Re: ACF FOIA 19-F-0036 and 19-F-0194 (American Oversight v. U.S. Department of Commerce et. al., Case No. 19-cv-912)

Dear Mr. Evers:

This is the fourteenth interim response pertaining to Case No. 19-cv-912 filed April 2, 2019, relating to Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) requests 19-F-0036 and 19-F-0194, submitted to the Administration for Children and Families.

FOIA requests 19-F-0036 and 19-F-0194 seek the following records:

> All calendars or calendar entries for any of the following individuals, including any calendars maintained on behalf of these individuals:
> - Scott Lloyd
> - Jonathan Hayes
> - Lynn Johnson
> - Clarence Carter
> - Pedro Moreno
> - Anna Pilato
> - Mary Powers

Enclosed are 183 pages of responsive records. Seventeen additional pages were forwarded to outside agencies for consultation on those pages that originated within their offices. Some of the information on the disclosed pages has been withheld under the FOIA exemptions (b)(5) and (b)(6).

The exemption (b)(5) protects inter-agency or intra-agency memorandums or letters which would not be available by law to a party other than an agency in litigation with the agency. The exemption protects agency deliberations, both internal and with agency contractors and consultants, attorney-client privileged records and attorney work product. In this case, the withheld information includes pre-decisional discussions within the agency and between agency staff.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

FOIA exemption (b)(6) permits the withholding of records which, if released, would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. In this case, the withheld information consists of the identities and/or other private information of private individuals and the work cell phones of federal employees. Public disclosure of this information would constitute an invasion of privacy of those individuals whose identifying information was disclosed. In withholding the information, the individual's privacy interest was balanced against any public interest in disclosure. In each instance where information was withheld, it was determined that the individual's privacy interests outweighed any public interest in disclosure of the withheld information. Disclosure of the withheld information would invade the privacy of the subject individuals but would reveal nothing about the operations or activities of the government.

We will continue to produce records to you. If you are not satisfied with any aspect of the processing and handling of this request, you may contact the Assistant United States Attorney in the United States Department of Justice who is handling this case for the Department.

Sincerely yours,

Carla C. Smith -S

Here you go, Jaime! I saw that you might not be able to provide all of these. Could you let me know what you can provide so that we can procure the rest? Thanks!

All the best,

Warren

Dear Jaime:

Thank you for all of your help setting up the Flores site visit and interviews for next Thursday and Friday. Here is the list of supplies we will need:

(1) 35 packets each including the following to carry into and bring out of the facility: 30 sheets of blank white standard paper, a small box of crayons, a small box of colored pencils and a small box of colored markers, a writing pencil with eraser and a writing pen, all in a large zip lock bag, and a pad of large newsprint paper.

(2) Bright colored material (beach sarongs) for the 12 interview rooms to place on top the table or desk.

(3) To use during the interviews and leave: stress balls for each child (approximately

1,000) and modeling clay (for older kids) in zip bags and play dough (for younger kids) in zip bags (again 1,000 total).

Please let me know by COB Monday if you need us to procure these items. My understanding is that you have offered to do so. Thanks!

All the best,

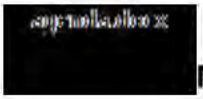

Warren

Subject: Invite for Call @ 2pm EST Today
Importance: High

Dear Colleague

You are invited to join a call with HHS Deputy Secretary Eric Hargan at 2pm EST today. He will be discussing HHS's care and reunification of the minors in the Unaccompanied Alien Children (UAC) program, particularly those affected by the court order for reunification.

As you know, there has been intense focus on this in the media. As key opinion leaders who speak to important audiences for our Administration, we believe it is important that you know what is fact and what is fiction. While this may not be directly in your organization's day-to-day wheelhouse, we know that your being knowledgeable on an issue where unfair characterizations are being made can be helpful.

Call in # 877-512-3483
Participant Code (b) (6)

Please let me know if you plan to join. I know our Deputy Secretary will appreciate the opportunity to connect with you. By the way, while this is invitation only, if you are not able to join today and want to have a colleague on the call, that is fine - just let me know about the substitute.

Below please find our latest report on reunification efforts, in graphic and text.

Laura

The run of show is:

Laura Trueman to open and introduce HHS participants and introduce the Deputy Secretary
EDH to give comments at the top with an update and perspective

We just had a quick call with IEA and IOS are we are all in agreement.

All set for ORR to become main POC again for tours.

Laura White on our team is back and will help oversee the coordination.

Can we jump on a call tomorrow with ASL folks and ASFR folks and maybe person from IEA so we can ensure a totally smooth transition and ensure all of us are on the same page and also update Laura W where we are at the moment?

Thanks all!

Hi Angela,

Ben asked that I schedule a meeting early next week to brief Steve and Scott on where we are with the review of documentation provided by Southwest Key related to Executive Compensation under their UC grants.

Would you please provide Steve's availability to coordinate a meeting to include Ben, Scott and Steve.

Thanks,

I will let the guards know to expect you. Part of the entrance is a CBP Point of entry, but when you come through the terminal stay to your left, and you will see a chain link fence with the installation behind it. There will be two guys in white cars. Come through that fenced area and show your identification. Once you are through that initial fencing area there will be another set of law enforcement and you will be required to show your identification to them as well.

Once you pass the two check points, drive straight, pass the fire trucks and you can either park where you see the white vans on your right hand side, or in the parking lot straight ahead. If you let me know when you arrive, I can come out and meet you in the parking lot.

It will look and feel like you are in the middle of nowhere but the street literally dead ends into the Tornillo Site/CBP.

Trump administration must stop giving psychotropic drugs to migrant children without consent, judge rules

HHS-18-0681, 19-0275-N-000138

U.S. District Judge Dolly Gee ruled that the federal government must seek consent before giving migrant children medication. (NAPABA/AP)

By Samantha Schmidt July 31 at 6:38 AM Email the author

A federal judge on Monday found that U.S. government officials have been giving psychotropic medication to migrant children at a Texas facility without first seeking the consent of their parents or guardians, in violation of state child welfare laws.

U.S. District Judge Dolly Gee in Los Angeles ordered the Trump administration to obtain consent or a court order before administering any psychotropic medications to migrant children, except in cases of dire emergencies. She also ordered that the government move all children out of a Texas facility, Shiloh Residential Treatment Center in Manvel, except for children deemed by a licensed professional to pose a "risk of harm" to themselves or others.

Staff members at Shiloh admitted to signing off on medications in lieu of a parent, relative or legal guardian, according to Gee's ruling. Government officials defended this practice, saying they provided these drugs only on "an emergency basis" when a child's "extreme psychiatric symptoms" became dangerous.

The judge didn't buy this explanation, pointing to testimony from children who said they were given pills "every morning and every night." Officials "could not have possibly" administered medications to children on an emergency basis every day, Gee wrote.

Children testified in court filings that staff with the U.S. Office of Refugee Resettlement would sometimes not tell them what drugs they were being given or why. They recalled feeling side effects such as nausea, dizziness, depression and weight gain. Some reported being forcibly injected with drugs, and others said they felt that refusing medications would cause them to be detained longer.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT
HHS-18-0681, 19-0275-N-000139

"I witnessed staff members forcefully give medication four times," one child held at Shiloh, identified as Isabella M., said. ". . . Two staff members pinned down the girl . . . and a doctor gave her one or two injections."

Isabella was prescribed multiple psychotropic medications at Shiloh, including topiramate, without her mother's consent, according to an April court filing. "Nobody asked me for permission to give medications to my daughter, even though the staff at Shiloh has always had my telephone number and address," the mother testified.

The mother said Isabella's anxiety medications were causing her to tremble and feel nervous. Isabella "tells me that she has fallen several times," her mother testified, "because the medications were too powerful and she couldn't walk."

The Shiloh Residential Treatment Center, the judge ruled, violated a long-standing settlement that set strict standards for detaining immigrant children, including those who crossed the border unaccompanied and those who were separated from their parents. The 1997 Flores agreement requires the government to place children in the "least restrictive" setting appropriate to their age and any special needs.

Plaintiffs on behalf of immigrant children showed Shiloh violated this standard in part because it is a locked facility with 24-hour surveillance and monitoring and engages in practices that are "not necessary for the protection of minors or others," the judge wrote. Shiloh is one of many shelters contracted by the U.S. Office of Refugee Resettlement to house immigrant children.

There is evidence that several children were not allowed to have any private telephone calls at Shiloh, Gee wrote. One minor, identified as Julio Z., said Shiloh staff refused to let him and other children leave their living areas to get drinking water. When Julio tried to step out to get water on one occasion, a staff member allegedly threw him to the ground, injuring his elbow.

HHS-18-0681, 19-0275-N-000140

The judge ordered Shiloh to stop using any unessential security measures, such as denying children drinking water, and demanded officials allow children at Shiloh to speak privately over the phone.

Gee also said the government must explain to children in writing, in a language they understand and in a reasonable amount of time why they are being transferred to a secure facility, staff-secure facility or a residential treatment center. The judge also ruled officials cannot place children in a secure facility solely because they were allegedly affiliated with gangs.

Most immigrant children in U.S. custody are in nonsecure facilities. But others are in a range of higher-security facilities. A secure facility is the most restrictive option, with a physically secure structure and staff trained to control violent behavior — much like a juvenile detention center. A "staff-secure" facility may have a secure perimeter, such as a fence, and a higher staff-to-child ratio, but is not equipped with locked cells. Residential treatment centers are assigned to children who are determined to pose a danger to themselves or others.

Shiloh is a collection of trailers and small buildings that can house up to 44 children, 32 of them immigrants, according to the Center for Investigative Reporting, which has reported extensively on the facility. It has been contracted to house immigrant children deemed unaccompanied minors since 2013 and was also set to receive children separated from their parents under the Trump administration.
The facility also has a history of troubling practices, including allegations of child abuse, according to the Center for Investigative Reporting. A local congresswoman called for Shiloh to be shut down four years ago after the Houston Chronicle reported on long-running allegations of physical violence, excessive use of physical restraints and several deaths of children in custody.

HHS-18-0681, 19-0275-N-000141

A doctor at Shiloh who has signed off on many prescriptions for psychotropic drugs to immigrant children has practiced without board certification to treat children and adolescents for nearly a decade, the Center for Investigative Reporting found.

In a statement currently on its website, Shiloh said it has been visited, audited or investigated by authorities at the state and federal level in recent weeks. "All of the widely distributed allegations about Shiloh were found to be without merit," the center wrote. "The children have been found to be properly cared for and treated. Shiloh Treatment Center has a specific treatment purpose within the federal system. It does not participate in border actions."

Numerous sworn testimonies in court affidavits indicated children at Shiloh were regularly given psychotropic medication without the proper parental consent. Sometimes they were told these were vitamins.

In an April 16 court filing, lawyers wrote that "psychotropic drugs can seriously and permanently injure children."

"The importance of oversight when giving psychotropic medications to children is well established," the lawyers wrote. "Without it, the potential for abuse — including using drugs as 'chemical straight-jackets' to control children, rather than to treat actual mental health needs — is unacceptably high."

Julio Z., another minor held at Shiloh, said he "never knew exactly what the pills were." Court documents list Clonazepam, Divalproex, Duloxetine, Guanfacine, Latuda, Geodon, and Olanzapine among his medications.

ADVERTISEMENT

"The staff threatened to throw me on the ground and force me to take the medication," Julio Z testified. "I also saw staff throw another youth to the ground, pry his mouth open and force him to take the medicine. . . . They told me that if I did not take the medicine I could not leave, that the only way I

Folks, Would we be able to reschedule for 5:00. This is better on our end. I can get a head count if you respond.

Dear Folks, Thanks for participating in the call yesterday on the discussion of findings from the P&A report on visits to ORR facilities. As discussed on the call, we wanted to have a follow up call either today or Thursday. This time period tomorrow looks most open in your calendars so I'm hoping this will work. The following conference call invitation went to the embassies. This is a follow-up to last week's in-person meeting. Please forward only as appropriate within the USG. At the start of the call, we will take roll call by agency and by embassy before turning it over to the USG lead.

Thank you.

Dear Ambassadors and Esteemed Colleagues,

In an effort to continue the family reunification collaboration between the U.S. Government and the Embassies of Guatemala, Honduras, Mexico and El Salvador, please join the following conference call. If you are not able to join, please have at least one representative participate.

1:30-2:30 PM Eastern

Call in: 866-736-3991
Passcode: (b) (6) **#

In addition to this call, embassies should expect to receive within 24 hours their lists of separated children currently in ORR care who were identified as being referred after DHS apprehension and separation. This will arrive under a separate email to each embassy. It will be sorted by facility in order to make the information user-friendly for you and your consulates. We understand that the data is almost ready.

Thank you very much for your assistance and collaboration.

Hey, Heidi!!
Happy August!
This is a bit, shall we say, outside your wheelhouse but I know you will know exactly with whom to connect us.

With many parents afraid to get in touch w the US government to find their children, Rev. Cortes, Esperanza's president & CEO, is offering to assist. Our initial thoughts are that Esperanza could act as a clearing house, providing information for parents on where their children are and, possibly, have pastors come with them to retrieve their children and assist with the processing.

HHS-18-0681, 19-0275-N-000157

We are certainly open to discussions of what this might look like.

Will most likely require a contract of some sort with HHS so we appreciate any guidance and introductions to the appropriate staff/offices.

Thoughts?

Just a little background
Esperanza is the largest Hispanic faith-based network in the country. With over 14,000 Hispanic congregations and community non-profits, they are one of the leading voices for Hispanics in America. Under President George W. Bush, Esperanza had several contracts with HHS – Compassion Capital Fund (Capacity building), HIV/AIDS, TANF, etc. At Esperanza's recent National Hispanic Prayer Breakfast, speakers included Vice President Pence, Speaker Ryan and Leaders Pelosi & Schumer.

Pending Freedom of Information Act Requests -- 4004
Good afternoon, Jonathan.

I am the Acting Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) Officer for ACF. Kim Epstein, the current FOIA Officer, will be retiring at the end of this month.

I am working to develop a plan of action on reducing our FOIA backlog. One of the main recurring issues that I am finding, is the requests for documents has not been completed for the FOIA requests.

I would like to meet with you to briefly discuss the role and expectations of the FOIA in your office as it pertains to conducting searches and how my office processes the responsive records.
