FOIA No.: 2019-04952
2019-04995

Dear Messrs. Evers and Wood:

This letter responds to your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) requests with designated FOIA numbers 2019-04952 and 2019-04995. We are combining our responses to both requests into this one response letter due to the overlap in subject matter.

In FOIA request 2019-04952, you are seeking all "records reflecting communications . . . between (a) any person whose email address ends in @kirkland.com and (b) any political appointees or career members of the SES in . . . [t]he front office of the Environment and Natural Resources Division." You are seeking records from January 20, 2017, through the date of the search. The Environment and Natural Resources Division (ENRD) received your FOIA request on November 14, 2018. On December 10, 2018, ENRD FOIA Coordinator Charles Smiroldo emailed to you an acknowledgment letter for this FOIA request.

In FOIA request 2019-04995, you are seeking (1) all email communications between political appointees and career SES employees and Jeffrey Clark in his position at Kirkland & Ellis LLP (jeffrey.clark@kirkland.com). You are seeking responsive records from September 1, 2005, through January 20, 2009, and January 20, 2017, through October 31, 2018; and (2) all email communications between political appointees and career SES employees and Jeffrey Wood in his position at Balch & Bingham LLP (jhwood@balch.com). You are seeking responsive records from June 1, 2014, through January 21, 2017. ENRD received your FOIA request on February 6, 2019. On February 19, 2019, ENRD FOIA Coordinator Charles Smiroldo emailed to you an acknowledgment letter.

On April 12, 2019, and then again on April 16, 2019, Mr. Wood discussed the FOIA requests with Juge Gregg of the Law and Policy Section, and agreed to narrow 2019-04995 to include only political appointees and Career SES employees working in ENRD's Front Office – the Office of the Assistant Attorney General. You also agreed to exclude the request for documents involving Jeffrey.clark@kirkland.com from the 2005-2009 time frame.

With this combined response to both FOIA requests, please find attached a PDF containing 149 pages responsive to your requests. We redacted some of the information contained in these pages pursuant to Exemptions 5 and/or 6 of the FOIA. Exemption 5 of the FOIA, which relates to "inter-agency or intra-agency memorandums or letters which would not be available by law to a party other than an agency in litigation with the agency." The content of these records is protected by the attorney-client privilege, the attorney work-product doctrine, and/or the deliberative process privilege. 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(5). Exemption 6 relates to information about individuals in "personnel and medical files and similar files" where the disclosure of such information would "constitute an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy." 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(6).

We are withholding seven pages in full pursuant to Exemption 5 of the FOIA, and three pages in full pursuant to Exemption 6 of the FOIA, both referenced above.

There are no fees associated with the processing of your FOIA request.

For your information, Congress excluded three discrete categories of law enforcement and national security records from the requirements of the FOIA. See 5 U.S.C. 552(c) (2006 & Supp. IV 2010). This response is limited to those records that are subject to the requirements of the FOIA. This is a standard notification that is given to all our requesters and should not be taken as an indication that excluded records do, or do not, exist.

If you are not satisfied with my response to this request, you may administratively appeal by writing to the Director, Office of Information Policy (OIP), United States Department of Justice, Suite 11050, 1425 New York Avenue, NW, Washington, DC 20530-0001, or you may submit an appeal through OIP's FOIA online portal by creating an account on the following web site: https://foiaonline.regulations.gov/foia/action/public/home. Your appeal must be postmarked or electronically transmitted within 90 days of the date of my response to your request. If you submit your appeal by mail, both the letter and the envelope should be clearly marked "Freedom of Information Act Appeal."

If you need any further assistance, please contact Juge Gregg at (202) 514-3473 or our FOIA Public Liaison Amber Blaha at (202) 616-5515. Additionally, you may contact the Office of Government Information Services (OGIS) at the National Archives and Records Administration to inquire about the FOIA mediation services it offers. Today, the U.S. Senate voted to confirm Jeff Clark as our Division's next Assistant Attorney General. I, along with our front office team, very much look forward to his arrival in the coming weeks. AAG Clark is an exceptional lawyer and will do a great job as the head of this historic division. I have congratulated AAG Clark and know that the Division will prosper under his leadership.
As the Attorney General said in the DOJ press release below, it took far longer for AAG Clark to arrive than we had hoped. I certainly did not expect to be serving as Acting AAG for this long, but I want to personally thank you all for the dedication and excellence that you have shown to our mission over that time. ATTORNEY GENERAL JEFF SESSIONS WELCOMES JEFFREY CLARK AS ASSISTANT ATTORNEY GENERAL FOR THE ENVIRONMENT AND NATURAL RESOURCES DIVISION

WASHINGTON – Attorney General Jeff Sessions welcomed the confirmation of Jeffrey Bossert Clark as the Assistant Attorney General of the Department of Justice's

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Environment and Natural Resources Division (ENRD) today.

"Jeff Clark is one of the leading environmental litigators in the country, and has been counsel in many of the most significant environmental and natural resource cases of the past two decades, both here at the Department of Justice and in private practice," said Attorney General Sessions. "Jeff has four years of experience as part of the Environment and Natural Resources Division leadership team, working on virtually every case that the division litigated in the courts of appeals and every environmental case argued before the Supreme Court. He is ready to lead this Division — and it should not have taken us 16 months to get him confirmed. And so today I want to congratulate Jeff and to thank my former colleagues in the Senate for confirming his nomination to this important role."

ENRD is responsible for litigation in trial and appellate courts on behalf of the United States regarding the prevention and clean-up of pollution, challenges to federal programs and activities, the stewardship of public lands and natural resources, property acquisition to promote national security, wildlife protection, and Indian rights and claims.

Prior to his appointment as Assistant Attorney General, Mr. Clark was a partner with the international law firm of Kirkland & Ellis LLP in its Washington, D.C. office. During his time at the firm, he practiced in diverse areas of law, ranging from environmental to antitrust. Mr. Clark has argued and won numerous cases in multiple U.S. Courts of Appeals. He has deep experience in matters involving the Clean Air Act, the National Environmental Policy Act, the Energy Policy and Conservation Act of 1975, and the Energy Independence and Security Act of 2007.

Before joining the firm, Mr. Clark served as a Deputy Assistant Attorney General within ENRD from 2001 to 2005. In that role, he oversaw ENRD's Appellate Section and the Indian Resources Section, where he reviewed, edited, and contributed to virtually every brief ENRD filed in the Courts of Appeals, including several cases of exceptional significance that he personally briefed and argued. During his time in ENRD, Mr. Clark also worked on all environmental or natural resource cases argued in front of the Supreme Court.

Mr. Clark received his bachelor's degree in Economics and History from Harvard University and earned a master's degree in Urban Affairs and Public Policy from the University of Delaware. He obtained his law degree from the Georgetown University Law Center, where he was an editor for the Georgetown Law Journal.

Govt. strategy in kids' climate case: Don't attack science

Benjamin Hulac, E&E News reporter Published: Friday, October 12, 2018

The Justice Department is attempting to halt a climate lawsuit brought by young Americans before it reaches trial at the federal courthouse in Eugene, Ore. M.O. Stevens/Wikimedia Commons

To fight off a lawsuit that claims people have a constitutional right to a safe climate, first blame factors other than warming for harming the plaintiffs.

Then argue that the United States can't alone address climate change.

The government's playbook for defeating Juliana v. United States, a lawsuit brought by 21 children and young adults, is coming into clearer view as Oct. 29 opening statements in a long-awaited trial near.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

CLIMATE IN THE COURTS:

JULIANA V. UNITED STATES

Twenty-one young Americans are suing the government over climate change. Click here to view the continuing coverage.

Court records and statements from Justice Department experts indicate the government intends to argue at the proceedings in the U.S. District Court for the District of Oregon that the plaintiffs do not have legal standing to bring the case.

DOJ will argue that the government's climate and energy policies cannot be directly tied to the harms that the young Americans allege they have suffered; that the government has not undermined plaintiffs' rights; and that, even if the government has harmed the plaintiffs, fixing that damage is infeasible.

"This lawsuit is an unconstitutional attempt to use a single Oregon court to control the entire nation's energy and climate policy," Jeffrey Wood, who has served as acting assistant attorney general for the Environment and Natural Resources Division at the Department of Justice, said in a statement through a spokesman.

Issues the plaintiffs raise are matters for political discussion, not lawsuits, Wood said.

"Those policies should be decided by the elected branches, not the courts," he said. "The Justice Department is continuing our efforts to see this case dismissed, as is clearly warranted by law."

The youth plaintiffs first brought the lawsuit in 2015, arguing that — over the course of at least 10 administrations — the government has violated their constitutionally protected right to live in a safe climate. They're seeking a court-ordered plan to phase out fossil fuels.

Government lawyers have fought unsuccessfully for years, under both the Obama and Trump administrations, to prevent a trial from even starting in the landmark climate change case. They've filed multiple motions to dismiss, as well as wielded two petitions for a writ of mandamus, a rarely used legal tool that asks a higher court to circumvent a lower court's decision.

They've also pushed the Supreme Court to step in and quash the suit.

While no court has dismissed Juliana, DOJ has been able to at least delay the trial. It was originally scheduled to occur last year, but the government won a stay while it appealed a decision from the Oregon district court to allow the case to proceed.

Even now, while DOJ is preparing for the trial, it's also still trying to halt the proceedings before they even begin. Last week, government attorneys filed a last-ditch attempt to stop the trial while it brings the case up to the Supreme Court, one that experts say is aimed at Justice Brett Kavanaugh, the court's newest conservative member (Climatewire, Oct. 10).

The plaintiffs, on the other hand, have submitted hundreds of documents — often highly technical — about climate change, as well as science to support it and information about the costs of failing to address a warming world.

The young Americans argue they have been directly harmed by climate change, pointing to a number of specific impacts. They argue, for example, that reduced snowpack brought on by warming has affected the ability to ski and higher temperatures have harmed the health of a family hazelnut orchard.

Michael Burger, director of the Sabin Center for Climate Change Law at Columbia University's law school, said it is unlikely that the government will squabble with the plaintiffs and their experts over climate science itself.

"I would be shocked if the federal government in court sought to challenge the fundamentals of climate science," Burger said. "There has not been a point at which the DOJ has contested the reality of climate change."

Richard Frank, a professor of environmental law at the University of California, Davis, also expressed doubt in a recent interview that the federal team would challenge climate research.

The government will likely instead tell the court that other factors beyond its role in fueling climate change — population growth, urban development, resource management, mitigation of fires and floods — can be blamed for harming the plaintiffs.

"All these sorts of things," Burger said.

'Plausible, real-world actions'

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Julia Olson of Our Children's Trust, lead attorney for the plaintiffs, said in an email that even though the trial is just weeks away, DOJ has not yet "disclosed their exhibit list, their witness list, nor answered plaintiffs' interrogatories" — sets of written questions — "where we asked them to tell us what their defense would be on the evidence."

Still, expert witness reports submitted by DOJ hint at the government's defense.

In court papers, John Weyant, a management-science and engineering professor at Stanford University and an expert witness DOJ hired, takes issue with the work of Kevin Trenberth, a climate expert at the National Center for Atmospheric Research and a witness for the plaintiffs.

Factors other than climate change may be to blame for the plaintiffs' circumstances, he says.

"By failing to analyze the potential confounding effect of local conditions, Dr. Trenberth reaches conclusions about the impacts on Plaintiffs that are unsupported and therefore unreliable," Weyant said in the court papers.

In his own report, David Victor, a DOJ witness and an international relations professor at the University of California, San Diego, criticized expert witnesses for the plaintiffs, including Joseph Stiglitz, the Nobel Prize-winning economist.

The economist, he said, warned of climate change and its perils but didn't provide any ways the federal government could significantly fix the problem.

"Stiglitz fails to identify plausible, real-world actions that the U.S. government could have taken that would have led to appreciably different outcomes with respect to domestic and international energy systems," Victor writes.

The first week of the trial will include opening statements and testimony from some plaintiffs and their experts, including NASA scientist James Hansen and glacier expert Eric Rignot.

Government lawyers are expected to release their list of exhibits Monday.

Jeff,

Several months ago, I agreed to be a speaker at the International Audit Practice Consortium (IAPC) meeting on November 13 at ExxonMobil's campus in Spring, TX. The title of the speech is "DOJ Environmental Enforcement Update: Maintaining the Integrity of Federal Environmental Laws and Programs."

For background, the IAPC is comprised of 67 member companies in North America and Europe. Meeting attendees are primarily corporate directors, managers, and lead auditors for these companies. They expect ~ 60 attendees.

I am still able to go and give the speech as PDAAG (and when I committed, I knew we'd have other DOJ matters to attend to down there anyway) but wanted to offer this to you as the new AAG, if you would like to take this one. It is closed press so speech is probably not publicized, at least at this point, although we probably could post the remarks. Entirely your call on who does this. But wanted to ask your preference since need to make travel plans. I will be arguing a case out West the Friday before this one so I would probably just fly West and then fly back thru Texas for this.

Jeff

Subject: Invitation to Speak: George Washington International Law Review Symposium Environmental Panel

Dear Mr. Clark,

I am writing on behalf of the George Washington University Law School International Law Review. On Friday, March 15, 2019, our organization will be hosting our annual symposium. We would be honored to have you participate in a panel discussion regarding our symposium's theme - the impact of dramatic United States policy shifts in the wake of presidential elections on international law. Our focus will specifically be on the most recent dramatic change that has occurred from the Obama administration to the Trump administration.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Based on your expertise in environmental law and policy, we would be honored to have you speak on our panel addressing the United States' withdrawal from the Paris Agreement. Your lengthy career in environmental policy would greatly enrich this year's symposium, as you certainly have a unique perspective from your time as the Deputy Assistant Attorney General for the Environment and Natural Resources Division of the Justice Department during the Bush administration, to your recent appointment to the United States Assistant Attorney General for Environment and Natural Resources Division. Furthermore, your time and extensive litigation experience at Kirkland & Ellis shed light on industry limitations that many individuals never have the opportunity to see. The panel will be composed of three different experts and a moderator to facilitate discussion among various perspectives, and we would love to have your vision of the current environmental agenda represented.

Please let me know if you are interested in participating in our event. We would be truly honored to host you. I am happy to answer any questions you may have.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Jeanna Gover Wheat

The lowest quantity of business cards is 250 but we can check to see if we can do 125 with cell # and the other 125 without. Once the form is returned a business card proof will be made for your review and signature. Once you send it back the proof we will place the order.
We will expedite the order in hopes of having it ready by 11/1 or shortly thereafter.

Justin, a very significant friend and partner for more than 20 years has to go out to Illinois to care for a sick parent with a doctor appointment on 11/14. I'd really like for him to attend.
So since it's not yet been locked down can you see if 11/15 would work for the AG?
Second thing is can you make sure I have a set of business cards ready to go on 11-1 or as soon thereafter as possible? Name on those should be Jeffrey Bossert Clark with my cell # below. Can you do small batches of like 50 with cell # and 50 without? Of course have Main front office # on there, not a direct dial I'd pick up without secretaries.
Third thing is — can someone meet me between 11 and 1130 this morning — I will correspond with them by email as to exact time, depending on how wildlife thing is proceeding — in my office with some stickies for me to indicate where I want the stuff hung? So that can be out of the way before Thursday the 1st.
Finally Monday or Tuesday I'll need the "man with the van" to come pick up my books to transmit to DOJ. I'm at 16 boxes and counting.
Thanks

Or is there a standalone TV or can one be hooked up in my office?

Shanedda, greetings and hope you're well! Michele Bristol is copied here. I have a group of things I'd like to hang on the walls to come over. Kirkland can messenger them to the appropriate person at DOJ (maybe you) and then you can just leave them in my office. I will need to actually be present later to decide how to hang and arrange them. But I want to ship them over now.

Re transmissions of boxes of books etc, that will be later in the week and for that I'll want to use DOJ's "man with the van." The books really can't be damaged significantly. But I want to task the Kirkland messenger with strict liability if he breaks any of the things to hang, etc.

(Michele, please come up and I'll show you want to transmit in this first tranche. Thanks!)

I'm fine, especially to avoid bureaucracy, if someone meets the messenger at the front gate but that person should be good. Obviously, I trust Shanedda to be the one to put them in my office or her plus someone under her supervision.
Getting security clearance for a messenger guy seems to be going too far.

Jeff,
To update you on this, we have assumed you want the firm's courier to personally deliver the fragile items to your new office, rather than having him do a hand-off to someone at the front gate. To do that, we need to complete a security clearance protocol on our end. We will reach out to Michele directly to coordinate once we have those details set, likely later this week.

Best regards,
Justin

Dear Jeff:
CONGRATULATIONS!! We are looking forward to your arrival and have been asked to start sending you some key materials (all publically available, but consolidated here for your convenience) related to the Division's work. In this first tranche of materials we have attached:

1. An enforcement priorities document issued by Jeff Wood in March, 2018.
2. Several new policy documents issued by the Department and/or ENRD, most of which I suspect are already familiar to you.
3. Several of the most important recent filings in the Juliana case. (I will send these in several different emails since they are quite large).
4. The ENRD Accomplishments Report for 2017.

We plan to put together a more comprehensive set of documents related to the current operations of the Division and matters you can expect to see on your desk in the first month or so of arrival. We will send these in the coming days and weeks, as you prefer. I will also be separately emailing you in connection with your potential recusals.
Please let us know if there is anything we can assist you with in the meantime.

Thanks Michele, did all of my boxes marked DOJ get delivered from Kirkland to DOJ? I haven't had a chance to look at them yet given massive work overload and the fact that there was water damage to one of my windows and so I've been ejected from my own office for large periods as that was being repaired.

Subject: Guest Parking on Thursday

Jeff,
The guest spots in the underground garage are booked for Thursday, but JMD has authorized your family to park in a spot in the loading dock (only slightly less glamorous and still free). Your wife should drive up to the 10th Street side entrance and ask the guards for directions on where to park. All three adults will need government-issued ID.
Since your swearing-in is scheduled for 2:30 p.m., your family should probably try to arrive by 1:30 p.m. to give them plenty of time to get through security, park, and make it to the AG's office. You will be in a benefits meeting with JMD from 1 p.m. to 2:25 p.m. or so, so when your family arrives, they should call our ENRD main line, 202.514.2701 or call my cell, Ex. 6 and we can greet them and help them through the building.
Best regards,
Justin

Subject: FW: RFK Parking request
Hello Ladies,
Please see below – unfortunately visitor spaces are not available in G Court on Thursday, November 1st . However, we were able to provide two guest parking spots at the loading dock. Please inform Jeff's guest they should enter the garage on the 10th street side and ask the guard on duty for directions to the loading dock. In addition, if possible one of you should serve as the POC to meet at the loading dock and guide them to our section.
If you should have any further questions, please feel free to contact me.
Best,
Alea N. Cupe

JPS Supervisors,
For MJB/10th St:

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

B COURT Parking and UNESCORTED ACCESS authorized for AAG Jeff Parker's family listed below. JBS is providing 2 spaces in B court. Please prepare the temporary parking passes and Green Visitor Badges in advance.

Alea,

Unfortunately all MJB visitor parking spaces in G Court are reserved for the date and time requested, however JBS has approved parking in the loading dock area which is located behind the orange roll up door accessible via the underground garage. Please ensure you aware of the authorized parking location and use a marked parking space located on the left side of the court against the loading dock. Thanks.

Jeff,
It was good seeing you on Friday—we're glad that you made it to the AG's forum.
On Friday, I gave you your parking pass. On Thursday, you should have that displayed in the left corner of the dashboard. Also on your first day, please enter the Main Justice parking garage on the 10th Street side. Once you have a PIV card, you will show that and then badge it on the card reader to get access to the garage. But on your first day, when you pull up to the gate, you will need to give the guard on duty your name because you will listed on the temporary authorization list.
If you encounter any issues getting into the garage on Thursday, please call me, 202.305.0312 (direct) or Ex. 6 (cell).

So since it's not yet been locked down can you see if 11/15 would work for the AG?

Second thing is can you make sure I have a set of business cards ready to go on 11-1 or as soon thereafter as possible? Name on those should be Jeffrey Bossert Clark with my cell # below. Can you do small batches of like 50 with cell # and 50 without? Of course have Main front office # on there, not a direct dial I'd pick up without secretaries.

Third thing is — can someone meet me between 11 and 1130 this morning — I will correspond with them by email as to exact time, depending on how wildlife thing is proceeding — in my office with some stickies for me to indicate where I want the stuff hung? So that can be out of the way before Thursday the 1st.

Finally Monday or Tuesday I'll need the "man with the van" to come pick up my books to transmit to DOJ. I'm at 16 boxes and counting.

Can OLA get me an official confirmation vote tally sheet that I can have framed?
I've seen prior appointees have those — for instance Tom Sansonetti had one.

Good morning. I have now added the supervisor of our mailroom (Kevin Murphy) to this email chain. A lot of this information is private and the company will not give out the messenger's personal information.
I understand the security measures, but the messenger does not need to go inside the building. Is it possible to have the messenger drop off the boxes with security at one of the booths and then have someone come down and take the boxes inside the building? These are just framed diplomas and small trinkets.
Thanks for all of your assistance with this.
Thank You.

Michele, I just spoke with Justin Heminger and we agree that the best course of action is to use the messenger to eliminate the possibility of damage. In order to get the messenger access to RFK, we will need the following information for the messenger:

- Company Name
- Driver Name
- Driver SSN
- Driver Place of Birth
- Driver Date of Birth
- Type of Car
- Car License Plate Number
- Driver's License Number

Security requires at least 48 hours to approve/disapprove the request.
I'm out of the office on tomorrow; however, you can contact Joseph White if you have any questions. He is included on this email chain.

Hi Vanessa,
Jeff Clark contacted Justin Heminger today, (Monday), who asked me for assistance (Angie & Shanedda are out) on getting a courier into the Main Bldg, to bring pictures and delicate items to deliver them to Jeff's new office, not only delivered but to set them up.
I suggested that we contact your office to help with this procedure.
Please let me know how we can make this happen?
Thanks, Regina

Subject: Transmission of Things for Future Hanging

Shanedda, greetings and hope you're well! Michele Bristol is copied here. I have a group of things I'd like to hang on the walls to come over. Kirkland can messenger them to the appropriate person at DOJ (maybe you) and then you can just leave them in my office. I will need to actually be present later to decide how to hang and arrange them. But I want to ship them over now.

Re transmissions of boxes of books etc, that will be later in the week and for that I'll want to use DOJ's "man with the van." The books really can't be damaged significantly. But I want to task the Kirkland messenger with strict liability if he breaks any of the things to hang, etc.

(Michele, please come up and I'll show you want to transmit in this first tranche. Thanks!)

Is that your ideal setup? If you'd prefer to bring over your own TV, we can also look into getting that set up, either before or after you arrive.

Next question -- one of my current monitors, which I personally own, doubles as a TV. Is it possible for me to have cable TV at my desk using a DOJ-issue monitor or alternatively should I bring my own TV/monitor and can that be hooked up to give me cable access from time to time at my desk?
Or is there a standalone TV or can one be hooked up in my office?
Thanks,

Justin Henninger spoke with me this morning. He and Shenedda are working together to have a few people meet the messenger outside at the security booth so that they can then carry the boxes into the building to Jeff's new office. These boxes do not have lids and will be easily searched. The messenger will not be entering into the building. He will simply hand over the diplomas, etc.

We use a messenger service and therefore, they are not employed by Kirkland & Ellis and I am not at liberty to divulge anyone's personnel information. They are dispatched at a moment's notice once a time is given that a delivery has to be made and the place of delivery. I understand you have a protocol that you must follow for security purposes if someone needed to access the building, but again the messenger will not be entering the building at all. He will simply wait outside for the arrival of Justin and Shanedda, et al. to handoff the boxes and framed diplomas.

I thank you for your assistance with this.

Thank You.

Who did you speak with? Also, it is highly unlikely the messenger will be able to drop off the boxes prior to the boxes being searched. The messenger will need to remain until the search is complete. Also what is the issue as to why the messenger's information cannot be provided. You can provide it to me over the phone or is it due to not having a designated messenger for this purpose? Are messengers on call at moment's notice?

Good morning. I have now added the supervisor of our mailroom (Kevin Murphy) to this email chain. A lot of this information is private and the company will not give out the messenger's personal information.

I understand the security measures, but the messenger does not need to go inside the building. Is it possible to have the messenger drop off the boxes with security at one of the booths and then have someone come down and take the boxes inside the building? These are just framed diplomas and small trinkets.

Thanks for all of your assistance with this.

Michele, I just spoke with Justin Heminger and we agree that the best course of action is to use the messenger to eliminate the possibility of damage. In order to get the messenger access to RFK, we will need the following information for the messenger:

- Company Name
- Driver Name
- Driver SSN
- Driver Place of Birth
- Driver Date of Birth

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Type of Car
- Car License Plate Number
- Driver's License Number

Security requires at least 48 hours to approve/disapprove the request.

I'm out of the office on tomorrow; however, you can contact Joseph White if you have any questions. He is included on this email chain.
