freshwater. The amoeba travels up the nose to the brain where it destroys brain tissue. This infection isn't contagious and can't be contracted by swallowing water," the department tweeted. The ... is being investigated and while it is believed the patient contracted the amoeba in the Lake of Three Fires, other bodies of water are being tested. "It's strongly believed by public health experts that the lake is a likely source, but we are not limiting the investigation to that source because it hasn't been confirmed. Additional public water sources in Missouri are being tested," the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services tweeted. Kalhan Rosenblatt is a reporter covering youth and internet culture for NBC News, based in New York. The Associated Press, Marlene Lenthang and TJ Swigart contributed.

... I want to make sure we provide the services for the state of Missouri, for the people of this state." The $183 million project -- funded through state appropriations of federal American Rescue Plan Act dollars -- includes the construction of the new multi-story lab, expansion of the existing State Health Lab and a parking lot to serve both facilities. "To say we are excited is an understatement," DHSS Deputy Director Laura Naught said. "This started as a dream a little over a year ago at the height of the COVID-19 pandemic right in this very building when we were working across agencies to figure out how to meet Missouri's current and future laboratory needs." Naught said the investment is transformative to the state's laboratory infrastructure. Cooperation among agencies will deliver ... comprehensive and rapid lab services, Naught said. Specifically for DHSS, she said the development will enhance training for hospital lab workers, expand life-saving newborn testing, improve public health environmental testing and add next generation molecular testing. Hi Joyce and Emily,

In DHSS's June 29th press release "DHSS responds to concerns about contraception use" it was stated that DHSS was reviewing regulations related to abortion facilities to ensure accordance to state law. We did see the newest one pager "Regulation of Missouri Abortion Facilities FAQs" released today but were unsure if there would be further clarification/regulations forthcoming to provide more insight for health care providers in all settings such as emergency and OB-GYN. We have quite a few medical providers reaching out to various caucus members asking when and if there will further clarification or regulation provided to the public and providers from DHSS.

Please let us know if there will be more information forthcoming and if so what the timeline of that will be.

Thanks for your time and help.

Thanks,
Emily

With the recent Supreme Court ruling returning the right for states to decide on the abortion issue, I have several questions. With Missouri being the first state with a trigger law effectively banning all abortion, kindly provide the detailed plans you will propose to handle the residual impact of this law.
Specifically:

- When will the state of Missouri require insurance companies to cover maternity coverage without a pre-existing condition clause? Maternity benefits are optional for most coverage, and sometimes we women without options (or contraception failure) are caught unawares. Will the state now mandate maternity coverage be an automatic clause for all women with a uterus of reproductive age? For those without coverage, will existing state programs be inclusive regardless of income? Currently only those who qualify for economic reasons are eligible. Surely this is not fair if a woman finds herself pregnant and her insurance does not cover the pregnancy? I ask you to explain how you will ensure those fetuses are cared for appropriately in this scenario.
- What safeguards will you propose to implement to ensure those unborn babies vessels (aka the WOMEN) are given appropriate post-natal care to support the new babies? Specifically, when will the State of Missouri provide fully paid maternity care and post-natal parental leave? If the fetus is important, surely the newborn babies deserve the best start? Ensuring mom-baby are recovering well post birth is a crucial step to ensure quality of life. Our nation is one of the only "first world" nations to not offer paid maternity leave of any duration. FMLA does not provide safeguards and especially not for those who work an hourly wage.

- When will all childcare be subsidized regardless of income? When can day care workers expect to receive a living wage with benefits? Who will recruit the new centers and care givers to support this influx of babies?
- With the influx of babies born, so too will the increase of babies in crisis/families in need of social services. This will place burdens on the existing state infrastructure which we can all agree is taxed to excessive limits. When will the social workers receive a living wage that is competitive and reflective of the many hours they work? They will have increased case-loads stretching them beyond their already overloaded bandwidth.
- What will you do to fill the number of unfilled health care positions in the state when doctors, nurses and caregivers flee the state of Missouri due to rising malpractice and or fears of litigation for doing their job (aka referring women in need to health care services)?
- In what way shape or form will you defend the right to privacy for women? As noted in the Washington Post, your own party is considering leaving us open to litigation for activities conducted out of state with included threats of prohibiting travel? How is this American? At what point will this party not see women for more than the receptacle and as a fully functioning human that has the ability to make decisions on her own behalf with the consultation of medical professionals? How does that proposal from your colleague do anything but lower hard fought recognition of equality our mother's strived for?

The implication that our party is encouraging others to "narc" on others is quite reminiscent of the Mcarthy Era. And I for one, am horrified by this possibility. Kindly explain this rationale.
https://urldefense.com/v3/__https://www.washingtonpost.com/politics/2022/03/08/missouri-abortion-ban-__;!!EErPFA7f--AJOw!SP7Iy3I26LHyfqGDVxF6wpYRLppmDJBGnmgM2zKKFBs-4jxQK5qhNLH2rlW42ygU9EvcMg$

I truly do wish to hear back from you on your thoughts to these overarching concerns. As an American citizen, current Missouri citizen and a mother of two women, I truly wish to understand how this crusade for the unborn is complete if you do not also institute policies to protect the sanctity of all life (born and unborn). For a state to have such a draconian stance on women's freedoms is chilling, particularly the long term implications on how this could be applied elsewhere.

Respectfully,
Mandy Williams

When will the social workers receive a living wage that is competitive and reflective of the many hours they work? They will have increased case-loads stretching them beyond their already overloaded bandwidth.
- What will you do to fill the number of unfilled health care positions in the state when doctors, nurses and caregivers flee the state of Missouri due to rising malpractice and or fears of litigation for doing their job (aka referring women in need to health care services)?
- In what way shape or form will you defend the right to privacy for women? As noted in the Washington Post, your own party is considering leaving us open to litigation for activities conducted out of state with included threats of prohibiting travel? How is this American? At what point will this party not see women for more than the receptacle and as a fully functioning human that has the ability to make decisions on her own behalf with the consultation of medical professionals? How does that proposal from your colleague do anything but lower hard fought recognition of equality our mother's strived for?

The implication that our party is encouraging others to "narc" on others is quite reminiscent of the Mcarthy Era. And I for one, am horrified by this possibility. Kindly explain this rationale.

I truly do wish to hear back from you on your thoughts to these overarching concerns. As an American citizen, current Missouri citizen and a mother of two women, I truly wish to understand how this crusade for the unborn is complete if you do not also institute policies to protect the sanctity of all life (born and unborn). For a state to have such a draconian stance on women's freedoms is chilling, particularly the long term implications on how this could be applied elsewhere.

Respectfully,
Mandy Williams

Dear Michael:

We have a constituent inquiring about Medicaid funding for Planned Parenthood. Can funding be reinstated since providing abortions is no longer an option. To be specific, funding for family planning and testing services were asked about. Apparently, the other option in the area is booked out far in advance and Planned Parenthood has appointments available.

DHSS responds to concerns about contraception use

JEFFERSON CITY, MO – The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services is statutorily responsible for regulating licensed abortion facilities/providers, and it will continue to be the agency's responsibility to monitor all abortions performed to assure that they are done only under and in accordance with the provisions of the law.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Before and following the Supreme Court of the United States' ruling in Dobbs that overturns Roe v. Wade, Missouri law does not ban the use of contraception methods. RSMo 188.017 criminalizes performing an abortion absent a medical emergency, but this does not include pregnancy preventive measures.

DHSS is currently reviewing regulations related to abortion facilities to ensure their accordance with state law.

For women's health resources in Missouri, visit health.mo.gov/womenshealth or call TEL-LINK at 800-TEL-LINK (835-5465). TEL-LINK provides Missourians with confidential information and referrals on maternal and child health services.

Hi all,

Unfortunately, we didn't get the fully comprehensive list of resources completed today, but I have been working with my counterparts at DSS and even DMH (counseling resources) to get things pulled together. We went ahead and moved forward with a statement (below) and a couple of the resource links in the interest of time and since emergency contraceptives became such a hot topic in the media today. Governor Parson issued a similar message via social media this evening.

I'll keep you posted on the resource sheet—it'll still be good to still get that out broadly among our partners, especially LPHAs and FQHCs.

Thank you!

As a reminder here is the question I sent to DHSS and the AG's office on Tuesday:

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Hello,
I had someone reach out to my office wanting to know about the legality of fertility treatments now that Roe has been overturned and parts of HB 126 from 2019 have gone into effect. The person that reached out asked about the fertility treatment "GIFT" but it would be very helpful to know about how other treatments will be impacted by the ruling and Missouri's law.

I look forward to hearing from both departments so I can pass on this very important information to my constituents.

Hi Laura,
I had a quick meeting with Steve this afternoon about a couple programs in OWH. I wanted to share the following questions we have as a result of the Governor's proclamation. We appreciate your time and help to ensure we make any and all changes necessary.

Situation: We currently manage an attestation process for the extended women's health services. This process is to ensure that providers don't provide abortions. The requirement to do so is in our budget language. https://health.mo.gov/atoz/extended-womens-health-services.php
Questions: Do we need to continue to require providers to attest? If yes, can we have a written explanation, as some providers will want to know why. If not, how and when should we notify our providers?

Situation: Our office is responsible for the distribution and maintenance of the informed consent checklist and booklet. They are stored in the warehouse and the warehouse shipped them to abortion providers and programs in the state. Women that sought an abortion were required to receive them 72 hours prior to their procedure.
https://health.mo.gov/living/families/womenshealth/pregnancyassistance/forms.php
Questions: Do we need to maintain these resources going forward? If yes, under what circumstances should they be distributed to the public if abortions are no longer to be provided in the state. If no, should we remove them from the website and/or update the materials?

Partners,

Today, President Biden issued an Executive Order on Securing Access to Reproductive and Other Healthcare Services, building on actions that the Biden-Harris Administration has taken to protect access to reproductive healthcare services and defend women's fundamental rights. See the fact sheet below!

Today at 2:00 pm ET, the President and the Vice President will deliver remarks at the first meeting of the interagency Task Force on Reproductive Healthcare Access, which will be livestreamed at whitehouse.gov/live.

Tomorrow at 12:30pm ET, join Senior White House Officials for a briefing on additional steps President Biden is taking to protect access to reproductive rights and care for all Americans. You can RSVP here. Note: this call is closed to press and off the record. Full RSVP link: https://pitc.zoomgov.com/webinar/register/WN_0-cY8LG8RmKJjynisskU5w

Last night, President Biden issued a statement on Kansans' overwhelming rejection of a ballot initiative to remove the right to abortion from the state constitution.

Yesterday, the Justice Department filed a lawsuit challenging Idaho's near-total abortion ban, arguing that the state law conflicts with, and is preempted by, the Emergency Medical Treatment and Labor Act (EMTALA).

FACT SHEET:
President Biden Issues Executive Order at the First Meeting of the Task Force on Reproductive Healthcare Access

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

FACT SHEET:
President Biden Issues Executive Order at the First Meeting of the Task Force on Reproductive Healthcare Access

President Biden will issue an Executive Order on Securing Access to Reproductive and Other Healthcare Services, building on actions that the Biden-Harris Administration has taken to protect access to reproductive healthcare services and defend women's fundamental rights. The President kick off the Vice President's first meeting of the Task Force on Reproductive Healthcare Access. At the meeting, the Cabinet will discuss their progress and the path forward to address the women's health crisis in the wake of the Supreme Court's decision in Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization.

EXECUTIVE ORDER ON SECURING ACCESS TO REPRODUCTIVE AND OTHER HEALTHCARE SERVICES

Through today's Executive Order, the President will announce actions to:

- Support Patients Traveling Out of State for Medical Care. The Executive Order directs the Secretary of Health and Human Services (HHS) to consider action to advance access to reproductive healthcare services, including through Medicaid for patients who travel out of state for reproductive healthcare services. This directive is in line with the President and the Attorney General's clear statements on the Administration's commitment to defending the bedrock right to travel across state lines to seek reproductive healthcare in states where those services remain legal.

- Ensure Health Care Providers Comply with Federal Non-Discrimination Law. The Executive Order directs the Secretary of HHS to consider all appropriate actions to ensure health care providers comply with Federal non-discrimination laws so that women receive medically necessary care without delay. These actions could include providing technical assistance for health care providers who may be confused or unsure of their obligations in the aftermath of the Supreme Court decision in Dobbs; convening providers to convey information on their obligations and the potential consequences of non-compliance; and issuing additional guidance or taking other appropriate action in response to any complaints or reports of non-compliance with federal non-discrimination laws.

- Promote Research and Data Collection on Maternal Health Outcomes. To accurately measure the impact that diminishing access to reproductive health care services has on women's health, the Executive Order directs the Secretary of HHS to evaluate and improve research, data collection, and data analysis efforts at the National Institutes of Health and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention on maternal health and other health outcomes.

INTERAGENCY TASK FORCE ON REPRODUCTIVE HEALTHCARE ACCESS

The President will sign the Executive Order at the first meeting of the interagency Task Force on Reproductive Healthcare Access. After the President signs the Executive Order, Cabinet heads will report on the progress they have made in implementing the President's July 8, 2022 Executive Order on Protecting Access to Reproductive Healthcare Services, as well as related actions to defend reproductive rights.

Established by Executive Order, the Task Force on Reproductive Healthcare Access is co-chaired by the Secretary of Health and Human Services, Xavier Becerra, and the Director of the White House Gender Policy Council, Jennifer Klein. The Task Force coordinates and drives efforts across the Federal government to protect access to reproductive healthcare services and defend reproductive rights.
Offices across the White House – including the Office of the Vice President, the Office of White House Counsel, the Domestic Policy Council, the National Economic Council, the National Security Council, the Office of Intergovernmental Affairs, and the Office of Science and Technology Policy – also serve on the Task Force alongside the following Federal agencies:

- Department of Health and Human Services
- Department of Defense
- Department of Education
- Department of Homeland Security
- Department of Justice
- Department of Labor
- Department of the Treasury
- Department of Transportation
- Department of Veterans Affairs
- Federal Communications Commission

TODAY'S ANNOUNCEMENTS BUILD ON ADMINISTRATION'S ACTIONS TO PROTECT ACCESS TO REPRODUCTIVE HEALTHCARE

Today's announcements build on the actions the Biden-Harris Administration has already taken to protect access to healthcare, including abortion and contraception, in the wake of the Supreme Court's decision in Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization.

President Biden continues to call on Congress to codify the right to abortion into federal law and has said he would support changing the filibuster rules to codify Roe v. Wade into law. The White House has also released Statements of Administration Policy supporting H.R. 8296 – Women's Health Protection Act of 2022 and H.R. 8297 – Ensuring Access to Abortion Act of 2022.

The Administration has also taken immediate action to:

- Protect Access to Reproductive Healthcare Services: The President issued an Executive Order outlining actions to safeguard access to reproductive health care services, including abortion and contraception; protect the privacy of patients and their access to accurate information; promote the safety and security of patients, providers, and clinics; and coordinate the implementation of Federal efforts.

- Defend the Right to Travel: On 6/24/22, President Biden reaffirmed the Attorney General's statement that women must remain free to travel safely to another state to seek the care they need. President Biden committed his administration to defending "that bedrock right." Today's actions build upon this commitment and direct HHS to explore supports for women traveling out of state to seek medical care.

- Protect Emergency Medical Care: DOJ filed a lawsuit seeking to enjoin Idaho's abortion prohibition, which makes abortion a crime even when necessary to prevent serious risks to the health of pregnant patients. The suit asserts that Idaho's law conflicts with, and is therefore preempted by, the Emergency Medical Treatment Active Labor Act (EMTALA), which requires providers to offer stabilizing treatment, including abortion services if necessary, in certain emergency situations. This litigation follows guidance issued by HHS affirming EMTALA's requirements, as well as a letter from Secretary Becerra to providers making clear that federal law preempts state law restricting access to abortion in emergency situations.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Strengthen Nondiscrimination in Healthcare. HHS announced a proposed rule to strengthen nondiscrimination in health care. The proposed rule implements Section 1557 of the Affordable Care Act and affirms protections consistent with President Biden's executive orders on nondiscrimination based on sexual orientation and gender identity.

- Issue Guidance to Retail Pharmacies. HHS issued guidance to roughly 60,000 U.S. retail pharmacies to remind them of their obligations under federal civil rights laws to ensure access to comprehensive reproductive health care services. The guidance makes clear that as recipients of federal financial assistance, pharmacies are prohibited under law from discriminating on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, age, and disability in their programs and activities. This includes supplying medications; making determinations regarding the suitability of a prescribed medication for a patient; and advising patients about medications and how to take them.

- Take Action Against Illegal Use and Sharing of Sensitive Data. The Federal Trade Commission committed to fully enforcing the law against illegal use and sharing of highly sensitive data, including location and health information contained in fertility and period tracking data. The FTC urged companies to consider that sensitive data is protected by numerous state and federal laws, claims that data is "anonymous" are often deceptive, and the FTC has a track record of cracking down on companies that misuse consumer data.

- Protect Patient Privacy under HIPAA. HHS issued guidance to address how the HIPAA Privacy Rule protects the privacy of individuals' protected health information, including information related to reproductive health care. The guidance helps ensure doctors and other medical providers and health plans know that, with limited exceptions, they are not required – and in many cases, are not permitted – to disclose patients' private information, including to law enforcement. HHS also issued a how-to guide for consumers on steps they can take to make sure they're protecting their personal data on mobile apps.

- Request Information on Data Privacy from Mobile Providers. The Federal Communications Commission Chairwoman wrote to the top 15 mobile providers requesting information about their data retention and data privacy policies and general practices, consistent with the President's commitment to protecting Americans' privacy.

- Launch a DOJ Reproductive Rights Task Force: The DOJ announced a Reproductive Rights Task Force, which will monitor and evaluate state and local actions that infringe on federal protections relating to the provision or pursuit of reproductive care, impair women's ability to seek reproductive care where it's legal, impair individuals' ability to inform and counsel each other about the reproductive care that is available in other states, ban medication abortion, or impose criminal or civil liability on federal employees who provide legal reproductive health services.

- Convene Attorneys to Defend Reproductive Rights. The Department of Justice and the Office of White House Counsel convened more than 200 lawyers and advocates from private firms, bar associations, legal aid organizations, reproductive rights groups, and law schools across the country on Friday, July 29 for the first convening of pro-bono attorneys, as called for in the Executive Order. The convening closed with a call to action from the Second Gentleman, urging firms to commit a minimum of 500 hours to defending reproductive rights and justice.

- Provide Access to Accurate Information and Legal Resources. HHS launched ReproductiveRights.gov, a website on people's right to access reproductive health care, including birth control, abortion services, other preventive health services, and health insurance coverage. DOJ also launched justice.gov/reproductive-rights, a webpage that provides a centralized online resource of the Department's work to protect access to reproductive healthcare services.

Subject: urgent request re: state surveyor investigations of EMTALA violations

Hi, Mr. Linneman,

I'm a Contributing Writer for Kaiser Health News and am working on a story about the letter (https://www.hhs.gov/sites/default/files/emergency-medical-care-letter-to-health-care-providers.pdf) HHS Secretary Becerra sent to health care providers who receive Medicare and Medicaid payments. The letter mentions that if a hospital or other provider declines to provide emergency treatment including an abortion to a patient -- as required under the Emergency Medical Treatment and Active Labor Act (EMTALA) -- complaints should be submitted to the state survey agency for investigation. The letter includes a link to contacts in each state, including your name, phone number and email address.

In view of the abortion restrictions in Missouri, will state surveyors investigate complaints about an abortion the complainant believes should have been provided as emergency treatment?

Also, I've heard that some states have a backlog of surveys due to the Covid pandemic and/or a shortage of inspectors. Is either situation happening in Missouri? Have inspectors been instructed to give other potential violations priority?

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

I'd appreciate it if you could please get back to me by tomorrow at noon. In case you're not available, I've copied some of your colleagues on this note.

And if you're curious, links to some of my recent stories are available here.

Thanks very much for your help with this article.

Hello,

I had someone reach out to my office wanting to know about the legality of fertility treatments now that Roe has been overturned and parts of HB 126 from 2019 have gone into effect. The person that reached out asked about the fertility treatment "GIFT" but it would be very helpful to know about how other treatments will be impacted by the ruling and Missouri's law.

Re: Sunshine Law Request

Dear Custodian of Records:

Pursuant to the Missouri Sunshine Law, Mo. Rev. Stat. § 610.010 et seq., American Oversight makes the following request for records.

Requested Records

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

American Oversight requests that your office produce copies of the following records within three business days:

1. All final decision memoranda, directives, policy interpretations, or guidance provided to, signed, approved, or otherwise adopted by the Department of Health and Senior Services regarding abortion, contraception, or reproductive health following the U.S. Supreme Court's decision in Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health.

2. All email communications (including emails, email attachments, complete email chains, calendar invitations, and calendar invitation attachments) sent by any of the officials listed below containing any of the following key terms:

Key Terms:
a. Dobbs
b. Roe
c. Abortion
d. Pregnancy
e. Pregnant
f. Terminate
g. Fetus
h. Unborn
i. "Planned Parenthood"
j. "Trigger law"
k. "Trigger ban"
l. Contraception
m. "Birth control"
n. Abortifacient
o. Mifepristone
p. Misoprostol
q. Ectopic

Officials:
i. Acting Director Paula Nickelson
ii. Deputy Director Dr. Laura Naught
iii. Michael Oldweiler, Office of Governmental Policy and Legislation

In an effort to accommodate your office and reduce the number of potentially responsive records to be processed and produced, American Oversight has limited its request to emails sent by the specified officials. To be clear, however, American Oversight still requests that complete email chains be produced, displaying both sent and received messages. This means, for example, that both Director Nickelson's response to an email containing one of the listed key terms and the initial received message are responsive to this request and should be produced.

Please provide all responsive records from June 24, 2022, through the date the search is conducted.

Fee Waiver Request

In accordance with Mo. Rev. Stat. § 610.026.1(1), American Oversight requests a waiver of fees associated with processing this request for records. Disclosure of the requested records is in the public interest because it will likely contribute to a better understanding of relevant government procedures by the general public in a significant way. Moreover, the request is primarily and fundamentally for non-commercial purposes.

American Oversight requests a waiver of fees because disclosure of the requested information "is likely to contribute significantly to public understanding of the operations or activities of [a] public governmental body." The public has a significant interest in top state health officials' response to changes in state abortion laws. Records with the potential to shed light on this matter would contribute significantly to public understanding of operations of the government, including guidance issued by or to state health officials in the wake of the Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health decision. American Oversight is committed to transparency and makes the responses agencies provide to public records requests publicly available, and the public's understanding of the government's activities would be enhanced through American Oversight's analysis and publication of these records.

This request is primarily and fundamentally for non-commercial purposes. As a 501(c)(3) nonprofit, American Oversight does not have a commercial purpose and the release of the information requested is not in American Oversight's financial interest. American Oversight's mission is to promote transparency in government, to educate the public about government activities, and to ensure the accountability of government officials. American Oversight uses the information gathered, and its analysis of it, to educate the public through reports, press releases, or other media. American Oversight also makes materials it gathers available on its public website and promotes their availability on social media platforms, such as Facebook and Twitter.

American Oversight has also demonstrated its commitment to the public disclosure of documents and creation of editorial content through regular substantive analyses posted to its website. Examples reflecting this commitment to the public disclosure of documents and the creation of editorial content include the posting of records and analysis related to the organization's investigations into misconduct and corruption in state governments; posting records and analysis of federal and state governments' responses to the Coronavirus pandemic; posting records received as part of American Oversight's "Audit the Wall" project to gather and analyze information related to the Trump administration's proposed construction of a barrier along the U.S.-Mexico border, and analyses of what those records reveal; and the posting of records related to an ethics waiver received by a senior Department of Justice attorney and an analysis of what those records demonstrated regarding the Department's process for issuing such waivers.

Accordingly, American Oversight qualifies for a fee waiver.

Guidance Regarding the Search & Processing of Requested Records

In connection with its request for records, American Oversight provides the following guidance regarding the scope of the records sought and the search and processing of records:

§ Please search all locations and systems likely to have responsive records, regardless of format, medium, or physical characteristics.
§ In conducting your search, please understand the terms "record," "document," and "information" in their broadest sense, to include any written, typed, recorded, graphic, printed, or audio material of any kind. We seek records of any kind, including electronic records, audiotapes, videotapes, and photographs, as well as letters, emails, facsimiles, telephone messages, voice mail messages and transcripts, notes, or minutes of any meetings, telephone conversations or discussions.
§ Our request for records includes any attachments to those records or other materials enclosed with those records when they were previously transmitted. To the extent that an email is responsive to our request, our request includes all prior messages sent or received in that email chain, as well as any attachments to the email.

§ Please search all relevant records or systems containing records regarding agency business. Do not exclude records regarding agency business contained in files, email accounts, or devices in the personal custody of your officials, such as personal email accounts or text messages.

§ In the event some portions of the requested records are properly exempt from disclosure, please disclose any reasonably segregable non-exempt portions of the requested records. If a request is denied in whole, please state specifically why it is not reasonable to segregate portions of the record for release.

§ Please take appropriate steps to ensure that records responsive to this request are not deleted by the agency before the completion of processing for this request. If records potentially responsive to this request are likely to be located on systems where they are subject to potential deletion, including on a scheduled basis, please take steps to prevent that deletion, including, as appropriate, by instituting a litigation hold on those records.

Conclusion

If you have any questions regarding how to construe this request for records or believe that further discussions regarding search and processing would facilitate a more efficient production of records of interest to American Oversight, please do not hesitate to contact American Oversight to discuss this request. American Oversight welcomes an opportunity to discuss its request with you before you undertake your search or incur search or duplication costs. By working together at the outset, American Oversight and your agency can decrease the likelihood of costly and time-consuming litigation in the future.

Where possible, please provide responsive material in an electronic format by email. Alternatively, please provide responsive material in native format or in PDF format on a USB drive. Please send any responsive material being sent by mail to American Oversight, 1030 15th Street NW, Suite B255, Washington, DC 20005. If it will accelerate release of responsive records to American Oversight, please also provide responsive material on a rolling basis.

We share a common mission to promote transparency in government. American Oversight looks forward to working with your agency on this request. If you do not understand any part of this request, please contact Mehreen Rasheed at records@americanoversight.org or (202) 848-1320. Also, if American Oversight's request for a fee waiver is not granted in full, please contact us immediately upon making such a determination.

Sincerely,

/s/ Mehreen Rasheed

Roe v. Hacktivism

Malicious cyber activity carried out in response to controversial moves by government entities is nothing new. But the latest round is taking aim at states with restrictive abortion laws. As GT Contributor Dan Lohrmann points out, the recent uptick is tied to last week's Supreme Court ruling overturning Roe v. Wade. Lohrmann offers advice on how to guard against falling victim to breaches from groups that don't like your state's politics.

Names in the News

Appointments of government tech leaders continued at a rapid pace this week. Here's a list to help you keep track:

1. In New York, Gov. Hochul named the state's first ever chief cyber officer. Hint: It's a familiar name in cyber circles.
2. Nevada has a new state CIO, also a name that's known by many in the

3. Not to be outdone, New Mexico has a new CIO too, meaning acting CIO Raja Sambandam can return to his position as state CISO.

Chi-Town Overhauls IT

Meanwhile in Chicago, Mayor Lightfoot has not only named a new CIO in Kurt Peterson, she's released a new digital services strategy, sure to be impactful for the way IT is run in the city. Peterson will run the Bureau of Innovation and Technology, while appointee Nick Lucius, chief technology officer in the Office of the Mayor, will also play a role in making services and connectivity more widely available.

June 24, 2022

Governor Parson Signs Proclamation to End Elective Abortions in Missouri in Response to U.S. Supreme Court Decision

(JEFFERSON CITY, MO) – Today, in response to the United States Supreme Court's ruling overturning Roe v. Wade, Governor Mike Parson signed a proclamation giving legal effect to Section 188.017 RSMo and activating the "Right to Life of the Unborn Child Act."

"Nothing in the text, history, or tradition of the United States Constitution gave un-elected federal judges authority to regulate abortion. We are happy that the U.S. Supreme Court has corrected this error and returned power to the people and the states to make these decisions," Governor Parson said.

"With Roe v. Wade overturned and statutory triggers provided in HB 126, we are issuing this proclamation to restore our state authority to regulate abortion and protect life. Thanks to decades of conservative leaders, Missouri has become one of the most pro-life states in the nation, and our Administration has always fought for the life of every unborn child. Today, our efforts have produced what generations of Missourians have worked and prayed for: Today, we have won our fight to protect innocent life," Governor Parson continued.

Governor Parson's proclamation notifies the Missouri Revisor of Statutes of the effective date of Section 188.017 RSMo.

Section 188.017, or the "Right to Life of the Unborn Child Act," includes several provisions:

- Prohibits doctors from performing abortions unless there is a medical emergency;
- Creates criminal liability for any person who knowingly performs or induces a non-medical emergency abortion and subjects his or her professional license to suspension; and
- Protects any woman who receives an illegal abortion from being prosecuted in violation of the Act.

The "Right to Life of the Unborn Child Act" was included in HB 126 and contingent upon the U.S. Supreme Court overruling Roe v. Wade in whole or in part. Governor Parson signed HB 126 in 2019.

Governor Parson's Administration is coordinating with the Missouri Attorney General to quickly resolve any litigation against HB 126 before the Courts that is currently preventing implementation of the law.

See attachment for the proclamation that has been signed by Governor Parson and sent to the Secretary of State's Office to be attested.

HHS Issues Guidance to Protect Patient Privacy in Wake of Supreme Court Decision on Roe

Guidance includes information about what's protected – and what's not – when using period trackers and other health information apps on smartphones.

June 29, 2022

On the heels of the Supreme Court ruling in Dobbs vs. Jackson Women's Health Organization, where the right to safe and legal abortion was taken away, President Biden and U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) Secretary Xavier Becerra called on HHS agencies to take action to protect access to sexual and reproductive health care, including abortion, pregnancy complications, and other related care. Today, in direct response, the HHS Office for Civil Rights (OCR) issued new guidance to help protect patients seeking reproductive health care, as well as their providers.

In general, the guidance does two things:

1. addresses how federal law and regulations protect individuals' private medical information (known as protected health information or PHI) relating to abortion and other sexual and reproductive health care – making it clear that providers are not required to disclose private medical information to third parties; and
2. addresses the extent to which private medical information is protected on personal cell phones and tablets, and provides tips for protecting individuals' privacy when using period trackers and other health information apps.

According to recent reports, many patients are concerned that period trackers and other health information apps on smartphones may threaten their right to privacy by disclosing geolocation data which may be misused by those seeking to deny care.

"How you access health care should not make you a target for discrimination. HHS stands with patients and providers in protecting HIPAA privacy rights and reproductive health care information," said HHS Secretary Xavier Becerra. "Anyone who believes their privacy rights have been violated can file a complaint with OCR as we are making this an enforcement priority. Today's action is part of my commitment to President Biden to protect access to health care, including abortion care and other forms of sexual and reproductive health care."

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

This guidance addresses the circumstances under which the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) Privacy Rule permits disclosure of PHI without an individual's authorization. It explains that disclosures for purposes not related to health care, such as disclosures to law enforcement officials, are permitted only in narrow circumstances tailored to protect the individual's privacy and support their access to health care, including abortion care. Specifically, the guidance:

- Reminds HIPAA covered entities and business associates that they can use and disclose PHI, without an individual's signed authorization, only as expressly permitted or required by the Privacy Rule.
- Explains the Privacy Rule's restrictions on disclosures of PHI when required by law, for law enforcement purposes, and to avert a serious threat to health or safety.

OCR is also issuing information for individuals about protecting the privacy and security of their health information when using their personal cell phone or tablet. This guidance explains that, in most cases, the HIPAA Privacy, Security, and Breach Notification Rules do not protect the privacy or security of individuals' health information when they access or store the information on personal cell phones or tablets. This guidance also provides tips about steps an individual can take to decrease how their cell phone or tablet collects and shares their health and other personal information without the individual's knowledge. This guidance:

- Explains how to turn off the location services on Apple and Android devices.
- Identifies best practices for selecting apps, browsers, and search engines that are recognized as supporting increased privacy and security.

The guidance on Protecting the Privacy and Security of Your Health Information When Using Your Personal Cell Phone or Tablet may be found at https://www.hhs.gov/hipaa/for-professionals/privacy/guidance/cell-phone-hipaa/index.html.

If you believe that a HIPAA-covered entity or its business associate violated your (or someone else's) health information privacy rights or committed another violation of the Privacy, Security, or Breach Notification Rules, you may file a complaint at https://www.hhs.gov/hipaa/filing-a-complaint/index.html.

HHS Issues Guidance to the Nation's Retail Pharmacies Clarifying Their Obligations to Ensure Access to Comprehensive Reproductive Health Care Services

Today, following President Biden's Executive Order on ensuring access to reproductive health care, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) is issuing guidance to roughly 60,000 U.S. retail pharmacies, reminding them of their obligations under federal civil rights laws. The guidance makes clear that as recipients of federal financial assistance, including Medicare and Medicaid payments, pharmacies are prohibited under law from discriminating based on race, color, national origin, sex, age, and disability in their programs and activities. This includes supplying prescribed medications; making determinations regarding the suitability of prescribed medications for a patient; and advising a patient about prescribed medications and how to take them. The action is the latest step in the HHS' response to protect reproductive health care.

"We are committed to ensuring that everyone can access health care, free of discrimination," said Secretary Becerra. "This includes access to prescription medications for reproductive health and other types of care."

Under Section 1557 of the Affordable Care Act (Section 1557), 42 U.S.C. 18116, recipients of federal financial assistance cannot exclude an individual from participation in, denying them the benefits of, or otherwise subjecting them to discrimination based on sex and other bases (i.e., race, color, national origin, age, and disability) in their programs and activities. Under federal civil rights law, pregnancy discrimination includes discrimination based on current pregnancy, past pregnancy, potential or intended pregnancy, and medical conditions related to pregnancy or childbirth.

HHS is committed to ensuring that people can access reproductive health care, free from discrimination. If you believe that your or another person's civil rights have been violated, you can file a complaint with HHS at: https://www.hhs.gov/ocr/complaints/index.html.

Below are a list of actions HHS has taken in the days following the Supreme Court's ruling to ensure access to reproductive health care:

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Launched the ReproductiveRights.gov public awareness website, which includes a know-your-rights patient fact sheet;

- Convened a meeting with health insurers, and sent them a letter, calling on the industry to commit to meeting their obligations to provide coverage for contraceptive services at no cost as required by the Affordable Care Act;
- Issued guidance to patients and providers that addresses the extent to which federal law and regulations protect individuals' private medical information when it comes to seeking abortion and other forms of reproductive health care, as well as when it comes to using health information apps on smartphones;
- Announced nearly $3 million in new funding to bolster training and technical assistance for the nationwide network of Title X family planning providers;
- Met with Michigan Governor Gretchen Whitmer, Oregon Governor Kate Brown, and Maine Governor Janet Mills and state attorneys general to discuss state-specific concerns;
- Issued guidance on the Emergency Medical Treatment and Active Labor Act (EMTALA) reaffirming that it protects providers when offering legally-mandated, life- or health-saving abortion services in emergency situations.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Meet our new Executive Director - Tom Cotter, MPH

We are pleased to share that Tom Cotter, MPH, has joined Healthcare Ready as President and Executive Director. Prior to this role, Tom served as the Director of Emergency Response and Preparedness for Project HOPE and led response operations at Americares.

"Tom is a public health and emergency management leader who brings a unique global perspective cultivated through more than a decade of experience helming many complex and conflict-driven health responses in the US, Haiti, and the Philippines, among many others, to Healthcare Ready," said Perry Fri, Chairman of Healthcare Ready's Board of Directors, Executive Vice President of Industry Relations, Membership, and Education at Healthcare Distribution Alliance (HDA), and Chief Operating Officer of the HDA Foundation.

We hope you will join us in welcoming Tom as he works to further Healthcare Ready's mission-driven work in expanding capacity-building efforts to strengthen our healthcare supply chain, advance community resilience-building initiatives grounded in equity, and focus on hardest-hit communities during disasters.

Executive Director Note

It is a privilege to be appointed as the new executive director of Healthcare Ready, an organization whose work I've had the pleasure of working alongside for years. I am inspired by the commitment and talent of the Healthcare Ready team past and present. Today, we face enormous challenges in health inequities and a lack of community resilience in areas that need it the most. Each month I will highlight a topic at the intersection of health equity and healthcare supply chain access.

Healthcare Ready prides itself, pun intended, on leveraging its relationship with the US government and private sector partners to assure equitable response and recovery to disasters and disease outbreaks, including LGBTQI+ individuals in our communities that still do not enjoy equal consideration and protections under various state and federal legislation, which affects access to healthcare. Further, lingering social stigmas place LGBTQI+ folks at greater risk for negative health outcomes such as sexually transmitted disease, elevated suicide rates, and violence.

Healthcare Ready is dedicated to strengthening, safeguarding, and responding to disasters with both visible (such as sex and race) and invisible forms (such as gender, sexual orientation, and sometimes race) of every individual's expression and heritage in mind. We will continue to leverage our unique position to advocate for health equity.

Other Highlights

Healthcare Ready partnered with the HDA Research Foundation to design a Pharmacy Preparedness training module for dispensers and pharmacists in-training. The foundation's educational model on Understanding Pharmaceutical Distribution is a free, online resource covering supply chain resilience, stakeholder functions, and return/recall processes.

Last month was National Wildfire Awareness Month, which also marked a month where wildfires impacted numerous states in the Western US. Be sure to prepare yourself and your loved ones for wildfires by following our Disaster Tip Sheet.

COVID-19 Update

The World at a Glance: According to the World Health Organization (WHO) Director-General Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus, Omicron variants BA.4 and BA.5 is spreading in 110 countries. Per the New York Times, 57 countries are reporting a 14-day increase in reported case counts above 100% with Bangladesh, the Maldives, Albania, and Kosovo reporting the greatest percentage increase as of June 30. The number of daily COVID-19 related deaths has decreased 15% since last month with an average of 1,470 deaths per day.

The World Trade Organization (WTO) adopted a Vaccine-Patent waiver to limit intellectual property restrictions for the manufacturing of COVID-19 vaccines.

The United States at a Glance: According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's (CDC's) COVID-19 weekly reports, as of June 22, the seven-day moving average of new cases (97,430) decreased slightly (5.6%) compared to the previous seven-day moving average (103,175). This trend is consistent with data from earlier this month and May, with reported cases remaining relatively stable. Similar trends can be seen for hospitalizations (4,375 seven-day average for June 15-21; 1.0% increase from the prior seven-day average), and deaths (255 7-day moving average; 10.4% decrease from the prior seven-day moving average). COVID-19 community levels have been declining in the Northeast as well as Midwest and is on the rise in the Southeast and the West, with cases in Mississippi having doubled over June.

On June 8, the White House announced the redirection of $5 billion dollars previously earmarked for testing and protective equipment to go towards the procurement of COVID-19 vaccines. An additional $4.9 billion will be redirected to purchase courses of Paxlovid and another $300,000 will be used for monoclonal antibody treatments.

The Senate passed the first major federal gun safety legislation allocating money for mental healthcare and altering age requirements and background checks for those looking to purchase guns. As a newly classified public health issue, gun violence and safety has not been federally regulated in such a way until now. The goals are to implement red flag laws and other safety measures to cut down on gun death rates.

The tampon and period product shortage, coupled with rising inflation, remains a concern as it continues to affect menstrual hygiene and public health.

Community Engagement
On June 10, the Secretary of US Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) Xavier Becerra restated HHS' commitment to support and protect the LGBTQI+ community from discrimination in certain states. Several action documents were released earlier this year that includes a guidance on child welfare systems to support LGBTQI+ youth, and a notice on gender affirming care, civil rights, and patient privacy.

LOOKING BACK

Earlier this year, Trust for America's Health (TFAH) released their Ready or Not 2022: Protecting the Public's Health from Diseases, Disasters, and Bioterrorism report, which measures states' level of preparedness to effectively respond to various emergencies or disasters. In late April, TFAH gave a congressional briefing and national webinar to present key findings and recommendations.

Earlier this month, the US Government Accountability Office (GAO) released a report titled COVID-19, Pandemic Lessons Highlight Need for Public Health Situational Awareness Network. This report reflects on the challenges associated with real-time situational awareness experienced during the pandemic and provides recommendations on ways to support national major group of Americans to get inoculated. The CDC's Public Health Communications Collaborative (PHSCC) has updated its messaging toolkit on COVID-19 vaccination for children six months and older.

Therapeutics Update

On June 7, the US Federal Food and Drug Administration's (FDA's) Vaccines and Related Biological Products Advisory Committee (VRBPAC) voted to recommend Novavax's vaccine (two doses, 21 days apart) for use in the US. Novavax had informed the agency of changes to its manufacturing process on June 3 days before the committee was scheduled to review its vaccine's safety and efficacy data. The FDA will consider VRBPAC's recommendation when authorizing the Novavax vaccine, which may delay authorization of the Novavax vaccine. VRBPAC's June 28 meeting included a presentation by Novavax, whose materials can be accessed here.

Laboratory Corporation of America's (Labcorp) newest COVID-19 test, VirSeq SARS-CoV-2 NGS Test on the PacBio Sequel II sequencing system, was issued an Emergency Use Authorization (EUA) by the FDA on June 10. The new test is authorized for the identification and differentiation of global strains of the virus. It is intended for use by clinical laboratory personnel trained in the operation of the PacBio Sequel 2 sequencing system and should be used in conjunction with patient medical history and other diagnostic information to determine appropriate clinical management.

The Office of Assistant Secretary for Preparedness and Response (ASPR) and the FDA announced an authorization of an extension to the shelf-life from 18 to 24 months on June 28 for specific lots of the refrigerated AstraZeneca monoclonal antibody therapy, Evusheld (tixagevimab co-packaged with cilgavimab), which is currently authorized for emergency use for pre-exposure prophylaxis of COVID-19 in certain adults and pediatric individuals. As a result of the extension, some batches of Evusheld may be stored for an additional six months from the labeled expiration date. The information sharing.

LOOKING AHEAD

On July 1, under Title 32 of the US Code, the federal funding for the National Guard to support the whole-of-America response to COVID-19 is transitioning to State Active Duty (SAD). After July 1, governors may still activate National Guard personnel to SAD as necessary for ongoing COVID-19 response and may receive reimbursement from FEMA's Public Assistance (PA) program at a 90 percent federal cost-share.

July is Extreme Heat Safety Month. Last year, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) reported that July was the world's hottest month ever recorded. Be sure to prepare for the anticipated upcoming heat and read how you can stay safe.

The National Association of Community Health Centers is hosting their 2022 Community Health Institute in August. The event is one of the largest gatherings of health center clinicians, executives, consumer board members, and State/Regional Primary Care Associations, many of whom are being called upon to assume a larger role in the nation's health care system. Registration is now open.

On June 28, FDA announced they are working with Abbott Nutrition in Ireland to ship approximately 35,000 pounds of infant formula (Similac Advance 2'-FL Stage 1) to the US by mid-July. FDA continues to leverage flexibilities in order to bolster the supply of formula products.

On Tuesday, June 21, House Speaker Nancy Pelosi and Senate Majority Leader Chuck Schumer released a statement mentioning that COMPETES/USICA should pass in July. Both COMPETES and USICA contain significant sections related to the pandemic and other disaster preparedness, as well as supply chain resilience including the reimbursable transfers, efforts to enhance medical supply chain elasticity,

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

FDA and ASPR have also announced the authorization of an extension to the shelf-life from 24 months to 30 months for specific lots of refrigerated Regeneron monoclonal antibody therapy, REGEN-COV (casirivimab and imdevimab, administered together). Due to the high frequency of the omicron variant and sub-variants, REGEN-COV is not currently authorized for the treatment or prevention of COVID-19.

Supply Chain Update

On June 2, the Biden Administration announced $368 million in government grants to strengthen and boost rail-based transport. Under the Consolidated Rail Infrastructure and Safety Improvement (CRSI) grant program, funds will be routed to support 46 projects in 32 states and the District of Columbia (DC), as confirmed by the Federal Railroad Administration (FRA).

GE Healthcare, a subsidiary of American conglomerate General Electric, has stabilized the production of Iodinated (IV) Contrast Media at its Shanghai, China, facility as of June 6 and is resuming normal production and shipping. GE plans to work with affected customers as supply progressively recovers.

On June 7, MITRE unveiled its new "System of Trust" (SoT) Framework to provide a comprehensive knowledge of the supply chain and security-risk assessment process at the RSA Conference 2022. The open-source framework will help entities identify, discuss, and quantify the risks in major supply chains, including risk assessment of suppliers and software.

On June 21, President Biden signed the Ocean Shipping Reform Act into law. This bars imports in part or in full from Xinjiang unless companies prove that their supply chain and manufacturing capacity do not include elements of forced labor practices. The law may present a risk of supply chain disruption as reduced imports into the US from China may lead to price surges of products as companies seek alternate sources of manufacturing, or from certain product shortages on the US market. The second part of the law regulates the bi-directional movement of goods, efforts to maintain domestic reserves of critical medical supplies, and more.

On June 24, the Supreme Court overturned Roe v. Wade ending the federal protection of abortion access. This historic ruling has widespread implications to the public health system by shifting decisions around abortion access to state and local governments, limiting safe access to healthcare.

The WHO ruled that the Monkeypox outbreak does not yet classify as a global health emergency. Nevertheless, as monkeypox continues to spread, the CDC is maintaining a Level 2 Alert asking individuals to practice enhanced precautions. As of June 30, there are 396 confirmed cases of monkeypox in the US as the global count rises above 5,300. The monkeypox virus is present in 49 countries, an eight-location increase since June 17. The WHO started creating a new smallpox vaccine-sharing platform in mid-June to better contain the outbreak of monkeypox. In more than 30 countries out of Africa that are reporting cases the smallpox vaccines are 85% effective against monkeypox.

On June 30, the Supreme Court limited the Environmental Protection Agency's ability to regulate carbon emissions from power plants. With a 6 to 3 vote, the court diminished the Biden administration's work to set emissions standards and caps. According to CNN, anthropogenic climate change causes deadlier extreme weather events, worsened water crises, increases in food insecurity, and higher rates of disease spread.

HIGHLIGHTS

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Meet our new Executive Director - Tom Cotter, MPH

We are pleased to share that Tom Cotter, MPH, has joined Healthcare Ready as President and Executive Director. Prior to this role, Tom served as the Director of Emergency Response and Preparedness for Project HOPE and led response operations at Americares.

"Tom is a public health and emergency management leader who brings a unique global perspective cultivated through more than a decade of experience helming many complex and conflict-driven health responses in the US, Haiti, and the Philippines, among many others, to Healthcare Ready," said Perry Fri, Chairman of Healthcare Ready's Board of Directors, Executive Vice President of Industry Relations, Membership, and Education at Healthcare Distribution Alliance (HDA), and Chief Operating Officer of the HDA Foundation.

We hope you will join us in welcoming Tom as he works to further Healthcare Ready's mission-driven work in expanding capacity-building efforts to strengthen our healthcare supply chain, advance community resilience-building initiatives grounded in equity, and focus on hardest-hit communities during disasters.

Executive Director Note

It is a privilege to be appointed as the new executive director of Healthcare Ready, an organization whose work I've had the pleasure of working alongside for years. I am inspired by the commitment and talent of the Healthcare Ready team past and present. Today, we face enormous challenges in health inequities and a lack of community resilience in areas that need it the most. Each month I will highlight a topic at the intersection of health equity and healthcare supply chain access.

Healthcare Ready prides itself, pun intended, on leveraging its relationship with the US government and private sector partners to assure equitable response and recovery to disasters and disease outbreaks, including LGBTQI+ individuals in our communities that still do not enjoy equal consideration and protections under various state and federal legislation, which affects access to healthcare. Further, lingering social stigmas place LGBTQI+ folks at greater risk for negative health outcomes such as sexually transmitted disease, elevated suicide rates, and violence.

Healthcare Ready is dedicated to strengthening, safeguarding, and responding to disasters with both visible (such as sex and race) and invisible forms (such as gender, sexual orientation, and sometimes race) of every individual's expression and heritage in mind. We will continue to leverage our unique position to advocate for health equity.

Other Highlights

Healthcare Ready partnered with the HDA Research Foundation to design a Pharmacy Preparedness training module for dispensers and pharmacists in-training. The foundation's educational model on Understanding Pharmaceutical Distribution is a free, online resource covering supply chain resilience, stakeholder functions, and return/recall processes.

Last month was National Wildfire Awareness Month, which also marked a month where wildfires impacted numerous states in the Western US. Be sure to prepare yourself and your loved ones for wildfires by following our Disaster Tip Sheet.

COVID-19 Update

The World at a Glance: According to the World Health Organization (WHO) Director-General Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus, Omicron variants BA.4 and BA.5 is spreading in 110 countries. Per the New York Times, 57 countries are reporting a 14-day increase in reported case counts above 100% with Bangladesh, the Maldives, Albania, and Kosovo reporting the greatest percentage increase as of June 30. The number of daily COVID-19 related deaths has decreased 15% since last month with an average of 1,470 deaths per day.

The World Trade Organization (WTO) adopted a Vaccine-Patent waiver to limit intellectual property restrictions for the manufacturing of COVID-19 vaccines.

The United States at a Glance: According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's (CDC's) COVID-19 weekly reports, as of June 22, the seven-day moving average of new cases (97,430) decreased slightly (5.6%) compared to the previous seven-day moving average (103,175). This trend is consistent with data from earlier this month and May, with reported cases remaining relatively stable. Similar trends can be seen for hospitalizations (4,375 seven-day average for June 15-21; 1.0% increase from the prior seven-day average), and deaths (255 7-day moving average; 10.4% decrease from the prior seven-day moving average). COVID-19 community levels have been declining in the Northeast as well as Midwest and is on the rise in the Southeast and the West, with cases in Mississippi having doubled over June.

On June 8, the White House announced the redirection of $5 billion dollars previously earmarked for testing and protective equipment to go towards the procurement of COVID-19 vaccines. An additional $4.9 billion will be redirected to purchase courses of Paxlovid and another $300,000 will be used for monoclonal antibody treatments.

More states codifying abortion access

About a dozen states are shoring up abortion rights within their borders, following threats to care after the Supreme Court decision to overturn Roe v. Wade.

Proposals take aim at school vaccination requirements

Emboldened by inroads against COVID-19 vaccination requirements, a surge of bills in state legislatures are taking aim at routine vaccinations for children, posing serious harm to public health.

Menthol tobacco ban could close gap in Black lung cancer mortality

FDA's move to ban menthol would be an important step toward reversing a glaring equity gap that leaves Black Americans in particular less likely to successfully quit smoking and more likely to die from it.

Pandemic presents new challenges for US injury prevention

With increases in gun-related deaths, drug overdoses and motor vehicle crashes, health workers who toil in the field of injury prevention received back-to-back reminders during the COVID-19 pandemic that their work is far from finished.

Improving US health starts with 23 key Healthy People objectives

To help health advocates drive action, Healthy People leaders have identified 23 key objectives, known as the Leading Health Indicators. Moving the needle on the indicators, which address everything from air quality and food insecurity to infant deaths and homicides, can help the nation make tremendous strides in improving health.

From: The Network for Public Health Law
To: Oldweiler, Michael
Subject: Judicial Trends in Public Health – July 18, 2022
Date: Monday, July 18, 2022 11:18:56 AM

The Network for Public Health Law monitors key court cases and relevant judicial trends in public health. The Network's monthly reporter, Judicial Trends in Public Health (JTPH), highlights select, recently-published cases in public health law and policy from the prior 3 months. Case abstracts are organized within 11 key topics (adapted from James G. Hodge, Jr., Public Health Law in a Nutshell, 4th ed. (2021)), including hyperlinks to the full decisions (where available). Contact the Network for more information, questions, or comments.

JTPH CASE HIGHLIGHTS – July 18, 2022

In re: Greg Abbott et al. (Texas Supreme Court, May 13, 2022): The Texas Supreme Court

reversed an order forbidding the Texas Department of Family and Protective Services (DFPS) from investigating parents of transgender children for potential child abuse. Read the abstract here.

Arizona v. Yellen (U.S. Court of Appeals, 9th Circuit, May 19, 2022): The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals held that Arizona has standing to challenge the American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA), a federal pandemic response package. Read the abstract here.

Planned Parenthood of the Heartland, Inc. v. Iowa (Supreme Court of Iowa, June 17, 2022): The Iowa Supreme Court held that the Iowa Constitution does not provide a fundamental right to abortion. Read the abstract here.

Valdez v. Grisham (U.S. Court of Appeals, 10th Cir., June 14, 2022): The Tenth Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed a district court decision leaving in place New Mexico's vaccine requirements for health care workers. Read the abstract here.

Jones, et al. v. California Att'y General Rob Bonta, et al. (U.S. Court of Appeals, 9th Cir., May 11, 2022): A three-judge panel of the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals held that a California law banning the sale of semiautomatic weapons to adults under the age of 21 violated the Second Amendment right to bear arms. Read the abstract here.

TOPICS: These and other cases are organized on the Network website under the topics below (adapted from chapter titles in Public Health Law in a Nutshell (4th Edition) by James G. Hodge, Jr., Director, Network for Public Health Law—Western Region). Select a topic below to view all cases under that topic.

1. Source & Scope of Public Health Legal Powers

MISSOURI DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND SENIOR SERVICES ★ Health.Mo.Gov ★ VOLUME 1 ★ ISSUE 3

MCH Director Communiqué

What if you had to tell someone about who you are, but you were not allowed to include information about anything that has happened to you in the past? You were only allowed to talk about what you are doing and thinking today. It would probably be difficult to say very much about yourself because eventually you would want to bring up something from your past experience that has shaped you as a person. Life Course Theory, rooted in social determinants of health and health equity, offers a rich and layered understanding of how health develops over a lifetime and across generations. It is an organizing framework for HRSA's Maternal Child Health Bureau (MCHB) strategic planning and a foundational concept of the Title V MCH Block Grant. The Life Course Perspective recognizes the linkages between experiences in childhood, adolescence and later adulthood and offers a new way of looking at health, not as disconnected stages unrelated to each other, but as an integrated continuum. It suggests that there is a "complex interplay" of social and environmental factors mixed with biological, behavioral and psychological issues that help to define health outcomes across the course of a person's life. In this perspective, each life stage exerts influence on the next stage, social, economic and physical environments have influence throughout the life course, and all these factors impact individual and community health.

The AMCHP Life Course Indicators Project was designed to provide a standardized set of indicators to MCH programs engaged in planning and evaluation projects designed within a life course framework. The 55 life course indicators include a broad swath of topics such as oral health, breastfeeding, bullying, unemployment, household food insecurity, mental health, smoking and alcohol use among adolescents, and homelessness and can be explored by Category, Data Source or Domain through the Life Course Indicators Online Tool.

The Life Course Perspective provides a framework to address the broad range of factors that impact health and well-being and to significantly improve the health and well-being of mothers, children and families. By translating the Life Course Perspective into innovative practices, programs and policies, we can take significant strides towards optimizing health across the lifespan and eliminating health disparities across populations and communities. MCH programs should assess how a life course approach can be incorporated into existing programs to broaden their focus, and, potentially, their impact on health disparities and health outcomes.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

MCH Stakeholder Survey

Thank you for taking the time to complete the MCH Stakeholder survey. Your participation is important to us. Your feedback and recommendations will help strengthen the strategies and activities to address the priority needs identified as part of the FFY 2021-2025 Title V MCH state action plan. Additionally, your responses will also help us identify emerging needs of the MCH population. Thank you once again for your kind cooperation.

Title V Performance Measure Visual

Sarah Erhard Reid, Chief of the Office on Women's Health (OWH), shared the process she uses to align the goals of OWH programs with the Title V MCH priority needs.

"When I started my role as a manager in OWH, I knew there were initiatives funded by several grants, including Title V. As part of my onboarding, I began reviewing the different performance measures for Title V. I'm a very visual person and I like to see how pieces fit together, so I decided to put the different performance measures on a board. It's a normal bulletin board with each performance measures on a separate post-it note. I've used it when I was identifying areas to update in our printed materials, to understand how our different grants complement one another in our MCH work, and for annual budget requests and reporting. I know not everyone is a visual person or has space for an extra board, but it has helped me stay focused on the goals of Title V and feel more connected to Title V as a group."

Legislative Updates

The Missouri 2022 legislative session ended on May 13. Of the 2,301 bills filed by the members of the Missouri General Assembly, 69 were Truly Agreed To and Finally Passed (TAFP) and sent to Gov. Parson's desk. Out of the 69 TAFP bills, four were vetoed by the governor. Below is a list of MCH-related TAFP bills and budget items passed during this session and signed by the governor.

- A bill that will direct the Missouri Department of Corrections to establish a nursery within a women's correctional facility by July 2025 was passed as an amendment to SB683.
- Bill SB681 will require schools to test their drinking water for lead and install filters if lead concentrations exceed five parts per billion.
- $1 million in funding for schools to purchase period products was included in HB 3002. This should be enough funds to provide products for all menstruating students in grades 6 to 12 for one year.
- The following line items were added to the state budget:
  - $500,000 for the Cora Faith Walker Doula Training Program.
  - $250,000 for prenatal care in Kansas City.
  - $530,000 for Maternal and Perinatal Health to fund a Perinatal Quality Collaborative, invest in tobacco cessation for pregnant mothers at the local level, and pay for maternal death associated autopsies.
  - $500,000 to establish a contract with a statewide non-profit to provide navigation services for breast cancer screening and treatment.
  - Almost $4 million in general revenue to implement the Justice for Survivors Telehealth Network that was established by law in 2020.
  - $200,000 for an awareness campaign to empower women regarding their sexual health.
  - $2.3 million in one-time American Rescue Plan Act of 2021 ("ARPA") funds appropriated for local public health agencies to offset other declines in funding for local health.
  - Two new decision liems (NDIs) for water fluoridation in the Office of Dental Health, one for PHHS block grant funds for community water fluoridation and another for a pilot program using innovative new technology to help smaller communities fluoridate their water.

For more information regarding the 2022 legislative session, you can visit the House and Senate Bill Tracking and Missouri Foundation for Health webpages.

PROGRAM SPOTLIGHT

Bureau of Special Health Care Needs Family Partnership Program

Q. What does the Family Partnership Program do?

1. What is the role of the Family Partnership program and where are the Family Partners located?

Family Partnership strives to enhance the lives of individuals and families impacted by special health care needs by providing resources and information to empower families to live a good life.

There are four Family Partners serving four regions of the state: Northwest, Northeast, Southwest and Southeast. There are also two Family Partners, who provide statewide coverage, specializing in services for individuals who are deaf and hard of hearing. To see a list of Family Partners and their contact information, click on the Family Partnership Regional Map.

2. What is the purpose of the Family Partnership Program?

The primary purpose of Family Partners is to reassure families that they are not alone on their journey. Each Family Partner is a parent of a child or youth with special health care needs and is therefore well equipped to help parents/caregivers explore options and solutions in the following topic areas:

- Daily Life: What your family members do as part of everyday life: school, employment, volunteering, communication routines and life skills.
- Social and Spirituality: Building friendships and relationships, leisure activities, personal networks and faith community.
- Community Living: Housing and living options, community access, transportation, and home adaptations.
- Advocacy and Self-Determination: Developing advocacy skills, transition planning for the future, and fostering independence and interdependence.
- Healthy Living: Managing health care and staying well: medical needs, exercise, therapy services, locating physicians and specialists, mental health, behavioral health and medical home.
- Safety and Security: Emergency planning, well-being, community support, guardianship options and legal concerns.
- Services and Supports: Using an array of integrated supports to achieve a good life, including mentor programs.

3. Whom do you partner with to implement Family Partnership initiatives and improve the health of the CSHCN population?

Some examples of partnerships include the: Newborn Hearing Screening Program, Early Hearing Detection and Intervention Program, Missouri Parent Advisory Council, Association of Maternal & Child Health Programs, Heartland Genetics, Child and Adolescent School Health Council, Pediatric Palliative Care and Hospice Parent Advisory Task Force, Title V Maternal Child Health Block Grant, Health Resources and Services Administration, Hands and Voices, St. Louis Resource and Respite Coalition, and various other state agencies that support special health care needs participants and their families.

4. How do you support CSHCN and their families?

We help families find resources that pertain to their family's specific needs, educate them on advocacy and let them know that they are not alone on their journey.

5. What is the Family Partnership program currently working on, and/or what do you hope to accomplish in the next year?

We are currently working on the draft and implementation of our five year plan, including but not limited to: medical home education, annual caregiver retreats, virtual Family Partnership trainings, continuation of finding useful resources to support our families in their specific regions, outreach to spread information about our program, newsletters and working with newly enrolled families. We are also partnering with the Newborn Hearing Screening Program to create and implement a deaf and hard of hearing adult mentor program.

6. Where can we find more information about Family Partnership?

More information and resources can be found on the Family Partnership webpage. If you would like to be added to the Family Partnership listserv, email FamilyPartnership@health.mo.gov.

MO-DHSS-[illegible]

Please share some highlights of the great work that Family Partnership has accomplished in the past year.

Some of the highlights are that Family Partnership have been able to stay connected to the families in regions throughout the COVID-19 pandemic. Everyone has had to shift and maneuver due to Covid-19 and we feel that our families did the best they could with the resources they were presented with. The Family Partners were available via email and phone. This seemed to calm parents as they just needed reassurance that social support and resources were available when needed. A highlight of the deaf and hard of hearing Family Partner was beginning discussions with the Latina community on how best to serve them. They discussed how to honor their culture while still helping Latina families navigate resources and support systems.

Family Partnership Success Stories

Lydia Sergeant, deaf and hard of hearing - statewide coverage - A success story of mine was a family that contacted me after moving to Missouri from another state. The out of state program referred the family to Family Partnership. I was able to connect the family to the CYSHCN coordinator and other resources for the deaf and hard of hearing.

Pat Fox, Northeast Family Parntership - The Northeast Family Partner had a teenager who had suffered a traumatic brain injury from a gunshot wound. After recovery he returned to high school with an Individualized Education Program (IEP). He became frustrated as they would not let him return to the technical college where he had been attending school before the brain injury. His goal was to get his diploma and become an auto mechanic. The participant wanted to attend technical college but he did not have the funds. I suggested that he work with the Special School District in his county to request support for re-enrolling so that he could get certified in auto repair. I walked the family through writing an IEP to get the education plan in place. Now, he will not only stay in school until he is 21 but he will also graduate with a high school diploma and certificate in auto repair.

Karese Love, Northwest Family Partnership - A family I helped had recently moved to the Kansas City area. Their jobs and insurance had changed. The mother was flustered as she could not find the specialized formula due to product shortage and delivery issues. I was able to help the family acquire specialized formula through Children's Mercy Healthcare.

Camelia Callahan, Southwest Family Partnership - I was able to offer resources and support to a mom who gave birth to a child born with the same skin disease as my daughter. I helped her navigate care for her child's condition by guiding her through the insurance and Supplemental Security Income (SSI) process and connecting her to hospital resources and the Dystrophic Epidermolysis Bullosa Research America (DEBRA) international, a national patient advocacy organization that supports Epidermolysis Bullosa patients and their families. Unfortunately, the baby only lived for one month. I offered the mom grief support and checked in on the siblings. I still contact the mom from time to time to check in on her.

Sheree Pursley, Southeast Family Partnership - My greatest success story of my career was last year. I was contacted by a mom who couldn't find a tracheostomy tube for her son who was on full life support. She had tried everything she could think of and had reached the point where she would have to leave her son at the hospital. Due to Covid-19 supply shortages of tracheostomy tubes, ties and gauze, she had zero supplies at home to care for her son. I was able to find and get her in contact with a company that met all of her needs and she got the tracheostomy tubes in about 24 hours. She called me back crying tears of joy for my compassion and assistance. I will never forget that positive success story for the rest of my life. We are Family Partners to help others because we understand the complications of daily life. When you are able to assist a family through a challenge, it's such a wonderful feeling to know your journey makes a positive difference in the lives of others.

NEWS OF NOTE

National Infant Formula Shortage

As the nationwide infant formula shortage continues to affect millions of families across the country, state health officials and pediatricians urge Missourians to speak with their pediatricians and know the dos and don'ts of infant formula use. Missouri is one of the six states, along with Iowa, South Dakota, North Dakota, Texas and Tennessee that are hit hardest by the nationwide formula shortage. More than half of infant formula was sold out. The ongoing formula shortage has been compounded by the Abbott product recalls and inflation. The Biden-Harris administration has mobilized efforts to increase production and improve supply chain by working closely with Abbott Nutrition to get its shuttered plant reopened. The administration has also worked to increase imports from Ireland, Chile, Australia, New Zealand, the United Kingdom and the Netherlands. Through the Operation Fly Formula, approximately 19 million 8-ounce bottles of formula have been imported into the U.S. Biden also invoked the Defense Production Act (DPA) to make it easier for manufacturers to acquire ingredients to produce formula. Another strategy involved the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) working with states to make it easier for families to purchase formula using their Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants, and Children (WIC) benefits. For more details on how the White House is responding to the infant formula shortage, you can visit the White House website.

Socioeconomically vulnerable families are the most impacted by this crisis because Abbott Nutrition is the main supplier of commercial milk formula to low-income families through state benefit programs such as WIC. About half of infant formula nationwide is purchased by participants using WIC benefits; therefore, this shortage poses a direct threat to the health and survival of these most nutritionally vulnerable infants. Locally, the St. Louis Integrated Health Network (IHN) is leading a community-wide collaborative effort to address the formula shortage and provide immediate solutions to local families. The Feed the Babies project will utilize a three-pronged approach that will involve: 1) increasing breastfeeding support for birthing people and families of newborns, 2) mass purchasing and distributing Pasteurized Donor Human Milk (PDHM) for infants 0-6 months in cases where breastfeeding is not an option, 3) and providing nutrition support and counseling for families of 6-12 month-old infants. DHSS is collaborating with the Feed the Babies project to support their efforts in the St. Louis region and explore the possibility of expanding the project to other regions in Missouri, as well as developing a statewide plan to address both short- and long-term formula and food access issues for vulnerable infants and young children.

Maternal Health Survey

Participants are needed to help researchers better understand what women or persons of childbearing age living in Missouri think about pregnancy and childbirth. This survey is aimed at assessing opinions and knowledge on the causes of death for pregnant women. The study is recruiting women over 18 who live in Missouri. The study procedures include completion of a brief survey that can be completed in English or Spanish. The survey is completed electronically and should only take about 15 minutes to complete. The survey can be accessed at here. Results from the study may be used to develop programs and tools that will help pregnant persons in Missouri. For direct questions, please contact Dr. Karen Florio at kflorio@saintlukeskc.org.

Missouri 988 Suicide and Crisis Lifeline

According to Provisional data from the National Center for Health Statistics, there were 14,797 suicide-related deaths in the US for people 10-34 years old in 2021. For 2020, the overall rate of suicide in Missouri for all ages was 18.3 per 100,000 compared to 13.9 per 100,000 nationally. According to the 2020 Missouri Vital Statistics data, suicide was the eleventh cause of death for all ages and the third cause of death among adolescents 10-19 years old. The top three causes of injury-related deaths among Missourians 10 to 19 years old in 2020 were: 1) motor vehicle accidents, 2) homicide and 3) suicide. As such, suicide remains a public health issue of great significance in Missouri.

On July 16, 2022, Missouri joined the rest of the U.S. in using the 988 dialing code. 988 will be the new three-digit number for call (multiple languages), text or chat (English only) that connects people to the trained counselors that are part of the existing National Suicide Prevention Lifeline, where compassionate, accessible care and support are available for anyone experiencing mental health distress. The chat feature will be available through the Lifeline's website. People can use 988 if they are having thoughts of suicide, a mental health or substance use crisis, or any other kind of emotional distress. People can also dial 988 if they are worried about a loved one who may need crisis support.

1-833-9-HELP4MOMS-Maternal Mental Health Hotline

The U.S. Health and Human Services Department's Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA) announced the launch of the Maternal Mental Health Hotline, a new, confidential, toll-free hotline for expecting and new moms experiencing mental health challenges. The hotline provides 24/7, free, confidential support before, during and after pregnancy. Those who contact the hotline can receive a range of support, including brief interventions from trained counselors who are culturally and trauma-informed, as well as referrals to both community-based and telehealth providers as needed. Hotline counselors include the following MCH professionals: licensed health care providers such as nurses or doctors, licensed mental health clinicians, certified doulas or childbirth educators and certified peer support specialists. Hotline services can be accessed via call or text. Promotional materials for the hotline can be accessed on the HRSA webpage.

American Academy of Pediatrics Updates Safe Sleep Guidelines

Every year, approximately 3,500 babies in the U.S. die suddenly and unexpectedly while they're sleeping. Usually, these tragic deaths are due to sudden infant death syndrome (SIDS) or accidental deaths from suffocation or strangulation. While the causes of SIDS are largely unknown, we do know what causes unintentional suffocation and strangulation in bed. Creating a safe sleep environment can help reduce an infant's risk of SIDS. The American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP) has recently updated its safe sleep guidelines. Highlights from the updated recommendations include the following:

- Placing babies on their backs to sleep for naps and at night.
- Using a sleep surface for baby that is firm and flat (like a mattress in a safety-approved crib), level (not at an angle or inclined), and covered only with a fitted sheet.
- Sharing your room with baby by giving them their own sleep space (crib, bassinet or portable play yard) near your bed, for at least the first 6 months.
- Keeping things out of baby's sleep area—no soft objects, toys or loose items. Feeding human milk, such as by breastfeeding.
- Keeping baby's head and face uncovered during sleep.

You can read the full Policy Statement for all the updated recommendations, including those related to pacifiers, bed sharing, substance use, home cardiorespiratory monitors and tummy time.

Covid-19 Vaccine for Children under 5 Years

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and the US Federal Drug Administration (FDA) have expanded vaccine eligibility for children between 6 months to 5 years. This means that approximately 20 million children younger than 5 can now be vaccinated against Covid-19. Children ages 6 months to 4 years are authorized for a primary series of three doses of Pfizer and children ages 6 months through 5 years are eligible for two doses of Moderna. For a list of Covid-19 pediatric vaccine providers in Missouri, please see the following link. While parents and caregivers may be eager to vaccinate their children, they may also have questions regarding the vaccine. Please see the MCH resources and tools section for a list of resources on what parents and caregivers need to know about the Covid-19 vaccine.

According to a recent CDC analysis of death certificate data (March 1, 2020-April 30, 2022) from the NCHS, Covid-19 was the fifth leading cause of death for children ages 1-4 years and the fourth leading cause of death for children under one year of age. With hospitalization rates slowly increasing for children 0-4 years, it is imperative that children are vaccinated against Covid-19. The vaccine has been shown to not only be safe but also effective in preventing multisystem inflammatory syndrome and hospitalizations due to severe illness. The AAP recommends Covid-19 vaccination for all infants, children, and adolescents 6 months of age and older who do not have contraindications to receiving a Covid-19 vaccine authorized or approved for use for their age group.

Maternal Health Multi-Sector Action Network

It is important to incorporate the lived experiences of mothers of young children affected by substance use and mental health challenges into the environmental scan of the Missouri Maternal Health Multi-Sector Action Network. To accomplish this, the University of Missouri-Kansas City's Institute for Human Development (UMKC-IHD) will conduct focus groups or "mapping sessions" to better understand the facilitators and barriers to accessing high-quality and equitable services for mothers affected by substance use and mental health disorders. Understanding the lived experiences of mothers with substance use and mental health disorders, and front-line clinical and social service professionals who work with women with substance use and mental health disorders before, during and/or after pregnancy will help guide the development of future services and support systems available to address maternal substance use and mental health. This will help improve health outcomes for mothers and their children.

The study is part of a collaboration with the Title V MCH Block Grant at DHSS. The UMKC-IHD is looking to recruit TWO groups of individuals for focus groups:

- Mothers of young children affected by substance use throughout the state of Missouri (participants will receive a $30 gas card as a thank you). Participants can access the following link to receive more information about the study.
- Service providers or individuals who work at organizations/agencies that provide support/services to mothers of young children affected by substance use and mental health disorders. Service providers can access the following link to receive more information about the study.

The study will involve a one-time focus group. The focus groups will take about an hour and completing survey forms will take about 15 minutes. If you have any questions or concerns about the study, you can also reach out to the Principal Investigator, Dr. Danielle Chiang at chiangd@umkc.edu.

2022 Tri-Regional Maternal Health Conference:Community-Led Interventions in the Mississippi River Delta

In Person (Dallas, TX 75202) and Virtual Conference

The Office of the Assistant Secretary for Health (OASH) Regions 4, 6 and 7 invites you for a two-day conference to convene partners who influence birth outcomes, i.e., doctors, nurses, midwives, doulas, peer educators, community members and state/local public health workers, to identify actions to address persistent inequities in maternal health to reduce maternal mortality for racial and ethnic minority women residing in the Mississippi River Delta Region.

This conference aims to: 1) Address the harmful effects of implicit bias and structural racism related to maternal and birthing outcomes, 2) Promote the adoption and implementation of Culturally and Linguistically Appropriate Services (CLAS) as a critical element to improve maternal health care, 3) Identify community-led prevention strategies and interventions to improve maternal and birthing outcomes, and 4) Develop multilateral partnerships to increase utilization of culturally competent interventions to improve maternal and birthing outcomes. Participants can attend the event either in-person or virtually.

Systems for Action: Aligning Health and Social Systems to Expand Evidence-Based Home-Visiting

August 31, 2022 12pm ET Zoom

This study tests the effectiveness of multi-sector financing and delivery strategies in expanding the reach and impact of the Nurse-Family Partnership (NFP) program across the U.S. Despite rigorous evidence of its ability to improve health and social outcomes for low-income pregnant women and their children, the NFP home visiting program currently reaches only a small proportion of the communities and families who could benefit from it. The study will use national, longitudinal data on NFP sites across the US to estimate how alternative forms of multi-sector community collaboration influence program implementation and outcomes, including comparisons between healthcare-financed sites and social service-financed sites.

Researchers at the University of Colorado are collaborating with the NFP National Service Office, Illuminate Colorado, and Children's Hospital Colorado to conduct the study. Findings will inform the development of case studies of high-performing NFP sites and best practice models that community stakeholders can use to enhance NFP implementation and financing. Registration details can be found here.

2022 Maternal Health Conference and Training Institute (BMHC22)

In person (The Renaissance Hotel and Conference Center, Washington, D.C.) and virtually

For BMHC22, the Black Mamas Matter Alliance, Inc. (BMMA) will be continuing with the annual theme established during the 5th Anniversary of the Black Maternal Health Week campaign, "Building for Liberation: Centering Black Mamas, Black Families and Black Systems of Care." Founded and led by the Black Mamas Matter Alliance (BMMA), the Black Maternal Health Conference and Training InstituteTM (BMHC22) is the premiere assembly for Black women, clinicians, professionals, advocates and other stakeholders working to improve maternal health using the birth justice, reproductive justice and human rights frameworks. This year's conference will be hybrid (virtual and in-person) and will offer a national space for learning, rich discussions and mobilization to transform Black Maternal Health, rights, and justice. We need a place to be in community together, to vision and dream, and to celebrate each other.

BMHC22 is targeted to care providers, researchers, advocates, public health professionals, and Black Mamas who are working to advance maternal, birth, and reproductive justice, and those who are interested in learning more about how to work towards health equity using the reproductive justice and birth justice frameworks. You can learn more and register for the conference here.

In DHSS's June 29th press release "DHSS responds to concerns about contraception use" it was stated that DHSS was reviewing regulations related to abortion facilities to ensure accordance to state law. We did see the newest one pager "Regulation of Missouri Abortion Facilities FAQs" released today but were unsure if there would be further clarification/regulations forthcoming to provide more insight for health care providers in all settings such as emergency and OB-GYN. We have quite a few medical providers reaching out to various caucus members asking when and if there will further clarification or regulation provided to the public and providers from DHSS.

Please let us know if there will be more information forthcoming and if so what the timeline of that will be.

Thanks for your time and help.

With the recent Supreme Court ruling returning the right for states to decide on the abortion issue, I have several questions. With Missouri being the first state with a trigger law effectively banning all abortion, kindly provide the detailed plans you will propose to handle the residual impact of this law.
Specifically:

- When will the state of Missouri require insurance companies to cover maternity coverage without a pre-existing condition clause? Maternity benefits are optional for most coverage, and sometimes we women without options (or contraception failure) are caught unawares. Will the state now mandate maternity coverage be an automatic clause for all women with a uterus of reproductive age? For those without coverage, will existing state programs be inclusive regardless of income? Currently only those who qualify for economic reasons are eligible. Surely this is not fair if a woman finds herself pregnant and her insurance does not cover the pregnancy? I ask you to explain how you will ensure those fetuses are cared for appropriately in this scenario.
- What safeguards will you propose to implement to ensure those unborn babies vessels (aka the WOMEN) are given appropriate post-natal care to support the new babies? Specifically, when will the State of Missouri provide fully paid maternity care and post-natal parental leave? If the fetus is important, surely the newborn babies deserve the best start? Ensuring mom-baby are recovering well post birth is a crucial step to ensure quality of life. Our nation is one of the only "first world" nations to not offer paid maternity leave of any duration. FMLA does not provide safeguards and especially not for those who work an hourly wage.

- When will all childcare be subsidized regardless of income? When can day care workers expect to receive a living wage with benefits? Who will recruit the new centers and care givers to support this influx of babies?
- With the influx of babies born, so too will the increase of babies in crisis/families in need of social services. This will place burdens on the existing state infrastructure which we can all agree is taxed to excessive limits. When will the social workers receive a living wage that is competitive and reflective of the many hours they work? They will have increased case-loads stretching them beyond their already overloaded bandwidth.
- What will you do to fill the number of unfilled health care positions in the state when doctors, nurses and caregivers flee the state of Missouri due to rising malpractice and or fears of litigation for doing their job (aka referring women in need to health care services)?
- In what way shape or form will you defend the right to privacy for women? As noted in the Washington Post, your own party is considering leaving us open to litigation for activities conducted out of state with included threats of prohibiting travel? How is this American? At what point will this party not see women for more than the receptacle and as a fully functioning human that has the ability to make decisions on her own behalf with the consultation of medical professionals? How does that proposal from your colleague do anything but lower hard fought recognition of equality our mother's strived for?

The implication that our party is encouraging others to "narc" on others is quite reminiscent of the Mcarthy Era. And I for one, am horrified by this possibility. Kindly explain this rationale.

I truly do wish to hear back from you on your thoughts to these overarching concerns. As an American citizen, current Missouri citizen and a mother of two women, I truly wish to understand how this crusade for the unborn is complete if you do not also institute policies to protect the sanctity of all life (born and unborn). For a state to have such a draconian stance on women's freedoms is chilling, particularly the long term implications on how this could be applied elsewhere.

With the recent Supreme Court ruling returning the right for states to decide on the abortion issue, I have several questions. With Missouri being the first state with a trigger law effectively banning all abortion, kindly provide the detailed plans you will propose to handle the residual impact of this law.
Specifically:

- When will the state of Missouri require insurance companies to cover maternity coverage without a pre-existing condition clause? Maternity benefits are optional for most coverage, and sometimes we women without options (or contraception failure) are caught unawares. Will the state now mandate maternity coverage be an automatic clause for all women with a uterus of reproductive age? For those without coverage, will existing state programs be inclusive regardless of income? Currently only those who qualify for economic reasons are eligible. Surely this is not fair if a woman finds herself pregnant and her insurance does not cover the pregnancy? I ask you to explain how you will ensure those fetuses are cared for appropriately in this scenario.
- What safeguards will you propose to implement to ensure those unborn babies vessels (aka the WOMEN) are given appropriate post-natal care to support the new babies? Specifically, when will the State of Missouri provide fully paid maternity care and post-natal parental leave? If the fetus is important, surely the newborn babies deserve the best start? Ensuring mom-baby are recovering well post birth is a crucial step to

The Honorable Mike Parson
Governor of Missouri
Missouri Capitol, Room 216
Jefferson City, MO 65101

Governor Parson:

As you are aware, following the issuance of Attorney General Opinion No. 22-2022, medical providers and legal experts across Missouri have expressed concern and confusion regarding the legality of certain types of contraception and the definition of medical emergency as it relates to ectopic pregnancies.

The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services has confirmed the need for clarity by issuing a series of public statements and indicating that additional guidance is forthcoming. Public statements and social media posts from your office and the attorney general's office have also confirmed that the level of ambiguity around the law is at such an extreme level to warrant a response from the highest levels of state government.

Unfortunately, documents issued by DHSS and any public statements or social media posts from your office or others do not carry the force of law. Furthermore, DHSS is currently without a permanent director, undermining confidence in the longevity of its actions.

Therefore, to ensure that birth control remains legal in Missouri and to ensure that medical providers are empowered to save the lives of women with ectopic pregnancies, we formally request an extraordinary session of the Missouri General Assembly to pass narrowly tailored legislation addressing these two issues.

As you have already declared your intention to call a special legislative session for income tax cuts, expanding your call to include these two specific issues would not result in additional costs to taxpayers. Furthermore, as your office has already confirmed the need for clarity on these issues, expanding the call would be in line with your stated policy positions.

Thank you for your consideration, and we look forward to your response.

Sincerely,

Rep. Crystal Quade
House Minority Leader
132nd District

We have a constituent inquiring about Medicaid funding for Planned Parenthood. Can funding be reinstated since providing abortions is no longer an option. To be specific, funding for family planning and testing services were asked about. DHSS responds to concerns about contraception use

JEFFERSON CITY, MO – The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services is statutorily responsible for regulating licensed abortion facilities/providers, and it will continue to be the agency's responsibility to monitor all abortions performed to assure that they are done only under and in accordance with the provisions of the law.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Before and following the Supreme Court of the United States' ruling in Dobbs that overturns Roe v. Wade, Missouri law does not ban the use of contraception methods. RSMo 188.017 criminalizes performing an abortion absent a medical emergency, but this does not include pregnancy preventive measures.

DHSS is currently reviewing regulations related to abortion facilities to ensure their accordance with state law.

For women's health resources in Missouri, visit health.mo.gov/womenshealth or call TEL-LINK at 800-TEL-LINK (835-5465). TEL-LINK provides Missourians with confidential information and referrals on maternal and child health services.

Hi all,

Unfortunately, we didn't get the fully comprehensive list of resources completed today, but I have been working with my counterparts at DSS and even DMH (counseling resources) to get things pulled together. We went ahead and moved forward with a statement (below) and a couple of the resource links in the interest of time and since emergency contraceptives became such a hot topic in the media today. Governor Parson issued a similar message via social media this evening.

I'll keep you posted on the resource sheet—it'll still be good to still get that out broadly among our partners, especially LPHAs and FQHCs.

Thank you!

As a reminder here is the question I sent to DHSS and the AG's office on Tuesday:

Hello,
I had someone reach out to my office wanting to know about the legality of fertility treatments now that Roe has been overturned and parts of HB 126 from 2019 have gone into effect. The person that reached out asked about the fertility treatment "GIFT" but it would be very helpful to know about how other treatments will be impacted by the ruling and Missouri's law.

I look forward to hearing from both departments so I can pass on this very important information to my constituents.

Hi Laura,
I had a quick meeting with Steve this afternoon about a couple programs in OWH. I wanted to share the following questions we have as a result of the Governor's proclamation. We appreciate your time and help to ensure we make any and all changes necessary.

Situation: We currently manage an attestation process for the extended women's health services. This process is to ensure that providers don't provide abortions. The requirement to do so is in our budget language. https://health.mo.gov/atoz/extended-womens-health-services.php
Questions: Do we need to continue to require providers to attest? If yes, can we have a written explanation, as some providers will want to know why. If not, how and when should we notify our providers?

Situation: Our office is responsible for the distribution and maintenance of the informed consent checklist and booklet. They are stored in the warehouse and the warehouse shipped them to abortion providers and programs in the state. Women that sought an abortion were required to receive them 72 hours prior to their procedure.
https://health.mo.gov/living/families/womenshealth/pregnancyassistance/forms.php
Questions: Do we need to maintain these resources going forward? If yes, under what circumstances should they be distributed to the public if abortions are no longer to be provided in the state. If no, should we remove them from the website and/or update the materials?

Subject: Today's Administration Action on Reproductive Rights

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

August 3, 2022

Partners,

Today, President Biden issued an Executive Order on Securing Access to Reproductive and Other Healthcare Services, building on actions that the Biden-Harris Administration has taken to protect access to reproductive healthcare services and defend women's fundamental rights. See the fact sheet below!

Today at 2:00 pm ET, the President and the Vice President will deliver remarks at the first meeting of the interagency Task Force on Reproductive Healthcare Access, which will be livestreamed at whitehouse.gov/live.

Tomorrow at 12:30pm ET, join Senior White House Officials for a briefing on additional steps President Biden is taking to protect access to reproductive rights and care for all Americans. You can RSVP here. Note: this call is closed to press and off the record. Full RSVP link: https://pitc.zoomgov.com/webinar/register/WN_0-cY8LG8RmKJjynisskU5w

Last night, President Biden issued a statement on Kansans' overwhelming rejection of a ballot initiative to remove the right to abortion from the state constitution.

Yesterday, the Justice Department filed a lawsuit challenging Idaho's near-total abortion ban, arguing that the state law conflicts with, and is preempted by, the Emergency Medical Treatment and Labor Act (EMTALA).

FACT SHEET:
President Biden Issues Executive Order at the First Meeting of the Task Force on Reproductive Healthcare Access

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

FACT SHEET:
President Biden Issues Executive Order at the First Meeting of the Task Force on Reproductive Healthcare Access

President Biden will issue an Executive Order on Securing Access to Reproductive and Other Healthcare Services, building on actions that the Biden-Harris Administration has taken to protect access to reproductive healthcare services and defend women's fundamental rights. The President kick off the Vice President's first meeting of the Task Force on Reproductive Healthcare Access. At the meeting, the Cabinet will discuss their progress and the path forward to address the women's health crisis in the wake of the Supreme Court's decision in Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization.

EXECUTIVE ORDER ON SECURING ACCESS TO REPRODUCTIVE AND OTHER HEALTHCARE SERVICES

Through today's Executive Order, the President will announce actions to:

- Support Patients Traveling Out of State for Medical Care. The Executive Order directs the Secretary of Health and Human Services (HHS) to consider action to advance access to reproductive healthcare services, including through Medicaid for patients who travel out of state for reproductive healthcare services. This directive is in line with the President and the Attorney General's clear statements on the Administration's commitment to defending the bedrock right to travel across state lines to seek reproductive healthcare in states where those services remain legal.

- Ensure Health Care Providers Comply with Federal Non-Discrimination Law. The Executive Order directs the Secretary of HHS to consider all appropriate actions to ensure health care providers comply with Federal non-discrimination laws so that women receive medically necessary care without delay. These actions could include providing technical assistance for health care providers who may be confused or unsure of their obligations in the aftermath of the Supreme Court decision in Dobbs; convening providers to convey information on their obligations and the potential consequences of non-compliance; and issuing additional guidance or taking other appropriate action in response to any complaints or reports of non-compliance with federal non-discrimination laws.

- Promote Research and Data Collection on Maternal Health Outcomes. To accurately measure the impact that diminishing access to reproductive health care services has on women's health, the Executive Order directs the Secretary of HHS to evaluate and improve research, data collection, and data analysis efforts at the National Institutes of Health and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention on maternal health and other health outcomes.

INTERAGENCY TASK FORCE ON REPRODUCTIVE HEALTHCARE ACCESS

The President will sign the Executive Order at the first meeting of the interagency Task Force on Reproductive Healthcare Access. After the President signs the Executive Order, Cabinet heads will report on the progress they have made in implementing the President's July 8, 2022 Executive Order on Protecting Access to Reproductive Healthcare Services, as well as related actions to defend reproductive rights.

Established by Executive Order, the Task Force on Reproductive Healthcare Access is co-chaired by the Secretary of Health and Human Services, Xavier Becerra, and the Director of the White House Gender Policy Council, Jennifer Klein. The Task Force coordinates and drives efforts across the Federal government to protect access to reproductive healthcare services and defend reproductive rights.
Offices across the White House – including the Office of the Vice President, the Office of White House Counsel, the Domestic Policy Council, the National Economic Council, the National Security Council, the Office of Intergovernmental Affairs, and the Office of Science and Technology Policy – also serve on the Task Force alongside the following Federal agencies:

- Department of Health and Human Services
- Department of Defense
- Department of Education
- Department of Homeland Security
- Department of Justice
- Department of Labor
- Department of the Treasury
- Department of Transportation
- Department of Veterans Affairs
- Federal Communications Commission

TODAY'S ANNOUNCEMENTS BUILD ON ADMINISTRATION'S ACTIONS TO PROTECT ACCESS TO REPRODUCTIVE HEALTHCARE

Today's announcements build on the actions the Biden-Harris Administration has already taken to protect access to healthcare, including abortion and contraception, in the wake of the Supreme Court's decision in Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization.

President Biden continues to call on Congress to codify the right to abortion into federal law and has said he would support changing the filibuster rules to codify Roe v. Wade into law. The White House has also released Statements of Administration Policy supporting H.R. 8296 – Women's Health Protection Act of 2022 and H.R. 8297 – Ensuring Access to Abortion Act of 2022.

The Administration has also taken immediate action to:

- Protect Access to Reproductive Healthcare Services: The President issued an Executive Order outlining actions to safeguard access to reproductive health care services, including abortion and contraception; protect the privacy of patients and their access to accurate information; promote the safety and security of patients, providers, and clinics; and coordinate the implementation of Federal efforts.

- Defend the Right to Travel: On 6/24/22, President Biden reaffirmed the Attorney General's statement that women must remain free to travel safely to another state to seek the care they need. President Biden committed his administration to defending "that bedrock right." Today's actions build upon this commitment and direct HHS to explore supports for women traveling out of state to seek medical care.

- Protect Emergency Medical Care: DOJ filed a lawsuit seeking to enjoin Idaho's abortion prohibition, which makes abortion a crime even when necessary to prevent serious risks to the health of pregnant patients. The suit asserts that Idaho's law conflicts with, and is therefore preempted by, the Emergency Medical Treatment Active Labor Act (EMTALA), which requires providers to offer stabilizing treatment, including abortion services if necessary, in certain emergency situations. This litigation follows guidance issued by HHS affirming EMTALA's requirements, as well as a letter from Secretary Becerra to providers making clear that federal law preempts state law restricting access to abortion in emergency situations.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Strengthen Nondiscrimination in Healthcare. HHS announced a proposed rule to strengthen nondiscrimination in health care. The proposed rule implements Section 1557 of the Affordable Care Act and affirms protections consistent with President Biden's executive orders on nondiscrimination based on sexual orientation and gender identity.

- Issue Guidance to Retail Pharmacies. HHS issued guidance to roughly 60,000 U.S. retail pharmacies to remind them of their obligations under federal civil rights laws to ensure access to comprehensive reproductive health care services. The guidance makes clear that as recipients of federal financial assistance, pharmacies are prohibited under law from discriminating on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, age, and disability in their programs and activities. This includes supplying medications; making determinations regarding the suitability of a prescribed medication for a patient; and advising patients about medications and how to take them.

- Take Action Against Illegal Use and Sharing of Sensitive Data. The Federal Trade Commission committed to fully enforcing the law against illegal use and sharing of highly sensitive data, including location and health information contained in fertility and period tracking data. The FTC urged companies to consider that sensitive data is protected by numerous state and federal laws, claims that data is "anonymous" are often deceptive, and the FTC has a track record of cracking down on companies that misuse consumer data.

- Protect Patient Privacy under HIPAA. HHS issued guidance to address how the HIPAA Privacy Rule protects the privacy of individuals' protected health information, including information related to reproductive health care. The guidance helps ensure doctors and other medical providers and health plans know that, with limited exceptions, they are not required – and in many cases, are not permitted – to disclose patients' private information, including to law enforcement. HHS also issued a how-to guide for consumers on steps they can take to make sure they're protecting their personal data on mobile apps.

- Request Information on Data Privacy from Mobile Providers. The Federal Communications Commission Chairwoman wrote to the top 15 mobile providers requesting information about their data retention and data privacy policies and general practices, consistent with the President's commitment to protecting Americans' privacy.

- Launch a DOJ Reproductive Rights Task Force: The DOJ announced a Reproductive Rights Task Force, which will monitor and evaluate state and local actions that infringe on federal protections relating to the provision or pursuit of reproductive care, impair women's ability to seek reproductive care where it's legal, impair individuals' ability to inform and counsel each other about the reproductive care that is available in other states, ban medication abortion, or impose criminal or civil liability on federal employees who provide legal reproductive health services.

- Convene Attorneys to Defend Reproductive Rights. The Department of Justice and the Office of White House Counsel convened more than 200 lawyers and advocates from private firms, bar associations, legal aid organizations, reproductive rights groups, and law schools across the country on Friday, July 29 for the first convening of pro-bono attorneys, as called for in the Executive Order. The convening closed with a call to action from the Second Gentleman, urging firms to commit a minimum of 500 hours to defending reproductive rights and justice.

- Provide Access to Accurate Information and Legal Resources. HHS launched ReproductiveRights.gov, a website on people's right to access reproductive health care, including birth control, abortion services, other preventive health services, and health insurance coverage. DOJ also launched justice.gov/reproductive-rights, a webpage that provides a centralized online resource of the Department's work to protect access to reproductive healthcare services.

Hi, Mr. Linneman,

I'm a Contributing Writer for Kaiser Health News and am working on a story about the letter (https://www.hhs.gov/sites/default/files/emergency-medical-care-letter-to-health-care-providers.pdf) HHS Secretary Becerra sent to health care providers who receive Medicare and Medicaid payments. The letter mentions that if a hospital or other provider declines to provide emergency treatment including an abortion to a patient -- as required under the Emergency Medical Treatment and Active Labor Act (EMTALA) -- complaints should be submitted to the state survey agency for investigation. The letter includes a link to contacts in each state, including your name, phone number and email address.

In view of the abortion restrictions in Missouri, will state surveyors investigate complaints about an abortion the complainant believes should have been provided as emergency treatment?

Also, I've heard that some states have a backlog of surveys due to the Covid pandemic and/or a shortage of inspectors. Is either situation happening in Missouri? Have inspectors been instructed to give other potential violations priority?

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

I'd appreciate it if you could please get back to me by tomorrow at noon. In case you're not available, I've copied some of your colleagues on this note.

And if you're curious, links to some of my recent stories are available here.

Thanks very much for your help with this article.

Hello,

I had someone reach out to my office wanting to know about the legality of fertility treatments now that Roe has been overturned and parts of HB 126 from 2019 have gone into effect. The person that reached out asked about the fertility treatment "GIFT" but it would be very helpful to know about how other treatments will be impacted by the ruling and Missouri's law.

Re: Sunshine Law Request

Dear Custodian of Records:

Pursuant to the Missouri Sunshine Law, Mo. Rev. Stat. § 610.010 et seq., American Oversight makes the following request for records.

Requested Records

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

American Oversight requests that your office produce copies of the following records within three business days:

1. All final decision memoranda, directives, policy interpretations, or guidance provided to, signed, approved, or otherwise adopted by the Department of Health and Senior Services regarding abortion, contraception, or reproductive health following the U.S. Supreme Court's decision in Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health.

2. All email communications (including emails, email attachments, complete email chains, calendar invitations, and calendar invitation attachments) sent by any of the officials listed below containing any of the following key terms:

Key Terms:
a. Dobbs
b. Roe
c. Abortion
d. Pregnancy
e. Pregnant
f. Terminate
g. Fetus
h. Unborn
i. "Planned Parenthood"
j. "Trigger law"
k. "Trigger ban"
l. Contraception
m. "Birth control"
n. Abortifacient
o. Mifepristone
p. Misoprostol
q. Ectopic

Officials:
i. Acting Director Paula Nickelson
ii. Deputy Director Dr. Laura Naught
iii. Michael Oldweiler, Office of Governmental Policy and Legislation

In an effort to accommodate your office and reduce the number of potentially responsive records to be processed and produced, American Oversight has limited its request to emails sent by the specified officials. To be clear, however, American Oversight still requests that complete email chains be produced, displaying both sent and received messages. This means, for example, that both Director Nickelson's response to an email containing one of the listed key terms and the initial received message are responsive to this request and should be produced.

Please provide all responsive records from June 24, 2022, through the date the search is conducted.

Fee Waiver Request

In accordance with Mo. Rev. Stat. § 610.026.1(1), American Oversight requests a waiver of fees associated with processing this request for records. Disclosure of the requested records is in the public interest because it will likely contribute to a better understanding of relevant government procedures by the general public in a significant way. Moreover, the request is primarily and fundamentally for non-commercial purposes.

American Oversight requests a waiver of fees because disclosure of the requested information "is likely to contribute significantly to public understanding of the operations or activities of [a] public governmental body." The public has a significant interest in top state health officials' response to changes in state abortion laws. Records with the potential to shed light on this matter would contribute significantly to public understanding of operations of the government, including guidance issued by or to state health officials in the wake of the Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health decision. American Oversight is committed to transparency and makes the responses agencies provide to public records requests publicly available, and the public's understanding of the government's activities would be enhanced through American Oversight's analysis and publication of these records.

This request is primarily and fundamentally for non-commercial purposes. As a 501(c)(3) nonprofit, American Oversight does not have a commercial purpose and the release of the information requested is not in American Oversight's financial interest. American Oversight's mission is to promote transparency in government, to educate the public about government activities, and to ensure the accountability of government officials. American Oversight uses the information gathered, and its analysis of it, to educate the public through reports, press releases, or other media. American Oversight also makes materials it gathers available on its public website and promotes their availability on social media platforms, such as Facebook and Twitter.

American Oversight has also demonstrated its commitment to the public disclosure of documents and creation of editorial content through regular substantive analyses posted to its website. Examples reflecting this commitment to the public disclosure of documents and the creation of editorial content include the posting of records and analysis related to the organization's investigations into misconduct and corruption in state governments; posting records and analysis of federal and state governments' responses to the Coronavirus pandemic; posting records received as part of American Oversight's "Audit the Wall" project to gather and analyze information related to the Trump administration's proposed construction of a barrier along the U.S.-Mexico border, and analyses of what those records reveal; and the posting of records related to an ethics waiver received by a senior Department of Justice attorney and an analysis of what those records demonstrated regarding the Department's process for issuing such waivers.

Accordingly, American Oversight qualifies for a fee waiver.

Guidance Regarding the Search & Processing of Requested Records

In connection with its request for records, American Oversight provides the following guidance regarding the scope of the records sought and the search and processing of records:

§ Please search all locations and systems likely to have responsive records, regardless of format, medium, or physical characteristics.
§ In conducting your search, please understand the terms "record," "document," and "information" in their broadest sense, to include any written, typed, recorded, graphic, printed, or audio material of any kind. We seek records of any kind, including electronic records, audiotapes, videotapes, and photographs, as well as letters, emails, facsimiles, telephone messages, voice mail messages and transcripts, notes, or minutes of any meetings, telephone conversations or discussions.
§ Our request for records includes any attachments to those records or other materials enclosed with those records when they were previously transmitted. To the extent that an email is responsive to our request, our request includes all prior messages sent or received in that email chain, as well as any attachments to the email.

§ Please search all relevant records or systems containing records regarding agency business. Do not exclude records regarding agency business contained in files, email accounts, or devices in the personal custody of your officials, such as personal email accounts or text messages.

§ In the event some portions of the requested records are properly exempt from disclosure, please disclose any reasonably segregable non-exempt portions of the requested records. If a request is denied in whole, please state specifically why it is not reasonable to segregate portions of the record for release.

§ Please take appropriate steps to ensure that records responsive to this request are not deleted by the agency before the completion of processing for this request. If records potentially responsive to this request are likely to be located on systems where they are subject to potential deletion, including on a scheduled basis, please take steps to prevent that deletion, including, as appropriate, by instituting a litigation hold on those records.

Conclusion

If you have any questions regarding how to construe this request for records or believe that further discussions regarding search and processing would facilitate a more efficient production of records of interest to American Oversight, please do not hesitate to contact American Oversight to discuss this request. American Oversight welcomes an opportunity to discuss its request with you before you undertake your search or incur search or duplication costs. By working together at the outset, American Oversight and your agency can decrease the likelihood of costly and time-consuming litigation in the future.

Where possible, please provide responsive material in an electronic format by email. Alternatively, please provide responsive material in native format or in PDF format on a USB drive. Please send any responsive material being sent by mail to American Oversight, 1030 15th Street NW, Suite B255, Washington, DC 20005. If it will accelerate release of responsive records to American Oversight, please also provide responsive material on a rolling basis.

We share a common mission to promote transparency in government. American Oversight looks forward to working with your agency on this request. If you do not understand any part of this request, please contact Mehreen Rasheed at records@americanoversight.org or (202) 848-1320. Also, if American Oversight's request for a fee waiver is not granted in full, please contact us immediately upon making such a determination.

Sincerely,

/s/ Mehreen Rasheed

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND SENIOR SERVICES WEEKLY REPORT TO THE GOVERNOR

FOR THE WEEK OF July 11, 2022

TO: Governor Parson

FROM: Paula F. Nickeson, Acting Director

THROUGH: Aaron Willard

I. Summary Message for the Governor

- Media reports state that a resident of the Senath South Skilled Nursing Facility in Senath, MO was found dead by facility staff in his shared room and that local law enforcement was called to the facility. Reports are that a suspect was taken into custody, and the investigation continues. The facility reported the incident to SLCR, and a surveyor responded on site on the day to investigate. The investigation is not yet completed. During the initial complaint investigation, there were a number of other concerns identified, so a survey team began a full investigation on Sunday July 10. That survey team is expected to be on site throughout this week.
- After the Amtrak incident, there was some frustration expressed regarding the current casualty tracking system. The DHSS Division of Regulation and Licensure has reached out to and will be working with SEMA and DHHS to add a column to the mass casualty standard tracking worksheet. The new column would indicate where the patient was transported to. Although the EMS community responded extremely well to the accident in getting injured passengers to care, there was difficulty in tracking where the casualties went. Not only will this allow more efficient distribution of casualties, but it will also assist with family reunification efforts.

VI. Programmatic Updates – For Situational Awareness

- The USDA Food and Nutrition Service is scheduled to conduct a financial management review of the FFY 2022 Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants and

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Children (WIC). Planned dates are August 8-19. The review will evaluate compliance with program and financial policies, regulatory requirements and quality standards.

- There are currently 360 long-term care facilities reporting an active COVID-19 outbreak among residents and staff, up from 350 reported last week. Symptoms continue to be predominately mild.
- The DHSS Section for Long-Term Care Regulation continues to have a high level of vacancies, although progress is being made. There are 18 total vacancies, including 16 RN surveyor positions. We have hired four new RNs in the last couple of weeks. Since January, we have hired 14 nurses in total. Unfortunately, we still are experiencing candidates declining offers due to salary levels.
- The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services released a memorandum entitled "Reinforcement of EMTALA Obligations Specific to Patients who are Pregnant or are Experiencing Pregnancy Loss." This memorandum reinforces the requirements for EMTALA statute for patients irrespective of any state laws or mandates that apply to specific procedures. This was released to reinforce federal law with regards to treatment of emergency medical conditions such as ectopic pregnancies. The memorandum was released in response to multiple questions and concerns about performance of emergency procedures in lieu of new state laws restricting or preventing abortions as a result of Roe v. Wade being overturned.
    - On July 13, DHSS published an online FAQ regarding the regulation of Missouri abortion facilities post overturn of Roe v. Wade. The Department continues to review regulatory processes to determine if any changes are necessary to be in line with statute.
- The Time Critical Diagnosis (TCD) program has been nominated for a Hooley Award in the category of New Frontiers. The awards are sponsored by Image Trend, the company that provides our EMS reporting software. Peggy Huddleston of the TCD unit developed a mass casualty worksheet using Image Trend that activates when patients are involved in a mass-casualty incident.
- Each year, DHSS (as the recipient state MCH agency) solicits public comments from consumers and partners across Missouri regarding the proposed use of Title V Maternal and Child Health (MCH) Services Block Grant funds for the next federal fiscal year. The FFY 2023 Proposed Use of Funds was disseminated to MCH stakeholders across Missouri and posted online for public comment. Public input will be received through July 25.
- The Bureau of Community Health and Wellness, School Health Program has launched the second cohort of the Keeping Infectious Diseases out of Schools through Training, Education, Assistance, Mentorship, and Support (MO KIDS TEAMS) project. Twelve new school district teams are partnering with their local health department and a community healthcare provider to assess their district's infectious disease control policies and practices and develop an action plan to address gaps and areas of need. Staff will provide ongoing training and 1:1 support to the participating districts throughout the upcoming school year to ensure they are implementing measures to keep students and staff healthy, safe, and in school.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Amanda Schwartze from DHSS' Bureau of Genetics and Healthy Childhood Newborn Hearing Screening Program together with Lydia Sergeant from DHSS's Bureau of Special Health Care Needs Family Partnership were chosen from a large pool of applicants to participate in the "Impact of Family Support and Engagement Learning Community" developed and led by the National Center for Hearing Assessment and Management and The Family Leadership in Language and Learning Center. Lydia and Amanda will participate with six other state programs and their corresponding family-based organizations to learn the key domains of family support, survey methods, and evaluation processes. The program will create a survey tool to assess the impact of family support to families with infants and children newly diagnosed with hearing loss and evaluate how family support is making a difference, as well as identify areas of improvement.
- The School Health Program in the DHSS Bureau of Community Health and Wellness is partnering with the Missouri Association of School Nurses and Missouri Association of Rural Education to offer the Health Office Orientation for new school nurses on July 19-20 at the Governor Office Building. We have 100 new nurses registered and a waiting list. Areas to be addressed include general school nurse responsibilities, immunizations, communicable diseases, chronic disease management, medication administration training and delegation, and a hands-on lab for vision and hearing screenings. New this year is a focus on special education and the role of the school nurse in social-emotional health.

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND SENIOR SERVICES WEEKLY REPORT TO THE GOVERNOR

FOR THE WEEK OF July 25, 2022

July 28, 2022

TO: Governor Parson

THROUGH: Aaron Willard

I. Summary Message for the Governor

- As of July 26, 3,591 cases of Monkeypox/orthopoxvirus have been reported in the United States and Puerto Rico. Internationally, 18,861 cases have been reported from 70 countries that have not historically reported monkeypox. A total of six monkeypox/orthopoxvirus cases have been reported in Missouri. DHSS continues to work with local public health agencies (LPHAs) to identify close contacts; assess for need for post-exposure prophylaxis with vaccine; and the monitoring of contacts for symptoms during the 21 days past the last date of exposure, and coordinate testing.
    - DHSS continues to work with the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS), CDC, and LPHAs in Missouri to obtain and distribute Missouri's allotment of the JYNNEOS vaccine. DHSS continues to order Missouri allotment of vaccine for forward placement at five regionally placed LPHAs (Butler County Health Department, Columbia/Boone County Health Department, Kansas City Health Department; St. Louis County Health Department and the Springfield-Greene County Health Department). DHSS will continue to work with LPHAs statewide to help ensure vaccine is available and accessible for individuals who are eligible in accordance with the national vaccine strategy established for this outbreak.
- An external inspection of the Missouri State Public Health Laboratory (MSPHL) was conducted the week of July 18. The weeklong inspection is conducted every two years by DHHS Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services to ensure conformity to the Clinical Laboratory Improvements Amendments (CLIA) so that the MSPHL is authorized to conduct high-complexity testing of human samples. Pending receipt of the final official report in a couple of weeks, the MSPHL was commended for an overall great facility, staff, and quality assurance program. The MSPHL was provided several standard-level opportunities for improvement that will be incorporated into normal operations once the final report is issued and evaluated so that the MSPHL can continue to deliver quality public health laboratory services to Missourians.
- The DHSS Section for Hospital Standards and Licensure has received reports of three other facilities reporting flooding issues, in addition to the two hospitals reported July 26.
    - SSM DePaul reported minor flooding in the building but there were no impact on hospital operations.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- St. Peters Phoenix/Envision, a Home Health Agency located at 7421 Mexico Rd in St. Peters, reported that their staff had activated their emergency preparedness plan for flooding, but they have not reported any impact on their patients.
- St. Peters Dialysis, located at 300 1st Executive Ave in St. Peters, reported that the torrential rains flooded their facility and it is not operational. All patients are being diverted to another facility until mitigation is completed.

No additional long-term care facilities have reported being impacted by Tuesday's flooding. The facilities who did report issues are either fully functional or managing recovery with minimal impact to residents.

II. Upcoming Press Releases/Announcements about Agency Initiatives

- DHSS will publish A Multi Year Look at Maternal Mortality in Missouri: 2017-2019 Annual Report on behalf of the state's Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review (PAMR) board. The statutorily required report is an aggregate of three years' worth of work of the PAMR and is based upon the most recent data available. A news release will be issued.

III. Director's Travel Schedule

NSTR

IV. 30-60 Day Look-Ahead

NSTR

V. Needed Input

NSTR

VI. Programmatic Updates – For Situational Awareness

- The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Office of Inspector General will conduct an audit of the Nutrition Services Program, which is managed by the Division of Senior and Disability Services. The objective of the audit is to determine whether DHSS used Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security Act (CARES) funds for the Older Americans Act Nutrition Services Program in accordance with Federal and State requirements. An entrance conference has not been scheduled, but is anticipated for mid-August.
- The Missouri State Public Health Laboratory was notified this week of the approval of the year-three programs and budget for the HHS FDA Laboratory Flexible Funding Model Cooperative Agreement. This five-year, $5 million total laboratory program award allows the MSPHL to work collaboratively with the FDA to build microbiological, chemical, and radiological food testing capacities to enhance food surveillance and emergency food testing preparedness in Missouri.
- The DHSS Bureau of Community Health and Wellness School Health Program is offering two workshops for Lead School Nurses/Health Services Coordinators employed in Missouri schools. The program recognized a larger number of new lead school nurses for the upcoming year. New Lead Nurse Orientation is being launched on August 18 to address the unique learning needs of nurses new to the role of managing a school health services program. On August 19, Lead School Nurse Collaborative will bring 100 lead school nurses from across Missouri to hear updates in legislation, policies and practices relevant to school health services. The agenda includes presentations from partners in the Bureaus of Communicable Disease, Immunization, Environmental Health, the Departments of Social Services and Elementary and Secondary Education, the Center for Education Safety and the Missouri Child Psychiatry Access Project.

- The Office on Women's Health is meeting and consulting with stakeholders, representatives, and staff at similar programs to launch our six new initiatives included in the FY23 budget. Contracts and RFPs will be released as soon as possible. New initiatives include the Justice for Survivor's Telehealth Network, Doula Training Program, Prenatal Care Clinics in Kansas City, Maternal Autopsy Program, Pregnancy Smoking Cessation Pilot, and Perinatal Quality Collaborative.
- The DHSS Office of Dental Health was awarded a $1.6 million HRSA grant to extend oral healthcare into underserved populations in Missouri, like residents of long-term care facilities and veterans without insurance using telehealth technology for collaboration between dentists and on-site healthcare workers.
- The first of the innovative community water fluoridation pilot projects was installed in Butler County this week. This new technology is intended to bring the benefits of community water fluoridation to small rural water districts. The Office of Dental Health and DNR will be reviewing data collaborating on additional sites for pilot studies. A symposium is scheduled in Poplar Bluff in October to review initial data and has attracted national and international attention
- The DHSS Bureau of HIV, STD, and Hepatitis is partnering with the Andrew County Health Department to provide Ryan White case management to individuals living with HIV in the state's Northwest region. Andrew County will cover a 14-county area.
- The Disease Intervention Specialists (DIS) program has a backlog of syphilis cases. The backlog of cases is a result of the COVID-19 pandemic. In March 2020, DIS was diverted to COVID-19 contact tracing, along with the surveillance staff. The surveillance staff receives the cases, which are then redirected to DIS for investigation. In addition, to add to this dynamic, the DIS program could not fill its vacancies and lost some positions during the pandemic. The DHSS Bureau of HIV, STD, and Hepatitis has been working with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention on this issue. A plan has been developed, agreed upon, and implemented as of July 26. The DIS program is in the process of also contracting with local public health agencies to expand the number of DIS within the state. This will assist in expanding the DIS workforce. An assessment will be conducted to determine if additional DIS staff are needed to meet the needs of investigating sexually transmitted diseases.
- DHSS Section for Long-Term Care (SLTC) reports that 400 facilities are reporting a COVID outbreak among residents and/or staff, an increase of 40 over last report that was provided two weeks ago. Symptoms still are predominantly mild, although there have been some reports of increases in severity of symptoms.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- The DHSS SLTC's overall backlog of complaints pending investigation is down to 2006. This despite a near-record number of complaints in June. July numbers are not yet complete but the trend appears to be following what happened in June.
- The DHSS SLTC's total number of vacancies is at 21, which includes 17 RN surveyors.
- The Time Critical Diagnosis Program reports that Mercy Hospital Lincoln located in Troy has just been designated as a new Level III Stroke Center.

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND SENIOR SERVICES WEEKLY REPORT TO THE GOVERNOR

FOR THE WEEK OF June 27, 2022

June 30, 2022

TO: Governor Parson

THROUGH: Aaron Willard

I. Summary Message for the Governor

- DHSS' Radiological Emergency Response Program (RAD Team) was alerted on June 21 of a vehicle that was consistently exceeding radiology limits at an automotive dealership in Missouri. The next day, three members of the RAD Team traveled to investigate further. Ultimately, the survey isolated Thallium 201, which is a common radiopharmaceutical used to diagnose certain heart conditions, as the cause of the elevated levels. It was discovered that an employee of the dealership recently underwent a heart stress test. The RAD Team was able to not only narrow the Thallium source to him, but also provide valuable mitigation advice. A full narrative is attached to this report.
- As of June 28, 306 cases of Monkeypox/Orthopoxvirus have been reported from 27 states and the District of Columbia in the U.S. Internationally, 4,769 cases from 49 countries/locations have been reported. A total of two monkeypox cases have been reported in Missouri. The two cases were both from the Kansas City metropolitan area, but were not connected. Both individuals did report out-of-state travel during their period of exposure. Additional information on monkeypox provided under programmatic update.
- Platinum Neighbors (Medical Division of Platinum Team Management) out of Texas submitted a request on June 23 for extension of the temporary closure of Audrain Medical Center in Mexico and Callaway Regional Hospital in Fulton that was originally submitted by Noble Health. Platinum also submitted a change of ownership request to assume the assets of both facilities. No dates have been established as of yet for possible re-opening of these two hospitals.
- Following the Supreme Court of the United States' ruling in Dobbs that overturns Roe v. Wade, DHSS is currently reviewing regulations related to abortion facilities to ensure their accordance with state law.

VI. Programmatic Updates – For Situational Awareness

- For the week of June 22 to June 28, the state COVID-19 hotline received 118 calls with 5 seconds being the average speed of answer. The COVID-19 hotline is ceasing operations as of June 30, and calls will now be received by DHSS.
- COVID-19 outbreaks among long-term care facilities continue to increase. As of June 27, 304 facilities were reporting residents or staff with COVID. This is up from 174 from when we last reported on this on June 6. Overall reports are that symptoms vary from asymptomatic to very minor symptoms.
- The Section for Long-term Care Regulation (SLCR) has 25 survey team vacancies - 21 RN surveyor openings, down from 23 reported in May; three regulatory auditors, an increase of one over May, and one regulatory compliance manager.
    - Current complaint backlog stands at 2,030, down from 2,159 reported in May. For June we have received 892 complaints through June 24. SCLR should finish the month about 12% over normal volume, but despite the increase, the survey team made positive progress in reducing the backlog.
- Tri-County Care Center in Vandalia reached out to Rep. Hayden requesting assistance with identifying any possible ARPA funds to help with ongoing financial difficulties. Rep. Hayden subsequently reached out to Director Nickelson for help. Their current financial situation is not good due to a number of issues including incorrect billing and fines associated with deficiencies identified during a past survey. Shortly before the administrator retiring, she met with the Facility Board to recommend closure. The Board did not accept the recommendation and is looking for options to remain open, including hiring of an interim administrator.
- June 28 was the third anniversary for Medical Marijuana Regulation licensure program. After three years, the program has issued medical marijuana cards to 188,201 patients. Licenses have been issued to:
    - 3,117 caregivers
    - 27,458 active patient/caregiver home-cultivator licenses
    - 190 dispensaries
    - 70 manufacturers
    - 48 cultivators
    - 8 laboratory testing facilities
- CMS released a memo removing the vaccine expectations for surveyors at state agencies. What this means is that survey team members (RNs, auditors, etc.) are no longer required to be fully vaccinated or have an exemption, as a member of the survey agency. However, vaccine mandates still exist for certified hospitals and long-term care facilities. So unvaccinated survey team members will still be expected to comply with individual facility requirements for entry if unvaccinated. Work is underway to revise current Department policy to be consistent with the changes.

- The Linn Oak Rehabilitation Center, a 132-bed SNF, located at in Linn has been approved a temporary closure plan. The reason for the temporary closure is staffing shortages as their current census is 44. The facility is currently working to provide notification of the temporary closure to residents, families, and staff.
- The Division of Senior and Disability Services (DSDS) has successfully received federal approval to modify many of our Medicaid Home and Community Based Services (HCBS) COVID-19 flexibilities. The following changes will go into effect August 1.
    - Initial and annual assessments and care planning will return to in-person visits.
    - Providers are required to resume training requirements in a modified nature.
    - All flexibilities allowing attendants to serve consumers prior to the results of a background check have been rescinded.
    - Providers are required to resume in-person supervisory and monitoring visits.

  Modifying these flexibilities were prioritized to ensure participant health, safety, and welfare. DSDS will begin communicating these changes to employees, participants, and stakeholders. Next DSDS will seek federal approval to modify other COVID-19 flexibilities such as re-instating the family caregiver prohibition.
- DHSS continues to work with local, state and national partners to respond to the 2022 outbreak of monkeypox. The expansion of testing by HHS to include national reference laboratories is expected to reduce some of the current demand on DHSS related to screening and testing for monkeypox. However, an increase demand for public health resources from DHSS and LPHAs can be expected, if there in an increase in monkeypox cases in Missouri. In addition, the CDC did indicate a likely expectation that all laboratory results (both positive and negative results) be reported to states with subsequent reporting of de-identified data to CDC. It is expected the receiving and reporting of negative test results for monkeypox will present several challenges and concerns for states, including Missouri. In addition, DHSS staff provided information and guidance to medical providers and local public health agencies through webinar hosted by Missouri Hospital Association on June 27 and during bi-weekly calls with LPHAs, respectively.
    - The U.S. Department of Health and Senior Services (HHS) and Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) have announced three pillars as part of the national response. The pillars include 1) expanding testing capacity: HHS is expanding testing to include five large commercial laboratories to expand capacity directly to healthcare providers; 2) scale up availability and delivery of vaccines: an updated strategy was announced to expand access to JYNNEOS vaccine for post-exposure use to areas with the highest transmission and need, using a tiered allocation system; 3) work directly with healthcare providers to ensure they have information needed to identify and diagnose monkeypox.

Governor Parson Signs Proclamation to End Elective Abortions in Missouri in Response to U.S. Supreme Court Decision

(JEFFERSON CITY, MO) – Today, in response to the United States Supreme Court's ruling overturning Roe v. Wade, Governor Mike Parson signed a proclamation giving legal effect to Section 188.017 RSMo and activating the "Right to Life of the Unborn Child Act."

"Nothing in the text, history, or tradition of the United States Constitution gave un-elected federal judges authority to regulate abortion. We are happy that the U.S. Supreme Court has corrected this error and returned power to the people and the states to make these decisions," Governor Parson said.

"With Roe v. Wade overturned and statutory triggers provided in HB 126, we are issuing this proclamation to restore our state authority to regulate abortion and protect life. Thanks to decades of conservative leaders, Missouri has become one of the most pro-life states in the nation, and our Administration has always fought for the life of every unborn child. Today, our efforts have produced what generations of Missourians have worked and prayed for: Today, we have won our fight to protect innocent life," Governor Parson continued.

Governor Parson's proclamation notifies the Missouri Revisor of Statutes of the effective date of Section 188.017 RSMo.

Section 188.017, or the "Right to Life of the Unborn Child Act," includes several provisions:

- Prohibits doctors from performing abortions unless there is a medical emergency;
- Creates criminal liability for any person who knowingly performs or induces a non-medical emergency abortion and subjects his or her professional license to suspension; and
- Protects any woman who receives an illegal abortion from being prosecuted in violation of the Act.

The "Right to Life of the Unborn Child Act" was included in HB 126 and contingent upon the U.S. Supreme Court overruling Roe v. Wade in whole or in part. Governor Parson signed HB 126 in 2019.

Governor Parson's Administration is coordinating with the Missouri Attorney General to quickly resolve any litigation against HB 126 before the Courts that is currently preventing implementation of the law.

See attachment for the proclamation that has been signed by Governor Parson and sent to the Secretary of State's Office to be attested.

Roe v. Hacktivism

Malicious cyber activity carried out in response to controversial moves by government entities is nothing new. But the latest round is taking aim at states with restrictive abortion laws. As GT Contributor Dan Lohrmann points out, the recent uptick is tied to last week's Supreme Court ruling overturning Roe v. Wade. Lohrmann offers advice on how to guard against falling victim to breaches from groups that don't like your state's politics.

Names in the News

Appointments of government tech leaders continued at a rapid pace this week. Here's a list to help you keep track:

1. In New York, Gov. Hochul named the state's first ever chief cyber officer. Hint: It's a familiar name in cyber circles.
2. Nevada has a new state CIO, also a name that's known by many in the state's public-sector IT community.

3. Not to be outdone, New Mexico has a new CIO too, meaning acting CIO Raja Sambandam can return to his position as state CISO.

Chi-Town Overhauls IT

Meanwhile in Chicago, Mayor Lightfoot has not only named a new CIO in Kurt Peterson, she's released a new digital services strategy, sure to be impactful for the way IT is run in the city. Peterson will run the Bureau of Innovation and Technology, while appointee Nick Lucius, chief technology officer in the Office of the Mayor, will also play a role in making services and connectivity more widely available.

News You Can See

From the GT data vault, Data Reporter Andrew Adams offers a look at the growth in the number of law enforcement agencies using the Neighbors app from Ring. Participating agencies can share posts with users of the app and look at video that people post publicly. A table at the end of the story lets you see if your local police or fire department uses the app.

Meet our new Executive Director - Tom Cotter, MPH

We are pleased to share that Tom Cotter, MPH, has joined Healthcare Ready as President and Executive Director. Prior to this role, Tom served as the Director of Emergency Response and Preparedness for Project HOPE and led response operations at Americares.

"Tom is a public health and emergency management leader who brings a unique global perspective cultivated through more than a decade of experience helming many complex and conflict-driven health responses in the US, Haiti, and the Philippines, among many others, to Healthcare Ready," said Perry Fri, Chairman of Healthcare Ready's Board of Directors, Executive Vice President of Industry Relations, Membership, and Education at Healthcare Distribution Alliance (HDA), and Chief Operating Officer of the HDA Foundation.

We hope you will join us in welcoming Tom as he works to further Healthcare Ready's mission-driven work in expanding capacity-building efforts to strengthen our healthcare supply chain, advance community resilience-building initiatives grounded in equity, and focus on hardest-hit communities during disasters.

Executive Director Note

It is a privilege to be appointed as the new executive director of Healthcare Ready, an organization whose work I've had the pleasure of working alongside for years. I am inspired by the commitment and talent of the Healthcare Ready team past and present. Today, we face enormous challenges in health inequities and a lack of community resilience in areas that need it the most. Each month I will highlight a topic at the intersection of health equity and healthcare supply chain access.

Healthcare Ready prides itself, pun intended, on leveraging its relationship with the US government and private sector partners to assure equitable response and recovery to disasters and disease outbreaks, including LGBTQI+ individuals in our communities that still do not enjoy equal consideration and protections under various state and federal legislation, which affects access to healthcare. Further, lingering social stigmas place LGBTQI+ folks at greater risk for negative health outcomes such as sexually transmitted disease, elevated suicide rates, and violence.

Healthcare Ready is dedicated to strengthening, safeguarding, and responding to disasters with both visible (such as sex and race) and invisible forms (such as gender, sexual orientation, and sometimes race) of every individual's expression and heritage in mind. We will continue to leverage our unique position to advocate for health equity.

Other Highlights

Healthcare Ready partnered with the HDA Research Foundation to design a Pharmacy Preparedness training module for dispensers and pharmacists in-training. The foundation's educational model on Understanding Pharmaceutical Distribution is a free, online resource covering supply chain resilience, stakeholder functions, and return/recall processes.

Last month was National Wildfire Awareness Month, which also marked a month where wildfires impacted numerous states in the Western US. Be sure to prepare yourself and your loved ones for wildfires by following our Disaster Tip Sheet.

COVID-19 Update

The World at a Glance: According to the World Health Organization (WHO) Director-General Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus, Omicron variants BA.4 and BA.5 is spreading in 110 countries. Per the New York Times, 57 countries are reporting a 14-day increase in reported case counts above 100% with Bangladesh, the Maldives, Albania, and Kosovo reporting the greatest percentage increase as of June 30. The number of daily COVID-19 related deaths has decreased 15% since last month with an average of 1,470 deaths per day.

The World Trade Organization (WTO) adopted a Vaccine-Patent waiver to limit intellectual property restrictions for the manufacturing of COVID-19 vaccines.

The United States at a Glance: According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's (CDC's) COVID-19 weekly reports, as of June 22, the seven-day moving average of new cases (97,430) decreased slightly (5.6%) compared to the previous seven-day moving average (103,175). This trend is consistent with data from earlier this month and May, with reported cases remaining relatively stable. Similar trends can be seen for hospitalizations (4,375 seven-day average for June 15-21; 1.0% increase from the prior seven-day average), and deaths (255 7-day moving average; 10.4% decrease from the prior seven-day moving average). COVID-19 community levels have been declining in the Northeast as well as Midwest and is on the rise in the Southeast and the West, with cases in Mississippi having doubled over June.

On June 8, the White House announced the redirection of $5 billion dollars previously earmarked for testing and protective equipment to go towards the procurement of COVID-19 vaccines. An additional $4.9 billion will be redirected to purchase courses of Paxlovid and another $300,000 will be used for monoclonal antibody treatments.

The Biden administration laid out a plan for the distribution of low-dose vaccines on June 9, for children age six months to five years, the last

Engagement Continued

The Senate passed the first major federal gun safety legislation allocating money for mental healthcare and altering age requirements and background checks for those looking to purchase guns. As a newly classified public health issue, gun violence and safety has not been federally regulated in such a way until now. The goals are to implement red flag laws and other safety measures to cut down on gun death rates.

The tampon and period product shortage, coupled with rising inflation, remains a concern as it continues to affect menstrual hygiene and public health.

Community Engagement
On June 10, the Secretary of US Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) Xavier Becerra restated HHS' commitment to support and protect the LGBTQI+ community from discrimination in certain states. Several action documents were released earlier this year that includes a guidance on child welfare systems to support LGBTQI+ youth, and a notice on gender affirming care, civil rights, and patient privacy.

LOOKING BACK

Earlier this year, Trust for America's Health (TFAH) released their Ready or Not 2022: Protecting the Public's Health from Diseases, Disasters, and Bioterrorism report, which measures states' level of preparedness to effectively respond to various emergencies or disasters. In late April, TFAH gave a congressional briefing and national webinar to present key findings and recommendations.

Earlier this month, the US Government Accountability Office (GAO) released a report titled COVID-19, Pandemic Lessons Highlight Need for Public Health Situational Awareness Network. This report reflects on the challenges associated with real-time situational awareness experienced during the pandemic and provides recommendations on ways to support national major group of Americans to get inoculated. The CDC's Public Health Communications Collaborative (PHSCC) has updated its messaging toolkit on COVID-19 vaccination for children six months and older.

Therapeutics Update

On June 7, the US Federal Food and Drug Administration's (FDA's) Vaccines and Related Biological Products Advisory Committee (VRBPAC) voted to recommend Novavax's vaccine (two doses, 21 days apart) for use in the US. Novavax had informed the agency of changes to its manufacturing process on June 3 days before the committee was scheduled to review its vaccine's safety and efficacy data. The FDA will consider VRBPAC's recommendation when authorizing the Novavax vaccine, which may delay authorization of the Novavax vaccine. VRBPAC's June 28 meeting included a presentation by Novavax, whose materials can be accessed here.

Laboratory Corporation of America's (Labcorp) newest COVID-19 test, VirSeq SARS-CoV-2 NGS Test on the PacBio Sequel II sequencing system, was issued an Emergency Use Authorization (EUA) by the FDA on June 10. The new test is authorized for the identification and differentiation of global strains of the virus. It is intended for use by clinical laboratory personnel trained in the operation of the PacBio Sequel 2 sequencing system and should be used in conjunction with patient medical history and other diagnostic information to determine appropriate clinical management.

The Office of Assistant Secretary for Preparedness and Response (ASPR) and the FDA announced an authorization of an extension to the shelf-life from 18 to 24 months on June 28 for specific lots of the refrigerated AstraZeneca monoclonal antibody therapy, Evusheld (tixagevimab co-packaged with cilgavimab), which is currently authorized for emergency use for pre-exposure prophylaxis of COVID-19 in certain adults and pediatric individuals. As a result of the extension, some batches of Evusheld may be stored for an additional six months from the labeled expiration date. The information sharing.

LOOKING AHEAD

On July 1, under Title 32 of the US Code, the federal funding for the National Guard to support the whole-of-America response to COVID-19 is transitioning to State Active Duty (SAD). After July 1, governors may still activate National Guard personnel to SAD as necessary for ongoing COVID-19 response and may receive reimbursement from FEMA's Public Assistance (PA) program at a 90 percent federal cost-share.

July is Extreme Heat Safety Month. Last year, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) reported that July was the world's hottest month ever recorded. Be sure to prepare for the anticipated upcoming heat and read how you can stay safe.

The National Association of Community Health Centers is hosting their 2022 Community Health Institute in August. The event is one of the largest gatherings of health center clinicians, executives, consumer board members, and State/Regional Primary Care Associations, many of whom are being called upon to assume a larger role in the nation's health care system. Registration is now open.

On June 28, FDA announced they are working with Abbott Nutrition in Ireland to ship approximately 35,000 pounds of infant formula (Similac Advance 2'-FL Stage 1) to the US by mid-July. FDA continues to leverage flexibilities in order to bolster the supply of formula products.

On Tuesday, June 21, House Speaker Nancy Pelosi and Senate Majority Leader Chuck Schumer released a statement mentioning that COMPETES/USICA should pass in July. Both COMPETES and USICA contain significant sections related to the pandemic and other disaster preparedness, as well as supply chain resilience including the reimbursable transfers, efforts to enhance medical supply chain elasticity,

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

FDA and ASPR have also announced the authorization of an extension to the shelf-life from 24 months to 30 months for specific lots of refrigerated Regeneron monoclonal antibody therapy, REGEN-COV (casirivimab and imdevimab, administered together). Due to the high frequency of the omicron variant and sub-variants, REGEN-COV is not currently authorized for the treatment or prevention of COVID-19.

Supply Chain Update

On June 2, the Biden Administration announced $368 million in government grants to strengthen and boost rail-based transport. Under the Consolidated Rail Infrastructure and Safety Improvement (CRSI) grant program, funds will be routed to support 46 projects in 32 states and the District of Columbia (DC), as confirmed by the Federal Railroad Administration (FRA).

GE Healthcare, a subsidiary of American conglomerate General Electric, has stabilized the production of Iodinated (IV) Contrast Media at its Shanghai, China, facility as of June 6 and is resuming normal production and shipping. GE plans to work with affected customers as supply progressively recovers.

On June 7, MITRE unveiled its new "System of Trust" (SoT) Framework to provide a comprehensive knowledge of the supply chain and security-risk assessment process at the RSA Conference 2022. The open-source framework will help entities identify, discuss, and quantify the risks in major supply chains, including risk assessment of suppliers and software.

On June 21, President Biden signed the Ocean Shipping Reform Act into law. This bars imports in part or in full from Xinjiang unless companies prove that their supply chain and manufacturing capacity do not include elements of forced labor practices. The law may present a risk of supply chain disruption as reduced imports into the US from China may lead to price surges of products as companies seek alternate sources of manufacturing, or from certain product shortages on the US market. The second part of the law regulates the bi-directional movement of goods, efforts to maintain domestic reserves of critical medical supplies, and more.

On June 24, the Supreme Court overturned Roe v. Wade ending the federal protection of abortion access. This historic ruling has widespread implications to the public health system by shifting decisions around abortion access to state and local governments, limiting safe access to healthcare.

The WHO ruled that the Monkeypox outbreak does not yet classify as a global health emergency. Nevertheless, as monkeypox continues to spread, the CDC is maintaining a Level 2 Alert asking individuals to practice enhanced precautions. As of June 30, there are 396 confirmed cases of monkeypox in the US as the global count rises above 5,300. The monkeypox virus is present in 49 countries, an eight-location increase since June 17. The WHO started creating a new smallpox vaccine-sharing platform in mid-June to better contain the outbreak of monkeypox. In more than 30 countries out of Africa that are reporting cases the smallpox vaccines are 85% effective against monkeypox.

On June 30, the Supreme Court limited the Environmental Protection Agency's ability to regulate carbon emissions from power plants. With a 6 to 3 vote, the court diminished the Biden administration's work to set emissions standards and caps. According to CNN, anthropogenic climate change causes deadlier extreme weather events, worsened water crises, increases in food insecurity, and higher rates of disease spread.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Meet our new Executive Director - Tom Cotter, MPH

We are pleased to share that Tom Cotter, MPH, has joined Healthcare Ready as President and Executive Director. Prior to this role, Tom served as the Director of Emergency Response and Preparedness for Project HOPE and led response operations at Americares.

"Tom is a public health and emergency management leader who brings a unique global perspective cultivated through more than a decade of experience helming many complex and conflict-driven health responses in the US, Haiti, and the Philippines, among many others, to Healthcare Ready," said Perry Fri, Chairman of Healthcare Ready's Board of Directors, Executive Vice President of Industry Relations, Membership, and Education at Healthcare Distribution Alliance (HDA), and Chief Operating Officer of the HDA Foundation.

We hope you will join us in welcoming Tom as he works to further Healthcare Ready's mission-driven work in expanding capacity-building efforts to strengthen our healthcare supply chain, advance community resilience-building initiatives grounded in equity, and focus on hardest-hit communities during disasters.

Executive Director Note

It is a privilege to be appointed as the new executive director of Healthcare Ready, an organization whose work I've had the pleasure of working alongside for years. I am inspired by the commitment and talent of the Healthcare Ready team past and present. Today, we face enormous challenges in health inequities and a lack of community resilience in areas that need it the most. Each month I will highlight a topic at the intersection of health equity and healthcare supply chain access.

Healthcare Ready prides itself, pun intended, on leveraging its relationship with the US government and private sector partners to assure equitable response and recovery to disasters and disease outbreaks, including LGBTQI+ individuals in our communities that still do not enjoy equal consideration and protections under various state and federal legislation, which affects access to healthcare. Further, lingering social stigmas place LGBTQI+ folks at greater risk for negative health outcomes such as sexually transmitted disease, elevated suicide rates, and violence.

Healthcare Ready is dedicated to strengthening, safeguarding, and responding to disasters with both visible (such as sex and race) and invisible forms (such as gender, sexual orientation, and sometimes race) of every individual's expression and heritage in mind. We will continue to leverage our unique position to advocate for health equity.

Other Highlights

Healthcare Ready partnered with the HDA Research Foundation to design a Pharmacy Preparedness training module for dispensers and pharmacists in-training. The foundation's educational model on Understanding Pharmaceutical Distribution is a free, online resource covering supply chain resilience, stakeholder functions, and return/recall processes.

Last month was National Wildfire Awareness Month, which also marked a month where wildfires impacted numerous states in the Western US. Be sure to prepare yourself and your loved ones for wildfires by following our Disaster Tip Sheet.

COVID-19 Update

The World at a Glance: According to the World Health Organization (WHO) Director-General Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus, Omicron variants BA.4 and BA.5 is spreading in 110 countries. Per the New York Times, 57 countries are reporting a 14-day increase in reported case counts above 100% with Bangladesh, the Maldives, Albania, and Kosovo reporting the greatest percentage increase as of June 30. The number of daily COVID-19 related deaths has decreased 15% since last month with an average of 1,470 deaths per day.

The World Trade Organization (WTO) adopted a Vaccine-Patent waiver to limit intellectual property restrictions for the manufacturing of COVID-19 vaccines.

The United States at a Glance: According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's (CDC's) COVID-19 weekly reports, as of June 22, the seven-day moving average of new cases (97,430) decreased slightly (5.6%) compared to the previous seven-day moving average (103,175). This trend is consistent with data from earlier this month and May, with reported cases remaining relatively stable. Similar trends can be seen for hospitalizations (4,375 seven-day average for June 15-21; 1.0% increase from the prior seven-day average), and deaths (255 7-day moving average; 10.4% decrease from the prior seven-day moving average). COVID-19 community levels have been declining in the Northeast as well as Midwest and is on the rise in the Southeast and the West, with cases in Mississippi having doubled over June.

On June 8, the White House announced the redirection of $5 billion dollars previously earmarked for testing and protective equipment to go towards the procurement of COVID-19 vaccines. An additional $4.9 billion will be redirected to purchase courses of Paxlovid and another $300,000 will be used for monoclonal antibody treatments.

The Senate passed the first major federal gun safety legislation allocating money for mental healthcare and altering age requirements and background checks for those looking to purchase guns. As a newly classified public health issue, gun violence and safety has not been federally regulated in such a way until now. The goals are to implement red flag laws and other safety measures to cut down on gun death rates.

The tampon and period product shortage, coupled with rising inflation, remains a concern as it continues to affect menstrual hygiene and public health.

Community Engagement
On June 10, the Secretary of US Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) Xavier Becerra restated HHS' commitment to support and protect the LGBTQI+ community from discrimination in certain states. Several action documents were released earlier this year that includes a guidance on child welfare systems to support LGBTQI+ youth, and a notice on gender affirming care, civil rights, and patient privacy.

LOOKING BACK

Earlier this year, Trust for America's Health (TFAH) released their Ready or Not 2022: Protecting the Public's Health from Diseases, Disasters, and Bioterrorism report, which measures states' level of preparedness to effectively respond to various emergencies or disasters. In late April, TFAH gave a congressional briefing and national webinar to present key findings and recommendations.

Earlier this month, the US Government Accountability Office (GAO) released a report titled COVID-19, Pandemic Lessons Highlight Need for Public Health Situational Awareness Network. This report reflects on the challenges associated with real-time situational awareness experienced during the pandemic and provides recommendations on ways to support national major group of Americans to get inoculated. The CDC's Public Health Communications Collaborative (PHSCC) has updated its messaging toolkit on COVID-19 vaccination for children six months and older.

Therapeutics Update

On June 7, the US Federal Food and Drug Administration's (FDA's) Vaccines and Related Biological Products Advisory Committee (VRBPAC) voted to recommend Novavax's vaccine (two doses, 21 days apart) for use in the US. Novavax had informed the agency of changes to its manufacturing process on June 3 days before the committee was scheduled to review its vaccine's safety and efficacy data. The FDA will consider VRBPAC's recommendation when authorizing the Novavax vaccine, which may delay authorization of the Novavax vaccine. VRBPAC's June 28 meeting included a presentation by Novavax, whose materials can be accessed here.

Laboratory Corporation of America's (Labcorp) newest COVID-19 test, VirSeq SARS-CoV-2 NGS Test on the PacBio Sequel II sequencing system, was issued an Emergency Use Authorization (EUA) by the FDA on June 10. The new test is authorized for the identification and differentiation of global strains of the virus. It is intended for use by clinical laboratory personnel trained in the operation of the PacBio Sequel 2 sequencing system and should be used in conjunction with patient medical history and other diagnostic information to determine appropriate clinical management.

The Office of Assistant Secretary for Preparedness and Response (ASPR) and the FDA announced an authorization of an extension to the shelf-life from 18 to 24 months on June 28 for specific lots of the refrigerated AstraZeneca monoclonal antibody therapy, Evusheld (tixagevimab co-packaged with cilgavimab), which is currently authorized for emergency use for pre-exposure prophylaxis of COVID-19 in certain adults and pediatric individuals. As a result of the extension, some batches of Evusheld may be stored for an additional six months from the labeled expiration date. The information sharing.

LOOKING AHEAD

On July 1, under Title 32 of the US Code, the federal funding for the National Guard to support the whole-of-America response to COVID-19 is transitioning to State Active Duty (SAD). After July 1, governors may still activate National Guard personnel to SAD as necessary for ongoing COVID-19 response and may receive reimbursement from FEMA's Public Assistance (PA) program at a 90 percent federal cost-share.

The event is one of the largest gatherings of health center clinicians, executives, consumer board members, and State/Regional Primary Care Associations, many of whom are being called upon to assume a larger role in the nation's health care system. Registration is now open.

On June 28, FDA announced they are working with Abbott Nutrition in Ireland to ship approximately 35,000 pounds of infant formula (Similac Advance 2'-FL Stage 1) to the US by mid-July. FDA continues to leverage flexibilities in order to bolster the supply of formula products.

On Tuesday, June 21, House Speaker Nancy Pelosi and Senate Majority Leader Chuck Schumer released a statement mentioning that COMPETES/USICA should pass in July. Both COMPETES and USICA contain significant sections related to the pandemic and other disaster preparedness, as well as supply chain resilience including the reimbursable transfers, efforts to enhance medical supply chain elasticity,

FDA and ASPR have also announced the authorization of an extension to the shelf-life from 24 months to 30 months for specific lots of refrigerated Regeneron monoclonal antibody therapy, REGEN-COV (casirivimab and imdevimab, administered together). Due to the high frequency of the omicron variant and sub-variants, REGEN-COV is not currently authorized for the treatment or prevention of COVID-19.

Supply Chain Update

On June 2, the Biden Administration announced $368 million in government grants to strengthen and boost rail-based transport. Under the Consolidated Rail Infrastructure and Safety Improvement (CRSI) grant program, funds will be routed to support 46 projects in 32 states and the District of Columbia (DC), as confirmed by the Federal Railroad Administration (FRA).

GE Healthcare, a subsidiary of American conglomerate General Electric, has stabilized the production of Iodinated (IV) Contrast Media at its Shanghai, China, facility as of June 6 and is resuming normal production and shipping. GE plans to work with affected customers as supply progressively recovers.

On June 7, MITRE unveiled its new "System of Trust" (SoT) Framework to provide a comprehensive knowledge of the supply chain and security-risk assessment process at the RSA Conference 2022. The open-source framework will help entities identify, discuss, and quantify the risks in major supply chains, including risk assessment of suppliers and software.

HHS Issues Guidance to Protect Patient Privacy in Wake of Supreme Court Decision on Roe

Guidance includes information about what's protected – and what's not – when using period trackers and other health information apps on smartphones.

June 29, 2022

On the heels of the Supreme Court ruling in Dobbs vs. Jackson Women's Health Organization, where the right to safe and legal abortion was taken away, President Biden and U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) Secretary Xavier Becerra called on HHS agencies to take action to protect access to sexual and reproductive health care, including abortion, pregnancy complications, and other related care. Today, in direct response, the HHS Office for Civil Rights (OCR) issued new guidance to help protect patients seeking reproductive health care, as well as their providers.

In general, the guidance does two things:

1. addresses how federal law and regulations protect individuals' private medical information (known as protected health information or PHI) relating to abortion and other sexual and reproductive health care – making it clear that providers are not required to disclose private medical information to third parties; and
2. addresses the extent to which private medical information is protected on personal cell phones and tablets, and provides tips for protecting individuals' privacy when using period trackers and other health information apps.

According to recent reports, many patients are concerned that period trackers and other health information apps on smartphones may threaten their right to privacy by disclosing geolocation data which may be misused by those seeking to deny care.

"How you access health care should not make you a target for discrimination. HHS stands with patients and providers in protecting HIPAA privacy rights and reproductive health care information," said HHS Secretary Xavier Becerra. "Anyone who believes their privacy rights have been violated can file a complaint with OCR as we are making this an enforcement priority. Today's action is part of my commitment to President Biden to protect access to health care, including abortion care and other forms of sexual and reproductive health care."

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

This guidance addresses the circumstances under which the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) Privacy Rule permits disclosure of PHI without an individual's authorization. It explains that disclosures for purposes not related to health care, such as disclosures to law enforcement officials, are permitted only in narrow circumstances tailored to protect the individual's privacy and support their access to health care, including abortion care. Specifically, the guidance:

- Reminds HIPAA covered entities and business associates that they can use and disclose PHI, without an individual's signed authorization, only as expressly permitted or required by the Privacy Rule.
- Explains the Privacy Rule's restrictions on disclosures of PHI when required by law, for law enforcement purposes, and to avert a serious threat to health or safety.

OCR is also issuing information for individuals about protecting the privacy and security of their health information when using their personal cell phone or tablet. This guidance explains that, in most cases, the HIPAA Privacy, Security, and Breach Notification Rules do not protect the privacy or security of individuals' health information when they access or store the information on personal cell phones or tablets. This guidance also provides tips about steps an individual can take to decrease how their cell phone or tablet collects and shares their health and other personal information without the individual's knowledge. This guidance:

- Explains how to turn off the location services on Apple and Android devices.
- Identifies best practices for selecting apps, browsers, and search engines that are recognized as supporting increased privacy and security.

The guidance on Protecting the Privacy and Security of Your Health Information When Using Your Personal Cell Phone or Tablet may be found at https://www.hhs.gov/hipaa/for-professionals/privacy/guidance/cell-phone-hipaa/index.html.

If you believe that a HIPAA-covered entity or its business associate violated your (or someone else's) health information privacy rights or committed another violation of the Privacy, Security, or Breach Notification Rules, you may file a complaint at https://www.hhs.gov/hipaa/filing-a-complaint/index.html.

HHS Issues Guidance to the Nation's Retail Pharmacies Clarifying Their Obligations to Ensure Access to Comprehensive Reproductive Health Care Services

Today, following President Biden's Executive Order on ensuring access to reproductive health care, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) is issuing guidance to roughly 60,000 U.S. retail pharmacies, reminding them of their obligations under federal civil rights laws. The guidance makes clear that as recipients of federal financial assistance, including Medicare and Medicaid payments, pharmacies are prohibited under law from discriminating based on race, color, national origin, sex, age, and disability in their programs and activities. This includes supplying prescribed medications; making determinations regarding the suitability of prescribed medications for a patient; and advising a patient about prescribed medications and how to take them. The action is the latest step in the HHS' response to protect reproductive health care.

"We are committed to ensuring that everyone can access health care, free of discrimination," said Secretary Becerra. "This includes access to prescription medications for reproductive health and other types of care."

Under Section 1557 of the Affordable Care Act (Section 1557), 42 U.S.C. 18116, recipients of federal financial assistance cannot exclude an individual from participation in, denying them the benefits of, or otherwise subjecting them to discrimination based on sex and other bases (i.e., race, color, national origin, age, and disability) in their programs and activities. Under federal civil rights law, pregnancy discrimination includes discrimination based on current pregnancy, past pregnancy, potential or intended pregnancy, and medical conditions related to pregnancy or childbirth.

HHS is committed to ensuring that people can access reproductive health care, free from discrimination. If you believe that your or another person's civil rights have been violated, you can file a complaint with HHS at: https://www.hhs.gov/ocr/complaints/index.html.

Below are a list of actions HHS has taken in the days following the Supreme Court's ruling to ensure access to reproductive health care:

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Launched the ReproductiveRights.gov public awareness website, which includes a know-your-rights patient fact sheet;

- Convened a meeting with health insurers, and sent them a letter, calling on the industry to commit to meeting their obligations to provide coverage for contraceptive services at no cost as required by the Affordable Care Act;
- Issued guidance to patients and providers that addresses the extent to which federal law and regulations protect individuals' private medical information when it comes to seeking abortion and other forms of reproductive health care, as well as when it comes to using health information apps on smartphones;
- Announced nearly $3 million in new funding to bolster training and technical assistance for the nationwide network of Title X family planning providers;
- Met with Michigan Governor Gretchen Whitmer, Oregon Governor Kate Brown, and Maine Governor Janet Mills and state attorneys general to discuss state-specific concerns;
- Issued guidance on the Emergency Medical Treatment and Active Labor Act (EMTALA) reaffirming that it protects providers when offering legally-mandated, life- or health-saving abortion services in emergency situations.

Subject: Highlights from The Nation"s Health: July 2022
Date: Tuesday, July 5, 2022 2:31:08 PM

Check out these highlights from our July issue:

More states codifying abortion access

About a dozen states are shoring up abortion rights within their borders, following threats to care after the Supreme Court decision to overturn Roe v. Wade.

Proposals take aim at school vaccination requirements

Emboldened by inroads against COVID-19 vaccination requirements, a surge of bills in state legislatures are taking aim at routine vaccinations for children, posing serious harm to public health.

Menthol tobacco ban could close gap in Black lung cancer mortality

FDA's move to ban menthol would be an important step toward reversing a glaring equity gap that leaves Black Americans in particular less likely to successfully quit smoking and more likely to die from it.

Pandemic presents new challenges for US injury prevention

With increases in gun-related deaths, drug overdoses and motor vehicle crashes, health workers who toil in the field of injury prevention received back-to-back reminders during the COVID-19 pandemic that their work is far from finished.

Improving US health starts with 23 key Healthy People objectives

To help health advocates drive action, Healthy People leaders have identified 23 key objectives, known as the Leading Health Indicators. Moving the needle on the indicators, which address everything from air quality and food insecurity to infant deaths and homicides, can help the nation make tremendous strides in improving health.

Healthy You: Get in tune with the health and well-being benefits of music.

Research shows that listening to or making music can help chase away the blues, alleviate anxiety and pain, lower blood pressure and improve mental alertness and memory. Read Healthy You online, and download and share a PDF in English or Spanish.

The Network for Public Health Law monitors key court cases and relevant judicial trends in public health. The Network's monthly reporter, Judicial Trends in Public Health (JTPH), highlights select, recently-published cases in public health law and policy from the prior 3 months. Case abstracts are organized within 11 key topics (adapted from James G. Hodge, Jr., Public Health Law in a Nutshell, 4th ed. (2021)), including hyperlinks to the full decisions (where available). Contact the Network for more information, questions, or comments.

JTPH CASE HIGHLIGHTS – July 18, 2022

In re: Greg Abbott et al. (Texas Supreme Court, May 13, 2022): The Texas Supreme Court

reversed an order forbidding the Texas Department of Family and Protective Services (DFPS) from investigating parents of transgender children for potential child abuse. Read the abstract here.

Arizona v. Yellen (U.S. Court of Appeals, 9th Circuit, May 19, 2022): The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals held that Arizona has standing to challenge the American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA), a federal pandemic response package. Read the abstract here.

Planned Parenthood of the Heartland, Inc. v. Iowa (Supreme Court of Iowa, June 17, 2022): The Iowa Supreme Court held that the Iowa Constitution does not provide a fundamental right to abortion. Read the abstract here.

Valdez v. Grisham (U.S. Court of Appeals, 10th Cir., June 14, 2022): The Tenth Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed a district court decision leaving in place New Mexico's vaccine requirements for health care workers. Read the abstract here.

Jones, et al. v. California Att'y General Rob Bonta, et al. (U.S. Court of Appeals, 9th Cir., May 11, 2022): A three-judge panel of the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals held that a California law banning the sale of semiautomatic weapons to adults under the age of 21 violated the Second Amendment right to bear arms. Read the abstract here.

TOPICS: These and other cases are organized on the Network website under the topics below (adapted from chapter titles in Public Health Law in a Nutshell (4th Edition) by James G. The Honorable Mike Parson
Governor of Missouri
Jefferson City, MO 65101

Governor Parson:

As you are aware, following the issuance of Attorney General Opinion No. 22-2022, medical providers and legal experts across Missouri have expressed concern and confusion regarding the legality of certain types of contraception and the definition of medical emergency as it relates to ectopic pregnancies.

The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services has confirmed the need for clarity by issuing a series of public statements and indicating that additional guidance is forthcoming. Public statements and social media posts from your office and the attorney general's office have also confirmed that the level of ambiguity around the law is at such an extreme level to warrant a response from the highest levels of state government.

Unfortunately, documents issued by DHSS and any public statements or social media posts from your office or others do not carry the force of law. Furthermore, DHSS is currently without a permanent director, undermining confidence in the longevity of its actions.

Therefore, to ensure that birth control remains legal in Missouri and to ensure that medical providers are empowered to save the lives of women with ectopic pregnancies, we formally request an extraordinary session of the Missouri General Assembly to pass narrowly tailored legislation addressing these two issues.

As you have already declared your intention to call a special legislative session for income tax cuts, expanding your call to include these two specific issues would not result in additional costs to taxpayers. Furthermore, as your office has already confirmed the need for clarity on these issues, expanding the call would be in line with your stated policy positions.

Thank you for your consideration, and we look forward to your response.

Sincerely,

Rep. Crystal Quade

Liking Liberal Policies but Not Liberal Politicians

Inside politics: Key governor contests are set with abortion as the central issue; a defense of state Senates puts the focus on Nebraska; and, once again, a big number of legislators are facing no competition in elections.

Session 2: Practicing Self-Compassion

Thursday, July 21, 2022, from 12:00 p.m. - 1:00 p.m., Central Time

When we are under stress, often the last person we take care of is

ourselves. In this session, we will talk about what self-compassion is – and what it isn't. We will also explore how our upbringing impacts how we think about self-care and the messages we send to others about the importance of taking time to fill our own cups.

In this FREE virtual series, we will address how experiences shape our attitudes and behaviors related to self-compassion and offer personal and professional strategies to help fill our "well" in the moment and over the long haul.

Subject:	March of Dimes maternal mortality initiative - expanding to 5 hospitals in Missouri - seeking input on identifying hospitals

Todd – As mentioned a s few days ago, had a briefing by March of Dimes on their various infant and maternal mortality reduction efforts. One new project mentioned particularly is a pilot project with DHHS, MOD and United Healthcare currently piloted in Tennessee and Ohio. Our local MOD representative has secured 5 hospital slots for Kansas and 5 hospital slots for Missouri hospitals in which to participate. Attached is the slide deck describing the project and below is a copy of the information MOD sent to me following our discussion including a link to information about the project.

Given that it is primarily a health equity approach to maternal mortality, was thinking the top five Medicaid birthing hospitals may be the best hospitals to approach initially. MOD seemed interested in this approach as well. She did say she has reached out already to BJH as had some contacts there, but did not have good hospital contacts otherwise. I'll also reach out to Allison Williams at MHA who oversees their maternal initiatives.

Would MHD be interested in identifying those top five birthing hospitals in which Medicaid births occur? If you'd like to hear a full presentation, am also happy to connect you with MOD. Thanks for considering – Paula

- This is an example of a new partnership we have with United nationally. I know I only casually mentioned this during our meeting but this is an example of a large program we are working on nationally, that we may be looking to implement at Ks and Mo hospitals which was built on a partnership with United Healthcare and MOD.
- I included our slide deck above.

Dear Michael:

We have a constituent inquiring about Medicaid funding for Planned Parenthood. Can funding be reinstated since providing abortions is no longer an option. To be specific, funding for family planning and testing services were asked about. Apparently, the other option in the area is booked out far in advance and Planned Parenthood has appointments available.

Thank you.

Hello all,
The rules/regulations from DSS indicate that the list of contraception options are from Health and Human Services, not DHSS. https://www.sos.mo.gov/cmsimages/adrules/csr/current/13csr/13c70-4.pdf I am unsure if these rules transferred to us when the program moved to DHSS. There is no easily accessible listing on HHS websites of methods included, other than this chart from the FDA. https://www.fda.gov/media/150299/download

I've attached the only detailed lists I could find of approved procedure codes and ICD10 codes for EWHS. These were last updated in 2020. There is no comprehensive listing of methods of oral contraception that includes or excludes emergency contraception. I have requested DSS to run how many people received IUDs (copper and hormonal), had an appointment for EC, and the number of pharmacy payments made for EC.

Based off of this information, it is my understanding that the Department has been deferring to HHS/FDA to determine all allowable forms of contraception and emergency contraception that would be prescriptions and the DSS then DHSS Directors approved updates to the procedure lists.

I'm available for any questions.

There is increasing evidence that civic participation - from voting to volunteering - is a social driver of health. To explore how civic engagement and civic infrastructure can contribute to public health, the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine's roundtable on Population Health Improvement convened a workshop to explore the link between measures of civic engagement and quantitative and qualitative measures of health equity and the roles that civic infrastructure, narrative, and media play in shaping civic engagement.

Caring for People with Serious Illness: Lessons Learned from the COVID-19 Pandemic: Proceedings of a Workshop

Released: June 16, 2022

The COVID-19 pandemic has highlighted existing weaknesses in the United States health care system, while creating a new set of challenges related to caring for people with serious illness. The National Academy of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine's Roundtable on Quality Care for People with Serious Illness hosted a three-part workshop to explore the initial responses to the pandemic by health care teams providing care to people with serious illness, the impact of the pandemic on the health care workforce, the use of telehealth, issues related to clearly communicating with the public about health emergencies, and policy opportunities to improve care for people with serious illness. Issues related to health equity were discussed throughout the three webinars.

Evolving Crisis Standards of Care and Ongoing Lessons from COVID-19

Released: June 15, 2022

Crisis Standards of Care (CSC) inform decisions on medical care during a large-scale crisis such as a pandemic or natural disaster, eliminating the need to make these decisions at the bedside without protections or guidance. Numerous points throughout the COVID-19 pandemic have demonstrated the necessity of this type of crisis planning. The National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine Forum on Medical and Public Health Preparedness for Disasters and Emergencies convened a series of public workshops to examine the experiences of healthcare providers during the COVID-19 pandemic and identify lessons that can inform current and future CSC planning and implementation. The workshops examined staffing and workforce needs, planning and implementation of CSC plans, and legal, ethical, and equity considerations of CSC planning.

Improving the CDC Quarantine Station Network's Response to Emerging Threats

Released: June 10, 2022

The U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) is responsible for preventing the introduction, transmission, and spread of communicable diseases into the United States. It does this primarily through the Division of Global Migration and Quarantine (DGMQ), which oversees the federal quarantine station network. The emergence of COVID-19 prompted CDC to request that the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine convene a committee to assess the role of DGMQ and the federal quarantine station network in mitigating the risk of onward communicable disease transmission in light of changes in the global environment, including large increases in international travel, threats posed by emerging infections, and the movement of animals and cargo. The committee was also tasked with identifying how lessons learned during COVID-19 and other public health emergencies can be leveraged to strengthen pandemic response. The report's findings and recommendations span five domains: organizational capacity, disease control and response efforts, new technologies and data systems, coordination and collaboration, and legal and regulatory authority.

U.S. Health Care Expenditures: Costs, Lessons, and Opportunities: Proceedings of a Workshop

Released: June 7, 2022

The Roundtable on Population Health Improvement, a convening activity of the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, held a workshop on March 15-16, 2021, to explore issues related to increasing health care spending in the United States. The workshop, U.S. Health Care Expenditures: Costs, Lessons, and Opportunities, was organized to highlight the persisting challenge of health care expenditures that are not commensurate with the health outcomes they produce. This publication summarizes the presentation and discussion of the workshop.

NAS and NAM Presidents Issue Statement on the Overturning of Roe v. Wade

The U.S. Supreme Court's ruling to overturn Roe v. Wade will likely make it even more difficult for women* to access high-quality health care in this country. The risks are especially acute for women of color, women from low-income backgrounds, and women living in rural areas. For decades, the National Academy of Sciences and the National Academy of Medicine have advised the nation on many issues related to maternal and reproductive health, unintended pregnancy, prenatal care, racial and ethnic disparities in health care, and abortion. In light of the decision to overturn Roe v. Wade, the National Academies are committed to mobilizing the scientific, medical, and health care communities to identify actions that can mitigate the potential negative impacts of this decision and that can advance health equity. Read More >>

The Network's Fall Summit: Helping the Public Health Community Navigate the Rapidly Changing Field of Cannabis Law

Cannabis law and policy is evolving at a blistering pace driven largely by state legalization of medical and adult-use cannabis. In this churn of changing state laws public health is faced with myriad complex issues. How do we address social justice in the shadow of the war on drugs? What policies are effective in preventing youth access? How can the tax revenue generated by cannabis legalization be used to reinvest in communities disproportionately harmed by the war on drugs? What role can local government play in this dynamic environment? To help public health stakeholders better navigate critical issues like these, the Network is hosting a Summit on September 13th and 14th in Baltimore City, Maryland to explore pressing issues in cannabis law and policy.

State and Local Efforts to Declare Racism a Public Health Crisis – Eastern Region Update

In the summer of 2020, as the disparities in COVID-19 cases, hospitalizations, and deaths continued to worsen, and amid racial justice protests following the murder of George Floyd, cities, counties, states, and other agencies and organizations increasingly issued formal resolutions declaring racism a public health crisis. These resolutions and formal statements are an important step in calling attention to racism in a way that can drive resource allocation and changes to law and policy. This issue brief is the third in a series of updated analyses examining resolutions issued in each region of the country covered by the Network's five regional offices.

Prison Policies that Create Higher COVID-19 Risks: The Health and Equity Impacts of the Court Ruling in Plata v. Newsom

In Plata v. Newsom, the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals vacated

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

U.S. District Judge Jon Tigar's order requiring the COVID-19 vaccination of all California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation (CDCR) staff that access CDCR facilities. The Circuit Court found that the CDCR's current partial vaccination policy, which only requires the vaccination of prison staff working in healthcare settings, does not constitute deliberate indifference to the health and safety of incarcerated persons in violation of the Eighth Amendment's prohibition on cruel and unusual punishment. This article presents the facts of Plata v. Newsom and the deliberate indifference standard, describes why the Ninth Circuit's decision incorrectly interprets this standard, and outlines the health equity concerns and public health implications resulting from the decision.

Ballot Measures on Abortion Access

In the wake of the recent Supreme Court decision in Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization, in which the U.S. Supreme Court held that there is no constitutional right to abortion, state action becomes all the more important for those seeking access to abortion or other types of reproductive health care. While there are existing abortion protections in state statutes and in state constitutions as interpreted by state courts, these protections are being litigated and decided via ballot measures. Ballot measures are one way that states pass new laws. These measures are especially relevant as at least five states will vote on ballot measures regarding abortion access in 2022 and three states already approved ballot measures in 2018 and 2020. This resource provides the details on these ballot measures.

When people vote, they exercise their voice on decisions that have a big impact on their health and the health of their family and neighbors. Analysis from the Health & Democracy Index shows a clear relationship between inclusive voting policies and better health outcomes: States with more inclusive voting policies and greater levels of civic participation are healthier; states with exclusionary voting laws and lower levels of civic participation are less healthy.

The End of the Public Health Emergency: Can the ADA Mitigate Risks to People with Disabilities?

The end of the COVID-19 public health emergency (PHE) will create additional risks for people with disabilities. During the pandemic, under the authority granted by the declaration of the PHE, federal agencies took several steps to allow state Medicaid agencies to maintain health care coverage and Medicaid-funded home and community-based services for people with disabilities. Federal agencies also granted state Medicaid agencies a range of flexibilities, including changes to Medicaid enrollment and assessments, intended to facilitate enrollment in Medicaid and the maintenance of coverage while reducing COVID-19 exposure risks.

Abortion Access: Post-Dobbs Litigation Themes

Following the Court's decision in Dobbs, some states have sought to provide greater or enhanced protections for abortion access. Other states, however, have initiated a series of measures to greatly limit or inhibit abortions. These actions include (a) implementation of pre-existing "trigger" laws banning procedures the moment abortion was no longer a federal constitutional right; (b) enforcement of decades-old laws banning abortion that were never repealed (following the Supreme Court's initial decision affirming a right to abortion in Roe); and (c) passage of new statutes restricting abortions. This fact sheet provides an illustrative discussion of key emerging themes from litigation challenging state-based anti-abortions laws or policies.

The Persistent Criminalization of Pregnant People Who Use Drugs

The July 2022 decision in Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Organization brings questions of bodily autonomy into the limelight, especially with regard to pregnant people. At the intersection of two criminalized issues — abortion and drug use — pregnant people who use drugs (PWUD) will be further subject to a lack of adequate care in this post-Roe world. Even before Dobbs, however, pregnant PWUD were stigmatized, criminalized, and often received inadequate (or no) care.

Mandating Telehealth Accessibility in Light of Covid-19

The pandemic has highlighted various inequities experienced by people with disabilities, especially internet inaccessibility. The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) was passed before the internet was commonly used; consequently, there is no explicit language addressing website—much less telehealth—accessibility. In July, HHS and the Department of Justice jointly issued Guidance on Nondiscrimination in Telehealth which states that telehealth accessibility is required not only by the ADA, but also by the Rehabilitation Act, the Civil Rights Act and the Affordable Care Act. However, the Guidance is not legally binding.

The Supreme Court's decision in Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization has resulted in severe limitations to abortion access among select states nationally. In the aftermath of the elimination of the fundamental constitutional right to abortion, identifying legal options to abortion access is critical to ensure the health and safety of individuals across the nation. This fact sheet illustrates select legal avenues to access abortion services in the post-Dobbs United States under core specific categories.

Key Federal Responses to Protect Abortion Access and Promote Reproductive Health Post-Dobbs

The federal government has taken specific actions designed to preserve and promote access to abortions and promote reproductive health following the U.S. Supreme Court's decision to overturn Roe v. Wade. This fact sheet examines key responses from the Biden administration that attempt to protect legal abortion access through specific actions by the White House, Department of Health & Human Services; Department of Justice; and other federal entities.

Using Local Ordinances, Resolutions, and Non-Prosecution Measures to Protect Reproductive

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Health

The overturning of Roe v. Wade placed the authority to regulate abortions in the hands of state legislatures and many have moved to restrict abortion or ban it altogether. Within states that have restrictive abortion laws, some local governments have devised legal and policy strategies to mitigate the harms that abortion bans have on residents, such as adopting non-enforcement and non-prosecution strategies. This post explores some of the ordinances, resolutions, and non-prosecution measures local governments have implemented to protect reproductive rights undermined by state laws.

Racial Disparities in Women's Health

The Supreme Court ruling in Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization disproportionately affects the lives of Black and minority women. Black women are three to four times more likely to die in pregnancy and five times more likely to die from pregnancy-related cardiomyopathy and blood pressure disorders than White women. As a result of this decision, 26 states have already, or will soon, ban abortion with little or no exceptions. Twenty-two of the states whose laws impose strict abortion restrictions collectively are home to 45 percent of Black women under the age of 55.

Resources

The Limits of HIPAA in Keeping Reproductive Health Records Private

In the wake of the recent Supreme Court ruling in Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization, there is growing concern of far-reaching state restrictions that may include blocking pregnant individuals from traveling to another state to terminate a pregnancy; prohibiting pregnant individuals from obtaining abortion pills out-of-state; and even criminalizing the provision of information to those seeking out-of-state abortions. With these broad ramifications in mind, the threat of law enforcement gaining access to health records is a growing concern. This fact sheet provides guidance on how HIPAA applies to abortion records. We caution that HIPAA includes several provisions permitting disclosure of an individual's abortion records to law enforcement when specific conditions are met.

Exemptions to School Entry Vaccines and Corresponding Vaccine Coverage

All 50 states and the District of Columbia require vaccines for school entry. Vaccine requirements have decreased disease incidence and mortality across the country, and the fewer exemptions a jurisdiction offers, the higher the childhood vaccination rate tends to be. However, due to a recent decline in vaccination rates, the risk of a vaccine-preventable disease outbreak has increased. This resource examines the type of exemptions offered for school entry vaccines in all 50 states and the District of Columbia and the impact of exemptions on vaccination rates; the equity implications of exemptions; COVID-19's impact on school entry vaccination rates; and legal and practical challenges to eliminating nonmedical exemptions.

Senate Democrats Reach Agreement on Prescription Drug Pricing
On Wednesday, Senate Democrats released an updated legislative proposal aimed at lowering the cost of prescription drugs. The bill would allow Medicare to negotiate the price of some prescription drugs, cap out-of-pocket spending for Medicare beneficiaries, and limit the amount drug companies can increase prices each year. The bill also includes a provision that would provide coverage of recommended adult vaccines without additional cost-sharing for Medicare patients, a policy change NACCHO has advocated.

Agreement on the drug pricing proposal is the first step for Senate Democrats to revive a version of the Build Back Better Act, which has been stalled since Senator Joe Manchin (D-WV) announced his opposition to it in December. Senator Manchin and Majority Leader Chuck Schumer (D-NY) have been negotiating a possible deal, which reportedly may ultimately include tax, climate, and health insurance subsidy provisions. Democrats are crafting a bill to pass via budget reconciliation, which allows for a simple majority vote but requires legislation to be limited to provisions that have a budgetary effect. It is unknown if sustained public health infrastructure funding included in an earlier version of the legislation will make it into the package, but NACCHO continues to support its inclusion.

FDA Allows Pharmacists to Prescribe Paxlovid
On Wednesday, the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) revised the Emergency Use Authorization (EUA) for the COVID-19 antiviral treatment Paxlovid to allow state-licensed pharmacists to prescribe the drug to eligible patients. The revised EUA requires patients to supply pharmacists with information about their health history and drugs so pharmacists can assess if Paxlovid is safe for the patient. A recent report from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention showed that Paxlovid prescriptions in "high-vulnerability" zip codes are half those seen in less vulnerable communities, raising concerns about equitable access to the antiviral.

President Biden Signs Executive Order on Reproductive Health Care
Two weeks after the Supreme Court overturned Roe v. Wade, President Biden signed an "Executive Order Protecting Access to Reproductive Health Care Services." The order directs the administration to take a number of actions to protect access to medication abortion and contraception, and ensure emergency medical care by clarifying physician responsibilities and protections. The order also directs action to protect patient privacy and access to accurate information, and promote safety and security for patients and reproductive health care providers.

FDA Suspends Juul Marketing Denial Order
This week, FDA announced that it had stayed its market denial order for Juul vape products citing the need for additional review of "scientific issues." The order was already not in effect due to court action temporarily blocking it. FDA clarified that the stay temporarily suspends the marketing denial order which prohibited the sale of Juul vape products, but does not rescind it. FDA further reiterated that all electronic nicotine delivery systems are required to have FDA authorization to be legally marketed and that the review does not constitute an authorization to market. However, FDA has previously exercised enforcement discretion, meaning Juul products likely will continue to be sold.

Supreme Court Issues Decisions Ending Federal Abortion Rights, Expanding Gun Rights

On Thursday, the Supreme Court struck down a New York law that required applicants for a concealed carry permit to show a special need to defend themselves. The 6-3 ruling in New York State Rifle & Pistol Association v. Bruen is the Court's first significant decision on firearms in over a decade and has been called a major expansion of gun rights. In the majority opinion, Justice Clarence Thomas explained that courts should uphold gun restrictions only if there is a tradition of such regulation in U.S. history. In a policy developed by local health department experts, NACCHO recognizes firearm-related injury and death as a preventable public health crisis, and as such supports legislation, regulation, or policies that promote strategies to prevent firearm-related injury and death.

The next day, the Supreme Court voted 6-3 to uphold Mississippi's 15-week abortion ban, and 5-4 to overturn the 1973 Court decision in Roe v. Wade, which had guaranteed the right to abortion nationwide until fetal viability. In writing for the majority in Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization, Justice Samuel Alito argued that no right to an abortion exists because the Constitution makes no express reference to it and such a right is "not deeply rooted in the nation's history and traditions." In overturning Roe, the Court sends the authority to regulate abortion to states. Twenty-six states are expected to ban all or nearly all abortions in the wake of the decision. NACCHO's comprehensive women's health policy, developed by local health department experts, affirms the need to strengthen and provide support for women's health, family planning, and reproductive health services and recommends that local, state, and federal public health agencies guarantee women have access to information to make informed health and healthcare decisions that is not restricted by regulation, laws, or healthcare providers' beliefs. Read NACCHO's statement on Dobbs here.

Congress Sends Bipartisan Gun Safety Bill to President

Late this week, the Senate and House voted to approve the Safer Communities Act, bipartisan gun safety legislation. President Biden has stated his support for the bill and is expected to sign it into law immediately. The legislation was the result of negotiations between 10 Democrats and 10 Republicans in the Senate, led by Senators Chris Murphy (D-CT) and John Cornyn (R-TX). Key provisions of the legislation include:

- $750 million for states to implement and establish extreme risk protection orders (otherwise known as "Red Flag laws")
- $250 million for community violence intervention programs
- Closing the so-called "boyfriend loophole" that currently allows domestic abusers who are dating but not married to their partner to continue to purchase weapons
- Establishment of enhanced background checks for long gun purchasers under the age of 21
- Investment in mental health services through expansion of community mental health services program, school-based mental health support, guidance for states to increase access through telehealth, and other resources.

Although the legislation did not go as far as many Democratic lawmakers wanted, all Democrats in Congress ultimately voted for the bill. In the Senate, 15 Republicans supported the legislation, as did 14 in the House.

House L-HHS Appropriations Subcommittee Approves FY2023 Funding Bill

On Thursday, the House Appropriations Subcommittee on Labor, Health and Human Services, Education, and Related Agencies approved by voice

vote its fiscal year (FY) 2023 bill. The bill provides $241.2 billion for the Department of Health and Human Services, an increase of $28.5 billion over FY2022. Included within that funding is:

- $25 million to establish the Public Health Loan Repayment program at the Health Resources and Services Administration, a top NACCHO legislative priority. Although the funding level is lower than NACCHO included in its FY2023 appropriations priorities, the inclusion of a funding line for the program is a big win, signaling Congressional support for the program
- $10.5 billion for the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), an increase of $2 billion above FY2022, just under the $11 billion requested by NACCHO
- $750 million at the CDC for public health infrastructure and capacity, an increase of $550 million from FY2022, but $250 million less than the NACCHO request
- $250 million for public health data modernization at CDC, $150 million above the FY2022 level, and equal to the NACCHO request
- $735 million for the Public Health Emergency Preparedness Cooperative Agreements at CDC, an increase of $20 million above the FY2022 level, but less than the $1 billion NACCHO request.

The full House Appropriations Committee will mark up the bill next Thursday, June 30. Report language, which provides detailed allocations for federal program lines and directives to agencies on how to use funding, is expected to be released in advance of the markup. The Senate Appropriations Committee has not announced a timeline for its bill yet, and as NFW readers know, there are many steps before we get a final agreement in Congress for FY2023 funding.

Congresses Passes Short Term Extension of Universal Free School Meals Program
This week, both the House and Senate passed the Keep Kids Fed Act to extend funding and flexibility for free school meals through the summer. The bipartisan agreement keeps in place waivers that were first authorized in the March 2020 Families First Coronavirus Response Act that enable schools to provide free meals to every student regardless of income and allow flexibility around what foods schools can purchase amid supply chain disruptions. Senate Republicans have been opposed to a full year extension of the program, citing the $11 billion price tag, but a small bipartisan group of senators was able to reach a fully paid short term deal by repurposing existing funding from the Departments of Education and Agriculture.

FDA Orders Juul Products Off the Market
On Thursday, the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) issued marketing denial orders to Juul Labs Inc. for all their products currently marketed in the U.S. Under the orders, Juul must stop selling and distributing its vaping cartridges and pods and remove any currently on market. In recent years, the FDA had extended its regulatory authority to electronic nicotine delivery systems (ENDS) and required ENDS products to undergo premarket review with applications due to the agency by September 2020. FDA had been under a court order to issue decisions on all premarket applications by September 9, 2021, but missed that deadline for some products including Juul. In issuing its decision, the FDA stated that Juul's applications lacked sufficient evidence to demonstrate that marketing of their products would be "appropriate for the protection of public health," the standard required to grant approval. Juul said it will seek a stay against the orders and is exploring an appeal of FDA's decision.

FDA to Reduce Nicotine Levels in Cigarettes
This week, the Biden Administration released its Spring 2022 report of regulatory actions administrative agencies plan to issue in the near and long term. The report included future rulemaking from the FDA to establish a maximum nicotine level that would make cigarettes minimally- or non-addictive. A paper published by the FDA in 2018 estimated that limiting nicotine levels would prevent over 33 million people from becoming regular smokers, prompt 5 million smokers to quit within one year, and save more than 8 million lives. Although the regulatory agenda lists May 2023 as the date for the proposed product standard, FDA cautioned that dates in the agenda are not intended to be a precise estimate.

CDC Recommends COVID-19 Vaccines for Kids Under 5, Vaccinations Start
On Saturday, CDC Director Dr. Rochelle Walensky endorsed the Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices' (ACIP) recommendation that all children 6 months through 5 years of age should receive a COVID-19 vaccine. The CDC action came the day after the FDA granted emergency use authorization for both the Pfizer/BioNTech and Moderna vaccines for children as young as 6 months old. Following the authorization and recommendation, vaccinations for young children began Tuesday.

DHSS responds to concerns about contraception use

JEFFERSON CITY, MO – The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services is statutorily responsible for regulating licensed abortion facilities/providers, and it will continue to be the agency's responsibility to monitor all abortions performed to assure that they are done only under and in accordance with the provisions of the law.

Before and following the Supreme Court of the United States' ruling in Dobbs that overturns Roe v. Wade, Missouri law does not ban the use of contraception methods. RSMo 188.017 criminalizes performing an abortion absent a medical emergency, but this does not include pregnancy preventive measures.

DHSS is currently reviewing regulations related to abortion facilities to ensure their accordance with state law.

For women's health resources in Missouri, visit health.mo.gov/womenshealth or call TEL-LINK at 800-TEL-LINK (835-5465). TEL-LINK provides Missourians with confidential information and referrals on maternal and child health services.

About the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services: The department seeks to be the leader in protecting health and keeping people safe. More information about DHSS can be found at health.mo.gov or find us on Facebook and Twitter @HealthyLivingMo.

DHSS responds to concerns about contraception use

JEFFERSON CITY, MO – The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services is statutorily responsible for regulating licensed abortion facilities/providers, and it will continue to be the agency's responsibility to monitor all abortions performed to assure that they are done only under and in accordance with the provisions of the law.

Before and following the Supreme Court of the United States' ruling in Dobbs that overturns Roe v. Wade, Missouri law does not ban the use of contraception methods. RSMo 188.017 criminalizes performing an abortion absent a medical emergency, but this does not include pregnancy preventive measures.

DHSS is currently reviewing regulations related to abortion facilities to ensure their accordance with state law.

For women's health resources in Missouri, visit health.mo.gov/womenshealth or call TEL-LINK at 800-TEL-LINK (835-5465). TEL-LINK provides Missourians with confidential information and referrals on maternal and child health services.

DHSS responds to concerns about contraception use

JEFFERSON CITY, MO – The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services is statutorily responsible for regulating licensed abortion facilities/providers, and it will continue to be the agency's responsibility to monitor all abortions performed to assure that they are done only under and in accordance with the provisions of the law.

Before and following the Supreme Court of the United States' ruling in Dobbs that overturns Roe v. Wade, Missouri law does not ban the use of contraception methods. RSMo 188.017 criminalizes performing an abortion absent a medical emergency, but this does not include pregnancy preventive measures.

DHSS is currently reviewing regulations related to abortion facilities to ensure their accordance with state law.

For women's health resources in Missouri, visit health.mo.gov/womenshealth or call TEL-LINK at 800-TEL-LINK (835-5465). TEL-LINK provides Missourians with confidential information and referrals on maternal and child health services.

About the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services: The department seeks to be the leader in protecting health and keeping people safe. More information about DHSS can be found at health.mo.gov or find us on Facebook and Twitter @HealthyLivingMo.

DHSS responds to concerns about contraception use

JEFFERSON CITY, MO – The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services is statutorily responsible for regulating licensed abortion facilities/providers, and it will continue to be the agency's responsibility to monitor all abortions performed to assure that they are done only under and in accordance with the provisions of the law.

Before and following the Supreme Court of the United States' ruling in Dobbs that overturns Roe v. Wade, Missouri law does not ban the use of contraception methods. RSMo 188.017 criminalizes performing an abortion absent a medical emergency, but this does not include pregnancy preventive measures.

DHSS is currently reviewing regulations related to abortion facilities to ensure their accordance with state law.

For women's health resources in Missouri, visit health.mo.gov/womenshealth or call TEL-LINK at 800-TEL-LINK (835-5465). TEL-LINK provides Missourians with confidential information and referrals on maternal and child health services.

DHSS responds to concerns about contraception use

JEFFERSON CITY, MO – The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services is statutorily responsible for regulating licensed abortion facilities/providers, and it will continue to be the agency's responsibility to monitor all abortions performed to assure that they are done only under and in accordance with the provisions of the law.

Before and following the Supreme Court of the United States' ruling in Dobbs that overturns Roe v. Wade, Missouri law does not ban the use of contraception methods. RSMo 188.017 criminalizes performing an abortion absent a medical emergency, but this does not include pregnancy preventive measures.

DHSS is currently reviewing regulations related to abortion facilities to ensure their accordance with state law.

For women's health resources in Missouri, visit health.mo.gov/womenshealth or call TEL-LINK at 800-TEL-LINK (835-5465). TEL-LINK provides Missourians with confidential information and referrals on maternal and child health services.

About the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services: The department seeks to be the leader in protecting health and keeping people safe. More information about DHSS can be found at health.mo.gov or find us on Facebook and Twitter @HealthyLivingMo.

DHSS responds to concerns about contraception use

JEFFERSON CITY, MO – The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services is statutorily responsible for regulating licensed abortion facilities/providers, and it will continue to be the agency's responsibility to monitor all abortions performed to assure that they are done only under and in accordance with the provisions of the law.

Before and following the Supreme Court of the United States' ruling in Dobbs that overturns Roe v. Wade, Missouri law does not ban the use of contraception methods. RSMo 188.017 criminalizes performing an abortion absent a medical emergency, but this does not include pregnancy preventive measures.

DHSS is currently reviewing regulations related to abortion facilities to ensure their accordance with state law.

For women's health resources in Missouri, visit health.mo.gov/womenshealth or call TEL-LINK at 800-TEL-LINK (835-5465). TEL-LINK provides Missourians with confidential information and referrals on maternal and child health services.

Liking Liberal Policies but Not Liberal Politicians

Inside politics: Key governor contests are set with abortion as the central issue; a defense of state Senates puts the focus on Nebraska; and, once again, a big number of legislators are facing no competition in elections.

Todd – As mentioned a s few days ago, had a briefing by March of Dimes on their various infant and maternal mortality reduction efforts. One new project mentioned particularly is a pilot project with DHHS, MOD and United Healthcare currently piloted in Tennessee and Ohio. Our local MOD representative has secured 5 hospital slots for Kansas and 5 hospital slots for Missouri hospitals in which to participate. Attached is the slide deck describing the project and below is a copy of the information MOD sent to me following our discussion including a link to information about the project.

Given that it is primarily a health equity approach to maternal mortality, was thinking the top five Medicaid birthing hospitals may be the best hospitals to approach initially. MOD seemed interested in this approach as well. She did say she has reached out already to BJH as had some contacts there, but did not have good hospital contacts otherwise. I'll also reach out to Allison Williams at MHA who oversees their maternal initiatives.

Would MHD be interested in identifying those top five birthing hospitals in which Medicaid births occur? If you'd like to hear a full presentation, am also happy to connect you with MOD. Thanks for considering – Paula

RACIAL/ETHNIC DIFFERENCES IN MATERNAL OUTCOMES

BIOLOGY

Race is a non-biological, social construct and does not explain differences in maternal, infant, and birth outcomes.

ECONOMIC STATUS

Black and Native American women experience higher maternal mortality and morbidity rates irrespective of education and income level.

POOR EXPERIENCES

Black and Native American women are more likely to report negative care experiences during the perinatal period.

BIAS

DRIVERS OF THE BLACK-WHITE DISPARITY IN SMM

On March 19, 2021, the Black Maternal Health Stakeholder Group met to identify and discuss key drivers and solutions to the disparity gap in maternal health outcomes, including high SMM rates among Black women.

1. RACISM (STRUCTURAL AND INTERPERSONAL)
2. LACK OF SHARED DECISION-MAKING AND COMMUNITY OVERSIGHT
3. NEED FOR DATA TRANSPARENCY AS A MODE OF ACCOUNTABILITY, ACTION AND FINANCIAL ALIGNMENT
4. LEADERSHIP AND SYSTEMS ISSUES
5. A SILOED APPROACH TO LABOR MANAGEMENT AND LABOR SUPPORT AS THE STANDARD OF CARE

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

SOLUTIONS FROM STAKEHOLDERS TO CLOSE THE BLACK-WHITE GAP IN MATERNAL HEALTH OUTCOMES

Normalize person-centered, respectful, and anti-racist care for all.

Use a team-based approach to care with respect for all members of the birthing team.

Make data transparent and stratify data by race and ethnicity.

KEY ACTIVITIES

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

FOCUS AREAS

Improve birth equity with better data

To identify disparities and opportunities for improvement, our team will support the implementation of best practices for collecting accurate patient-reported race and ethnicity data and stratifying quality data appropriately.

Create a culture of equity

Maternal HealthCARE will help your team take actionable steps to advance equity, such as forming an anti-racism workgroup and reviewing policies.

Center the patient in decision-making by implementing respectful care practices

Team Birth, an intervention designed by Ariadne Labs, levels the playing field in childbirth to place the birthing person at the center of shared communication in a respectful environment.

Engage patients, partners and the community for accountability

Our team will coordinate a regional Community Accountability Panel (CAP) to provide meaningful feedback directly to hospital teams on QI efforts.

Dear Michael:

We have a constituent inquiring about Medicaid funding for Planned Parenthood. Can funding be reinstated since providing abortions is no longer an option. To be specific, funding for family planning and testing services were asked about. Apparently, the other option in the area is booked out far in advance and Planned Parenthood has appointments available.

Thank you.

Hello all,
The rules/regulations from DSS indicate that the list of contraception options are from Health and Human Services, not DHSS. https://www.sos.mo.gov/cmsimages/adrules/csr/current/13csr/13c70-4.pdf I am unsure if these rules transferred to us when the program moved to DHSS. There is no easily accessible listing on HHS websites of methods included, other than this chart from the FDA. https://www.fda.gov/media/150299/download

I've attached the only detailed lists I could find of approved procedure codes and ICD10 codes for EWHS. These were last updated in 2020. There is no comprehensive listing of methods of oral contraception that includes or excludes emergency contraception. I have requested DSS to run how many people received IUDs (copper and hormonal), had an appointment for EC, and the number of pharmacy payments made for EC.

Based off of this information, it is my understanding that the Department has been deferring to HHS/FDA to determine all allowable forms of contraception and emergency contraception that would be prescriptions and the DSS then DHSS Directors approved updates to the procedure lists.

I'm available for any questions.

FEATURED STORY FOR JUNE 27, 2022

More States Will Ban Abortion After Supreme Court Ruling

The decision overturning Roe v. Wade sends the abortion question back to the states. Additional red states are expected to join those with suddenly relevant bans on the books.

Session 2: Practicing Self-Compassion

Thursday, July 21, 2022, from 12:00 p.m. - 1:00 p.m., Central Time

When we are under stress, often the last person we take care of is

ourselves. In this session, we will talk about what self-compassion is – and what it isn't. We will also explore how our upbringing impacts how we think about self-care and the messages we send to others about the importance of taking time to fill our own cups.

In this FREE virtual series, we will address how experiences shape our attitudes and behaviors related to self-compassion and offer personal and professional strategies to help fill our "well" in the moment and over the long haul.

Long COVID: Examining Long-Term Health Effects of COVID-19 and Implications for the Social Security Administration: Proceedings of a Workshop

Released: June 30, 2022

Long COVID symptoms can affect a person's ability to work and otherwise function in daily life, so people with the condition may need to utilize programs such as Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI) and the Supplemental Security Income Program (SSI). The Social Security Administration (SSA), which administers both of these programs, requested that the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine host a public workshop to discuss research into the long-term health effects of COVID-19, their impacts on individuals and populations, and how the SSDI and SSI programs can support individuals who suffer disability as a result of Long COVID. This publication summarizes the presentation and discussion of the workshop.

Civic Engagement and Civic Infrastructure to Advance Health Equity: Proceedings of a Workshop

Released: June 21, 2022

There is increasing evidence that civic participation - from voting to volunteering - is a social driver of health. To explore how civic engagement and civic infrastructure can contribute to public health, the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine's roundtable on Population Health Improvement convened a workshop to explore the link between measures of civic engagement and quantitative and qualitative measures of health equity and the roles that civic infrastructure, narrative, and media play in shaping civic engagement.

Caring for People with Serious Illness: Lessons Learned from the COVID-19 Pandemic: Proceedings of a Workshop

Released: June 16, 2022

The COVID-19 pandemic has highlighted existing weaknesses in the United States health care system, while creating a new set of challenges related to caring for people with serious illness. The National Academy of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine's Roundtable on Quality Care for People with Serious Illness hosted a three-part workshop to explore the initial responses to the pandemic by health care teams providing care to people with serious illness, the impact of the pandemic on the health care workforce, the use of telehealth, issues related to clearly communicating with the public about health emergencies, and policy opportunities to improve care for people with serious illness. Issues related to health equity were discussed throughout the three webinars.

Evolving Crisis Standards of Care and Ongoing Lessons from COVID-19

Released: June 15, 2022

Crisis Standards of Care (CSC) inform decisions on medical care during a large-scale crisis such as a pandemic or natural disaster, eliminating the need to make these decisions at the bedside without protections or guidance. Numerous points throughout the COVID-19 pandemic have demonstrated the necessity of this type of crisis planning. The National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine Forum on Medical and Public Health Preparedness for Disasters and Emergencies convened a series of public workshops to examine the experiences of healthcare providers during the COVID-19 pandemic and identify lessons that can inform current and future CSC planning and implementation. The workshops examined staffing and workforce needs, planning and implementation of CSC plans, and legal, ethical, and equity considerations of CSC planning.

Released: June 10, 2022

The U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) is responsible for preventing the introduction, transmission, and spread of communicable diseases into the United States. It does this primarily through the Division of Global Migration and Quarantine (DGMQ), which oversees the federal quarantine station network. The emergence of COVID-19 prompted CDC to request that the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine convene a committee to assess the role of DGMQ and the federal quarantine station network in mitigating the risk of onward communicable disease transmission in light of changes in the global environment, including large increases in international travel, threats posed by emerging infections, and the movement of animals and cargo. The committee was also tasked with identifying how lessons learned during COVID-19 and other public health emergencies can be leveraged to strengthen pandemic response. The report's findings and recommendations span five domains: organizational capacity, disease control and response efforts, new technologies and data systems, coordination and collaboration, and legal and regulatory authority.

Released: June 7, 2022

The Roundtable on Population Health Improvement, a convening activity of the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, held a workshop on March 15-16, 2021, to explore issues related to increasing health care spending in the United States. The workshop, U.S. Health Care Expenditures: Costs, Lessons, and Opportunities, was organized to highlight the persisting challenge of health care expenditures that are not commensurate with the health outcomes they produce. This publication summarizes the presentation and discussion of the workshop.

NAS and NAM Presidents Issue Statement on the Overturning of Roe v. Wade

The U.S. Supreme Court's ruling to overturn Roe v. Wade will likely make it even more difficult for women* to access high-quality health care in this country. The risks are especially acute for women of color, women from low-income backgrounds, and women living in rural areas. For decades, the National Academy of Sciences and the National Academy of Medicine have advised the nation on many issues related to maternal and reproductive health, unintended pregnancy, prenatal care, racial and ethnic disparities in health care, and abortion. In light of the decision to overturn Roe v. Wade, the National Academies are committed to mobilizing the scientific, medical, and health care communities to identify actions that can mitigate the potential negative impacts of this decision and that can advance health equity. Read More >>

The Network's Fall Summit: Helping the Public Health Community Navigate the Rapidly Changing Field of Cannabis Law

Cannabis law and policy is evolving at a blistering pace driven largely by state legalization of medical and adult-use cannabis. In this churn of changing state laws public health is faced with myriad complex issues. How do we address social justice in the shadow of the war on drugs? What policies are effective in preventing youth access? How can the tax revenue generated by cannabis legalization be used to reinvest in communities disproportionately harmed by the war on drugs? What role can local government play in this dynamic environment? To help public health stakeholders better navigate critical issues like these, the Network is hosting a Summit on September 13th and 14th in Baltimore City, Maryland to explore pressing issues in cannabis law and policy.

State and Local Efforts to Declare Racism a Public Health Crisis – Eastern Region Update

In the summer of 2020, as the disparities in COVID-19 cases, hospitalizations, and deaths continued to worsen, and amid racial justice protests following the murder of George Floyd, cities, counties, states, and other agencies and organizations increasingly issued formal resolutions declaring racism a public health crisis. These resolutions and formal statements are an important step in calling attention to racism in a way that can drive resource allocation and changes to law and policy. This issue brief is the third in a series of updated analyses examining resolutions issued in each region of the country covered by the Network's five regional offices.

Establishing an Environmental Exposure Registry: Operational and Legal Lessons from the Flint Registry

2:00 p.m. – 3:00 p.m. EST | June 30, 2022

After thousands of Flint, Michigan, residents were exposed to lead during the 2014-15 Flint water crisis, the community came together to create the Flint Registry to monitor community health, connect people to services, and promote an understanding of how the water crisis affected the community. This webinar will examine the process involved in establishing and operating a community-based non-governmental environmental exposure registry. The presenters will share a legal handbook to guide other communities wishing to establish non-governmental public health registries.

Prison Policies that Create Higher COVID-19 Risks: The Health and Equity Impacts of the Court Ruling in Plata v. Newsom

In Plata v. Newsom, the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals vacated

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

U.S. District Judge Jon Tigar's order requiring the COVID-19 vaccination of all California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation (CDCR) staff that access CDCR facilities. The Circuit Court found that the CDCR's current partial vaccination policy, which only requires the vaccination of prison staff working in healthcare settings, does not constitute deliberate indifference to the health and safety of incarcerated persons in violation of the Eighth Amendment's prohibition on cruel and unusual punishment. This article presents the facts of Plata v. Newsom and the deliberate indifference standard, describes why the Ninth Circuit's decision incorrectly interprets this standard, and outlines the health equity concerns and public health implications resulting from the decision.

Ballot Measures on Abortion Access

In the wake of the recent Supreme Court decision in Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization, in which the U.S. Supreme Court held that there is no constitutional right to abortion, state action becomes all the more important for those seeking access to abortion or other types of reproductive health care. While there are existing abortion protections in state statutes and in state constitutions as interpreted by state courts, these protections are being litigated and decided via ballot measures. Ballot measures are one way that states pass new laws. These measures are especially relevant as at least five states will vote on ballot measures regarding abortion access in 2022 and three states already approved ballot measures in 2018 and 2020. This resource provides the details on these ballot measures.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

August is Civic Health Month, a time dedicated to ensuring that every voter has the information they need to participate in elections and understand how that participation can improve their health and the health of their communities. The relationship between voting and health has been visualized in the Health & Democracy Index, and since its launch, the Network has worked with Dr. Scot Schraufnagel, Chair of the Department of Political Science at Northern Illinois University, to further explore the data behind the Index. In this Q&A, Dr. Schraufnagel discusses this current research and its implications.

Advancing Health Equity Through Voter Participation

Our health and the health of our democracy are deeply connected.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

When people vote, they exercise their voice on decisions that have a big impact on their health and the health of their family and neighbors. Analysis from the Health & Democracy Index shows a clear relationship between inclusive voting policies and better health outcomes: States with more inclusive voting policies and greater levels of civic participation are healthier; states with exclusionary voting laws and lower levels of civic participation are less healthy.

The End of the Public Health Emergency: Can the ADA Mitigate Risks to People with Disabilities?

The end of the COVID-19 public health emergency (PHE) will create additional risks for people with disabilities. During the pandemic, under the authority granted by the declaration of the PHE, federal agencies took several steps to allow state Medicaid agencies to maintain health care coverage and Medicaid-funded home and community-based services for people with disabilities. Federal agencies also granted state Medicaid agencies a range of flexibilities, including changes to Medicaid enrollment and assessments, intended to facilitate enrollment in Medicaid and the maintenance of coverage while reducing COVID-19 exposure risks.

Abortion Access: Post-Dobbs Litigation Themes

Following the Court's decision in Dobbs, some states have sought to provide greater or enhanced protections for abortion access. Other states, however, have initiated a series of measures to greatly limit or inhibit abortions. These actions include (a) implementation of pre-existing "trigger" laws banning procedures the moment abortion was no longer a federal constitutional right; (b) enforcement of decades-old laws banning abortion that were never repealed (following the Supreme Court's initial decision affirming a right to abortion in Roe); and (c) passage of new statutes restricting abortions. This fact sheet provides an illustrative discussion of key emerging themes from litigation challenging state-based anti-abortions laws or policies.

The Persistent Criminalization of Pregnant People Who Use Drugs

The July 2022 decision in Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Organization brings questions of bodily autonomy into the limelight, especially with regard to pregnant people. At the intersection of two criminalized issues — abortion and drug use — pregnant people who use drugs (PWUD) will be further subject to a lack of adequate care in this post-Roe world. Even before Dobbs, however, pregnant PWUD were stigmatized, criminalized, and often received inadequate (or no) care.

Mandating Telehealth Accessibility in Light of Covid-19

The pandemic has highlighted various inequities experienced by people with disabilities, especially internet inaccessibility. The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) was passed before the internet was commonly used; consequently, there is no explicit language addressing website—much less telehealth—accessibility. In July, HHS and the Department of Justice jointly issued Guidance on Nondiscrimination in Telehealth which states that telehealth accessibility is required not only by the ADA, but also by the Rehabilitation Act, the Civil Rights Act and the Affordable Care Act. However, the Guidance is not legally binding.

Using Local Ordinances, Resolutions, and Non-Prosecution Measures to Protect Reproductive

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Health

The overturning of Roe v. Wade placed the authority to regulate abortions in the hands of state legislatures and many have moved to restrict abortion or ban it altogether. Within states that have restrictive abortion laws, some local governments have devised legal and policy strategies to mitigate the harms that abortion bans have on residents, such as adopting non-enforcement and non-prosecution strategies. This post explores some of the ordinances, resolutions, and non-prosecution measures local governments have implemented to protect reproductive rights undermined by state laws.

Racial Disparities in Women's Health

The Supreme Court ruling in Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization disproportionately affects the lives of Black and minority women. Black women are three to four times more likely to die in pregnancy and five times more likely to die from pregnancy-related cardiomyopathy and blood pressure disorders than White women. As a result of this decision, 26 states have already, or will soon, ban abortion with little or no exceptions. Twenty-two of the states whose laws impose strict abortion restrictions collectively are home to 45 percent of Black women under the age of 55.

Resources

The Limits of HIPAA in Keeping Reproductive Health Records Private

In the wake of the recent Supreme Court ruling in Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization, there is growing concern of far-reaching state restrictions that may include blocking pregnant individuals from traveling to another state to terminate a pregnancy; prohibiting pregnant individuals from obtaining abortion pills out-of-state; and even criminalizing the provision of information to those seeking out-of-state abortions. With these broad ramifications in mind, the threat of law enforcement gaining access to health records is a growing concern. This fact sheet provides guidance on how HIPAA applies to abortion records. We caution that HIPAA includes several provisions permitting disclosure of an individual's abortion records to law enforcement when specific conditions are met.

Exemptions to School Entry Vaccines and Corresponding Vaccine Coverage

All 50 states and the District of Columbia require vaccines for school entry. Vaccine requirements have decreased disease incidence and mortality across the country, and the fewer exemptions a jurisdiction offers, the higher the childhood vaccination rate tends to be. However, due to a recent decline in vaccination rates, the risk of a vaccine-preventable disease outbreak has increased. This resource examines the type of exemptions offered for school entry vaccines in all 50 states and the District of Columbia and the impact of exemptions on vaccination rates; the equity implications of exemptions; COVID-19's impact on school entry vaccination rates; and legal and practical challenges to eliminating nonmedical exemptions.

Senate Democrats Reach Agreement on Prescription Drug Pricing
On Wednesday, Senate Democrats released an updated legislative proposal aimed at lowering the cost of prescription drugs. The bill would allow Medicare to negotiate the price of some prescription drugs, cap out-of-pocket spending for Medicare beneficiaries, and limit the amount drug companies can increase prices each year. The bill also includes a provision that would provide coverage of recommended adult vaccines without additional cost-sharing for Medicare patients, a policy change NACCHO has advocated.

Agreement on the drug pricing proposal is the first step for Senate Democrats to revive a version of the Build Back Better Act, which has been stalled since Senator Joe Manchin (D-WV) announced his opposition to it in December. Senator Manchin and Majority Leader Chuck Schumer (D-NY) have been negotiating a possible deal, which reportedly may ultimately include tax, climate, and health insurance subsidy provisions. Democrats are crafting a bill to pass via budget reconciliation, which allows for a simple majority vote but requires legislation to be limited to provisions that have a budgetary effect. It is unknown if sustained public health infrastructure funding included in an earlier version of the legislation will make it into the package, but NACCHO continues to support its inclusion.

FDA Allows Pharmacists to Prescribe Paxlovid
On Wednesday, the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) revised the Emergency Use Authorization (EUA) for the COVID-19 antiviral treatment Paxlovid to allow state-licensed pharmacists to prescribe the drug to eligible patients. The revised EUA requires patients to supply pharmacists with information about their health history and drugs so pharmacists can assess if Paxlovid is safe for the patient. A recent report from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention showed that Paxlovid prescriptions in "high-vulnerability" zip codes are half those seen in less vulnerable communities, raising concerns about equitable access to the antiviral.

President Biden Signs Executive Order on Reproductive Health Care
Two weeks after the Supreme Court overturned Roe v. Wade, President Biden signed an "Executive Order Protecting Access to Reproductive Health Care Services." The order directs the administration to take a number of actions to protect access to medication abortion and contraception, and ensure emergency medical care by clarifying physician responsibilities and protections. The order also directs action to protect patient privacy and access to accurate information, and promote safety and security for patients and reproductive health care providers.

FDA Suspends Juul Marketing Denial Order
This week, FDA announced that it had stayed its market denial order for Juul vape products citing the need for additional review of "scientific issues." The order was already not in effect due to court action temporarily blocking it. FDA clarified that the stay temporarily suspends the marketing denial order which prohibited the sale of Juul vape products, but does not rescind it. FDA further reiterated that all electronic nicotine delivery systems are required to have FDA authorization to be legally marketed and that the review does not constitute an authorization to market. However, FDA has previously exercised enforcement discretion, meaning Juul products likely will continue to be sold.

Supreme Court Issues Decisions Ending Federal Abortion Rights, Expanding Gun Rights

On Thursday, the Supreme Court struck down a New York law that required applicants for a concealed carry permit to show a special need to defend themselves. The 6-3 ruling in New York State Rifle & Pistol Association v. Bruen is the Court's first significant decision on firearms in over a decade and has been called a major expansion of gun rights. In the majority opinion, Justice Clarence Thomas explained that courts should uphold gun restrictions only if there is a tradition of such regulation in U.S. history. In a policy developed by local health department experts, NACCHO recognizes firearm-related injury and death as a preventable public health crisis, and as such supports legislation, regulation, or policies that promote strategies to prevent firearm-related injury and death.

The next day, the Supreme Court voted 6-3 to uphold Mississippi's 15-week abortion ban, and 5-4 to overturn the 1973 Court decision in Roe v. Wade, which had guaranteed the right to abortion nationwide until fetal viability. In writing for the majority in Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization, Justice Samuel Alito argued that no right to an abortion exists because the Constitution makes no express reference to it and such a right is "not deeply rooted in the nation's history and traditions." In overturning Roe, the Court sends the authority to regulate abortion to states. Twenty-six states are expected to ban all or nearly all abortions in the wake of the decision. NACCHO's comprehensive women's health policy, developed by local health department experts, affirms the need to strengthen and provide support for women's health, family planning, and reproductive health services and recommends that local, state, and federal public health agencies guarantee women have access to information to make informed health and healthcare decisions that is not restricted by regulation, laws, or healthcare providers' beliefs. Read NACCHO's statement on Dobbs here.

Congress Sends Bipartisan Gun Safety Bill to President

Late this week, the Senate and House voted to approve the Safer Communities Act, bipartisan gun safety legislation. President Biden has stated his support for the bill and is expected to sign it into law immediately. The legislation was the result of negotiations between 10 Democrats and 10 Republicans in the Senate, led by Senators Chris Murphy (D-CT) and John Cornyn (R-TX). Key provisions of the legislation include:

- $750 million for states to implement and establish extreme risk protection orders (otherwise known as "Red Flag laws")
- $250 million for community violence intervention programs
- Closing the so-called "boyfriend loophole" that currently allows domestic abusers who are dating but not married to their partner to continue to purchase weapons
- Establishment of enhanced background checks for long gun purchasers under the age of 21
- Investment in mental health services through expansion of community mental health services program, school-based mental health support, guidance for states to increase access through telehealth, and other resources.

Although the legislation did not go as far as many Democratic lawmakers wanted, all Democrats in Congress ultimately voted for the bill. In the Senate, 15 Republicans supported the legislation, as did 14 in the House.

House L-HHS Appropriations Subcommittee Approves FY2023 Funding Bill

On Thursday, the House Appropriations Subcommittee on Labor, Health and Human Services, Education, and Related Agencies approved by voice

vote its fiscal year (FY) 2023 bill. The bill provides $241.2 billion for the Department of Health and Human Services, an increase of $28.5 billion over FY2022. Included within that funding is:

- $25 million to establish the Public Health Loan Repayment program at the Health Resources and Services Administration, a top NACCHO legislative priority. Although the funding level is lower than NACCHO included in its FY2023 appropriations priorities, the inclusion of a funding line for the program is a big win, signaling Congressional support for the program
- $10.5 billion for the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), an increase of $2 billion above FY2022, just under the $11 billion requested by NACCHO
- $750 million at the CDC for public health infrastructure and capacity, an increase of $550 million from FY2022, but $250 million less than the NACCHO request
- $250 million for public health data modernization at CDC, $150 million above the FY2022 level, and equal to the NACCHO request
- $735 million for the Public Health Emergency Preparedness Cooperative Agreements at CDC, an increase of $20 million above the FY2022 level, but less than the $1 billion NACCHO request.

The full House Appropriations Committee will mark up the bill next Thursday, June 30. Report language, which provides detailed allocations for federal program lines and directives to agencies on how to use funding, is expected to be released in advance of the markup. The Senate Appropriations Committee has not announced a timeline for its bill yet, and as NFW readers know, there are many steps before we get a final agreement in Congress for FY2023 funding.

Congresses Passes Short Term Extension of Universal Free School Meals Program
This week, both the House and Senate passed the Keep Kids Fed Act to extend funding and flexibility for free school meals through the summer. The bipartisan agreement keeps in place waivers that were first authorized in the March 2020 Families First Coronavirus Response Act that enable schools to provide free meals to every student regardless of income and allow flexibility around what foods schools can purchase amid supply chain disruptions. Senate Republicans have been opposed to a full year extension of the program, citing the $11 billion price tag, but a small bipartisan group of senators was able to reach a fully paid short term deal by repurposing existing funding from the Departments of Education and Agriculture.

FDA Orders Juul Products Off the Market
On Thursday, the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) issued marketing denial orders to Juul Labs Inc. for all their products currently marketed in the U.S. Under the orders, Juul must stop selling and distributing its vaping cartridges and pods and remove any currently on market. In recent years, the FDA had extended its regulatory authority to electronic nicotine delivery systems (ENDS) and required ENDS products to undergo premarket review with applications due to the agency by September 2020. FDA had been under a court order to issue decisions on all premarket applications by September 9, 2021, but missed that deadline for some products including Juul. In issuing its decision, the FDA stated that Juul's applications lacked sufficient evidence to demonstrate that marketing of their products would be "appropriate for the protection of public health," the standard required to grant approval. Juul said it will seek a stay against the orders and is exploring an appeal of FDA's decision.

FDA to Reduce Nicotine Levels in Cigarettes
This week, the Biden Administration released its Spring 2022 report of regulatory actions administrative agencies plan to issue in the near and long term. The report included future rulemaking from the FDA to establish a maximum nicotine level that would make cigarettes minimally- or non-addictive. A paper published by the FDA in 2018 estimated that limiting nicotine levels would prevent over 33 million people from becoming regular smokers, prompt 5 million smokers to quit within one year, and save more than 8 million lives. Although the regulatory agenda lists May 2023 as the date for the proposed product standard, FDA cautioned that dates in the agenda are not intended to be a precise estimate.

CDC Recommends COVID-19 Vaccines for Kids Under 5, Vaccinations Start
On Saturday, CDC Director Dr. Rochelle Walensky endorsed the Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices' (ACIP) recommendation that all children 6 months through 5 years of age should receive a COVID-19 vaccine. The CDC action came the day after the FDA granted emergency use authorization for both the Pfizer/BioNTech and Moderna vaccines for children as young as 6 months old. Following the authorization and recommendation, vaccinations for young children began Tuesday.

NACCHO President Joins Public Health Leaders to Discuss Post-COVID-19 Funding Landscape
On Wednesday, Lisa Macon Harrison, Health Director of Granville Vance Public Health and current NACCHO president spoke on a panel hosted by the Trust for America's Health (TFAH) and Coalition for Health Funding Beyond Emergency Funding: Sustaining Public Health Funding in the Post-COVID Landscape. Joining Ms. Harrison on the panel were Dr. Nadine Gracia, president and CEO of TFAH and Dr. Michael Fraser, CEO of the Association of State and Territorial Health Officials. In her presentation, Ms. Harrison highlighted the importance of the workforce as our most significant public health asset and the need to support the workforce long-term. Panelists emphasized the need for sustained, long-term, flexible funding for public health systems, echoing NACCHO's 2022 Federal Legislative and Policy Agenda. The full webinar can be viewed here.

DHSS responds to concerns about contraception use

JEFFERSON CITY, MO – The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services is statutorily responsible for regulating licensed abortion facilities/providers, and it will continue to be the agency's responsibility to monitor all abortions performed to assure that they are done only under and in accordance with the provisions of the law.

Before and following the Supreme Court of the United States' ruling in Dobbs that overturns Roe v. Wade, Missouri law does not ban the use of contraception methods. RSMo 188.017 criminalizes performing an abortion absent a medical emergency, but this does not include pregnancy preventive measures.

DHSS is currently reviewing regulations related to abortion facilities to ensure their accordance with state law.

For women's health resources in Missouri, visit health.mo.gov/womenshealth or call TEL-LINK at 800-TEL-LINK (835-5465). TEL-LINK provides Missourians with confidential information and referrals on maternal and child health services.

About the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services: The department seeks to be the leader in protecting health and keeping people safe. More information about DHSS can be found at health.mo.gov or find us on Facebook and Twitter @HealthyLivingMo.

DHSS responds to concerns about contraception use

JEFFERSON CITY, MO – The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services is statutorily responsible for regulating licensed abortion facilities/providers, and it will continue to be the agency's responsibility to monitor all abortions performed to assure that they are done only under and in accordance with the provisions of the law.

Before and following the Supreme Court of the United States' ruling in Dobbs that overturns Roe v. Wade, Missouri law does not ban the use of contraception methods. RSMo 188.017 criminalizes performing an abortion absent a medical emergency, but this does not include pregnancy preventive measures.

DHSS is currently reviewing regulations related to abortion facilities to ensure their accordance with state law.

For women's health resources in Missouri, visit health.mo.gov/womenshealth or call TEL-LINK at 800-TEL-LINK (835-5465). TEL-LINK provides Missourians with confidential information and referrals on maternal and child health services.

About the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services: The department seeks to be the leader in protecting health and keeping people safe. More information about DHSS can be found at health.mo.gov or find us on Facebook and Twitter @HealthyLivingMo.

DHSS responds to concerns about contraception use

JEFFERSON CITY, MO – The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services is statutorily responsible for regulating licensed abortion facilities/providers, and it will continue to be the agency's responsibility to monitor all abortions performed to assure that they are done only under and in accordance with the provisions of the law.

Before and following the Supreme Court of the United States' ruling in Dobbs that overturns Roe v. Wade, Missouri law does not ban the use of contraception methods. RSMo 188.017 criminalizes performing an abortion absent a medical emergency, but this does not include pregnancy preventive measures.

DHSS is currently reviewing regulations related to abortion facilities to ensure their accordance with state law.

For women's health resources in Missouri, visit health.mo.gov/womenshealth or call TEL-LINK at 800-TEL-LINK (835-5465). TEL-LINK provides Missourians with confidential information and referrals on maternal and child health services.

DHSS responds to concerns about contraception use

JEFFERSON CITY, MO – The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services is statutorily responsible for regulating licensed abortion facilities/providers, and it will continue to be the agency's responsibility to monitor all abortions performed to assure that they are done only under and in accordance with the provisions of the law.

Before and following the Supreme Court of the United States' ruling in Dobbs that overturns Roe v. Wade, Missouri law does not ban the use of contraception methods. RSMo 188.017 criminalizes performing an abortion absent a medical emergency, but this does not include pregnancy preventive measures.

DHSS is currently reviewing regulations related to abortion facilities to ensure their accordance with state law.

About the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services: The department seeks to be the leader in protecting health and keeping people safe. More information about DHSS can be found at health.mo.gov or find us on Facebook and Twitter @HealthyLivingMo.

DHSS responds to concerns about contraception use

JEFFERSON CITY, MO – The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services is statutorily responsible for regulating licensed abortion facilities/providers, and it will continue to be the agency's responsibility to monitor all abortions performed to assure that they are done only under and in accordance with the provisions of the law.

Before and following the Supreme Court of the United States' ruling in Dobbs that overturns Roe v. Wade, Missouri law does not ban the use of contraception methods. RSMo 188.017 criminalizes performing an abortion absent a medical emergency, but this does not include pregnancy preventive measures.

DHSS is currently reviewing regulations related to abortion facilities to ensure their accordance with state law.

For women's health resources in Missouri, visit health.mo.gov/womenshealth or call TEL-LINK at 800-TEL-LINK (835-5465). TEL-LINK provides Missourians with confidential information and referrals on maternal and child health services.

DHSS responds to concerns about contraception use

JEFFERSON CITY, MO – The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services is statutorily responsible for regulating licensed abortion facilities/providers, and it will continue to be the agency's responsibility to monitor all abortions performed to assure that they are done only under and in accordance with the provisions of the law.

Before and following the Supreme Court of the United States' ruling in Dobbs that overturns Roe v. Wade, Missouri law does not ban the use of contraception methods. RSMo 188.017 criminalizes performing an abortion absent a medical emergency, but this does not include pregnancy preventive measures.

DHSS is currently reviewing regulations related to abortion facilities to ensure their accordance with state law.

About the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services: The department seeks to be the leader in protecting health and keeping people safe. More information about DHSS can be found at health.mo.gov or find us on Facebook and Twitter @HealthyLivingMo.

DHSS responds to concerns about contraception use

JEFFERSON CITY, MO – The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services is statutorily responsible for regulating licensed abortion facilities/providers, and it will continue to be the agency's responsibility to monitor all abortions performed to assure that they are done only under and in accordance with the provisions of the law.

Before and following the Supreme Court of the United States' ruling in Dobbs that overturns Roe v. Wade, Missouri law does not ban the use of contraception methods. RSMo 188.017 criminalizes performing an abortion absent a medical emergency, but this does not include pregnancy preventive measures.

DHSS is currently reviewing regulations related to abortion facilities to ensure their accordance with state law.

For women's health resources in Missouri, visit health.mo.gov/womenshealth or call TEL-LINK at 800-TEL-LINK (835-5465). TEL-LINK provides Missourians with confidential information and referrals on maternal and child health services.

DHSS responds to concerns about contraception use

JEFFERSON CITY, MO – The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services is statutorily responsible for regulating licensed abortion facilities/providers, and it will continue to be the agency's responsibility to monitor all abortions performed to assure that they are done only under and in accordance with the provisions of the law.

Before and following the Supreme Court of the United States' ruling in Dobbs that overturns Roe v. Wade, Missouri law does not ban the use of contraception methods. RSMo 188.017 criminalizes performing an abortion absent a medical emergency, but this does not include pregnancy preventive measures.

DHSS is currently reviewing regulations related to abortion facilities to ensure their accordance with state law.

About the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services: The department seeks to be the leader in protecting health and keeping people safe. More information about DHSS can be found at health.mo.gov or find us on Facebook and Twitter @HealthyLivingMo.

DHSS responds to concerns about contraception use

JEFFERSON CITY, MO – The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services is statutorily responsible for regulating licensed abortion facilities/providers, and it will continue to be the agency's responsibility to monitor all abortions performed to assure that they are done only under and in accordance with the provisions of the law.

Before and following the Supreme Court of the United States' ruling in Dobbs that overturns Roe v. Wade, Missouri law does not ban the use of contraception methods. RSMo 188.017 criminalizes performing an abortion absent a medical emergency, but this does not include pregnancy preventive measures.

DHSS is currently reviewing regulations related to abortion facilities to ensure their accordance with state law.

For women's health resources in Missouri, visit health.mo.gov/womenshealth or call TEL-LINK at 800-TEL-LINK (835-5465). TEL-LINK provides Missourians with confidential information and referrals on maternal and child health services.

DHSS responds to concerns about contraception use

JEFFERSON CITY, MO – The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services is statutorily responsible for regulating licensed abortion facilities/providers, and it will continue to be the agency's responsibility to monitor all abortions performed to assure that they are done only under and in accordance with the provisions of the law.

Before and following the Supreme Court of the United States' ruling in Dobbs that overturns Roe v. Wade, Missouri law does not ban the use of contraception methods. RSMo 188.017 criminalizes performing an abortion absent a medical emergency, but this does not include pregnancy preventive measures.

DHSS is currently reviewing regulations related to abortion facilities to ensure their accordance with state law.

For women's health resources in Missouri, visit health.mo.gov/womenshealth or call TEL-LINK at 800-TEL-LINK (835-5465). TEL-LINK provides Missourians with confidential information and referrals on maternal and child health services.

About the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services: The department seeks to be the leader in protecting health and keeping people safe. More information about DHSS can be found at health.mo.gov or find us on Facebook and Twitter @HealthyLivingMo.

DHSS responds to concerns about contraception use

JEFFERSON CITY, MO – The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services is statutorily responsible for regulating licensed abortion facilities/providers, and it will continue to be the agency's responsibility to monitor all abortions performed to assure that they are done only under and in accordance with the provisions of the law.

Before and following the Supreme Court of the United States' ruling in Dobbs that overturns Roe v. Wade, Missouri law does not ban the use of contraception methods. RSMo 188.017 criminalizes performing an abortion absent a medical emergency, but this does not include pregnancy preventive measures.

DHSS is currently reviewing regulations related to abortion facilities to ensure their accordance with state law.

For women's health resources in Missouri, visit health.mo.gov/womenshealth or call TEL-LINK at 800-TEL-LINK (835-5465). TEL-LINK provides Missourians with confidential information and referrals on maternal and child health services.

DHSS responds to concerns about contraception use

JEFFERSON CITY, MO – The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services is statutorily responsible for regulating licensed abortion facilities/providers, and it will continue to be the agency's responsibility to monitor all abortions performed to assure that they are done only under and in accordance with the provisions of the law.

Before and following the Supreme Court of the United States' ruling in Dobbs that overturns Roe v. Wade, Missouri law does not ban the use of contraception methods. RSMo 188.017 criminalizes performing an abortion absent a medical emergency, but this does not include pregnancy preventive measures.

DHSS is currently reviewing regulations related to abortion facilities to ensure their accordance with state law.

For women's health resources in Missouri, visit health.mo.gov/womenshealth or call TEL-LINK at 800-TEL-LINK (835-5465). TEL-LINK provides Missourians with confidential information and referrals on maternal and child health services.

About the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services: The department seeks to be the leader in protecting health and keeping people safe. More information about DHSS can be found at health.mo.gov or find us on Facebook and Twitter @HealthyLivingMo.

DHSS responds to concerns about contraception use

JEFFERSON CITY, MO – The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services is statutorily responsible for regulating licensed abortion facilities/providers, and it will continue to be the agency's responsibility to monitor all abortions performed to assure that they are done only under and in accordance with the provisions of the law.

Before and following the Supreme Court of the United States' ruling in Dobbs that overturns Roe v. Wade, Missouri law does not ban the use of contraception methods. RSMo 188.017 criminalizes performing an abortion absent a medical emergency, but this does not include pregnancy preventive measures.

DHSS is currently reviewing regulations related to abortion facilities to ensure their accordance with state law.

For women's health resources in Missouri, visit health.mo.gov/womenshealth or call TEL-LINK at 800-TEL-LINK (835-5465). TEL-LINK provides Missourians with confidential information and referrals on maternal and child health services.

DHSS responds to concerns about contraception use

JEFFERSON CITY, MO – The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services is statutorily responsible for regulating licensed abortion facilities/providers, and it will continue to be the agency's responsibility to monitor all abortions performed to assure that they are done only under and in accordance with the provisions of the law.

Before and following the Supreme Court of the United States' ruling in Dobbs that overturns Roe v. Wade, Missouri law does not ban the use of contraception methods. RSMo 188.017 criminalizes performing an abortion absent a medical emergency, but this does not include pregnancy preventive measures.

DHSS is currently reviewing regulations related to abortion facilities to ensure their accordance with state law.

For women's health resources in Missouri, visit health.mo.gov/womenshealth or call TEL-LINK at 800-TEL-LINK (835-5465). TEL-LINK provides Missourians with confidential information and referrals on maternal and child health services.

About the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services: The department seeks to be the leader in protecting health and keeping people safe. More information about DHSS can be found at health.mo.gov or find us on Facebook and Twitter @HealthyLivingMo.

Missouri's maternal mortality report published

Findings compiled by Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review board

JEFFERSON CITY, MO -- The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services (DHSS) has published A Multi Year Look at Maternal Mortality in Missouri: 2017-2019 Annual Report on behalf of the state's Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review (PAMR) board. The report is an aggregate of three years' worth of work of the PAMR and is based upon the most recent data available.

The 2017-2019 annual report contains data including the timing and leading causes of pregnancy-related deaths, and factors that contributed to these deaths, such as mental health conditions and substance use disorder (SUD). The report also reflects the disparities that exist in our state and among our most vulnerable populations, including our Black and publicly insured communities.

Report highlights include:

- Mental health conditions were the leading underlying cause of pregnancy-related deaths, followed by cardiovascular disease.
- All pregnancy-related deaths due to mental health conditions were determined to be preventable.
- Black women living in Missouri are three times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than white women.
- Women on Medicaid in the state of Missouri are eight times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than those with private insurance.

The PAMR board found that the pregnancy-related mortality ratio (PRMR) in Missouri was 25.2 deaths per 100,000 live births from 2017-2019 and that 75 percent of these deaths were determined to be preventable.

The PAMR board continues to review cases and is nearly finished reviewing 2020 deaths and will begin reviewing 2021 deaths soon after. These reports will be made available once all cases have been reviewed. The 2017-2019 annual report can be viewed at Health.Mo.Gov/data/pamr.

JEFFERSON CITY, MO -- The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services (DHSS) has published A Multi Year Look at Maternal Mortality in Missouri: 2017-2019 Annual Report on behalf of the state's Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review (PAMR) board. The report is an aggregate of three years' worth of work of the PAMR and is based upon the most recent data available.

PAMR is a multidisciplinary board of experts from across the state tasked with examining the causes and contributing factors associated with maternal mortality and ultimately forming recommendations that could prevent these deaths from occurring in the future.

The 2017-2019 annual report contains data including the timing and leading causes of pregnancy-related deaths, and factors that contributed to these deaths, such as mental health conditions and substance use disorder (SUD). The report also reflects the disparities that exist in our state and among our most vulnerable populations, including our Black and publicly insured communities.

Report highlights include:

- Mental health conditions were the leading underlying cause of pregnancy-related deaths, followed by cardiovascular disease.
- All pregnancy-related deaths due to mental health conditions were determined to be preventable.
- Black women living in Missouri are three times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than white women.
- Women on Medicaid in the state of Missouri are eight times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than those with private insurance.

The PAMR board found that the pregnancy-related mortality ratio (PRMR) in Missouri was 25.2 deaths per 100,000 live births from 2017-2019 and that 75 percent of these deaths were determined to be preventable.

The PAMR board continues to review cases and is nearly finished reviewing 2020 deaths and will begin reviewing 2021 deaths soon after. These reports will be made available once all cases have been reviewed. The 2017-2019 annual report can be viewed at Health.Mo.Gov/data/pamr.

Missouri's maternal mortality report published

Findings compiled by Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review board

JEFFERSON CITY, MO -- The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services (DHSS) has published A Multi Year Look at Maternal Mortality in Missouri: 2017-2019 Annual Report on behalf of the state's Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review (PAMR) board. The report is an aggregate of three years' worth of work of the PAMR and is based upon the most recent data available.

PAMR is a multidisciplinary board of experts from across the state tasked with examining the causes and contributing factors associated with maternal mortality and ultimately forming recommendations that could prevent these deaths from occurring in the future.

The 2017-2019 annual report contains data including the timing and leading causes of pregnancy-related deaths, and factors that contributed to these deaths, such as mental health conditions and substance use disorder (SUD). The report also reflects the disparities that exist in our state and among our most vulnerable populations, including our Black and publicly insured communities.

Report highlights include:

- Mental health conditions were the leading underlying cause of pregnancy-related deaths, followed by cardiovascular disease.
- All pregnancy-related deaths due to mental health conditions were determined to be preventable.
- Black women living in Missouri are three times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than white women.
- Women on Medicaid in the state of Missouri are eight times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than those with private insurance.

The PAMR board found that the pregnancy-related mortality ratio (PRMR) in Missouri was 25.2 deaths per 100,000 live births from 2017-2019 and that 75 percent of these deaths were determined to be preventable.

The PAMR board continues to review cases and is nearly finished reviewing 2020 deaths and will begin reviewing 2021 deaths soon after. These reports will be made available once all cases have been reviewed. The 2017-2019 annual report can be viewed at Health.Mo.Gov/data/pamr.

Missouri's maternal mortality report published

Findings compiled by Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review board

JEFFERSON CITY, MO -- The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services (DHSS) has published A Multi Year Look at Maternal Mortality in Missouri: 2017-2019 Annual Report on behalf of the state's Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review (PAMR) board. The report is an aggregate of three years' worth of work of the PAMR and is based upon the most recent data available.

PAMR is a multidisciplinary board of experts from across the state tasked with examining the causes and contributing factors associated with maternal mortality and ultimately forming recommendations that could prevent these deaths from occurring in the future.

The 2017-2019 annual report contains data including the timing and leading causes of pregnancy-related deaths, and factors that contributed to these deaths, such as mental health conditions and substance use disorder (SUD). The report also reflects the disparities that exist in our state and among our most vulnerable populations, including our Black and publicly insured communities.

Report highlights include:

- Mental health conditions were the leading underlying cause of pregnancy-related deaths, followed by cardiovascular disease.
- All pregnancy-related deaths due to mental health conditions were determined to be preventable.
- Black women living in Missouri are three times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than white women.
- Women on Medicaid in the state of Missouri are eight times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than those with private insurance.

The PAMR board found that the pregnancy-related mortality ratio (PRMR) in Missouri was 25.2 deaths per 100,000 live births from 2017-2019 and that 75 percent of these deaths were determined to be preventable.

The PAMR board continues to review cases and is nearly finished reviewing 2020 deaths and will begin reviewing 2021 deaths soon after. These reports will be made available once all cases have been reviewed. The 2017-2019 annual report can be viewed at Health.Mo.Gov/data/pamr.

JEFFERSON CITY, MO -- The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services (DHSS) has published A Multi Year Look at Maternal Mortality in Missouri: 2017-2019 Annual Report on behalf of the state's Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review (PAMR) board. The report is an aggregate of three years' worth of work of the PAMR and is based upon the most recent data available.

PAMR is a multidisciplinary board of experts from across the state tasked with examining the causes and contributing factors associated with maternal mortality and ultimately forming recommendations that could prevent these deaths from occurring in the future.

The 2017-2019 annual report contains data including the timing and leading causes of pregnancy-related deaths, and factors that contributed to these deaths, such as mental health conditions and substance use disorder (SUD). The report also reflects the disparities that exist in our state and among our most vulnerable populations, including our Black and publicly insured communities.

Report highlights include:

- Mental health conditions were the leading underlying cause of pregnancy-related deaths, followed by cardiovascular disease.
- All pregnancy-related deaths due to mental health conditions were determined to be preventable.
- Black women living in Missouri are three times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than white women.
- Women on Medicaid in the state of Missouri are eight times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than those with private insurance.

The PAMR board found that the pregnancy-related mortality ratio (PRMR) in Missouri was 25.2 deaths per 100,000 live births from 2017-2019 and that 75 percent of these deaths were determined to be preventable.

The PAMR board continues to review cases and is nearly finished reviewing 2020 deaths and will begin reviewing 2021 deaths soon after. These reports will be made available once all cases have been reviewed. The 2017-2019 annual report can be viewed at Health.Mo.Gov/data/pamr.

Missouri's maternal mortality report published

Findings compiled by Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review board

JEFFERSON CITY, MO -- The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services (DHSS) has published A Multi Year Look at Maternal Mortality in Missouri: 2017-2019 Annual Report on behalf of the state's Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review (PAMR) board. The report is an aggregate of three years' worth of work of the PAMR and is based upon the most recent data available.

PAMR is a multidisciplinary board of experts from across the state tasked with examining the causes and contributing factors associated with maternal mortality and ultimately forming recommendations that could prevent these deaths from occurring in the future.

The 2017-2019 annual report contains data including the timing and leading causes of pregnancy-related deaths, and factors that contributed to these deaths, such as mental health conditions and substance use disorder (SUD). The report also reflects the disparities that exist in our state and among our most vulnerable populations, including our Black and publicly insured communities.

Report highlights include:

- Mental health conditions were the leading underlying cause of pregnancy-related deaths, followed by cardiovascular disease.
- All pregnancy-related deaths due to mental health conditions were determined to be preventable.
- Black women living in Missouri are three times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than white women.
- Women on Medicaid in the state of Missouri are eight times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than those with private insurance.

The PAMR board found that the pregnancy-related mortality ratio (PRMR) in Missouri was 25.2 deaths per 100,000 live births from 2017-2019 and that 75 percent of these deaths were determined to be preventable.

The PAMR board continues to review cases and is nearly finished reviewing 2020 deaths and will begin reviewing 2021 deaths soon after. These reports will be made available once all cases have been reviewed. The 2017-2019 annual report can be viewed at Health.Mo.Gov/data/pamr.

Missouri's maternal mortality report published

Findings compiled by Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review board

JEFFERSON CITY, MO -- The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services (DHSS) has published A Multi Year Look at Maternal Mortality in Missouri: 2017-2019 Annual Report on behalf of the state's Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review (PAMR) board. The report is an aggregate of three years' worth of work of the PAMR and is based upon the most recent data available.

PAMR is a multidisciplinary board of experts from across the state tasked with examining the causes and contributing factors associated with maternal mortality and ultimately forming recommendations that could prevent these deaths from occurring in the future.

The 2017-2019 annual report contains data including the timing and leading causes of pregnancy-related deaths, and factors that contributed to these deaths, such as mental health conditions and substance use disorder (SUD). The report also reflects the disparities that exist in our state and among our most vulnerable populations, including our Black and publicly insured communities.

Report highlights include:

- Mental health conditions were the leading underlying cause of pregnancy-related deaths, followed by cardiovascular disease.
- All pregnancy-related deaths due to mental health conditions were determined to be preventable.
- Black women living in Missouri are three times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than white women.
- Women on Medicaid in the state of Missouri are eight times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than those with private insurance.

The PAMR board found that the pregnancy-related mortality ratio (PRMR) in Missouri was 25.2 deaths per 100,000 live births from 2017-2019 and that 75 percent of these deaths were determined to be preventable.

The PAMR board continues to review cases and is nearly finished reviewing 2020 deaths and will begin reviewing 2021 deaths soon after. These reports will be made available once all cases have been reviewed. The 2017-2019 annual report can be viewed at Health.Mo.Gov/data/pamr.

JEFFERSON CITY, MO -- The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services (DHSS) has published A Multi Year Look at Maternal Mortality in Missouri: 2017-2019 Annual Report on behalf of the state's Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review (PAMR) board. The report is an aggregate of three years' worth of work of the PAMR and is based upon the most recent data available.

PAMR is a multidisciplinary board of experts from across the state tasked with examining the causes and contributing factors associated with maternal mortality and ultimately forming recommendations that could prevent these deaths from occurring in the future.

The 2017-2019 annual report contains data including the timing and leading causes of pregnancy-related deaths, and factors that contributed to these deaths, such as mental health conditions and substance use disorder (SUD). The report also reflects the disparities that exist in our state and among our most vulnerable populations, including our Black and publicly insured communities.

Report highlights include:

- Mental health conditions were the leading underlying cause of pregnancy-related deaths, followed by cardiovascular disease.
- All pregnancy-related deaths due to mental health conditions were determined to be preventable.
- Black women living in Missouri are three times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than white women.
- Women on Medicaid in the state of Missouri are eight times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than those with private insurance.

The PAMR board found that the pregnancy-related mortality ratio (PRMR) in Missouri was 25.2 deaths per 100,000 live births from 2017-2019 and that 75 percent of these deaths were determined to be preventable.

The PAMR board continues to review cases and is nearly finished reviewing 2020 deaths and will begin reviewing 2021 deaths soon after. These reports will be made available once all cases have been reviewed. The 2017-2019 annual report can be viewed at Health.Mo.Gov/data/pamr.

Missouri's maternal mortality report published

Findings compiled by Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review board

JEFFERSON CITY, MO -- The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services (DHSS) has published A Multi Year Look at Maternal Mortality in Missouri: 2017-2019 Annual Report on behalf of the state's Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review (PAMR) board. The report is an aggregate of three years' worth of work of the PAMR and is based upon the most recent data available.

PAMR is a multidisciplinary board of experts from across the state tasked with examining the causes and contributing factors associated with maternal mortality and ultimately forming recommendations that could prevent these deaths from occurring in the future.

The 2017-2019 annual report contains data including the timing and leading causes of pregnancy-related deaths, and factors that contributed to these deaths, such as mental health conditions and substance use disorder (SUD). The report also reflects the disparities that exist in our state and among our most vulnerable populations, including our Black and publicly insured communities.

Report highlights include:

- Mental health conditions were the leading underlying cause of pregnancy-related deaths, followed by cardiovascular disease.
- All pregnancy-related deaths due to mental health conditions were determined to be preventable.
- Black women living in Missouri are three times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than white women.
- Women on Medicaid in the state of Missouri are eight times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than those with private insurance.

The PAMR board found that the pregnancy-related mortality ratio (PRMR) in Missouri was 25.2 deaths per 100,000 live births from 2017-2019 and that 75 percent of these deaths were determined to be preventable.

The PAMR board continues to review cases and is nearly finished reviewing 2020 deaths and will begin reviewing 2021 deaths soon after. These reports will be made available once all cases have been reviewed. The 2017-2019 annual report can be viewed at Health.Mo.Gov/data/pamr.

Missouri's maternal mortality report published

Findings compiled by Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review board

JEFFERSON CITY, MO -- The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services (DHSS) has published A Multi Year Look at Maternal Mortality in Missouri: 2017-2019 Annual Report on behalf of the state's Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review (PAMR) board. The report is an aggregate of three years' worth of work of the PAMR and is based upon the most recent data available.

PAMR is a multidisciplinary board of experts from across the state tasked with examining the causes and contributing factors associated with maternal mortality and ultimately forming recommendations that could prevent these deaths from occurring in the future.

The 2017-2019 annual report contains data including the timing and leading causes of pregnancy-related deaths, and factors that contributed to these deaths, such as mental health conditions and substance use disorder (SUD). The report also reflects the disparities that exist in our state and among our most vulnerable populations, including our Black and publicly insured communities.

Report highlights include:

- Mental health conditions were the leading underlying cause of pregnancy-related deaths, followed by cardiovascular disease.
- All pregnancy-related deaths due to mental health conditions were determined to be preventable.
- Black women living in Missouri are three times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than white women.
- Women on Medicaid in the state of Missouri are eight times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than those with private insurance.

The PAMR board found that the pregnancy-related mortality ratio (PRMR) in Missouri was 25.2 deaths per 100,000 live births from 2017-2019 and that 75 percent of these deaths were determined to be preventable.

The PAMR board continues to review cases and is nearly finished reviewing 2020 deaths and will begin reviewing 2021 deaths soon after. These reports will be made available once all cases have been reviewed. The 2017-2019 annual report can be viewed at Health.Mo.Gov/data/pamr.

JEFFERSON CITY, MO -- The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services (DHSS) has published A Multi Year Look at Maternal Mortality in Missouri: 2017-2019 Annual Report on behalf of the state's Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review (PAMR) board. The report is an aggregate of three years' worth of work of the PAMR and is based upon the most recent data available.

PAMR is a multidisciplinary board of experts from across the state tasked with examining the causes and contributing factors associated with maternal mortality and ultimately forming recommendations that could prevent these deaths from occurring in the future.

The 2017-2019 annual report contains data including the timing and leading causes of pregnancy-related deaths, and factors that contributed to these deaths, such as mental health conditions and substance use disorder (SUD). The report also reflects the disparities that exist in our state and among our most vulnerable populations, including our Black and publicly insured communities.

Report highlights include:

- Mental health conditions were the leading underlying cause of pregnancy-related deaths, followed by cardiovascular disease.
- All pregnancy-related deaths due to mental health conditions were determined to be preventable.
- Black women living in Missouri are three times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than white women.
- Women on Medicaid in the state of Missouri are eight times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than those with private insurance.

The PAMR board found that the pregnancy-related mortality ratio (PRMR) in Missouri was 25.2 deaths per 100,000 live births from 2017-2019 and that 75 percent of these deaths were determined to be preventable.

The PAMR board continues to review cases and is nearly finished reviewing 2020 deaths and will begin reviewing 2021 deaths soon after. These reports will be made available once all cases have been reviewed. The 2017-2019 annual report can be viewed at Health.Mo.Gov/data/pamr.

Missouri's maternal mortality report published

Findings compiled by Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review board

JEFFERSON CITY, MO -- The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services (DHSS) has published A Multi Year Look at Maternal Mortality in Missouri: 2017-2019 Annual Report on behalf of the state's Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review (PAMR) board. The report is an aggregate of three years' worth of work of the PAMR and is based upon the most recent data available.

PAMR is a multidisciplinary board of experts from across the state tasked with examining the causes and contributing factors associated with maternal mortality and ultimately forming recommendations that could prevent these deaths from occurring in the future.

The 2017-2019 annual report contains data including the timing and leading causes of pregnancy-related deaths, and factors that contributed to these deaths, such as mental health conditions and substance use disorder (SUD). The report also reflects the disparities that exist in our state and among our most vulnerable populations, including our Black and publicly insured communities.

Report highlights include:

- Mental health conditions were the leading underlying cause of pregnancy-related deaths, followed by cardiovascular disease.
- All pregnancy-related deaths due to mental health conditions were determined to be preventable.
- Black women living in Missouri are three times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than white women.
- Women on Medicaid in the state of Missouri are eight times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than those with private insurance.

The PAMR board found that the pregnancy-related mortality ratio (PRMR) in Missouri was 25.2 deaths per 100,000 live births from 2017-2019 and that 75 percent of these deaths were determined to be preventable.

The PAMR board continues to review cases and is nearly finished reviewing 2020 deaths and will begin reviewing 2021 deaths soon after. These reports will be made available once all cases have been reviewed. The 2017-2019 annual report can be viewed at Health.Mo.Gov/data/pamr.

Missouri's maternal mortality report published

Findings compiled by Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review board

JEFFERSON CITY, MO -- The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services (DHSS) has published A Multi Year Look at Maternal Mortality in Missouri: 2017-2019 Annual Report on behalf of the state's Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review (PAMR) board. The report is an aggregate of three years' worth of work of the PAMR and is based upon the most recent data available.

PAMR is a multidisciplinary board of experts from across the state tasked with examining the causes and contributing factors associated with maternal mortality and ultimately forming recommendations that could prevent these deaths from occurring in the future.

The 2017-2019 annual report contains data including the timing and leading causes of pregnancy-related deaths, and factors that contributed to these deaths, such as mental health conditions and substance use disorder (SUD). The report also reflects the disparities that exist in our state and among our most vulnerable populations, including our Black and publicly insured communities.

Report highlights include:

- Mental health conditions were the leading underlying cause of pregnancy-related deaths, followed by cardiovascular disease.
- All pregnancy-related deaths due to mental health conditions were determined to be preventable.
- Black women living in Missouri are three times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than white women.
- Women on Medicaid in the state of Missouri are eight times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than those with private insurance.

The PAMR board found that the pregnancy-related mortality ratio (PRMR) in Missouri was 25.2 deaths per 100,000 live births from 2017-2019 and that 75 percent of these deaths were determined to be preventable.

The PAMR board continues to review cases and is nearly finished reviewing 2020 deaths and will begin reviewing 2021 deaths soon after. These reports will be made available once all cases have been reviewed. The 2017-2019 annual report can be viewed at Health.Mo.Gov/data/pamr.

JEFFERSON CITY, MO -- The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services (DHSS) has published A Multi Year Look at Maternal Mortality in Missouri: 2017-2019 Annual Report on behalf of the state's Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review (PAMR) board. The report is an aggregate of three years' worth of work of the PAMR and is based upon the most recent data available.

PAMR is a multidisciplinary board of experts from across the state tasked with examining the causes and contributing factors associated with maternal mortality and ultimately forming recommendations that could prevent these deaths from occurring in the future.

The 2017-2019 annual report contains data including the timing and leading causes of pregnancy-related deaths, and factors that contributed to these deaths, such as mental health conditions and substance use disorder (SUD). The report also reflects the disparities that exist in our state and among our most vulnerable populations, including our Black and publicly insured communities.

Report highlights include:

- Mental health conditions were the leading underlying cause of pregnancy-related deaths, followed by cardiovascular disease.
- All pregnancy-related deaths due to mental health conditions were determined to be preventable.
- Black women living in Missouri are three times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than white women.
- Women on Medicaid in the state of Missouri are eight times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than those with private insurance.

The PAMR board found that the pregnancy-related mortality ratio (PRMR) in Missouri was 25.2 deaths per 100,000 live births from 2017-2019 and that 75 percent of these deaths were determined to be preventable.

The PAMR board continues to review cases and is nearly finished reviewing 2020 deaths and will begin reviewing 2021 deaths soon after. These reports will be made available once all cases have been reviewed. The 2017-2019 annual report can be viewed at Health.Mo.Gov/data/pamr.

Missouri's maternal mortality report published

Findings compiled by Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review board

JEFFERSON CITY, MO -- The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services (DHSS) has published A Multi Year Look at Maternal Mortality in Missouri: 2017-2019 Annual Report on behalf of the state's Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review (PAMR) board. The report is an aggregate of three years' worth of work of the PAMR and is based upon the most recent data available.

PAMR is a multidisciplinary board of experts from across the state tasked with examining the causes and contributing factors associated with maternal mortality and ultimately forming recommendations that could prevent these deaths from occurring in the future.

The 2017-2019 annual report contains data including the timing and leading causes of pregnancy-related deaths, and factors that contributed to these deaths, such as mental health conditions and substance use disorder (SUD). The report also reflects the disparities that exist in our state and among our most vulnerable populations, including our Black and publicly insured communities.

Report highlights include:

- Mental health conditions were the leading underlying cause of pregnancy-related deaths, followed by cardiovascular disease.
- All pregnancy-related deaths due to mental health conditions were determined to be preventable.
- Black women living in Missouri are three times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than white women.
- Women on Medicaid in the state of Missouri are eight times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than those with private insurance.

The PAMR board found that the pregnancy-related mortality ratio (PRMR) in Missouri was 25.2 deaths per 100,000 live births from 2017-2019 and that 75 percent of these deaths were determined to be preventable.

The PAMR board continues to review cases and is nearly finished reviewing 2020 deaths and will begin reviewing 2021 deaths soon after. These reports will be made available once all cases have been reviewed. The 2017-2019 annual report can be viewed at Health.Mo.Gov/data/pamr.

Missouri's maternal mortality report published

Findings compiled by Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review board

JEFFERSON CITY, MO -- The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services (DHSS) has published A Multi Year Look at Maternal Mortality in Missouri: 2017-2019 Annual Report on behalf of the state's Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review (PAMR) board. The report is an aggregate of three years' worth of work of the PAMR and is based upon the most recent data available.

PAMR is a multidisciplinary board of experts from across the state tasked with examining the causes and contributing factors associated with maternal mortality and ultimately forming recommendations that could prevent these deaths from occurring in the future.

The 2017-2019 annual report contains data including the timing and leading causes of pregnancy-related deaths, and factors that contributed to these deaths, such as mental health conditions and substance use disorder (SUD). The report also reflects the disparities that exist in our state and among our most vulnerable populations, including our Black and publicly insured communities.

Report highlights include:

- Mental health conditions were the leading underlying cause of pregnancy-related deaths, followed by cardiovascular disease.
- All pregnancy-related deaths due to mental health conditions were determined to be preventable.
- Black women living in Missouri are three times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than white women.
- Women on Medicaid in the state of Missouri are eight times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than those with private insurance.

The PAMR board found that the pregnancy-related mortality ratio (PRMR) in Missouri was 25.2 deaths per 100,000 live births from 2017-2019 and that 75 percent of these deaths were determined to be preventable.

The PAMR board continues to review cases and is nearly finished reviewing 2020 deaths and will begin reviewing 2021 deaths soon after. These reports will be made available once all cases have been reviewed. The 2017-2019 annual report can be viewed at Health.Mo.Gov/data/pamr.

JEFFERSON CITY, MO -- The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services (DHSS) has published A Multi Year Look at Maternal Mortality in Missouri: 2017-2019 Annual Report on behalf of the state's Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review (PAMR) board. The report is an aggregate of three years' worth of work of the PAMR and is based upon the most recent data available.

PAMR is a multidisciplinary board of experts from across the state tasked with examining the causes and contributing factors associated with maternal mortality and ultimately forming recommendations that could prevent these deaths from occurring in the future.

The 2017-2019 annual report contains data including the timing and leading causes of pregnancy-related deaths, and factors that contributed to these deaths, such as mental health conditions and substance use disorder (SUD). The report also reflects the disparities that exist in our state and among our most vulnerable populations, including our Black and publicly insured communities.

Report highlights include:

- Mental health conditions were the leading underlying cause of pregnancy-related deaths, followed by cardiovascular disease.
- All pregnancy-related deaths due to mental health conditions were determined to be preventable.
- Black women living in Missouri are three times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than white women.
- Women on Medicaid in the state of Missouri are eight times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than those with private insurance.

The PAMR board found that the pregnancy-related mortality ratio (PRMR) in Missouri was 25.2 deaths per 100,000 live births from 2017-2019 and that 75 percent of these deaths were determined to be preventable.

The PAMR board continues to review cases and is nearly finished reviewing 2020 deaths and will begin reviewing 2021 deaths soon after. These reports will be made available once all cases have been reviewed. The 2017-2019 annual report can be viewed at Health.Mo.Gov/data/pamr.

Missouri's maternal mortality report published

Findings compiled by Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review board

JEFFERSON CITY, MO -- The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services (DHSS) has published A Multi Year Look at Maternal Mortality in Missouri: 2017-2019 Annual Report on behalf of the state's Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review (PAMR) board. The report is an aggregate of three years' worth of work of the PAMR and is based upon the most recent data available.

PAMR is a multidisciplinary board of experts from across the state tasked with examining the causes and contributing factors associated with maternal mortality and ultimately forming recommendations that could prevent these deaths from occurring in the future.

The 2017-2019 annual report contains data including the timing and leading causes of pregnancy-related deaths, and factors that contributed to these deaths, such as mental health conditions and substance use disorder (SUD). The report also reflects the disparities that exist in our state and among our most vulnerable populations, including our Black and publicly insured communities.

Report highlights include:

- Mental health conditions were the leading underlying cause of pregnancy-related deaths, followed by cardiovascular disease.
- All pregnancy-related deaths due to mental health conditions were determined to be preventable.
- Black women living in Missouri are three times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than white women.
- Women on Medicaid in the state of Missouri are eight times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than those with private insurance.

The PAMR board found that the pregnancy-related mortality ratio (PRMR) in Missouri was 25.2 deaths per 100,000 live births from 2017-2019 and that 75 percent of these deaths were determined to be preventable.

The PAMR board continues to review cases and is nearly finished reviewing 2020 deaths and will begin reviewing 2021 deaths soon after. These reports will be made available once all cases have been reviewed. The 2017-2019 annual report can be viewed at Health.Mo.Gov/data/pamr.

Missouri's maternal mortality report published

Findings compiled by Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review board

JEFFERSON CITY, MO -- The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services (DHSS) has published A Multi Year Look at Maternal Mortality in Missouri: 2017-2019 Annual Report on behalf of the state's Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review (PAMR) board. The report is an aggregate of three years' worth of work of the PAMR and is based upon the most recent data available.

PAMR is a multidisciplinary board of experts from across the state tasked with examining the causes and contributing factors associated with maternal mortality and ultimately forming recommendations that could prevent these deaths from occurring in the future.

The 2017-2019 annual report contains data including the timing and leading causes of pregnancy-related deaths, and factors that contributed to these deaths, such as mental health conditions and substance use disorder (SUD). The report also reflects the disparities that exist in our state and among our most vulnerable populations, including our Black and publicly insured communities.

Report highlights include:

- Mental health conditions were the leading underlying cause of pregnancy-related deaths, followed by cardiovascular disease.
- All pregnancy-related deaths due to mental health conditions were determined to be preventable.
- Black women living in Missouri are three times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than white women.
- Women on Medicaid in the state of Missouri are eight times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than those with private insurance.

The PAMR board found that the pregnancy-related mortality ratio (PRMR) in Missouri was 25.2 deaths per 100,000 live births from 2017-2019 and that 75 percent of these deaths were determined to be preventable.

The PAMR board continues to review cases and is nearly finished reviewing 2020 deaths and will begin reviewing 2021 deaths soon after. These reports will be made available once all cases have been reviewed. The 2017-2019 annual report can be viewed at Health.Mo.Gov/data/pamr.

JEFFERSON CITY, MO -- The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services (DHSS) has published A Multi Year Look at Maternal Mortality in Missouri: 2017-2019 Annual Report on behalf of the state's Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review (PAMR) board. The report is an aggregate of three years' worth of work of the PAMR and is based upon the most recent data available.

PAMR is a multidisciplinary board of experts from across the state tasked with examining the causes and contributing factors associated with maternal mortality and ultimately forming recommendations that could prevent these deaths from occurring in the future.

The 2017-2019 annual report contains data including the timing and leading causes of pregnancy-related deaths, and factors that contributed to these deaths, such as mental health conditions and substance use disorder (SUD). The report also reflects the disparities that exist in our state and among our most vulnerable populations, including our Black and publicly insured communities.

Report highlights include:

- Mental health conditions were the leading underlying cause of pregnancy-related deaths, followed by cardiovascular disease.
- All pregnancy-related deaths due to mental health conditions were determined to be preventable.
- Black women living in Missouri are three times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than white women.
- Women on Medicaid in the state of Missouri are eight times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than those with private insurance.

The PAMR board found that the pregnancy-related mortality ratio (PRMR) in Missouri was 25.2 deaths per 100,000 live births from 2017-2019 and that 75 percent of these deaths were determined to be preventable.

The PAMR board continues to review cases and is nearly finished reviewing 2020 deaths and will begin reviewing 2021 deaths soon after. These reports will be made available once all cases have been reviewed. The 2017-2019 annual report can be viewed at Health.Mo.Gov/data/pamr.

WHAT: (U//FOUO) Following the Supreme Court of the United States (SCOTUS) ruling on abortion rights, a Twitter user who self-identifies as a part of the 'Anonymous' hacktivist collective announced the renewed engagement of Operation Jane (#OpJane) and warned of attacks on "anti-choice organizations". Analyst Note – Operation Jane was originally launched on 3 September 2021 in response to Texas' anti-abortion legislation.

(U//FOUO) on 27 June 2022, an Anonymous-affiliated Twitter account posted a thread regarding the SCOTUS decision to overturn Roe v. Wade advising that it was "dangerous and unacceptable" and the "direct result of the rise of reactionary and ultra-conservative forces in all spheres of society". The author of the posts noted that "#Anonymous has always been fighting for women's rights and will be once again fighting those who have declared war on women". The thread ended with the following warning, "Anti-choice organizations will be attacked daily to ensure they have no safe space on the internet. We want revenge on behalf [of] the millions of women whose life will be impacted by the decision of the supreme court. We want revenge. We want #JanesRevenge! #OpJane reengaged."

Rep. Mayhew keeps hearing claims that we are inadvertently funding Planned Parenthood. Is there anything in the department that says we have a contract with Planned Parenthood? Are they listed as a provider? Are they listed anywhere at all in any capacity in department dealings, partnerships, etc?

Hello,
I had someone reach out to my office wanting to know about the legality of fertility treatments now that Roe has been overturned and parts of HB 126 from 2019 have gone into effect. The person that reached out asked about the fertility treatment "GIFT" but it would be very helpful to know about how other treatments will be impacted by the ruling and Missouri's law.

Hi Laura,
I had a quick meeting with Steve this afternoon about a couple programs in OWH. I wanted to share the following questions we have as a result of the Governor's proclamation. We appreciate your time and help to ensure we make any and all changes necessary.

Situation: We currently manage an attestation process for the extended women's health services. This process is to ensure that providers don't provide abortions. The requirement to do so is in our budget language. https://health.mo.gov/atoz/extended-womens-health-services.php
Questions: Do we need to continue to require providers to attest? If yes, can we have a written explanation, as some providers will want to know why. If not, how and when should we notify our providers?

Situation: Our office is responsible for the distribution and maintenance of the informed consent checklist and booklet. They are stored in the warehouse and the warehouse shipped them to abortion providers and programs in the state. Women that sought an abortion were required to receive them 72 hours prior to their procedure.
https://health.mo.gov/living/families/womenshealth/pregnancyassistance/forms.php
Questions: Do we need to maintain these resources going forward? If yes, under what circumstances should they be distributed to the public if abortions are no longer to be provided in the state. If no, should we remove them from the website and/or update the materials?

DHSS responds to concerns about contraception use

JEFFERSON CITY, MO – The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services is statutorily responsible for regulating licensed abortion facilities/providers, and it will continue to be the agency's responsibility to monitor all abortions performed to assure that they are done only under and in accordance with the provisions of the law.

Before and following the Supreme Court of the United States' ruling in Dobbs that overturns Roe v. Wade, Missouri law does not ban the use of contraception methods. RSMo 188.017 criminalizes performing an abortion absent a medical emergency, but this does not include pregnancy preventive measures.

DHSS is currently reviewing regulations related to abortion facilities to ensure their accordance with state law.

For women's health resources in Missouri, visit health.mo.gov/womenshealth or call TEL-LINK at 800-TEL-LINK (835-5465). TEL-LINK provides Missourians with confidential information and referrals on maternal and child health services.

DHSS responds to concerns about contraception use

JEFFERSON CITY, MO – The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services is statutorily responsible for regulating licensed abortion facilities/providers, and it will continue to be the agency's responsibility to monitor all abortions performed to assure that they are done only under and in accordance with the provisions of the law.

Before and following the Supreme Court of the United States' ruling in Dobbs that overturns Roe v. Wade, Missouri law does not ban the use of contraception methods. RSMo 188.017 criminalizes performing an abortion absent a medical emergency, but this does not include pregnancy preventive measures.

DHSS is currently reviewing regulations related to abortion facilities to ensure their accordance with state law.

For women's health resources in Missouri, visit health.mo.gov/womenshealth or call TEL-LINK at 800-TEL-LINK (835-5465). TEL-LINK provides Missourians with confidential information and referrals on maternal and child health services.

About the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services: The department seeks to be the leader in protecting health and keeping people safe. More information about DHSS can be found at health.mo.gov or find us on Facebook and Twitter @HealthyLivingMo.

DHSS responds to concerns about contraception use

JEFFERSON CITY, MO – The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services is statutorily responsible for regulating licensed abortion facilities/providers, and it will continue to be the agency's responsibility to monitor all abortions performed to assure that they are done only under and in accordance with the provisions of the law.

Before and following the Supreme Court of the United States' ruling in Dobbs that overturns Roe v. Wade, Missouri law does not ban the use of contraception methods. RSMo 188.017 criminalizes performing an abortion absent a medical emergency, but this does not include pregnancy preventive measures.

DHSS is currently reviewing regulations related to abortion facilities to ensure their accordance with state law.

For women's health resources in Missouri, visit health.mo.gov/womenshealth or call TEL-LINK at 800-TEL-LINK (835-5465). TEL-LINK provides Missourians with confidential information and referrals on maternal and child health services.

DHSS responds to concerns about contraception use

JEFFERSON CITY, MO – The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services is statutorily responsible for regulating licensed abortion facilities/providers, and it will continue to be the agency's responsibility to monitor all abortions performed to assure that they are done only under and in accordance with the provisions of the law.

Before and following the Supreme Court of the United States' ruling in Dobbs that overturns Roe v. Wade, Missouri law does not ban the use of contraception methods. RSMo 188.017 criminalizes performing an abortion absent a medical emergency, but this does not include pregnancy preventive measures.

DHSS is currently reviewing regulations related to abortion facilities to ensure their accordance with state law.

For women's health resources in Missouri, visit health.mo.gov/womenshealth or call TEL-LINK at 800-TEL-LINK (835-5465). TEL-LINK provides Missourians with confidential information and referrals on maternal and child health services.

About the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services: The department seeks to be the leader in protecting health and keeping people safe. More information about DHSS can be found at health.mo.gov or find us on Facebook and Twitter @HealthyLivingMo.

DHSS responds to concerns about contraception use

JEFFERSON CITY, MO – The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services is statutorily responsible for regulating licensed abortion facilities/providers, and it will continue to be the agency's responsibility to monitor all abortions performed to assure that they are done only under and in accordance with the provisions of the law.

Before and following the Supreme Court of the United States' ruling in Dobbs that overturns Roe v. Wade, Missouri law does not ban the use of contraception methods. RSMo 188.017 criminalizes performing an abortion absent a medical emergency, but this does not include pregnancy preventive measures.

DHSS is currently reviewing regulations related to abortion facilities to ensure their accordance with state law.

For women's health resources in Missouri, visit health.mo.gov/womenshealth or call TEL-LINK at 800-TEL-LINK (835-5465). TEL-LINK provides Missourians with confidential information and referrals on maternal and child health services.

DHSS responds to concerns about contraception use

JEFFERSON CITY, MO – The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services is statutorily responsible for regulating licensed abortion facilities/providers, and it will continue to be the agency's responsibility to monitor all abortions performed to assure that they are done only under and in accordance with the provisions of the law.

Before and following the Supreme Court of the United States' ruling in Dobbs that overturns Roe v. Wade, Missouri law does not ban the use of contraception methods. RSMo 188.017 criminalizes performing an abortion absent a medical emergency, but this does not include pregnancy preventive measures.

DHSS is currently reviewing regulations related to abortion facilities to ensure their accordance with state law.

For women's health resources in Missouri, visit health.mo.gov/womenshealth or call TEL-LINK at 800-TEL-LINK (835-5465). TEL-LINK provides Missourians with confidential information and referrals on maternal and child health services.

About the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services: The department seeks to be the leader in protecting health and keeping people safe. More information about DHSS can be found at health.mo.gov or find us on Facebook and Twitter @HealthyLivingMo.

DHSS responds to concerns about contraception use

JEFFERSON CITY, MO – The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services is statutorily responsible for regulating licensed abortion facilities/providers, and it will continue to be the agency's responsibility to monitor all abortions performed to assure that they are done only under and in accordance with the provisions of the law.

Before and following the Supreme Court of the United States' ruling in Dobbs that overturns Roe v. Wade, Missouri law does not ban the use of contraception methods. RSMo 188.017 criminalizes performing an abortion absent a medical emergency, but this does not include pregnancy preventive measures.

DHSS is currently reviewing regulations related to abortion facilities to ensure their accordance with state law.

For women's health resources in Missouri, visit health.mo.gov/womenshealth or call TEL-LINK at 800-TEL-LINK (835-5465). TEL-LINK provides Missourians with confidential information and referrals on maternal and child health services.

Missouri's maternal mortality report published

Findings compiled by Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review board

JEFFERSON CITY, MO -- The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services (DHSS) has published A Multi Year Look at Maternal Mortality in Missouri: 2017-2019 Annual Report on behalf of the state's Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review (PAMR) board. The report is an aggregate of three years' worth of work of the PAMR and is based upon the most recent data available.

PAMR is a multidisciplinary board of experts from across the state tasked with examining the causes and contributing factors associated with maternal mortality and ultimately forming recommendations that could prevent these deaths from occurring in the future.

The 2017-2019 annual report contains data including the timing and leading causes of pregnancy-related deaths, and factors that contributed to these deaths, such as mental health conditions and substance use disorder (SUD). The report also reflects the disparities that exist in our state and among our most vulnerable populations, including our Black and publicly insured communities.

Report highlights include:

- Mental health conditions were the leading underlying cause of pregnancy-related deaths, followed by cardiovascular disease.
- All pregnancy-related deaths due to mental health conditions were determined to be preventable.
- Black women living in Missouri are three times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than white women.
- Women on Medicaid in the state of Missouri are eight times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than those with private insurance.

The PAMR board found that the pregnancy-related mortality ratio (PRMR) in Missouri was 25.2 deaths per 100,000 live births from 2017-2019 and that 75 percent of these deaths were determined to be preventable.

The PAMR board continues to review cases and is nearly finished reviewing 2020 deaths and will begin reviewing 2021 deaths soon after. These reports will be made available once all cases have been reviewed. The 2017-2019 annual report can be viewed at Health.Mo.Gov/data/pamr.

Missouri's maternal mortality report published

Findings compiled by Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review board

JEFFERSON CITY, MO -- The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services (DHSS) has published A Multi Year Look at Maternal Mortality in Missouri: 2017-2019 Annual Report on behalf of the state's Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review (PAMR) board. The report is an aggregate of three years' worth of work of the PAMR and is based upon the most recent data available.

PAMR is a multidisciplinary board of experts from across the state tasked with examining the causes and contributing factors associated with maternal mortality and ultimately forming recommendations that could prevent these deaths from occurring in the future.

The 2017-2019 annual report contains data including the timing and leading causes of pregnancy-related deaths, and factors that contributed to these deaths, such as mental health conditions and substance use disorder (SUD). The report also reflects the disparities that exist in our state and among our most vulnerable populations, including our Black and publicly insured communities.

Report highlights include:

- Mental health conditions were the leading underlying cause of pregnancy-related deaths, followed by cardiovascular disease.
- All pregnancy-related deaths due to mental health conditions were determined to be preventable.
- Black women living in Missouri are three times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than white women.
- Women on Medicaid in the state of Missouri are eight times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than those with private insurance.

The PAMR board found that the pregnancy-related mortality ratio (PRMR) in Missouri was 25.2 deaths per 100,000 live births from 2017-2019 and that 75 percent of these deaths were determined to be preventable.

The PAMR board continues to review cases and is nearly finished reviewing 2020 deaths and will begin reviewing 2021 deaths soon after. These reports will be made available once all cases have been reviewed. The 2017-2019 annual report can be viewed at Health.Mo.Gov/data/pamr.

Findings compiled by Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review board

JEFFERSON CITY, MO -- The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services (DHSS) has published A Multi Year Look at Maternal Mortality in Missouri: 2017-2019 Annual Report on behalf of the state's Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review (PAMR) board. The report is an aggregate of three years' worth of work of the PAMR and is based upon the most recent data available.

PAMR is a multidisciplinary board of experts from across the state tasked with examining the causes and contributing factors associated with maternal mortality and ultimately forming recommendations that could prevent these deaths from occurring in the future.

The 2017-2019 annual report contains data including the timing and leading causes of pregnancy-related deaths, and factors that contributed to these deaths, such as mental health conditions and substance use disorder (SUD). The report also reflects the disparities that exist in our state and among our most vulnerable populations, including our Black and publicly insured communities.

Report highlights include:

- Mental health conditions were the leading underlying cause of pregnancy-related deaths, followed by cardiovascular disease.
- All pregnancy-related deaths due to mental health conditions were determined to be preventable.
- Black women living in Missouri are three times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than white women.
- Women on Medicaid in the state of Missouri are eight times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than those with private insurance.

The PAMR board found that the pregnancy-related mortality ratio (PRMR) in Missouri was 25.2 deaths per 100,000 live births from 2017-2019 and that 75 percent of these deaths were determined to be preventable.

The PAMR board continues to review cases and is nearly finished reviewing 2020 deaths and will begin reviewing 2021 deaths soon after. These reports will be made available once all cases have been reviewed. The 2017-2019 annual report can be viewed at Health.Mo.Gov/data/pamr.

Missouri's maternal mortality report published

Findings compiled by Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review board

JEFFERSON CITY, MO -- The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services (DHSS) has published A Multi Year Look at Maternal Mortality in Missouri: 2017-2019 Annual Report on behalf of the state's Pregnancy-Associated Mortality Review (PAMR) board. The report is an aggregate of three years' worth of work of the PAMR and is based upon the most recent data available.

PAMR is a multidisciplinary board of experts from across the state tasked with examining the causes and contributing factors associated with maternal mortality and ultimately forming recommendations that could prevent these deaths from occurring in the future.

The 2017-2019 annual report contains data including the timing and leading causes of pregnancy-related deaths, and factors that contributed to these deaths, such as mental health conditions and substance use disorder (SUD). The report also reflects the disparities that exist in our state and among our most vulnerable populations, including our Black and publicly insured communities.

Report highlights include:

- Mental health conditions were the leading underlying cause of pregnancy-related deaths, followed by cardiovascular disease.
- All pregnancy-related deaths due to mental health conditions were determined to be preventable.
- Black women living in Missouri are three times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than white women.
- Women on Medicaid in the state of Missouri are eight times more likely to die within one year of pregnancy than those with private insurance.

The PAMR board found that the pregnancy-related mortality ratio (PRMR) in Missouri was 25.2 deaths per 100,000 live births from 2017-2019 and that 75 percent of these deaths were determined to be preventable.

The PAMR board continues to review cases and is nearly finished reviewing 2020 deaths and will begin reviewing 2021 deaths soon after. These reports will be made available once all cases have been reviewed. The 2017-2019 annual report can be viewed at Health.Mo.Gov/data/pamr.
