Subject: Board meeting - Amendment 4 QRT Report

Chris and Sharon,

Unfortunately, I will be unable to participate in the Board Meeting tomorrow.

You have me down on the agenda to give an amendment 4 quick response team report. There is really not much to report. There are two big issues.

Issue 1:
One deals with the Supervisors of Elections and the Florida Dept of State. I have had communication with Ron Labasky. He represents the Supervisors in Tallahassee. We agreed to stay in contact. He suggested a workgroup of Clerks and Supervisors to work on joint issues. I said we would like that and our QRT would be glad to work with his Association. He did say the Dept of State is the organization that reviews voter registration applications and disqualifies applicants for a variety of possible reasons. The rejected application is sent back to the local Supervisor to make contact. He also stated the voter registration form will be revised. The revision will need to go through the administrative rule making process and will take months. We also talked about the possibility of clerks creating a uniform form when a convicted felon comes to a clerk's office and makes an inquiry about his/her outstanding fines and fees.

Issue #2:
The second issues deals with Clerks negotiating court fines and fees owed that have been converted into civil liens. I did a quick survey of a few counties. If that small sample is an indicator of the state, we are all over the place – from no negotiating to a county having very thorough procedures on the negotiating of liens. It will be quite a challenge to get clerks on the same page on this issue. The first challenge of the QRT is to do additional research on the variety of practices currently employed by Clerks.

Hope this helps. Let me know if the QRT is headed in the wrong direction and needs to take a turn.

In my absence, you may want to communicate the two points contained in this email. Tara and Tiffany have been updated through emails and can make comments if you think appropriate.

COALITION OF AMERICAN COURT COLLECTORS

Volume 4 Issue 2 Summer Quarter 2019 (12)

Welcome to the Official Newsletter of the Coalition of American Court Collectors

"The focus of court collections is not about money or revenue, but it is about compliance with the orders of the court. If you focus on compliance, revenue will take care of itself." - Don McKinley

"The Issue"

by Jim Lehman, Co-CEO
Coalition of American Court Collectors

"Lack of compliance in paying court fines and fees denies a jurisdiction revenue and, more important, calls into question the authority and efficacy of the court and the justice system." This quote from the National Center for State Courts (NCSC) was first published some twenty-two years ago and I believe it remains a quintessential statement today. This statement is all about the crucial element of credibility and the just as crucial element of compliance enforcement in the Criminal Justice system. The definition of justice simplified is fair and equitable treatment and, in a Country, founded on and governed by the rule of law, that fairness should be applied at every step in the process and to every court user.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

A key challenge then becomes achieving fairness and equity at the enforcement step of the process when the compliance obligation is primarily monetary, but the resources and access to resources of court users are not equal. Let's examine some key principles that may make a difference in meeting this challenge and facilitate a change in the image of collections and compliance enforcement.

Accessing Industry Best Practices

Let's start this discussion honestly. Courts collect money, that is a fact. Are there standards and practices that are designed to produce results effectively and efficiently? Yes, and they come mostly out of the private sector. Studies of innovation have found that much invention entails taking ideas and technologies from one context and using them in a different product or service environment or combining existing elements in new ways and new settings. Indeed, while innovation is not a word generally associated with government there are occasions when the application of private sector techniques and technologies have resulted in great success. Here are a few key concepts that can be adapted:

- Know the Customer (do your homework)
- Establish Appropriate Terms (simple if you did your homework)
- Know When & How to Contact the Customer (early and prepared)
- Know When to Hold and When to Fold (work with those that work with you)
- Team Investment (plans don't work, people do)

Structured Evaluation and Analysis of the Court-user's Ability to Pay or Comply Following the keys offered by the private sector above it seems both important and practical to know who and what you are working with in order to have an opportunity to be effective. Assuming someone can or cannot pay in most instances is not only foolish it may also be unlawful according to the United States Supreme Court (see Bearden v. Georgia, 461 U.S. 660 – 1983). Financial ability or inability should be supported by facts and documented just like in the private sector. This part of the process should be designed to collect enough information to identify those who can comply monetarily, those who cannot comply monetarily, and those that simply cannot (or will not) comply. There are no shortcuts or cookie cutter systems or programs that can expedite this part of the process. Every situation is unique and requires individual evaluation and analysis. As stated above, resources and access to resources are not equal, but the attention given to each situation needs to be, if the objective is truly justice.

Practical Payment or Compliance Plan Options

Armed with the information collected in the ability evaluation and analysis, putting forward a reasonable payment or compliance plan should be possible and should prevent setting individuals up for failure. It should also dissipate cycles that trap court users keeping them in the system and preventing them from successfully completing the process. Having identified the category consistent with the court user's situation selecting a plan commiserate with that situation should put them in the best possible position to succeed. This process should be designed to establish appropriate payment plans for individuals with the resources to pay, alternative non-monetary options for individuals with limited resources, and waivers (or in some cases more stringent measures) in those situations that best serve the interest of the court user and justice.

Delinquency Resolution Procedures

A popular t-shirt a few years ago put it a little differently but "stuff happens". Understanding that there will be delinquencies, defaults, and failures and preparing for them in advance just makes sense. This process should include a plan to monitor and follow individuals closely for compliance and to act swiftly when it occurs. As is generally the case with a medical issue or disease, early detection and treatment is the key to successfully identifying the problem and eliminating or resolving it. The reasons will vary from a simple miscalculation in establishing the original plan to a catastrophic financial emergency. The goal should be resolution of the problem and putting the court users back on the path to success if possible. It should be noted resolution does not always produce a happy and successful ending. However, the process should be designed to afford the court user every opportunity to comply. If the resolution results in a failure it should not be because the process or the system failed the court user.

Commitment to Adequate Staffing and Training

Success may start at the top, but it ends at the bottom. Every year courts expend untold resources on surveys focused on public trust and confidence in the Criminal Justice system. The reality is the public's impression of the Criminal Justice system and its success is mostly likely to come from the bottom up. It takes people who understand the process and who are committed to it to successfully implement and maintain it. None of the principles previously outlined have a chance of succeeding without well-trained people in place doing the work. With adequate staffing levels of engaged and loyal employees, the courts can actually serve its community – what a novel idea? It should be obvious that building and maintaining public trust and confidence begins with the public "court" experience. You simple cannot redo first impressions. Compliance enforcement by its very nature is not generally a happy experience. But with the right people and approach in place its does not necessarily have to be a totally unpleasant one.

Ultimately the opening statement pinned all those years ago by the NCSC sought to address the consequences of failing to properly enforcement compliance. The weaker the compliance, the weaker the system of justice. Unfortunately, more often than not, it is the system that fails through breakdowns at various stages of the process or the implementation of faulty untested assumptions that may seem plausible and right but too often yield conflicting results. From my perspective as a compliance enforcement veteran and professional this twenty-two-year-old statement remains one of, if not the primary "issue" facing the Criminal Justice system today. ■

Hold on to your hat we have A LOT of news to report!

The State of Montana has joined the growing list of states that have passed legislation on driver license suspensions. Montana's Governor Bullock recently signed into law the end of driver license suspensions for failure to pay court costs, fees, fines, and restitution under HB 217. The Montana ACLU promoted and praises the passing of this legislation.

Meanwhile New York State has two bills moving though both houses to reinstate driver licenses and prevent future suspensions for failure to pay costs, fees, fines, and restitutions. S5348/A7463 also provide for affordable payment plans to be made by courts, and prohibit suspending driver licenses for traffic related debt, costs, fees, fines, and restitution. As one non-profit organization working on promoting the passing of these bills, it is finally time to end this "cruel and counter-productive practice."

The State of Florida Governor signed legislation that will prohibit returning "citizens" with felony convictions from voting unless they have paid their court costs, fees, fines, and restitution (if you recall this is related to Amendment 4 passed by Florida voters giving convicted felons the right to vote once full sentences are complied fully). This raised a question if this included court costs, fees, fines, and restitution as well. This new law provides that clarification. There is expectation this will end of in the court system and battle lines are probably now being drawn. One organization, The Brennan Center, has gone on record after conducting an analysis, suggesting, "this will disproportionally impact blacks and low-income returning citizens."

The U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals overturned a Detroit federal judge's ruling which had blocked the State of Michigan from suspending driver's licenses over unpaid traffic tickets without an ability to pay determination. In rendering the judgment, the Appeals Court majority ruled driver license suspensions are not unconstitutional as defined under the Michigan law and is not a violation of the Equal Protection Claim raised by the defendant in the case. The Coalition finds this ruling interesting compared to the ruling rendered in Tennessee last year. It may be seen as a current win for the State of Michigan courts utilizing this "effort or tool" to gain compliance; however, the Coalition always promotes the practice in reviewing a court user or customer's ability of pay through an application or financial affidavit crucial and should be a must for all criminal courts. Documenting and reviewing ability to pay should be in everyone's written policy and procedures and is a part of a robust compliance effort. If you have questions about this feel free to contact the Coalition. www.ncoacc.com

News Flash: Rhode Island. I recently saw an article that stated 15.5% of all prison/jail commitments are for non-payment of court costs, fees, fines, and restitution or failure to appear in court on or before a payment is due. I also tripped across this little academia article that caught my eye. This is one side or view point on the debate. http://www.theindy.org/1739 The Coalition does not support or deny the opinion or article itself but found it interesting with the ongoing discussions since Ferguson.

The Virginia Attorney General and DMV Commissioner filed a motion to delay or prematurely end litigation in Stinnie v. Holcomb, a lawsuit challenging the constitutionality of a Virginia statute that automatically suspends driver's licenses for failure to pay fines and fees. Although Virginia did pass a budget amendment that abolishes these suspensions, the amendment only applies for one year, and will revert to the previous statute if Virginia fails to pass legislation in the 2020 legislative session. The Legal Aid Justice Center is concerned that if their suit is dismissed, the likelihood of that reversion will increase. The Coalition has been monitoring this case since 2017.

In Tennessee SB797 passed and signed by the Governor on April 25, 2019. Goes into effect July 1, 2019. Expunction - As enacted, removes $180 fee for an individual petitioning the court for an expunction of certain criminal offenses; removes $350 fee for a defendant applying for expunction of an offense following the completion of a diversion program. - Amends TCA Title 40, Chapter 32 and Title 40, Chapter 35.

In the MEDIA category look at an article I found in May 2019 from the San Francisco Chronicle. The title states, "California court ruling could change the culture of fining people who can't pay" (how does the reporter know this?). Also, a recent ruling from the Second District Court in Los Angeles seemingly placing the burden on the prosecutor's office for a defendant's ability to pay. Not only did I find the article interesting, I would especially like to direct your attention to "the comments section" at the very bottom, below the article, for commentary and some of the public view point on the media article. I would say, strong opinions on fairness, justice and compliance…

News on Texas Legislative Updates (Thanks to Jim Lehman monitoring Texas legislature)

- Two collections critical bills SB 1021 and HB 465 failed to pass. SB 1021 would have codified the definition of indigent in Texas at 125 percent of the Federal Poverty Guideline and HB 465 would have prohibited the issuance of warrants for failure to appear.

- SB 346 passed without the Governor's signature. This is a sweeping bill originally designed to consolidate court costs and make assessments easier and perhaps drive them down. Instead the new law increases courts costs across the board. The good news is the bill reduces the time-payment fee (which was declared unconstitutional and is being reviewed by the Court of Criminal Appeals) from $25 to $15 and the entire amount is retained locally. The bigger news it also specifically requires the money be used for the purpose of improving court collections and judicial efficiency. Many believe this will fix the constitutionality problem. This could help fund collections programs with much needed money for training and education.

- SB 346 also changed the collections process by essentially passing SB 1637, which died and was added at the last minute as an amendment. This section of the bill allows court users to declare undue hardship (as opposed to indigence or inability) for pretty much any reason and the court will be required to hold a hearing in response. The bill does give the court discretion on what it accepts as undue hardship while providing some guidelines. It also requires courts consider only an offender's current financial status when assessing ability to pay.

- HB 2048 repealed the Texas Department of Public Safety's Drivers Responsibility (DRS) program which used a point system to add surcharges on to offender assessments for repeated violations. The program was considered ill-conceived and poorly managed almost from its inception and it is now estimated that nearly 1 million drivers impacted by the DRS could soon have the driver's licenses reinstated.

- SB 891 was a surprise addition in that a last-minute amendment repealed the Collection Improvement Program which required the most populous cities and counties in the state to implement and maintain a collections process based on a court collections and compliance model promulgated by the State Office of Court Administration. It is estimated the program is responsible for bringing in an estimated $1 Billion in additional revenues over its 14-year history.

It can be challenging at times to track all 50 states. We are doing our best and are tracking bills currently in legislations around the country. However, if you have bills or legislative activity you want to share or have the Coalition monitor more closely, we want to know about it. Anything relating to court compliance and collections or related court operational impacts please email the information to legislative committee member Don McKinley at dmckinley@ncoacc.com. We at CoACC thank you in advance!

The Closing Word:

Collections, Compliance and the Poor: Economic Servitude?

Don McKinley, Co-CEO

Coalition of American Court Collectors

As promised, I want to take a deep dive on Compliance. We talk about collections and compliance, what does collections and compliance mean? How important is compliance when we talk about judgments and court orders? Does it include court costs, fees, fines, and restitution, or are some parts of a court order more important that others. And, are costs, fees, and fines just a small technicality?

Let's break this down into two parts. First collections. Collections is the collection of money or revenue. In our case, collections of court costs, fees, fines, and restitution. In the private sector collections is extremely important. If a private sector company does not collect revenues appropriately and timely, a cash flow problem will exist with a loss of profits, and a company will eventually go out of business and no longer exist if collections of revenue fails. The number one reason businesses fail and go out of business is a lack of cash flow.

In the public sector collections is still important. If a government entity does not collect revenues they probably won't go out of business, but two things will indeed happen. Either an increase in taxes to pay for services provided, or, a decrease or cut in services provided. As we know government services and courts come at a cost. Looking at utilities if you don't pay your electric bill (public or private sector) what happens? Hey who turned out the lights? Or what happens if you don't pay your monthly rent or mortgage? Car payment? Exactly, there are consequences. No lights, no home, no car. And when you open an electric account, qualify for a mortgage or rent, or purchase a car what takes place? Almost always, an application, information is obtained, and a determination is made regarding your ability to pay each month. Makes sense.

Why would a court or government be different? Well, courts or government aren't in the business to make a profit as a privately-run company. But governments use money collected and spends that money to provide services and/or places any surplus money in a rainy-day fund for future needs or expand services deemed necessary by a community.

Now we move to our second point. Compliance. When we talk about compliance it's about the court user or customer following and full adherence to the orders of the court. It is extremely important having a mechanism in place to determine a court customer's ability to pay. Justice as we know is not free. Many out there believe that the burden of justice is placed squarely on the backs of the poor and indigent (and primarily on minorities). That is one opinion. However, if a compliance and collections effort is done correctly, an individual unable to pay or is indigent that should clearly come out in the application and interview process. If and once determined that an individual does not have the ability to pay court costs, fees, fines, and restitution, then other alternatives should be offered (such as community service, education or GED program, job training or other means) in lieu of payment. The Coalition is exploring best practices for community service programs and will report on this in 2020. Thus, compliance is not about revenue. "The focus of court collections is not about money or revenue, but it is about compliance with orders of the court. If you focus on compliance, revenue will take care of itself."

Another question: Does a court or clerk's office collect money? Yes. We know that either a court, clerk's office, and/or governments handle collections every day directly or indirectly, if using an outside collections vendor. If using an outside collections vendor how do you monitor their activities, notices, phone calls, and customer contacts? How well is the vendor doing? Are they meeting your expectations? When and how often do they provide reports to you (at least monthly)? Do they meet with you at least annually to discuss goals, objectives, feedback and updated enhancements in service. This may be a part of any RFP or RFQ. Proper follow up with your vendor is critical and an open relationship with them is important. You can't refer cases to them and wipe your hands saying, "they handle those cases now" as the court still holds jurisdiction over the case.

I recently came across an op-ed article which commented that community service being performed by the poor should be seen as forced labor or potently having the poor "enslaved" and those making payments monthly are being placed into economic servitude. Interesting opinion. This brings me back to the true heart of the matter for courts and that is compliance. A court should be focused solely on compliance. Compliance is a court customer fully complying with the full orders of the court. A judicial order. Consequences for one's action. When compliance is gained: behavior may be changed, enhancing respect for the law, and safer communities and society as a whole. However, if there are no consequences, or if compliance breaks down or is ignored, court orders become meaningless, laws in turn become meaningless, and society and order will begin to break down. All organized societies are based on law and order. If laws exist, should they be followed? Enforced? And, should there be consequences if the law is broken? This is the importance of court collections and compliance. This is the heart of the matter.

Let me leave you with these thoughts:

Does being poor equal or mean one is indigent?

Does being poor equate to being unable to pay?

Does payment of court costs, fees and fines mean economic servitude?

If the judiciary waives all costs, fees and fines when a court customer verbally indicates that they can't pay what may be the ramifications?

What is your compliance process and how often do you review your process?

Category: Clerk Administration, Courts

The Amendment 4 Quick Response Team (QRT) has been working with the Department of Corrections (DOC) to obtain information on recently released felons. To help understand issues that may arise, DOC provided the attached list, DOC Recent Releases by County, which contains 10 recently released individuals per county, including financial obligations. The QRT requests that you review the 10 cases in your county and provide any issues you find during your review. The review should compare the CCIS information about the individual with the information in your local CMS. Each member of the QRT has already completed this review for their county and found it to be a valuable exercise in checking our data integrity. Please provide the results of your review to Richard Herring and Kimberly Renspie at the association by close of business Friday, July 26, 2019 in order to provide this information for discussion during the Quick Response Team on Monday, July 29, 2019.

Items to be aware of:

- DC Number - This is the number assigned to an inmate by DOC. The DC number, like a social security number, is a lifetime number.
- Case number - This number is a portion of the UCN, the first 1 or 2 digits indicate the year, and the CF case type is always omitted.
- Uniform Case Number - Expect the UCN to be blank in most cases. The DOC system does not routinely maintain the UCN.

QRT review results:

- There have been name misspellings and other data entry issues.
- It should take approximately 1-2 hours to complete this exercise.

The FCCC Amendment 4 QRT is composed of the Honorable Ken Burke, CPA (Pinellas), the Honorable Tara S. Green (Clay), the Honorable Tiffany Moore Russell, Esq. (Orange), the Honorable Karen E. Rushing (Sarasota), and the Honorable Carolyn Timmann (Martin).

For questions please contact Richard Herring at (850) 264-6531 and/or Kimberly Renspie at (813) 748-4133.

Felon fines exceed $1B; Big numbers signal trouble for South Floridians wanting to register to vote

South Florida Sun-Sentinel - Powered by Dow Jones·
Dan Sweeney
US|June 02, 2019·12:00am

Including interest, felons owe more than half a billion dollars in fines in Broward County alone. Add in Palm Beach and Miami-Dade counties and the number surpasses a billion.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Those big numbers could spell difficulty for felons trying to get back the right to vote. Florida citizens passed Amendment 4 in the 2018 election, giving felons the right to vote "upon completion of all terms of sentence including parole or probation," with exceptions for murderers and sex offenders. In this year's legislative session, lawmakers passed a law implementing that amendment that defined "all terms of sentence" to include paying all fines, fees and restitution to victims.

Records of fines owed are kept with the county clerks' offices, and a statewide total was unavailable, but just from October 2017 to September 2018, courts assessed more than a billion dollars in fines, court costs and other monetary penalties, according to a report published by the Florida Court Clerks and Comptrollers. The money owed just in South Florida shows that paying off fines may put the voting booth beyond the reach of many of the formerly incarcerated.

The $534 million owed in felony fines in Broward County represented far and away the largest category of fines owed. Here's the breakdown:

*Felony: $534 million

*Misdemeanor: $65.6 million

*Traffic: $136 million

Those numbers don't include some far lesser amounts for violation of city and county ordinances and for contempt of court.

Felony fines were also by far the largest category in Palm Beach County:

*Felony: $201.6 million

*Misdemeanor: $39.9 million

*Traffic: $36 million

In Miami-Dade, felons owe $278 million, according to a report from WLRN, putting the total for South Florida's tri-county area in excess of $1 billion.

Those numbers include felons who have cleared the rest of their sentences (including probation and parole) as well as those still serving them, the latter of which wouldn't be eligible to vote under Amendment 4. The clerks offices make no distinction between the two categories, so a breakdown of how much is owed by those eligible to vote isn't available.

"People have actually been thrown in jail for their inability to pay a fine or fee. This is a constitutional issue at this point," said Sharon Bock, the Palm Beach County Clerk and president of the Florida Court Clerks and Comptrollers.

As president of that organization, Bock has put together a response team so that by the time the bill officially becomes law on July 1, "we will have a uniform response to Amendment 4 and the clerks' position."

"When this amendment was going on the ballot, here at our clerks office," she said, "I had asked that we go back through every fine, fee, felony charge, etc. to see where we stand. Even if there is a fine, fee and court cost paid, the person who wants their voting rights restored would still have to tackle the restitution issue."

The clerk's office does not handle restitution. Bock stressed that under the new law, getting voting rights back would be a "multistep process."

Prior to the legislature adding fines, fees and restitution to the requirements, about 2,000 felons registered to vote in the first three months of 2019, according to a study by the Brennan Center for Justice. But for many felons trying to regain the right to vote now, those massive fines will make it difficult.

According to the Prison Policy Initiative, a nonprofit, nonpartisan research organization on criminal justice issues, the unemployment rate for the formerly incarcerated is 27%, five times higher than the overall employment rate and higher than the overall rate at any point since data has been kept, including during the Great Depression. For minorities and women, the unemployment rate is even higher, up to 43.6% for black women who were formerly incarcerated. And even among those who find work, part-time work is more common than among the population as a whole.

In other words, for many felons the right to vote will remain as elusive as it was prior to the passage of Amendment 4.

Even among politically savvy Floridians, the full scale of fines owed by felons appears to be unappreciated.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

For example, Democratic megadonor John Morgan, who successfully shepherded a medical marijuana constitutional amendment through the process in 2016 and is currently at work getting a $15 minimum wage amendment on the ballot in 2020, has been excoriating former Democratic gubernatorial candidate Andrew Gillum on Twitter. Morgan has called for Gillum to use the $3 million left in his campaign accounts to pay money owed by felons and allow them to vote.

"Andrew Gillum I have an idea!" Morgan tweeted on May 9. "You're sitting on over $3M raised to elect you Governor. Let's take that money and use it ALL to pay the financial restitution now owed by freed felons to vote. This poll tax is unconscionable. They paid a price & are now being asked to pay again."

A series of tweets reiterating that Gillum's leftover campaign cash should go toward felony fines followed on May 20.

But while leaving $3 million in the bank in a race that came down to about 32,000 votes out of more than 8 million cast was considered political malpractice by many donors, consultants and others involved in elections, it's a drop in the ocean of money owed by felons.

Indeed, the scale of the issue is unknown even to some clerks of court. When the Sun Sentinel asked the office of Broward County Clerk of Courts Brenda Forman how much money felons owed in fines in Broward County, the clerk's office replied that it would take hours of clerical and computer work to find the number. The newspaper was charged $150 for the time and effort. The Palm Beach clerk's office was able to provide the data quickly and at no cost.

Fines imposed for felonies can be substantial. Under Florida law, felonies are broken down into four categories: Third, second and first degree and life felonies, in order of seriousness. Third-degree felonies can carry a $5,000 fine, second- and first-degree a $10,000 fine and life felonies a $15,000 fine. And none of these numbers include fees and other court costs, or restitution to victims that courts may impose on felons.

And some individual crimes can carry much higher fines. For example, marijuana trafficking in Florida involves 25 pounds or more of the plant. Those convicted of trafficking who are caught with 25 to 2,000 pounds or more than 300 plants face a $25,000 fine. If it's 2,000 to 10,000 pounds or more than 2,000 plants, the sentence comes with a $50,000 fine. And for amounts over 10,000 pounds or 10,000 plants, the fine is $200,000.

Clerks offices operate a variety of programs to make it easier to pay overdue fines. It's not only important for felons regaining the right to vote, but also because unpaid fines can lead to the suspending of one's driver's license, which can then lead to further criminal charges, creating a vicious cycle of crime and punishment.

Bock's office has been at the forefront of court compliance programs. Her office began an Operation Green Light program in 2014, allowing those who have unpaid fines to come in and pay them to get their licenses back without having the surcharge tacked on by collections agencies. Those agencies go after any fine that has not been paid after 90 days, and can tack on a surcharge of 30-40%, so that a $100 ticket becomes a $140 ticket or, in the case of a serious felony fine, $10,000 becomes $14,000.

For its first Operation Green Light, the clerk's office opened on a Saturday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., but promised to take care of anyone who was in line by 4 p.m. The office finally closed at 9 p.m. after having received more than $500,000 in payments.

Since then, clerks offices around the state have held their own Operation Green Light programs. Broward most recently offered one over the course of a week in March.

But the big focus on the office is on payment plans and the negotiation of old debt.

"Let's say it was a 20 year old case and they owe $100,000. We will begin a negotiation - now obviously we're not going to negotiate against ourselves - but we are negotiating judgments. Instead of having an outstanding debt, they can reach out to us and we will begin the process of negotiating their fees," Bock said. "We cannot by law write them off. We have no ability to write them off at all. What we do have is the ability to negotiate the judgment and we do that."

The other part of the program, putting fines and fees on a payment plan, has been so successful that the program was named as one of the top 25 finalists in 2018 for Harvard University's Innovations in American Government Award.

"We looked at about 20,000 cases, and we noticed that defendants on payment plans were paying at about a 60% click," said Louis Tomeo, the clerk's office's director of criminal court services. "Those not on a payment plan paid only 25% of the time."

So the clerk's office started encouraging more judges to assign payment plans for hefty fines. Then, they noticed that many of the defendants on the ninth floor of the courthouse were leaving without coming to the clerk's office to set up a plan. So, they set up a satellite office right outside the courtroom on the ninth floor. Defendants signing up for payment plans jumped 93%.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

"This is going to help people make reasonable payments over a period of time, and as long as they're making their payments, they're not getting their license suspended," Tomeo said.

That will help people avoid the ensuing charges that can come with a suspended license. But for those who are paying off a massive fine in small increments, the voting booth is a distant destination.

RE: Issues Pertaining to Restoration of Voting Rights

INTRODUCTION

Amendment 4 to the Florida Constitution was passed by ballot initiative in 2018 and amended Article VI, Section 4, of the Florida Constitution. Article VI, Section 4, now provides in part that "any disqualification from voting arising from a felony conviction shall terminate and voting rights shall be restored upon completion of all terms of sentence including parole or probation." Art. VI, § 4(a), Fla. Const.

Implementing Legislation

Chapter 2019-162 was passed by the Florida Legislature pursuant to Senate Bill 7066 and creates section 98.0751, Florida Statutes, effective July 1, 2019. Section 98.0751 provides in pertinent part:

> (2) For purposes of this section, the term:
> (a) "Completion of all terms of sentence" means any portion of a sentence that is contained in the four corners of the sentencing document, including, but not limited to:
> 1. Release from any term of imprisonment ordered by the court as a part of the sentence;
> 2. Termination from any term of probation or community control ordered by the court as a part of the sentence;

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

3. Fulfillment of any term ordered by the court as a part of the sentence;

4. Termination from any term of supervision, which is monitored by the Florida Commission on Offender Review, including, but not limited to, parole; and

5.a. Full payment of restitution ordered to a victim by the court as part of the sentence. A victim includes, but is not limited to, a person or persons, the estate or estates thereof, an entity, the state, or the Federal Government.

b. Full payment of fines or fees ordered by the court as a part of the sentence or that are ordered by the court as a condition of any form of supervision, including, but not limited to, probation, community control, or parole.

c. The financial obligations required under sub-subparagraph a. or sub-subparagraph b. include only the amount specifically ordered by the court as part of the sentence and do not include any fines, fees, or costs that accrue after the date the obligation is ordered as a part of the sentence.

d. For the limited purpose of addressing a plea for relief pursuant to sub-subparagraph e. and notwithstanding any other statute, rule, or provision of law, a court may not be prohibited from modifying the financial obligations of an original sentence required under sub-subparagraph a. or sub-subparagraph b. Such modification shall not infringe on a defendant's or a victim's rights provided in United States Constitution or the State Constitution.

e. Financial obligations required under sub-subparagraph a. or sub-paragraph b. are considered in the following manner or in any combination thereof:

(I) Actual payment of the obligation in full.

(II) Upon the payee's approval, either through appearance in open court or through the production of a notarized consent by the payee, the termination by the court of any financial obligation to payee, including but not limited to, a victim, or the court.

(III) Completion of all community service hours, if the court, unless otherwise prohibited by law or the State Constitution, converts the financial obligation to community service.

Questions Presented

In light of the amendment to Article VI, Section 4, and the new implementing language pertaining to "completion of all terms of sentence" as set forth above, you have posed the following questions:

1. Does the requirement of "completion of all terms of sentence" include any statutory interest?

2. Does the requirement of "completion of all terms of sentence" include fees paid to a collection agent engaged by a clerk for the collection of fees, fines and court costs?

3. If the amounts owed pursuant to a criminal judgment/sentencing order are reduced to a civil judgment or lien, does that eliminate the obligation to pay the amounts owed as set forth in the criminal judgment/sentencing order?

Of course, the new constitutional amendment and the new statute will be subject to interpretation by the courts. To this end, case law and other interpreting authority does not yet exist. Nonetheless, you have asked us to analyze the new law in conjunction with existing Florida law and to provide our thoughts as to the questions posed. Our responses to the questions are as follows:

1. Does the requirement of "completion of all terms of sentence" include any statutory interest?

As set forth above, section 98.0751(2)(a) states that "completion of all terms of sentence" means full payment of restitution ordered to a victim by the court as a part of the sentence and full payment of fines or fees ordered by the court as a part of the sentence. § 98.0751(2)(a)5.a., and b., Fla. Stat. The statute goes on to state that such financial obligations "include only the amount specifically ordered by the court as part of the sentence and do not include any fines, fees, or costs that accrue after the date the obligation is ordered as a part of the sentence." § 98.0751(2)(a)5.c., Fla. Stat. The statute does not address interest, nor does it address what is meant by "any fines, fees, or costs."

Pursuant to section 775.089, Florida Statutes – the criminal restitution statute – restitution may be ordered as part of a criminal sentence. § 775.089(1)(a), Fla. Stat. The outstanding unpaid amount of the restitution bears interest in accordance with section 55.03, Florida Statutes

(the statutory interest statute). § 775.089(5), Fla. Stat. Thus, to the extent restitution is included in a criminal judgment sentencing order, interest accrues on such restitution pursuant to statute.

As previously noted, there is no case law or other authority to provide guidance on this issue. Also, the Bill Analyses for CS/SB 7066, the implementing legislation, do not reference "completion of all terms of sentence." However, we believe that on the issue of interest, section 98.0751 and section 775.089 must be read pari materia. "The doctrine of pari materia is a principle of statutory construction that requires that statutes relating to the same subject or object be construed together to harmonize the statues and to give effect to the Legislature's intent." E.A.R. v. State, 4 So. 3d 614, 629 (Fla. 2009). Given the language in section 98.0751(2)(a) requiring full payment of restitution ordered as part of a sentence, and the language in section 775.089(5) mandating the accrual of interest on restitution, we believe that when read together a reasonable interpretation of the new law would be – and certainly an argument can be made – that statutory interest is an obligation incurred on the date restitution is ordered as a part of the sentence and, thus, payment of such interest is required to complete the sentence. Of course, the new law will be subject to future interpretation by courts and this has not yet occurred.

The new law also requires "[f]ull payment of fines or fees ordered by the court as a part of the sentence." § 98.0751(2)(a), Fla. Stat. Section 938.30, Florida Statutes, provides that when a person is liable for payment of any financial obligation in a criminal case, the judgment setting forth such financial obligations "must secure all unpaid court-imposed financial obligations that are due . . . as well as interest and reasonable costs for issuing a satisfaction and recording the satisfaction in the official records." § 938.30(8), Fla. Stat. (emphasis added). The Bill Analysis for CS/SB 7086, the companion legislation to CS/SB 7086, discusses "completion of all terms of sentence," and while it does not state that interest is included within the meaning of that term, it acknowledges and quotes section 938.39(8) stating that a judgment on court-imposed financial obligations must secure "interest."

Thus, to the extent that a fine, fee, or cost is made a part of the criminal judgment/ sentencing order and interest is included in the judgment, we believe that a reasonable interpretation of the new law when read in pari materia with section 938.39 is – and an argument can be made – that payment of such interest is required to complete the sentence.

2. Does the requirement of "completion of all terms of sentence" include fees paid to a collection agent engaged by the clerk for the collection of fees, fines, and court costs?

It is our understanding that a collection fee paid to a collection agent is a fee that is in addition to, and is added to the balance of, the unpaid financial obligations. § 28.246(6), Fla. Stat. It is further our understanding that such fee paid to a collection agent would necessarily accrue after the date the financial obligations of the sentence are ordered.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

The new law provides that "completion of all terms of sentence" means payment of "only the amount specifically ordered by the court as part of the sentence and do[es] not include any fines, fees, or costs that accrue after the date the obligation is ordered as a part of the sentence." § 98.0751(2)(a)5.c., Fla. Stat. As noted above, there is no authority interpreting the new law. However, given the plain language of the statute, we believe it is likely that a court would find that, unless otherwise specifically ordered in the criminal judgment, fees owed to a collection agent that are in addition to, and added to the balance of, the unpaid financial obligations would not be included in the definition of "completion of all terms of sentence." See Germ v. St. Luke's Hosp. Ass'n, 993 So. 2d 576 (Fla. 1st DCA 2008) (courts should give statutory language its plain and ordinary meaning, and may not add words that were not included by the legislature).

Such plain language interpretation is reinforced by case law stating that additional costs may not be added to a sentence after a defendant begins serving the sentence. See Martinez v. State, 91 So. 3d 878 (Fla. 5th DCA 2012).

3. If the amounts owed pursuant to a criminal judgment/sentencing order are reduced to a civil judgment or lien, does that eliminate the obligation to pay the amounts owed as set forth in the criminal judgment/sentencing order?

Florida case law indicates that statutory financial obligations imposed by a court – such as costs of prosecution, attorney's fees, court costs under chapter 938 and criminal restitution under section 775.089 – are criminal sanctions that are ordinarily imposed during the sentencing process and are criminal sanctions. See Martinez, 91 So. 3d at 880; Woods, 879 So. 2d 651, 653 (Fla. 5th DCA 2004); State v. Sandomeno, 217 So. 3d 110, 111 (Fla. 4th DCA 2017). If such financial obligations are made a part of the criminal judgment and a condition of the sentence, the court's reduction of the amounts owed to a civil judgment or lien for enforcement purposes does not alter the criminal nature of the sanction, or the fact that it is part of the criminal sentence. Martinez, 91 So. 3d at 880 n.2. See also Cammelleri v. State, 270 So. 3d 369 (Fla. 4th DCA 2019) (civil lien for incarceration costs included in the criminal judgment was considered by the court to be part of the sentence).

Unless included in the criminal judgment, a civil judgment or lien is collateral to the criminal judgment. See Cruz v. State, 742 So. 2d 489, 490 (Fla. 3d DCA 1999). Generally, a civil judgment for money or lien is a non-criminal remedy for the recovery of an underlying debt or reimbursement of particular expenses owed. Id. A "lien" is defined as "[a] legal right or interest that a creditor has in another's property, lasting usually until a debt or duty that it secures is satisfied." BLACK'S LAW DICTIONARY (10th ed. 2014). In this regard, we believe it significant that immediately before the passage of CS/SB 7066, an amendment was rejected that contained the following language:

> 5. Payment of all restitution, fees, or fines that are ordered by the court as part of the sentence or that are ordered by a court as a condition of any form of supervision including, but not limited to, probation, community control, or parole. A financial obligation required under this subparagraph is deemed to have been completed to the extent that the financial obligation has been converted to a civil lien.

Fla. S. Jour. 875 (Reg. Sess. May 2, 2019) (emphasis added).

There is no case law to provide guidance on this issue in the context of the new law. However, given the authority discussed above, we believe that a reasonable interpretation of the new law would be that the reduction of amounts owed pursuant to a criminal judgment/sentencing order to a civil judgment or lien does not eliminate the obligation to pay the amounts owed as provided for in the criminal judgment/sentencing order.

We note that to the extent a trial court imposes only a civil judgment or lien for amounts owed and does not make them part of the criminal judgment and sentence, case law indicates that the financial obligations could be considered to be independent of the criminal sentence. Woods, 879 So. 2d at 653 n. 1 (where sentence included the payment of public defender's fees and trial court later tried to make payment of supplemental fees part of criminal sentence, appellate court held that request was made out of time for modification of sentence; appellate court further indicated that if the trial court had issued a civil lien for the fees, such proceeding would have been independent of the criminal proceeding); Doctor v. State, 679 So. 2d 76, 77 (Fla. 4th DCA 1996) (criminal defendant could not challenge civil restitution lien by way of rule 3.850 motion applicable to criminal sentences; civil restitution lien is not a criminal penalty); Cruz, 742 So. 2d at 490 (civil restitution lien need not be considered in a plea agreement or accepted by sentencing court).

Our research thus far has uncovered no case law to support the premise that a civil judgment issued separate and apart from a sentence would be construed as being part of the sentence.

How felons can register to vote in Florida under new Amendment 4 bill

Court officials explain how to check if you owe fees or restitution.

By Langston Taylor

May 26

After Florida voters passed Amendment 4, voting rights suddenly became available to felons across the state. But a bill passed by lawmakers, which the Gov. Ron DeSantis intends to sign into law, added some criteria — including a requirement that people pay off any fines, fees or restitution.

Critics say the legislation unfairly hurts poor people. Courts assume that they will never collect the vast majority of the money they're owed.

But it appears headed for law. If signed, it would take effect July 1.

Here are the new questions people will have to answer if they want to register to vote, and how to go about finding answers.

Is the crime covered by Amendment 4?

One of the early debates during the legislative session was about "murder" and "felony sex offenses." For people convicted of either, Amendment 4 doesn't matter. A convicted murderer or felony sex offender would still be ineligible to vote unless the state's clemency board restored their rights.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Based on the bill passed by lawmakers, these are the specific felonies for which Amendment 4 doesn't apply:

Murder:

- First-degree murder (782.04(1))
- Second-degree murder (782.04(2), 782.04(3))
- Providing material support or resources for terrorism or to terrorist organizations, if the violation leads to death or serious bodily injury (775.33(4))

Sex offenses:

- Any felony that would force someone to become a registered sex offender
- Sexual misconduct by a psychotherapist (491.0112)
- Sexual cyberharassment (second offense) (784.049(3)(b))
- Female genital mutilation (794.08)
- Prostitution while knowing they were HIV-positive (796.08)
- Sexual conduct, a romantic relationship, or lewd conduct with a student as a school authority figure (800.101)
- Incest (826.04)
- Sale or distribution to minors or using minors in production of harmful materials (847.012)
- Abuse of a dead human body (872.06)
- Sexual misconduct with an inmate as an employee of a correctional or detention facility (944.35(3)(b)2, 951.221(1))

Have felons completed all terms of their sentence?

Once the bill becomes law, when someone is released from incarceration or probation, their release documents are supposed to spell out a checklist of all their remaining terms of sentence, including restitution, court fees and fines.

But it's trickier for people whose crimes are behind them.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Simply being done with probation doesn't mean everything is square. The court can end probation with an "unsuccessful termination." That means that, even though there's no more supervision by the state, the person didn't meet every last requirement.

"That almost always means that you've done everything except pay off your fines and fees," said Thomas Scherberger, spokesman for the Hillsborough County Clerk of Court.

First, officials recommend, check your case file online with your county court. Here are the links for Hillsborough, Pinellas, Pasco and Hernando counties. Anyone can search by their full name to find their case number.

If your case is recent, the case file should be online. For cases at least 20 years old or more, you may need to request to view the case file at the courthouse.

No matter how many times someone has gone to court, only convicted felonies matter for voting rights.

"There are lot of fines and fees that are assessed for misdemeanors. This would only be felonies, and it would only be the felony they were convicted of," Scherberger said. So when it comes to Amendment 4, don't worry about paying off fees for any other cases.

When viewing the case file online, the "financial" section should show the remaining balance for fees and fines associated with the case. If the number isn't $0, there is still money to pay.

Restitution (money that goes to support victims of a crime) can be more confusing.

Judges sometimes order that the restitution be paid through the court. Other times, however, it's supposed to be paid directly to the victim. That's entirely outside a clerk of court's tracking system, according to Doug Bakke, the Hillsborough agency's chief deputy for court operations.

One case file listed a Tampa woman's balance at about $2,100. But a deeper in her file, it showed that a judge also assigned about $2,000 in restitution to be paid out in monthly installments.

That second amount isn't tracked by the county. Felons in that situation should call Probation Services, under the Department of Corrections, to confirm if everything has been paid.

But there are still snags.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

"If the victim dies before the restitution is made, I don't know what they're going to do," Scherberger said.

A good first step, Bakke said, is to check with the clerk of court.

"They could call our office any day during the way during the week, or they could come into any customer service window," he said. He said determining outstanding fees is the "bread and butter" of what court staff do.

The court staff can determine how much money is still owed and set up a payment plan.

What if felons can't pay?

The bill allows for fees, fines or restitution to be waived by a judge, or converted to community service hours. But there's one big problem: that system isn't set up yet.

"That's up in the air right now," Bakke admitted.

Eventually, each county court would need to set up a way to file a form allowing someone to go before a judge to reconsider their case.

The judge could simply eliminate the fees or convert them to community service. Typically, that conversion works out to about $12 an hour, but that's not set in stone.

Can felons get in trouble for registering if they are ineligible?

When anyone registers to vote, they sign a form affirming that they're not a felon, or if they are, their rights have been restored. (The bill would have people check even more specific boxes once it goes into effect.)

State law says that "willfully" giving false information on the voter registration form is a third-degree felony. It's a rarely-enforced crime, but it is on the books.

State prosecutors say as long as you think you're eligible to vote, registering is not a crime.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

"I'm not interested in prosecuting misunderstandings. I don't think it would be right," said Bernie McCabe, the state attorney for the 6th Circuit (Pinellas and Pasco counties).

"Normally in the law, it's the prosecutor's job to prove they willfully did something wrong. It's not (the person's) obligation to prove that they didn't do something wrong."

Andrew Warren, the state attorney for Hillsborough County and a vocal supporter of Amendment 4, said that being unsure wouldn't be enough to charge somebody for a false voter registration form. Willfulness is a higher bar than recklessness or negligence.

"If they thought they were eligible but they weren't, we would not charge them, that's not a crime," he said. "Willful means intentionally, with knowledge that they're not allowed to do it."

He said he wasn't aware of any recent criminal charges for false voter registration. McCabe could remember only one, years ago, where someone registered and voted in two states in the same election cycle.

The bill flatly protects anybody who registered to vote since Jan. 8, 2019 (the first day the law took effect) and before July 1, 2019. Anyone who registers in that time cannot be criminally charged.

It will be the state's job, as it is now, to examine new voter registration applications and determine if the person is eligible.

Why must we continue to label them as "felons"? How about "people who once committed a felon" or ex-felons? The words we use to describe people and the labels we place on them continue to fuel the myths and stereotypes further stigmatizing the very people we hope to help. #wordsmatter

Your mistake is thinking Republicans "hope to help" anyone. Numerous studies have shown that restoring voting rights helps reintegrate felons into society and reduces recidivism.

Republicans oppose this common sense approach for two reasons. They are afraid that ex felons might not vote for them so they want to suppress voting rights. Also, prisons, both private and public, are a hugely profitable business and the folks who profit want more people incarcerated, not fewer.

Remember the NY judges convicted of accepting payments for each juvenile they sentenced to prison? That is simply the most blatant example of what goes on in our prison systems.

Dear Clerk Green,
I regret I am not well-versed on this issue, but I have received estimates from a few counties and am assisting in assembling the response. I am checking with those whose estimates I have not yet seen, but may have been sent. Have you had a chance to put this estimate together?
Thank you for your time,

Attached is the revised public record request that all but J.D. and Doug received from American Oversight relating to Amendment 4 and particularly the work of the QRT. As you can see, this is a much narrowed list from what you originally received. You have Carolyn Timminn to thank for her smooth talking explanation to the attorneys for American Oversight about the volume and nonrelevance the original request would have produced, not to mention the cost. Note that they have agreed to a response date of January 2, 2020 and later if needed. We are trying to be the good guys as their crosshairs appear to be elsewhere. In this light, please give us an estimate of your cost by Friday, December 13 and be as realistic as possible. I would ask that you send you cost to Beth Allman and we will forward on to American Oversight.

Re: Amendment 4 QRT Public Records Requests

Dear Mr. Baggett:

We greatly appreciate your outreach regarding our recent public records requests, which we assigned the tracking numbers FL-PINELLAS-19-1401, FL-CLAY-19-1402, FL-ORANGE-19-1403, FL-SARASOTA-19-1404, and FL-MARTIN-19-1405. Pursuant to our conversation with you and the Honorable Carolyn Timmann on November 20, 2019, we agree to revise our requests to the following:[1]

> All email communications (including email messages and email attachments) between (a) the applicable County Clerks of Courts (the Honorable Ken Burke, Tara Green, Tiffany Moore Russell, Karen E. Rushing, and Carolyn Timmann), and (b) the external parties listed below, that include any of the following search terms:
> - "QRT"
> - "Quick Response Team"
> - "Amendment 4"
> - "A4"
> - "Amd 4"
> - "Amd. 4"

> i. Honorable Ken Burke, Pinellas County Clerk of Court (KBurke@mypinellasclerk.org)
> ii. Honorable Tara Green, Clay County Clerk of Court (greent@clayclerk.com)

[1] We have consolidated the five requests here for simplicity. This is not intended to change our intention that each clerk's office will search the email of the clerk of courts for their respective county.

iii. Honorable Tiffany Moore Russell, Orange County Clerk of Court (tiffany.moorerussell@myorangeclerk.com)
iv. Honorable Karen E. Rushing, Sarasota County Clerk of Court (krushing@scgov.net)

ix. Toshia Brown, Chief, Florida Bureau of Voter Registration Services, (Toshia.Brown@DOS.MyFlorida.com)
x. Amber Marconnet, Senior Management Analyst Supervisor, Florida Bureau of Voter Registration Services (Amber.Marconnet@DOS.MyFlorida.com)
xi. Kenneth Steely, General Counsel, Florida Department of Corrections (Kenneth.Steely@fdc.myflorida.com)

xiv. Kate Holmes, Assistant General Counsel, Florida Department of Law Enforcement (kateholmes@fdle.state.fl.us)
xv. Melinda Coonrod, Chair, Florida Commission on Offender Review (melindacoonrod@fcor.state.fl.us)

Please provide all responsive records from July 1, 2019, to the date of the search.

We further agree that the following records can be excluded from production:

- Records that include the search terms "QRT" or "Quick Response Team" that do not relate to Amendment 4;
- Records that include the search terms "7066" or "7089" that do not relate to Senate Bill 7066 or House Bill 7089 (e.g., records that include "7066" or "7089" as parts of phone numbers);
- Court records that are attached to responsive emails; and
- News clips or other mass-distribution emails.

It is our understanding that the clerks will provide us with cost estimates for responding to our requests as revised here, and to the best of their ability, produce records on or before January 2, 2020.

Again, thank you very much for working with us on these requests. If you have any questions, or foresee any problems in responding to our request as revised here, please contact Christine H. Monahan at records@americanoversight.org or (202) 869-5244.

Richard,

Please see the email below and the attachments. The attachments represent the 10 cases for Pinellas. What we did was to complete the form based on the case number you provided in the Excel spreadsheet. Will you check this information against what CCIS shows as the balances being due? That will help determine if there are inconsistencies.

Let me point out one of the many problem areas. One of the attachments is for Mr. Delano. You provided a case number for his current prison sentence. Mr. Delano has 4 prior felony convictions where he previously served his time and was released but still owes fines/fees/costs. DOC will need to do a review of prior felonies that are still due. If DOC just gives Mr. Delano a document showing the amount due for his current prison sentence, it would be very misleading and not follow their obligation as I understand it under the new law. Mr. Delano is required to pay what he owes under the felony case he is being currently released from prison but also for his prior felony convictions where he previously served prison time.

Our jail is working on a report of its population of convicted felons who have been sentenced to county jail. It will be interesting to see.

Good Morning Ken,

Attached are 10 letters which correspond to the 10 defendants listed on the original spreadsheet for Pinellas. Also, the first attachment is a spreadsheet which will sum up only our County as a quick reference for you. A couple of the defendants had additional cases in our system than what was listed on the original spreadsheet, however we did not list those cases since the example sent out seemed to indicate they were only interested in the case listed.

Please let us know if you need any additional information or clarification.

Bill or Vel (not sure who would handle this),

Please go to the excel spreadsheet – it's the last attachment and go to the ones for Pinellas. Determine based on our records what the amount assessed in fines/fees/costs and restitution was at sentencing and what we show as the amount still due for each of the 10 felons from Pinellas. You can use the first attachment as a guide to the information being requested.

Can this be worked on Monday morning? I would like to have the information prior to noon.

My first thoughts on topics to discuss.

- Maybe set it up with a quick roundup on last Session, thank him for the changes in 337 and let him know this will net us some funds as a bridge to continuing to work towards the long term solution.
  - It wasn't the fix, but very helpful.
  - Let him know we want to work closely on the study and hope it provides the data the Legislature needs to feel comfortable moving forward.

- Then transition to how can we (Clerks) be helpful to him this Session and in the upcoming years.

- Talk about criminal justice reform issues that are important to him
  - DL suspension and our concept to use payment plans and compliance efforts to reduce D-6s as we continue to work on Clerk funding that will allow ending D-6 in the future.
  - Data transparency update
  - Diversion programs
  - Amendment 4 issues?
- Discuss any areas where we can provide data or present to his Committee this year.
- Finally, close with what we are planning for this Session.
  - Get his feedback on our approach and our prospects for policy bills.
  - Get feedback on approach and setting up for long term solution to funding in upcoming years.

Thoughts?

We certainly want to focus on Sen Brandes' priorities out of courtesy and fear. I will defer to my colleagues to make other suggestions.

I would pick our top two or three issues and not overwhelm the meeting with extensive clerk "wants".

Clerk Burke - Hope you're getting a (great) long weekend. Three potential items for you to consider for the Monday call:

1. FALL CONFERENCE. Kristin Frank and the FCCC team are already sketching out the plan for Fall Conference sessions. Do you think the A4 QRT would like a session at conference? We should let Member Services know sooner rather than later.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

2. CCIS DISCLAIMER. Staci Winston (Marion Clerk's Office) raised a good issue. Now that we know DOC will be using the CCIS Financial Summary to file and provide to releasees, is it worth discussing adding a disclaimer to CCIS, directing the user to contact the individual Clerk's Offices for up-to-date financial information? Staci has a specific concern that in some counties converted financial information may not be accurate, especially when the county has had several CMS providers. She also points out that not all Clerk's Offices capture restitution information in their CMS/CCIS nor interest that may be part of a lien ordered in a case. I completely understand why DOC is going to pull data from CCIS to present to the offender, as that will show what was ordered by the Court, and I agree that there needs to be a warning in CCIS and on the paperwork being given to the offender to contact the Clerk's office to get an accurate total.

With this said, if DOC is just pulling the financial information from CCIS and sending it back to us, I don't think that will help since CCIS is our data. What we'd like to see from DOC is a report stating exactly how much money DOC has processed for the offender, less any processing or handling fees. This will mean a lot more to Clerks, since we can then compare the data in our CMS with what DOC says it has received/processed. We can then amend our records as necessary to give a more accurate total to the offender when he/she contacts us. Considering we are going to try and get accurate amounts due from paper records in the preelectronic CMS days and from CMS systems that may have changed one or more times since inception and with the knowledge that there are inherent delays from the time when money is received by DOC through J-Pay and then sent to our offices, we think the best data DOC could send us is not what we already have but rather send us what monies their records show have been received or processed by DOC.

3. CLERK PAYMENTS STATEWIDE. Kim, Savannah and I met with Melvin Wednesday morning on another issue, but raised the issue of a Clerk being able to accept a payment due to another Clerk.

He told us about a site that's under development: www.PayFloridaClerk.com, a system for paying traffic fines (especially for out-of-state folks). It is simply a front end that links to each Clerk's online traffic payment system. Those individual systems control for decisions like how credit card transactions are handled and whether a personal appearance in the Clerk's office is required to opt for traffic school. Each Clerk gets to decide how to handle online credit card payments, which I understand are easier to dispute than in person credit card payments where the Clerk will have a copy of the receipt issued.

PayFloridaClerk does not itself accept any payments, but if an individual came into a Clerk's office wanting to make a payment due elsewhere in the state, the local Clerk could use PayFloridaClerk to assist the individual in paying the other Clerk.

We talked about how, in the traffic situation, a Clerk might not want to directly accept a payment due another Clerk in situation related to to D-6 suspensions. When a person makes a payment that would result in a license reinstatement, that person will want some proof of satisfaction. Having one Clerk's office issue that proof for another Clerk may be an issue.

Something like this might be an option for payments to to Clerks outside traffic that would leave the individual Clerks in control of their receipts but give them a way to assist anyone who walks in the door. I'm sure Melvin would be happy to walk the A4 QRT through the traffic system at some point so you can get a better idea of how it will work than my poor description above. I have not thought about a Clerk accepting payments that are due to another Clerk, but I would be very hesitant to take that step without learning a lot more. Richard raises some good questions. Perhaps making computers available for people to go online and use PayFloridaClerk.com, but I don't think we'd be keen on accepting payments for another Clerk.

Attorney group,

Need your help on another matter.

First of all, can you tell me the statute that gives the Clerk the authority to negotiate a judgement for fines/fees/costs?

Do any of your offices have any policies dealing with this topic? If so, can you send them to me?

Do any of your offices negotiate judgments for fines/fees/costs?

The reason for asking these questions relates to Amendment 4. Sharon Bock ask me to head up a quick response team to make a recommendation to the Board. The quick response team is made up of Karen Rushing, Tiffany Moore-Russell and Tara Green, but the information you provide in response to this email will be very helpful.

Subject: RE: Negotiating Judgments for fines and fees

Palm Beach negotiates settlements on judgments for fines and costs. I have attached some of the documents and processes we use.

The rest of this may be too much detail but we started doing this on large, five figure cases (such as drug trafficking) by running a report to find those cases, then narrowing our focus by looking at age of case and if the defendant had a private attorney at the time of the conviction. We then sent letters (one is attached) to the last known address of the defendant and to his attorney. Once that was completed, the local defense attorneys began contacting us on these and on cases we had not reached out on. Our local defense bar and even the PD's office continues to bring all sizes of judgments to us to negotiate even though we no longer send letters.

To reach a settlement amount, we look at the age of the case, and the amount owed. If it is a large sum, we will also do a basic public record and social media search to look for additional information regarding possible ability to pay (a PowerPoint slide is attached). Once a settlement is reached, we record a satisfaction referencing FS 938 (also attached).

I agree with Matt's analysis. In Volusia, we don't have policies dealing with this topic but we do on case by case basis negotiate on judgments that are at least a year old . The older the judgment, the more we are willing to compromise. The reason being that the older the judgment, the less likely someone will want to pay.

Subject: RE: Negotiating Judgments for fines and fees

Good morning. I've cut and pasted portions of an email that I sent out not too long ago in response to the same questions. . .

Section 938.30(9), F.S., (and related s. 938.29(3), F.S.) references the clerks' ability to enforce, satisfy, compromise, settle, subordinate, release, or otherwise dispose of any debt or liens imposed and collected under s. 938.30, F.S. Does this statute allow clerks to "waive or reduce" fines or costs ordered by the judge?

To answer your question, I think you're right when it comes to "liens" but not sure as to "debts." I tried to find some case law but didn't see anything on point.

FS 938.30(9) and 938.29(3) give the Clerk the authority to enforce, satisfy, compromise, settle, subordinate, release, or otherwise dispose of any debts or liens imposed or collected as part of any financial obligation in any criminal case, fees for court appointed counsel, and due process services.

The "lien" part is pretty straightforward from reading 938.30(6) and (8) and 938.29(2). Clerks are statutorily authorized to enforce, satisfy, compromise, subordinate, release, or otherwise dispose of those liens that arose from financial obligations in a criminal case.

The question is what the word "debts" means in these statutes, as there is no definition of "debts" in s. 938. Since the statutes specifically reference "liens," one would assume that "debts" means something other than "liens." Does "debts" mean financial obligations that have been ordered/imposed by the Court but not yet taken to judgment and a lien filed? If so, then Clerks would also have the authority to enforce, satisfy, compromise, subordinate, release and otherwise dispose of those monetary obligations imposed/ordered by the Court but not yet reduced to judgment. However, in practice, I don't think this is done regularly, because defendants routinely pay monetary obligations through probation, via payment plans, or through collections. In addition, if a defendant is unable to pay, she can ask the Court to take the monetary obligations to judgment at the time of sentencing or anytime thereafter upon an appropriate showing of inability to pay. See FS 938.30(2)-(6).

As for negotiating fines, fees, and other costs, Manatee does not have any written policies but will consider offers on a case-by-case basis. For example, we recently negotiated an old Trafficking fine that was taken to judgment when we were contacted by an attorney offering some money out of a partition sale. Matt

Attorney group,

Need your help on another matter.

First of all, can you tell me the statute that gives the Clerk the authority to negotiate a judgement for fines/fees/costs?

Do any of your offices have any policies dealing with this topic? If so, can you send them to me?

Do any of your offices negotiate judgments for fines/fees/costs?

The reason for asking these questions relates to Amendment 4. Sharon Bock ask me to head up a quick response team to make a recommendation to the Board. The quick response team is made up of Karen Rushing, Tiffany Moore-Russell and Tara Green, but the information you provide in response to this email will be very helpful.

Subject: RE: Negotiating Judgments for fines and fees

Good morning. I've cut and pasted portions of an email that I sent out not too long ago in response to the same questions. . .

Section 938.30(9), F.S., (and related s. 938.29(3), F.S.) references the clerks' ability to enforce, satisfy, compromise, settle, subordinate, release, or otherwise dispose of any debt or liens imposed and collected under s. 938.30, F.S. Does this statute allow clerks to "waive or reduce" fines or costs ordered by the judge?

To answer your question, I think you're right when it comes to "liens" but not sure as to "debts." I tried to find some case law but didn't see anything on point.

FS 938.30(9) and 938.29(3) give the Clerk the authority to enforce, satisfy, compromise, settle, subordinate, release, or otherwise dispose of any debts or liens imposed or collected as part of any financial obligation in any criminal case, fees for court appointed counsel, and due process services.

The "lien" part is pretty straightforward from reading 938.30(6) and (8) and 938.29(2). Clerks are statutorily authorized to enforce, satisfy, compromise, subordinate, release, or otherwise dispose of those liens that arose from financial obligations in a criminal case.

The question is what the word "debts" means in these statutes, as there is no definition of "debts" in s. 938. Since the statutes specifically reference "liens," one would assume that "debts" means something other than "liens." Does "debts" mean financial obligations that have been ordered/imposed by the Court but not yet taken to judgment and a lien filed? If so, then Clerks would also have the authority to enforce, satisfy, compromise, subordinate, release and otherwise dispose of those monetary obligations imposed/ordered by the Court but not yet reduced to judgment. However, in practice, I don't think this is done regularly, because defendants routinely pay monetary obligations through probation, via payment plans, or through collections. In addition, if a defendant is unable to pay, she can ask the Court to take the monetary obligations to judgment at the time of sentencing or anytime thereafter upon an appropriate showing of inability to pay. Attached is a memo provided to Chris on August 5 that includes, at the bottom of page 5, our opinion on the issue of civil liens being recorded against financial obligations contained in a criminal judgement and sentence. The filing of a lien does not satisfy or affect the obligations set out in the criminal sentence. The lien is a civil enforcement tool to support the payment of the criminal debt. Think of it in terms of the suspension of a driver's license (D6) for non-payment of traffic fines. If the suspension is cancelled by DHSMV for whatever reason other than payment of the outstanding fine, the fine is still owed. Probably not a good analogy but close.

RE: Issues Pertaining to Restoration of Voting Rights

INTRODUCTION

Amendment 4 to the Florida Constitution was passed by ballot initiative in 2018 and amended Article VI, Section 4, of the Florida Constitution. Article VI, Section 4, now provides in part that "any disqualification from voting arising from a felony conviction shall terminate and voting rights shall be restored upon completion of all terms of sentence including parole or probation." Art. VI, § 4(a), Fla. Const.

Implementing Legislation

Chapter 2019-162 was passed by the Florida Legislature pursuant to Senate Bill 7066 and creates section 98.0751, Florida Statutes, effective July 1, 2019. Section 98.0751 provides in pertinent part:

> (2) For purposes of this section, the term:
> (a) "Completion of all terms of sentence" means any portion of a sentence that is contained in the four corners of the sentencing document, including, but not limited to:
> 1. Release from any term of imprisonment ordered by the court as a part of the sentence;
> 2. Termination from any term of probation or community control ordered by the court as a part of the sentence;

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

3. Fulfillment of any term ordered by the court as a part of the sentence;

4. Termination from any term of supervision, which is monitored by the Florida Commission on Offender Review, including, but not limited to, parole; and

5.a. Full payment of restitution ordered to a victim by the court as part of the sentence. A victim includes, but is not limited to, a person or persons, the estate or estates thereof, an entity, the state, or the Federal Government.

b. Full payment of fines or fees ordered by the court as a part of the sentence or that are ordered by the court as a condition of any form of supervision, including, but not limited to, probation, community control, or parole.

c. The financial obligations required under sub-subparagraph a. or sub-subparagraph b. include only the amount specifically ordered by the court as part of the sentence and do not include any fines, fees, or costs that accrue after the date the obligation is ordered as a part of the sentence.

d. For the limited purpose of addressing a plea for relief pursuant to sub-subparagraph e. and notwithstanding any other statute, rule, or provision of law, a court may not be prohibited from modifying the financial obligations of an original sentence required under sub-subparagraph a. or sub-subparagraph b. Such modification shall not infringe on a defendant's or a victim's rights provided in United States Constitution or the State Constitution.

e. Financial obligations required under sub-subparagraph a. or sub-paragraph b. are considered completed in the following manner or in any combination thereof:

(I) Actual payment of the obligation in full.

(II) Upon the payee's approval, either through appearance in open court or through the production of a notarized consent by the payee, the termination by the court of any financial obligation to payee, including but not limited to, a victim, or the court.

(III) Completion of all community service hours, if the court, unless otherwise prohibited by law or the State Constitution, converts the financial obligation to community service.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Questions Presented

In light of the amendment to Article VI, Section 4, and the new implementing language pertaining to "completion of all terms of sentence" as set forth above, you have posed the following questions:

1. Does the requirement of "completion of all terms of sentence" include any statutory interest?

2. Does the requirement of "completion of all terms of sentence" include fees paid to a collection agent engaged by a clerk for the collection of fees, fines and court costs?

3. If the amounts owed pursuant to a criminal judgment/sentencing order are reduced to a civil judgment or lien, does that eliminate the obligation to pay the amounts owed as set forth in the criminal judgment/sentencing order?

Of course, the new constitutional amendment and the new statute will be subject to interpretation by the courts. To this end, case law and other interpreting authority does not yet exist. Nonetheless, you have asked us to analyze the new law in conjunction with existing Florida law and to provide our thoughts as to the questions posed. Our responses to the questions are as follows:

1. Does the requirement of "completion of all terms of sentence" include any statutory interest?

As set forth above, section 98.0751(2)(a) states that "completion of all terms of sentence" means full payment of restitution ordered to a victim by the court as a part of the sentence and full payment of fines or fees ordered by the court as a part of the sentence. § 98.0751(2)(a)5.a., and b., Fla. Stat. The statute goes on to state that such financial obligations "include only the amount specifically ordered by the court as part of the sentence and do not include any fines, fees, or costs that accrue after the date the obligation is ordered as a part of the sentence." § 98.0751(2)(a)5.c., Fla. Stat. The statute does not address interest, nor does it address what is meant by "any fines, fees, or costs."

Pursuant to section 775.089, Florida Statutes – the criminal restitution statute – restitution may be ordered as part of a criminal sentence. § 775.089(1)(a), Fla. Stat. The outstanding unpaid amount of the restitution bears interest in accordance with section 55.03, Florida Statutes

(the statutory interest statute). § 775.089(5), Fla. Stat. Thus, to the extent restitution is included in a criminal judgment sentencing order, interest accrues on such restitution pursuant to statute.

As previously noted, there is no case law or other authority to provide guidance on this issue. Also, the Bill Analyses for CS/SB 7066, the implementing legislation, do not reference "completion of all terms of sentence." However, we believe that on the issue of interest, section 98.0751 and section 775.089 must be read pari materia. "The doctrine of pari materia is a principle of statutory construction that requires that statutes relating to the same subject or object be construed together to harmonize the statues and to give effect to the Legislature's intent." E.A.R. v. State, 4 So. 3d 614, 629 (Fla. 2009). Given the language in section 98.0751(2)(a) requiring full payment of restitution ordered as part of a sentence, and the language in section 775.089(5) mandating the accrual of interest on restitution, we believe that when read together a reasonable interpretation of the new law would be – and certainly an argument can be made – that statutory interest is an obligation incurred on the date restitution is ordered as a part of the sentence and, thus, payment of such interest is required to complete the sentence. Of course, the new law will be subject to future interpretation by courts and this has not yet occurred.

The new law also requires "[f]ull payment of fines or fees ordered by the court as a part of the sentence." § 98.0751(2)(a), Fla. Stat. Section 938.30, Florida Statutes, provides that when a person is liable for payment of any financial obligation in a criminal case, the judgment setting forth such financial obligations "must secure all unpaid court-imposed financial obligations that are due . . . as well as interest and reasonable costs for issuing a satisfaction and recording the satisfaction in the official records." § 938.30(8), Fla. Stat. (emphasis added). The Bill Analysis for CS/SB 7086, the companion legislation to CS/SB 7066, discusses "completion of all terms of sentence," and while it does not state that interest is included within the meaning of that term, it acknowledges and quotes section 938.39(8) stating that a judgment on court-imposed financial obligations must secure "interest."

Thus, to the extent that a fine, fee, or cost is made a part of the criminal judgment/ sentencing order and interest is included in the judgment, we believe that a reasonable interpretation of the new law when read in pari materia with section 938.39 is – and an argument can be made – that payment of such interest is required to complete the sentence.

2. Does the requirement of "completion of all terms of sentence" include fees paid to a collection agent engaged by the clerk for the collection of fees, fines, and court costs?

It is our understanding that a collection fee paid to a collection agent is a fee that is in addition to, and is added to the balance of, the unpaid financial obligations. § 28.246(6), Fla. Stat. It is further our understanding that such fee paid to a collection agent would necessarily accrue after the date the financial obligations of the sentence are ordered.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

The new law provides that "completion of all terms of sentence" means payment of "only the amount specifically ordered by the court as part of the sentence and do[es] not include any fines, fees, or costs that accrue after the date the obligation is ordered as a part of the sentence." § 98.0751(2)(a)5.c., Fla. Stat. As noted above, there is no authority interpreting the new law. However, given the plain language of the statute, we believe it is likely that a court would find that, unless otherwise specifically ordered in the criminal judgment, fees owed to a collection agent that are in addition to, and added to the balance of, the unpaid financial obligations would not be included in the definition of "completion of all terms of sentence." See Germ v. St. Luke's Hosp. Ass'n, 993 So. 2d 576 (Fla. 1st DCA 2008) (courts should give statutory language its plain and ordinary meaning, and may not add words that were not included by the legislature).

Such plain language interpretation is reinforced by case law stating that additional costs may not be added to a sentence after a defendant begins serving the sentence. See Martinez v. State, 91 So. 3d 878 (Fla. 5th DCA 2012).

3. If the amounts owed pursuant to a criminal judgment/sentencing order are reduced to a civil judgment or lien, does that eliminate the obligation to pay the amounts owed as set forth in the criminal judgment/sentencing order?

Florida case law indicates that statutory financial obligations imposed by a court – such as costs of prosecution, attorney's fees, court costs under chapter 938 and criminal restitution under section 775.089 – are criminal sanctions that are ordinarily imposed during the sentencing process and are criminal sanctions. See Martinez, 91 So. 3d at 880; Woods, 879 So. 2d 651, 653 (Fla. 5th DCA 2004); State v. Sandomeno, 217 So. 3d 110, 111 (Fla. 4th DCA 2017). If such financial obligations are made a part of the criminal judgment and a condition of the sentence, the court's reduction of the amounts owed to a civil judgment or lien for enforcement purposes does not alter the criminal nature of the sanction, or the fact that it is part of the criminal sentence. Martinez, 91 So. 3d at 880 n.2. See also Cammelleri v. State, 270 So. 3d 369 (Fla. 4th DCA 2019) (civil lien for incarceration costs included in the criminal judgment was considered by the court to be part of the sentence).

Unless included in the criminal judgment, a civil judgment or lien is collateral to the criminal judgment. See Cruz v. State, 742 So. 2d 489, 490 (Fla. 3d DCA 1999). Generally, a civil judgment for money or lien is a non-criminal remedy for the recovery of an underlying debt or reimbursement of particular expenses owed. Id. A "lien" is defined as "[a] legal right or interest that a creditor has in another's property, lasting usually until a debt or duty that it secures is satisfied." BLACK'S LAW DICTIONARY (10th ed. 2014). In this regard, we believe it significant that immediately before the passage of CS/SB 7066, an amendment was rejected that contained the following language:

> 5. Payment of all restitution, fees, or fines that are ordered by the court as part of the sentence or that are ordered by a court as a condition of any form of supervision including, but not limited to, probation, community control, or parole. A financial obligation required under this subparagraph is deemed to have been completed to the extent that the financial obligation has been converted to a civil lien.

Fla. S. Jour. 875 (Reg. Sess. May 2, 2019) (emphasis added).

There is no case law to provide guidance on this issue in the context of the new law. However, given the authority discussed above, we believe that a reasonable interpretation of the new law would be that the reduction of amounts owed pursuant to a criminal judgment/sentencing order to a civil judgment or lien does not eliminate the obligation to pay the amounts owed as provided for in the criminal judgment/sentencing order.

We note that to the extent a trial court imposes only a civil judgment or lien for amounts owed and does not make them part of the criminal judgment and sentence, case law indicates that the financial obligations could be considered to be independent of the criminal sentence. Woods, 879 So. 2d at 653 n. 1 (where sentence included the payment of public defender's fees and trial court later tried to make payment of supplemental fees part of criminal sentence, appellate court held that request was made out of time for modification of sentence; appellate court further indicated that if the trial court had issued a civil lien for the fees, such proceeding would have been independent of the criminal proceeding); Doctor v. State, 679 So. 2d 76, 77 (Fla. 4th DCA 1996) (criminal defendant could not challenge civil restitution lien by way of rule 3.850 motion applicable to criminal sentences; civil restitution lien is not a criminal penalty); Cruz, 742 So. 2d at 490 (civil restitution lien need not be considered in a plea agreement or accepted by sentencing court).

Our research thus far has uncovered no case law to support the premise that a civil judgment issued separate and apart from a sentence would be construed as being part of the sentence.

RE: Issues Pertaining to Restoration of Voting Rights

INTRODUCTION

Amendment 4 to the Florida Constitution was passed by ballot initiative in 2018 and amended Article VI, Section 4, of the Florida Constitution. Article VI, Section 4, now provides in part that "any disqualification from voting arising from a felony conviction shall terminate and voting rights shall be restored upon completion of all terms of sentence including parole or probation." Art. VI, § 4(a), Fla. Const.

Implementing Legislation

Chapter 2019-162 was passed by the Florida Legislature pursuant to Senate Bill 7066 and creates section 98.0751, Florida Statutes, effective July 1, 2019. Section 98.0751 provides in pertinent part:

> (2) For purposes of this section, the term:
> (a) "Completion of all terms of sentence" means any portion of a sentence that is contained in the four corners of the sentencing document, including, but not limited to:
> 1. Release from any term of imprisonment ordered by the court as a part of the sentence;
> 2. Termination from any term of probation or community control ordered by the court as a part of the sentence;

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

3. Fulfillment of any term ordered by the court as a part of the sentence;

4. Termination from any term of supervision, which is monitored by the Florida Commission on Offender Review, including, but not limited to, parole; and

5.a. Full payment of restitution ordered to a victim by the court as part of the sentence. A victim includes, but is not limited to, a person or persons, the estate or estates thereof, an entity, the state, or the Federal Government.

b. Full payment of fines or fees ordered by the court as a part of the sentence or that are ordered by the court as a condition of any form of supervision, including, but not limited to, probation, community control, or parole.

c. The financial obligations required under sub-subparagraph a. or sub-subparagraph b. include only the amount specifically ordered by the court as part of the sentence and do not include any fines, fees, or costs that accrue after the date the obligation is ordered as a part of the sentence.

d. For the limited purpose of addressing a plea for relief pursuant to sub-subparagraph e. and notwithstanding any other statute, rule, or provision of law, a court may not be prohibited from modifying the financial obligations of an original sentence required under sub-subparagraph a. or sub-subparagraph b. Such modification shall not infringe on a defendant's or a victim's rights provided in United States Constitution or the State Constitution.

e. Financial obligations required under sub-subparagraph a. or sub-paragraph b. are considered completed in the following manner or in any combination thereof:

(I) Actual payment of the obligation in full.

(II) Upon the payee's approval, either through appearance in open court or through the production of a notarized consent by the payee, the termination by the court of any financial obligation to payee, including but not limited to, a victim, or the court.

(III) Completion of all community service hours, if the court, unless otherwise prohibited by law or the State Constitution, converts the financial obligation to community service.

Questions Presented

In light of the amendment to Article VI, Section 4, and the new implementing language pertaining to "completion of all terms of sentence" as set forth above, you have posed the following questions:

1. Does the requirement of "completion of all terms of sentence" include any statutory interest?

2. Does the requirement of "completion of all terms of sentence" include fees paid to a collection agent engaged by a clerk for the collection of fees, fines and court costs?

3. If the amounts owed pursuant to a criminal judgment/sentencing order are reduced to a civil judgment or lien, does that eliminate the obligation to pay the amounts owed as set forth in the criminal judgment/sentencing order?

Of course, the new constitutional amendment and the new statute will be subject to interpretation by the courts. To this end, case law and other interpreting authority does not yet exist. Nonetheless, you have asked us to analyze the new law in conjunction with existing Florida law and to provide our thoughts as to the questions posed. Our responses to the questions are as follows:

1. Does the requirement of "completion of all terms of sentence" include any statutory interest?

As set forth above, section 98.0751(2)(a) states that "completion of all terms of sentence" means full payment of restitution ordered to a victim by the court as a part of the sentence and full payment of fines or fees ordered by the court as a part of the sentence. § 98.0751(2)(a)5.a., and b., Fla. Stat. The statute goes on to state that such financial obligations "include only the amount specifically ordered by the court as part of the sentence and do not include any fines, fees, or costs that accrue after the date the obligation is ordered as a part of the sentence." § 98.0751(2)(a)5.c., Fla. Stat. The statute does not address interest, nor does it address what is meant by "any fines, fees, or costs."

Pursuant to section 775.089, Florida Statutes – the criminal restitution statute – restitution may be ordered as part of a criminal sentence. § 775.089(1)(a), Fla. Stat. The outstanding unpaid amount of the restitution bears interest in accordance with section 55.03, Florida Statutes

(the statutory interest statute). § 775.089(5), Fla. Stat. Thus, to the extent restitution is included in a criminal judgment sentencing order, interest accrues on such restitution pursuant to statute.

As previously noted, there is no case law or other authority to provide guidance on this issue. Also, the Bill Analyses for CS/SB 7066, the implementing legislation, do not reference "completion of all terms of sentence." However, we believe that on the issue of interest, section 98.0751 and section 775.089 must be read pari materia. "The doctrine of pari materia is a principle of statutory construction that requires that statutes relating to the same subject or object be construed together to harmonize the statues and to give effect to the Legislature's intent." E.A.R. v. State, 4 So. 3d 614, 629 (Fla. 2009). Given the language in section 98.0751(2)(a) requiring full payment of restitution ordered as part of a sentence, and the language in section 775.089(5) mandating the accrual of interest on restitution, we believe that when read together a reasonable interpretation of the new law would be – and certainly an argument can be made – that statutory interest is an obligation incurred on the date restitution is ordered as a part of the sentence and, thus, payment of such interest is required to complete the sentence. Of course, the new law will be subject to future interpretation by courts and this has not yet occurred.

The new law also requires "[f]ull payment of fines or fees ordered by the court as a part of the sentence." § 98.0751(2)(a), Fla. Stat. Section 938.30, Florida Statutes, provides that when a person is liable for payment of any financial obligation in a criminal case, the judgment setting forth such financial obligations "must secure all unpaid court-imposed financial obligations that are due . . . as well as interest and reasonable costs for issuing a satisfaction and recording the satisfaction in the official records." § 938.30(8), Fla. Stat. (emphasis added). The Bill Analysis for CS/SB 7086, the companion legislation to CS/SB 7066, discusses "completion of all terms of sentence," and while it does not state that interest is included within the meaning of that term, it acknowledges and quotes section 938.39(8) stating that a judgment on court-imposed financial obligations must secure "interest."

Thus, to the extent that a fine, fee, or cost is made a part of the criminal judgment/ sentencing order and interest is included in the judgment, we believe that a reasonable interpretation of the new law when read in pari materia with section 938.39 is – and an argument can be made – that payment of such interest is required to complete the sentence.

2. Does the requirement of "completion of all terms of sentence" include fees paid to a collection agent engaged by the clerk for the collection of fees, fines, and court costs?

It is our understanding that a collection fee paid to a collection agent is a fee that is in addition to, and is added to the balance of, the unpaid financial obligations. § 28.246(6), Fla. Stat. It is further our understanding that such fee paid to a collection agent would necessarily accrue after the date the financial obligations of the sentence are ordered.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

The new law provides that "completion of all terms of sentence" means payment of "only the amount specifically ordered by the court as part of the sentence and do[es] not include any fines, fees, or costs that accrue after the date the obligation is ordered as a part of the sentence." § 98.0751(2)(a)5.c., Fla. Stat. As noted above, there is no authority interpreting the new law. However, given the plain language of the statute, we believe it is likely that a court would find that, unless otherwise specifically ordered in the criminal judgment, fees owed to a collection agent that are in addition to, and added to the balance of, the unpaid financial obligations would not be included in the definition of "completion of all terms of sentence." See Germ v. St. Luke's Hosp. Ass'n, 993 So. 2d 576 (Fla. 1st DCA 2008) (courts should give statutory language its plain and ordinary meaning, and may not add words that were not included by the legislature).

Such plain language interpretation is reinforced by case law stating that additional costs may not be added to a sentence after a defendant begins serving the sentence. See Martinez v. State, 91 So. 3d 878 (Fla. 5th DCA 2012).

3. If the amounts owed pursuant to a criminal judgment/sentencing order are reduced to a civil judgment or lien, does that eliminate the obligation to pay the amounts owed as set forth in the criminal judgment/sentencing order?

Florida case law indicates that statutory financial obligations imposed by a court – such as costs of prosecution, attorney's fees, court costs under chapter 938 and criminal restitution under section 775.089 – are criminal sanctions that are ordinarily imposed during the sentencing process and are criminal sanctions. See Martinez, 91 So. 3d at 880; Woods, 879 So. 2d 651, 653 (Fla. 5th DCA 2004); State v. Sandomeno, 217 So. 3d 110, 111 (Fla. 4th DCA 2017). If such financial obligations are made a part of the criminal judgment and a condition of the sentence, the court's reduction of the amounts owed to a civil judgment or lien for enforcement purposes does not alter the criminal nature of the sanction, or the fact that it is part of the criminal sentence. Martinez, 91 So. 3d at 880 n.2. See also Cammelleri v. State, 270 So. 3d 369 (Fla. 4th DCA 2019) (civil lien for incarceration costs included in the criminal judgment was considered by the court to be part of the sentence).

Unless included in the criminal judgment, a civil judgment or lien is collateral to the criminal judgment. See Cruz v. State, 742 So. 2d 489, 490 (Fla. 3d DCA 1999). Generally, a civil judgment for money or lien is a non-criminal remedy for the recovery of an underlying debt or reimbursement of particular expenses owed. Id. A "lien" is defined as "[a] legal right or interest that a creditor has in another's property, lasting usually until a debt or duty that it secures is satisfied." BLACK'S LAW DICTIONARY (10th ed. 2014). In this regard, we believe it significant that immediately before the passage of CS/SB 7066, an amendment was rejected that contained the following language:

> 5. Payment of all restitution, fees, or fines that are ordered by the court as part of the sentence or that are ordered by a court as a condition of any form of supervision including, but not limited to, probation, community control, or parole. A financial obligation required under this subparagraph is deemed to have been completed to the extent that the financial obligation has been converted to a civil lien.

Fla. S. Jour. 875 (Reg. Sess. May 2, 2019) (emphasis added).

There is no case law to provide guidance on this issue in the context of the new law. However, given the authority discussed above, we believe that a reasonable interpretation of the new law would be that the reduction of amounts owed pursuant to a criminal judgment/sentencing order to a civil judgment or lien does not eliminate the obligation to pay the amounts owed as provided for in the criminal judgment/sentencing order.

We note that to the extent a trial court imposes only a civil judgment or lien for amounts owed and does not make them part of the criminal judgment and sentence, case law indicates that the financial obligations could be considered to be independent of the criminal sentence. Woods, 879 So. 2d at 653 n. 1 (where sentence included the payment of public defender's fees and trial court later tried to make payment of supplemental fees part of criminal sentence, appellate court held that request was made out of time for modification of sentence; appellate court further indicated that if the trial court had issued a civil lien for the fees, such proceeding would have been independent of the criminal proceeding); Doctor v. State, 679 So. 2d 76, 77 (Fla. 4th DCA 1996) (criminal defendant could not challenge civil restitution lien by way of rule 3.850 motion applicable to criminal sentences; civil restitution lien is not a criminal penalty); Cruz, 742 So. 2d at 490 (civil restitution lien need not be considered in a plea agreement or accepted by sentencing court).

Our research thus far has uncovered no case law to support the premise that a civil judgment issued separate and apart from a sentence would be construed as being part of the sentence.

SB 7066 is being debated on the floor of the House. During debate Rep. Eskamani questioned if there was any deadline for county/clerk to provide information as to what is outstanding in a sentence. (there is not)

She asked her question because in her words, “we know clerks of courts can be slow to provide information sometimes. . . “

As I understand, DOC decided file these documents to comply with their interpretation of the new law (below). We were going to get paper or electronic documents from them. Clerk staff are not expected to verify the figures unless the individual, or his attorney, requests Court records for the purposes of restoration of that individual's voting rights. (The academic literature suggests this is rare for new releasees, more common - 5% to 15% - for individuals out of prison for some years. DOC is not filing anything for prior releasees.)

The Amendment 4 QRT is trying to identify the data problems, both with DOC filings and in our historic records. Each member of the QRT is checking some of the DOC data against their local CMS as part of this process. I will provide your description of this problem to them. - Richard

From CS/SB 7066:

940.061 The Department of Corrections shall inform and educate inmates and offenders on the restoration of voting rights resulting from the removal of the disqualification to vote pursuant to s. 4, Art. VI of the State Constitution.

944.705 The Department of Corrections must notify every inmate, in the inmate's release documents of all outstanding terms of the inmate's sentence at the time of release to assist the inmate in determining his or her status with regard to the completion of all terms of sentence. This subparagraph does not apply to inmates who are being released from the custody of the department to any type of supervision monitored by the department.

The FCCC advisory 19-052 provided us with the detail as to how DOC will be providing information about the terms of a defendant's sentence and outstanding fine/fees through CCIS. I am not sure who DOC consulted with for this new process to send the clerk a copy thru the portal? Is the expectation that the clerk staff will now have to verify the figures? The reason I ask is yesterday DOC contacted our office, I have attached a copy of what they provided to the defendant. This is 8 pages of items of which some are duplicates of what is in the court case file. The bottom of page one shows copies provided and indicates Clerk of Court (if required) – can we opt out? The information provided shows restitution for Citrus case to First Step inc. which we do not have ordered on our case. The backup for the fines, they looked up the Okeechobee case number in CCIS for Citrus County and provided detail for an entire different defendant named Steven Ray Sharp. So now this document is on Mr. Posila case with erroneous information, as well as it was provided to the defendant. We directed them to remit an amended form.

I would prefer not to have to track and accept these documents, we don't have the resources to add yet another process without additional funding. I don't believe the bill directs anything to be filed with the Clerk's office.

As you probably know, the bill already has opposition and pending litigation. One item for sure that will cause some conflict is the incarceration fees. In Citrus, and possibly the Fifth Circuit, the Judges do assess incarceration fees. They believe it to be mandatory fee and follow Florida Statute 960.293 "a liquidated damage amount of $50 per day of the convicted offender's sentence shall be assessed against the convicted offender and in favor of the state or its local subdivisions". Yet they consider it to be a lien but not part of probation. per an email that circulated regarding this fee. Again this is a court fee that the Clerk's statewide do not include in the mandatory/discretionary report. Some circuits assess the fee, others do not. So here in Citrus, we will collect if paid, we release a defendant's suspension without full payment of these fees.; however, they will and do appear as an outstanding balance in CCIS. I think this will raise some questions and concerns.

I wanted to bring both of these concerns to your attention. We each will also have our local detention centers providing the same type information to the defendants per the bill, and would prefer to be out of the loop and not have it submitted to the case file maintained by the Clerk. I am hoping this can be addressed and take the clerk out of this process.

Chris,

As you can see from the string of emails, i communicated with Tara and agreed it would be a great idea to have this QRT team. Would you be able to assign a fccc staff member to assist the team?

Thanks,

Stacy

Fla. Sat. 928.30 states as follows:
(6) If judgment has not been previously entered on any court-imposed financial obligation, the court may enter judgment thereon and issue any writ necessary to enforce the judgment in the manner allowed in civil cases. Any judgment issued under this section constitutes a civil lien against the judgment debtor's presently owned or after-acquired property, when recorded pursuant to s. 55.10. Supplementary proceedings undertaken by any governmental entity to satisfy a judgment imposed pursuant to this section may proceed without bond and without the payment of statutory fees associated with judgment enforcement.
(7) Provisions of the Uniform Fraudulent Transfer Act apply to collection matters under this section and may be used to collect any court-imposed financial obligation subject to this section.
(8) If a criminal or civil judgment has previously been entered on a court-imposed financial obligation, the judgment constitutes a civil lien against the judgment debtor's presently owned or after-acquired real or personal property when recorded pursuant to s. 55.10, except that a judgment on a court-imposed financial obligation is not subject to the 10-year rerecording requirement of s. 55.10. The judgment must secure all unpaid court-imposed financial obligations that are due and may accrue subsequent to the recording of the judgment, as well as interest and reasonable costs for issuing a satisfaction and recording the satisfaction in the official records.
(9) The clerk of the court shall enforce, satisfy, compromise, settle, subordinate, release, or otherwise dispose of any debts or liens imposed and collected under this section in the same manner as prescribed in s. 938.29(3).

Fla. Stat. 55.10 states:
(2) The lien provided for in subsection (1) or an extension of that lien as provided by this subsection may be extended for an additional period of 10 years, subject to the limitation in subsection (3), by rerecording a certified copy of the judgment, order, or decree prior to the expiration of the lien or the expiration of the extended lien and by simultaneously recording an affidavit with the current address of the person who has a lien as a result of the judgment, order, or decree. The extension shall be effective from the date the certified copy of the judgment, order, or decree is rerecorded. The lien or extended lien will not be extended unless the affidavit with the current address is simultaneously recorded.
(3) In no event shall the lien upon real property created by this section be extended beyond the period provided for in s. 55.081 or beyond the point at which the lien is satisfied, whichever occurs first.

Fla. Stat. 55.081 states:
Subject to the provisions of s. 55.10, no judgment, order, or decree of any court shall be a lien upon real or personal property within the state after the expiration of 20 years from the date of the entry of such judgment, order, or decree .

Amendment 4/Restoration of Voting Rights QRT Data Review Request No. 19-057

Date: July 16, 2019
Category: Clerk Administration, Courts

Contact: Richard Herring; Kimberly Renspie
Telephone: (850) 921-0808
E-mail: rherring@flclerks.com; krenspie@flclerks.com

The Amendment 4 Quick Response Team (QRT) has been working with the Department of Corrections (DOC) to obtain information on recently released felons. To help understand issues that may arise, DOC provided the attached list, DOC Recent Releases by County, which contains 10 recently released individuals per county, including financial obligations. The QRT requests that you review the 10 cases in your county and provide any issues you find during your review. The review should compare the CCIS information about the individual with the information in your local CMS. Each member of the QRT has already completed this review for their county and found it to be a valuable exercise in checking our data integrity. Please provide the results of your review to Richard Herring and Kimberly Renspie at the association by close of business Friday, July 26, 2019 in order to provide this information for discussion during the Quick Response Team on Monday, July 29, 2019.

Items to be aware of:

- DC Number - This is the number assigned to an inmate by DOC. The DC number, like a social security number, is a lifetime number.
- Case number - This number is a portion of the UCN, the first 1 or 2 digits indicate the year, and the CF case type is always omitted.
- Uniform Case Number - Expect the UCN to be blank in most cases. The DOC system does not routinely maintain the UCN.

QRT review results:

- There have been name misspellings and other data entry issues.
- It should take approximately 1-2 hours to complete this exercise.

The FCCC Amendment 4 QRT is composed of the Honorable Ken Burke, CPA (Pinellas), the Honorable Tara S. Green (Clay), the Honorable Tiffany Moore Russell, Esq. (Orange), the Honorable Karen E. Rushing (Sarasota), and the Honorable Carolyn Timmann (Martin).

For questions please contact Richard Herring at (850) 264-6531 and/or Kimberly Renspie at (813) 748-4133.

Felon fines exceed $1B; Big numbers signal trouble for South Floridians wanting to register to vote

South Florida Sun-Sentinel - Powered by Dow Jones·
Dan Sweeney
US|June 02, 2019·12:00am

Including interest, felons owe more than half a billion dollars in fines in Broward County alone. Add in Palm Beach and Miami-Dade counties and the number surpasses a billion.

Those big numbers could spell difficulty for felons trying to get back the right to vote. Florida citizens passed Amendment 4 in the 2018 election, giving felons the right to vote "upon completion of all terms of sentence including parole or probation," with exceptions for murderers and sex offenders. In this year's legislative session, lawmakers passed a law implementing that amendment that defined "all terms of sentence" to include paying all fines, fees and restitution to victims.

Records of fines owed are kept with the county clerks' offices, and a statewide total was unavailable, but just from October 2017 to September 2018, courts assessed more than a billion dollars in fines, court costs and other monetary penalties, according to a report published by the Florida Court Clerks and Comptrollers. The money owed just in South Florida shows that paying off fines may put the voting booth beyond the reach of many of the formerly incarcerated.

The $534 million owed in felony fines in Broward County represented far and away the largest category of fines owed. Here's the breakdown:

*Felony: $534 million

*Misdemeanor: $65.6 million

*Traffic: $136 million

Those numbers don't include some far lesser amounts for violation of city and county ordinances and for contempt of court.

Felony fines were also by far the largest category in Palm Beach County:

*Felony: $201.6 million

*Misdemeanor: $39.9 million

*Traffic: $36 million

In Miami-Dade, felons owe $278 million, according to a report from WLRN, putting the total for South Florida's tri-county area in excess of $1 billion.

Those numbers include felons who have cleared the rest of their sentences (including probation and parole) as well as those still serving them, the latter of which wouldn't be eligible to vote under Amendment 4. The clerks offices make no distinction between the two categories, so a breakdown of how much is owed by those eligible to vote isn't available.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

"People have actually been thrown in jail for their inability to pay a fine or fee. This is a constitutional issue at this point," said Sharon Bock, the Palm Beach County Clerk and president of the Florida Court Clerks and Comptrollers.

As president of that organization, Bock has put together a response team so that by the time the bill officially becomes law on July 1, "we will have a uniform response to Amendment 4 and the clerks' position."

"When this amendment was going on the ballot, here at our clerks office," she said, "I had asked that we go back through every fine, fee, felony charge, etc. to see where we stand. Even if there is a fine, fee and court cost paid, the person who wants their voting rights restored would still have to tackle the restitution issue."

The clerk's office does not handle restitution. Bock stressed that under the new law, getting voting rights back would be a "multistep process."

Prior to the legislature adding fines, fees and restitution to the requirements, about 2,000 felons registered to vote in the first three months of 2019, according to a study by the Brennan Center for Justice. But for many felons trying to regain the right to vote now, those massive fines will make it difficult.

According to the Prison Policy Initiative, a nonprofit, nonpartisan research organization on criminal justice issues, the unemployment rate for the formerly incarcerated is 27%, five times higher than the overall employment rate and higher than the overall rate at any point since data has been kept, including during the Great Depression. For minorities and women, the unemployment rate is even higher, up to 43.6% for black women who were formerly incarcerated. And even among those who find work, part-time work is more common than among the population as a whole.

In other words, for many felons the right to vote will remain as elusive as it was prior to the passage of Amendment 4.

Even among politically savvy Floridians, the full scale of fines owed by felons appears to be unappreciated.

For example, Democratic megadonor John Morgan, who successfully shepherded a medical marijuana constitutional amendment through the process in 2016 and is currently at work getting a $15 minimum wage amendment on the ballot in 2020, has been excoriating former Democratic gubernatorial candidate Andrew Gillum on Twitter. Morgan has called for Gillum to use the $3 million left in his campaign accounts to pay money owed by felons and allow them to vote.

"Andrew Gillum I have an idea!" Morgan tweeted on May 9. "You're sitting on over $3M raised to elect you Governor. Let's take that money and use it ALL to pay the financial restitution now owed by freed felons to vote. This poll tax is unconscionable. They paid a price & are now being asked to pay again."

A series of tweets reiterating that Gillum's leftover campaign cash should go toward felony fines followed on May 20.

But while leaving $3 million in the bank in a race that came down to about 32,000 votes out of more than 8 million cast was considered political malpractice by many donors, consultants and others involved in elections, it's a drop in the ocean of money owed by felons.

Indeed, the scale of the issue is unknown even to some clerks of court. When the Sun Sentinel asked the office of Broward County Clerk of Courts Brenda Forman how much money felons owed in fines in Broward County, the clerk's office replied that it would take hours of clerical and computer work to find the number. The newspaper was charged $150 for the time and effort. The Palm Beach clerk's office was able to provide the data quickly and at no cost.

Fines imposed for felonies can be substantial. Under Florida law, felonies are broken down into four categories: Third, second and first degree and life felonies, in order of seriousness. Third-degree felonies can carry a $5,000 fine, second- and first-degree a $10,000 fine and life felonies a $15,000 fine. And none of these numbers include fees and other court costs, or restitution to victims that courts may impose on felons.

And some individual crimes can carry much higher fines. For example, marijuana trafficking in Florida involves 25 pounds or more of the plant. Those convicted of trafficking who are caught with 25 to 2,000 pounds or more than 300 plants face a $25,000 fine. If it's 2,000 to 10,000 pounds or more than 2,000 plants, the sentence comes with a $50,000 fine. And for amounts over 10,000 pounds or 10,000 plants, the fine is $200,000.

Clerks offices operate a variety of programs to make it easier to pay overdue fines. It's not only important for felons regaining the right to vote, but also because unpaid fines can lead to the suspending of one's driver's license, which can then lead to further criminal charges, creating a vicious cycle of crime and punishment.

Bock's office has been at the forefront of court compliance programs. Her office began an Operation Green Light program in 2014, allowing those who have unpaid fines to come in and pay them to get their licenses back without having the surcharge tacked on by collections agencies. Those agencies go after any fine that has not been paid after 90 days, and can tack on a surcharge of 30-40%, so that a $100 ticket becomes a $140 ticket or, in the case of a serious felony fine, $10,000 becomes $14,000.

For its first Operation Green Light, the clerk's office opened on a Saturday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., but promised to take care of anyone who was in line by 4 p.m. The office finally closed at 9 p.m. after having received more than $500,000 in payments.

Since then, clerks offices around the state have held their own Operation Green Light programs. Broward most recently offered one over the course of a week in March.

But the big focus on the office is on payment plans and the negotiation of old debt.

"Let's say it was a 20 year old case and they owe $100,000. We will begin a negotiation - now obviously we're not going to negotiate against ourselves - but we are negotiating judgments. Instead of having an outstanding debt, they can reach out to us and we will begin the process of negotiating their fees," Bock said. "We cannot by law write them off. We have no ability to write them off at all. What we do have is the ability to negotiate the judgment and we do that."

The other part of the program, putting fines and fees on a payment plan, has been so successful that the program was named as one of the top 25 finalists in 2018 for Harvard University's Innovations in American Government Award.

"We looked at about 20,000 cases, and we noticed that defendants on payment plans were paying at about a 60% click," said Louis Tomeo, the clerk's office's director of criminal court services. "Those not on a payment plan paid only 25% of the time."

So the clerk's office started encouraging more judges to assign payment plans for hefty fines. Then, they noticed that many of the defendants on the ninth floor of the courthouse were leaving without coming to the clerk's office to set up a plan. So, they set up a satellite office right outside the courtroom on the ninth floor. Defendants signing up for payment plans jumped 93%.

"This is going to help people make reasonable payments over a period of time, and as long as they're making their payments, they're not getting their license suspended," Tomeo said.

That will help people avoid the ensuing charges that can come with a suspended license. But for those who are paying off a massive fine in small increments, the voting booth is a distant destination.

The idea for this story first came from a reader who submitted a question to Sound Off South Florida, the Sun Sentinel's project in which we answer reader-submitted questions about Florida news, culture or history. Reader Sandra McHugh wrote in to ask, "How much money is outstanding in Broward court fines and costs? Why is there no effort to collect it?" Attached is the revised public record request that all but J.D. and Doug received from American Oversight relating to Amendment 4 and particularly the work of the QRT. As you can see, this is a much narrowed list from what you originally received. You have Carolyn Timminn to thank for her smooth talking explanation to the attorneys for American Oversight about the volume and nonrelevance the original request would have produced, not to mention the cost. Note that they have agreed to a response date of January 2, 2020 and later if needed. We are trying to be the good guys as their crosshairs appear to be elsewhere. In this light, please give us an estimate of your cost by Friday, December 13 and be as realistic as possible. I would ask that you send you cost to Beth Allman and we will forward on to American Oversight.

Restoration of Voting Rights Work Group Meeting
Tuesday, October 1, 2019
2:00PM – 4:00PM

The Restoration of Voting Rights Work Group held a meeting today and listened to presentations by the Florida Commission on Offender Review and the Florida Department of Revenue.

Meeting Summaries and Discussion

- Secretary Lee summarized information presented to the committee at the previous meeting and asked if any members of the group had comments (no comments)

Florida Commission on Offender Review Presentation
Stephen Hebert, Director of Clemency Investigations

- Florida Commission on Offender Review (FCOR) and Office of Executive Clemency maintains all clemency records à maintain information on individuals who have been granted restoration of civil rights
  - Office of Executive Clemency personnel have skillset to collect and review documentation regarding restoration of civil rights
    - Also have skillsets that will be useful in training others such as personnel at Department of State
- Met with staff of DOS, Bureau of Registration Services, looked at database and learned about processes and procedures involved in voter registration
  - FCOR can assist in compiling documents related to an individual sentence
  - When DOS has exhausted resources available to them FCOR can also help with tracking fees, fines, etc. that have and have not been paid
    - FCOR has up to date information in data base on all individuals who have had civil rights restored
- Part of clemency process translates to determining eligibility for convicted felons
  - Clemency investigations are comprehensive, involving a total and complete picture of offender
    - Determining completion of all terms of sentence is just one small part of clemency process
  - Comprehensive Case Information System (CCIS)
    - FCOR looks at judgments and sentencing, monetary obligations, restitution, fines, etc.
    - FCOR has experience using CCIS to locate this information and is familiar with reading and interpreting it
    - FCOR always turns to Clerks of Court for records; trust Clerk info as accurate and pass it directly to Clemency Board

- Department of Corrections
  - FCOR also uses DOC databases in clemency process
    - Utilize to identify certain obligations that offenders have

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Work group should consider how information contained in agency's databases could be compiled and accessible to everyone involved in the process
- Final points
    - Clemency is a separate process but many of the components of the clemency review process can be useful in the restoration of voting rights process

Questions

Secretary Lee

- In cases where judge orders restitution paid directly to victim it can be hard to track whether it has been paid and input data that it has been paid; does FCOR have any insight on how to handle that instance?
    - Can only speak to clemency process, which includes a dialogue with the offender and multiple interviews
    - If DOC terminated probation successfully, part of clemency process involves reaching out to victims so they could also be asked
    - Restitution ordered directly to victim is rare in newer cases

Chris Anderson, Supervisor of Elections, Seminole County

- In your investigate methods, do you reach out to the State Attorney to confirm if restitution has been paid?
    - Not part of standard practice but clemency investigation is comprehensive investigation so the state attorney office is a potential contact during that investigation

Kenneth Steely, General Counsel, Department of Corrections

- We have seen restitution still being owed by an offender even after their supervision has been terminated; in your investigative process do you stop at termination of supervision or do you continue to look for outstanding monetary obligations?
    - If an individual has probation terminated with outstanding restitution sometimes we will see that in the order; restitution makes someone ineligible for clemency regardless of whether someone is incarcerated/on probation or not, so we would follow up with local courts to see if there are any civil leans or civil judgments entered in the records

Florida Department of Revenue Presentation
Anne Coffin, Child Support Program Director

- Child Support Program Key Components
    - Automated System
    - Maintain customer demographic/case data
    - Capture support order terms/obligations
    - Trigger automated actions based on business rules
        - If payments are not going through it automatically triggers notification
    - Allocate payments and maintain balances
    - Interface with federal, state and local agencies
    - Scan and deliver work for inbound documents
    - Provide 24/7 access through web portal
    - Interface with over 60 other state, federal, local, and private entities to load data into system

- Child Support Program as it relates to Restoration of Voting Rights
    - Tracking of financial obligations
        - Financial processing is a partnership between DOR, Florida Association of Court Clerks, individual court clerks, and private vendors
        - Single remittance unit in which data flows through all systems
            - Sends all info to Clerk of Courts and they are able to maintain official record for payments

Questions

Secretary Lee

- In order for your process to work is it significant for there to be specific language in a court order?
    - Yes we need a sum certain periodic obligation or sum certain amount in order to track. We are trying to determine compliance with incremental payments and when that obligation is fully satisfied that is when our agency stops monitoring and taking any enforcement action; it has to be a clear order so we know what we are looking for and can monitor compliance

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- What is the function of the state disbursement unit?
  - It is our single remittance unit so information flows through a single database

- Can you tell us more about the interfacing with federal, state, and local agencies?
  - Yes, they bring in location information for us; much of the child support business comes down to locating individuals who are not making payments
  - Interface also expands to financial institutions if we are looking for assets

Kate Holmes, Assistant General Counsel, Florida Department of Law Enforcement

- How did you incorporate old records into new system?
  - We used to have a mainframe system so we were able to convert much of the data from that mainframe system into the automated child support system

JD Peacock II, Clerk of Circuit Court and Comptroller, Okaloosa County

- Can you give me an overview of the funding sources for this system?
  - The Child Support Program is a federally funded program; the State receives 60% reimbursement for all allowable costs; annual management and operations budget is $14.5 million
- Does the private vendor that helps with payment processing receive payment and how?
  - The contract with our state disbursement unit is paid via the Department of Revenue and I believe the cost is around $5 million a year

Recommendations

- Consolidation of all data that is necessary to verify eligibility of returning voters
  - All these databases require access and some may require training and background checks so we need to be mindful of that when we make recommendations
  - Need to consider whether the central database should provide access to everyone or just those who need the information
  - Would like to see us use a live-pooling database to correct for human error (such as CCIS); this would enable corrections to be made more easily

- Suggestions for informing prospective voters on how to gather all the requisite information?
  - Have judge alert offender of process to restore voting rights; ensure that they are updated throughout process
  - Create document with checklist of requirements that offenders can use to track status

- Any other policies or procedures for recommendation?
  - Form should have list of requirements that can be checked off/certified so that supervisor of elections offices can make easier determinations of eligibility when offenders present their documents

- Department of State will take the lead on developing a draft report which will be ready by the next meeting

Public Comments

Bob Rackleff, Big Bend Voting Rights Project

- Concerned over accuracy of information that is compiled and becomes main data source for determining eligibility of voters

Cecille Scoon, League of Women Voters Florida

- Need to acknowledge the landscape of the past and major changes in civil judgments; there needs to be guidance for people that are making good faith efforts to figure out their eligibility

Attached is a memo provided to Chris on August 5 that includes, at the bottom of page 5, our opinion on the issue of civil liens being recorded against financial obligations contained in a criminal judgement and sentence. The filing of a lien does not satisfy or affect the obligations set out in the criminal sentence. The lien is a civil enforcement tool to support the payment of the criminal debt. Think of it in terms of the suspension of a driver's license (D6) for non-payment of traffic fines. If the suspension is cancelled by DHSMV for whatever reason other than payment of the outstanding fine, the fine is still owed. Probably not a good analogy but close.

RE: Issues Pertaining to Restoration of Voting Rights

INTRODUCTION

Amendment 4 to the Florida Constitution was passed by ballot initiative in 2018 and amended Article VI, Section 4, of the Florida Constitution. Article VI, Section 4, now provides in part that "any disqualification from voting arising from a felony conviction shall terminate and voting rights shall be restored upon completion of all terms of sentence including parole or probation." Art. VI, § 4(a), Fla. Const.

Implementing Legislation

Chapter 2019-162 was passed by the Florida Legislature pursuant to Senate Bill 7066 and creates section 98.0751, Florida Statutes, effective July 1, 2019. Section 98.0751 provides in pertinent part:

> (2) For purposes of this section, the term:
> (a) "Completion of all terms of sentence" means any portion of a sentence that is contained in the four corners of the sentencing document, including, but not limited to:
> 1. Release from any term of imprisonment ordered by the court as a part of the sentence;
> 2. Termination from any term of probation or community control ordered by the court as a part of the sentence;

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

3. Fulfillment of any term ordered by the court as a part of the sentence;

4. Termination from any term of supervision, which is monitored by the Florida Commission on Offender Review, including, but not limited to, parole; and

5.a. Full payment of restitution ordered to a victim by the court as part of the sentence. A victim includes, but is not limited to, a person or persons, the estate or estates thereof, an entity, the state, or the Federal Government.

b. Full payment of fines or fees ordered by the court as a part of the sentence or that are ordered by the court as a condition of any form of supervision, including, but not limited to, probation, community control, or parole.

c. The financial obligations required under sub-subparagraph a. or sub-subparagraph b. include only the amount specifically ordered by the court as part of the sentence and do not include any fines, fees, or costs that accrue after the date the obligation is ordered as a part of the sentence.

d. For the limited purpose of addressing a plea for relief pursuant to sub-subparagraph e. and notwithstanding any other statute, rule, or provision of law, a court may not be prohibited from modifying the financial obligations of an original sentence required under sub-subparagraph a. or sub-subparagraph b. Such modification shall not infringe on a defendant's or a victim's rights provided in United States Constitution or the State Constitution.

e. Financial obligations required under sub-subparagraph a. or sub-paragraph b. are considered completed in the following manner or in any combination thereof:

(I) Actual payment of the obligation in full.

(II) Upon the payee's approval, either through appearance in open court or through the production of a notarized consent by the payee, the termination by the court of any financial obligation to payee, including but not limited to, a victim, or the court.

(III) Completion of all community service hours, if the court, unless otherwise prohibited by law or the State Constitution, converts the financial obligation to community service.

Questions Presented

In light of the amendment to Article VI, Section 4, and the new implementing language pertaining to "completion of all terms of sentence" as set forth above, you have posed the following questions:

1. Does the requirement of "completion of all terms of sentence" include any statutory interest?

2. Does the requirement of "completion of all terms of sentence" include fees paid to a collection agent engaged by a clerk for the collection of fees, fines and court costs?

3. If the amounts owed pursuant to a criminal judgment/sentencing order are reduced to a civil judgment or lien, does that eliminate the obligation to pay the amounts owed as set forth in the criminal judgment/sentencing order?

Of course, the new constitutional amendment and the new statute will be subject to interpretation by the courts. To this end, case law and other interpreting authority does not yet exist. Nonetheless, you have asked us to analyze the new law in conjunction with existing Florida law and to provide our thoughts as to the questions posed. Our responses to the questions are as follows:

1. Does the requirement of "completion of all terms of sentence" include any statutory interest?

As set forth above, section 98.0751(2)(a) states that "completion of all terms of sentence" means full payment of restitution ordered to a victim by the court as a part of the sentence and full payment of fines or fees ordered by the court as a part of the sentence. § 98.0751(2)(a)5.a., and b., Fla. Stat. The statute goes on to state that such financial obligations "include only the amount specifically ordered by the court as part of the sentence and do not include any fines, fees, or costs that accrue after the date the obligation is ordered as a part of the sentence." § 98.0751(2)(a)5.c., Fla. Stat. The statute does not address interest, nor does it address what is meant by "any fines, fees, or costs."

Pursuant to section 775.089, Florida Statutes – the criminal restitution statute – restitution may be ordered as part of a criminal sentence. § 775.089(1)(a), Fla. Stat. The outstanding unpaid amount of the restitution bears interest in accordance with section 55.03, Florida Statutes

(the statutory interest statute). § 775.089(5), Fla. Stat. Thus, to the extent restitution is included in a criminal judgment sentencing order, interest accrues on such restitution pursuant to statute.

As previously noted, there is no case law or other authority to provide guidance on this issue. Also, the Bill Analyses for CS/SB 7066, the implementing legislation, do not reference "completion of all terms of sentence." However, we believe that on the issue of interest, section 98.0751 and section 775.089 must be read pari materia. "The doctrine of pari materia is a principle of statutory construction that requires that statutes relating to the same subject or object be construed together to harmonize the statues and to give effect to the Legislature's intent." E.A.R. v. State, 4 So. 3d 614, 629 (Fla. 2009). Given the language in section 98.0751(2)(a) requiring full payment of restitution ordered as part of a sentence, and the language in section 775.089(5) mandating the accrual of interest on restitution, we believe that when read together a reasonable interpretation of the new law would be – and certainly an argument can be made – that statutory interest is an obligation incurred on the date restitution is ordered as a part of the sentence and, thus, payment of such interest is required to complete the sentence. Of course, the new law will be subject to future interpretation by courts and this has not yet occurred.

The new law also requires "[f]ull payment of fines or fees ordered by the court as a part of the sentence." § 98.0751(2)(a), Fla. Stat. Section 938.30, Florida Statutes, provides that when a person is liable for payment of any financial obligation in a criminal case, the judgment setting forth such financial obligations "must secure all unpaid court-imposed financial obligations that are due . . . as well as interest and reasonable costs for issuing a satisfaction and recording the satisfaction in the official records." § 938.30(8), Fla. Stat. (emphasis added). The Bill Analysis for CS/SB 7086, the companion legislation to CS/SB 7066, discusses "completion of all terms of sentence," and while it does not state that interest is included within the meaning of that term, it acknowledges and quotes section 938.39(8) stating that a judgment on court-imposed financial obligations must secure "interest."

Thus, to the extent that a fine, fee, or cost is made a part of the criminal judgment/ sentencing order and interest is included in the judgment, we believe that a reasonable interpretation of the new law when read in pari materia with section 938.39 is – and an argument can be made – that payment of such interest is required to complete the sentence.

2. Does the requirement of "completion of all terms of sentence" include fees paid to a collection agent engaged by the clerk for the collection of fees, fines, and court costs?

It is our understanding that a collection fee paid to a collection agent is a fee that is in addition to, and is added to the balance of, the unpaid financial obligations. § 28.246(6), Fla. Stat. It is further our understanding that such fee paid to a collection agent would necessarily accrue after the date the financial obligations of the sentence are ordered.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

The new law provides that "completion of all terms of sentence" means payment of "only the amount specifically ordered by the court as part of the sentence and do[es] not include any fines, fees, or costs that accrue after the date the obligation is ordered as a part of the sentence." § 98.0751(2)(a)5.c., Fla. Stat. As noted above, there is no authority interpreting the new law. However, given the plain language of the statute, we believe it is likely that a court would find that, unless otherwise specifically ordered in the criminal judgment, fees owed to a collection agent that are in addition to, and added to the balance of, the unpaid financial obligations would not be included in the definition of "completion of all terms of sentence." See Germ v. St. Luke's Hosp. Ass'n, 993 So. 2d 576 (Fla. 1st DCA 2008) (courts should give statutory language its plain and ordinary meaning, and may not add words that were not included by the legislature).

Such plain language interpretation is reinforced by case law stating that additional costs may not be added to a sentence after a defendant begins serving the sentence. See Martinez v. State, 91 So. 3d 878 (Fla. 5th DCA 2012).

3. If the amounts owed pursuant to a criminal judgment/sentencing order are reduced to a civil judgment or lien, does that eliminate the obligation to pay the amounts owed as set forth in the criminal judgment/sentencing order?

Florida case law indicates that statutory financial obligations imposed by a court – such as costs of prosecution, attorney's fees, court costs under chapter 938 and criminal restitution under section 775.089 – are criminal sanctions that are ordinarily imposed during the sentencing process and are criminal sanctions. See Martinez, 91 So. 3d at 880; Woods, 879 So. 2d 651, 653 (Fla. 5th DCA 2004); State v. Sandomeno, 217 So. 3d 110, 111 (Fla. 4th DCA 2017). If such financial obligations are made a part of the criminal judgment and a condition of the sentence, the court's reduction of the amounts owed to a civil judgment or lien for enforcement purposes does not alter the criminal nature of the sanction, or the fact that it is part of the criminal sentence. Martinez, 91 So. 3d at 880 n.2. See also Cammelleri v. State, 270 So. 3d 369 (Fla. 4th DCA 2019) (civil lien for incarceration costs included in the criminal judgment was considered by the court to be part of the sentence).

Unless included in the criminal judgment, a civil judgment or lien is collateral to the criminal judgment. See Cruz v. State, 742 So. 2d 489, 490 (Fla. 3d DCA 1999). Generally, a civil judgment for money or lien is a non-criminal remedy for the recovery of an underlying debt or reimbursement of particular expenses owed. Id. A "lien" is defined as "[a] legal right or interest that a creditor has in another's property, lasting usually until a debt or duty that it secures is satisfied." BLACK'S LAW DICTIONARY (10th ed. 2014). In this regard, we believe it significant that immediately before the passage of CS/SB 7066, an amendment was rejected that contained the following language:

> 5. Payment of all restitution, fees, or fines that are ordered by the court as part of the sentence or that are ordered by a court as a condition of any form of supervision including, but not limited to, probation, community control, or parole. A financial obligation required under this subparagraph is deemed to have been completed to the extent that the financial obligation has been converted to a civil lien.

Fla. S. Jour. 875 (Reg. Sess. May 2, 2019) (emphasis added).

There is no case law to provide guidance on this issue in the context of the new law. However, given the authority discussed above, we believe that a reasonable interpretation of the new law would be that the reduction of amounts owed pursuant to a criminal judgment/sentencing order to a civil judgment or lien does not eliminate the obligation to pay the amounts owed as provided for in the criminal judgment/sentencing order.

We note that to the extent a trial court imposes only a civil judgment or lien for amounts owed and does not make them part of the criminal judgment and sentence, case law indicates that the financial obligations could be considered to be independent of the criminal sentence. Woods, 879 So. 2d at 653 n. 1 (where sentence included the payment of public defender's fees and trial court later tried to make payment of supplemental fees part of criminal sentence, appellate court held that request was made out of time for modification of sentence; appellate court further indicated that if the trial court had issued a civil lien for the fees, such proceeding would have been independent of the criminal proceeding); Doctor v. State, 679 So. 2d 76, 77 (Fla. 4th DCA 1996) (criminal defendant could not challenge civil restitution lien by way of rule 3.850 motion applicable to criminal sentences; civil restitution lien is not a criminal penalty); Cruz, 742 So. 2d at 490 (civil restitution lien need not be considered in a plea agreement or accepted by sentencing court).

Our research thus far has uncovered no case law to support the premise that a civil judgment issued separate and apart from a sentence would be construed as being part of the sentence.

RE: Issues Pertaining to Restoration of Voting Rights

INTRODUCTION

Amendment 4 to the Florida Constitution was passed by ballot initiative in 2018 and amended Article VI, Section 4, of the Florida Constitution. Article VI, Section 4, now provides in part that "any disqualification from voting arising from a felony conviction shall terminate and voting rights shall be restored upon completion of all terms of sentence including parole or probation." Art. VI, § 4(a), Fla. Const.

Implementing Legislation

Chapter 2019-162 was passed by the Florida Legislature pursuant to Senate Bill 7066 and creates section 98.0751, Florida Statutes, effective July 1, 2019. Section 98.0751 provides in pertinent part:

3. Fulfillment of any term ordered by the court as a part of the sentence;

4. Termination from any term of supervision, which is monitored by the Florida Commission on Offender Review, including, but not limited to, parole; and

5.a. Full payment of restitution ordered to a victim by the court as part of the sentence. A victim includes, but is not limited to, a person or persons, the estate or estates thereof, an entity, the state, or the Federal Government.

b. Full payment of fines or fees ordered by the court as a part of the sentence or that are ordered by the court as a condition of any form of supervision, including, but not limited to, probation, community control, or parole.

c. The financial obligations required under sub-subparagraph a. or sub-subparagraph b. include only the amount specifically ordered by the court as part of the sentence and do not include any fines, fees, or costs that accrue after the date the obligation is ordered as a part of the sentence.

d. For the limited purpose of addressing a plea for relief pursuant to sub-subparagraph e. and notwithstanding any other statute, rule, or provision of law, a court may not be prohibited from modifying the financial obligations of an original sentence required under sub-subparagraph a. or sub-subparagraph b. Such modification shall not infringe on a defendant's or a victim's rights provided in United States Constitution or the State Constitution.

e. Financial obligations required under sub-subparagraph a. or sub-paragraph b. are considered completed in the following manner or in any combination thereof:

(II) Upon the payee's approval, either through appearance in open court or through the production of a notarized consent by the payee, the termination by the court of any financial obligation to payee, including but not limited to, a victim, or the court.

(III) Completion of all community service hours, if the court, unless otherwise prohibited by law or the State Constitution, converts the financial obligation to community service.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Questions Presented

In light of the amendment to Article VI, Section 4, and the new implementing language pertaining to "completion of all terms of sentence" as set forth above, you have posed the following questions:

1. Does the requirement of "completion of all terms of sentence" include any statutory interest?

2. Does the requirement of "completion of all terms of sentence" include fees paid to a collection agent engaged by a clerk for the collection of fees, fines and court costs?

3. If the amounts owed pursuant to a criminal judgment/sentencing order are reduced to a civil judgment or lien, does that eliminate the obligation to pay the amounts owed as set forth in the criminal judgment/sentencing order?

Of course, the new constitutional amendment and the new statute will be subject to interpretation by the courts. To this end, case law and other interpreting authority does not yet exist. Nonetheless, you have asked us to analyze the new law in conjunction with existing Florida law and to provide our thoughts as to the questions posed. Our responses to the questions are as follows:

1. Does the requirement of "completion of all terms of sentence" include any statutory interest?

As set forth above, section 98.0751(2)(a) states that "completion of all terms of sentence" means full payment of restitution ordered to a victim by the court as a part of the sentence and full payment of fines or fees ordered by the court as a part of the sentence. § 98.0751(2)(a)5.a., and b., Fla. Stat. The statute goes on to state that such financial obligations "include only the amount specifically ordered by the court as part of the sentence and do not include any fines, fees, or costs that accrue after the date the obligation is ordered as a part of the sentence." § 98.0751(2)(a)5.c., Fla. Stat. The statute does not address interest, nor does it address what is meant by "any fines, fees, or costs."

Pursuant to section 775.089, Florida Statutes – the criminal restitution statute – restitution may be ordered as part of a criminal sentence. § 775.089(1)(a), Fla. Stat. The outstanding unpaid amount of the restitution bears interest in accordance with section 55.03, Florida Statutes

(the statutory interest statute). § 775.089(5), Fla. Stat. Thus, to the extent restitution is included in a criminal judgment sentencing order, interest accrues on such restitution pursuant to statute.

As previously noted, there is no case law or other authority to provide guidance on this issue. Also, the Bill Analyses for CS/SB 7066, the implementing legislation, do not reference "completion of all terms of sentence." However, we believe that on the issue of interest, section 98.0751 and section 775.089 must be read pari materia. "The doctrine of pari materia is a principle of statutory construction that requires that statutes relating to the same subject or object be construed together to harmonize the statues and to give effect to the Legislature's intent." E.A.R. v. State, 4 So. 3d 614, 629 (Fla. 2009). Given the language in section 98.0751(2)(a) requiring full payment of restitution ordered as part of a sentence, and the language in section 775.089(5) mandating the accrual of interest on restitution, we believe that when read together a reasonable interpretation of the new law would be – and certainly an argument can be made – that statutory interest is an obligation incurred on the date restitution is ordered as a part of the sentence and, thus, payment of such interest is required to complete the sentence. Of course, the new law will be subject to future interpretation by courts and this has not yet occurred.

The new law also requires "[f]ull payment of fines or fees ordered by the court as a part of the sentence." § 98.0751(2)(a), Fla. Stat. Section 938.30, Florida Statutes, provides that when a person is liable for payment of any financial obligation in a criminal case, the judgment setting forth such financial obligations "must secure all unpaid court-imposed financial obligations that are due . . . as well as interest and reasonable costs for issuing a satisfaction and recording the satisfaction in the official records." § 938.30(8), Fla. Stat. (emphasis added). The Bill Analysis for CS/SB 7086, the companion legislation to CS/SB 7066, discusses "completion of all terms of sentence," and while it does not state that interest is included within the meaning of that term, it acknowledges and quotes section 938.39(8) stating that a judgment on court-imposed financial obligations must secure "interest."

Thus, to the extent that a fine, fee, or cost is made a part of the criminal judgment/ sentencing order and interest is included in the judgment, we believe that a reasonable interpretation of the new law when read in pari materia with section 938.39 is – and an argument can be made – that payment of such interest is required to complete the sentence.

2. Does the requirement of "completion of all terms of sentence" include fees paid to a collection agent engaged by the clerk for the collection of fees, fines, and court costs?

It is our understanding that a collection fee paid to a collection agent is a fee that is in addition to, and is added to the balance of, the unpaid financial obligations. § 28.246(6), Fla. Stat. It is further our understanding that such fee paid to a collection agent would necessarily accrue after the date the financial obligations of the sentence are ordered.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

The new law provides that "completion of all terms of sentence" means payment of "only the amount specifically ordered by the court as part of the sentence and do[es] not include any fines, fees, or costs that accrue after the date the obligation is ordered as a part of the sentence." § 98.0751(2)(a)5.c., Fla. Stat. As noted above, there is no authority interpreting the new law. However, given the plain language of the statute, we believe it is likely that a court would find that, unless otherwise specifically ordered in the criminal judgment, fees owed to a collection agent that are in addition to, and added to the balance of, the unpaid financial obligations would not be included in the definition of "completion of all terms of sentence." See Germ v. St. Luke's Hosp. Ass'n, 993 So. 2d 576 (Fla. 1st DCA 2008) (courts should give statutory language its plain and ordinary meaning, and may not add words that were not included by the legislature).

Such plain language interpretation is reinforced by case law stating that additional costs may not be added to a sentence after a defendant begins serving the sentence. See Martinez v. State, 91 So. 3d 878 (Fla. 5th DCA 2012).

3. If the amounts owed pursuant to a criminal judgment/sentencing order are reduced to a civil judgment or lien, does that eliminate the obligation to pay the amounts owed as set forth in the criminal judgment/sentencing order?

Florida case law indicates that statutory financial obligations imposed by a court – such as costs of prosecution, attorney's fees, court costs under chapter 938 and criminal restitution under section 775.089 – are criminal sanctions that are ordinarily imposed during the sentencing process and are criminal sanctions. See Martinez, 91 So. 3d at 880; Woods, 879 So. 2d 651, 653 (Fla. 5th DCA 2004); State v. Sandomeno, 217 So. 3d 110, 111 (Fla. 4th DCA 2017). If such financial obligations are made a part of the criminal judgment and a condition of the sentence, the court's reduction of the amounts owed to a civil judgment or lien for enforcement purposes does not alter the criminal nature of the sanction, or the fact that it is part of the criminal sentence. Martinez, 91 So. 3d at 880 n.2. See also Cammelleri v. State, 270 So. 3d 369 (Fla. 4th DCA 2019) (civil lien for incarceration costs included in the criminal judgment was considered by the court to be part of the sentence).

Unless included in the criminal judgment, a civil judgment or lien is collateral to the criminal judgment. See Cruz v. State, 742 So. 2d 489, 490 (Fla. 3d DCA 1999). Generally, a civil judgment for money or lien is a non-criminal remedy for the recovery of an underlying debt or reimbursement of particular expenses owed. Id. A "lien" is defined as "[a] legal right or interest that a creditor has in another's property, lasting usually until a debt or duty that it secures is satisfied." BLACK'S LAW DICTIONARY (10th ed. 2014). In this regard, we believe it significant that immediately before the passage of CS/SB 7066, an amendment was rejected that contained the following language:

> 5. Payment of all restitution, fees, or fines that are ordered by the court as part of the sentence or that are ordered by a court as a condition of any form of supervision including, but not limited to, probation, community control, or parole. A financial obligation required under this subparagraph is deemed to have been completed to the extent that the financial obligation has been converted to a civil lien.

Fla. S. Jour. 875 (Reg. Sess. May 2, 2019) (emphasis added).

There is no case law to provide guidance on this issue in the context of the new law. However, given the authority discussed above, we believe that a reasonable interpretation of the new law would be that the reduction of amounts owed pursuant to a criminal judgment/sentencing order to a civil judgment or lien does not eliminate the obligation to pay the amounts owed as provided for in the criminal judgment/sentencing order.

We note that to the extent a trial court imposes only a civil judgment or lien for amounts owed and does not make them part of the criminal judgment and sentence, case law indicates that the financial obligations could be considered to be independent of the criminal sentence. Woods, 879 So. 2d at 653 n. 1 (where sentence included the payment of public defender's fees and trial court later tried to make payment of supplemental fees part of criminal sentence, appellate court held that request was made out of time for modification of sentence; appellate court further indicated that if the trial court had issued a civil lien for the fees, such proceeding would have been independent of the criminal proceeding); Doctor v. State, 679 So. 2d 76, 77 (Fla. 4th DCA 1996) (criminal defendant could not challenge civil restitution lien by way of rule 3.850 motion applicable to criminal sentences; civil restitution lien is not a criminal penalty); Cruz, 742 So. 2d at 490 (civil restitution lien need not be considered in a plea agreement or accepted by sentencing court).

Our research thus far has uncovered no case law to support the premise that a civil judgment issued separate and apart from a sentence would be construed as being part of the sentence.

Subject: Legal Opinion - QRT Amendment 4

Chris,

Today we had our first meeting with Richard Herring on the QRT dealing with Amendment #4. There are two legal questions that the team is asking for assistance that I said I would contact you to discuss.

1. Legal implications of interest on fines and fees converted to civil liens. The questions include: if a felon pays the base amount of fines, fees and court costs but does not pay the interest, under the statute has he/she satisfied the amounts due for voting restoration purposes? Is the interest still due as a lien but not as court fines/fees/costs. The question behind this is that the sentence contains specific amounts and if the felon pays these amounts, he/she in effect has satisfied his/her sentence. The whole question of interest on court fines/fees/costs that have been converted into civil liens needs to be addressed.
2. Clerks are not consistent in sending fines/fees/costs that have been converted to civil liens to collections. There is a school of thought among a minority of clerks that there is no legal authority to send these to collections. A legal opinion on the clerk's role on collection efforts as it relates to fines/fees/costs that have been converted into civil liens would be helpful.

I have copied the QRT top get input from them if I have not properly phrased these questions.

Please let me know the process to secure legal opinions on both of these important topics.

Legislative Update Talking Points

- Good morning and Happy Friday. I'd like to welcome to the legislative update call for the 6th and final interim committee week. This is the last committee week, we have a short break for the holidays and then Session will be here January 14th.

- Chair Bexley is unable to join this morning and asked me as Vice Chair to lead the call this morning. I'd like to recognize our President Stacy Butterfield and ask if there are any comments she would like to make before we get into our update.

- Thank you President Butterfield. I'm going to provide a few opening remarks and then turn it over to Jason and the team to give a more detail update for the week.
- Before I begin, I would like to remind all Clerks that we need your presence in Tallahassee during the Session. Having Clerks available to be our legislative team makes a huge difference. If you are willing and available, please reach out to Kim Renspie and she will help coordinate the dates.

- So with that, now a few quick remarks about this week and where we are with our priorities.
- It was a really good and busy week for the legislative program and several big issues were considered in various committees.
- As most of you probably saw, on Tuesday both of our priority bills, SB 590 by Senator Hooper and SB 790 by Senator Brandes, had their first committee hearing in the Senate Judiciary Committee.
- I am pleased to report that both of our bills passed unanimously through their first committee stop and now will move forward to the Senate civil and criminal justice appropriations subcommittee.
- This subcommittee is chaired by Senator Brandes so we are very excited to continue to work with our champion to get those bill up as soon as possible once Session starts.
- I'd like to recognize and thank Clerk Billy Washington, Clerk Butterfield, our Legislative Chair Bexley for making the trip to Tallahassee in support of our bills.
- Both bills went through very smoothly with no issues. For that to happen it takes a lot of ground work by the legislative team. FCCC, CCOC, Clerks, Fred and the contract lobbyist all put in a tremendous amount of effort to make sure this first step was successful.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT
FL-CLAY-19-1402-A-000263

- It was one of the goals of the legislative team this year to get a hearing during interim committee weeks. We were successful in doing that so another positive step of moving our legislative priorities forward.

- However, there is a lot more work ahead for us.
- There are still many big issues we continue to work, such as Amendment 4, Data Transparency, Guardianship, DL suspensions, and of course the hundreds of bills that have potential fiscal impacts that the team monitors and prepares to address as needed.
- As always, the Legislative team will continue to keep everyone up to date as we move our priorities forward as Session begins.
- If you have any questions about our bills or other issues, please never hesitate to reach out to the team.

- Thank you all for the support and effort you put in to make sure we are all united in our legislative efforts statewide.

  With that, I'll hand it over to Jason for the update on our priorities and activities in the the House and our bills.

Legislative Update Talking Points

- Good morning, everyone. Welcome to the legislative update call for the 6th and final interim committee week.
- Chair Bexley is unable to join this morning. And President Butterfield is currently in Tallahassee along with our CEO Chris Hart and Fred Baggett for a very important meeting with legislative staff on data transparency. So, I'm happy to give a few opening remarks and then hand it over to Jason and the team to give the update for the week.
- As a reminder, this is the last committee week, we have a short break for the holidays and then Session will be here January 14th.
- As always, we need Clerks to come to Tallahassee during the Session. Having Clerks here with our legislative team makes a huge difference. If you are willing and available, please reach out to Kim Renspie and she will help coordinate the dates.
- Okay, so a few quick remarks about this week and where we are with our priorities.
- It was a really good week for the legislative program. It was a busy week with a lot of big issues being considered in various committees.
- As most of you probably saw, on Tuesday both of our priority bills, SB 590 by Senator Hooper and SB 790 by Senator Brandes, had their first committee hearing in the Senate Judiciary Committee.
- I'm very happy to report that both of our bills passed unanimously through their first committee stop and now move forward to the Senate civil and criminal justice appropriations subcommittee.
- This subcommittee is chaired by Senator Brandes so we are very excited to continue to work with our champion to get those bill up as soon as possible once Session starts.
- I'd like to thank Clerk Billy Washington, Clerk Butterfield, of course, Clerk Bexley for coming to Tallahassee in support of our bills.
- Both bills went through very smoothly with no issues. But for that to happen it takes a lot of ground work by the legislative team to make sure it all goes as planned. FCCC, CCOC, Clerks and the contract lobbyist all put in a tremendous amount of effort to make sure this first step was successful.
- We know that there is a lot more work ahead, but this was a good first step. It was one of the goals of the legislative team this year to get a hearing during interim committee weeks, so it's another positive step of moving our legislative priorities forward.
- In a second, I'll hand it over to Jason for the update on the House and our bills there.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT
FL-CLAY-19-1402-A-000266

- But in general, as we close out the committee weeks, I think we can feel pretty good about where we are at.
- There are still a ton of big issues we are working on such as Amendment 4, Data Transparency, Guardianship, DL suspensions, and of course the hundreds of bills that have potential fiscal impacts that the team has to defend on.
- So a lot of work ahead still but we are in a good place with our priorities. We look forward to continuing to keep everyone up to date as we move our priorities forward as Session begins.
- As always if you have any questions about our bills or other issues, please never hesitate to reach out to the team.
- Thank you all so much for the support and effort you all put in to make sure we are all united in our legislative efforts statewide.
- With that, I'd like to ask Jason to give the update on our priorities.

Ken opened the meeting by saying that he received a news alert last week saying that the Governor was asking the Supreme Court for an opinion on the interpretation of Amendment 4, but he has not seen anything else on this. Fred Baggett responded that the Governor does have the right to request an Advisory Opinion from the Supreme Court, although it is unusual. The Governor has asked the Supreme Court for an opinion on the implementation of Amendment 4 but is not sure of the details. He has not seen anything other than the clip, but it is pending and is within the Governor's authority to make such a request. Richard Herring stated that he thinks he is trying to bring in the federal courts. This would put us back to square one. Ken stated that this is something that will need to be monitored.

Update on Clerk Review of CCIS and CMS for 10 DOC Cases per County, Ken Burke and Richard Herring

Richard and Ken have been working on the survey that was sent to all clerks to compare CCIS data with CMS data to make sure it is accurate. Just this morning Ken wrote to every Clerk who had not responded to the survey. He did find that some Clerks had already responded to the survey but because of email issues the responses were not received. Those Clerks resent their surveys. Richard stated that they have been receiving responses all day, and there are only 15 counties whose responses have not been received. At this point, they are very close to receiving all responses at this point. Ken stated that the findings will be turned over to Linda Doggett, Information Technology Committee, to see if there any further quality control issues with the data. Linda responded by saying they have not looked at a lot of the data. This falls under the Data Quality Management Work Group. They are waiting on hiring the Program Manager who will deal with data quality issues. This will be good information for that effort. We will report back on this. Ken went on to say that this wok group has a specific purpose. Issues were found when the 10 cases were sent to each county to be checked, but this group will not take corrective action. The data will be turned over to CCIS and the Data Quality Management Work Group to follow up on. Melvin Cox stated that they will continue to work on this and get it going. Ken went on to say that it is very helpful when we are very specific on the type of response/information we are requesting from the Clerks instead of being broad and far reaching in the request.

Draft edits to the request from the department of State (uniform statement to provide to the Supervisors), Jared Brooks

The Department of State initially proposed the following:

To determine if you have completed all the terms of your sentence including parole or as to one or more felony convictions(s), please contact the Florida Department of Corrections and/or the Clerk of Court in the county or counties in which you were convicted. If convicted out of state, you will need to contact the Clerk of Court in the state in which you were convicted.

Jared stated that the language was cleaned up and will be discussed with Kelli Merritt tomorrow.

- Ken - he thought part of the problem was that Clerks are not able to tell someone that they have completed all the terms of the sentence. We can only give information about payment costs, fines and fees, and in some cases, restitution.
- Carolyn Timmann - we no longer have parole, so we may want to fix that. The real issue is everyone debating is what a term is. This just says if you have completed all the terms, but we don't know if they have completed probation. She would like a clarification on this.
- Ken – the DOC will be able to tell them about probation. How can this be reworded?
- Richard – does not think we need to say where they should go for anything, i.e. DOC, county jail, other states. We only need to define what the Clerks can provide. The Department of State can go to the other agencies. They are hoping to get a statement that the Supervisor can use saying what you can expect to get from the Clerks, including orders at the time of sentence, amounts to paid, etc. We need to define the information or documents that the Clerks would have in their possession.
- Karen Rushing – add restitution since it sometimes ordered.
- Jared – they will go back and take another look at this with the information that has been discussed and provided here.
- Ken – include Richard in your meetings or conference calls so that he can provide input.
- Carolyn Timmann– doesn't know why people are not being directed to the FDLE for a criminal history. Include this with the recommendation to DOS.
- Ken – The Department of State came up with this language and asked for our input.

Draft Disclaimers

That language will mirror the prior page saying that the Clerk's office can only provide what they are responsible. The Work Group can work on this and submit revised language by the end of the week.

Draft Advisory on Legal Opinion

This group asked for a legal opinion from Fred concerning several issues related to Amendment 4, which is summarized below:

- Does the requirement of "completion of all terms of sentence" include any statutory interest? Only if the fine, fee or cost is made a part of the criminal judgment/sentencing order and interest is specifically included in the judgment.
- Does the requirement of "completion of all terms of sentence" include fees paid to a collection agent engaged by a Clerk for the collection of fees, fine and court costs? Unless otherwise specifically ordered in the criminal judgment, fees owed to a collection agent that are in addition to, and added to the balance of, the unpaid financial obligations would not be included in the definition of all terms of sentence.
- If the amounts owed pursuant to a criminal judgment/sentencing order are reduced to a civil judgment or lien, does that eliminate the obligation to pay the amounts owed as set forth in the criminal judgment/sentencing order? The reduction of amounts owed pursuant to a criminal judgment/sentencing order to a civil judgment or lien does not eliminate the obligation to pay the amounts owed as provided for in the criminal judgment/sentencing order.

Several Clerks have asked if the new law has any impact on other rights, such as jury service, holding public office, or firearm possession. The restoration of rights only applies to voting rights.

When Richard asked if it was ok to send the advisories out the Clerks, Ken responded that they will work to get these out. These will be very useful to Clerks.

Update on information received form DOC, Richard Herring

Over the last month after the first meeting with DOC and continuing conversations:

- The first 2 digits of the case number were an issue. DOC had a system problem with leading zeros (06 for 2006). They have corrected the problem and provided us with the previous 10-per-couty list with leading zeros fixed.
- They have added the date of birth. They have provided the previous 10-per-county list with DOB added.
- DOC has provided their list of offense descriptions matched to specific statutes and their "code" for each.
- Citrus County identified 3 issues that were identified as internal issues that were discussed at a statewide meeting and will be addressed as a training issue.
- Volusia County raised an issue about contacting DOC concerning individuals on probation since multiple counties may be involved. DOC suggested that questions be referred to the Probation office in the county of sentence.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Release documentation provided to individuals on probation who completed supervision in prior years. DOC provides the offender with a termination letter, but the supervision documentation is destroyed 3 years after the offender terminates supervision. This is to get around some of the records retention history.
- DOC provided a listing of the DC numbers, which is DOC's unique (lifetime) identified for each individual which may have an initial alpha character.

Ken asked what was decided on the form they give each inmate as they leave prison with a summary of information on what they need to do to complete their sentence. There was discussion about that being sent to Clerks as part of the record and e-filed.

- Richard – they are filing a screen shot (financial screen) from CCIS of amounts that need to be paid. That would only relate to that case and not for priors. There is educational material that is easily understandable about what they need to do to get their voting rights back.
- Bill Burgess – just met with DOC Probation. Set up in CMS as well as portal, but DOC was not sure how to file in the portal. They will start doing that on Friday. They have 100-150 to send. He does not know if this is statewide.
- Richard – this is being done by local DOC offices. Some started the first of July, but in other parts of the state they are still struggling with this.
- Carolyn Timmann – if they are sending a screen shot from CCIS on that list of 10 they sent if someone has been convicted on 4 cases, information will only be given on the last case and not the other 3.
- Richard – this is the reason they wanted to talk about a disclaimer for the CCIS financial screen stating that this relates only to the offense you are looking up. There may be other cases. A disclaimer is needed saying this is very granular to this specific case. You may owe money on other cases. What they are getting from the Clerk's office is not all cases
- Richard - page 7 of the packet talks about a CCIS financial disclaimer. The DOC has indicted that if we have edits to what they are providing, they are willing to consider making them.
- Carolyn Timmann suggested giving them suggestions to a disclaimer in their documents they would be receptive to.

Ken emailed to the group what Pinellas County received as an example of what will be given to a released inmate.

- Bill Burgess - on the summary that Ken sent from the DOC shows no court costs or fines owing on this case, but shows State Accounts to be paid. These are DOC fees.
- Ken – on page 3, why does the balance due shows nothing owed?
- Bill Burgess – he sent this question to DOC. They will be getting back to him on that. They gave him 5 examples and he had questions on 4.
- Ken – this is a good example of what CCIS has does not match DOC.
- Richard – he is not sure data will get better so a disclaimer is need on both sides.
- Ken – page 2 and page 3 have different information. Why would current balances be zero on page 2? This is a problem we need to avoid. DOC saying people don't own anything and we say that money is owed. This will be a mess.
- Karen Rushing – this issue came up at FCTC. The point was made that we need to make sure the numbers are accurate.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Ken – we are already seeing discrepancies in the information that is provided by DOC.
- Linda Doggett – looking at what was sent, and it looks like the DOC system does not enter our court fines and fees into their system. Their system balance is zero, but the next page shows a balance due. Perhaps they could remove this from their document, or add an attachment.
- Bill Burges – this was a quick meeting with them. His understanding is that local DOC office is not entering court cost into their database. Only on PTI programs.
- Ken - a lot of conversation needs to happen with them. Being given a document with no court costs and fines and then another document says you owe $1,300 is very confusing. The press will have a heyday with this. Ken asked Richard to meet with DOC on this, and asked Karen Rushing to attend the meeting as well.
- JD Powell – sent an alternative document. This did not contain a cover letter and only appears to contain what DOC maintains.
- Linda Doggett - Clerks can talk with their local DOC about this.

Ken stated that this should be done in a statewide uniform way. There are a lot of issues here. This shows there is a definite problem that needs to be addressed. Ken and Richard will discuss this offline but all agree this needs serious follow up. Ken asked Karen Rushing to be the point person on this, and she agreed. Ken, Karen and Richard will work on this.

Update on Florida Sheriff's Association

What Sheriffs will be giving to inmates in their jails?

Kim Renspie spoke with them to today to see if there was any follow up on the conference and if they talked about this. They did not talk much about Amendment 4. Their main focus has been on hemp. It may have been discussed at the Executive Session, but the person Kim spoke with was not in that session. Kim will check further on this. Some people may not have noticed but the Sheriffs were not on the Work Group. Until they are tasked they want to stay out of this until they are told to do something. Ken stated that Statute tells them to do something. Richard stated that 56/57 Sheriffs will be doing separate policies. They have not taken any action to do anything on a statewide basis. We did share with them the set of documents provided to us regarding the Clerk's role with DOC. They have the documents and they know what DOC has been doing. They are not a top down organization on things like this.

Ken asked what had happened with the Orange County Financial Obligation form, and Richard responded that there had been no final decision on moving forward with it. Ken asked that it be put on the agenda for next week, and he will send out the form to those on the call for their review and input.

Melvin Cox stated that there was no update on the acceptance of payments in a Clerk's office for amounts due another Clerk.

Possible Policy development

A. Public Records Policy of the Florida Court Clerks & Comptrollers. The Public Records Policy needs to be formally adopted. This should go to the Executive Committee on Strategic Initiative.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

B FCCC/Clerk Agreement. This 2005 CCIS Participation Agreement between the Clerks & CCIS needs to be updated. It would be a good idea to update with statutory changes to CCIS, or is it still necessary to have this agreement? When asked, Fred Baggett stated that he thinks it needs to be looked at. There are a number of changes affecting the Clerks and all public records areas. We could do more with CCIS with a little bit of tweaking, but it does need to be looked at. Linda Doggett stated that it is now being looked at and changes will be made. Ken asked Linda to bring this to Stacy Butterfield's attention.

Ken asked Richard if follow up was needed on the Volusia document. Is that document going to be shared? Laura Roth stated that there has been discussion on the Court being the payee on court-ordered financial obligations. They have a meeting with the Chief Judge on Thursday to discuss whether this will be formally adopted. She will report back after that meeting. Ken stated that this was for informational purposes only. We will hold off until we find out more on how the advisory opinion requested by the Governor plays a part in this.

Fred stated that he now has a copy of the Advisory Opinion request. In summary, it is very well written. It is a request for an opinion of the Justices of the Supreme Court as to the question of all terms of sentence under Article I, section 4 of the Florida Constitution includes the satisfaction of all legal financial obligations namely fees, fines and restitution ordered by the court as part of a felony sentence that would otherwise render a convicted felon ineligible to vote. It is a strong letter asking the Supreme Court to include fines, fees, costs and restitution as part of the sentence.

Carolyn Timmann stated that going back to the comment about local procedures, she has already met with her Chief Judge and he indicated that every judge will handle this through their normal procedures. Ken stated that our Chief Judge will probably not issue a directive to other judges on how to handle the process.

The meeting was adjourned at 3:05. The next meeting is scheduled for Monday, August 12 at 2:00 p.m.

Not Present:

Ken Burke opened the meeting and took roll call. Minutes of the meeting are being taken and will be sent out to the participants.

Richard Herring prepared an agenda for the meeting. Richard will be meeting with DOC to discuss any issues that we have identified with them. They are willing to listen to our concerns. They have provided a list of 10 recent releases per county. When asked if we wanted to send these lists out to all of the counties, Ken responded that this should be kept with the committee first. The committee counties will go through the exercise before getting the other Clerk's offices involved so that we can give pointers and good information to them about what to look for. Part of the process is to double check to verify that CCIS and the case management systems are the same.

Ken stated that one of the challenges is that DOC only has case numbers for the most recent cases but not the whole history of cases where money is still owed. If the person had a prior felony, the information was not accurate. Any prior conviction amounts were left off. We are attempting to find out why only current cases are listed. We want DOC to go back and look at all cases, so that we don't have to second guess DOC. This could cause a problem if we have information that is different from the DOC. Richard stated that any of these types of issues should be sent to him to present to the DOC, such as issues with uniform case numbers, prior convictions, etc., and whether they need to include a disclaimer regarding CCIS data.

Bill Burgess and Ken Burke provided the following information on the cases from Pinellas County:

- It took 2 employees 1 hour to check the 10 cases.
- Six of the ten cases were accurate.
- We did not use CCIS data. We used our internal Odyssey system to come up with the correct amounts owed. This is the concern – we want to make sure that DOC matches this data. The concern is that CCIS is not accurate. Tiffany Moore Russell shared that they compared Odyssey to CCIS and they were the same.
- Bill did spot check and for the most part, it was accurate.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Restitution is a big problem. CCIS did not have information if there was restitution to be paid directly to the victim.

Melissa Geist, Orange County, provided the following information on cases from Orange County:

- It took them 2 hours to complete.
- For some cases they had to go to FDLE for the case numbers to cross reference with Odyssey.
- Everything matched perfectly.
- There were no examples of restitution paid directly to the victim.

Ken stated that we will give these pointers from Bill and Melissa to the rest of the Clerks when sending out these forms to them. We will let them know that they should be able to get this done in a two-hour timeframe. We are trying to make sure the data is accurate and consistent throughout the state.

Carolyn Timmann stated they ran through a lot of these this weekend and there were challenges that they came across:

- Some had no case numbers.
- Multiple cases in other counties.
- Bulk scanning is their biggest issue. Judgements, sentencing and financial information was not individually scanned. It was bulk scanned so the information cannot be easily found. Tara Green stated that this will also be a problem for Clay County.
- Judgement and sentencing was recorded in Official Records, but when they converted to a new system the original index did not covert. They are working with the vendor now to fix this.
- Not all restitution orders used to be recorded.
- Some look like sexual crime convictions. There is an issue with the statues disappearing when you open the record. This appears to be an issue with CCIS that will hopefully be a simple fix.
- Name misspellings. It would be helpful for DOC to provide date of birth.
- Amount owed discrepancy. For old data you must go and physically verify if the amount was reduced due to community service, etc.
- No restitution was listed on the case number provided by DOC, but the person had restitution on another cases that was due and not listed.
- Their system does not show credit for restitution.

Ken stated that this has brought up a lot of bigger issues. Carolyn stated that most of the issues were with the first case she worked on. She spent over 2 hours on the first case because it opened up these issues. They did have some accurate cases. The problem is with the old convictions, 2014 and before. Bill Burgess stated that the oldest case they looked at was 2006 and it was accurate, and Melissa had a 2001 case that was accurate. Ken/Bill stated that they did not go to the Official Records in Pinellas. They took the information from Case Management. Carolyn stated that this has been very useful to her staff and asked if DOC had an automated list of releases as they are coming out so the cases could be check.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

When asked what criteria was being used, when the case was created versus the release date, Ken replied that the date provided by DOC was used and not random dates.

Tiffany Moore Russell stated that we are talking about the most recently released, but there are a lot of citizens who have been released over the years, and we need to come up with procedures for that as well. Ken stated that we need to concentrate on this effort first. Orange County and Pinellas County are already completed, with Martin County in the process. Clay, Sarasota and Manatee need to complete the process (Monday at the latest). We will be able to provide helpful hits and a checklist to the other counties to use when reviewing their 10 cases. The objective is quality control on CCIS data.

Richard Herring

- Clerks will need to identify issues with legacy systems, and what improvements can be made with the information provided by DOC.
- Fall Conference - Ken stated that we do want to designate a time slot for a session on Amendment 4 at the fall conference. This should be a long session. We may want to include a representative from the DOC and Jamie Grant from the Legislature to participate in this session.
- Disclaimer - Do we want to write a disclaimer as it relates to CCIS and Clerk's data? Ken stated that we should conduct our study first to find out where the problems are before we come up with a disclaimer. Carolyn stated that she would send a list of talking points that she used when she was speaking to the Legislature on this.

Tiffany Moore Russell stated that a Best Practice is needed on how to handle a person coming in to our office asking if they owe money even if the felony did not occur in our county. We would look up in CCIS for information from another county, but would need to include a disclaimer that the information is not coming from our own county. Ken asked Tiffany to spearhead this effort, and she agreed that she would work on this with Richard.

Ken asked if there were any other concerns or comments:

Tara Green

- No, right on track. While we are gathering these questions and challenges on behalf of the Clerks, are we going to turn our work over to the work group that is being established by Governor DeSantis? Ken stated that it is not clear what our role with the work group will be. We are trying to make sure that we are coordinated with the DOC and the information we are providing. This will be a head start for the group with the Clerks doing their due diligence and pointing out any issues they have found. Carolyn stated that it is important for us to be organized as we identify the challenges and bring these forward to the work group with ideas for legislative changes and to set up a statewide system, which is part of the mission of the work group.

Tiffany Moore Russell

- No, on track.

Carolyn Timmann

- With part of the mission of the work group to come up with the statewide database and system to determine the status of cases, Clerks may be asked that CCIS be used as the master clearing house. We have built up to the legislature that we can do it all and that CCIS is a good master system. We should be able to answer yes to this question, but if the answer is no, we have to able to explain why not.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Richard Herring

- Will make sure Melvin Cox is included on the next call.
- Will talk to Chris Hart regarding Carolyn's comments on CCIS. CCIS has been operating at a deficit. If it becomes the statewide database there needs to be funding from the state for this.

Cheri Vancura

- No issues.

Melissa Geist

- No issues.

Savannah Sullivan

- No issues

The next conference call be held next Monday, July 15, at 2:00 p.m.

Subject: Negotiating Judgments for fines and fees

Attorney group,

Need your help on another matter.

First of all, can you tell me the statute that gives the Clerk the authority to negotiate a judgement for fines/fees/costs?

Do any of your offices have any policies dealing with this topic? If so, can you send them to me?

Do any of your offices negotiate judgments for fines/fees/costs?

The reason for asking these questions relates to Amendment 4. Sharon Bock ask me to head up a quick response team to make a recommendation to the Board. The quick response team is made up of Karen Rushing, Tiffany Moore-Russell and Tara Green, but the information you provide in response to this email will be very helpful.

Appreciate your help.

Greetings and Happy Friday,

The initial meeting of the Restoration of Voting Rights Task Force will be meeting in Tallahassee on Monday afternoon. Since the Task Force conflicts with the time we had scheduled for our QRT conference call, we have moved the conference call to Tuesday, August 20 at 9:00 AM. I sent you an updated Outlook appointment.

Attached is the draft agenda. Please ignore the date since it will now be Tuesday.

Enjoy the weekend. It's rain so much and looks like it will rain some more, I'm having Cecilia start building an ark. I would do it but don't want to get a splinter.

5. Draft Advisory

Restoration of Voting Rights
Providing Individuals with Information on Financial Obligations

SUMMARY:

This Advisory provides a model that Clerks may wish to use when responding to requests from individuals who are seeking to have their voting rights restored and who need current information on their financial obligations ordered by the sentencing court.

The attached form from Orange County Clerk Moore Russell provides a simple format for providing information to individuals about the financial obligations ordered in their most-recent, and any prior, felonies.

BACKGROUND:

Section 98.0751, Florida Statutes, was created effective July 1, 2019, by CS/SB 7066 – Chapter 2019-162, Laws of Florida. A persons who has been disqualified from voting based on a felony conviction for an offense other than murder or a felony sexual offense, may become qualified by completing all terms of sentence.

Included within "all terms of sentence" is the payment of restitution to victims plus fines and fees ordered by the court. The statutory requirement, with all its qualifications, is set out below.

> 98.0751 Restoration of voting rights; termination of ineligibility subsequent to a felony conviction.—
> (2) For purposes of this section, the term:
> (a) "Completion of all terms of sentence" means any portion of a sentence that is contained in the four corners of the sentencing document, including, but not limited to:
> 5.a. Full payment of restitution ordered to a victim by the court as a part of the sentence. A victim includes, but is not limited to, a person or persons, the estate or estates thereof, an entity, the state, or the Federal Government.
> b. Full payment of fines or fees ordered by the court as a part of the sentence or that are ordered by the court as a condition of any form of supervision, including, but not limited to, probation, community control, or parole.
> c. The financial obligations required under sub-subparagraph a. or sub-subparagraph b. include only the amount specifically ordered by the court as part of the sentence and do not include any fines, fees, or costs that accrue after the date the obligation is ordered as a part of the sentence.

d. For the limited purpose of addressing a plea for relief pursuant to sub-subparagraph e. and notwithstanding any other statute, rule, or provision of law, a court may not be prohibited from modifying the financial obligations of an original sentence required under sub-subparagraph a. or sub-subparagraph b. Such modification shall not infringe on a defendant's or a victim's rights provided in United States Constitution or the State Constitution.

e. Financial obligations required under sub-subparagraph a. or sub-subparagraph b. are considered completed in the following manner or in any combination thereof:

(I) Actual payment of the obligation in full.

(II) Upon the payee's approval, either through appearance in open court or through the production of a notarized consent by the payee, the termination by the court of any financial obligation to a payee, including, but not limited to, a victim, or the court.

(III) Completion of all community service hours, if the court, unless otherwise prohibited by law or the State Constitution, converts the financial obligation to community service.

A term required to be completed in accordance with this paragraph shall be deemed completed if the court modifies the original sentencing order to no longer require completion of such term. The requirement to pay any financial obligation specified in this paragraph is not deemed completed upon conversion to a civil lien.

OTHER CONSIDERATIONS:

The law appears to require the completion of all terms of sentence from all prior felonies. Clerks should consider:

- OTHER COUNTS. The requesting individual may have been sentenced on several counts stemming from one episode. Financial obligations may have been ordered for each of those counts.
- PRIOR FELONIES. The requesting individual may have had prior felonies. Financial obligations may have been ordered for each of those prior felonies.
- OTHER COUNTIES. The requesting individual may have been sentenced for prior felonies in other counties and have financial obligations stemming from those other felony sentences.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- COURT MODIFICATIONS. The Court may have entered subsequent orders, after initial sentencing, which modified the individual's financial obligations (e.g., converting certain obligations to community service).
- DIRECT PAYMENTS. The requesting individual may have met certain financial obligations (e.g., direct payment of restitution to a victim) without the Clerk having any record of that action.
- OTHER STATES. The requesting individual may have been sentenced for a felony by a Court in another state of by a federal Court. The Clerk will have no records related to those cases.
- DISQUALIFYING FELONIES. The requesting individual will not qualify for restoration of voting rights, regardless of meeting financial obligations, if a prior felony sentence was for murder or a felony sexual offense, as defined in section 98.0751(2)(b), Florida Statutes,

9. Discussion of Amendment 4 Quick Response Team Panel at Fall Conference

Clerks on the Amendment 4 Quick Response Team will be the listed panel members.

The FCCC Amendment 4 QRT was created in June 2019 to identify Clerk issues related to restoration of voting rights. It is composed of the Honorable Ken Burke, CPA (Pinellas), the Honorable Tara S. Green (Clay), the Honorable Tiffany Moore-Russell, Esq. (Orange), the Honorable Karen E. Rushing (Sarasota), and the Honorable Carolyn Timmann (Martin).

The Amendment 4 Quick Response Team has held weekly conference calls for an hour to an hour and a half to discuss issues related to Clerks' activities under the new constitutional provision and statute on restoration of voting rights.

In each call, Clerks have shared information about local activities on restoration of voting rights by courts, state attorneys, and others. Clerks have also shared concerns about the types of information individuals may need and how Clerks can best help when they have only a portion of that information.

A few of the topics discussed during our conference calls are listed below. Note that discussions on many of these topics continued over the following weeks.

July 8, 2019

- Discussed the list provided by DOC, at our request, of 10 individuals per county recently released by DOC; and the possibility of asking every county to check CMS/CCIS data for its 10 cases.
- Discussed the need for an A4 QRT panel at Fall Conference.
- Discussed drafting a best practice on how to handle an individual asking if they owe money even if the felony did not occur in the county.

July, 15, 2019

- Discussed initial results of comparison of CCIS and CMS data on individuals recently released by DOC.
- Discussion of additional information provided by DOC (add DOB, explain DOC inmate identification numbers, etc.).
- Established a subcommittee on negotiating fees/fines/costs converted to civil judgments.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Discussed the need, and process, for obtaining legal opinions on restoration of voting rights, discussed various topics that might be addressed.

July 29, 2019

- Discussed preliminary results of Clerks' reviews of 10-cases-per-county data from DOC.
- Discussed acceptance of payments in a Clerk's office for amounts due another Clerk.
- Directed staff to meet with the Florida Sheriffs Association on any actions they have planned.
- Discussed the need for FCCC to adopt a policy on calculating and charging for CCIS data/records requests.
- Discussed the Clerk-CCIS written agreement form 2005 and the need to update.
- Discussed the possibility of drafting an advisory on the impact of restoration of voting rights on other rights; e.g., jury service, holding office, firearm possession.
- Discussed possible disclaimers, relevant to restoration of voting rights, for the CCIS financial obligation screen.

August 5, 2019

- Received a briefing from Melvin on possible way to pursue acceptance of payments in a Clerk's office for amounts due another Clerk.
- Began a discussion of whether Clerks can or should become the point of contact for consolidated information on restoration of voting rights.
- Continued discussion of many of the items above, with an eye toward finalizing tasks that had been adequately discussed.

August 12, 2019

- Discussed new information provided by DOC in response to various concerns raised by Clerks.
- Reached out to the few counties that had not completed the 10-per-county review.
- Approved an Advisory on a legal opinion received from our Counsel related to application of the new law to financial obligations.
- Approved an Advisory on the impact of restoration of voting rights on other civil rights.

10. Updates on other government entities involved in restoration of voting rights

Department of Corrections:

Last week, we raised 3 issues with DOC as directed by the A4 QRT.

1. We looked at 2 examples of financial obligation information provided to recently-released individuals

- Example 1: Attached DOC letter to Constance Painter, July 24, 2019.

- Example 2: Attached DOC letter to Virginia Parker, July 5, 2019.

  Page 1, from DOC shows no restitution, and "See attached Clerks Printout" for court costs/fines.

Clerks expressed a preference for the Example 2 approach to reduce questions and possible confusion.

2. The attachment for Constance Painter, on page 2, shows 3 case numbers (1317693, 1406946, and 1407264), but the attached CCIS printout is for only one case (1317693). Again, this may lead to confusion and needs to be addressed.

3. The Pinellas Clerk received an email from DOC asking for information on court costs/fines, related to a particular case, based on an inmate question. We do not know if this is a one-time request or likely to be common. We asked DOC if they would watch for these types of issues (as will we) and give us early warning so we can develop advisories or best practices.

Honorable Charles T. Canady
Chief Justice and the Justices of the Supreme Court of Florida
Tallahassee, Florida

Dear Chief Justice Canady and Justices of the Supreme Court of Florida:

Pursuant to Article IV, section 1 (c) of the Florida Constitution, I hereby request your opinion on a question involving the interpretation of a portion of the Constitution affecting my executive powers and duties. The question pertains to the meaning of Article VI, section 4 of the Florida Constitution as it affects my constitutional power as the supreme executive to take care that the laws be faithfully executed and to transact all necessary business with the officers of the government under Article IV, section 1(a) of the Florida Constitution. This question also affects my direct administration and supervision of the Department of State under Article IV, section 6 of the Florida Constitution to ensure the proper administration of voter registration and disqualification.

On November 6, 2018, Florida voters approved a constitutional amendment, known as Amendment 4, to automatically restore voting rights for some convicted felons-namely, felons who have been convicted of offenses other than murder or a "felony sexual offense" upon "completion of all terms of sentence including parole or probation." See Art. VI, § 4, Fla. Const. (20 18). I request your interpretation of whether "completion of all terms of sentence" encompasses financial obligations, such as fines, fees and restitution ("legal financial obligations" or "LFOs") imposed by the court in the sentencing order.

Prior to Amendment 4' s placement on the ballot, this Court was asked to determine whether the amendment met the legal requirements under Florida's Constitution. On March 6, 2017, during a colloquy between the justices and Amendment 4's sponsor, Floridians for a Fair Democracy ("Sponsor"), this Court was assured the Amendment presented a "fair question" and "clear explanation" to voters. terms" included "full payment of any fines," the Sponsor responded, "Yes, sir ... All terms means all terms within the four comers." ld. at 4. Justice Lawson similarly asked, "You said that terms of sentence includes fines and costs ... that's the way it's generally pronounced in criminal court, would it also include restitution when it was ordered to the victim as part of the sentence?" I d. at 10. The Sponsor answered, "Yes." Id. Justice Pariente posited the inclusion of fees, fines, and restitution as part of the completion of sentence "would actually help the state because if fines, costs and restitution are a requirement ... for those that want to vote, there's a big motivation to pay unpaid costs, fines and restitution." ld. at 11 . Ultimately, the Court found Amendment 4 clearly and unambiguously informed voters the chief purpose of the proposed amendment was to "automatically restore voting rights to felony offenders, except those convicted of murder or felony sexual offenses, upon completion of all terms of their sentence." Advisory Op., 215 So. 3d at 1208 (emphasis added).

In alignment with the colloquy with the Florida Supreme Court, after Amendment 4 was approved by voters, the ACLU of Florida, League of Women Voters of Florida, Latino Justice, and the Florida Rights Restoration Coalition delivered a letter to former Secretary of State Ken Detzner regarding implementation of Amendment 4. Exhibit 1, December 13, 2018 Letter. In part, the letter explained,

> The phrase "completion of all terms of sentence" includes any period of incarceration, probation, parole and financial obligations imposed as part of an individual's sentence. The financial obligations may include restitution and fines, imposed as part of a sentence or a condition of probation under existing Florida statute. Fees not specifically identified as part of a sentence or a condition of probation are therefore not necessary for 'completion of sentence ' and thus, do not need to be paid before an individual may register. We urge the Department to take this view in reviewing eligibility of individuals registered to vote as outlined in Chapter 98, Florida Statutes.

Ex. 1, p. 3 (emphasis added).

During the 2019 Legislative Session, legislators in both chambers debated legislative implementation of Amendment 4. Ultimately, both chambers passed CS/SB 7066 and, on June 28, 2019, I signed it into law. See Ch. 2019-162, Laws of Fla. In relevant part, chapter 2019-162, section 25, Laws of Florida, creating section 98.0751, Florida Statutes, provided guidance on restoration of voting rights and determination of ineligibility pursuant to the amendment of Article VI, section 4 of the Florida Constitution. Section 98.0751 , Florida Statutes, defines "[c]ompletion of all terms of sentence" as "any portion of a sentence that is contained in the four comers of the sentencing document."§ 98.0751(2)(a), Fla. Stat. (2019). The Legislature provided five categories of terms included in the sentencing document: (1) release from any term of imprisonment; (2) termination of any term of probation or community control; (3) fulfillment of any term ordered by the court as part of the sentence; (4) termination from any term of supervision monitored by the Florida Commission on Offender Review; and (5) full payment of LFOs ordered by the court as part of the sentence. See§ 98.0751(2)(a)l.-5., Fla. Stat. (2019).

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

On June 15, 2019, Luis Mendez filed a complaint in the Northern District of Florida seeking injunctive and declaratory relief and mandamus challenging chapter 2019-162, Laws of Florida. In part, Mendez alleges chapter 2019-162, Laws of Florida, violates Article VI, section 4 of the Florida Constitution because it adds requirements for the restoration of voting rights above what was prescribed in the Florida Constitution. Additional complaints were filed by numerous plaintiffs, including organizations referenced above, alleging provisions of chapter 2019-162, Laws of Florida violate the First, Eighth, Fourteenth and Twenty-Fourth Amendments of the United States Constitution. These challenges are only directed at chapter 2019-162, Laws of Florida, and do not question the constitutionality of Article VI, section 4 of the Florida Constitution.

Article IV, section 1(a) of the Florida Constitution prescribes the supreme executive power shall be vested in the Governor, that he "shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed" and "transact all necessary business with the officers of government." Article IV, section 6 of the Florida Constitution places direct administration and supervision of all functions of the executive branch, including the Department of State, under the constitutional authority of the Governor. See also § 20.02(3), Fla. Stat. (the administration of any executive branch entity shall at all times be under the constitutional executive authority of the Governor"); § 20.1 0, Fla. Stat. (creating the Department of State, headed by the Secretary of State who is appointed by the Governor). Furthermore, the Secretary of State is the chief elections officer with the responsibility to maintain uniformity in the interpretation and implementation of voter registration and election laws. See§ 97.012, Fla. Stat.

The Executive Branch is entrusted with implementing voter registration. See Part II of chapter 97 and chapter 98, Fla. Stat. Specifically, section 98.075(5), Florida Statutes, directs the Department of State to identify registered voters for eligibility under Article VI, section 4 of the Florida Constitution and section 98.0751 , Florida Statutes. It is ultimately my responsibility, through the Department of State, to "protect the integrity of the electoral process" by maintaining accurate and current voter registration records, including ensuring only eligible voters remain on the statewide voter registration system. See also§§ 98.075(1), 98.035, Fla. Stat. Essential to my duty is a proper interpretation of Article VI, section 4 of the Florida Constitution.

I, as Governor of Florida, have the constitutional responsibility and duty to take care that the Constitution and laws of Florida are faithfully executed. I, as Governor of Florida, have the constitutional duty to transact business with officers of government, including, but not limited to, local supervisors of elections, local clerks of court, the Florida Department of Corrections, the Florida Department of Law Enforcement, the Florida Commission on Offender Review and the Florida Department of State regarding the collection of information related to the eligibility of voters under Article VI, section 4 of the Florida Constitution. We share the task of protecting the integrity of elections throughout Florida. I, as Governor of Florida, want to ensure the proper implementation of Article VI, section 4 of the Florida Constitution and, if applicable, chapter 2019-162, Laws of Florida. This includes the ability to direct the Department of State to fully implement Article VI, section 4 of the Florida Constitution by determining whether a convicted felon has completed all terms of their sentence, including the satisfaction of LFOs. I will not infringe on the proper restoration of an individual's right to vote under the Florida Constitution.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Understanding there is ongoing litigation in federal court challenging chapter 2019-162, Laws of Florida under the First, Eighth, Fourteenth and Twenty-Fourth Amendments of the United States Constitution, I do not ask this Court to address any issues regarding chapter 2019-162, Laws of Florida or the United States Constitution.

Therefore, I respectfully request an opinion of the Justices of the Supreme Court of Florida as to the question of whether "completion of all terms of sentence" under Article VI, section 4 of the Florida Constitution includes the satisfaction of all legal financial obligations – namely fees, fines and restitution ordered by the court as part of a felony sentence that would otherwise render a convicted felon ineligible to vote.

Sincerely,
Ron DeSantis

December 13, 2018

The Honorable Ken Detzner
Secretary of State
State of Florida
R.A. Gray Building
500 South Bronough Street
Tallahassee, Florida 32399

Re: Implementation of Amendment 4, the Voting Restoration Amendment

Dear Secretary Detzner:

On November 6, 2018, Florida voters approved Amendment 4, the Voting Restoration Amendment with a vote of 64.55 % in support, reflecting the clear will of the people of Florida that those individuals with felony convictions who have paid their debt to society have their eligibility to vote restored to them. We write to request that you take immediate administrative action to coordinate with relevant state and local agencies as required by Chapter 98 Florida Statues and to provide guidance to relevant state and local agencies on the proper administration of voting registration for this newly enfranchised population of Florida's citizens as soon as possible. To that end, we would like to take this opportunity to share our analysis and views on various provisions of the Amendment and corresponding issues.

Amendment 4 is Self-Executing

Amendment 4 is self-executing in that the mandatory provisions of the amendment are effective on the implementation date (Jan. 8, 20 19). This is the very position that the State of Florida has acknowledged in its own legal filings in the Hand v. Scott case. The Amendment alters Florida Constitution Article VI, Section 4. Disqualifications, to state as follows:

> (a) No person convicted of a felony, or adjudicated in this or any other state to be mentally incompetent, shall be qualified to vote or hold office until restoration of civil rights or removal of disability. Except as provided in subsection (b) of this section, any disqualification from voting arising from a felony conviction shall terminate and voting rights shall be restored upon completion of all terms of sentence including parole or probation.
> (b) No person convicted of murder or a felony sexual offense shall be qualified to vote until restoration of civil rights. (...).

That language is specific and unambiguous. As the Florida Supreme Court stated in its unanimous opinion approving the amendment for placement on the ballot, "Read together, the title and summary would reasonably lead voters to understand that the chief purpose of the amendment is to automatically restore voting rights to felony offenders, except those convicted of murder or felony sexual offences, upon completion of all terms of their sentence. (emphasis added.) Advisory Opinion to the Attorney General Re: Voting Restoration Amendment, 215 So. 2d 1202, I 208 (Fla. 20 17).

Since these mandatory provisions will now be in the Florida constitution, the Legislature does not need to pass implementing legislation in order for the amendment to go into effect. That said, the Legislature should exercise its normal and proper oversight function of relevant state agencies to ensure that they implement the amendment in accordance with the will of Florida's voters and without delay.

The burden is on the state, not the individual, to establish whether a voter is ineligible utilizing current administrative practices, databases and resources as defined in Chapter 98 and other relevant provisions of the Florida Statutes.

The plain language of the Amendment makes clear that it restores the voting rights of Floridians with felony convictions after they complete "all tem1s of their sentence including parole or probation." The Amendment does not apply to those who have completed a sentence for murder or a felony sex offense. Individuals in those categories can only have their right to vote restored by the Governor and the Board of Executive Clemency.

Pursuant to Article XI, Section 5 (3), the Amendment goes into effect on January 8, 2019. Thus, starting January 81h, any individual with a felony conviction who has completed all the terms of their sentence should register to vote by completing a voter registration form.

Completion of all terms of Sentence

The phrase "completion of all terms of sentence" includes any period of incarceration, probation, parole and financial obligations imposed as part of an individual's sentence. These financial obligations may include restitution and fines, imposed as part of a sentence or a condition of probation under existing Florida statute. Fees not specifically identified as part of a sentence or a condition of probation are therefore not necessary for 'completion of sentence' and thus, do not need to be paid before an individual may register. We urge the Department to take this view in reviewing the eligibility of individuals registered to vote as outlined in Chapter 98, Florida Statutes.

Existing Voter Registration Forms are Sufficient

We assert that the unifom1 stateside voter registration application is sufficient to immediately register individuals impacted by the Amendment's provisions. Question #2 of that fom1 asks individuals to "affirm that I am not a convicted felon, or if I am, my right to vote has been restored. " The responsibility of the citizen is to honestly affirm that, by completing the terms of their sentence, their voting rights have been restored. Individuals may also register via the Florida Online Voter Registration System at https://registertovoteflorida.gov/.

Process to Confirm Eligibility is Already in Place

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

The existing provisions of Chapter 98 of the Florida Statutes provide the Department with sufficient authority to coordinate across state and local agency databases to identify impacted individuals, to promptly and efficiently register to vote those individuals who wish to do so, and to confirm their eligibility in the same way the Department confirms the eligibility of all other Florida residents when they complete a voter registration application.

We understand that the current registration process includes the following steps:

- An individual returns a completed voter registration form to the Supervisor of Elections;
- The Supervisor transmits an electronic copy of the application to the Department of State Division of Elections;
- The individual who completed the form is at that time considered registered and will receive a voter ID card in the mail;
- The Department of State then has the duty to review the voter's registration to determine if there is credible information that the voter is ineligible;

This is the very same process that should be used to register those impacted by Amendment 4.

In closing, we appreciate the difficult task you face in administering elections in Florida. We hope that the discussion above will help you ensure that Amendment 4 is implemented in a timely and smooth fashion , without delay or undue burden on individual eligible voters. Florida's citizens spoke clearly on election day and we look forward to working with you to ensure their will is carried out.

Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

Judge Raises New Question In Felons Voting Fight

The News Service of Florida August 15, 2019 Dara Kam

TALLAHASSEE --- A federal judge added a new twist Thursday in the legal battle over whether convicted felons who've served their time behind bars should be required to pay court-ordered financial obligations before voting rights are restored.

Plaintiffs in the case are challenging a state law that carries out a constitutional amendment granting voting rights to felons "who have completed all terms of their sentence, including parole or probation." The amendment, approved by voters in November, excluded people "convicted of murder or a felony sexual offense."

Under a measure approved by the Republican-dominated Legislature this spring and signed into law by Gov. Ron DeSantis, felons have to pay all "financial obligations" ordered by courts as part of sentencing --- including fees, fines and restitution --- to be eligible to have their voting rights restored.

Voting- and civil-rights groups who filed the lawsuit allege that hinging the right to vote on finances amounts to an unconstitutional "poll tax" and is a vestige of Jim Crow-era policies aimed at preventing black voters from participating in elections.

But during a telephone hearing Thursday, U.S. District Judge Robert Hinkle said he wants both sides to address an issue that hasn't been dealt with in court filings: whether the amendment itself is unconstitutional, and what it would mean if it is.

The law passed this spring by the Legislature "makes clear that a plaintiff cannot vote until the plaintiff has satisfied all the financial obligations," Hinkle said during the hour-long hearing.

"If it should turn out that the Florida constitutional provision, Amendment 4, also provides that a plaintiff cannot vote unless the plaintiff satisfies all the financial obligations, then the question becomes, what happens if that's unconstitutional?" the judge said.

Plaintiffs maintain that about 1.4 million Floridians have been convicted of felonies but are no longer incarcerated. The requirement to pay financial obligations would prevent about 80 percent of them from having their voting rights automatically restored, the lawyers argued.

While offering myriad reasons why the financial-obligations requirement runs afoul of the U.S. Constitution, the plaintiffs' lawyers have focused solely on the state law and avoided consideration about whether those complaints mirror concerns about Amendment 4.

But Hinkle instructed them to tackle the issue by Aug. 29.

"If the plaintiffs are correct that requiring felons to satisfy the financial obligations is unconstitutional as applied to 80 percent of the otherwise eligible felons, does that mean that the financial obligation requirement should essentially be severed from Amendment 4, at least as applied to that 80 percent, or does it mean that Amendment 4 is unconstitutional and we're back where we were before it was passed?" Hinkle asked lawyers Wednesday. "Nobody's raised that, but it seems to me to be a question that at some point has got to be addressed."

Voting-rights advocates launched the effort to change the Florida Constitution because the state's restoration-of-rights process has been cumbersome, often taking years to navigate.

Republican lawmakers said they needed to pass legislation this spring to carry out details of the constitutional amendment. That prompted a highly contentious debate during the legislative session, which was followed by the voting- and civil-rights groups going to federal court.

GOP lawmakers and attorneys representing the DeSantis administration defend the law, maintaining that it is more permissive than the language of the constitutional amendment.

DeSantis and Laurel Lee, appointed by the governor as secretary of state early this year, have asked Hinkle to toss the lawsuit, arguing in part that it belongs in state and not federal court.

In a motion to dismiss filed this month, lawyers for the state wrote that, even if the newly passed law is struck down, Florida felons would still be unable to vote because Amendment 4's "use of the phrase 'all terms of sentence' would serve as a bar to relief even if the statute being challenged was found unconstitutional."

But Hinkle on Wednesday said he was "not impressed" by that argument.

"I'm not worried about the argument that, well you wouldn't be able to vote anyway under the Florida Constitution," he told the lawyers.

Plaintiffs have also argued that the law is unconstitutional because the state lacks a single centralized database where felons, referred to as "returning citizens," can find out if they have outstanding financial obligations. Local databases maintained by county clerks have "inconsistent, incomplete and inaccurate" information, the plaintiffs' lawyers wrote this month.

Hinkle set an Oct. 7 hearing on the plaintiffs' request for a preliminary injunction to block the law and suggested it "might be helpful" to have a witness "who really knows how this stuff works," such as a county clerk of court.

The judge said he routinely sees records related to Florida convictions, which must be taken into account when sentencing defendants in federal court.

The ability of court officers responsible for compiling the documents to obtain accurate information is hit and miss, Hinkle indicated.

"Sometimes we get a one-page sheet that's a little bit hard to figure out," he said, adding it "might very well be helpful to have a good description of what is and is not available, and how one would determine who is eligible to vote and who is not."

11.D. Clerks as the Point of Contact for Consolidated Information on Restoration of Voting Rights

Issue:
The issue has been raised whether Clerks could/should be the point of consolidation for data on restoration of voting rights.

Background:
The Department of State's Restoration of Voting Rights Work Group is tasked with developing recommendations regarding:

- The consolidation of all relevant data necessary to verify the eligibility of a registered voter for restoration of voting rights. If any entity is recommended to manage the consolidated relevant data, the recommendations must provide the feasibility of such entity to manage the consolidated relevant data and a timeline for implementation of such consolidation.
- The process of informing a registered voter of the entity or entities that are custodians of the relevant data necessary for verifying his or her eligibility for restoration of voting rights.
- Any other relevant policies or procedures for verifying the eligibility of a registered voter for restoration of voting rights.

Process:
The A4 QRT should discuss the issue fully. After determining the best public policy approach for the Clerks collectively, the QRT should make a recommendation on the issue to the Executive Committee or Board of Directors.

If the recommendation is to pursue being the consolidated point of contact, the technical aspects of the issue should be presented to CIVITEK for a feasibility analysis.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

If the project is determined to be technically feasible, the recommendation should be considered by the Board of Directors for a final decision or determination of further action.

Timeframe:
The Department of State's Restoration of Voting Rights Work Group report is due by November 1, 2019. And decision by the Clerks on this issue that is made well before that date could influence those recommendations.

Pros:

- This builds on the Clerks' strengths in managing documents.
- This showcases Clerks' desire to serve their customers, constituents, and communities.
- This builds on recognition of the Clerks as the keepers of big data and may influence future decisions on matters not related to restoration of voting rights.

Cons:

- Restoration of voting rights is often painted as a partisan issue, so Clerks could be perceived by some as engaging in a partisan activity.
- Any funding for this activity is uncertain at best.
- Depending on the comprehensiveness of the data collected, this likely represents a substantial workload.
- It will require training of local staff who will be taking on new responsibilities.
- No easy method exists to capture restitution payments that have been made directly to victims in the past.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Other Considerations:

- Clerk spending is limited by law to “court-related functions” (ss. 28.35 and 28.36, F.S.). A legal analysis should be performed to ensure that the issue of being the consolidated point of contact fits within the statutory limitation.
- The Department of State’s Restoration of Voting Rights Work Group will be discussing this issue. The Clerk members of that group should represent the interests of the Clerks on this issue in the discussions.
- Litigation in the Federal Courts is pending and may change the types of data and responsibilities of the Florida government entities involved in restoration of voting rights.
- This will require careful coordination and ongoing working relationships with at least:
  - Department of Corrections,
  - Sheriffs (county jails),
  - Eight counties that run their own jails,
  - Florida Department of Law Enforcement,
  - Department of State,
  - Supervisors of Elections,
  - Florida Commission on Offender Review, and
  - United States Attorney’s Offices.
- It may also require consideration of obtaining data on felonies committed outside the State of Florida.
- This is a major IT undertaking that may stress current IT development capacity, both at the Association and at the local level.
- This will have unanticipated future impacts as the Clerks manage more data; e.g., requests for information (not related to restoration of voting rights) that is not currently held by the Clerks; or an impression that the Clerks can be used to solve other, unrelated, big data problems.

(I) Actual payment of the obligation in full.

(III) Completion of all community service hours, if the court, unless otherwise prohibited by law or the State Constitution, converts the financial obligation to community service.

A term required to be completed in accordance with this paragraph shall be deemed completed if the court modifies the original sentencing order to no longer require completion of such term. The requirement to pay any financial obligation specified in this paragraph is not deemed completed upon conversion to a civil lien.

Section 2. This act shall take effect July 1, 2020.

Subject: NOTES: H Session | HB 7089 Voting Rights Restoration (rolled to third); HB 337 Courts (rolled to third)

The below notes are from last night's House Session and were prepared by Laura Smidt of GT's Legislative Services Office

House Session
Tuesday, April 23, 2019
12:30 PM – N/A

HB 7089, Voting Rights Restoration, Criminal Justice Subcommittee
HB 7089 by Rep. Grant (J) and the Criminal Justice Subcommittee relating to Voting Rights Restoration, was taken up on the House Floor today and rolled to third reading. The bill is now available for passage by the full House.

Questions

Rep. Jenne: Which is more important legally speaking: the advocates argument in front of the court or an amendment to the constitution of the United States of America?
Rep. Grant: It depends what it is compared to.

Rep. Grieco: If somebody fills out an application to vote, who in the state decides if they are eligible or not.
Rep. Grant: There is no conference, there is no data base. This bill does nothing to change the fact that the Secretary of State has the last say on who is and is not eligible to vote.

Rep. Hart: Is this a financial tax of sorts?
Rep. Grant: no.

Rep. Hart: why do you feel the need to put more impediments on people trying to restore their right to vote
Rep. Grant: It is important to understand that the ballot summary was crystal clear. We are not putting additional impediments on this. We are upholding exactly what was put before the voters. The predicate is crystal clear, the requirements are clear.

Rep. Gottlieb: Would an indigent applicant for restoration or rights be entitled for a public defender to go back to court to seek the waiver?
Rep. Grant: I don't believe we have a real access to courts issue here.

Rep. Driskell: You're saying that including the repayment of financial obligations is not a conflict, but excluding it would be?
Rep. Grant: That is correct.

Rep. Driskell: From where in the Florida statutes did you pull the definition for completion of sentence?
Rep. Grant: We obtained it from the sentence as issued by the court.

Rep. Jones: Who will be the agency to track restitution?
Rep. Grant: I'm not suggesting that there are not entities that track restitution. That is different from an entity that gives truth to the restitution. The clerks have restitution information, it's just not complete. There is no single entity that determines the right restitution. No fee or cost incurred after the sentence would be part of the term of the sentence in terms of Amendment IV. There is no conclusive restitution data that is all stored in one place.

Amendment 169529 – ADOPTED
- Technical fix that addresses a statutory cross reference.

Amendment 719965 – NOT ADOPTED
- Revises what constitutes as a complete sentence.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Clarifies that financial obligation should not be a barrier to voting.

Amendment 583329 – NOT ADOPTED
- It will put individuals on a payment plan once they have competed their sentence.

Amendment 631771 – NOT ADOPTED
- Outlines felony sexual offense

Amendment 861419 – NOT ADOPTED
- Makes clear that anyone, before they can be removed from the voting roles, must receive due process. If a clerk is unable to determine if a sentence has been completed, then through due process, this goes to the judge.

Amendment 239235 – NOT ADOPTED
- Does not allow for someone to be prosecuted if they believe that they can be registered to vote.

Amendment 709273 – NOT ADOPTED
- Strike all amendment
- Returns the bill to the original language from the amendment 4 ballot language.

HB 7109, Criminal Justice Data Transparency, Criminal Justice Subcommittee
HB 7109 by Rep. Grant (J) and the Criminal Justice Subcommittee relating to Criminal Justice Data Transparency, was taken up on the House Floor today and rolled to third reading. The bill is now available for passage by the full House.

HB 337, Courts, Rep. Leek
HB 337 by Rep. Leek relating to Courts, was taken up on the House Floor today and rolled to third reading. The bill is now available for passage by the full House.

Subject: NOTES: H Session - HB 7089 Voting Rights Restoration, HB 7081 State Court System Administration, HB 639 Security in Trial Court Facilities, HB 131 Voter Registration Maintenance

House Session
Wednesday, April 24, 2019
The following notes were compiled by Sara Sanders and Kimberly Renspie

THIRD READING:

HB 7089 Voting Rights Restoration by Representative Grant

Representative Grant stated this was the bill dealing with Amendment 4 that was discussed yesterday (April 23). There were no amendments.

Debate:

25 members of the House debated this bill for approximately 3 hours. The summary is below.

- Representative Geller- He is passionate about not allowing the prosecution of individuals who register to vote because of Amendment 4 but are ineligible. He would like the courts, clerks and other stakeholders to be more involved in the determination of the completion of sentence. He would be voting down on the bill.
- Representative Gottlieb- He believes that this bill silences people who deserve a vote. The debt is repaid to society not to the individual person. Once the individual leaves prison and finishes parole, their sentence is complete and the State no longer has jurisdiction over the individual. He does not believe any implementation language is needed and that the language of Amendment 4 speaks for itself. Representative Gottlieb stated he believes the bill is a violation of separation of powers because the Legislature is legislation to the courts. This bill costly to implement and he would be voting down on the bill.
- Representative Hart- She stated that Florida is one of four states where convicted felons do not regain their voting rights unless they go through an executive clemency process. Representative Hart believes this bill is a legislative overreach because it will restrict the ability of felons to vote that would be eligible under the plain language in Amendment 4 which goes against the will of the 5 million people that voted for the amendment. She would vote down on the bill.
- Representative McGhee- He stated he believes the limitations in this bill fall under cruel and unusual punishment. The people of Florida wanted Amendment 4 to be implemented as stated in the sixty-two words on the ballot. We live in a nation where people make mistakes and people get second chances. Sixty-one of the sixty-seven counties supported the passage of the amendment. Representative McGhee stated that the number of people that voted for Amendment 4 (5.2 million) outnumbered several states as well as several smaller counties. He stated the legislature's purpose was to defend the people's wants and needs and the people want ex-felons to have a second chance. The language of Amendment 4 was far more clear than the language of the bill. He would vote down the bill.
- Representative Bush- He thanked the sponsor for being open-minded throughout the process. He is passionate about this subject because he has a large number of returning citizens that live in his district. Representative Bush stated that the legislators could either be a part of the problem or a part of the solution and he wanted to be part of the solution. He asked the body why they needed to be there debating the bill when 5.2 million Floridians voted to give these individuals their right to vote. He stated that this bill placed an undue burden on returning citizens. Representative Bush took the time walk through the process used to by the Florida Rights Restoration Coalition to get the language on the ballot. At that point, he said that an injustice anywhere is a threat to justice everywhere. He would be voting down on the bill.
- Representative Ingoglia- The representative started by admitting the previous clemency process was shameful so he could understand the frustration of the proponents of the bill. He believes that once a person has paid their debt, they should be able to vote. Representative Ingoglia said that it is shameful for the drafters of the amendment to say it is self-executing. The definitions of words used are unclear. On multiple occasions, proponents of the bill stated that payment of fines, fees and restitutions was part of the completion of sentence. It is unclear if the person signing the petition or voting for the amendment knew exactly what the language meant and he doesn't know if it even makes a difference. He supports the bill because it creates a statewide uniform system for all ex-felons.
- Representative Byrd- He stated that he supports the bill and echoes the comments of Representative Ingoglia. Unfortunately, Amendment 4 did not address all the civil rights lost by felons. He did not think people realized that there is a difference between restoration of civil rights and restoration of voting rights. Representative Byrd said that if we truly want to welcome the ex-felons back into society, the legislature should work on restoring all civil rights not just voting rights.

- Representative Robinson- He supports Amendment 4 because it is now part of the Constitution and he will defend the language. He believes that implementation language is needed because of the three caveats listed. The three caveats are also the cause for much of the debate on the House floor. Restitution is the payment to try and make the victim whole after the wrong doing and victim's rights need to be respected too.
- Representative Hattersley- Representative Hattersley wants to honor the will of the people as written on the ballot. He took the time to explain the history of the clemency process though the executive branch. He then stated that the Constitutional Revision Commission could have addressed this issue but chose not to address it. There was a bill attempting to restore the voting rights of ex-felons for the last six year that never even got one hearing. He would be voting down on the bill.
- Representative Newton- Representative Newton was discouraged by the number of amendments that were not adopted on second reading. He believed it would have made the bill much more palatable to the entire chamber. He also does not think that the Legislature can say they do not know the will of the 5.2 million voters that supported Amendment 4. Representative Newton went in-depth with a comparison between the implementation language for medical marijuana and the current implementation language for Amendment 4. He acknowledged that the Democrats did not have the votes defeat the bill but he still wanted to speak for the people he represents. He believes that Governor DeSantis will be the saving grace for this bill. In closing, Representative Newton said he believes it is clear that ex-felons with money will be the ones that are able to vote.
- Representative Jones- He believes that this legislation sets a bad precedent and believes the people of Florida will no longer trust the legislature to do what is right. Representative Jones stated that he believes this bill is voter suppression because the ex-felons paid their dues by serving their sentences and completing parole. Those individuals earned the right to participate in democracy.
- Representative Thompson- Representative Thompson referenced her past interactions with Rosa Parks, Desmond Meade and Neil Volz. She wants to turn this moment into a movement. She believes that Desmond Meade was the spark that was needed. She advocated that the members not support "cash register justice" which would erode the confidence of the citizens in the state of Florida.
- Representative Massullo- He stated that words have meaning and that is why the House was there to debate this bill. He went through the ballot language and the different possible meanings of several words. Representative Massullo strongly believes in victim rights. He agrees with Representative Byrd that the state should be working towards legislation to restore all civil rights, not just voting rights. However, several responsibilities come with those rights and there are consequences to actions.
- Representative Donalds- Representative Donalds agreed with Representative Ingoglia on the fact that the previous clemency process was shameful. He believes that once a person has paid their debt they should be able to vote but he always believed restitution to be a part of the debt to society. He stated that the legislature must act because state agencies do not have the authority to define the words used in the amendment.
- Hogan Johnson- She advocated for the education and vocational training of those currently incarcerated so upon their release they would actually be able to pay the restitution owed.
- Representative Jacquet- He believes that voting is covered in the First Amendment in the U.S. Constitution as a form of free speech. Therefore, this bill is unconstitutional. HE believes Democrats would benefit from voting rights restoration and that's part of the reason for this legislation. Representative Jacquet quoted a Tallahassee Democrat article and Senate President Galvano, who said an implementing bill wasn't needed. He also praised Governor DeSantis for saying he did not believe an implementing bill was needed. In his closing, he stated that voting rights were of the same importance to Democrats as gun rights were to Republicans.
- Representative Eskamani- She stressed that restoration of voting rights is part of the larger criminal justice reform however; the language in the bill was returning the ex-felons to the broken system. Low-income individuals were more likely to be charged with certain crimes, less able to hire effective counsel and less likely to be able to pay restitution.
- Representative Drake- He is part of the 5.2 million that voted for the amendment and that believes in second chances. He also believes that those that have done wrong need to take responsibility for their actions and make amends. He voted for the measure in November and he would vote for it again on the floor.
- Representative Roth- He stated that he was frustrated because he believes the ballot language was intentionally vague in order to get as much support as possible. It is the legislature's responsibility to fill in the blanks left by the people that drafted the amendment.
- Representative Beltran- He stated that he does not believe any section of the bill can be considered unconstitutional. Within the U.S. Constitution, a felon can be denied the right to vote and the passage of Amendment 4 was a notion of grace. He stated that before a person pleads guilty to a felony, the judge informs the person they will lose their right to vote.
- Representative Fine- He stated that he disagrees with the statements that voting for this bill means the individual has sinister motives. As a citizen, there is no higher obligation that to vote. It is something that should be taken seriously and requires education. He is frustrated by the fact that the proponents of the amendment have continued to move the goals after the passage of the language on the ballot.
- Representative Alexander- He believes that this bill and the debate demonstrate the disconnect between the government and the people. Felons are only released when it is determined their debt to society is paid. He stated that a person can still live in the house while paying their mortgage, they can still drive the car while paying a car loan and they can still get a job while paying their college loans. He believes that should be the case for felons and voting rights otherwise they are being subjected to taxation without representation.
- Representative Joseph- She maintained that the amendment was self-executing and did not need implementing language. She also believes that restitution should be paid but that debt should not be used to disenfranchise the person and it is something that should be handled by the judicial branch. She believes that the Amendment 4 title and language were clear and there was nothing for the legislature to do. She believes there is still an opportunity to get this language in the bill right so that the most people are eligible to vote.
- Representative Driskell- She stated that after all of the committee stops and testimony, it was clear that there was no system in place for a felon to determine their financial obligations after being released from prison. Creating that system will be very costly and potentially create a backlog in the courts stemming from litigation. This is an unnecessary expansion of government using taxpayer dollars. We should want the 1.4 million felons impacted to become full citizens. In closing, she stated that justice delayed is justice denied.
- Representative Altman- He believes that if the legislature were to say restitution was not included, they would be undermining the voters. The bill is fair and voting against the bill makes a mockery of the amendment process.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

In closing, Representative Grant thanked all of the people involved on making the bill a better work product. He said that the Florida Constitution is being treated as a second set of statutes, which creates conflict as seen in Amendment 4 and Amendment 6 (Marsy's Law). The Supreme Court signed off on the amendment language after hearing the testimony which included payment of restitution. He once again stress that there is no statutory definition of murder or felony sexual offense. He argued that those in opposition to the bill had stated that the conversion to a civil lien should end an individual's financial obligations but also that the financial obligations are not part of the sentence. He does not believe that both of the statement can be true because there is inherent conflict. Representative Grant said this bill does not disenfranchise voters; they choose to disenfranchise themselves when they commit the felony. The ballot summary states that voting rights would be restored after the completion of the sentence not before, during, while or substantially completed. The Constitution should not be where politics are played to achieve an agenda.

The bill passed 71-45.

SECOND READING:

HB 7801 State Court System Administration by Criminal Justice Subcommittee
HB 7801 was called up for consideration during the House session.

Rep. DiCeglie explained that the bill modifies several areas related to the state courts system. It deals with court interpreters and mediators; parenting coordinators; judicial retirement age; and electronic judgments and fingerprints.

- Taking up amendment 846033, Rep. Diceglie explained this is a technical amendment that reenacts an existing statute that is amended by the bill. Adopted.

The bill was rolled to third reading.

HB 639 Security in Trial Court Facilities by Rep. Perez
HB 639 was called up for consideration in House session.

Rep. Perez explained that the bill deals with security in the court system; specifically, that related to the Sheriff providing security and the decision-making authority regarding due process by the chief judge.

The bill was rolled to third reading.

HB 131 Voter Registration Maintenance by Rep. Mariano
HB 131 was called up for consideration in House session.

Rep. Mariano explained that the bill requires the Supervisor of Elections and local Clerk of the Circuit Court to enter into an agreement to share monthly change of address information and provide a list of potential jurors that have identified themselves as non-citizens. This bill also requires the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles (DHSMV) to provide a monthly list of persons who have identified themselves as non-citizens to the Department of State (DOS). If the DOS determines that a registered voter is a non-citizen, the DOS will provide that name to the Supervisor of Elections in the respective county. The purpose of the bill is to assist election offices in maintaining the accuracy of the official voter registration list.

Questions:
Rep. Cortez: Asked about the "alien" section; are these undocumented individuals or aliens from another planet? Rep. Mariano responded that the term "alien" is referenced in Florida Statutes 122 times, so that's why this word was used. In follow up, Rep. Cortez asked about the undocumented individuals. Rep. Mariano replied that it only refers to people that are filling out forms indicating their non-citizenship. This is all self-identified information. Rep. Cortez asked if these addresses will be taken so that undocumented individuals will be targeted by the Feds. Rep. Mariano responded, absolutely not. In this hypothetical situation, the individual would have to volunteer that information to DOS or to the Clerk.

Rep. Jenne: When an individual switches from a non-citizen to a citizen, their DL doesn't automatically expire. What happens to those whose status changes from non-citizen to citizen who don't update with DMV? Will they know it's changed? Rep. Mariano responded, no; this is only with a monthly change of address when they're filling out the forms. It wouldn't affect them after. In follow up, Rep. Jenne noted that this seems to be a lot of work for the Supervisor of Elections and the bill is short and doesn't provide a lot of in-depth instructions. If DHSMV or the Clerk give this information to DOS, who will make the determination that an individual is not a citizen. Rep. Mariano responded that the Clerk communicates to the Supervisor of Elections and DHSMV communicates to DOS. Rep. Jenne asked what data is used for this determination? Name, date of birth, an algorithm? Rep. Mariano responded that the Clerk and DHSMV will include the name, address, date of birth, gender, and Florida Driver's License number or Florida Identification Card number of each person that identifies themselves as a non-citizen. Rep. Jenne asked if that information is given over, how can someone prove they are in fact a citizen? Rep. Mariano responded that the Supervisor of Elections will investigate before anyone is removed from the voter rolls. Rep. Jenne asked if this list of people could be subject to a public records request. This list is constantly changing; it could be months' old. What is to stop folks from using this list for targeting non-citizens or those who have been misidentified. What protections are in place? Rep. Mariano responded the bill doesn't address any protections.

Rep. Cortez: Noted that we have been hacked already by the Russians. What is the criteria for keeping this registration safe? Rep. Mariano responded that the bill does not address that. Rep. Cortez asked why not? Rep. Mariano responded that we will use all current systems that exist at DOS and with the local Supervisors of Elections. Rep. Cortez asked if, in the future, will Rep. Mariano do something so we don't have that problem? Rep. Mariano responded that Rep. Cortez can file a bill next year if he thinks it's necessary.

The bill was rolled to third reading.

The Senate Judiciary Committee met this afternoon to consider the following bills:

- SB 7086, Voting Rights Restoration, by Criminal Justice –PASSED
- SB 1186, Criminal Judgements, by Sen. Baxley –NOT CONSIDERED

The committee meeting packet can be found here.

SB 7086, Voting Rights Restoration, by Criminal Justice, Sen. Brandes –PASSED
Summary
SB 7086 is the implementing bill for Amendment 4.

The bill creates s. 98.0751, F.S., codifying that a person who has been disqualified from voting based on a felony conviction for an offense other than murder or a felony sexual offense must have such disqualification removed and his or her voting rights restored pursuant to Article VI, section 4 of the Florida Constitution upon the completion of all terms of his or her sentence, including parole or probation. The bill defines necessary terms, including "completion of all terms of sentence," "felony sexual offense," and "murder."

The bill creates an undesignated section of law which establishes the Restoration of Voting Rights Work Group within the DOS for the purpose of conducting a comprehensive review of the process of verifying registered voters, applicants, or potential applicants who have been convicted of a felony but who may be eligible for restoration of voting rights. The bill establishes the Work Group membership and appointment procedures and also provides duties. The Work Group is required to submit a report of its specified recommendations to the Legislature by November 1, 2019.

The bill amends s. 940.061, F.S., requiring the DOC to inform inmates and offenders of voting rights restoration pursuant to Article VI, section 4 of the Florida Constitution, in addition to executive clemency and restoration of civil rights. The bill also requires the DOC and county detention facilities to notify specified persons of all outstanding terms of the sentence to assist the inmate in determining his or her status with regard to the completion of all terms of sentence, as defined in s. 98.0751, F.S.

Sections 97.052, 97.053, 98.045, and 98.075, F.S., are amended to revise the term "civil" to "voting," clarifying that these provisions relate to the restoration of voting rights. Section 98.075, F.S., is amended to require county supervisors of elections to notify a potential voter of instructions for seeking restoration of voting rights pursuant to Article VI, section 4 of the Florida Constitution, in addition to restoration of civil rights pursuant to Article IV, section 8 of the Florida Constitution. S. 944.292, F.S. is amended to reference the voting rights restoration process.

Questions on the Bill

Sen. Rodriguez: Why are we defining these terms? Are the courts unable to do so?
Sen. Brandes: The legislature provides the implementation language that is required in order for the courts to define the terms.

Amendment 4 Quick Response Team Charge and Preliminary Research Objectives

The objective of the Quick Response Team (QRT) on Amendment 4 is to advise the FCCC Executive Committee on actions this association can take to:

- Collaborate with the Supervisors of Elections Association and the Secretary of State with any items of common interest
- Offer guidance to Clerks if a convicted felon inquires in a Clerks office about their outstanding fines, fees, and/or restitution
- Seek and provide Clerks with a legal opinion about the negotiation of liens
- Monitor and coordinate, to the extent possible, responses to public records requests currently being made of Clerks on the amount of fines, fees and/or restitution owed for their respective counties.
- Determine if a public-facing association stance on Amendment 4 is appropriate, and if so, to workshop appropriate language for an official statement.

The QRT has determined a substantial list of subjects that will need some additional information and some that will require in-depth research in order to inform the work of this group, including:

- Process to forgive debt via the Court
- Forgiveness events sponsored by legislators
- Legal implications of Interest on liens
- Records in CCIS related to Amendment 4 questions:
  - Financial data from 2000 forward – fine/fees
  - Converted to lien data
  - What year forward do we have judgments and sentence documents in CCIS
- Clerks' processes for sending to collections fines/fees due that are converted to civil liens
- DOC Probation – monies transferred to Clerk and other processes
- Distributions of monies as they come in – are they credited against balances immediately

Clerks' Amendment 4 Quick Response Team

PRELIMINARY Comparison of CCIS and CMS for Recent Department of Correction Releasees

The Department of Corrections provided the A4 QRT with basic information on individuals recently released by the Department. For each county, 10 individuals were identified.

The Department provided: the DC Number (unique to each individual), Last Name, First Name, Case Number (based on the UCN), Uniform Case Number (usually blank as not recorded in Department systems), Release Date, and County where Convicted.

The Clerks on the A4 QRT reviewed the data and tested it in each of their counties. The test involved comparing CCIS data, focusing on financial obligations and payment data, with each Clerk's CMS data. The A4 QRT then asked each of the other 67 Clerks to check their 10 cases in the same way.

Numerous issues, typically minor, were identified. Those have been compiled and grouped into broad categories. They are displayed in the attached spreadsheet.

At the same time, beginning July 1, 2019, the Department began filing with the Clerks documents related to restoration of voting rights for each newly-released individual. Even though they were not identified as part of the CCIS-CMS comparison, any issues that were identified with those filings have also been included in the attached spreadsheet.

Note that the Department's list of 10 recent releasees per county is not a random sample, nor was it compiled to be statistically significant. With 10 cases per Clerk, some Clerks were sure to get a list that would present no problems, while other Clerks would get a list full of problems. In a big county, everyone on the list could be a recent releasee, while in a small county the list could include individuals released some time ago. The results for any individual Clerk would not be indicative of the issues that might arise statewide.

However, the total number of cases reviewed statewide is equal to 2 percent of the number of individuals released by the Department in the 2017-2018 state fiscal year. Thus, this review represents a large enough group that Clerks, after examining the statewide results, can derive a valid picture of many of the issues faced.

Category	County	Issue
CCIS data	Alachua	Restitution - in 1 case, no proof that restitution has been paid. In 3 cases, restitution is payable via DOC, so not in Clerk's system.
CCIS data	Collier	Discovered an error in CCIS that was prohibiting sentences with an n/a status from showing. It was corrected by the CCIS programmers this week.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

CCIS data	De Soto	In one case, the Public Defender Fee Assessed was incorrect, but is nor corrected
CCIS data	Escambia	For 8 of 10, CCIS has old address; CMS has current address flagged as “default”.
CCIS data	Gadsden	For 1 individual, like the SAO, the charge sequence is in the Prosecutor Phase and not the Initial Phase.
CCIS data	Indian River	CCIS picked up the default address in four (4) of the cases instead of the current address.
CCIS data	Indian River	Sentence on each count – The sentences on all charges that had a Court and Sentencing Phase completed were correct. In the charges that were Nolle Prosequi (Prosecutor Phase) – CCIS reflects time served rather than Nolle Prosequi or dropped. In 1 case, there were 3 charges; in 3 other cases there was 1 charge. In 1 case CCIS reflects Administrative Probation instead of Reporting Probation on 2 charges.
CCIS data	Lake	Fees listed do not include any fees a Collections Agency may have imposed.
CCIS data	Lee	CCIS does not reflect the financial balance is in civil judgment statute.
CCIS data	Lee	Restitution was ordered on the case, amount was reserved by the court. This is not reflected in CCIS.
CCIS data	Lee	Restitution of $633 was ordered. Not reflected in CCIS. Our county doesn’t enter felony restitution amounts into our CMS as a financial assessment because we do not collect those monies. This is why the field is blank in CCIS for two cases on the spreadsheet. We instead add the restitution amount as a sentence component of our CMS.
CCIS data	Lee	Monetary obligations were reduced to judgment.
CCIS data	Martin	Old records scanned in bulk, not individually imaged to docket lines.
CCIS data	Martin	Need to search OR records.
CCIS data	Martin	Variations in individuals name (typos, AKA, etc.)
CCIS data	Miami-Dade	CCIS rounded restitution owed to the nearest dollar ($1,551 instead of $1,550.89)
CCIS data	Monroe	The disposition was never put on our system. This has been corrected.
CCIS data	Monroe	In 2 of the 10 cases, CCIS says prosecutor Filed on certain counts but they are Nolle Pros. Not sure why. The other cts are correct.
CCIS data	Monroe	Individual was WheldAdj on 11/20/15 but he had violated and now is Adj on Ct 1 on 3/16/15. Now fixed in CMS, but CCIS isn't showing the Adj on 3/16/15.

CCIS data	Monroe	In one of the 10 cases, a count was Nolle Pros, but CCIS says Prosecutor Filed, Not sure why, other cts are correct.
CCIS data	Monroe	Had to add the middle name and correct the judge name. It is correct in CCIS now.
CCIS data	Osceola	Race and gender did not transfer from CMS to CCIS. (8 cases)
CCIS data	Osceola	Restitution reflected in CMS, but not in CCIS. (2 cases)
CCIS data	Osceola	Prosecutor action on 1 count did not transfer from CMS to CCIS. (3 cases)
CCIS data	Osceola	Court action on 1 count did not transfer from CMS to CCIS. (2 cases)
CCIS data	Osceola	Reopen record in our CMS; however, not in CCIS. (2 cases)
CCIS data	Osceola	Extra $50.00 ($49.00 + $1.00) included in Assessment Total and in Balance Due in CCIS.
CCIS data	Palm Beach	Incorrect name in CCIS and on the report. The name, which is spelled incorrectly by one letter, is an AKA of the defendant. Name on case in our system is spelled FRIENDLY, case is correct in CCIS except for the name FRIENDLEY.
CCIS data	Polk	No restitution was showing in CCIS because we do not add these financials to our case management system.
CCIS data	Polk	In our CMS, we had a different DC number for case CF16-1166.
CCIS data	Polk	Noticed that the disposition date reflected in CCIS was not accurate (CF17-9102). We discovered this case had incorrect disposition dates on several of the counts. We corrected the case in our system, so the CCIS batch file will be sent up to correct the data in CCIS.
CCIS data	Polk	A few of the cases showed the incorrect judge at disposition (CF16-1166, CF17-1902, and CF17-748). This may be due to pending cleanup of CCIS files.
CCIS data	Polk	A few of the cases either showed the incorrect state attorney or defense attorney at disposition (CF17-9102, CF12-8430, CF17-748, CF16-1809, CF18-7916, & CF17-7763). After reviewing the CCIS ICD, we do not report the sentencing state attorney, just the one assigned to the case. For the defense attorney, we report the attorney who filed the notice of appearance and not the attorney at time of sentencing. After 30 days, we remove the defense attorney from our system.

CCIS data	Polk	Financial information was not showing in CCIS for case numbers CF16-1166 or CF10-6789; however, once we accessed the cases in CCIS, the push/pull service updated these to the correct amounts.
CCIS data	Seminole	In CCIS, FL for Florida is added to at the beginning of the DL number rather than just M320020640060 as in our system. Our system maintains the State, but we don't know if that information is correctly reflected in CCIS as all these cases are FL cases.
CCIS data	Seminole	We do not have a field for Place of Birth for defendant in our CMS.
CCIS data	Seminole	Judge Assignment History not uploaded to CCIS.
CCIS data	Seminole	Co-termed or consecutive or concurrent sentencing status not showing. CMS not maintaining these statuses for instances with related cases.
CCIS data	Seminole	No assessments showing under Financial Summary when Court Costs and Service fees assessed. No payment history showing. This is something that needs to be fixed in our CCIS upload.
CCIS data	Seminole	Only shows pending Warrant/Capias or Summons information. Once issued, the old information is not maintained in the CMS. We will look at ways to provide this history.
CCIS data	St. Johns	In 1 case, we found a minor docketing error (now corrected) and one instance where information in CMS was different from CCIS. In 1800090CF, we found his MM charge for driving while license suspended shows "adjudicated guilty" in our CMS, but the adjudication is not reflected in CCIS; although it is a misdemeanor and would not affect the defendant's eligibility to vote.
CCIS data	St. Lucie	Charge sequence in CCIS is different from CMS (2 individuals)
CCIS data	St. Lucie	Charges that were No Info'd are showing in CCIS as Dropped/Abandoned. Also shows a sentence of Time Served - Adjudication is correct, sentence should not be there. (2 individuals)
CCIS data	St. Lucie	CCIS does not display Charge Count #2 Adjudication
CCIS data	St. Lucie	Charge that was Nolle Pros is showing in CCIS as Nolle Pros but, also shows a sentence of Time

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

		Served (Adjudication is correct, sentence should not be there)
CCIS data	St. Lucie	CCIS does not show race, gender. If the Charge Count Sequence order has ever been changed in the local CMS, CCIS will not have the resequencing update.
CCIS data	Suwannee	For 3 individuals, assessment in CMS does not equal amount on civil lien due to payments made/civil lien amended.
CCIS data	Union	Could not check 1995-CF-0031, DC#668916 as we were not imaging at that time.
Disqualifying felonies	Martin	Statute number not easily available. (For old cases, statutes may have been subsequently amended.)
DOC reports	Broward	DC number and release date are not in records prior to July 1, 2019. Case number does not exactly match CMS case number, but allows identification.
DOC reports	Citrus	DOC shows restitution for Citrus case to First Step Inc. which the Clerk does not have ordered on the case. The backup for the fines appears to have been looked up in the Okeechobee case number in CCIS for Citrus County. It provides detail for an entire different defendant named Steven Ray Sharp. This document is now on Mr. Posila's case with erroneous information, plus it was provided to the individual.
DOC reports	Citrus	DOC directed to remit an amended form. How the, now does released, individual get the amended information.
DOC reports	Clay	DOC address listed for 6 individuals is different from CCIS/CMS address
DOC reports	Clay	DOC offense date for 3 individuals is different from CCIS/CMS offense date
DOC reports	Duval	In DOC's data, found one discrepancy in the information. CMS and CCIS reflect a DOB of 08/14/1968, while DOC lists 03/13/1968.
DOC reports	Franklin, Osceola	In Clericus, each case number has 8 number characters and the spreadsheet includes only 6 or 7 numbers and appears to be leaving off a 0 (zero) in front of cases with years like 05 and 06 and leaving off a 0 (zero) after the year number (see 500056 & 600159 which should be 05000056 & 06000159). All the other cases for Franklin also left out a 0 (zero) after the year number.
DOC reports	Franklin, Polk	For any future DOC reports, add middle initial or middle name and any suffix.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

DOC reports	Gadsden	1 individual's last name misspelled (Divinentez should be Divientez)
DOC reports	Hernando	In 2 cases, DOC indicates party was released from DOC; however, defendant is currently indicated to be under Supervised population. We would not begin compliance notifications for fines and costs until the party had completed or termed Supervised population.
DOC reports	Indian River	One DC number did not match the Probation Order filed by Probation. Probation is in the process of filing a Corrected Probation Order.
DOC reports	Lake	The case number provided on the spreadsheet did not include the indicator that the case was related to a co-defendant. The defendant recently released was actually the "B" defendant. It would be helpful if DOC included that portion of the case number.
DOC reports	Manatee	2008-CF-1444 - The DOC spreadsheet (transposed 08 to 80) and the spelling of the defendant's first name did not match what the Clerk had in the Case Management System (CMS).
DOC reports	Manatee	2016-CF-3991 - The Clerk's CMS balance matched DOC's balance, but the $173 in restitution was included in the Clerk's CMS total whereas DOC added the restitution on top of the assessed amount.
DOC reports	Martin	For any future DOC reports, DOB would be helpful.
DOC reports	Santa Rosa	For case 900510, DOC data appears to be dropping the leading 0's from the case number. Case number is 2009-CF-000510, not 1990-CF-000510
DOC reports	St. Lucie	First Name as given in DOC report is FRANTRAVIOU, whereas the first name on this case in both CCIS and the local CMS is FRANTRAVIOUS
DOC reports	St. Lucie	As part of the Case Number, the Defendant Code (A,B.C….) should be included
Other Comments	Lake	In Felony cases, restitution is not always tracked by the Clerk. In most instances, restitution is monitored by DOC and/or State Probation. In some instances, a Restitution Order will be entered and the victim will seek collection through other civil means. The Clerk's records are not the all-inclusive data source for restitution ordered or the current balance due.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Other Comments	Miami-Dade	4 of 10 individuals had other cases with fines owed; 3 of these with restitution owed
Payments: Amounts due	Martin	Most individuals amounts due had converted to liens or been sent to collections.
Payments: Amounts due	Pinellas	For 3 of 10, unable to determine if Restitution was paid-Payable direct to victim.
Payments: Prior cases	Martin	9 of 10 individuals had other cases with amounts due. (1 paid in full.)
Sentencing information	Franklin	Defendants may be sent to prison on more than one case at the same time where the sentences are concurrent (and release dates are the same for each case) but each case has been assessed separate court costs and fines. Will that information be captured by DOC? If not, is some disclaimer needed?

9. New information from DOC

- In the sample of 10/county provided to us, the first 2 digits of the case number were an issue. DOC had a system problem with leading zeros ("06" for 2006). They have corrected the problem and provided us with the previous 10-per-county list with leading zeros fixed.
- Adding DOB is something they can do. They have provided the previous 10-per-county list with DOB added.
- DOC has provided their list of offense descriptions matched to specific statutes and their "code" for each.
- Citrus identified 3 issues. 1) Documents with bad information drawn from another county. This was a DOC problem. They have a statewide meeting this week and will address this both as a systems and a training issue. 2) Citrus asked DOC to refile the documents, raising the issue of how the releasee would get the corrected information. DOC will develop a way to deal with this. 3) A restitution payee was incorrectly identified in the DOC documents. DOC will correct their internal process to fix this issue.
- Volusia raised an issue about contacting DOC concerning individuals on probation since multiple counties may be involved. DOC responded: "There are instances when an offender is sentenced in one county, then supervised in another county (the county they live in). The Clerks may not know the county of supervision; therefore, questions should be referred to the county of sentence. By clicking the following link, Probation Offices, each Clerk will be able to determine the office that coincides with the county of sentence. It would probably be a good idea for the Clerks to address court related fees, charges, and costs if they receive phone calls directly as they have a system to maintain accounts for those monetary obligations. "
  http://www.dc.state.fl.us/cc/index.html
- We also asked DOC about release documentation provided to individuals on probation who completed supervision in prior years. DOC responded: "For offenders who have terminated supervision, we provide the offender with a Termination Letter; however, supervision documents maintained by Community Corrections are destroyed three years after the offender terminates supervision."

Remote Payments
Using Clerk's Web Site

- Most (if not all) Clerks provide the public a method to make online electronic payments (credit cards, ACH) on their web sites
- Payment Scope may be limited (only certain case types, number of days past due, payment sent to collections, etc.)
- Web Site usually has a CMS Interface
  - Limited lookup capability
  - Payment auto receipted in CMS
- Web Sites do not accept cash or paper checks

FLORIDA COURT CLERKS & COMPTROLLERS

Remote Cash Payments
Using Financial Institutions

- Some Clerks have contracted with financial institutions to accept case payments on behalf of the Clerk
- Payment scope may be limited (only certain case types, number of days past due, payment sent to collections, etc.) based on the level of integration
- Example : 40 Amscot branches in Hillsborough County accept cash payments on behalf of the Clerk for traffic and child support cases

FLORIDA COURT CLERKS & COMPTROLLERS

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Other Payment Methods

- Interactive Kiosks
- Telephone IVR Payments
  - These methods are similar to the Web Payment Method
  - Not available in all counties

FLORIDA COURT CLERKS & COMPTROLLERS

Options to Accept Payments for Cases in other Counties

- Direct the Payor to the Clerk's Site where their case is located
- Could utilize a "link" site similar to www.payFLclerk to assist in finding the proper place to make the payment
- PROS:
  - Utilizes existing technology
  - Would require no additional integration with local CMS
- CONS:
  - Will not satisfy all types of payments
  - No Cash or Checks
  - Requires Deputy Clerks to have training/familiarity with other Clerk Web Sites

FLORIDA COURT CLERKS & COMPTROLLERS

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Options to Accept Payments for Cases in other Counties

- Partner with Financial Institutions on a statewide basis
- PROS:
  - Utilizes existing processes
  - Potential for many convenient locations
  - Potential for standard integration
- CONS:
  - Cash only (ATM's are provided on site)
  - No immediate way to deal with customer service exceptions (compliance issues, questions, etc)

FLORIDA COURT CLERKS & COMPTROLLERS

Options to Accept Payments for Cases in other Counties

- Develop a Statewide Electronic Payment System
- PROS:
  - System could be developed to meet all requirements
  - Potential for standard CMS integration
- CONS:
  - Cost and Time to build system

Clerks' Amendment 4 Quick Response Team

PRELIMINARY Comparison of CCIS and CMS for Recent Department of Correction Releasees

The Department of Corrections provided the A4 QRT with basic information on individuals recently released by the Department. For each county, 10 individuals were identified.

The Department provided: the DC Number (unique to each individual), Last Name, First Name, Case Number (based on the UCN), Uniform Case Number (usually blank as not recorded in Department systems), Release Date, and County where Convicted.

The Clerks on the A4 QRT reviewed the data and tested it in each of their counties. The test involved comparing CCIS data, focusing on financial obligations and payment data, with each Clerk's CMS data. The A4 QRT then asked each of the other 67 Clerks to check their 10 cases in the same way.

Numerous issues, typically minor, were identified. Those have been compiled and grouped into broad categories. They are displayed in the attached spreadsheet.

At the same time, beginning July 1, 2019, the Department began filing with the Clerks documents related to restoration of voting rights for each newly-released individual. Even though they were not identified as part of the CCIS-CMS comparison, any issues that were identified with those filings have also been included in the attached spreadsheet.

Note that the Department's list of 10 recent releasees per county is not a random sample, nor was it compiled to be statistically significant. With 10 cases per Clerk, some Clerks were sure to get a list that would present no problems, while other Clerks would get a list full of problems. In a big county, everyone on the list could be a recent releasee, while in a small county the list could include individuals released some time ago. The results for any individual Clerk would not be indicative of the issues that might arise statewide.

However, the total number of cases reviewed statewide is equal to 2 percent of the number of individuals released by the Department in the 2017-2018 state fiscal year. Thus, this review represents a large enough group that Clerks, after examining the statewide results, can derive a valid picture of many of the issues faced.

Category	County	Issue
CCIS data	Alachua	Restitution - in 1 case, no proof that restitution has been paid. In 3 cases, restitution is payable via DOC, so not in Clerk's system.
CCIS data	Collier	Discovered an error in CCIS that was prohibiting sentences with an n/a status from showing. It was corrected by the CCIS programmers this week.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

CCIS data	De Soto	In one case, the Public Defender Fee Assessed was incorrect, but is nor corrected
CCIS data	Escambia	For 8 of 10, CCIS has old address; CMS has current address flagged as “default”.
CCIS data	Gadsden	For 1 individual, like the SAO, the charge sequence is in the Prosecutor Phase and not the Initial Phase.
CCIS data	Indian River	CCIS picked up the default address in four (4) of the cases instead of the current address.
CCIS data	Indian River	Sentence on each count – The sentences on all charges that had a Court and Sentencing Phase completed were correct. In the charges that were Nolle Prosequi (Prosecutor Phase) – CCIS reflects time served rather than Nolle Prosequi or dropped. In 1 case, there were 3 charges; in 3 other cases there was 1 charge. In 1 case CCIS reflects Administrative Probation instead of Reporting Probation on 2 charges.
CCIS data	Lake	Fees listed do not include any fees a Collections Agency may have imposed.
CCIS data	Lee	CCIS does not reflect the financial balance is in civil judgment statute.
CCIS data	Lee	Restitution was ordered on the case, amount was reserved by the court. This is not reflected in CCIS.
CCIS data	Lee	Restitution of $633 was ordered. Not reflected in CCIS. Our county doesn’t enter felony restitution amounts into our CMS as a financial assessment because we do not collect those monies. This is why the field is blank in CCIS for two cases on the spreadsheet. We instead add the restitution amount as a sentence component of our CMS.
CCIS data	Lee	Monetary obligations were reduced to judgment.
CCIS data	Martin	Old records scanned in bulk, not individually imaged to docket lines.
CCIS data	Martin	Need to search OR records.
CCIS data	Martin	Variations in individuals name (typos, AKA, etc.)
CCIS data	Miami-Dade	CCIS rounded restitution owed to the nearest dollar ($1,551 instead of $1,550.89)
CCIS data	Monroe	The disposition was never put on our system. This has been corrected.
CCIS data	Monroe	In 2 of the 10 cases, CCIS says prosecutor Filed on certain counts but they are Nolle Pros. Not sure why. The other cts are correct.
CCIS data	Monroe	Individual was WheldAdj on 11/20/15 but he had violated and now is Adj on Ct 1 on 3/16/15. Now fixed in CMS, but CCIS isn't showing the Adj on

		3/16/15.
CCIS data	Monroe	In one of the 10 cases, a count was Nolle Pros, but CCIS says Prosecutor Filed, Not sure why, other cts are correct.
CCIS data	Monroe	Had to add the middle name and correct the judge name. It is correct in CCIS now.
CCIS data	Osceola	Race and gender did not transfer from CMS to CCIS. (8 cases)
CCIS data	Osceola	Restitution reflected in CMS, but not in CCIS. (2 cases)
CCIS data	Osceola	Prosecutor action on 1 count did not transfer from CMS to CCIS. (3 cases)
CCIS data	Osceola	Court action on 1 count did not transfer from CMS to CCIS. (2 cases)
CCIS data	Osceola	Reopen record in our CMS; however, not in CCIS. (2 cases)
CCIS data	Osceola	Extra $50.00 ($49.00 + $1.00) included in Assessment Total and in Balance Due in CCIS.
CCIS data	Palm Beach	Incorrect name in CCIS and on the report. The name, which is spelled incorrectly by one letter, is an AKA of the defendant. Name on case in our system is spelled FRIENDLY, case is correct in CCIS except for the name FRIENDLEY.
CCIS data	Polk	No restitution was showing in CCIS because we do not add these financials to our case management system.
CCIS data	Polk	In our CMS, we had a different DC number for case CF16-1166.
CCIS data	Polk	Noticed that the disposition date reflected in CCIS was not accurate (CF17-9102). We discovered this case had incorrect disposition dates on several of the counts. We corrected the case in our system, so the CCIS batch file will be sent up to correct the data in CCIS.
CCIS data	Polk	A few of the cases showed the incorrect judge at disposition (CF16-1166, CF17-1902, and CF17-748). This may be due to pending cleanup of CCIS files.
CCIS data	Polk	A few of the cases either showed the incorrect state attorney or defense attorney at disposition (CF17-9102, CF12-8430, CF17-748, CF16-1809, CF18-7916, & CF17-7763). After reviewing the CCIS ICD, we do not report the sentencing state attorney, just the one assigned to the case. For the defense attorney, we report the attorney who filed the notice of appearance and not the attorney at time of sentencing. After 30 days, we remove the defense attorney from our system.

CCIS data	Polk	Financial information was not showing in CCIS for case numbers CF16-1166 or CF10-6789; however, once we accessed the cases in CCIS, the push/pull service updated these to the correct amounts.
CCIS data	Seminole	In CCIS, FL for Florida is added to at the beginning of the DL number rather than just M320020640060 as in our system. Our system maintains the State, but we don't know if that information is correctly reflected in CCIS as all these cases are FL cases.
CCIS data	Seminole	We do not have a field for Place of Birth for defendant in our CMS.
CCIS data	Seminole	Judge Assignment History not uploaded to CCIS.
CCIS data	Seminole	Co-termed or consecutive or concurrent sentencing status not showing. CMS not maintaining these statuses for instances with related cases.
CCIS data	Seminole	No assessments showing under Financial Summary when Court Costs and Service fees assessed. No payment history showing. This is something that needs to be fixed in our CCIS upload.
CCIS data	Seminole	Only shows pending Warrant/Capias or Summons information. Once issued, the old information is not maintained in the CMS. We will look at ways to provide this history.
CCIS data	St. Johns	In 1 case, we found a minor docketing error (now corrected) and one instance where information in CMS was different from CCIS. In 1800090CF, we found his MM charge for driving while license suspended shows "adjudicated guilty" in our CMS, but the adjudication is not reflected in CCIS; although it is a misdemeanor and would not affect the defendant's eligibility to vote.
CCIS data	St. Lucie	Charge sequence in CCIS is different from CMS (2 individuals)
CCIS data	St. Lucie	Charges that were No Info'd are showing in CCIS as Dropped/Abandoned. Also shows a sentence of Time Served - Adjudication is correct, sentence should not be there. (2 individuals)
CCIS data	St. Lucie	CCIS does not display Charge Count #2 Adjudication
CCIS data	St. Lucie	Charge that was Nolle Pros is showing in CCIS as Nolle Pros but, also shows a sentence of Time Served (Adjudication is correct, sentence should not be there)

CCIS data	St. Lucie	CCIS does not show race, gender. If the Charge Count Sequence order has ever been changed in the local CMS, CCIS will not have the resequencing update.
CCIS data	Suwannee	For 3 individuals, assessment in CMS does not equal amount on civil lien due to payments made/civil lien amended.
CCIS data	Union	Could not check 1995-CF-0031, DC#668916 as we were not imaging at that time.
Disqualifying felonies	Martin	Statute number not easily available. (For old cases, statutes may have been subsequently amended.)
DOC reports	Broward	DC number and release date are not in records prior to July 1, 2019. Case number does not exactly match CMS case number, but allows identification.
DOC reports	Citrus	DOC shows restitution for Citrus case to First Step Inc. which the Clerk does not have ordered on the case. The backup for the fines appears to have been looked up in the Okeechobee case number in CCIS for Citrus County. It provides detail for an entire different defendant named Steven Ray Sharp. This document is now on Mr. Posila's case with erroneous information, plus it was provided to the individual.
DOC reports	Citrus	DOC directed to remit an amended form. How the, now does released, individual get the amended information.
DOC reports	Clay	DOC address listed for 6 individuals is different from CCIS/CMS address
DOC reports	Clay	DOC offense date for 3 individuals is different from CCIS/CMS offense date
DOC reports	Duval	In DOC's data, found one discrepancy in the information. CMS and CCIS reflect a DOB of 08/14/1968, while DOC lists 03/13/1968.
DOC reports	Franklin, Osceola	In Clericus, each case number has 8 number characters and the spreadsheet includes only 6 or 7 numbers and appears to be leaving off a 0 (zero) in front of cases with years like 05 and 06 and leaving off a 0 (zero) after the year number (see 500056 & 600159 which should be 05000056 & 06000159). All the other cases for Franklin also left out a 0 (zero) after the year number.
DOC reports	Franklin, Polk	For any future DOC reports, add middle initial or middle name and any suffix.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

DOC reports	Gadsden	1 individual's last name misspelled (Divinentez should be Divientez)
DOC reports	Hernando	In 2 cases, DOC indicates party was released from DOC; however, defendant is currently indicated to be under Supervised population. We would not begin compliance notifications for fines and costs until the party had completed or termed Supervised population.
DOC reports	Indian River	One DC number did not match the Probation Order filed by Probation. Probation is in the process of filing a Corrected Probation Order.
DOC reports	Lake	The case number provided on the spreadsheet did not include the indicator that the case was related to a co-defendant. The defendant recently released was actually the "B" defendant. It would be helpful if DOC included that portion of the case number.
DOC reports	Manatee	2008-CF-1444 - The DOC spreadsheet (transposed 08 to 80) and the spelling of the defendant's first name did not match what the Clerk had in the Case Management System (CMS).
DOC reports	Manatee	2016-CF-3991 - The Clerk's CMS balance matched DOC's balance, but the $173 in restitution was included in the Clerk's CMS total whereas DOC added the restitution on top of the assessed amount.
DOC reports	Martin	For any future DOC reports, DOB would be helpful.
DOC reports	Santa Rosa	For case 900510, DOC data appears to be dropping the leading 0's from the case number. Case number is 2009-CF-000510, not 1990-CF-000510
DOC reports	St. Lucie	First Name as given in DOC report is FRANTRAVIOU, whereas the first name on this case in both CCIS and the local CMS is FRANTRAVIOUS
DOC reports	St. Lucie	As part of the Case Number, the Defendant Code (A,B.C….) should be included
Other Comments	Lake	In Felony cases, restitution is not always tracked by the Clerk. In most instances, restitution is monitored by DOC and/or State Probation. In some instances, a Restitution Order will be entered and the victim will seek collection through other civil means. The Clerk's records are not the all-inclusive data source for restitution ordered or the current balance due.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Other Comments	Miami-Dade	4 of 10 individuals had other cases with fines owed; 3 of these with restitution owed
Payments: Amounts due	Martin	Most individuals amounts due had converted to liens or been sent to collections.
Payments: Amounts due	Pinellas	For 3 of 10, unable to determine if Restitution was paid-Payable direct to victim.
Payments: Prior cases	Martin	9 of 10 individuals had other cases with amounts due. (1 paid in full.)
Sentencing information	Franklin	Defendants may be sent to prison on more than one case at the same time where the sentences are concurrent (and release dates are the same for each case) but each case has been assessed separate court costs and fines. Will that information be captured by DOC? If not, is some disclaimer needed?

K. New information from DOC

- In the sample of 10/county provided to us, the first 2 digits of the case number were an issue. DOC had a system problem with leading zeros ("06" for 2006). They have corrected the problem and provided us with the previous 10-per-county list with leading zeros fixed.
- Adding DOB is something they can do. They have provided the previous 10-per-county list with DOB added.
- DOC has provided their list of offense descriptions matched to specific statutes and their "code" for each.
- Citrus identified 3 issues. 1) Documents with bad information drawn from another county. This was a DOC problem. They have a statewide meeting this week and will address this both as a systems and a training issue. 2) Citrus asked DOC to refile the documents, raising the issue of how the releasee would get the corrected information. DOC will develop a way to deal with this. 3) A restitution payee was incorrectly identified in the DOC documents. DOC will correct their internal process to fix this issue.
- Volusia raised an issue about contacting DOC concerning individuals on probation since multiple counties may be involved. DOC responded: "There are instances when an offender is sentenced in one county, then supervised in another county (the county they live in). The Clerks may not know the county of supervision; therefore, questions should be referred to the county of sentence. By clicking the following link, Probation Offices, each Clerk will be able to determine the office that coincides with the county of sentence. It would probably be a good idea for the Clerks to address court related fees, charges, and costs if they receive phone calls directly as they have a system to maintain accounts for those monetary obligations. "
  http://www.dc.state.fl.us/cc/index.html
- We also asked DOC about release documentation provided to individuals on probation who completed supervision in prior years. DOC responded: "For offenders who have terminated supervision, we provide the offender with a Termination Letter; however, supervision documents maintained by Community Corrections are destroyed three years after the offender terminates supervision."

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Clerks as the Point of Contact for Consolidated Information on Restoration of Voting Rights

Issue:
The issue has been raised whether Clerks could/should be the point of consolidation for data on restoration of voting rights.

Background:
The Department of State's Restoration of Voting Rights Work Group is tasked with developing recommendations regarding:

- The consolidation of all relevant data necessary to verify the eligibility of a registered voter for restoration of voting rights. If any entity is recommended to manage the consolidated relevant data, the recommendations must provide the feasibility of such entity to manage the consolidated relevant data and a timeline for implementation of such consolidation.
- The process of informing a registered voter of the entity or entities that are custodians of the relevant data necessary for verifying his or her eligibility for restoration of voting rights.
- Any other relevant policies or procedures for verifying the eligibility of a registered voter for restoration of voting rights.

Process:
The A4 QRT should discuss the issue fully. After determining the best public policy approach for the Clerks collectively, the QRT should make a recommendation on the issue to the Executive Committee or Board of Directors.

If the recommendation is to pursue being the consolidated point of contact, the technical aspects of the issue should be presented to CIVITEK for a feasibility analysis.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

If the project is determined to be technically feasible, the recommendation should be considered by the Board of Directors for a final decision or determination of further action.

Timeframe:
The Department of State's Restoration of Voting Rights Work Group report is due by November 1, 2019. And decision by the Clerks on this issue that is made well before that date could influence those recommendations.

Pros:

- This builds on the Clerks' strengths in managing documents.
- This showcases Clerks' desire to serve their customers, constituents, and communities.
- This builds on recognition of the Clerks as the keepers of big data and may influence future decisions on matters not related to restoration of voting rights.

Cons:

- Restoration of voting rights is often painted as a partisan issue, so Clerks could be perceived by some as engaging in a partisan activity.
- Any funding for this activity is uncertain at best.
- Depending on the comprehensiveness of the data collected, this likely represents a substantial workload.
- It will require training of local staff who will be taking on new responsibilities.
- No easy method exists to capture restitution payments that have been made directly to victims in the past.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Other Considerations:

- Clerk spending is limited by law to “court-related functions” (ss. 28.35 and 28.36, F.S.). A legal analysis should be performed to ensure that the issue of being the consolidated point of contact fits within the statutory limitation.
- The Department of State’s Restoration of Voting Rights Work Group will be discussing this issue. The Clerk members of that group should represent the interests of the Clerks on this issue in the discussions.
- Litigation in the Federal Courts is pending and may change the types of data and responsibilities of the Florida government entities involved in restoration of voting rights.
- This will require careful coordination and ongoing working relationships with at least:
  - Department of Corrections,
  - Sheriffs (county jails),
  - Eight counties that run their own jails,
  - Florida Department of Law Enforcement,
  - Department of State,
  - Supervisors of Elections,
  - Florida Commission on Offender Review, and
  - United States Attorney’s Offices.
- It may also require consideration of obtaining data on felonies committed outside the State of Florida.
- This is a major IT undertaking that may stress current IT development capacity, both at the Association and at the local level.
- This will have unanticipated future impacts as the Clerks manage more data; e.g., requests for information (not related to restoration of voting rights) that is not currently held by the Clerks; or an impression that the Clerks can be used to solve other, unrelated, big data problems.

4. Draft Advisory on Legal Opinion

FCCCC has requested and received a legal opinion from our Counsel concerning several issues related to restoration of voting rights, both the constitutional and statutory language. Specifically, these issues address several of the financial aspects of the law. The full legal opinion is attached.

In brief, without the associated legal reasoning and caveats included in the legal opinion, a summary is:

1. Does the requirement of "completion of all terms of sentence" include any statutory interest? Only if the fine, fee, or cost is made a part of the criminal judgment/ sentencing order and interest is specifically included in the judgment.

2. Does the requirement of "completion of all terms of sentence" include fees paid to a collection agent engaged by a clerk for the collection of fees, fines and court costs? Unless otherwise specifically ordered in the criminal judgment, fees owed to a collection agent that are in addition to, and added to the balance of, the unpaid financial obligations would not be included in the definition of "completion of all terms of sentence."

3. If the amounts owed pursuant to a criminal judgment/sentencing order are reduced to a civil judgment or lien, does that eliminate the obligation to pay the amounts owed as set forth in the criminal judgment/sentencing order? The reduction of amounts owed pursuant to a criminal judgment/sentencing order to a civil judgment or lien does not eliminate the obligation to pay the amounts owed as provided for in the criminal judgment/sentencing order.

5. Update on information received from DOC

- In the sample of 10/county provided to us, the first 2 digits of the case number were an issue. DOC had a system problem with leading zeros ("06" for 2006). They have corrected the problem and provided us with the previous 10-per-county list with leading zeros fixed.
- Adding DOB is something they can do. They have provided the previous 10-per-county list with DOB added.
- DOC has provided their list of offense descriptions matched to specific statutes and their "code" for each. This is a lengthy (45-page) list that we will be happy to share upon request.
- Citrus identified 3 issues. 1) Documents with bad information drawn from another county. DOC included the issue in a statewide meeting and will address it as both a systems issue and a training issue. 2) Citrus asked DOC to refile the documents, raising the issue of how the releasee would get the corrected information. DOC will develop a way to deal with this. 3) A restitution payee was incorrectly identified in the DOC documents. DOC will correct their internal process to fix this issue.
- Volusia raised an issue about contacting DOC concerning individuals on probation since multiple counties may be involved. DOC responded: "There are instances when an offender is sentenced in one county, then supervised in another county (the county they live in). The Clerks may not know the county of supervision; therefore, questions should be referred to the county of sentence. By clicking the following link, Probation Offices, each Clerk will be able to determine the office that coincides with the county of sentence. It would probably be a good idea for the Clerks to address court related fees, charges, and costs if they receive phone calls directly as they have a system to maintain accounts for those monetary obligations. "
  http://www.dc.state.fl.us/cc/index.html
- We also asked DOC about release documentation provided to individuals on probation who completed supervision in prior years. DOC responded: "For offenders who have terminated supervision, we provide the offender with a Termination Letter; however, supervision documents maintained by Community Corrections are destroyed three years after the offender terminates supervision."

9A. DRAFT ADVISORY

Restoration of Voting Rights – Effect on Other Rights

Several Clerks have received questions about the new law on restoration of voting rights and its impact on other rights, such as jury service, holding public office, or firearm possession.

The new law, Chapter 2019-162, Laws of Florida, (CS/SB 7066 from the 2019 legislative session) distinguishes between restoration of civil rights pursuant to s. 8, Art. IV of the State Constitution and voting rights restoration pursuant to s. 4., Art. VI of the State Constitution. Section 4, Art. VI of the State Constitution and the recent amendments to Chapter 98, Florida Statutes, provide the requirements for restoration of voting rights only. Meeting those requirements does not restore other rights.

Persons seeking information on restoration of civil rights generally may be referred to the Florida Commission on Offender Review. The Commission's Office of Executive Clemency has rules, forms, and processes for persons seeking restoration of civil rights, pardon, firearm authority, and other forms of clemency. See: https://www.fcor.state.fl.us/restoration.shtml

Specific to the right to vote, the Office of Executive Clemency website says:

> Regarding the Restoration of Civil Rights (RCR) process and the passage of Amendment Four:
> For those offenders covered by the amendment, only the right to vote, not the right to sit on a jury or the right to hold public office, is contemplated by the amendment. Restoration of the right to sit on a jury and to hold public office can only be obtained through application to the Board of Executive Clemency.
> As to those offenders not covered by the amendment, namely those convicted of murder or a felony sexual offense or those who have not completed all terms of their sentence, the restoration of the right to vote, to sit on a jury, and to hold public office can only be obtained through application to the Board of Executive Clemency.

Public Records Policy of the Florida Court Clerks & Comptrollers

Policy

Pursuant to article 1, section 24 of the Florida Constitution, it is the policy of the Florida Court Clerks & Comptrollers (FCCC) to permit certain records to be inspected and copied by any person desiring to do so, at any reasonable time, under reasonable conditions, and under supervision by the custodian of records.

Agency held records, except those specifically precluded from disclosure by statutory exemption, shall be available, in any form and format used by the agency, to all citizens for inspection or copying under the supervision of the records custodian or designee during normal business hours.

Custodian of Records

The FCCC custodian of records or his or her designee must acknowledge requests to inspect or copy records promptly and respond to such requests in good faith. A good faith response includes making reasonable efforts to determine from other offices or employees whether such records exists and, if so, the location at which the records can be accessed.

Inspections

Inspections may take place at the FCCC office located at 3544 Maclay Blvd, Tallahassee, Florida 32312. Records will be made available as quickly as practical after a request is received.

This document outlines policies, responsibilities, and describes procedures for providing access those records held by the Florida Court Clerks & Comptrollers that fall under the definition of public records. It should be applied to all activities which involve public records requests. These guidelines complement, but do not replace, the requirements under the Public Records Law.

Applicable Fees

a. Copying Fees: $0.15 per single sided copy
$0.20 per double sided copy

All other fees shall be the actual cost of duplication of the record.

U.S. postage, commercial shipping carriers, or other costs incurred in the delivery of public records shall be included in the actual costs charged to the requester.

The widest possible access to existing public records is encouraged by making copies of those records available for a fee not to exceed the actual cost of duplication.

If records are requested to be sent by email, no copying fees apply. However, depending on the nature or the volume of the request, a special service charge, as outline below, may be assessed.

b. Extensive Use Charges – Extensive use charges shall not be randomly or automatically applied. Rather, each public records request must be evaluated to determine if extensive use charges are warranted. Pursuant to s. 119.07(4)(d), Florida Statutes, the FCCC may impose a special service charge when the nature or volume of the public records request is such as to require extensive use of information technology resources, or extensive clerical or supervisory assistance or both.

For purposes of the policy, "extensive clerical or supervisory assistance" is determined to be requests that require more than 30 minutes of time using information technology, resources, or labor to locate records, review records for confidential or exempt material, remove confidential or exempt material, or copy and re-file requested records.

Labor Time – When extensive clerical and/or supervisory labor time is spent in the inspection or production of a public records request, a service charge for labor should be applied by computing the actual cost of providing such labor. FCCC commercial rates are used for these rates.

Information Technology Resources – FCCC uses the costs established by the Information Technology division when charging for the extensive use of information technology resources and a copy of such documented method shall be provided upon request. Service charges shall be based on the actual cost incurred for such extensive use.

Charges Waivers – Fees or charges may be waived between FCCC and other government agencies, by agreement between management, when the recurring exchanges or data sharing between agencies negates the need to apply these fees.

c. Deposits

If, based on the nature or volume of the public records request, a charge is warranted, an estimate is required to be given to the requester before the work is done.

Payment of the estimated amount must be received before the work commences.

In the event the amount paid exceeds the actual cost, excess funds will be refunded to the requester.

Public Records Requests

FCCC accepts requests for public records in writing, by electronic mail, by telephone, by facsimile, or in person. If the request is insufficient to identify the records sought, the custodian will help the requester clarify the request. The custodian may ask the requester to complete forms to assist in defining or documenting the facts necessary for completing records requests; however, the requester is not obligated to complete these forms as a condition for obtaining the public records requested.

Requests for records are accepted and records made accessible for inspection or duplication during normal FCCC business hours, 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Public Records Exemptions

FCCC is responsible for protecting information defined as confidential or as otherwise prohibited from public inspection or copying under the Public Records Law. Confidential information shall be redacted (extracted) from records prior to public release or examination of the nonexempt portions.

The FCCC Custodian is responsible for informing the requester when requests cannot be filled due to an exemption which prevents disclosure. Upon request, the provider must provide the basis for this exemption and its statutory citation.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

General

The FCCC custodian is not required to give out information verbally or answer question about the records. The statutory obligation of the custodian is to provide access to or copies of existing public records.

The FCCC custodian is only required to provide records in the format in which the records are kept, as long as it a generally usable format. Custodians are not required to create a new record in a particular format or to reformat existing records in response to a request for records.

The Public Records Request Policy as adopted by the Best Practice Committee is incorporated by reference as a guide insomuch as it is applicable to the handling of general public records requests.

Thanks for yesterday's call. Tremendously helpful to hear your concerns and get direction. Here's our staff "to do" list:

1. Get data on recent releases from DOC to provide to individual Clerks to do some field tests on the work that may be involved. Great call with DOC this morning. They are testing if they can quickly provide us with 10 recent releases per county, including name, case number, and sentencing date. After some further discussions with CCIS and E-Filing Portal folks, I believe we can match that data against our information to add race and gender. With that data we can ensure that we have a sample that includes sentencing over a period of decades (electronic and paper records), and is representative of the demographics of the prison population.

2. Get more information on what DOC has asked to file. There are 3 documents that the DOC and the Division of Community Corrections (within DOC) wish to file through the E-Filing Portal as part of the individual case files:

DOC	Division of Community Corrections
a. Prison Release	a. Termination of Supervision
b. Inmate Obligation Payment History	b. Closing Summary
c. CCIS Financial Screenshot Summary	c. CCIS Financial Screenshot Summary

As DOC is already an agency in the Portal receiving information from Clerks' Offices, Carolyn Weber is setting up DOC as an "organization" so that DOC and the Division of Community Corrections can add their users as necessary and submit these documents electronically. They would be able to send documents using the filing path 'Send Documents to Multiple Cases,' as can any registered user.

3. Get the complaint in the court challenge to the new law. Attached.

4. Follow up on the request from the Department of State for a uniform statement they can provide to the Supervisors. This will be a discussion over a week or more. The Department has initially proposed something like this (as a starting point for discussions):

> To determine if you have completed all the terms of your sentence including parole or as to one or more felony conviction(s), please contact the Florida Department of Corrections [main line 850-488-5021] and/or the Clerk of Court in the county or counties in which you were convicted. If convicted out of state, you will need to contact the clerk of the court in the state in which you were convicted.

5. A number of related issues, including legal issues on which formal opinions may be needed, were raised during the discussion. We kept notes on those and will ensure follow up on each. We have a meeting with the good folks at Greenberg next Monday to start refining where they can help.

Finally, an article from the Tampa Bay Times on rocket to address financial obligations is attached in case you have not already seen it.

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF FLORIDA
TALLAHASSEE DIVISION

BONNIE RAYSOR, and DIANE SHERRILL, individually and on behalf of others similarly situated, Plaintiffs, v. LAUREL M. LEE, in her official capacity as Secretary of State, Defendant.	Civil Action No. _____ [Class Action]

COMPLAINT

Plaintiff Bonnie Raysor and Plaintiff Diane Sherrill ("Plaintiffs") brings this class action against Laurel M. Lee, in her official capacity as Secretary of State ("Defendant"), and allege the following:

INTRODUCTION

1. On November 6, 2018, almost two-thirds of Floridians voted for Amendment 4 to restore the right to vote to individuals with past felony convictions. Except for individuals convicted of murder or felony sexual offense, Amendment 4 re-enfranchised otherwise eligible Florida citizens automatically "upon completion of all terms of sentence including parole or probation." Fla. Const. art. VI, § 4.

2. On June 28, 2019, Governor Ron DeSantis signed Senate Bill 7066 ("SB 7066"), which purports to "implement" Amendment 4, in part by seeking to define "all terms of sentence" to include the payment of any restitution, fines, and fees ("legal financial obligations" or "LFOs") ordered by the court "as a part of the sentence or that are ordered by the court as a condition of any form of supervision." S.B. 7066, 2019 Leg., Reg. Sess., § 25 (Fla. 2019) (emphasis added).

3. The natural and foreseeable effect of this "implementing" law will be to drastically reduce the number of people with past convictions who regain the right to vote under Amendment 4; permanently disenfranchise many minor offenders; and dole out the right to vote on the basis of wealth.

4. On its face, SB 7066 discriminates on the basis of wealth. People with the financial means to satisfy their LFOs either during or at the conclusion of their sentence of incarceration or supervision will have their rights automatically restored. But, people whose socioeconomic status prevents them from satisfying their LFOs concurrent with the termination of their incarceration or supervision will be prohibited from voting until they are able to pay their outstanding balance.

5. As a result, whether otherwise eligible individuals will have the right to vote upon completion of their sentence of incarceration and supervision depends entirely on their ability to pay for it. Indeed, two otherwise eligible individuals with the same conviction, who received the same terms of probation and parole, and the same LFOs, would be treated differently under SB 7066 based solely on whether they have the means to satisfy their LFOs.

6. In short, SB 7066's wealth-based discrimination not only violates the Fourteenth Amendment, but also the Twenty-Fourth Amendment by functioning as a modern-day poll tax.

7. Further, SB 7066 is vague as to its scope. For example, it is internally contradictory with respect to whether fees or costs incurred after sentencing may nonetheless disenfranchise a person. Although the statute states that individuals must pay all LFOs imposed as a condition of supervision, it also states that individuals must pay only the amount specifically ordered by the court at sentencing. Yet, standard conditions of probation, which are imposed at sentencing, often require individuals to pay off certain debts that are only incurred after sentencing. Thus, SB 7066 will confuse potential voters and chill core First Amendment speech.

8. Finally, under SB 7066, it will be extraordinarily difficult for individuals with past convictions to determine their eligibility to vote and the risk of erroneous deprivation of the right to vote is high. Persons with both disqualifying and non-disqualifying LFOs will struggle to disaggregate those outstanding debts. And, the updated state voter registration form provided for in SB 7066 fails to inform people with convictions of the new eligibility requirements the law creates.

9. As a result of SB 7066, people with convictions will often be left in the dark and find themselves in need of a lawyer just to find out their eligibility to vote. Individuals who register in error risk felony prosecution and thus the unique threat of recidivism. Such ambiguity surrounding access to the right to vote violates procedural due process and cannot survive scrutiny under the First and Fourteenth Amendments.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

10. This action is brought under the United States Constitution. This Court has jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1331 and 1343.

11. This Court has personal jurisdiction over Defendant Lee, who is an appointed state official and a resident of Florida.

12. Venue is proper in this Court pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b). Among other things, the office of Defendant Lee is located in this District.

13. This Court has authority to issue declaratory and injunctive relief pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 2201 and 2202.

PARTIES

14. Plaintiff Bonnie Raysor (née Bonnie Ryan) is fifty-eight years old and has resided in Florida since she was seventeen. She is a United States citizen and currently resides in Boynton Beach, Florida.

15. After becoming addicted to opioids, Plaintiff Raysor was charged in 2009 and convicted in October 2010 of six felony and two misdemeanor drug-related charges. Since she was unable to afford an attorney, Plaintiff Raysor was assigned a public defender for these charges. She was sentenced to one year, six months, and five days in prison. Plaintiff Raysor was released from prison on March 29, 2011, with no parole or probation. She has no other criminal convictions.

16. Plaintiff Raysor works as an office manager and makes thirteen dollars per hour. She has a mortgage and a car payment and is responsible for the utilities, groceries, and other basic needs for herself and her nineteen-year-old daughter, who is a full-time student. She also has approximately $48,000 in student loan debt.

17. Voting is important to Plaintiff Raysor. As a Floridian, she knows how important a single vote can be in a close election. Voting gives her the opportunity to make a difference, and to speak her mind politically. It gives her the opportunity to make her voice heard.

18. When Amendment 4 passed, Plaintiff Raysor was thrilled to regain her right to vote. She proactively reached out for help to understand her rights and to ensure that she would be able to register to vote despite her past felony conviction.

19. Under SB 7066, however, Plaintiff Raysor is unable to register and vote in Florida. She has $4,260 in outstanding fines and fees related to her conviction.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

20. Upon information and belief, this sum includes fines and fees associated with her two misdemeanor and felony convictions. Upon information and belief, when Plaintiff Raysor was convicted, all fines and fees levied upon her were in the form of a civil lien. These fines and fees include the following: court costs, cost of prosecution, crime stoppers fund, cost of investigation, drug trust fund, public defender application fee, and public defender fee.

21. Based on her current income and ability to pay, Plaintiff Raysor is on a payment plan with the court, where she pays $30 per month towards her outstanding balance. Under this payment plan, Plaintiff Raysor will not pay off her LFOs until 2031. Thus, under SB 7066, she will not regain her right to vote for another twelve years, at which time she will be seventy years old.

22. Plaintiff Diane Sherrill is fifty-eight years old and is a Florida resident. She is a United States citizen and currently resides in St. Petersburg, Florida.

23. As a result of her struggle with addiction, Plaintiff Sherrill was convicted of one count of possession of crack cocaine in the third degree, two counts of possession of cocaine in the third degree, and one count of prostitution in the third degree between 1999 and 2005. For each of these charges, Plaintiff Sherrill was determined to be indigent and was assigned a public defender.

24. Plaintiff Sherrill has been drug-free and sober for over a decade. She has not had any criminal convictions since 2005. She has two adult children who live in the area and one grandchild. She is an active member of her church, Cornerstone Community Church.

25. Plaintiff Sherrill largely lives on a fixed Supplemental Security Income (SSI) of approximately $770 per month. She lives in public housing and receives approximately $70 per month in Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) benefits, otherwise known as food stamps. She has recently obtained part-time work at the local Ruby Tuesdays as a hostess, earning $8 per hour for 15 hours per week.

26. Plaintiff Sherrill lives by herself and is responsible for her monthly rent of $200, her utility bills (including electric, internet, and phone), groceries, car insurance and gas, and any other household expenses.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

27. Plaintiff Sherrill lost her driver's license as a result of her convictions and unpaid LFOs. After ten years, she was recently able to reinstate her driver's license in order to help care for her first grandchild.

28. Voting is important to Plaintiff Sherrill. As a Floridian, she knows how important a single vote can be in a close election. Voting gives her the opportunity to make a difference, and to speak her mind politically. It gives her the opportunity to make her voice heard.

29. A few years ago, Plaintiff Sherrill's church set up a table for voter registration of congregants. Plaintiff Sherrill inquired about whether she could regain her voting rights. The organizers referred her to the Pinellas County Supervisor of Elections, Deborah Clark. Plaintiff Sherrill wrote to Supervisor Clark about restoring her voting rights and received an application in the mail in response.

30. Plaintiff Sherrill wanted to apply to restore her voting rights but could not understand the confusing application she was sent or the process she was supposed to follow.

31. After the passage of Amendment 4, Plaintiff Sherrill was excited to register to vote and join her political community in voting in the next election. Since her convictions are well behind her, she believed she would be eligible to vote under Amendment 4.

32. Under SB 7066, however, Plaintiff Sherrill will not be eligible to register to vote and vote in the next election.

33. Plaintiff Sherrill owes $2,279 in outstanding LFOs related to her convictions. These LFOs include, inter alia, the following: indigent criminal defense fees, fines, investigative costs, and court costs. Upon information and relief, these LFOs also include penalties for nonpayment.

34. Upon information and belief, all of these outstanding LFOs were converted to civil liens and sent to a collections agency. Plaintiff Sherrill is living on a financial razor's edge. She is unable to afford to pay these LFOs at this time and cannot foresee a time when she will ever be able to pay these LFOs in full. As a result, SB 7066 may amount to permanent disenfranchisement for Plaintiff Sherrill.

35. Plaintiffs Raysor and Sherrill seek to represent a class for Count 2 (Twenty-Fourth Amendment) and Count 4 (Procedural Due Process) defined as: all persons otherwise eligible to register to vote in

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Florida who are denied the right to vote pursuant to SB 7066 because they have outstanding LFOs.

36. Plaintiffs Raysor and Sherrill seek to represent a subclass for Count 1 (Fourteenth Amendment) defined as: all persons otherwise eligible to register to vote in Florida who are denied the right to vote pursuant to SB 7066 because they are unable to pay off their outstanding LFOs due to their socioeconomic status.

37. Defendant Laurel M. Lee is the Secretary of State of Florida ("the Secretary") and is sued in her official capacity. The Secretary is the head of the Department of State ("the Department") and the chief election officer of the state. As chief election officer, the Secretary is responsible for obtaining and maintaining "uniformity in the interpretation and implementation of the election laws," and providing "uniform standards for the proper and equitable interpretation and implementation" of such laws. Fla. Stat. § 97.012(1)-(2). The Secretary is also responsible for administering the statewide voter registration system. Id. § 97.012(11).

38. Further, under SB 7066, the Department of State is responsible for identifying registered voters who have been convicted of a felony and whose voting rights have not been restored, and for initiating the process for removing potentially ineligible individuals from the voter rolls. See S.B. 7066, supra, §§ 24, 25, amending Fla. Stat. § 98.075(5). The Department is similarly responsible for obtaining and reviewing information on new registrants' eligibility for rights restoration, and for initiating the process for rejecting applications from potentially ineligible voters. See id.§ 25, enacting Fla. Stat. § 98.0751(3)(a).

FACTS

39. The Florida Constitution prohibits individuals with felony convictions from voting unless their voting rights have been restored. Fla. Const. art. VI, § 4. As of January 8, 2019, except for persons convicted of murder or felony sexual offense, voting rights are restored automatically "upon completion of all terms of sentence including parole and probation." Id. Persons convicted of murder or felony sexual offense are permanently disenfranchised but may apply to the Board of Executive Clemency to have their voting rights restored on a case-by-case basis. See S.B. 7066, supra, § 25, enacting Fla. Stat. §98.0751(1).

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

SB 7066

40. On June 28, 2019, Governor DeSantis signed SB 7066 into law. SB 7066 purports to implement the constitutional provision restoring voting rights to individuals with felony convictions, and states:

> A person who has been disqualified from voting based on a felony conviction for an offense other than murder or a felony sexual offense must have such disqualification terminated and his or her voting rights restored pursuant to s. 4, Art. VI of the State Constitution upon the completion of all terms of his or her sentence, including parole or probation.

S.B. 7066, supra,§ 25, enacting Fla. Stat. § 98.0751(1).

41. But SB 7066 does not merely implement Amendment 4. Rather, it severely restricts access to the right to vote. SB 7066 defines "completion of all terms of sentence" to include not only any term of imprisonment, probation, community control or supervision (collectively, "carceral supervision"), but also the full payment of any LFOs, including restitution, fines and fees "ordered by the court as a part of the sentence or that are ordered by the court as a condition of any form of supervision," even if those obligations have been converted to civil liens. Id., enacting Fla. Stat. § 98.0751(2).

42. Governor DeSantis' signing statement accompanying SB 7066 does not address these financial barriers to voting but does state his personal opinion that Florida voters made a "mistake" by restoring "voting rights to violent felons." By requiring the payment of all LFOs—many of which people with past convictions will never be able to pay—Governor DeSantis has ratified a law that will undermine Amendment 4, which he deems a "mistake."

43. Florida does not require courts to consider ability to pay at the time LFOs are imposed. When seeking to enforce compliance with a legal financial obligation, however, courts may inquire into ability to pay. See, e.g., Fla. Stat. § 938.30. Based on the individual's ability to pay, a court seeking to enforce a legal financial obligation may order the individual to comply with a payment schedule; convert the obligation to a judgment or civil lien against the individual's property; or may, in limited instances, convert outstanding fines and court costs "into a court-ordered obligation to perform community service." Id. Upon information and belief, many mandatory LFOs cannot be converted to community service.

44. SB 7006 defines the "completion" of LFOs to include: actual payment of the obligation in full; termination of the obligation by the court, with the approval of the payee; or completion of all community service hours where the court has converted the financial obligation to community service. SB 7066, supra, § 25, enacting Fla. Stat. § 98.0751(5)(e). Finally, SB 7066 states that "[t]he requirement to pay any financial obligation specified in this paragraph is not deemed completed upon conversion to a civil lien." Id. This language, however, does not directly address the circumstance of Plaintiff Raysor, whose LFOs were imposed as civil liens as an initial matter.

45. While SB 7066 acknowledges that LFOs can be modified by the sentencing court, it does not require any modifications to LFOs, even in cases where indigence or inability to pay is the only barrier to voting rights restoration.

IMPACT OF SB 7066

46. Across all jurisdictions in Florida, over $700 million in fines, court costs, and other monetary penalties were assessed in 2018 alone. In addition, over $481 million in fees, service charges, and costs were assessed during 2018. These figures do not include the enormous sum of fines and fees that were assessed prior to 2018 but are still outstanding.

47. Criminal Circuit Courts in Florida assessed over $275 million in fines and fees during 2018. Of that amount, nearly thirty percent is categorized as at risk for collection due to indigence or reduction to a civil judgment or lien. In several Circuits, the amount at risk due to indigence is over forty percent. Criminal Circuit Courts in Florida converted only about $1.2 million in court fines to community service during 2018.

48. The Department of Corrections reported just under $20 million dollars in revenue from cost of supervision fees in fiscal year 2017-2018, nearly $50 million dollars in revenue from restitution, fines, and court costs, and over $20 million dollars in court ordered fees.[1]

49. Individuals with past felony convictions are more likely to have lower incomes than other registered voters, and to live in neighborhoods with higher unemployment than other Florida voters.[2]

50. On information and belief, many individuals with fines, fees, and restitution ordered as part of their sentence or as a condition of supervision related to a felony conviction also have other LFOs assessed through the criminal justice system. These may include LFOs associated with felony convictions but not ordered at the time of sentence or as a condition of supervision. In other instances, LFOs may be related to misdemeanor or civil judgments, rather than a felony conviction. On information and belief, these LFOs are not disaggregated by the County or the court when converted to a civil judgment, lien, community service, or incorporated into a payment plan.

51. For example, upon information and belief, Plaintiff Raysor has fines and fees associated with her misdemeanor convictions, which are a part of the $4,260 she still owes. Based on the records available to Plaintiff Raysor, she cannot ascertain how much of her $30 monthly payments go towards her felony versus misdemeanor LFOs. Nor does she know if she may prioritize paying the LFOs associated with her felony convictions, which prevent her from voting.

52. Similarly, Plaintiff Raysor does not know how the outstanding LFOs associated with her felony convictions break down, such that she cannot determine which of these LFOs fall within the scope of SB 7066, and which fall outside the scope of SB 7066. Nor does she know whether the fact that her LFOs were initially imposed as a civil lien—rather than converted—affects their status under SB 7066.

53. Likewise, Plaintiff Sherrill believes that some of her outstanding LFOs are penalties for nonpayment that should not bar her from voting under SB 7066. But since the full balance has been sent to a collections agency, she does not know if or how she may prioritize paying the LFOs that disqualify her from voting.

54. Plaintiff Sherrill does not know if there are additional fines, fees, and costs within her outstanding balance that fall outside the scope of SB 7066.

55. For individuals whose LFOs have been converted to community service, a civil judgment, or lien, satisfaction of the obligation is often determined by a private third-party. Private non-profit, community, or charitable organizations may all serve as community service agencies for the purpose of court-ordered community service. See Fla. Stat. § 318.18. The responsibility for monitoring and recording community service hours—defined as "uncompensated labor for a community service agency"—falls to these entities. Id. Similarly, a county may pursue the collection of outstanding LFOs through private attorneys and collection agencies. Not only does this place the obligation in the hands of a third party, but Florida allows those parties to impose a surcharge of up to forty percent of the balance owed as a collection fee.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

56. For example, at times when she was facing financial hardship, Plaintiff Raysor has fallen behind on paying her LFOs. As a result, in 2014, her debts were placed with a collection agency, Penn Credit, which imposed a forty percent surcharge on her balance. Plaintiff Raysor also lost her driver's license as a consequence of her overdue LFOs. Ultimately, she was able to petition the court to remove the surcharge, place her back on a payment plan, and reinstate her driver's license. She currently pays $30 per month toward her LFO balance.

57. Upon information and belief, Plaintiff Sherrill's outstanding balance includes several substantial fees imposed as penalties for transfer to a collections agency.

58. Fines and fees that may be assessed as part of an individual's sentence include, but are not limited to: mandatory assessments for the Court Cost Clearing Trust Fund, the Crimes Compensation Trust Fund, the Operating Trust Fund of the Department of Law Enforcement, a mandatory $225 fine for a felony conviction, mandatory fines assessed based on the specific felony conviction or convictions, mandatory costs authorized by local governmental entities, discretionary costs related to the specific type of case or conviction, and additional surcharges on these costs. See generally ch. 983, Fla. Stat.

59. In addition, conditions of carceral supervision imposed at sentencing may include, but are not limited to: payment of debts due to a detention center for medical care, treatment, hospitalization, or transportation; application fees and attorneys' costs and fees if the individual had a public defender appointed; and reimbursement for costs of drawing and transmitting blood or DNA samples to the Department of Law Enforcement. See, e.g., Fla. Stat. § 948.03.

60. In other words, under SB 7066, it appears an individual's right to vote may be conditioned on the payment of outstanding medical debt that accrues after sentencing.

61. Thus, the requirement in SB 7066 that an individual pay off all LFOs "ordered by the court as a condition of any form of supervision," SB 7066, § 25, enacting Fla. Stat. § 98.0751(2)(a)(5)(b), is inconsistent with later language stating that payment of LFOs "accrue[d] after the date the obligation is ordered as a part of the sentence" is not required to be eligible for rights restoration, id., enacting Fla. Stat. § 98.0751(2)(a)(5)(c). This internally incoherent language will undoubtedly leave Florida citizens in the dark about which LFOs are disqualifying and which LFOs are not disqualifying.

62. Upon information and belief, this confusion will only be compounded by the lack of easy access to records disaggregating the LFOs incurred by a person with a past conviction. Plaintiffs Raysor and Sherrill, even with assistance of counsel, have been unable to ascertain this information with respect to their own outstanding debts.

63. SB 7066 itself recognizes that Florida citizens are not likely to be able to assess their own eligibility to vote under this law. It provides for the creation of a "Restoration of Voting Rights Work Group." SB 7066, §33. The work group is charged with developing recommendations for the Legislature related to "[t]he process of informing a registered voter of the entity or entities that are custodians of the relevant data necessary for verifying . . . eligibility for restoration of voting rights." Id.

64. Yet, SB 7066 becomes effective on July 1, 2019, and these recommendations are not due to the Legislature for consideration until November 1, 2019. Id. In other words, the Legislature passed SB 7066 fully aware that eligible Florida citizens will struggle or be unable to ascertain their eligibility to vote.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

65. Nonetheless, after July 1, 2019, Florida citizens will risk criminal sanction if they register to vote while their voting rights have not, in fact, been restored under SB 7066's vague and ambiguous language. This is so despite the fact that the updated state voter registration form required by SB 7066 will not mention the LFO requirement at all.

66. The mechanics of SB 7066 are inordinately complicated for affected citizens, and its scope is vague. Its consequences, however, are clear. Under SB 7066, Floridians with past felony convictions who have completed their term of carceral supervision, including incarceration, probation, and parole, and who either do not have LFOs or have paid them off, will automatically have their voting rights restored. Individuals who have outstanding LFOs are denied the right to vote unless or until they are able to satisfy their financial obligations. An individual who is unable to pay off her outstanding LFOs due to her socioeconomic status is permanently denied the right to vote.

67. In short, SB 7066 conditions the restoration of voting rights entirely upon an individual's financial resources, in violation of the Fourteenth and Twenty-Fourth Amendments.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY

68. Under SB 7066, individuals who are disenfranchised solely because of their outstanding LFOs may apply for executive clemency, subject to the "unfettered discretion" of the Florida Governor. See SB 7066, § 25, enacting Fla. Stat. § 98.0751(1); Fla. R. Exec. Clemency 4. This "unfettered discretion" means the Governor has the authority "to deny clemency at any time, for any reason." Fla. R. Exec. Clemency 4.

69. Thus, individuals able to pay their LFOs can register and vote automatically upon completing carceral supervision, while those unable to pay are disenfranchised indefinitely, subject to the whim of the Governor.

70. Applying for executive clemency is extremely burdensome. An individual with outstanding LFOs must wait seven years after the completion of carceral supervision to apply for a restoration of civil rights.[3] Fla. R. Exec. Clemency 5. If denied, an applicant must wait for at least two years to reapply. Fla. R. Exec. Clemency 14. Applications must contain certified copies of the charging document, judgment, and

[3] Individuals with no outstanding restitution may be eligible to apply for rights restoration after five years, depending on their crime of conviction. See Fla. R. Exec. Clemency 9.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

sentence for each felony conviction. Fla. R. Exec. Clemency 6(B). After applying, the individual is subject to an investigation by the Florida Commission on Offender Review, and her application will be decided at a hearing in Tallahassee.[4] Fla. R. Exec. Clemency 8(B). The applicant must give ten days notice to the Board if she or any other person intends to speak at the hearing on her behalf. Fla. R. Exec. Clemency 12(B). The final determination of any application is subject to the "unfettered discretion" of the Florida Governor. Fla. R. Exec. Clemency 4.

71. Thus, even after completing the burdensome application process, individuals who lack the means to pay their LFOs will not be allowed to vote "unless Florida's Governor approves restoration of this fundamental right" or a complete remission of their LFOs. Hand v. Scott, 285 F. Supp. 3d 1289, 1292 (N.D. Fla. 2018). Meanwhile, similarly [4] Prior to January 8, 2019, all Floridians with past felony convictions were permanently disenfranchised unless they applied for and obtained a restoration of civil rights from the Governor and the Board of Clemency. Under this system, individuals who had paid their restitution were eligible to apply for rights restoration without being subject to a hearing. In Johnson v. Governor of Fla., the Eleventh Circuit found the hearing requirement, standing alone, insufficient to support a claim that restoration was conditioned upon an applicant's financial resources. 405 F.3d 1214, 1216 n.1 (11th Cir. 2005). The Court reserved ruling, however, on the question of "whether conditioning an application for clemency on paying restitution would be an invalid poll tax." Id. Plaintiffs' claims present exactly the question reserved by the Court. But for their outstanding LFOs, Plaintiffs' voting rights would be restored. But for their outstanding LFOs, Plaintiffs would not be subject to a discretionary restoration process at all. The entire clemency procedure is conditioned upon otherwise eligible individuals' inability to pay.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

situated individuals—including those convicted of the same crimes—are granted automatic restoration of their voting rights based solely on their ability to pay their LFOs.

72. This process necessarily discriminates on the basis of wealth. Rights restoration is guaranteed to individuals of financial means, while the indigent must not only suffer the indignity of having to beg for their rights to be restored, but they must do so on blind faith, without any notice of the conditions, factors, or whims that will determine if their application is successful.

CLASS ALLEGATIONS

73. Upon information and belief, at least 500,000 individuals with past felony convictions who are otherwise eligible under Amendment 4 have outstanding LFOs and are therefore not qualified for voting rights restoration under SB 7066, just like Plaintiffs. Countless otherwise eligible individuals will be prevented from exercising their right to vote in the future because they are unable to pay their LFOs due to their socioeconomic status.

74. Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23, Plaintiffs Raysor and Sherrill bring this action on behalf of themselves and all other similarly situated persons. Plaintiffs Raysor and Sherrill do not seek claims for compensatory relief. Instead, Plaintiffs seek only declaratory and injunctive relief broadly applicable to members of the Plaintiff Class and the Plaintiff Subclass, as defined above. The requirements of Rule 23, and in particular Rule 23(b)(2), are met with respect to the Plaintiff Class and Plaintiff Subclass as defined in ¶¶ 22 and 23.

75. The members of the Plaintiff Class and Plaintiff Subclass are so numerous that joinder is impracticable. While the exact number of members in the Plaintiff Class and Plaintiff Subclass are not publicly available, upon information and belief, the total number of otherwise eligible citizens of Florida disenfranchised due to some combination of outstanding fines, fees, or restitution exceeds 500,000. The Plaintiff Class and Plaintiff Subclass are ascertainable through Defendant's records and records kept by the Florida State Department of Corrections. Indeed, under SB 7066, it is Defendant's responsibility to identify registrants who are not eligible for rights restoration because they have outstanding LFOs.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

76. Common questions of law and fact predominate over questions affecting only individual class and subclass members with respect to allegations in this complaint. Those questions include, but are not limited to, the following:

a. Whether SB 7066 discriminates on the basis of wealth in violation of the Fourteenth Amendment.

b. Whether SB 7066 violates the Twenty-Fourth Amendment.

c. Whether SB 7066 creates an impermissible risk of erroneous deprivation of the fundamental right to vote in violation of the Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment.

77. Plaintiffs' claims are typical of the Plaintiff Class and Plaintiff Subclass as defined in ¶¶ 22 and 23. Plaintiffs Raysor and Sherrill are not aware of any conflict between their interests and those of the Plaintiff Class and Plaintiff Subclass they seek to represent.

78. Plaintiffs Raysor and Sherrill can fairly and adequately represent the interests of the Plaintiff Class and Plaintiff Subclass because they are similarly situated with class members. Plaintiffs Raysor and Sherrill have retained counsel experienced in class-action and voting rights litigation to represent them and the Plaintiff Class and Plaintiff Subclass for the purpose of this litigation.

79. Defendants have acted, or refused to act, on grounds generally applicable to the entire class, and final injunctive relief and corresponding declaratory relief are appropriate respecting the class as a whole.

CLAIMS
Count 1: Wealth-Based Disenfranchisement, Fourteenth Amendment

80. Plaintiffs reallege the facts set forth in paragraphs 1-79 above.

81. A state "violates the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment whenever it makes the affluence of the voter or payment of any fee an electoral standard." Harper v. Va. State Bd. of Elections, 383 U.S. 663, 666 (1966); see also Johnson v. Governor of Fla., 405 F.3d 1214, 1217 (11th Cir. 2005).

82. By requiring an otherwise eligible Florida citizen to pay all LFOs before she is eligible to restore her right to vote, SB 7066 impermissibly makes financial payments an electoral standard.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

83. By requiring an otherwise eligible Florida citizen to pay all LFOs before she is eligible to restore her right to vote, SB 7066 impermissibly makes the affluence of an otherwise eligible voter an electoral standard.

84. It is well established that "a citizen has a constitutionally protected right to participate in elections on an equal basis with other citizens in the jurisdiction." Dunn v. Blumstein, 405 U.S. 330, 336 (1972).

85. Wealth "is not germane to one's ability to participate intelligently in the electoral process." Harper, 383 U.S. at 668.

86. Plaintiffs Raysor and Sherrill and members of the Plaintiff Subclass are unable to afford to pay their remaining LFOs, and this is the only reason they are not eligible to vote in the state of Florida.

87. The mere possibility that LFOs could, in some cases, be modified—left to the discretion of individual judges—does nothing to alleviate this unconstitutional barrier to voting for Plaintiffs Raysor and Sherrill and other members of the Plaintiff Subclass. Nor does the possibility that the Governor could, if he felt so moved, exercise his discretion to restore the right to vote to individuals with outstanding LFOs on a case-by-case basis. Indeed, Representative James Grant noted in enacting SB 7066 that discretionary rights restoration is "'a recipe for rampant discrimination.'"[5] Moreover, it is well established that imposing additional requirements on voters who cannot pay is no more constitutionally permissible than outright disenfranchisement. See Harman v. Forssenius, 380 U.S. 528 (1965).

88. It is also well established that a state may not impose additional punishment[6] or deprive a citizen of a fundamental right solely because "through no fault of his own, he cannot pay the fine." Bearden v. Georgia, 461 U.S. 660, 673 (1983). In other words, Bearden requires a careful consideration of ability to pay before fundamental rights are withheld on the basis of failure to pay a fine. Failure to condition the LFOs requirement on an ability to pay inquiry further violates "the fundamental fairness required by the Fourteenth Amendment." Id.

[6] While not a necessary element of Plaintiffs' claims, disenfranchisement on the basis of a past conviction—and continued because of inability to pay LFOs—certainly qualifies as punishment. See Johnson, 405 F.3d at 1228 ("Indeed, throughout history, criminal disenfranchisement provisions have existed as a punitive device."); see also Act of June 25, 1868, ch. 70, 15 Stat. 73, 73 (Readmission Act for Florida) (prohibiting any change to the state constitution that "deprive[s] any citizen or class of citizens of the United States of the right to vote . . . except as punishment for such crimes as are now felonies at common law").

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

89. Florida has no cognizable interest in withholding the right to vote from citizens solely on the basis that they are unable to pay their LFOs. "[W]ealth or fee paying has . . . no relation to voting qualifications." Harper, 383 U.S. at 670. When the LFOs requirement is applied to those unable to pay, "the statute merely prevents" citizens from voting "without delivering any money at all into the hands of [the State]." Zablocki v. Redhail, 434 U.S. 374, 389 (1978); see also Bearden, 461 U.S. at 670 ("Revoking the probation of someone who through no fault of his own is unable to make restitution will not make restitution suddenly forthcoming.").

90. SB 7066 invidiously discriminates between Florida citizens with prior felony convictions who have been discharged from carceral supervision and who are able to pay their LFOs, and Florida citizens with prior felony convictions, who have been discharged from carceral supervision but are unable to pay their LFOs, in violation of the Fourteenth Amendment.

Count 2: Poll Tax, Twenty-Fourth Amendment

91. Plaintiffs reallege the facts set forth in paragraphs 1-90 above.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

92. The Twenty-Fourth Amendment provides that "[t]he right of citizens of the United States to vote in any primary or other election for President or Vice President, for electors for President or Vice President, or for Senator or Representative in Congress, shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or any State by reason of failure to pay any poll tax or other tax." U.S. Const. amend. XXIV, § 1 (emphasis added).

93. For those who are otherwise eligible SB 7066 denies the right to vote to those who cannot afford to pay their LFOs solely by reason of their failure to pay fines and fees to the State of Florida.

94. SB 7066 hinges access to the right to vote on the payment of many fines and fees to the government—such as contributions to various state funds and to the costs of the court system itself—that fall well within any reasonable definition of "other tax." See U.S. v. State Tax Comm'n of Miss., 421 U.S. 599, 606 (1975) (noting that the "standard definition of a tax" is any "enforced contribution to provide for the support of government").

95. The failure to call SB 7066's LFOs requirement a "poll tax" does nothing to change its function, which hinges access to the ballot box on the payment of a variety of fines and fees to the state of Florida. See

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Harman, 380 U.S. at 540-41 ("[T]he Twenty-fourth [Amendment] nullifies sophisticated as well as simple-minded modes of impairing the right guaranteed." (internal quotation marks omitted)).

96. SB 7066 directly conflicts with the prohibition of the Twenty-Fourth Amendment.

Count 3: Void for Vagueness, First and Fourteenth Amendment

97. Plaintiffs reallege the facts set forth in paragraphs 1-96, above.

98. The Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution requires that a law that imposes penalties give ordinary people reasonable notice of what conduct it prohibits and guard against arbitrary and discriminatory enforcement.

99. The applicability of the void for vagueness doctrine is heightened both when criminal sanctions are attached to a vague law and when the First Amendment is implicated.

100. Here, SB 7066 does both. It attaches threat of criminal sanction to the acts of registering to vote and voting, both of which fall squarely within "core political speech" given the utmost First Amendment protection.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

101. SB 7066 does not reasonably inform people with past convictions of which LFOs—imposed as a condition of supervision or imposed in the first instance as civil liens—are disqualifying and which are not. Nor does it, by its own admission, provide citizens with access to the records necessary to determine their eligibility. The reasonable person, like Plaintiffs Raysor and Sherrill, with a variety of outstanding LFOs will not be able to determine which LFOs are disqualifying and which are not.

102. The state voter registration form—as updated by SB 7066—will not provide citizens with meaningful information to determine their eligibility to vote.

103. Nonetheless, the state subjects voters who make an error in determining their eligibility to the threat of criminal prosecution.

104. This cocktail of confusion and obfuscation will undeniably chill the registration and voting of eligible Florida voters in violation of the First and Fourteenth Amendments. The ambiguous portions of the LFOs requirement—as they relate to LFOs imposed as conditions of supervision or as civil liens in the first instance—must be enjoined.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Count 4: Violation of Due Process, Fourteenth Amendment

105. Plaintiffs reallege the facts set forth in paragraphs 1-104, above.

106. A "claim alleging a denial of procedural due process requires proof of three elements: (1) a deprivation of a constitutionally protected liberty or property interest; (2) state action; and (3) constitutionally inadequate process." Grayden v. Rhodes, 345 F.3d 1225, 1232 (11th Cir. 2003).

107. Plaintiffs Raysor and Sherrill and the members of the Plaintiff Class and Subclass have a constitutionally protected right to vote upon completion of their sentence per Art. VI § 4 of the Florida Constitution and the Fourteenth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

108. SB 7066 denies otherwise eligible individuals the right to vote unless and until they pay off certain—but not all—legal financial obligations.

109. Further, SB 7066 fails to provide for adequate procedures to ensure that individuals who qualify for rights restoration are able to register and vote in Florida.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

110. Determining what process is due under the Fourteenth Amendment "is a flexible concept that varies with the particular circumstances of each case." Id. Under Mathews v. Eldridge, the determination of what process is due rests on the balance between (1) the interest affected; (2) the risk of erroneous deprivation under the current procedures and the "probable value, if any, of additional or substitute procedural safeguards;" and (3) the state's interest, including the "fiscal and administrative burdens" additional procedures would entail. 424 U.S. 319, 335 (1976).

111. Here, the constitutionally protected interest at stake is no less than the fundamental right to vote, and the risk of erroneous deprivation is high. SB 7066 conditions the restoration of voting rights on payment of unenumerated legal financial obligations, without providing for any process by which an otherwise eligible voter can (1) differentiate between LFOs that are disqualifying and those which are non-disqualifying, or (2) prioritize payment of disqualifying LFOs, such that they are not disenfranchised by their inability to pay off non-disqualifying LFOs.

112. The Florida criminal justice system imposes a dizzying array of fines, fees, and costs on persons with felony convictions, including processing fees, surcharges, penalties, and costs that are incurred after sentencing, but which must be paid off as a condition of supervision. Not only is SB 7066 itself internally inconsistent about which LFOs disqualifying, it fails to provide any procedures for otherwise eligible individuals to determine which of their LFOs are disqualifying, or to prioritize payment of those LFOs that prevent them from being able to vote.

113. In other words, even those individuals able to pay their disqualifying LFOs may be denied the right to vote because they are unable to determine which LFOs are disqualifying, or because they are not allowed to pay fully their disqualifying LFOs without also paying toward their non-disqualifying LFOs.

114. Further, SB 7066 fails to provide any procedures for how Defendant Lee shall identify registered voters or new registrants whose rights have not been restored due to disqualifying LFOs, including on what basis Defendant Lee shall determine that information related to an individual's disqualifying LFOs is "credible and reliable." S.B. 7066, 2019 Leg., Reg. Sess., § 24 (Fla. 2019).

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

115. In creating the Restoration of Voting Rights Work Group, SB 7066 acknowledges that Defendant Lee does not yet know what data is necessary to determine an individuals' eligibility to vote under SB 7066, and that no process yet exists for informing registered voters where they may find this information. Indeed, the Work Group's report and recommendations for developing these data sources and procedures are not due until four months after the effective date for SB 7066. And the law makes no provision for when or if these recommendations, or any other such procedures, shall be adopted.

116. The lack of procedural safeguards creates a substantial likelihood that eligible voters will be denied the right to vote upon completion of their sentence based on outstanding but non-disqualifying LFOs.

117. In other words, SB 7066 creates a substantial likelihood that individuals entitled to rights restoration under the Florida Constitution will be erroneously deprived of their right to vote.

118. As stated above, the state has no cognizable interest in discriminating against otherwise eligible voters on the basis of wealth. Nor does the state have any interest in using the right to vote as an incentive for individuals to pay their LFOs. And even to the extent the state has an interest in ensuring that persons with past felony convictions pay in full their financial obligations associated with their convictions, there is simply no evidence to suggest that withholding voting rights until payment of LFOs is complete assists the state in achieving that end any more so than existing procedures unrelated to voting. Indeed, the fiscal and administrative burdens on the state of ensuring that eligible voters are not denied the right to vote under SB 7066 are substantially higher than they otherwise would be, absent the LFO requirements.

119. SB 7066 therefore violates due process because it creates a procedure for restoration of voting rights that is fundamentally unfair and gives rise to a substantial likelihood of erroneous deprivation of the right to vote, and which cannot be justified by any cognizable state interest.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs respectfully pray that this Court:

(1) Certify the Plaintiff Class as defined in paragraph 22, and the Plaintiff Subclass as defined in paragraph 23;

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

(2) Issue a declaratory judgment that SB 7066, by its terms and as applied, violates the Fourteenth and Twenty-Fourth Amendments of the U.S. Constitution;

(3) Issue a declaratory judgment that the identified LFOs portions of SB 7066, by their terms and as applied, are void for vagueness in violation of the First and Fourteenth Amendments;

(4) Issue a declaratory judgment that SB 7066 fails to provide adequate safeguards against unlawful disenfranchisement in violation of the Fourteenth Amendment;

(5) Enjoin Defendant, her agents, employees, successors, and all those persons acting in concert or participation with them, from enforcing SB 7066 including:

a. Enjoining Defendant from initiating a process for the rejection of any voter registration applications on the basis of outstanding LFOs;

b. Enjoining Defendant from initiating a process for the removal of any voters from the voter registration rolls on the basis of outstanding LFOs;

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

June 29, 2019 Tampa Bay Times

TAMPA — In 2018, Florida voters approved a constitutional amendment that automatically restored voting rights to felons who have completed their time spent in prison or on probation. Then in the spring, the Legislature limited who benefits from Amendment 4, saying only those who no longer owe court fines and fees can get the back their right to vote.

One of the only ways around that is for felons to ask a judge to waive those costs, or convert them to community service hours.

Hillsborough State Attorney Andrew Warren wants to make that happen en masse.

His office is exploring the possibility of having judges waive court costs in favor of community service for a large number of cases. The idea is to create a “rocket docket,” or special court that could eliminate the debts that hundreds or thousands of defendants owe to the criminal justice system, speeding up the process for those who want to regain their right to vote.

“Our goal is to fulfill the promise of Amendment 4,” Warren told the Tampa Bay Times. “The focus is on people with lower level crimes who have paid their debt to society.”

The plan is far from final. Hurdles include identifying who might be eligible, an arduous task that involves combing through thousands of court records and massive databases.

But Hillsborough leaders are open to the idea. Warren brought it up last month in a meeting organized by County Commissioner Les Miller, and one of the attendees was Hillsborough Chief Judge Ronald Ficarrotta. Both support the idea, but said the details need to ironed out.

“I think they're going to need to come up with a way of identifying the individuals and then we can sit down and talk,” Ficarrotta said. “We're in the very early stages of it.”

“Everyone kind of agreed that we needed to work together to implement a program of some type," Miller said. "It's not going to happen overnight. ... It's unfortunate that the public wanted one thing and the Legislature put something else in place."

Gov. Ron DeSantis signed the controversial bill Friday, which limits how many felons will be able to vote. Critics say the law amounts to a “poll tax,” comparing it to racist laws enacted starting in the 1890s that kept blacks and some poor whites from voting. They say Florida voters passed Amendment 4 — restoring voting rights to felons, except those convicted of murder or felony sex offenses — to finally overturn such laws.

The American Civil Liberties Union and other groups quickly sued to block the new law, arguing on behalf of several felons who registered to vote after the amendment passed but lost that right again under the new law.

Pinellas-Pasco State Attorney Bernie McCabe opposes the rocket docket idea. He said the law implements Amendment 4 just as its supporters had described it in the lead up to the 2018 election.

"I thought what they've got now is what they advertised," McCabe said.

He pointed out that during 2017 oral arguments on Amendment 4 before the Florida Supreme Court, Justice Ricky Polston asked whether the completion of a sentence would include the payment of fines. Attorney Jon Mills, who argued in favor of the amendment's placement on the ballot, said the answer was yes.

But those who advocated for Amendment 4 say the text of the measure speaks for itself, and needed no fine-tuning from the Legislature.

Many argue that outstanding court debts should not be used to keep someone from voting.

Pinellas-Pasco Public Defender Bob Dillinger is among them.

“I think it's manifestly unfair and it’s not what the voters wanted,” Dillinger said of the new law.

The rocket docket concept has generated buzz throughout the Sunshine State. The office of Palm Beach State Attorney Dave Aronberg said Monday it’s also exploring the idea.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

But it's still unclear when those courts could start, or what the process would look like.

“It may be multiple rocket dockets depending on what the universe of cases is,” Warren said.

The task of determining who may be eligible could fall on local officials, such as the Hillsborough Clerk of the Circuit Court.

But the office don't have an easy way to determine exactly how many defendants are in debt. Figuring it out involves pulling data from thousands of records.

A spreadsheet provided by the clerk's office underscores the enormity of the task. The sheet details amounts owed by all defendants whose last names start with the letter J. It lists more than 66,000 individual criminal cases.

“Some defendants owe hundreds of thousands and some owe a couple hundred,” said Tom Scherberger, a spokesman for Hillsborough Clerk Pat Frank.

Some also owe money over multiple cases, Scherberger said.

The challenge gets more complicated with older cases, he said, for which outstanding court cost data may not be readily available in a database.

Most of the time, the debts don't get paid.

The clerk's data shows that from 2007 to 2017 the clerk’s office assessed more than $503 million that was owed to the court system. Of that total, only about $15 million — or less than 3 percent — was collected.

The debts that do get paid go toward funding local court systems.

“There is a fair amount of nuance to this,” Warren said. “We want to make sure we’re doing this the right way and following the law.”

Attachment(s): "Survey Results - 10 per county - 8-20 update.xlsx"

Greetings,

My thanks to Kim Renspie for her work on compiling the results on the 10 cases per county study. The study compared the data in each Clerk's CMS to the CCIS data. Kim's report is attached. It provides a good overview of the results. As mentioned in our phone conference today, 64 counties have responded. We are still waiting to hear from Dixie, Columbia and Hamilton.

Please let me know if you have any questions or any insights from your review of the report.

Not that I know of. Let me check with Kim. She has the updated list or responses. As you are aware, last week I sent emails to all clerks who have not yet responded. Many responded this past week. I think we still have about 5 clerks who have not responded. Let me get you an update.

The bottom line though, is that I know of no clerk who said he/she could not provide the information.

	A
1	Clerks' Amendment 4 Quick Response Team
2	Comparison of CCIS and CMS
3	for Recent Department of Correction Releasees
5	The Department of Corrections provided the A4 QRT with basic information on individuals recently released by the Department. For each county, 10 individuals were identified.
7	The Department provided: the DC Number (unique to each individual), Last Name, First Name, Case Number (based on the UCN), Uniform Case Number (usually blank as not recirded in Departmetn systems), Release Date, and County where Convicted.
9	The Clerks on the A4 QRT reviewed the data and tested it in each of their counties. The test involved comparing CCIS data, focusing on financial obligations and payment data, with each Clerk's CMS data. The A4 QRT then asked each of the other 67 Clerks to check their 10 cases in the same way.
10
12
13	At the same time, beginning July 1, 2019, the Department began filing with the Clerks documents related to restoration of voting rights for each newly-released individual. Even though they were not identified as part of the CCIS-CMS comparison, any issues that were identified with those filings have also been included in the attached spreadsheet.
14
15	Note that the Department's list of 10 recent releasees per county is not a random sample, nor was it compiled to be statistically significant. With 10 cases per Clerk, some Clerks were sure to get a list that would present no problems, while other Clerks would get a list full of problems. In a big county, everyone on the list could be a recent releasee, while in a small county the list could include individuals released some time ago. The results for any individual Clerk would not be indicative of the issues that might asrise statewide.
16
17	However, the total number of cases reviewed statewide is equal to 2 percent of the number of individuals released by the Department in the 2017-2018 state fiscal year. Thus, this review represents a large enough group that Clerks, after examining the statewide results, can derive a valid picture of many of the issues faced.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

	A	B	C
1	Category	County	Issue
2	CCIS - address	Escambia	For 8 of 10, CCIS has old address; CMS has current address flagged as "default".
3	CCIS - charge	Gadsden	for 1 individual, like the SAO, the charge sequence is in the Prosecutor Phase and not the Initial Phase.
4	CCIS - charge	Indian River	Sentence on each count – The sentences on all charges that had a Court and Sentencing Phase completed were correct. In the charges that were Nolle Prosequi (Prosecutor Phase) – CCIS reflects time served rather than Nolle Prosequi or dropped. In 1 case, there were 3 charges; in 3 other cases there was 1 charge. In 1 case CCIS reflects Administrative Probation instead of Reporting Probation on 2 charges.
5	CCIS - charge	Monroe	In 2 of the 10 cases, CCIS says prosecutor Filed on certain counts but they are Nolle Pros. Not sure why. The other cts are correct.
6	CCIS - charge	Monroe	Individual was WheldAdj on 11/20/15 but he had violated and now is Adj on Ct 1 on 3/16/15. Now fixed in CMS, but CCIS isn't showing the Adj on 3/16/15.
7	CCIS - charge	Monroe	In one of the 10 cases, a count was Nolle Pros, but CCIS says Prosecutor Filed, Not sure why, other cts are correct.
8	CCIS - charge	Seminole	Only shows pending Warrant/Capias or Summons information. Once issued, the old information is not maintained in the CMS. We will look at ways to provide this history.
9	CCIS - charge	St. Lucie	Charge sequence in CCIS is different from CMS (2 individuals)
10	CCIS - charge	St. Lucie	Charges that were No Info'd are showing in CCIS as Dropped/Abandoned. Also shows a sentence of Time Served - Adjudication is correct, sentence should not be there. (2 individuals)
11	CCIS - charge	St. Lucie	CCIS does not display Charge Count #2 Adjudication
12	CCIS - charge	St. Lucie	Charge that was Nolle Pros is showing in CCIS as Nolle Pros but, also shows a sentence of Time Served (Adjudication is correct, sentence should not be there)
13	CCIS - charge	St. Lucie	CCIS does not show race, gender. If the Charge Count Sequence order has ever been changed in the local CMS, CCIS will not have the resequencing update.
14	CCIS - CMS	Charlotte	difference in the type of probation ("reporting" vs "administrative") reported
15	CCIS - CMS	Charlotte	in 1 case address not updated in CCIS, and CCIS address was incomplete
16	CCIS - CMS	Charlotte	description of the charges do not match the CMS to CCIS. When the sequence numbers change in the CMS due to an information being filed and counts are no filed or dropped, changing the sequence of the remaining charges filed on.
17	CCIS - CMS	Charlotte	disposition date reflects the date the last VOP was disposed of and not the original sentence disposed date. Shouldn't the original disposition date be listed, and then the dispose date of the VOP under repoen?
18	CCIS - CMS	Osceola	Race and gender did not transfer from CMS to CCIS. (8 cases)
19	CCIS - CMS	Osceola	Prosecutor action on 1 count did not transfer from CMS to CCIS. (3 cases)
20	CCIS - CMS	Osceola	Court action on 1 count did not transfer from CMS to CCIS. (2 cases)
21	CCIS - CMS	Osceola	Reopen record in our CMS; however, not in CCIS. (2 cases)
22	CCIS - CMS	Polk	In our CMS, we had a different DC number for case CF16-1166.
23	CCIS - CMS	Seminole	We do not have a field for Place of Birth for defendant in our CMS.
24	CCIS - CMS	Seminole	Co-termed or consecutive or concurrent sentencing status not showing. CMS not maintaining these statuses for instances with related cases.
25	CCIS - CMS	St. Johns	In 1 case, we found a minor docketing error (now corrected) and one instance where information in CMS was different from CCIS. In 1800090CF, we found his MM charge for driving while license suspended shows "adjudicated guilty" in our CMS, but the adjudication is not reflected in CCIS; although it is a misdemeanor and would not effect the defendant's eligibility to vote.
26	CCIS - corrrected locally	Monroe	The disposition was never put on our system. This has been corrected.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

	A	B	C
27	CCIS - corrrected locally	Monroe	Had to add the middle name and correct the judge name. It is correct in CCIS now.
28	CCIS - corrrected locally	Polk	Noticed that the disposition date reflected in CCIS was not accurate (CF17-9102). We discovered this case had incorrect disposition dates on several of the counts. We corrected the case in our system, so the CCIS batch file will be sent up to correct the data in CCIS.
29	CCIS - data	Brevard	In 1 case one receivable's assessment was not sent to CCIS
30	CCIS - data	Charlotte	phases for counts that were Nolle Prosequi are not reflected in CCIS, and phase is not completer as to adjudication
31	CCIS - data	Charlotte
32	CCIS - data	Flagler	in 1 case - corrected CCIS to show $$ waived
33	CCIS - data	Flagler	in 2 cases - corrected counts in CCIS
34	CCIS - data	Madison	in 1 case, judge assignment date in CCIS indicates 01/01/1900 when no date was input, and place of incarceration indicates county jail instead of state prison
35	CCIS - data	Madison	in 1 case, disposition date in CCIS is incorrect due to case closed date being incorrect in CMS
36	CCIS - data	Martin	Variations in individuals name (typos, AKA, etc.)
37	CCIS - data	Palm Beach	Incorrect name in CCIS and on the report. The name, which is spelled incorrectly by one letter, is an AKA of the defendant. Name on case in our system is spelled FRIENDLY, case is correct in CCIS except for the name FRIENDLEY.
38	CCIS - data	Polk	A few of the cases showed the incorrect judge at disposition (CF16-1166, CF17-1902, and CF17-748). This may be due to pending cleanup of CCIS files.
39	CCIS - data	Polk	A few of the cases either showed the incorrect state attorney or defense attorney at disposition (CF17-9102, CF12-8430, CF17-748, CF16-1809, CF18-7916, & CF17-7763). After reviewing the CCIS ICD, we do not report the sentencing state attorney, just the one assigned to the case. For the defense attorney, we report the attorney who filed the notice of appearance and not the attorney at time of sentencing. After 30 days, we remove the defense attorney from our system.
40	CCIS-daya	Sarasota	deep dive, data issues involved the charge sequence , probation not reflected and the nolle prosequi showing in CCIS as time served
41	CCIS - data	Seminole	In CCIS, FL for Florida is added to at the beginning of the DL number rather than just M320020640060 as in our system. Our system maintains the State, but we don't know if that information is correctly reflected in CCIS as all these cases are FL cases.
42	CCIS - data	Seminole	Judge Assignment History not uploaded to CCIS.
43	CCIS - data	Washington	in 1 case - attorney name did not match
44	CCIS - data	Washington	in 4 cases, in the warrants/capias tab, issue date did not match
45	CCIS - fees	De Soto	In one case, the Public Defender Fee Assessed was incorrect, but is nor corrected
46	CCIS - fees	Lake	Fees listed do not include any fees a Collections Agency may have imposed.
47	CCIS - fees	Lee	CCIS does not reflect the financial balance is in civil judgment statute.
48	CCIS - fees	Lee	Monetary obligations were reduced to judgment.
49	CCIS - fees	Osceola	Extra $50.00 ($49.00 + $1.00) included in Assessment Total and in Balance Due in CCIS.
50	CCIS - fees	Polk	Financial information was not showing in CCIS for case numbers CF16-1166 or CF10-6789; however, once we accessed the cases in CCIS, the push/pull service updated these to the correct amounts.
51	CCIS - fees	Seminole	No assessments showing under Financial Summary when Court Costs and Service fees assessed. No payment history showing. This is something that needs to be fixed in our CCIS upload.
52	CCIS - fees	Suwannee	For 3 individuals, assessment in CMS does not equal amount on civil lien due to payments made/civil lien amended.
53	CCIS - fixed locally	Collier	Discovered an error in CCIS that was prohibiting sentences with an n/a status from showing. It was corrected by the CCIS programmers this week.

57	CCIS - restitution	Alachua	Restitution - in 1 case, no proof that restitution has been paid. In 3 cases, restitution is payable via DOC, so not in Clerk's system.
58	CCIS - restitution	Lake	In Felony cases, restitution is not always tracked by the Clerk. In most instances, restitution is monitored by DOC and/or State Probation. In some instances, a Restitution Order will be entered and the victim will seek collection through other civil means. The Clerk's records are not the all-inclusive data source for restitution ordered or the current balance due.
59	CCIS - restitution	Lee	Restitution was ordered on the case, amount was reserved by the court. This is not reflected in CCIS.
60	CCIS - restitution	Lee	Restitution of $633 was ordered. Not reflected in CCIS. Our county doesn't enter felony restitution amounts into our CMS as a financial assessment because we do not collect those monies. This is why the field is blank in CCIS for two cases on the spreadsheet. We instead add the restitution amount as a sentence component of our CMS.
61	CCIS - restitution	Miami-Dade	CCIS rounded restitution owed to the nearest dollar ($1,551 instead of $1,550.89)
62	CCIS - restitution	Osceola	Restitution reflected in CMS, but not in CCIS. (2 cases)
63	CCIS - restitution	Polk	No restitution was showing in CCIS because we do not add these financials to our case management system.
64	CCIS -address	Indian River	CCIS picked up the default address in four (4) of the cases instead of the current address.
65	Disqualifying felonies	Martin	Statute number not easily available. (For old cases, statutes may have been subsequently amended.)
66	DOC reports	Bay	in one case, the individuals name was different in the DOC (Flores, Paula) and CCIS (Flores, Wilson) systems.
67	DOC reports	Broward	DC number and release date are not in records prior to July 1, 2019. Case number does not exactly match CMS case number, but allows identification.
68	DOC reports	Charlotte	some individuals had additional felony cases not on the DOC spreadsheet
69	DOC reports	Franklin, Polk	For any future DOC reports, add middle initial or middle name and any suffix.
70	DOC reports	Gadsden	1 individual's last name misspelled (Divinentez should be Divientez)
71	DOC reports	St. Lucie	First Name as given in DOC report is FRANTRAVIOU, whereas the first name on this case in both CCIS and the local CMS is FRANTRAVIOUS
72	DOC reports - address	Clay	DOC address listed for 6 individuals is different from CCIS/CMS address
73	DOC reports - case #	Lake	The case number provided on the spreadsheet did not include the indicator that the case was related to a co-defendant. The defendant recently released was actually the "B" defendant. It would be helpful if DOC included that portion of the case number.
74	DOC reports - case #	St. Lucie	As part of the Case Number, the Defendant Code (A,B.C….) should be included
75	DOC reports - DOB	Duval	In DOC's data, found one discrepancy in the information. CMS and CCIS reflect a DOB of 08/14/1968, while DOC lists 03/13/1968.
76	DOC reports - fixed	Citrus	DOC shows restitution for Citrus case to First Step Inc. which the Clerk does not have ordered on the case. The backup for the fines appears to have been looked up in the Okeechobee case number in CCIS for Citrus County. It provides detail for an entire different defendant named Steven Ray Sharp. This document is now on Mr. Posila's case with erroneous information, plus it was provided to the individual.
77	DOC reports - fixed	Citrus	DOC directed to remit an amended form. How does the, now released, individual get the amended information.

78	DOC reports - fixed	Franklin, Osceola	In Clericus, each case number has 8 number characters and the spreadsheet includes only 6 or 7 numbers and appears to be leaving off a 0 (zero) in front of cases with years like 05 and 06 and leaving off a 0 (zero) after the year number (see 500056 & 600159 which should be 05000056 & 06000159). All the other cases for Franklin also left out a 0 (zero) after the year number.
79	DOC reports - fixed	Indian River	One DC number did not match the Probation Order filed by Probation. Probation is in the process of filing a Corrected Probation Order.
80	DOC reports - fixed	Manatee	2008-CF-1444 - the DOC spreadsheet (transposed 08 to 80) and the spelling of the defendant's first name did not match what the Clerk had in the Case Management System (CMS).
81	DOC reports - fixed	Martin	For any future DOC reports, DOB would be helpful.
82	DOC reports - fixed	Santa Rosa	For case 900510, DOC data appears to be dropping the leading 0's from the case number. Case number is 2009-CF-000510, not 1990-CF-000510
83	DOC reports - offense date	Clay	DOC offense date for 3 individuals is different from CCIS/CMS offense date
84	DOC reports - release	Hernando	In 2 cases, DOC indicates party was released from DOC; however, defendant is currently indicated to be under Supervised population. We would not begin compliance notifications for fines and costs until the party had completed or termed Supervised population.
85	DOC reports - restitution	Manatee	2016-CF-3991 - The Clerk's CMS balance matched DOC's balance, but the $173 in restitution was included in the Clerk's CMS total whereas DOC added the restitution on top of the assessed amount.
86	Payments - Amounts due	Martin	Most individuals amounts due had converted to liens or been sent to collections.
87	Payments - Amounts due, Restitution	Pinellas	For 3 of 10, unable to determine if Restitution was paid-Payable direct to victim.
88	Previous Offenses	Franklin	Defendants may be sent to prison on more than one case at the same time where the sentences are concurrent (and release dates are the same for each case) but each case has been assessed separate court costs and fines. Will that information be captured by DOC? If not, is some disclaimer needed?
89	Previous Offenses	Miami-Dade	4 of 10 individuals had other cases with fines owed; 3 of these with restitution owed
90	Previous Offenses - fees	Martin	9 of 10 individuals had other cases with amounts due. (1 paid in full.)

Subject: Questions on Legal Opinion

Fred,

Thanks to you and your firm for the legal analysis on issues relating to Amendment 4.

Please note the following:

1. Will you please explain page 2, Item 5d during the call today.
2. Will you please explain page 2, item 5e(II)
3. Will you please explain page 2, item 5e(III). Who will monitor community service if a judge converts the amount owed to community service? Is there a fee for this responsibility? What happens is community service is not fulfilled?
4. On page 4, item 1 – is the bottom line that judgment interest is part of the fines/fees/costs due?
5. On page 5, item 2 – is the bottom line that collection fees are NOT part of the fines/fees/costs due?
6. On page 6, item 3 – is the bottom line that converting to civil judgment has no impact on the Clerk's responsibility to collect and that it is proper for a clerk to send amounts due to a collection firm?

Thanks for your help in clarifying these issues during the call today.

Subject: RE: (2) AMENDMENTS FILED: HB 7089 by Grant, J. re: Voting Rights Restoration - Senate Received

These amendments made to the underlying delete-everything amendment that Sen. Brandes filed to HB 7089 yesterday would make the following changes:

Amendment to Amendment 881926: Sen. Bracy's amendment to the amendment would remove the word "full" from the sub-subparagraph related to payment of fines or fees ordered as part of the sentence or as a condition of any form of supervision. This also removes at line 305 of the amendment the stipulation that financial obligations are considered completed when actual payment is made in full and replaces this with, "Establishment of a payment plan toward the financial obligation or the payment of the obligation in full."

Amendment to Amendment 286492: Sen. Book's amendment would add a number of other disqualifying offenses to the definition of "felony sexual offense."

Subject: RE: (3) AMENDMENTS: HB 7089 by Grant re: Voting Rights Restoration - Received by Senate

The underlying delete-all amendment, 458014, would place the text of the Senate bill, SB 7086, onto the House bill, 7089, with the following differences between the current text of the Senate bill and the delete-all amendment, 458014:

- Amends the uniform statewide voter registration application under s. 97.052 to address whether an applicant's voting rights were restored via Executive Clemency or via Amendment 4. The applicant would be required to check a box to affirm which method applies.
  - Note that in the current version any changes to the voter application would be taken up for consideration by the work group that is established by the bill.
- Related to "completion of all terms of sentence" and, specifically, full payment of financial obligations, the amendment:
  - Defines "victim," as it relates to restitution, to include a person or persons, their estate or estates, an entity, the state, or the Federal Government, and removes any reference to conversion to civil liens.
  - Provides that financial obligations include only the amount specifically ordered by the court as part of the sentence and do not include any fines, fees, or costs that accrue after the date the obligation is ordered as a part of the sentence.
    - Note this language is similar to what is currently in the House version.
  - Provides new language stipulating that financial obligations are considered completed in the following manner or any combination thereof: actual payment of the obligation in full; upon the payee's approval, the termination by the court of any financial obligation to a payee, including, but not limited to, a victim, or the court; and completion of all community service hours, if the court converts the financial obligation to community service.
- Related to the definitions of "felony sexual offense" and "murder:"
  - Removes s. 872.06 related to abuse of a dead body as a disqualifying felony sexual offense.
  - Removes s. 782.04(3), second degree murder during the perpetration of certain other crimes, from the definition of murder.
- Provides a new review process for the Department of State (DOS) and Supervisors of Elections (SOE) for voter registration:
  - DOS shall obtain and review information and make an initial determination of voter eligibility and forward such information to the local SOE.
  - The SOE shall verify and then make a final determination of voter eligibility. The SOE may request additional assistance from DOS in making the final determination, if necessary.

Amendment to the Amendment, 224482: The underlying delete-all amendment provides that a term required to be completed in accordance with this paragraph shall be deemed completed if the court modifies the original sentencing order to no longer require completion of such term.

- Of priority interest, this amendment by Sen. Pizzo would add language that any fine or fee that is not modified by the court shall be deemed waived.

Amendment to the Amendment, 928816: The underlying delete-all amendment provides that a term required to be completed in accordance with this paragraph shall be deemed completed if the court modifies the original sentencing order to no longer require completion of such term.

- Of priority interest, this amendment by Sen. Brandes would add language that the requirement to pay any financial obligation is not deemed completed upon conversion to a civil lien.

Subject: RE: (3) FLOOR AMENDMENTS: SB 642 by Brandes re: Public Safety - On Senate Special Order

This series of amendments by Sen. Rodriguez is similar to a series that he filed last week to the Senate's Amendment 4 implementing bill, SB 7086, which were not adopted. These amendments would make the following changes that may be of general interest:

Amendment 597708: Adds language providing that a disqualification from jury service due to a felony conviction is no longer applicable upon restoration of voting rights pursuant to Amendment 4. It also provides that if any provision of this bill, or an Amendment 4 implementing bill, is held invalid, that invalidity does not affect the provisions of this section.

Amendment 463990: Adds language that removes the restriction on licensure for certain occupations upon restoration of voting rights pursuant to Amendment 4, and adds similar language as that described above related to applicability if other provisions of the bill are held to be invalid.

Amendment 742898: Adds language to create 111.076, allowing a person whose voting rights have been restored pursuant to this bill to qualify for and hold elective office in Florida, and adds similar language as that described above related to applicability if other provisions of the bill are held to be invalid.

Amendment 341474: Adds language to create 1009.02 to allow a person whose voting rights have been restored pursuant to this bill to be eligible for educational scholarships, and adds similar language as that described above related to applicability if other provisions of the bill are held to be invalid.

Subject: RE: (3) FLOOR AMENDMENTS: SB 7086 by Judiciary re: Voting Rights Restoration - On Senate Special Order 4/30

These amendments filed by Sen. Pizzo would make the following changes of priority interest to Clerks:

Amendment 964838: In the current text of the bill, "completion of all terms of sentence" includes fees or fines ordered by the court as part of a sentence or as a condition of any form of supervision. Any such required financial obligation is deemed to have been completed if converted to a civil lien.

- To this section of the bill, this amendment would add that any fee or fine that has not been converted to a civil lien by the court is deemed to have been waived.

Amendment 659508: In the current text of the bill, a local Supervisor of Elections (SOE) is required to verify whether a person has completed all of the terms of his or her sentence for the purposes of voter registration, and may request the assistance of the Department of State (DOS) to make such determination.

- This amendment would remove this language, replacing it with language that gives DOS the authorization to verify whether a person has completed all of the terms of their sentence for the purposes of voter registration.

Amendment 674650: Related to restitution, this amendment would allow any amount of restitution ordered by the court as part of a sentence to be waived by the victim, in whole or in part, if demonstrated to the court in the form of a notarized letter from the victim or their representative. Such waiver shall substitute for full or partial payment, whichever is applicable, of a financial obligation pursuant to this section. The notarized letter may be provided to DOS or the SOE for purposes of demonstrating completion of all terms of sentence and establishing qualifications to register to vote.

Subject: RE: (4) LATE FILED AMENDMENTS HB 7125 by Renner re: Public Safety - Received by Senate

This series of amendments by Sen. Rodriguez is identical to a series that he filed yesterday to SB 642, the Senate's criminal justice package. These amendments would make the following changes that may be of general interest:

Amendment 736906: Adds language that removes the restriction on licensure for certain occupations upon restoration of voting rights pursuant to Amendment 4. It also provides that if any provision of this bill, or an Amendment 4 implementing bill, is held invalid, that invalidity does not affect the provisions of this section.

Amendment 885310: Adds language to create 1009.02 to allow a person whose voting rights have been restored pursuant to this bill to be eligible for educational scholarships, and adds similar language as that described above related to applicability if other provisions of the bill are held to be invalid.

Amendment 426108: Adds language to s. 40.013, providing that a disqualification from jury service due to a felony conviction is no longer applicable upon restoration of voting rights pursuant to Amendment 4, and adds similar language as that described above related to applicability if other provisions of the bill are held to be invalid.

Amendment 939010: Adds language to create 111.076, allowing a person whose voting rights have been restored pursuant to this bill to qualify for and hold elective office in Florida, and adds similar language as that described above related to applicability if other provisions of the bill are held to be invalid.

Thank you Clerk Vick for your insight, time, and friendship. I truly appreciate having you 30 minutes north of me and always just a phone call away.

My plan is to cancel the Sunday night reservation in Marco Island, be in Tallahassee instead for the first meeting leave from Tallahassee immediately following the first meeting of the Task Force at 4 PM for Marco Island. I don't anticipate missing any more sessions. I appreciate everyone's patience on this and look forward to seeing many of you in Marco Island or at our next conference.

Hope everyone has a great week!

Good morning.

This email is not specific to the Amendment 4 call but related. As NCA Sub-Committee Chair and mentor to Clerk Chorvat, we have spoken regarding the impact the meetings could have on his ability to earn the required hours for initial certification. Based on the attached schedule, he will be unable to attend up to 16 hours of the upcoming Academy. While the policy allows for hours to be obtained through other training venues, the AO requires the academy hours to be earned in full. However, the FCCC Education Policy allows for extraordinary circumstances and I will ensure Doug completes the necessary paperwork as the hours he is committing to this effort align as allowable credit hours for certification. By participation on this task force initiative, Doug will be afforded the opportunity to obtain knowledge at a granular level that I would guess even many certified Clerks do not possess.

This email is for notification purposes only and required documentation will be submitted in accordance with the policy.

Sincere regards,

Angela

Greetings,

Let this serve as a reminder of our meeting on Monday (Aug 12) at 2:00 PM by conference call. You should have received the Outlook appointment. Attached are several items of interest for your review prior to our call. The first item is our notes from last week's call. We will approve the two draft advisories as part of our meeting agenda. JD was kind enough to forward to me the letter he received through his service on the Restoration of Voting Rights Task Force. The attached letter contains the dates of the Task Force meetings.

Jared will report on the two suggestions for wording that his group was assigned during last week's call.

Richard will provide an update on the study of the counties who have responded comparing CCIS with CMS data. I will respond on my outreach to those counties that have yet to respond.

Look forward to our call.

Fla. Sat. 928.30 states as follows:
(6) If judgment has not been previously entered on any court-imposed financial obligation, the court may enter judgment thereon and issue any writ necessary to enforce the judgment in the manner allowed in civil cases. Any judgment issued under this section constitutes a civil lien against the judgment debtor's presently owned or after-acquired property, when recorded pursuant to s. 55.10. Supplementary proceedings undertaken by any governmental entity to satisfy a judgment imposed pursuant to this section may proceed without bond and without the payment of statutory fees associated with judgment enforcement.
(7) Provisions of the Uniform Fraudulent Transfer Act apply to collection matters under this section and may be used to collect any court-imposed financial obligation subject to this section.
(8) If a criminal or civil judgment has previously been entered on a court-imposed financial obligation, the judgment constitutes a civil lien against the judgment debtor's presently owned or after-acquired real or personal property when recorded pursuant to s. 55.10, except that a judgment on a court-imposed financial obligation is not subject to the 10-year rerecording requirement of s. 55.10. The judgment must secure all unpaid court-imposed financial obligations that are due and may accrue subsequent to the recording of the judgment, as well as interest and reasonable costs for issuing a satisfaction and recording the satisfaction in the official records.
(9) The clerk of the court shall enforce, satisfy, compromise, settle, subordinate, release, or otherwise dispose of any debts or liens imposed and collected under this section in the same manner as prescribed in s. 938.29(3).

Fla. Stat. 55.10 states:
(2) The lien provided for in subsection (1) or an extension of that lien as provided by this subsection may be extended for an additional period of 10 years, subject to the limitation in subsection (3), by rerecording a certified copy of the judgment, order, or decree prior to the expiration of the lien or the expiration of the extended lien and by simultaneously recording an affidavit with the current address of the person who has a lien as a result of the judgment, order, or decree. The extension shall be effective from the date the certified copy of the judgment, order, or decree is rerecorded. The lien or extended lien will not be extended unless the affidavit with the current address is simultaneously recorded.
(3) In no event shall the lien upon real property created by this section be extended beyond the period provided for in s. 55.081 or beyond the point at which the lien is satisfied, whichever occurs first.

Fla. Stat. 55.081 states:
Subject to the provisions of s. 55.10, no judgment, order, or decree of any court shall be a lien upon real or personal property within the state after the expiration of 20 years from the date of the entry of such judgment, order, or decree .

Good morning Stacy,

As a follow-up to this request for staffing a new QRT, I was wanting to ask a few questions to make sure we have the right approach.

1. Do you anticipate a specific Clerk to lead this QRT as we have for our other QRTs? This also helps when they make recommendations back to the Board or Executive Committee.
2. Do you think this QRT regarding statute of limitations relating the Criminal Fines and Fees will have more of an impact on our legislative initiatives, maybe even Amendment 4 implications, or do you see it more as operational?
3. Other than Justin Horan, who Tara suggested as a participant, do you have any other Clerk staff attorneys in mind to serve on this QRT? Cyndi Andrews has a Legal Panel group for Best Practices, but that is probably too large of a group to handle this issue.

I can also help set up the initial meeting for this QRT and then following this meeting, I think we can have a better idea of who needs to staff the group going forward. I can look for some meeting dates as soon as we have the QRT members determined.

Thank you,

Sean

Fla. Sat. 928.30 states as follows:
(6) If judgment has not been previously entered on any court-imposed financial obligation, the court may enter judgment thereon and issue any writ necessary to enforce the judgment in the manner allowed in civil cases. Any judgment issued under this section constitutes a civil lien against the judgment debtor's presently owned or after-acquired property, when recorded pursuant to s. 55.10. Supplementary proceedings undertaken by any governmental entity to satisfy a judgment imposed pursuant to this section may proceed without bond and without the payment of statutory fees associated with judgment enforcement.
(7) Provisions of the Uniform Fraudulent Transfer Act apply to collection matters under this section and may be used to collect any court-imposed financial obligation subject to this section.
(8) If a criminal or civil judgment has previously been entered on a court-imposed financial obligation, the judgment constitutes a civil lien against the judgment debtor's presently owned or after-acquired real or personal property when recorded pursuant to s. 55.10, except that a judgment on a court-imposed financial obligation is not subject to the 10-year rerecording requirement of s. 55.10. The judgment must secure all unpaid court-imposed financial obligations that are due and may accrue subsequent to the recording of the judgment, as well as interest and reasonable costs for issuing a satisfaction and recording the satisfaction in the official records.
(9) The clerk of the court shall enforce, satisfy, compromise, settle, subordinate, release, or otherwise dispose of any debts or liens imposed and collected under this section in the same manner as prescribed in s. 938.29(3).

Fla. Stat. 55.10 states:
(2) The lien provided for in subsection (1) or an extension of that lien as provided by this subsection may be extended for an additional period of 10 years, subject to the limitation in subsection (3), by rerecording a certified copy of the judgment, order, or decree prior to the expiration of the lien or the expiration of the extended lien and by simultaneously recording an affidavit with the current address of the person who has a lien as a result of the judgment, order, or decree. The extension shall be effective from the date the certified copy of the judgment, order, or decree is rerecorded. The lien or extended lien will not be extended unless the affidavit with the current address is simultaneously recorded.
(3) In no event shall the lien upon real property created by this section be extended beyond the period provided for in s. 55.081 or beyond the point at which the lien is satisfied, whichever occurs first.

Fla. Stat. 55.081 states:
Subject to the provisions of s. 55.10, no judgment, order, or decree of any court shall be a lien upon real or personal property within the state after the expiration of 20 years from the date of the entry of such judgment, order, or decree .

Good morning Stacy,

As a follow-up to this request for staffing a new QRT, I was wanting to ask a few questions to make sure we have the right approach.

1. Do you anticipate a specific Clerk to lead this QRT as we have for our other QRTs? This also helps when they make recommendations back to the Board or Executive Committee.
2. Do you think this QRT regarding statute of limitations relating the Criminal Fines and Fees will have more of an impact on our legislative initiatives, maybe even Amendment 4 implications, or do you see it more as operational?
3. Other than Justin Horan, who Tara suggested as a participant, do you have any other Clerk staff attorneys in mind to serve on this QRT? Cyndi Andrews has a Legal Panel group for Best Practices, but that is probably too large of a group to handle this issue.

I can also help set up the initial meeting for this QRT and then following this meeting, I think we can have a better idea of who needs to staff the group going forward. I can look for some meeting dates as soon as we have the QRT members determined.

Thank you,

Sean

As you can see from the string of emails, i communicated with Tara and agreed it would be a great idea to have this QRT team. Would you be able to assign a fccc staff member to assist the team?

Thanks,

Any judgment issued under this section constitutes a civil lien against the judgment debtor's presently owned or after-acquired property, when recorded pursuant to s. 55.10. Supplementary proceedings undertaken by any governmental entity to satisfy a judgment imposed pursuant to this section may proceed without bond and without the payment of statutory fees associated with judgment enforcement.

The extension shall be effective from the date the certified copy of the judgment, order, or decree is rerecorded. The lien or extended lien will not be extended unless the affidavit with the current address is simultaneously recorded.

Fla. Stat. 55.081 states:
Subject to the provisions of s. 55.10, no judgment, order, or decree of any court shall be a lien upon real or personal property within the state after the expiration of 20 years from the date of the entry of such judgment, order, or decree .

Good morning Stacy,

As a follow-up to this request for staffing a new QRT, I was wanting to ask a few questions to make sure we have the right approach.

1. Do you anticipate a specific Clerk to lead this QRT as we have for our other QRTs? This also helps when they make recommendations back to the Board or Executive Committee.
2. Do you think this QRT regarding statute of limitations relating the Criminal Fines and Fees will have more of an impact on our legislative initiatives, maybe even Amendment 4 implications, or do you see it more as operational?
3. Other than Justin Horan, who Tara suggested as a participant, do you have any other Clerk staff attorneys in mind to serve on this QRT? Cyndi Andrews has a Legal Panel group for Best Practices, but that is probably too large of a group to handle this issue.

I can also help set up the initial meeting for this QRT and then following this meeting, I think we can have a better idea of who needs to staff the group going forward. I can look for some meeting dates as soon as we have the QRT members determined.

Thank you,

Sean

Fla. Sat. 928.30 states as follows:
(6) If judgment has not been previously entered on any court-imposed financial obligation, the court may enter judgment thereon and issue any writ necessary to enforce the judgment in the manner allowed in civil cases. Any judgment issued under this section constitutes a civil lien against the judgment debtor's presently owned or after-acquired property, when recorded pursuant to s. 55.10. Supplementary proceedings undertaken by any governmental entity to satisfy a judgment imposed pursuant to this section may proceed without bond and without the payment of statutory fees associated with judgment enforcement.
(7) Provisions of the Uniform Fraudulent Transfer Act apply to collection matters under this section and may be used to collect any court-imposed financial obligation subject to this section.
(8) If a criminal or civil judgment has previously been entered on a court-imposed financial obligation, the judgment constitutes a civil lien against the judgment debtor's presently owned or after-acquired real or personal property when recorded pursuant to s. 55.10, except that a judgment on a court-imposed financial obligation is not subject to the 10-year rerecording requirement of s. 55.10. The judgment must secure all unpaid court-imposed financial obligations that are due and may accrue subsequent to the recording of the judgment, as well as interest and reasonable costs for issuing a satisfaction and recording the satisfaction in the official records.
(9) The clerk of the court shall enforce, satisfy, compromise, settle, subordinate, release, or otherwise dispose of any debts or liens imposed and collected under this section in the same manner as prescribed in s. 938.29(3).

Fla. Stat. 55.10 states:
(2) The lien provided for in subsection (1) or an extension of that lien as provided by this subsection may be extended for an additional period of 10 years, subject to the limitation in subsection (3), by rerecording a certified copy of the judgment, order, or decree prior to the expiration of the lien or the expiration of the extended lien and by simultaneously recording an affidavit with the current address of the person who has a lien as a result of the judgment, order, or decree. The extension shall be effective from the date the certified copy of the judgment, order, or decree is rerecorded. The lien or extended lien will not be extended unless the affidavit with the current address is simultaneously recorded.
(3) In no event shall the lien upon real property created by this section be extended beyond the period provided for in s. 55.081 or beyond the point at which the lien is satisfied, whichever occurs first.

Fla. Stat. 55.081 states:
Subject to the provisions of s. 55.10, no judgment, order, or decree of any court shall be a lien upon real or personal property within the state after the expiration of 20 years from the date of the entry of such judgment, order, or decree.

Stacy – I would like to request that a team of Clerk's legal folks form a QRT to discuss statute of limitations relating the Criminal Fines and Fees. I think this would be a good discussion for them to have and opine on given the recent discussions as it relates to A4, etc. I will volunteer Justin Horan to lead that QRT if you agree.

1. Do you anticipate a specific Clerk to lead this QRT as we have for our other QRTs? This also helps when they make recommendations back to the Board or Executive Committee.
2. Do you think this QRT regarding statute of limitations relating the Criminal Fines and Fees will have more of an impact on our legislative initiatives, maybe even Amendment 4 implications, or do you see it more as operational?
3. Other than Justin Horan, who Tara suggested as a participant, do you have any other Clerk staff attorneys in mind to serve on this QRT? Cyndi Andrews has a Legal Panel group for Best Practices, but that is probably too large of a group to handle this issue.

I can also help set up the initial meeting for this QRT and then following this meeting, I think we can have a better idea of who needs to staff the group going forward. I can look for some meeting dates as soon as we have the QRT members determined.

Thank you,

Sean

Fla. Sat. 928.30 states as follows:
(6) If judgment has not been previously entered on any court-imposed financial obligation, the court may enter judgment thereon and issue any writ necessary to enforce the judgment in the manner allowed in civil cases. Any judgment issued under this section constitutes a civil lien against the judgment debtor's presently owned or after-acquired property, when recorded pursuant to s. 55.10. Supplementary proceedings undertaken by any governmental entity to satisfy a judgment imposed pursuant to this section may proceed without bond and without the payment of statutory fees associated with judgment enforcement.
(7) Provisions of the Uniform Fraudulent Transfer Act apply to collection matters under this section and may be used to collect any court-imposed financial obligation subject to this section.
(8) If a criminal or civil judgment has previously been entered on a court-imposed financial obligation, the judgment constitutes a civil lien against the judgment debtor's presently owned or after-acquired real or personal property when recorded pursuant to s. 55.10, except that a judgment on a court-imposed financial obligation is not subject to the 10-year rerecording requirement of s. 55.10. The judgment must secure all unpaid court-imposed financial obligations that are due and may accrue subsequent to the recording of the judgment, as well as interest and reasonable costs for issuing a satisfaction and recording the satisfaction in the official records.
(9) The clerk of the court shall enforce, satisfy, compromise, settle, subordinate, release, or otherwise dispose of any debts or liens imposed and collected under this section in the same manner as prescribed in s. 938.29(3).

Fla. Stat. 55.10 states:
(2) The lien provided for in subsection (1) or an extension of that lien as provided by this subsection may be extended for an additional period of 10 years, subject to the limitation in subsection (3), by rerecording a certified copy of the judgment, order, or decree prior to the expiration of the lien or the expiration of the extended lien and by simultaneously recording an affidavit with the current address of the person who has a lien as a result of the judgment, order, or decree. The extension shall be effective from the date the certified copy of the judgment, order, or decree is rerecorded. The lien or extended lien will not be extended unless the affidavit with the current address is simultaneously recorded.
(3) In no event shall the lien upon real property created by this section be extended beyond the period provided for in s. 55.081 or beyond the point at which the lien is satisfied, whichever occurs first.

Fla. Stat. 55.081 states:
Subject to the provisions of s. 55.10, no judgment, order, or decree of any court shall be a lien upon real or personal property within the state after the expiration of 20 years from the date of the entry of such judgment, order, or decree.

Thanks,

The filing of a lien does not satisfy or affect the obligations set out in the criminal sentence. The lien is a civil enforcement tool to support the payment of the criminal debt. Think of it in terms of the suspension of a driver's license (D6) for non-payment of traffic fines. If the suspension is cancelled by DHSMV for whatever reason other than payment of the outstanding fine, the fine is still owed. Probably not a good analogy but close.

- Maybe set it up with a quick roundup on last Session, thank him for the changes in 337 and let him know this will net us some funds as a bridge to continuing to work towards the long term solution.
  - It wasn't the fix, but very helpful.
  - Let him know we want to work closely on the study and hope it provides the data the Legislature needs to feel comfortable moving forward.

- Then transition to how can we (Clerks) be helpful to him this Session and in the upcoming years.

- Talk about criminal justice reform issues that are important to him
  - DL suspension and our concept to use payment plans and compliance efforts to reduce D-6s as we continue to work on Clerk funding that will allow ending D-6 in the future.
  - Data transparency update
  - Diversion programs
  - Amendment 4 issues?
- Discuss any areas where we can provide data or present to his Committee this year.
- Finally, close with what we are planning for this Session.
  - Get his feedback on our approach and our prospects for policy bills.
  - Get feedback on approach and setting up for long term solution to funding in upcoming years.

Thoughts?

We certainly want to focus on Sen Brandes' priorities out of courtesy and fear. I will defer to my colleagues to make other suggestions.

I would pick our top two or three issues and not overwhelm the meeting with extensive clerk "wants".

Good morning.

This email is not specific to the Amendment 4 call but related. As NCA Sub-Committee Chair and mentor to Clerk Chorvat, we have spoken regarding the impact the meetings could have on his ability to earn the required hours for initial certification. Based on the attached schedule, he will be unable to attend up to 16 hours of the upcoming Academy. While the policy allows for hours to be obtained through other training venues, the AO requires the academy hours to be earned in full. However, the FCCC Education Policy allows for extraordinary circumstances and I will ensure Doug completes the necessary paperwork as the hours he is committing to this effort align as allowable credit hours for certification. By participation on this task force initiative, Doug will be afforded the opportunity to obtain knowledge at a granular level that I would guess even many certified Clerks do not possess.

This email is for notification purposes only and required documentation will be submitted in accordance with the policy.

Sincere regards,
Angela

Greetings,

Let this serve as a reminder of our meeting on Monday (Aug 12) at 2:00 PM by conference call. You should have received the Outlook appointment. Attached are several items of interest for your review prior to our call. The first item is our notes from last week's call. We will approve the two draft advisories as part of our meeting agenda. JD was kind enough to forward to me the letter he received through his service on the Restoration of Voting Rights Task Force. The attached letter contains the dates of the Task Force meetings.

Jared will report on the two suggestions for wording that his group was assigned during last week's call.

Richard will provide an update on the study of the counties who have responded comparing CCIS with CMS data. I will respond on my outreach to those counties that have yet to respond.

Look forward to our call.

I just received one of those notices and have attached for your review. The case was for an original sentence of 3 years' probation, the defendant violated and was then sentenced to 1 year DOC. The information on CCIS includes his original sentence, additional fees added for his violation and collection fees.
CCIS shows a total of $19,801.61. The commitment paperwork to DOC was for $18,500. which included incarceration fees (18,300) and SAO Fee $100, PD assistance $100 and outstanding PD application fee $100.00
If comparing $ for that VOP sentence, it will not match CCIS and in this case as well as many others, ours will show the collection fees and incarceration. Melvin's team may need to address these fees and how we show sentencing fees versus other fees. Again CCIS is a snapshot in time and when they come to restore their rights we will be going by what is in our system at that time to confirm amounts due.

Good Afternoon,

Per Florida Statute 944.705(7)(a), the Florida Department of Corrections is required to notify inmates being released from custody of all outstanding terms of their sentence, to include court ordered financial obligations. Our office has been tasked with trying to resolve these discrepancies prior to the inmate's release and to request confirmation from your office of any fees/fines. Please provide a fax number and/or email address where we can send these requests at your earliest convenience.

I had a media inquiry about a particular defendant and the reporter wanted to know how much the defendant owed without a qualifier about the purpose of the payment. We would have three numbers: one for voting right restoration, one for satisfaction, and one for payment without a satisfaction. He wanted more information about the idea that voting right payments would not include collection fees or interest not identified on the sentencing documents, however, I did not have the full opinion at the time.

No, I provided that information verbally, however, I think we should put something in writing.

The separate figures are not identifiable on CCIS. As Cathy Davis mentioned below, CCIS amounts will not be the amounts needed for voter registration restoration as CCIS will include additional amounts incurred after the sentence if they are added to our CMS.

I just wanted to mention to everyone that the language is clear in the implementing bill that the financial obligations for purposes of restoration of voting rights do not include any costs or fees accrued after the time of sentencing. It goes so far as limiting only those financial obligations that were ordered in the "four corners" of the sentencing document. I am remote and I don't have the bill in front of me right now but it is very clear and should satisfy anyone who is questioning this.

I just received one of those notices and have attached for your review. The case was for an original sentence of 3 years' probation, the defendant violated and was then sentenced to 1 year DOC. The information on CCIS includes his original sentence, additional fees added for his violation and collection fees.
CCIS shows a total of $19,801.61. The commitment paperwork to DOC was for $18,500. which included incarceration fees (18,300) and SAO Fee $100, PD assistance $100 and outstanding PD application fee $100.00
If comparing $ for that VOP sentence, it will not match CCIS and in this case as well as many others, ours will show the collection fees and incarceration. Melvin's team may need to address these fees and how we show sentencing fees versus other fees. Again CCIS is a snapshot in time and when they come to restore their rights we will be going by what is in our system at that time to confirm amounts due.

Good Afternoon,

Per Florida Statute 944.705(7)(a), the Florida Department of Corrections is required to notify inmates being released from custody of all outstanding terms of their sentence, to include court ordered financial obligations. Many times, while reviewing an inmate's commitment we find discrepancies between it and the information listed in CCIS. Our office has been tasked with trying to resolve these discrepancies prior to the inmate's release and to request confirmation from your office of any fees/fines. Please provide a fax number and/or email address where we can send these requests at your earliest convenience.

Ken, You asked that I clarify the issue I raised during the call.
Page 46 of CS SB 7066 line 1332 begins the section for what "completion of all terms of a sentence" and ends at line 1385.

Line 1353 reads " c. The financial obligations required under sub-subparagraph a. or sub-subparagraph b. include only the amount specifically ordered by the court as part of the sentence and do not include any fines, fees, or costs that accrue after the date the obligation is ordered as a part of the sentence."

Note: the reference to "a." above refers to restitution and "b". refers to full payment of fines, fees ordered by the court.

When Fred and I talked the purpose of this language was so that late fees, interest etc. would not be tacked on to the original sentence in order to be eligible to vote.

Since this is a bill that deals with restoring voting privileges and there is no language in the bill that addresses releasing all liens and it explicitly says one doesn't need to pay the "other" fees occurring after sentence (my language) Does the financial obligation continue to exist irrespective of the right to vote?

I hope the question is clear. Let me know if it isn't.

Tiffany, Tara, Karen and Carolyn,

Thanks for agreeing to being on the call at 11:00 today to discuss our quick response team's charge. As I see it the following are the items contained in our charge:

- Collaborate with the Supervisors of Elections Association and the Secretary of State with any items of common interest. (This can lead into different directions.)
- Guidance to Clerks if a convicted felon contacts a Clerk's office and makes an inquiry as to fines/fees/restitution owed? (not necessarily of the county in which the fines/fees/restitution are owed)
- The whole negotiation of liens issue and the variety of ways Clerks deal with this.
- The public records requests currently being made to Clerks on the amount of fines/fees/restitution owed for their respective counties.

Let me know any items you would like added to the list for our discussion.

Talk with you at 11:00.

Karen,

This is a great question! I think a legal analysis of it (Fred since he's already looking at it?) would be very helpful. Then, this would be an excellent issue to bring forward to the state workgroup because they will be looking at issues that need legislative clarification or direction.

And the list keeps growing …

Yes! This makes me very happy … I knew they could do it despite their concerns. Now let's see if it works.

Subject: RE: AGENDA: Thurs., April 18 - Senate Appropriations - Courts | Criminal Justice | Information Technology Reorganization | Justice System | Background Screening

The full Senate Appropriations Committee held an all-day meeting today, taking up and passing a number of bills of interest to Clerks of Court. Note that, due to the number of bills on the agenda today, in some cases debate, public testimony, and sponsor explanation of a bill were extremely limited.

SB 328 Courts by Sen. Brandes – passed as amended; now available for consideration by the full Senate
Taking up the PCS (885374), Chair Bradley asked for Sen. Brandes to explain the amendments to the PCS:
- Amendment 602566: Technical. There were no questions, debate, or public testimony.Adopted.
- Amendment 828042: Removes section 5 [which created s. 45.21, reasonableness of amount in controversy; procedures]. There were no questions, debate, or public testimony.Adopted.

On the bill as amended, there were no questions or debate. Sen. Brandes explained that the bill modifies the jurisdiction of the county and circuit courts. The amendment that removed Section 5 was at the recommendation of the Florida Justice Association.

During public testimony, William Cotterall, Florida Justice Association, was in support of the bill; William Large, Florida Justice Reform Institute, was in opposition.

Sen. Brandes waived close and the bill passed as amended.

SB 642 Criminal Justice by Sen. Brandes – passed as amended; now available for consideration by the full Senate
Taking up the PCS (793174), Sen. Brandes explained that this combines HB 7125 [Public Safety], HB 7109 [Criminal Justice Data Transparency], 7072 [Justice System], and SB 204 [Detention Facilities]; it includes a provision that reduces gain time for non-violent offenders from 85% to 65%; and it provides retroactivity for sentencing for aggravated assault under Amendment 11.

Taking up the amendments to the PCS:
- Amendment 147304: Sen. Stargel explained that it fixes the provisions in the PCS from SB 768 Attorney Fees [which has been incorporated into this reform package]. There were no questions, debate, or public testimony. Adopted.
- Amendment 382004: Sen. Powell explained that it revises the discretion of direct file for children; it allows for an evidentiary hearing for any child that is being recommended to the adult court; and prohibits a child who has been transferred for criminal prosecution as an adult to be held in an adult facility until the court finds the child should be prosecuted as an adult. These are part of a bill that passed through two committee unanimously. Sen. Brandes accepted the amendment and there were no questions, debate, or public testimony. Adopted.
- Amendment 883008: Sen. Stewart explained it decriminalizes the action of an HIV+ individual donating tissue to someone who is also HIV+. It also adds intent/knowing language to existing statutes related to sexually transmitted diseases. Sen. Brandes accepted the amendment and there were no questions, debate, or public testimony. Adopted.

On the bill as amended, Sen. Rouson expressed concerns with the language on lines 2967-2977 and its potential impact on Amendment 4. [Note this is a provision from HB 7109, the data transparency glitch bill, that addresses data elements that Clerks report. Specifically, this language removes the requirement for Clerks to report to FDLE the outstanding balance of a defendant's court fees and fines imposed by the court at case disposition, and provides that Clerks shall report the restitution amount ordered at sentencing, rather than the amount collected by the court and the amount paid to the victim, if applicable.] Sen. Brandes responded that this language is related to reporting only and has no substantive impact on Amendment 4.

There was ample public testimony that was read into the record by Chair Bradley, including support from ACLU, James Madison Institute, Chelsea Murphy with Right on Crime, Florida Conference of Catholic Bishops, Scott McCoy with the Southern Poverty Law Center Action Fund, and the Florida Juvenile Justice Association. Matt Dunagan, Florida Sheriffs Association, was in opposition to the bill.

There was no debate on the bill and Sen. Brandes waived his close. The bill passed as amended.

SB 7072 Justice System by Appropriations Committee – passed; now available for consideration by the full Senate
Acting as chair, Sen. Benacquisto made a motion to consider the bill as received, rather than the proposed committee substitute. The motion was approved.

Chair Bradley explained that the bill addresses Supreme Court justice travel and headquarters; adds additional judges [two county court judges, one each in Flagler and Citrus; two circuit court judges, one each in the 9th and the 12th]; and address problem-solving courts and Veterans' courts.

There were no questions or debate. During public testimony, Grace Lovett, Florida Retail Federation; the Florida Public Defenders Association; and Gary Hester, Florida Police Chiefs Association, waived in support.

Chair Bradley waived close and the bill passed.

SB 656 Background Screening by Sen. Baxley – passed as amended; now available for consideration by the full Senate
Sen. Baxley explained that the underlying bill provides OSCA with the statutory authority to conduct national background screenings [for foreign language court interpreters].

Taking up the delete-all amendment (893552), Sen. Baxley explained that the amendment aligns the bill with House and Senate models and includes parts of the judicial branch's legislative agenda; enacts a provision of Amendment 6, passed during the November 2018 General Election, which raised the mandatory judicial retirement age from 70 to 75; and makes other technical changes.
- There were no questions or debate on the amendment. During public testimony, Sarah Naf Biehl, OSCA, waived in support.Adopted.

On the bill as amended, there were no questions, debate, or public testimony. Sen. Baxley waived close and the bill passed as amended.

Note, this bill is now similar to HB 7081 State Court System Administration, which we have tracked as priority bill this session. We will now be tracking SB 656 as a priority bill for the remainder of session.

SB 1570 Information Technology Reorganization by Senator Hooper – passed; now available for consideration by the full Senate
The bill accomplishes several key technology goals necessary to modernize the state's strategy for IT system implementation and data storage. First, the bill brings together the Agency for State Technology (AST) and the Department of Management Services (DMS) Division of Telecommunication to create the Division of State Technology within DMS. By merging these two entities, the state is creating a larger, stronger technology entity that will result in streamlining all major state IT functions. Secondly, the bill establishes a cloud-first computing strategy, which will require state agencies to first consider cloud-computing solutions when sourcing technology. By implementing a cloud-first strategy for state IT systems, Florida will modernize its practice and reap the benefits of cloud offerings. Finally, the bill creates the Florida Cybersecurity Task Force, which will be solely dedicated to enhancing the security and integrity of Florida's web infrastructure and data. The Cybersecurity Task Force is expected to recommend protective actions that ensure the future safety of state IT systems.

During public testimony, David Clark, Chief of Staff, DMS, waived in support.

During questions, Mr. Clark was asked to answer a few questions from members:
- Sen. Braynon asked if the bill is tailored to only allow big cloud companies, like Amazon. Mr. Clark responded that it is not. In follow up, Sen. Braynon asked if some smaller Florida-based companies could be considered. Mr. Clark responded in the affirmative.
- Sen. Book asked if the bill would allow for different agencies to access data between agencies, to help breakdown the "silos?" Mr. Clark indicated that the bill would increase interoperability. The first step would be to leverage the cloud to breakdown those silos.

There was no debate on the bill and Sen. Hooper waived close. The bill passed.

Note that FCCC is monitoring this as a prioirty because it amends s. 112.061, to create the Statewide Travel Management System that all executive branch state agencies and the judicial branch must use for the purposes of travel authorization and reimbursement. Such reports to the system must include public officer and employee travel information, including name and position title; purpose of travel; dates and location of travel; mode of travel; confirmation from the head of the agency or designee authorization, if required; and total travel cost. As currently drafted, this Statewide Travel Management System does not appear to apply to Clerks of Court, other constitutional officers, or their employees.

Clerks' Amendment 4 Quick Response Team
7/15/2019 Conference Call - Agenda

A. Chairman's Issues

B. QRT Member Issues

C. Results of Clerk's comparison of CCIS and CMS data on recent releasees.

D. Results of 7/12 meeting with DOC.

Great face-to-face to improve working relationship. Discussed a wide range of issues, including those on our attached agenda. DOC agreed to provide us with:

- an index that will explain the first alpha character in their DC number (a number unique to each inmate, and permanently assigned to the individual),
- an explanation of the first 1-2 digits (indicating year) of the local case number,
- the possibility of identifying releasees with prior DOC supervision for other offenses,
- the possibility of providing Clerks with the DOB for each individual,
- a list of DOC offense codes (a 4-digit code that indicates the statute involved), and
- the possibility of providing Clerks with periodic lists of planned future releases (complicated by the fact that future release dates may be delayed for a number of reasons).

DOC also agreed to:

- consider adding a qualifier in the documents they file that the documents relate only to the current sentence and that terms of prior sentences would also have to be completed.
- participate in our Fall Conference A4 QRT session if requested.

DOC raised 2 issues for us:

- the difficulty of e-filing in Miami-Dade County, and
- expansion of DOC-Sheriff-Clerk pilot for paperless sentencing orders (FCCC Advisory on this issue attached).

E. Status of Best Practice on Clerks answering restoration questions about cases in other counties.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

F. Negotiating fees/fines/costs converted to civil judgments: establish a subcommittee.

G. Suggestions for A4 QRT presentation at for Fall Conference?

H. Clerk Timmann's legislative talking points.

I. FCCC process for approving requests for legal opinions.

Expenditures are budgeted at FCCC. QRT approval or QRT-approved process for approval.

J. Possible issues for legal opinion (expect these to be refined/narrowed substantially)

1. Legal status of FCCC and CCIS in regard to public records.
    a. Application of provisions of Florida Statutes and Court Rules.
    b. Impact of the memorandum of understanding between FCCC and the Office of the State Courts Administrator concerning CCIS on how the Clerks handle requests related to restoration of voting rights.
    c. Legal status of the data contained in CCIS? Recent requests require programming and run special reports not currently generated by the system.
    d. Legal limitations on the costs incurred in fulfilling the requests. Possible Adoption of FCCC Policy
    e. FCCC's legal obligation or ability to have individual Clerks review the data before it is provided.
2. Requests to Clerks for potentially voluminous records access/review.
    a. Legal requirements, including charges, to provide the requestor with space, access to individual records in whatever format they are retained, and staff time to pull records and monitor the requestor
    b. Legal requirements concerning the charge for copies of court records, paper vs electronic.
    c. Clerk's legal responsibility (other than through accepting the filing of court records) for maintaining comprehensive information on each individual as to release from any term of imprisonment, termination from any term of probation or supervision, fulfillment of any term ordered by the court as part of the sentence, full payment of fines or fees ordered by the court.
    d. Clerk's legal responsibility (other than through accepting the filing of court records) for maintaining comprehensive information on each individual as to full payment of restitution, as ordered in the sentencing document, to persons, their estates, entities, the state, and the Federal government.

3. Any options Clerks have regarding negotiation of liens against individuals who are in the process of having their voting rights restored.
4. Status of interest on court fines/fees/costs that have been converted into civil liens.
    a. Legal implications of interest on fines and fees converted to civil liens especially if the individual has paid all other fines, fees, court costs, and restitution.
    b. Authority to sending fines/fees/costs that have been converted to civil liens to collections.
5. Clerk's role when an individual or their attorney enters a plea for relief (seeks to have the sentencing Court modify the terms of sentencing), including modifying the financial obligations of the original sentence.
6. The CCIS written agreement between FCCC/CCIC and the individual Clerks is outdated. Possible Agreement Revision
7. Guidance on serving individuals who may have had felony sentences from more than one county or more than one state. Possible Best Practice
8. Any actions (beyond normal processing) required of Clerk in processing restoration-related documents filed by DOC, county detention facilities, etc.
9. Impact of restoration of voting rights on any other civil rights, like juries running for public office, firearm possession. Possible Best Practice

Subject: RE: AGENDA: Thurs. May 2 - Senate Session - Taxation | Human Trafficking | Electronic Legal Docs | Public Safety | Public Records/Victims of Mass Violence | Voting Rights Restoration

This addresses the Senate's activity from 11:35 this morning until adjournment this evening. Note that the Senate will convene at 10 a.m. tomorrow morning.

SENATE SPECIAL ORDER:

SB 1412 Taxation by Sen. Gruters

Sen. Stargel asked to take up the House bill, which has significant differences, to amend the Senate language onto the House bill with an additional amendment to the amendment. Laid on the table. Refer to HB 7123.

HB 7123 Taxation by Rep. Avila – Rolled to third reading, as amended

Taking up the delete-all amendment, 176464, Sen. Stargel explained that this is the substance of the Senate tax package. It provides:

- 5-day back-to-school tax holiday
- 7-day hurricane preparedness holiday
- Further reduces the commercial rent tax from 5.7% to 5.5%
- Provides hurricane relief by allowing a refund of certain sales taxes and motor fuel taxes for agricultural vehicles
- Provides a continuation of contributions for scholarship organizations
- Related to traffic, increases to 18% the current 9% reduction of a civil traffic fine when drivers attend traffic school (Note that this is new language for this session that was previously reviewed by the REC.)
- Provides an exemption for donated items to a 501(c)(3) organization
    - Amendment to the amendment 925052: There was a provision that caused an issue with members in this chamber related to local tax referendums and schools; this removes that provision. Adopted.

On the amendment as amended, Sen. Lee asked if the bill still contains the hospital repeal exemption. Sen. Stargel stated that is not in this tax package. Sen. Rader asked questions about the timing of the back to school tax holiday. The amendment was adopted, as amended.

On the bill as amended, there were no questions. Sen. Stargel closed by saying that this $120M tax package provides an incredible opportunity for taxpayers and is good for retailers. The bill was rolled to third reading.

SB 540 Human Trafficking by Sen. Book

Sen. Book asked to take up the House bill to amend the substance of the Senate bill onto the House bill Laid on the table. Refer to HB 851.

HB 851 Human Trafficking by Rep. Fitzenhagen – Rolled to third reading, as amended

Taking up the delete-all amendment, 143836, Sen. Book explained that there are 40M victims of human trafficking, with the federal Department of Health estimating that half of these victims are younger than 18. Human trafficking is now the second largest criminal enterprise in the US, only behind drug trafficking. After last session, Sen. Book spent time in Pasco County with the Sheriff's Office to look at what they're doing to combat human trafficking; she went to West Palm Beach and Miami; and what resulted is this language, which:

1) Establishes a direct-support organization within the Department of Legal Affairs, with a 13-member board, that can privately raise money and provide services.
2) Provides a training component for law enforcement, hotels, and licensed medical professionals.
3) Establishes certain requirements for massage establishments.
4) Establishes a Soliciting for Prostitution Database within FDLE that will go after supply and demand. Those that are convicted of soliciting for prostitution will be added to the database and will be removed after five years, unless they are convicted subsequently. Then they will remain in the database permanently.

Note: This amendment includes Clerks' language that clarifies that Clerks would submit the criminal disposition data required for populating this database to FDLE pursuant to s. 943.052(2), the existing process by which Clerks submit monthly criminal dispositions.

- Taking up the amendment to the amendment 262778, Sen. Book stated this changes the effective date to January 1, 2021 for the provisions relating to the creation of the Soliciting for Prostitution Public Database. Adopted.

On the delete all as amended, Sen. Book stated that this bill will save countless lives. Adopted.

On the bill as amended, there were no questions. The bill was rolled to third reading.

SENATE THIRD READING:

HB 409 Electronic Legal Documents – Final passage, 39-0; the bill now heads to the Governor

Sen. Brandes explained that the bill authorizes the use of legal validity of online notarization of certain legal documents in Florida.

There was no debate and the bill passed unanimously.

HB 7125 Public Safety – Passed 39-1, as amended; the bill now heads back to the House

Sen. Brandes explained that this is the criminal justice bill the Senate discussed yesterday.

Sen. Rodriguez moved to reconsider the vote on the adoption of yesterday's delete-all amendment, 123332, in order to take additional amendments.

- Amendment 321692: Sen. Brandes explained that this adds additional members to the Criminal Punishment Code Task Force: from DJJ and six members approved by the Governor, two of whom must be university professors. Adopted.
- Amendment 204146: Sen. Harrell explained that this would allow a respondent to also be able to take advantage of the ability to receive attorney fees too. Adopted.

- Amendment 441458: Sen. Brandes explained this removes the provision in the bill related to establishing Supreme Court Justice headquarters outside of Leon County that has already passed both chambers. Adopted.
- Amendment 401986: Sen. Rodriguez explained this removes the prohibition on scholarships for educational or vocational training for those whose rights have been restored. Adopted.

The delete all as amended was adopted.

During debate on the bill as amended, Sen. Bracy commended Sen. Brandes on a job well done; however, he doesn't feel like it goes far enough without judicial discretion on mandatory minimums and without the aggravated assault resentencing changes. He is tired of submitting to the will of the House and will vote down on the bill. Sen. Bradley also shares the desire to go further on these matters, but believes we wouldn't have gotten here without Sen. Brandes and the Senate leading on this issue.

During close, Sen. Brandes stated that he obviously wanted to do more. Even entertaining lowering the 85% gain-time requirement is bold. He stated that Rep. Renner wants the best criminal justice system in the country, so over the summer Sen. Brandes will be calling members to tour prisons and juvenile facilities. He stated that 1/3 or prisoners are functionally illiterate. We let individuals out with $50 and a bus pass and then are surprised that they are homeless and reoffending.

The bill passed and is now in House returning messages.

MESSAGES FROM THE HOUSE:

SB 186 Public Records/Victims of Mass Violence – Final passage, 40-0; the bill now heads to the Governor

Sen. Lee moved to concur in House amendment 8047. There were no objections and the amendment was adopted.

There was no debate and the bill passed unanimously.

SB 7006 Elections – Passed 22-17, as amended; the bill now heads back to the House

Taking up the House amendment, 704217, Sen. Baxley explained it adds drop boxes [for vote-by-mail ballots].

Taking up the Senate amendment, 766844, Sen. Brandes explained that the amendment inserts the contents of SB 7086. The amendment maintains the majority of the provisions of the Senate bill with some modifications. The following terms are defined:

- "Completion of all terms of sentence," which means any portion of the sentence that is contained in the four corners of the sentencing document
- "Felony sexual offense" as those cross-referenced in anything that would require you to register as a sex offender and included all of the offenses listed in Sen. Book's amendment that is pending to SB 7086, and retains the inclusion of similar offenses in another jurisdiction
- "Murder," which retains from the Senate bill the actual killing of a person through pre-meditated murder, felony murder, unlawful distribution of a controlled substance with a proximity cause of death, depraved mind murder, the actual killing of an unborn child by injury of the mother, and the killing of a human as a result of furthering terrorism, and any such offense that occurred in another jurisdiction
- Require certain entities to notify or provide more information on voting rights restoration process, in addition to executive clemency and the restoration of civil rights process
- Prohibit a person from being charged or prosecuted for submitting false voter identification information if the alleged violation occurred between January 8, 2019 and the effective date of the bill [July 1, 2019]
- Provide that for the purposes of determining an applicant's eligibility, provisions of this act must be strictly construed and differing interpretations must be construed in favor of the applicant
- Require additional affirmative statements on voter applications related to whether a person has been convicted of a felony and, if so, has obtained his or her right to vote pursuant to executive clemency or via Art. IV, Florida Constitution.
- Provide that the Department of State (DOS) make the initial determination of whether information is credible and reliable related to an individual's eligibility under Art. IV, and forward that information to the Supervisor of Elections (SOE)
- Provide that the SOE verify and make the final determination of whether a person who registers to vote is eligible under Art. IV; the SOE may request additional assistance from DOS in making a final determination
- As it relates to financial obligations, allow for different means of resolution: 1) fully pay all restitution ordered; 2) full payment of fines and fees ordered as part of the sentence or as a condition of probation or community control; 3) there is a process by which those fines and fees can be waived or be satisfied by the individual affected; or 4) allow those fines and fees to be converted to community service when available; or any combination thereof. So anything that would ultimately allow you to complete the sentence—the full payment of fines and fees, a waiver by the court, conversion to community service, or any combination thereof.

Questions on the amendment: There were a series of questions by a number of Senators. Those of particular interest to Clerks are summarized here:

- Sen. Braynon asked about the options to satisfy the court costs, fines and fees. Specifically, how would the community service option work. Sen. Brandes responded that you would have to go through the Court for this. Sen. Braynon asked if there were any standards: would one have to have a financial hardship? Sen. Brandes responded that there are no defined standards; you would petition the court to allow them to pay fines and fees via community service. Sen. Braynon asked about the waiver option: what would be the reasons for granting this? Sen. Brandes responded that there would be a variety of reasons: an inability to pay; a number of years have passed since the offense. He likened this to some of the things that are done with DL Reinstatement Days, where we allow the courts to look back at the sentence and make some modifications. They may be able to lower the fine or fee to an amount that you would be able to pay. It's really a negotiation of what you're able to pay. As it relates to fines and fees, it's clear that they intended for this amendment to include all things within the four corners of the sentencing document, and that all terms of sentence truly means all terms of sentence that were included on the sentencing document. It is not additional fines that come afterward, or interest. Sen. Brandes pointed to the presentation of Dean Jon Mills before the Supreme Court; his statement was very clear: it included restitution, all fines and fees, everything within the four corners of the sentencing document.
- As it relates to the courts' ability, Sen. Pizzo asked do you believe a court, regardless of how old a case is or how many years have passed since its jurisdiction, by rule or by law, can go back into a case and open it up to accommodate a request of a returning citizen. Sen. Brandes responded that the court doesn't have this authority now, but with the passage of this bill it will be the law. Sen. Pizzo believes that regardless of what comes out of the Legislature it will be challenged in the courts. As it relates to court costs, are these part of a sentence. Sen. Brandes responded that depends on whether they're included in the sentencing document. Sen. Pizzo asked what we do about the thousands of criminal cases where Clerks sent to collections for pennies on the dollar court costs that are not a party, but a third party, to any of these cases. How will a returning citizen handle collections, with interest. First, the interest would not be included. They have the option of full payment; have those fines and fees waived by the court; or converted to community service if that's allowed. Sen. Pizzo asked if the court has the ability to waive court costs? To waive restitution? To waive fines and fees? If statute allows for this, then yes.
- Sen. Rouson asked about the role of the SOE vs. the Secretary of State related to eligibility. Sen. Brandes explained that the SOE would have initial contact, take the information, then provide the voter registration form for review by DOS, and provide the voter with a voter card, pending the outcome of the verification by DOS. Sen. Rouson asked if the SOEs need FTEs? Sen. Brandes responded that the SOEs need no additional authority and this would fall under their day-to-day duties with regard to any other citizen. There are additional funds in the budget for the Florida Commission on Offender Review (FCOR) to review documentation for Amendment 4 or executive clemency to say whether the restitution has been paid in full.
- Sen. Bradley, followed by Sen. Thurston, asked a series of questions related to the Supreme Court's review of Amendment 4 and the presentation by Dean Jon Mills wherein he discussed court costs, fines, fees, and restitution in relation to Amendment 4 and completion of a term of sentence.
- Sen. Stewart asked if the Court could send the Clerk the authority to enter into a payment plan for restitution. Sen. Brandes responded that they may, but full payment of restitution is needed before voting restoration. Even if they enter into a payment plan, that does not give restoration; they would have to complete the payment plan.

- Sen. Rodriguez called a point of order on the germanity of the language that is being added to the bill. Rules Chair Benacquisto later opined that his point was not well taken because the principle subject of the underlying bill is related to election administration. Sen. Rodriguez then asked a series of questions related to Section 25 [which prohibits a person from being charged or prosecuted for submitting false voter identification information if the alleged violation occurred between January 8, 2019 and the effective date of the bill] and those individuals who have already registered and have been issued voter cards that do have outstanding fines and fees. Sen. Brandes responded that those individuals will be notified by DOS that their voter card is no longer valid. Once they have completed their sentence, including the payment of any restitution or fines and fees, they can reapply. Based on an additional question from Sen. Rodriguez, Sen. Brandes also explained the changes to the voter registration form: they are asked if they've been convicted of a felony; if yes, they're asked if they obtained his/her right to vote through executive clemency, or obtained his/her right to vote through Amendment 4.
- Sen. Gibson asked when someone is released from an institution, who provides them with the sentencing documents that shows how much they have to pay or do. Sen. Brandes stated it depends on the terms of their release. If the public safety bill passes, they'll be provided with a paper copy of all terms of their sentence by the jail or DOC when they leave the institution. Other than that, it's up to the individual to obtain the information on remaining obligations from the court or from the Clerk of Court. Sen. Gibson asked if child support accrues if someone is in an institution and, if so, how is that dealt with. Sen. Brandes responded this only includes felonies and what is in the four corners of a criminal sentencing document. Sen. Gibson asked if they have an order for child support when they're sentenced, how is that handled? Sen. Brandes responded that any type of child support order would be a civil rather than a criminal action.
- Sen. Berman asked if there is a fiscal impact for the SOEs or DOS. Sen. Brandes responded that $750k is appropriated to FCOR to provide for additional FTEs and OPS to review these individual files. He doesn't believe there will be a significant impact for the SOE. There may be one for DOS, but they'll have to use existing resources.

Taking up the amendment to the amendment, 399974, Sen. Thurston explained it provides that should there be any restitution, fines, fees, or court costs ordered by the court, as long as they're converted to a civil lien, it would not prohibit an individual from voting. After lengthy debate and a close by Sen. Thurston, the amendment to the amendment failed.

There was lengthy debate on the underlying Senate amendment. Following Sen. Brandes's close on the amendment, the amendment was adopted.

Following a motion requesting the House concur in the Senate amendment, the bill passed.

The Senate Rules Committee met this afternoon, taking up a number of bills of interest to Clerks and Comptrollers. The following notes were compiled by Kimberly Renspie and me.

Note that Sen. Simmons requested that SB 7106 Risk Protection Orders be temporarily postponed after commenting that the bill deals with RPOs, which can currently only be filed by law enforcement. This bill would expand current law to allow an individual who has a biological or legal parent-child relationship with a respondent, including a stepparent-stepchild relationship and a grandparent-grandchild relationship, an individual who is the legal guardian of a respondent, or a sibling of a respondent to be able to petition the court for an RPO. Senator Simmons stated that he wanted to temporarily postpone the bill so that more work can be done over the summer before presenting the bill again next session.

SB 7086 Voting Rights Restoration by Sen. Criminal Justice – passed 11-6 as amended; now available for consideration by the full Senate
Taking up the strike-all amendment (116400), Sen. Brandes explained his work with Sen. Simmons and this amendment adds to his amendment from Judiciary, while retaining a majority of his changes. It adds to the "completion of the terms of sentence" requirement that a term required to be completed as part of the sentence is deemed to be completed if the court modifies the original sentence order that no longer requires completion of such term. It modifies the term "felony sexual offense" by adding one additional felony sexual offense. It adds to the definition of "murder" the furtherance of terrorism that results in a death. It also requires that the Florida Commission on Offender Review (FCOR) notify certain offenders on supervised monitoring of any outstanding terms of sentence. It prohibits a person from being charged or prosecuted for submitting false voter information prior to this bill being implemented. And it provides that, for the purposes of determining an applicant's eligibility to vote the provisions of the act shall be strictly construed and if a provision has differing interpretations, then it must be construed in favor of the applicant.

During questions on the amendment, Sen. Lee asked about the ability for judges to modify the sentences and the conditions under which that would happen. Sen. Brandes responded that the most common time it is modified is when a judge says your fine is $1,000 and we're going to immediately convert that a civil lien at sentencing. There is the ability for people to come back after their sentencing if there is a significant change in life circumstances. He noted that this is language picked up from the House as it relates to re-sentencing.

Taking up the amendments, Sen. Rodriguez explained that four of the five amendments to the delete all are similar.

- 786538: Those who would have their rights restored by Amendment 4 had those rights restored as of January 8; we do not need an implementing bill. However, we should amplify those rights with restored rights. This amendment is the first of four rights that we could do: this one would also restore the right to serve on juries. During public testimony, the FSU Center on Advancement of Human Rights spoke in support. There were no questions on the amendment. During debate, Sen. Brandes stated that he is happy to work with Sen. Rodriguez on these, but noted that it is a dance between the House and the Senate and we are still far apart. There will probably be another substantial amendment on the floor. Pending the withdrawal of these amendments, Sen. Brandes is happy to work with Sen. Rodriguez to see what can be negotiated with the House. Not adopted.
- 620860: Distinct from the other amendments; this would say that the failure to meet any financial obligations may not be considered in determining whether all terms of a sentence have been completed. This is based on the language that was approved by voters. There were no questions on the amendment. During public testimony, the FSU Center on Advancement of Human Rights spoke in support: there have been some observations that Amendment 6 requires that the Legislature take a certain position, especially with respect to restitution; it doesn't. So long as the underlying obligation is not diminished or eliminated, Amendment 6 has no application. This would remove a substantial barrier that would also require substantial tax dollars, which also may impact court dockets. During debate, Sen. Brandes stated he believes this amendment would violate voters' intent; the applicants clearly stated before the Supreme Court that restitution was included in "all terms and conditions of a sentence;" it was also included in their advertisements on their websites. Not adopted.
- After briefly explaining 136384, 275642, and 477272, Sen. Rodriguez withdrew these amendments.

On the delete-all, Neil Volz, Florida Rights Coalition, spoke in support of the Brandes amendment and the bipartisan process in the Senate. It is most consistent with the language of Amendment 4. He believes strongly that restitution is a key part of the personal and community restoration that is needed after a crime occurs. That's why we talked about it during the campaign. At the same time, we know it is a common practice for the court to transfer the financial obligations from a criminal sentence into the civil system once a portion of the payments have been made, and that typically once a criminal sentence is over, that person is able to move forward as a full member of the community. The FSU Center on Advancement of Human Rights also spoke on the delete-all, as did the League of Women Voters of Florida. Specifically, the League pointed to lines 257-260 and the inclusion of the term "four corners of the sentence." They believe that anything that comes after—for example, DOC's costs—are not part of this. Also at lines 282-284, appreciative of the ability for the court to "modify," but would like additional clarifying language so as to prevent misinterpretation down the road. They note that the conversion into a civil lien for restitution is actually a better protection for a victim because eventually that could be satisfied. The criminal fine sits on the other side of the courthouse and cannot be enforced. There was no debate on the delete all. It was adopted.

On the bill as amended, there were no questions. During public testimony, the Florida Conference of the United Methodist Church, Big Bend Voting Rights Project, Florida NOW, Florida State Conference of NAACP, Jacksonville Branch of the NAACP, Dream Foundation and Florida Voters' Campaign, Florida Rights Restoration Coalition, Sierra Club of Florida, and ACLU of Florida all waived in opposition to the bill. During debate, Sen. Thurston asked if Sen. Brandes believes that a civil lien judgment for restitution would allow the convicted felon to be allowed to vote. Sen. Braynon thinks there are still some items to clean up related to restitution. Sen. Book noted that if we don't move something like this long, it will be left to others to decide. She asked the sponsor to fights as hard as we can to get as close to the intent of the amendment as possible. Sen. Simmons thanked Sen. Brandes for continuing the dialogue with all of the stakeholders and offering something that is consistent with the amendment and still meets all terms of the sentence that was imposed. He noted that the proponent of the amendment that was ultimately passed made it clear that restitution was part of the sentence to the Supreme Court. Sen. Rodriguez is against the bill. He again stated that those who had their rights restored by Amendment 4 had those rights on January 8. The Legislature does not need to be involved. To the extent that this bill is the vehicle to implement Amendment 4, he is not convinced that this bill would not take away rights from individuals.

During close, Sen. Brandes thanked the Public Defenders for saying that an implementing bill was need. He also thanked Sen. Simmons. He also noted that Dean Jon Mills had not appeared to rebut anything that has been said about his testimony before the Supreme Court through three committees in the House and the Senate. He also thanked Neil Volz for his testimony and used his support as an example of how far we've come.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

The bill passed as amended.

SB 838 Public Records/Mental Health Treatment and Services by Sen. Powell – passed 18-0 as amended; now available for consideration by the full Senate
Sen. Powell explained the bill as providing a public records exemption for voluntary and involuntary petitions for admission for mental health treatment, court orders, and related records, as well as personal identifying information regarding persons seeking mental health treatment and services. The bill provides that information made exempt may be disclosed to certain entities [upon request], including the petitioner, the petitioner's attorney, and DCF, among others.

- Taking up late-filed amendment 475810, Sen. Powell explained that it is technical in nature, correcting a statutory cross-reference typo. There were no questions, debate, or public testimony and the amendment was adopted.

On the bill as amended, there were no questions or debate. During public testimony, Florida PTA, Florida Council for Behavioral Healthcare, and the National Alliance on Mental Illness waived in support.

Sen. Powell waived his close and the bill passed unanimously as amended.

SB 1616 Local Government Financial Reporting by Sen. Baxley – passed 16-0; now available for consideration by the full Senate
The bill requires counties and municipalities to post their annual budgets to their respective websites for at least the past two years and a tentative budget for at least 45 days. It requires each county and municipal budget officer to file an annual report to the Office of Economic and Demographic Research (EDR). Senator Baxley described it as the report card on how the governments are doing in a way that can be coordinated and shared as economic and demographic information. It is the hope that this information will lead to investment in Florida communities. The bill will require EDR to develop the format and forms for reporting.

There were no questions or debate on the bill. During public testimony, Demetrius Minor, Americans for Prosperity, waived in support.

Senator Baxley waived close and the bill passed unanimously.

SB 746 Public Records/Judicial Assistants by Sen. Wright – passed 16-0; now available for consideration by the full Senate
This bill makes the following information for current or former judicial assistants to justices and judges exempt from the disclosure requirements of the public records laws:

- The judicial assistant's address, date of birth, and telephone number.
- The names, home addresses, telephone numbers, dates of birth, and places of employment of the judicial assistant's spouse and children.
- The names and locations of schools and day care facilities attended by the judicial assistant's children.

There were no questions or debate on the bill. During public testimony, Allison Dudley, Judicial Assistants Association of Florida, waived in support.

Senator Wright waived close and the bill passed unanimously.

SB 1656 Criminal Statutes by Sen. Lee – passed 16-0; now available for consideration by the full Senate
Sen. Lee explained that the bill clarifies that the savings clause changes, adopted by Amendment 11 last November, will afford anyone charged with a crime, but not yet sentenced by a court to automatically benefit from any reduction in criminal penalties and sentencing requirements. Nothing in the bill would preclude the Legislature from applying a reduction in criminal penalties for sentencing retroactively, if the intent to do so is expressly stated in the legislation signed into law.

There were no questions or public testimony on the bill. During debate, Sen. Brandes thanked Sen. Lee for working with Families Against Mandatory Minimums on this bill.

During close, Sen. Lee thanked Sen. Rouson for his work on this bill. The bill passed unanimously.

SB 236 Public Records and Public Meetings by Sen. Book – passed 16-0; now available for consideration by the full Senate
Senator Book explained the bill as specifically referring to public records and public meetings exemptions related to sexual harassment and the process of protecting victims of sexual harassment from public disclosure. Allegations of sexual assault, harassment, and misconduct are extremely sensitive. Many victims don't come forward due to the stigma surrounding the incident and for fear of unwanted repercussions. Victims of sexual misconduct fear that their identities, reputations, and livelihoods could possibly be at stake.

At first glance, the bill could appear to be broad; however, it is quite tailored. Specifically, the bill only keeps confidential complaints, referrals, reports and any related records until an agency determines it will not investigate an allegation; the agency takes disciplinary action against the subject of the allegation and determines no further action will be taken; or a finding is made as to whether probable cause exists. The same is true for the public meetings portion of the bill. Thereafter, records are available to the public and only personal identifying information that could assist someone in determining a victim's identity remains confidential and exempt.

The final portion of the bill relates to the Ethics Commission's procedures. Currently, the alleged perpetrator is able to waive confidentiality of public records at any point. As a result, the public could access the records, which would only have the personal identifying information of the victim redacted. This bill would disallow this waiver of confidentiality. The previously explained exemption will also apply; redacting any information that can be used to identify the victim and ensuring that such information is not disclosed to the public.

There were no questions, debate, or public testimony on the bill.

Senator Book waived close and the bill passed unanimously.

SB 1338 Guardianship by Sen. Rodriguez – passed 17-0; now available for consideration by the full Senate
Sen. Rodriguez briefly explained that the bill deals with petitions to determine incapacity and the appointment of a guardian. The bill makes two technical changes and one substantive chance, which allows for judicial discretion in the dismissal process.

There were no questions or debate. During public testimony, the RPPTL Section of The Florida Bar waived in support.

Sen. Rodriguez waived close and the bill passed unanimously.

SB 1618 Tobacco Products by Sen. Simmons – passed 14-2; now available for consideration by the full Senate
Sen. Simmons explained that the bill increases the age to lawfully purchase tobacco products—not including cigars—from 18 to 21. The provisions of the bill are cited as the "Tobacco 21 Act." The bill defines tobacco products to include e-smoking devices, like e-cigarettes. The sale of tobacco products through a vending machine is also prohibited by the bill, but Sen. Simmons expects to correct that, but it must be done with the authority of someone who is able to control the vending machine. While the bill decriminalizes the penalties for anyone who sells, etc., cigars to persons under 18 or tobacco under age 21, it is Sen. Simmons' commitment that there will be a provision to reinstate the criminal penalties that already exist to selling to underage persons.
With regard to the late filed delete-all amendment, 923616, Sen. Simmons withdrew the amendment.

On the bill there were no questions. During public testimony, the American Heart Association spoke in opposition to the bill, specifically the cigar exemption. Other individuals waived in support or against the bill.

During his close, Sen. Simmons asked for support of the bill. The bill passed.

The Senate Rules Committee met this afternoon, taking up a number of bills of interest to Clerks and Comptrollers. The following notes were compiled by Kimberly Renspie and me.

Note that Sen. Simmons requested that SB 7106 Risk Protection Orders be temporarily postponed after commenting that the bill deals with RPOs, which can currently only be filed by law enforcement. SB 7086 Voting Rights Restoration by Sen. Criminal Justice – passed 11-6 as amended; now available for consideration by the full Senate
Taking up the strike-all amendment (116400), Sen. Brandes explained his work with Sen. Simmons and this amendment adds to his amendment from Judiciary, while retaining a majority of his changes. During public testimony, the FSU Center on Advancement of Human Rights spoke in support. There were no questions on the amendment. During debate, Sen. This would remove a substantial barrier that would also require substantial tax dollars, which also may impact court dockets. During debate, Sen. Brandes stated he believes this amendment would violate voters' intent; the applicants clearly stated before the Supreme Court that restitution was included in "all terms and conditions of a sentence;" it was also included in their advertisements on their websites. Not adopted.
- After briefly explaining 136384, 275642, and 477272, Sen. Rodriguez withdrew these amendments.

On the delete-all, Neil Volz, Florida Rights Coalition, spoke in support of the Brandes amendment and the bipartisan process in the Senate. It is most consistent with the language of Amendment 4. He believes strongly that restitution is a key part of the personal and community restoration that is needed after a crime occurs. That's why we talked about it during the campaign. At the same time, we know it is a common practice for the court to transfer the financial obligations from a criminal sentence into the civil system once a portion of the payments have been made, and that typically once a criminal sentence is over, that person is able to move forward as a full member of the community. The FSU Center on Advancement of Human Rights also spoke on the delete-all, as did the League of Women Voters of Florida. Specifically, the League pointed to lines 257-260 and the inclusion of the term "four corners of the sentence." They believe that anything that comes after—for example, DOC's costs—are not part of this. Also at lines 282-284, appreciative of the ability for the court to "modify," but would like additional clarifying language so as to prevent misinterpretation down the road. They note that the conversion into a civil lien for restitution is actually a better protection for a victim because eventually that could be satisfied. The criminal fine sits on the other side of the courthouse and cannot be enforced. There was no debate on the delete all. It was adopted.

On the bill as amended, there were no questions. During public testimony, the Florida Conference of the United Methodist Church, Big Bend Voting Rights Project, Florida NOW, Florida State Conference of NAACP, Jacksonville Branch of the NAACP, Dream Foundation and Florida Voters' Campaign, Florida Rights Restoration Coalition, Sierra Club of Florida, and ACLU of Florida all waived in opposition to the bill. During debate, Sen. Thurston asked if Sen. Brandes believes that a civil lien judgment for restitution would allow the convicted felon to be allowed to vote. Sen. Braynon thinks there are still some items to clean up related to restitution. Sen. Book noted that if we don't move something like this long, it will be left to others to decide. She asked the sponsor to fights as hard as we can to get as close to the intent of the amendment as possible. Sen. Simmons thanked Sen. Brandes for continuing the dialogue with all of the stakeholders and offering something that is consistent with the amendment and still meets all terms of the sentence that was imposed. He noted that the proponent of the amendment that was ultimately passed made it clear that restitution was part of the sentence to the Supreme Court. Sen. Rodriguez is against the bill. He again stated that those who had their rights restored by Amendment 4 had those rights on January 8. The Legislature does not need to be involved. To the extent that this bill is the vehicle to implement Amendment 4, he is not convinced that this bill would not take away rights from individuals.

During close, Sen. Brandes thanked the Public Defenders for saying that an implementing bill was need. He also thanked Sen. Simmons. He also noted that Dean Jon Mills had not appeared to rebut anything that has been said about his testimony before the Supreme Court through three committees in the House and the Senate. He also thanked Neil Volz for his testimony and used his support as an example of how far we've come.

The bill passed as amended.

SB 838 Public Records/Mental Health Treatment and Services by Sen. Powell – passed 18-0 as amended; now available for consideration by the full Senate
Sen. Powell explained the bill as providing a public records exemption for voluntary and involuntary petitions for admission for mental health treatment, court orders, and related records, as well as personal identifying information regarding persons seeking mental health treatment and services. The bill provides that information made exempt may be disclosed to certain entities [upon request], including the petitioner, the petitioner's attorney, and DCF, among others.

- Taking up late-filed amendment 475810, Sen. Powell explained that it is technical in nature, correcting a statutory cross-reference typo. There were no questions, debate, or public testimony and the amendment was adopted.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

On the bill as amended, there were no questions or debate. During public testimony, Florida PTA, Florida Council for Behavioral Healthcare, and the National Alliance on Mental Illness waived in support.

Sen. Powell waived his close and the bill passed unanimously as amended.

SB 1616 Local Government Financial Reporting by Sen. Baxley – passed 16-0; now available for consideration by the full Senate
The bill requires counties and municipalities to post their annual budgets to their respective websites for at least the past two years and a tentative budget for at least 45 days. It requires each county and municipal budget officer to file an annual report to the Office of Economic and Demographic Research (EDR). Senator Baxley described it as the report card on how the governments are doing in a way that can be coordinated and shared as economic and demographic information. It is the hope that this information will lead to investment in Florida communities. The bill will require EDR to develop the format and forms for reporting.

There were no questions or debate on the bill. During public testimony, Demetrius Minor, Americans for Prosperity, waived in support.

Senator Baxley waived close and the bill passed unanimously.

SB 746 Public Records/Judicial Assistants by Sen. Wright – passed 16-0; now available for consideration by the full Senate
This bill makes the following information for current or former judicial assistants to justices and judges exempt from the disclosure requirements of the public records laws:

- The judicial assistant's address, date of birth, and telephone number.
- The names, home addresses, telephone numbers, dates of birth, and places of employment of the judicial assistant's spouse and children.
- The names and locations of schools and day care facilities attended by the judicial assistant's children.

There were no questions or debate on the bill. During public testimony, Allison Dudley, Judicial Assistants Association of Florida, waived in support.

Senator Wright waived close and the bill passed unanimously.

SB 1656 Criminal Statutes by Sen. Lee – passed 16-0; now available for consideration by the full Senate
Sen. Lee explained that the bill clarifies that the savings clause changes, adopted by Amendment 11 last November, will afford anyone charged with a crime, but not yet sentenced by a court to automatically benefit from any reduction in criminal penalties and sentencing requirements. Nothing in the bill would preclude the Legislature from applying a reduction in criminal penalties for sentencing retroactively, if the intent to do so is expressly stated in the legislation signed into law.

There were no questions or public testimony on the bill. During debate, Sen. Brandes thanked Sen. Lee for working with Families Against Mandatory Minimums on this bill.

During close, Sen. Lee thanked Sen. Rouson for his work on this bill. The bill passed unanimously.

SB 236 Public Records and Public Meetings by Sen. Book – passed 16-0; now available for consideration by the full Senate
Senator Book explained the bill as specifically referring to public records and public meetings exemptions related to sexual harassment and the process of protecting victims of sexual harassment from public disclosure. Allegations of sexual assault, harassment, and misconduct are extremely sensitive. Many victims don't come forward due to the stigma surrounding the incident and for fear of unwanted repercussions. Victims of sexual misconduct fear that their identities, reputations, and livelihoods could possibly be at stake.

At first glance, the bill could appear to be broad; however, it is quite tailored. Specifically, the bill only keeps confidential complaints, referrals, reports and any related records until an agency determines it will not investigate an allegation; the agency takes disciplinary action against the subject of the allegation and determines no further action will be taken; or a finding is made as to whether probable cause exists. The same is true for the public meetings portion of the bill. Thereafter, records are available to the public and only personal identifying information that could assist someone in determining a victim's identity remains confidential and exempt.

The final portion of the bill relates to the Ethics Commission's procedures. Currently, the alleged perpetrator is able to waive confidentiality of public records at any point. As a result, the public could access the records, which would only have the personal identifying information of the victim redacted. This bill would disallow this waiver of confidentiality. The previously explained exemption will also apply; redacting any information that can be used to identify the victim and ensuring that such information is not disclosed to the public.

There were no questions, debate, or public testimony on the bill.

Senator Book waived close and the bill passed unanimously.

SB 1338 Guardianship by Sen. Rodriguez – passed 17-0; now available for consideration by the full Senate
Sen. Rodriguez briefly explained that the bill deals with petitions to determine incapacity and the appointment of a guardian. The bill makes two technical changes and one substantive chance, which allows for judicial discretion in the dismissal process.

There were no questions or debate. During public testimony, the RPPTL Section of The Florida Bar waived in support.

Sen. Rodriguez waived close and the bill passed unanimously.

SB 1618 Tobacco Products by Sen. Simmons – passed 14-2; now available for consideration by the full Senate
Sen. Simmons explained that the bill increases the age to lawfully purchase tobacco products—not including cigars—from 18 to 21. The provisions of the bill are cited as the "Tobacco 21 Act." The bill defines tobacco products to include e-smoking devices, like e-cigarettes. The sale of tobacco products through a vending machine is also prohibited by the bill, but Sen. Simmons expects to correct that, but it must be done with the authority of someone who is able to control the vending machine. While the bill decriminalizes the penalties for anyone who sells, etc., cigars to persons under 18 or tobacco under age 21, it is Sen. Simmons' commitment that there will be a provision to reinstate the criminal penalties that already exist to selling to underage persons.
With regard to the late filed delete-all amendment, 923616, Sen. Simmons withdrew the amendment.

On the bill there were no questions. During public testimony, the American Heart Association spoke in opposition to the bill, specifically the cigar exemption. Other individuals waived in support or against the bill.

During his close, Sen. Simmons asked for support of the bill. The bill passed.

Hey! No worries.

The updates to the criminal justice data transparency initiative that are part of this criminal justice reform package are the same as what's in Rep. Grant's stand-alone 1392 update, HB 7109. I figure they want to make sure those updates get out: whether as a stand-alone bill or part of this train.

Let me know if you want the specific line/sections in this mammoth thing to look at :)

Subject: RE: AGENDA: Wed., May 1 - Senate Session - County Court Judges | Electronic Legal Documents | Justice System | Voting Rights Restoration | Public Safety

The Senate met today and took up the following bills of interest. Note that both SB 7072 Justice System and SB 7086/HB 7089 Voting Rights Restoration were temporarily postponed.

SB 548 Electronic Legal Documents – laid on table; HB 409 was substituted for SB 548 and rolled to third reading
Sen. Brandes asked that the House bill, HB 409 Electronic Legal Documents, be substituted for the Senate bill.

Taking up the House bill, Sen. Brandes briefly explained it as authorizing the use of validity for online notarization of certain legal documents in Florida. Explaining the differences between the House and Senate bills, Sen. Brandes noted that the House bill provides additional consumer protections that weren't in the Senate version. Other than that, the differences are largely stylistic.

There were no questions on the bill and it was rolled to third reading. It is available for a vote of the full Senate tomorrow.

HB 5011 County Court Judges – passed 36-0; now in House returning messages
Sen. Bradley explained that the bill does two things dealing with Supreme Court Justices: it allows a justice to live outside of Leon County and to designate an official headquarters elsewhere, and makes them eligible for subsistence reimbursement while they're in Tallahassee for business. He noted this language is in the current state FY 2018-19 implementing bill; this would make it a permanent change. The bill also adds two county court judges (Citrus and Flagler) and two circuit court judges (9th and 12th).

There were no questions on the bill and it passed 36-0. It now heads to the House.

SB 642 Public Safety Electronic Legal Documents – laid on table; HB 7125 was substituted for SB 642, was then amended, and then rolled to third reading
Sen. Brandes asked to move to the House bill, HB 7125, then took up the delete-all amendment, 462662, and the amendments to the amendment.

- Amendment to the amendment 879480: Sen. Brandes explained that this modifies one provision related to habitual traffic offenders. Adopted.
- Amendment to the amendment 383610: Sen. Brandes explained that this provides clarifying information related to the Criminal Punishment Code Task Force that is established by the bill. Adopted.

On the delete all as amended, Sen. Brandes explained that this represents work over the last few weeks with the House on a substantive criminal justice package. The delete all addresses:

- Crime Stoppers program
- Supreme Court headquarters, which Sen. Bradley discussed
- Updates the felony threshold to $750, which was passed out of the Senate Appropriations Committee
- Related to DL suspensions, he noted that the most common felony is that for a third driving with a suspended license. This would make that offense a misdemeanor and would require a 10-day county jail term, but someone won't be labeled as a felon for the rest of their lives.
- Occupational licensing and contractor/construction fraud
- Repeals the minimum/mandatory for horsemeat
- Reduces certain DL suspensions from one year to six months, which is the federal minimum requirement
- Cyberstalking and updates other computer-related crimes

AMERICA OVERSIGHT

- Significantly deals with sealing and expunging of records, including listing those offenses that are not eligible for the court-related process and includes automatic sealing provisions
- Increases the minimum/mandatory amounts for possession for certain drug trafficking offenses
- Updates a number of issues related to the criminal justice data transparency initiative
- Related to drug courts and community courts, requires additional information on these to be provided.

During questions, Sen. Bracy asked about the Senate's original package and what has been left out here. Sen. Brandes responded that three major issues are not included: the reduction of gain time from 85% to 65% for non-violent offenders; federal language regarding the safety valve; and the retroactive sentencing change for aggravated assault. Sen. Bracy asked for the reason; is it because the House wouldn't accept? Sen. Brandes responded that during negotiations, these three issues were the most challenging for the House.

Sen. Brandes waived close on the amendment and it was adopted.

On the bill as amended, there were no additional questions and the bill was rolled to third reading. It is available for a vote of the full Senate tomorrow.

The Senate met today and took up the following bills of interest. Note that both SB 7072 Justice System and SB 7086/HB 7089 Voting Rights Restoration were temporarily postponed.

SB 548 Electronic Legal Documents – laid on table; HB 409 was substituted for SB 548 and rolled to third reading

Florida. Explaining the differences between the House and Senate bills, Sen. Brandes noted that the House bill provides additional consumer protections that weren't in the Senate version. Other than that, the differences are largely stylistic.

There were no questions on the bill and it was rolled to third reading. It is available for a vote of the full Senate tomorrow.

HB 5011 County Court Judges – passed 36-0; now in House returning messages
Sen. Bradley explained that the bill does two things dealing with Supreme Court Justices: it allows a justice to live outside of Leon County and to designate an official headquarters elsewhere, and makes them eligible for subsistence reimbursement while they're in Tallahassee for business. He noted this language is in the current state FY 2018-19 implementing bill; this would make it a permanent change. The bill also adds two county court judges (Citrus and Flagler) and two circuit court judges (9th and 12th).

There were no questions on the bill and it passed 36-0. It now heads to the House.

SB 642 Public Safety Electronic Legal Documents – laid on table; HB 7125 was substituted for SB 642, was then amended, and then rolled to third reading
Sen. Brandes asked to move to the House bill, HB 7125, then took up the delete-all amendment, 462662, and the amendments to the amendment.

- Amendment to the amendment 879480: Sen. Brandes explained that this modifies one provision related to habitual traffic offenders. Adopted.
- Amendment to the amendment 383610: Sen. Brandes explained that this provides clarifying information related to the Criminal Punishment Code Task Force that is established by the bill. Adopted.

On the delete all as amended, Sen. Brandes explained that this represents work over the last few weeks with the House on a substantive criminal justice package. The delete all addresses:

- Crime Stoppers program
- Supreme Court headquarters, which Sen. Bradley discussed
- Updates the felony threshold to $750, which was passed out of the Senate Appropriations Committee
- Related to DL suspensions, he noted that the most common felony is that for a third driving with a suspended license. This would make that offense a misdemeanor and would require a 10-day county jail term, but someone won't be labeled as a felon for the rest of their lives.
- Occupational licensing and contractor/construction fraud
- Repeals the minimum/mandatory for horsemeat
- Reduces certain DL suspensions from one year to six months, which is the federal minimum requirement
- Cyberstalking and updates other computer-related crimes
- Significantly deals with sealing and expunging of records, including listing those offenses that are not eligible for the court-related process and includes automatic sealing provisions
- Increases the minimum/mandatory amounts for possession for certain drug trafficking offenses
- Updates a number of issues related to the criminal justice data transparency initiative
- Related to drug courts and community courts, requires additional information on these to be provided.

During questions, Sen. Bracy asked about the Senate's original package and what has been left out here. Sen. Brandes responded that three major issues are not included: the reduction of gain time from 85% to 65% for non-violent offenders; federal language regarding the safety valve; and the retroactive sentencing change for aggravated assault. Sen. Bracy asked for the reason; is it because the House wouldn't accept? Sen. Brandes responded that during negotiations, these three issues were the most challenging for the House.

Sen. Brandes waived close on the amendment and it was adopted.

On the bill as amended, there were no additional questions and the bill was rolled to third reading. It is available for a vote of the full Senate tomorrow.

SB 548 Electronic Legal Documents – laid on table; HB 409 was substituted for SB 548 and rolled to third reading
Sen. Brandes asked that the House bill, HB 409 Electronic Legal Documents, be substituted for the Senate bill.

Taking up the House bill, Sen. Brandes briefly explained it as authorizing the use of validity for online notarization of certain legal documents in Florida. Explaining the differences between the House and Senate bills, Sen. Brandes noted that the House bill provides additional consumer protections that weren't in the Senate version. Other than that, the differences are largely stylistic.

There were no questions on the bill and it was rolled to third reading. It is available for a vote of the full Senate tomorrow.

There were no questions on the bill and it passed 36-0. It now heads to the House.

SB 642 Public Safety Electronic Legal Documents – laid on table; HB 7125 was substituted for SB 642, was then amended, and then rolled to third reading
Sen. Brandes asked to move to the House bill, HB 7125, then took up the delete-all amendment, 462662, and the amendments to the amendment.

- Amendment to the amendment 879480: Sen. Brandes explained that this modifies one provision related to habitual traffic offenders. Adopted.
- Amendment to the amendment 383610: Sen. Brandes explained that this provides clarifying information related to the Criminal Punishment Code Task Force that is established by the bill. Adopted.

On the delete all as amended, Sen. Brandes explained that this represents work over the last few weeks with the House on a substantive criminal justice package. The delete all addresses:

- Crime Stoppers program
- Supreme Court headquarters, which Sen. Bradley discussed
- Updates the felony threshold to $750, which was passed out of the Senate Appropriations Committee
- Related to DL suspensions, he noted that the most common felony is that for a third driving with a suspended license. This would make that offense a misdemeanor and would require a 10-day county jail term, but someone won't be labeled as a felon for the rest of their lives.
- Occupational licensing and contractor/construction fraud
- Repeals the minimum/mandatory for horsemeat
- Reduces certain DL suspensions from one year to six months, which is the federal minimum requirement
- Cyberstalking and updates other computer-related crimes
- Significantly deals with sealing and expunging of records, including listing those offenses that are not eligible for the court-related process and includes automatic sealing provisions
- Increases the minimum/mandatory amounts for possession for certain drug trafficking offenses
- Updates a number of issues related to the criminal justice data transparency initiative
- Related to drug courts and community courts, requires additional information on these to be provided.

During questions, Sen. Bracy asked about the Senate's original package and what has been left out here. Sen. Brandes responded that three major issues are not included: the reduction of gain time from 85% to 65% for non-violent offenders; federal language regarding the safety valve; and the retroactive sentencing change for aggravated assault. Sen. Bracy asked for the reason; is it because the House wouldn't accept? Sen. Brandes responded that during negotiations, these three issues were the most challenging for the House.

Sen. Brandes waived close on the amendment and it was adopted.

On the bill as amended, there were no additional questions and the bill was rolled to third reading. It is available for a vote of the full Senate tomorrow.

Hi Sara,

I confess that I haven't kept up on the full status of this over the past few days. What's in it now that it appears to be part of this train instead of a stand-alone?

 Updates a number of issues related to the criminal justice data transparency initiative

Subject: RE: AGENDA: Wed., May 1 - Senate Session - County Court Judges | Electronic Legal Documents | Justice System | Voting Rights Restoration | Public Safety

The Senate met today and took up the following bills of interest. Note that both SB 7072 Justice System and SB 7086/HB 7089 Voting Rights Restoration were temporarily postponed.

SB 548 Electronic Legal Documents – laid on table; HB 409 was substituted for SB 548 and rolled to third reading
Sen. Brandes asked that the House bill, HB 409 Electronic Legal Documents, be substituted for the Senate bill.

Taking up the House bill, Sen. Brandes briefly explained it as authorizing the use of validity for online notarization of certain legal documents in Florida. Explaining the differences between the House and Senate bills, Sen. Brandes noted that the House bill provides additional consumer protections that weren't in the Senate version. Other than that, the differences are largely stylistic.

There were no questions on the bill and it was rolled to third reading. It is available for a vote of the full Senate tomorrow.

HB 5011 County Court Judges – passed 36-0; now in House returning messages
Sen. Bradley explained that the bill does two things dealing with Supreme Court Justices: it allows a justice to live outside of Leon County and to designate an official headquarters elsewhere, and makes them eligible for subsistence reimbursement while they're in Tallahassee for business. He noted this language is in the current state FY 2018-19 implementing bill; this would make it a permanent change. The bill also adds two county court judges (Citrus and Flagler) and two circuit court judges (9th and 12th).

There were no questions on the bill and it passed 36-0. It now heads to the House.

SB 642 Public Safety Electronic Legal Documents – laid on table; HB 7125 was substituted for SB 642, was then amended, and then rolled to third reading
Sen. Brandes asked to move to the House bill, HB 7125, then took up the delete-all amendment, 462662, and the amendments to the amendment.

- Amendment to the amendment 879480: Sen. Brandes explained that this modifies one provision related to habitual traffic offenders. Adopted.
- Amendment to the amendment 383610: Sen. Brandes explained that this provides clarifying information related to the Criminal Punishment Code Task Force that is established by the bill. Adopted.

On the delete all as amended, Sen. Brandes explained that this represents work over the last few weeks with the House on a substantive criminal justice package. The delete all addresses:

- Crime Stoppers program
- Supreme Court headquarters, which Sen. Bradley discussed
- Updates the felony threshold to $750, which was passed out of the Senate Appropriations Committee
- Related to DL suspensions, he noted that the most common felony is that for a third driving with a suspended license. This would make that offense a misdemeanor and would require a 10-day county jail term, but someone won't be labeled as a felon for the rest of their lives.
- Occupational licensing and contractor/construction fraud
- Repeals the minimum/mandatory for horsemeat
- Reduces certain DL suspensions from one year to six months, which is the federal minimum requirement
- Cyberstalking and updates other computer-related crimes
- Significantly deals with sealing and expunging of records, including listing those offenses that are not eligible for the court-related process and includes automatic sealing provisions
- Increases the minimum/mandatory amounts for possession for certain drug trafficking offenses
- Updates a number of issues related to the criminal justice data transparency initiative
- Related to drug courts and community courts, requires additional information on these to be provided.

During questions, Sen. Bracy asked about the Senate's original package and what has been left out here. Sen. Brandes responded that three major issues are not included: the reduction of gain time from 85% to 65% for non-violent offenders; federal language regarding the safety valve; and the retroactive sentencing change for aggravated assault. Sen. Bracy asked for the reason; is it because the House wouldn't accept? Sen. Brandes responded that during negotiations, these three issues were the most challenging for the House.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Sen. Brandes waived close on the amendment and it was adopted.

On the bill as amended, there were no additional questions and the bill was rolled to third reading. It is available for a vote of the full Senate tomorrow.

Hey! No worries.

The updates to the criminal justice data transparency initiative that are part of this criminal justice reform package are the same as what's in Rep. Grant's stand-alone 1392 update, HB 7109. I figure they want to make sure those updates get out: whether as a stand-alone bill or part of this train.

Let me know if you want the specific line/sections in this mammoth thing to look at :)

Subject: RE: AGENDA: Wed., May 1 - Senate Session - County Court Judges | Electronic Legal Documents | Justice System | Voting Rights Restoration | Public Safety

The Senate met today and took up the following bills of interest. Note that both SB 7072 Justice System and SB 7086/HB 7089 Voting Rights Restoration were temporarily postponed.

SB 548 Electronic Legal Documents – laid on table; HB 409 was substituted for SB 548 and rolled to third reading
Sen. Brandes asked that the House bill, HB 409 Electronic Legal Documents, be substituted for the Senate bill.

Taking up the House bill, Sen. Brandes briefly explained it as authorizing the use of validity for online notarization of certain legal documents in Florida. Explaining the differences between the House and Senate bills, Sen. Brandes noted that the House bill provides additional consumer protections that weren't in the Senate version. Other than that, the differences are largely stylistic.

There were no questions on the bill and it was rolled to third reading. It is available for a vote of the full Senate tomorrow.

HB 5011 County Court Judges – passed 36-0; now in House returning messages
Sen. Bradley explained that the bill does two things dealing with Supreme Court Justices: it allows a justice to live outside of Leon County and to designate an official headquarters elsewhere, and makes them eligible for subsistence reimbursement while they're in Tallahassee for business. He noted this language is in the current state FY 2018-19 implementing bill; this would make it a permanent change. The bill also adds two county court judges (Citrus and Flagler) and two circuit court judges (9^{th} and 12^{th}).

There were no questions on the bill and it passed 36-0. It now heads to the House.

SB 642 Public Safety Electronic Legal Documents – laid on table; HB 7125 was substituted for SB 642, was then amended, and then rolled to third reading
Sen. Brandes asked to move to the House bill, HB 7125, then took up the delete-all amendment, 462662, and the amendments to the amendment.
- Amendment to the amendment 879480: Sen. Brandes explained that this modifies one provision related to habitual traffic offenders. Adopted.
- Amendment to the amendment 383610: Sen. Brandes explained that this provides clarifying information related to the Criminal Punishment Code Task Force that is established by the bill. Adopted.

On the delete all as amended, Sen. Brandes explained that this represents work over the last few weeks with the House on a substantive criminal justice package. The delete all addresses:
- Crime Stoppers program
- Supreme Court headquarters, which Sen. Bradley discussed
- Updates the felony threshold to $750, which was passed out of the Senate Appropriations Committee
- Related to DL suspensions, he noted that the most common felony is that for a third driving with a suspended license. This would make that offense a misdemeanor and would require a 10-day county jail term, but someone won't be labeled as a felon for the rest of their lives.
- Occupational licensing and contractor/construction fraud
- Repeals the minimum/mandatory for horsemeat
- Reduces certain DL suspensions from one year to six months, which is the federal minimum requirement
- Cyberstalking and updates other computer-related crimes
- Significantly deals with sealing and expunging of records, including listing those offenses that are not eligible for the court-related process and includes automatic sealing provisions
- Increases the minimum/mandatory amounts for possession for certain drug trafficking offenses
- Updates a number of issues related to the criminal justice data transparency initiative
- Related to drug courts and community courts, requires additional information on these to be provided.

During questions, Sen. Bracy asked about the Senate's original package and what has been left out here. Sen. Brandes responded that three major issues are not included: the reduction of gain time from 85% to 65% for non-violent offenders; federal language regarding the safety valve; and the retroactive sentencing change for aggravated assault. Sen. Bracy asked for the reason; is it because the House wouldn't accept? Sen. Brandes responded that during negotiations, these three issues were the most challenging for the House.

Sen. Brandes waived close on the amendment and it was adopted.

On the bill as amended, there were no additional questions and the bill was rolled to third reading. It is available for a vote of the full Senate tomorrow.

Subject: RE: AGENDA: Wed., Oct. 16 - S CCJ Approps Sub - LBR Presentations: State Courts | Justice Administration Commission

As a reminder, the following summary is not intended to be a verbatim report, nor should comments attributed to particular speakers be taken as direct quotes. Instead, this summary is intended to keep membership updated and informed of issues or bills of interest. To view this meeting in its entirety, you may watch live online via the Florida Channel (https://thefloridachannel.org/) or, following the meeting's conclusion, via the Florida Channel's video library (https://thefloridachannel.org/videos/).

The Senate Appropriations Subcommittee on Criminal and Civil Justice, chaired by Sen. Jeff Brandes, met yesterday afternoon to hear legislative budget request (LBR) presentations from justice partner agencies. The presentations closely followed the material included in the meeting packet, which may be accessed via this link. Note that, due to time constraints, the presentation by the Department of Juvenile Justice will be heard during the subcommittee's next meeting, scheduled for Wednesday, October 23.

In addition, following the LBR presentations, Sen. Brandes gave a brief presentation on the Department of Corrections, which touched on inmate population; increases in assaults, contraband, and uses of force; prison staffing and turnover, and officer pay. His final slide was titled, "Florida Needs a Plan."

He indicated that he will be asking this week for DOC and DJJ to update their strategic plans for presentation to the Legislature in January. The subcommittee will need the assistance of all members and the full Appropriations Committee in addressing this; it will take everyone working together. His intent is to start with the strategic plans and go from there.

For the LBRs, the following represents items that may be of general interest to Clerks and Comptrollers:

Florida Commission on Offender Review (FCOR), Gina Giacomo, Director of Administration:

- Following the LBR presentation, Sen. Brandes referenced a $700k appropriation that FCOR received in the SFY 19-20 budget to address case backlog and asked for a status update. FCOR responded that the agency had just filled the last of 17 positions and these individuals are going through extensive training that will allow them to begin reviewing cases. Sen. Brandes then asked for the percentage of time spent on Amendment 4 cases; FCOR responded the agency hasn't been directed to review any cases for Amendment 4.
- Sen. Rouson noted that there has been a case backlog at FCOR since his time in the House and asked what is the greatest contributor to backlog for clemency. FCOR spoke to the complexity of their investigations and how new hires must learn how to conduct a thorough investigation using 7-15 databases. Sen. Rouson responded that folks are tired of hearing about the backlog and the thought was that the appropriated monies would help provide a sense of urgency to the agency for voting purposes. FCOR provided that they have the same backlog as prior to Amendment 4; it has not impacted any pending cases. Sen. Rouson asked if the agency is serious about getting rid of the backlog. FCOR responded that Amendment 4 had no impact on restoration of civil rights (RCR) cases, because these individuals have applied to have all rights restored. Sen. Rouson finished his questions by noting that there's urgency for determinations to be made and for getting rid of the backlog. Folks want to know and they're tired of waiting. The message is that we're serious; not only about voting rights, but full rights.

State Courts System, Eric Maclure, Deputy State Courts Administrator:

- For the Supreme Court, request includes:
  - 1 FTE for public information office support
- For the DCAs:
  - $21M in non-recurring General Revenue (GR) for a new 2nd DCA Courthouse. Space is currently leased in Tampa and Lakeland, as the previous courthouse in Lakeland had to be vacated due to the roof.
  - $125k in recurring GR for subsistence/travel reimbursement for DCA judges who live more than 50 miles away from their courthouse. This reimbursement would be similar to that available for Supreme Court justices now.
  - Authorization to activate 6.5 existing, unfunded FTEs to help with appellate court security.
- For the trial courts:
  - 157 FTEs for timely resolution and cases, particularly in civil and family
  - 40.5 FTEs for court interpreting services; this would include foreign language and sign language and virtual, remote interpreting
  - Trust fund authorization for furnishings and equipment (11th Circuit for digital court reporting)

For the Office of State Courts Administrator (OSCA):

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Additional FTEs for problem-solving and family courts
  - § Family Courts rely on a mix of resources, including federal dollars and grants, which results in compartmentalized services. This will help broaden the services.
  - § 38% of circuit filings in Florida are Family Court cases. With the rise of pro se litigants, the demand for support is growing. The General Revenue dollars will help with other case types, like domestic violence.
- Recurring GR to access the Florida Criminal Justice Network: the state courts system has had a long-standing partnership with FDLE to access the CJNet and that requires maintenance of a secure network by the court system to access that important criminal justice data. That was originally funded by GR, but then the support shifted to FDLE's trust fund and FDLE has experienced cash problems in the trust fund and can no longer support the Memorandum of Agreement that we have in place. FDLE is in support of OSCA coming to the Legislature to ask for recurring funding to continue to support OSCA's network, which will ensure continued access to that vital criminal justice data for things like first appearances.

- Certification of Need for Additional Judges – Placeholder: a new Supreme Court opinion on Certification of Need for Additional Judges is anticipated in Fall 2019.
  - Will be based on last year's certification, which requested four new circuit judges and four new county judges, less one circuit judge in the 9th circuit, which was funding during the 2019 Legislative Session
- Recruitment and Retention of Judges: requests continuation of strategy to promote recruitment and retention by adjusting the salaries of district, circuit, and county court judges.

Public Defenders, Stacy Scott, PD, 8th Judicial Circuit:

- Four priorities:
  - Thanked the Legislature for the work on the starting salary for entry level APDs last session, which was raised to $50k, but asked for the legislature to address the "compression issue" for those current APDs who were not given a pay raise: a pay increase of $3k for each APD within a certain salary range, impacting approximately 591 positions
  - $1.5M in funding for problem-solving courts
    - § When these are created by the Legislature, the funding typically goes to the court to implement, but not to PDs to help fund FTEs to staff these dockets. PDs are usually advocating for their clients to participate in these programs. Also noted that this representation typically lasts longer than average cases.
    - § 60% increase in Baker Act cases over the last 10 years and Public Defenders staff these cases; more than 40k last year alone. There has also been an 80% increase in juvenile Baker Act cases over the last 10 years. While the PDs are not appointed to these cases, they would like to be.
  - Across-the-board COLA for all state employees
  - Placeholder request for an increase for statewide Public Defender Due Process costs
- Senator Rouson asked for additional information related to problem-solving courts. Ms. Scott responded that the expansion of these types of courts means a need for additional Assistant PDs. We love problem-solving courts, as they reduce recidivism, etc., but they do take staffing and PDs have never received monies to staff these. This year's request would be for dollars to fund positions to help staff these courts.

State Attorneys, Phil Archer, SA, 18th Judicial Circuit:

Very grateful for the increase in starting salaries for assistant state attorneys, which has done wonders for recruitment. We also have the same compression issue as the PDs. We have not come to a funding formula, but will work with PDs to come to something we all agree with.

1 LBR for all 20 SAs is a 5% across-the-board increase for all state employees.

- With the progress we've had with attorneys and investigators, we now need help with all employees and support staff. These are integral to the job that we do.
- Since 2008, only have had two COLAs over that period.

Other LBR requests:

Diversion courts – a lot more time and resources than regular court

Body cam workload continues to be an issue; inundated with hours and hours of video

Public records requests – more records are digitally kept with search engines, etc. Spending an inordinate account of time on these

IT funds – move in technology and data transparency issues; all take upgrading additional funds for hardware and people

Sen. Harrell requested specific numbers in writing. Mr. Archer will follow up with her with the individual SA LBRs, but did note that the 5% increase, excluding university employees, would be more than $300M. We need to invest in our state workers.

Subject: Re: AGENDA: Wed., Oct. 23 - S CCJ Approps - Presentation on Data Transparency | LBRs for Florida Dept. of Law Enforcement | State Courts | Justice Administration Commission

As a reminder, the following summary is not intended to be a verbatim report, nor should comments attributed to particular speakers be taken as direct quotes. Instead, this summary is intended to keep membership updated and informed of issues or bills of interest. To view this meeting in its entirety, you may watch live online via the Florida Channel (https://thefloridachannel.org/) or, following the meeting's conclusion, via the Florida Channel's video library (https://thefloridachannel.org/videos/).

The Senate Appropriations Subcommittee on Criminal and Civil Justice, chaired by Sen. Jeff Brandes, met this morning to hear legislative budget request (LBR) presentations from FDLE and the Department of Juvenile Justice. FDLE also provided an update on data transparency. The full meeting packet may be accessed via this link; a link to view the meeting in its entirety may be accessedvia this link. The data transparency update portion of FDLE's update begins at about the 48:15 minute mark of the video and slide 10 of the presentation. The following includes items of interest from today's meeting:

FDLE LBR presentation – Assistant Commissioner Jennifer Cook Pritt

- Related to FDLE Programs, the Criminal Justice Information program accounts for 23% of FDLE FTEs (441) and 21% of budget ($58.28M)
- Related to FY 20-21 Top Priorities – issues sustaining an effective workforce; issues supporting law enforcement partners; and issues enhancing infrastructure for public safety
    - Requesting $8.1M in GR to ensure the solvency of the Criminal Justice Standards and Training Trust Fund, the totals of which have declined by more than by 50% over the past 10 years, from $18.2M in FY '07-'08 to $9.5M in FY '18-'19. It is now in danger of insolvency.
        - § Sen. Brandes asked what is the source of the trust fund; Assistant Commissioner Pritt responded that the source is court fines and fees levied on traffic citations. Sen. Brandes remarked that generally traffic citations are declining in the state and there is less money in the trust fund.
    - Requesting $3.56M in GR to continue criminal justice data transparency
        - § This initiative was created by the Legislature in 2018 for the uniform collection of criminal justice data to make it available to the public. The aim is to standardize data collection so that accurate analysis and comparison across multiple jurisdictions, agencies, and judicial circuits is possible.
        - § Five specific criminal justice agencies, including Clerks, are required to collect specific data elements and transmit them to FDLE. FDLE is responsible for receiving these data elements from each agency on a monthly basis and making the information public. The provided data must be maintained by FDLE in a way that allows people to download it and utilize it in different formats to do their own analysis. The data must be searchable by a unique identifier, which must be created for each criminal case received from Clerks to identify the person who is the subject of the criminal case and the identifier must be the same for all information related to that person at any time.
        - § In 2019, the Legislature expanded the data elements and the requirements for FDLE and the reporting entities and added another provision that requires FDLE to develop a uniform arrest affidavit (UAA) for statewide use and provide guidance for a statute table crosswalk.
        - § Collectively, this means changing the process for the collection of significant pieces of information at the point of arrest and booking; thereby impacting all law enforcement agencies.
        - § The initiative is scheduled to be implemented July 1, 2020.
    - Requesting $1.9M in GR for maintenance of the Computerized Criminal History System
        - § FDLE is responsible for operating this repository, which contains records of more than 7M subjects arrested by law enforcement. These records are used for a wide range of purposes by both public and private entities.
        - § New system went live in January 2020 and is a customizable, off-the-shelf product managed solely by the vendor.
- Sen. Harrell asked about expenditures on IT, particularly whether FDLE is looking at interoperability across agencies; for example, with DCF. Assistant Commissioner Pritt responded that when FDLE develops new systems, they are developed to certain standards, to essentially create the "hooks" that lead to interoperability. FDLE utilizes the NIEM XML standard, typical for criminal justice data. Sen. Harrell noted that there is not a unique person identifier, which makes it very difficult to cross-link information, but urged FDLE to use specific standards, especially when it comes to unique identifiers and data elements in the system. DMS will be building a data catalogue because we don't even know what we have.

Update on Data Transparency – Director Charles Schaeffer

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Criminal justice data transparency is focused on "people" data—subjects of the criminal justice system, while Florida Incident-Based Reporting System (FIBRS) focuses on "incidents;" they are related, but are separate from a data collection standpoint. What ties them together is the Uniform Arrest Affidavit (UAA): when you transition from the event or the incident and someone is actually arrested, that's when the person gets involved. That's what connects the three projects.
- Slide 11 details the "criminal justice continuum," from when a person comes in or is reported through when a person is incarcerated. First "hit"—when an offense occurs or is reported—goes into the FIBRS system, then continues on through the UAA and the data transparency initiative. He noted that the UAA is a critical data element: if we don't standardize the arrest information, we can't have uniform data throughout the system.
- When a person is booked in jail, that is when a criminal history record is established. Until then, all you have is an incident and an arrest. An arrest can go two different ways: a notice to appear or the individual can be booked. Until they're booked, the criminal history record does not exist. With a notice to appear, and an appearance in court, it can pick back up, but it can't be added to a criminal history record unless they're actually booked. The record is based on fingerprints and without these, we cannot create or update a record.
- Mr. Schaeffer noted that about 40% of arrests that occur in Florida do not result in a criminal history record because they do not get booked. We are working on some initiatives where once someone is adjudicated and their fingerprints are taken, those can come to FDLE. Today, these fingerprints do not: they are either left with the court or the Clerk and do not come to FDLE. Those that are convicted of a crime on a notice to appear, those records do not exist and cannot be part of data transparency.
    - Sen. Brandes asked if this something that would need a change in law. Mr. Schaeffer responded that it's something that FDLE has been working with OSCA for a couple of years on a program that would test fingerprint capture devices in courtrooms to electronically transmit these to FDLE, but that hasn't been started yet because today fingerprints are inked and put in a file. It's a gap, but it can be fixed through technology.
- As the person moves through the system, they are adjudicated and that information comes from the Clerks, and has been for 30-40 years. All of this "continuum" updates through data transparency.
- Mr. Schaeffer provided updates on FIBRS (Slide 13), data transparency (Slide 13), and the UAA (Slide 14):
    - The data transparency prototype has been built and the House has been briefed on it. (Note that screenshots of the prototype were provided at the end of Mr. Schaeffer's presentation.) Also releasing the statement of work and will be procuring a vendor for the "staging" area (not the final location of the data): the data must be collected first and then be "de-identified" before it can be published and go to the cloud.
    - UAA is based on the "Miami model:" it's fairly new and the statement of work is being completed for vendor procurement.
- Briefed on the data transparency portal that has been developed for the Legislature to react to (Slides 15-17).
    - Sen. Brandes asked if you would, eventually, be able to look at each individual judge. Mr. Schaeffer responded, possibly. He doesn't know if it goes down any further than judicial circuit, but noted a problem with a judge who starts a case vs. a judge who sentences a case. We wouldn't see the change when one judge recuses himself and the other takes over. Sen. Brandes noted the importance of being able to drill down for individual judges to look at things like the appearance of racial disparity in some charging/sentencing decisions. If we are going to push transparency, it needs to be pushed down to individual judges; circuit wide is not enough. Mr. Schaeffer stated that we may need help with the point in time for business rules: is it sentencing judge or judge assigned.
    - Sen. Brandes asked how we look at pled out data, since about 90% of these cases result in that. Mr. Schaeffer doesn't know if FDLE has the data at that granular level; for example, from the State Attorney, if there was a plea bargain. What we have is the result of the adjudication; what occurred from the time the charge was filed through what was sentenced. This would be another data element that we would need from the State Attorneys. What we have now from the State Attorneys actually comes from the Clerks, so there may be a gap in how that is transmitted from the State Attorney to the Clerk to FDLE and we would have to figure out how to close that gap. Sen. Brandes responded that this is something that needs to be worked on so that we have transparency with the bulk of the cases.
    - Sen. Bracy also expressed his desire to have this type of data and asked what needs to be done to get this extra information. Mr. Schaeffer responded that FDLE has created a data dictionary that describes the source of a data element and the parameters for sending to FDLE. If there are other data elements that are available in either the State Attorney or Clerks' systems that we could identify that captures these needs, FDLE could expand the data dictionary to incorporate that; we would just need some guidance from the Legislature as to what the element is and whether or not it is being captured. If not, it would be an expansion of whatever source repository has that information.
    - Sen. Rouson asked if FDLE has had any impact from Amendment 4 with requests for information from Clerks or individual. Mr. Schaeffer responded not more than usual and noted that FDLE does provide data to the Department of State.
    - Sen. Harrell asked if the system is live now. Mr. Schaeffer stated it is live, but not publicly live and a demo could be provided in the Capitol Police Conference Room because it is connected to FDLE. Sen. Harrell made such a request of the chair.
    - Sen. Harrell later asked for a copy of the data transparency data dictionary, which Mr. Schaeffer noted has been published and could be provided to Sen. Harrell. Sen. Harrell then remarked that different Clerks have different data systems and that becomes, at times, problematic if they're not collecting in the same manner the various data elements. When you get down to distinct data elements, how is that received from the various sources and do they all collect what the Legislature would want to have collected. Mr. Schaeffer noted that FDLE created a standardized data dictionary. FDLE is calling the same element the same thing the same way throughout Florida, so different systems may collect different data elements in a slightly different way, but FDLE has gone to great lengths to define that element so that it can map back into a source system. If they have it, they can map to that element as defined; if they don't, then it would be a system modification to collect that new element. If we want more elements that we haven't already defined to capture, then we would need to make changes to those systems in order to do that.
        - § Sen. Harrell asked the chair if legislation is needed to address new data elements and noted that there may be a fiscal impact to the counties to make these modifications; Sen. Brandes is happy to explore that.

Subject: RE: AMENDMENT: SB 7086 by Judiciary - Voting Rights Restoration - for Tomorrow at 2 pm in Rules

These amendments to SB 7086, the Senate's Amendment 4 implementation, would make the following changes:

Amendment 116400 (delete all): Would make the following substantive changes to this bill:

- To the definition of "completion of all terms of sentence" adds that this means any portion of a sentence that is contained in the "four corners of the sentencing document."
- Adds new language that a term of sentence shall be deemed completed if the court modifies the original sentencing order to no longer require completion of such term.
- Includes a violation of 872.06 related to abuse of a dead body as a disqualifying felony sexual offense.
- Includes a violation of 775.33(4) related to death as a result of a terrorism in the definition of murder.
- Requires the local supervisor of elections (SOE) to verify whether a person has completed all terms of his/her sentence.
    - While this was previously a duty that the Department of State could perform, this delete all would allow the SOE to requires assistance from the department.
- Requires the SOE to also include in the notification to a registered voter that s/he is potentially ineligible to vote, under 98.045(7), any conviction from another jurisdiction determined to be a similar offense to murder or felony sexual offense.
- Adds language that, for the purpose of determining a voter eligibility, the provisions of this section shall be strictly construed. If a provision is susceptible to differing interpretations, it shall be construed in favor of the applicant.
- Includes language similar to what is in the House version, prohibiting prosecution of someone who submits a false voter registration information on or after January 8, 2019, but before the effective date of this bill (upon becoming a law).
- Requires the Florida Commission on Offender Review to also include offender notification of any outstanding terms at the time of termination of supervision monitored by the commission.

The following amendments, all by Sen. Rodriguez, are made to the current version of the bill:

- Amendment 714376: Provides that a disqualification from jury service due to a felony offense is no longer applicable upon restoration of voting rights pursuant to this bill.
- Amendment 894776: Removes the restriction on licensure for certain occupations upon restoration of voting rights pursuant to this bill.
- Amendment 228614: Creates 111.076 to allow a person whose voting rights have been restored pursuant to this bill to qualify for and hold elective office in Florida.
- Amendment 424162: Creates 1009.02 to allow a person whose voting rights have been restored pursuant to this bill to be eligible for educational scholarships.

Subject: Re: Amendment #4 Returning Citizens Voting Rights

Absolutely, we will discuss with DOC. On Monday we will report the results of recent discussions with DOC.

To the best of my knowledge, the response from DOC relates to contacting the local DOC office. It appears to be limited to individuals released prior to 7/1/2019 from either DOC offender status (probation) or DOC inmate status (incarceration). These are 2 separate "sides" of the Department.

Note that the new law does not require DOC to "educate" prior (pre-7/1/2019) releasees on restoration. But DOC would need to document completion of any term of incarceration or supervision for those individuals. On an individual basis, such documentation could include completion of multiple terms if the individual had been sentenced to DOC on more than one occasion.

Responding to the question from the Port Orange Democratic Club's Amendment #4 Committee, I think we should be clear that it is not the Clerk's responsibility to confirm that individuals have met all conditions to have their voting rights restored. We do not have every piece of information needed by the individual. As examples, we would not have documentation of completion of incarceration for persons released in prior years. Nor would we have records of restitution paid directly to victims, as ordered by the Court. Ultimately, the new law places the final burden on the Department of State and local Supervisor of Elections. What Clerks can do is provide the records they do have, particularly sentencing documents and any subsequent modifications to those, as well as any documents filed with the Clerk/Court concerning the terms set out in those documents.

I believe it is appropriate for Clerks to suggest to organizations interested in the issue that, while continuing their work, they will want to monitor or comment to the Department of State's Restoration of Voting Rights Work Group (required in the new law), which should be getting organized within the next couple weeks.

Dear Ms. Roth, Clerk of Volusia Circuit Court,

As Chair of our Port Orange Democratic Club's Amendment #4 Committee, I am writing to confirm information I've received before passing it on to the rest of our committee.

As I understand it, it is the ex-felons' responsibility to confirm that they have met all conditions to have their voting rights restored and can check with your office to ensure that they have. As I also understand it, we cannot help them to register until they have done so. My biggest concern is that they may have added courts cost and other fines that they have not yet been informed of. I am also concerned that they can get into trouble if they try to register still having unpaid fines levied against them.

While I have done online research, I'm find a lot of the information dated since the Florida Legislature and our governor passed a law making it more difficult for these returning citizens to register.

I would deeply appreciate any advice you can give me. Thank you in advance.

You will see I just sent a follow up email with the same conclusion you state in your email. Great minds think alike – at least ours do. Just wanted to keep this on a state level so we are not getting the individual thoughts of 67 supervisors.

Ron,

Hope you are doing well and are recovering from the legislative session.

Sharon Bock, the Clerks' Association President, appointed a small workgroup (4) of Clerks with the task of dealing with issues related to Amendment 4. Part of our workgroup charge is to reach out to your association. Is it possible we can set up a conference call with you in the next week to discuss if bills passed by the legislature this session have influenced how the Supervisors are dealing with Amendment 4? It would be good to hear an update from you on the issues Supervisors are experiencing with particular interest in any that may involve Clerks' offices. If there are issues that involve Clerks from the Supervisors viewpoint, the workgroup would like to identify them to our members and come up with strategies to handle them in a uniform manner.

Thanks for your help. It's good our two groups communicate well on the issues related to the amendment.

Ken, One of the things mentioned was, can we be proactive and offer pay plans for those that want their rights restored? The plain reading of the current law suggest that is not possible as the payment in full is required.
I think we need to collaborate with Supervisors of Election to see what they are going to do to ensure eligibility, then establish clerk procedures around the Supervisors eligibility process.

Example if Supervisors intend to reach out to clerks for verification we should talk about how quickly we will respond and how we would respond. I would suggest our response would simply be a certified copy of the record which would include whether the fine was paid in full.

If the Supervisor is going to require the registrant to obtain proof then we should all agree what the proof will be and what our response time will be.

If Supervisors are not going to require proof of compliance then we probably should do the same.
Just my thoughts.

Karen, Tiffany and Tara,

We are the quick response team assigned to deal with issues relating to the Clerk and Amendment 4. I sent out a question to several Clerks' offices to get a very preliminary feel of how some counties deal with negotiating judgments. Those responses are included below in this email. You will see with even this small sample size we have a hodgepodge of responses. I had to leave the Legislative retreat early and was not present when the need for a quick response team was discussed. Can you enlighten me on our complete charge? In my conversation with Sharon, she asked for us to deliver a recommendation for the May 30 board meeting. If that recommendation deals with a consistent way for Clerks to deal with the negotiating of judgments, I feel the May 30 deadline is impossible. This will be a much longer process. The gathering of current methods and the appetite of Clerks to negotiate judgments will need to be assessed.

I guess our first order of business is to determine what is the charge of our team. By copying Chris Hart on this email, the request is that he assign a staff person to help with the logistics of our work. Once a person is assigned we will set up a conference call for us to initiate our work. In the meantime, if you have any insights or thoughts, please respond to this email (by reply all) and share your input.

Each of you is more qualified than I to serve as chair of the group. If you would want to volunteer to be chair, I will be more than happy to pass on the chair responsibilities to you. Just let me know.

Thanks for working on this effort.

Ken

Palm Beach Clerk's office response:

Palm Beach negotiates settlements on judgments for fines and costs. I have attached some of the documents and processes we use.

The rest of this may be too much detail but we started doing this on large, five figure cases (such as drug trafficking) by running a report to find those cases, then narrowing our focus by looking at age of case and if the defendant had a private attorney at the time of the conviction. We then sent letters (one is attached) to the last known address of the defendant and to his attorney. Once that was completed, the local defense attorneys began contacting us on these and on cases we had not reached out on. Our local defense bar and even the PD's office continues to bring all sizes of judgments to us to negotiate even though we no longer send letters.

To reach a settlement amount, we look at the age of the case, and the amount owed. If it is a large sum, we will also do a basic public record and social media search to look for additional information regarding possible ability to pay (a PowerPoint slide is attached). Once a settlement is reached, we record a satisfaction referencing FS 938 (also attached).

Manatee Clerk's office response:

Good morning. I've cut and pasted portions of an email that I sent out not too long ago in response to the same questions. . .

Section 938.30(9), F.S., (and related s. 938.29(3), F.S.) references the clerks' ability to enforce, satisfy, compromise, settle, subordinate, release, or otherwise dispose of any debt or liens imposed and collected under s. 938.30, F.S. Does this statute allow clerks to "waive or reduce" fines or costs ordered by the judge?

To answer your question, I think you're right when it comes to "liens" but not sure as to "debts." I tried to find some case law but didn't see anything on point.

FS 938.30(9) and 938.29(3) give the Clerk the authority to enforce, satisfy, compromise, settle, subordinate, release, or otherwise dispose of any debts or liens imposed or collected as part of any financial obligation in any criminal case, fees for court appointed counsel, and due process services.

The "lien" part is pretty straightforward from reading 938.30(6) and (8) and 938.29(2). Clerks are statutorily authorized to enforce, satisfy, compromise, subordinate, release, or otherwise dispose of those liens that arose from financial obligations in a criminal case.

The question is what the word "debts" means in these statutes, as there is no definition of "debts" in s. 938. Since the statutes specifically reference "liens," one would assume that "debts" means something other than "liens." Does "debts" mean financial obligations that have been ordered/imposed by the Court but not yet taken to judgment and a lien filed? If so, then Clerks would also have the authority to enforce, satisfy, compromise, subordinate, release and otherwise dispose of those monetary obligations imposed/ordered by the Court but not yet reduced to judgment. However, in practice, I don't think this is done regularly, because defendants routinely pay monetary obligations through probation, via payment plans, or through collections. In addition, if a defendant is unable to pay, she can ask the Court to take the monetary obligations to judgment at the time of sentencing or anytime thereafter upon an appropriate showing of inability to pay. See FS 938.30(2)-(6).

As for negotiating fines, fees, and other costs, Manatee does not have any written policies but will consider offers on a case-by-case basis. For example, we recently negotiated an old Trafficking fine that was taken to judgment when we were contacted by an attorney offering some money out of a partition sale. Matt

Volusia Clerk's office response:

I agree with Matt's analysis. In Volusia, we don't have policies dealing with this topic but we do on case by case basis negotiate on judgments that are at least a year old . The older the judgment, the more we are willing to compromise. The reason being that the older the judgment, the less likely someone will want to pay.

GM. Thank you all for agreeing to tackle this important issue. As Ken articulated, it appears the May 30 Board meeting report will be about process & preliminary ideas like those expressed by Karen. Over the years we have learned that uniformity in Clerk's statewide process is possible, but not without a clear road map and much communication with both clerk staff and Clerks. The communication & feedback method employed this year with a lot of success is using the District Directors as your change leaders. The Board can then approve the outcome & the education committee can set up calls, web x's or even a seminar at the summer conference (or fall if necessary). As Tara, under the current & proposed committee structure as President Elect, is Chair of the Strategic Planning Committee this year, perhaps this can be a goal that we can achieve. Thank you for taking on this issue that has a statewide effect & allows the Clerks to unite statewide to protect the public trust! Sharon

Subject: Amendment 4 Quick Response Team

Karen, Tiffany and Tara,

We are the quick response team assigned to deal with issues relating to the Clerk and Amendment 4. I sent out a question to several Clerks' offices to get a very preliminary feel of how some counties deal with negotiating judgments. Those responses are included below in this email. You will see with even this small sample size we have a hodgepodge of responses. I had to leave the Legislative retreat early and was not present when the need for a quick response team was discussed. Can you enlighten me on our complete charge? In my conversation with Sharon, she asked for us to deliver a recommendation for the May 30 board meeting. If that recommendation deals with a consistent way for Clerks to deal with the negotiating of judgments, I feel the May 30 deadline is impossible. This will be a much longer process. The gathering of current methods and the appetite of Clerks to negotiate judgments will need to be assessed.

I guess our first order of business is to determine what is the charge of our team. By copying Chris Hart on this email, the request is that he assign a staff person to help with the logistics of our work. Once a person is assigned we will set up a conference call for us to initiate our work. In the meantime, if you have any insights or thoughts, please respond to this email (by reply all) and share your input.

Each of you is more qualified than I to serve as chair of the group. If you would want to volunteer to be chair, I will be more than happy to pass on the chair responsibilities to you. Just let me know.

Thanks for working on this effort.

Palm Beach Clerk's office response:

Palm Beach negotiates settlements on judgments for fines and costs. I have attached some of the documents and processes we use.

The rest of this may be too much detail but we started doing this on large, five figure cases (such as drug trafficking) by running a report to find those cases, then narrowing our focus by looking at age of case and if the defendant had a private attorney at the time of the conviction. We then sent letters (one is attached) to the last known address of the defendant and to his attorney. Once that was completed, the local defense attorneys began contacting us on these and on cases we had not reached out on. Our local defense bar and even the PD's office continues to bring all sizes of judgments to us to negotiate even though we no longer send letters.

To reach a settlement amount, we look at the age of the case, and the amount owed. If it is a large sum, we will also do a basic public record and social media search to look for additional information regarding possible ability to pay (a PowerPoint slide is attached). Once a settlement is reached, we record a satisfaction referencing FS 938 (also attached).

Manatee Clerk's office response:

Good morning. I've cut and pasted portions of an email that I sent out not too long ago in response to the same questions. . .

Section 938.30(9), F.S., (and related s. 938.29(3), F.S.) references the clerks' ability to enforce, satisfy, compromise, settle, subordinate, release, or otherwise dispose of any debt or liens imposed and collected under s. 938.30, F.S. Does this statute allow clerks to "waive or reduce" fines or costs ordered by the judge?

To answer your question, I think you're right when it comes to "liens" but not sure as to "debts." I tried to find some case law but didn't see anything on point.

FS 938.30(9) and 938.29(3) give the Clerk the authority to enforce, satisfy, compromise, settle, subordinate, release, or otherwise dispose of any debts or liens imposed or collected as part of any financial obligation in any criminal case, fees for court appointed counsel, and due process services.

The "lien" part is pretty straightforward from reading 938.30(6) and (8) and 938.29(2). Clerks are statutorily authorized to enforce, satisfy, compromise, subordinate, release, or otherwise dispose of those liens that arose from financial obligations in a criminal case.

The question is what the word "debts" means in these statutes, as there is no definition of "debts" in s. 938. Since the statutes specifically reference "liens," one would assume that "debts" means something other than "liens." Does "debts" mean financial obligations that have been ordered/imposed by the Court but not yet taken to judgment and a lien filed? If so, then Clerks would also have the authority to enforce, satisfy, compromise, subordinate, release and otherwise dispose of those monetary obligations imposed/ordered by the Court but not yet reduced to judgment. However, in practice, I don't think this is done regularly, because defendants routinely pay monetary obligations through probation, via payment plans, or through collections. In addition, if a defendant is unable to pay, she can ask the Court to take the monetary obligations to judgment at the time of sentencing or anytime thereafter upon an appropriate showing of inability to pay. See FS 938.30(2)-(6).

As for negotiating fines, fees, and other costs, Manatee does not have any written policies but will consider offers on a case-by-case basis. For example, we recently negotiated an old Trafficking fine that was taken to judgment when we were contacted by an attorney offering some money out of a partition sale. Matt

Volusia Clerk's office response:

I agree with Matt's analysis. In Volusia, we don't have policies dealing with this topic but we do on case by case basis negotiate on judgments that are at least a year old . The older the judgment, the more we are willing to compromise. The reason being that the older the judgment, the less likely someone will want to pay.

Tiffany, Tara and Carolyn,
We compiled a list of work items for our amendment 4 workgroup. We decided in our call earlier this month that we need FCCC staff support. After our meeting I reached out to Chris to obtain staff support. Chris told me last week that Richard Herring will be our staff report. I am going to schedule a phone conference with Richard for this coming week and our group. I know its a short week but think we need to get this moving along. It is good news to have Richard on board.

Tara, Karen and Tiffany,

Just had good conversation with Ron Labasky. He is based in Tallahassee and represents the Supervisors of Elections Association.

Let me recap some of what we talked about:

- The form that Supervisors use to register voters will in all likelihood be revised. The new form will go through the administrative rule making process and probably will take months before it is put in use. Until that time the Supervisors will continue to use the existing form.
- Supervisors take people at their word filling out the form. The Supervisor does not go beyond what people attest to on the form.
- The Department of State has the responsibility to reject voter registrations and does reject voter registrations for a variety of reasons. When this occurs, the local supervisor has the responsibility to notify the voter that his/her voter registration has been rejected.
- A new area of rejection will be if the convicted felon owes court fines/fess/restitution. How the Department of State will know if the person who is a convicted Felon has outstanding court fines, fees and/or restitution due is unknown.

Items of concern for Clerks:

- Let's say a person who is a convicted felon goes to the Supervisor and attempts to register to vote and inquires if they are eligible. The Supervisor may offer that the person has to have satisfied any court fines/fees/restitution. If the person says they are unsure, there is no process in place. Will the Supervisors have access to this information? Will they send them to the Clerk? What if the crime was committed in a different county?
- Should Clerks come up with a standard form if a person who is a convicted felon inquiries about outstanding fees/fines/restitution to show the outstanding amounts? How will restitution be handled if not paid through the Clerk?
- What if the person owes court fines/fees/restitution to another county? Should we have a process where the local clerk can process that payment as part of constituent service?
- Should our workgroup make contact with the Secretary of State to find out how they will access the information on outstanding fines/fees/restitution or wait for them to contact us?

It does not appear we will have much to report at the board meeting on Thursday. There are more questions than answers at this time.

All good questions. Is it the mission of this workgroup to define a workflow and any supplemental procedures or forms to be used for those individuals seeking to gain their voting rights back? Subject: RE: AMENDMENT FILED: SB 7086 by Criminal Justice re: Voting Rights Restoration - Criminal Justice, 03/25/19, 1:30 pm, 37 Senate Building

These amendments would make the following changes to the underlying amendment, 703932:

- Amendment 776780: Currently, related to financial obligations for fulfillment of "completion of all terms of sentence" and restitution, the bill currently defines this as payment of all restitution ordered by the court as a condition of the sentence, regardless of whether such restitution is converted to a civil lien.
  - This amendment would remove, "regardless of whether such restitution is converted to a civil lien" and provides that a financial obligation required to be paid in accordance with this bill is deemed complete if such obligation is a part of an established payment plan or has been converted to a civil lien.
    - The language related to an established payment plan is new.
- Amendment 783410: This amendment would further limit the definition of "murder," removing attempted murder for the purposes of this bill.

Subject: RE: AMENDMENT FILED: SPB 7086 by Criminal Justice re: Voting Rights Restoration - On Criminal Justice , 03/25/19, 1:30 pm, 37 Senate Building

SPB 7086 Voting Rights Restoration is the Senate's implementing bill for Amendment 4.

Related to financial obligations for fulfillment of "completion of all terms of sentence," the bill currently defines this as payment of all restitution ordered by the court as a condition of the sentence, regardless of whether such restitution is converted to a civil lien; payment of all fees ordered by the court as part of the sentence or that are ordered as a condition of probation, community control, or parole, regardless of whether such fees are converted to a civil lien; and payment of all fines ordered by the court as part of the sentence or that are ordered as a part of probation, community control, or parole, regardless of whether such fines are converted to a civil lien.

- This amendment makes a drafting change, ordering all of these under subparagraph (2)(a)5.,and removes the clause "regardless of whether such fees are converted to a civil lien" for both the fees and fines language.

Related to the definition of "felony sexual offense," the bill enumerates a number of offenses in lines 323-330; this amendment would limit this definition to an offense that serves a predicate to registration as a sexual offender in accordance with s. 943.0435 and any similar offense committed in another jurisdiction which would be an offense if it had been committed in Florida.

Related to the definition of "murder," the bill includes murder under s. 782.04; manslaughter, etc., under s. 782.07; killing of an unborn child by injury to the mother under s. 782.09; and unnecessary killing to prevent unlawful act under s. 782.11; and any similar offense committed in another jurisdiction which would be an offense if it had been committee in Florida.

- The amendment limits this definition to first and second degree murder and attempted murder and the killing of an unborn child by injury to the mother.

The bill also creates the Restoration of Voting Rights Workgroup within the Department of State for the purpose of conducting a comprehensive review of the DOS's process of verifying registered voters, applicants, or potential applicants who have been convicted of a felony, but who may be eligible for restoration of voting rights under section 4, Article VI, of the Constitution. The workgroup shall submit a report to the Legislature by November 1, 2019, and then shall be dissolved. Note that the membership of the workgroup includes two Clerks, appointed by FCCC. (Full text, lines 40-105 of the amendment.)

This additional amendment would remove from the definition of "completion of all terms of sentence" payment of all restitution and fines and fees ordered by the court. The amendment retains the provision from the underlying delete-all amendment that a required term is completed if the court modifies the original sentencing order to no longer require completion of such term, and adds additional language providing that failure to meet any financial obligation may not be considered in determining whether a person's sentence has been completed for purposes of registering to vote; however, it does include language providing that nothing in this act shall be construed to affect the validity of, or requirements to fulfill, court-ordered financial obligations arising from a felony conviction.

Subject: RE: AMENDMENTS TO AMENDMENT FILED: SB 7086 by Criminal Justice re: Voting Rights Restoration- Today @ 2:00 PM in Rules

Yesterday, Sen. Rodriguez offered a series of amendments to the underlying bill. These amendments are identical to those, just filed to the delete-all amendment by Sen. Brandes.

As a reminder, these amendments would:

- Provide that a disqualification from jury service due to a felony offense is no longer applicable upon restoration of voting rights pursuant to this bill.
- Remove the restriction on licensure for certain occupations upon restoration of voting rights pursuant to this bill.
- Create 111.076 to allow a person whose voting rights have been restored pursuant to this bill to qualify for and hold elective office in Florida.
- Create 1009.02 to allow a person whose voting rights have been restored pursuant to this bill to be eligible for educational scholarships.

He suggested a workgroup of Clerks and Supervisors to work on joint issues. I said we would like that and our QRT would be glad to work with his Association. He did say the Dept of State is the organization that reviews voter registration applications and disqualifies applicants for a variety of possible reasons. The rejected application is sent back to the local Supervisor to make contact. He also stated the voter registration form will be revised. The revision will need to go through the administrative rule making process and will take months. We also talked about the possibility of clerks creating a uniform form when a convicted felon comes to a clerk's office and makes an inquiry about his/her outstanding fines and fees.

> The second issues deals with Clerks negotiating court fines and fees owed that have been converted into civil liens. I did a quick survey of a few counties. If that small sample is an indicator of the state, we are all over the place – from no negotiating to a county having very thorough procedures on the negotiating of liens. It will be quite a challenge to get clerks on the same page on this issue. The first challenge of the QRT is to do additional research on the variety of practices currently employed by Clerks.

Ken,

Good morning. Thank you for talking with Senator Brandes, it is exciting to know he is focused on helping with stable long term funding for Clerks. I agree with your recommendations on the action items. Jason has great information from this past year to help with the meeting.

I do have one question/concern. The Funding Model workgroup of the CCOC, headed by Clerk Tiffany Moore Russell has something developed for a long term solution. I have not seen their presentation yet, I think Tiffany was working on a small group meeting in the near future to show the progress. If possible, it might be a good idea for Jason Harrell and Jason Welty to talk about the status/product of the CCOC workgroup to see if any information could or should be incorporated in the material/discussion for our meeting.

Thanks,
Stacy

Jason, Tom, Tara, Stacy, Chris and Fred,

Senator Brandes called me this morning to discuss our Friday meeting. I let him know who would be attending the meeting with him (Stacy, Tara, Chris, Jason and me).

It was a short conversation but very much on point. He said his biggest priority over the next three years as it relates to Clerks is to secure stable long term funding for Clerks. He asked that we come forward with a plan. He mentioned that we are in an excellent position with Rep Sprowls becoming Speaker. I went over the small list of items clerks are working on that are of interest to him:

- Alternatives to DL suspensions
- Data Transparency
- Diversion Programs
- Amendment 4

Although he said it's good that we will provide an update on those items, the only one he specifically referred to was Amendment 4. I mentioned we have a workgroup dedicated to this and consider this very important. He realizes there are many issues related to this topic.

I suggest the following based on the conversation:

Jason should have ready a plan for our long term funding. Many elements of our original proposed bill from last year should be part of this plan. We need to provide Jason input if other items should be considered.

I think we need to share with the Senator the effects of the ticket clinics and how this is spreading across the state. Doug presented at the summer conference on this topic and has some good initial data. There are ways for possible legislation to reverse this trend. This is a current threat to our revenue and will continue to grow.

As to the list above, I think we need a bullet point update on each topic.

We should schedule a conference call within the next few days to further discuss our strategy for the meeting. (Jason – can you work on scheduling this?)

Senator Brandes gets it. He studies issues and wants to get things done. I don't think we need to waste time during the meeting with background but focus more on future plans of action. Jason, Fred and Tom have worked with him in the past and may offer other insights.

It certainly is nice to have a friend like Senator Brandes on our side. It is so refreshing to have someone truly committed to our issues. We need to make the most of these opportunities.

Stacy and Tara,

As we look at the current list of strategic objectives for the remainder of this year, we have a very full plate. However, as Ken has indicated this issue is most likely a multi-year project, perhaps it can be started this year under Stacy and then created as a specific strategic objective (SMART) during Tara's tenure as president.

As with many things in "Clerk World", I am not entirely confident in my knowledge of the absolute process for creating, using, and maintaining docket codes, however, it does seem to be an essential component to creating systems that may be used statewide.

Just my two cents…

Stacy,
Karen Rushing is doing an excellent job at the New Clerk Academy. The topic of docket codes has come up. Karen is right that the Bar and the Court are critical of Clerks because of the lack of unity with docket codes. We know this is not a new issue. Clerks are vulnerable on this issue because there is no unity. May I suggest you create a special task force for Clerks to finally address this issue in a strategic manner. The work of this task force would go beyond your year. I think good thought would have to go into its makeup. In addition to Clerks, I think a variety of Clerk staff would need to be included. Clerks need to take the leadership position on this issue. If we don't, we will be victim to fighting a battle we may be on the wrong side of winning. We have kicked this can down the road too long. It's time for action with a deliberate strategic plan.
May I suggest that Karen would be an excellent chair for this group.

Felon fines exceed $1B; Big numbers signal trouble for South Floridians wanting to register to vote

South Florida Sun-Sentinel - Powered by Dow Jones

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Dan Sweeney
US|June 02, 2019·12:00am

Including interest, felons owe more than half a billion dollars in fines in Broward County alone. Add in Palm Beach and Miami-Dade counties and the number surpasses a billion.

Those big numbers could spell difficulty for felons trying to get back the right to vote. Florida citizens passed Amendment 4 in the 2018 election, giving felons the right to vote "upon completion of all terms of sentence including parole or probation," with exceptions for murderers and sex offenders. In this year's legislative session, lawmakers passed a law implementing that amendment that defined "all terms of sentence" to include paying all fines, fees and restitution to victims.

Records of fines owed are kept with the county clerks' offices, and a statewide total was unavailable, but just from October 2017 to September 2018, courts assessed more than a billion dollars in fines, court costs and other monetary penalties, according to a report published by the Florida Court Clerks and Comptrollers. The money owed just in South Florida shows that paying off fines may put the voting booth beyond the reach of many of the formerly incarcerated.

The $534 million owed in felony fines in Broward County represented far and away the largest category of fines owed. Here's the breakdown:

*Felony: $534 million

*Misdemeanor: $65.6 million

*Traffic: $136 million

Those numbers don't include some far lesser amounts for violation of city and county ordinances and for contempt of court.

Felony fines were also by far the largest category in Palm Beach County:

*Felony: $201.6 million

*Misdemeanor: $39.9 million

*Traffic: $36 million

In Miami-Dade, felons owe $278 million, according to a report from WLRN, putting the total for South Florida's tri-county area in excess of $1 billion.

Those numbers include felons who have cleared the rest of their sentences (including probation and parole) as well as those still serving them, the latter of which wouldn't be eligible to vote under Amendment 4. The clerks offices make no distinction between the two categories, so a breakdown of how much is owed by those eligible to vote isn't available.

"People have actually been thrown in jail for their inability to pay a fine or fee. This is a constitutional issue at this point," said Sharon Bock, the Palm Beach County Clerk and president of the Florida Court Clerks and Comptrollers.

As president of that organization, Bock has put together a response team so that by the time the bill officially becomes law on July 1, "we will have a uniform response to Amendment 4 and the clerks' position."

"When this amendment was going on the ballot, here at our clerks office," she said, "I had asked that we go back through every fine, fee, felony charge, etc. to see where we stand. Even if there is a fine, fee and court cost paid, the person who wants their voting rights restored would still have to tackle the restitution issue."

The clerk's office does not handle restitution. Bock stressed that under the new law, getting voting rights back would be a "multistep process."

Prior to the legislature adding fines, fees and restitution to the requirements, about 2,000 felons registered to vote in the first three months of 2019, according to a study by the Brennan Center for Justice. But for many felons trying to regain the right to vote now, those massive fines will make it difficult.

According to the Prison Policy Initiative, a nonprofit, nonpartisan research organization on criminal justice issues, the unemployment rate for the formerly incarcerated is 27%, five times higher than the overall employment rate and higher than the overall rate at any point since data has been kept, including during the Great Depression. For minorities and women, the unemployment rate is even higher, up to 43.6% for black women who were formerly incarcerated. And even among those who find work, part-time work is more common than among the population as a whole.

In other words, for many felons the right to vote will remain as elusive as it was prior to the passage of Amendment 4.

Even among politically savvy Floridians, the full scale of fines owed by felons appears to be unappreciated.

For example, Democratic megadonor John Morgan, who successfully shepherded a medical marijuana constitutional amendment through the process in 2016 and is currently at work getting a $15 minimum wage amendment on the ballot in 2020, has been excoriating former Democratic gubernatorial candidate Andrew Gillum on Twitter. Morgan has called for Gillum to use the $3 million left in his campaign accounts to pay money owed by felons and allow them to vote.

"Andrew Gillum I have an idea!" Morgan tweeted on May 9. "You're sitting on over $3M raised to elect you Governor. Let's take that money and use it ALL to pay the financial restitution now owed by freed felons to vote. This poll tax is unconscionable. They paid a price & are now being asked to pay again."

A series of tweets reiterating that Gillum's leftover campaign cash should go toward felony fines followed on May 20.

But while leaving $3 million in the bank in a race that came down to about 32,000 votes out of more than 8 million cast was considered political malpractice by many donors, consultants and others involved in elections, it's a drop in the ocean of money owed by felons.

Indeed, the scale of the issue is unknown even to some clerks of court. When the Sun Sentinel asked the office of Broward County Clerk of Courts Brenda Forman how much money felons owed in fines in Broward County, the clerk's office replied that it would take hours of clerical and computer work to find the number. The newspaper was charged $150 for the time and effort. The Palm Beach clerk's office was able to provide the data quickly and at no cost.

Fines imposed for felonies can be substantial. Under Florida law, felonies are broken down into four categories: Third, second and first degree and life felonies, in order of seriousness. Third-degree felonies can carry a $5,000 fine, second- and first-degree a $10,000 fine and life felonies a $15,000 fine. And none of these numbers include fees and other court costs, or restitution to victims that courts may impose on felons.

And some individual crimes can carry much higher fines. For example, marijuana trafficking in Florida involves 25 pounds or more of the plant. Those convicted of trafficking who are caught with 25 to 2,000 pounds or more than 300 plants face a $25,000 fine. If it's 2,000 to 10,000 pounds or more than 2,000 plants, the sentence comes with a $50,000 fine. And for amounts over 10,000 pounds or 10,000 plants, the fine is $200,000.

Clerks offices operate a variety of programs to make it easier to pay overdue fines. It's not only important for felons regaining the right to vote, but also because unpaid fines can lead to the suspending of one's driver's license, which can then lead to further criminal charges, creating a vicious cycle of crime and punishment.

Bock's office has been at the forefront of court compliance programs. Her office began an Operation Green Light program in 2014, allowing those who have unpaid fines to come in and pay them to get their licenses back without having the surcharge tacked on by collections agencies. Those agencies go after any fine that has not been paid after 90 days, and can tack on a surcharge of 30-40%, so that a $100 ticket becomes a $140 ticket or, in the case of a serious felony fine, $10,000 becomes $14,000.

For its first Operation Green Light, the clerk's office opened on a Saturday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., but promised to take care of anyone who was in line by 4 p.m. The office finally closed at 9 p.m. after having received more than $500,000 in payments.

Since then, clerks offices around the state have held their own Operation Green Light programs. Broward most recently offered one over the course of a week in March.

But the big focus on the office is on payment plans and the negotiation of old debt.

"Let's say it was a 20 year old case and they owe $100,000. We will begin a negotiation - now obviously we're not going to negotiate against ourselves - but we are negotiating judgments. Instead of having an outstanding debt, they can reach out to us and we will begin the process of negotiating their fees," Bock said. "We cannot by law write them off. We have no ability to write them off at all. What we do have is the ability to negotiate the judgment and we do that."

The other part of the program, putting fines and fees on a payment plan, has been so successful that the program was named as one of the top 25 finalists in 2018 for Harvard University's Innovations in American Government Award.

"We looked at about 20,000 cases, and we noticed that defendants on payment plans were paying at about a 60% click," said Louis Tomeo, the clerk's office's director of criminal court services. "Those not on a payment plan paid only 25% of the time."

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

So the clerk's office started encouraging more judges to assign payment plans for hefty fines. Then, they noticed that many of the defendants on the ninth floor of the courthouse were leaving without coming to the clerk's office to set up a plan. So, they set up a satellite office right outside the courtroom on the ninth floor. Defendants signing up for payment plans jumped 93%.

"This is going to help people make reasonable payments over a period of time, and as long as they're making their payments, they're not getting their license suspended," Tomeo said.

That will help people avoid the ensuing charges that can come with a suspended license. But for those who are paying off a massive fine in small increments, the voting booth is a distant destination.

The idea for this story first came from a reader who submitted a question to Sound Off South Florida, the Sun Sentinel's project in which we answer reader-submitted questions about Florida news, culture or history. Reader Sandra McHugh wrote in to ask, "How much money is outstanding in Broward court fines and costs? Why is there no effort to collect it?" 35	The bill proposes to also allow family members who have a biological or legal parent-child relationship with an individual to file petitions for risk protection orders. Current law only allows law enforcement agencies or officers to petition the court for these orders and there are no filing fees. Based on CCOC data, since March 2018 when this process became effective, through February 2019, 1,550 petitions have been filed by law enforcement officers statewide. If Clerks were to receive a $195 reimbursement per case, based on a typical civil filing fee, for the associated work required, Clerks would have received $302,250. It could be assumed that these numbers will continue to increase, perhaps significantly, as law enforcement continues to utilize this tool and with the authorization for family members to access the court for these types of petitions.

37	This bill requires property appraisers to submit a tentative budget for their offices to the Board of County Commissioners (BOCC) for the ensuing fiscal year on or before June 1 of each year, and also requires all county constitutional officers' tentative and final budgets to be detailed and include a separate line item for proposed expenditures for each program, division, or unit within the office, and must include an identification of existing and proposed reserves. Finally, the tentative budget must be posted on the county's official website at least two days before the public hearing and must be identified separately from the tentative budget of the county as a whole, in order to clearly demarcate the constitutional officers' budgets.

64	This bill seeks to raise the threshold amount for third degree felony theft offenses from $300 to $1,500 in ss. 812.014 and 812.015, related to grand theft and retail theft. The bill also requires OPPAGA to perform a study of the appropriateness of the threshold amounts included in these sections every 5 years. The report that is submitted to the Governor, Senate, and House will include options for amending the threshold amounts if the study finds that such amounts are inconsistent with current trends. OPPAGA is also required to consult with EDR and other interested entities

80	These bills are intended to implement Amendment 11, passed in November, which eliminated an 1800s-era constitutional "Savings Clause" provision that banned the Legislature from applying criminal justice and sentencing changes retroactively. These bills, which have been reported as a priority of Attorney General Ashley Moody, would "clarify" what voters approved and require that lawmakers sign off on the retroactive application of any new sentencing laws. Without the legislation, there will be "chaos" in the state court's system as thousands of defendants try to appeal sentences, according to AG Moody and Senate sponsor Tom Lee.

90	These bills propose to allow a family or household member, as defined by the bill, to petition the court for a risk protection order. These bills also require each Clerk, beginning January 31, 2020, and each January 31 thereafter, to report to OSCA certain information related to risk protection orders for the previous calendar year. Beginning April 1, 2020, and by each April 1 thereafter, OSCA shall compile and publish this information on its website by category, by county, and by court.
91	Current law only allows law enforcement agencies or officers to petition the court for these orders and there are no filing fees. Based on CCOC data, since March 2018 when this process became effective, through February 2019, 1,550 petitions have been filed by law enforcement officers statewide. If Clerks were to receive a $195 reimbursement per case, based on a typical civil filing fee, for the associated work required, Clerks would have received $302,250. It could be assumed that these numbers will continue to increase, perhaps significantly, as law enforcement continues to utilize this tool and with the authorization for family members to access the court for these types of petitions.

97	In general, this bill addresses public officer and employee conduct regarding solicitation and negotiation of conflicting and potentially conflicting income producing relationships, addresses post-service lobbying restrictions for certain elected and appointed officers, and revises executive branch lobbyist registration requirements. Of priority interest, the bill would create s. 106.114 Elected Official Advertising and, of note, would prohibit a governmental entity, a person acting on behalf of a governmental entity, or an elected official from using or authorizing the use of an elected official's name, image, likeness, official uniform, badge, or other symbol of office in a public service announcement between the time the elected official qualifies as a candidate for re-election or election to another public office and the date of the general election for which the candidate qualified, if such announcement is paid with public funds or if the time or space for such announcement is donated by the media. This provision does not apply to charitable events sponsored by 501(c)(3) organizations or bona fide news events, such as public debates broadcast by a licensed broadcaster.

101	In general, this bill intends to modernize and streamline the financial disclosure filing process by providing for mandatory electronic filing of financial disclosure. As such, the Florida Commission on Ethics is required to procure and test an electronic financial disclosure filing system that must meet certain minimum requirements; for example, the system must allow disclosures to be completed and submitted online and to be accessible and searchable for the public. Of priority interest to Clerks and Comptrollers and certain staff members, the bill makes the following changes: Filers required to file FORM 6 will be required to file their forms electronically beginning January 1, 2022 Filers required to file FORM 1 will be required to file electronically beginning January 1, 2023 Removes the ability for FORM 6 filers to submit a copy of their most recent federal income tax return to show income Provides a method for attorneys or CPAs to complete the electronic forms, but requires the person filing the forms to submit Provides that the Commission may not request, and a filer may not provide, a social security number, bank account, debit, charge, or credit card number, personal identification number, or any other personal or account information that is protected by state and federal law. If a filer does inadvertently provide this information, it will not be subject to confidentiality; however, a filer may provide written notice to the Commission specifying the information that was inadvertently included and the Commission shall then redact that information.

	This bill is very similar to ethics bills that have been filed in previous sessions. Of specific interest to Clerks, the bill would: amend s. 28.35 to require CCOC to report quarterly to the Legislature on any Clerk who has not met workload performance standards and provide a copy of corrective action plans. CCOC would have no more than 45 days after the end of the preceding quarter to submit this information; and amend s. 218.391(2)(c) to exclude from the membership of an audit committee established under this subsection an employee, chief executive officer, or chief financial officer of the county, municipality, special district, district school board, charter school, or charter technical career center. The bill also adds new subsection (9) related to the auditor selection process if an entity fails to select an auditor in accordance with the requirements of this statute. In addition, the bill would: Amend s. 11.45(1) to define "abuse," "fraud," and "waste," and includes tourist development councils and county tourism promotion agencies in the current definition of "Local governmental agency"; and amends (3) to include tourist development councils and county tourism promotion agencies in the scope of the Auditor General's authority for audits and other engagements; Amends s. 129.03, Preparation and adoption of (county) budget, to require that the tentative county budget must remain on a county's official website for at least 45 days following the public hearing, and that the final adopted budget must remain on the website for at least two years. Similarly, s. 129.06 is amended to require that an amended county budget must remain on the county's official website for at least two years;
103	Amends s. 215.86, Management systems and controls, to require each state agency and the judicial branch to establish internal controls designed
104	to prevent fraud, waste, and abuse, as defined by the bill. A similar requirement is made of local governmental entities in s. 218.33; and

112	These bills provide for the waiver of "court costs" for an adoptive parent that adopts a youth in the custody of the Department of Children and Families (DCF). According to DCF data, between SFY 2012-13 and SFY 2016-17, DCF averaged 3,382 finalized adoptions annually (it is unknown, though, if all of these adoptions are considered "children in the custody of the department" as specified in the bill). Assuming that the intent of the term "court costs" includes filing fees as well as costs for copies, oaths, etc., that the average number of adoptions per year of children in the custody of DCF is 3,382, and none of the adoptive parents are determined to be indigent, then the maximum fiscal impact would be $1,014,600 (3,382*$300 filing fee for ch. 39 state agency adoption). Note that costs for oaths, copy fees, etc., would be in addition to this. Based on the statutory distribution of the $300 filing fee, this would result in an almost $660,000 annual revenue loss for Clerks statewide (3,382*195=$659,490). Note that costs for oaths, copy fees, etc., would be in addition to this.

138	Of priority interest, this bill amends s. 112.061, to create the Statewide Travel Management System that all executive branch state agencies and the judicial branch must use for the purposes of travel authorization and reimbursement. Such reports to the system must include public officer and employee travel information, including name and position title; purpose of travel; dates and location of travel; mode of travel; confirmation from the head of the agency or designee authorization, if required; and total travel cost. As currently drafted, this Statewide Travel Management System does not appear to apply to Clerks of Court, other constitutional officers, or their employees. However, we will continue to track this as a priority issue for the duration of session.

155	This bill amends s. 119.071(2)(n), to keep confidential complaints, referrals, and reports that allege sexual harassment or sexual misconduct and any related records until an agency determines it won't investigate; takes disciplinary action and determines it will take no further action; or a probable cause finding is made. From there, the records are available to the public, but the personal identifying information or any information that could assist someone in determining the identity of the victim remains exempt and confidential even in the event that the complaint, referral, or report containing the information becomes public record, though the information may be disclosed to another governmental entity in the furtherance of the agency's official duties or to the parties to the allegation and their attorneys. Similarly, the general public meetings portion of this bill makes items confidential until an agency takes disciplinary action and determines it will take no further action, or a probable cause finding is made. Thereafter, meetings must be conducted in such a way that the identity of the victim can't be ascertained.
156	Because it amends Chapter 119, this bill is marked as a priority for tracking purposes this session.

157	In general, the effect of these bills is to provide a definition of "home address" for purposes of public records exemptions for personal identifying and location information of certain agency personnel and their family members. The bill also clarifies that a current exemption applies to any active or former civilian personnel employed by a law enforcement agency and their spouses and children. And, finally, the bill reenacts and removes the scheduled repeal of a number of existing public records exemptions. Clerks do not anticipate any significant operational, policy, or fiscal impact with the proposed bill, as the onus remains on the qualifying individual to request and identify the documents to be redacted, and the bill does not provide for retroactive applicability; i.e., the qualifying individual will need to make an additional request to identify those documents that contain information that, under the bill, is now subject to redaction. Clerks do anticipate some additional workload, if there is an increase in the number of individuals seeking to take advantage of the exemption, and due to the definition of "home address" and the expansion of what information will now qualify as subject to redaction. As such, there is expected to be some necessary adjustment to redaction software.

174	These bills create s. 394.464, F.S., and seek to make all petitions for voluntary and involuntary admission for mental health treatment, court orders, and related records that are filed with or by a court under the Baker Act confidential and exempt, and prohibit the Clerk from publishing personal identifying information on a court docket or in a publicly accessible file. This exemption is retroactive and prospective from July 1, 2019. These bills stipulate that pleadings and other documents made confidential and exempt under this section may be disclosed by the Clerk, upon request, to certain entities, and require anyone in receipt of such information to maintain it as confidential and exempt. This section does not prevent the Clerk from submitting information to FDLE for entry into the MECOM system. Note FCCC's Best Practice on Confidential Judicial Records, which provides that court records are governed only by Rule 2.420, Fla. R. Jud. Admin. When a similar bill was passed in 2017 related to the Marchman Act, it was noted that an amendment to Rule 2.420 would need to be proposed and considered in order to include this information in the "List of 22." 183	These bills create a temporary public records exemption in new subparagraph (1)(k)3. to s. 119.0714, F.S., to provide that all information contained in a petition for an injunction against domestic violence, repeat violence, dating violence, sexual violence, stalking, or cyberstalking, and any affidavits, notice of hearing, and temporary injunction filed with the court, is confidential and exempt until the respondent has been personally served with a copy of the petition for injunction, affidavits, notice of hearing, and temporary injunction. Presumably, this temporary public records exemption would be lifted upon notification of service on the respondent by the Sheriff. Note FCCC's Best Practice on Confidential Judicial Records, which provides that court records are governed only by Rule 2.420, Fla. R. Jud. Admin. When legislation was passed in 2017 creating three new statutory exemptions to Florida's public records laws, it was noted that an amendment to Rule 2.420 would need to be proposed and considered in order to include this information in the "List of 22." Presumably, if this bill were to pass, this statutory change would also have to be reviewed and approved by the appropriate Rules Committee, and ultimately the Supreme Court, in order for it to be considered an automatic exemption.

185	These bills repeal most public record exemptions for trade secrets in current law, all associated processes for designating a trade secret, and most references to trade secrets contained in definitions for proprietary business information. In addition, the following information related to any contract or agreement, or an addendum thereto, with an agency or an entity subject to public record laws is not confidential or exempt: - The parties to the contract or agreement, or an addendum thereto. - The amount of money paid, any payment structure or plan, expenditures, incentives, bonuses, fees, or penalties. - The nature or type of the commodities or services purchased. - Applicable contract unit prices and deliverables. The rates are intended to fund the full normal cost and the amortization of the unfunded actuarial liability (UAL) of the FRS. For the full normal cost, FRS membership classes of interest to Clerks (Regular, Elected County Officers, Senior Management, DROP) will each see less than a half percentage point increases in contribution rates. For UAL contribution rates, those FRS membership classes of interest to Clerks will see slight increases or decreases; the greatest change being for the Senior Management Service Class, which will increase from 17.89% to 19.09%.

206	These bills expand and authorize the enforcement of a ban on the use of a wireless communications device while driving as a primary offense. Currently, only texting while driving is enforceable as a secondary offense. Of priority interest and impact to Clerks, the bills also require that all penalties collected for a violation of the ban be remitted for deposit into the Emergency Medical Services Trust Fund (EMSTF). The EMSTF currently receives 7.2% of the fines for these types of traffic infractions, with the Clerk receiving 6.1% (5.6% + .5%) of the fine amount if the ticket is written in the city and 56.9% (56.4% + .5%) of the fine amount if the ticket is written in the county or by a state law enforcement agency. The impact to the Clerk of the change in distribution would be to lose the percentage of the paid fine.
207	The proposed fine redistribution will result in Clerks no longer receiving a portion of the penalty, while still being responsible for the work associated with these activities. Additionally, if use of a wireless communications device while driving is made a primary offense, the number of violations is likely to increase significantly, which will have an impact on Clerk workload. Clerks will be doing more work, with no related revenue to offset the workload increase.
208	Clerks do not have a position on the underlying policy decision, but to reduce the fiscal impact to Clerks, Clerks would recommend that the current fine distribution remain unchanged.

212	In general, these bills require the creation and implementation of human trafficking awareness training for employees of public lodging establishments and law enforcement officers. Additionally, the bills require FDLE to create the Soliciting for Prostitution Registry and requires certain criminal history records to be included in the registry.
213	Of priority interest, the bill requires Clerks to forward the criminal history record of a person convicted of soliciting, inducing, enticing, or procuring another to commit prostitution, lewdness, or assignation [s. 796.07(2)(f)] to FDLE for inclusion in the Soliciting for Prostitution Registry upon the person's conviction. Presumably, this data transmission would be completed in the same way that Clerks currently transmit disposition information to FDLE, pursuant to s. 943.052(2).

Subject: RE: FLOOR AMENDMENT FILED: SB 7066 by Rules re: Election Administration - In Senate Returning Messages

This evening, SB 7066 Elections, which is a comprehensive election administration measure making extensive changes to the Florida Election Code, came over to the Senate after passing the House. Sen. Brandes then filed an amendment which essentially amends the text of the Senate's Voting Rights Restoration bill, SB 7086, onto this bill (see amendment 766844, linked below), which includes some of the amendments that have been filed this week.

Sen. Thurston's amendment to the amendment would essentially provide that any required financial obligation is deemed to have been completed to the extent that the financial obligation has been converted to a civil lien.

Subject: RE: FLOOR AMENDMENTS: HB 7089 by Grant, J. re Voting Rights Restoration - Placed on Special Order Calendar, 04/23/19

These amendments would make the following changes to HB 7089, the House's version of the Amendment 4 implementing bill. Note amendments speaking specifically to Clerks are bolded below.

- Amendment 169529 by Rep. Grant: Technical amendment, addressing bill drafting.
- Amendment 719965 (Gottlieb): Removes from the definition of "completion of all terms of sentence" full payment of any financial obligation ordered by the court (restitution, costs of supervision, fines, fees, and court costs), and the bill's provision related to a court, payee, or DOC waiver as substitute for full payment, and explicitly provides that, under no circumstances, shall failure to meet any financial obligation be considered in determining whether a person's sentence has been completed for purposes of this bill. Does include language providing that nothing in this act shall be construed to affect the validity of, or requirements to fulfill, court-ordered financial obligations arising from a felony conviction.
  - Amendment to Amendment 831597 (Gottlieb): Technical, changing the word "person" to "individual" at line 11 of the underlying amendment.
  - Substitute Amendment 719965 (Gottlieb): Changes "person" to "individual" in the underlying amendment (719965) and specifies that nothing in this act shall be construed to affect the validity of, or requirements to fulfill, court-ordered financial obligations arising from a felony conviction when ordered at sentencing.
- Amendment 583329 (Jenne): Adds language providing that an installment-based payment plan for payment of restitution that is agreed to by a court shall substitute for full payment of the financial obligation to satisfy the requirements of sub-subparagraph e. [related to full payment of any financial obligation ordered by the court as part of a sentence] upon payment of the first installment.
  - Amendment to Amendment 111275 (Jenne): To the underlying amendment changes to, "upon any payment of the installments."
  - Substitute Amendment 140117 (Jenne): Keeps the substance of the underlying amendment (583329), but changes the wording to read: "upon any reasonable payment of the first installment."
- Amendment 631771 (Grieco): Changes the definition of "felony sexual offense" for the purposes of this bill to include any felony offense that would require registration as a sex offender or any offense committed in another jurisdiction that would be such an offense had it been committed in Florida. This definition more closely aligns with the current definition in the Senate version.
- Amendment 861419 (Geller): Related to the adoption of rules for the Department of State (DOS) for implementing this bill, this amendment would require such rules to provide due process for any person identified as an ineligible felon. The amendment goes on to prohibit DOS from making a final determination of whether a sentence is or is not complete. If DOS makes an initial determination of ineligibility, before notifying a supervisor of elections, DOS shall confer with the Clerk in the county where the conviction occurred for a determination that the sentence is complete, terminated, or ongoing. If the Clerk is unable to make a determination based on the record, a circuit judge shall review and enter an order declaring the status of the sentence. The Clerk shall be reimbursed for costs of compliance with this paragraph.
  - Note that this amendment seems to echo statements made by Rep. Geller during debate on the bill on April 9 during the House Judiciary Committee: During debate on the amendment, Rep. Gellar stated that there are big process issues that are not addressed. He thinks we need to look to our judges, not to our Secretary of State. It's one thing for them to investigate and refer to Supervisors of Elections. In determining where judges stand—and judges should make these decisions—we need a traffic cop or we're going to have real disruptions in our process. The way to do that is let the Clerks work with the judges, let the judges make those determinations, pay the Clerks the money to do it, put somebody in charge of answering has a sentence been completed.
- Amendment 239235 (Geller): The underlying bill prohibits a person from being prosecuted for submission of false voter registration information if such violation occurred on or after January 8, 2019, but before the effective date of this bill. This amendment would remove the timeframe, thereby prohibiting prosecution at any time if the person had a good faith belief that s/he had completed all terms of their sentence or that their voting rights were restored by Amendment 4.
- Amendment 709273 (McGhee): This strike-all amendment appears to codify the "plain language" of Amendment 4, as it appeared on the ballot, including the ballot summary: it would create s. 760.901, Implementing the will of the people; disqualification from voting, to provide that, a person convicted of a felony, or adjudicated in this or any other state to be mentally incompetent, may not be qualified to vote or hold office until restoration of civil rights or removal of disability. A person convicted of murder or a felony sexual offense may not be qualified to vote until restoration of civil rights. Otherwise, any disqualification from voting arising from a felony shall terminate upon completion of all terms of sentence including parole or probation.
  - Amendment to Amendment 839957 (McGhee): Changes the effective date of the amendment from upon becoming a law to July 1, 2019.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Substitute Amendment 685559 (McGhee): This substitute amendment is identical to the underlying amendment, 709273, with a July 1, 2019, effective date.

That will be great. I'm sure not everyone will be happy about DOC filing. But as I understand it, DOC was going to file a set of documents for each newly released inmate regardless, this process allows for an electronic path for those filings.

Attachment(s): "Clerk Issues Identified July 3-8.docx"

I am attaching a short list of issues about the DOC filings that I have seen in the last few days. I'm sure it will grow. I have asked DOC for a meeting time later this week to open a channel of communication about these and other issues as they are identified.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Restoration of Voting Rights
Clerk Issues Identified from 7/3/2019 to 7/8/2019

DOC notice to releasees – does not address terms of sentence for prior/other felony offenses that involve DOC supervision.

DOC notice to releasees – does not address terms of sentence for felonies with no DOC supervision (ex.: county detention facility).

DOC notice to releasees – can we identify releasees with felony offenses to which restoration of voting rights do NOT apply? We may want to add the statute violated.

DOC notice to releasees – does FCCC want to ask DOC to add a CCIS disclaimer that there may be data inaccuracies or Clerk data that is not comprehensive (ex.: restitution may be payable directly to the victim)?

Clerk responsibilities – when DOC files its documents, must the Clerk do anything other than normal processing of the new filings – especially prior to a request from the individual involved?

Does restoration of voting rights affect any other civil rights (like firearm possession)? If not, is executive clemency the appropriate (or only) process for those rights? Chapter 940, F.S.

Subject: RE: LATE-FILED: SB 7086 by Rules re: Voting Rights Restoration - On Tomorrow's Senate Special Order

The additional amendments to SB 7086 highlighted below would make the following changes of priority interest:

Amendment 110742: This amendment would provide that "completion of all terms of sentence" includes payment of all restitution, fees, or fines that are ordered b the court as part of the sentence or that are ordered by the court as a condition of any form of supervision. A financial obligation required under this subparagraph is deemed completed if converted to a civil lien.

- Note that this is similar to language found in an earlier version of this bill.

Amendment 612578: In the current text of the bill, fees or fines are combined in re: completion of all terms of sentence. This amendment would separate payment of fees ordered by the court as part of the sentence or a condition of probation, community control or parole, from fines ordered by the court as part of the sentence or a condition of probation, community control or parole, and would provide that a required financial obligation is deemed completed if converted to a civil lien or is part on an established payment plan.

Amendment 370656: This amendment would provide that any required financial obligation is deemed completed if it is part of an established payment plan.

Subject: Legal Opinion - QRT Amendment 4

Chris,

Today we had our first meeting with Richard Herring on the QRT dealing with Amendment #4. There are two legal questions that the team is asking for assistance that I said I would contact you to discuss.

1. Legal implications of interest on fines and fees converted to civil liens. The questions include: if a felon pays the base amount of fines, fees and court costs but does not pay the interest, under the statute has he/she satisfied the amounts due for voting restoration purposes? Is the interest still due as a lien but not as court fines/fees/costs. The question behind this is that the sentence contains specific amounts and if the felon pays these amounts, he/she in effect has satisfied his/her sentence. The whole question of interest on court fines/fees/costs that have been converted into civil liens needs to be addressed.
2. Clerks are not consistent in sending fines/fees/costs that have been converted to civil liens to collections. There is a school of thought among a minority of clerks that there is no legal authority to send these to collections. A legal opinion on the clerk's role on collection efforts as it relates to fines/fees/costs that have been converted into civil liens would be helpful.

I have copied the QRT top get input from them if I have not properly phrased these questions.

Please let me know the process to secure legal opinions on both of these important topics.

Ken,

These expenditures are budgeted so we are good to go once Richard (in consultation with the QRT) is able to work with GT to identify the multiple component parts of the various opinions and then prioritize the legal work requirements.

Thanks,

Chris

Will do, I'll have something for you over the weekend.

Call scheduled with the good folks from Orange on Thursday concerning a Best Practice.

Meeting with DOC Friday afternoon, mostly to establish face-to-face relationship, but also to mention some possible issues.

I'll summarize the possible legal issues, some of which may morph into Best Practices or FCCC-Clerk agreements.

The minutes looked great to me.

Richard,

Thanks for talking to Fred about these issues. Please report on this during our phone conference on Monday to ensure we have all legal questions covered so that the opinion is responsive to all of our concerns. It would be good if the other QRT members can give their input.

Did you have a chance to review the notes I sent out earlier today from our Monday phone call? Any changes, additions or corrections?

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

There is a school of thought among a minority of clerks that there is no legal authority to send these to collections. A legal opinion on the clerk's role on collection efforts as it relates to fines/fees/costs that have been converted into civil liens would be helpful.

I have copied the QRT top get input from them if I have not properly phrased these questions.

Please let me know the process to secure legal opinions on both of these important topics.

Chris,

Today we had our first meeting with Richard Herring on the QRT dealing with Amendment #4. There are two legal questions that the team is asking for assistance that I said I would contact you to discuss.

1. Legal implications of interest on fines and fees converted to civil liens. The questions include: if a felon pays the base amount of fines, fees and court costs but does not pay the interest, under the statute has he/she satisfied the amounts due for voting restoration purposes? Is the interest still due as a lien but not as court fines/fees/costs. The question behind this is that the sentence contains specific amounts and if the felon pays these amounts, he/she in effect has satisfied his/her sentence. Will do, I'll have something for you over the weekend.

Call scheduled with the good folks from Orange on Thursday concerning a Best Practice.

Meeting with DOC Friday afternoon, mostly to establish face-to-face relationship, but also to mention some possible issues.

I'll summarize the possible legal issues, some of which may morph into Best Practices or FCCC-Clerk agreements.

The minutes looked great to me.

Subject: RE: LF FLOOR AMENDMENT to AMENDMENT: HB 7089 by Grant, J re: Voting Rights Restoration - Senate Received

Related to "completion of all terms of sentence" and, specifically, full payment of financial obligations, this amendment to the amendment makes the following additional changes:

- Adds new sub-subparagraph d. to provide that, for the limited purpose of addressing a plea for relief pursuant to sub-subparagraph e. [related to completion of financial obligations], and notwithstanding any other statute, etc., a court may not be prohibited from modifying the financial obligations of an original sentence. Such modification shall not infringe on a defendant's or a victim's rights provided in the constitution.
- The underlying amendment adds new language stipulating that financial obligations are considered completed upon, among others, the payee's approval, the termination by the court of any financial obligation to a payee, including, but not limited to, a victim, or the court.
    - This amendment would require that a payee's approval come either through appearance in open court or through the production of a notarized consent by the payee.
- Adds that the requirement to pay any specified financial obligation is not deemed completed upon conversion to a civil lien.

The underlying amendment, 703932, creates the Restoration of Voting Rights Workgroup within the Department of State for the purpose of conducting a comprehensive review of the DOS's process of verifying registered voters, applicants, or potential applicants who have been convicted of a felony, but who may be eligible for restoration of voting rights under section 4, Article VI, of the Constitution. Note that the membership of the workgroup includes two Clerks, appointed by FCCC.

The first 3 documents (PDFs) are examples of the materials DOC is filing for new releasees as of July 1, 2019. These are provided FYI.

The 4th document (Excel file) is the list of recent DOC releasees -10 per county - with name, case number, and release date. This is provided for you to consider the next step in dealing with this issue.

Clerk Rushing - There are 3 case numbers in the DOC Excel file. As I understand it, the first 2 are for the Department's use - the first "DC Number" is their unique identifier for each inmate, the second "Case Number" (not UCN) puzzles me. The third - UCN - is the one we must rely on. In the three DOC PDF documents, I only see the UCN on the "CCIS Financial Screen Shot Summary."

DOC must use the UCN as they file their documents with Clerks. Regarding the DOC Excel file, I will have to go back at them for UCNs (most of which are blank), but I'd like to do that after the Monday call in case we need to ask for other things in addition. - Richard

Well, this first short list for my county is already identifying some challenges. Some are what I expected: multiple cases; old scanned records in bulk instead of individually imaged to the docket lines; need to search OR records; missing case numbers on the Excel list; probably sexual crimes, but no statute numbers are easily available; even some typos of the defendant's name on a judge's order.

Can't wait to hear what you all found on your first run through.

Is there call-in info for Monday?

Thanks.

We certainly want to focus on Sen Brandes' priorities out of courtesy and fear. I will defer to my colleagues to make other suggestions.

I would pick our top two or three issues and not overwhelm the meeting with extensive clerk "wants".

I think Tara and I were supposed to attend? It may help to select a few of the pre-submitted policy changes to float them out there. I would also recommend a few comments on the courts and recent 2.420 action they took so he understands the (very) high level concept of legislative exemptions and victims. Maybe ask him about implementation of victims' rights – a big dilemma for us.

We should be very cautious on the CJ reform issues.

My first thoughts on topics to discuss.

- Maybe set it up with a quick roundup on last Session, thank him for the changes in 337 and let him know this will net us some funds as a bridge to continuing to work towards the long term solution.
  - It wasn't the fix, but very helpful.
  - Let him know we want to work closely on the study and hope it provides the data the Legislature needs to feel comfortable moving forward.
- Then transition to how can we (Clerks) be helpful to him this Session and in the upcoming years.
- Talk about criminal justice reform issues that are important to him
  - DL suspension and our concept to use payment plans and compliance efforts to reduce D-6s as we continue to work on Clerk funding that will allow ending D-6 in the future.
  - Data transparency update
  - Diversion programs
  - Amendment 4 issues?
- Discuss any areas where we can provide data or present to his Committee this year.
- Finally, close with what we are planning for this Session.
  - Get his feedback on our approach and our prospects for policy bills.
  - Get feedback on approach and setting up for long term solution to funding in upcoming years.

Thoughts?

Palm Beach negotiates settlements on judgments for fines and costs. I have attached some of the documents and processes we use.

The rest of this may be too much detail but we started doing this on large, five figure cases (such as drug trafficking) by running a report to find those cases, then narrowing our focus by looking at age of case and if the defendant had a private attorney at the time of the conviction. We then sent letters (one is attached) to the last known address of the defendant and to his attorney. Once that was completed, the local defense attorneys began contacting us on these and on cases we had not reached out on. Our local defense bar and even the PD's office continues to bring all sizes of judgments to us to negotiate even though we no longer send letters.

To reach a settlement amount, we look at the age of the case, and the amount owed. If it is a large sum, we will also do a basic public record and social media search to look for additional information regarding possible ability to pay (a PowerPoint slide is attached). Once a settlement is reached, we record a satisfaction referencing FS 938 (also attached).

I agree with Matt's analysis. In Volusia, we don't have policies dealing with this topic but we do on case by case basis negotiate on judgments that are at least a year old . The older the judgment, the more we are willing to compromise. The reason being that the older the judgment, the less likely someone will want to pay.

Subject: RE: Negotiating Judgments for fines and fees

Good morning. I've cut and pasted portions of an email that I sent out not too long ago in response to the same questions. . .

Section 938.30(9), F.S., (and related s. 938.29(3), F.S.) references the clerks' ability to enforce, satisfy, compromise, settle, subordinate, release, or otherwise dispose of any debt or liens imposed and collected under s. 938.30, F.S. Does this statute allow clerks to "waive or reduce" fines or costs ordered by the judge?

To answer your question, I think you're right when it comes to "liens" but not sure as to "debts." I tried to find some case law but didn't see anything on point.

FS 938.30(9) and 938.29(3) give the Clerk the authority to enforce, satisfy, compromise, settle, subordinate, release, or otherwise dispose of any debts or liens imposed or collected as part of any financial obligation in any criminal case, fees for court appointed counsel, and due process services.

The "lien" part is pretty straightforward from reading 938.30(6) and (8) and 938.29(2). Clerks are statutorily authorized to enforce, satisfy, compromise, subordinate, release, or otherwise dispose of those liens that arose from financial obligations in a criminal case.

The question is what the word "debts" means in these statutes, as there is no definition of "debts" in s. 938. Since the statutes specifically reference "liens," one would assume that "debts" means something other than "liens." Does "debts" mean financial obligations that have been ordered/imposed by the Court but not yet taken to judgment and a lien filed? If so, then Clerks would also have the authority to enforce, satisfy, compromise, subordinate, release and otherwise dispose of those monetary obligations imposed/ordered by the Court but not yet reduced to judgment. However, in practice, I don't think this is done regularly, because defendants routinely pay monetary obligations through probation, via payment plans, or through collections. In addition, if a defendant is unable to pay, she can ask the Court to take the monetary obligations to judgment at the time of sentencing or anytime thereafter upon an appropriate showing of inability to pay. See FS 938.30(2)-(6).

As for negotiating fines, fees, and other costs, Manatee does not have any written policies but will consider offers on a case-by-case basis. For example, we recently negotiated an old Trafficking fine that was taken to judgment when we were contacted by an attorney offering some money out of a partition sale. Matt

Attorney group,

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Need your help on another matter.

First of all, can you tell me the statute that gives the Clerk the authority to negotiate a judgement for fines/fees/costs?

Do any of your offices have any policies dealing with this topic? If so, can you send them to me?

Do any of your offices negotiate judgments for fines/fees/costs?

The reason for asking these questions relates to Amendment 4. Sharon Bock ask me to head up a quick response team to make a recommendation to the Board. The quick response team is made up of Karen Rushing, Tiffany Moore-Russell and Tara Green, but the information you provide in response to this email will be very helpful.

Appreciate your help.

Subject: RE: Negotiating Judgments for fines and fees

Good morning. I've cut and pasted portions of an email that I sent out not too long ago in response to the same questions. . .

Section 938.30(9), F.S., (and related s. 938.29(3), F.S.) references the clerks' ability to enforce, satisfy, compromise, settle, subordinate, release, or otherwise dispose of any debt or liens imposed and collected under s. 938.30, F.S. Does this statute allow clerks to "waive or reduce" fines or costs ordered by the judge?

To answer your question, I think you're right when it comes to "liens" but not sure as to "debts." I tried to find some case law but didn't see anything on point.

FS 938.30(9) and 938.29(3) give the Clerk the authority to enforce, satisfy, compromise, settle, subordinate, release, or otherwise dispose of any debts or liens imposed or collected as part of any financial obligation in any criminal case, fees for court appointed counsel, and due process services.

The "lien" part is pretty straightforward from reading 938.30(6) and (8) and 938.29(2). Clerks are statutorily authorized to enforce, satisfy, compromise, subordinate, release, or otherwise dispose of those liens that arose from financial obligations in a criminal case.

The question is what the word "debts" means in these statutes, as there is no definition of "debts" in s. 938. Since the statutes specifically reference "liens," one would assume that "debts" means something other than "liens." Does "debts" mean financial obligations that have been ordered/imposed by the Court but not yet taken to judgment and a lien filed? If so, then Clerks would also have the authority to enforce, satisfy, compromise, subordinate, release and otherwise dispose of those monetary obligations imposed/ordered by the Court but not yet reduced to judgment. However, in practice, I don't think this is done regularly, because defendants routinely pay monetary obligations through probation, via payment plans, or through collections. In addition, if a defendant is unable to pay, she can ask the Court to take the monetary obligations to judgment at the time of sentencing or anytime thereafter upon an appropriate showing of inability to pay. See FS 938.30(2)-(6).

As for negotiating fines, fees, and other costs, Manatee does not have any written policies but will consider offers on a case-by-case basis. For example, we recently negotiated an old Trafficking fine that was taken to judgment when we were contacted by an attorney offering some money out of a partition sale. Matt

I have a suggestion. Would it be possible to have someone put together a Matrix of what we have going on? UCR; Measures for Justice; Amendment 4; Marsy's Law etc…. maybe a coordinating column would have the groups affiliated? I am moving so fast that I did not notice that 10/18 2.420 was about Marsy's law. I was under the impression it was the bigger 2.420 battle we have been having…….that's why I was merging issues…..

Good Morning,
I wanted to point out some observations that I had from the call yesterday and after taking a "virtual walk" with Carolyn.
I will bullet them for easy reads:

- There are way too many Committees, sub-committees; QRTs; workgroups etc…..I think that this leads to great confusion and numerous emails and attachments and given how fast paced our jobs our and the issues before us it is not an efficient way of working. Example: It is very confusing when it comes to Amendment 4 and who is deciding what for our organization and then we have the Governor's Task Force on the Voting Amendment of which 2 Clerks sit on. Where do they fit in with the QRT? Isn't there another group also working on the voting Amendment?
- First we had the 2.420 issue where the job of redacting was being taken from Clerks and placed on the filer. Our concern was that this would lead to a "free for all" of information that has been deemed confidential to potentially slip through the cracks. We maintained that this is our job and should be done by Clerks. We need to focus on our stance there.
- Second 2.420 – along came Marsy's Law. This complicated many things procedurally but it added to the confusion of 2.420. We cannot mix the two and combine them. They are mutually separate issues.
- Marsy's Law should be among the Best Practice Workgroup. Laura has done an amazing job. QRT stands for "quick" and Marsy's law will be a lingering issue for us on a workflow basis forever vs. voting issues which need to be resolved very quickly. QRT worked very well for the emergency PENN issue. That is an example of the need for a QRT because we had hours/maybe a day to decide how we were going to handle the matter. Anything more than that is not a QRT it is for a workgroup born out of the appropriate committee.
- I also feel that when we are going to make a position statement it should come from the President in the form of prepared bullet points for the President to present before a body. We need to look at who the audience is and what our objective is and pull from that group of Clerks i.e. subject matter experts; legislative experience; attorney; accounting….etc…. Maybe start a "network tree" where we can look at key groups we will be dealing with and take a look at who is a member and have Clerks identify who they know on these groups and make those connections regarding our issue.

I say all of this because yesterday on top of having several emails flying with attachments and calendar items and proposed calendar items and the CCOC budget committee memo that we all received and upcoming in person sessions on that we are going to become inefficient if we keep this pace up. It seems that everything has been micromanaged to the n'th degree.
Thank you for considering.

Ken,

I know we are planning to discuss these during Monday's FCCC board meeting...I suggest we send the Advisory following the board meeting as we may have something come up we'll want to include.

Does that work for you?

JD & Doug,

Congratulations on being appointed by the Governor to the Restoration of Voting Rights Task Force. You will represent the Clerks well. As you know, the Clerks have an Amendment 4 Quick Response Team (QRT) in which I serve as Chair. Attached are the minute of our most recent meeting. These minutes may be helpful for you to read. The QRT will be meeting tomorrow (Monday) at 2:00. I will forward on to you the appointment. Since your task force is in all likelihood a Sunshine body, if you do call in, you may want to just listen in and not engage in dialog especially if both of you are on the call.

The QRT may provide support for your roles on the Task Force. Richard Herring is serving as staff for the QRT and has become very well versed in all the Amendment 4 issues as they relate to Clerks. Let me know how the QRT can best support your service on the Task Force.

Subject: RE: SENATE AMENDMENT TO HOUSE AMENDMENT TO SENATE AMENDMENT to HB 281 by Stevenson re: Public Records/Voters and Voter Registration - In Senate Returning Messages

This amendment adds language to 97.0585 to exempt information held by an agency for the purpose of voter registration. Specifically, it exempts information related to a voter registration applicant's or voter's prior felony conviction and whether such person has had his or her voting rights restored by executive clemency or by Amendment 4 (Under SB 7066, these are questions that will be now be asked on a voter application form.).

Sen. Brandes explained that this relates to SB 7066 and seeks to prevent the creation of a public registry of former felons. The amendment was adopted.

As I understand, DOC decided file these documents to comply with their interpretation of the new law (below). We were going to get paper or electronic documents from them. Clerk staff are not expected to verify the figures unless the individual, or his attorney, requests Court records for the purposes of restoration of that individual's voting rights. (The academic literature suggests this is rare for new releasees, more common - 5% to 15% - for individuals out of prison for some years. DOC is not filing anything for prior releasees.)

The Amendment 4 QRT is trying to identify the data problems, both with DOC filings and in our historic records. Each member of the QRT is checking some of the DOC data against their local CMS as part of this process. I will provide your description of this problem to them. - Richard

-----/

From CS/SB 7066:

940.061 The Department of Corrections shall inform and educate inmates and offenders on the restoration of voting rights resulting from the removal of the disqualification to vote pursuant to s. 4, Art. VI of the State Constitution.

944.705 The Department of Corrections must notify every inmate, in the inmate's release documents of all outstanding terms of the inmate's sentence at the time of release to assist the inmate in determining his or her status with regard to the completion of all terms of sentence. This subparagraph does not apply to inmates who are being released from the custody of the department to any type of supervision monitored by the department.

The FCCC advisory 19-052 provided us with the detail as to how DOC will be providing information about the terms of a defendant's sentence and outstanding fine/fees through CCIS. I am not sure who DOC consulted with for this new process to send the clerk a copy thru the portal? Is the expectation that the clerk staff will now have to verify the figures? The reason I ask is yesterday DOC contacted our office, I have attached a copy of what they provided to the defendant. This is 8 pages of items of which some are duplicates of what is in the court case file. The bottom of page one shows copies provided and indicates Clerk of Court (if required) – can we opt out? The information provided shows restitution for Citrus case to First Step inc. which we do not have ordered on our case. The backup for the fines, they looked up the Okeechobee case number in CCIS for Citrus County and provided detail for an entire different defendant named Steven Ray Sharp. So now this document is on Mr. Posila case with erroneous information, as well as it was provided to the defendant. We directed them to remit an amended form.

I would prefer not to have to track and accept these documents, we don't have the resources to add yet another process without additional funding. I don't believe the bill directs anything to be filed with the Clerk's office.

As you probably know, the bill already has opposition and pending litigation. One item for sure that will cause some conflict is the incarceration fees. In Citrus, and possibly the Fifth Circuit, the Judges do assess incarceration fees. They believe it to be mandatory fee and follow Florida Statute 960.293 "a liquidated damage amount of $50 per day of the convicted offender's sentence shall be assessed against the convicted offender and in favor of the state or its local subdivisions". Yet they consider it to be a lien but not part of probation. per an email that circulated regarding this fee. Again this is a court fee that the Clerk's statewide do not include in the mandatory/discretionary report. Some circuits assess the fee, others do not. So here in Citrus, we will collect if paid, we release a defendant's suspension without full payment of these fees.; however, they will and do appear as an outstanding balance in CCIS. I think this will raise some questions and concerns.

I wanted to bring both of these concerns to your attention. We each will also have our local detention centers providing the same type information to the defendants per the bill, and would prefer to be out of the loop and not have it submitted to the case file maintained by the Clerk. I am hoping this can be addressed and take the clerk out of this process.

I have read Kathy's email a bit more carefully and I agree with her. If we start to get erroneous information filed in the cms, in the end it will be likely be considered the Clerk's problem for not noticing that the information is not correct or contradicts what the judge has ordered. I think we have found over the years offense is a better plan than defense. Perhaps, even though DOC, has determined these documents are necessary to comply with the law, perhaps we should discuss this issue with them. This will end up being embarrassing for all in government but if the past is a predictor of the future will will get the hardest kick.

As I understand, DOC decided file these documents to comply with their interpretation of the new law (below). We were going to get paper or electronic documents from them. Clerk staff are not expected to verify the figures unless the individual, or his attorney, requests Court records for the purposes of restoration of that individual's voting rights. (The academic literature suggests this is rare for new releasees, more common - 5% to 15% - for individuals out of prison for some years.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

DOC is not filing anything for prior releasees.)
The Amendment 4 QRT is trying to identify the data problems, both with DOC filings and in our historic records. Each member of the QRT is checking some of the DOC data against their local CMS as part of this process. I will provide your description of this problem to them. - Richard
-----/
From CS/SB 7066:
940.061 The Department of Corrections shall inform and educate inmates and offenders on the restoration of voting rights resulting from the removal of the disqualification to vote pursuant to s. 4, Art. VI of the State Constitution.
944.705 The Department of Corrections must notify every inmate, in the inmate's release documents of all outstanding terms of the inmate's sentence at the time of release to assist the inmate in determining his or her status with regard to the completion of all terms of sentence. This subparagraph does not apply to inmates who are being released from the custody of the department to any type of supervision monitored by the department.

Subject: FW: Senate Bill 7066

The FCCC advisory 19-052 provided us with the detail as to how DOC will be providing information about the terms of a defendant's sentence and outstanding fine/fees through CCIS. I am not sure who DOC consulted with for this new process to send the clerk a copy thru the portal? Is the expectation that the clerk staff will now have to verify the figures? The reason I ask is yesterday DOC contacted our office, I have attached a copy of what they provided to the defendant. This is 8 pages of items of which some are duplicates of what is in the court case file. The bottom of page one shows copies provided and indicates Clerk of Court (if required) – can we opt out? The information provided shows restitution for Citrus case to First Step inc. which we do not have ordered on our case. The backup for the fines, they looked up the Okeechobee case number in CCIS for Citrus County and provided detail for an entire different defendant named Steven Ray Sharp. So now this document is on Mr. Posila case with erroneous information, as well as it was provided to the defendant. We directed them to remit an amended form.

I would prefer not to have to track and accept these documents, we don't have the resources to add yet another process without additional funding. I don't believe the bill directs anything to be filed with the Clerk's office.

As you probably know, the bill already has opposition and pending litigation. One item for sure that will cause some conflict is the incarceration fees. In Citrus, and possibly the Fifth Circuit, the Judges do assess incarceration fees. They believe it to be mandatory fee and follow Florida Statute 960.293 "a liquidated damage amount of $50 per day of the convicted offender's sentence shall be assessed against the convicted offender and in favor of the state or its local subdivisions". Yet they consider it to be a lien but not part of probation. per an email that circulated regarding this fee. Again this is a court fee that the Clerk's statewide do not include in the mandatory/discretionary report. Some circuits assess the fee, others do not. So here in Citrus, we will collect if paid, we release a defendant's suspension without full payment of these fees.; however, they will and do appear as an outstanding balance in CCIS. I think this will raise some questions and concerns.

I wanted to bring both of these concerns to your attention. We each will also have our local detention centers providing the same type information to the defendants per the bill, and would prefer to be out of the loop and not have it submitted to the case file maintained by the Clerk. I am hoping this can be addressed and take the clerk out of this process.

Subject: RE: SENATE SPECIAL ORDER: Tues., April 30 - Voting Rights Restoration | County Court Judges | Public Safety

The Senate convened this morning, taking up the Special Order Calendar, then recessed until 2 p.m. An e-mail will be sent later today to wrap up this afternoon's activity.

Note that both SB 7086/HB 7089 Voting Rights Restoration and SB 642/HB 7125 Public Safety were temporarily postponed.

HB 5011 County Court Judges – rolled to third reading as amended
Taking up the "traveling" amendment (963756) that the Senate Appropriations Committee has recommended approval of, Sen. Bradley explained that the delete-all amendment would coordinate and designate official headquarters for Supreme Court Justices who permanently reside outside of Leon County, along with allowing reimbursement to these justices for travel and subsistence, to the extent that funding is available. It also adds two county court judges (Citrus and Flagler) and two circuit court judges (9th and 12th), as funded in the General Appropriations Act. The amendment was adopted.

There were no questions on the bill as amended and it was rolled to third reading.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Good afternoon,

As a follow up to Winter Conference, the "Constitutional Amendments Part II" Executive Track Session is scheduled for Wednesday, June 26, from 1:20 – 3 p.m. The purpose of this session is to discuss where we are post-legislative session on the implementation of the three "main" constitutional amendments: 4, 6, and 10.

I wanted to touch base with each of you to make sure that you are still willing/available to participate in this session and to provide my initial thoughts on an outline for the session:

- Amendment 10
  - Have Tara update us on where Clay County is on their implementation plan.
  - Discussion of HB 1183 Broward County, which didn't pass, and how to approach these issues going forward? (Tentative; for discussion)
- Amendment 4
  - Deep dive into SB 7066, which contains the final language for Amendment 4 implementation.
- Amendment 6
  - SB 1426 was not heard this session; panel-led discussion of how local communities are handling Marsy's Law.
  - Discussion of development of FCCC Best Practice on this issue.
- Amendment 11
  - Briefly discuss SB 1656, which implements Amendment 11, and makes clear that any prospective sentencing changes would only apply retroactively if specifically stated by the Legislature in a bill

Please let me know if you are able to participate and if you have any edits/suggestions to the proposed outline.

I would like to schedule an organizational WebEx maybe late next week to have an initial discussion of the session. I will send out a Doodle poll to determine availability.

Thank you!

JD & Doug,

Congratulations on being appointed by the Governor to the Restoration of Voting Rights Task Force. You will represent the Clerks well. As you know, the Clerks have an Amendment 4 Quick Response Team (QRT) in which I serve as Chair. Attached are the minute of our most recent meeting. These minutes may be helpful for you to read. The QRT will be meeting tomorrow (Monday) at 2:00. I will forward on to you the appointment. Since your task force is in all likelihood a Sunshine body, if you do call in, you may want to just listen in and not engage in dialog especially if both of you are on the call.

The QRT may provide support for your roles on the Task Force. Richard Herring is serving as staff for the QRT and has become very well versed in all the Amendment 4 issues as they relate to Clerks. Let me know how the QRT can best support your service on the Task Force.

Prior Releases, Melissa Geist for Tiffany Moore Russell

They will have a draft document to review on a process to handle those who have been released prior to the bill becoming effective.

From the agenda, we will look at the items involving Fred Baggett

I. FCCC Process for approving requests for legal opinions
J. Possible issues for legal opinion

Richard reported that after the initial meeting with DOC, he met with Fred and discussed which items we could, and should, get a legal opinion on, how do we ask the right questions, what we should not ask, what we should not get anything in writing on, and which are Best Practices that we need a policy on. Fred stated they have gone through the items and broken out what they discussed were the core legal issues and tried to prioritize for timing and put together into a combined opinion on issues that are similar and related. Ken expressed an interest in questions regarding whether we consider interest and costs as conditions of the sentence to be fulfilled. The initial opinion is that interest is not a condition of the sentence. It may be elsewhere, but not as a condition of sentence. Fred stated that this is an issue that can be looked at. Starting from there and going through other issues, they have found a lot of things that the Clerks might want to do to help the process but are not required to do. They hope to have answers to the priority questions as soon as possible. Ken stated that part of this is the legal responsibility, but the other part is the public relations and political angle of how we handle things. From the public relations and good services angle, helping to ensure the information DOC and the Clerks gives to people is correct is important, so we need to let the DOC know what the correct numbers are. The goal is to be as fair as possible to citizens without incurring additional cost. Another issue is people not going back to the county where they committed the felony but going to another Clerk's office asking for information on what they owe. We don't want to have to tell a person to go back to the county where the crime was committed.

Carolyn stated that one of the concerns and challenges from the public relations and good public service angle is looking at the data from the DOC for differences to make sure it is correct and quality data. People will be coming to our offices thinking we are wrong and place the fault with us. We need to work with the DOC on the front end, looking at the data and looking for a way to fix the data that is not correct. It is important that we get in front of this, and where we can demonstrate collaboration the better off we will be. If we do nothing, Clerks will come out with a black eye. The data that has been submitted is fairly good so far. The Martin County data does match. They had the OR discrepancy fixed, so it is all good now. Angela asked if the data sets on the 10 cases would be provided, and Ken replied we would be asking the remainder of the Clerks to do the same.

Ken stated that some Clerks are under the impression when you convert a fine to a Civil lien it is not sent to collections. We need a legal opinion on this. Fred indicated that the initial finding is that this does not eliminate the debt, but further research is being done on this.

Another area that is a priority is public access to CCIS. Fred and Richard discussed how this question would be asked. CCIS maintains no records, it maintains data from the Clerks. It has access to records but does not maintain them so it is not the depository of court records. Richard and Fred will go over this subject to determine what the question should be as this is something that we have to be careful about. Ken asked anyone on the call with an opinion on this matter to call Fred and Richard directly.

Kathy stated that part of the bill addressed the local county detention facilities, asking if we will be taking that as well. Ken stated that we are working with DOC on this. Bill Burgess followed up with Pinellas County Records Management, and they were not familiar with this and had no plan in place for this. Matt Whyte shared that the General Counsel for the Sheriff in Manatee has already created a form.

There was discussion on the sentencing documents and whether incarceration fees are included. As more information and clarification is needed on this topic this will need to be addressed as part of the legal opinion.

When asked about the work group that is to be appointed, Fred stated that they have not heard anything yet. Carolyn went on to say that it is not on the appointments website yet.

Richard stated that the responses they have gotten back on the 10 cases per county have shown some issues between the CCIS and CMS data. To address the concern of whether the data is correct, it is important to point out that the data only relates to a particular case and that money may be owed on any additional cases.

- Kathy Davis, Citrus – With their system when you look at CCIS, you are basically looking at the data from your CMS. Everything did match since she was looking at their CMS data in CCIS.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Bill Burgess, Pinellas – They are still looking at the problems they had with restitution data.
- Matt Whyte, Manatee – CCIS is pulling their data so it should be the same, but they did have one case where there were number discrepancies between CMS and CCIS. They have not been able to see what that happened.

When asked if we were ready to move forward asking the additional counties to complete the survey, Ken responded by saying that we need to let them know how important it is to complete the survey, and how long it takes. There is nothing that can be done about Clerks who do not complete the survey. Richard will prepare an email to go out from Stacy Butterfield and Ken asking Clerks to complete the survey.

From the Agenda, Richard reported on the following items:

Results of 7/12 meeting with DOC.

This was a great opportunity to build rapport. A wide range of issues were discussed, and DOC did agree to provide us with:

- Explanation of case numbers, and issues with the case numbers.
- Possibility of providing DOB for each individual to the Clerks.
- Provide a list of DOC offense codes
- Possibility of identifying releases with prior DOC supervision for other offenses. There was push back on this due to the frequent changes to the lists and liability associated with providing the list. However, if Clerks really need this, they will work with us on it.
- Willing to consider adding a qualifier in the documents they file that the documents relate only to the current sentence and that terms of prior sentences would also have to be completed.
- Willing to participate in our Fall Conference A4 QRT session if required.

DOC raised two issues for Clerks:

- There are having some difficulty filing in Miami-Dade County.
    - Melvin will be on the calls starting next week. He will work on this issue with DOC.
- DOC-Sheriff-Clerk pilot for paperless sentencing orders. Kimberly mentioned that the DOC originally requested 14 counties to be part of the pilot (counties that deliver directly to Reception Medical Center, Lake Butler). Currently 6 counties are participating. Carolyn asked Kimberly to send out more information on this as to which offices agreed to be part of the pilot and which have not participated. Ken stated that this could be a breakdown in communication. Angela stated that the Citrus Clerk's office is willing to participate.

All on the call agreed to keep sharing ideas and talking about problems and concerns. There was concern about errors in the documents. Examples of errors that are found by Clerks will be included in a list to be forwarded to DOC to help them minimize errors on their end.

Kathy Davis asked if we can propose a procedure or method of what will be done if these errors are found. When a person has already left, how do we get them the correct paperwork? Ken stated that one of the things we are doing with the test data is to find out information on problem areas. We have not worked out how to fix the problems or if we want to fix problems. The idea here is going forward can we make it a better process to get correct information. In the interest of time today, we will forgo discussion on this. How we make corrections is a whole different topic. Richard went on to say that when he passes these issues to DOC he can point out that someone probably will want to follow up on these types of concerns.

Status of Best Practice on Clerk's answering Restoration Questions about Cases in Other Counties
This topic will be included in next week's report. Ken went on to say that this will be the featured item of the call and asked Richard to let him know how much time on the agenda was needed.

F. Negotiating fees/fines/cost converted to civil judgments; establish a subcommittee

This is a big issue which is too big for this group to tackle. A committee needs to be established to look at this and come up with standards and recommendations. Tiffany Moore Russel stated that Jared Brooks is already doing research on this. Carolyn will speak with her compliance manager regarding this. The committee will be made up of 3-4 attorneys and 3-4 court staff from Clerk's office throughout the state, making sure different sized counties are included.

G. Suggestions for A QRT presentation at Fall Conference

There will be a presentation on this topic at the Fall Conference, and we will issue an invitation to a representative from the DOC to attend. We will work with Kristin, FCCC, on planning this.

H. Clerk Timmann's legislative talking points

Clerk Timmann will send the list of talking points to Ken who will distribute them to the group.

Any additional items:

- Richard Herring – has reached out to the SA Association, and they are not taking any position on this. Individual SA's are talking about doing different things, but don't see them as being a partner to us. He would like to reach out to the Sheriff's Association and establish a working relationship with them. Ken responded by saying that would be great. We do have a good working relationship with them, and it would be good to keep them informed.
- Tiffany Moore Russell – no
- Carolyn Timmann – no. She appreciates this and sees it as an opportunity to be looking at all of our date and improving on what we have and get rid of discrepancies and misconceptions about the data.
- Angela Vick – no
- Fred Baggett – this is a good approach from the legal and operations side. He hopes to have something back next week on the legal opinions, especially the priority issues.
- Bill Burgess asked if anything had been heard about the UNC number being on some cases and not others. Richard replied that the DOC system does not have a required field for UCN's, so it is not always included. We are still working with them on this. Kimberly Renspie went on to say that they believe certain counties reach a higher number of felonies than others so it may be truncated for that reason. They are checking on this and will get back in touch.

- MD –asked if they could receive their list of cases sooner than later so they could starting working on them. Ken replied that their information would be sent now, but they would be working on a correspondence tomorrow to get the message and information out to all counties. Richard added that he would have a draft to discuss with Ken.

Ken closed the meeting stating that the next meeting will be held next Monday, July 22 at 2:00 p.m.

The meeting was adjourned at 3:11 p.m.

Amendment #4 (Restoration of Voting Rights for Felons)
Telephone Conference/WebEx
September 30, 2019

The Honorable Ken Burke, CPA, Pinellas County Clerk of Court and Comptroller
The Honorable Tara S. Green, Clay County Clerk of Court
Bill Burgess, Pinellas County Clerk and Comptroller's Office
Diane Pattavina, Miami-Dade Clerk's Office
Jean Sperbeck, Esq., Alachua County Clerk and Comptroller's Office
Matt Whyte, Esq., Manatee County Clerk and Comptroller's Office
Tom Harmer, Martin County Clerk and Comptroller's Office
Kimberly Renspie, FCCC
Richard Herring, Esq., FCCC
Melvin Cox, FCCC
Beth Allman, FCCC

Ken opened the meeting stating that he did not think the group will need to meet again until the Voting Rights Task Force issues their report. We will be on hiatus between now and November 1. He reached out to Doug and JD who sit on the Task Force, which is meeting tomorrow in Tallahassee, for a copy of the agenda. There is no agenda yet for the meeting. He then asked if there were any questions or comments on the minutes, and there were none.

CCIS Disclaimer (slightly revised)

Richard Herring – we went back and looked at the disclaimer. The revised disclaimer is more broad and generic. It could be that people other than felons will be looking for information from CCIS (financial obligations form) for Civil or traffic. They cleaned up the language a little bit. With no objections the form was approved as amended. It will be sent to Melvin Cox.

Draft Best Practice on Providing Financial Information

- Ken – would like to talk about this at the Executive Session tomorrow.
- Jean Sperbeck – her focus has been on the form. Richard added the disclaimer on the financial obligation form. This form is intended to deal with sentencing obligations in criminal cases. It has been tweaked and simplified. Matt also made a few changes.
- Matt Whyte – Jean did most of the work. He made a few changes to specify that it relates to felony convictions.
- Tara Green – please verify if we are referring to the financial obligation summary document. Is this paid to just one county?
- Ken – no, this if the form that if someone comes in to your office but has committed a crime in another county saying they want to pay their financial obligation, you can go to CCIS and fill out the form for them with the financial obligation from CCIS. They still have to get in touch with each county where an offense occurred to verify the information. You can use this form for your own county as well as for other counties when a person has been a felon and has a financial obligation.
- Tara Green - agrees, this is assisting in providing information based on what is in CCIS, but they are responsible for verifying and satisfying what they owe in different counties in the state.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Ken – hopes all Clerk's offices with honor this, but they are not required to use it. When we presented it to the Task Force at the last meeting, Secretary of State Lee asked if we are doing something like this and we let her know that we are working on it.
- Matt – he doubts that Manatee and some other Clerks will do the Column F (Amounts owed to Clerks) or the total amount due at the bottom until we are confident that CCIS has current up to date information. Will let people know that this is what was due at sentencing, but to be sure to follow up with other Clerks to see what is owed.
- Ken – we need a list of the 67 counties and the best number to contact so if the Clerk does not fill out the form, the person can been given a good phone number to call to get the information they need. This list would not be attached to the Best Practice but would be helpful to Clerks. Ken asked Richard and Kim to work on this document.
- Matt – good idea, similar to what is being given to the Supervisor of Elections.
- Tara Green – make sure they understand that whatever we provided them is the best possible information we can provide, but it is their responsibility to confirm it.
- Ken – from a public perception angle, statewide we need to do this.

Ken – with no other questions or comments, this is approved to be sent to the Best Practice Committee asking for quick action. It will then be sent to the Executive Committee or Board of Directors.

Update on Requests for Sentencing Documents from Counties

- Ken - We may want to share this information with the Task Force. It is very interesting.
- Richard – received 4-5 dozen felony sentencing packages that he reviewed:
  - Courts do not rigidly follow the forms set out by the Supreme Court.
  - Financial obligations can be for any listed on the form – sentencing, judgment, ordered for court costs, fines and fees, probation, etc.
  - Some financial obligations where there is no obvious total. The person is ordered to $1 or $2 each month during the period of their supervision, but there is no indication of how long the supervision will last so it is hard to put a dollar amount on that.
- Ken - this is fascinating and he thinks the court would be interested in this. We may want to share this with them.
- Tara Green – yes, engage the court for buy in to something we are working on. We should take advantage of that.
- Ken – we will let them know we have examples and are getting more. They have a group working on this so they may be very appreciative of this study. He will talk to the Clerks who have not sent in their forms at the Conference.

Update on Advisory Opinion to the Governor re: Implementation of Amendment 4, the Voting Restoration Amendment

- Richard – matter of time. In the Florida Supreme Court lawsuit, there is nothing new. The Federal law suit, the plaintiffs have filed as attachments so that every word that this wok group has produced (emails, agendas) is before the court. Sharing this with the Clerks is fine.
- Ken – Richard will make the decision on the timing of this.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Update on the Restoration of Voting Rights Work Group

There is nothing beyond the time and date on the agenda.

Closing

- Ken to Richard and Kim – there is no reason to meet until we hear from the courts or if the Task Force issues its repot early.
- Kim – agrees.

Subject: Summer Conference Session - Constitutional Amendments Part II, Wednesday, June 26, 1:20 - 3

Good afternoon,

As a follow up to Winter Conference, the "Constitutional Amendments Part II" Executive Track Session is scheduled for Wednesday, June 26, from 1:20 – 3 p.m. The purpose of this session is to discuss where we are post-legislative session on the implementation of the three "main" constitutional amendments: 4, 6, and 10.

I wanted to touch base with each of you to make sure that you are still willing/available to participate in this session and to provide my initial thoughts on an outline for the session:

- Amendment 10
  - Have Tara update us on where Clay County is on their implementation plan.
  - Discussion of HB 1183 Broward County, which didn't pass, and how to approach these issues going forward? (Tentative; for discussion)
- Amendment 4
  - Deep dive into SB 7066, which contains the final language for Amendment 4 implementation.
- Amendment 6
  - SB 1426 was not heard this session; panel-led discussion of how local communities are handling Marsy's Law.
  - Discussion of development of FCCC Best Practice on this issue.
- Amendment 11
  - Briefly discuss SB 1656, which implements Amendment 11, and makes clear that any prospective sentencing changes would only apply retroactively if specifically stated by the Legislature in a bill

Please let me know if you are able to participate and if you have any edits/suggestions to the proposed outline.

I would like to schedule an organizational WebEx maybe late next week to have an initial discussion of the session. I will send out a Doodle poll to determine availability.

Thank you!

Friends,

Thank you for the privilege of serving you in the Florida House of Representatives. We finished our work in Tallahassee this past weekend. It has been my honor to fight for you and represent our community again this legislative session.

Our sole constitutional duty as a Legislature is to pass the annual state budget. I was pleased with the outcome of the final budget we passed. While no budget is perfect, this year's budget makes significant investments to protect Florida's water. In addition to appropriating more money for environmental protection, the budget increases investment in affordable housing initiatives, restores funding for the arts, preserves Florida's tourism marketing agency, VISIT FLORIDA, and dedicates money to regional transportation planning in the Tampa Bay Area. These are all important investments for our community in Pinellas County. I am also pleased that our delegation was successful in securing new funding to support USF St Petersburg as well as some important local projects. I was privileged to serve on the Appropriations Committee, and congratulate Chairman Travis Cummings and the committee staff for their hard work on this year's budget.

Numerous good bills passed this year, including legislation to improve our criminal justice system, and an important bill to provide benefits to firefighters who have been diagnosed with certain types of cancer. I was also pleased that two of the six policy bills that I introduced passed the House and Senate and are on their way to our Governor.

This session, I was honored to be elected by my colleagues to serve as Minority Leader for the Florida House for the 2022-2024 term. I am incredibly grateful for the opportunity to serve in this leadership role, and excited to continue to try to work with my colleagues on both sides of the aisle to promote policies that will help all Floridians.

In the final week of session, I was disappointed that the Speaker took up a series of controversial bills and pushed them through to final passage despite our opposition. I voted no on SB 7030 (permitting school districts to arm teachers), no on SB 7070 (permitting public tax dollars to be redirected to for profit, private schools), no on HB 7089/SB 7066 (conditioning the restoration of the right to vote for convicted felons on payment of all civil financial obligations), no on HB 7111 (creating new restrictions for Floridians to utilize the citizen initiative petition process to amend Florida's Constitution), and no on SB 7068 (beginning the planning process for three major new toll road/corridors through environmentally sensitive areas of our state). Many of you contacted me to express your opposition to these bills, and I took your concerns to heart. I have more to say about some of these issues in this newsletter.

As always, I am extremely thankful to all of you who have called and written my office, and especially to those of you who visited the Capitol during session to share your views. We have dealt with a multitude of difficult issues this year, and your input and guidance has been so helpful. I hope you will stay in touch with me and continue to provide me with your feedback. Thank you again for the honor of serving you in the Florida House.

Sincerely,

Ben Diamond

The State Budget

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

One day after the session was scheduled to end, the Legislature approved a $91.1 billion budget for the 2019-2020 fiscal year. The budget is the most important piece of legislation that we vote on each year, and it is the only bill that the Legislature is constitutionally-required to pass.

I had concerns with our initial House budget, but through the negotiating process, the budget improved considerably. We increased our investment in affordable housing—$100 million more than what was included in last year's budget. We restored funding for the arts, and we made significant investments in environmental protection.

The budget also includes more than $682 million for water quality and environmental initiatives throughout the state. Additionally, the Tampa Bay Area Regional Transit Authority received a sizable appropriation to plan and implement multimodal transportation options for our region. Another local priority, the University of South Florida St. Petersburg, saw its operating budget grow by $3.5 million. Finally, I was pleased to see two projects that I filed and advocated for—funding for the USFSP's Joint Institute for Gulf of Mexico Studies, and for the Area Agency on Aging of Pinellas-Pasco to help hospitals and social service organizations coordinate better care for our elderly population—were included in the final budget.

I would certainly like to see more money spent on Florida Forever, the state's premier land acquisition program, among other priorities. Nevertheless, I believe that the final budget overall makes smart investments for the needs of Floridians, and I voted in favor of its final passage.

Serving as Minority Leader in the Florida House

This session, I was honored to be elected by my Democratic colleagues to serve as Minority Leader for the House Democratic Caucus for the 2022-2024 term.

Since being elected to office, I have done my best to serve our community with humility, integrity, and hard work, and I will strive to bring these values to my role as Minority Leader. I appreciate the support of my fellow House Democrats, and the kind wishes I have received from my friends on both sides of the aisle. I am excited to take on this new responsibility, and will work hard to continue to try to build consensus and make progress on the issues most important for Floridians.

Policy Bills

Bills that I Supported:

Helping Our First Responders (SB 426): After several delays, CS/SB 426 was finally heard on the House floor and passed unanimously. This legislation provides disability and death benefits to firefighters who are diagnosed with certain types of job-related cancer. I am proud of this bipartisan legislation, which shows gratitude and respect for our first responders who risk their lives in the name of public safety. This was an incredible victory for these public servants, as well as a demonstration of our capability to work across the aisle to do what is right.

First Step Act (HB 7125): As the ranking Democratic member of the House Judiciary Committee, I was proud to support this legislation. The bill raises the threshold for felony theft in Florida, and it reduces the number of crimes that can result in the suspension of an individual's driver's license. These are good, common sense reforms to our criminal justice system. By passing this bill, Florida is taking steps to provide people with the opportunity for a second chance, and we are doing so in a way that will maintain public safety and reduce costs for taxpayers.

Bills that I Opposed:

Amendment Four (HB 7089/SB 7066): I received more calls related to HB 7089—the Amendment Four implementation bill—than any other piece of legislation that was introduced during session. Everyone who contacted me expressed their opposition to the bill because of the barriers it creates for former felons who seek to have their voting rights restored. That is why I voted against HB 7089. I do not believe that ongoing civil financial obligations should prevent individuals from having their right to vote restored.

Arming Teachers (SB 7030): Despite massive opposition from students, parents and educators, the Legislature approved a bill that allows classroom teachers to carry firearms. Numerous good amendments were offered—including requirements for additional training, and enhanced safety measures—that would have made this proposition less dangerous. Unfortunately, these amendments were all voted down. I believe this legislation draws our focus away from measures that would do more to secure our school campuses, and it actually makes our students less safe. For these reasons, I voted down on the bill.

Expanding School Vouchers (SB 7070): The Florida Constitution provides that it is the "paramount duty" of our state to provide "a uniform, efficient, safe, secure, and high quality system of free public schools that allows students to obtain a high quality education." In 2006, the Florida Supreme Court held that a voucher program that expends public funds in support of for-profit, private schools was unconstitutional. Despite our Constitution, the Florida House voted on a dramatic expansion of a voucher program to expend public tax dollars in support of for-profit private schools. Because I believe this bill violates our state's constitution, and because I believe public tax dollars should support public schools, I voted no.

New Toll Roads (SB 7068): Many of you contacted my office to express your opposition to SB 7068, which calls for the construction of three new toll road projects in Florida. Given our state's continued growth, I believe we need to invest in transportation infrastructure and develop smart transit solutions for our state. However, I believe this particular proposal will likely have a significant negative impact on our environment and our state's natural resources. For these reasons, I voted no on the bill.

Tallahassee Meetings

Thank you to St. Petersburg Mayor Rick Kriseman for allowing me to address his Mayor's Youth Congress during their trip to the Capitol. I enjoyed showing them the House chambers and discussing the legislative process with such an impressive group of future leaders.

It was great to meet with representatives from Planned Parenthood regarding women's health issues. Thank you for your tireless advocacy on these important matters and for all the work you do.

Firefighters from around the state—including from Pinellas County—visited Tallahassee to advocate for the passage of SB 426, which provides benefits to firefighters diagnosed with certain types of cancer. I am glad we were able to pass this bill and support the men and women who risk their lives everyday to keep us safe.

It was wonderful to see my friends from the Tampa Bay Partnership. Representative Latvala and I had a chance to discuss regional transportation planning, higher education funding, and other issues that impact our community

I would be happy to meet with your civic group or organization to update you on our work, and to answer any of your questions. Please call me at 727-552-2747 if you would like me to visit with your group at an upcoming meeting.

Judge: Felons Having to Pay Up Before They Can Vote Doesn't Sit Well with Amendment 4 Voters

By John Haughey, The Center Square

A federal judge Monday said "it's a no brainer" that the Florida Legislature's requirement that ex-felons pay all financial obligations to be eligible to vote "harms the franchise" voters thought they'd restored when they approved Amendment 4 by more than 64 percent in November 2018.
