A statewide survey of Florida voters put out after the attack by Donald Trump’s supporters on the US Capitol suggested a lack of support for HB1 and Governor DeSantis’ push to amp up criminal penalties for “disorderly” protests. Ninety-percent of those asked stated their support for “protecting our constitutional right to free assembly and free speech by legally protesting without fear of criminal charges”. Seventy-one percent of Democrats and 74% of Republicans deemed the issue a top priority. Eighty percent of respondents said they were more likely to support a legislator who voted to protect that priority, and 56% were “much more likely”. On the other hand, 83% of respondents thought that it was important to strengthen unemployment protections for people who lost their jobs because of COVID-19, 63% said that this was “very important”. (1)

Finally, this legislation also creates a preemptive attack on local municipalities that might want to “defund” the police and put their money towards more humanitarian initiatives to provide real solutions to small business and economic crises caused by the pandemic. Instead of restricting local government’s ability to find solutions we need legislation that answers the call of the people in the streets. People only protest when they are being abused, oppressed, marginalized or violated. It's time the House Justice Appropriations Subcommittee address the calls of Florida voters and people who cared enough to peacefully assemble. We need to face the issues head on and answer to the humanity and dignity of working class, black, brown, and immigrant families in Florida who are suffering with workable policies that help the state grow and prosper.

If this legislation passes I will be letting people know that they should not travel in Florida, they should not move to Florida, they should not visit Florida, because our government does not support them and keep them safe. Public health and the economy should be your number one priority. Please OPPOSE HB1 and support legislation that provides real solutions to the real problems Floridians face today.

Meagan Hebel,

I am writing to you to ask you to please OPPOSE HB1 at the House Justice Appropriations meeting when it is scheduled for a hearing. I am outraged that this legislation even got assigned to a public hearing must less that it has been fast-tracked through the House on party lines. Florida currently faces the worst economic and public health crisis in history and instead of working to find solutions HB1 criminalizes free speech, peaceful assembly and dissent through unconstitutional language that is targeted at silencing Black voices demanding basic human rights, equality, and fair treatment by law enforcement.

Instead of addressing the horrendous housing crisis, the broken unemployment system, the failing healthcare system, the disorganized and chaotic education system, AND the rising number of deaths, poverty, job loss and sickness in Florida HB1 repackages legislation put forward by Governor DeSantis as a “response to the violent insurrectionist mobs” that attempted a coup on the nation’s Capitol. This language is a smokescreen for the true intent of the bill which is to circumvent the mess that Florida has as a consequence of the pandemic and lack of support for Florida’s poverty impacted and oppressed. I am not fooled by this. This is the same legislation it was back in September with the same purpose - to limit the basic civil rights of BLM protestors that is guaranteed to all people under the US Constitution.

I believe that HB1 is being used to distract media and organizers from focusing on the real problem: lack of support for those in need across the state. How dare the Governor and the Florida Legislature waste taxpayer time and money on proposing solutions to a made up problem. Section 870 of the Florida Statute already criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting but this legislation would actually make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone’s death. It limits people’s ability to apply to Florida’s already broken unemployment system if they have been convicted under the proposed legislation and allows victims of violent crimes to recover civil damages from a local government that is deems responsible for grossly negligent “policing” during a “riot”. Meanwhile, the Florida Legislature is fast-tracking HB7/SB72 to create COVID19 liability immunity for the real victims of negligence by businesses, government agencies, schools, and religious organizations who have caused the spread of COVID19.

The Executive Director of the ACLU of Florida, Micah Kubic, stated that “This (bill) is not an attempt to make our communities safer. This proposed legislation by DeSantis is nothing more than a campaign political stunt. Now, it is being disguised as a response to the failed violent coup at the US Capitol. And, it is just as unconstitutional.”

Natalie Brown,

Hi,

I moved to Florida in 2019. I am a retired attorney, and I am aghast that HB1 even made it out of committee. Please oppose this bill, as it is redundant in its punishment of violent demonstrators, it clearly infringes on our constitutional rights of free speech and assembly, and it will cost this state a great sea of money in the challenges that are sure to follow if it is unwisely passed.

I am writing to you to ask you to please OPPOSE HB1 at the House Justice Appropriations meeting when it is scheduled for a hearing. I believe that HB1 is being used to distract media and organizers from focusing on the real problem: lack of support for those in need across the state. How dare the Governor and the Florida Legislature waste taxpayer time and money on proposing solutions to a made up problem. Section 870 of the Florida Statute already criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting but this legislation would actually make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone’s death. It limits people’s ability to apply to Florida’s already broken unemployment system if they have been convicted under the proposed legislation and allows victims of violent crimes to recover civil damages from a local government that is deems responsible for grossly negligent “policing” during a “riot”. Meanwhile, the Florida Legislature is fast-tracking HB7/SB72 to create COVID19 liability immunity for the real victims of negligence by businesses, government agencies, schools, and religious organizations who have caused the spread of COVID19.

The Executive Director of the ACLU of Florida, Micah Kubic, stated that “This (bill) is not an attempt to make our communities safer. This proposed legislation by DeSantis is nothing more than a campaign political stunt. Now, it is being disguised as a response to the failed violent coup at the US Capitol. And, it is just as unconstitutional.”

A statewide survey of Florida voters put out after the attack by Donald Trump’s supporters on the US Capitol suggested a lack of support for HB1 and Governor DeSantis’ push to amp up criminal penalties for “disorderly” protests. Ninety-percent of those asked stated their support for “protecting our constitutional right to free assembly and free speech by legally protesting without fear of criminal charges”. Seventy-one percent of Democrats and 74% of Republicans deemed the issue a top priority. Eighty percent of respondents said they were more likely to support a legislator who voted to protect that priority, and 56% were “much more likely”. On the other hand, 83% of respondents thought that it was important to strengthen unemployment protections for people who lost their jobs because of COVID-19, 63% said that this was “very important”. (1)

Finally, this legislation also creates a preemptive attack on local municipalities that might want to “defund” the police and put their money towards more humanitarian initiatives to provide real solutions to small business and economic crises caused by the pandemic. Instead of restricting local government’s ability to find solutions we need legislation that answers the call of the people in the streets. People only protest when they are being abused, oppressed, marginalized or violated. It's time the House Justice Appropriations Subcommittee address the calls of Florida voters and people who cared enough to peacefully assemble. We need to face the issues head on and answer to the humanity and dignity of working class, black, brown, and immigrant families in Florida who are suffering with workable policies that help the state grow and prosper.

If this legislation passes I will be letting people know that they should not travel in Florida, they

should not move to Florida, they should not visit Florida, because our government does not support them and keep them safe. Public health and the economy should be your number one priority. Meagan Hebel,

I am writing to you to ask you to please OPPOSE HB1 at the House Justice Appropriations meeting when it is scheduled for a hearing. I am outraged that this legislation even got assigned to a public hearing must less that it has been fast-tracked through the House on party lines. Florida currently faces the worst economic and public health crisis in history and instead of working to find solutions HB1 criminalizes free speech, peaceful assembly and dissent through unconstitutional language that is targeted at silencing Black voices demanding basic human rights, equality, and fair treatment by law enforcement.

Instead of addressing the horrendous housing crisis, the broken unemployment system, the failing healthcare system, the disorganized and chaotic education system, AND the rising number of deaths, poverty, job loss and sickness in Florida HB1 repackages legislation put forward by Governor DeSantis as a “response to the violent insurrectionist mobs” that attempted a coup on the nation’s Capitol. This language is a smokescreen for the true intent of the bill which is to circumvent the mess that Florida has as a consequence of the pandemic and lack of support for Florida’s poverty impacted and oppressed. I am not fooled by this. This is the same legislation it was back in September with the same purpose - to limit the basic civil rights of BLM protestors that is guaranteed to all people under the US Constitution.

I am outraged that this legislation even got assigned to a public hearing must less that it has been fast-tracked through the House on party lines. Florida currently faces the worst economic and public health crisis in history and instead of working to find solutions HB1 criminalizes free speech, peaceful assembly and dissent through unconstitutional language that is targeted at silencing Black voices demanding basic human rights, equality, and fair treatment by law enforcement.

Instead of addressing the horrendous housing crisis, the broken unemployment system, the failing healthcare system, the disorganized and chaotic education system, AND the rising number of deaths, poverty, job loss and sickness in Florida HB1 repackages legislation put forward by Governor DeSantis as a “response to the violent insurrectionist mobs” that attempted a coup on the nation’s Capitol. This language is a smokescreen for the true intent of the bill which is to circumvent the mess that Florida has as a consequence of the pandemic and lack of support for Florida’s poverty impacted and oppressed. I am not fooled by this. This is the same legislation it was back in September with the same purpose - to limit the basic civil rights of BLM protestors that is guaranteed to all people under the US Constitution.

I believe that HB1 is being used to distract media and organizers from focusing on the real problem: lack of support for those in need across the state. How dare the Governor and the Florida Legislature waste taxpayer time and money on proposing solutions to a made up problem. Section 870 of the Florida Statute already criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting but this legislation would actually make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone’s death. It limits people’s ability to apply to Florida’s already broken unemployment system if they have been convicted under the proposed legislation and allows victims of violent crimes to recover civil damages from a local government that is deems responsible for grossly negligent “policing” during a “riot”. Meanwhile, the Florida Legislature is fast-tracking HB7/SB72 to create COVID19 liability immunity for the real victims of negligence by businesses, government agencies, schools, and religious organizations who have caused the spread of COVID19.

The Executive Director of the ACLU of Florida, Micah Kubic, stated that “This (bill) is not an attempt to make our communities safer. This proposed legislation by DeSantis is nothing more than a campaign political stunt. Now, it is being disguised as a response to the failed violent coup at the US Capitol. And, it is just as unconstitutional.”

A statewide survey of Florida voters put out after the attack by Donald Trump’s supporters on the US Capitol suggested a lack of support for HB1 and Governor DeSantis’ push to amp up criminal penalties for “disorderly” protests. Ninety-percent of those asked stated their support for “protecting our constitutional right to free assembly and free speech by legally protesting without fear of criminal charges”. Seventy-one percent of Democrats and 74% of Republicans deemed the issue a top priority. Eighty percent of respondents said they were more likely to support a legislator who voted to protect that priority, and 56% were “much more likely”. On the other hand, 83% of respondents thought that it was important to strengthen unemployment protections for people who lost their jobs because of COVID-19, 63% said that this was “very important”. (1)

Finally, this legislation also creates a preemptive attack on local municipalities that might want to “defund” the police and put their money towards more humanitarian initiatives to provide real solutions to small business and economic crises caused by the pandemic. Instead of restricting local government’s ability to find solutions we need legislation that answers the call of the people in the streets. People only protest when they are being abused, oppressed, marginalized or violated. It's time the House Justice Appropriations Subcommittee address the calls of Florida voters and people who cared enough to peacefully assemble. We need to face the issues head on and answer to the humanity and dignity of working class, black, brown, and immigrant families in Florida who are suffering with workable policies that help the state grow and prosper.

If this legislation passes I will be letting people know that they should not travel in Florida, they

should not move to Florida, they should not visit Florida, because our government does not support them and keep them safe. Public health and the economy should be your number one priority. Meagan Hebel,

Subject: Oppose HB1 and Protect Floridian's First Amendment Rights

Natalie Brown,

I am writing to you to ask you to please OPPOSE HB1 at the House Justice Appropriations meeting when it is scheduled for a hearing. I am outraged that this legislation even got assigned to a public hearing must less that it has been fast-tracked through the House on party lines. Florida currently faces the worst economic and public health crisis in history and instead of working to find solutions HB1 criminalizes free speech, peaceful assembly and dissent through unconstitutional language that is targeted at silencing Black voices demanding basic human rights, equality, and fair treatment by law enforcement.

Instead of addressing the horrendous housing crisis, the broken unemployment system, the failing healthcare system, the disorganized and chaotic education system, AND the rising number of deaths, poverty, job loss and sickness in Florida HB1 repackages legislation put forward by Governor DeSantis as a “response to the violent insurrectionist mobs” that attempted a coup on the nation’s Capitol. This language is a smokescreen for the true intent of the bill which is to circumvent the mess that Florida has as a consequence of the pandemic and lack of support for Florida’s poverty impacted and oppressed. I am not fooled by this. This is the same legislation it was back in September with the same purpose - to limit the basic civil rights of BLM protestors that is guaranteed to all people under the US Constitution.

I believe that HB1 is being used to distract media and organizers from focusing on the real problem: lack of support for those in need across the state. How dare the Governor and the Florida Legislature waste taxpayer time and money on proposing solutions to a made up problem. Section 870 of the Florida Statute already criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting but this legislation would actually make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone’s death. It limits people’s ability to apply to Florida’s already broken unemployment system if they have been convicted under the proposed legislation and allows victims of violent crimes to recover civil damages from a local government that is deems responsible for grossly negligent “policing” during a “riot”. Meanwhile, the Florida Legislature is fast-tracking HB7/SB72 to create COVID19 liability immunity for the real victims of negligence by businesses, government agencies, schools, and religious organizations who have caused the spread of COVID19.

The Executive Director of the ACLU of Florida, Micah Kubic, stated that “This (bill) is not an attempt to make our communities safer. This proposed legislation by DeSantis is nothing more than a campaign political stunt. Now, it is being disguised as a response to the failed violent coup at the US Capitol. And, it is just as unconstitutional.”

A statewide survey of Florida voters put out after the attack by Donald Trump’s supporters on the US Capitol suggested a lack of support for HB1 and Governor DeSantis’ push to amp up criminal penalties for “disorderly” protests. Ninety-percent of those asked stated their support for “protecting our constitutional right to free assembly and free speech by legally protesting without fear of criminal charges”. Seventy-one percent of Democrats and 74% of Republicans deemed the issue a top priority. Eighty percent of respondents said they were more likely to support a legislator who voted to protect that priority, and 56% were “much more likely”. On the other hand, 83% of respondents thought that it was important to strengthen unemployment protections for people who lost their jobs because of COVID-19, 63% said that this was “very important”. (1)

Finally, this legislation also creates a preemptive attack on local municipalities that might want to “defund” the police and put their money towards more humanitarian initiatives to provide real solutions to small business and economic crises caused by the pandemic. Instead of restricting local government’s ability to find solutions we need legislation that answers the call of the people in the streets. People only protest when they are being abused, oppressed, marginalized or violated. It's time the House Justice Appropriations Subcommittee address the calls of Florida voters and people who cared enough to peacefully assemble. We need to face the issues head on and answer to the humanity and dignity of working class, black, brown, and immigrant families in Florida who are suffering with workable policies that help the state grow and prosper.

If this legislation passes I will be letting people know that they should not travel in Florida, they should not move to Florida, they should not visit Florida, because our government does not support them and keep them safe. Public health and the economy should be your number one priority. Please OPPOSE HB1 and support legislation that provides real solutions to the real problems Floridians face today.

Meagan Hebel,

I am writing to you to ask you to please OPPOSE HB1 at the House Justice Appropriations meeting when it is scheduled for a hearing. I am outraged that this legislation even got assigned to a public hearing must less that it has been fast-tracked through the House on party lines. Florida currently faces the worst economic and public health crisis in history and instead of working to find solutions HB1 criminalizes free speech, peaceful assembly and dissent through unconstitutional language that is targeted at silencing Black voices demanding basic human rights, equality, and fair treatment by law enforcement.

Instead of addressing the horrendous housing crisis, the broken unemployment system, the failing healthcare system, the disorganized and chaotic education system, AND the rising number of deaths, poverty, job loss and sickness in Florida HB1 repackages legislation put forward by Governor DeSantis as a “response to the violent insurrectionist mobs” that attempted a coup on the nation’s Capitol. This language is a smokescreen for the true intent of the bill which is to circumvent the mess that Florida has as a consequence of the pandemic and lack of support for Florida’s poverty impacted and oppressed. I am not fooled by this. This is the same legislation it was back in September with the same purpose - to limit the basic civil rights of BLM protestors that is guaranteed to all people under the US Constitution.

I believe that HB1 is being used to distract media and organizers from focusing on the real problem: lack of support for those in need across the state. How dare the Governor and the Florida Legislature waste taxpayer time and money on proposing solutions to a made up problem. Section 870 of the Florida Statute already criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting but this legislation would actually make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone’s death. It limits people’s ability to apply to Florida’s already broken unemployment system if they have been convicted under the proposed legislation and allows victims of violent crimes to recover civil damages from a local government that is deems responsible for grossly negligent “policing” during a “riot”. Meanwhile, the Florida Legislature is fast-tracking HB7/SB72 to create COVID19 liability immunity for the real victims of negligence by businesses, government agencies, schools, and religious organizations who have caused the spread of COVID19.

The Executive Director of the ACLU of Florida, Micah Kubic, stated that “This (bill) is not an attempt to make our communities safer. This proposed legislation by DeSantis is nothing more than a campaign political stunt. Now, it is being disguised as a response to the failed violent coup at the US Capitol. And, it is just as unconstitutional.”

A statewide survey of Florida voters put out after the attack by Donald Trump’s supporters on the US Capitol suggested a lack of support for HB1 and Governor DeSantis’ push to amp up criminal penalties for “disorderly” protests. Ninety-percent of those asked stated their support for “protecting our constitutional right to free assembly and free speech by legally protesting without fear of criminal charges”. Seventy-one percent of Democrats and 74% of Republicans deemed the issue a top priority. Eighty percent of respondents said they were more likely to support a legislator who voted to protect that priority, and 56% were “much more likely”. On the other hand, 83% of respondents thought that it was important to strengthen unemployment protections for people who lost their jobs because of COVID-19, 63% said that this was “very important”. (1)

Finally, this legislation also creates a preemptive attack on local municipalities that might want to “defund” the police and put their money towards more humanitarian initiatives to provide real solutions to small business and economic crises caused by the pandemic. Instead of restricting local government’s ability to find solutions we need legislation that answers the call of the people in the streets. People only protest when they are being abused, oppressed, marginalized or violated. It's time the House Justice Appropriations Subcommittee address the calls of Florida voters and people who cared enough to peacefully assemble. We need to face the issues head on and answer to the humanity and dignity of working class, black, brown, and immigrant families in Florida who are suffering with workable policies that help the state grow and prosper.

If this legislation passes I will be letting people know that they should not travel in Florida, they should not move to Florida, they should not visit Florida, because our government does not support them and keep them safe. Public health and the economy should be your number one priority. Finally, this legislation also creates a preemptive attack on local municipalities that might want to “defund” the police and put their money towards more humanitarian initiatives to provide real solutions to small business and economic crises caused by the pandemic. Instead of restricting local government’s ability to find solutions we need legislation that answers the call of the people in the streets. People only protest when they are being abused, oppressed, marginalized or violated. It's time the House Justice Appropriations Subcommittee address the calls of Florida voters and people who cared enough to peacefully assemble. We need to face the issues head on and answer to the humanity and dignity of working class, black, brown, and immigrant families in Florida who are suffering with workable policies that help the state grow and prosper.

If this legislation passes I will be letting people know that they should not travel in Florida, they should not move to Florida, they should not visit Florida, because our government does not support them and keep them safe. Public health and the economy should be your number one priority. Please OPPOSE HB1 and support legislation that provides real solutions to the real problems Floridians face today.

Natalie Brown,

I am writing to you to ask you to please OPPOSE HB1 at the House Justice Appropriations meeting when it is scheduled for a hearing. I am outraged that this legislation even got assigned to a public hearing must less that it has been fast-tracked through the House on party lines. Florida currently faces the worst economic and public health crisis in history and instead of working to find solutions HB1 criminalizes free speech, peaceful assembly and dissent through unconstitutional language that is targeted at silencing Black voices demanding basic human rights, equality, and fair treatment by law enforcement.

Instead of addressing the horrendous housing crisis, the broken unemployment system, the failing healthcare system, the disorganized and chaotic education system, AND the rising number of deaths, poverty, job loss and sickness in Florida HB1 repackages legislation put forward by Governor DeSantis as a “response to the violent insurrectionist mobs” that attempted a coup on the nation’s Capitol. This language is a smokescreen for the true intent of the bill which is to circumvent the mess that Florida has as a consequence of the pandemic and lack of support for Florida’s poverty impacted and oppressed. I am not fooled by this. This is the same legislation it was back in September with the same purpose - to limit the basic civil rights of BLM protestors that is guaranteed to all people under the US Constitution.

I believe that HB1 is being used to distract media and organizers from focusing on the real problem: lack of support for those in need across the state. How dare the Governor and the Florida Legislature waste taxpayer time and money on proposing solutions to a made up problem. Section 870 of the Florida Statute already criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting but this legislation would actually make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone’s death. It limits people’s ability to apply to Florida’s already broken unemployment system if they have been convicted under the proposed legislation and allows victims of violent crimes to recover civil damages from a local government that is deems responsible for grossly negligent “policing” during a “riot”. Meanwhile, the Florida Legislature is fast-tracking HB7/SB72 to create COVID19 liability immunity for the real victims of negligence by businesses, government agencies, schools, and religious organizations who have caused the spread of COVID19.

The Executive Director of the ACLU of Florida, Micah Kubic, stated that “This (bill) is not an attempt to make our communities safer. This proposed legislation by DeSantis is nothing more than a campaign political stunt. Now, it is being disguised as a response to the failed violent coup at the US Capitol. And, it is just as unconstitutional.”

A statewide survey of Florida voters put out after the attack by Donald Trump’s supporters on the US Capitol suggested a lack of support for HB1 and Governor DeSantis’ push to amp up criminal penalties for “disorderly” protests. Ninety-percent of those asked stated their support for “protecting our constitutional right to free assembly and free speech by legally protesting without fear of criminal charges”. Seventy-one percent of Democrats and 74% of Republicans deemed the issue a top priority. Eighty percent of respondents said they were more likely to support a legislator who voted to protect that priority, and 56% were “much more likely”. On the other hand, 83% of respondents thought that it was important to strengthen unemployment protections for people who lost their jobs because of COVID-19, 63% said that this was “very important”. (1)

Finally, this legislation also creates a preemptive attack on local municipalities that might want to “defund” the police and put their money towards more humanitarian initiatives to provide real solutions to small business and economic crises caused by the pandemic. Instead of restricting local government’s ability to find solutions we need legislation that answers the call of the people in the streets. And, it is just as unconstitutional.”

A statewide survey of Florida voters put out after the attack by Donald Trump’s supporters on the US Capitol suggested a lack of support for HB1 and Governor DeSantis’ push to amp up criminal penalties for “disorderly” protests. Ninety-percent of those asked stated their support for “protecting our constitutional right to free assembly and free speech by legally protesting without fear of criminal charges”. Seventy-one percent of Democrats and 74% of Republicans deemed the issue a top priority. Eighty percent of respondents said they were more likely to support a legislator who voted to protect that priority, and 56% were “much more likely”. On the other hand, 83% of respondents thought that it was important to strengthen unemployment protections for people who lost their jobs because of COVID-19, 63% said that this was “very important”. (1)

Finally, this legislation also creates a preemptive attack on local municipalities that might want to “defund” the police and put their money towards more humanitarian initiatives to provide real solutions to small business and economic crises caused by the pandemic. Instead of restricting local government’s ability to find solutions we need legislation that answers the call of the people in the streets. People only protest when they are being abused, oppressed, marginalized or violated. It's time the House Justice Appropriations Subcommittee address the calls of Florida voters and people who cared enough to peacefully assemble. We need to face the issues head on and answer to the humanity and dignity of working class, black, brown, and immigrant families in Florida who are suffering with workable policies that help the state grow and prosper.

If this legislation passes I will be letting people know that they should not travel in Florida, they should not move to Florida, they should not visit Florida, because our government does not support them and keep them safe. Public health and the economy should be your number one priority. Natalie Brown,

I am writing to you to ask you to please OPPOSE HB1 at the House Justice Appropriations meeting when it is scheduled for a hearing. I am outraged that this legislation even got assigned to a public hearing must less that it has been fast-tracked through the House on party lines. Florida currently faces the worst economic and public health crisis in history and instead of working to find solutions HB1 criminalizes free speech, peaceful assembly and dissent through unconstitutional language that is targeted at silencing Black voices demanding basic human rights, equality, and fair treatment by law enforcement.

Instead of addressing the horrendous housing crisis, the broken unemployment system, the failing healthcare system, the disorganized and chaotic education system, AND the rising number of deaths, poverty, job loss and sickness in Florida HB1 repackages legislation put forward by Governor DeSantis as a “response to the violent insurrectionist mobs” that attempted a coup on the nation’s Capitol. This language is a smokescreen for the true intent of the bill which is to circumvent the mess that Florida has as a consequence of the pandemic and lack of support for Florida’s poverty impacted and oppressed. I am not fooled by this. This is the same legislation it was back in September with the same purpose - to limit the basic civil rights of BLM protestors that is guaranteed to all people under the US Constitution.

I believe that HB1 is being used to distract media and organizers from focusing on the real problem: lack of support for those in need across the state. How dare the Governor and the Florida Legislature waste taxpayer time and money on proposing solutions to a made up problem. Section 870 of the Florida Statute already criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting but this legislation would actually make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone’s death. It limits people’s ability to apply to Florida’s already broken unemployment system if they have been convicted under the proposed legislation and allows victims of violent crimes to recover civil damages from a local government that is deems responsible for grossly negligent “policing” during a “riot”. Meanwhile, the Florida Legislature is fast-tracking HB7/SB72 to create COVID19 liability immunity for the real victims of negligence by businesses, government agencies, schools, and religious organizations who have caused the spread of COVID19.

The Executive Director of the ACLU of Florida, Micah Kubic, stated that “This (bill) is not an attempt to make our communities safer. This proposed legislation by DeSantis is nothing more than a campaign political stunt. Now, it is being disguised as a response to the failed violent coup at the US Capitol. And, it is just as unconstitutional.”

Section 870 of the Florida Statute already criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting but this legislation would actually make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone’s death. It limits people’s ability to apply to Florida’s already broken unemployment system if they have been convicted under the proposed legislation and allows victims of violent crimes to recover civil damages from a local government that is deems responsible for grossly negligent “policing” during a “riot”. Meanwhile, the Florida Legislature is fast-tracking HB7/SB72 to create COVID19 liability immunity for the real victims of negligence by businesses, government agencies, schools, and religious organizations who have caused the spread of COVID19.

The Executive Director of the ACLU of Florida, Micah Kubic, stated that “This (bill) is not an attempt to make our communities safer. This proposed legislation by DeSantis is nothing more than a campaign political stunt. Now, it is being disguised as a response to the failed violent coup at the US Capitol. And, it is just as unconstitutional.”

A statewide survey of Florida voters put out after the attack by Donald Trump’s supporters on the US Capitol suggested a lack of support for HB1 and Governor DeSantis’ push to amp up criminal penalties for “disorderly” protests. Ninety-percent of those asked stated their support for “protecting our constitutional right to free assembly and free speech by legally protesting without fear of criminal charges”. Seventy-one percent of Democrats and 74% of Republicans deemed the issue a top priority. Eighty percent of respondents said they were more likely to support a legislator who voted to protect that priority, and 56% were “much more likely”. On the other hand, 83% of respondents thought that it was important to strengthen unemployment protections for people who lost their jobs because of COVID-19, 63% said that this was “very important”. (1)

Finally, this legislation also creates a preemptive attack on local municipalities that might want to “defund” the police and put their money towards more humanitarian initiatives to provide real solutions to small business and economic crises caused by the pandemic. Instead of restricting local government’s ability to find solutions we need legislation that answers the call of the people in the streets. People only protest when they are being abused, oppressed, marginalized or violated. It's time the House Justice Appropriations Subcommittee address the calls of Florida voters and people who cared enough to peacefully assemble. We need to face the issues head on and answer to the humanity and dignity of working class, black, brown, and immigrant families in Florida who are suffering with workable policies that help the state grow and prosper.

If this legislation passes I will be letting people know that they should not travel in Florida, they should not move to Florida, they should not visit Florida, because our government does not support them and keep them safe. Public health and the economy should be your number one priority. Natalie Brown,

I am writing to you to ask you to please OPPOSE HB1 at the House Justice Appropriations meeting when it is scheduled for a hearing. I am outraged that this legislation even got assigned to a public hearing must less that it has been fast-tracked through the House on party lines. Florida currently faces the worst economic and public health crisis in history and instead of working to find solutions HB1 criminalizes free speech, peaceful assembly and dissent through unconstitutional language that is targeted at silencing Black voices demanding basic human rights, equality, and fair treatment by law enforcement.

Instead of addressing the horrendous housing crisis, the broken unemployment system, the failing healthcare system, the disorganized and chaotic education system, AND the rising number of deaths, poverty, job loss and sickness in Florida HB1 repackages legislation put forward by Governor DeSantis as a “response to the violent insurrectionist mobs” that attempted a coup on the nation’s Capitol. This language is a smokescreen for the true intent of the bill which is to circumvent the mess that Florida has as a consequence of the pandemic and lack of support for Florida’s poverty impacted and oppressed. I am not fooled by this. This is the same legislation it was back in September with the same purpose - to limit the basic civil rights of BLM protestors that is guaranteed to all people under the US Constitution.

I believe that HB1 is being used to distract media and organizers from focusing on the real problem: lack of support for those in need across the state. How dare the Governor and the Florida Legislature waste taxpayer time and money on proposing solutions to a made up problem. Section 870 of the Florida Statute already criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting but this legislation would actually make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone’s death. This language is a smokescreen for the true intent of the bill which is to circumvent the mess that Florida has as a consequence of the pandemic and lack of support for Florida’s poverty impacted and oppressed. I am not fooled by this. This is the same legislation it was back in September with the same purpose - to limit the basic civil rights of BLM protestors that is guaranteed to all people under the US Constitution.

I believe that HB1 is being used to distract media and organizers from focusing on the real problem: lack of support for those in need across the state. How dare the Governor and the Florida Legislature waste taxpayer time and money on proposing solutions to a made up problem. Section 870 of the Florida Statute already criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting but this legislation would actually make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone’s death. It limits people’s ability to apply to Florida’s already broken unemployment system if they have been convicted under the proposed legislation and allows victims of violent crimes to recover civil damages from a local government that is deems responsible for grossly negligent “policing” during a “riot”. Meanwhile, the Florida Legislature is fast-tracking HB7/SB72 to create COVID19 liability immunity for the real victims of negligence by businesses, government agencies, schools, and religious organizations who have caused the spread of COVID19.

The Executive Director of the ACLU of Florida, Micah Kubic, stated that “This (bill) is not an attempt to make our communities safer. This proposed legislation by DeSantis is nothing more than a campaign political stunt. Now, it is being disguised as a response to the failed violent coup at the US Capitol. And, it is just as unconstitutional.”

A statewide survey of Florida voters put out after the attack by Donald Trump’s supporters on the US Capitol suggested a lack of support for HB1 and Governor DeSantis’ push to amp up criminal penalties for “disorderly” protests. Ninety-percent of those asked stated their support for “protecting our constitutional right to free assembly and free speech by legally protesting without fear of criminal charges”. Seventy-one percent of Democrats and 74% of Republicans deemed the issue a top priority. Eighty percent of respondents said they were more likely to support a legislator who voted to protect that priority, and 56% were “much more likely”. On the other hand, 83% of respondents thought that it was important to strengthen unemployment protections for people who lost their jobs because of COVID-19, 63% said that this was “very important”. (1)

Finally, this legislation also creates a preemptive attack on local municipalities that might want to “defund” the police and put their money towards more humanitarian initiatives to provide real solutions to small business and economic crises caused by the pandemic. Instead of restricting local government’s ability to find solutions we need legislation that answers the call of the people in the streets. People only protest when they are being abused, oppressed, marginalized or violated. It's time the House Justice Appropriations Subcommittee address the calls of Florida voters and people who cared enough to peacefully assemble. We need to face the issues head on and answer to the humanity and dignity of working class, black, brown, and immigrant families in Florida who are suffering with workable policies that help the state grow and prosper.

If this legislation passes I will be letting people know that they should not travel in Florida, they should not move to Florida, they should not visit Florida, because our government does not support them and keep them safe. Public health and the economy should be your number one priority. Please OPPOSE HB1 and support legislation that provides real solutions to the real problems Floridians face today.

Kimberly Simon,

I am writing to you to ask you to please OPPOSE HB1 at the House Justice Appropriations meeting when it is scheduled for a hearing. I am outraged that this legislation even got assigned to a public hearing must less that it has been fast-tracked through the House on party lines. Florida currently faces the worst economic and public health crisis in history and instead of working to find solutions HB1 criminalizes free speech, peaceful assembly and dissent through unconstitutional language that is targeted at silencing Black voices demanding basic human rights, equality, and fair treatment by law enforcement.

Instead of addressing the horrendous housing crisis, the broken unemployment system, the failing healthcare system, the disorganized and chaotic education system, AND the rising number of deaths, poverty, job loss and sickness in Florida HB1 repackages legislation put forward by Governor DeSantis as a “response to the violent insurrectionist mobs” that attempted a coup on the nation’s Capitol. This language is a smokescreen for the true intent of the bill which is to circumvent the mess that Florida has as a consequence of the pandemic and lack of support for Florida’s poverty impacted and oppressed. I am writing to you to ask you to please OPPOSE HB1 at the House Justice Appropriations meeting when it is scheduled for a hearing. I am outraged that this legislation even got assigned to a public hearing must less that it has been fast-tracked through the House on party lines. Florida currently faces the worst economic and public health crisis in history and instead of working to find solutions HB1 criminalizes free speech, peaceful assembly and dissent through unconstitutional language that is targeted at silencing Black voices demanding basic human rights, equality, and fair treatment by law enforcement.

Instead of addressing the horrendous housing crisis, the broken unemployment system, the failing healthcare system, the disorganized and chaotic education system, AND the rising number of deaths, poverty, job loss and sickness in Florida HB1 repackages legislation put forward by Governor DeSantis as a “response to the violent insurrectionist mobs” that attempted a coup on the nation’s Capitol. This language is a smokescreen for the true intent of the bill which is to circumvent the mess that Florida has as a consequence of the pandemic and lack of support for Florida’s poverty impacted and oppressed. I am not fooled by this. This is the same legislation it was back in September with the same purpose - to limit the basic civil rights of BLM protestors that is guaranteed to all people under the US Constitution.

I believe that HB1 is being used to distract media and organizers from focusing on the real problem: lack of support for those in need across the state. How dare the Governor and the Florida Legislature waste taxpayer time and money on proposing solutions to a made up problem. Section 870 of the Florida Statute already criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting but this legislation would actually make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone’s death. It limits people’s ability to apply to Florida’s already broken unemployment system if they have been convicted under the proposed legislation and allows victims of violent crimes to recover civil damages from a local government that is deems responsible for grossly negligent “policing” during a “riot”. Meanwhile, the Florida Legislature is fast-tracking HB7/SB72 to create COVID19 liability immunity for the real victims of negligence by businesses, government agencies, schools, and religious organizations who have caused the spread of COVID19.

The Executive Director of the ACLU of Florida, Micah Kubic, stated that “This (bill) is not an attempt to make our communities safer. This proposed legislation by DeSantis is nothing more than a campaign political stunt. Now, it is being disguised as a response to the failed violent coup at the US Capitol. And, it is just as unconstitutional.”

A statewide survey of Florida voters put out after the attack by Donald Trump’s supporters on the US Capitol suggested a lack of support for HB1 and Governor DeSantis’ push to amp up criminal penalties for “disorderly” protests. Ninety-percent of those asked stated their support for “protecting our constitutional right to free assembly and free speech by legally protesting without fear of criminal charges”. Seventy-one percent of Democrats and 74% of Republicans deemed the issue a top priority. Eighty percent of respondents said they were more likely to support a legislator who voted to protect that priority, and 56% were “much more likely”. On the other hand, 83% of respondents thought that it was important to strengthen unemployment protections for people who lost their jobs because of COVID-19, 63% said that this was “very important”. (1)

Finally, this legislation also creates a preemptive attack on local municipalities that might want to “defund” the police and put their money towards more humanitarian initiatives to provide real solutions to small business and economic crises caused by the pandemic. Instead of restricting local government’s ability to find solutions we need legislation that answers the call of the people in the streets. People only protest when they are being abused, oppressed, marginalized or violated. It's time the House Justice Appropriations Subcommittee address the calls of Florida voters and people who cared enough to peacefully assemble. We need to face the issues head on and answer to the humanity and dignity of working class, black, brown, and immigrant families in Florida who are suffering with workable policies that help the state grow and prosper.

If this legislation passes I will be letting people know that they should not travel in Florida, they should not move to Florida, they should not visit Florida, because our government does not support them and keep them safe. Public health and the economy should be your number one priority. Please OPPOSE HB1 and support legislation that provides real solutions to the real problems Floridians face today.

Kimberly Simon,

Come on this is unconstitutional and will only be enforced for POC. Don't do this, don't waste money and time on this when it'll be challenged by the aclu.
Let's work on healthcare and affordable housing and addressing poverty instead of this BS.

Meagan Hebel,

I am writing to you to ask you to please OPPOSE HB1 at the House Justice Appropriations meeting when it is scheduled for a hearing. I am outraged that this legislation even got assigned to a public hearing must less that it has been fast-tracked through the House on party lines. Florida currently faces the worst economic and public health crisis in history and instead of working to find solutions HB1 criminalizes free speech, peaceful assembly and dissent through unconstitutional language that is targeted at silencing Black voices demanding basic human rights, equality, and fair treatment by law enforcement.

Instead of addressing the horrendous housing crisis, the broken unemployment system, the failing healthcare system, the disorganized and chaotic education system, AND the rising number of deaths, poverty, job loss and sickness in Florida HB1 repackages legislation put forward by Governor DeSantis as a “response to the violent insurrectionist mobs” that attempted a coup on the nation’s Capitol. This language is a smokescreen for the true intent of the bill which is to circumvent the mess that Florida has as a consequence of the pandemic and lack of support for Florida’s poverty impacted and oppressed. I am not fooled by this. This is the same legislation it was back in September with the same purpose - to limit the basic civil rights of BLM protestors that is guaranteed to all people under the US Constitution.

I believe that HB1 is being used to distract media and organizers from focusing on the real problem: lack of support for those in need across the state. How dare the Governor and the Florida Legislature waste taxpayer time and money on proposing solutions to a made up problem. Section 870 of the Florida Statute already criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting but this legislation would actually make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone’s death. It limits people’s ability to apply to Florida’s already broken unemployment system if they have been convicted under the proposed legislation and allows victims of violent crimes to recover civil damages from a local government that is deems responsible for grossly negligent “policing” during a “riot”. Meanwhile, the Florida Legislature is fast-tracking HB7/SB72 to create COVID19 liability immunity for the real victims of negligence by businesses, government agencies, schools, and religious organizations who have caused the spread of COVID19.

The Executive Director of the ACLU of Florida, Micah Kubic, stated that “This (bill) is not an attempt to make our communities safer. This proposed legislation by DeSantis is nothing more than a campaign political stunt. Now, it is being disguised as a response to the failed violent coup at the US Capitol. And, it is just as unconstitutional.”

A statewide survey of Florida voters put out after the attack by Donald Trump’s supporters on the US Capitol suggested a lack of support for HB1 and Governor DeSantis’ push to amp up criminal penalties for “disorderly” protests. Ninety-percent of those asked stated their support for “protecting our constitutional right to free assembly and free speech by legally protesting without fear of criminal charges”. Seventy-one percent of Democrats and 74% of Republicans deemed the issue a top priority. Eighty percent of respondents said they were more likely to support a legislator who voted to protect that priority, and 56% were “much more likely”. On the other hand, 83% of respondents thought that it was important to strengthen unemployment protections for people who lost their jobs because of COVID-19, 63% said that this was “very important”. (1)

Finally, this legislation also creates a preemptive attack on local municipalities that might want to “defund” the police and put their money towards more humanitarian initiatives to provide real solutions to small business and economic crises caused by the pandemic. Instead of restricting local government’s ability to find solutions we need legislation that answers the call of the people in the streets. People only protest when they are being abused, oppressed, marginalized or violated. It's time the House Justice Appropriations Subcommittee address the calls of Florida voters and people who cared enough to peacefully assemble. We need to face the issues head on and answer to the humanity and dignity of working class, black, brown, and immigrant families in Florida who are suffering with workable policies that help the state grow and prosper.

If this legislation passes I will be letting people know that they should not travel in Florida, they should not move to Florida, they should not visit Florida, because our government does not support them and keep them safe. Public health and the economy should be your number one priority. Finally, this legislation also creates a preemptive attack on local municipalities that might want to “defund” the police and put their money towards more humanitarian initiatives to provide real solutions to small business and economic crises caused by the pandemic. Instead of restricting local government’s ability to find solutions we need legislation that answers the call of the people in the streets. People only protest when they are being abused, oppressed, marginalized or violated. It's time the House Justice Appropriations Subcommittee address the calls of Florida voters and people who cared enough to peacefully assemble. We need to face the issues head on and answer to the humanity and dignity of working class, black, brown, and immigrant families in Florida who are suffering with workable policies that help the state grow and prosper.

If this legislation passes I will be letting people know that they should not travel in Florida, they should not move to Florida, they should not visit Florida, because our government does not support them and keep them safe. Public health and the economy should be your number one priority. Please OPPOSE HB1 and support legislation that provides real solutions to the real problems Floridians face today.

Natalie Brown,

I am writing to you to ask you to please OPPOSE HB1 at the House Justice Appropriations meeting when it is scheduled for a hearing. I am outraged that this legislation even got assigned to a public hearing must less that it has been fast-tracked through the House on party lines. Florida currently faces the worst economic and public health crisis in history and instead of working to find solutions HB1 criminalizes free speech, peaceful assembly and dissent through unconstitutional language that is targeted at silencing Black voices demanding basic human rights, equality, and fair treatment by law enforcement.

Instead of addressing the horrendous housing crisis, the broken unemployment system, the failing healthcare system, the disorganized and chaotic education system, AND the rising number of deaths, poverty, job loss and sickness in Florida HB1 repackages legislation put forward by Governor DeSantis as a “response to the violent insurrectionist mobs” that attempted a coup on the nation’s Capitol. This language is a smokescreen for the true intent of the bill which is to circumvent the mess that Florida has as a consequence of the pandemic and lack of support for Florida’s poverty impacted and oppressed. I am not fooled by this. This is the same legislation it was back in September with the same purpose - to limit the basic civil rights of BLM protestors that is guaranteed to all people under the US Constitution.

I believe that HB1 is being used to distract media and organizers from focusing on the real problem: lack of support for those in need across the state. How dare the Governor and the Florida Legislature waste taxpayer time and money on proposing solutions to a made up problem. Section 870 of the Florida Statute already criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting but this legislation would actually make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone’s death. It limits people’s ability to apply to Florida’s already broken unemployment system if they have been convicted under the proposed legislation and allows victims of violent crimes to recover civil damages from a local government that is deems responsible for grossly negligent “policing” during a “riot”. Meanwhile, the Florida Legislature is fast-tracking HB7/SB72 to create COVID19 liability immunity for the real victims of negligence by businesses, government agencies, schools, and religious organizations who have caused the spread of COVID19.

The Executive Director of the ACLU of Florida, Micah Kubic, stated that “This (bill) is not an attempt to make our communities safer. This proposed legislation by DeSantis is nothing more than a campaign political stunt. Now, it is being disguised as a response to the failed violent coup at the US Capitol. And, it is just as unconstitutional.”

A statewide survey of Florida voters put out after the attack by Donald Trump’s supporters on the US Capitol suggested a lack of support for HB1 and Governor DeSantis’ push to amp up criminal penalties for “disorderly” protests. Ninety-percent of those asked stated their support for “protecting our constitutional right to free assembly and free speech by legally protesting without fear of criminal charges”. Seventy-one percent of Democrats and 74% of Republicans deemed the issue a top priority. Eighty percent of respondents said they were more likely to support a legislator who voted to protect that priority, and 56% were “much more likely”. On the other hand, 83% of respondents thought that it was important to strengthen unemployment protections for people who lost their jobs because of COVID-19, 63% said that this was “very important”. (1)

Finally, this legislation also creates a preemptive attack on local municipalities that might want to “defund” the police and put their money towards more humanitarian initiatives to provide real solutions to small business and economic crises caused by the pandemic. AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Kimberly Simon,

Please OPPOSE HB1 at the House Justice Appropriations meeting when it is scheduled for a hearing.

I could write a lot about it, but basically, it isn't needed, and seems an attempt to stop people from protesting.

I abhor violence and destruction, and have never engaged personally, but I have attended protests. I have seen how some peaceful protestors are manhandled and when that happens, that is not right and will get people angry.

I think Black Lives Matter and I firmly believe that Black people are often treated worse and more roughly by police. I'm not saying all police are authoritarian and racist, but quite a few are and FBI studies show white supremacists have infiltrated law enforcement. It's real.

Also, I think our LEO move much too quickly to maximum response and have too much "war" type training. They are dealing with fellow citizens. Police shouldn't act like they are dealing with the "enemy."

When something is really wrong, and has been for decades (I've lived long enough to remember the 1960s- Newark, Detroit, etc.) and nothing is done about it, and unarmed black people continue to be killed on the streets over small things (fake currency, loose cigarettes being sold) THAT is the problem, not people being sick of it.

Get to the root problems, solve those, and make it so there isn't anything to protest.

Back to the original point: we have laws for property destruction, violence, etc. No need to make anyone who is innocently involved in a protest responsible for what one person might do. Go after the guilty party/ies and don't consider everyone guilty by association unless they've actually done something or can be proved to have encouraged someone else to do something violent or destructive.

This legislation appears to exist for the sole purpose of dampening ALL protests.

I am writing to you to ask you to please OPPOSE HB1 at the House Justice Appropriations meeting when it is scheduled for a hearing. I am outraged that this legislation even got assigned to a public hearing must less that it has been fast-tracked through the House on party lines. Florida currently faces the worst economic and public health crisis in history and instead of working to find solutions HB1 criminalizes free speech, peaceful assembly and dissent through unconstitutional language that is targeted at silencing Black voices demanding basic human rights, equality, and fair treatment by law enforcement.

Instead of addressing the horrendous housing crisis, the broken unemployment system, the failing healthcare system, the disorganized and chaotic education system, AND the rising number of deaths, poverty, job loss and sickness in Florida HB1 repackages legislation put forward by Governor DeSantis as a “response to the violent insurrectionist mobs” that attempted a coup on the nation’s Capitol. This language is a smokescreen for the true intent of the bill which is to circumvent the mess that Florida has as a consequence of the pandemic and lack of support for Florida’s poverty impacted and oppressed. I am not fooled by this. This is the same legislation it was back in September with the same purpose - to limit the basic civil rights of BLM protestors that is guaranteed to all people under the US Constitution.

I believe that HB1 is being used to distract media and organizers from focusing on the real problem: lack of support for those in need across the state. How dare the Governor and the Florida Legislature waste taxpayer time and money on proposing solutions to a made up problem. Section 870 of the Florida Statute already criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting but this legislation would actually make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone’s death. It limits people’s ability to apply to Florida’s already broken unemployment system if they have been convicted under the proposed legislation and allows victims of violent crimes to recover civil damages from a local government that is deems responsible for grossly negligent “policing” during a “riot”. Meanwhile, the Florida Legislature is fast-tracking HB7/SB72 to create COVID19 liability immunity for the real victims of negligence by businesses, government agencies, schools, and religious organizations who have caused the spread of COVID19.

The Executive Director of the ACLU of Florida, Micah Kubic, stated that “This (bill) is not an attempt to make our communities safer. This proposed legislation by DeSantis is nothing more than a campaign political stunt. Now, it is being disguised as a response to the failed violent coup at the US Capitol. And, it is just as unconstitutional.”

A statewide survey of Florida voters put out after the attack by Donald Trump’s supporters on the US Capitol suggested a lack of support for HB1 and Governor DeSantis’ push to amp up criminal penalties for “disorderly” protests. Ninety-percent of those asked stated their support for “protecting our constitutional right to free assembly and free speech by legally protesting without fear of criminal charges”. Seventy-one percent of Democrats and 74% of Republicans deemed the issue a top priority. Eighty percent of respondents said they were more likely to support a legislator who voted to protect that priority, and 56% were “much more likely”. On the other hand, 83% of respondents thought that it was important to strengthen unemployment protections for people who lost their jobs because of COVID-19, 63% said that this was “very important”. (1)

Finally, this legislation also creates a preemptive attack on local municipalities that might want to “defund” the police and put their money towards more humanitarian initiatives to provide real solutions to small business and economic crises caused by the pandemic. Instead of restricting local government’s ability to find solutions we need legislation that answers the call of the people in the streets. People only protest when they are being abused, oppressed, marginalized or violated. It's time the House Justice Appropriations Subcommittee address the calls of Florida voters and people who cared enough to peacefully assemble. We need to face the issues head on and answer to the humanity and dignity of working class, black, brown, and immigrant families in Florida who are suffering with workable policies that help the state grow and prosper.

If this legislation passes I will be letting people know that they should not travel in Florida, they should not move to Florida, they should not visit Florida, because our government does not support them and keep them safe. Public health and the economy should be your number one priority. Please OPPOSE HB1 and support legislation that provides real solutions to the real problems Floridians face today.

Kimberly Simon,

I am writing to you to ask you to OPPOSE HB1 at the House Justice Appropriations meeting when it is scheduled for a hearing. I am outraged that this legislation even got assigned to a public hearing must less that it has been fast-tracked through the House on party lines. Florida currently faces the worst economic and public health crisis in history and instead of working to find solutions HB1 criminalizes the free speech, peaceful assembly and dissent that we, as citizens of the United States, are constitutionally guaranteed. This bill uses unconstitutional language that is targeted at silencing Black voices demanding basic human rights, equality, and fair treatment by law enforcement.

Instead of addressing the horrendous housing crisis, the broken unemployment system, the failing healthcare system, the disorganized and chaotic education system, AND the rising number of deaths, poverty, job loss and sickness in Florida HB1 repackages legislation put forward by Governor DeSantis as a “response to the violent insurrectionist mobs” that attempted a coup on the nation’s Capitol. This language is a smokescreen for the true intent of the bill which is to circumvent the mess that Florida has as a consequence of the pandemic and lack of support for Florida’s poverty impacted and oppressed. This is the same thing DeSantis tried to propose in September, meant to limit the basic civil rights of BLM protestors that is guaranteed to all people under the US Constitution.

I believe that HB1 is being used to distract media and organizers from focusing on the real problem: lack of support for those in need across the state. How dare the Governor and the Florida Legislature waste taxpayer time and money on proposing solutions to a made up problem. Section 870 of the Florida Statute ALREADY criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting but this legislation would actually make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone’s death. Its only impact would be to let vigilante murder legal. It limits people’s ability to apply to Florida’s already broken unemployment system if they have been convicted under the proposed legislation and allows victims of violent crimes to recover civil damages from a local government that is deems responsible for grossly negligent “policing” during a “riot”. Meanwhile, the Florida Legislature is fast-tracking HB7/SB72 to create COVID19 liability immunity for the real victims of negligence by businesses, government agencies, schools, and religious organizations who have caused the spread of COVID19.

Subject: Oppose HB1 and Protect Floridian's First Amendment Rights

Kimberly Simon,

I am writing to you to ask you to please OPPOSE HB1 at the House Justice Appropriations meeting when it is scheduled for a hearing. I am outraged that this legislation even got assigned to a public hearing must less that it has been fast-tracked through the House on party lines. Florida currently faces the worst economic and public health crisis in history and instead of working to find solutions HB1 criminalizes free speech, peaceful assembly and dissent through unconstitutional language that is targeted at silencing Black voices demanding basic human rights, equality, and fair treatment by law enforcement.

Instead of addressing the horrendous housing crisis, the broken unemployment system, the failing healthcare system, the disorganized and chaotic education system, AND the rising number of deaths, poverty, job loss and sickness in Florida HB1 repackages legislation put forward by Governor DeSantis as a “response to the violent insurrectionist mobs” that attempted a coup on the nation’s Capitol. This language is a smokescreen for the true intent of the bill which is to circumvent the mess that Florida has as a consequence of the pandemic and lack of support for Florida’s poverty impacted and oppressed. I am not fooled by this. This is the same legislation it was back in September with the same purpose - to limit the basic civil rights of BLM protestors that is guaranteed to all people under the US Constitution.

I believe that HB1 is being used to distract media and organizers from focusing on the real problem: lack of support for those in need across the state. How dare the Governor and the Florida Legislature waste taxpayer time and money on proposing solutions to a made up problem. Section 870 of the Florida Statute already criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting but this legislation would actually make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone’s death. It limits people’s ability to apply to Florida’s already broken unemployment system if they have been convicted under the proposed legislation and allows victims of violent crimes to recover civil damages from a local government that is deems responsible for grossly negligent “policing” during a “riot”. Meanwhile, the Florida Legislature is fast-tracking HB7/SB72 to create COVID19 liability immunity for the real victims of negligence by businesses, government agencies, schools, and religious organizations who have caused the spread of COVID19.

The Executive Director of the ACLU of Florida, Micah Kubic, stated that “This (bill) is not an attempt to make our communities safer. This proposed legislation by DeSantis is nothing more than a campaign political stunt. Now, it is being disguised as a response to the failed violent coup at the US Capitol. And, it is just as unconstitutional.”

A statewide survey of Florida voters put out after the attack by Donald Trump’s supporters on the US Capitol suggested a lack of support for HB1 and Governor DeSantis’ push to amp up criminal penalties for “disorderly” protests. Ninety-percent of those asked stated their support for “protecting our constitutional right to free assembly and free speech by legally protesting without fear of criminal charges”. Seventy-one percent of Democrats and 74% of Republicans deemed the issue a top priority. Eighty percent of respondents said they were more likely to support a legislator who voted to protect that priority, and 56% were “much more likely”. On the other hand, 83% of respondents thought that it was important to strengthen unemployment protections for people who lost their jobs because of COVID-19, 63% said that this was “very important”. (1)

Finally, this legislation also creates a preemptive attack on local municipalities that might want to “defund” the police and put their money towards more humanitarian initiatives to provide real solutions to small business and economic crises caused by the pandemic. Instead of restricting local government’s ability to find solutions we need legislation that answers the call of the people in the streets. People only protest when they are being abused, oppressed, marginalized or violated. It's time the House Justice Appropriations Subcommittee address the calls of Florida voters and people who cared enough to peacefully assemble. We need to face the issues head on and answer to the humanity and dignity of working class, black, brown, and immigrant families in Florida who are suffering with workable policies that help the state grow and prosper.

If this legislation passes I will be letting people know that they should not travel in Florida, they should not move to Florida, they should not visit Florida, because our government does not support them and keep them safe. Public health and the economy should be your number one priority. On the other hand, 83% of respondents thought that it was important to strengthen unemployment protections for people who lost their jobs because of COVID-19, 63% said that this was “very important”. (1)

Finally, this legislation also creates a preemptive attack on local municipalities that might want to “defund” the police and put their money towards more humanitarian initiatives to provide real solutions to small business and economic crises caused by the pandemic. Instead of restricting local government’s ability to find solutions we need legislation that answers the call of the people in the streets. People only protest when they are being abused, oppressed, marginalized or violated. It's time the House Justice Appropriations Subcommittee address the calls of Florida voters and people who cared enough to peacefully assemble. We need to face the issues head on and answer to the humanity and dignity of working class, black, brown, and immigrant families in Florida who are suffering with workable policies that help the state grow and prosper.

If this legislation passes I will be letting people know that they should not travel in Florida, they should not move to Florida, they should not visit Florida, because our government does not support them and keep them safe. Public health and the economy should be your number one priority. Please OPPOSE HB1 and support legislation that provides real solutions to the real problems Floridians face today.

Meagan Hebel,

I am writing to you to ask you to please OPPOSE HB1 at the House Justice Appropriations meeting when it is scheduled for a hearing. I am outraged that this legislation even got assigned to a public hearing must less that it has been fast-tracked through the House on party lines. Florida currently faces the worst economic and public health crisis in history and instead of working to find solutions HB1 criminalizes free speech, peaceful assembly and dissent through unconstitutional language that is targeted at silencing Black voices demanding basic human rights, equality, and fair treatment by law enforcement.

Instead of addressing the horrendous housing crisis, the broken unemployment system, the failing healthcare system, the disorganized and chaotic education system, AND the rising number of deaths, poverty, job loss and sickness in Florida HB1 repackages legislation put forward by Governor DeSantis as a “response to the violent insurrectionist mobs” that attempted a coup on the nation’s Capitol. This language is a smokescreen for the true intent of the bill which is to circumvent the mess that Florida has as a consequence of the pandemic and lack of support for Florida’s poverty impacted and oppressed. I am not fooled by this. This is the same legislation it was back in September with the same purpose - to limit the basic civil rights of BLM protestors that is guaranteed to all people under the US Constitution.

I believe that HB1 is being used to distract media and organizers from focusing on the real problem: lack of support for those in need across the state. How dare the Governor and the Florida Legislature waste taxpayer time and money on proposing solutions to a made up problem. Section 870 of the Florida Statute already criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting but this legislation would actually make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone’s death. It limits people’s ability to apply to Florida’s already broken unemployment system if they have been convicted under the proposed legislation and allows victims of violent crimes to recover civil damages from a local government that is deems responsible for grossly negligent “policing” during a “riot”. Meanwhile, the Florida Legislature is fast-tracking HB7/SB72 to create COVID19 liability immunity for the real victims of negligence by businesses, government agencies, schools, and religious organizations who have caused the spread of COVID19.

The Executive Director of the ACLU of Florida, Micah Kubic, stated that “This (bill) is not an attempt to make our communities safer. This proposed legislation by DeSantis is nothing more than a campaign political stunt. Now, it is being disguised as a response to the failed violent coup at the US Capitol. And, it is just as unconstitutional.”

A statewide survey of Florida voters put out after the attack by Donald Trump’s supporters on the US Capitol suggested a lack of support for HB1 and Governor DeSantis’ push to amp up criminal penalties for “disorderly” protests. Ninety-percent of those asked stated their support for “protecting our constitutional right to free assembly and free speech by legally protesting without fear of criminal charges”. Seventy-one percent of Democrats and 74% of Republicans deemed the issue a top priority. Eighty percent of respondents said they were more likely to support a legislator who voted to protect that priority, and 56% were “much more likely”. On the other hand, 83% of respondents thought that it was important to strengthen unemployment protections for people who lost their jobs because of COVID-19, 63% said that this was “very important”. (1)

This proposed legislation by DeSantis is nothing more than a campaign political stunt. Now, it is being disguised as a response to the failed violent coup at the US Capitol. And, it is just as unconstitutional.”

A statewide survey of Florida voters put out after the attack by Donald Trump’s supporters on the US Capitol suggested a lack of support for HB1 and Governor DeSantis’ push to amp up criminal penalties for “disorderly” protests. Ninety-percent of those asked stated their support for “protecting our constitutional right to free assembly and free speech by legally protesting without fear of criminal charges”. Seventy-one percent of Democrats and 74% of Republicans deemed the issue a top priority. Eighty percent of respondents said they were more likely to support a legislator who voted to protect that priority, and 56% were “much more likely”. On the other hand, 83% of respondents thought that it was important to strengthen unemployment protections for people who lost their jobs because of COVID-19, 63% said that this was “very important”. (1)

Finally, this legislation also creates a preemptive attack on local municipalities that might want to “defund” the police and put their money towards more humanitarian initiatives to provide real solutions to small business and economic crises caused by the pandemic. Instead of restricting local government’s ability to find solutions we need legislation that answers the call of the people in the streets. People only protest when they are being abused, oppressed, marginalized or violated. It's time the House Justice Appropriations Subcommittee address the calls of Florida voters and people who cared enough to peacefully assemble. We need to face the issues head on and answer to the humanity and dignity of working class, black, brown, and immigrant families in Florida who are suffering with workable policies that help the state grow and prosper.

If this legislation passes I will be letting people know that they should not travel in Florida, they

should not move to Florida, they should not visit Florida, because our government does not support them and keep them safe. Public health and the economy should be your number one priority. Meagan Hebel,

I am writing to you to ask you to please OPPOSE HB1 at the House Justice Appropriations meeting when it is scheduled for a hearing. I am outraged that this legislation even got assigned to a public hearing must less that it has been fast-tracked through the House on party lines. Florida currently faces the worst economic and public health crisis in history and instead of working to find solutions HB1 criminalizes free speech, peaceful assembly and dissent through unconstitutional language that is targeted at silencing Black voices demanding basic human rights, equality, and fair treatment by law enforcement.

Instead of addressing the horrendous housing crisis, the broken unemployment system, the failing healthcare system, the disorganized and chaotic education system, AND the rising number of deaths, poverty, job loss and sickness in Florida HB1 repackages legislation put forward by Governor DeSantis as a “response to the violent insurrectionist mobs” that attempted a coup on the nation’s Capitol. This language is a smokescreen for the true intent of the bill which is to circumvent the mess that Florida has as a consequence of the pandemic and lack of support for Florida’s poverty impacted and oppressed. I am not fooled by this. This is the same legislation it was back in September with the same purpose - to limit the basic civil rights of BLM protestors that is guaranteed to all people under the US Constitution.

I believe that HB1 is being used to distract media and organizers from focusing on the real problem: lack of support for those in need across the state. How dare the Governor and the Florida Legislature waste taxpayer time and money on proposing solutions to a made up problem. Section 870 of the Florida Statute already criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting but this legislation would actually make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone’s death. It limits people’s ability to apply to Florida’s already broken unemployment system if they have been convicted under the proposed legislation and allows victims of violent crimes to recover civil damages from a local government that is deems responsible for grossly negligent “policing” during a “riot”. Meanwhile, the Florida Legislature is fast-tracking HB7/SB72 to create COVID19 liability immunity for the real victims of negligence by businesses, government agencies, schools, and religious organizations who have caused the spread of COVID19.

The Executive Director of the ACLU of Florida, Micah Kubic, stated that “This (bill) is not an attempt to make our communities safer. This proposed legislation by DeSantis is nothing more than a campaign political stunt. Now, it is being disguised as a response to the failed violent coup at the US Capitol. And, it is just as unconstitutional.”

Kimberly Simon,

I know a lot of the following is boilerplate, but between trump and this idiocy, you're running screaming from the ideals of the enlightment that have made our flawed and troubled nation a beacon of hope. We ain't perfect, but the ideas enshrined in the bill of rights, the 13th, and 14th amendments, these things are the only thing that save our souls.

Stop acting like this. Stop being the part of the lowest common denominator and lead for chrissakes. Protect the poor and the downtrodden, as christ demanded of us. Shut up about abortion, which he never mentioned. Tax the rich, house the poor, let people protest, be stewards of the earth. Christ wasn't subtle, he directly told y'all to do this shit and to love your fellow man and you just refuse over and over again.

Florida currently faces the worst economic and public health crisis in history and instead of working to find solutions HB1 criminalizes free speech, peaceful assembly and dissent through unconstitutional language that is targeted at silencing Black voices demanding basic human rights, equality, and fair treatment by law enforcement.

Instead of addressing the horrendous housing crisis, the broken unemployment system, the failing healthcare system, the disorganized and chaotic education system, AND the rising number of deaths, poverty, job loss and sickness in Florida HB1 repackages legislation put forward by Governor DeSantis as a “response to the violent insurrectionist mobs” that attempted a coup on the nation’s Capitol. This language is a smokescreen for the true intent of the bill which is to circumvent the mess that Florida has as a consequence of the pandemic and lack of support for Florida’s poverty impacted and oppressed. I am not fooled by this. This is the same legislation it was back in September with the same purpose - to limit the basic civil rights of BLM protestors that is guaranteed to all people under the US Constitution.

I believe that HB1 is being used to distract media and organizers from focusing on the real problem: lack of support for those in need across the state. How dare the Governor and the Florida Legislature waste taxpayer time and money on proposing solutions to a made up problem. Section 870 of the Florida Statute already criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting but this legislation would actually make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone’s death. It limits people’s ability to apply to Florida’s already broken unemployment system if they have been convicted under the proposed legislation and allows victims of violent crimes to recover civil damages from a local government that is deems responsible for grossly negligent “policing” during a “riot”. Meanwhile, the Florida Legislature is fast-tracking HB7/SB72 to create COVID19 liability immunity for the real victims of negligence by businesses, government agencies, schools, and religious organizations who have caused the spread of COVID19.

The Executive Director of the ACLU of Florida, Micah Kubic, stated that “This (bill) is not an attempt to make our communities safer. This proposed legislation by DeSantis is nothing more than a campaign political stunt. Now, it is being disguised as a response to the failed violent coup at the US Capitol. And, it is just as unconstitutional.”

A statewide survey of Florida voters put out after the attack by Donald Trump’s supporters on the US Capitol suggested a lack of support for HB1 and Governor DeSantis’ push to amp up criminal penalties for “disorderly” protests. Ninety-percent of those asked stated their support for “protecting our constitutional right to free assembly and free speech by legally protesting without fear of criminal charges”. Seventy-one percent of Democrats and 74% of Republicans deemed the issue a top priority. Eighty percent of respondents said they were more likely to support a legislator who voted to protect that priority, and 56% were “much more likely”. On the other hand, 83% of respondents thought that it was important to strengthen unemployment protections for people who lost their jobs because of COVID-19, 63% said that this was “very important”. (1)

Finally, this legislation also creates a preemptive attack on local municipalities that might want to

“defund” the police and put their money towards more humanitarian initiatives to provide real solutions to small business and economic crises caused by the pandemic. Instead of restricting local government’s ability to find solutions we need legislation that answers the call of the people in the streets. People only protest when they are being abused, oppressed, marginalized or violated. It's time the House Justice Appropriations Subcommittee address the calls of Florida voters and people who cared enough to peacefully assemble. We need to face the issues head on and answer to the humanity and dignity of working class, black, brown, and immigrant families in Florida who are suffering with workable policies that help the state grow and prosper.

If this legislation passes I will be letting people know that they should not travel in Florida, they should not move to Florida, they should not visit Florida, because our government does not support them and keep them safe. Public health and the economy should be your number one priority. Please OPPOSE HB1 and support legislation that provides real solutions to the real problems Floridians face today.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Natalie Brown,

Please OPPOSE HB1 at the House Justice Appropriations meeting when it is scheduled for a hearing.

I could write a lot about it, but basically, it isn't needed, and seems an attempt to stop people from protesting.

I abhor violence and destruction, and have never engaged personally, but I have attended protests. I have seen how some peaceful protestors are manhandled and when that happens, that is not right and will get people angry.

I think Black Lives Matter and I firmly believe that Black people are often treated worse and more roughly by police. I'm not saying all police are authoritarian and racist, but quite a few are and FBI studies show white supremacists have infiltrated law enforcement. It's real.

Also, I think our LEO move much too quickly to maximum response and have too much "war" type training. They are dealing with fellow citizens. Police shouldn't act like they are dealing with the "enemy."

When something is really wrong, and has been for decades (I've lived long enough to remember the 1960s- Newark, Detroit, etc.) and nothing is done about it, and unarmed black people continue to be killed on the streets over small things (fake currency, loose cigarettes being sold) THAT is the problem, not people being sick of it.

Get to the root problems, solve those, and make it so there isn't anything to protest.

Back to the original point: we have laws for property destruction, violence, etc. No need to make anyone who is innocently involved in a protest responsible for what one person might do. Go after the guilty party/ies and don't consider everyone guilty by association unless they've actually done something or can be proved to have encouraged someone else to do something violent or destructive.

This legislation appears to exist for the sole purpose of dampening ALL protests.

Meanwhile, the Florida Legislature is fast-tracking HB7/SB72 to create COVID19 liability immunity for the real victims of negligence by businesses, government agencies, schools, and religious organizations who have caused the spread of COVID19.

The Executive Director of the ACLU of Florida, Micah Kubic, stated that “This (bill) is not an attempt to make our communities safer. This proposed legislation by DeSantis is nothing more than a campaign political stunt. Now, it is being disguised as a response to the failed violent coup at the US Capitol. And, it is just as unconstitutional.”

A statewide survey of Florida voters put out after the attack by Donald Trump’s supporters on the US Capitol suggested a lack of support for HB1 and Governor DeSantis’ push to amp up criminal penalties for “disorderly” protests. Ninety-percent of those asked stated their support for “protecting our constitutional right to free assembly and free speech by legally protesting without fear of criminal charges”. Seventy-one percent of Democrats and 74% of Republicans deemed the issue a top priority. Eighty percent of respondents said they were more likely to support a legislator who voted to protect that priority, and 56% were “much more likely”. On the other hand, 83% of respondents thought that it was important to strengthen unemployment protections for people who lost their jobs because of COVID-19, 63% said that this was “very important”. (1)

Finally, this legislation also creates a preemptive attack on local municipalities that might want to “defund” the police and put their money towards more humanitarian initiatives to provide real solutions to small business and economic crises caused by the pandemic. Instead of restricting local government’s ability to find solutions we need legislation that answers the call of the people in the streets. People only protest when they are being abused, oppressed, marginalized or violated. It's time the House Justice Appropriations Subcommittee address the calls of Florida voters and people who cared enough to peacefully assemble. We need to face the issues head on and answer to the humanity and dignity of working class, black, brown, and immigrant families in Florida who are suffering with workable policies that help the state grow and prosper.

If this legislation passes I will be letting people know that they should not travel in Florida, they should not move to Florida, they should not visit Florida, because our government does not support them and keep them safe. Public health and the economy should be your number one priority. Please OPPOSE HB1 and support legislation that provides real solutions to the real problems Floridians face today.

Meagan Hebel,

I am writing to you to ask you to please OPPOSE HB1 at the House Justice Appropriations meeting when it is scheduled for a hearing. I am outraged that this legislation even got assigned to a public hearing must less that it has been fast-tracked through the House on party lines. Florida currently faces the worst economic and public health crisis in history and instead of working to find solutions HB1 criminalizes free speech, peaceful assembly and dissent through unconstitutional language that is targeted at silencing Black voices demanding basic human rights, equality, and fair treatment by law enforcement.

Instead of addressing the horrendous housing crisis, the broken unemployment system, the failing healthcare system, the disorganized and chaotic education system, AND the rising number of deaths, poverty, job loss and sickness in Florida HB1 repackages legislation put forward by Governor DeSantis as a “response to the violent insurrectionist mobs” that attempted a coup on the nation’s Capitol. This language is a smokescreen for the true intent of the bill which is to circumvent the mess that Florida has as a consequence of the pandemic and lack of support for Florida’s poverty impacted and oppressed. I am not fooled by this. This is the same legislation it was back in September with the same purpose - to limit the basic civil rights of BLM protestors that is guaranteed to all people under the US Constitution.

I believe that HB1 is being used to distract media and organizers from focusing on the real problem: lack of support for those in need across the state. How dare the Governor and the Florida Legislature waste taxpayer time and money on proposing solutions to a made up problem. Section 870 of the Florida Statute already criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting but this legislation would actually make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone’s death. It limits people’s ability to apply to Florida’s already broken unemployment system if they have been convicted under the proposed legislation and allows victims of violent crimes to recover civil damages from a local government that is deems responsible for grossly negligent “policing” during a “riot”. Meanwhile, the Florida Legislature is fast-tracking HB7/SB72 to create COVID19 liability immunity for the real victims of negligence by businesses, government agencies, schools, and religious organizations who have caused the spread of COVID19.

This language is a smokescreen for the true intent of the bill which is to circumvent the mess that Florida has as a consequence of the pandemic and lack of support for Florida’s poverty impacted and oppressed. I am not fooled by this. This is the same legislation it was back in September with the same purpose - to limit the basic civil rights of BLM protestors that is guaranteed to all people under the US Constitution.

I believe that HB1 is being used to distract media and organizers from focusing on the real problem: lack of support for those in need across the state. How dare the Governor and the Florida Legislature waste taxpayer time and money on proposing solutions to a made up problem. Section 870 of the Florida Statute already criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting but this legislation would actually make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone’s death. It limits people’s ability to apply to Florida’s already broken unemployment system if they have been convicted under the proposed legislation and allows victims of violent crimes to recover civil damages from a local government that is deems responsible for grossly negligent “policing” during a “riot”. Meanwhile, the Florida Legislature is fast-tracking HB7/SB72 to create COVID19 liability immunity for the real victims of negligence by businesses, government agencies, schools, and religious organizations who have caused the spread of COVID19.

The Executive Director of the ACLU of Florida, Micah Kubic, stated that “This (bill) is not an attempt to make our communities safer. This proposed legislation by DeSantis is nothing more than a campaign political stunt. Now, it is being disguised as a response to the failed violent coup at the US Capitol. And, it is just as unconstitutional.”

A statewide survey of Florida voters put out after the attack by Donald Trump’s supporters on the US Capitol suggested a lack of support for HB1 and Governor DeSantis’ push to amp up criminal penalties for “disorderly” protests. Ninety-percent of those asked stated their support for “protecting our constitutional right to free assembly and free speech by legally protesting without fear of criminal charges”. Seventy-one percent of Democrats and 74% of Republicans deemed the issue a top priority. Eighty percent of respondents said they were more likely to support a legislator who voted to protect that priority, and 56% were “much more likely”. On the other hand, 83% of respondents thought that it was important to strengthen unemployment protections for people who lost their jobs because of COVID-19, 63% said that this was “very important”. (1)

Finally, this legislation also creates a preemptive attack on local municipalities that might want to “defund” the police and put their money towards more humanitarian initiatives to provide real solutions to small business and economic crises caused by the pandemic. Instead of restricting local government’s ability to find solutions we need legislation that answers the call of the people in the streets. People only protest when they are being abused, oppressed, marginalized or violated. It's time the House Justice Appropriations Subcommittee address the calls of Florida voters and people who cared enough to peacefully assemble. We need to face the issues head on and answer to the humanity and dignity of working class, black, brown, and immigrant families in Florida who are suffering with workable policies that help the state grow and prosper.

If this legislation passes I will be letting people know that they should not travel in Florida, they should not move to Florida, they should not visit Florida, because our government does not support them and keep them safe. Public health and the economy should be your number one priority. Please OPPOSE HB1 and support legislation that provides real solutions to the real problems Floridians face today.

Meagan Hebel,

I oppose this bill. Enforce the laws we have, fairly, and we don't need more, This one is outrageous. trump's Jan 6 behavior would would be cause for his arrest under this. I am so sick of having to fight like heck to stop unconstitutional legislation from being enacted, but it is the cost of being a free society. There are always some who want to take that freedom away, like DeSantis. This is another way to suppress voting, also, with the threat of FELONY charges. We have the right to protest peacefully. I see lots of abuse of this "law" in the future, as I imagine Desantis is aware with police self defining its interpretation. Do not support this bill, please!

I am writing to you to ask you to please OPPOSE HB1 at the House Justice Appropriations meeting when it is scheduled for a hearing. I am outraged that this legislation even got assigned to a public hearing must less that it has been fast-tracked through the House on party lines. Florida currently faces the worst economic and public health crisis in history and instead of working to find solutions HB1 criminalizes free speech, peaceful assembly and dissent through unconstitutional language that is targeted at silencing Black voices demanding basic human rights, equality, and fair treatment by law enforcement.

Instead of addressing the horrendous housing crisis, the broken unemployment system, the failing healthcare system, the disorganized and chaotic education system, AND the rising number of deaths, poverty, job loss and sickness in Florida HB1 repackages legislation put forward by Governor DeSantis as a “response to the violent insurrectionist mobs” that attempted a coup on the nation’s Capitol. Subject: Oppose HB1 and Protect Floridian's First Amendment Rights

Kimberly Simon,

I am writing to you to ask you to please OPPOSE HB1 at the House Justice Appropriations meeting when it is scheduled for a hearing. I am outraged that this legislation even got assigned to a public hearing must less that it has been fast-tracked through the House on party lines. Florida currently faces the worst economic and public health crisis in history and instead of working to find solutions HB1 criminalizes free speech, peaceful assembly and dissent through unconstitutional language that is targeted at silencing Black voices demanding basic human rights, equality, and fair treatment by law enforcement.

Instead of addressing the horrendous housing crisis, the broken unemployment system, the failing healthcare system, the disorganized and chaotic education system, AND the rising number of deaths, poverty, job loss and sickness in Florida HB1 repackages legislation put forward by Governor DeSantis as a “response to the violent insurrectionist mobs” that attempted a coup on the nation’s Capitol. This language is a smokescreen for the true intent of the bill which is to circumvent the mess that Florida has as a consequence of the pandemic and lack of support for Florida’s poverty impacted and oppressed. I am not fooled by this. This is the same legislation it was back in September with the same purpose - to limit the basic civil rights of BLM protestors that is guaranteed to all people under the US Constitution.

I believe that HB1 is being used to distract media and organizers from focusing on the real problem: lack of support for those in need across the state. How dare the Governor and the Florida Legislature waste taxpayer time and money on proposing solutions to a made up problem. Section 870 of the Florida Statute already criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting but this legislation would actually make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone’s death. It limits people’s ability to apply to Florida’s already broken unemployment system if they have been convicted under the proposed legislation and allows victims of violent crimes to recover civil damages from a local government that is deems responsible for grossly negligent “policing” during a “riot”. Meanwhile, the Florida Legislature is fast-tracking HB7/SB72 to create COVID19 liability immunity for the real victims of negligence by businesses, government agencies, schools, and religious organizations who have caused the spread of COVID19.

The Executive Director of the ACLU of Florida, Micah Kubic, stated that “This (bill) is not an attempt to make our communities safer. This proposed legislation by DeSantis is nothing more than a campaign political stunt. Now, it is being disguised as a response to the failed violent coup at the US Capitol. And, it is just as unconstitutional.”

A statewide survey of Florida voters put out after the attack by Donald Trump’s supporters on the US Capitol suggested a lack of support for HB1 and Governor DeSantis’ push to amp up criminal penalties for “disorderly” protests. Ninety-percent of those asked stated their support for “protecting our constitutional right to free assembly and free speech by legally protesting without fear of criminal charges”. Seventy-one percent of Democrats and 74% of Republicans deemed the issue a top priority. Eighty percent of respondents said they were more likely to support a legislator who voted to protect that priority, and 56% were “much more likely”. On the other hand, 83% of respondents thought that it was important to strengthen unemployment protections for people who lost their jobs because of COVID-19, 63% said that this was “very important”. (1)

Finally, this legislation also creates a preemptive attack on local municipalities that might want to “defund” the police and put their money towards more humanitarian initiatives to provide real solutions to small business and economic crises caused by the pandemic. Instead of restricting local government’s ability to find solutions we need legislation that answers the call of the people in the streets. People only protest when they are being abused, oppressed, marginalized or violated. It's time the House Justice Appropriations Subcommittee address the calls of Florida voters and people who cared enough to peacefully assemble. We need to face the issues head on and answer to the humanity and dignity of working class, black, brown, and immigrant families in Florida who are suffering with workable policies that help the state grow and prosper.

If this legislation passes I will be letting people know that they should not travel in Florida, they should not move to Florida, they should not visit Florida, because our government does not support them and keep them safe. Public health and the economy should be your number one priority. Please OPPOSE HB1 and support legislation that provides real solutions to the real problems Floridians face today.

People only protest when they are being abused, oppressed, marginalized or violated. It's time the House Justice Appropriations Subcommittee address the calls of Florida voters and people who cared enough to peacefully assemble. We need to face the issues head on and answer to the humanity and dignity of working class, black, brown, and immigrant families in Florida who are suffering with workable policies that help the state grow and prosper.

If this legislation passes I will be letting people know that they should not travel in Florida, they should not move to Florida, they should not visit Florida, because our government does not support them and keep them safe. Public health and the economy should be your number one priority. Meagan Hebel,

I am writing to you to ask you to please OPPOSE HB1 at the House Justice Appropriations meeting when it is scheduled for a hearing. I am outraged that this legislation even got assigned to a public hearing must less that it has been fast-tracked through the House on party lines. Florida currently faces the worst economic and public health crisis in history and instead of working to find solutions HB1 criminalizes free speech, peaceful assembly and dissent through unconstitutional language that is targeted at silencing Black voices demanding basic human rights, equality, and fair treatment by law enforcement.

Instead of addressing the horrendous housing crisis, the broken unemployment system, the failing healthcare system, the disorganized and chaotic education system, AND the rising number of deaths, poverty, job loss and sickness in Florida HB1 repackages legislation put forward by Governor DeSantis as a “response to the violent insurrectionist mobs” that attempted a coup on the nation’s Capitol. This language is a smokescreen for the true intent of the bill which is to circumvent the mess that Florida has as a consequence of the pandemic and lack of support for Florida’s poverty impacted and oppressed. I am not fooled by this. This is the same legislation it was back in September with the same purpose - to limit the basic civil rights of BLM protestors that is guaranteed to all people under the US Constitution.

I believe that HB1 is being used to distract media and organizers from focusing on the real problem: lack of support for those in need across the state. How dare the Governor and the Florida Legislature waste taxpayer time and money on proposing solutions to a made up problem. Section 870 of the Florida Statute already criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting but this legislation would actually make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone’s death. It limits people’s ability to apply to Florida’s already broken unemployment system if they have been convicted under the proposed legislation and allows victims of violent crimes to recover civil damages from a local government that is deems responsible for grossly negligent “policing” during a “riot”. Meanwhile, the Florida Legislature is fast-tracking HB7/SB72 to create COVID19 liability immunity for the real victims of negligence by businesses, government agencies, schools, and religious organizations who have caused the spread of COVID19.

The Executive Director of the ACLU of Florida, Micah Kubic, stated that “This (bill) is not an attempt to make our communities safer. This proposed legislation by DeSantis is nothing more than a campaign political stunt. Now, it is being disguised as a response to the failed violent coup at the US Capitol. And, it is just as unconstitutional.”

A statewide survey of Florida voters put out after the attack by Donald Trump’s supporters on the US Capitol suggested a lack of support for HB1 and Governor DeSantis’ push to amp up criminal penalties for “disorderly” protests. Ninety-percent of those asked stated their support for “protecting our constitutional right to free assembly and free speech by legally protesting without fear of criminal charges”. Seventy-one percent of Democrats and 74% of Republicans deemed the issue a top priority. Eighty percent of respondents said they were more likely to support a legislator who voted to protect that priority, and 56% were “much more likely”. On the other hand, 83% of respondents thought that it was important to strengthen unemployment protections for people who lost their jobs because of COVID-19, 63% said that this was “very important”. (1)

Finally, this legislation also creates a preemptive attack on local municipalities that might want to “defund” the police and put their money towards more humanitarian initiatives to provide real solutions to small business and economic crises caused by the pandemic. Instead of restricting local government’s ability to find solutions we need legislation that answers the call of the people in the streets. People only protest when they are being abused, oppressed, marginalized or violated. It's time the House Justice Appropriations Subcommittee address the calls of Florida voters and people who cared enough to peacefully assemble. Seventy-one percent of Democrats and 74% of Republicans deemed the issue a top priority. Eighty percent of respondents said they were more likely to support a legislator who voted to protect that priority, and 56% were “much more likely”. On the other hand, 83% of respondents thought that it was important to strengthen unemployment protections for people who lost their jobs because of COVID-19, 63% said that this was “very important”. (1)

Finally, this legislation also creates a preemptive attack on local municipalities that might want to “defund” the police and put their money towards more humanitarian initiatives to provide real solutions to small business and economic crises caused by the pandemic. Instead of restricting local government’s ability to find solutions we need legislation that answers the call of the people in the streets. People only protest when they are being abused, oppressed, marginalized or violated. It's time the House Justice Appropriations Subcommittee address the calls of Florida voters and people who cared enough to peacefully assemble. We need to face the issues head on and answer to the humanity and dignity of working class, black, brown, and immigrant families in Florida who are suffering with workable policies that help the state grow and prosper.

If this legislation passes I will be letting people know that they should not travel in Florida, they should not move to Florida, they should not visit Florida, because our government does not support them and keep them safe. Public health and the economy should be your number one priority. Please OPPOSE HB1 and support legislation that provides real solutions to the real problems Floridians face today.

Meagan Hebel,

I am writing to you to ask you to please OPPOSE HB1 at the House Justice Appropriations meeting when it is scheduled for a hearing. I am outraged that this legislation even got assigned to a public hearing must less that it has been fast-tracked through the House on party lines. Florida currently faces the worst economic and public health crisis in history and instead of working to find solutions HB1 criminalizes free speech, peaceful assembly and dissent through unconstitutional language that is targeted at silencing Black voices demanding basic human rights, equality, and fair treatment by law enforcement.

Instead of addressing the horrendous housing crisis, the broken unemployment system, the failing healthcare system, the disorganized and chaotic education system, AND the rising number of deaths, poverty, job loss and sickness in Florida HB1 repackages legislation put forward by Governor DeSantis as a “response to the violent insurrectionist mobs” that attempted a coup on the nation’s Capitol. This language is a smokescreen for the true intent of the bill which is to circumvent the mess that Florida has as a consequence of the pandemic and lack of support for Florida’s poverty impacted and oppressed. I am not fooled by this. This is the same legislation it was back in September with the same purpose - to limit the basic civil rights of BLM protestors that is guaranteed to all people under the US Constitution.

I believe that HB1 is being used to distract media and organizers from focusing on the real problem: lack of support for those in need across the state. How dare the Governor and the Florida Legislature waste taxpayer time and money on proposing solutions to a made up problem. Section 870 of the Florida Statute already criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting but this legislation would actually make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone’s death. It limits people’s ability to apply to Florida’s already broken unemployment system if they have been convicted under the proposed legislation and allows victims of violent crimes to recover civil damages from a local government that is deems responsible for grossly negligent “policing” during a “riot”. Meanwhile, the Florida Legislature is fast-tracking HB7/SB72 to create COVID19 liability immunity for the real victims of negligence by businesses, government agencies, schools, and religious organizations who have caused the spread of COVID19.

The Executive Director of the ACLU of Florida, Micah Kubic, stated that “This (bill) is not an attempt to make our communities safer. This proposed legislation by DeSantis is nothing more than a campaign political stunt. Now, it is being disguised as a response to the failed violent coup at the US Capitol. And, it is just as unconstitutional.”

A statewide survey of Florida voters put out after the attack by Donald Trump’s supporters on the US Capitol suggested a lack of support for HB1 and Governor DeSantis’ push to amp up criminal penalties for “disorderly” protests. Ninety-percent of those asked stated their support for “protecting our constitutional right to free assembly and free speech by legally protesting without fear of criminal charges”. Seventy-one percent of Democrats and 74% of Republicans deemed the issue a top priority. Eighty percent of respondents said they were more likely to support a legislator who voted to protect that priority, and 56% were “much more likely”. On the other hand, 83% of respondents thought that it was important to strengthen unemployment protections for people who lost their jobs because of COVID-19, 63% said that this was “very important”. Meanwhile, the Florida Legislature is fast-tracking HB7/SB72 to create COVID19 liability immunity for the real victims of negligence by businesses, government agencies, schools, and religious organizations who have caused the spread of COVID19.

The Executive Director of the ACLU of Florida, Micah Kubic, stated that “This (bill) is not an attempt to make our communities safer. This proposed legislation by DeSantis is nothing more than a campaign political stunt. Now, it is being disguised as a response to the failed violent coup at the US Capitol. And, it is just as unconstitutional.”

A statewide survey of Florida voters put out after the attack by Donald Trump’s supporters on the US Capitol suggested a lack of support for HB1 and Governor DeSantis’ push to amp up criminal penalties for “disorderly” protests. Ninety-percent of those asked stated their support for “protecting our constitutional right to free assembly and free speech by legally protesting without fear of criminal charges”. Seventy-one percent of Democrats and 74% of Republicans deemed the issue a top priority. Eighty percent of respondents said they were more likely to support a legislator who voted to protect that priority, and 56% were “much more likely”. On the other hand, 83% of respondents thought that it was important to strengthen unemployment protections for people who lost their jobs because of COVID-19, 63% said that this was “very important”. (1)

Finally, this legislation also creates a preemptive attack on local municipalities that might want to “defund” the police and put their money towards more humanitarian initiatives to provide real solutions to small business and economic crises caused by the pandemic. Instead of restricting local government’s ability to find solutions we need legislation that answers the call of the people in the streets. People only protest when they are being abused, oppressed, marginalized or violated. It's time the House Justice Appropriations Subcommittee address the calls of Florida voters and people who cared enough to peacefully assemble. We need to face the issues head on and answer to the humanity and dignity of working class, black, brown, and immigrant families in Florida who are suffering with workable policies that help the state grow and prosper.

If this legislation passes I will be letting people know that they should not travel in Florida, they should not move to Florida, they should not visit Florida, because our government does not support them and keep them safe. Public health and the economy should be your number one priority. Please OPPOSE HB1 and support legislation that provides real solutions to the real problems Floridians face today.

Kimberly Simon,

I am writing to you to ask you to please OPPOSE HB1 at the House Justice Appropriations meeting when it is scheduled for a hearing. I am outraged that this legislation even got assigned to a public hearing must less that it has been fast-tracked through the House on party lines. Florida currently faces the worst economic and public health crisis in history and instead of working to find solutions HB1 criminalizes free speech, peaceful assembly and dissent through unconstitutional language that is targeted at silencing Black voices demanding basic human rights, equality, and fair treatment by law enforcement.

Instead of addressing the horrendous housing crisis, the broken unemployment system, the failing healthcare system, the disorganized and chaotic education system, AND the rising number of deaths, poverty, job loss and sickness in Florida HB1 repackages legislation put forward by Governor DeSantis as a “response to the violent insurrectionist mobs” that attempted a coup on the nation’s Capitol. This language is a smokescreen for the true intent of the bill which is to circumvent the mess that Florida has as a consequence of the pandemic and lack of support for Florida’s poverty impacted and oppressed. I am not fooled by this. This is the same legislation it was back in September with the same purpose - to limit the basic civil rights of BLM protestors that is guaranteed to all people under the US Constitution.

I believe that HB1 is being used to distract media and organizers from focusing on the real problem: lack of support for those in need across the state. How dare the Governor and the Florida Legislature waste taxpayer time and money on proposing solutions to a made up problem. Section 870 of the Florida Statute already criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting but this legislation would actually make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone’s death. It limits people’s ability to apply to Florida’s already broken unemployment system if they have been convicted under the proposed legislation and allows victims of violent crimes to recover civil damages from a local government that is deems responsible for grossly negligent “policing” during a “riot”. Meanwhile, the Florida Legislature is fast-tracking HB7/SB72 to create COVID19 liability immunity for the real victims of negligence by businesses, government agencies, schools, and religious organizations who have caused the spread of COVID19.

I am writing to you to ask you to please OPPOSE HB1 at the House Justice Appropriations meeting when it is scheduled for a hearing. I am outraged that this legislation even got assigned to a public hearing must less that it has been fast-tracked through the House on party lines.

This bill is a violation of of Floridian's First Amendment rights to free speech. And it criminalizes people based on their race and politics if they speak out. If it is passed it will be taken to court and the State of FL will have to spend taxpayer's money to defend a case that will lose and the law will be over turned. Do not waist Floridian's time and money on this abuse of the Constitution.

This legislation also creates a preemptive attack on local municipalities that might want to “defund” the police and put their money towards more humanitarian initiatives to provide real solutions to small business and economic crises caused by the pandemic. Instead of restricting local government’s ability to find solutions we need legislation that answers the call of the people in the streets. Kimberly Simon,

Please OPPOSE HB1. This bill criminalizes free speech, peaceful assembly and dissent through unconstitutional language that is targeted at silencing Black voices demanding basic human rights, equality, and fair treatment by law enforcement.

This legislation would make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle even if the incident results in someone's death.

Also, this legislation also preempts municipalities' control over their budgets. State officials do not know and should not dictate the needs of cities and towns regarding public safety.

If this legislation passes I will be letting people know that they should not travel in Florida, they should not move to Florida, they should not visit Florida, because our government does not support them and keep them safe. Public health and the economy should be your number one priority. Please OPPOSE HB1 and support legislation that provides real solutions to the real problems Floridians face today.

This proposed legislation by DeSantis is nothing more than a campaign political stunt. Now, it is being disguised as a response to the failed violent coup at the US Capitol. And, it is just as unconstitutional.”

A statewide survey of Florida voters put out after the attack by Donald Trump’s supporters on the US Capitol suggested a lack of support for HB1 and Governor DeSantis’ push to amp up criminal penalties for “disorderly” protests. Ninety-percent of those asked stated their support for “protecting our constitutional right to free assembly and free speech by legally protesting without fear of criminal charges”. Seventy-one percent of Democrats and 74% of Republicans deemed the issue a top priority. Eighty percent of respondents said they were more likely to support a legislator who voted to protect that priority, and 56% were “much more likely”. On the other hand, 83% of respondents thought that it was important to strengthen unemployment protections for people who lost their jobs because of COVID-19, 63% said that this was “very important”. (1)

Finally, this legislation also creates a preemptive attack on local municipalities that might want to “defund” the police and put their money towards more humanitarian initiatives to provide real solutions to small business and economic crises caused by the pandemic. Instead of restricting local government’s ability to find solutions we need legislation that answers the call of the people in the streets. People only protest when they are being abused, oppressed, marginalized or violated. It's time the House Justice Appropriations Subcommittee address the calls of Florida voters and people who cared enough to peacefully assemble. We need to face the issues head on and answer to the humanity and dignity of working class, black, brown, and immigrant families in Florida who are suffering with workable policies that help the state grow and prosper.

If this legislation passes I will be letting people know that they should not travel in Florida, they should not move to Florida, they should not visit Florida, because our government does not support them and keep them safe. Public health and the economy should be your number one priority. Natalie Brown,

I am writing to you to ask you to please OPPOSE HB1 at the House Justice Appropriations meeting when it is scheduled for a hearing. I am outraged that this legislation even got assigned to a public hearing must less that it has been fast-tracked through the House on party lines. Florida currently faces the worst economic and public health crisis in history and instead of working to find solutions HB1 criminalizes free speech, peaceful assembly and dissent through unconstitutional language that is targeted at silencing Black voices demanding basic human rights, equality, and fair treatment by law enforcement.

Instead of addressing the horrendous housing crisis, the broken unemployment system, the failing healthcare system, the disorganized and chaotic education system, AND the rising number of deaths, poverty, job loss and sickness in Florida HB1 repackages legislation put forward by Governor DeSantis as a “response to the violent insurrectionist mobs” that attempted a coup on the nation’s Capitol. This language is a smokescreen for the true intent of the bill which is to circumvent the mess that Florida has as a consequence of the pandemic and lack of support for Florida’s poverty impacted and oppressed. I am not fooled by this. This is the same legislation it was back in September with the same purpose - to limit the basic civil rights of BLM protestors that is guaranteed to all people under the US Constitution.

I believe that HB1 is being used to distract media and organizers from focusing on the real problem: lack of support for those in need across the state. How dare the Governor and the Florida Legislature waste taxpayer time and money on proposing solutions to a made up problem. Section 870 of the Florida Statute already criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting but this legislation would actually make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone’s death. It limits people’s ability to apply to Florida’s already broken unemployment system if they have been convicted under the proposed legislation and allows victims of violent crimes to recover civil damages from a local government that is deems responsible for grossly negligent “policing” during a “riot”. Meanwhile, the Florida Legislature is fast-tracking HB7/SB72 to create COVID19 liability immunity for the real victims of negligence by businesses, government agencies, schools, and religious organizations who have caused the spread of COVID19.

The Executive Director of the ACLU of Florida, Micah Kubic, stated that “This (bill) is not an attempt to make our communities safer. This proposed legislation by DeSantis is nothing more than a campaign political stunt. Now, it is being disguised as a response to the failed violent coup at the US Capitol. And, it is just as unconstitutional.”

How dare the Governor and the Florida Legislature waste taxpayer time and money on proposing solutions to a made up problem. Section 870 of the Florida Statute already criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting but this legislation would actually make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone’s death. It limits people’s ability to apply to Florida’s already broken unemployment system if they have been convicted under the proposed legislation and allows victims of violent crimes to recover civil damages from a local government that is deems responsible for grossly negligent “policing” during a “riot”. Meanwhile, the Florida Legislature is fast-tracking HB7/SB72 to create COVID19 liability immunity for the real victims of negligence by businesses, government agencies, schools, and religious organizations who have caused the spread of COVID19.

The Executive Director of the ACLU of Florida, Micah Kubic, stated that “This (bill) is not an attempt to make our communities safer. This proposed legislation by DeSantis is nothing more than a campaign political stunt. Now, it is being disguised as a response to the failed violent coup at the US Capitol. And, it is just as unconstitutional.”

A statewide survey of Florida voters put out after the attack by Donald Trump’s supporters on the US Capitol suggested a lack of support for HB1 and Governor DeSantis’ push to amp up criminal penalties for “disorderly” protests. Ninety-percent of those asked stated their support for “protecting our constitutional right to free assembly and free speech by legally protesting without fear of criminal charges”. Seventy-one percent of Democrats and 74% of Republicans deemed the issue a top priority. Eighty percent of respondents said they were more likely to support a legislator who voted to protect that priority, and 56% were “much more likely”. On the other hand, 83% of respondents thought that it was important to strengthen unemployment protections for people who lost their jobs because of COVID-19, 63% said that this was “very important”. (1)

Finally, this legislation also creates a preemptive attack on local municipalities that might want to “defund” the police and put their money towards more humanitarian initiatives to provide real solutions to small business and economic crises caused by the pandemic. Instead of restricting local government’s ability to find solutions we need legislation that answers the call of the people in the streets. People only protest when they are being abused, oppressed, marginalized or violated. It's time the House Justice Appropriations Subcommittee address the calls of Florida voters and people who cared enough to peacefully assemble. We need to face the issues head on and answer to the humanity and dignity of working class, black, brown, and immigrant families in Florida who are suffering with workable policies that help the state grow and prosper.

If this legislation passes I will be letting people know that they should not travel in Florida, they should not move to Florida, they should not visit Florida, because our government does not support them and keep them safe. Public health and the economy should be your number one priority. Natalie Brown,

I am writing to you to ask you to please OPPOSE HB1 at the House Justice Appropriations meeting when it is scheduled for a hearing. I am outraged that this legislation even got assigned to a public hearing must less that it has been fast-tracked through the House on party lines. Florida currently faces the worst economic and public health crisis in history and instead of working to find solutions HB1 criminalizes free speech, peaceful assembly and dissent through unconstitutional language that is targeted at silencing Black voices demanding basic human rights, equality, and fair treatment by law enforcement.

Instead of addressing the horrendous housing crisis, the broken unemployment system, the failing healthcare system, the disorganized and chaotic education system, AND the rising number of deaths, poverty, job loss and sickness in Florida HB1 repackages legislation put forward by Governor DeSantis as a “response to the violent insurrectionist mobs” that attempted a coup on the nation’s Capitol. This language is a smokescreen for the true intent of the bill which is to circumvent the mess that Florida has as a consequence of the pandemic and lack of support for Florida’s poverty impacted and oppressed. I am not fooled by this. This is the same legislation it was back in September with the same purpose - to limit the basic civil rights of BLM protestors that is guaranteed to all people under the US Constitution.

I believe that HB1 is being used to distract media and organizers from focusing on the real problem: lack of support for those in need across the state. How dare the Governor and the Florida Legislature waste taxpayer time and money on proposing solutions to a made up problem. Section 870 of the Florida Statute already criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting but this legislation would actually make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone’s death. Florida currently faces the worst economic and public health crisis in history and instead of working to find solutions HB1 criminalizes free speech, peaceful assembly and dissent through unconstitutional language that is targeted at silencing Black voices demanding basic human rights, equality, and fair treatment by law enforcement.

Instead of addressing the horrendous housing crisis, the broken unemployment system, the failing healthcare system, the disorganized and chaotic education system, AND the rising number of deaths, poverty, job loss and sickness in Florida HB1 repackages legislation put forward by Governor DeSantis as a “response to the violent insurrectionist mobs” that attempted a coup on the nation’s Capitol. This language is a smokescreen for the true intent of the bill which is to circumvent the mess that Florida has as a consequence of the pandemic and lack of support for Florida’s poverty impacted and oppressed. I am not fooled by this. This is the same legislation it was back in September with the same purpose - to limit the basic civil rights of BLM protestors that is guaranteed to all people under the US Constitution.

I believe that HB1 is being used to distract media and organizers from focusing on the real problem: lack of support for those in need across the state. How dare the Governor and the Florida Legislature waste taxpayer time and money on proposing solutions to a made up problem. Section 870 of the Florida Statute already criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting but this legislation would actually make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone’s death. It limits people’s ability to apply to Florida’s already broken unemployment system if they have been convicted under the proposed legislation and allows victims of violent crimes to recover civil damages from a local government that is deems responsible for grossly negligent “policing” during a “riot”. Meanwhile, the Florida Legislature is fast-tracking HB7/SB72 to create COVID19 liability immunity for the real victims of negligence by businesses, government agencies, schools, and religious organizations who have caused the spread of COVID19.

The Executive Director of the ACLU of Florida, Micah Kubic, stated that “This (bill) is not an attempt to make our communities safer. This proposed legislation by DeSantis is nothing more than a campaign political stunt. Now, it is being disguised as a response to the failed violent coup at the US Capitol. And, it is just as unconstitutional.”

A statewide survey of Florida voters put out after the attack by Donald Trump’s supporters on the US Capitol suggested a lack of support for HB1 and Governor DeSantis’ push to amp up criminal penalties for “disorderly” protests. Ninety-percent of those asked stated their support for “protecting our constitutional right to free assembly and free speech by legally protesting without fear of criminal charges”. Seventy-one percent of Democrats and 74% of Republicans deemed the issue a top priority. Eighty percent of respondents said they were more likely to support a legislator who voted to protect that priority, and 56% were “much more likely”. On the other hand, 83% of respondents thought that it was important to strengthen unemployment protections for people who lost their jobs because of COVID-19, 63% said that this was “very important”. (1)

Finally, this legislation also creates a preemptive attack on local municipalities that might want to “defund” the police and put their money towards more humanitarian initiatives to provide real solutions to small business and economic crises caused by the pandemic. Instead of restricting local government’s ability to find solutions we need legislation that answers the call of the people in the streets. People only protest when they are being abused, oppressed, marginalized or violated. It's time the House Justice Appropriations Subcommittee address the calls of Florida voters and people who cared enough to peacefully assemble. We need to face the issues head on and answer to the humanity and dignity of working class, black, brown, and immigrant families in Florida who are suffering with workable policies that help the state grow and prosper.

If this legislation passes I will be letting people know that they should not travel in Florida, they should not move to Florida, they should not visit Florida, because our government does not support them and keep them safe. Public health and the economy should be your number one priority. Please OPPOSE HB1 and support legislation that provides real solutions to the real problems Floridians face today.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Kimberly Simon,

I am writing to you to ask you to please OPPOSE HB1 at the House Justice Appropriations meeting when it is scheduled for a hearing. I am outraged that this legislation even got assigned to a public hearing must less that it has been fast-tracked through the House on party lines. Florida currently faces the worst economic and public health crisis in history and instead of working to find solutions HB1 criminalizes free speech, peaceful assembly and dissent through unconstitutional language that is targeted at silencing our voices demanding basic human rights, equality, and fair treatment by law enforcement.

Instead of addressing the horrendous housing crisis, the broken unemployment system, the failing healthcare system, the disorganized and chaotic education system, AND the rising number of deaths, poverty, job loss and sickness in Florida HB1 repackages legislation put forward by Governor DeSantis as a “response to the violent insurrectionist mobs” that attempted a coup on the nation’s Capitol. This language is a smokescreen for the true intent of the bill which is to circumvent the mess that Florida has as a consequence of the pandemic and lack of support for Florida’s poverty impacted and oppressed. This is the same legislation it was back in September with the same purpose - to limit the basic civil rights of BLM protestors that is guaranteed to all people under the US Constitution.

I believe that HB1 is being used to distract media and organizers from focusing on the real problem: lack of support for those in need across the state. Section 870 of the Florida Statute already criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting but this legislation would actually make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone’s death. It limits people’s ability to apply to Florida’s already broken unemployment system if they have been convicted under the proposed legislation and allows victims of violent crimes to recover civil damages from a local government that is deems responsible for grossly negligent “policing” during a “riot”. Meanwhile, the Florida Legislature is fast-tracking HB7/SB72 to create COVID19 liability immunity for the real victims of negligence by businesses, government agencies, schools, who have caused the spread of COVID19.

A statewide survey of Florida voters put out after the attack by Donald Trump’s supporters on the US Capitol suggested a lack of support for HB1 and Governor DeSantis’ push to amp up criminal penalties for “disorderly” protests. Ninety-percent of those asked stated their support for “protecting our constitutional right to free assembly and free speech by legally protesting without fear of criminal charges”. Seventy-one percent of Democrats and 74% of Republicans deemed the issue a top priority. Eighty percent of respondents said they were more likely to support a legislator who voted to protect that priority, and 56% were “much more likely”. On the other hand, 83% of respondents thought that it was important to strengthen unemployment protections for people who lost their jobs because of COVID-19, 63% said that this was “very important”. (1)

Finally, this legislation also creates a preemptive attack on local municipalities that might want to “defund” the police and put their money towards more humanitarian initiatives to provide real solutions to small business and economic crises caused by the pandemic. Instead of restricting local government’s ability to find solutions we need legislation that answers the call of the people in the streets. People only protest when they are being abused, oppressed, marginalized or violated. It's time the House Justice Appropriations Subcommittee address the calls of Florida voters and people who cared enough to peacefully assemble. We need to face the issues head on and answer to the humanity and dignity of working class, black, brown, and immigrant families in Florida who are suffering with workable policies that help the state grow and prosper.

Do Not allow this legislation to pass. Public health and the economy should be your number one priority. Please OPPOSE HB1 and support legislation that provides real solutions to the real problems Floridians face today.

Florida currently faces the worst economic and public health crisis in history and instead of working to find solutions HB1 criminalizes free speech, peaceful assembly and dissent through unconstitutional language that is vague and ambiguous enough to be extended to criminalize almost any public gathering -- or even the act of crossing the street!

HB1 repackages legislation put forward by Governor DeSantis as a “response to the violent insurrectionist mobs” that attempted a coup on the nation’s Capitol. But we already have legislation addressing mob violence; the problem is that it has been unevenly applied to quash peaceful protests (and other non-protest peaceful public gatherings such as memorial vigils) while emboldening the violent mobs. doubling down on the existing inequity can only escalate the problem.

Section 870 of the Florida Statute already criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting, but this bill's legislation's heavy-handed attempt to prevent even peaceful protesting is so poorly-articulated that it would actually make it illegal to take too long to cross the road, and legal for motorists who strike pedestrians with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone’s death. It removes avenues to permit lawful public gatherings, making ANY public gathering potentially illegal if authorities find it objectionable... exactly what the First Amendment is designed to protect against. The bill incentivizes overpolicing with the threat of municipalities being held liable for failure to suppress disorder; meanwhile the Florida Legislature is fast-tracking HB7/SB72 to create immunity for the real victims of negligence by businesses, government agencies, schools, and religious organizations who spread COVID19.

A statewide survey of Florida voters suggested a lack of support for HB1 and Governor DeSantis’ push to amp up criminal penalties for “disorderly” protests. (1)

If this legislation passes I will be letting people know that they should not move to Florida to retire, or visit Florida for tourism, because they may be charged with a felony or struck by a vehicle for merely having a contentious discussion or taking too long to cross the street, while dining, shopping, or celebrating in public.
Public health and the economy should be your number one priority. Please OPPOSE HB1 and support legislation that provides real solutions to the real problems Floridians face today.

Natalie Brown,

Good afternoon,

My name is Melanie Simms, and I'm a constituent from Lehigh Acres. I'm reaching out to urge you to oppose HB1 at the House Justice Appropriations meeting when it is scheduled for a hearing.

Instead of addressing the economic and public health crisis, HB1 criminalizes free speech, peaceful assembly and dissent through unconstitutional language.

Please don't waste taxpayer time and money on proposing solutions to a made up problem. Section 870 of the Florida Statute already criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting. This legislation would actually make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone's death.

Floridians do not support this legislation. Please prioritize responding to the current crises we are facing instead of passing this redundant and harmful legislation.

Thank you,

RE: Oppose HB1/SB484, Combating Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am Maureen Bush, Owner and CEO of NEAT Jax. Our business thrives on helping others. We believe in community above all else, and our motto is "helping others is the feeling of being human".

We are contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1/SB484, the Combating Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder and looting which do not infringe on the due process protections of protesters. As well, there already exists even extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida..

In the state of Florida, no businesses were burned, attacked, or jeopardized. In fact, many business owners supported the actions either financially, through goods and services, or by joining directly. And in some cities, they were unlawfully arrested and brutalized as a result. Protests brought communities across Florida together all summer with no reports of violence or damage, and our business took pride in being a part of this historic movement.

This bill will incite fear. It will keep us divided and afraid to come out to support one another for progress. Creating extra laws for hypothetical scenarios is a dangerous path to tyranny. If we instill fear into protesters, our ability to be heard, to educate, and to affect policy change and to continue to come together as a community will slowly fade into silence.

As a concerned Floridian and proud business owner, I am asking you to not allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision which could jeopardize the freedom of honest Americans. Please VOTE NO on HB1/SB484.

Thank you,

Best,
Maureen Porcelli Bush

Subject: Oppose HB1. This is vital to protect Floridian's First Amendment Rights

Kimberly Simon,

I am writing to you to ask you to please OPPOSE HB1 at the House Justice Appropriations meeting when it is scheduled for a hearing. I am extremely upset that this legislation even got assigned to a public hearing must less that it has been fast-tracked through the House. Florida is facing the worst economic and public health crisis in history. The House and government of the State of Florida needs to be working to resolve these issues. Instead, HB1 criminalizes free speech, peaceful assembly and dissent through unconstitutional language that is targeted at silencing Black voices who are simply demanding basic human rights, equality, and fair treatment by law enforcement.

Instead of addressing the horrendous housing crisis, the broken unemployment system, the failing healthcare system, the disorganized and chaotic education system, AND the rising number of deaths, poverty, job loss and sickness in Florida HB1 repackages legislation put forward by Governor DeSantis as a “response to the violent insurrectionist mobs” that attempted a coup on the nation’s Capitol. This language is a smokescreen for the true intent of the bill which is to circumvent the mess that Florida has as a consequence of the pandemic and lack of support for Florida’s poverty impacted and oppressed. I am not fooled by this. This is the same legislation it was back in September with the same purpose - to limit the basic civil rights of BLM protestors that is guaranteed to all people under the US Constitution.

I believe that HB1 is being used to distract media and organizers from focusing on the real problem: lack of support for those in need across the state. How dare the Governor and the Florida Legislature waste taxpayer time and money on proposing solutions to a made up problem. Section 870 of the Florida Statute already criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting but this legislation would actually make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone’s death. It limits people’s ability to apply to Florida’s already broken unemployment system if they have been convicted under the proposed legislation and allows victims of violent crimes to recover civil damages from a local government that is deems responsible for grossly negligent “policing” during a “riot”. Meanwhile, the Florida Legislature is fast-tracking HB7/SB72 to create COVID19 liability immunity for the real victims of negligence by businesses, government agencies, schools, and religious organizations who have caused the spread of COVID19.

The Executive Director of the ACLU of Florida, Micah Kubic, stated that “This (bill) is not an attempt to make our communities safer. This proposed legislation by DeSantis is nothing more than a campaign political stunt. Now, it is being disguised as a response to the failed violent coup at the US Capitol. And, it is just as unconstitutional.”

A statewide survey of Florida voters put out after the attack by Donald Trump’s supporters on the US Capitol suggested a lack of support for HB1 and Governor DeSantis’ push to amp up criminal penalties for “disorderly” protests. Ninety-percent of those asked stated their support for “protecting our constitutional right to free assembly and free speech by legally protesting without fear of criminal charges”. Seventy-one percent of Democrats and 74% of Republicans deemed the issue a top priority. Eighty percent of respondents said they were more likely to support a legislator who voted to protect that priority, and 56% were “much more likely”. On the other hand, 83% of respondents thought that it was important to strengthen unemployment protections for people who lost their jobs because of COVID-19, 63% said that this was “very important”. (1)

Finally, this legislation also creates a preemptive attack on local municipalities that might want to “defund” the police and put their money towards more humanitarian initiatives to provide real solutions to small business and economic crises caused by the pandemic. Instead of restricting local government’s ability to find solutions we need legislation that answers the call of the people in the streets. People only protest when they are being abused, oppressed, marginalized or violated. It's time the House Justice Appropriations Subcommittee address the calls of Florida voters and people who cared enough to peacefully assemble. We need to face the issues head on and answer to the humanity and dignity of working class, black, brown, and immigrant families in Florida who are suffering with workable policies that help the state grow and prosper.

If this legislation passes I will be letting people know that they should not travel in Florida, they should not move to Florida, they should not visit Florida, because our government does not support them and keep them safe. Public health and the economy should be your number one priority. Please OPPOSE HB1 and support legislation that provides real solutions to the real problems Floridians face today.

Subject: Oppose HB1!

Elected Representative,

I am contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder and looting which do not infringe on the due process protections of protesters.

I was very concerned with the vote to push this bill through the Criminal Justice Subcommittee on 01/27/21, despite the overwhelming majority of commenters expressing opposition. It is as though our representatives are not representing the voice of their constituents, rather, attempting to fulfill their personal political agendas instead.

This bill will not stop assemblies, but it will fill more prisons; crowded prisons already at the mercy of covid-19, killing inmates and officers. Creating more felons is not the way to a better Florida.

In Florida, we had historic marches and businesses were not burned. In fact, many business owners supported the actions either financially, through goods and services, or by joining themselves, proud to make history. Protests brought communities across Florida together all summer, however, a bill like this will create an extra layer of fear and division.

It was shocking to see comments dismissed regarding the unclear 'mob intimidation' language, as well as the possibility that these restrictions would be used mainly to target communities of color protesting against police killings.

The response was that this is not the 'intent' of the bill, and that there are always some that can abuse any law; "bad apples." This is concerning to me as a citizen because our lawmakers should care if even one American's freedom is jeopardized. A law that can be manipulated to target innocent people is an unjust law, and that concern should not be brushed off. Giving bad apples more tools to exercise bad judgement is unnecessary.

The fact is, this bill language was drafted prior to the Capitol siege and targeted towards civil rights protesters, many of whom were proven innocent. We cannot ignore the hundreds of citizens, including the Tallahassee 19 and the over 70 protesters in Jacksonville, who were falsely targeted and arrested last summer. The police were wrong in their assessment, so it is very valid for people to not want more reasons for law enforcement to be 'on alert'.

As a concerned Floridian, I am asking you to not allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision which could jeopardize the freedom of honest Americans. Please VOTE NO on HB1/SB484.

Thank you

Subject: OPPOSE HB1, Protect Florida's Citizens from a breach of their rights

Meagan Hebel,

I am writing to you to ask you to please OPPOSE HB1 at the House Justice Appropriations meeting when it is scheduled for a hearing. I am personally outraged that this legislation has even been assigned to a public hearing, much less that it has been fast-tracked through the House on party lines. Florida currently faces the worst economic and public health crisis in history and instead of working to find solutions, HB1 criminalizes free speech, peaceful assembly, and dissent through unconstitutional language that is targeted at silencing Black voices demanding basic human rights, equality, and fair treatment by law enforcement. To me, it is despicable. It is a very clear violation of First Amendment Rights, and should not be considered a second time.

Addressing the housing crisis, the failing unemployment system, the underfunded healthcare system, the disorganized and chaotic education system, AND the rising number of deaths, poverty, job loss, and sickness in Florida should be a priority at the moment. However, HB1 repackages legislation put forward by Governor DeSantis as a “response to the violent insurrectionist mobs” that attempted a coup on the nation’s Capitol. This language is a smokescreen for the true intent of the bill which is to circumvent the mess that Florida has as a consequence of the pandemic and lack of support for Florida’s poverty impacted and oppressed. I am not fooled by this. Nobody is fooled by this. This is the same legislation it was back in September with the same purpose - to limit the basic civil rights of BLM protestors, rights that are guaranteed to all people under the US Constitution.

I believe that HB1 is being used to distract media and organizers from focusing on the real problem: lack of support for those in need across the state. How dare the Governor and the Florida Legislature waste taxpayer time and money on proposing solutions to a made up problem. Section 870 of the Florida Statute already criminalizes riots, unlawful assemblies, and looting but this legislation would actually make it legal for motorists who strike protestors with their vehicle, even if the incident results in someone’s death. It limits people’s ability to apply to Florida’s already broken unemployment system if they have been convicted under the proposed legislation and allows victims of violent crimes to recover civil damages from a local government that is deems responsible for grossly negligent “policing” during a “riot”. Meanwhile, the Florida Legislature is fast-tracking HB7/SB72 to create COVID19 liability immunity for the real victims of negligence by businesses, government agencies, schools, and religious organizations who have caused the spread of COVID-19. This is an embarrassment for our state. The priorities and lack thereof being shown by those in the government makes me ashamed to be not just a Florida citizen, but an American citizen. What country of the free are we if we continue stripping away basic civil rights?

The Executive Director of the ACLU of Florida, Micah Kubic, stated that “This (bill) is not an attempt to make our communities safer. This proposed legislation by DeSantis is nothing more than a campaign political stunt. Now, it is being disguised as a response to the failed violent coup at the US Capitol. And, it is just as unconstitutional.”

A statewide survey of Florida voters put out after the attack by Donald Trump’s supporters on the US Capitol suggested a lack of support for HB1 and Governor DeSantis’ push to amp up criminal penalties for “disorderly” protests. Ninety-percent of those asked stated their support for “protecting our constitutional right to free assembly and free speech by legally protesting without fear of criminal charges”. Seventy-one percent of Democrats and 74% of Republicans deemed the issue a top priority. Eighty percent of respondents said they were more likely to support a legislator who voted to protect that priority, and 56% were “much more likely”. On the other hand, 83% of respondents thought that it was important to strengthen unemployment protections for people who lost their jobs because of COVID-19, 63% said that this was “very important”. (1)

Finally, this legislation also creates a preemptive attack on local municipalities that might want to “defund” the police and put their money towards more humanitarian initiatives to provide real solutions to small business and economic crises caused by the pandemic. Instead of restricting local government’s ability to find solutions, we need legislation that answers the call of the people in the streets. People only protest when they are being abused, oppressed, marginalized, or violated. It's time the House Justice Appropriations Subcommittee address the calls of Florida voters and people who cared enough to peacefully assemble. We need to face the issues head on and answer to the humanity and dignity of working class, black, brown, and immigrant families in Florida who are suffering with workable policies that help the state grow and prosper.

If this legislation passes I will be letting people know that they should not travel in Florida, they should not move to Florida, they should not visit Florida, because our government does not support them and keep them safe. My family and my community members are all on the idea of doing everything we can to separate ourselves from this State should this pass. Florida is not a home for anybody let alone a proper state within this country if it passes a legislation that violates many basic human rights at once. Florida needs to step up and begin taking action on things we actually need, and that the community has been begging for all this time. Public health and the economy should be your number one priority. Please OPPOSE HB1 and support legislation that provides real solutions to the real problems Floridians face today. Please.

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
[Jade]

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
[YOUR NAME]

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
Madison Espling Esquierdo

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
Tianna DiSalvo

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
Dawn Orocio

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
Jessica Machin

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
[YOUR NAME]

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder and looting which do not infringe on the due process protections of protesters.

I was very concerned with the vote to push this bill through the Criminal Justice Subcommittee on 01/27/21, despite the overwhelming majority of commenters expressing opposition. It is as though our representatives are not representing the voice of their constituents, rather, attempting to fulfill their personal political agendas instead.

This bill will not stop assemblies, but it will fill more prisons; crowded prisons already at the mercy of covid-19, killing inmates and officers. Creating more felons is not the way to a better Florida.

In Florida, we had historic marches and businesses were not burned. In fact, many business owners supported the actions either financially, through goods and services, or by joining themselves, proud to make history. Protests brought communities across Florida together all summer, however, a bill like this will create an extra layer of fear and division.

It was shocking to see comments dismissed regarding the unclear 'mob intimidation' language, as well as the possibility that these restrictions would be used mainly to target communities of color protesting against police killings.

The response was that this is not the 'intent' of the bill, and that there are always some that can abuse any law; "bad apples." This is concerning to me as a citizen because our lawmakers should care if even one American's freedom is jeopardized. A law that can be manipulated to target innocent people is an unjust law, and that concern should not be brushed off. Giving bad apples more tools to exercise bad judgement is unnecessary.

The fact is, this bill language was drafted prior to the Capitol siege and targeted towards civil rights protesters, many of whom were proven innocent. We cannot ignore the hundreds of citizens, including the Tallahassee 19 and the over 70 protesters in Jacksonville, who were falsely targeted and arrested last summer. The police were wrong in their assessment, so it is very valid for people to not want more reasons for law enforcement to be 'on alert'.

As a concerned Floridian, I am asking you to not allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a West Virginia resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
Marissa Mynes

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder and looting which do not infringe on the due process protections of protesters.

I was very concerned with the vote to push this bill through the Criminal Justice Subcommittee on 01/27/21, despite the overwhelming majority of commenters expressing opposition. It is as though our representatives are not representing the voice of their constituents, rather, attempting to fulfill their personal political agendas instead.

This bill will not stop assemblies, but it will fill more prisons; crowded prisons already at the mercy of covid-19, killing inmates and officers. Creating more felons is not the way to a better Florida.

In Florida, we had historic marches and businesses were not burned. In fact, many business owners supported the actions either financially, through goods and services, or by joining themselves, proud to make history. Protests brought communities across Florida together all summer, however, a bill like this will create an extra layer of fear and division.

It was shocking to see comments dismissed regarding the unclear 'mob intimidation' language, as well as the possibility that these restrictions would be used mainly to target communities of color protesting against police killings.

The response was that this is not the 'intent' of the bill, and that there are always some that can abuse any law; "bad apples." This is concerning to me as a citizen because our lawmakers should care if even one American's freedom is jeopardized. A law that can be manipulated to target innocent people is an unjust law, and that concern should not be brushed off. Giving bad apples more tools to exercise bad judgement is unnecessary.

The fact is, this bill language was drafted prior to the Capitol siege and targeted towards civil rights protesters, many of whom were proven innocent. We cannot ignore the hundreds of citizens, including the Tallahassee 19 and the over 70 protesters in Jacksonville, who were falsely targeted and arrested last summer. The police were wrong in their assessment, so it is very valid for people to not want more reasons for law enforcement to be 'on alert'.

As a concerned Floridian, I am asking you to not allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,

Courtney McClanahan

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
[YOUR NAME]

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
Etta Ettlinger

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder and looting which do not infringe on the due process protections of protesters.

I was very concerned with the vote to push this bill through the Criminal Justice Subcommittee on 01/27/21, despite the overwhelming majority of commenters expressing opposition. It is as though our representatives are not representing the voice of their constituents, rather, attempting to fulfill their personal political agendas instead.

This bill will not stop assemblies, but it will fill more prisons; crowded prisons already at the mercy of covid-19, killing inmates and officers. Creating more felons is not the way to a better Florida.

In Florida, we had historic marches and businesses were not burned. In fact, many business owners supported the actions either financially, through goods and services, or by joining themselves, proud to make history. Protests brought communities across Florida together all summer, however, a bill like this will create an extra layer of fear and division.

It was shocking to see comments dismissed regarding the unclear 'mob intimidation' language, as well as the possibility that these restrictions would be used mainly to target communities of color protesting against police killings.

The response was that this is not the 'intent' of the bill, and that there are always some that can abuse any law; "bad apples." This is concerning to me as a citizen because our lawmakers should care if even one American's freedom is jeopardized. A law that can be manipulated to target innocent people is an unjust law, and that concern should not be brushed off. Giving bad apples more tools to exercise bad judgement is unnecessary.

The fact is, this bill language was drafted prior to the Capitol siege and targeted towards civil rights protesters, many of whom were proven innocent. We cannot ignore the hundreds of citizens, including the Tallahassee 19 and the over 70 protesters in Jacksonville, who were falsely targeted and arrested last summer. The police were wrong in their assessment, so it is very valid for people to not want more reasons for law enforcement to be 'on alert'.

As a concerned Floridian, I am asking you to not allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
Andrea Safadi

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
Lera

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Hello Elected Representative,

I am contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder and looting which do not infringe on the due process protections of protesters.

I was very concerned with the vote to push this bill through the Criminal Justice Subcommittee on 01/27/21, despite the overwhelming majority of commenters expressing opposition. It is as though our representatives are not representing the voice of their constituents, rather, attempting to fulfill their personal political agendas instead.

This bill will not stop assemblies, but it will fill more prisons; crowded prisons already at the mercy of covid-19, killing inmates and officers. Creating more felons is not the way to a better Florida.

In Florida, we had historic marches and businesses were not burned. In fact, many business owners supported the actions either financially, through goods and services, or by joining themselves, proud to make history. Protests brought communities across Florida together all summer, however, a bill like this will create an extra layer of fear and division.

It was shocking to see comments dismissed regarding the unclear 'mob intimidation' language, as well as the possibility that these restrictions would be used mainly to target communities of color protesting against police killings.

The response was that this is not the 'intent' of the bill, and that there are always some that can abuse any law; "bad apples." This is concerning to me as a citizen because our lawmakers should care if even one American's freedom is jeopardized. A law that can be manipulated to target innocent people is an unjust law, and that concern should not be brushed off. Giving bad apples more tools to exercise bad judgement is unnecessary.

The fact is, this bill language was drafted prior to the Capitol siege and targeted towards civil rights protesters, many of whom were proven innocent. We cannot ignore the hundreds of citizens, including the Tallahassee 19 and the over 70 protesters in Jacksonville, who were falsely targeted and arrested last summer. The police were wrong in their assessment, so it is very valid for people to not want more reasons for law enforcement to be 'on alert'.

As a concerned Floridian, I am asking you to not allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
Ramsey Wilson

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
~Mary Edwards

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Illinois resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
Julianna Sadiku

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
Kierra M.

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder and looting which do not infringe on the due process protections of protesters.

I was very concerned with the vote to push this bill through the Criminal Justice Subcommittee on 01/27/21, despite the overwhelming majority of commenters expressing opposition. It is as though our representatives are not representing the voice of their constituents, rather, attempting to fulfill their personal political agendas instead.

This bill will not stop assemblies, but it will fill more prisons; crowded prisons already at the mercy of covid-19, killing inmates and officers. Creating more felons is not the way to a better Florida.

In Florida, we had historic marches and businesses were not burned. In fact, many business owners supported the actions either financially, through goods and services, or by joining themselves, proud to make history. Protests brought communities across Florida together all summer, however, a bill like this will create an extra layer of fear and division.

It was shocking to see comments dismissed regarding the unclear 'mob intimidation' language, as well as the possibility that these restrictions would be used mainly to target communities of color protesting against police killings.

The response was that this is not the 'intent' of the bill, and that there are always some that can abuse any law; "bad apples." This is concerning to me as a citizen because our lawmakers should care if even one American's freedom is jeopardized. A law that can be manipulated to target innocent people is an unjust law, and that concern should not be brushed off. Giving bad apples more tools to exercise bad judgement is unnecessary.

The fact is, this bill language was drafted prior to the Capitol siege and targeted towards civil rights protesters, many of whom were proven innocent. We cannot ignore the hundreds of citizens, including the Tallahassee 19 and the over 70 protesters in Jacksonville, who were falsely targeted and arrested last summer. The police were wrong in their assessment, so it is very valid for people to not want more reasons for law enforcement to be 'on alert'.

As a concerned Floridian, I am asking you to not allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
[YOUR NAME]

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

My name is Courtney McClanahan and I am a Florida resident contacting you today, URGING you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act.

There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a sincerely concerned citizen, I urge you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.

Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
Courtney McClanahan

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
[YOUR NAME]

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
Emily J, St. Augustine Florida

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
Nicole Reyes

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder and looting which do not infringe on the due process protections of protesters.

I was very concerned with the vote to push this bill through the Criminal Justice Subcommittee on 01/27/21, despite the overwhelming majority of commenters expressing opposition. It is as though our representatives are not representing the voice of their constituents, rather, attempting to fulfill their personal political agendas instead.

This bill will not stop assemblies, but it will fill more prisons; crowded prisons already at the mercy of covid-19, killing inmates and officers. Creating more felons is not the way to a better Florida.

In Florida, we had historic marches and businesses were not burned. In fact, many business owners supported the actions either financially, through goods and services, or by joining themselves, proud to make history. Protests brought communities across Florida together all summer, however, a bill like this will create an extra layer of fear and division.

It was shocking to see comments dismissed regarding the unclear 'mob intimidation' language, as well as the possibility that these restrictions would be used mainly to target communities of color protesting against police killings.

The response was that this is not the 'intent' of the bill, and that there are always some that can abuse any law; "bad apples." This is concerning to me as a citizen because our lawmakers should care if even one American's freedom is jeopardized. A law that can be manipulated to target innocent people is an unjust law, and that concern should not be brushed off. Giving bad apples more tools to exercise bad judgement is unnecessary.

The fact is, this bill language was drafted prior to the Capitol siege and targeted towards civil rights protesters, many of whom were proven innocent. We cannot ignore the hundreds of citizens, including the Tallahassee 19 and the over 70 protesters in Jacksonville, who were falsely targeted and arrested last summer. The police were wrong in their assessment, so it is very valid for people to not want more reasons for law enforcement to be 'on alert'.

As a concerned Floridian, I am asking you to not allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
Courtney McClanahan

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
Gabrielle Bautista

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder and looting which do not infringe on the due process protections of protesters.

I was very concerned with the vote to push this bill through the Criminal Justice Subcommittee on 01/27/21, despite the overwhelming majority of commenters expressing opposition. It is as though our representatives are not representing the voice of their constituents, rather, attempting to fulfill their personal political agendas instead.

This bill will not stop assemblies, but it will fill more prisons; crowded prisons already at the mercy of covid-19, killing inmates and officers. Creating more felons is not the way to a better Florida.

In Florida, we had historic marches and businesses were not burned. In fact, many business owners supported the actions either financially, through goods and services, or by joining themselves, proud to make history. Protests brought communities across Florida together all summer, however, a bill like this will create an extra layer of fear and division.

It was shocking to see comments dismissed regarding the unclear 'mob intimidation' language, as well as the possibility that these restrictions would be used mainly to target communities of color protesting against police killings.

The response was that this is not the 'intent' of the bill, and that there are always some that can abuse any law; "bad apples." This is concerning to me as a citizen because our lawmakers should care if even one American's freedom is jeopardized. A law that can be manipulated to target innocent people is an unjust law, and that concern should not be brushed off. Giving bad apples more tools to exercise bad judgement is unnecessary.

The fact is, this bill language was drafted prior to the Capitol siege and targeted towards civil rights protesters, many of whom were proven innocent. We cannot ignore the hundreds of citizens, including the Tallahassee 19 and the over 70 protesters in Jacksonville, who were falsely targeted and arrested last summer. The police were wrong in their assessment, so it is very valid for people to not want more reasons for law enforcement to be 'on alert'.

As a concerned Floridian, I am asking you to not allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,

Mariella

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder and looting which do not infringe on the due process protections of protesters.

I was very concerned with the vote to push this bill through the Criminal Justice Subcommittee on 01/27/21, despite the overwhelming majority of commenters expressing opposition. It is as though our representatives are not representing the voice of their constituents, rather, attempting to fulfill their personal political agendas instead.

This bill will not stop assemblies, but it will fill more prisons; crowded prisons already at the mercy of covid-19, killing inmates and officers. Creating more felons is not the way to a better Florida.

In Florida, we had historic marches and businesses were not burned. In fact, many business owners supported the actions either financially, through goods and services, or by joining themselves, proud to make history. Protests brought communities across Florida together all summer, however, a bill like this will create an extra layer of fear and division.

It was shocking to see comments dismissed regarding the unclear 'mob intimidation' language, as well as the possibility that these restrictions would be used mainly to target communities of color protesting against police killings.

The response was that this is not the 'intent' of the bill, and that there are always some that can abuse any law; "bad apples." This is concerning to me as a citizen because our lawmakers should care if even one American's freedom is jeopardized. A law that can be manipulated to target innocent people is an unjust law, and that concern should not be brushed off. Giving bad apples more tools to exercise bad judgement is unnecessary.

The fact is, this bill language was drafted prior to the Capitol siege and targeted towards civil rights protesters, many of whom were proven innocent. We cannot ignore the hundreds of citizens, including the Tallahassee 19 and the over 70 protesters in Jacksonville, who were falsely targeted and arrested last summer. The police were wrong in their assessment, so it is very valid for people to not want more reasons for law enforcement to be 'on alert'.

As a concerned Floridian, I am asking you to not allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Dear Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
Keira H.

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
Pamela S. Lawson

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
Jordan W

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
[YOUR NAME]

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
[YOUR NAME]

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Thank you for your time,
Erica Simmons

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder and looting which do not infringe on the due process protections of protesters.

I was very concerned with the vote to push this bill through the Criminal Justice Subcommittee on 01/27/21, despite the overwhelming majority of commenters expressing opposition. It is as though our representatives are not representing the voice of their constituents, rather, attempting to fulfill their personal political agendas instead.

This bill will not stop assemblies, but it will fill more prisons; crowded prisons already at the mercy of covid-19, killing inmates and officers. Creating more felons is not the way to a better Florida.

In Florida, we had historic marches and businesses were not burned. In fact, many business owners supported the actions either financially, through goods and services, or by joining themselves, proud to make history. Protests brought communities across Florida together all summer, however, a bill like this will create an extra layer of fear and division.

It was shocking to see comments dismissed regarding the unclear 'mob intimidation' language, as well as the possibility that these restrictions would be used mainly to target communities of color protesting against police killings.

The response was that this is not the 'intent' of the bill, and that there are always some that can abuse any law; "bad apples." This is concerning to me as a citizen because our lawmakers should care if even one American's freedom is jeopardized. A law that can be manipulated to target innocent people is an unjust law, and that concern should not be brushed off. Giving bad apples more tools to exercise bad judgement is unnecessary.

The fact is, this bill language was drafted prior to the Capitol siege and targeted towards civil rights protesters, many of whom were proven innocent. We cannot ignore the hundreds of citizens, including the Tallahassee 19 and the over 70 protesters in Jacksonville, who were falsely targeted and arrested last summer. The police were wrong in their assessment, so it is very valid for people to not want more reasons for law enforcement to be 'on alert'.

As a concerned Floridian, I am asking you to not allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder and looting which do not infringe on the due process protections of protesters.

I was very concerned with the vote to push this bill through the Criminal Justice Subcommittee on 01/27/21, despite the overwhelming majority of commenters expressing opposition. It is as though our representatives are not representing the voice of their constituents, rather, attempting to fulfill their personal political agendas instead.

This bill will not stop assemblies, but it will fill more prisons; crowded prisons already at the mercy of covid-19, killing inmates and officers. Creating more felons is not the way to a better Florida.

In Florida, we had historic marches and businesses were not burned. In fact, many business owners supported the actions either financially, through goods and services, or by joining themselves, proud to make history. Protests brought communities across Florida together all summer, however, a bill like this will create an extra layer of fear and division.

It was shocking to see comments dismissed regarding the unclear 'mob intimidation' language, as well as the possibility that these restrictions would be used mainly to target communities of color protesting against police killings.

The response was that this is not the 'intent' of the bill, and that there are always some that can abuse any law; "bad apples." This is concerning to me as a citizen because our lawmakers should care if even one American's freedom is jeopardized. A law that can be manipulated to target innocent people is an unjust law, and that concern should not be brushed off. Giving bad apples more tools to exercise bad judgement is unnecessary.

The fact is, this bill language was drafted prior to the Capitol siege and targeted towards civil rights protesters, many of whom were proven innocent. We cannot ignore the hundreds of citizens, including the Tallahassee 19 and the over 70 protesters in Jacksonville, who were falsely targeted and arrested last summer. The police were wrong in their assessment, so it is very valid for people to not want more reasons for law enforcement to be 'on alert'.

As a concerned Floridian, I am asking you to not allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
Lauren Spencer

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
[YOUR NAME]

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
Tanya Hardaker

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
Rebecca Wucker

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
Erin Bigalke

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a St Johns county, Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
Anne DeMartini

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
Lakiya B

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
Diane

Subject: Oppose HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act

Elected Representative,

I am a Florida resident contacting you today to urge you to OPPOSE HB1, the Combatting Violence, Disorder, and Looting Law Enforcement Protection Act. There are already laws in place regarding violence, disorder, and looting, which do not infringe on protesters' due process protections and extra protections for Law Enforcement Officers in the state of Florida under FL §112.532.

While the events that took place at the Capitol on January 6, 2021, are abhorrent and a direct attack against democracy, it is also evident due to the circumstances of 2020 that law enforcement is not always capable of discerning civil disobedience. A constitutionally protected act, from rioting and other illegal activity. This bill language was drafted before the Capitol siege and targeted civil rights protesters, many of whom were eventually proven innocent.

Just this summer in Jacksonville, over 70 peaceful civil rights protesters were unlawfully detained. Among these protesters were families, students, pastors, business owners, teachers, medics, and lawyers. All charges were dropped. Four protesters even sued the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and won a $100,000 settlement due to their rights being deliberately violated. With this new bill, these innocent people would have had incredible difficulty maintaining their freedom, even in the court of law.

As a concerned citizen, I am asking you not to allow fear and chaos to influence a hasty decision that could jeopardize honest Americans' freedom. We have seen the blatant double standards regarding protesting and treatment amongst groups, and this bill was proposed before this tyrannic event and is only being pushed into legislation in haste and to further suppress our freedoms.
Please VOTE NO on HB1.

Sincerely,
Melissa Goetia
