The deadline for Ohio's new state legislative and congressional districts are rapidly approaching, and the people of Ohio still do not have clear guidance on how they can participate in creating these maps for consideration to the Ohio Redistricting Commission or the General Assembly.

The constitutional amendments passed in 2015 and 2018, each with over 70% support, clearly state that there MUST be an opportunity for the people of Ohio to offer input on proposed General Assembly and congressional district map plans and have an opportunity to propose their own maps. As of today, the General Assembly has still not fulfilled this constitutional obligation.

The people of Ohio need a fair, transparent, and accessible redistricting process based on judgement of ALL Ohioans. There must be a procedure in place for Ohioans to offer their own district maps.

Ohioans deserve a redistricting process that focuses on listening and responding to the voices of all Ohioans. A readily accessible, broadly publicized system needs to be in place right now. Do the job you were elected to do now.

Hello,

I was very glad to hear that the Ohio Redistricting Commission has announced nine public hearings to gather public input on district maps. However, the first map deadline is coming up soon, and there are not yet any public details for these events.

Ohioans need time to take off work, schedule a babysitter, and prepare what they're going to say at these hearings.

When will you be announcing the dates, times, and locations for the public hearings? Please do so as soon as possible, and let me know.

Thank You!

Dear Ohio Public Servants,

So thankful that we are moving forward with efforts to combat gerrymandering with balanced redistricting efforts. I've heard that the Ohio Redistricting Commission has announced public hearings to gather public input on district maps, but haven't found any details yet.

I'd like to come, but need some lead time so I can be sure to be free from other obligations and pull together what I would like to say.

Please let me and other Ohioans know the details as quickly as possible.

It was very encouraging this morning to learn that the Ohio Redistricting Commission has announced nine public hearings for citizen input on district maps. But as you well know, the first map deadline is fast approaching. Currently, no details of time, date, or location have been determined for these required hearings.

Surely you realize that hard-working Ohio residents need lead time to schedule days off work, find child care, and otherwise prepare for travel to attend these hearings.

When can we expect you to make public the dates, times, and locations for our public hearings? I need you to do this as soon as possible. Please inform me when you have determined the schedule of events.

Ohioans voted overwhelmingly against gerrymandering and in favor of fair maps in 2015 and 2018. I was proud to be a part of collecting signatures for the referendum. The new redistricting rules that we passed require a transparent process and public participation.

Public participation includes the ability to testify in public hearings about proposed maps, and create and submit our own maps for consideration.

You would be renewing my faith in our State legislature if you immediately work to set up a portal where citizens can submit maps they have created and announce a schedule of public hearing so that Ohio citizens have sufficient notice and are able to testify on any proposed district map plans.

Creating new district maps for Ohio is too important to be allowed to happen in the dark and without public participation. Official mapmakers ... take action now.

Senate President Matt Huffman,

The deadline for Ohio's new state legislative and congressional districts are rapidly approaching, and the people of Ohio still do not have clear guidance on how they can submit their own maps for consideration to the Ohio Redistricting Commission or the General Assembly.

The constitutional amendments passed in 2015 and 2018, each with over 70% support, clearly state that there must be an opportunity for the people of Ohio to offer testimony on proposed General Assembly and congressional district map plans and have an opportunity to propose their own maps. As of today, the General Assembly has still not fulfilled this constitutional obligation.

The people of Ohio demand a fair, transparent, and accessible redistricting process that focuses on the listening and responding to the voices of all Ohioans. In order to achieve this, there must be a procedure in place for Ohioans to offer their own district maps.

I urge the Ohio Redistricting Commission and the state legislature to immediately work to set up a portal where citizens can submit maps they have created, and to announce a schedule of public hearing so that Ohio citizens have sufficient notice and are able to testify on any proposed district map plans.

With over 70% of Ohio citizens having voted in 2015 and 2018 for Ohio to finally create a fair system to replace the secretive bunker-drawn lines of 10 years ago, it is essential that the General Assembly and the Ohio Redistricting Commission establish and announce publicly an easily accessible system for citizens to submit proposed maps. Then those proposed maps must be made public. No more secretive last-minute bunker-drawn maps! And, this must be done NOW as the deadline for Ohio's new state legislative and congressional districts are rapidly approaching.

Ohioans deserve a fair, transparent, and accessible redistricting process that focuses on listening and responding to the voices of all Ohioans. A readily accessible system needs to be in place right now. And broadly publicized as well. There's no time for foot dragging. Do your jobs and do it now.

Senate President Matt Huffman,

The deadline for Ohio's new state legislative and congressional districts are rapidly approaching, and the people of Ohio still do not have clear guidance on how they can submit their own maps for consideration to the Ohio Redistricting Commission or the General Assembly.

The constitutional amendments passed in 2015 and 2018, each with over 70% support, clearly state that there must be an opportunity for the people of Ohio to offer testimony on proposed General Assembly and congressional district map plans and have an opportunity to propose their own maps. As of today, the General Assembly has still not fulfilled this constitutional obligation.

The people of Ohio demand a fair, transparent, and accessible redistricting process that focuses on the listening and responding to the voices of all Ohioans. In order to achieve this, there must be a procedure in place for Ohioans to offer their own district maps.

I urge the Ohio Redistricting Commission and the state legislature to immediately work to set up a portal where citizens can submit maps they have created, and to announce a schedule of public hearing so that Ohio citizens have sufficient notice and are able to testify on any proposed district map plans.

I fully support the letter written above. My concern is for Governor DeWine. Governor you know quite well what Bipartisan means and the make up of this commission is frankly a joke regarding bipartisan. You know that this commission was agreed upon by both parties because if it had been put on the ballot your party would have lost out completely. Now I am asking that you act in a bipartisan manner and allow for the public to submit citizen created maps for consideration. This is the land of the free and the home of the brave which means everyone's vote counts. If the majority votes for a republican we learn to work with that but to deny the majority to be able to vote for a democrat simply by rigging the districts is so totally what my father and father-in-law fought against in the World Wars and what my husband fought for in Viet Nam. These brave men went to war thinking that they were preserving Democracy. My father died at 63. Who knows if his lymphoma was caused by actions take in the war. They never looked into what our men were exposed to and what that did to their health. My father in law died at 96. He would shake his head especially at the administration of the last 4 years but we learned how to work to improve that situation. No one fought about the fact that 45 lost the majority but only won because of the electorial college. No one denied him the win in 2016 because we lived by the laws of the nation. Well Governor DeWine, you have the ability to make a difference in the districts of Ohio so as there is no more snakes and dragons. You have the ability to divide the state in reasonable districts and learn to live, like I

Senator Huffman, I tuned in for the first meeting of the Ohio Redistricting Commission today. It's a good thing I was prompt, because it was over almost before it began. Very disappointing that we have made so very little progress on redistricting by this month! Please respond to let me know where and when the 9 meetings around the state will occur. I ask you to please move this process along per the spirit and the letter of the redistricting rules. Thank you for that.

The constitutional amendments passed in 2015 and 2018, each with over 70% support, clearly state that there must be an opportunity for the people of Ohio to offer testimony on proposed General Assembly and congressional district map plans and have an opportunity to propose their own maps. As of today, the General Assembly has still not fulfilled this constitutional obligation.

The people of Ohio demand a fair, transparent, and accessible redistricting process that focuses on the listening and responding to the voices of all Ohioans. In order to achieve this, there must be a procedure in place for Ohioans to offer their own district maps.

I urge the Ohio Redistricting Commission and the state legislature to immediately work to set up a portal where citizens can submit maps they have created, and to announce a schedule of public hearing so that Ohio citizens have sufficient notice and are able to testify on any proposed district map plans.

As a resident of Fairfield Township and Butler County, I feel that the current boundaries of my state representative district and U.S. House district do not meet the needs of the community. Fairfield Township has much more in common with the cities of Fairfield and Hamilton than Liberty Township and West Chester Township, and should be grouped with them during redistricting. As for the U.S. House, most parts of Butler County have little in common with the extremely rural areas of Preble and Darke Counties and should be in a district with the northern suburbs of Cincinnati. I would like to submit maps that would better represent Butler County.

I urge the Ohio Redistricting Commission and the state legislature to immediately work to set up a portal where citizens can submit maps they have created, and to announce a schedule of public hearings so that Ohio citizens have sufficient notice and are able to testify on any proposed district map plans.

The current districts are an insult to Ohioans, as is the procrastination in moving forward with the redistricting process. Senate President Matt Huffman,

The deadline for Ohio's new state legislative and congressional districts are rapidly approaching, and the people of Ohio still do not have clear guidance on how they can submit their own maps for consideration to the Ohio Redistricting Commission or the General Assembly.

The constitutional amendments passed in 2015 and 2018, each with over 70% support, clearly state that there must be an opportunity for the people of Ohio to offer testimony on proposed General Assembly and congressional district map plans and have an opportunity to propose their own maps. As of today, the General Assembly has still not fulfilled this constitutional obligation.

The people of Ohio demand a fair, transparent, and accessible redistricting process that focuses on the listening and responding to the voices of all Ohioans. In order to achieve this, there must be a procedure in place for Ohioans to offer their own district maps.

I urge the Ohio Redistricting Commission and the state legislature to immediately work to set up a portal where citizens can submit maps they have created, and to announce a schedule of public hearing so that Ohio citizens have sufficient notice and are able to testify on any proposed district map plans.

I watched the first meeting of the Ohio Redistricting Commission this morning. Glad they have begun the process of drawing fair maps for Ohioans! The Commission said it planned 9 public hearings around Ohio but gave no indication of where or when they would begin, nor did they mention a process by which citizens could contribute suggestions for map boundaries.

The people of Ohio expect a fair, transparent, and accessible redistricting process that focuses on the listening and responding to the voices of all Ohioans. In order to achieve this, there must be a procedure in place for Ohioans to offer their own district maps.

They should also consider allowing voters to "attend" hearings by Zoom and submit testimony by Zoom.

It is past-time for this effort to draw political districts that serve COMMUNITIES rather than the politicians seeking lifetime office.

It appears that the GOP supermajority, in delaying this redistricting effort as long as possible, is trying to sabotage the effort.

This effort already has much potentially valuable public input - if the committee will hear it. Public hearings can happen at the same time as other efforts of the committee.

Let's MOVE on this!

The deadline for Ohio's new state legislative and congressional districts are rapidly approaching, and the people of Ohio still do not have clear guidance on how they can submit their own maps for consideration to the Ohio Redistricting Commission or the General Assembly.

The constitutional amendments passed in 2015 and 2018, each with over 70% support, clearly state that there must be an opportunity for the people of Ohio to offer testimony on proposed General Assembly and congressional district map plans and have an opportunity to propose their own maps. As of today, the General Assembly has still not fulfilled this constitutional obligation.

The deadline for Ohio's new state legislative and congressional districts are rapidly approaching, and the people of Ohio still do not have clear guidance on how they can submit their own maps for consideration to the Ohio Redistricting Commission or the General Assembly.

The constitutional amendments passed in 2015 and 2018, each with over 70% support, clearly state that there must be an opportunity for the people of Ohio to offer testimony on proposed General Assembly and congressional district map plans and have an opportunity to propose their own maps. As of today, the General Assembly has still not fulfilled this constitutional obligation.

Timeline for Additional 2020 Census Operational Quality Metrics

The Census Bureau will release the next two rounds of 2020 Census operational quality metrics this month.

On Aug. 18, the Census Bureau will provide summary county- and tract-level information by state for a limited set of previously released operational quality metrics. The metrics will not be available for individual counties or tracts, but rather they provide the average rates (mean), median and standard deviations for the state's counties and tracts, respectively.

On Aug. 25, the Census Bureau will provide item nonresponse rates for the population count, age or date of birth, race, and Hispanic origin questions. These rates will be available for the nation, 50 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico. The Census Bureau will discuss each release in blog posts.

This is a request not to put Logan County with Shelby County. We tend to be more moderate than Shelby County and we have much more in common economically with Union County as we share Honda and TRC along with the SMART transportation. I know this challenge is not easily acquired but I am asking you to please consider our plea.

Thanking you for your time and consideration.

Senator Huffman, I look forward to the organizational meeting of the Ohio Redistricting Commission this Friday. I am hopeful that you and the other members of the Commission will respect the spirit and the letter of the new rules on redistricting. The new rules were passed by voters in all Ohio counties, and were agreed to and endorsed by Democrats and Republicans in our Statehouse. I will be watching the hearing this Friday and the rest of the process for making the Congressional and state legislative maps. I look forward to fair maps in Ohio, maps which respect communities of interest and allow Ohio voters the opportunity to select their elected representatives. Our current system allows the politicians to select their voters, and deprives Ohio residents of representatives who truly reflect the values and needs of our State. The current system also undercuts the need for members of the legislature to provide services to their constituents, or to reflect their views, because gerrymandered districts diminish the need for elected officials to care what all their constituents want/need. I am not seeking a system which produces winners for my preferred party, but rather one is which elected officials run on their ideas and policies, and need to find solutions that will win a consensus.
Thanks for your work to come on the redistricting. Here's to fair maps for Ohio!

Resources Available to Prepare for the 2020 Census Redistricting Data Release

Written by James Whitehorne, chief, Redistricting Data and Voting Rights Office

In a few weeks, we'll release the 2020 Census redistricting data in our legacy summary file format. And a few weeks after that, we'll release the same data in an easier-to-use format.

We're releasing the same data twice but in different formats at different times to make sure states get the data as quickly as possible. Acting Director Dr. Ron Jarmin explained these two releases in his blog, Redistricting Data: What to Expect and When. In this blog, I provide more detail about the formats and support materials available, particularly for the first release.

Redistricting Data: What to Expect and When?

Written by Dr. Ron Jarmin, U.S. Census Bureau Acting Director

Since releasing the apportionment results in April, we've had several teams working hard on the next set of 2020 Census data — the redistricting data. These data play an important role in our democracy and will begin to illuminate the changes to the local and demographic makeup of our nation over the last decade.

These data include the first sub-state population counts and demographic characteristics from the census, information that states typically use for redistricting — the process of redrawing electoral district boundaries based on where their populations have increased or decreased.

Although redistricting is a state function, the U.S. Census Bureau performs an important role in the process — providing quality data to the states from the census that states may choose to use in redistricting.

Senate President Huffman, I am writing to you to encourage you to finally get the repeal of the corrupt HB6 on to the floor for a COMPLETE repeal. My Senator Matt Dolan will vote for the repeal, as should every member of the House and Senate.

The continued political game which the Republican party, both nationally and in our state, is repulsive. While it may be naive to believe that those that have been voted into office actually represent the best interests of the citizens of Ohio, we have all witnessed the obvious exact opposite to that. The slow response to a totally "bought" legislation's repeal is a case in point. The backward looking legislature makes Ohio and Ohioans look like a bunch of ignorant hicks. The lack of respect for real science is apparent. The continued ignorance of the separation of church and state is abhorrent. The obvious continued attention to the loud but small contingent of Trumpers only shows how shallow the Republican party has become. The redistricting process must be fair and transparent so that we actually have a democracy that represents us.

When will real leadership happen in Columbus? When will our elected men and women look toward the future and be progressive, rather than living in the past? The times are a changing and the longer the Republican party tries to ignore the future, the shorter the future of this failed party will be.

Hello,

I contacted your office originally because I was concerned the redistricting process.

Gov. DeWine vetoed the part of the budget that said that majority party legislators only could intervene in suits regarding redistricting. I read in the Columbus Dispatch that the legislature was considering reinstating that provision.

The 2015 redistricting ballot initiative had more than 70% support from Ohioans of all parties, and the 2017 measure gained hundreds of thousands of signatures before the matter was settled legislatively. Ohioans want a districting process that doesn't benefit one party, whether it is Democrat or Republican.

I would like to see the legislature allow Gov. DeWine's veto of this provision to stand.

Thank you.

State Senator Matt Huffman,

Ohio mapmakers must not wait for decennial Census data to start the redistricting process, nor should the new Census timeline be an excuse to limit transparency, reduce public comment, or wait to hear from experts. We call on you to start the process today by doing the following:

- Consider a later 2022 primary election to allow time for a thorough map-making process;

- Announce legislative appointments for the Ohio Redistricting Commission;

- Release already budgeted funds to state legislative caucuses to conduct training and research in preparation for mapmaking, and

- Invite experts and the public to testify on a wide range of topics including: compliance with federal and state laws, racial representation, the importance of keeping communities together, and more.

With Census data due to be released on August 16, 2021, there is no time to waste. Ohio can’t wait any longer to begin this process -- there is simply too much at stake. Voters in all 88 counties overwhelmingly approved redistricting reforms in 2015 and 2018. This is an opportunity to show the people that their voices are heard and their votes matter.

Thank you for your consideration, and for acting now to begin the important process of creating fair maps.

Dear Senate President Matt Huffman,

The people of Ohio want fair maps. Ohioans in all 88 counties voted twice to end partisan gerrymandering. Work must begin now to make sure that the redistricting processes for state legislative and US congressional maps live up to the full promise and potential of the 2015 and 2018 redistricting reforms.

Given that this is a once-in-a-decade opportunity for fair, voter-focused districts, transparency and public input should not be limited because of changes to the census timeline. Direct the Legislative Service Commission to establish a website where the public can read up on the process, follow hearings/testimony, access population and geographical data, and submit maps for consideration through a web portal. Provide ample opportunity through public hearings for Ohioans to weigh in about the importance of fair maps, how they define their communities, and why keeping their communities together is important. Commit to providing ample opportunity for public comment after maps are proposed as well.

Ohio deserves fair maps that keep communities together. Voters overwhelmingly supported redistricting reform in 2015 and 2018. We expect fair districts that benefit voters, not either political party. Please commit to a truly transparent map-making process. The public deserves to be able to easily weigh in on any new maps you create. The maps you draw should reflect the spirit of the redistricting reforms in 2015 and 2018.

Sincerely,

I am a citizen whom has concerns and ideas about the upcoming redistricting scheduled to occur in Ohio.
Step one in my engagement in this process is to identify the members of the Ohio Redistricting Commission.
XI.01 Ohio Redistricting Commission
(A) The Ohio redistricting commission shall be responsible for the redistricting of this state for the general assembly.
(B) The commission shall consist of the following seven members: (1) The governor (Mike DeWine); (2) The auditor of state (There appear to be seven?); (3) The secretary of state; (Frank LaRose) (4) One person appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives; (5) One person appointed by the legislative leader of the largest political party in the house of representatives of which the speaker of the house of representatives is not a member; (6) One person appointed by the president of the senate; (7) One person appointed by the legislative leader of the largest political party in the senate of which the president of the senate is not a member.
My questions are very straight forward:
1. Who are the actual seven primary contact people on the Ohio Redistricting Commission?
2. What method of communication is available for a citizen, like myself, to provide input to the Ohio Redistricting Commission?
Thank you in advance for providing me with prompt answers to my questions.

3. Announce legislative appointments for the Ohio Redistricting Commission ;
4. Release already budgeted funds to state legislative caucuses to conduct training and research in preparation for mapmaking, and
5. Invite experts and the public to testify on a wide range of topics including: compliance with federal and state laws, racial representation, the importance of keeping communities together, and more.

Ohio can't wait until the summer or fall to begin this process -- there is simply too much at stake. Voters in all 88 counties overwhelmingly approved redistricting reforms in 2015 and 2018. This is an opportunity to show the people that their voices are heard and their votes matter.

Thank you for your consideration, and for acting now to begin the important process of creating fair maps.

Sincerely,
Judith Hofmann

The state operating budget should be focused on the fiscal stability of the state and its residents, not a vehicle for evading public scrutiny. Any changes to redistricting rules need to be properly deliberated. We deserve transparent mapmaking that focuses on the new rules Ohio voters overwhelmingly approved.

For this reason I urge the removal of SENCD2 from Am. Sub. HB 110 during the conference committee process.

President Matt Huffman,

Hello,

Ohio's Constitution now requires that Ohioans be allowed to submit their own draft district maps during the official redistricting process. But there is not currently a way to submit these maps.

Please fulfill your constitutional obligation and pass a quality public submission bill, like HB-313, immediately.

I look forward to your response. This issue is very important to me, so I will be checking back regularly to receive updates on the public submission process.

Thank You,

We are less than two weeks away from the deadline for the Ohio Redistricting Commission to create and pass a bipartisan congressional district map, and there has been zero progress toward meeting that deadline. I am a proud advocate for the redistricting reforms enshrined in our state constitution, and it angers me to see the persistent failure by our leaders to meet this moment and deliver the reforms over 70% of Ohioans demanded.

All I am asking, in fact demanding, is for you and your Commission (General Assembly) colleagues to DO YOUR JOB AND GET TO WORK. There is no room for excuses, no room for finger pointing, no room for hand wringing. It's simple: you either do your job and work transparently to pass a fair, bipartisan map, or you don't. Dear Commission Members,

To date, it seems like your unspoken strategy is to run the clock out, pass gerrymandered 4 year congressional maps, and challenge the voters who overwhelmingly voted for reforms in 2018 to “sue if you don’t like it.” Whether this strategy is motivated by a dysfunctional working relationship among you, the Republicans’ decision to hang on to outsized power as long as possible - impossible to tell. What is clear is that you have had 3 years to prepare for this, and your work to date reflects either a lack of seriousness or or lack of interest in responding to the will of the voters.

Rules are laid out in the Ohio Constitution. Amateur mapmakers have produced various maps that adhere to the rules. This means you can, too -IF YOU ARE INTERESTED. Are you?

Senate President Matt Huffman,

We are less than two weeks away from the deadline for the Ohio Redistricting Commission to create and pass a bipartisan congressional district map, and there has been zero progress toward meeting that deadline. I am a proud advocate for the redistricting reforms enshrined in our state constitution, and it angers me to see the persistent failure by our leaders to meet this moment and deliver the reforms over 70% of Ohioans demanded.

All I am asking, in fact demanding, is for you and your Commission (General Assembly) colleagues to DO YOUR JOB AND GET TO WORK. There is no room for excuses, no room for finger pointing, no room for hand wringing. It's simple: you either do your job and work transparently to pass a fair, bipartisan map, or you don't. Either way, I'll remember next November.

Senate President Matt Huffman,

You and your colleagues on the Ohio Redistricting Commission are failing to do the commission's job to create and pass a bipartisan congressional district map. You have made no progress before a deadline of Oct 31.

I am among many citizens, representing a bipartisan majority of Ohioans, who have worked hard to establish redistricting reforms in Ohio's constitution. Persistent Democrats and stalwart and dedicated Republicans and conservatives here in Ashland have supported this progress to guard citizens, by eliminating gerrymandering, from the abuses of either party.

Over 70% of Ohioans demanded these changes and we are getting tired of your play-acting and foot -dragging. Get online or in a room together and come up with a map to show us. There are groups among us who have some good choices for un-gerrymandered maps if you can't come up with your own.

Please DO YOUR JOB AND GET TO WORK. Your actions or inaction will be remembered at the polls in November. The people of Ohio put you in your jobs and are holding you to your word.

You are well aware that we are now days away from the deadline for the Ohio Redistricting Commission to approve a bipartisan congressional district map. In defiance of our state constitution, there has been no progress toward meeting that deadline. As a staunch supporter of the redistricting reforms that 70% of Ohioans demanded. All because voters are NOT represented by the elected officials in our government.

I am a proud advocate for the redistricting reforms enshrined in our state constitution, and it angers me to see the persistent failure by our leaders to meet this moment and deliver the reforms over 70% of Ohioans demanded.

All I am asking, in fact demanding, is for you and your Commission (General Assembly) colleagues to DO YOUR JOB AND GET TO WORK. There is no room for excuses, no room for finger pointing, no room for hand wringing. It's simple: you either do your job and work transparently to pass a fair, bipartisan map, or you don't. Either way, I'll remember next November.

Less than two weeks from the deadline for the Ohio Redistricting Commission to create and pass a bipartisan congressional district map, and there has been zero progress toward meeting that deadline. There is exactly NO excuse for this. A decent computer program could solve the problem, rapidly. WHY have you done nothing? True, Ohio has a heritage of breaking its own rules, and ignoring its responsibilities. Were do you stand? I am a proud advocate for the redistricting reforms enshrined in our state constitution, and it angers me to see the persistent failure by our leaders to meet this moment and deliver the reforms over 70% of Ohioans demanded. We are less than two weeks away from the deadline for the Ohio Redistricting Commission to create and pass a bipartisan congressional district map, and there has been zero progress toward meeting that deadline. I am a proud advocate for the redistricting reforms enshrined in our state constitution, and it angers me to see the persistent failure by our leaders to meet this moment and deliver the reforms over 70% of Ohioans demanded.

All I am asking, in fact demanding, is for you and your Commission (General Assembly) colleagues to DO YOUR JOB AND GET TO WORK. There is no room for excuses, no room for finger pointing, no room for hand wringing. It's simple: you either do your job and work transparently to pass a fair, bipartisan map, or you don't. Either way, I'll remember next November.

Do not betray those hundreds of us who spent numerous weekends in neighborhoods all over the state gathering signatures to get Fair Districts on the ballot. You made promises we intend that you keep. You should remember that we did not just gather signatures, we educated Ohioans on Fair Districts and the importance of ending gerrymandering. Now witnessing the daily onslaught on Democracy, you can choose to honor your word, or lie, cheat, and steal to hang onto power and embrace minority rule. Ohians will remember in November.

Senate President Matt Huffman,

My name is Trent, and I'm a resident of Beachwood, OH and a volunteer with Fair Districts.

Guys, it's time to get to work on redistricting. Beyond time. The deadline to create and pass a bipartisan congressional district map is October 31, and there has been zero progress toward meeting that deadline. It's inexcusable that y'all have failed to deliver on the reforms that over 70% of Ohioans demanded -- twice! -- in statewide elections.

All I am asking -- in fact demanding -- is for you and your colleagues to DO YOUR JOB AND GET TO WORK. The Fair Districts group is big, loud, energized, and not going away. We're paying close attention to whether redistricting gets done in a transparent, fair, timely manner, and spreading the word to our neighbors. We won't forget come next November -- and we'll make sure no one else does, either.

With less than two weeks from the deadline for the Ohio Redistricting Commission to create and pass a bipartisan congressional district map, there has been no public call for input and testimony and zero progress toward meeting that deadline. The violation of the intent of Ohio law angers me. I believe that both conservatives and progressives want both more legitimate and democratic behavior from the Commission members.

Senate President Matt Huffman,

We are nine days away from the deadline for the Ohio Redistricting Commission to create and pass a bipartisan congressional district map, and there has been zero progress toward meeting that deadline. I am a proud advocate for the redistricting reforms enshrined in our state constitution, and it angers me to see the persistent failure by our leaders to meet this moment and deliver the reforms over 70% of Ohioans demanded. Co-chair Cupp stated well over a week ago that public hearings would be scheduled soon. Now, half of the time between that statement and the deadline has passed with no schedule. At this point, I cannot even begin to comprehend what convoluted definition the speaker has for the word "soon" or the phrase "in the near future." Additionally, commission member, Senate President Matt Huffman, was quoted in the Cincinnati Enquirer saying that it would likely be easier to pass a map in the state legislature next month rather than in the commission by the October 31 deadline that has, at least in the eyes everyday Ohioans, been completely ignored by the commission, most notably by Co-chair Cupp. I have a hard time understanding the sentiment expressed by President Huffman's statement though. Let's break it down. The Senate President thinks that having 132 lawmakers work on drafting a map will be easier than a 7 person commission. I struggle to see how getting a minimum of 80 out of 132 lawmakers, including a minimum of 15 Democrats, to support a congressional map is easier than getting a minimum of 4 out of 7 commission members, including a minimum of 2 Democrats, to agree on a map. The numbers simply do not make any sense. Even if, somehow, Mr. Huffman's statement made any logical sense based on the pure mathematics behind the required votes to approve a map through each of the two methods, then why was there no apparent attempt to pass a congressional map in the legislature by September 30, when it originally had the authority to do just that? The way I see it, there are only two reasons Mr. Huffman can possibly think passing a map in the General Assembly will be easier. The first reason is that there is a very limited timeline for the commission to adopt a map, which would be a reasonable explanation if not for the fact that he and his fellow commission member, Mr. Cupp, have been the very ones preventing the commission from getting to work. The second reason would be that Mr. Huffman plans to pass a 4-year map in the legislature with a simple majority and no requirement for bipartisan support. Newsflash Mr. Huffman: that provision of the Ohio Constitution was made only for the event of an impasse in all of the other three methods. So far, the first method was completely ignored. With just over a week until the deadline for using the second method, it has been completely ignored. This all goes to show that Mr. Huffman and Mr. Cupp have made no apparent effort to reach a bipartisan agreement, something that is, albeit implicitly, a prerequisite for approving a 4-year map.

All I am asking, in fact demanding, is for you and your Commission colleagues to DO YOUR JOB AND GET TO WORK. There is no room for excuses, no room for finger-pointing, no room for hand wringing. It's simple: you either do your CONSTITUTIONALLY MANDATED job and work transparently to pass a fair, bipartisan map, or you don't and blatantly ignore the redistricting reforms voted on by a supermajority of Ohio voters just three years ago. Choosing the latter will inevitably result in you and your colleagues having to defend your very clearly politically motivated decisions that objectively disregard the Ohio Constitution before the Ohio Supreme Court, which will only cost the Ohio taxpayers unnecessary legal expenses and wasted time in which the commission members could be doing their normal jobs.

It took me less than 4 hours to redraw the Congressional District maps after the new census data was released. My map followed the guidelines you are supposed to be using. I think the most important goal in drawing new maps is to keep all the counties in tact as much as possible, especially the large ones. Senate President Matt Huffman,

We are less than two weeks away from the deadline for the Ohio Redistricting Commission to create and pass a bipartisan congressional district map, and there has been zero progress toward meeting that deadline. I am a proud advocate for the redistricting reforms enshrined in our state constitution, and it angers me to see the persistent failure by our leaders to meet this moment and deliver the reforms over 70% of Ohioans demanded.

All I am asking, in fact demanding, is for you and your Commission (General Assembly) colleagues to DO YOUR JOB AND GET TO WORK. There is no room for excuses, no room for finger pointing, no room for hand wringing. It's simple: you either do your job and work transparently to pass a fair, bipartisan map, or you don't. Either way, I'll remember next November.

The deadline for the Ohio Redistricting Commission to create and pass a bipartisan congressional district map, is coming up and there has been zero progress toward meeting that deadline. I am a proud advocate for the redistricting reforms in our state constitution, and it angers me to see the persistent failure to meet and deliver the reforms over 70% of Ohioans demanded. 70% the majority of our state!

I am demanding, that you and your Commission (General Assembly) colleagues to DO YOUR JOB AND GET TO WORK. There is no room for excuses. It's simple: you either do your job and work transparently to pass a fair, bipartisan map, or we will all suffer the consequences. The unequal districting will go down in history as another Ohio story. The mistake on the lake, run by people that don't believe in fair and equal elections and need to control the vote by skewing the divisions of the state. This will be your legacy. Is that how you want to go down in history? Part of the group that rigged every election in our state?

Senate President Matt Huffman,

Are we headed to court again? Is the commission going to present an illegal map again at the last minute -- again? Hold hearings across the state where you'll be inundated with testimony about the lack of fairness -- again?

Is Ohio going to have to pay the legal fees to defend a gerrymandered map again? Is there any doubt that the courts are going to side with the people and the state constitution -- when even the governor and secretary of state have said the maps are probably not legal? Unfortunately, it looks that way.

We are less than two weeks away from the deadline for the Ohio Redistricting Commission to create and pass a bipartisan congressional district map, and there has been zero progress toward meeting that deadline. Senate President Matt Huffman,

We are less than two weeks away from the deadline for the Ohio Redistricting Commission to create and pass a bipartisan congressional district map, and there has been zero progress toward meeting that deadline. I am a proud advocate for the redistricting reforms enshrined in our state constitution, and it angers me to see the persistent failure by our leaders to meet this moment and deliver the reforms over 70% of Ohioans demanded.

All I am asking, in fact demanding, is for you and your Commission (General Assembly) colleagues to DO YOUR JOB AND GET TO WORK. There is no room for excuses, no room for finger pointing, no room for hand wringing. It's simple: you either do your job and work transparently to pass a fair, bipartisan map, or you don't. Either way, I'll remember next November.

Senate President Matt Huffman,

One has to wonder whether you take your job seriously -- the job Ohio voters asked you to do several years ago and the one that you are now refusing to complete. In private industry, you'd have been fired long ago.

We are less than two weeks away from the deadline for the Ohio Redistricting Commission to create and pass a bipartisan congressional district map, and there has been zero progress toward meeting that deadline. I favor the redistricting reforms enshrined in our state constitution, and it angers me to see that you are motivated solely by self interest: namely, perpetuating your own political careers.

Never mind that 70 percent of Ohioans asked for something else.

We are asking nothing more than that you and your Commission (General Assembly) colleagues do your jobs. The time is over for excuses, finger pointing and hand wringing. It's simple: you either do your job and work transparently to pass a fair, bipartisan map, or you don't.

Think about it: This is a game that two people can play. If lawmakers in a Democrat-controlled state decided to act just as you are -- ignoring the will of the voters for fairness in drawing district lines -- then your voters in California, New York, Illinois, etc., would be disenfranchised in much the same way you are attempting to disenfranchise voters in Ohio.

I'm sure you believe your positions will have no consequences; after all, your inaction helps to perpetuate your political future. But your complacency is the figurative equivalent of kicking the can down the road; there will be a political reckoning, and it will not treat you kindly when it comes.

I must demand that DO YOUR JOB AND GET TO WORK. There is no room for excuses, no room for finger pointing, no room for hand wringing. Do your job and work transparently to pass a fair, bipartisan map.

Senate President Matt Huffman,

Dear Commission Members,

As a constituent and dedicated Girl Scout leader in the State of Ohio, I am writing today to share with you the Girl Scout Law. Every meeting I hold with my Girl Scouts we recite the Girl Scout Promise which states, "On my honor, I will try, to serve God and my country, to help people at all times and to live by the Girl Scout Law."

The Girl Scout law states, "I will do my best to be HONEST and FAIR, friendly and helpful, considerate and caring, courageous and strong, and responsible for what I say and do, and to, respect myself and others, respect authority, use resources wisely, make the world a better place and be a sister to every Girl Scout."

These are principles we instill in our youngest Girl Scouts, or Daisy Scouts, who start in KINDERGARTEN. If 5 year olds are capable of learning and living out the principles of being HONEST and FAIR, I certainly expect elected members dedicated to public service are capable of the same. We, the people of Ohio, have made it clear that we expect to see FAIR DISTRICT MAPS.

We are less than two weeks away from the deadline for the Ohio Redistricting Commission to create and pass a bipartisan congressional district map, and there has been zero progress toward meeting that deadline. I am a proud advocate for the redistricting reforms enshrined in our state constitution, and it troubles me to see the persistent failure by our leaders to meet this moment and deliver the reforms over 70% of Ohioans demanded.

All I am asking, in fact demanding, is for you and your Commission (General Assembly) colleagues to DO YOUR JOB AND GET TO WORK. There is no room for excuses, no room for finger pointing, no room for hand wringing. It's simple: you either do your job and work transparently to pass a fair, bipartisan map, or you don't. Either way, I'll remember next November.

And make no mistake, the young women I am helping to raise will not forget either, for they know what it is to be HONEST, FAIR, COURAGEOUS, STRONG, and what it means to truly SERVE ONE'S COUNTRY.

We are less than two weeks away from the deadline for the Ohio Redistricting Commission to create and pass a bipartisan congressional district map, and there has been zero progress toward meeting that deadline. I am a proud advocate for the redistricting reforms enshrined in our state constitution, and it angers me to see the persistent failure by our leaders to meet this moment and deliver the reforms over 70% of Ohioans demanded.

All I am asking, in fact demanding, is for you and your Commission (General Assembly) colleagues to DO YOUR JOB AND GET TO WORK. There is no room for excuses, no room for finger pointing, no room for hand wringing. It's simple: you either do your job and work transparently to pass a fair, bipartisan map, or you don't. Either way, I'll remember next November.

Voting is a cornerstone of democracy. You are officials chosen to represent people, and in this case specifically to make voting maps in Ohio as fair as possible. Why are you not doing this?

If you don't, you enable a short-term power grab for some people, disillusion Ohio citizens, and make Ohio a weaker democracy.

Pass a fair, bipartisan voting map!

I'm a lifelong Ohioan. I used to be proud of my state, but no more. The partisanship and corruption of public officials has made my beloved Ohio a mean and ugly place, a place where the majority has lost control to people who value power over democracy and fairness.

Over 70% of Ohioans voted to reform redistricting. We voted to change our state constitution to reflect our desire that every vote in this state count. But then, instead of making our desire a reality, something that you, as a member of the Ohio Redistricting Commission, have the power to do, you instead have found ways to manipulate the system in order to maintain the gerrymandered status quo.

I am angry. I demand that you stop stalling. It's time NOW, it was time yesterday, and the day before that, and the day before that, to create and pass a FAIR and BIPARTISAN congressional district map. Do your job or get fired. 70% of us care enough to fire you if you don't get to work.

Senate President Matt Huffman,

You and the Commission have a deadline to create and pass a bipartisan congressional district map, as is required by the redistricting reforms approved by more than 70 percent of Ohioans and now in the state Constitution.

The Commission's failures to deliver the reforms -- failure even to hold hearings and report your thinking to the public -- is discouraging and unsupportable since it is in clear disregard of the law and the public will. And to "discouraging and unsupportable" I must add "disgraceful and shameful".

So do your job. Forget excuses, finger pointing, hand wringing. Working transparently to pass a fair, bipartisan map should be at the top of your list, right now.

Voters will note and remember how you did your duty under the Ohio Constitution.

Senate President Matt Huffman,

Never in my wildest dreams or fears would I have thought that the Ohio Redistricting Commission would so brazenly and casually fail to perform the task assigned to it by the Ohio Constitution. This utter lack of respect for the voters and the Constitution is breath-taking.

I was a dedicated petition-signature gatherer in 2017. When reformers compromised with legislators in 2018, I had the unwelcome chore of persuading all of our volunteers that the reform really was the way to go. Many of them were dubious; they mistrusted any compromise. I reassured them that, no, really, this is going to work.

Clearly the doubters were right and I was wrong: there is no limit to the arrogance of our gerrymandered elected officials, who feel they can breeze right past the reforms approved by over 70 percent of Ohio voters in all counties of the state.

Do your job. Get to work. There is no room for excuses, no room for finger pointing, no room for hand wringing. It's simple: you either do your job and work transparently to pass a fair, bipartisan map, or you don't. Either way, I'll remember next November.

Senate President Matt Huffman,

We are less than two weeks away from the deadline for the Ohio Redistricting Commission to create and pass a bipartisan congressional district map, and there has been zero progress toward meeting that deadline. I am a proud advocate for the redistricting reforms enshrined in our state constitution, and it angers me to see the persistent failure by our leaders to meet this moment and deliver the reforms over 70% of Ohioans demanded.

All I am asking, in fact demanding, is for you and your Commission (General Assembly) colleagues to DO YOUR JOB AND GET TO WORK. There is no room for excuses, no room for finger pointing, no room for hand wringing. It's simple: you either do your job and work transparently to pass a fair, bipartisan map, or you don't. Either way, I'll remember next November.

I recall how we in 2018 collected signatures for the Fair Districts agenda and how the reigning party vehemently promised to negotiate for said in 2021. Both parties has regrettably gerrymandered over the years. What is different now is that the districts has become so politically manipulated, that it makes a laughing stock of democracy.
Please reset and let's start a fresh in the spirit of true democracy.

Dear Commission,
I grew up in Ohio and have lived in Ohio for the majority of my adult life. And yet I am increasingly feeling as if the state doesn't welcome people like me (moderately liberal). I am writing to underscore how important it is for our democracy that our districts be fair and that all of us feel we have a voice. I have become increasingly distressed by what I perceive as unfairness in our Ohio electoral system and the message of - we only want to give voice to half our citizens. If that is what you want to say, then keep the map the way you have it and know that I and people like me who have the means will leave the state. I say that with regret but believe me, one reason Ohio is losing population is that it not a welcome place to diverse views and apparently wants a one party system.

I am a proud advocate for the redistricting reforms enshrined in our state constitution, and it angers me to see the persistent failure by our leaders to meet this moment and deliver the reforms over 70% of Ohioans demanded.

All I am asking, in fact demanding, is for you and your Commission (General Assembly) colleagues to DO YOUR JOB AND GET TO WORK. There is no room for excuses, no room for finger pointing, no room for hand wringing. It's simple: you either do your job and work transparently to pass a fair, bipartisan map, or you don't. Either way, I'll remember next November.

Despite being only two weeks away from the deadline for the Ohio Redistricting Commission to create and pass a bipartisan congressional district map, there has been absolutely no progress in meeting that deadline.

Along with hundreds of other Ohio citizens, I worked hours and hours to advocate the redistricting reforms that are now enshrined in our state constitution. As a result I am angry that Commission members have refused to meet the redistricting requirements and the reforms demanded by over 70% of Ohioans.

I am a professor of American History, I spend my days promoting our country as the land of the free and giving the next generation hope. The United States is not perfect, we SEEK a more perfect UNION. But this UNION is built on trust of our fellow human beings, it is built on bringing ALL of US together and giving ALL of US - freedom and liberty.

We are great because we believe in equality FOR ALL. We never know who is the individual who will develop our next greatest invention or sacrifice his/her life for us. ALL of us have the right to participate in the decisions that impact our lives...that is VOTE - it was the essence of the idea of the founding of this great nation - it is what makes us unique and keeps us that way. New ideas and fresh perspectives. Keep us strong by making fair maps! Unfair maps erode the power of the state turning it over to national interests (even for local republicans!)

Ohio has the opportunity to show the nation how redistricting should work fairly and in the best interest of the citizens, not either political party. From what I've seen, you are not the people who will do the job right. I hope you surprise me, but I doubt it. A commission like this should never be comprised of politicians. Rather, the members should be reputable and respected citizens who are Democrats, Republicans, and Independents with no personal political agenda.

Senate President Matt Huffman,

We are less than two weeks away from the deadline for the Ohio Redistricting Commission to create and pass a bipartisan congressional district map, and there has been zero progress toward meeting that deadline. I am a proud advocate for the redistricting reforms enshrined in our state constitution, and it angers me to see the persistent failure by our leaders to meet this moment and deliver the reforms over 70% of Ohioans demanded.

All I am asking, in fact demanding, is for you and your Commission (General Assembly) colleagues to DO YOUR JOB AND GET TO WORK. There is no room for excuses, no room for finger pointing, no room for hand wringing. It's simple: you either do your job and work transparently to pass a fair, bipartisan map, or you don't. Either way, I'll remember next November.

I ask you as a member of the Ohio Redistricting Commission to do your job NOW. Hold meetings, obtain real public input, and draw bipartisan congressional maps that meet the October 31 deadline and are consistent with both the requirements and the spirit of the articles on redistricting in the Ohio Constitution. These requirements were enacted as the result of fair redistricting ballot measures passed by a large majority of Ohio voters in 2015 and 2018. The will and consent of the people and the redistricting requirements in the Ohio Constitution must be respected. The Commission must not ignore or pervert the redistricting requirements in the Ohio Constitution, treat the requirements as “aspirational,” or use wonky interpretations of voting preferences over the past ten years to draw district boundaries that favor one party and unjustifiably entrench its ability to win elections over time.

I expect all members of the Commission and the Ohio legislature to do their job in a fair, equitable, prompt, and transparent manner that is responsive to the clear direction of Ohio voters – both when drawing new district boundaries and responding to the lawsuits regarding the maps that were approved for the Ohio legislative districts. To do otherwise is a cynical slap in the face to the majority of the voting public in our state and a threat to our democracy.

President Matt Huffman,

Hello,

The redistricting process is so important. Ohio's new congressional district lines will shape the future of our state — and possibly all of Congress — for at least the next decade.

Ohio's constitution says the redistricting commission must draw new congressional maps by the end of October. That deadline is coming up fast, and the process shouldn't be rushed. You'll need time to hold public hearings and gather testimony on any proposed maps.

You hold a crucial role on the redistricting commission. That's why I'm asking you to get the process started today. Urge your fellow commissioners to propose maps and schedule public hearings. Don't wait until the last minute — and don't allow negotiations behind closed doors.

I'm also asking you to stand with the Equal Districts Coalition in demanding fair maps. For the past ten years, Ohioans have voted about 55% Republican, 45% Democratic. The maps should reflect how Ohioans actually vote. Don't settle for anything less.

Ohio is counting on you.

Thank You.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Hearing Outside Ohio Statehouse

COLUMBUS — Yesterday, the Equal Districts Coalition — a unified group of 30+ Ohio advocacy organizations and unions engaged in redistricting — held a People's Hearing outside the Statehouse to demand fair maps and an open, transparent congressional redistricting process.

"Ohio's Constitution is not a suggestion. It's the law. There is no excuse for repeatedly missing constitutional map deadlines," said Desiree Tims, President and CEO of Innovation Ohio. "Because they're ignoring deadlines, we can assume the Republican-led redistricting commission is drawing maps in secret behind closed doors. That is cheating. Stop cheating us."

Ohio's Republican-dominated legislature failed to meet the September 30th constitutionally-mandated deadline for congressional maps. Now, the Republican-dominated redistricting commission is poised to miss the October 31st deadline. Coalition partners, legislators, and Ohio voters rallied yesterday to demand better.

"This has become far more than an issue of partisan fighting between Democrats and Republicans. This has become the people of Ohio versus people who abuse their positions of power," said Maria Bruno, Public Policy Director at Equality Ohio. "We shouldn't be here. We should be in hearings with the redistricting commission, saying this to their faces, rather than hoping they might read an article about it later."

The Equal Districts Coalition is the largest redistricting coalition in Ohio, with over 30 member organizations. Coalition members are focused on a wide variety of issue advocacy areas, all of which are impacted by gerrymandered district maps and the resulting extremist legislation.

"We're here because we care. We care about our communities and the people who live in them, whose diversity makes them richer. We care about the issues — whether it's fighting for a better environment, for honesty in education, for access to abortion care and reproductive healthcare, for a better government, for a better economic future, for more inclusion of and protection for our communities, and for our right to vote and our democracy...we're here because we want to build a future that works for and serves all of us," said Katy Shanahan, Ohio State Director at All On The Line.

The Equal Districts Coalition is working hard to engage all Ohioans in the redistricting process. One of their main goals is to activate new and diverse communities that are traditionally left out of the map-drawing process.

"Let's be clear. no matter which party or neighborhood you belong to, you deserve adequate political representation. Without it, it's nearly impossible for minority communities — like the split Muslim community living around the largest mosque in Columbus — to advance issues that matter to them and affect their daily lives," said Whitney Siddiqi, Community Affairs Director at CAIR-Ohio.

The Republican-dominated redistricting commission and legislature have claimed that they cannot meet constitutional deadlines due to time constraints. However, this notion has been repeatedly debunked by organizations like the volunteer-led Ohio Citizens' Redistricting Commission (OCRC). The OCRC has modeled an open, transparent redistricting process for the past several months, and met all constitutional deadlines for proposed district maps.

"Since April of this year, we've had over 1,000 submitted maps. That means people like my mother — who work 12 hour shifts, 6 days a week — got off work and figured out how to use a tool online to draw where their church was, where their grocery store was, where their community was...and they put these maps out on time, according to the Constitution. So I stand here wondering: why are the people in this Statehouse not able to do the same?" asked Prentiss Haney, Co-Executive Director of the Ohio Organizing Collaborative, which co-sponsored the OCRC.

"We're not here to ask for much, just that we stop being cheated. We're asking for congressional maps that reflect Ohio's partisan balance, allow for pathways to real representation for communities of color, and keep our communities together. We want fair maps," said Kobie Christian, Communications Director at For Our Future Ohio.

The Equal Districts coalition will also hold several virtual People's Hearings throughout the remainder of October. Ohioans are encouraged to attend to make their voices heard.

Senator, I am appalled at the lengths the Republicans went to gerrymander the new district map that they approved for four years and with you as a member of the Commission to have voted for it. This map falls far below what's considered to be fair. This map lets politiciations choose their voters, rather than the other way around. The new maps do not even come close to reflecting actual voters in the state and gives the Ohio GOP a veto-proof majority to ram through their agenda no matter what Ohioans want. These maps are offensive to the Ohioans who voted for fair representation and a transparent redistricting process - not once but twice. By doing this you are silencing voters' voices and their constitutional right to participate in our democracy. This is just more of the GOP power grab If you can't win legitimately then you change the field to create a sure thing regardless of what the real voter percentage is. I would like to hear from you with an explanation of how you feel what you voted for is fair to ALL voters of Ohio

Senate President Matt Huffman,

Dear Ohio Redistricting Commission Member,

Millions of Ohioans voted to reform the redistricting process for General Assembly districts in 2015. At the core of the constitutional amendment's reforms was a commitment to transparency at all stages of the process, and that is why I write to you today.

The members of Ohio Redistricting Commission need to stand with the millions of Ohioans who voted for fairness and transparency, and release a set schedule of public hearings now - before any more work of the Commission is complete. By releasing a set schedule of hearings, you will send a message to all Ohioans that you will honor your oath of office to uphold, not only the letter of the redistricting reform law, but also the spirit of the law.

The people of Ohio deserve and expect transparency throughout the redistricting processes. That means a set schedule of hearings so Ohioans can adequately plan to attend Commission meetings, deliberate over proposed maps, submit testimony, and most importantly - know when a possible vote is forthcoming.

The people of Ohio cannot be left in the dark.

President Matt Huffman,

Hello,

When Ohio voters overwhelmingly approved Issue 1 in 2018, they expected a more fair and open process that would create more representative congressional districts in the state. The results so far in 2021 seem to be very much more of the same old nonsense that caused voters to overwhelmingly approve that issue in 2018. The people of Ohio deserve better than this.

The redistricting process is so important. Ohio's new congressional district lines will shape the future of our state — and possibly all of Congress — for at least the next decade.

Ohio's constitution says the redistricting commission must draw new congressional maps by the end of October. That deadline is coming up fast, and the process shouldn't be rushed. You'll need time to hold public hearings and gather testimony on any proposed maps.

You hold a crucial role on the redistricting commission. That's why I'm asking you to get the process started today. Urge your fellow commissioners to propose maps and schedule public hearings. Don't wait until the last minute — and don't allow negotiations behind closed doors.

New Gerrymandering Video Highlights Ohio, Equal Districts Partners

COLUMBUS — The national organization More Perfect Union has released a video highlighting Ohio's rigged congressional districts and the ways Republican mapmakers have ignored Ohio's Constitution throughout the current process. Several Equal Districts Coalition partners are prominently featured in the video.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

The video begins with Mindy Nagel standing outside her home in Cincinnati, which is split in half by two congressional districts under current maps.

"My house is divided into two districts," Nagel explains. "...the bedrooms on this side of the house are all in District 2, technically. And the kitchen, garage, living room, all that, are in District 1..."

The video then features Equal Districts Coalition partner Katy Shanahan, Ohio State Director for All On The Line. Shanahan explains how the Republican-dominated legislature and redistricting commission have repeatedly ignored Ohio's Constitution throughout the ongoing redistricting process.

"The [Statehouse] maps that the Republican commissioners [drew]...are heavily partisan gerrymandered to favor Republicans," Shanahan states. "So even though, across the last decade, Republicans have only won 54% of our vote, they will occupy 70% of our legislative seats under these new maps."

The video also features Equal Districts Coalition partner Callia Tellez, Environmental Policy Fellow with the Ohio Environmental Council. Tellez describes how rigged district lines impact environmental and health outcomes for communities of color.

"Low-income communities of color are most likely to be the frontline communities to pollution and the impacts of climate change. And these communities have the least political representation," Tellez explains.

As congressional redistricting stalls, the Equal Districts Coalition is continuing its work to engage all Ohioans in the process. Coalition members are lifting up real stories to show Ohioans how redistricting directly impacts their lives. They're also activating new, diverse communities that are traditionally left out of the map-drawing process. Increased public awareness and engagement will help push mapmakers to draw fair, representative, constitutional district maps.

Sen. Huffman,
Statements like the below drive rational Republicans out of the party. They indicate a disconnect from reality that is hurting your perception with Ohio voters. COLUMBUS— Faced with more than a four-month delay in critical U.S. Census data, the Ohio Redistricting Commission moved forward today with a four-year map plan for the Ohio General Assembly's legislative districts.

"These house and senate maps will be in place for the next four years, and represent an important first step towards approving the next map that will complete the decade," said commission member and Senate President Matt Huffman.

Senator Huffman was the primary author of the constitutional amendment voters approved in 2015 which changed the process, establishing strong bipartisan standards designed to keep communities and counties together.

The seven-member commission consists of the Governor, Auditor, Secretary of State and four members of the General Assembly, two from each party. Despite a majority vote of 5-2, both democrats voted against the plan, which under the new rules prevents a ten-year map from becoming law.

"I'm convinced we could've reached a ten-year map," said Huffman, "However, special interests pressured democrats to not support it, asking voters to extend the deadline to accomplish that."

The commission traveled the state, holding more than a dozen hearings for the public to provide input on the proposed maps.

"Make no mistake, special interests want to get what they can't win at the polls," said Huffman. "So-called representational fairness is just another way to describe gerrymandering, and these groups need to remember districts are won with quality candidates, issues and campaigns, not on predetermined outcomes based on a false premise of letting special interests from Washington D.C. define what is fair."

I was extremely disappointed to see the Ohio Redistricting Commission approve highly partisan legislative districts (along party lines) that do not reflect the will of the voters as expressed in the most recent constitutional amendment.

Throughout the redistricting process, it was extremely clear that the majority was not interested in respecting the will of the voters, but merely in finding ways to preserve their outsized influence. While this time around it was Republicans in the majority, I know our state has a history of the party in power looking to institutionalize their advantage. Neither party is right to do this when they hold the pen.

It's very disappointing to see that we missed our chance again. Given the stark political divisions we see, competitive districts (that don't resemble fantastical puzzle pieces) would have been a step in the right direction. Unfortunately, it looks like we're doomed to more of the same. We can and should do better for ourselves and for future generations. I believe Ohio could be a leader, if we only chose to do the right thing.

Please strive to do better.

Dear Sirs and Madam,

Your email addresses were supplied by The Dispatch Editorial Board, within an article/editorial that addressed the look, feel, smell, and taste of the Ohio Redistricting Commission and the outcome of its recent work and public hearings.

As a lawyer I know better than to react to and opine upon something like this recently concluded and moribund process on the basis of press clippings and blog spots. Regardless, The Ohio Supreme Court will now presumably sort things out. I still have faith in the Court, notwithstanding the labels affixed to the members of the Court in terms of political or cultural persuasion.

However, I am motivated to say to you that this redistricting episode, including the reporting about the Commission and the process, sheds additional, unwanted light on the State of Ohio. Whether or not the Commission is "vindicated" by the Ohio Supreme Court, these events and apparent outcome parallel, during my lifetime (which began in the fifties), the ongoing economic and cultural demise of Ohio.

I was a keen reader of the novel "Crooked River Burning" by Ohio native Mark Winegardner. While a work of fiction, the book begins, chronologically, in Cleveland in the mid-fifties and chronicles Cleveland's place as the fourth or fifth largest city in the U.S. The rest, as the book attests to a certain point on the historical calendar, is history. Correspondingly, one of the greatest laments of my adult lifetime is witnessing the various drip, drip, drips of Ohio's lifeblood, including personal and corporate migration out of state, gross failings of once accomplished urban public school systems, and "economic development" professed by public and private leaders under the mantle of hope that steel, auto and rubber would somehow return to Ohio cities in meaningful ways. Even tobacco or opioid settlement money was/is not enough to right the ship (further, leave it to the plaintiffs' bar to "rectify" matters that seemed beyond the influence or control of government—hey they have the focus, motivation, resources and money).

For your information, I grew up in Cleveland, lived in Columbus from 1980 – 1992, lived in Akron from 1993 – 2020, and now live in Columbus. My time in Cleveland during law school in the late 1970's, when the wheels came completely off of city government led by Dennis Kucinich, was a low point in my Ohio life.

I was also a long-time Ohio Assistant Attorney General and have been counsel of record in three cases involving the Ohio Constitutional prescriptions that "no bill shall contain more than one subject" and to paraphrase, that each proposed bill receive three readings each in the Ohio House and Senate. Another such lawsuit was recently filed (NAACP, Democrats file lawsuit over new "stand your ground" law - Ohio Capital Journal). As

The Ohio Capital Journal reported of the lawsuit, "Spokesmen for House Speaker Bob Cupp, R-Lima, and Senate President Matt Huffman, R-Lima, who control the floors of their chambers, did not respond to inquiries." While these one-subject lawsuits are not in the same vein as "redistricting", to me both matters are reflective of elected officials being seemingly tone-deaf to their constituents' and critics' comments and interests, apathetic, or happily ignorant/willfully uninformed. The cynical might say that fundraising and doing end-arounds term limits are full time jobs—who has time to truly discern and carry out the will of the majority of the electorate (and I mean all Ohio voters)?

We will see what the Ohio Supreme Court does with this case. Win or lose (depending on your side), the Commission's behavior and resulting lawsuit will constitute additional rationales for people to move to greener pastures, or at best, reconcile themselves to the fact that Ohio is a nice "bedroom state" that is not really in the game any more and has not been for most of the last sixty years.

The Senate Democrats have asked to see the data for my redistricting proposal. I want to give you this before I send it to them. (You can access it yourself by following the link in the references.) At the very least, you'll want to read the abstract and the conclusion. I've been at this for over a month and I assure you the numbers are solid and the arguments are airtight. Also, I will demolish the OCRC's map like I did the Senate Democrats' if you ask me to... I hadn't looked at it until today.

FYI, I will be forwarding this to other members of the commission unless I hear from you by the end of the business day.

Dear Redistricting Commission Member,

The fact that the General Assembly not only failed to adopt a new Congressional district map by the September 30 deadline dictated by the Ohio Constitution but also made no effort to do so has me very concerned. The Congressional redistricting process now lays in the hands of the very commission--your commission--that, in an extreme dereliction of duty, failed to follow the very rules that govern the commission function while drawing the General Assembly maps by failing to comply with both the letter and intent of reforms overwhelmingly supported by Ohio voters. Assuming you and your fellow commission members are not helplessly clueless (honestly, I find this a bit of a stretch for some on the commission after I closely followed the Statehouse redistricting process), you certainly knew that, due to the lack of action by the General Assembly to adopt a Congressional map, you would be given that very task. It has now been four whole days since the task of Congressional redistricting has officially been placed in your hands. In that time, the public has heard no word from the commission regarding your plans for how this process will proceed or where the commission stands in the process. There are only 27 days left for the commission to adopt a map before this process ultimately ends as the General Assembly redistricting did last month. Unfortunately, in that process, this commission displayed clearly to the public an unwillingness to work together to uphold both the letter and intent of redistricting reforms supported by voters. This is an opportunity for this commission to show the people of Ohio that this commission isn't a circus or a mirage. I am calling on this commission to work together and, just as importantly, transparently, so the public can understand the decisions that are being made and the rationale behind them. There is absolutely no excuse for why there has been no statement made by the commission. There is no reason there have been no public hearings scheduled. There is frankly no explanation for why the commission has yet to release a draft map to the public. The Senate Democratic Caucus as well as numerous interested parties have all been able to release draft plans, many with extensive analyses that identify strengths and weaknesses compared to constitutional requirements, the current Congressional map, and drafts submitted by others. The argument that the commission, with far more resources than many of the interested parties that have submitted maps, has been unable to do this is objectively false. The commission has made a deliberate effort not to do its job because delaying this process will stand to benefit the political careers of the majority party members of this commission. Newsflash: the importance of preserving your career is negligible when compared with preserving the Ohio Constitution and our democracy.

I urge the commission to get to work yesterday.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Respectfully,

Andrew Green

Ohio Secretary of State Week in Review

For the Week Ending October 1, 2021

National Voter Registration Day

Every fourth Tuesday in September, organizations around the country remind Americans to register to make their voice heard and vote in the November election. This past Tuesday in Ohio was a great success thanks to everyone who helped spread the word, especially the boards of elections and community partners throughout the state! 6,718 Ohioans registered or updated their registration on the online voter registration website adding to the nearly 8 million other Ohioans who are currently registered to vote.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

To encourage the next generation to vote on issues and candidates that may affect the rest of their lives, the Secretary visited with students at Dublin Coffman High School to remind them that their voices matter, and that they can make a real impact on their community. The first step is to register to vote.

Similarly, the Secretary discussed Ohio's Youth at the Booth program, whereby 17-year-old students can serve as poll workers in Ohio elections. In addition to getting paid for their service, students can also receive community service hours, extra credit in school, and a boost to their college applications.

Remind any young adults you know why it's important to vote!

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

To spread the word about the upcoming elections, Secretary LaRose was happy to join Columbus news channel NBC4 from the road on Tuesday to remind Ohio to get registered to vote at VoteOhio.gov before October 4th!

Back in Akron

The Secretary was proud to return to his roots in the Akron area to learn what improvements are being made in the area and to discuss what his office is doing for local businesses and the upcoming election. The day started with a local and county leadership meeting at the Akron Zoo; the Secretary was once a volunteer at the Zoo and it is a family favorite of his girls. He continues to support the Zoo for its educational value and economic benefits in the region.

The Secretary then visited with student leaders at the University of Akron to discuss how students can have an impact on local elections and business growth in the region through internships and job placement programs. University of Akron President Dr. Gary Miller and Director of Career Services Laura Carey welcomed the Secretary.

Finally, the Secretary was able to sit down with the new Akron Fraternal Order of Police President Clay Cozart to learn about law enforcement improvements in the region and how public servants can continue to work collaboratively to keep Ohio safe. LaRose continues to stand with Ohio's police officers in support their critical mission.

Fellowship in the Outdoors

A few years ago, the Secretary came up with the idea to take community leaders on a trip to experience our beautiful Cuyahoga River and brainstorm on ideas to make Ohio an even better place to live, work, and vote. The tradition continued this week marking the fifth anniversary of Kayaking the Cuyahoga - Community Leaders River Trip.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Important Election Dates & Reminders:

- October 4: Deadline for voter registration for the November 2 general election
- October 5: Early voting starts
- November 2: Election Day

Additional Meetings

On a trip to Southwest Ohio early in the week, the Secretary stopped by the Small Business Development Center at UC Clermont College in Clermont County to meet with local business owners who have utilized the resources provided by the Small Business Development Center and the Secretary's office when starting their business.

The Secretary was excited to stop by the Seneca County Board of Elections to learn about their preparations for early voting starting next week. Fair and accurate elections requires teams of dedicated professionals who put aside partisan differences for their mission, just like those at Seneca County and Ohio's other 87 county boards of elections.

While in Tiffin, the Secretary stopped by the Heartbeat Hope Medical Center to learn about their pregnancy support work and discuss the Ohio Safe at Home program for survivors of abuse.

If interested in interviewing Secretary LaRose, please contact Rob Nichols at RNichols@OhioSoS.gov or 330-760-7582.

Sen. Huffman:
I just read an article that stated Governor DeWine, Auditor Keith Faber and Secretary of State Frank LaRose are considering a redistricting plan for the state of Ohio that would eliminate Jim Jordan - my Congressman - and favor democrats!! Can this be true??

You are all Republicans and should be standing together to keep Ohio a conservative state!! We need more Congressmen like Jim Jordan, not less!! Why favor the democrats? They would NOT return the favor!

One of the elements in the article stated that possibly DeWine, Faber and LaRose want to oust Trump supporters. If that is the basis then you need to hear from those of us who support President Trump as well as Congressman Jordan!

If a position needs to be eliminated, try to pick a democrat that is hurting our state like Joyce Beatty or Marcy Kaptur. Beatty is the President of the Black Caucus and denied admittance to the Black Caucus the freshman black Congressman from Florida! She also supported the Texas democrats who fled to Washington, DC to avoid voting on the election reform act. Not a good fit for Ohio!

I need to hear from you on this! Email is fine.

Just read an article regarding Governor DeWine's new redistricting ploy. Seems it will eliminate Jim Jordan's seat in Congress. I'm writing to you to let you know, redistricting for political reasons needs to stop. I'm an independent voter, so believe you vote for the person not the party. Jim Jordan has done a fantastic job for us. He doesn't deserve this type of vindictiveness and neither do your voters.

The article is quoted below:

This so-called "Republican" is now secretly working to secure Nancy Pelosi's majority in the House by revamping his state's map and eliminating America First Congressman Jim Jordan's seat.

Breitbart reported that Ohio Gov. Mike DeWine, state auditor Keith Faber, and Secretary of State Frank LaRose are considering offering and adopting a redistricting map ahead of the 2022 midterm elections that would be overly beneficial and lopsided toward helping Democrats retain their U.S. House majority, Breitbart News has learned.

STOP THIS REDISTRICTING ACTION NOW!

Hello,

Per our state Constitution, the first congressional map deadline is Thursday, September 30th. It's the state legislature's duty to present maps by this date.

However, as far as the public has seen, the legislature has not been working on any draft congressional maps.

Do you plan to purposefully ignore your constitutional duties?

You have the power to get Ohio's congressional redistricting process started. There is still time to meet the deadline. It's past time to get to work.

Thank You.

Hello,

Today is the day to take action Cupp and Huffman to insure a congressional redistricting map like the citizens all over Ohio want! A fair one not one that you and the GOP want to your standards of win at all cost and the constitution of the United States and Ohio be damned. That is not the way any democracy works and if you two don't like it go to China or Russia. Two place Drumpf is buddies with. See how you like to live there. Our democracy is precious and you two are not helping it you are destroying it which makes you two republicans traitors in any parties book. We Ohioians are watching you two and waiting to see what kind of morals and supposed christian values you model.

I support the efforts of the Fair Districts Ohio organization to get Ohio legislative and congressional districts drawn that allow all Ohio voters to be fairly represented. My suggestion is that you take the district boundaries that the winner(s) of their fair districts contest developed and use those for the maps to set the districts for the next 10 years. Looking at the Ohio legislature boundaries reveals some major instances where compactness was ignored. I was disappointed in those efforts and want you to take the criticism that has accompanied those maps to work harder to propose a fairer congressional map.

It is so important that we get our new map in place. I am counting on you to get this done in time for the deadline. Many people are needing to see that you are doing the work we have entrusted you with.

Per our state Constitution, the first congressional map deadline is Thursday, September 30th. It's the state legislature's duty to present maps by this date.

However, as far as the public has seen, the legislature has not been working on any draft congressional maps.

Do you plan to purposefully ignore your constitutional duties?

You have the power to get Ohio's congressional redistricting process started. There is still time to meet the deadline. It's past time to get to work.

Thank You.

President Matt Huffman,

Hello,

Per our state Constitution, the first congressional map deadline is Thursday, September 30th. It's the state legislature's duty to present maps by this date.

However, as far as the public has seen, the legislature has not been working on any draft congressional maps.

Do you plan to purposefully ignore your constitutional duties?

You have the power to get Ohio's congressional redistricting process started. There is still time to meet the deadline. It's past time to get to work.

Thank You.

President Matt Huffman,

Hello,

Democracy nationwide is at risk on a number of fronts, one of the greatest being the assault of gerrymandering - a particularly destructive tool in our computer age.

Per our state Constitution, the first congressional map deadline is Thursday, September 30th. It's the state legislature's duty to present maps by this date.

However, as far as the public has seen, the legislature has not been working on any draft congressional maps.

Do you plan to purposefully ignore your constitutional duties?

Please place American democracy and Ohio's constituents above your Party. You have the power to get Ohio's congressional redistricting process started. There is still time to meet the deadline. It's past time to get to work.

Many of us are counting on your efforts toward a democracy-oriented new map of voting districts. Many of us are watching.

President Matt Huffman,

Hello,

Forgive my pessimism, but it appears that there will be no hearings, or vote on a proposed Congressional map by September 30, the deadline set in the Ohio Constitution. As I sit here on September 29, the chances of an actual map are waning, unless you are planning another "midnight special."

Are we to sit through another performance, by President Huffman, in which after openly defying the inconvenient provisions against gerrymandering in the Ohio Constitution, he boldly asserts, with a straight face, that the majority party's production of another gerrymandered map not only complies with the Constitution, but that all other efforts fail the Constitutional test?

In a barrage of disingenuous claims accompanying the state legislative maps, my favorite was using the percentage of statewide elections won by Republican candidates as a means of calculating proportional representation. By that logic, if Republican candidates won 100% statewide elections by margins of 50.1% to 49.9%, 100% of the state Senate and House districts would be drawn to favor Republicans, according to Title XI, Section 6 b of the Ohio Constitution. No one really believes that is what section 6 b says, including President Huffman and Speaker Cupp.

Do you plan to purposefully ignore your constitutional duties, again as hundreds of Ohio Citizens spend days and hours preparing testimony based on carefully researched facts and good faith statements on how gerrymandering has impacted their lives? Is this all a charade to roll the dice, get grossly gerrymandered maps before the Ohio Supreme Court and see how much the Republican Party can get away with.

You have the power to get Ohio's congressional redistricting process started. There is still time to change the road you are on, meet the deadline and show a modicum of good faith.

Thank You.

Dear Sir:

You surely know that our state Constitution requires a congressional district map to be unveiled by Thursday, September 30th, which is tomorrow. The state legislature thus has a firm duty to present maps by this date.

I find it highly regrettable, to put it mildly, that the public has seen no evidence of our legislature preparing to unveil the draft congressional maps.

Please take this process seriously. You must immediately get congressional redistricting underway. Please inform your colleagues, it's past time to get to work.

Not only do we need to see maps by tomorrow, those maps need to be fair and not gerrymandered to the point that Ohioans beliefs and stances aren't properly represented in the Legislature, like our current maps.

Do you plan to purposefully ignore your constitutional duties?

You have the power to get Ohio's congressional redistricting process started. There is still time to meet the deadline. It's past time to get to work.

President Matt Huffman,

Hello,

Per our state Constitution, the first congressional map deadline is Thursday, September 30th. It's the state legislature's duty to present maps by this date.

However, as far as the public has seen, the legislature has not been working on any draft congressional maps.

Do you plan to purposefully ignore your constitutional duties?

You have the power to get Ohio's congressional redistricting process started. There is still time to meet the deadline. It's past time to get to work.

Thank You.

Hello,

Per our state Constitution, the first congressional map deadline is Thursday, September 30th. It's the state legislature's duty to present maps by this date. Why are you being jerks?

However, as far as the public has seen, the legislature has not been working on any draft congressional maps. It's a total scam so far and you ought to be concerned should the shoe be on the other foot in the future.

Do you plan to purposefully ignore your constitutional duties? Obviously you do, but this is going to animate more people in Ohio to throw your asses out of office, as you think it's a way to maintain power. Think again.

You have the power to get Ohio's congressional redistricting process started. There is still time to meet the deadline. It's past time to get to work.

Re: Ohio Redistricting

Wow. Just like Lucy pulling the football away from Charlie Brown at the last minute, ‘our’ Ohio Legislature has once again proven that that are not really ‘our’ Ohio Legislature, but the legislature of whichever party is in control. Never mind the constitutional amendments overwhelming approved by the people – ahem, that would be US, the residents of Ohio. Never mind the possibility of being able to cooperate and come to reasonable distribution of districts. Never mind the 71% of Ohioans who voted for a fairer process for drawing legislative districts. (I don’t know how you all came up with the ’62-37’ advantage in the House and the ’23-10’ majority in the Senate – You did graduate from at least high school, right?
I don’t have a copy of the oath of office you took when you were sworn in as an Ohio Legislator but I would be very surprised if it didn’t suggest that you were working for the PEOPLE of Ohio and not YOUR POLITICAL PARTY. If for nothing else but grins and giggles, PLEASE try to get serious about this process and work together to draw up reasonable, fair, and even constitutional districts that reflect the will of the PEOPLE of OHIO. You remember US, right? The ones who pay your salaries and benefits and voted you into office? The very same ones who can vote you out of office, the sooner the better.

To Senate President Matt Huffman and the Ohio Redistricting Commission Members,

As a concerned citizen of Ohio, the recently adopted map of Ohio Senate and House districts comes across as completely partisan, ignoring the constitutional amendment of fair redistricting overwhelmingly adopted by Ohio voters.

With Republicans voting on a redistricting map that entrenches a Republican veto-proof supermajority in both chambers, the obvious partisan gerrymandering also disregards the requirements of Article XI of the Ohio Constitution.

Both the voters and the Court directed districts not be drawn to favor a political party, meaning the distribution of seats should correspond closely to the statewide preferences of the voters of Ohio. By all accounts (other than the Republican commission members) that has not been done. And not because it wasn't easy to do. Several balanced redistricting maps were submitted, and subsequently ignored.

Despite the slight tilt of Ohio voters towards Republicans, if the only way Republicans can ensure their survival is by ignoring the fairness of redistricting mandated by the voters, this party is showing its desperation. It shows you don't believe your ideas alone will get your party members elected.

Please adopt a fair and balanced redistricting map and truly leave it up to the voters to determined the future Ohio House and Senate members.

I am very disappointed with your actions regarding a new redistricting map for Ohio. It looks like none of you wanted to work on it and you just passed on it. 70% of the voters of Ohio wanted a new fair map that had a lot of care put into its formation. I believe you failed your charge to accomplish that. you certainly are not representing the citizens who elected you. Use the map that won the Common cause competition. It is fair and a lot of work was put into it unlike yours.

Dear Sen. Huffman:

Perhaps it is too late to repair the damage that you, the governor, the secretary of state, and the auditor have done by giving your approval to a partisan map which favors your own party heavily--more so than the statistics for the past have shown is "normal". You all admitted that it was an unfair bill, yet you signed on for it for four years.

The voters have voted TWICE for a plan which would more fairly and logically separate communities, counties, etc., into electoral blocks. It appears that you have acted AGAINST the will of the people. Why did you not, with integrity, say, "We need to fix this so that we comply with the Ohio Constitution" ? Even with the late census data, your commission could have been working and negotiating ahead of the deadline. Fairer maps were even presented to you, but you chose to ignore them.

Fair maps would be in the best interest of both parties. After all, by your actions you have allowed your party to choose our candidate, and have negated the vote of the people. IS THIS NOT A DEMOCRACY? A NATION OF THE PEOPLE, BY THE PEOPLE, FOR THE PEOPLE?

Citizens are watching! You cannot expect the votes of even your own party when you act against the will of the people.

Please make this wrong right while there is still time!!!!

Sincerely,

Mr. & Mrs. Richard Hoover

I read your Redistricting column in today's Dayton Daily News. Why are you patting yourselves on the back over this bad-faith exercise in extending a middle finger to the citizens of this state?

Why did you lie about the Senate District (5) that contains Dayton? You said, "For the first time in decades, the Senate district that contains Dayton remains entirely within Montgomery County. This was a request from Democrats." It certainly does NOT reside completely in Montgomery County now, and even less so with the "new map." You have attached Dayton, Trotwood, and the northern communities in Montgomery County to Preble County, Miami County, half of Darke County, and part of Butler County, and the map on the page clearly shows this. And yet here you are, with a straight face, saying that “the Democrats asked for this?” Come on, Ohio citizens can read maps. I even sent an email to Secretary of State LaRose admonishing the Commission for what you all have done with Dayton, but have received no response to date.

Why do you continue to rail against "special interests" when the majority of the testimony at these hearings were from individual Ohio citizens who know "unfair" when they see it? I attended two hearings, heard the excuses from the Commission, and heard the testimony that answered and overcame those excuses. A lot of time and effort was put into submitting maps, examining them online, preparing testimony, taking time off from work to travel to and from the hearings, and spending hour sitting through the testimony of others. After all of that, did you, for one second, consider the merits of any of the other submitted maps over the Republican-drawn map?

How are you calling efforts to fix gerrymandering, "gerrymandering?" You know what happened in 2011, THAT was gerrymandering. So, if your own party draws safe districts and dilutes the voices of minorities and dissenters, that is "geography." If people complain and ask for representational fairness, that is "gerrymandering." Fascinating.

Enough with carrying on against "special interest" groups. Apparently, anything and anyone opposing entrenched power that disenfranchises Ohio citizens is a "special interest," to be publicly vilified and ignored.

And, enough with the self-congratulations, if you had done this for a private business, you would either be fired or see your contract terminated.

President Huffman,

Early voting starts on October 5th for the November 2nd election and local Boards of Elections are already gearing up to host voters. With early voting beginning 28 days before the election, Ohio leads the nation in accessibility, including weekend and evening opportunities to cast a ballot.

Ohio balances our level of accessibility with strong security measures, ensuring that our elections remain safe and voters have confidence in the accuracy of results. Each voting machine in Ohio goes through logic and accuracy testing and is certified by a bipartisan team at the federal and state levels before it can be used in an election.

For a list of early voting hours, polling locations, and other information visit https://www.ohiosos.gov/elections/voters/toolkit/early-voting/.

Hello all:

Obviously none of you can pay attention to the voters telling you twice in the last 6 years that we did not want gerrymandered districts in the future (about 70% of us twice voted to change this). And Mr. Huffman, we can indeed see through your obvious attempts to have republicans cling to an outsized majority in the Ohio legislature (we are not being told an inaccurate description of the situation). All of you obviously think we are all too stupid to see what you have done and are doing.

In the last several years, statewide races in Ohio fall within a 55-45% Rep/Dem split, but somehow districts consistently coming out 70/30% are representative? In what universe?

Of course, we should expect this from republicans, from the proof of the ridiculous things that regularly come out of our state legislature. Governors cannot declare state health emergencies (only killing off your own supporters), heart beat bills (there is no heart at 6 weeks of gestation, and anyways, could you at least be consistent about my body, my choice, like in vaccine mandates?), relentless tax cuts to the wealthy so we can be without any state services, giving what little state tax money there is for education to totally unregulated private schools, and trying as hard as you can to keep us from having any progress on renewable energy in the state.

I am so tired of being “represented” by the “Know Nothings” in our state legislature. And it seems your number one goal for our state is to keep us in the Know Nothing category until you kill off every single one of your troglodyte (which, by the way means backwards, stupid, willfully ignorant) supporters.

I hate all of you.

It is incredibly disappointing that the redistricting committee has failed in their duty to the citizens of the State of Ohio. The voters were very clear that we wanted a fairer process for drawing up legislative districts. How can you justify not delivering upon this mandate? The answer is that you care more about your party and your own political ambitions than you do for your constituents. You had the opportunity to put State above party and you failed. And Ohio is worse off because of it. You should be ashamed.

Tough Times for Democrats Ahead As America Wakes Up

September 26, 2021

Democrats Back to Tax & Spend Policies: Democrats at the national and state level are trying to jam through MORE debt, MORE spending, MORE taxes and OPEN borders... and Americans are starting to see through the "moderate" spin the Biden Democrats tried to sell the American voter.

The Progressive Left of the Democrat Party is running the agenda and they are looking to spend TRILLIONS of taxpayer's dollars through deficit financing while leaving the debt to our children and grandchildren. Their policies are way out of the mainstream and polling is starting to reflect that.

Democrats are in COMPLETE control of the Federal Government and they are pushing policies from Critical Race Theory to Open Borders, not to mention partisan political pork to their friends at every level. Horrible public policy and voters are starting to pay attention.

Voters are looking for a "check" on the Progressive Liberals & voting Republican to have a divided government to force compromise makes sense for most.

Michigan Republican Mackinac Leadership Conference: Once again, thousands of Republicans, primarily from Michigan but also from around the country, gathered on Mackinac Island. Speakers included Senator Ted Cruz (TX), Governor Kristi Noem (SD), Governor Pete Rickets (NE), Kentucky Attorney General Daniel Cameron, Congresswoman

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Nacy Mace, as well as Michigan's own RNC Chairwoman Ronna McDaniel and many others.

The bi-annual conference always fires up the troops, is normally attended by presidential want-to-be's, and kicks off the Michigan election cycle to win the Governor's Mansion. This year did not disappoint.

Friday night's keynote speech by Senator Ted Cruz fired up the troops and had folks on their feet several different times. He spoke the truth and promised a "revival" was on its way!

With Biden's disastrous polling numbers, particularly in Michigan, Republicans are excited to win back the Governorship and potentially increase our Congressional delegation (pending reapportionment).

I attended my first Republican Mackinac Leadership Conference in 1979 and find each and every one exciting, invigorating, and a great networking experience with old friends and new!

Open Borders: Biden's Open Border policy is a disaster. Democrats are ignoring the crisis they are creating by allowing anyone and everyone to come through their open boarder. No vaccines, no COVID tests, no terrorist checks...how can they...there is no plan, no effort, no wall.

The economic impact on local schools, communities, and our own unemployed and/or poor will have MORE resources diverted away for a border policy that is out of control.

From the Tax Foundation: Under the House Democrat's reconciliation plan, the top tax rate on pass-through business income would exceed 50% in most states:

61.2% NY
59.7% CA
58.2% NJ
57.4% HI
57.1% DC
57.0% OR
56.3% MN
55.4% MD
55.2% VT
54.6% KS
54.1% OH
54.1% WI
53.9% KY
53.6% IA
53.6% ME
53.4% CT
53.3% PA

See the article below...and their friends will still get enough tax breaks to pay very little. This is more bad public policy the average American will have to pay for.

Arizona Audit is Done: The preliminary report is done and the audit shows Biden actually gained a few more votes from Maricopa County audit. However, the audit also pointed out a number of discrepancies and procedural violations that need to be fixed going forward to ensure accurate and fair elections. Read the report for yourselves...a link is provided below.

Biden, Blinken failing – weak, feckless leadership creating series of disasters, hurting US

These catastrophes are not acts of God; they are horrors resulting from foolish policies badly enacted.

The Biden White House is in free fall. The president's approval ratings continue to slide and will likely get worse as Americans digest the disasters of recent days and put the blame squarely where it belongs – on Joe Biden.

When we piece together the killing of innocents in Afghanistan, the tens of thousands of unvaccinated Haitians illegally entering our country, the insulting treatment of France, this country's first ally, and the FDA's smackdown of the president's coronavirus booster plan, we conclude that our country is being run by an arrogant man of modest capabilities who has surrounded himself with mediocre talent.

These catastrophes are not lightning strikes or other acts of God; these are horrors resulting from foolish policies badly enacted. Joe Biden has brought every one of these mishaps on himself.

Biden hopes it will all blow over, allowing him to get back to the more important business of "transforming" our country, but putting Afghanistan in the rear-view mirror will be difficult. Weekly if not daily reports of Taliban atrocities will remind us of Biden's feckless determination, against the advice of his military, to hastily exit the country.

What will certainly not blow over is the growing awareness of Biden's weakness. The president knows he is not a smart man.

The truth behind the Texas bridge migrants

While the president took a long weekend relaxing at the beach in Delaware, another self-imposed crisis blew up in his face.

The migrant shantytown under a concrete overpass in Del Rio, Texas, had ballooned to 15,000 souls, mainly Haitians. They were running out of food and water amid dangerously unsanitary conditions. With a pipeline of hundreds more flooding across the Rio Grande from Mexico every day, a humanitarian disaster was unfolding and the media were starting to pay attention.

On Wednesday, 9,000 had arrived. By Saturday, 6,000 more had crossed the river with no impediment. The border was wide open. There wasn't even a sign to stop them.

They set up camp in the shade under the International Bridge and soon had overwhelmed the port-a-potties provided by authorities. They were sleeping on the ground under rough tents fashioned from sticks and trash bags, washing their clothes in the river.

Vote 'no' on infrastructure

As the House Republicans consider their next step concerning the “infrastructure” legislation on which they may be voting next week (depending on the whims of House Speaker Nancy Pelosi), they need to keep a few things in mind.

Less than 10% of 'bipartisan' bill dedicated to roads and bridges

As the House Republicans consider their next step concerning the “infrastructure” legislation on which they may be voting next week (depending on the whims of House Speaker Nancy Pelosi), they need to keep a few things in mind.

There are plenty of reasons not to like the non-infrastructure legislation. The primary reason is that it is not about infrastructure. Less than 10% of its spending is dedicated to roads and bridges. That may seem crazy in a world where everything is infrastructure, but it’s true.

The legislation creates a foundation for a tax on miles driven. Such a tax will eventually be enforced by onboard computers automatically reporting to the government how many miles you’ve driven and probably where you’ve gone. It’s possible that at some point, the government may simply be able to shut down your car for whatever reason.

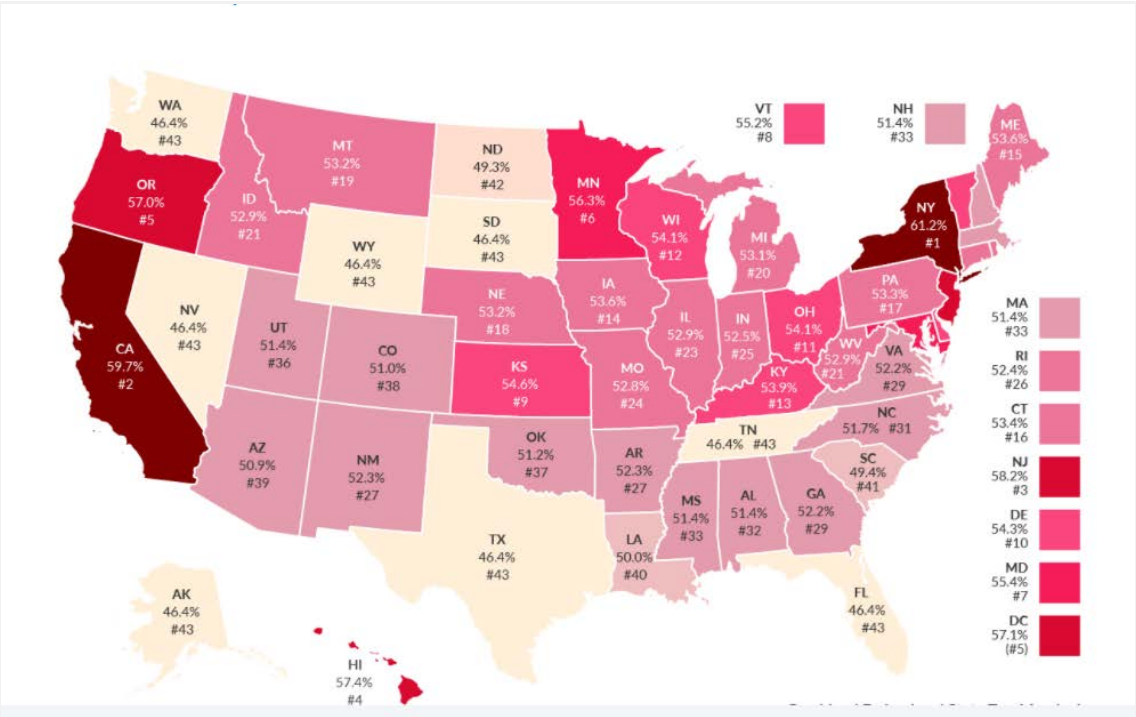
McCarthy opposes infrastructure bill despite Senate GOP support: ‘Different situation now’

House Minority Leader Kevin McCarthy justified pushing his caucus to oppose a $1.2 trillion infrastructure proposal that passed the Senate.



“People have differences of opinion, but the one thing, I think, everybody now sees is what the bill passed in the Senate is a different situation now that it came to the House,” McCarthy said in a press conference on Thursday. “It’s one bill. So you're not voting for a $1.5 trillion infrastructure bill, you're voting for a $5 trillion bill.”

House Republican leaders announced on Tuesday that they will whip votes against the $1.2 trillion infrastructure bill, which was crafted by a bipartisan group of senators and passed with support from 19 Senate Republicans, including Senate Minority Leader Mitch McConnell, last month.

Democratic leaders, though, have put the bill on a two-track path alongside a sweeping social programs spending bill of up to $3.5 trillion that can pass without Republican support in the Senate.

Top Tax Rate on Pass-through Business Income Would Exceed 50 Percent in Most States Under House Dems’ Plan

Under the House Democrats' reconciliation plan, the top tax rate on pass-through business income would exceed 50 percent in most states.

Pass-through businesses, such as sole proprietorships, S corporations, and partnerships, make up a majority of businesses and majority of private sector employment in the United States. The owners of these firms pay individual income tax on income derived from these businesses. The marginal tax rates vary for pass-through firms depending on the state where they operate, as states tax individual income differently.

The House Democrats reconciliation plan would raise the top marginal tax rate on ordinary income from 37 percent to 39.6 percent. Additionally, high-income taxpayers would face a 3 percent surcharge on their modified adjusted gross income (adjusted gross income minus any investment interest expense) in excess of $5 million.

The plan would make additional adjustments to business taxation. Currently, qualifying pass-through firms may use Section 199A, commonly known as the pass-through deduction, to deduct 20 percent of their qualified business income from federal income tax. However, the pass-through deduction is subject to limitations for firms earning above certain income limits that operate in a "specified service trade or business" (SSTB) and other guardrails that limit the size of the deduction. The plan would further limit the deduction by setting the maximum allowable deduction to $500,000 for joint filers and $400,000 for single filers.

Congress Is Back to Serving Pork

Pork is being served in Washington again. Big juicy slices to the lobbyists with the deepest wallets and the campaign contributors who write the biggest campaign reelection checks. It is the way of the swamp. It is the currency of the Washington Beltway. It explains how people get so rich in politics.

The two massive spending bills now circulating through Congress with a combined price tag north of $5 trillion are filled with earmarks and thank-you gifts to big donors and the Gucci Gulch lobbyists. That's why the bills have thousands of pages -- to bring home the bacon.

We still don't know even half of what is in this bill because, as Rep. Richard Neal, the head of the House Ways and Means Committee, admits, he wants to "hold off on the (details of the bill) until we are at the altar."

By this, he means pretty much what then-House Minority Leader Nancy Pelosi said before the vote on the Affordable Care Act some 10 years ago: We will read the bill after we pass it.

But here's what we do know so far about some of the gems inserted into the bill.

Biden's big union bailout

A generation ago, labor unions actually tried to represent the financial interests of workers. For all their other faults, they at least focused on higher wages, better working conditions, and tight labor markets for their members.

That era is long gone. Now, labor unions' top issues include “racial justice,” “climate change,” and “immigration reform.” This is one reason why the percentage of workers in unions has dropped from a high of 33% to a low of 10.5% today. Unions have become just another institution captured by progressive elites who are completely out of touch with what working families actually want.

Desperate to restore big labor’s depleted coffers, President Joe Biden is attempting to stuff something Democrats call the “Protecting the Right to Organize,” also known as the PRO Act, into his $3.5 trillion spending bill. This legislation would force millions of unsuspecting workers into unions that don’t care about them or their financial well-being, and it will steal money out of their hard-earned paychecks in the process.

Democrats say this legislation only protects workers' rights, but nothing could be further from the truth. For starters, the legislation violates worker privacy by forcing employers to give every scrap of information they have about employees to liberal activists. Don’t want Black Lives Matters protesters to know where you live? What your cellphone number is? Or your personal email address? Too bad. The PRO Act forces your employer to give activists all of this info.

Senate Rules Didn't Dash Dems' Mass Amnesty. They Did It Themselves

The sweeping change would grant permanent status and legal residency to an estimated 8 million people at a cost estimated at $140 billion.

he Senate's parliamentarian appeared to dash Democrats' mass amnesty dreams Sunday, issuing an opinion that the rules for a budget reconciliation bill — a privileged legislative vehicle that can be passed with a simple majority — don't encompass providing permanent legal status to millions of illegal migrants.

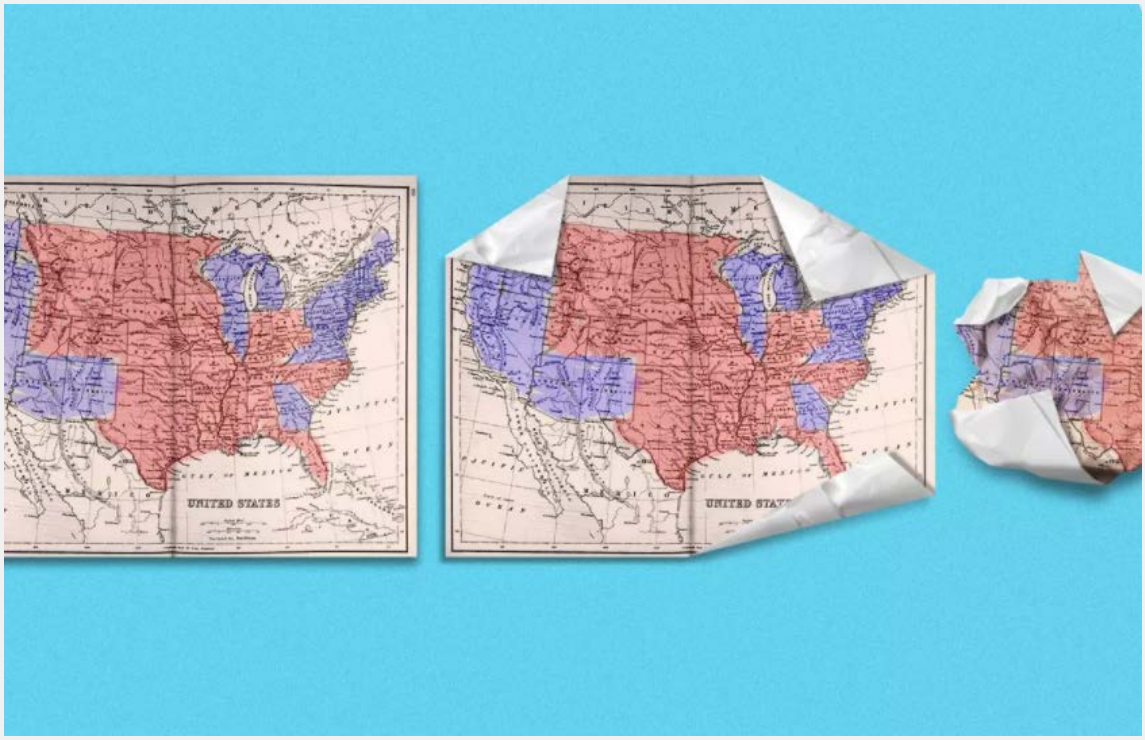
Democratic leadership claimed they "are deeply disappointed," but they know decision doesn't matter, at least not as much as they'd like to pretend.

Why not? At the moment, they don't have the votes for it regardless, but would love to blame the decision for their inability to push the whole conference behind a left-wing immigration overhaul.

That, however, doesn't mean they won't get anything at all for their efforts: The parliamentarian left the door wide open for more than a few left-wing wins on the immigration front.

The office of the Senate's parliamentarian generally flies under the radar. That is, until one party needs to blame them or use them as a handy foil for why something can't be done. It's cynical, but also cyclical: Both parties use the parliamentarian as a cudgel or a shield, depending on the circumstances.

In this instance, the Democrats are using Elizabeth MacDonough, the parliamentarian, to obscure the fact that they very likely don't have the votes to pass this kind of amnesty. They have neither the 51 votes necessary to pass it in reconciliation, nor the 60 votes to waive the Byrd rule and add it to the bill (nor the 60 votes to overcome a filibuster as part of the Senate's routine legislative process).



Rather than reveal that to their voters in the form of an actual vote and putting vulnerable

Democratic senators in the uncomfortable position of actually voting for controversial measures in public, it's far easier to feign helplessness and blame MacDonough. "Our hands are tied!"

Republicans pleaded the same impotency to conservative members and their voters in 2017, claiming the parliamentarian wouldn't let them use an Obamacare repeal attempt to stop federal subsidies from going toward buying plans that pay for abortion or to cut Planned Parenthood funding for even a single year.

Democrats' 2022 midterms map is rapidly dwindling.

Democrats are trying to unseat only about half as many Republican House members next year as they did in 2020, trimming their target list from 39 to 21.

Why it matters: The narrowing map — which reflects where Democrats see their best chance of flipping seats — is the latest datapoint showing the challenging political landscape the party faces in the crucial 2022 midterms.

The once-a-decade redistricting process, Donald Trump's exit from the White House and a razor-thin House majority that requires more focus on protecting incumbents are among the factors at work.

A smaller map makes candidate recruitment even more important.

What they're saying: Rep. Sean Patrick Maloney (D-N.Y.), chairman of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee, told Axios his party must be "flexible and nimble" and that the districts in play remain subject to change — based on redistricting and the extent of Republican overreach.

The Taliban Are Hunting Down Any Afghan Tied to Western Organizations

On the menu today: The Taliban are methodically collecting as much information about the Afghan population as possible, looking for anyone who has, in their eyes, been tainted or corrupted by Western influences or values. Hiding Afghan allies of the U.S. are now wondering if it is worth it to try making the dangerous journey to sneak into Pakistan — although that option offers a separate plethora of deadly risks.

Americans who are trying to get Afghan allies out of the country continue to hear horrific stories from those they're trying to rescue. These stories are difficult to verify, but bit by bit, similar accounts from different sources start to align.

A Wednesday press conference by Qari Fasihuddin, the acting army chief in the Taliban regime, barely caused a ripple in the U.S. news media. Fasihuddin was one of three top deputies on the Taliban military commission, the commander of nine northern provinces, and apparently earned the nicknames "Qari the Conqueror" or "Conqueror of the Five Lions." He was considered the "shadow governor" of the region, and in 2015, the Afghan government erroneously reported he had been killed in battle.

But Fasihuddin's comments set off reactions ranging from deep concern to panic among the Afghans in hiding, as the new acting army chief pledged that "those who defend democracy in Afghanistan" and oppose the Taliban would be suppressed, and that a new, regular, strong Taliban army would be taking control and defending the borders.

Many hiding Afghan allies of the coalition and members of the former government interpreted that as an order to execute anyone associated with the old government, the U.S. military or the coalition, Western NGOs, or Western contractors.

Arizona election audit confirms Biden victory over Trump

A review of the 2020 election results in Arizona's most populous county confirmed that Democrat Joe Biden won the Grand Canyon State's 11 electoral votes legitimately and without the aid of fraud, the CEO of the cybersecurity firm that ran the audit indicated Friday.

Cyber Ninjas chief executive Doug Logan told state senators that his company's review of the results in Maricopa County showed that Biden gained 99 votes over the official results. Trump lost 261 votes from the official total — which showed him losing the county to Biden by more than 45,000 votes.

"These are all very small numbers when we're talking about 2.1 million ballots [cast]," Logan said. "These are very small discrepancies. We can say that the ballots that were provided to us to count ... very accurately correlate with the official canvas numbers."

Former President Donald Trump has implied to his supporters for months that the audit would turn up malfeasance that would prove he was removed from office through widespread election fraud. Though witnesses at the hearing where the audit report was presented raised questions about Maricopa County's ballot-collecting and security procedures, no proof of such fraud was forthcoming.

Wailing And Gnashing Of Teeth: Trumpers React To Draft 'Audit' Report Showing Biden Win

Trump supporters — particularly those with large platforms and, often, something to sell — spent months hyping up the sham "audit" of Maricopa County, Arizona's election results as the first domino to fall: First Arizona, then Pennsylvania, Wisconsin and so on would acknowledge that Trump, in fact, had been robbed of a second term in office. Perhaps, they mused, the audit would even result in a "decertification" of the election.

But, according to drafts of the final audit tally circulating Friday, the report offered little comfort: Biden won, according to the inexperienced and politically biased auditors' work, by more votes than the official count.

That left the most fervent election truthers in a difficult position: What to say?

Senator Huffman, you and your GOP colleagues in Columbus need to get serious about redistricting. The voters of Ohio have made it absolutely clear that they want an end to hyper-partisan gerrymandering that skews the true balance between Republican and Democratic voters in this state. The plan you have come up with actually doubles down on that hyper-partisan gerrymandering.

Date:	Saturday, September 25, 2021 3:41:33 PM

Dear President Matt Huffman,

In 2015 and 2018, Ohioans came together to demand a fair redistricting process by overwhelmingly supporting two ballot measures that completely overhauled how we will go through our map-making process. Our message was clear: we want fair maps drawn through a fair, transparent process that gives us, the people, ample opportunity to have our voices heard so we can give our input about future maps.

We are quickly approaching our final map deadline, but we haven't seen a single proposed map. Where are the maps?

To live up to the promise of those reform measures -- and to deliver the fair maps Ohio so desperately needs and deserves -- we need to start the redistricting process now. Ohioans need to know when we'll have the ability to provide testimony through accessible public hearings. There must be multiple hearings after proposed maps have been made public.

This is an important year -- the maps drawn in 2021 will determine so much about what happens over the next decade and you, as a legislator, are literally drawing our future. Fair maps will be crucial to making our state a better place for all of the people who live here. I'm asking you to show us your proposed maps and to schedule multiple hearings after they've been made public so we can weigh in.

We have a once-in-a-decade opportunity to restore fairness to the redistricting process, secure fair maps, and deliver for the people of Ohio. I hope I can count on you to show us your maps and to schedule multiple hearings (and provide ample notice) so Ohioans across the state have a chance to have our say in what our maps look like. It's time to get to work.

Sincerely,

Sincerely,

Senator Huffman,

I'm writing in follow up to my email earlier this week regarding redistricting. I just read some quotes you have been tossing around this week in reaction to lawsuits being brought forth over the maps your party led through the redistricting commission. The maps are being taken to court by a nonpartisan group that fights for fair elections.

Your quotes:

“I think those groups, you could probably give them the pen and let them draw the map and they would still file a lawsuit. So this is just part of the cycle of life," Huffman said.

And:
Huffman had said in defense of the maps that they're not gerrymandered, and that Ohioans who voted overwhelmingly to change the process in 2015 can "make their own decisions," and if they don't like the process, "they can go to the ballot and try to change the process."

So, yes, I'm done with you and the GOP. I'll be working to bring my family and friends with me to never vote for your ilk again.

Have a good day.

Dear Redistricting Commission Members,

As you know, Ohio's first legislative district map deadline was Wednesday, September 1st.

It is unacceptable that the commission has not yet released any maps to the public — you are now in violation of Ohio's Constitution.

It's also concerning that there are no public hearings scheduled to debate proposed maps.

Ten years ago, maps were drawn in private back rooms by a small number of politicians and lobbyists. Ohio ended up stuck with maps that were rigged to give one party supermajorities it didn't deserve. We can't let that happen again.

I know the minority members of the commission have released a statement demanding that the commission uphold its official duties. It is crucial that the majority members comply.

Ohioans voted twice for a fair, open, transparent redistricting process. We expect you to uphold these laws. Please release draft maps and a hearing schedule immediately.

Thank You.

RE: Lawsuits Over UNFAIR Redistricting Maps/Ohio Redistricting Commission

Ohio Senate President Huffman stated that, “I think those groups, you could probably give them the pen and let them draw the map and they would still file a lawsuit. So this is just part of the cycle of life”, and speaking dismissively of the 2015 amendment passed overwhelmingly, that the voters “can make their own decisions” and if we don’t like his twisted interpretation, “they can go back to the ballot and try to change the process”, which is exactly what we did in 2015! Apparently he believes our only recourse is to start over with a new ballot initiative and try again with a revised amendment wordsmithed in a manner to thwart Republican attempts to distort the meaning and manufacture their own outcomes as they have in this instance, wasting effort and money, and delaying for years the implementation of drawing fair districts, a method we already passed, which must be utilized today to fix the maps in accordance with our Constitution prior to candidate deadlines for the next primaries. Once again, some in our government prefer to cause outrage and disdain for Ohio across the country, rather than stand as a model of democratic action before other states by simply respecting and implementing the decision of the voters.

I am here to correct the record speaking as a lily-white middle class retired suburbanite. It is the citizens, the voters of Ohio like myself and my family, who are outraged at the gerrymandering which favors Republicans to a degree that is way out of line with the way Ohioans have been voting over the past ten years, maps that do not come remotely close to respecting the amendment to the Ohio Constitution which WE the voters passed by a huge margin in 2015 with 71% of voters approving. WE the voters of Ohio are the ones angry and resentful that our will and votes are being mocked and rejected by the Republicans drawing and approving maps which violate our rights to be heard as an electorate, and we are standing up against the attempts to usurp our power as voters! We will not be disenfranchised through unfair district manipulation by some Republicans who are determined to choose their voters rather than be chosen. Even three of the fellow Republicans on the Redistricting Commission, those with statewide responsibilities, expressed uncertainty and doubts regarding the fairness and constitutionality of the maps forced through, the flouting of the intent of the people if not, indeed arguably, the letter of the amendment.

WE, the voters of this state, are very grateful that there are agencies suing on our behalf and standing up for our rights as voters. As soon as I send this email, I will be taking out my credit card to make a donation to help support this effort. Conversely, I am very aggravated that my hard earned tax dollars will apparently be appropriated to defend the unlawful and discriminatory maps passed in an attempt to dilute our votes, and saddened that I once again must pull money out of my pocket to fight my own government in order to defend our rights.

Further, we demand that the Commission does much better and draws up fair congressional districts according to the will of our voters who in 2018 passed the Issue 1 amendment with almost 75% of the vote including at least over 66% approval in every district, Democratic and Republican alike. Where are the maps?

Speaker Cupp,

I am one of many who worked hundreds of hours to support the Fair Districts Initiative supported by over 70% of Ohio voters in 2018. This initiative was supported by the majority of voters in every county in the state.

As a result, I am outraged by your support for the recent legislative district map approved by the Republican members of the Redistricting Commission. Over the past decade, Republicans have received between 46.2% and 59.7% of the statewide vote. But the enacted map draws 67% of the House districts and 69% of the Senate districts to favor Republicans, assuring Republican veto-proof supermajorities in both chambers.

Clearly this map is in violation of the fair districts called for by Ohio voters and in the Ohio Constitution. I am infuriated by the action taken by the Republican members of the Redistricting Commission and I strongly support the newly filed court case League of Women Voters of Ohio v. By Steve Benen
In theory, voters in Ohio shouldn't have to worry too much about excessive gerrymandering in the Buckeye State. After all, the state twice approved amendments to the Ohio Constitution that appeared to be designed to produce fairer and more representative district maps.

In practice, it's not quite working out that way.

With Ohio voters giving Republican legislative candidates roughly 54 percent of the vote, one might expect to see a state map in which the GOP was on track to hold roughly 54 percent of the seats. But according to the plan created by the Republican-led redistricting commission, the legislative map will position GOP legislators to enjoy supermajorities in Columbus.

But what about the state law that says maps "must correspond closely to the statewide preferences of the voters of Ohio" based on results from the past 10 years' worth of elections? That's where the amazing part begins: Republicans are arguing that they won races 81 percent of the time, which matters more than winning 54 percent of the vote. As a Washington Post analysis explained:

To recap, [Republicans on the state's redistricting commission] say winning 81 percent of statewide races suggests the state's preference for Republicans is as high as 81 percent, even though voters give those Republicans only around 54 percent of the vote in those races.... By this logic, you could seemingly draw up to 81 percent Republican districts, because that would fall within the range of statewide preferences.

In fact, we can extend that logic further. As Daily Kos Elections noted this morning, based on the Ohio GOP's reasoning, Democrats in states like California and Virginia would be justified in giving their party 100% of the seats since Democratic candidates have won 100% of the statewide races over the last decade.

Indeed, the Post's analysis added, "Democrats have won the popular vote in seven of the last eight presidential elections. Does that mean 'the nationwide proportion of American voters favoring Democratic presidential candidates is as high as 87.5 percent'? Of course not. But perhaps Democrats would be justified in overhauling the electoral college or redrawing state lines to better reflect that obvious and strong nationwide preference for their candidates."

Why an obscure Senate official blocked part of the Build Back Better plan
Litigation is inevitable, and Republican Gov. Mike DeWine doesn't seem optimistic. "We know that this matter will be in court," the governor said this week. "What I am sure in my heart is that this committee could have come up with a bill that was much more clearly constitutional. I'm sorry that we did not do that."

But the fact that GOP legislators are trying to pull off such a gambit anyway says a great deal about the party's tolerance for abuses.

As for efforts at the federal level, the Senate Democrats' Freedom to Vote Act would end partisan gerrymandering, but only in federal elections. Problems like the one Ohio Republicans are eager to create would persist even if the legislation were to become law.

President Huffman,

Secretary LaRose had a busy week working to build consensus on a ten-year map for Ohio House and Senate districts. Unfortunately, the Ohio Redistricting Commission's work resulted in a four-year map. Now work begins on Congressional maps, with a September 30 deadline looming for the General Assembly to pass maps with super majority votes from both parties.

Earlier this week, Senate President Matt Huffman indicated concern about whether the legislature will be able to meet the September 30 deadline. (Read more in this article from Gongwer).

In that event, the work of drawing 10-year Congressional districts will return to the Redistricting Committee on October 1.

collaboratively and in a bi-partisan manner – consistent with the Ohio Constitutional amendments approved by the voters in 2015 and 2018 -- to achieve the preferred ten-year map.

The Secretary shared his frustrations with both the outcome and the process in his closing remarks: "I'm no stranger to trying valiantly for a worthwhile cause, but I don't like to fail. I'm no stranger to trying hard and spending myself for a mission that matters. My mission has been clear: bipartisan compromise that yields a ten-year map. I believed all along that it was possible. I even told a couple of you that our state motto is 'With God all things are possible.' That was my guiding north arrow over the past couple of weeks, but we have fallen short. Not enough members of this commission wanted to come along in this effort."

When it comes to the legislature passing a congressional district map, top lawmakers have already said the Redistricting Commission will likely miss the congressional redistricting deadline on September 30th. In an effort to avoid repeating the mistakes made in the state legislative redistricting process, Secretary LaRose has stated he will ensure new rules are instituted which will require greater participation and information sharing among the commission members.

Hello,

It has just come to my attention that the redistricting commission is proposing to separate Liberty Township and West Chester Township, located in Butler County. I am strongly against this. As a resident of the Liberty Township-West Chester community, I need to let the commission know that these two townships are one community, and we don't want to be split. Both townships are in the same school district, and surely the members of the commission understand that schools are a large part of a community. When a second high school was built in the Lakota district, it was very painful for our community because our identity was being split. Please do not do this to us now by splitting West Chester and Liberty Township. In addition to the schools, other aspects of our common identity are the West Chester-Liberty Boys and Girls club, the West Chester-Liberty Community Foundation, and the West Chester-Liberty Chamber Alliance. We are one community. Please do not split us apart.

Furthermore, Rep. Jennifer Gross has served all of us well and I do not want to lose her. Splitting our communities would hurt the citizens from a representative standpoint, so please, do not split us.

A deeply cynical moment in gerrymandering from the Ohio GOP

Aaron Blake
Senior reporter
Yesterday at 11:54 a.m. EDT

There are fewer uglier and more cynical political processes than redistricting and gerrymandering. But even by those standards, what's taking place in Ohio is extraordinary.

To recap: Ohio voters in 2015 and 2018 strongly backed constitutional amendments designed to rein in gerrymandering — i.e., the process of drawing districts to favor one party or another. But the state's redistricting commission, which is controlled 5 to 2 by Republicans, just approved state legislative maps that include supermajorities of districts favoring the GOP. About 70 percent of state Senate seats and at least 62 percent of state House seats favor Republicans, despite the state's voters generally giving Republicans about 54 percent of the vote. Even in casting the decisive votes, Gov. Mike DeWine (R) and Secretary of State Frank LaRose (R) expressed reservations about the constitutionality of the maps.

The idea that Ohio Republicans would attempt this isn't wholly surprising. Both sides try to squeeze every last advantage they can out of redistricting, by hook or crook; Republicans just happen to be better at it.

What's remarkable about the situation in Ohio, though, is their justification for how this complies with the gerrymandering changes that voters supported.

The reforms stipulate that the maps "must correspond closely to the statewide preferences of the voters of Ohio" based on election results from the past 10 years. That would seem to suggest that the number of GOP-leaning districts should be somewhere near that 54 percent mark.

But no, say the Republicans on the redistricting commission. They say the maps are justified because Republicans win statewide a lot more than that.

Andrew Tobias, a statehouse reporter at the Cleveland Plain-Dealer, posted the GOP members' full statement in the wee hours of Thursday morning. I'll quote it at length:

When considering the results of each of [the 16 statewide] elections [over the last decade], the Commission determined that Republican candidates won thirteen out of sixteen of those elections, resulting in a statewide proportion of voters favoring statewide Republican candidates of 81% and a statewide proportion of voters favoring statewide Democratic candidates of 19%.
Thus the statewide proportion of voters favoring statewide Republican candidates is between 54% and 81%, and the statewide proportion of voters favoring statewide Democratic candidates is between 19% and 46%.
Using this data, the Commission adopted the final general assembly district plan, which contains 85 districts (64.4%) favoring Republican candidates and 47 districts (35.6%) favoring Democratic candidates out of a total of 132 districts. Accordingly, the statewide proportion of districts whose voters favor each political party corresponds closely to the statewide preferences of voters in Ohio.
To recap, they say winning 81 percent of statewide races suggests the state's preference for Republicans is as high as 81 percent, even though voters give those Republicans only around 54 percent of the vote in those races. That might sound uncharitable, but that's what it says: "Thus the statewide proportion of voters favoring statewide Republican candidates is between 54% and 81%." By this logic, you could seemingly draw up to 81 percent Republican districts, because that would fall within the range of statewide preferences.

It's clearly intended to skirt the language of the redistricting changes that voters backed 71 percent to 29 percent in 2015. But it does so in an altogether brazen manner.

Just think about the logical extent of the argument. Republicans haven't won a statewide race in California or New York in the past decade, but we would never say that "the statewide proportion of California and New York voters favoring statewide Democrats is as high as 100 percent."

There are many states like Ohio that routinely give one party or another 51 percent to 55 percent of the vote statewide. One party wins statewide the vast majority of the time because voters are so polarized and there aren't many swing voters. But by this logic, it would be fair to gerrymander the other party almost completely out of existence in the state legislature.

Or think about how it might apply in other areas. Democrats have won the popular vote in seven of the last eight presidential elections. Does that mean "the nationwide proportion of American voters favoring Democratic presidential candidates is as high as 87.5 percent"?

Of course not. But perhaps Democrats would be justified in overhauling the electoral college or redrawing state lines to better reflect that obvious and strong nationwide preference for their candidates.

It remains to be seen whether these Ohio maps will pass muster. The Ohio Supreme Court would hear any challenges. It has a 4-to-3 GOP majority, but as Tobias writes, the Republican chief justice has a history of being tough on gerrymandering.

Regardless, though, it seems to be the latest confirmation that, whatever good-faith efforts there might be to rein in gerrymandering, politicians will continue to do what they can to trample over the will of the voters in the name of partisan gain. It has happened again and again after voters approve such measures. And politicians will apparently do it with a straight face and a smile.

President Matt Huffman,

Dear Redistricting Commission Members,

As you know, Ohio's first legislative district map deadline was Wednesday, September 1st.

It is unacceptable that the commission has not yet released any maps to the public — you are now in violation of Ohio's Constitution.

It's also concerning that there are no public hearings scheduled to debate proposed maps.

Ten years ago, maps were drawn in private back rooms by a small number of politicians and lobbyists. Ohio ended up stuck with maps that were rigged to give one party supermajorities it didn't deserve. We can't let that happen again.

I know the minority members of the commission have released a statement demanding that the commission uphold its official duties. It is crucial that the majority members comply.

Ohioans voted twice for a fair, open, transparent redistricting process. We expect you to uphold these laws. Please release draft maps and a hearing schedule immediately.

Thank You.

We have two weeks until the September 30th deadline to adopt a new congressional map -- yet Ohioans have not seen any proposed maps or know when public hearings will be held to give feedback.

After finding out that the Redistricting Commission voted on party lines to adopt a gerrymandered map at midnight this week, I am concerned about the upcoming congressional process and how little has been done to properly set it up and to ensure we get a fair map.

You need to begin this process now so that Ohioans can be involved and actually have a chance to advocate for their communities. And then you need to incorporate our input into the maps. As you well know by now, given all you've heard at recent public hearings and through our 2015 and 2018 reforms, Ohioans are ready for fair maps drawn through a transparent and people-powered process. Yet time and time again, you've enabled map drawers to sidestep accountability. Just as you tried to do when you voted for an unconstitutional gerrymander in the middle of the night.

We need a fair congressional map that comes from a fair process. Take action now.

RE: UNFAIR Redistricting Maps/Ohio Redistricting Commission

What kind of Kafkaesque state government are we living in that the three Republican members of the Commission with statewide responsibilities, the Governor, the Secretary of State, and the State Auditor have expressed frustration with the unfair, unrepresentative gerrymandered district maps, making five out of the seven Commission members opposed to the maps passed late last night, yet the three voted Yes on them in defiance of the will of the voters of this state, an amendment passed in 2018 by a whopping 74.89% of the vote, belying the claims of two extreme partisan members that the distorted maps passed represent the 'real' wishes of Ohio voters, allowing two out of seven to have their sway over the Commission established by the voters for the expressed purpose of denying partisan hacks the ability to place narrow party politics over democracy.

If you have not already, read the critique in today's The Washington Post entitled "A deeply cynical moment in gerrymandering from the Ohio GOP". Once again, the nation looks at Ohio not as a state to emulate, which could have been if the Commission had simply followed the intent and spirit of the amendment as voted in by the vast majority, but instead we are again viewed with disdain as an undemocratic disaster.

We, the voters of Ohio, will not be denied and disrespected in this way, we will not shut up and go away! In the iconic words of 'Howard Beale', "I'M AS MAD AS HELL, AND I'M NOT GOING TO TAKE THIS ANYMORE!" We demand that this be resolved in a fair way now, BEFORE the 2022 election! What just took place was a travesty, an attack on democracy, and must not stand! We will support lawsuits, whatever it takes to have this situation justly rectified and in a timely fashion.

Dear Senator Huffman,

Proposed Congressional District

My name is Gerald Barna. I am currently in Ohio Congressional District 7. I have been a resident of the city of Avon for eighteen years and lived in Lorain County for over fifty years. I was employed at the NASA Glenn Research Center for forty years and served in several senior management positions. After my retirement from NASA in 2003 I consulted for a number of small businesses and non-profit organizations for fifteen years.

District 7 is a sprawling district which winds through ten different counties. Seven counties are split between District 7 and another district. It is not compact or contiguous. It is clearly unconstitutional and an example of egregious Gerrymandering. Ohio is losing one Congressional seat and I propose that District 7 be eliminated to accommodate this reduction in the number of seats.

I propose that District 7 be replaced with a new District which consists of the following counties: Lorain, Medina, Ashland, Richland, Huron, and Erie. This District is compact, contiguous, preserves counties in their entirety, and there are significant shared interests among the counties. I urge you to consider and adopt this proposed District as an integral element of the overall State of Ohio Congressional District map. A map showing the proposed district can be found at https://districtr.org/plan/47940. There is ample opportunity to the East, West, and South to develop the remaining fourteen Districts which meet constitutional requirements.

Thank you.

I am deeply disappointed in the new maps approved by the redistricting commission. They are so clearly unfair and probably unconstitutional - giving 66% of seats to Republicans despite Republicans only receiving 54% of votes in Ohio over the past 10 years. How is this not a continuation of the gerrymandering Ohioans have voted against consistently by a margin of over 70%?? I can think of no more damning evidence that Republicans are not interested in truly representing their constituents but only in saving their jobs.

Equal Districts Coalition Condemns Unconstitutional Legislative District Maps

COLUMBUS — Today, the Equal Districts Coalition — a unified group of 30+ Ohio advocacy organizations and unions engaged in the 2021 redistricting process — condemned the Republican members of Ohio's redistricting commission for voting to adopt blatantly unconstitutional legislative maps, while missing the constitutional deadline. The coalition committed to doubling down on challenging this overt Republican power grab in every arena.

"Ohioans voted in massive numbers for a transparent redistricting process and fair maps. Republicans delayed the process, held hearings in the middle of the workday, and drew unconstitutional maps in secret. Their disrespect for Ohioans is disgusting," said Desiree Tims, President and CEO of Innovation Ohio. "Thank goodness Leader Sykes and Senator Sykes stood firm and refused to vote for this sham. This fight is not over."

Because the Democratic commissioners refused to vote for unconstitutional maps, the maps will be implemented for only four years. Mapmakers will repeat the redistricting process again in 2025, drawing districts that will last the rest of the decade.

The new maps, which the Republican commissioners presented eight days past the Constitutional deadline, are far less compact and representational than maps proposed on time by the Ohio Senate Democratic Caucus, the citizen-led Ohio Citizens' Redistricting Commission (OCRC) and several individual Ohio residents. The abundance of superior alternatives provides clear evidence that Republican commissioners actively chose to ignore Ohio's Constitution when drawing district lines behind closed doors.

"Despite the resounding message Ohioans sent about the need for fair maps, the Republican Commissioners have sent back one of their own -- they just don't care," said Katy Shanahan, Ohio State Director for All On The Line. "They don't care about fairness, they don't care about public input, they don't care about our reforms or following the law, and they ultimately don't care about our democracy."

Republicans will maintain an unearned supermajority in both Statehouse chambers under the new maps. This will allow them to override the governor's vetoes without any votes from Democratic members. The Republican supermajority, which has not earned a supermajority of statewide votes, will be able to continue passing extreme legislation that does not reflect the will of the voters.

"This is what bullies do. For three hours, as I awaited my turn to testify before the redistricting commission, Republican members pretended to be interested in input from voters, community leaders, and ministers. Two days later, they rammed through their illegitimate, partisan maps as if we had never spoken to them at all," said Katie Paris, Founder of Red Wine and Blue. "Suburban women will remember this two-faced power grab the next time we vote."

Next year's legislative election is likely to result in Republicans holding 72% of Ohio Senate seats and 68% of Ohio House seats. This breakdown openly ignores the Constitutional requirement that map drawers aim to reflect voters' preferences over the past decade — commonly known as the "representational fairness" requirement. Under a constitutional map, Republicans would hold about 55% of government seats, reflecting their average vote share.

"Fair maps cannot be pushed through partisanship. The Ohio Redistricting Commission has failed on its promise to Ohioans to deliver fair representation, which we know does not equate to a Republican supermajority," said Tala Dahbour, Policy Director for CAIR-Ohio. "We cannot wait another 4 years for proportional political representation— we need equal districts now."

The new maps violate Ohio's Constitution by cracking and packing communities of color to dilute their political power. The Republican commissioners admitted publicly at a recent hearing that they did not take this into consideration. It is also apparent that Republican commissioners ignored the public input they received specifically regarding the need to ensure communities of color are not unnecessarily cracked and packed.

Additionally, the proposed maps crack apart communities of interest, dividing neighborhoods and forcing illogical segments of the state together — clearly intending to drown out Democratic votes.

- For example, one Senate district stretches from western Cuyahoga County to Geauga, then all the way down Summit County's western half to the Stark County border.

"Time and time again throughout this year's GOP-led redistricting process, the voters of Ohio have been let down, left out and insulted. The resulting GOP-proposed state legislative maps crack communities of interest, dilute the political power of voters of color, and do not represent the will of the voters," said Kobie Christian, Communications Director, For Our Future Ohio. "It is unjust for Ohioans to face elections, misrepresentation, and underrepresentation under these maps for even a single election. But the resolve of Ohio's voters is strong. They have spoken out during this process and will continue to speak out. For Our Future Ohio stands with the Equal Districts Coalition in the fight to ensure the people of Ohio are heard."

Several organizations are currently preparing to take the obviously unconstitutional legislative maps to court, as it is clear the Republican commissioners made no attempt to meet Ohio's constitutional requirements.

Dear Pres. Huffman, Gov. DeWine, Speaker Cupp, Auditor Faber and Secretary LaRose,

More than 70 percent of Ohioans voted to end gerrymandering.

The Ohio Redistricting Commission has since heard from hundreds of Ohioans, who testified at hearings across the state to let you know how gerrymandering has adversely affected their communities. Many maps have been proposed using mapmaking tools that citizens had to find themselves, since the Redistricting Commission did not provide any, or even create an easily navigable website to make it easy for citizens to provide their input.

Nevertheless, members of the Fair Districts Coalition and other groups and individuals stepped into the fray to help citizens understand gerrymandering and to learn about mapmaking. Thousands of citizens responded and you have heard from many, many of these Ohioans during this redistricting process.

Months ago, you heard from citizens who begged you to convene the Commission ahead of the census data release so there would be time to plan and do a good job of mapmaking once the data was in. There was plenty of work to be done even without the census data. Instead, the Commission was convened nearly at the last minute, and some Commission members tried to excuse this by blaming the late census data release. (Somehow, Vernon and Emilia Sykes managed to prepare maps that complied with amendment requirements before the Sept. 1 deadline.)

The constitutional amendment citizens voted for required public hearings, and they were finally scheduled at nearly the last minute, and at times when many working citizens would be unable to attend. Apparently, very few Republican Commission members were interested enough in these hearings to attend many of them, and some chose to be represented only by staff. When Commission members did attend hearings, some chose not to be masked, potentially putting citizens at risk for COVID. Last Friday's hearings - two of them - were held with barely 24 hours' notice and with only four hours between them, giving citizens little time for preparation. Nevertheless, Ohioans showed up and testified. Their testimony was compelling and detailed, but you were apparently unmoved.

Although Commission members were supposed to have been working together in a bipartisan fashion to create a map, Democrat members were apparently all but excluded from the mapmaking process. The result? A map that, according to Dave's Redistricting App, would likely lead to 65 House Republican seats out of 99 and 23 seats out of 33. Where is the statement describing how this map meets the political proportionality requirements as described in the state's constitution?

Though some of you claimed to want a ten-year map, you apparently found it more convenient politically to settle for a four-year map, perhaps figuring it was better for you to keep your supermajority for as long as possible and duke it out in court.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Your behavior has been shameful and extremely disrespectful of your fellow Ohioans, those folks who pay your salaries and expect you to deal honestly and with regard for their best interests. You have utterly failed, and blatantly have chosen political expediency over the well-being of your own state.

Please examine your conscience. Can you honestly say you are honoring your offices and the faith Ohioans have placed in you?

Ohioans deserve better.

Sincerely,
Deborah Cooper

Redistricting Commission Approves Four Year Maps for General Assembly

COLUMBUS— Faced with more than a four-month delay in critical U.S. Census data, the Ohio Redistricting Commission moved forward today with a four-year map plan for the Ohio General Assembly's legislative districts.

"These house and senate maps will be in place for the next four years, and represent an important first step towards approving the next map that will complete the decade," said commission member and Senate President Matt Huffman.

Senator Huffman was the primary author of the constitutional amendment voters approved in 2015 which changed the process, establishing strong bipartisan standards designed to keep communities and counties together.

The seven-member commission consists of the Governor, Auditor, Secretary of State and four members of the General Assembly, two from each party. Despite a majority vote of 5-2, both democrats voted against the plan, which under the new rules prevents a ten-year map from becoming law.

"I'm convinced we could've reached a ten-year map," said Huffman, "However, special interests pressured democrats to not support it, asking voters to extend the deadline to accomplish that."

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

The commission traveled the state, holding more than a dozen hearings for the public to provide input on the proposed maps.

“Make no mistake, special interests want to get what they can’t win at the polls,” said Huffman. “So-called representational fairness is just another way to describe gerrymandering, and these groups need to remember districts are won with quality candidates, issues and campaigns, not on predetermined outcomes based on a false premise of letting special interests from Washington D.C. define what is fair.”

As a resident of the Liberty Township-West Chester community, I need to let the commission know that these two townships are one community, and we don't want to be split. Both townships are in the same school district, and surely the members of the commission understand that schools are a large part of a community. When a second high school was built in the Lakota district, it was very painful for our community because our identity was being split. Please do not do this to us now by splitting West Chester and Liberty Township. In addition to the schools, other aspects of our common identity are the West Chester-Liberty Boys and Girls club, the West Chester-Liberty Community Foundation, and the West Chester-Liberty Chamber Alliance. I am very disappointed, no disgusted, that the redistricting maps the committee has come up with are back to the ol' gerrymandering that we had with the previous map. The people of Ohio spoke and spoke LOUDLY that they want fair districts. It's your job to see that that gets done.
It's your job to do what's right and FAIR for the people of Ohio. You were part of the previous re-districting committee and we all know how the turned out, (i.e. Jim Jordan's 'duck'). This time needs to be different. It's time for you to put politics aside and do the right thing. Do what the people of Ohio want, FAIR districts.

Hi, this is Lis Regula from Columbus, Ohio, and I'm writing to urge you to reject the Ohio Redistricting Commission's gerrymandered maps, and implement bipartisan, ten-year Ohio House and Senate maps that fairly represent all Ohioans.

In both 2015 and 2018, Ohioans voted overwhelmingly for fairer, more representative maps, similar to what were proposed by the Ohio Citizens Redistricting Commission, and a process that was 180-degrees from what we saw in the 2011 Double Tree debacle that made Ohio a laughingstock on the national stage.

In the intervening years, we have seen the damage that highly partisan politics does to our great state, and we have lost representation in DC as well as people, money, investment, and opportunity for the state because of the horrendous gerrymandering of Ohio. You have the chance today to vote on another painfully poor map that does not reflect Ohioans wishes or current distribution. I beg you, do not do this. Find a way to 10-year, bipartisan, and constitutional maps.

Thank you.

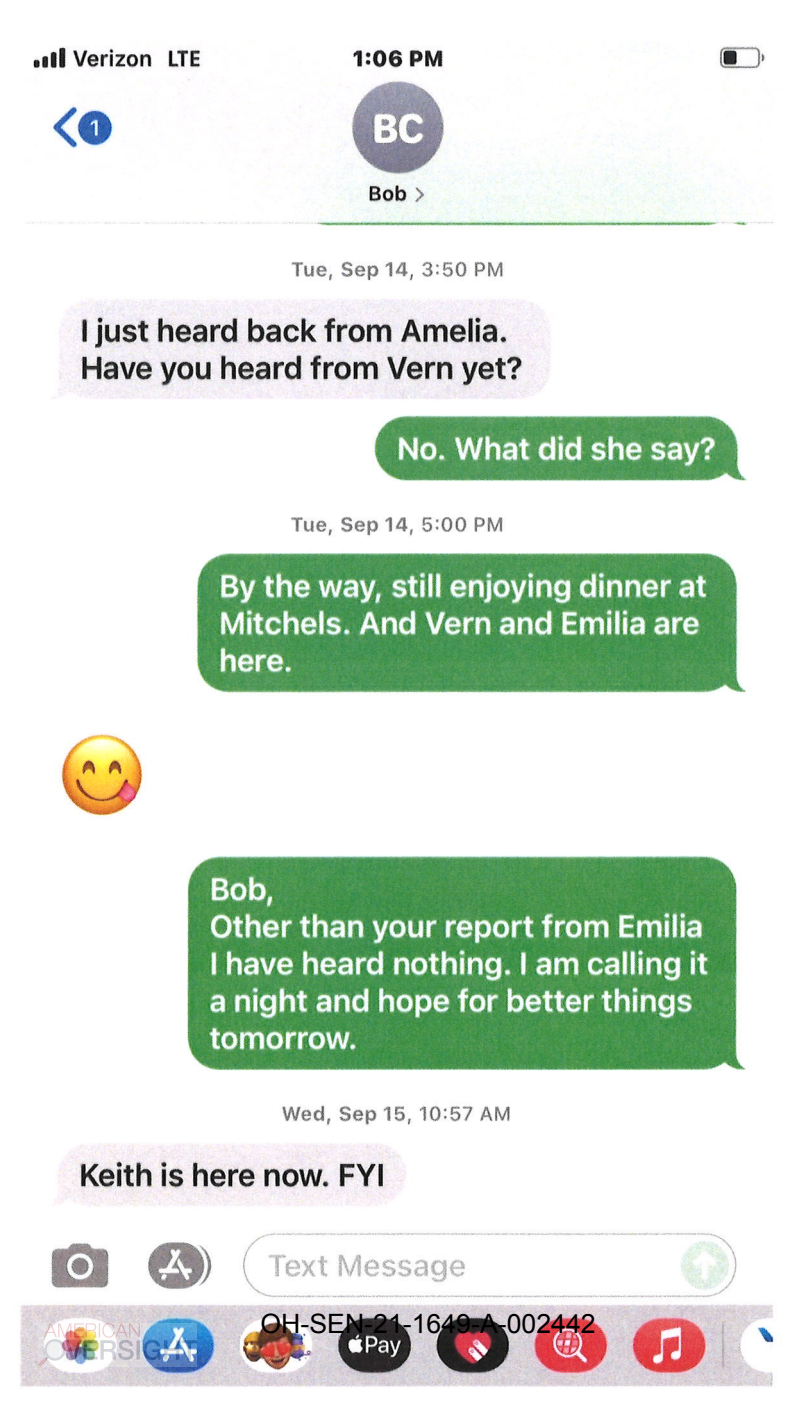
Hello,



It has just come to my attention that the redistricting commission is proposing to separate Liberty Township and West Chester Township, located in Butler County. I am strongly against this. As a resident of the Liberty Township-West Chester community, I need to let the commission know that these two townships are one community, and we don't want to be split. Both townships are in the same school district, and surely the members of the commission understand that schools are a large part of a community. When a second high school was built in the Lakota district, it was very painful for our community because our identity was being split. Please do not do this to us now by splitting West Chester and Liberty Township. In addition to the schools, other aspects of our common identity are the West Chester-Liberty Boys and Girls club, the West Chester-Liberty Community Foundation, and the West Chester-Liberty Chamber Alliance. We are one community. Please do not split us apart.

Furthermore, Rep. Jennifer Gross has served all of us well and I do not want to lose her. Splitting our communities would hurt the citizens from a representative standpoint, so please, do not split us.

Thank you,

Please see the congressional redistricting map I posted to the ORC's public input portal this morning. I have examined the statewide data carefully and am preparing a statement to read to the General Assembly which explains that the overall effect of not gerrymandering is that, with the exception of high population density urban areas where communities of interest are supposed to be kept intact, each district tends to the statewide average of the distribution of votes by political party, so that the Democrats are only entitled to two congressional seats (Columbus + Cleveland). I will be available if you would like to speak with me before then. I will also be reaching out to my state senator (Theresa Gavarone) on this.

President Matt Huffman,

Hello,

I'm emailing to ask you to fight for fair district maps.

Because of rigged district lines, Republicans currently hold supermajorities in Ohio's Statehouse. They've only won about 55% of the statewide vote in the last 10 years, but hold 75% of state Senate seats. That is unacceptable.

If a political party isn't winning a supermajority of the vote, they shouldn't occupy a supermajority of the seats.

Through our two reform measures and 10 redistricting hearings last week, Ohioans sent a clear message on redistricting: we want maps that actually represent us. Now we're counting on you to lift up our voices and join us in demanding fair maps.

Fair House maps will include at least 44 Democratic House seats (maximum 55 Republican seats).

Fair Senate maps will include at least 14 Democratic Senate seats (maximum 19 Republican seats).

These numbers reflect our partisan makeup. Do not settle for less.

Thank you.

This citizen summarized my view perfectly,

“This redistricting process is a slap in the face to the over 70% of Ohioans who voted for the redistricting reforms,” Dalke said. “The Republican-engineered maps give even more power to Republican candidates. They are even more politically biased than the ones we currently have. Private citizens were able to produce maps that better fit the constitutional criteria than your maps, and they did so in a more timely manner and at no cost.”

I suggest you go back and take a deep breath and work cooperatively with your democratic counterparts and impartial groups ,such as the league of women voters ,to create a map that keeps long-standing communities with common goals and concerns intact and that in final tally, reflects the numbers of registered voters. The Democratic maps are vastly superior in this regard to yours. Your effort was neither transparent nor fulfilled the voters mandate. We voters actually WANT fair districts.
To ignore this mandate is willful, self-serving and not worthy of the voters you represent.

A last-minute request to listen to the people of Ohio before you make the final vote on the proposed redistricting maps. Clearly, the maps and the process have not been in line with the spirit of the two votes taken by Ohioans on this issue. The proposed maps do not reflect the population of our state, and are an insult to everyone who worked so hard on the issue of fair representation. In my own corner of Ohio, our city, Oxford, is cut off from the rest of Butler County and lumped in with Preble and Darke Counties. This is in spite of the fact that our community shares little with those places, but we do have many common interests with Hamilton and other parts of Butler Cty., including county services, library system, YMCA, etc. People in Oxford will never have accurate or serious representation under these maps, and that is true of so many other communities as well. You had plenty of time to do this right; please don't make us pay for the next decade. The Ohio Citizens' Redistricting Commission map isn't perfect (it actually doesn't solve the Oxford problem) but it is at least fair; why not take it into account before finalizing things? Your maps are not what we voted for!

The fact that the redistricting proposal currently under consideration maintains the large discrepancy between the voting patterns of Ohio citizens and the party balance of the Ohio legislature shows that it is a gerrymandering plan and not a redistricting plan which would follow the mandate given the Redistricting Commission. That proposal should be scrapped and a new, truly bipartisan, fair one should be devised.

As a resident of the Liberty Township-West Chester community, I need to let the commission know that these two townships are one community, and we don't want to be split. Both townships are in the same school district, and surely the members of the commission understand that schools are a large part of a community. When a second high school was built in the Lakota district, it was very painful for our community because our identity was being split. Please do not do this to us now by splitting West Chester and Liberty Township. In addition to the schools, other aspects of our common identity are the West Chester-Liberty Boys and Girls club, the West Chester-Liberty Community Foundation, and the West Chester-Liberty Chamber Alliance. We are one community. Please do not split us apart.

Furthermore, Rep. Jennifer Gross has served all of us well and I do not want to lose her. Splitting our communities would hurt the citizens from a representative standpoint, so please, do not split us.

President Matt Huffman,

Dear Redistricting Commission Members,

As you know, Ohio's first legislative district map deadline was Wednesday, September 1st.

It is unacceptable that the commission has not yet released any maps to the public — you are now in violation of Ohio's Constitution.

It's also concerning that there are no public hearings scheduled to debate proposed maps.

Ten years ago, maps were drawn in private back rooms by a small number of politicians and lobbyists. Ohio ended up stuck with maps that were rigged to give one party supermajorities it didn't deserve. We can't let that happen again.

I know the minority members of the commission have released a statement demanding that the commission uphold its official duties. It is crucial that the majority members comply.

Ohioans voted twice for a fair, open, transparent redistricting process. We expect you to uphold these laws. Please release draft maps and a hearing schedule immediately.

Thank You,

Hello,

I'm emailing to ask you to fight for fair district maps.

Because of rigged district lines, Republicans currently hold supermajorities in Ohio's Statehouse. They've only won about 55% of the statewide vote in the last 10 years, but hold 75% of state Senate seats. That is unacceptable.

If a political party isn't winning a supermajority of the vote, they shouldn't occupy a supermajority of the seats.

Through our two reform measures and 10 redistricting hearings last week, Ohioans sent a clear message on redistricting: we want maps that actually represent us. Now we're counting on you to lift up our voices and join us in demanding fair maps.

Fair House maps will include at least 44 Democratic House seats (maximum 55 Republican seats).

Fair Senate maps will include at least 14 Democratic Senate seats (maximum 19 Republican seats).

These numbers reflect our partisan makeup. Do not settle for less.

I attended the hearing yesterday at Cuyahoga County Corporate College East. Each and every person who testified spoke out against the Republican proposed redistricting map as partisan and undemocratic. That should give you pause. People are watching what you are doing and are appalled by the lack of transparency and partisan power grab that will make your proposed maps even more representative of the people of Ohio than the maps enacted 10 years ago. Subject:	Feedback on latest map proposals
Date:	Tuesday, September 14, 2021 9:49:31 AM

To Co-Chairs Cupp and Sykes:

I am unable to present testimony in person, but I would like to give feedback on the latest proposals for new district maps.

First, I was present at the public hearings at 10:00am and 2:00pm at the Ohio Statehouse last Thursday, September 9, 2021 when Senate President Huffman introduced the map proposed by the Republicans in the Legislature. I was appalled to hear Ray DiRossi testify that he was instructed by members of the Ohio Redistricting Commission to ignore the Voting Rights Act when drawing new district lines, and that the proposed maps did not take into consideration the voting history of Ohioans in gubernatorial elections over the last ten years as is required by the Constitutional amendment adopted overwhelmingly by Ohio voters in 2015. This is not only unconstitutional, but completely unacceptable.

According to this report from WOSU, "The Princeton Gerrymandering Project gave the map for House districts submitted by Republican Senate President Matt Huffman (R-Lima) an F for partisan fairness and a C for county splits. The Senate map gets a B for partisan fairness, with an A for county splits. Both maps get a C for competitiveness."

Further, "...an analysis last week by national experts at Dave's Redistricting App... showed the Senate Republicans' map would likely end up with the same result in the Ohio Senate as now, 25 Republican districts and 8 Democratic. The 64 of 99 House seats held by Republicans would grow to 67 under Dave's analysis."

Drawing districts that are even more gerrymandered than the current districts is not at all what Ohio voters demanded when we voted overwhelmingly for fair districts in 2015 and 2018.

I am writing now in support of the proposed revisions submitted yesterday by Co-Chair Sykes and Minority Leader Sykes to amend the GOP maps to be more representational and ensure that voters of color are not disenfranchised by "cracking and packing" districts.

According to this report in the Ohio Capital Journal, when proposing edits to the GOP maps, "Partisan competitiveness was taken into account, Glassburn said, but not in a way that made it "superior" to any other measure. The map considered election results for the last ten years, and would give Democrats 42 House seats and 13 Senate seats, according to Glassburn. In the House, for example, 20 of the 99 legislative districts would have between a 45% and 55% partisan lean, making them competitive. Districts would remain non-competitive in the 79 other districts of the state."

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

This map sounds much more in line with what Ohio voters expected when amending the Ohio Constitution to end gerrymandered districts.

I urge you to find a bipartisan compromise that honors all the Constitutional requirements for redrawing district lines and adopt fair maps for the next 10 years. Ohioans expect our elected officials to represent the will of the people. I implore you to do your duty to the citizens of Ohio.

Thank you.

I have attended both of the Dayton hearings. At those as well as the others, it is clear that the maps that your party has adopted do not meet voters wishes nor commission requirements of representational fairness. The voters want 10 year maps. I urge you to adopt the maps set fort by the Ohio CITIZENS Redistricting commission.
Please vote democracy over party.

President Matt Huffman,

Hello,

I'm emailing to ask you to fight for fair district maps.

Because of rigged district lines, Republicans currently hold supermajorities in Ohio's Statehouse. They've only won about 55% of the statewide vote in the last 10 years, but hold 75% of state Senate seats. That is unacceptable.

If a political party isn't winning a supermajority of the vote, they shouldn't occupy a supermajority of the seats.

Through our two reform measures and 10 redistricting hearings last week, Ohioans sent a clear message on redistricting: we want maps that actually represent us. Now we're counting on you to lift up our voices and join us in demanding fair maps.

Fair House maps will include at least 44 Democratic House seats (maximum 55 Republican seats).

Fair Senate maps will include at least 14 Democratic Senate seats (maximum 19 Republican seats).

These numbers reflect our partisan makeup. Do not settle for less.

Thank you.

Dear Mr. Huffman,

Over 70% of Ohioans voted for redistricting reforms. Despite new anti-gerrymandering rules, as drawn, the proposed maps likely would slightly increase the GOP's supermajority at the Statehouse. Republicans likely would win 66% of Ohio's legislative seats under the new maps, compared to their 54% vote share of the last 10 years worth of federal and state elections, if future elections play out the same as years past. This is not right, or acceptable. The Ohio constitution very clearly says that a map can't be drawn to favor or disfavor a party. The proposed map fails disastrously in every way you could possibly measure it. This map is almost the definition of gerrymandering. There are so many other proposed maps that are so much more equitable. You are not upholding the law, or the will of the people, and we will not stand for it.

Let me be direct. I am a Republican, but I am tired of politicians winning elections in the primary and being in a district that is so poorly drawn that it does not represent my interests at all. I also believe that the split between the party representation should be representative of our voting splits in the public. The residents of Ohio have made redistricting a core issue and have been extremely clear that we want change. The current map proposed by our party is same old same old. I feel strongly enough about this that a failure to develop a fair map will drive me to forcing the issue by voting democratic.

Senate President Matt Huffman,

Governor Dewine,
With all due respect it's time to put more power into the hands of the people and the communities who dwell in them. For too long the rich have upheld systems that don't support all of us. This program will be a step in the direction of fairness for our communitiies.

The deadline for Ohio's new state legislative and congressional districts are rapidly approaching, and the people of Ohio still do not have clear guidance on how they can submit their own maps for consideration to the Ohio Redistricting Commission or the General Assembly.

The constitutional amendments passed in 2015 and 2018, each with over 70% support, clearly state that there must be an opportunity for the people of Ohio to offer testimony on proposed General Assembly and congressional district map plans and have an opportunity to propose their own maps. As of today, the General Assembly has still not fulfilled this constitutional obligation.

The people of Ohio demand a fair, transparent, and accessible redistricting process that focuses on the listening and responding to the voices of all Ohioans. In order to achieve this, there must be a procedure in place for Ohioans to offer their own district maps.

I urge the Ohio Redistricting Commission and the state legislature to immediately work to set up a portal where citizens can submit maps they have created.

Thank you for your public service and consideration in this manner Governor.

As you know, Ohio's first legislative district map deadline was Wednesday, September 1st.

It is unacceptable that the commission has not yet released any maps to the public — you are now in violation of Ohio's Constitution.

It's also concerning that there are no public hearings scheduled to debate proposed maps.

Ten years ago, maps were drawn in private back rooms by a small number of politicians and lobbyists. Ohio ended up stuck with maps that were rigged to give one party supermajorities it didn't deserve. We can't let that happen again.

I know the minority members of the commission have released a statement demanding that the commission uphold its official duties. It is crucial that the majority members comply.

Ohioans voted twice for a fair, open, transparent redistricting process. We expect you to uphold these laws. Please release draft maps and a hearing schedule immediately.

I collected over 1,000 petition signatures in support of Fair Districts and this issue is very important to me.

Please give serious consideration to the public input on the maps.
I especially want to see the new map chosen based on the following criteria:
- Cohesiveness
- Adherence to the Voting Rights Act
- Proportional distribution by party

There are metrics that measure these characteristics. Maps have been uploaded by various citizen groups and private individuals that reflect these qualities far better than any of the maps under serious consideration by the Republican members of the commission.

Members of the Ohio Redistricting Commission:

It's clear that the Republican supermajority has no interest in taking Ohio Redistricting efforts seriously, and intends to maintain gerrymandered districts.

Ohio voters overwhelmingly approved constitutional amendments in 2015 (state districts) and 2018 (congressional districts). To not follow these amendments and create fair districts would represent a gross dereliction of duty, and should result in criminal charges against all who worked against such an outcome.

You have until Wednesday's deadline to present fair district maps. I sincerely hope you will do so -- but given the Republican supermajority's hyper-partisan behavior, I have little faith that such a proposal will result.

Be aware that we citizens of Ohio are watching closely, and will do all we can to challenge any unfair districts that may be adopted. We refused to have our votes neutered, and will not stand for more extremist, Republican efforts to subvert the will of the people of Ohio.

Ohioans demand fair districts. Do your jobs and follow the law!

The commission should wake up and make sure that the Republican-drawn map, sprung upon us last week after being crafted in another secret bunker, goes nowhere.

That map is completely unacceptable.

We know that gerrymandering is real, we know that the Republican map is obscene gerrymandering, and we know that protests of innocence and ignorance by Sen. Huffman and Speaker Cupp are ridiculous gaslighting.

We certainly can tell what a map is likely to do, and claims otherwise are absurd after the past decade's Congressional map ensured the same partisan outcome five times out of five, despite greatly fluctuating voter intent over the decade. We can tell that the new Republican map is drawn to favor Republicans, far beyond even the most Republican-favorable statewide elections have done. That's a complete violation of the state constitution.

If two members of the Commission want to persist in gaslighting and juvenile word games, the rest of the Commission must act like adults and get on with producing fair maps without them.

Matt -

Sure you're having a lot of fun with the redistricting process. Received the attached email today from our state representative.

Just so you know, IF he is correct, there will be at least one new Shelby County candidate with plenty of money and lots of positive name recognition that will challenge Susan Manchester. There are actually two with plenty of resources and community links but they will not run against each other. Theresa and her county committee have been inundated with complaints about Susan the past 8 months.

Susan seems to be big on issuing pronouncements and resolutions, but very weak on the key issues concerning Shelby County voters (CRT, COVID mandates, girls sports). A large number of complaints center on her non-response to constituent inquiries, lack of responsible legislative action and way too much cooperation with her friends across the aisle.

Through our affiliation with OVV, we hear similar complaints across Ohio from a large number of grassroots voters about other GOP incumbent legislators. GOP voters are fed up with lots of talk and no real action on matters important to all of us.

For the hometown folks, suggest you stick with the district lines illustrated late last week. All of Shelby, northern Darke and southwestern Auglaize with an open seat. I believe Vitale's claims below may be self ego driven. Hope so, otherwise Susan and her friends at 511 S. 5th St. are going to need a very large sum of money to run in Shelby County and in the end will lose anyway.

Just between us, I believe the ORP is absolutely clueless on where a vast majority of Ohio GOP voters stand at this point. If so, May 2022 could be ugly and November 2022 will be a disaster. Susan's representation of her current constituents is a typical illustration of the problem across Ohio.

Thanks for your time and consideration on this matter. Feel welcome to contact me if you wish to discuss this further.

Manchester adopts all of Shelby

Running against either of these two would require name id and bucks as they would be heavily protected with Columbus money.

President Matt Huffman,

Hello,

I am very concerned with the processand out come of Ohio's redistricting thus far. Ohio's Constitution requires that Ohioans be allowed to submit their own draft district maps during the official redistricting process. But there is not currently a way to submit these maps.

The map thus far proposed is also unacceptable and in direct violation of all the work that was done previously to ensure fair maps.

Please fulfill your constitutional obligation and pass a quality public submission bill, like HB-313, immediately and begin work to address the problems on their current proposed maps.

I look forward to your response. This issue is very important to me, so I will be checking back regularly to receive updates. I am also encouraging others to pay close attention to the process as it is key maintaining a healthy democracy.

Hello,

Because of rigged district lines, Republicans currently hold supermajorities in Ohio's Statehouse. They've only won about 55% of the statewide vote in the last 10 years, but hold 75% of state Senate seats. That is unacceptable.

If a political party isn't winning a supermajority of the vote, they shouldn't occupy a supermajority of the seats.

Hello,

Here is my voting redistricting plan that I want to put in the contest.

richard j. kunkel

Sirs:

Not only can I draw a better Ohio Districts map, it has already been drawn. The answer is simple, and I have suggested this to a few officials before.

Simply use the existing county borders. These are borders that will never change. While some few counties may lean one way or the other, it will always be known, and the boundaries will never change. Ohio has 88 counties. We could even combine two counties together with one state rep, if the populations were small. This way we could reduce our Ohio stare reps considerably and end up saving money.

For instance, Medina country leans republican, so a democrat will know this and have to try harder. Ditto for Cuyahoga county which leans democrat, republicans will know this and thus try harder. Or, you could put two neighboring counties in one district, using the county boundaries, and pair a democrat and a republican one, thus cancelling them out.

But the huge advantage here is that no new districts will be needed, no redistricting every few years, no partisan redistricting. Actual counties that lean hard are not many, thus it would seriously level the playing field. Not perfectly, but many times better than what we have with multiply divided counties. Everything will be permanent and upfront. The only change that may come about would be due to population changes. If a county loses a lot of people, then it may be paired with a neighboring county. Or if one gains in population significantly, it might be un paired. Population limits can be easily figured, or totality ignored. Let each county have a rep, but we will always know that the boundaries can never be changed for any partisan advantage ever. I look and see dozens of counties in Ohio with multiple representatives, they are carved up so badly. Make the county boundaries the new district boundaries and all this worry and bother and partisanship simply stops.

This principal could be applied to state and congressional electrons.

I'd really like some feedback on this idea. I understand there is a prize for the best drawn. Put my name in that hat as well.

Thank you and looking to hear from you folks.

As detailed in today's editorial (link above), it's clear that the Republican supermajority has no interest in taking Ohio Redistricting efforts seriously, and intends to maintain gerrymandered districts.

Ohio voters overwhelmingly approved constitutional amendments in 2015 (state districts) and 2018 (congressional districts). To not follow these amendments and create fair districts would represent a gross dereliction of duty, and should result in criminal charges against all who worked against such an outcome.

You have until Wednesday's deadline to present fair district maps. I sincerely hope you will do so -- but given the Republican supermajority's hyper-partisan behavior, I have little faith that such a proposal will result.

Be aware that we citizens of Ohio are watching closely, and will do all we can to challenge any unfair districts that may be adopted. We refused to have our votes neutered, and will not stand for more extremist, Republican efforts to subvert the will of the people of Ohio.

Ohioans demand fair districts. Do your jobs and follow the law!

It breaks apart communities of color and packs Republicans into red districts in order to diminish our voice and votes. The Republican party continues to move toward dangerous marginalization. I've met you several times at events for Mark Romanchuk. I have to say that even considering the new redistricting rules I think Mark has been screwed! Pitting him against an incumbent Republican after serving as likely the best elected official in Ohio, particularly in the state legislature, is pitiful at best! I've been involved with Republican politics for 60 years and I'm learning even more about why our party isn't necessarily any better than "the other guys"!
While you may not have been personally responsible for this action after your comments about how you got Mark to run at the start, which I find hard to believe since I was his campaign manager when he first ran for the house and never heard your name mentioned, I find the your hypocrisy a sad indictment of the way things are.
If Mark decides to take on the challenge he faces (I hope he does because Ohio needs him in the Senate!) and I don't know whether he will, but I will do my very best to make those who have tried to remove him look as bad I can.

Senate President Matt Huffman,

Dear Ohio Redistricting Commission Member,

The voters are not amused. Millions of Ohioans voted to reform the redistricting process for General Assembly districts in 2015. At the core of the constitutional amendment's reforms was a commitment to transparency at all stages of the process, and that is why I write to you today.

The members of Ohio Redistricting Commission need to stand with the millions of Ohioans who voted for fairness and transparency, and release a set schedule of public hearings now - before any more work of the Commission is complete. By releasing a set schedule of hearings, you will send a message to all Ohioans that you will honor your oath of office to uphold, not only the letter of the redistricting reform law, but also the spirit of the law.

The people of Ohio deserve and expect transparency throughout the redistricting processes. That means a set schedule of hearings so Ohioans can adequately plan to attend Commission meetings, deliberate over proposed maps, submit testimony, and most importantly - know when a possible vote is forthcoming.

The people of Ohio cannot be left in the dark.

According to Dave's redistricting, your new map gives you 67 seats and the correct amount according to vote counts should be close to 54 or 55, which is in the Dem map. So how can you call this just a few districts apart? It's 12-13 apart. I don't know how you can work that down. Start over with the Citizens map- it seems to meet most of the criteria in the law- and is FAIR.

Senate President Matt Huffman,

The deadline for Ohio's new state legislative and congressional districts are rapidly approaching, and the people of Ohio still do not have clear guidance on how they can submit their own maps for consideration to the Ohio Redistricting Commission or the General Assembly.

The constitutional amendments passed in 2015 and 2018, each with over 70% support, clearly state that there must be an opportunity for the people of Ohio to offer testimony on proposed General Assembly and congressional district map plans and have an opportunity to propose their own maps. As of today, the General Assembly has still not fulfilled this constitutional obligation.

The people of Ohio demand a fair, transparent, and accessible redistricting process that focuses on the listening and responding to the voices of all Ohioans. In order to achieve this, there must be a procedure in place for Ohioans to offer their own district maps.

I urge the Ohio Redistricting Commission and the state legislature to immediately work to set up a portal where citizens can submit maps they have created.

Dear Chairman Huffman,

I am writing as a member of the American Association of Orthodontists (AAO) and its over 400 member orthodontists across the state of Ohio, who are small business owners and health care providers, to ask that you oppose any proposed amendments to House Bill 122 that include any dental provisions.

Proposed amendment language to House Bill 122 that involves the Dental Practice Act (Chapter 4715) is beyond the intent of House Bill 122 and its goal to provide access to telehealth services during the global health crisis related to the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic. We believe the proposed amendment would allow dentists without an Ohio license to treat Ohio patients via teledentistry, without first performing an exam or taking X-rays. The proposed language would also remove existing law governing teledentistry that requires a dentist to obtain a permit from the State Dental Board in order to direct a dental hygienist or expanded function dental auxiliary to perform certain services through teledentistry.

In late 2018 the General Assembly passed a teledentistry bill which was enacted and became effective in March 2019. The lawmaking process consisted of 7 public hearings in the House and Senate Committees and numerous interested party meetings. The teledentistry law - House Bill 184 from the 132nd General Assembly - passed the Ohio House of Representatives with 91 votes and was amended into Senate Bill 259, which passed the Ohio Senate by a 31 – 0 vote.

Ohio already has excellent teledentistry rules that allow dentists and hygienists to work together to increases access to quality care and reach traditionally underserved areas in Ohio. Other states have looked to Ohio's existing rules as example for addressing the need for telehealth in dentistry in an appropriate way. As such, we ask that you oppose any efforts to amend House Bill 122 that include changes to the Dental Practice Act.

If you have any questions or would like more information, please contact the AAO's local representative, Mr. Aaron Ockerman.

Thank you for your service to your Ohio constituents.

Senate President Matt Huffman,

Ohioans voted overwhelmingly in 2018 to end gerrymandering. The new rules in the Ohio Constitution require you to adopt a congressional map that keeps communities together and does not unduly favor or disfavor any political party. Ohioans want to vote in fair elections and have their voices be heard.

Both House Bill 479 and Senate Bill 258 fail to live up to the fairness and balance required in the revised Ohio Constitution. I urge you to reject these two maps -- and any others that "pack" and "crack" communities in order to tip the scales in favor of one party.

Please, put partisanship aside and work together to come up with a ten year map that is fair and gives all Ohioans a voice.

Renew Ohio Files Amicus Brief in Ohio Redistricting Lawsuits

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
November 15, 2021

(COLUMBUS) - Renew Ohio, a 501(c)(4) organization created in 2013 to support a variety of policy initiatives, announced today that the organization has filed an amicus brief with the Ohio Supreme Court on the cases challenging the constitutionality of the new maps for the Ohio General Assembly. Renew Ohio actively supported the 2014-2015 bipartisan reform of Ohio's legislative reapportionment law and believes that the Ohio Supreme Court should deny the claims made by the League of Women Voters, the Ohio Organizing Collaborative, among others, and uphold the maps approved by the Ohio Redistricting Commission.

"In negotiating the 2014-15 constitutional amendment on redistricting reform, we were very careful to protect Ohioans from demands that Ohio be gerrymandered to give Democrats what they cannot win at the ballot box," said Renew Ohio Board Member Jeff Jacobson. "Our organization's extensive review of the maps adopted by the Ohio Redistricting Commission demonstrates that the Commission was fair, in fact more than fair, when drawing the lines. The only way to give Democrats control in significantly more districts would be to gerrymander in their favor. And that's exactly what the Ohio Constitution prohibits. We urge the Supreme Court to deny petitioners the relief they requested and instead uphold the Constitution."

Senate President Matt Huffman,

Ohioans voted overwhelmingly in 2018 to end gerrymandering. The new rules in the Ohio Constitution require you to adopt a congressional map that keeps communities together and does not unduly favor or disfavor any political party. Ohioans want to vote in fair elections and have their voices be heard.

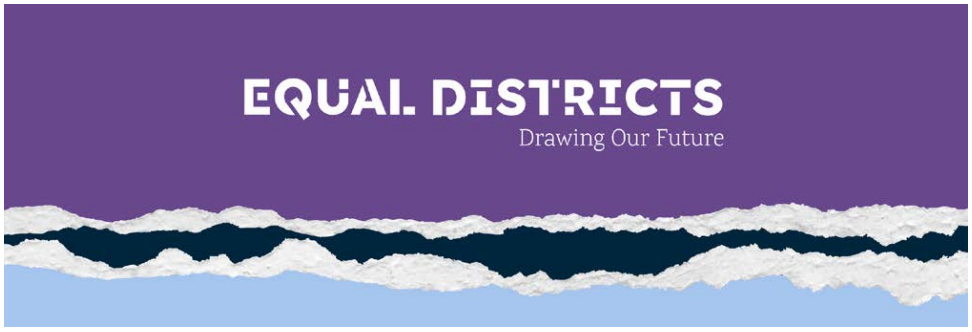
Both House Bill 479 and Senate Bill 258 fail to live up to the fairness and balance required in the revised Ohio Constitution. I urge you to reject these two maps -- and any others that "pack" and "crack" communities in order to tip the scales in favor of one party.



Please, put partisanship aside and work together to come up with a ten year map that is fair and gives all Ohioans a voice.

"Here is the thing — we passed H.A.V.A. That was important. The Help America Vote Act, but then we did nothing. Senators Graham, Clinton and I introduced the bill to insure a paper trail goes along with the electronic voting. We couldn't even get a hearing in that last congress. Over in the House, it's the same problem. We need this kind of bill. So, let me simply say to my colleagues, I have great respect for all of you, but I think it's key that whether we're republicans or democrats, we understand that the centerpiece, the centerpiece of this country is democracy, and the centerpiece of democracy is insuring the right to vote. And I ask you, my friends, from both sides of the aisle, when we get busy working in the next few weeks, let us not turn away from the things that happen in Ohio."

Senate President Matt Huffman,

Ohioans voted overwhelmingly in 2018 to end gerrymandering. The new rules in the Ohio Constitution require you to adopt a congressional map that keeps communities together and does not unduly favor or disfavor any political party. Ohioans want to vote in fair elections and have their voices be heard.

Both House Bill 479 and Senate Bill 258 fail to live up to the fairness and balance required in the revised Ohio Constitution. I urge you to reject these two maps -- and any others that "pack" and "crack" communities in order to tip the scales in favor of one party.

Please, put partisanship aside and work together to come up with a ten year map that is fair and gives all Ohioans a voice.

Mr. Huffman
Ohioans voted twice for fair maps. Guns, abortions, mask & vaccines, the Republican party is keeping or taking Ohio back to the dark ages. Industries don't want to locate in Ohio just for that fact. Republicans are pandering to old white, protestant rural Ohioans and we are more than that. Allen County is not a progressive county and it shows that NO industries want to locate here. Even Lima rejected the Republican mayoral candidate. Republican policies are not good for Ohio.

By the way HB6 – I don't want my money going to subsidize a coal power plant in Indiana, I don't want it subsidizing coal plants in Ohio. My son lives 10 miles up the river from one on the East side of the state. I see the smoke rolling 24/7.

My personal opinion is that gerrymandering is largely responsible for the greater partisanship that we are seeing in elected officials. Because candidates mostly only need to worry about winning their primary, we wind up with extremists on both the left and the right along with non-representative governments.

Ohioans want to vote in fair elections and have their voices be heard.

Both House Bill 479 and Senate Bill 258 fail to live up to the fairness and balance required in the revised Ohio Constitution. I urge you to reject these two maps -- and any others that "pack" and "crack" communities in order to tip the scales in favor of one party.

As your constituent, Rep Ghanbari and Senator Gavarone, and one who carried Petitions in 2018 and voted for Fair Districts, as did 70% of the voters in all 88 counties, I ask you, Please, put partisanship aside and work together to come up with a ten year map that is fair, reflect the demographic of our electorate and gives all Ohioans a voice.

I have had enough of Ohio's Congressional Districts from 2011 through 2021. In the 15 districts' elections, none of the 83 elections was won by a person in in a district which was "tilted in favor" of the other party, NOT ONE! What is the point of voting if it doesn't matter if the election is decided before the votes are cast? Maybe it would just be easier to declare someone "THE PRINCE or PRINCESS" for 10 years, and let him / her sit on a throne and have someone wave a fan made of Ostridge feathers and a retinue of servants responding to every need. That is very close to what is happening!

COLUMBUS — This coming Tuesday, the Equal Districts Coalition — a group of over 30 Ohio advocacy organizations and labor unions engaged in the 2021 redistricting process — will hold a press event at the Statehouse, calling on legislators to vote against any congressional map that is not fair and representative.

The Equal Districts Coalition is calling for a congressional map that keeps communities together, empowers communities of color, and reflects how Ohioans vote. A fair map would break down to eight Republican seats and seven Democratic seats in Congress.

After Tuesday's press conference, Equal Districts Coalition partners and supporters will remain at the Statehouse for an advocates' lobby

The new rules in the Ohio Constitution require you to adopt a congressional map that keeps communities together and does not unduly favor or disfavor any political party. Ohioans want to vote in fair elections and have their voices be heard.

Redistricting

Have common sense, clear redistricting that does not make voters think there is anything mischievous going on, clear squarish, districts. The districts really don't matter, our system is self balancing but what does matter are citizens faith in our system, don't make it look suspicious or manipulative, ethics and integrity, they're important, and even more important are perceived ethical or unethical behavior.

Subject:	NARAL Pro-Choice Ohio urges NO votes on HB 479 and SB 258
Date:	Friday, November 12, 2021 10:55:22 AM

Members of the Ohio General Assembly,

I am writing today, on behalf of NARAL Pro-Choice Ohio and our over 50,000 members across the state to urge all members to oppose HB 479 and SB 258. Both bills are extreme partisan gerrymanders that violate the spirit of the 2018 congressional redistricting reform. That reform was passed by a supermajority of Ohioans and now this legislature is ignoring the mandate from these voters and once again putting party politics over the people of Ohio.

Votes on HB 479 and SB 258 will both be scored for the NARAL Pro-Choice Ohio 134th Ohio General Assembly legislative scorecard. Partisan gerrymandering is one of the primary drivers of Ohio's extremist anti-abortion agenda. Time and again, polls show that the majority of Ohioans and people across this nation support access to safe, legal abortion care without judgement or delay. But because our districts are drawn to exclude the voices of these voters, we see this legislature introduce and pass abortion restriction after abortion restriction. In fact, since 2013, 25 attacks on abortion and other reproductive health care services have passed the Ohio legislature and been signed into law by the governor. That is more than any other period in Ohio's history.

Just like abortion restrictions, partisan gerrymandering impacts communities of color, low-income individuals, and young people the most. These people have their voices silenced, their votes diluted, and their communities threated by map proposals like those contained in HB 479 and SB 258.

Ohioans demanded in 2018, and still demand today, that our elected leaders take politics out of our map drawing process. Instead of hearing those demands Republican leaders in our state have doubled down on drawing partisan gerrymandered district maps. NARAL Pro-Choice Ohio joins with Ohioans across this state saying, we have had enough. We urge a NO vote on HB 479 and SB 258.

If you have any questions or need additional information, please feel free to reach out to me at Jaime@ProChoiceOhio.org.

President Matt Huffman,

Hello,

The redistricting process is so important. Ohio's new congressional district lines will shape the future of our state — and possibly all of Congress — for at least the next decade.

Ohio's constitution says the redistricting commission must draw new congressional maps by the end of October. That deadline is coming up fast, and the process shouldn't be rushed. You'll need time to hold public hearings and gather testimony on any proposed maps.

You hold a crucial role on the redistricting commission. That's why I'm asking you to get the process started today. Urge your fellow commissioners to propose maps and schedule public hearings. Don't wait until the last minute — and don't allow negotiations behind closed doors.

I'm also asking you to stand with the Equal Districts Coalition in demanding fair maps. For the past ten years, Ohioans have voted about 55% Republican, 45% Democratic. The maps should reflect how Ohioans actually vote. Don't settle for anything less.

Ohio is counting on you.

Thank You.

Senate President Matt Huffman,

Ohioans voted overwhelmingly in 2018 to end gerrymandering. The new rules in the Ohio Constitution require you to adopt a congressional map that keeps communities together and does not unduly favor or disfavor any political party. Ohioans want to vote in fair elections and have their voices be heard.

Both House Bill 479 and Senate Bill 258 fail to live up to the fairness and balance required in the revised Ohio Constitution. I urge you to reject these two maps -- and any others that "pack" and "crack" communities in order to tip the scales in favor of one party.

Please, put partisanship aside and work together to come up with a ten year map that is fair and gives all Ohioans a voice.

I have lived in a gerrymandered congressional district (district 2) for the last 10 years. It is one thing to live in a district where your chosen candidate loses an election BUT it is a different animal to live in an area where your voice has been silenced because of lines drawn in a secretive, partisan manner. Nothing that I value matches up with my representative. That was NO accident. Citizens of Blue Ash have almost nothing in common with citizens of Scioto or Adams County. I HAVE BEEN UNREPRESENTED and it SUCKS!
Just set up Fair districts which will allow ALL of our voices to be heard.

There is no way on this earth that the two proposed maps put forward by the Republicans in the House and Senate, which appear to maintain a Republican grip on 87% of the seats, while statewide votes from 2012 to 2020 went only 54% Republican, follow either the letter or spirit of the process voted in by WE THE PEOPLE OF OHIO. Not only do these proposed maps completely skew our representation in Congress, they allow our representatives to continue to ignore the opinions and needs of their own constituents because their seats would continue not to be competitive, even in areas of the state which should be competitive based upon the way the electors vote, allowing representatives to continue to be nonresponsive to the voters of their districts. It is time to STOP DISMISSING, DISREGARDING AND DISRESPECTING OHIO VOTERS AND PASS A FAIRLY DRAWN MAP NOW IN ACCORDANCE WITH ISSUE 1! We voted for transparency and fairness in the process. Citizens have been testifying at multiple recent hearings overwhelmingly objecting to the unfairly Republican drawn maps, yet they largely go unheard and unheeded.

Our voters in 2018 passed the Issue 1 amendment with almost 75% of the vote including at least over 66% approval in every district, Democratic and Republican alike. Rather than just lamenting that the congressional district map is also destined to be litigated, does it occur to you that you could just draw fair maps now? Get to work and be done with it, show that Ohio hasn't totally lost the ability to do anything right, to stand up for fairness and democracy! Quit wasting all of the money spent going to court. Even Republican Governor DeWine stated his view that the proposed congressional maps as they stand will not "fly", and should be used as a starting point for both sides of the aisle.

Subject: Ohio Redistricting Commission, Get to Work!
Date: Thursday, November 11, 2021 10:17:25 PM

Senate President Matt Huffman,

My name is Matt Deptola. I vote in the 19th Senate and 22nd House District in the City of Columbus.

I would like to draw your attention to the proposed new district maps which give Ohio Republicans a significant advantage and limit the number of competitive districts in the state. The proposed map cuts across many Central Ohio communities in irregular ways that stacks the number of historically Democratic voters into Democratic-heavy precincts which makes fewer competitive districts that should exist than currently proposed. The new map "must correspond closely to the statewide preferences of the voters of Ohio" and therefore should create districts closer to the Republican majority (54% in 2020 presidential).

I strongly urge the redistricting committee to vote for a map with 100% of members being in favor of the proposed change(s) as opposed to the current situation where both minority party appointees voted against the map.

Ohio has been criticized in national publications for the lack of integrity in the map-making process.

"There are fewer uglier and more cynical political processes than redistricting and gerrymandering. But even by those standards, what's taking place in Ohio is extraordinary," writes Aaron Blake from the Washington Post in September 2021.

Ohio doesn't deserve to be in the national spotlight because of our approach to redistricting. We deserve to be in the press for our high quality of life and pro-business environment. I urge that you create a map that represents liberty, equality, and honesty which has the real potential to negatively impact the things that make Ohio great.

Thank you for your time and consideration of my request.

President Matt Huffman,

Hello,

As a member of Ohio's redistricting commission, I'm sure you know your deadline for congressional district maps was October 31st.

The commission should have presented draft maps weeks ago. Ohioans should be testifying on the maps at official hearings. But none of that is happening. Instead, the Republican-dominated commission and legislature have repeatedly missed mandatory deadlines.

Ohio's Constitution is not a suggestion. It's the law. There is no excuse for ignoring it.

I am deeply concerned that all these missed deadlines mean some commissioners are drawing maps in secret behind closed doors. That is cheating. And it is unacceptable.

Ohio voters went to the polls in massive numbers to demand a fair redistricting process and equal districts. This is not what we voted for.

Stop cheating us. Stop ignoring us. Show us the maps.

Thank you.

Ohio Republicans in our legislature have severely endangered Ohioans in their self-serving quest to lard up both the gun lobbies and now, fireworks manufacturers. Frankly, I'm sick of it, especially after enduring the corrupt debasement of the redistricting plan voted in by the majority of Ohioans.

I'm certainly far from the only Ohio resident who is sick of right wing extremists' taking hold in Ohio, thereby putting our citizens at risk. We HAD sensible fireworks regulations and before that, sensible gun regulations. No one suffered needlessly nor had their "rights" taken away from them from those common-sense regulations. Now it seems that all Ohio Republicans are on board with passing laws that make Ohio a treacherous place to live and work.

It has become the Wild West in Ohio, and it seems there's no lengths to which Republicans are willing to go if it means lining their own bank accounts and keeping outsized political power in their state. It's a reprehensible debasement of the democratic system to gimmick a political supermajority for yourselves in a realistically purple state.

If Republicans believe that this will cause Ohioans to sink into political apathy, you are 100% wrong. Your moral disgrace becomes our strength. Your dishonor fuels our courage. And your devaluing of Ohioans' lives will be the political justification to defeat every last one of you!

I could not be more dismayed at the continued blatant efforts of the Republicans involved in redistricting to disregard and flout the will of the people of Ohio, who passed a constitutional amendment to stop the gerrymandering, rigging, of Ohio elections! There is no way on this earth that the proposed maps put forward by the Republicans in the House and Senate, which appear to maintain a Republican grip on 87% of the seats, while statewide votes from 2012 to 2020 went only 54% Republican, follow either the letter or spirit of the process voted in by WE THE PEOPLE OF OHIO. Further, we demand that a much fairer congressional map be drawn; the statehouse maps are a disgrace, questioned with uncertainty and doubt by even the three Redistricting Commission Republican members who have statewide responsibilities. It is the citizens, the voters of Ohio like myself and my family, who are outraged at the gerrymandering which favors Republicans to a degree that is way out of line with the way Ohioans have been voting over the past ten years, maps that do not come remotely close to respecting the amendment to the Ohio constitution which WE the voters passed. We demand a fair map in line with the way Ohioans have recently voted, about 54% Republican to 46% Democratic, the same Ohioans who voted to demand fair redistricting this time around!
WE the voters of Ohio are the ones angry and resentful that our will and votes are being mocked and rejected by the Republicans drawing and approving maps which violate our rights to be heard as an electorate, and we are standing up against the attempts to usurp our power as voters! We will not be disenfranchised through unfair district manipulation by some Republicans who are determined to choose their voters rather than be chosen.

Senator Huffman,
I am disappointed to read the plans for the redistricting of the Ohio legislative districts. Given the negative impacts on Ohio based on socialist ideology coming our of Washington DC, we conservatives need representatives who are willing to fight for the interests of our state and all citizens. Jim Jordan is one of those fighters. The proposed redistricting map is a mistake to establish a new district that includes inner city Columbus. By doing so, your plan is directly disenfranchising the voters in rural Ohio.
Sincerely
Samuel Hunt

Good evening Matt -

The issue I am contacting you about is with regards to the U.S. Congressional redistricting that is occurring as a result of the 2020 Census. I am hearing rumors, and I can not easily determine the validity of them, that our U.S. House of Representatives district will be merged with Columbus's. This would effectively eliminate Jim Jordan's representation of our district, and it would pit him against a representative that is currently representing the interests of the Columbus region.

If this is true, then I am respectfully and strongly urging you to reconsider this decision. This would affect our rural district very much, as it is not aligned with most values in urban areas (I can attest to this as I work with many people from the Columbus area). Like states, such as California or New York, the large urban population overshadows the voices of the rural population. Our needs, values, and voices are lost in the midst of the urban voices, and we are essentially ignored. We won't be adequately represented, as we are now, if we become part of an urban district. This will be grossly unfair, as we contribute just as much to society. Currently we have a terrific representative in Jim Jordan. Our district appreciates him, as is apparent with his continued re-election success. I am not pleased if this direction is true, as it would limit our voice. We absolutely don't want to be marginalized, nor share a district with Columbus, and that is exactly where we are headed if this proceeds. I ask you to reconsider. Thank you.

As always, thank you for listening. I appreciate it.

Best Regards -

Sara

Hello Sen. Huffman,
What is going on with the redistricting and Jim Jordan?? He used to be my Rep. in the 12th district and he was a prize! He speaks for 100s of Ohioans and 1000s of Americans across the country! What is the deal about redrawing his district to include a heavily Dem population?? IF this is true, you can expect a crowd of protesters at the capitol in Columbus! I will be there with my family and many friends to make sure you change your course of action! The First Amendment states: "the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances." We will do that you can be assured!

The GOP Is Trying To Erase The Longest-Serving Woman In Congress
Republican lawmakers are proposing new congressional maps that might unseat Ohio Rep. Marcy Kaptur, who's been in office since 1983.
Liz Skalka
11/05/2021 05:44pm EDT
New maps proposed by Ohio Republicans would create a far more GOP-friendly district for longtime Democratic Rep. Marcy Kaptur.
The longest-serving woman currently in Congress, a Democrat from a manufacturing district in the Midwest, could lose her seat in a GOP-led redistricting effort if the party's current proposals go unchallenged.

Rep. Marcy Kaptur, a Democrat from Toledo, Ohio, who will begin her 39th year in office this January, would see a significant hurdle to her next reelection. Dueling maps from both GOP-dominated state legislative chambers create a virtually unwinnable district for Kaptur, 75.

"It's a very unusual drawing of congressional districts," Kaptur said of the maps in general, which might leave Democrats with as few as two or three congressional districts in a battleground state soon to have 15 House seats. "They don't hang together. It almost looks like they want to dilute the power of metropolitan areas."

It's not certain that Republicans, who argue Ohio's partisan makeup is no longer the competitive split that Democrats make it out to be, will even pass the proposed maps unchanged.

"It's pretty clear neither one of these maps are going to fly," Ohio Gov. Mike DeWine, a Republican, said this week.

To some Republicans, the maps are just a launch point. But Democrats see them as another extreme gerrymander they're likely to challenge in court.

Kaptur isn't the only looming Democratic casualty in Ohio. Republicans are looking to eliminate the seat held by Rep. Tim Ryan, who's running for Senate in 2022. Both chambers' maps stick a downtown Columbus condo owned by Rep. Joyce Beatty, chair of the Congressional Black Caucus, in GOP districts — one in Rep. Jim Jordan's central Ohio district and another in newly elected Rep. Mike Carey's.

In nearly a dozen states, Democrats have backed the creation of independent redistricting commissions aimed at drawing fairer congressional and state legislative boundaries, following rampant GOP gerrymandering a decade ago. But Republicans still have the upper hand in key state legislatures across the country.

That includes Ohio, where voters passed reforms in 2015 and 2018 that theoretically offered Democrats more power in exchange for not having to revisit map-drawing before the next 10-year census. The clock ran out on that potential avenue for bipartisanship, however, when the state's redistricting commission blew past its deadline last month, punting the job to legislators.

Kaptur's current district is often cited as an example of extreme partisan gerrymandering. Drawn to pick up Democratic communities along the Lake Erie shore, the district extends in a skinny line from Toledo to Cleveland, chopping up counties ever more than a 100-mile stretch. It's sometimes mockingly called the "Snake on the Lake."

Maps floated in Ohio's House and Senate would give Kaptur some deep red counties that helped propel Donald Trump's 2016 and 2020 victories in Ohio - a state that used to be considered a bellwether for presidential elections before Trump's commanding wins there. Ohio's 9th Congressional District would still be anchored in Kaptur's blue hometown, known for glassmaking and auto manufacturing, though the proposals on the table would change the boundaries of her district to give the GOP anywhere from a 6% to 20% advantage.

Asked whether she would prefer her existing district or the redraw that GOP lawmakers are proposing, Kaptur scoffed.

"Well, I don't like either one," she said. "The districts do not represent communities of interest."

The longtime Democrat is no stranger to challenging elections. After the last round of redistricting, Kaptur was drawn into a district with another Democratic incumbent, Cleveland Rep. Dennis Kucinich. She beat him by 16 percentage points in the 2012 primary and went on to romp Republican Samuel "Joe the Plumber" Wurzelbacher in the general election.

In 2018, Kaptur became the longest-serving woman in House history, beating the record held by Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers (D-Mass.), who died in 1960. She's on track to surpass former Sen. Barbara Mikulski (D-Md.), who served in both chambers, as the longest-serving woman in congressional history with 40 years in office.

Kaptur is perhaps best known for sponsoring the legislation that created the National World War II Memorial, and for declining to join the 1996 Reform Party ticket with Ross Perot as his vice presidential running mate. She's also a fierce opponent of trade deals, voting against the North American Free Trade Agreement and its Trump-era replacement, the United States-Mexico-Canada Agreement.

Even with a challenging reelection effort on the horizon, Kaptur said she doesn't have plans to retire just yet.

"We will compete where the lines are, and we will represent Ohioans and their best interests," she said.

Congressman Jim Jordan does not represent the district I live in but I have the upmost respect for Congressman Jordan. I cannot believe the Ohio republicans would want to give the democrats a win.

My representative is Congressman Mike Turner and I hope you plan on keeping him in my district.

Please tell me why you want to get rid of Congressman Jordan.

If this happens, I will not be able to vote republican again. It is bad enough the democrats love voter fraud, but to redistrict Congressman Jordan makes it look as if you and the State republican senate is okay with voter fraud, something I cannot abide by.

Parents Are Taking Back America

November 7, 2021

"The assumption that spending more of the taxpayers' money will make things better has survived all kind of evidence that has made things worse." - Thomas Sowell Parents vs Radical Left: Parents, independents, and moderate Democrats have had enough! They sent a strong message to politicians across this country that enough is enough.

The "leave us alone" coalition just wants to go ahead and live their normal lives without the government telling them what to do, when to do it, and defining the world their children "must" grow up in...under their perverted self-righteousness.

American voters let their voices be heard...

- Defunding the police is a bad idea
- Adding TRILLIONS of borrowed money to our nation's debt for political pay off is a bad idea
- Open Borders that create an illegal immigrant surge that costs taxpayers BILLIONS is a bad idea
- Shutting down schools to placate teachers' unions at the expense of our children is a bad idea
- Forcing Critical Race Theory on our children which fosters racism is a bad idea
- Indoctrinating our children to hate America is a bad idea
- Allowing biological men to compete in girls' sports and use girls' bathrooms is a bad idea
- Mandating masks and vaccines on children when the science is less than conclusive

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Allowing radical protestors to burn our cities, destroy our institutions, and invade our neighborhoods is a bad idea
- Cancel culture limiting free speech and public dissent is a bad idea
- Lecture average Americans about pronouns, sexual norms, and challenging their right to their faith is a bad idea
- Having the IRS track every transaction over $600 (while Pelosi is worth $100million +) to make sure you're not doing anything wrong?!?...is a bad idea!

The bottom line...parents matter, our children and grandchildren matter and yes, families matter.

Pelosi is a Lame Duck: After serving over 30+ years in Congress, Speaker Pelosi is a lame duck.

Moderate Democrats are being forced to cast horrible votes that their constituents don't agree with. Younger members of Congress are being forced to risk their careers for some left-wing agenda. Representative democracy is challenged by the iron fist of an outgoing House Speaker...how long can that last?

After this last Tuesday's elections across the country...many Democrats are looking for and hoping for change. Will they listen to the voters or die on the proverbial political sword for a radical left-wing agenda?!?

That is the question...

Biden's Inflation: It's here. Thanksgiving with your families will cost more this year.

It will also cost you more to travel to see your families to enjoy Biden's inflation...thanks, NOT.

P.S. more spending, more borrowing, and more pork barrel political spending isn't helping!!!

House Passes Biden Infrastructure Bill After Hours of Negotiations

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

After a day of negotiations, the House of Representatives passed a bipartisan $1.2 trillion infrastructure bill, sending it to President Joe Biden's desk late Friday evening.

The measure includes some $550 billion in new spending that seeks to fund the construction of roads, bridges and highways, public transport, water infrastructure, as well as power and broadband infrastructure, and cyber security, among other initiatives. It passed the Senate in August.

The final vote was 228-206, with 13 Republicans joining Democrats in support of the bill. The Republicans were Reps. John Katko (R-N.Y.), Andrew Garbarino (R-N.Y.), Nicole Malliotakis (R-N.Y.), Tom Reed (R-N.Y.), Jeff Van Drew (R-N.J.), Chris Smith (R-N.J.), Don Young (R-Alaska), Adam Kinzinger (R-Ill.), Fred Upon (R-Mich.), Don Bacon (R-Nebr.), Anthony Gonzalez (R-Ohio), Brian Fitzpatrick (R-Penn.), and David McKinley (R-W.Va.)

Six progressive Democrats—members of the "Squad"—voted against the measure. They were Reps. Ilhan Omar (D-Minn.), Cori Bush (D-Mo.), Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez (D-N.Y.), Ayanna Pressley (D-Mass.), Jamaal Bowman (D-N.Y.), and Rashida Tlaib (D-Mich.).

House Democrats late Friday had reached an agreement to vote on the bill, as well as to set up a separate future vote on Biden's ambitious $1.75 trillion budget bill, also known as the Build Back Better bill.

Pelosi Handing Death Sentence to 40 House Democrats

On Thursday afternoon, Speaker Nancy Pelosi, D-Calif., was very visibly gesticulating on the House floor as she tried to line up votes among fellow Democrats for the $1.7 trillion reconciliation bill pushed by President Joe Biden and the left wing of their party.

To one Republican House member, however, Pelosi's efforts amounted to the speaker making "her growing number of vulnerable Members in the House walk the plank."

"Most of Pelosi's browbeating occurred near the well of the House and was clearly visible on CSPAN," Rep. Jim Hagedorn, R.-Minn., told Newsmax shortly after the House adjourned Thursday. "Pelosi was animated and pointing fingers, most likely demanding her growing number of vulnerable members 'walk the plank' one last time. One gets the impression this exercise has become more about Pelosi's last gasp to wield power and project her leftwing bonafides on the way out of office, than doing anything constructive for America or protecting the careers of her members."

Hagedorn likened the speaker's vociferous lining up of Democrat members for the reconciliation bill to that for the Affordable Care Act (Obamacare) in 2009.

The Big 'Racist' Fail in Virginia

Voters called ‘white supremacists’ elected a black Lt. Governor.

One salutary result from Glenn Youngkin’s victory in Virginia Tuesday is the failure of Democratic racial demagoguery. Throughout the campaign Democrats and their media allies assailed Mr. Youngkin and his supporters as closet white supremacists. MSNBC’s Joy Reid said the issue of education and critical race theory is “code for white parents don’t like the idea of teaching about race.”

On PBS the Washington Post’s Jonathan Capehart said that if Mr. Youngkin won it would be because Republicans decided that “tap-dancing with white supremacy is their way back into power.” Terry McAuliffe was especially nasty as he closed his campaign this weekend, saying of his rival: “He’s run a racist campaign from start to finish.”

So what did all these racist Virginia voters do Tuesday night? In addition to electing Mr. Youngkin as Governor, they elected Winsome Sears as Lt. Governor. She will be the first African-American woman to be elected to statewide office in Virginia history. These same “racists” appear to have rejected Mark Herring, a Democrat who admitted he’d appeared in blackface. Instead they chose Jason Miyares, who will be Virginia’s first Latino attorney general.

Biden's 2020 victory masks the GOP’s quiet dominance

Lost in the public obsession with former President Trump's loss, grievances and threats to run again: Non-Trump Republicans have had a strong, yearlong run nationally beneath and around him.

Why it matters: Democrats control Washington and hold sway in most colleges and corporate suites, plus much of the mainstream media. But Republicans are thriving despite Trump's tactics and antics.

Republicans kept their distance from Trump and won the governor's mansion in Virginia — and almost won liberal New Jersey.

They picked up a dozen House seats in 2020 when almost everyone thought they would lose a bunch.
Republicans also picked up 154 state legislative seats in 2020 to take control of two new chambers.

These statehouse wins help them draw districts for 2022 that could net as many as 13 seats, according to a Democratic study.
Redistricting alone is expected to give Republicans the five seats they'd need to flip the U.S. House.
Ahead of January's inauguration of Glenn Youngkin in Virginia, Republicans control 27 of the 50 state governor's mansions.

In Virginia, GOP finds new playbook — not easily replicated

In a stunning victory in Virginia and a strong showing in New Jersey, the Republican Party has fashioned a playbook that could repair the GOP's tarnished image in swing states and suburban districts across the nation.

But it is a formula that may be difficult to replicate on a broad scale in next year's midterm elections.

Republican businessman Glenn Youngkin, virtually unknown a year ago, won the Virginia governor's race early Wednesday by running away from the national Republican Party and its most prominent leaders — especially Donald Trump.

The Virginia Republican spent the closing months of his campaign avoiding the divisive issues that most animate Trump's base, including the baseless prospect of election fraud. And Youngkin benefited from running against former Gov. Terry McAuliffe, a political insider with a muddled message.

"Candidates matter," Youngkin chief strategist Jeff Roe said. "We weren't defined by Obama, we weren't defined by Trump, we were defined by Glenn."

Four lessons from Youngkin's big win

Glenn Youngkin's victory in Virginia on Tuesday has supercharged the view that Republicans have big momentum as we head into the midterm elections next year. Everybody loves a winner, and Youngkin, having put the latest "W" on the scoreboard for the GOP, will be the model Republicans will look to replicate over the next year.

Plenty of post-election punditry will try to say what did (or didn't) give Youngkin the edge. Progressives largely seem to have decided that a combination of the specter of critical race theory paired with congressional Democrats' inability to "go bold" on Joe Biden's agenda is what sunk former Gov. Terry McAuliffe and the rest of the Democratic ticket.

But my take on the available data suggests that rather than a single unified theory of "what happened in Virginia," Youngkin's victory was fueled by a variety of factors.

Schools mattered — in more ways than you think. Education was a top-tier issue in the Virginia governor's race. My polling showed Youngkin ahead by 15 points among K-12 parents in Virginia. Youngkin's ads in major media markets hammered McAuliffe saying he didn't think parents should tell schools what they should teach, while promising to raise education funding.

Yes, "critical race theory" was a concept Youngkin would touch on in statements and on Twitter, though you probably didn't hear those words in a TV ad in a major market...

Republicans look to education as winning issue after Virginia successes

Republicans are looking to education as a winning issue ahead of next year's midterm elections after putting it front and center propelled the party to a clear victory in Virginia Tuesday.

Virginia Gov.-elect Glenn Youngkin spent much of his campaign focusing on how much control parents should have over what is taught in their children's classroom. Youngkin's focus on the issues came as Loudoun County, a Washington, D.C., exurb, became the epicenter of the nationwide fight centering on school boards.

According to CNN exit polls, roughly 25 percent of Virginia voters said education was their most important issue, second only to the economy.

The issue also may have played a role in the razor-thin New Jersey governor's race that has yet to be called. Republican Jack Ciattarelli has slammed the idea of critical race theory being taught in schools and far outpaced expectations at the ballot box.

Conservative activists are predicting the win on education in Virginia to be the start of a movement akin to the Tea Party, which was key to massive Republican gains in Congress in 2010.

The strategists who made the 'Youngkin Republican'

For the first time in 12 years, a Republican won the governorship in Virginia. And it wasn't just any victory — to claim the seat, Glenn Youngkin had to beat Terry McAuliffe, former governor and Democratic royalty. Ryan Lizza digs into the narrow win with Youngkin campaign strategists Jeff Roe and Kristin Davison, and the mistakes they think McAuliffe's campaign made. Network liberals go through '7 stages of grief' over collapse of McAuliffe

The liberals on America's networks ended up going through the "seven stages of grief" over Democrat Terry McAuliffe's election collapse in the Virginia governor's race, won by Republican Glenn Youngkin this week.

That's according to a tongue-lashing that social media delivered as the anchors appeared stunned by developments Tuesday night.

The Daily Mail reported "liberal news hosts" were being "roasted" for their collective meltdown as reality hit.

"Hosts on MSNBC and CNN were unable to contain their shock at McAuliffe's defeat, with Jake Tapper looking at a map of the election results and saying flatly: 'Oh my God.'" the report explained.

And, it continued, "Commentator Joy Reid joined Rachel Maddow on MSNBC and launched an astonishing tirade against 'dangerous' Republicans, warning that voting for Youngkin – 'a soft white racist' - was a gateway to more 'hardcore racism.'"

Border GOP lawmakers urge Dem leaders to pull immigration provisions from spending bill, citing migrant crisis

Democrats have been mulling various forms of protection for illegal immigrants in the Build Back Better Act.

epublican lawmakers from border states on Wednesday wrote to Democratic congressional leaders, urging them to pull controversial immigration provisions -- including amnesty for illegal immigrants -- from the Democratic spending bill before Congress, warning that it will exacerbate the crisis at the southern border.

The letter, led by Rep. Chip Roy, R-Texas, and signed on to by every House Republican lawmaker in a border state, tells Senate Majority Leader Chuck Schumer and House Speaker Nancy Pelosi that "we cannot afford to create new incentives to illegal migration in the midst of this crisis."

There were more than 192,000 migrant encounters in September, down only slightly from the more than 200,000 encountered in July and August. It means that more than 1.7 million migrants were encountered in FY 2021.

Really, the Polls Stole the New Jersey Gubernatorial Election Jack Ciattarelli was robbed.

This is not a rant about machines programmed in Venezuela, dead people voting, midnight voter dumps, felons voting, phoney mailed ballots with forged signatures, vote harvesting, people illegally in the country casting ballots, people voting more than once, valid ballots being found uncounted in dumpsters, or counting envelopes postmarked after expired deadlines.

Rather, this is about a manifest election steal this past Tuesday. It happens too often, and it has to stop, but it takes too much intelligence by too many people to make it stop. Too many people just are not insightful enough to realize they are being bamboozled. They will be fooled again and again and again until they die and are buried, leaving behind genetic code to assure future generations of patsies. It is about the way that Left-oriented polls steal elections from Republicans.

Back in the late 1960s I volunteered, as a high schooler, for a guy running for New York's City Council. I learned more about politics during those six months than I ever have since. Brooklyn effectively has only one contending party, the Democrats, so — if you have any brains — you register Democrat even if you are a conservative Republican, and then you work for and vote for the conservative Republican "Democrat" of your choice. Many one-party polities operate that way. Indeed, I soon will be publishing a series of articles urging Republicans in Ocasio's district to change registrations away from the GOP — just registered Republicans in that one district — so they can vote her out in the Democrat primaries. That is when she can be kicked out on the rump of her $14,000 "Tax the Rich" Dress. By contrast, a Democrat in that district cannot be beaten by a Republican in a November election. Most voters there simply are not sophisticated enough to discern nuances between and among candidates; rather, they blindly vote party. (Oh, for the Critical Race Theory monitors who see Systemic Racism in every punctuation mark, the fools to whom I am referring are White people. And white, of course, consists of all colors.)

Early on, when in those teens, I learned that polls can be crazy wrong and thereby actually distort elections. Almost invariably, the polling mistakes favor Democrats and the Left. One would assume that, in a world of innocent mistakes, half the time the Left benefits, and half the time the Right. But when it comes to election polling, the mistakes almost always favor the Left. When the polls are distorted, the Democrat almost invariably ends up polling better than the final results. And so it was Tuesday in the Garden State.

Real Clear Politics tries their best — and I am a fan of RCP — to get numbers right by publishing averages of several respected polls, so that the voters can gauge the trends with greater accuracy. Thus, an outlier poll gets mediated by the mix. Going into election day, that RCP average had Democrat Phil Murphy beating Republican Jack Ciattarelli for governor by almost eight points. Such a gap is impossible to close, beyond any margin of error. Even for those of us who discount polls as biased towards the Left, an eight-point gap is profound, a borderline landslide in American elections.

All the power to the parents vs. Critical Race Theory

Raised during the 1960s era of systematic racism and consequential societal change, I have experienced the real-life impacts of our country's world-changing mission statement: "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal." That is what makes recent attempts to institutionalize division and disincentivize parental involvement in the classroom all the more disturbing.

I grew up in a home of teachers. My dad was a college professor for more than 40 years, and my mom taught junior high. They were trusted to do what teachers throughout our history have always done: teach students to read, write, add, subtract, and think critically, nurturing the wellbeing of children at important stages of development along the way. To this day, I still remember the life lessons learned from both my parents and my teachers.

As a father of six and grandfather to 16, it has been my experience that success in the classroom and beyond is not just based on extraordinary teachers and a strong curriculum, but on robust parental involvement. Parents have and always will be invaluable advocates for their children, and we do not expect, nor will we tolerate, attacks to the contrary.

Parents' passionate concerns and debate regarding the divisive practices of critical race theory, school safety and other education decisions that directly impact their children should be encouraged and supported, not attacked and disregarded. Recent actions by the federal Department of Education, Department of Justice, and activist teachers' unions to intimidate and stifle the voices of concerned taxpaying Americans are shameful and harmful to students.

Democrats: If You Disagree With Us, You're An Insurrectionist

U.S. Attorney General Merrick Garland's refusal to back off from investigating parents is rooted in the belief that all dissent against the leftist establishment must be repressed.

For Democrats, Groundhog Day came nearly a month early this year. For them, like the character in the classic Bill Murray comedy, every day is Jan. 6. For them, every challenge to leftist orthodoxy, whether in the form of Biden administration policy or local school boards attempting to impose critical race theory, unreasonable COVID precautions, or transgender policies, is another day of insurrection.

They see insurrectionists everywhere. They see them in the media, where they demand that Fox News be canceled or demonetized because of its Trumpist heresies and refusal to treat a Capitol riot — in which the only person killed was an unarmed protester gunned down in cold blood by a police officer — as a new Civil War.

They see them in Congress, where anyone who challenged the 2020 results or resists the Democrats' bills to ban voter ID laws and make permanent pandemic-based election changes that removed guardrails against cheating are seeking to steal not just the 2020 election but the ones yet to be held in 2022 and 2024.

Suburban Erosion Has Driven Biden's State-by-State Popularity Decline

In most states, the change in sentiment about Biden among suburban voters tracks with the movement among all voters, showing the weight the former group carries statewide.

Some of the largest drops in Biden's suburban support came in 2022 battlegrounds such as Wisconsin, North Carolina, Ohio, Georgia, Michigan, Florida and Pennsylvania.

Declining suburban sentiment for Biden hasn't weighed down vulnerable Senate Democrats to the same extent — except Mark Kelly of Arizona.

America's suburbs helped fuel the Democratic Party's electoral victories during Donald Trump's presidency, but what these dense and educated enclaves giveth, they look primed to taketh away.

According to Morning Consult Political Intelligence tracking conducted this year in all 50 states, the erosion of support for President Joe Biden among suburban voters has driven the decline in the Democratic standard-bearer's popularity across the map. These voters carry particular weight in states that will be key to Democrats' chances of holding control of Congress after next year's midterm elections, adding another hurdle to the already complicated work of holding the party's slim majorities.

"He's gotta go back up there, because what's the alternative?" Democratic strategist Ian Russell said of Biden's numbers in the suburbs. "He's got to shore them up, or we're going to have much bigger problems on our hands."

What the numbers say

In the average state, 44 percent of suburban voters approved of Biden's job performance in the third quarter of his presidency, down 6 percentage points since his first three months in office, while the share who disapproved increased 8 points to 52 percent. Taken together, this marks a 14-point decline in Biden's net approval rating in the suburbs that helped deliver Democratic victories over the past four years, from Virginia's governorship in 2017 to the two Senate runoffs in Georgia early this year.

Democrats hit panic button after Virginia collapse

A dismal performance by Democratic candidates in New Jersey and Virginia is sparking a sense of panic among Democrats who now view their Senate and House majorities as in serious peril in the 2022 midterm elections.

In Virginia, a state President Biden won by 10 points a year ago, Democrats saw former Gov. Terry McAuliffe fall to defeat in a state the polls suggested he had been leading months ago.

In New Jersey, a strong performance by little-known former GOP Assemblyman Jack Ciattarelli against Gov. Phil Murphy (D) was too close to call. Democrats had expected Murphy to win easily.

Republicans immediately went on the offensive, announcing a new bid to go after swing-seat Democrats in the House. Minority Leader Kevin McCarthy (R-Calif.) said his party might be able to flip as many as 60 seats.

The GOP needs to flip a net of only five seats to take back the House majority. If they can gain one Senate seat, they'd take control of that chamber.

Both goals looked to be in reach after Tuesday.

A sobering reality hits Democrats after election losses

Democrats awoke Wednesday to a sobering reality. A year after celebrating victory in the 2020 elections, their slender congressional majorities are now even more at risk than they feared, and it is not clear that President Biden or his party has a workable plan to rebalance a political landscape tilting significantly against them.

Republican Glenn Youngkin's victory over Democrat Terry McAuliffe in Virginia's gubernatorial election was not a total surprise. Nervous Democrats could sense it coming for weeks. But the full impact of the loss in a state that Biden won by 10 points just 12 months ago, along with a far closer gubernatorial race than anyone expected in New Jersey, which Biden won by 16 points, triggered alarms across the party.

Next year, the entire Democratic Party will face the voters, with Republicans more confident than ever that they have the issues, whether education, inflation or the border, as well as the strategy and a strong tail wind to drive Democrats from power in the House and Senate, and thereby short-circuit the final two years of Biden's first term in office. How quickly Democrats absorb Tuesday's results and begin to respond will determine how well they can hold down expected losses in the coming midterms.

It is always the case that too much can be read into the results of these off-year elections. Maybe it was just the patterns of history in Virginia, which for decades has seen the party that holds the White House lose the governorship. McAuliffe in 2013 was the lone exception. Similarly, New Jersey Gov. Phil Murphy (D), who was in a close race with Republican Jack Ciattarelli, faced a history of incumbent Democrats struggling to win a second term.

But Democrats would be foolhardy to underestimate what happened Tuesday. To lose a state like Virginia, which has been trending Democratic for a decade, and to struggle so much in New Jersey suggests that, unless things change, only the bluest of states or districts are likely to be safe in 2022.

The Russian Collusion Hoax: Durham and the Clinton Dossier

A new indictment continues the slow unraveling of a 2016 political scandal.
The nation argued for five years over the infamous “Steele dossier,” the document on which the Federal Bureau of Investigation relied to investigate Donald Trump’s 2016 campaign. It should have been called the Clinton dossier.

Special counsel John Durham this week obtained an indictment of Igor Danchenko, a Russian who provided information for the dossier. Mr. Danchenko is charged with lying to the FBI, but the bigger story of the indictment is Democrats’ central role in every aspect of the dossier and the FBI investigation.

Never forget the original claim. According to the FBI, Democrats and the media, Mr. Trump harbored secret and nefarious ties with Russia. We knew that because—as Mother Jones explained in a 2016 article that became the reigning story line— Christopher Steele was a “credible source with a proven record of providing reliable, sensitive, and important information to the U.S. government.” He had come across “troubling” evidence of Trump collusion and brought it to U.S. law enforcement.

It took a year for congressional investigators to reveal the dossier had in fact been commissioned by the opposition-research firm Fusion GPS, working for the Democratic Party and Hillary Clinton’s campaign. It took two more years for Justice Department Inspector General Michael Horowitz to expose that Mr. Steele had relied on a Russian source who said he’d never expected Mr. Steele to present his info as facts, since most of it was “hearsay.” Two more years on, Mr. Durham’s indictment says this source—Mr. Danchenko—obtained material from a longtime Democratic operative who was active in the 2016 Clinton campaign. Clintonites here, Clintonites there, Trump “scandals” everywhere.

Navy must speed up shipbuilding, modernization to keep pace with China, Russia at sea, analysts say

China and Russia have dramatically accelerated their naval shipbuilding and modernization programs in recent years, while the U.S. has struggled to improve its own capacity for warfighting missions and been tagged with a poor readiness rating from national security analysts.

The Chinese have made particularly notable strides, engaging in a maritime buildup that made global headlines a year ago when Pentagon officials sounded the alarm that Beijing's total fleet roughly 350 warships had surpassed the roughly 300 maintained by Washington.

The U.S. force still vastly outstrips China's in terms of real power projection. America, for instance, has 11 active aircraft carriers compared with just two that Beijing has brought online since 2012.

However, the Chinese Communist Party makes no secret of its goal to build a "world-class" military by 2050, and U.S. analysts are increasingly wary that Washington may struggle to keep pace with China's rapidly expanding shipbuilding operations.

"They've got a lot of shipyards and a lot of capacity," says Brent Sadler, a retired U.S. naval officer and analyst with the Heritage Foundation. "They're building lots of ships."

Protecting Pravda

Media censorship is really monopoly protectionism—and the “unfair competition” is you.

It is bitterly ironic how America’s current corporate media embrace censorship—for others, of course. After all, the First Amendment’s recognition and protection of the unalienable right to free speech and the freedom of the press have long been rightly and ardently defended by those making a living in the industry. Their rationale was elementary: an attack on the free speech of one citizen was an attack on the free speech of all citizens.

Today, however, many of the most strident voices for censorship and self-censorship—including calls for the First Amendment to be radically curtailed—come from the left-wing, spoon-fed, regime-succored Pravda media.

What changed? Some, rather charitably, believe the Pravda media are enraptured with their regressive leftist ideology—which must be proselytized and protected at all costs, including the adoption of “accountability” (read “biased”) reporting—which impels journalists to ditch objectivity. This in turn spurs demands for both censorship and self-censorship to dispense with ideological inconveniences, such as facts and truth.

But in actuality, it is best to recall the cardinal rule of politics: follow the money. When one does, the Pravda media’s ignoble motive manifests: censorship is their protectionism.

Protectionism is usually implemented to preserve manufacturing industries, like automobiles and steel. The industries claim to be economically pressed by what they declare is unfair foreign competition, and demand the government provide subsidies, tax breaks, and/or barriers to market entry for their unfair competitors through tariffs and other policies to protect their jobs and profits. The politicians who support these policies are rewarded with endorsements, contributions, votes, etc.

Now ponder our Pravda media. It is also an industry, manufacturing “content” and bent on shaping and changing American public opinion. Yet, in this age of the democratization of information, the corporate media is facing pressure from what they deem to be unfair competition that must be stopped through government and industry action. That competition is you; and you must be silenced.

One of the aspects the Pravda media most despise is how the democratization of information eliminates barriers to entry for Americans in all walks of life, allowing their voices to be heard and to influence public affairs and policies. After all, what good is a pricey journalism degree if the dirty uncredentialed can undo all your propagandizing with a few viral lines on social media?

Do We Have a Constitutional-Conservative Supreme Court Majority — or Pols in Robes?

Recent Court actions should cause us to worry.

In a glum column last weekend, I related that Trump-appointed justices Amy Coney Barrett and Brett Kavanaugh had joined with the Supreme Court's three-justice progressive bloc and its Machiavellian chief justice to deny a religious-liberty claim against an irrationally discriminatory state mandate — specifically, a plea to be exempted from Maine's COVID-vaccine requirement, in the same way the state exempts those who claim to fear vaccination for medical reasons.

This was crushing news for constitutional conservatives who had fought so hard for the confirmations of Barrett and Kavanaugh against an unhinged progressive onslaught.

The result would have been easier to take had the justices tried, however unconvincingly, to argue that the claimants had a weak case on the merits. To the contrary, Justices Barrett and Kavanaugh did not contest the conclusion of the Court's three originalists —

Justices Clarence Thomas, Samuel Alito, and Neil Gorsuch — that the religious objectors had made a persuasive case. And, indeed, it would be difficult to imagine their doing so. The dissent authored by Justice Gorsuch pointed out that Maine's mandate stifling religious liberty permits individualized exemptions for non-religion-based objectors. Just four months ago, in the Court's Fulton v. Philadelphia decision, Justice Barrett stressed, in a concurrence joined by Justice Kavanaugh, that if a state law permits individualized exemptions, its burdens on religion will not survive unless the law satisfies the Court's exacting strict-scrutiny test. In the Maine case, Gorsuch compellingly demonstrated that the state mandate could not conceivably pass strict-scrutiny muster.

State Senator Matt Huffman,

I urge you to oppose Senate Bill 258 and the extreme gerrymandering of Ohio's congressional districts. By "packing" and "cracking" Ohio's most populous counties, this congressional map unnecessarily divides communities and rigs a political outcome that will deny Ohioans their right to have their voices heard. Voters deserve better. We need a congressional map that keeps communities together and doesn't unfairly favor one political party over the other.

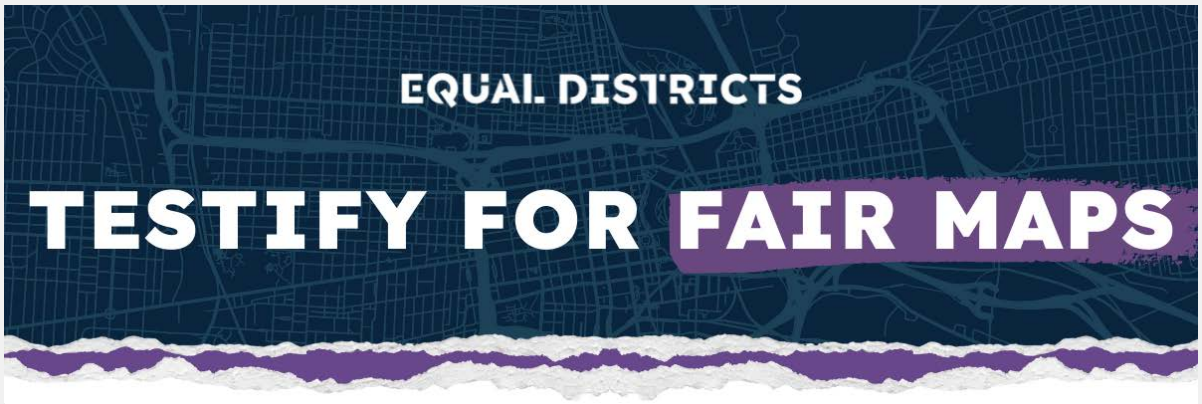
I've seen the proposed congressional maps put forth by House and Senate Republicans. I must say, I think you can do better. In the House plan, the 9th, 14th, 1st? In the Senate plan, the 9th, 14th, 4th? Granted, they're an improvement over the current maps but, c'mon, you can't tell me that you can look at those districts and not think they're a little stretched, even a little ridiculous.
To be fair, the 4th, 13th, 14th, in the Democratic proposal, appear to be a little odd as well.
Why don't you people just do what's right and work something out together. Leave the politics out of it. This isn't brain surgery, population, geography, some allowance for minority representation, and maybe a little commonality. Surprise everyone and lock yourselves in a room until you come up with something that makes sense.
In the end, it really doesn't matter that much. The Republicans are still going to have the advantage no matter how you draw them, so you might as well just do it right. I've taken the liberty of drawing up an example of an unbiased map, based solely on geography and population, regional commonality, jurisdictional integrity, with some allowance for minority representation. It's not that hard. There is still a Republican advantage. The attached map is 8 R's, 3 D's, 4 C's. Perhaps it can serve as a template for some kind of compromise between the three plans. At the bottom of the page is a link to that map from Dave's Redistricting. I think you'll find it to be a little cleaner than anything you've drawn up.
Now, I realize, there is a natural tendency on the part of some to protect their incumbents, and the attached map does pit some incumbents against each other. Perhaps that's as it should be. Let's be fair. Currently, Cincinnati has two Reps, N.W. Ohio has two Reps, the Dayton area has two Reps, S.E. Ohio has two Reps. What that means is, regardless of political affiliation, some parts of the state are over represented and some are under-represented. How fair is that? This map evens the representation out so that everyone in Ohio is represented, not just select locales.
Now, I suppose, one could do some minor rearranging to the attached map to ease some of the impact on incumbents. But, inevitably, there has to be some competition somewhere if it is to be fair. Obviously, if any of the current members are retiring the impact is less.
As it stands, there would be six open districts in this plan, 3 Rep., 3 Comp. They would be:
The 2nd, (Delaware, N Franklin)
The 4th as Gonzalez is retiring, (Lorain, W Cuyahoga)
The 6th, (Summit, Medina)
The 9th, (Butler, Warren)



AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

The 11th, (Stark, Mahoning, Columbiana, Carrol, Harrison, Tuscarawas)
The 12th. (North and West Central Farm Country stretching from Indiana to Crawford)
(Not to worry, Jordan will still have a district, just not the one he has now)

Feel free to use the attached map as a template for something better if you want.

Dear Rep. Huffman,

This week, Statehouse Republicans proposed congressional maps that are WORSE than the current gerrymandered maps Ohioans rejected at the polls.

Ohio only votes about 55% Republican, but the proposed maps would give Republicans over 86% of Ohio's seats in Congress. This is blatant voter suppression.

The Senate has scheduled two more public redistricting hearings for next week — we need you to testify!

The hearings will be held this MONDAY (11/8) at 2:30 pm and this Tuesday (11/9) at 9:30 AM. Are you able to attend one of the hearings?

Here's a guide for how to submit testimony.

State Senator Matt Huffman,

I urge you to oppose Senate Bill 258 and the extreme gerrymandering of Ohio's congressional districts. By "packing" and "cracking" Ohio's most populous counties, this congressional map unnecessarily divides communities and rigs a political outcome that will deny Ohioans their right to have their voices heard. Voters deserve better. We need a congressional map that keeps communities together and doesn't unfairly favor one political party over the other.

I am hearing that you're trying to push through a redistricting of our counties to do away with Jim Jordan. I am totally ashamed of our representatives if that is what you want to do. Get the politics out of this and do what's right, Jim Jordan is needed in Washington and we need him in Ohio. You need to leave the districts the way they are and stop screwing around with them because maybe you or DeWine got your feelings hurt by some kind of truth that Jim Jordan might have said. Stop redistricting our state and leave it alone. You know the thing that bothers me the most is we elect you people to go do what we as the people of Ohio have put you in there to do and you get your little feelings hurt by something and then you're off on your own. You still do work for the citizens of the state of Ohio. We don't have to vote some of you people in again and I think Virginia is a very good example of what's going to happen in Ohio. Equal Districts Coalition Blasts Heavily Gerrymandered Republican Maps

COLUMBUS — Today, the Equal Districts Coalition — a unified group of 30+ Ohio advocacy organizations and labor unions engaged in the 2021 redistricting process — released the following statement condemning the heavily gerrymandered maps proposed by Republican legislators:

"Based on Ohio's average vote share for the past ten years, a fair congressional map will consist of seven Democratic seats and eight Republican seats. Initial analyses say this Republican-drawn map might allow Democrats only two seats. This proposal is worse than the current gerrymandered map Ohioans soundly rejected at the polls.

"Republicans repeatedly missed Constitutional deadlines, ignored calls to release their maps weeks ago, then waited until after this week's public testimony submission deadline to publicize their draft district map. The Republican proposal delivered today, and delivered late, cheats Ohioans out of true representation. This is blatant voter suppression."

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Mr. Huffman,

I have been watching your and the RepubliCON Party's actions and its committment to following the actions of a LYING TRAITOR. I feel you also committed TREASON by putting Your hand on a Bible and swore to GOD to represent your constituents, who believed you, voted for you, the rule of Law, the Constitution and our Democracy.

What's apparent to me and other Ohioans I've recently talked with is they're now seeing what is happening is Your complete and utter disloyalty to uphold your sacred oath, by catering to a LYING TRAITOR, who is holding the party hostage to keep himself out of jail for all the misdeeds and atrocities he committed with your and your party's full support while he held what was once the highest office in the land.

ONE ATROCITY THAT WILL REMAIN IN MY MIND IS THE CAGING OF LITTLE CHILDREN. whose parents have walked thousands of miles in extreme heat with nothing who were trying to save their children from vicious dictators and drug cartels. I don't know how anyone with a child that they LOVE could continue to support that! If one believes in the Bible they will know there's a special place in Hell for those commiting and those supporting that.

The TRAITOR'S mishandling of an extremely deadly viris by denying the seriousness of the virus he knew was airborn and highly communicable, saying one day it would just disappear. refusing to recognize and take control or to do everything possible to contain it. That led to hundreds of thousands of needless deaths and caused our country to sink into a Depression not seen since the 1920's.

Yet your and your Party refuse to even come to the table to negotiate a way to bring our country out of the bottomless pit you helped put it into.

What's worse is your loyalty to a LYING TRAITOR and his regurgation of a LIE that you know in your heart is nothing but a LIE.

The RepubliCON Party is so committed to staying in office that they'll cheat any way the "Think Tankers" tell them because they know the only way they can win is by Cheating and they'll do whatever in order to keep raking in the cash from lobbyists.

I could go on all day, but I'm absolutely sure you don't give a tinkers damn about me or my opinion of you and your corrupt cheating party.

Not respectfully,

President Matt Huffman,

Hello,

As a member of Ohio's redistricting commission, I'm sure you know your deadline for congressional district maps is October 31st.

The commission should have presented draft maps weeks ago. Ohioans should be testifying on the maps at official hearings. But none of that is happening. Instead, the Republican-dominated commission and legislature have repeatedly missed mandatory deadlines.

Ohio's Constitution is not a suggestion. It's the law. There is no excuse for ignoring it.

I am deeply concerned that all these missed deadlines mean some commissioners are drawing maps in secret behind closed doors. That is cheating. And it is unacceptable.

Ohio voters went to the polls in massive numbers to demand a fair redistricting process and equal districts. This is not what we voted for.

Stop cheating us. Stop ignoring us. Show us the maps.

Thank you.

Now that the Redistricting Commission has announced that it will not succeed in passing a map, it is the General Assembly's turn to draw a fair congressional map. I urge you to work in a transparent fashion that will ultimately bring an end to gerrymandering in Ohio.

Please take the following specific steps to ensure transparent, bipartisan mapmaking in which the public is engaged so that the resulting maps truly serve voters.
1. Schedule field hearings for the public as soon as possible.
2. Consider maps submitted by the public.
3. Invite testimony from diverse academics and experts.
4. Publish a clear process for decision-making, and full schedule for the month of November that details all public hearings and joint committee meetings.

Ohio voters are counting on you to follow the spirit and letter of the new redistricting reforms placed in the Ohio Constitution and to end gerrymandering in Ohio once and for all.

President Matt Huffman,

Hello,

As a member of Ohio's redistricting commission, I'm sure you know your deadline for congressional district maps is October 31st.

The commission should have presented draft maps weeks ago. Ohioans should be testifying on the maps at official hearings. But none of that is happening. Instead, the Republican-dominated commission and legislature have repeatedly missed mandatory deadlines.

Ohio's Constitution is not a suggestion. It's the law. There is no excuse for ignoring it.

I am deeply concerned that all these missed deadlines mean some commissioners are drawing maps in secret behind closed doors. That is cheating. And it is unacceptable.

Ohio voters went to the polls in massive numbers to demand a fair redistricting process and equal districts. This is not what we voted for.

Stop cheating us. Stop ignoring us. Show us the maps.

Thank you.

Senator Huffman -- I testified yesterday at the Ohio Redistricting Commission hearing and you asked me about Congressional gerrymandering in Illinois. I told you that the Illinois Democrats had agreed on a map that was going to reduce the Illinois Republican Congressional seats from 5/18 to only 2/17.

According to Politico's Illinois Playbook 20 minutes after midnight this morning the Democrats instead reduced Republican representation from 5/18 to 3/17.

https://mail.google.com/mail/u/0/#search/Illinois+Playbook FMfcgzGlkZGBSKFDPhxnQLlWgNssZcpl

What may be instructive in the story is that apparently several of the incumbent Congressmen were lobbying the state legislators in the District to vote against the immediate prior version of the statewide map. The Headline from Politico Playbook was "'Political Cannibalism' "

Thank you for the f/u. This is the testimony I had prepared.

Also, related to the "efficiency gap" that Auditory Farber discussed. True, in Ohio most rural counties are white, rural, and Republican. Their vote is overly represented.

However, in many southern states, rural counties are Black, rural and Democratic and they are still heavily gerrymandered; their votes are still underrepresented.

My point is that people of good will should work towards solutions. I will thank you in advance for doing just that.

I think the entire Redistricting committee should be shut in a room and held there with only food, water, and bathroom priviledges until they complete the work 70% of Ohioans told them to do! Don't come out until you come to some compromise on a TEN year map!

Dear Sir:

Since you serve on Ohio's redistricting commission, you are surely aware that your deadline for congressional district maps is fast approaching — October 31st.

It would have made sense for the commission to have presented draft maps weeks ago. Out citizens were promised an opportunity to testify on the maps at official hearings. Clearly, that cannot occur, given the scheduling failures that have already taken place. Instead, the Republican-dominated commission and legislature have repeatedly missed mandatory deadlines.

As any reasonable person must realize: Ohio's Constitution is not a suggestion. It is the law of our state. There is no excuse for the Republican Party to ignore it.

All of my family is profoundly concerned that the missed deadlines indicate some commissioners are drawing maps behind closed doors. That is cheating: A clear violation of the transparent process mandated by Ohio voters. And it is unacceptable.

Here in Ohio, our elections should represent the will of the people, not partisan interests. State lawmakers in the General Assembly and members of the Ohio Redistricting Commission must commit to counting everyone equally and having a transparent redistricting process. We call upon you to disclose newly drawn district maps and prioritize public involvement before the approval process. We believe public disclosure of new maps and updated redistricting criteria that require the consideration of primary stakeholders will address this obligation. I am encouraging you to advocate for equitable representation. Now is the time to deliver fair maps and fair districts to the people of Ohio, your constituents, your voters

Senate President Matt Huffman,

We are less than two weeks away from the deadline for the Ohio Redistricting Commission to create and pass a bipartisan congressional district map, and there has been zero progress toward meeting that deadline. I am a proud advocate for the redistricting reforms enshrined in our state constitution, and it angers me to see the persistent failure by our leaders to meet this moment and deliver the reforms over 70% of Ohioans demanded.

All I am asking, in fact demanding, is for you and your Commission (General Assembly) colleagues to DO YOUR JOB AND GET TO WORK. There is no room for excuses, no room for finger pointing, no room for hand wringing. It's simple: you either do your job and work transparently to pass a fair, bipartisan map, or you don't. Either way, I'll remember next November.

I want to share my thoughts on an issue or piece of legislation.

Message :
In May 2018 Ohio citizens voted on Issue One, affecting Articles XI and XIX of the Ohio Constitution, to adopt new procedures for drawing legislative districts that will not favor one party over the other.
Of all Ohio voters that year, 74.9% marked their ballots in favor of ending partisan gerrymandering. That statistic emphatically assures us that a majority of Ohioans approved the amendment, whether they self-identified as Democrats or Republicans. The people of Ohio just wanted it to be fair.
Unfortunately, the Ohio Redistricting Commission has not lived up to that expectation. The people on the Commission don't care about what's fair. They listened politely to all the comments by citizens at various meetings before they drew their map revisions but ultimately, they did not care what anybody said.
Now at the end of the process, the Commission has decided to eliminate comments from any more citizens. They just don't care what voters want.
For our 99 house districts and 33 senate districts, plus the 16 districts that send representation to Washington, how do we determine the correct proportion of Republicans to Democrats?
We determine that proportion by referring to our past votes. In 2020, Trump beat Biden in Ohio in a vote of 53.3 to 43.3 percent. In 2018, Mike DeWine beat Rich Cordray, 50.4 to 46.7 percent. In 2016, Trump beat Clinton in Ohio, 51.3 to 43.2 percent.
Considering those statistics, no more than 54 percent of our legislative districts should be Republican-dominant, with 43 percent as Democratic-Dominant and 3 percent reflecting minority parties. Unfortunately, over 70 percent of the districts are now dominated by Republicans.
As an Ohio voter and as an American, I am chastising the Redistricting Commission for blatantly ignoring the voice of the voters who spoke in 2018, producing new district maps that are even more partisan than the old ones. Shame on all of you for sitting there and listening to your constituents' pleas for fairly drawn districts. And the most shame goes to the Commission members who skipped the public meetings and didn't even care that the people poured out their hearts when they spoke.
We still have the month of November to ensure that the districts will be drawn fairly. We cannot depend on our legislators, so we'll have to watch over them very closely as they do it. And I strongly recommend that the members of the Redistricting Commission, including Senator Huffman, House Speaker Cupp, and Governor DeWine, should universally resign from public office.

Hello,

As a member of Ohio's redistricting commission, I'm sure you know your deadline for congressional district maps is October 31st.

The commission should have presented draft maps weeks ago. Ohioans should be testifying on the maps at official hearings. But none of that is happening. Instead, the Republican-dominated commission and legislature have repeatedly missed mandatory deadlines.

Ohio's Constitution is not a suggestion. It's the law. There is no excuse for ignoring it.

I am deeply concerned that all these missed deadlines mean some commissioners are drawing maps in secret behind closed doors. That is cheating. And it is unacceptable.

There have been at least 2 bipartisan workable maps submitted by citizens, and yet you have done nothing about them. You do not need to start from scratch. We Ohioans are counting on you to protect our voting rights, and to give us fair districts so that our representatives do, in fact, represent the citizens of Ohio fairly. Our representatives should roughly reflect the division in our state between Rs and Ds. Currently the horribly gerrymandered districts do not reflect our diversity.

Senate President Matt Huffman,

Drawing new congressional districts is a critically important task that happens only once every ten years. Sadly, those entrusted with creating a fair, bipartisan congressional map for Ohio have failed to step up. The Ohio Redistricting Commission has refused to publicly meet to begin crafting Ohio's new congressional districts before their constitutional deadline of October 31. We are a handful of days from the deadline and there has been nothing - no maps, no hearings, just finger pointing and empty excuses.

Th3 obstruction of the process is an affront to the millions of Ohioans who collected signatures and voted for a voter-focused, transparent process for creating bipartisan congressional maps. We're not going away: we will continue to hold your feet to the fire to demand they deliver on the promises they made to us in 2018. Our message is simple: DO YOUR JOB! MAKE FAIR MAPS NOW!

We are less than two weeks away from the deadline for the Ohio Redistricting Commission to create and pass a bipartisan congressional district map, and there has been zero progress toward meeting that deadline. Where is your integrity? What has happened to your duty to honor the constitution of the State of Ohio and to honor the will of the people of Ohio?

Dear Speaker Cupp,

Ohio's redistricting commission should have presented draft maps weeks ago. Ohioans should be testifying on those maps at official hearings. Where are the maps?

Ohio's Constitution is not a suggestion. It's the law. There is no excuse for ignoring it.

There is a quick and easy solution to the case of the missing maps: Choose one of the outstanding maps from the winners of the Fair Districts Ohio or the OCRC map or the Democrats' proposed map, all uploaded with narratives on your website, to use as a basis for comments in public hearings and move forward from there.

I am deeply concerned that all these missed deadlines means staffers are once again drawing maps in secret behind closed doors. That is cheating. And it is unacceptable.

Ohio voters went to the polls in massive numbers to demand a fair redistricting process and equal districts. Punting back to the legislature with no proposed map is not what we voted for.

I am a proud advocate for the redistricting reforms enshrined in our state constitution, and it angers me to see the persistent failure by our leaders to meet this moment and deliver the reforms over 70% of Ohioans demanded.

All I am asking, in fact demanding, is for you and your Commission (General Assembly) colleagues to DO YOUR JOB AND GET TO WORK. There is no room for excuses, no room for finger pointing, no room for hand wringing. It's simple: you either do your job and work transparently to pass a fair, bipartisan map, or you don't. Either way, I'll remember next November.

I just learned that with fewer than 48 hours' notice, the Ohio Redistricting Commission announced they're hosting one public hearing on our congressional map this Thursday. Unfortunately, the Commission is only allowing the 55 people and organizations who submitted maps to the portal to testify- no other testimony will be accepted. These actions are unacceptable! Ohioans need more hearings, we need to see their map, and we need definitely a fair process!
Thank you!

Senate President Matt Huffman,

Hello,

I was so disheartened to hear that at the hearing on Thursday, no new maps will be considered, only the maps drawn by the hyper-partisan Republican members of the committee.

As someone who worked hard to get the structure to draw fair maps, I am appalled by your lack of concern for over 70% of the electorate who voted in favor of that structure.

I am demainding that you and your Commission (General Asembly) do what you are being paid to do. In other words, do your job and stop trying to trick the systerm.

As an advocate for the redistricting reforms enshrined in our state constitution, I am very angry at your lack of accountability. But, more importantly, I am sad that, as a third-generation American, you are twisting things around for your own gain.

Hello,

As a member of Ohio's redistricting commission, I'm sure you know your deadline for congressional district maps is October 31st.

The commission should have presented draft maps weeks ago. Ohioans should be testifying on the maps at official hearings. But none of that is happening. Instead, the Republican-dominated commission and legislature have repeatedly missed mandatory deadlines.

Ohio's Constitution is not a suggestion. It's the law. There is no excuse for ignoring it.

I am deeply concerned that all these missed deadlines mean some commissioners are drawing maps in secret behind closed doors. That is cheating. And it is unacceptable.

Ohio voters went to the polls in massive numbers to demand a fair redistricting process and equal districts. This is not what we voted for.

Stop cheating us. Stop ignoring us. Show us the maps.

You need to be personally involved. Redistricting maps must be drawn to represent the people who live in them; districts must be compact, of similar size and not drawn to insure representation form one particular party; no more "duck districts" or "snake-on-the-lake" districts. Ohio has a fair balance of Republicans and Democrats and our districts need to represent that on both the state and national level. Your oath of office requires you to act in a principled way. Senate President Huffman, I would like to express my concern over the intended process to redraw district maps in Ohio. Redistricting reform received over 70% of the vote statewide and passed in all 88 counties. We deserve districts that fairly represent our residents and should not be manipulated for political gains. I urge you to organize a special redistricting committee, including naming committee members, by Nov 4, to introduce a map proposal by Nov 10 and to hold at least one of two mandatory public hearings on the maps by Nov 15.

As a member of Ohio's redistricting commission, I'm sure you know your deadline for congressional district maps is October 31st.

The commission should have presented draft maps weeks ago. Ohioans should be testifying on the maps at official hearings. But none of that is happening. Instead, the Republican-dominated commission and legislature have repeatedly missed mandatory deadlines.

Ohio's Constitution is not a suggestion. It's the law. There is no excuse for ignoring it.

I am deeply concerned that all these missed deadlines mean some commissioners are drawing maps in secret behind closed doors. That is cheating. And it is unacceptable.

Ohio voters went to the polls in massive numbers to demand a fair redistricting process and equal districts. This is not what we voted for.

Stop cheating us. Stop ignoring us. Show us the maps.

Thank you.

Senate President Matt Huffman,

We are less than two weeks away from the deadline for the Ohio Redistricting Commission to create and pass a bipartisan congressional district map, and there has been zero progress toward meeting that deadline. I am a proud advocate for the redistricting reforms enshrined in our state constitution, and it angers me to see the persistent failure by our leaders to meet this moment and deliver the reforms over 70% of Ohioans demanded.

All I am asking, in fact demanding, is for you and your Commission (General Assembly) colleagues to DO YOUR JOB AND GET TO WORK. There is no room for excuses, no room for finger pointing, no room for hand wringing. It's simple: you either do your job and work transparently to pass a fair, bipartisan map, or you don't. Either way, I'll remember next November.

Senate President Matt Huffman,

We are less than two weeks away from the deadline for the Ohio Redistricting Commission to create and pass a bipartisan congressional district map, and there has been zero progress toward meeting that deadline. I am a proud advocate for the redistricting reforms enshrined in our state constitution, and it angers me to see the persistent failure by our leaders to meet this moment and deliver the reforms over 70% of Ohioans demanded.

All I am asking, in fact demanding, is for you and your Commission (General Assembly) colleagues to DO YOUR JOB AND GET TO WORK. There is no room for excuses, no room for finger pointing, no room for hand wringing. It's simple: you either do your job and work transparently to pass a fair, bipartisan map, or you don't. Either way, I'll remember next November.

President Matt Huffman,

Hello,

As a member of Ohio's redistricting commission, I'm sure you know your deadline for congressional district maps is October 31st.

The commission should have presented draft maps weeks ago. Ohioans should be testifying on the maps at official hearings. But none of that is happening. Instead, the Republican-dominated commission and legislature have repeatedly missed mandatory deadlines.

Ohio's Constitution is not a suggestion. It's the law. There is no excuse for ignoring it.

I am deeply concerned that all these missed deadlines mean some commissioners are drawing maps in secret behind closed doors. That is cheating. And it is unacceptable.

Ohio voters went to the polls in massive numbers to demand a fair redistricting process and equal districts. This is not what we voted for.

Stop cheating us. Stop ignoring us. Show us the maps.

Thank you.

Senate President Matt Huffman,

I understand that nothing has been done with regard to a new Congressional map. Obviously the will of the people means nothing to the members of this Commission. I collected signatures to get the fair maps issue on the ballot. It was overwhelmingly voted in by voters of all parties. Is you hope that if you continue to ignore the voters we will go away and you will have job security forever? That is how it seems. And yet your campaigns will ask the voters for donations and to come to your rallies.

We are less than two weeks away from the deadline for the Ohio Redistricting Commission to create and pass a bipartisan congressional district map, and there has been zero progress toward meeting that deadline. I am a proud advocate for the redistricting reforms enshrined in our state constitution, and it angers me to see the persistent failure by our leaders to meet this moment and deliver the reforms over 70% of Ohioans demanded.

Hello,

As a member of Ohio's redistricting commission, I'm sure you know your deadline for congressional district maps is October 31st.

The commission should have presented draft maps weeks ago. Ohioans should be testifying on the maps at official hearings. But none of that is happening. Instead, the Republican-dominated commission and legislature have repeatedly missed mandatory deadlines.

Ohio's Constitution is not a suggestion. It's the law. There is no excuse for ignoring it.

I am deeply concerned that all these missed deadlines mean some commissioners are drawing maps in secret behind closed doors. That is cheating. And it is unacceptable.

Ohio voters went to the polls in massive numbers to demand a fair redistricting process and equal districts. This is not what we voted for.

Stop cheating us. Stop ignoring us. Show us the maps.

Thank you.

We are just days away from the deadline for the ORC to create and pass a Fair and Bipartisan congressional district map, and you've made zero progress toward meeting that deadline.

You've known about this deadline for YEARS--and COVID is not a valid excuse. You could have started on this work even before the census data was released by meeting, setting your budget, and determining your public hearing dates!

I am a proud advocate for the redistricting reforms enshrined in our state constitution--I personally spent hours collecting signatures on petitions to bring about these constitutional changes.

President Matt Huffman,

Hello,

As a member of Ohio's redistricting commission, I'm sure you know your deadline for congressional district maps is October 31st.

The commission should have presented draft maps weeks ago. Ohioans should be testifying on the maps at official hearings. But none of that is happening. Instead, the Republican-dominated commission and legislature have repeatedly missed mandatory deadlines.

Ohio's Constitution is not a suggestion. It's the law. There is no excuse for ignoring it.

I am deeply concerned that all these missed deadlines mean some commissioners are drawing maps in secret behind closed doors. That is cheating. And it is unacceptable.

Ohio voters went to the polls in massive numbers to demand a fair redistricting process and equal districts. This is not what we voted for.

Stop cheating us. Stop ignoring us. Show us the maps. You live in a democracy. That means you must make fair laws and rules. Gerrymandering violates that. It is the way of building a dictatorship. If that is what you want then find a country that agrees with you and move there. We would not want you living here.

Thank you.

By accepting appointment to the redistributing commission you agreed to meet the requirements. It is past time to do this work, transparently.

If you are unable or unwilling to meet the demands of this important job it is imperative that you resign and allow others to get this work done.

The people of Ohio voted that this commission should produce bipartisan maps and be transparent in doing so. Thus far the commission has failed.

President Matt Huffman,

Hello,

As a member of Ohio's redistricting commission, I'm sure you know your deadline for congressional district maps is October 31st.

In November 2015, Ohio voters overwhelmingly passed Issue 1, which created redistricting reform for Ohio House and Ohio Senate districts. In May 2018, 75% of voters approved congressional redistricting reform. Both reforms focused on stricter rules for keeping communities together and greater transparency in mapmaking. With the completion of the 2020 Census
A Gerrymandered Map is Anti American & Anti Democracy
But what DOES a Gerrymandered Map do?
A Gerrymandered Map MANIPULATES VOTES & REPRESENTATION!
It Rob's every citizen of a fair chance to have your vote truly heard!
What is a Gerrymandered Map?
A Gerrymandered Map is CHEATING!
Like weeds in your lawn it spreads quickly: and like weeds in your lawn they need to be eliminated: Or they will destroy the whole lawn and destroy Democracy.
To eliminated the ROOTS of Gerrymandering: FAIR MAPS AREESSENTIAL
As said before A Gerrymandered Map is CHEATING!
In every aspect of American life CHEATING is not tolerated.
In every sport in America CHEATING is not tolerated.
There are Penalties in place to insure the game is played fairly.
A Gerrymander Map is a MOST A GRIEVOUS OFFENCE.
It is the same as a referee deliberately throwing a penalty flag to insure his team wins.
STOP THE MANIPULATION OF VOTES
STOP THE CHEATING
DO YOUR JOB - DRAW A FAIR MAP!

Hello,

As a member of Ohio's redistricting commission, I'm sure you know your deadline for congressional district maps is October 31st.

The commission should have presented draft maps weeks ago. Ohioans should be testifying on the maps at official hearings. But none of that is happening. Instead, the Republican-dominated commission and legislature have repeatedly missed mandatory deadlines.

Ohio's Constitution is not a suggestion. It's the law. There is no excuse for ignoring it.

I am deeply concerned that all these missed deadlines mean some commissioners are drawing maps in secret behind closed doors. That is cheating. And it is unacceptable.

Ohio voters went to the polls in massive numbers to demand a fair redistricting process and equal districts. This is not what we voted for.

I have been watching the redistricting process as closely as possible, and I have written you multiple personal emails. It is time to respect the will of Ohio voters, stop hiding your 'work' and draw maps that reflect the constitutional reforms to redistricting approved by the electorate. Once again, some in our government prefer to cause outrage and disdain for Ohio across the country, rather than stand as a model of democratic action before other states by simply respecting and implementing the decision of the voters.

We demand that the Commission does much better than with the statehouse district map and draws up fair Congressional districts according to the will of our voters who in 2018 passed the Issue 1 amendment with almost 75% of the vote including at least over 66% approval in every district, Democratic and Republican alike. Where are the maps? Rather than just lamenting that the Congressional district map will also be litigated, does it occur to you that you could just draw fair maps now? Get to work and be done with it, show that Ohio hasn't totally lost the ability to do anything right, to stand up for fairness and democracy! Quit wasting all of the money spent going to court.

Stop cheating us. Stop ignoring us. Show us the maps.

Thank you.

The commission should have presented draft maps weeks ago. Ohioans should be testifying on the maps at official hearings. But none of that is happening. Instead, the Republican-dominated commission and legislature have repeatedly missed mandatory deadlines.

Ohio's Constitution is not a suggestion. It's the law. There is no excuse for ignoring it.

These districts should be drawn in a neutral, non-partisan manner that accurately represents the distribution of Ohio's residents across the state. They should NOT be drawn in ways that favor either major political party and allow them to choose their voters so that they can remain in office indefinitely. That approach is NOT democracy, but is typical practice for totalitarian regimes around the globe.

I am deeply concerned that all these missed deadlines mean some commissioners are drawing maps in secret behind closed doors. That is cheating. And it is unacceptable.

Ohio has the 2nd worst air quality in the USA. The Ohio River is the most polluted in North America. Ohioans' overall health ranks #47 out of 50.

Senate President Matt Huffman,

We are less than two weeks away from the deadline for the Ohio Redistricting Commission to create and pass a bipartisan congressional district map, and there has been zero progress toward meeting that deadline. I am a proud advocate for the redistricting reforms enshrined in our state constitution, and it angers me to see the persistent failure by our leaders to meet this moment and deliver the reforms over 70% of Ohioans demanded.

All I am asking, in fact demanding, is for you and your Commission (General Assembly) colleagues to DO YOUR JOB AND GET TO WORK. There is no room for excuses, no room for finger pointing, no room for hand wringing. It's simple: you either do your job and work transparently to pass a fair, bipartisan map, or you don't. Either way, I'll remember next November.

President Matt Huffman,

Hello,

As a member of Ohio's redistricting commission, I'm sure you know your deadline for congressional district maps is October 31st.

The commission should have presented draft maps weeks ago. Ohioans should be testifying on the maps at official hearings. But none of that is happening. Instead, the Republican-dominated commission and legislature have repeatedly missed mandatory deadlines.

Ohio's Constitution is not a suggestion. It's the law. There is no excuse for ignoring it.

I am deeply concerned that all these missed deadlines mean some commissioners are drawing maps in secret behind closed doors. That is cheating. And it is unacceptable.

Ohio voters went to the polls in massive numbers to demand a fair redistricting process and equal districts. This is not what we voted for.

Stop cheating us. Stop ignoring us. Show us the maps.

Thank you.

Senate President Matt Huffman,

We are less than two weeks away from the deadline for the Ohio Redistricting Commission to create and pass a bipartisan congressional district map, and there has been zero progress toward meeting that deadline. I am a public advocate for the redistricting reforms enshrined in our state constitution, and it angers me to see the large failure by our leaders to meet this moment and deliver the reforms over 70% of Ohioans demanded.

All I am asking, in fact demanding, is for you and your Commission (General Assembly) colleagues to DO YOUR JOB AND GET TO WORK. There is no room for excuses, no room for finger pointing, no room for hand wringing. It's simple: you either do your job and work transparently to pass a fair, bipartisan map, or you don't. Either way, I'll remember next November.

Hello,

As a member of Ohio's redistricting commission, I'm sure you know your deadline for congressional district maps is October 31st. I know when I'm given a deadline, I try to meet it, or at least make a good-faith attempt to meet my deadline. I would love to know why you feel this basic rule of business doesn't apply to you.

Dear Rep. Huffman,

Ohio's Republican-dominated redistricting commission only has until this Sunday (10/31) to pass congressional district maps. But they seem to be ignoring Constitutional deadlines — again.

Let's hold them accountable. Here are three actions you can take this week to support the fight for equal districts:

1. [redacted] Tell them to #StopCheatingUs and show us the maps.

2. Attend a virtual People's Hearing any night this week. Sign up to speak — or simply stand with us — as we demand equal districts for Ohio.

3. Attend a virtual testimony workshop. Learn how to write, submit, and present powerful testimony to improve Ohio's congressional district maps.

It's time for Ohio mapmakers to #StopCheatingUs.

Thank You,
The Equal Districts Coalition

Senate President Matt Huffman,

We are less than two weeks away from the deadline for the Ohio Redistricting Commission to create and pass a bipartisan congressional district map, and there has been zero progress toward meeting that deadline. I am a proud advocate for the redistricting reforms enshrined in our state constitution, and it angers me to see the persistent failure by our leaders to meet this moment and deliver the reforms over 70% of Ohioans demanded.

All I am asking, in fact demanding, is for you and your Commission (General Assembly) colleagues to DO YOUR JOB AND GET TO WORK. There is no room for excuses, no room for finger pointing, no room for hand wringing. It's simple: you either do your job and work transparently to pass a fair, bipartisan map, or you don't. Either way, I'll remember next November.

I live in Cuyahoga County - a District that provides an example of the worst impacts of gerrymandering. I attended the public Commission meeting in Cleveland and provided written and verbal testimony. Twice in the last 30 days I have driven to Columbus to participate in public demonstrations asking you to follow the Constitution. Gerrymandering hurts the entire state ! It is a BI-PARTISAN issue! 75% of voters statewide voted to support redistricting 2 times !!!

Please act in good faith and uphold the law!

Thank you for your consideration….

Senate President Matt Huffman,

I'm a lifelong Ohioan, a working mom, a voter and I'm tired. Tired of a Republican supermajority when Ohio votes approximately 55% R, 45% D. We aren't a red stronghold, we're gerrymandered. Elected officials should closely resemble the population. Stop trying to game the system. Get a fair map drawn.

I have been watching the redistricting process as closely as possible, and I have written you multiple personal emails. It is time to respect the will of Ohio voters, stop hiding your 'work' and draw maps that reflect the constitutional reforms to redistricting approved by the electorate.

I am here to correct the record speaking as a lily-white middle class retired suburbanite. It is the citizens, the voters of Ohio like myself and my family, who are outraged at the gerrymandering which favors Republicans to a degree that is way out of line with the way Ohioans have been voting over the past ten years, maps that do not come remotely close to respecting the amendment to the Ohio Constitution which WE the voters passed by a huge margin in 2015 with 71% of voters approving. WE the voters of Ohio are the ones angry and resentful that our will and votes are being mocked and rejected by the Republicans drawing and approving maps which violate our rights to be heard as an electorate, and we are standing up against the attempts to usurp our power as voters! We will not be disenfranchised through unfair district manipulation by some Republicans who are determined to choose their voters rather than be chosen. Even three of the fellow Republicans on the Redistricting Commission, those with statewide responsibilities, expressed uncertainty and doubts regarding the fairness and constitutionality of the statehouse district maps forced through, the flouting of the intent of the people if not, indeed arguably, the letter of the amendment.

Further, we demand that the Commission does much better and draws up fair Congressional districts according to the will of our voters who in 2018 passed the Issue 1 amendment with almost 75% of the vote including at least over 66% approval in every district, Democratic and Republican alike. Where are the maps? Rather than just lamenting that the Congressional district map will also be litigated, does it occur to you that you could just draw fair maps now? Get to work and be done with it, show that Ohio hasn't totally lost the ability to do anything right, to stand up for fairness and democracy! Quit wasting all of the money spent going to

It speaks volumes about your integrity and that of all current RepubliCONS in Ohio's governing body that have now adopted the GQP methods of cheating. When a political party resorts to Gerrymandering (cheating) in order to win an election that's a sure sign that your more instered in party than working for the people who voted them into office.

Senate President Matt Huffman,

We are less than two weeks away from the deadline for the Ohio Redistricting Commission to create and pass a bipartisan congressional district map, and there has been zero progress toward meeting that deadline. I am a proud advocate for the redistricting reforms enshrined in our state constitution, and it angers me to see the persistent failure by our leaders to meet this moment and deliver the reforms over 70% of Ohioans demanded.

All I am asking, in fact demanding, is for you and your Commission (General Assembly) colleagues to DO YOUR JOB AND GET TO WORK. There is no room for excuses, no room for finger pointing, no room for hand wringing. It's simple: you either do your job and work transparently to pass a fair, bipartisan map, or you don't. Either way, I'll remember next November.

Senate President Matt Huffman,

I participated in the Fair Districts Ohio challenge to draw a congressional districts map. It was demanding but eye opening as to what was in the Constitutional amendment that was passed by the voters. You committee members each need to do what we voted to have you do: participate in an open, group process to get a fair map. Not your staffers but you should be directly involved. How can you say the maps that are offered are unbiased if you've not been part of the process. You still have time to get something positive for the State done. Get to WORK!

I voted for the redistricting reforms in our state constitution that you ignore so cavalierly. It enrages me to see the indifference of our leaders to the reforms that 70% the people of Ohio demanded.

DO YOUR JOB AND GET TO WORK. I can only assume that Republican ideas and values are so anemic that the only way you figure you can win elections is by cheating. The Ohio Democrats in the 1960's felt the same way. Either way, I won't forget your laziness and partisan corruption in November!

We are less than two weeks away from the deadline for the Ohio Redistricting Commission to create and pass a bipartisan congressional district map, and there has been zero progress toward meeting that deadline. I am a proud advocate for the redistricting reforms enshrined in our state constitution, and it angers me to see the persistent failure by our leaders to meet this moment and deliver the reforms over 70% of Ohioans demanded.

All I am asking, in fact demanding, is for you and your Commission (General Assembly) colleagues to DO YOUR JOB AND GET TO WORK. There is no room for excuses, no room for finger pointing, no room for hand wringing. It's simple: you either do your job and work transparently to pass a fair, bipartisan map, or you don't. Either way, I'll remember next November. The majority of the Republican party is a hot mess and they are so afraid of losing power they resort to cheating and even violence. Un-American!

Senate President Matt Huffman,

The Commission is less than two weeks away from the deadline for the Ohio Redistricting Commission to create and pass a bipartisan congressional district map, and there has been no visible progress toward meeting that deadline. I am an advocate for the redistricting reforms enshrined in our state constitution, and it is quite unfortunate to see the failure of the Commission to meet this moment and deliver the reforms the vast majority of Ohioans have spoken for and expect.

Based upon information available to the general public, nothing has been done to assure that the voter's demand for a bipartisan map to establish political jurisdictions and geographical boundaries has been undertaken. While a single citizen and voter doesn't possess much influence with his/her elected official, these same voters and citizens do recognize that an elected office holder has committed to serve the citizens. While in practice, elected officials spend a large percentage of their time taking actions to assure that they are re-elected, that isn't representation of the citizens. Failure to take action in developing a bipartisan legislative map is not a positive example of representation. As a voting citizen, I encourage you to do the job that you were elected to do, and we voters, mandated on a recent ballot issue. There is little else that can and needs to be said other than simple do your job.

Ohioans voted overwhelmingly in 2018 to end gerrymandering. The new rules in the Ohio Constitution require you to adopt a congressional map that keeps communities together and does not unduly favor or disfavor any political party. Ohioans want to vote in fair elections and have their voices be heard.

Both House Bill 479 and Senate Bill 258 fail to live up to the fairness and balance required in the revised Ohio Constitution. I urge you to reject these two maps -- and any others that "pack" and "crack" communities in order to tip the scales in favor of one party.

Please, put partisanship aside and work together to come up with a ten year map that is fair and gives all Ohioans a voice.

State Senator Matt Huffman,

Hello,

As a member of Ohio's legislature, I'm sure you know the deadline for congressional district maps is November 30th. You have the power to prevent bad 10-year maps.

A fair congressional map will include seven Democratic seats and eight Republican seats. Those numbers reflect Ohio's average statewide vote share for the past decade. Do not settle for anything less.

In addition, please do not accept a few "token" districts where Black and brown voters are packed together to stifle their power. Instead, demand fair districts that give Black and brown Ohioans a real shot at representation all over the state.

Ohio voters went to the polls in massive numbers to demand an open, transparent redistricting process and equal districts. We're counting on you to uphold the changes we made to Ohio's Constitution.

Thank You.

I just wanted to be sure you saw the Dayton Area Chamber of Commerce Op-Ed from last Sunday regarding congressional redistricting. We commend Ohio's legislature & the DeWine administration for working to keep Montgomery and Greene Counties aligned in Congressional District 10.

With four year maps, however, we must remain vigilant in protecting WPAFB in the redistricting process.

Dear Rep. Huffman,

Last month, Ohio's Republican supermajority passed district maps that will give Republicans at least 80% of Ohio's seats in Congress — even though they only win 55% of the statewide vote.

Then, just before Thanksgiving, Governor Mike DeWine signed the maps into law.

The heavily gerrymandered maps are a clear violation of Ohio's state Constitution.

Thankfully, two separate lawsuits have just been filed against the rigged congressional maps.

One lawsuit was filed by the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) of Ohio, the League of Women Voters of Ohio, and the Ohio Chapter of the A. Philip Randolph Institute. Another was filed by the National Redistricting Action Fund.

We will be following these lawsuits closely, and will keep you updated along the way.

In the meantime, spread the word. Make sure everyone knows that Mike DeWine and Ohio's Republican supermajority are trying to silence the people's voices by rigging the district lines. Here are some graphics you can download and share on social media.

Senator Huffman,

Thanks for you note.

I can't agree with your listing the new districts as "competitive." I would liken that to Ohio State competing with Lima Catholic in sports. I thought that you had more integrity.

While we're at it, I'd like to comment on the legislative action that is swerving businesses from fulfilling their requirements found in the O.R.C. 4101.11 where the duty of employers has been spelled out in code to provide a safe and healthful workplace to its employees AND frequenters.

This also is in line with OSHA's General Duty Requirements as well. And in my mind refers to mask wearing and vaccines.

On the one hand the state makes this requirement to be followed then says "Well, in the name of "freedom" we'll take a pass on this standard, since we don't want to show any leadership.

As a former safety and health consultant with the BWC, I am dismayed with many elected representatives who don't serve in their office to make things better for its constituents and society but only want to follow a political agenda.

We need another Oliver Ocasek..

Mr Huffman,

Thanks for writing. Wish you a happy thanksgiving too.

Two things:
- when can we expect that the state government will uphold what WE THE PEOPLE voted for, and put forward and approve fair congressional district maps? If we can not count on you to stick to what was voted, what can we expect on the rest?

2) for what obscure reason are you writing to me now? I seriously doubt that it is to wish me good. Oh wait… I know.

By the way, although a decent citizen of Ohio, I am a registered Democract, and not on your district.

Thanks for the opportunity

Dear Rep. Huffman,

This past Saturday, while Ohioans were enjoying their weekend, Governor Mike DeWine made the shameful decision to sign rigged district maps into law.

These Republican-drawn maps will give Republicans at least 80% of Ohio's seats in Congress — even though they only win 55% of Ohio's vote.

Governor DeWine could have stopped Ohio's new rigged maps.

Four House Republicans had already joined Democrats to oppose the maps, and others are often uncomfortable overriding their own party's governor. A veto override was not certain.

These new congressional maps will almost certainly end up in front of Ohio's Supreme Court. The first lawsuit was just filed last night by 12 Ohio voters and the National Redistricting Action Fund (NRAF). We'll keep you updated as that process unfolds.

The Republican supermajority also gerrymandered Ohio's Statehouse districts. Our state Supreme Court will hear oral arguments on these unconstitutional maps on December 8th.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

So, what can you do right now?

1. Spread the word. Make sure everyone knows that Mike DeWine and Ohio's Republican supermajority are trying to silence the people's voices by rigging the district lines. Here are some graphics you can download and share on social media.

2. Enjoy your Thanksgiving holiday. We cannot express how grateful we are for all the hard work you have put into the fight for fair maps. We could not continue this battle without you. You deserve a peaceful, relaxing holiday break with your loved ones.

Thank you again for your dedication to this important cause over the past several years. This fight is not over. Not even close. We'll have updates for you soon.

Please stop ignoring and failing your constituents.

In 2015 and 2018, voters passed initiatives to create a fair process for redistricting in Ohio. We made ourselves clear: No more gerrymandering.

I'm disappointed that you seemingly don't care what Ohioans want. Gerrymandering is a threat to our democracy and Ohioans put their trust in you to draw fair districts.

Please do the right thing and draw fair maps. Be an advocate for your constituents and truly consider the will of the people.

Senate President Matt Huffman,

We are less than two weeks away from the deadline for the Ohio Redistricting Commission to create and pass a bipartisan congressional district map, and there has been zero progress toward meeting that deadline. I am a proud advocate for the redistricting reforms enshrined in our state constitution, and it angers me to see the persistent failure by our leaders to meet this moment and deliver the reforms over 70% of Ohioans demanded.

All I am asking, in fact demanding, is for you and your Commission (General Assembly) colleagues to DO YOUR JOB AND GET TO WORK. There is no room for excuses, no room for finger pointing, no room for hand wringing. It's simple: you either do your job and work transparently to pass a fair, bipartisan map, or you don't. Either way, I'll remember next November.

Equal Districts Coalition Condemns DeWine's Decision to Sign Rigged Maps

COLUMBUS — This week, the Equal Districts Coalition — a group of over 30 Ohio advocacy organizations and labor unions engaged in the 2021 redistricting process — condemned Governor DeWine's decision to sign the heavily gerrymandered congressional district map passed by the Republican Statehouse supermajority.

"Once again, Governor DeWine has failed to stand up to the extremists in his party. He could have rejected gerrymandered maps, but chose weakness instead," said Desiree Tims, President and CEO of Innovation Ohio. "These rigged districts will lead to more extreme politicians who pass dangerous laws that devastate Ohio communities."

The governor's veto could potentially have stopped the maps altogether, because a veto override was not certain. Four House Republicans had already joined Democrats to oppose the maps, and others are often uncomfortable overriding their own party's governor. This is therefore the second time Governor DeWine has chosen to allow his party's most extreme members to draw unfair district maps.

“This is now the second time in as many months that Governor DeWine found himself in a position of incredible power to have done the right thing to stand up for our democracy by opposing an egregiously gerrymandered map,” said Katy Shanahan, Ohio State Director of All On The Line. “Unfortunately, he has yet again sided with his fellow Republicans in their mission to preserve their own political power at the direct cost of diluting our voices and pre-determining the outcome of our elections before a single ballot has been cast."

In the days preceding Governor DeWine's decision, thousands of Ohioans had contacted his office, asking that he veto the Republican-drawn congressional map. The map clearly does not adhere to the promises DeWine made in 2018, when DeWine told the Cincinnati Enquirer that “the rules are pretty clear — the voters said that the redistricting process should be done in a bipartisan way. When I am governor, there will be an expectation that the new district maps honor the voters’ wishes.”

Governor DeWine chose to ignore Ohioans’ calls, emails, and tweets — as well as his own words — and signed off on the rigged map this past Saturday.

“Regardless of our skin color or zip code, everybody deserves to have a meaningful influence on our political process and choosing who gets to represent us,” said Jeniece Brock, Policy and Advocacy Director of the Ohio Organizing Collaborative. “By cracking and packing communities of color, this congressional map dilutes the power and voices of Black and brown Ohioans. This map also shows a blatant disregard for the Ohioans who voted in huge margins to support congressional redistricting reform in 2018. Voters sent a clear message that we wanted adequate representation and a fair process and, unfortunately, our state’s leadership has failed us.”

Statehouse Republicans introduced and passed Ohio’s new map in just a few days. It was crafted behind closed doors, without input from the minority party or the public. The map will give Republicans 80% - 87% of Ohio’s congressional seats, despite the fact that Republicans only win about 55% of Ohio’s statewide vote.

Throughout the past year, the Equal Districts Coalition has been calling for legislative and congressional district maps that keep communities together, empower communities of color, and reflect how Ohioans vote. Using these standards, a fair congressional map would break down to eight Republican seats and seven Democratic seats in Congress. The Republican-passed map, however, will hand Republicans an outlandish 12 or 13 seats in Congress.

I see you and Bob ganged up to pass HB 258 that continues gerrymandering in Ohio. Two Republicans at least have ethics and integrity to vote no on this bill. You and Bob need to listen to what Ohioians. Ohioians want a fair district map not gerrymandering. Again, you and Bob have failed Ohioians. Hopefully the courts will get this turned around. Senator Matt Huffman,

Please stop ignoring and failing your constituents.

In 2015 and 2018, voters passed initiatives to create a fair process for redistricting in Ohio. We made ourselves clear: No more gerrymandering.

I'm disappointed that you seemingly don't care what Ohioans want. Gerrymandering is a threat to our democracy and Ohioans put their trust in you to draw fair districts.

Please do the right thing and draw fair maps. Be an advocate for your constituents and truly consider the will of the people.

End gerrymandering in Ohio and you can help create a more fair election process and representative government for our state.

Equal Districts Coalition Condemns DeWine's Decision to Sign Rigged Maps

COLUMBUS — TODAY, the Equal Districts Coalition — a group of over 30 Ohio advocacy organizations and labor unions engaged in the 2021 redistricting process — condemned Governor DeWine's decision to sign the heavily gerrymandered congressional district map passed by the Republican Statehouse supermajority.

"Once again, Governor DeWine has failed to stand up to the extremists in his party. He could have rejected gerrymandered maps, but chose weakness instead," said Desiree Tims, President and CEO of Innovation Ohio. "These rigged districts will lead to more extreme politicians who pass dangerous laws that devastate Ohio communities."

The governor's veto could potentially have stopped the maps altogether, because a veto override was not certain. Four House Republicans had already joined Democrats to oppose the maps, and others are often uncomfortable overriding their own party's governor. This is therefore the second time Governor DeWine has chosen to allow his party's most extreme members to draw unfair district maps.

“This is now the second time in as many months that Governor DeWine found himself in a position of incredible power to have done the right thing to stand up for our democracy by opposing an egregiously gerrymandered map,” said Katy Shanahan, Ohio State Director of All On The Line. “Unfortunately, he has yet again sided with his fellow Republicans in their mission to preserve their own political power at the direct cost of diluting our voices and pre-determining the outcome of our elections before a single ballot has been cast."

Over the past two days, thousands of Ohioans have contacted Governor DeWine’s office, asking that he veto the Republican-drawn congressional map. The map clearly does not adhere to the promises DeWine made in 2018, when he told the Cincinnati Enquirer that “the rules are pretty clear — the voters said that the redistricting process should be done in a bipartisan way. When I am governor, there will be an expectation that the new district maps honor the voters’ wishes.”

Governor DeWine chose to ignore Ohioans’ calls, emails, and tweets — as well as his own words — and signed off on the rigged map this afternoon.

“Regardless of our skin color or zip code, everybody deserves to have a meaningful influence on our political process and choosing who gets to represent us,” said Jeniece Brock, Policy and Advocacy Director of the Ohio Organizing Collaborative. “By cracking and packing communities of color, this congressional map dilutes the power and voices of Black and brown Ohioans. This map also shows a blatant disregard for the Ohioans who voted in huge margins to support congressional redistricting reform in 2018. Voters sent a clear message that we wanted adequate representation and a fair process and, unfortunately, our state’s leadership has failed us.”

Statehouse Republicans introduced and passed Ohio’s new map in just a few days. It was crafted behind closed doors, without input from the minority party or the public. The map will give Republicans 80% - 87% of Ohio’s congressional seats, despite the fact that Republicans only win about 55% of Ohio’s statewide vote.

Throughout the past year, the Equal Districts Coalition has been calling for legislative and congressional district maps that keep communities together, empower communities of color, and reflect how Ohioans vote. Using these standards, a fair congressional map would break down to eight Republican seats and seven Democratic seats in Congress. The Republican-passed map, however, will hand Republicans an outlandish 12 or 13 seats in Congress.

As your constituent, here hopefully for your reflection, are my comments to the United States Senators today decrying what you have done to push yet another unfair congressional district map onto Ohioans, who voted in 2018 with a majority of 75%, passing an amendment to reform the redistricting process and to deny just such undemocratic actions, helping to prove the need for federal legislation to protect the integrity of the vote of all eligible Ohioans, and by extension that of all Americans. You failed us, you failed fairness, you failed democracy, you failed your oath to support the Constitution of Ohio, you failed me and my two adult children. We vote in every election no matter how small, and we expect our votes to be counted, and for our votes to count:

The following is what has been happening here in Ohio over the past several days, despite 75% of our electorate, including at least 66% in each district, Republican and Democratic alike, having passed an amendment in 2018 to our state Constitution outlining and requiring a fair and transparent bipartisan process for congressional redistricting.

The new map passed by the Republican legislature blatantly violates the voters' wishes. It was introduced and passed in just a few days, with no opportunity for public input. It was drawn behind closed doors, without the help of any members of the minority party. It is NOT bipartisan in any capacity.

This map will give Republicans 80% - 87% of Ohio’s congressional seats, despite the fact that Republicans have only won about 55% of Ohio’s statewide vote over the course of the last ten years. That is unacceptable. Following the criteria in our state amendment, equity would be reflected in 8 districts leaning Republican, 7 leaning Democratic. The map passed follows neither the letter nor the spirit of the process voted in by WE THE PEOPLE OF OHIO. Not only does this map completely skew our representation in Congress, it allows our representatives to continue to ignore the opinions and needs of their own constituents because their seats remain noncompetitive, they continue to pick their voters rather than constituents choosing those who represent them. This is an antidemocratic grabbing of power, more fitting an autocracy, in outright defiance of the votes of Ohioans who enshrined a better way into our Constitution. This is what is happening here, and many of those in charge of the legislature and the electoral process in Ohio are not even the worst of the worst seen around the country.

We need true change. We need federal guidelines and guardrails to protect participation in free and fair elections across our country, a crucial pillar of democracy. In a double whammy, some statehouses are further attempting to manipulate the ability to literally overturn the results of elections in their states, which have already been handicapped with district packing and gerrymandering, a death knell for our democracy, our way of life, sliding toward autocracy and budding fascism. Social experts and historians will tell you emphatically that this is how democracies the world over die.

Senate President Matt Huffman,

Ohioans voted overwhelmingly in 2018 to end gerrymandering. The new rules in the Ohio Constitution require you to adopt a congressional map that keeps communities together and does not unduly favor or disfavor any political party. Ohioans want to vote in fair elections and have their voices be heard.

Both House Bill 479 and Senate Bill 258 fail to live up to the fairness and balance required in the revised Ohio Constitution. I urge you to reject these two maps -- and any others that "pack" and "crack" communities in order to tip the scales in favor of one party.

Please, put partisanship aside and work together to come up with a ten year map that is fair and gives all Ohioans a voice.

Senator Matt Huffman,

Please stop ignoring and failing your constituents.

In 2015 and 2018, voters passed initiatives to create a fair process for redistricting in Ohio. We made ourselves clear: No more gerrymandering.

I'm disappointed that you seemingly don't care what Ohioans want. Gerrymandering is a threat to our democracy and Ohioans put their trust in you to draw fair districts.

Please do the right thing and draw fair maps. Be an advocate for your constituents and truly consider the will of the people.

End gerrymandering in Ohio and you can help create a more fair election process and representative government for our state.

Senator Matt Huffman,

As 73 year old man who is a retired Social Studies teacher and a former Republican (changed my status in the last 4 years), I am very disappointed in the Ohio Legislature and those who commissioned to draw up fair legislative map state wide as well as for Congressional seats.

In 2015 and 2018, voters passed initiatives to create a fair process for redistricting in Ohio. We made ourselves clear: No more gerrymandering. Yet you have exploited the intent of the Constitutional amendments. When I taught Government in high school, I emphasized that voters elected their representatives based on principles held by both parties. Those running for office needed to persuade enough people to their principles to win the election. But what you have done by gerrymandering has eliminated that concept. You have drawn up districts in which you chose voters making it extremely difficult for anyone with opposing points of view to every win.

I'm disappointed that you seemingly don't care what Ohioans want. Gerrymandering is a threat to our democracy and Ohioans put their trust in you to draw fair districts.

Ohioans voted overwhelmingly in 2018 to end gerrymandering. The new rules in the Ohio Constitution require you to adopt a congressional map that keeps communities together and does not unduly favor or disfavor any political party. Ohioans want to vote in fair elections and have their voices be heard.

Both House Bill 479 and Senate Bill 258 fail to live up to the fairness and balance required in the revised Ohio Constitution. I urge you to reject these two maps -- and any others that "pack" and "crack" communities in order to tip the scales in favor of one party.

Please, put partisanship aside and work together to come up with a ten year map that is fair and gives all Ohioans a voice.

I have been watching the actions of those of you committed to creating fair maps, but you aren't doing that. Instead, like other states, you are trying to "rig" the system in favor of "your" party. You attract voters by what you DO and HOW YOU SERVE them, not by gerrymandering. That could backfire.

Did you read my letter, Mr. Huffman? In case you did not, here is the essence of it:

You and Mr. Cupp drew maps that flagrantly disregarded Ohio voters' demands that redistricting be fair and accurately represent the political persuasion of the state's voters. Instead, you drew new maps that would perpetuate your hold on power in this state and ensure that Democrats remain severely under-represented in the state legislature. Besides being unconstitutional and self-serving, this is unhealthy for Ohio, and it is a slap in the face of voters, who will surely make their anger known, but—thanks to the new maps—will probably be to no avail.

Is this the Republican lesson on democracy: "Win elections by gerrymandering, and then cite those wins as justification for continuing the gerrymandering so that your supermajority can then pass legislation to ensure that you win future elections or overturn them when the people try to vote you out." You and Cupp are apparently the two who are most to blame for this unconstitutional travesty. But Mike DeWine, Frank LaRose, and Keith Faber share the blame for standing on the sidelines, watching and never holding you two to account.

Where is your sense of responsibility to the voters who elected you and so clearly demanded fair redistricting? Your actions are maddening and disgusting, and fair-minded Ohio citizens can only hope you pay a political price. Barring that, I hope that your conscience catches up with you at some point.

I have expected this from our current republican representation in Columbus. Elected officials have become sheep for their parties rather than servants of the people. Ever since Ohio's school funding was ruled unconstitutional I realize fully that you do not serve the people or follow the law. I viewed two maps of Ohio's 88 counties last week a few days apart. The representation depicted on the maps were divided piecemeal.

Ohio has become the poster state for grotesque, shameless gerrymandering.

I want fair representation!

Fix the map so they reflect FAIR representation.

A system that enables and allows the holders of power to cheat on democracy and that operates so as to disenfranchise voters, does not deserve respect.

Voters are supposed to choose candidates. But when lawmakers draw district lines to entrench one party's political power, some votes count more than others. Be an advocate for your constituents and truly consider the will of the people.

The solution is independent redistricting commissions in every state and legal protections against extreme gerrymandering. End gerrymandering in Ohio and you can help create a more fair election process and representative government for our state.

Senate President Matt Huffman,

NO MORE GERRYMANDERING! The outcome of Ohio's citizens' votes should determine our "elected" officials -- not determined by gerrymandered districts!

We are less than two weeks away from the deadline for the Ohio Redistricting Commission to create and pass a bipartisan congressional district map, and there has been zero progress toward meeting that deadline. I am a proud advocate for the redistricting reforms enshrined in our state constitution, and it angers me to see the persistent failure by our leaders to meet this moment and deliver the reforms over 70% of Ohioans demanded.

All I am asking, in fact demanding, is for you and your Commission (General Assembly) colleagues to DO YOUR JOB AND GET TO WORK. There is no room for excuses, no room for finger pointing, no room for hand wringing. It’s simple: you either do your job and work transparently to pass a fair, bipartisan map, or you don’t. Either way, I’ll remember next November.

Ohioans voted overwhelmingly in 2018 to end gerrymandering. The new rules in the Ohio Constitution require you to adopt a congressional map that keeps communities together and does not unduly favor or disfavor any political party. Ohioans want to vote in fair elections and have their voices be heard.

Both House Bill 479 and Senate Bill 258 fail to live up to the fairness and balance required in the revised Ohio Constitution. I urge you to reject these two maps -- and any others that "pack" and "crack" communities in order to tip the scales in favor of one party.

Please, put partisanship aside and work together to come up with a ten year map that is fair and gives all Ohioans a voice.

The GOP redistricting bill is neither "Compact" and especially not "Competitive." 'Once again the Republican party has proven is "We the GOP" not the constitutional "We the people." I left the Republican Party because of Nixon and the initial attempts of the GOP to cover up his corruption. The disrespect of out fellow citizens continues.

Ohio Republicans Pass Heavily Gerrymandered Map, Equal Districts Coalition Urges DeWine to Veto

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

COLUMBUS — TODAY, the Equal Districts Coalition — a group of over 30 Ohio advocacy organizations and labor unions engaged in the 2021 redistricting process — urged Governor Mike DeWine to veto the heavily gerrymandered congressional district map passed by the Republican Statehouse supermajority.

“These sham maps are especially harmful to our Black and Brown communities — they undermine the voting power of communities of color by cracking them apart and packing them together into districts that minimize our political influence,” said Kobie Christian, spokesperson for For Our Future Ohio. “We call on Governor DeWine to defend democracy in our state, protect the representation of communities of color, and veto these rigged maps.”

Statehouse Republicans introduced and passed the new map in just a few days. It was crafted behind closed doors, without input from the minority party or the public. The map will give Republicans 80% - 87% of Ohio’s congressional seats, despite the fact that Republicans only win about 55% of Ohio’s statewide vote.

“Gerrymandered district maps lead to extreme legislators like the ones dominating Ohio's Statehouse. They're attacking voting rights, protest rights, reproductive rights, the right to an accurate education, and more. They're out of control. Governor DeWine needs to stand up to his party's extremists and veto these rigged maps,” said Desiree Tims, President and CEO of Innovation Ohio.

Throughout the past year, the Equal Districts Coalition has been calling for legislative and congressional district maps that keep communities together, empower communities of color, and reflect how Ohioans vote. Using these standards, a fair congressional map would break down to eight Republican seats and seven Democratic seats in Congress. The Republican-passed map, however, will hand Republicans an outlandish 12 or 13 seats in Congress.

“When redistricting, map drawers face a clear choice: to either preserve their own political power or to preserve our democracy. The Republicans have clearly chosen not just to preserve but to actually enhance their political power by gerrymandering,” said Katy Shanahan, Ohio State Director for All On

The Line. “They’ve brazenly chosen to relegate Ohio to four years with an even more gerrymandered map than before – a map that shuts voters out of the political process and denies our communities any real say in who represents us.”

The Equal Districts Coalition urges Ohioans to contact Governor DeWine and demand that he veto the Republican-drawn congressional map. The map clearly does not adhere to the promises DeWine made in 2018, when he told the Cincinnati Enquirer that “the rules are pretty clear — the voters said that the redistricting process should be done in a bipartisan way. When I am governor, there will be an expectation that the new district maps honor the voters’ wishes.”

"Ohioans deserve no less than a fair congressional map, which includes 7 Democratic seats and 8 Republican seats. These numbers reflect how Ohioans actually vote and meet the requirements laid out in our state constitution,” said Jeniece Brock, Policy and Advocacy Director for the Ohio Organizing Collaborative. “Ohioans voted roughly 46% Democrat and 54% Republican during the last election, and the new congressional map must reflect this reality. Governor DeWine must remember his promises to Ohio voters and respect our need for a fair, representative, and constitutional map that does not crack and pack or disenfranchise our communities.”

Here’s what Equal Districts Coalition partners are saying about Ohio's gerrymandered congressional map:

Raymond Greene Jr., Executive Director, The Freedom Bloc:
“The public has a right to choose who represents them. These maps allow politicians to choose whom they represent — that is not democracy. We must create an equal and just society, and it starts with equitable districts.”

Katie Paris, Founder, Red Wine & Blue:
“Governor DeWine continues to reveal himself as too weak to stand up to the extremists in his party. Whether it's masks in schools or keeping our kids safe from gun violence, he backs down at every turn. Will this time be any different — or will he continue to prioritize getting four more years above all else?”

Petee Talley, Chief Officer, Ohio Coalition on Black Civic Participation /

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Ohio Unity Coalition:
“The proposed map is badly gerrymandered with no underlying rationale being given for why Blacks in Hamilton County have been split into three separate congressional districts. The map clearly advantages one political party over another. It is a slap in the face to all of us who worked hard for Fair Districts.”

Heather Taylor-Miesle, Executive Director, Ohio Environmental Council:
"This process clearly demonstrates that the 2018 Congressional redistricting agreement was nothing more than lip service. A supermajority of Ohioans told the Statehouse to put them first, and this map clearly shows their loud voice was ignored. When we're facing down the immediate impacts of climate change, we can't afford rigged maps.”

Lauren Blauvelt-Copelin, Vice President of Government Affairs and Public Advocacy, Planned Parenthood Advocates of Ohio:
“Democracy does not happen behind closed doors—corruption does. These Republican-drawn districts give Republicans a landslide of unearned representation in the United States House. Democracy works when voters pick their legislators, not when legislators pick their voters. Democracy works when legislators are accountable for their actions and can be voted out. But these congressional maps will hand Republicans undeserved, extreme power and leave them unaccountable for their actions.”

Senate President Matt Huffman,

Ohioans voted overwhelmingly in 2018 to end gerrymandering. The new rules in the Ohio Constitution require you to adopt a congressional map that keeps communities together and does not unduly favor or disfavor any political party. Ohioans want to vote in fair elections and have their voices be heard.

Both House Bill 479 and Senate Bill 258 fail to live up to the fairness and balance required in the revised Ohio Constitution. I urge you to reject these two maps -- and any others that "pack" and "crack" communities in order to tip the scales in favor of one party.

Please, put partisanship aside and work together to come up with a ten year map that is fair and gives all Ohioans a voice.

Gerrymandering is a practice that should never have been adopted in the first place. It is a classic case of the tail wagging the dog. Stacking the deck or fixing the game is not allowed in any other circumstance, there is not reason why it should not be so in politics as well. Gerrymandering is cheating, pure and simple. If an argument, a point of view or a political position is so weak that cheating is the only way it can survive, it does not deserve support. Those who must resort to gerrymandering to promote their agenda are just as weak as their argument. They serve no one but themselves in spite of the oath they've taken and should not be allowed to use gerrymandering as a weapon against the people they are suppose to represent. All of the people are entitled to representation, not just those with an agreeable point of view. It is long past time for a change. Now is the time to do the right thing.

Senator Matt Huffman,

Please stop ignoring and failing your constituents.

In 2015 and 2018, voters passed initiatives to create a fair process for redistricting in Ohio. We made ourselves clear: No more gerrymandering.

I'm disappointed that you seemingly don't care what Ohioans want. Gerrymandering is a threat to our democracy and Ohioans put their trust in you to draw fair districts.

Please do the right thing and draw fair maps. Be an advocate for your constituents and truly consider the will of the people.

End gerrymandering in Ohio and you can help create a more fair election process and representative government for our state.

Senate President Matt Huffman,

I am a concerned voter in your district, and I am contacting you regarding gerrymandering in the state of Ohio. Here in Ohio, our elections should represent the will of the people, not partisan interests. State lawmakers in the General Assembly--including yourself--and members of the Ohio Redistricting Commission must commit to counting everyone equally and having a transparent redistricting process. While the Ohio Redistricting Commission failed in this duty, you have a chance to prove to us fair maps are possible.
Please take the following steps to ensure transparent, bipartisan mapmaking that engages the public so that the resulting maps truly serve voters:
1. Schedule field hearings for the public as soon as possible.
2. Consider maps submitted by the public.
3. Invite testimony from diverse academics and experts.
4. Publish a detailed process for decision-making and a full schedule for November that details all public hearings and joint committee meetings.
We believe public disclosure of new maps and updated redistricting criteria that require the consideration of primary stakeholders will address this obligation. I am encouraging you to advocate for equitable representation. Now is the time to deliver fair maps and fair districts to the people of Ohio, your constituents, your voters.

Senator Matt Huffman,

Mr. Huffman,

I implore you to reconsider how Ohio's districts are organized. If we can not easily explain to our high school age children how districts are organized in the state of Ohio then we are not upholding the values of the constitution! (For the people!). I understand that Ohionis a broadly diverse State and that representation of this diversity should be represented in districts but some of these districts do not make any sense. I encourage a more transparent district ordering process! When the people can understand government they are more likely to be engaged in the process (more engagement = more campaign $$$). Help us, many of whom make far less money than you, help you! Please stop ignoring and failing your constituents.

Your role in blocking fair redistricting: It's a sad day for democracy when legislators like you are so partisan that you can't pursue fair redistricting maps. Even when the voters of Ohio overwhelmingly pass a ballot to ensure the spirit and letter of fair redistricting to accurately reflect the 45% Democrat - 55% Republican balance shown in the previous election, you willfully ignore it. I hope your family, friends, and even grand kids, realize what you're doing to push the demise of democracy in our state.

Senator Matt Huffman,

Please stop ignoring and failing your constituents.

In 2015 and 2018, voters passed initiatives to create a fair process for redistricting in Ohio. We made ourselves clear: No more gerrymandering.

I'm disappointed that you seemingly don't care what Ohioans want. Gerrymandering is a threat to our democracy and Ohioans put their trust in you to draw fair districts.

Please do the right thing and draw fair maps. Be an advocate for your constituents and truly consider the will of the people.

End gerrymandering in Ohio and you can help create a more fair election process and representative government for our state.

Senator Matt Huffman,

Please stop ignoring and failing your constituents. I live approximately 50 miles and three counties away from where I grew up, but my current gerrymandered district starts in Mahoning County (Youngstown - where I grew up)!and stretches across a narrow area of Portage County, to pick up sections of Summit County (Tallmadge). There is ABSOLUTELY no reason for my district to be the strange shape it is, other than to try to lump Democratic leaning areas into a single district. Voters need to have real choices - not the gerrymandered districts like this one and the ridiculously shaped district currently held by Congressman Jim Jordan.

Districts should be cohesive and drawn to give voters a fair representation, not carved up to rob some constituencies their voice. Northeast Ohio has many carved up districts that silence the voice of minorities. Please do what voters have asked, correct the inequities in our voting districts.

Senator Matt Huffman,

Please stop ignoring and failing your constituents.

In 2015 and 2018, voters passed initiatives to create a fair process for redistricting in Ohio. We made ourselves clear: No more gerrymandering.

I'm disappointed that you seemingly don't care what Ohioans want. Gerrymandering is a threat to our democracy and Ohioans put their trust in you to draw fair districts.

Please do the right thing and draw fair maps. Be an advocate for your constituents and truly consider the will of the people.

End gerrymandering in Ohio and you can help create a more fair election process and representative government for our state.

P.S. In case you haven't noticed, gerrymandering gives the extreme candidates in the safe districts created by the advantaged party more clout in primary elections, leading to the election of more extreme, ideological candidates at the state and national level and creating the polarized politics we have today. Is that what you want? Maybe, but it's not what Ohioans voted for in 2018.

Ohioans voted overwhelmingly in 2018 to end gerrymandering. The new rules in the Ohio Constitution require you to adopt a congressional map that keeps communities together and does not unduly favor or disfavor any political party. Ohioans want to vote in fair elections and have their voices be heard.

Both House Bill 479 and Senate Bill 258 fail to live up to the fairness and balance required in the revised Ohio Constitution. I urge you to reject these two maps -- and any others that "pack" and "crack" communities in order to tip the scales in favor of one party.

Dear Rep. Huffman,

Yesterday, Senate Republicans passed a district map that could give their party 87% of Ohio's seats in Congress — even though Republicans only win 55% of Ohio's votes.

The House is likely to vote on this rigged map TOMORROW.

Email your state rep. Tell them not to settle for anything less than fair, representative districts.

Then send a thank-you email to Ohio's Democratic senators. Let them know you're grateful that they opposed the Republicans' blatant gerrymandering.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

A fair map will send eight Republicans and seven Democrats to Congress from Ohio. Legislators should not settle for less.

COMMENTARY
Betraying voters, Ohio Senate President Huffman and House Speaker Cupp declare moral bankruptcy
GOP legislative leaders are rigging Ohio elections for the foreseeable future

DAVID DEWITT
NOVEMBER 17, 2021 12:20 AM

Ohio Senate President Matt Huffman and Ohio House Speaker Bob Cupp, both Lima Republicans. Official photos.

Nearly 75% of Ohio voters reformed the state constitution in 2018 to end gerrymandering and bring about fair, legal U.S. Congressional districts.

Instead state Republican legislative leaders hijacked the process, betrayed voters, and have all but declared total moral and ethical bankruptcy in their cynical pursuit of political power at all costs.

The behavior of Ohio Senate President Matt Huffman and House Speaker Bob Cupp is despicable, anti-democratic, and un-American.

They are rigging Ohio's Statehouse and U.S. Congressional elections for the foreseeable future, denying millions of Ohio voters that most essential tenet of representational government: representation itself.

The GOP congressional map passed through the state Senate on Tuesday afternoon.
After hammering out a gerrymandered U.S. Congressional district map behind closed doors over the weekend, they dropped a PDF of it Monday night after having already determined to rush it through committee and passage in the Ohio Senate Tuesday with the House soon to follow.

The analysis for the map shows seven Republican districts, two Democratic districts, four districts that lean solid Republican, one that leans slightly GOP, the 9th District, and one that leans slightly Democratic, the 13th.

Take this as 11-2 GOP-to-Democratic map with two potential toss-ups, and take anybody who tells you differently as thinking you an idiot. The Princeton Gerrymandering Project gives the map an "F" grade, noting its significant Republican advantage.

If GOP leaders really wanted competition, why give the GOP a 7-2 starting advantage, then a 5-1 advantage in the "competition"?

Would you sit down for a chess match with someone who has stacked your side with 15 pawns and theirs with 15 rooks, bishops, knights, and queens?

Huffman trotted out Napoleon Republican state Sen. Rob McColley to offer malignant evasions for why this map might not be as transparently wretched as it so obviously is.

McColley said he "strongly disagrees" with the idea of an 8-7 map, which would reflect the 54-46 average split of Ohio voter preferences as averaged over the last 16 statewide partisan elections.

McColley claimed voters wanted a map that would adapt to the "changing winds" of the political landscape.

The voters voted for fair, bipartisan maps, not the hot air of McColley's "changing winds."

The reality is that the suburbs are trending blue and rural areas more red, and they both have been for a while. Well aware of this, the GOP has taken full advantage of it in their map, hoovering suburban areas of Ohio's largest counties up into rural GOP-leaning districts.

The map splits Cuyahoga County in three, with outlying areas included with rural Republican counties to dilute those Democratic votes.

Hamilton County is even worse, also split into three, with the city of Cincinnati drawn into a district with rural Republican Warren County, the north central part of Hamilton drawn in with Republican Butler County up to Darke, and the eastern portion included in a Southern Ohio district that stretches over to Meigs.

Meanwhile, vast swaths of northern, western and southern Franklin County are drawn into a rural district that includes townships as far south as Ross County and as far southwest as the southwest tip of Greene.

This is all politically malicious, and wholly intentional, making McColley's words ring as hollow as a bongo drum.

It would be far easier to spend one's energy creating fair, legal maps instead of painstakingly contorting partisan advantages in defiance of nearly 75% of Ohio voters and hammering out manipulative talking points contemptuous of and condescending to the public, who poured their hearts out to lawmakers pleading for fair districts.

Huffman and Cupp bullied their fellow Republican members of the Ohio Redistricting Commission into passing offensively gerrymandered Statehouse maps in September enshrining Huffman and Cupp's power.

If Gov. Mike DeWine is done being bullied by them, he could show it by vetoing this atrocity of a congressional map.

But if DeWine rolls over like a good puppy as he did with the Statehouse maps, patriotic Ohioans who care about the health of our American Republic will have to count on Ohio Supreme Court Justice Maureen O'Connor to stand up for justice itself and strike these maps down.

Matt Huffman and Bob Cupp have revealed themselves to be small, arrogant men executing narrow, selfish political interests. They have betrayed their oaths to uphold the Ohio Constitution, and they have betrayed the voters.

I trust they aren't ashamed of themselves, but all Ohioans should be ashamed of them.

I urge you to oppose Senate Bill 258 and the extreme gerrymandering of Ohio's congressional districts. By "packing" and "cracking" Ohio's most populous counties, this congressional map unnecessarily divides communities and rigs a political outcome that will deny Ohioans their right to have their voices heard. Voters deserve better. We need a congressional map that keeps communities together and doesn't unfairly favor one political party over the other.

Senate President Matt Huffman,

Ohioans voted overwhelmingly in 2018 to end gerrymandering. The new rules in the Ohio Constitution require you to adopt a congressional map that keeps communities together and does not unduly favor or disfavor any political party. Ohioans want to vote in fair elections and have their voices be heard.

Both House Bill 479 and Senate Bill 258 fail to live up to the fairness and balance required in the revised Ohio Constitution. I urge you to reject these two maps -- and any others that "pack" and "crack" communities in order to tip the scales in favor of one party.

Please, put partisanship aside and work together to come up with a ten year map that is fair and gives all Ohioans a voice.

Renew Ohio Files Amicus Brief in Ohio Redistricting Lawsuits

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
November 15, 2021

(COLUMBUS) - Renew Ohio, a 501(c)(4) organization created in 2013 to support a variety of policy initiatives, announced today that the organization has filed an amicus brief with the Ohio Supreme Court on the cases challenging the constitutionality of the new maps for the Ohio General Assembly. Renew Ohio actively supported the 2014-2015 bipartisan reform of Ohio's legislative reapportionment law and believes that the Ohio Supreme Court should deny the claims made by the League of Women Voters, the Ohio Organizing Collaborative, among others, and uphold the maps approved by the Ohio Redistricting Commission.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

"In negotiating the 2014-15 constitutional amendment on redistricting reform, we were very careful to protect Ohioans from demands that Ohio be gerrymandered to give Democrats what they cannot win at the ballot box," said Renew Ohio Board Member Jeff Jacobson. "Our organization's extensive review of the maps adopted by the Ohio Redistricting Commission demonstrates that the Commission was fair, in fact more than fair, when drawing the lines. The only way to give Democrats control in significantly more districts would be to gerrymander in their favor. And that's exactly what the Ohio Constitution prohibits. We urge the Supreme Court to deny petitioners the relief they requested and instead uphold the Constitution."

I was born in this country and have lived in Ohio all of my adult life. I believe in and want to live in a democracy, but in Ohio that is clearly no longer the case. Ohio citizens overwhelming voted to have fair districts and elections where citizens matter. But the Ohio Redistricting commission and the state's Republican legislators -- you in particular -- have decided that Ohio is NOT A DEMOCRACY by ignoring the clear wishes of Ohio voters!

Shame on you for your actions in trying to kill democracy!! Actually, I already know you have no shame, so perhaps that comment is wasted on you. All you care about is winning, not democracy, not Ohio citizens!

Senate President Matt Huffman,

We are less than two weeks away from the deadline for the Ohio Redistricting Commission to create and pass a bipartisan congressional district map, and there has been zero progress toward meeting that deadline. I am a proud advocate for the redistricting reforms enshrined in our state constitution, and it angers me to see the persistent failure by our leaders to meet this moment and deliver the reforms over 70% of Ohioans demanded.

All I am asking, in fact demanding, is for you and your Commission (General Assembly) colleagues to DO YOUR JOB AND GET TO WORK. There is no room for excuses, no room for finger pointing, no room for hand wringing. It's simple: you either do your job and work transparently to pass a fair, bipartisan map, or you don't. Either way, I'll remember next November.

State Senator Matt Huffman,

Hello,

As a member of Ohio's legislature, I'm sure you know the deadline for congressional district maps is November 30th. You have the power to prevent bad 10-year maps.

A fair congressional map will include seven Democratic seats and eight Republican seats. Those numbers reflect Ohio's average statewide vote share for the past decade. Do not settle for anything less.

In addition, please do not accept a few "token" districts where Black and brown voters are packed together to stifle their power. Instead, demand fair districts that give Black and brown Ohioans a real shot at representation all over the state.

Ohio voters went to the polls in massive numbers to demand an open, transparent redistricting process and equal districts. We're counting on you to uphold the changes we made to Ohio's Constitution.
As you know the above paragraphs come prewritten and you're supposed to sign on. Well here is my take on the voting mess your party has made. I've been voting for 50 years and the last 40 years I have watched Republicans unhappy about not winning legally have decided to rig elections to win illegally. You know, like southern Democrats did 160 years or so ago. So it looks like your ready to take control at any costs including bloodshed. You want to turn this GREAT country into a 3rd World "has been". I'm guessing that roughly 25 to 30% of Americans are dumb enough to follow you to hell which is fine because I know where you live and help you all get there.

Thank You.

Equal Districts Coalition Demands Fair Maps Ahead of Congressional Map Vote

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

COLUMBUS — TODAY, the Equal Districts Coalition — a group of over 30 Ohio advocacy organizations and labor unions engaged in the 2021 redistricting process — held a press event at the Statehouse, calling on legislators to vote against any congressional map that is not fair and representative.

Watch the press conference HERE.

“We've seen what has happened over the past decade of unearned Republican supermajorities in Ohio. Rigged lines lead to extreme politicians who pass dangerous laws that devastate our communities. Every organization here today is working on different issues, but we're all directly impacted by rigged maps. Every single Ohioan is too,” said Desiree Tims, President and CEO of Innovation Ohio.

The Equal Districts Coalition is calling for a congressional map that keeps communities together, empowers communities of color, and reflects how Ohioans vote. A fair map would break down to eight Republican seats and seven Democratic seats in Congress.

“Ohio’s congressional maps should fully represent Ohio’s Black and Brown communities, and not serve as a power trip for one political party. Fair maps do not crack or pack our communities in order to hold onto power or oppress us,” said Jeniece Brock, Ohio Citizens’ Redistricting Commission Vice Chair and Policy and Advocacy Director for the Ohio Organizing Collaborative.

Following the press conference, Equal Districts Coalition partners and supporters remained at the Statehouse for an advocates' lobby day. Ohioans will continue meeting with legislators throughout the day to advocate for a fair congressional map.

"When redistricting, map drawers face a clear choice — to preserve their own personal political power or to preserve our democracy. The Republicans have very clearly chosen to relegate Ohio to another decade of politician-chosen power, where we voters are shut out of the political process and where our communities are denied any real say in who represents us. Their proposed maps are an insult and a clear showing that they have not entered this conversation in good faith. Unfortunately, it is all of us Ohioans who will suffer the consequences of their choice to put their own party's political power over our democracy," said Katy Shanahan, Ohio State Director for All On The Line.

Statehouse Republicans appear to be angling to vote on a final map later this week. Late last night, Republicans introduced a new map, crafted behind closed doors without input from the minority party or the public. This map will likely give Republicans 87% of Ohio's congressional seats, despite the fact that Republicans only win about 55% of Ohio's statewide vote.

"As the AAPI community grows, our political concerns grow with us. We are eager to contribute to the political landscape of Ohio. I urge our state legislators to reject the proposed gerrymandered maps. We are watching closely to see if you will choose to stand with Ohioans fighting for our democracy, or if you will cheat us out of the fair, transparent process we voted for," said Jona Hilario, Statewide Co-Director, OPAWL — Building AAPI Feminist Leadership

Here's what Equal Districts Coalition partners are saying about this crucial process:

Whitney Siddiqi, Community Affairs Director, CAIR-Ohio:
"It is critical that the Muslim community – a community that so often experiences institutional discrimination and is so often either ignored or vilified by elected officials – has access to fair representation and our votes are not diluted through gerrymandering. We refuse to settle for a map that cheats us and so many other minority communities out of equal districts."

Chris Tavenor, Staff Attorney, Ohio Environmental Council Action Fund:
"Ohioans overwhelmingly want clean water, healthy public lands, and increased renewable energy. The past ten years of gerrymandered congressional districts illustrate that without representatives responsive to their whole electorate, Ohio's congressional delegation ignores these needs. To combat the climate crisis now, we need fair districts now. The maps proposed in SB 258 and HB 479 ignore the supermajority of Ohioans who want equal representation in Congress."

Petee Talley, CEO, Ohio Unity Coalition:
"All Ohioans deserve a voice in Ohio government, but gerrymandered maps mean that one party is intent on representing a special interest, and that interest is themselves, regardless of what the voters have to say about how Ohio should function for its citizens. No one party should have seats in Congress so grossly exaggerated and not representative of how Ohioans have cast their votes."

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Kobie Christian, Communications Director, For Our Future Ohio:
"Across Ohio, folks yearn for meaningful representation and a better redistricting process. It's plain to see that's not what we're getting. HB479 and SB258 blatantly pack our communities into token districts to reduce the political influence of communities of color. Ohio legislators should not, under any circumstances, pass a map that gives any party more seats than they have earned. No more cheating, no more stealing, no more rigged maps."

Re: SB 258

I write to follow up on the phone call I had with Adam a few minutes ago.

I am looking at a map of the proposed Congressional Districts for Ohio. It strikes me that some of them are not exactly compact While the third, fourth and ninth districts may be contiguous they certainly look like they are drawn to result in a predetermined out come. I see the map, and I wonder if the members of the redistricting commission have any faith in their respective parties to present candidates who can win fair and competitive elections. I urge you to vote against SB 258 and go back to your committee and draw district lines that lead to fair and competitive districts that give us voters a real chance to have representatives in the US Congress who are truly accountable to the people.

Thank you for your service to us. I write as a supporter of Common Cause and Fair Districts Ohio. I write as a Marianist religious brother, and I assure you of my prayer that you receive gifts of knowledge, wisdom, discernment, courage and compassion that you need as a State Senator.

EQUALITY OHIO

November 16, 2021

Dear Honorable Senators,

I am writing to inform you that Equality Ohio will be scoring the vote on the proposed Congressional Redistricting Plan, particularly the map included in SB 258, for the purposes of our Legislative Scorecard for the 134th Ohio General Assembly. For both the committee vote and the floor vote in the Ohio House of Representatives and the Ohio Senate, we urge a no vote on SB 258. This bill and proposed congressional map goes against the express wishes of Ohio voters and violate the Ohio Constitution. To the extent that the proposed Congressional Redistricting Plan passes, Equality Ohio will be doing extensive public education on the content and the votes on this legislation due to its detrimental impact to Ohio's democracy, Ohio's economy, and the well-being of Ohioans, particularly LGBTQ+ Ohioans and other already underserved communities.

SB 258 violates the spirit of the 2018 congressional redistricting reform passed by a supermajority of Ohio voters. Ohioans overwhelmingly called for an end to partisan gerrymandering, a practice that sharply divides communities across the state and gives one political party a disproportionate share of representatives in Congress.

LGBTQ+ Ohioans deserve nondiscrimination protections, affirming medical care, and inclusive school districts. The past ten years of gerrymandered congressional districts illustrate that without representatives responsive to their whole electorate, rather than one political party, Ohio's congressional delegation ignores these needs.

With urgent problems facing us, Ohioans deserve fair districts today. If SB 258 is amended to comport with the requirements of the Ohio Constitution and the express desire of Ohioans for fair districts, we will accordingly shift how we score the bill.

Please reach out to Maria Bruno, Equality Ohio's Public Policy Director, at maria@equalityohio.org if you have any questions.

A fair congressional map will include seven Democratic seats and eight Republican seats. Those numbers reflect Ohio's average statewide vote share for the past decade. Do not settle for anything less.

In addition, please do not accept a few "token" districts where Black and brown voters are packed together to stifle their power. Instead, demand fair districts that give Black and brown Ohioans a real shot at representation all over the state.

Ohio voters went to the polls in massive numbers to demand an open, transparent redistricting process and equal districts. We're counting on you to uphold the changes we made to Ohio's Constitution.

Senate President Matt Huffman,

Ohioans voted overwhelmingly in 2018 to end gerrymandering. The new rules in the Ohio Constitution require you to adopt a congressional map that keeps communities together and does not unduly favor or disfavor any political party. Ohioans want to vote in fair elections and have their voices be heard.

Both House Bill 479 and Senate Bill 258 fail to live up to the fairness and balance required in the revised Ohio Constitution. I urge you to reject these two maps -- and any others that "pack" and "crack" communities in order to tip the scales in favor of one party.

Please, put partisanship aside and work together to come up with a ten year map that is fair and gives all Ohioans a voice.

Re: Scorecard Alert - Urging a NO Vote on SB 258

Dear Honorable Senators,

I am writing to inform you that the Ohio Environmental Council (OEC) Action Fund will be scoring the vote on the proposed Congressional Redistricting Plan, particularly the map included in SB 258 for the purposes of our Legislative Scorecard for the 134th Ohio General Assembly. For both the committee vote and the floor vote in the Ohio House of Representatives and the Ohio Senate, we urge a no vote on SB 258. This bill and proposed congressional map goes against the express wishes of Ohio voters and violate the Ohio Constitution. To the extent that the proposed Congressional Redistricting Plan passes, the OEC Action Fund will be doing extensive public education on the content and the votes on this legislation due to its detrimental impact to Ohio's democracy, Ohio's environment, and the health of Ohioans.

SB 258 violates the spirit of the 2018 congressional redistricting reform passed by a supermajority of Ohio voters. Ohioans overwhelmingly called for an end to partisan gerrymandering, a practice that sharply divides communities across the state and gives one political party a disproportionate share of representatives in Congress.

Ohioans overwhelmingly want clean water, healthy public lands, and increased renewable energy. The past ten years of gerrymandered congressional districts illustrate that without representatives responsive to their whole electorate, rather than one political party, Ohio's congressional delegation ignores these needs.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

With urgent problems facing us, like the climate crisis, Ohioans deserve fair districts today. If SB 258 is amended to comport with the requirements of the Ohio Constitution and the express desire of Ohioans for fair districts, we will accordingly shift how we score the bill.

If you have any questions, please direct them to Trish Demeter at tdemeter@theoec.org.

Sincerely,

Heather Taylor-Miesle
President

Dear Rep. Huffman,

Late last night, Republicans introduced a new district map that will likely give their party 87% of Ohio's seats in Congress — even though Republicans only win 55% of Ohio's votes.

They're hoping to vote on the new rigged map THIS WEEK.

But they need votes from Democrats to make the maps last 10 years.

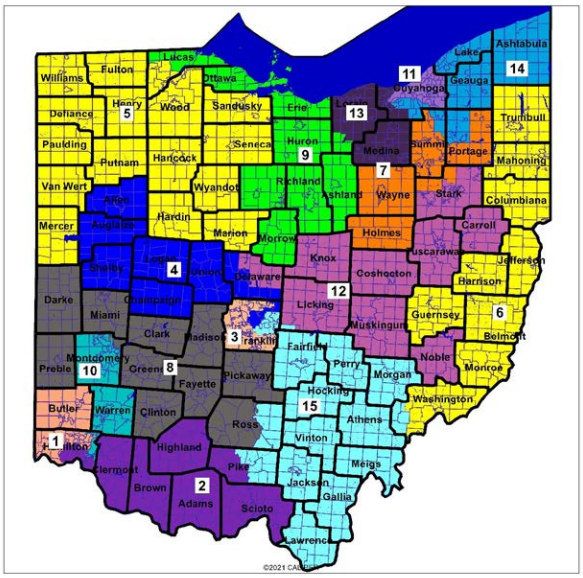
FAIR DISTRICTS

LAST STAND FOR A FAIR CONGRESSIONAL MAP



After months of delay and several missed deadlines, suddenly the Ohio House and Senate are rushing towards the conclusion of the redistricting process -- getting ready to pass a grotesquely gerrymandered congressional map as early as this Thursday.

Senate Bill 258 -- a rigged congressional map that splits communities and deprives minority voters of their electoral power -- is poised to pass out of the Ohio Senate Local Government and Election Committee and have a floor vote tomorrow, November 16. Your State Senator needs to hear from you today! Urge them to vote NO on Senate Bill 238.

TAKE ACTION

Make no mistake, Senate Bill 258 (SB 258) clearly and purposefully violates the reforms that were put in place by Ohio voters in 2018.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

The map divides communities, proposes districts that are anything but compact, and it denies full representation to minority voters. Senate Bill 258 repeatedly and unnecessarily slices and dices the most populous counties in order to achieve a map that is grotesquely rigged in favor of the majority party. These county splits impact nearly a third of Ohioans (31.26%).

Instead of representation that reflects the way Ohioans have voted in statewide elections over the past decade -- 54% Republican and 46% Democratic -- SB 258 will likely result in Ohio sending 13 Republican and 2 Democrats to Washington to represent us. This bill is worse even than the current gerrymandered map.

The chair of the Ohio House Government Oversight Committee is so confident that Senate Bill 258 will pass that he announced a hearing on the bill for Wednesday, 10:00 AM in room 122.

Let's stop Senate Bill 258 in its tracks! Urge your state Senator to vote NO on Senate Bill 258! This bill is moving quickly and our Senators need to hear from us. It is important that these mapmakers repudiate this congressional map that manipulates Ohio voters.

We have been fighting for fair maps and fair elections for a long time and we are coming to the final congressional map deadline, November 30. Let's make it clear that Ohio voters deserve better!

Thank you for all you do,

Senate President Matt Huffman,

The Ohio Constitution requires you to adopt a congressional map that keeps communities like mine together, and does not unduly favor or disfavor any political party. It is time for voters to be heard!

Both House Bill 479 and Senate Bill 258 fail to live up to the fairness and balance required in the revised Ohio Constitution. You must, in good conscience, reject these two maps and any others that split up Cuyahoga and Summit counties in order to tip the scales in favor of one party.

Please, put partisanship aside and work together to come up with a ten year map that is fair and gives all Ohioans a voice.

State Senator Matt Huffman,

I urge you to oppose Senate Bill 258 and the extreme gerrymandering of Ohio's congressional districts. By "packing" and "cracking" Ohio's most populous counties, this congressional map unnecessarily divides communities and rigs a political outcome that will deny Ohioans their right to have their voices heard. Voters deserve better. We need a congressional map that keeps communities together and doesn't unfairly favor one political party over the other. We voted for compact, contiguous districts that keep communities together. This map is the opposite of that. Vote against it and give us the maps we voted for!!!
