Subject: "Reading Success" Bill (HB368)

Dear Representative,

I am writing today about the "Reading Success" Bill (HB368), with a hearing scheduled for Tuesday. My 7 year-old has dyslexia. As a dyslexia mom, I've combed the literature & have become very familiar with Structured Literacy and the Science of Reading.

I urge Missouri to follow Arkansas' lead, and get reading instruction right, by choosing structured literacy. I encourage you to watch the two embedded videos (within the below hyperlink), to see how balanced literacy, widely used in Missouri schools, causes real damage.
https://www.edweek.org/leadership/battle-over-reading-parents-of-children-with-dyslexia-wage-curriculum-war/2019/05?cmp=soc-edit-fb&fbclid=IwAR17cAx1jhUhA-O4A3Kx7t-Qn-0PLj_VmjNk5Iu3TJqrKgxPz4o7DV7ssfs

Please support the "Reading Success" Bill (HB368)!

Sincerely,
Dr. Laura Bequette

Subject: 1,000s of bogus crossing records

I sent a FRA complaint like 2 months ago about the 1,000s of bogus railroad crossing records listed the last few months as SP Special Protection (stop and flag) in the WBAPS with NO response.

Request is to see what has been done by the FRA to correct the 1,000s of bogus entries which completely screws up the WBAPS ratings.

You have someone on railroads payroll or is the $5 MILLION a year software flakey?.

CTE Marketing Update

The goal of the CTE marketing plan is to improve the image and brand of CTE in the state while utilizing partnerships to create opportunities and pathways for students. Measures for the plan's ultimate success include:

- Increase student enrollment – headcount/percentage
- Increase number of internships, apprenticeships, and other forms of work-based learning
- Increase the number of business partners
- Improve the perception of internal and external stakeholders

DESE spent $40,000 last year on the CTE marketing campaign and this year spending will almost double (i.e., $77,500). The campaign is being more tailored to reach the optimal audience

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

I. Welcome and Introductions

CTE-AC Chair, R.J. Catizon, called the meeting to order at 10:11 A.M. He thanked the St. Louis Plumbers and Pipefitters Local 562 Training Center for providing the facility for the meeting. He noted that members of the CTE-AC will tour the training facility during the meeting.

II. Individual CTE-AC Member Reports – NOTE: Due to technical limitations, CTE-AC members who participated remotely could not offer reports.

Catizon announced that the St. Louis-Kansas City Carpenters Regional Council has been working to advance the Missouri Ready Apprenticeship Program. He said this pre- apprenticeship training program is designed to provide students with experiences in carpentry before they enter more comprehensive apprenticeship programs. He said the Carpenters Regional Council is now preparing the 5th class of pre- apprenticeship students. He said the students train for three weeks and then begin work in week four as carpentry apprentices. Catizon said the St. Louis-Kansas City Carpenters Regional Council is also participating in the Career Connections program to connect students with careers in CTE areas.

Dr. Chris DeGeare, Vice President of Instruction and Chief Academic Officer, Jefferson College noted that Jefferson College has exceptional programs in carpentry and the health services. He said the Jefferson Patient Care Transitions Program is providing an excellent bridge to the nursing profession. DeGeare stated that Jefferson is now working on a new AAS degree in cyber security. He said Jefferson has signed on with the Build-Back Better Collation in St. Louis for aerospace and biotech to prepare students for what is next in CTE.

Dr. Bart Washer, formerly Professor and Chair of the School of Professional Education and Leadership at the University of Central Missouri reported that he has assumed the position of Interim Assistant Commissioner in the DESE Office of College and Career Readiness.

Jonathan Walker, formerly Business, Marketing and Cooperative Education Teacher at the Kirksville Area Career Center and now CTE Director at Culver-Stockton said the college is expanding experiential learning opportunities for CTE students.

Anna Hennes, Program Leader for Real World Learning at the Ewing Marion Kauffman Foundation said the Foundation is working to make sure they are offering IRC programs that are actually needed by industry. She said Kauffman is also working on "badging" for essential work skills like effective communication. She mentioned that Kauffman is also building connections to industry through local unions to provide students with meaningful connections to the world of work. Hennes reported that Google is now providing stackable technical certificates in cyber security and is offering that training free.

Dan Stroot, Senior Manager at Boeing Defense said Boeing is working on partnerships with St. Louis high schools to bring students into Boeing and into advanced manufacturing careers. He said Boeing is now bringing former program participants back to talk to new program recruits. He said this has been exciting and motivating for the new students because they can see that past program participants have been successful. He said Boeing is trying to communicate to parents that training and internships with Boeing can lead to good wages and a good career AND a bachelor's degree PAID BY BOEING if the student so desires. Stroot also reported that Boeing is supporting Missouri Chamber of Commerce events to promote CTE throughout the state. Stroot told the membership an issue exists in attacking more women and minorities into the manufacturing trades and that Boeing is designing programs to get more women and minorities into advanced manufacturing.

Rebecca Bolen, a teacher at the Rolla Technical Center (RTC) reported that the Center is receiving much needed campus renovations. She said that many former RTC students are involved in the renovation projects and doing wonderful work. She said students have recently returned from Washington D.C, where they attended the national Health Occupations Students of America conference.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Jill Williams, Vice President of Workforce Initiatives for the Missouri Hospital Association told the membership that there is a "perfect storm" of challenges in the health care workforce. She explained that travel nurses are now involved in bidding wars for their services and many are leaving their home agencies to travel and work. Williams added that employees are burning out and that hospitals are doing all they can to support employees. She said there are serious shortages in all areas of health care including nursing and radiology and added that hospitals are struggling to fill positions throughout institutions and are offering many incentives to work but are still not getting people to apply. Williams said the Missouri Hospital Association is working on a legislative agenda to address needs in healthcare.

William Lowery, Project Executive, PARIC Construction said PARIC is working with North Technical High School and South Technical High School in St. Louis to encourage students to select careers in CTE. He said PARIC is offering presentations to all schools that request them to help students become interested in CTE occupations. He said PARIC is also offering personal presentations for individual students for a more tailored experience. Lowery said that the current average age of a union member is 52 and there will soon be a huge need for people in the construction trades in the very near future (5 years). Lowery said PARIC will be looking to hire between 220 and 250 people in the next five years.

Dr. Sam Duncan, Superintendent of the New Madrid County R-1 School District reported that New Madrid's tech skills program was established in 1969 -- so the district has a long standing commitment to CTE. He said that the lack of students going into tech skills caused New Madrid to heavily reinvest in CTE programs. He encouraged members of the CTE-AC to urge their local boards of education to support CTE programs. Duncan said the New Madrid apprenticeship program is booming and all of the district's 14 electrician pathways students were offered jobs immediately upon completion of the program and that all New Madrid CTE students are coming out of programs with jobs awaiting. He added that to combat teacher shortages in the district New Madrid has also becoming involved in DESE's Grow Your Own new teacher recruitment program.

III. DESE and State Board of Education Updates

Bart Washer, Interim Assistant Commissioner, DESE College and Career Readiness, provided DESE updates. They included updates on:

> Office of Childhood -- Major reorganization: From three different state agencies to one (DESE). This has taken 37 Amended/Rescinded Rules
> Office of Special Education -- Updating State Performance Plan (17 indicators). The Office of Special Education is seeking continued parent input
> Office of Quality Schools -- MSIP 6; Student Success, 8 National Blue Ribbon / Missouri Gold Star Schools announced

Washer reported that DESE continues to administer Federal Funding under CARES, CRRSA, ARP Elementary and Secondary School Emergency Relief fund (ESSER I, II, & III), and the Governor's Emergency Education Relief Fund (GEER I & II). Washer said Missouri received $3 Billion (proportion based on Elementary and Secondary Education Act Title 1-A funding) and this funding will provide many opportunities including:

- Facilitate student and LEA growth/improvements
- CTE parent reimbursement and program enhancement funding
- Teacher recruitment and retention
- Social Emotional Learning/mental health for students AND school staff
- Postsecondary advising for rural schools
- Child Care Programs

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Washer emphasized that LEAs have their own ESSER funding and said the funding will last over approximately three years so LEA's must commit to sustainable programs.
Referencing funding opportunities, Representative Rusty Black asked Washer about the possibility of creating a survey to ask rural districts about their needs in CTE education. Black suggested that CTE programs are sorely needed at the middle school level to motivate students before they become uninterested in school generally. Washer said that while we think of CTE as applying to high school students -- we do have programs that feed those programs at the junior high level. Sam Duncan, Superintendent of the New Madrid County R-1 School District commented that while expanding CTE programs to the middle school is a great idea -- there is no additional funding for doing so. He said extending programs at the junior high level will mean we may have to give something else up. Black responded by saying he is aware of schools in Colorado that are starting CTE programs that are shared between districts. He said these programs share instructors to introduce middle school students to welding and other CTE programs.

Roger Barnes, DESE CTE Coordinator advised that Perkins V funding will reach all the way down to the middle school level – however, this is federal money and that means that the same funds would have to be spread thinner. Black asked if Missouri could pull down additional federal funds if it were to increase "match" money put into CTE appropriation lines. Barnes said he did not know if Missouri could draw down additional federal funds if appropriators place more "match" money into the budget. He said he would follow up to provide more information. Duncan said exposing middle school students to new and cool experiences is important. He said that local boards of education have key roles in providing leadership on this and other CTE issues.

Chris DeGeare, Chief Academic Officer at Jefferson College said the practical implications of providing CTE educational opportunities for middle schoolers is not something the system is set up to do at this point. He said Jefferson College CTE programs are completely sustained by Perkins funding. DeGeare said because that is the case, if funding is not increased, then something else will receive less. He said as long as there is not additional funding then we must to continue to support existing programs. He suggested that legislative action is probably needed to better service and support programs for individual school districts at the middle school level.

Anna Hennes, Program Leader for Real World Learning at the Ewing Marion Kauffman Foundation stated demographic data indicates that the number of students needed to replace retiring teachers are just not there. She said that experiences are needed for as many students as possible to get students thinking about possible careers. Hennes suggested that experiences at the middle school level would be very valuable.

Washer ended the discussion by saying that the beauty of the CTE-AC is that we can take your feedback back to work on improving approaches to CTE policies and programs.

IV. What is Success Ready Students? – NOTE: No public discussion was offered for this agenda item. Members of the CTE-AC were asked to write attributes of success ready students and to provide methods to measure or document the identified traits. CTE-AC members recorded their responses on paper and turned them into DESE for consideration/discussion at a future CTE-AC meeting.

V. Membership Status

Roger Barnes, DESE CTE Coordinator recounted that a discussion has been ongoing about extending the terms of service for CTE-AC members. He stated that the Commissioner of Education appoints the voting members of the CTE-AC -- however, Commissioner Vandeven has said that the members of CTE-AC are trusted and if they wish to serve longer – then she supports that decision.

Barnes reported two members will be leaving the CTE-AC. They are Dave Rockers, Director of the Franklin Technology Center and Bart Washer, formerly Professor and Chair of the School of Professional Education and Leadership at the University of Central Missouri. Rockers term expired and Washer left his position at UCM to take his current position at DESE. Barnes announced that Dr. Michael Pantleo, Assistant Professor, University of Central Missouri CTE has been selected to replace Dr. Washer and Mr. Andy Robinson, Director of Four Rivers Career Center in Washington, MO is recommended to replace Dave Rockers. Barnes indicated that the Commissioner will make formal appointments to the CTE-AC before the next CTE-AC meeting in January 2022.

Motion. CTE-AC covey approval to the Commissioner of Education of her selections for new members to the CTE-AC. Motion carried by acclamation.

Catizon then opened the floor for nominations for Chair of the CTE-AC. R.J. Catizon of the St. Louis-Kansas City Carpenters Regional Council was nominated to continue as Chair. Jonathan Walker, CTE Director at Culver-Stockton College was nominated for Vice-Chair. Recording secretary nominations. Anna Hennes, Program Leader for Real World Learning at the Ewing Marion Kauffman Foundation nominated for Secretary/Reporter.

Motion. CTE-AC approve the slate of CTE-AC officers as presented. Motion carried by acclamation.

VI. Local 562 Plumbers and Pipefitter Training Center Tour

Martin B. McClimens, Assistant Director of Training at the Local 562 Plumbers and Pipefitter Training Center (TC) provided a tour of the facility for members of the CTE-AC. McClimens said the TC is totally financed by a 50 cent per hour withholding from Local 562 member paychecks. He told the CTE-AC that the TC is fully paid for with no outstanding loans. McClimens reported that 450 apprentices are currently enrolled in the TC and training for about 2,700 journeyman is also supported at the facility.

McClimens explained that the Plumbers and Pipefitters Union Local 562 have three educational centers located throughout their geographic jurisdiction and they are utilized by all Local 562 members. He said apprentices begin their career in the construction industry enrolled in a curriculum that teaches the many facets of the plumbing and pipefitting trades, and prepares them for mandated licensing certification. Journeymen members also attend to update their licensed skills, and learn the most advanced industry methods enabling them to provide the most progressive, comprehensive skill sets to the consumer.

McClimens explained that training programs produce plumber and pipefitter foremen, journeymen and apprentices. We believe cost-effective construction is achieved through productivity and education. He added that our industry's advance planning and commitment to training help ensure the availability of a skilled work force ready to complete complex work, whenever and wherever it's needed.

McClimens stated that on-the-job and classroom training are thoroughly planned and integrated to provide the necessary groundwork for our plumber and pipefitter apprentices. Over the course of five years, he said apprentices learn their craft from journeymen in the field while also attending formal classroom training one day, every other week which is funded by the contractor. On their own time, apprentices train for an additional four (4) hours per week in the classroom. A sampling of classes available include:

- General pipefitting
- Rigging
- Plumber and pipefitter math
- Blueprint reading and drafting
- Pipe fabrication
- Fiber optics
- NCPWB-Certified Welding
- Pneumatic controls installation and maintenance
- Workplace safety
- Introduction to supervision

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Plumbers & Pipefitters training classes meet the standards and regulations of several national testing and certification bodies.

McClimens advised that all welding classes are conducted in association with the National Certified Pipe Welding Bureau (NCPWB). Medical gas system classes are approved by the American Medical Gas Institute. Contractors and pipefitters trained in this certified program know the intricacies of protecting the life safety of all health care consumers. He said that training in refrigerant reclamation is approved by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency through the United Association of Journeymen and Apprentices of the Plumbing and Pipefitting Industry of the U.S. and Canada. Plumbers and pipefitters completing this program help owners comply with the federal rules and regulations, avoiding the consequences of non-compliance. McClimens said that water backflow prevention training provided by the U.A. is approved by the American Backflow Prevention Association and meets all state water safety standards. This certified training program protects the life safety of everyone.

VII. Financial: Area Career Center Construction Funding & GEER II Funding

Dr. Roger Barnes, DESE CTE Coordinator, reported that the Missouri Perkins Allocation is $26,273,960. He said the Comprehensive Local Needs Assessment is required before FY23 application and that application is due July 1, 2022. Barnes advised that as per Perkins V Section 134©(1)(B) requires that prior to the 3rd program year under the Act, beginning July 1, 2022:

> "local recipients must update their comprehensive local needs assessments (CLNAs) and include the results of those assessments in their local application for funding."

Barnes indicated that there are 107 Perkins Fiscal Agents in the state which include:

- 92 Secondary Schools
- 57 Area Career Centers
- 34 Stand-alone school districts
- 1 Charter school
- 15 Postsecondary Institutions
- 14 Community College
- 1 State Technical College

Barnes then reported on area career center (ACC) construction funding opportunities. He noted that Representative Black was instrumental in providing a "place holder" in the budget of $1 for this opportunity.

> HB 2 (2021) Legislative language Section 2.116.
> To the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education For the design, renovation, construction, and improvements of career (vocational) technical schools; provided that costs are shared at ratio of fifty percent state and fifty percent local.
> From General Revenue Fund (0101). . . . . ……... . $2,000,000 Funding Opportunities

Barnes stated that this funding was last available in 2009 and $2 million has now been appropriated by the legislature provided that costs are shared at the ratio of fifty percent state and fifty percent local. Requirements for receiving funds include having interest in new construction, design, renovation or remodeling, having matching funds available, and LEAs must have Board of Education approved plans. Barnes said 28 area career centers responded to the survey and ten area career centers have been awarded construction funds.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Area Career Centers receiving construction funds are:

- Boonslick Technical Education Center
- Carthage Technical Center
- Dallas County Technical Center
- Lebanon Technology and Career Center
- Lex La-Ray Technical Center
- Poplar Bluff Technical Career Center
- Rolla Technical Center
- UniTec Career Center
- Sikeston Career & Technology Center
- State Fair Career & Technology Center

Governor's Emergency Education Relief Fund II (GEER II)

Barnes said there is $12 million in GEER II Funds -- $6 million in CTE parent reimbursement and $5.9 million for the Equipment and Enhancement Grant. He indicated that guidance is now being developed on grant administration and will be posted soon. Barnes indicated that funds may be phased in over time and schools have until September 30, 2023 to spend the funds. Barnes indicated that reimbursement is first paid to schools and schools then reimburse parents. Barnes said that this is a huge amount of money and he anticipates that DESE will have money from this fund through 2023.

$6 Million = CTE Parent Reimbursement

- Guidance Document is being developed and will be posted to the DESE Career Education website
- Examples of allowable cost
  - IRCs
  - Stackable credentials
  - CTE Dual or Articulated Credit
  - DESE approved TSAs
- Funds may be phased in over time
- Schools have until September 2023 to spend the funds
- Reimbursement paid to schools; Schools are to reimburse parents

$5.9 Million = Equipment and Enhancement

- Guidance Document is being developed and will be posted to the DESE Career Education website
- Competitive grant for Missouri's 57 Area Career Centers (ACC) only
- Grant funds must enhance or extend ACC capacity to offer training in high-demand occupations
- Maximum grant award is $150,000
- Align with high demand occupations
- No financial match is required
- Funds may be phased in over time
- Schools have until September 2023 to spend the funds

Barnes told the CTE-AC that $5.9 million is allotted for equipment and enhancement. He indicated that guidance documents are being development for this as well but the funding will be used for competitive grants for Missouri's 57 area career centers (ACC) only. Barnes said grant funds must enhance or extend ACC capacity to offer training in high-demand occupations. The maximum grant award is $150,000 and they must align with high demand occupations. Barnes indicated that no match is required and that funds may be phased in over time. Additionally, schools will have until September 2023 to spend the funds and allowable uses will be in the guidance document.

Representative Barbara Phifer asked if flexibility exists to create a program that may be used to loan parents money until they can repay "loans." She suggested that may be a way to help parents avoid substantial upfront costs for pandemic related education expenses. Barnes responded by saying that each ACC has received an allocation which they must manage and account for. He said such a loan program might force those institutions to keep track of many "loans" which could cause significant legal and administrative issues.

Barnes then reported on the Early Childhood Professions Grant. He said there are 35 area career centers in Missouri without Early Childhood Professions programs. He said the grant provides startup funds amounting to $60,000 for salary and fringe and $60,000 for materials and supplies. Barnes said 15 area career centers currently have Early Childhood Professions programs and the grant would provide funds for remodeling and materials as well as supplies/upgrades. Barnes told the CTE-AC that the grant requires CTE program approval for CTE funding and that the funding opportunity is being offered through the new Office of Childhood.

Barnes provided an update on the CTE Certificate. He said that 2021 graduates earned 1,335 DESE CTE Certificates while Missouri 2021 graduates numbered 67,000 in total. He suggested the real question now is whether the CTE Certificate is actually an honor -- or whether it is just another piece of paper that graduates receive that means nothing to them or employers. Barnes suggested that discussions are needed to ascertain whether communities or employers are looking for the CTE Certificate as well as how the CTE Certificate is valued in Missouri. He suggested that businesses and industries may not value or promote the use of the CTE certificate. Barnes suggested that Missouri may want to consider a program similar to Tennessee's where if a student has a CTE certificate they will automatically get an interview with a Tennessee employer when a job becomes available.

VIII. Marketing: CTE Marketing Update

Steve Bryant, DESE Missouri Career Pathways Manager, reported that the goal of the CTE marketing plan is to improve the image and brand of CTE in the state while utilizing partnerships to create opportunities and pathways for students. He stated that key measures for the plan's ultimate success will include:

- Increase student enrollment – headcount/percentage
- Increase number of internships, apprenticeships, and other forms of work-based learning
- Increase the number of business partners
- Improve the perception of internal and external stakeholders

Bryant provided a brief Marketing Plan update. He said DESE spent 40,000 last year on the CTE marketing campaign and this year spending will almost double. He indicated that this campaign is being more tailored to reach the optimal audience. He provided the following summary:

Dr. Chris DeGeare, Vice President of Instruction and Chief Academic Officer, Jefferson College, asked whether there will be a follow up survey to discern whether the marketing campaign is producing results. Bryant answered by saying that DESE is again working with the team from University of Missouri Extension to design and conduct a follow-up survey soon.

Anna Hennes, Program Leader for Real World Learning at the Ewing Marion Kauffman Foundation asked whether members of the CTE-AC may suggest students for CTE student success story videos. Bryant said that DESE is very willing to accept suggestions and any help from CTE-AC members who have student success stories to offer.

Bryant ended his comments by reporting that DESE will be producing a webinar to highlight non-traditional areas in CTE. He said these webinars will feature both CTE educators and students who are taking advantage of CTE apprenticeship programs. He mentioned webinars featuring employers such as the Department of Natural Resources and John Deere. He said DESE is producing the webinars as one way to compliment the media campaign. Bryant indicated that the target audience will be counselors and educators and that the videos will be achieved so they may use them for student guidance.

Senator Karla Eslinger commented about the DESE phone system. She said when you call DESE -- you have to wait about a 30 minutes to talk to someone. Eslinger suggested the long on-hold time contributes negatively to the public's perception of DESE. She then added she wished to congratulate DESE for all of the work that has been done in getting positive CTE messages out to the public.

Dan Stroot, Senior Manager at Boeing Defense asked if DESE feels there is enough budgeted for the media campaign/program. Bryant answered by saying "probably not -- but we will have about double the budget that we had last year." Representative Rusty Black suggested that funding increases may be possible - but he warned that people need to be ready to answer questions regarding whether the state is getting any value for its money. He said that the CTE-AC was established to help increase the value of CTE inside DESE which he said it has accomplished. However, the problem now is getting parents to change their perceptions about CTE careers and that is what the marketing program should accomplish. Eslinger said that having data to indicate that more people are entering the workforce because of these sorts of initiatives are key to winning approval for funding.

IX DESE CTE Director Updates – NOTE: No public discussion was offered for this agenda item. CTE Director Updates were provide to CTE-AC members via written documents. Those documents when available will be posted at https://dese.mo.gov/college-career-readiness/career-education/career-technical-education-cte-advisory-council under Monday, October 18th, 2021.

X. Public Comments

The Director of CTE for St. Louis Public Schools (SLPS) provided public comments addressing requirements for earning the CTE Certificate. He commented that while SLPS supports the CTE Certificate, the district wishes to make sure it is accessible to more students. The SLPS CTE Director suggested that the student attendance, grade point average, and ACT Work Keys score requirements for the CTE Certificate may make the goal of earning the certificate unreachable for many CTE students who he characterized as not being particularly academically oriented. He stated that at this point -- the requirements for the CTE Certificate are very similar to the requirements for the A+ program – however, CTE students do not realize the same sorts of rewards as those who earn the A+ scholarship. The SLPS CTE Director suggested that many districts, including SLPS, are struggling to fill the school to work pipeline with candidates and the academically oriented CTE Certificate requirements are not helping. Andy Robinson, responded to the SLPS CTE Director's comments by saying that the CTE certificate requirements allow us to assert there are rigorous standards around CTE programs. He said the ACT Work Keys requirements are a big part of that rigor. In apparent agreement with Robinson, Chris DeGeare of Jefferson College stated that many industries have ACT Work Key score thresholds incorporated into their hiring and training programs. He said many employers recognize ACT Work Keys scores as valid indicators of student knowledge and skill.

i. Strategic Planning Update

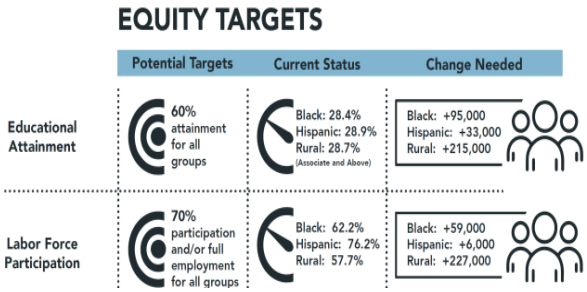
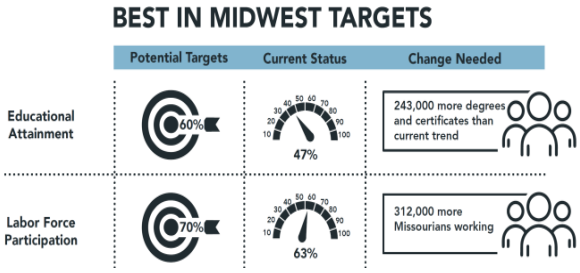
Using the graphic below, Commissioner Mulligan updated the CBHE on the progress of the strategic planning process. She said that as the department marches toward completion of the strategic plan in December, we want to make sure that everyone is aware of the direction the plan is taking. Mulligan recounted that the VISION of the strategic plan is for every Missourian to be empowered with the skills and education needed for success. The MISSION is to put Missourians on a path to learn, work, and prosper.

Mulligan stated that the fundamental building blocks or the PRINCIPLES that guide work at DHEWD are people-focused, workforce-aligned, equity-centered, and impact-driven. She emphasized that workforce aligned has been included as a new principle. She asked for CBHE comments or concerns about the inclusion of the new principle. None were offered.

Mulligan told the CBHE that VALUES define the way staff at DHEWD work together -- emphasizing teamwork, collaboration, accountability, and work-life balance.

Mulligan then announced the BIG GOALS of the plan. Missouri will become the best in the Midwest in educational attainment and workforce participation by 2030. In addition, DHEWD to become the best place to work in state government. Mulligan said that the plan will retain the 60 percent educational attainment goal because it remains relevant. She said the state with the highest educational attainment in the Midwest is now Minnesota with an attainment rate of 59 percent. She then presented the following figures to detail Equity and Best in the Midwest targets.





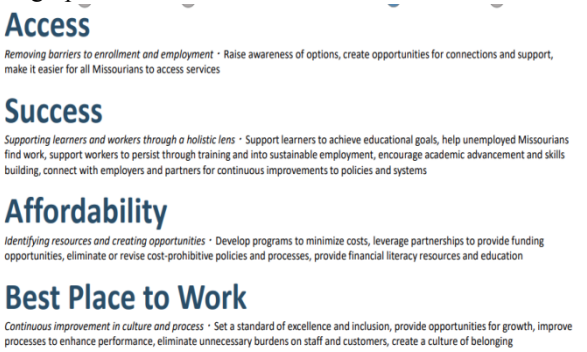
Mulligan told the CBHE that the list of all target indicators will be reviewed annually. Calling attention to the indicators in the following graphic, Mulligan asserted they are very important in determining whether the big goals of the plan are being realized. Mulligan reported a complete set of indicators will be provided at the board's November 16 meeting.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Mulligan explained that educational attainment is a measure of students enrolled in for credit or degree-seeking postsecondary programs at colleges and universities. She said educational attainment is important because 60 percent of jobs will require postsecondary education/training and enrollments are an indicator of the future employment pipeline. Labor force participation is an important indicator because it describes the portion of those employed relative to the working-age population. For example, for every 100 working-age Missourians, 59 were employed in 2020. Mulligan told the CBHE that a large employed population demonstrates economic stability and growth. Finally, best place to work represents the number of team members who agree to statements regarding personal ownership in the work of the department. Mulligan asserted that this matters because strengthening the organizational culture is a priority for improving DHEWD.

Mulligan told the CBHE that during 2022, five indicators will be highlighted for disaggregated data. These five areas will provide a broad view of demographic and geographic influences on the Big Goals, while at the same time providing a manageable amount of data to track and understand.

Mulligan said DHEWD will address goal attainment by focusing on access, success, and affordability. She offered the graphic below to describe each.



She said that Department staff will identify initiatives that align with the strategic plan every year. Mulligan said DHEWD staff will update the board on progress at regular board meetings and added that the complete list of initiatives that will be launched in 2022 will be discussed at the board's November 16. Examples of the initiatives staff are considering for 2022 are:

- Develop and implement strategies to support adult learners in order to achieve the state's goal of becoming Best in Midwest.
- Encouraging apprenticeships to offer opportunities for individuals to gain skills through hands-on education while earning income.
- Developing positive organizational culture at DHEWD which is critical to accomplishing the goals of the department and its employees.

Mulligan ended the presenting a graphic to describe next steps in the process.

III. Minutes of the September 13-14, 2021, Meeting of the State Board of Education

The minutes of the September 13-14, 2021 meeting of the State Board of Education were examined and approved as written. Motion to approve the meeting minutes. Motion carried 8-0.

IV. President's Report

Shields noted the art work displayed on the SBE meeting room walls was produced by students from Moreau Heights Elementary School in Jefferson City. He then asked members of the SBE to report on individual activities related to education.

Schrag said she attended education related events in St. Louis with Westbrooks-Hodge and Lenz. She said the events were related student mentoring. Schrag said superintendents and legislators met to begin the student mentorship program in St. Louis. She announced the student mentorship program will soon be expanding to the Kansas City area.

Claycomb reported he attended a PK-20 Council meeting featuring university researchers from Kansas and Missouri. He said he also attended the South-Central Superintendents meeting with Commissioner Vandeven. He added he has attended a number of high school volleyball games.

Hallquist told the membership she met with a group of urban Kansas City school leaders and with Robyn Wahby, Executive Director of the Missouri Charter Public School Commission. Hallquist also reporting attending an urban school kick off in St. Louis and reported meeting with several retired educators to discuss teacher recruitment and retention. Hallquist used her time to thank Missouri teachers for their commitment to teaching. She said that we are in a crisis situation with substitute teachers and she thanked Paul Katnik, Assistant Commissioner, DESE Office of Educator Quality, for his work in teacher recruitment and retention. Herschend asked Vandeven about policy on allowing retired teachers to teach more. Vandeven said that for this year – retired teachers are allowed to teach without harming their retirement benefits because those rules have been waived. Replying to Herschend, Shields stated that allowing retired teachers to work past statutory limits is an issue we need to closely consult with the Public School Retirement System (PSRS) to fully understand the impact on the teacher retirement system. Vandeven said DESE has met with PSRS to explore solutions.

Lenz said he attended meetings of the St. Louis Public Schools (SLPS) Board of Education; the Riverview Gardens Special Administrative Board, and the Normandy Joint Executive Governing Board. He also attended a St. Louis area superintendents' meeting, and a St. Louis county superintendents' meetings. Lenz reported he met with Marcus Robinson, Superintendent of the Normandy Schools Collaborative and attended a Lindbergh Board of Education professional development session. He said he attended the opening of the new Kirkwood Administrative Center, a Missouri School Boards Association meeting, and the National Association of State Boards of Education (NASBE) Annual Conference. Lenz told the members of the SBE that he participated in the Lindbergh Sunday Nights Lights Program. He said the program allows kids with serious illnesses a chance to experience what it is like to play competitive sports. Lenz added that he and Westbrooks-Hodge have met to discuss strategic initiatives.

Bailey said that she met with Robyn Wahby, Executive Director of the Missouri Charter Public School Commission and has had several meetings with mental health leaders. She also mentioned meeting with legislators and encouraged everyone to attend an upcoming school mental health symposium.

Herschend reported meeting with several legislators to discuss education issues.

Westbrooks-Hodge told the members she and Lenz have met to initiate the SBE Strategic Planning Subcommittee. She mentioned meeting with Representative Mackey and Senator Williams to plan events in St. Louis schools. Westbrooks-Hodge said she has been very happy to partner with Schrag to help empower diverse student bodies in rural and urban settings. She also mentioned meeting with Hallquist as well as participating in numerous meetings with potential Riverview Gardens board members. Westbrooks-Hodge stated she also met with the Normandy Schools Collaborative board president, the St. Louis Public Schools (SLPS) board president, and met with Kelvin Adams, Superintendent of SLPS.

A. Recognition of Staff Achievements

Commissioner Vandeven recognized DESE employees of the month. She reported DESE's July Employee of the Month was Lori Abercrombie, Systems Improvement Analyst, Office of Special Education. The August Employee of the Month was Robyn Segall, Educator Certification Supervisor, Office of Educator Quality. The September Employee of the Month was Kara Berlin-Bates, Supervisor, Office of Adult Learning and Vocational Rehabilitation.

Other DESE employees were recognized for 5, 10, 15, 20, 25, 30, 35, and 40 years of service. The complete list of employees recognized is available at https://dese.mo.gov/media/pdf/october-2021-recognition-staff-achievements (pages 3-4).

V. National Association of State Boards of Education (NASBE) Report

Lenz announced that Paolo DeMaria has been named the next president and CEO of NASBE. Claycomb stated that NASBE has changed some public positions and those positions involve work surrounding the mental health of students. He thanked Bailey for her efforts in that area.

Herschend asked Lenz whether any comments were offered at NASBE regarding federal intervention at local school board meetings -- especially intervention targeting the behavior or parents. Lenz replied that while there was some chatter among attendees -- NASBE did not offer official comments. Herschend noted the Missouri School Boards Association reacted negatively to the National School Boards Association position requesting federal intervention at local school board meetings. Herschend said that his concern is that people assume that the national association's position is also the MSBA position -- which is not so. Herschend said he believes the National School Boards Association position is extreme and egregious. He said to call for federal intervention in local issues is just wrong. Lenz interjected that MSBA has made clear that it does not support the position of the national association. Claycomb mentioned that one person said to him that "you (i.e., the SBE) are getting a black eye over this" -- not knowing that the SBE is not the National School Boards Association. Herschend said he does not want people to think the position of the National School Boards Association is the position of the SBE.

Vandeven then addressed the fact that the St. Louis Post-Dispatch discovered a vulnerability on DESE's website that exposed the personal information of many educators. Vandeven stated DESE worked with Office of Administration Information Technology Services Division to immediately shut down the problem and we are working with ITSD to relaunch it with every certainty that the data are protected. She added DESE will be able to share more and send additional communication to any and all educators impacted.

Herschend asked when the investigations will be complete. Vandeven said it is unknown when the investigation will be fully complete. Shields commented that many organizations have faced this sort of challenge. He said the state and other enterprises will need to dedicate more and more resources to protecting data systems. Herschend said his company has the same problems with attempts to cause data breaches. He said that his company is continually strengthening firewalls to protect data. Shields said that in the hospital world -- as sophisticated as it is -- we are constantly facing ransomware challenges. He said that is just the world we live in right now.

The fund summary (pages 2-3) provides the total appropriation by fund, the amount placed in reserve by the Governor, the obligations for the year, and the ending balance. A multi-page report (4-19) lists the information by line item within each fund. The financial summary illustrates that the Department is spending and operating in accordance with the adopted budget.

D. Consideration of a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking to Rescind 5 CSR 20-400.410, Robert C. Byrd Honors Scholarship Program

In 2021, as part of the five-year statutory review of our administrative rules, Department staff identified this rule as one that is obsolete, because the Robert C. Byrd Honors Scholarship Program is no longer funded. This action would rescind this rule.

Motion. SBE authorize publication in the Missouri Register of a notice of proposed rulemaking to rescind 5 CSR 20-400.410, Robert C. Byrd Honors Scholarship Program, and that the State Board finds the proposed rescission necessary to carry out the purposes of §§ 161.092 and 178.430, RSMo.

VII. Items for Action

E. Consideration of a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking to Amend 5 CSR 20-400.660, Certification Requirements for Career Education (Secondary) 7-12 Certificates

Paul Katnik, Assistant Commissioner, DESE Office of Educator Quality, stated that this rule (pages 2-4) establishes the requirements for career education secondary certificates. He said the proposed amendment adds the area of Crisis/Emergency/Disaster Management as a skilled technical science certificate. It also updates the name of the Cartography certificate to Geographic Information Science and Cartography, and it updates the name of the Law Enforcement/Police Science to Criminal Justice Technology.

Motion. SBE authorize publication in the Missouri Register of a notice of proposed rulemaking to amend 5 CSR 20-400.660, Certification Requirements for Career Education (Secondary) 7-12 Certificates, and that the State Board finds the proposed amendment necessary to carry out the purposes of §§ 161.092, 168.011, 168.021, 168.071, 168.081, 168.400, 168.405, and 168.409, RSMo. F. Consideration of a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking to Amend 5 CSR 20-400.670, Certification Requirements for Career Education (Adult) Certificate

Paul Katnik, Assistant Commissioner, DESE Office of Educator Quality, stated that this rule establishes the requirements for career education adult certificates. The proposed amendment (pages 2-6) adds the area of Crisis/Emergency/Disaster Management as a skilled technical science certificate. It also updates the name of the Cartography certificate to Geographic Information Science and Cartography, and it updates the name of the Law Enforcement/Police Science to Criminal Justice Technology.

Motion carried 8-0.

G. Consideration of a Notice of Emergency Rulemaking to Amend 5 CSR 20-400.220, Application for a Substitute Certificate of License to Teach Katnik advised this emergency rulemaking adds language that allows DESE-approved training as an alternative route to obtain a substitute certificate of license to teach. This amendment (pages 2-3) will expedite a strategy for addressing shortages of substitute teachers. Katnik said an applicant for a substitute Missouri certificate of license to teach who has successfully completed sixty (60) semester hours or more of college level credit from a regionally-accredited academic degree granting institution recognized by DESE or has a high school diploma, General Education Diploma (GED) or High School Equivalency Test (HiSET) and has successfully completed a minimum of twenty (20) clock hours of DESE-approved substitute teacher training that includes professionalism, honoring diversity, engaging students, foundational classroom management techniques, basic instructional strategies, supporting students with special needs, and working with at-risk youth may be granted a substitute Missouri certificate of license to teach pursuant to the rules promulgated by the State Board of Education (board).

Katnik told the SBE that because the statewide substitute teacher shortage is acute -- he is strongly recommending that the SBE approve this emergency rule. Therefore, he said DESE is requesting the Secretary of State and Joint Committee on Administrative Rules allow the new amendment to the certification process for substitute teachers (5 CSR 20-400.220) to take effect in early November instead of December 31, 2021. He said the emergency amendment was necessary because of the severe shortage of substitute teachers, which has been exacerbated by COVID-19.

Vandeven stated that when schools cannot find substitute teachers, other full-time classroom teachers often have to fill in – forcing them to give up time to prepare for instruction.

Shields commented that he has a friend who is a retired executive at General Mills. He said he his listened to his friend's stories about high school and second grade students. He thanked his friend for giving back to his community.

Motion. SBE authorize publication in the Missouri Register of the emergency rulemaking to amend 5 CSR 20-400.220, Application for a Substitute Certificate of License to Teach, and that the State Board finds the emergency amendment necessary to carry out the purposes of §§ 161.092, 168.011, 168.021, 168.071, and 168.081, RSMo. Motion carried 8-0.

H. Consideration of a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking to Amend 5 CSR 20-400.230, Discipline and Denial of Certificates of License to Teach

Katnik explained the SBE is authorized to grant certificates of license to teach in any of the public schools of the state, establish requirements and qualifications for those certificates, and cause those certificates to be disciplined in a manner provided in state law. He said this rule establishes procedures for action by the SBE. The proposed amendment (pages 2-19) updates the procedures for hearings regarding the discipline of certificates of license to teach.

Motion. SBE authorize publication in the Missouri Register of a notice of proposed rulemaking to amend 5 CSR 20-400.230, Discipline and Denial of Certificates of License to Teach, and that the State Board finds the proposed amendment necessary to carry out the purposes of §§ 168.011, 161.092, 168.021, 168.071 and 168.081, RSMo. I. Consideration of a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking to Amend 5 CSR 20-100.110, Programs for Gifted Children

Christine Nobbe, DESE Director of Gifted Education; and Caysie Turner; DESE Administrator of Virtual Learning, Office of Quality Schools presented. Nobbe said this rule establishes the standards for program approval and administrative procedures for gifted education programs. She said the proposed amendment (pages 2-3) will update the terminology used in the rule, add the word "equitable" to describe the process of identification and selection of gifted students, and update the Department Gifted Education Program Guidelines (pages 4-34), which are incorporated by reference. Turner said the revisions were made based on the comments we received from the five-year rule review. She added the Advisory Council on the Education of Gifted and Talented Children provided feedback and guidance on the Gifted Education Program Guidelines.

Hallquist said she appreciated the added focus on equity and that more solid guidelines have been put in place for the identification of gifted students.

Motion. SBE authorize publication in the Missouri Register of a notice of proposed rulemaking to amend 5 CSR 20-100.110, Programs for Gifted Children, and that the State Board finds this proposed amendment necessary to carry out the purposes of §§ 161.092, 162.675, and 162.720, RSMo. Motion carried 8-0.

J. Consideration of an Order of Rulemaking to Amend 5 CSR 20-100.220, Internet Filtering

Jocelyn Strand, Coordinator, DESE Office of Quality Schools, explained the proposed amendment (page 2) to 5 CSR 20-100.220, Internet Filtering, will update the rule to include complete references to applicable federal law and provide the standards by which public schools will be held accountable to ensure compliance with state law. She said the SBE approved the proposed amendment at the June 2019 meeting. Public comment was accepted from August 2, 2021 through September 1, 2021. The proposed amendment was approved at the June 15, 2021, State Board meeting. The public comment period occurred August 2, 2021 – September 1, 2021. The Department received no comments.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

L. Consideration of an Order of Rulemaking to Adopt 5 CSR 10-3.010, Access to Public Records and Fees for Copying of Public Records

Sarah G. Madden, DESE Chief Counsel stated that this rule supplements the requirements of Chapter 610, RSMo, and prescribes the process for individuals and organizations to gain access to public records of the department and the fees for copying of those public records. She said the proposed rule was approved at the June 15, 2021, SBE meeting and the public comment period occurred August 2, 2021 – September 1, 2021. The Department received no comments.

Madden told the SBE that the policy is to charge for documents before they are sent. She added the rule also allows for waiving charges under certain circumstances.

Motion carried 8-0.

M. Consideration of the Special Administrative Board for Riverview Gardens

Margie Vandeven, Commissioner of Education, recounted that pursuant to § 162.081, RSMo, on May 20, 2010, the SBE authorized the establishment of a Special Administrative Board (SAB) to provide leadership for the Riverview Gardens School District until June 30, 2013, and appointed SAB members – Dr. Lynn Beckwith Jr., Chair; Dr. Mark Tranel, Member; and Ms. Veronica Morrow-Reel, Member. Mary F. Oswald replaced Dr. Tranel in 2019 when he requested that his term not be renewed. In November 2012, February 2016, April 2019, and May 2019, the SBE authorized the continuation/extension of the Special Administrative Board. The current extension expires June 30, 2022.

Vandeven stated that providing a successful path forward for the students in the district is the ultimate goal. She noted that adding two members to form a five-member board organized by the election of a president and vice-president will be presented as a step toward returning the district to a seven member elected board of education. Vandeven noted that since adding members to the SAB has been under consideration, DESE has received communications suggesting that the SBE take no action, remove and replace members, as well as to add up to four new members. She then announced DESE is recommending that the SBE add two new members to the SAB. Dr. Miranda Avant-Elliot and Mr. Reggie Jones. She explained that while many candidates were identified as potential new SAB members, Avant-Elliot and Jones are eminently qualified for service on the SAB.

Avant-Elliott recently assumed the role of Educational Coordinator at the Urban League of Metropolitan St. Louis. Prior to that, she held several different positions during her time at St. Louis Public Schools, serving as a special education teacher and department head, interim principal and director of Fresh Start, and supervisor of college and career readiness. Avant-Elliott is an active, involved member of her community, serving in multiple roles with the Bellefontaine Neighbors Community.

Jones served as Club Director at The Boys and Girls Clubs of Greater St. Louis for 25 years. He is currently serving in his fifth term as Mayor of Dellwood and was elected last year to the office of Ferguson Township Committeeman. He has served on the boards of the East West Gateway Council of Governments, the St. Louis Metro Market, and St. Louis County Charter Commission. Jones previously served on the Riverview Gardens Board of Education in 2010.

Hallquist commented that the new SAB members are very impressive and we are fortunate to have this caliper of person will to serve.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Vandeven stated that the SBE is expanding the SAB by proclamation (pages 8-14). She said among many things, the proclamation requires the newly constituted SAB to meet within14 days, elect a president and vice president, hold annual officer elections, and report to the SBE quarterly. She said the proclamation will cause a shift for the SAB governance structure.

Westbrooks-Hodge asked Vandeven to point to the specific statutory language that allows the SAB to be expanded to 5 members. Sarah G. Madden, DESE Chief Counsel referenced and explained the controlling statute. Westbrooks-Hodge then asked how the proclamation shifts the SAB from an operational role to a governance role. Vandeven explained that the proclamation enables the SAB to operate as a seven board member district as provided for in Missouri law. Shields stated that the intent of the proclamation language is to allow the newly constituted five member board to operate just as any seven member board. Vandeven added that seven member boards operate with no less than five members -- but up to seven members.

Schrag stated the SBE has reapproved the SAB multiple times -- but noted there doesn't seem to be a mechanism that governs the terms of service for SAB members. Vandeven responded by saying what is at hand now is approval of the proclamation – however, service term is an important issue because no one expects to serve for a 12-year period of time.

Herschend said the proclamation seems to be all about organization and governance structures but doesn't say anything about student achievement. He said this district has been in hot water for 12 years and there is no language calling for improved results for these kids. Herschend added we are "merely reorganizing deck chairs" and we don't talk about how this district is going to help its students. He said we need to recognize that state of affairs now -- or ten years from now Riverview Gardens will again appear on the list of schools that are in need of improvement. In agreement with Herschend's comments, Shields said at the time the SAB was put in place -- the agreed upon remedy was to replace the governance structure. He suggested replacing the governance structure solves part of the problem -- but not all of the problem. Shields said we need to be able to recommend to the General Assembly a range of actions and methods that need to be implemented to truly improve a district. Vandeven said that is part of the reason for the SAB's required quarterly reports to the SBE -- so the SAB can come to the State Board and DESE to tell us exactly what is needed for improvement.

Westbrooks-Hodge stated that she agrees with Herschend and said that many of the levers that need to be pulled for improvement are now SBE Strategic Planning Subcommittee priorities. She said the Strategic Planning Subcommittee, working with DESE Deputy Commissioner, Tracy Hinds, need to find the political will and energy to apply root cause solutions to community structural issues. She added that if the SBE and DESE are not going to fix these problems -- then who will?

Herschend suggested that in the future, we are going to have to find different, and maybe radical tools and solutions for districts to truly improve. He stated we need to be able to say that what you are doing is wrong. Herschend said that local control is good -- until it doesn't work. In agreement with Herschend, Lenz said we need to be able to assist districts to bring about real change.

Motion. SBE approve the proclamation as presented. Motion carried 8-0.

N. Consideration of the Appointment of Joint Executive Governing Board Member for the Normandy Schools Collaborative

Commissioner Vandeven recounted that on May 20, 2014, the SBE lapsed the Normandy School District effective June 30, 2014, with direct oversight by the SBE. The SBE authorized the establishment of the Normandy Schools Collaborative to be governed by a five-member Joint Executive Governing Board (JEGB) to provide leadership to the local education agency, pursuant to Missouri law, Section 162.081, RSMo.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Vandeven explained that section 162.081.3(2)(b)a., RSMo, requires that the SBE review and recertify the alternative form of governance every three years. She said the JEGB was recertified on May 16, 2017 and again on May 12, 2020. On April 29, 2021, the State Board added two members to the JEGB, forming a seven-member JEGB. The JEGB is set to expire on June 30, 2023, unless renewal occurs.

Vandeven advise that on August 22, 2021, JEGB member Karen Pierre resigned from the board, effective immediately. She said the Department is recommending that the SBE appoint Valerie E. Patton to serve on the Joint Executive Governing Board for the Normandy Schools Collaborative.

Motion. SBE appoint Valerie E. Patton to serve on the Joint Executive Governing Board for the Normandy Schools Collaborative effective immediately through June 30, 2023. Motion carried 8-0.

VIII. Items for Discussion

O. Recognition of Paris R-II FFA: Agricultural Issues Forum Team – NOTE: To observe a coinciding special virtual session of the Coordinating Board of Education, the presentation for this this agenda item was not observed. Therefore, information for this item is reproduced from https://dese.mo.gov/media/pdf/october-2021-recognition-paris-r-ii-ffa-agricultural-issues-forum-team

Bart Washer, Interim Assistant Commissioner; Lisa Evans, Supervisor of Agriculture, Food and Natural Resources; DESE Office of College and Career Readiness; Dr. Aaron Vitt, Superintendent; Josh Bondy and Audrey Nobis, FFA Advisors; Chris Ebbesmeyer, Missouri State FFA Vice President; and the FFA Agricultural Issues forum team, Paris R-II, participated in the presentation.

The National Future Farmers of America (FFA) Organization provides leadership, personal growth, and career success training through agricultural education to 735,038 student members who belong to one of 8,817 local FFA chapters throughout the U.S., Puerto Rico, and the U.S. Virgin Islands. In 2021-22, Missouri has 353 FFA Chapters and 23,430 student memberships.

Missouri Career and Technical Education (CTE) is preparing young individuals for the job market and/or to further their education. These programs combine academics and job-specific skill training to assist in narrowing the skill gap. Programs are available in: Agriculture, Food, and Natural Resources; Business, Marketing, and Information Technology; Family Consumer Sciences and Human Services; Engineering and Technology; Health Sciences; and Skilled Technical Sciences. Each program area has a Career and Technical Student Organization (CTSO) for example: FFA, DECA, FBLA, PBL, FCCLA, TSA, HOSA, and SkillsUSA.

In 2021, the state winner in the Agricultural Issues forum was the Paris R-II FFA team. Their topic was "Should Consolidated Electric Offer Broadband to its Customers?" The team competed in the first round of nationals virtually and will advance to the semi-finals at the National FFA Convention in Indianapolis, IN, during the last week of October. The team submitted the following introduction as a component of their presentation requirements:

> "COVID-19 hit the entire world hard, but for those behind the digital divide (like the majority of Monroe and Audrain Counties), it crippled learning, advancing agriculture, doing telehealth visits, and keeping up with the world. Nationwide, it is estimated that 12 million students do not have the technology needed to learn from home. In our communities, hundreds of conversations over text, phone calls, and anywhere people meet have led our community to ask, "What can we do to get better internet?" Today, the Paris Agricultural Issues forum team will look at the pros and cons of Consolidated Electric offering Broadband to its customers."

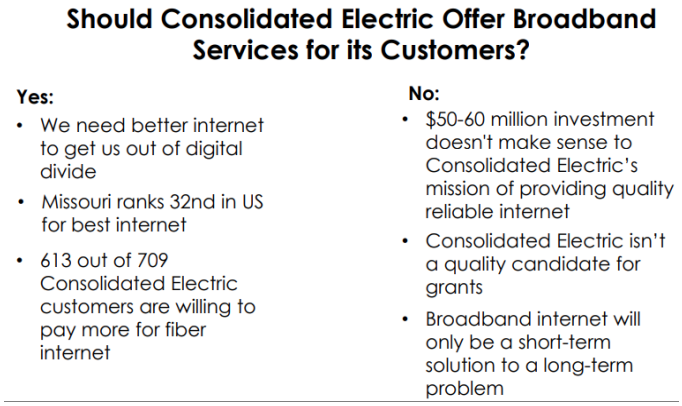
AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

The Paris R-II FFA team is Kendall Mason, Makayla Hayes, Gracie Hatton, Morghan Crain, Andi Holmes, Emma Morgan, Carlee Long, and FFA Advisor Josh Bondy.

The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) indicates that 19,000,000 (6% of US population) lack access to broadband and rural areas make up 14,500,000 of the 19,000,000 people. In a survey of 700 Consolidated Electric Customers, 73 percent said high speed internet is very important while 84 percent said they struggle to use streaming apps like Netflix, Hulu and Disney+. Fifty-two percent of Missouri farms lack quality internet access and farmers without broadband earn 70 percent less than farmers with quality service.

To bring fiber internet to Consolidated Electric Customers would cost $50-$60 million and would take 20+ years to return a profit. That is double the debt to Consolidated Electric. Based on 14 homes per mile, the students reported on costs. Many new poles cost $1,000 each and the cost to run fiber from pole to house is $600 with an average monthly cost to customer $65. However, financial assistance is available. The CARES Fund provides $10 million in broadband funding in MO and the Federal Communications Commission is offering $346 million in subsidies for 17 projects serving 199,211 Missouri homes.

The following graphic suggests pro and con arguments for consolidated electric entities offering broadband internet services.



P. Financially Stressed School Districts and Charter Schools

Kari Monsees, Deputy Commissioner; and David Tramel, Coordinator, DESE Division of Financial and Administrative Services reported. Monsees stated Section 161.520, RSMo, specifies criteria for determining if a school district is experiencing financial stress and requires DESE to identify any school district meeting these criteria. He said identification of those districts with statutory characteristics for being financially stressed is determined annually by analyzing the financial data submitted by each district on the Annual Secretary of the Board Report (ASBR).

Monsees explained the following are the statutory characteristics for identifying a district as financially stressed:

A) Negative balance in either the Teachers or Incidental Funds, or
B) Combined ending balance in the Teachers and Incidental Funds less than three percent, or
C) Tax anticipation borrowing between February 1 and June 30.

Monsees told the SBE that the statute requires notification of financial stress be provided to the local board of education and the chief operating officer of the district no later than November 1. He said the 2020-21 financial data were analyzed to determine districts financially stressed on June 30, 2021, and no school districts were identified.

Tramel said Section 160.417, RSMo, specifies criteria for determining if a charter school is experiencing financial stress and requires the sponsor of that charter school to identify any charter school under their sponsorship meeting these criteria. Identification of those charter schools with statutory characteristics for being financially stressed is determined annually by analyzing the financial data submitted by each charter school on the Annual Secretary of the Board Report (ASBR).

Tramel explained the following are the statutory characteristics for identifying a charter school as financially stressed:

A) Negative balance in either the Teachers or Incidental Funds, or
B) Combined ending balance in the Teachers and Incidental Funds less than three percent, or
C) Insufficient fund balances or reserves, incurred debt after January 31 and before July 1.

Tramel reported the 2020-21 financial data were analyzed to determine charter schools financially stressed on June 30, 2021, and no charter school was identified.

Shields commented that 30 years ago, the one skill that all superintendents held was financial acumen. Since then he suggested that superintendents have been asked to become "generals" responsible for much more of what is going on in schools. Herschend noted that 30 years ago, without question, the list of districts "on report" would be 10 to 15. He said that DESE assistance in school finance has reduced the list to zero.

Lenz suggested that districts need more assistance in many areas, therefore the SBE and DESE should be about sending in help when it is needed. Claycomb stated that DESE has two important roles compliance and leadership. He said that focusing on leadership -- instead of just compliance -- is producing better results.

Q. Report on the Education of Gifted and Talented Children

Dr. Beth Winton, Chair of the Advisory Council on the Education of Gifted and Talented Children; Christine Nobbe, Director of Gifted Education at Columbia Public Schools; and Tracy Hinds, Deputy Commissioner, DESE Learning Services presented. Hinds reported that the Advisory Council on the Education of Gifted and Talented Children (Council) was established in 2013 to provide advice regarding all rules and policies to be adopted by the SBE related to the education of Missouri's gifted and talented children. She said the Council has continued to study the status of gifted education in Missouri since providing the SBE its initial report in 2015, second in 2017, and the third in 2019. She told the SBE that the focus of this report (pages 14-52) is threefold: (1) updating state data and national perceptions about gifted students and gifted education; (2) reviewing progress on recommendations from the Council's previous reports; and (3) sharing the Council's new initiatives on behalf of Missouri's gifted students, their parents, and the teachers who serve them.

Using the tables below, Dr. Beth Winton, Chair of the Council reviewed progress on recommendations from previous reports.

Recommendation	Progress
1. District information on state-approved gifted programs readily accessible to the public	NEW 2021 Supported and Accomplished
2. Annual state data report in October on gifted students and state-approved gifted programs	NEW 2021 Supported and Accomplished

Recommendation	Progress
7. Teacher preparation programs include a course addressing the nature and needs of gifted students NEW 2021 Council action - modules created	Reconsider
8. Provide all teachers ongoing professional development addressing the nature and needs of gifted students NEW 2021 Council action - modules created	Reconsider
9. Gifted identification and programming should be required in Missouri. NEW 2021 Council action - subcommittee targeting small/rural districts	Reconsider

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Recommendation	Progress
11. Advance opportunities presented in the Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA) to focus on the needs of gifted students	NEW 2021 Supported and Accomplished
12. Include (1) an identification appeal process; (2) a board-approved policy allowing acceleration; and (3) a plan for annual professional development for teachers of the gifted on educating gifted learners NEW 2021 Council action - modules created	1 and 2 were Legislated (2017, 2018) 3 - Reconsider

Previous Council recommendations that have yet to be implemented are outlined in the body of the 2021 Report to the State Board.

Equity Statement

The Advisory Council on the Education of Gifted and Talented Children believes that giftedness is distributed equally among all demographic groups and gifted students from diverse backgrounds may express their abilities differently. Missouri public school districts and charter schools are obligated to routinely evaluate the demographic data of their gifted program for equity. When the data demonstrate underrepresentation, it is incumbent upon the program administrators to evaluate and revise the policies, procedures, and instruments used to create more equitable access and ensure service to all gifted students. Underrepresentation is determined by applying the 20% equity index rule to all demographics including race and those who qualify for free and reduced-price meals, Special Education, and/or English Learners programs. For more information on identifying students from underrepresented populations, refer to the Council's document.

Winton told the SBE that new Council actions in 2021 include: 1. Formulation of new equity statement (see above), 2. Survey small/rural school districts to provide support, 3. Provide data supporting the efficacy of gifted education programs, 4. Develop teacher professional learning modules.

In response to Herschend who asked how well gifted programs are serving students, Christine Nobbe, Director of Gifted Education at Columbia Public Schools stated that data continuously demonstrate that urban and suburban Missouri school districts are far more likely to identify and serve their gifted students prompting the question of why and how that can be changed. She said a Council subcommittee was created and surveyed 206 Missouri school districts seeking input on the barriers to service among small and/or rural school districts. She said initial results were reported this year and steps for future action will be decided.

*All tests are significant at $p < .001$. Effect sizes (d) are evaluated based on standard expected differences, with values of .3, .5, and .8 indicating small, moderate, and large differences, respectively.

Nobbe reported that data was also analyzed on Missouri gifted students themselves (see figure at left). She said results suggested that gifted students who were served by gifted programs scored significantly higher on all ACT subject areas and on the ACT Composite Score (ACT scores are predictive of collegiate success, retention, and graduation time and thus predictive of career success and earnings as well as other beneficial outcomes).

Hallquist noted that the large standard deviation statistics observed indicate that there is a wide range of outcomes. Nobbe responded by saying that there is a wide range of difference between school gifted programs -- and therefore a wide range of outcomes should be expected.

Shields stated that while the academic data is interesting -- there are other non-academic aspects that are important and should be considered including behavioral and emotional issues. Nobbe answered by saying that gifted kids often have increased social emotional problems that require special attention. She added gifted programs help students navigate their world in social-emotional ways because it doesn't matter how smart a student is if they cannot get along in this world.

Westbrooks-Hodge noted that we should be sensitive to ACT/SAT impacts on diverse leaners. She said that she would hope and pray that the Council would introduce more data points that would better describe the experiences of diverse learners. Nobbe said she agrees there is a lot of work to do to address the needs of students from diverse backgrounds and there are many measures of success for kids. Nobbe said nearly 98 percent of gifted students are identified on the basis of academics. She added that we do not do a good job of identifying kids who are creative at this point.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Turning to professional learning modules, Nobbe stated the Council created a free, professional learning series comprised of five modules:

- The Gifted Learner
- Social-Emotional Needs of Gifted Learners
- Programming for Gifted Learners
- Equitable Identification of Gifted Learners
- Advanced Identification Issues

Nobbe said these modules can help to address MSIP 6 Effective Teaching and Learning (TL) standards. She pointed out that TL8 indicates that the school system should ensure that all instructional staff participate in scheduled, ongoing, job-embedded, and content-appropriate professional learning focused on evidence-based instructional practices, staff growth goals, and student performance goals as outlined in the Continuous School Improvement Plan.

Schrag asked whether teacher education programs are preparing teachers to teach gifted students. Nobbe answered by saying most teacher professional development and preparation is short and inadequate. She indicated more and better teacher preparation is needed to serve gifted students. She stated we produce a lot of teachers with bachelor's degrees that believe they have never had gifted students in their classes.

Claycomb asked whether some on-line center should exist where gifted students can log-in to access instruction specifically design for them. He suggested that because there are many small rural districts without gifted teachers – that may be an approach that may help. Nobbe answered by saying there are a lot of kids who have a very hard time learning without a teacher in the classroom. She added there are students who may benefit from such a virtual center – but students in classrooms with teachers is usually the best approach. Claycomb then suggested that classrooms organized solely around the age of students need to be reexamined. He said that gifted students could benefit greatly by the ability to move forward instead of being held in classrooms organized by age. Lenz said we have a real need for high school programs for kids who are ready to move-up and move-on. He said he agreed with Claycomb in that virtual programs may be very appropriate for these students.

Bailey noted that under challenged gifted students experience unique social-emotional problems. She said she much appreciates that the Council is incorporating social-emotional health considerations into their initiatives.

Herschend said he would measure the success of the program by determining how much better students can do certain tasks at the end of the programs. He said we need to know how much better gifted students are doing as a result of the program. Nobbe said that students do -- do better when they are served by gifted programs. She said that is the reason the Council is striving to extend services to many more gifted students.

Westbrooks-Hodge challenged Nobbe to extend and expand the definition of gifted. Nobbe said that many successful people have advanced creativity and leadership skills and have well developed social emotional skills. She asked whether metrics to measure those aspects of giftedness can be incorporated into identification procedures. Nobbe responded by saying the national association has an extensive lists of attributes and metrics that can describe giftedness. She said the Council will explore the use of those types of metrics

Claycomb asked whether gifted kids in CTE programs seem to do better. Nobbe answered by saying yes – many gifted kids that experience problems in the traditional setting do very well after becoming involved in career education because they find things in CTE programs that they are truly interested in. Claycomb said many CTE teachers have a way of finding ways for gifted creative students to express their creativeness and talents through CTE programs.

R. Report on COVID-19 Response

Mallory McGowin, DESE Chief Communications Officer; DESE Deputy Commissioner Tracy Hinds; and DESE Deputy Commissioner Kari Monsees presented. Monsees began by reporting on federal COVID relief funding (see figure below).

Monsees told the SBE that said that all federal funds are now available and that DESE is now awaiting appropriations on the distribution of these funds. He said the appropriations process is underway and we are hopeful that we will have funding decisions early in the appropriation process. He said that the review team is now working on the review process so decisions can withstand audit scrutiny many years down the line.

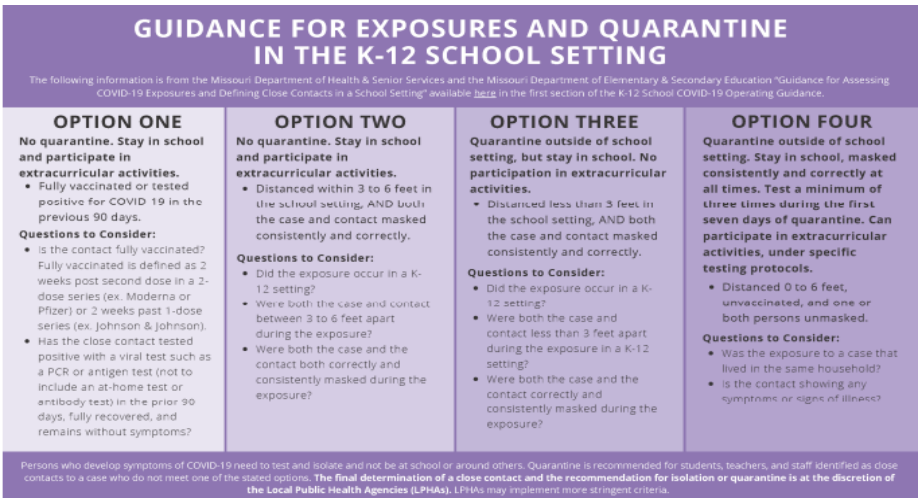
Herschend said he is glad DESE is distributing this unbelievable amount of money and asked how DESE is measuring the impact of the funding. Monsees answered by saying prescribed reporting is required by the United States Department of Education -- but as far as impact – he suggested it will be challenging to know about true effects because districts may choose among many allowable uses. He said one areas that many districts are taking advantage of, is investing in indoor air quality equipment. He said air quality can absolutely be measured. Herschend then asked how small districts are reacting to six-figure infusions of cask. Monsees said DESE is asking school leaders how they are using the funds and advising on allowable uses -- particularly on investing in sort-term approaches that do not have recurring costs. However, Monsees emphasized we cannot restrict schools if they are within the framework of allowable uses.

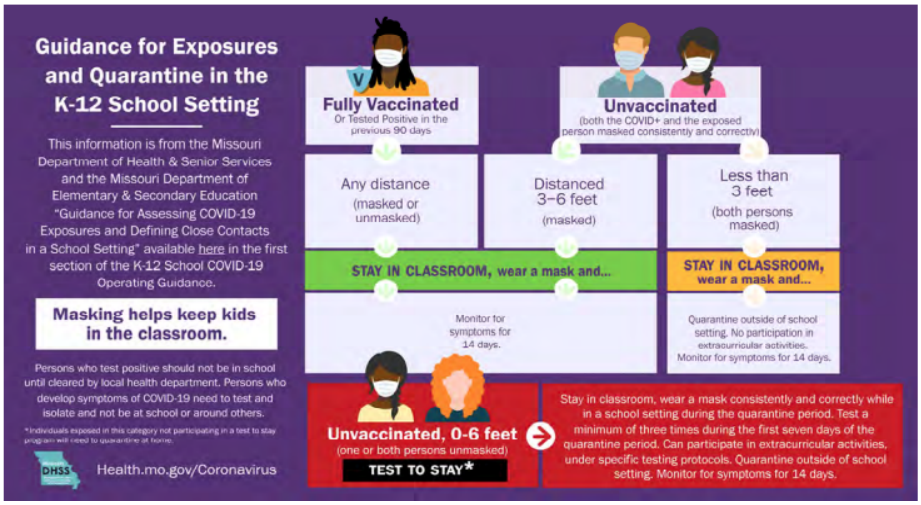
Hallquist reported Kansas City schools are using money for things like tutoring and night school to help students catch up. To better control how LEAs are using funds, Hallquist suggested that DESE might propose three or four uses for money that can be better measured for impact. Monsees said DESE does intend to be very transparent on district spending by showing how LEAs are using money on the DESE website.

Schrag said that schools in her area are using federal grant money for many reasons and asked whether they will have more time to spend the money after the current three year window has closed. Monsees said that these are not the only funds that support schools. He said several other federal agencies are providing grants to schools (e.g., FCC) that may have expanded time periods for using the funds.

Mallory McGowin, DESE Chief Communications Officer, provided a COVID-19 health update. She reported school guidance was updated on10/8 and DESE hosted an informational webinar on 10/12. She said the newest guidance includes a new "Test to Stay" protocol. The protocol provides additional option for local public health agencies and local education agencies to consider for students and staff who do not meet other options for staying in school following exposure to COVID-19. McGowin said that a close contact can now attend school and participate in extracurriculars by undergoing frequent testing. She added that the guidance suggests that masks be worn in school at all times. She offered the graphic below to detail the guidance.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT





Paul Katnik, Assistant Commissioner, DESE Office of Educator Quality, reported on TEACH Missouri (TM) a new initiative to improve teacher retention and attrition in the state. He said that TM has four main objectives. 1. Elevating the teaching profession, 2. Improving the perception of being a teacher, 3. Attracting the next generation of Missouri teachers, and 4. Developing a statewide recruitment system. Katnik told the SBE that TM will include teacher recruitment and retention grants, statewide public service advertising (PSAs), Pathways to Teaching Careers, and a digital teacher recruitment platform: TEACHMissouri.org.

Katnik presented a video public service announcement to encourage people to consider teaching. He said TM will be a three year campaign. Herschend commented that the PSA is good -- but we need to make sure it is distributed properly.

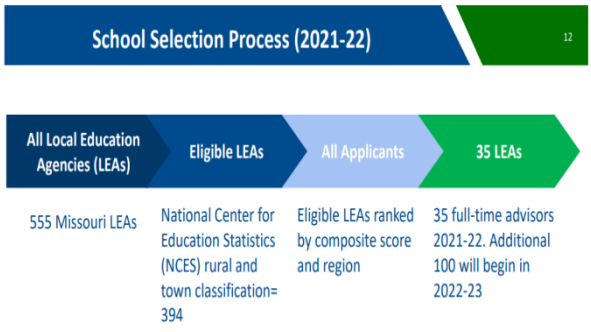
Chrissy Bashore, DESE Director of School Counseling, Chris Neale, DESE Assistant Commissioner, DESE Office of Quality Schools, and Abigail Benz, Chief Strategy Officer, Ozarks Technical Community College reported on the Missouri Postsecondary Advising Initiative (MPAI). He said Ozarks Technical Community College (OTC) and rootEd Alliance are working together to help more rural students pursue and complete postsecondary education, including two-year and four-year institutions, technical schools and the military, so they can be better prepared for the workforce. Through this partnership, four new advisors have been embedded at high schools in Branson, Forsyth, Hollister, and Reeds Spring, to provide proactive support for all students as they explore their postsecondary options, access financial aid, and determine the best path for their skills and aspirations after high school.

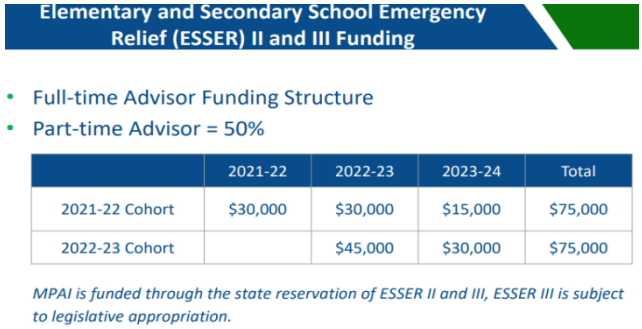
AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Neale said the role of the MPAI Advisor is helping students to establish an individual career and academic plan (ICAP), identifying opportunities, and helping them to be success-ready.

Abigail Benz, Chief Strategy Officer, Ozarks Technical Community College, told the SBE that this project and initiative is being housed at OTC. She said that just over 19 percent of rural students are completing bachelor's degrees while 33 percent of urban students complete. She said the initiative meets one-on-one with students which is important because of the trust relationship that students have with advisors. She added that advisors are there at every step to help students. Benz said FAFSA rates are 13 percent higher in MPAI schools than in other schools and students in MPAI schools have 10 percent more students are going to college.

Chrissy Bashore, DESE Director of School Counseling, presented an overview of the program using the following slides.





Benz reported that student success will be measured by the percent of seniors who complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) and who ultimately reach their individual postsecondary goals. She added advisor success will be evaluated by examine district satisfaction.

Shields asked whether the ESSR II funds being using are relatively insignificant. Neale said that considering the amount of money received, in the overall scheme of things, it probably isn't that significant. Shields said the program sounds great -- but the question is are we putting money in the right places. Neale said he thinks this program is a good investment and DESE would like to see the program continue in the future though the regular appropriation process.

Dr. Isaac Sooter, Principal of Reed Springs High School -- a MPAI school -- said that he has been involved in the program since day one. He said once Reed Springs High School started the program, student awareness of how to go to college and the path to get there has been made very clear. Sooter said students meet one-on-one with an advisor multiple times, and sometimes on a daily basis, to ensure students know how to go to college. He said just having a person on staff with deep focus to place students on the college path is very important. Sooter added the work done by the MPAI advisor frees-up counselors to deal with the increased social-emotional problems that students are experiencing as a result of the pandemic. He reported 60 students are now in the scholarship writing class offered by the district. Sooter told the SBE that having an expert to help kids write these papers are essential to success. He said the advisor has become essential and parents and students are using the services constantly. Sooter said he is glad to see this program will be advancing across the state.

Schrag said in southcentral Missouri there are many schools that can benefit from the program. She said that many southcentral schools only have one K-12 counselor -- so these services would be very welcome. She asked how schools can become involved in the program. Neale said that while the grant funding will only support 35 schools at this point – DESE will try to help additional schools if they wish to fund the program themselves.

Bailey said she is encouraged that we are using a proactive approach to address the social-emotional needs of students. She asked Bashore whether best practices in mental health could be incorporated into the initiative. Bashore answered by saying that she would take the suggestion back for discussion and see what can be done to incorporate social-emotional aspects into the program.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Herschend stated that many students begin four-year bachelor's degree programs -- but only about 25 percent finish. He said the emphasis of the MPAI program seems to be on four-year college and not on career training. Herschend suggested the program does not seem to be emphasizing the career training that students might receive at State Tech or OTC. He said that is a situation that I don't want to see happen. Herschend suggested that if the trades are being de-emphasized -- we are missing an opportunity to encourage students to enter the trades. Benz said that word "college" is being used to represent all post-secondary experiences. She assured Herschend that MPAI advisors are encouraging students to enter all kinds of postsecondary experiences.

Westbrooks-Hodge stated that there are structural inequities built into the foundations of our society that we need to address. She asserted the current reality in our state is that zip code determines the quality of services and education people receive. She suggested that supplemental services like the MPAI program are much needed. Westbrooks-Hodge congratulated the presenters for their efforts.

S. Update on the Office of Childhood

Pam Thomas, Assistant Commissioner, DESE Office of Childhood (OC) provided a summary of the recent stakeholder engagement activities conducted in collaboration with The Hunt Institute. Thomas said OC collaborated with The Hunt Institute as part of the creation of the Office of Childhood. She told the SBE that OC has a genuine desire to balance and incorporate stakeholders into programmatic decisions because stakeholders who are affected by a decision should be involved in the decision-making process. To incorporate stakeholder decisions, Thomas stated they are provided with information needed to participate in a meaningful way and that they are also informed about how their input affected the decisions. She said the Stakeholder Steering Committee included 16 members and focus groups featured 275 participants. Thomas said a recent online survey had 550 respondents.

Thomas indicated that stakeholders suggested the creation of an advisory council, co-sponsored by DESE and multiple partner organizations, with a defined system for:

- Maintaining diverse membership and representation across early childhood and afterschool programs
- Consolidating existing boards and committees to avoid duplication of effort (There are over 15 advisory committees and councils at this point)
- Creating broader opportunities to support engagement from the local level

Using the graphic below, Thomas then described Office of Childhood Programs

Program Name	Child Count	Appropriation
First Steps Early Intervention	15,733	$60,312,710
Home Visiting Models	2,449	$15,897,008
MO Parents as Teachers	116,151	$23,118,975
Preschool Programs*	22,427	$297,361,624
Early Head Start (EHS) state-funded slots	444	$6,000,000
Child Care Subsidy	22,723	$175,390,558
Child Care Capacity of Regulated Facilities (staff)	167,438	$3,105,547
Afterschool Programs	18,122	$21,927,278
Total	365,487	$603,113,700

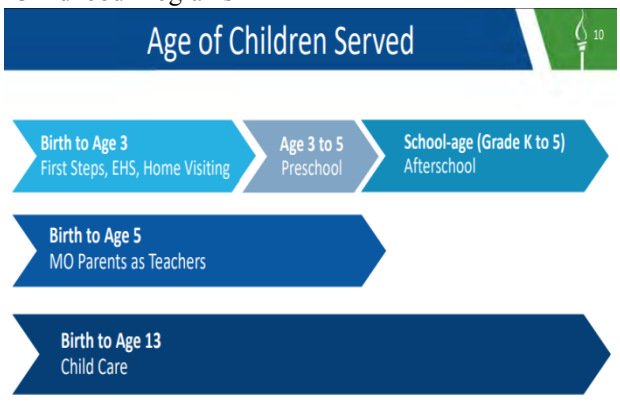
Source: Appropriation data is FY23. Child count data is FY21 (duplicate counts). Estimated 25% decrease in children served due to COVID. *Preschool includes children funded by state aid, Title I, and Early Childhood Special Education. Expenditures do not include professional development, training, and other supports to providers.



Thomas pointed out that the overall child count is a duplicate count at this point in time because children can participate in more than one program. She also pointed out that the pandemic caused many children to leave programs to be cared for at home so participation rates were depressed. Shields asked that eligibility guidelines be presented in the future so the SBE can determine who is being served and how much money is being used to serve. Westbrooks-Hodge asked how many children with special needs are being served. Thomas responded by saying that she would try to find good statistics for children with special needs but added that we often don't know if a child has special needs until we begin working with those families. Shields said that the number that are available seem to cause a desire for more detailed data. Thomas said that unduplicated counts will be available at some point in the future but not today.

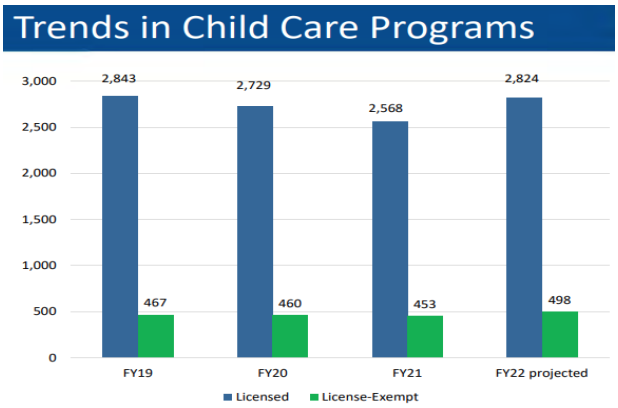
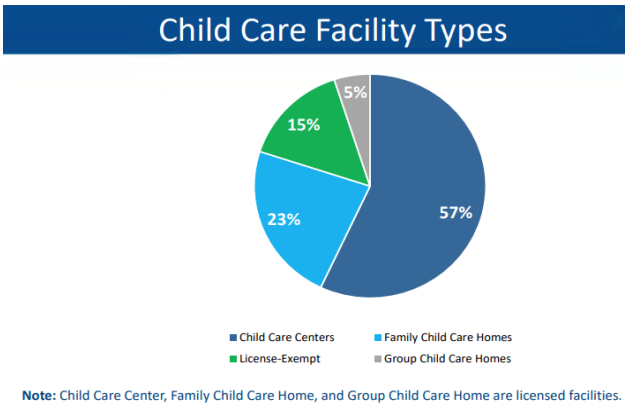
Claycomb asked where Thomas thought the largest opportunity for program expansion is. Thomas said that the best opportunity will in universal service because it would allow the OC to identify which children need additional services. She said that when students do not get the services they need – they are not ready for school.

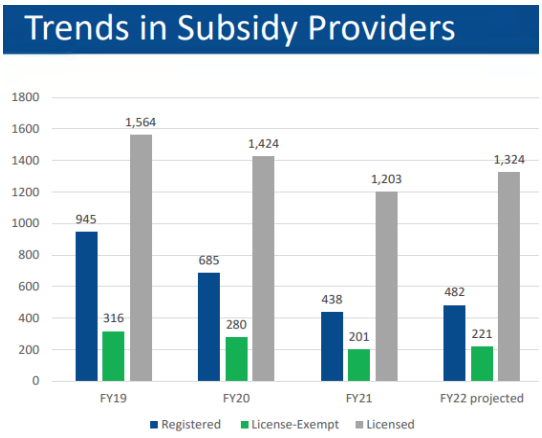




Note: Child Care Center, Family Child Care Home, and Group Child Care Home are licensed facilities.

Thomas detailed the licensing process for state licensed facilities. She said the provider submits an application for a license, then DESE staff conduct an initial site visit with the provider to determine any site violations and review licensing rules. DESE staff request fire inspections from Department of Public Safety and sanitation inspections from Department of Health and Senior Services. Thomas said that the provider contacts DESE staff when ready for initial inspection and DESE staff completes initial inspection to verify compliance with all licensing rules. Then, as needed, DESE staff conduct additional inspections to verify compliance until the provider has met all licensing requirements. Thomas stated that after a provider obtains a license, DESE staff conduct ongoing inspections on an annual basis.

Child Care Subsidy Program



Thomas told the SBE that the Child Care Subsidy Program provides access to affordable care for young children by assisting families with full or partial child care costs. For Traditional Child Care the income eligibility is 138% of the federal poverty level. For Transitional Child Care (i.e., gradual phase-out for families with increasing income who were already receiving traditional child care subsidy) the income eligibility is up to 215% of the federal poverty level. Thomas indicated that recipients receive 100% benefit for income up to 138% of the federal poverty level (family may pay sliding fees), 80% benefit for income greater than 138% but less than or equal to 175% of the federal poverty level, and 60% benefit for income greater than 175% but less than or equal to 215% of the federal poverty level. Thomas reported that child care subsidy providers sign a child care agreement and submit various business documents. These providers undergo onsite monitoring to ensure the provider's facility meets health and safety requirements. Providers also complete required training and DESE staff issue a certificate to the provider indicating it is authorized for eligible children. Thomas said DESE pays a maximum base rate plus applicable enhancements (e.g., non-traditional hours, accreditation, special needs).

Westbrooks-Hodge asked whether it would be possible for the office to create an OC scorecard. She said that it would be helpful to have all metrics for the program available in one place that includes both qualitative and quantitative metrics. She said that a score card will allow us to know whether we are reaching the goals of the OC.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

She suggested that putting everything on one scorecard will allow us to see progress. Herschend add that presenting information in a way that is useful to the reader is important. Thomas responded by saying that her leadership team recently voted to create scorecards for individual programs – so a piece of what you are asking for will soon be available.

IX. Licensure

Items in this section focused on issuance of teaching certificates, substitute teaching certificates or disciplining individuals by adverse action with regard to their Missouri teaching certification. The SBE approved the recommendations of DESE officials in each instance.

VIII. Items for Action

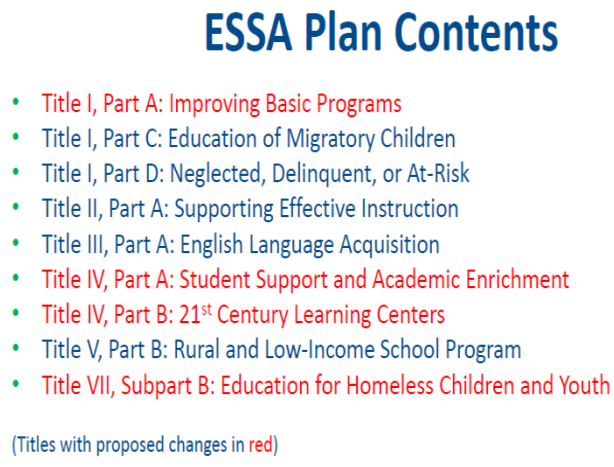
H. Consideration of Updates to Missouri's Consolidated State Plan for the Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA)

Chris Neale, DESE Assistant Commissioner; and Jocelyn Strand, Coordinator of School Improvement, DESE Office of Quality Schools led this discussion.

Neale provided some background. He said the Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA) was signed into law on December 10, 2015. ESSA reauthorizes the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965. He said the state's consolidated application provides the mechanism by which the programs and funds associated with ESSA are administered. Neale reported that DESE had submitted the state's original ESSA Consolidated State Plan to the United States Department of Education on September 18, 2017, and that the final plan was approved on January 18, 2018. Now as a result of listening to feedback from stakeholders and changes in Missouri state law, Neale reported that DESE is proposing that several changes be made to the plan and that these changes be submitted to the United States Department of Education prior to the February 3 deadline.

Strand said that the proposed changes to the plan were shared with the SBE during its December 2019 meeting and that the plan was open for public comment from December 4 through December 31. She reported DESE received five comments during the comment period. Strand indicated the final plan (pages 22-156) is offered for approval and for submission to the United States Department of Education. Strand then offered the following graphics to describe changes made to the ESSA plan as a result of public comments.



AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Changes were not made in the plan as a result of the comments

Title IV.A: Student Support and Academic Enrichment

- Proposed Change: State Activity Focus: School safety, social-emotional, workforce readiness
- The state received no comments.

Title IV.B: 21st Century Grants

- Proposed Changes: Measurement of objectives to use rubrics to measure quality
- The state received no comments.

Title VII.B: McKinney-Vento

- Proposed Changes:
  - "Stay put" during dispute
  - Complaint need not be in writing
  - "Parent/Guardian, Unaccompanied Youth" instead of "Complainant"
- The state received no comments.

Long-Term Goals

- Same rate of improvement as prior plan
- Average of 2018 and 2019 assessments used as a baseline
- By 2030
  - ELA proficiency = 69.9%
  - Math proficiency = 70.7%
- The state received one comment in favor of the change.
- No changes were made in the plan as a result of the comments.

Herschend inquired about wording in the plan which refers to "buildings" instead of "districts." Neale responded by saying that ESSA focuses much more on individual school buildings rather than on districts.

Herschend congratulated DESE on the plan and said he was very supportive. However, he indicated he worries that program will fade into the background and that the SBE will not hear about outcomes/results. He asked that the SBE receive regular updates on the progress and results of the plan. Neale indicated that DESE would provide the SBE with such updates.

Motion SBE approve the Consolidated State Plan for the Every Student Succeeds Act for submission to the United States Department of Education. Motion carried 6-0.

I. Consideration of Charter School Application Renewal for Gateway Science Academy

Chris Neale, DESE Assistant Commissioner, Office of Quality Schools The 1998 session of the Missouri General Assembly authorized establishment of charter schools. Renewal charter applications are submitted every five years. Section 160.405.9, RSMo requires the SBE to vote to renew the charter after the sponsor has demonstrated compliance with state and federal law.

Neale said DESE received a Charter School Renewal Application (pages 20-117) approved by the Missouri Charter Public School Commission (MCPSC). Gateway Science Academy (GSA) of St. Louis, currently serves 1,514 students in grades K-12. The charter school has requested that MCPSC renew its charter for a term of five years beginning July 1, 2020, and ending June 30, 2025. The sponsor has indicated the charter school is in good standing and requests renewal from the SBE.

Neale said Gateway Science Academy (GSA) meets the legal requirements for a five year renewal:

- Compliance with statute 160.405.9, RSMo
- Gateway Science Academy has met the statutory requirements for renewal. Their APR scores over the last four years have met the statutory requirement and allow them to be renewed up to five years.
- Sponsor recommendation
- The Missouri Charter Public School Commission, the sponsor, recommends a five-year renewal.
- DESE recommendation
- DESE recommends a five-year renewal.

Robbyn Wahby, Executive Director of Missouri Charter Public Schools Commission, spoke on behalf of GSA. Wahby said that GSA is in compliance in every aspect of the statute and noted that the STEM Focused Education Programs at GSA feature:

- NGSS aligned science curriculum
- Everyday science in all grades
- School, District and Network-wide Science, Technology and Engineering Fairs
- Technology-integrated instruction
- Comprehensive Education Model
- GSA's education model is designed to meet the needs of all students
- Keeping track of individual student data and progress
- Support services for struggling students through after school and weekend programs
- Advanced programs such as Robotics, Elite Math, and Science Olympiads

Wahby said that GSA contributes greatly to the number of quality education seats available to families in the school's service area as well as the St. Louis region.

Claycomb noted that the enrollment data indicates the school is "very very white" in comparison to the surrounding district. Wahby said that the school selects its students from a lottery of all students who apply, making the student selection process fair. Further, she noted that the applications come first from families in the school's service area and that the school's demographic makeup is very similar to individual school buildings in that area.

Shields commented that he has seen that every new charter school application talks about serving a diverse student body and that diversity is an important issue. Wahby said that the administration at GSA never takes their eyes off issues of diversity.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Noting what he called "remarkable transformation of taking low performing kids and turning them into college bound highly achieving students," Herschend asked what the secret is. Wahby said that the school focuses on ensuring that there are no students who score below the basic level on MAP exams. She said that extended leaning time, weekend and after school programs, reliance on data as a guide for instruction, as well as the school's serious diligence regarding excellence is translating to real results. Herschend asked about individual students expenditures. Wahby responded by saying that GSA spends about $10,000 per student per year. Herschend indicated he was impressed and asked Commissioner Vandeven to look into what is happening at GSA so the school's practices may understood and be emulated.

Referring to the statistic indicating that 100 percent of GSA's students are accepted to college, he asked how many students actually attend. Wahby said that students can be hard to track after they graduate, so there are not good answers to that question yet. However, she indicated GSA is improving its data so that questions of that type can be addressed in the future.

Bailey asked whether the school is also preparing students for vocational opportunities. Wahby said that parents choose to send their children to GSA because it is very clearly a college prep program that is a good fit for them -- and maybe not so much others.

Hallquist asked about action to improve the school's science scores. Wahby said that as the sponsor, the Missouri Charter Public School Commission has challenged and engaged the GSA board to ensure that because "science" is in the name of the school, that it is concentrating on, and measuring science achievement. She also mentioned that increased and improved teacher professional development activities have been implemented.

Motion. SBE authorize Gateway Science Academy to continue operations pursuant to the charter renewal granted by MCPSC, effective July 1, 2020, for a five-year period, per the contingencies outlined in the performance contract. Motion carried 6-0.

J. Consideration of Charter School Application Renewal for The Biome

Chris Neale, Assistant Commissioner, DESE Office of Quality Schools, and Bill Mendelsohn, University of Missouri St. Louis (UMSL) Office of Charter Schools presented.

Neale indicated that DESE has received a Charter School Renewal Application (pages 13-105) approved by the University of Missouri-Saint Louis (UMSL). The Biome, St. Louis, currently serves 199 students in grades K-5. Neale said the charter school has requested that UMSL renew its charter for a term of five years beginning July 1, 2020, and ending June 30, 2025. Neale said the sponsor has indicated the charter school is in good standing and requests renewal from the SBE.

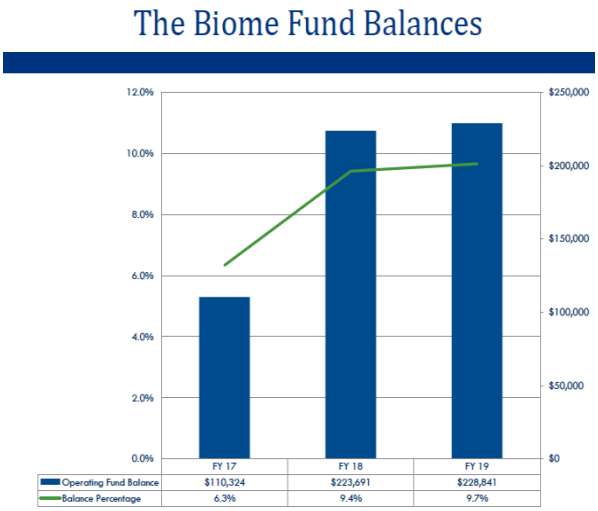
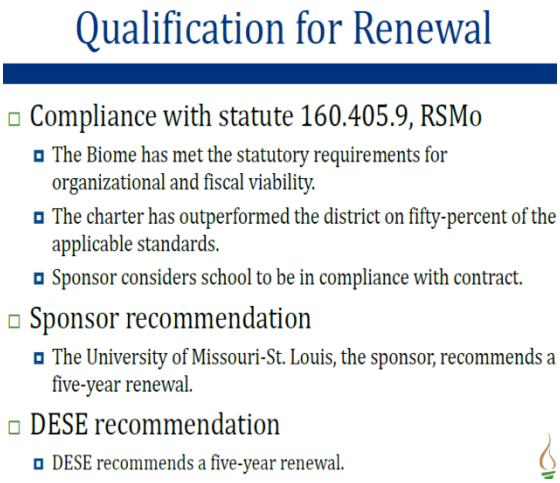
AMERICAN OVERSIGHT





Addressing lack of academic performance, Bill Mendelsohn, University of Missouri St. Louis (UMSL) Office of Charter Schools said that the Biome "stumbled out of the gate." He said that the original teaching staff had very little experience and that the principal had no administrative experience. Mendelsohn told the SBE that the teaching team has changed (averaging 15 years experience) and that an experienced and tremendously successful principal has been hired.

Mendelsohn asserted the Biome is now in a much stronger position to succeed going forward. On the issue of the school failing to meet some performance standards, Mendelsohn noted that many charter schools, including the Biome, were often much to optimistic when setting initial performance benchmarks. He said UMSL takes its responsibility to hold its charter schools accountable very seriously and that it will hold the Biome accountable. He said it is very hard to assess a school on just three years of data -- but that UMSL now believes the school is headed in the right direction.

Bill Kent, Founding President and CEO of Biome, said the school was founded as a small school and wishes to remain so to allow it to "hone in" on the academic achievement of our students. He said that the Biome is heavily supported in the community and the supporters are coming together to improve all student services. He said one of the true strengths of the Biome is its community support.

Shields asked why UMSL decided to sponsor the school. Mendelsohn said UMSL was impressed with the vision of the school, Bill Kent's involvement, and the school's ability to connect with the community and develop partnerships. Mendelsohn said that the school has "good bones" and that UMSL believes the school will ultimately succeed.

Shields noted that UMSL knew that the original staff of the school had very little experience. Therefore, he asked why, as experts in education, did you let that go. Mendelsohn said that there were concerns about lack of experience -- but you never know exactly how someone will do in a role. Mendelsohn also said we must respect the autonomy of charter schools. Shields responded by saying that he has been very critical of how sponsors have approached their responsibilities. He said that sponsor responsibility is a really big deal.

Hallquist said that while the list of school sponsors is very impressive – performance is where the rubber meets the road. She said this would be a tough vote for her and asked how the school is going to improve academic performance. Kent responded by saying this is really about people and that the Biome is focusing on having the right people around the table. He said we are improving the administration, teaching staff, professional development, and bringing the right people into the building to help us improve student achievement. Hallquist said that she believes the renewal request amounts to a little bit of "trust me." Mendelsohn disagreed. He said that the UMSL approach has been to put together performance contract and if the school does not meet the targets set forth, UMSL will hold it responsible. Mendelsohn added that if it becomes clear that the Biome will not reach its vision, then UMSL will close the school. Hallquist asked what a realistic period might be for taking action on closing the school if it does not do well. Mendelsohn said it could be as soon as two years -- but added he is very confident that the school will improve.

Claycomb asked whether the school could be required to return in a year to provide a progress report. Vandeven responded by saying UMSL has cooperated with such requests in the past. Mendelsohn indicated he would be happy to provide such a report.

Lenz commented that it seems like every time the SBE looks at charter school renewals -- we are faced with renewing for a five-year period. He suggested that DESE put a program together so the SBE can review performance earlier and on a more consistent basis.

Herschend asked about students expenditures. Kent said the Biome spends about 14K per student. Addressing Mendelsohn, Herschend said everything turns on leadership, not buildings, or beautiful surroundings. Herschend said it is grossly unfair that students have experienced mediocre results. He said that every charter school organization that is listening today needs to know that leadership is the key to success. He said that until you (i.e., UMSL) satisfy this board that leadership is making a factual difference we should not renew. Mendelsohn responded by saying that he 100 percent agrees that leadership is of paramount importance and UMSLs decision to renew is based on the fact that the school now has the leadership it needs to succeed.

Shields said that the SBE receives a lot of criticism for not holding charter schools more accountable; therefore, it is our job to ask very tough questions. He asserted that the SBE is now getting much better applications than it did in the past because the SBE takes its role seriously.

Motion. SBE authorize The Biome to continue operations pursuant to the charter renewal granted by UMSL, effective July 1, 2020,] for a five-year period, per the contingencies outlined in the performance contract. Motion carried 5-1 (Hallquist voting no).

K. Consideration of Charter School Application Renewal for Premier Charter School

Chris Neale, Assistant Commissioner, DEE Office of Quality Schools and Dr. Julie Frugo Head of School at Premier Charter School facilitated the discussion.

Neale reported that DESE received a Charter School Renewal Application approved by the University of Missouri-Saint Louis (UMSL). He said Premier Charter School, St. Louis, currently serves 998 students in grades PK-8. The charter school has requested that UMSL renew its charter for a term of five years beginning July 1, 2020, and ending June 30, 2025. Neale said the sponsor has indicated the charter school is in good standing and requests renewal from the SBE.

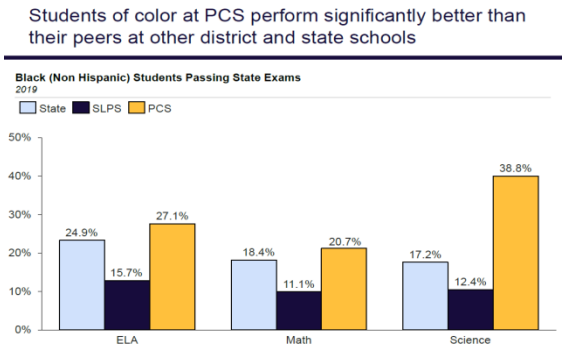
Qualification for Renewal

- Compliance with statute 160.405.9, RSMo
  - Premier Charter School has met the statutory requirements for renewal.
    - Fiscally and organizationally viable
    - Student performance
    - Compliant with performance contract
- Sponsor recommendation
  - The University of Missouri-St. Louis, the sponsor, recommends a 5-year renewal.
- DESE recommendation
  - DESE recommends a 5-year renewal.

Dr. Julie Frugo Head of School said that Premier Charter School is very deeply committed to the whole child approach to providing education. She said that the school is dedicated to developing the social and emotional wellbeing of students. She reported that Premier Charter School (PCS) is a single-site public charter school in St. Louis, Missouri that currently serves 1,000 students in grades PK-8. The school was founded in 2000 and is now the longest tenured charter school in the city.

Frugo stated that Premier serves a highly diverse student population: 2 in 3 students qualify for free or reduced price lunch, and nearly 1 in 4 students is in an English language learner. Frugo said the school regularly outperform the St. Louis Public Schools on assessments and high schools across the city actively recruit our graduating 8th graders. She said that over the past 5 years over 70% of our graduates have enrolled in selective local high schools with admittance requirements (magnet, private, parochial). We draw students from 44 zip codes and have consistently retained a waiting list anywhere from 200-350 students. Frugo said that the school operates on what the funding formula provides and are proud of being a fiscally responsible institution.

Bill Mendelsohn, University of Missouri St. Louis (UMSL) Office of Charter Schools called attention to the graphic below indicating the academic performance of the students of color at Premiere.



Mendelsohn said that after graduation, a significant percent of Premier students of color do very well in selective high schools and in college. Frugo reported that she has recently visited leading St. Louis area high schools that Premier students have chosen to attend. She said that officials at the schools often say they wish all of their students had come from Premiere.

Motion. SBE authorize Premier Charter School to continue operations pursuant to the charter renewal granted by UMSL, effective July 1, 2020, for a five-year period, per the contingencies outlined in the performance contract. Motion carried 6-0.

L. Consideration of an Order of Rulemaking to Amend Rule 5 CSR 30-261.025, Minimum Requirements for School Bus Chassis and Body

Roger Dorson, Deputy Commissioner told the SBE that on September 17, 2019, the State Board of Education approved a notice of proposed rulemaking to amend Rule 5 CSR 30-261.025, Minimum Requirements for School Bus Chassis and Body. He said the notice of proposed rulemaking was published for comment in the November 1, 2019, edition of the Missouri Register and no comments were received during the 30-day comment period.

Rule 5 CSR 30-261.025 (page 2) is amended to revise the minimum requirements for school bus body and chassis that will allow for a school slogan and logo to be placed on the side of school buses. The amendment can be located in the 2020 Missouri Minimum Standards for School Buses. It states that, "Other lettering, numbering or symbols which may be displayed on the exterior of the bus shall be limited to: Manufacturer, dealer identification, school identification, or logos, which are not to exceed 64 square inches of total display."

Motion. SBE authorize the publication in the Missouri Register of an Order of Rulemaking to amend Rule 5 CSR 30-261.025, Minimum Requirements for School Bus Chassis and Body, and that the State Board finds this amendment necessary to carry out the purposes of Sections 161.092 and 304.060, RSMo. Motion carried 6-0.

M. Consideration of a Notice Proposed Rulemaking to Amend Rule 5 CSR 20-400.330, Clinical Experience Requirements for Candidates in Professional Education Programs

Paul Katnik, Assistant Commissioner, DESE Office of Educator Quality, told the SBE that this rule (page 2) establishes the clinical experience requirements for candidates in professional education programs. The proposed amendment updates the definition of a teacher assistant.

Motion. SBE authorize publication in the Missouri Register of a notice of proposed rulemaking to amend rule 5 CSR 20-400.330, Clinical Experience Requirements for Candidates in Professional Education Programs, and that the State Board finds the proposed amendment necessary to carry out the purposes of Sections 161.092, 161.097, 161.099, 168.021, and 168.400, RSMo.6-0. Motion carried 6-0.

N. Consideration of an Appeal of the Decision of the Commissioner of Education Regarding a Transportation Hardship Assignment

Margaret K. Landwehr, DESE Chief Counsel, and David Tramel, Coordinator, Financial and Administrative Services led this discussion.

Landwehr explained that Section 167.121, RSMo, authorizes the Commissioner of Education or a designee to reassign a pupil from one district to another based upon a demonstration of an unusual or unreasonable transportation hardship. Department regulation 5 CSR 30-261.050 provides that the decision of the designated review officer may, upon request, be affirmed, rescinded, or modified by the commissioner of education. Decisions of the commissioner of education may be appealed to the State Board of Education.

Landwehr said that on July 22, 2019, Andrew M. Duncan, attorney representing Charles and Amy McBroom, requested a transportation hardship reassignment for the McBroom's daughter from the Holden R-III School District to the Lone Jack C-6 School District. By letter dated August 27, 2019, David Tramel, Coordinator, DESE School Financial and Administrative Services, denied the request. On September 9, 2019, the McBrooms sought review of Mr. Tramel's decision with the Commissioner of Education. By letter dated October 25, 2019, the Commissioner of Education affirmed the denial of the reassignment. On November 7, 2019, the McBrooms appealed the Commissioner of Education's decision to the SBE.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Landwehr told the SBE that this agenda item represents that appeal and that the following documents relate to this appeal:
1. The original petition received from Mr. Duncan on July 22, 2019, requesting the transportation reassignment on behalf of the McBroom's daughter (pages 3-18).
2. Letter dated August 27, 2019, notifying Charles and Amy McBroom of Mr. Tramel's denial of the transportation hardship reassignment (pages 19).
3. The appeal to the Commissioner received from Mr. Duncan on September 9, 2019, seeking review of Mr. Tramel's decision (pages 20-35).
4. Letter dated October 25, 2019, of the findings of the Commissioner of Education upholding the decision of the review officer (pages 36-37).
5. The appeal to the State Board received from Mr. Duncan on November 7, 2019, seeking review of the Commissioner's decision (pages 38-53).
6. Section 167.121, RSMo, and rule 5 CSR 30-261.050 (pages 54-56).

Tramel said that after through investigation, DESE recommends that the State Board of Education vote to uphold the denial of the transportation hardship reassignment request of Mr. and Mrs. McBroom.
Shields stated he is absolutely supportive of how DESE is implementing policy in this area, however -- if two districts wish to work student transportation issues out between them -- they can do so. Tramel said that in this case, both districts had significant concerns about a possible cascade effect had they accommodated the request.

Motion. SBE vote to uphold the denial of the transportation hardship reassignment request of Mr. and Mrs. McBroom. Motion carried 6-0.

O. Consideration of Deadline Extension for Preschool Contracting Under 5 CSR 20-100.320

Chris Neale, Assistant Commissioner, and Jo Anne Ralston, Coordinator, DESE Office of Quality Schools, led this discussion. Neale said that in August 2019, the SBE authorized a pair of companion rules, one emergency and one regular, enabling districts and charters to contract for pre-school services. He said the rule, 5 CSR 20-100.320, provides standards that must be met for contractors and includes a deadline for contractor accreditation.

Ralston stated that the SBE has received requests from charter schools for an extension of that deadline (pages 2-6). The childcare contractors are in the process of accreditation but awaiting action from Missouri Accreditation.
She added that DESE believes all parties are acting in good faith and that the contractors will become accredited within the next 90 days.

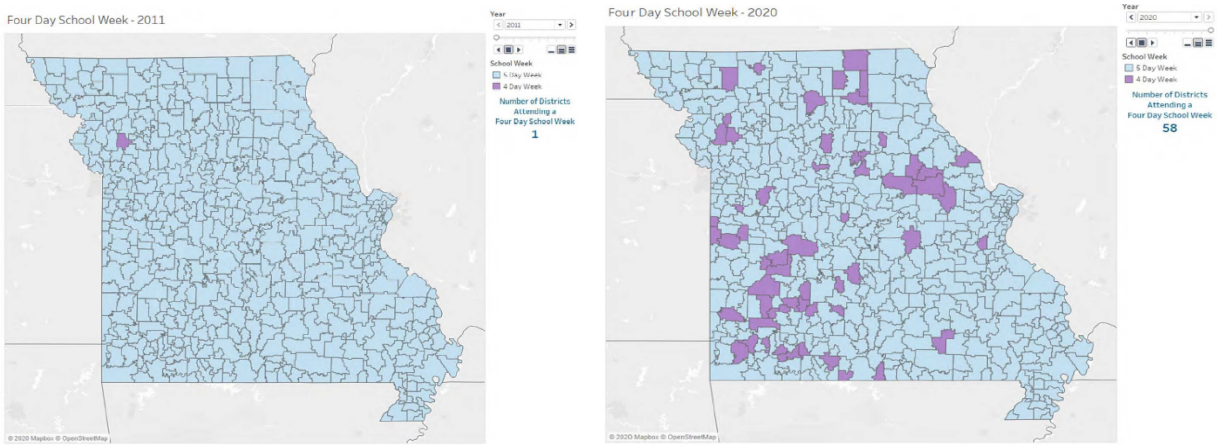
Motion. SBE grant a 90-day extension of the deadline in 5 CSR 20-100.320 for preschool accreditation for Hogan Preparatory Academy, Crossroads Charter Schools, KIPP Endeavor, University Academy, and Citizens of the World Charter Schools. Motion carried 6-0.

IX. Items for Discussion

P. Report on Districts Attending a Four-Day Week

Roger Dorson, DESE Deputy Commissioner, Division of Financial and Administrative Services, told the SBE that Senate Bill 291 was passed in 2009 creating Section 171.029, RSMo, and modifying Sections 160.041 and 171.031, RSMo, to allow for a four-day school week with a minimal number of days of instruction of 142 days and the minimum school calendar of 1,044 attendance hours. He said since the passage, there has been a steady increase in the number of districts that attend a four-day week; currently it is 58 districts (FY20).

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT



Dorson said that attending a four-day week was initially thought to be a means to reduce spending, however, in more recent years many districts are using this as a means to attract and retain quality teachers when unable to offer competitive salaries. He said that the use of the four-day week as a teacher-recruiting toll is becoming less effective as more and more districts use it.

Dorson said expenditures have been a mixed bag. He suggested that some school districts have saved money while others have not. He noted that academically, participating school districts maintained academic achievement to the degree that that did not have to go back to a five-day week – which was one of the provisions of the law. He said that the districts tend to be small and that their attendance has not suffered. Dorson told the SBE that DESE is thinking of doing more significant research to determine other effects of the four-day week.

Shields asked if some of the saved money has gone into the classroom. Dorson said he did not believe that very much money was actually saved -- but that he didn't know if savings were put back into the classroom.

Hallquist asked what happens in terms of caring for children when they are not in school. Dorson said that some are unhappy with the decision to go to a four-day week, including those who do not have childcare on the fifth day.

Vandeven said she gets questions on DESE's official position on the four-day school week. She said unless the SBE wants us to have a position, we do not have one. She suggested there are many research questions that should be answered before taking such a position.

Claycomb said that he has been getting question about the four-day week as well. He stated many have said the savings are just not that significant. Claycomb said he thinks DESE should develop answers to a list of frequently asked questions so constituencies can ask intelligent questions about the four-day week.

Lenz commented that he is beginning to be asked by many in the urban St. Louis area about the four-day week and its effects.

Q. Report on Stronger Together Missouri Preschool Development Grant Birth to Five

Chris Neale, DESE Assistant Commissioner; Jo Anne Ralston, Coordinator, DESE Office of Quality Schools; and Pam Thomas, Chief of Strategic Initiatives and Talent Development presented.

Neale said that in March 2019, the state of Missouri received a $6.5 million competitive Preschool Development Grant Birth through Five (PDG B-5). The purpose of the grant was to strengthen state systems to increase high-quality opportunities for young children and their families. He added that on December 23, 2019, the DESE received a renewal of the grant for three years, at $11.1 million dollars per year. The total of $33.5 million dollars will be spent to achieve the following goals:

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

• Create regional access to coordinated early childhood services to better meet families' needs

• Enhance and streamline training opportunities for early learning professionals

• Improve systems to better inform decision-making about early learning

Ralston said the Stronger Together Missouri application was submitted November 5, 2018 and $6.5 million award announced was announced January 2019 and awarded March 7, 2019. She said the grant completion date was December 31, 2019 and an extension approved through March 31, 2020.

Ralston then provided some findings as a result of grant activities:

• Families are unclear on available services.

- What is available
- Where to access programs
- What programs cost

• Programs

- 104 counties are "childcare deserts".
- Many programs are of unknown quality.

• Funding is a challenge for providers.

Pam Thomas then detailed the aims of the Ready to Learn Grant. She said the application was submitted November 5, 2019 and a $11.1 million award was announced December 2019 for a three year grant period ($33.5 million total). Thomas said 46 state and territories applied, 39 are current recipients and 14 have been awarded to date with 6 new applications awarded.

She said that the aims of Ready to Learn include creating regional access to coordinated early childhood services to better meet families' needs, enhance and streamline training opportunities for early learning professionals, and to improve systems to better inform decision making about early learning.

Thomas offered the following slide to summarize the next 60 days of grant activities.

Scholarships Leadership Academies	QAR Pilot Regional Hub Identification Advisory Councils	Data Summit DRDP/ Kindergarten Entry Assessment Longitudinal Data System (P-20W)

Herschend said he is very supportive of the program. He said the program looks like a very good expansion of the Parents as Teachers Program. However, he said did not hear anything to do with actual early childhood education in the formal sense. Herschend said he isn't hearing anything about preparing students to go to school. Ralston said better metrics need to be developed so we can know what is working in regard to students' preparation, but at present, DESE is focused on access and opportunity and not so much on student effects. Herschend said he thinks if this is worthwhile -- then we need to be encouraging data on student outcomes.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Hallquist said in Kansas City there is a lot of conversation surrounding the fact that we got a lot of grant money for research -- but none for early childhood learning itself. She asked how she should respond to comments of that sort. Neale answered by suggesting that at this stage, the grant money allows data analysis to ensure the conditions can be put in place to sustain early childhood programs in the future.

R. Outreach Plan Update

Paul Katnik, Assistant Commissioner, Office of Educator Quality reminded the SBE that the Teacher Workforce Outreach Plan was presented to the State Board of Education at the March 2019 meeting and updates were provided in May, September and December. He said The plan provides direction and focus for addressing challenges and issues regarding Missouri's teacher workforce.

Using the graphics below, Katnik provided a review of current teacher workforce data

Katnik told the SBE that the declining teacher workforce statistics reflect a trend that has been developing over several years. He said the type of information provided by tracking such statistics was the impetus for DESE initiating the Outreach Plan to address teacher workforce shortages. He said the Teacher Workforce Outreach Plan (TWOP) includes the following elements:

Phase 1: Gather and analyze data

Administrator data May 2019

Focus group (urban, rural, higher education) data July 2019
Parent data October 2019
Student data October 2019

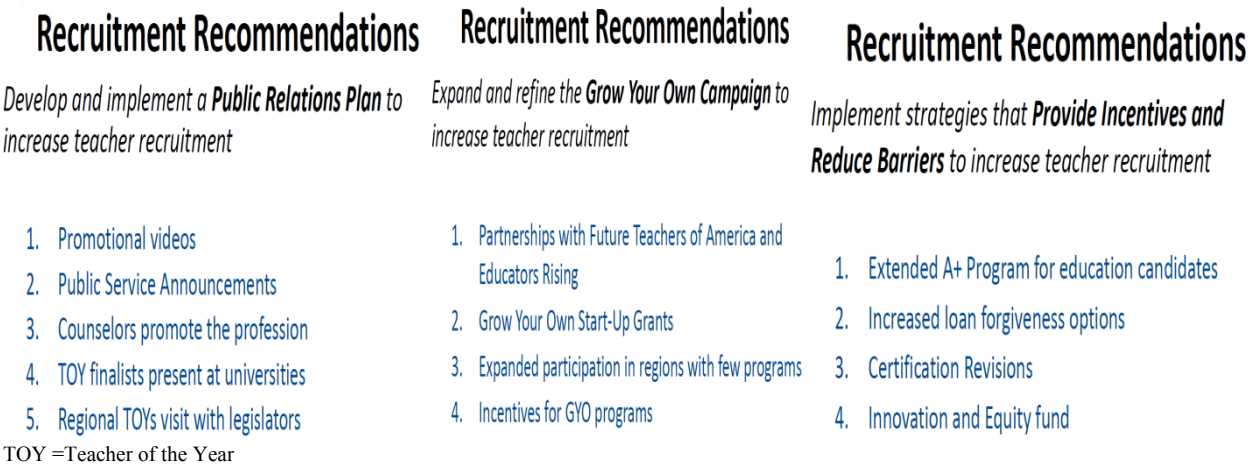
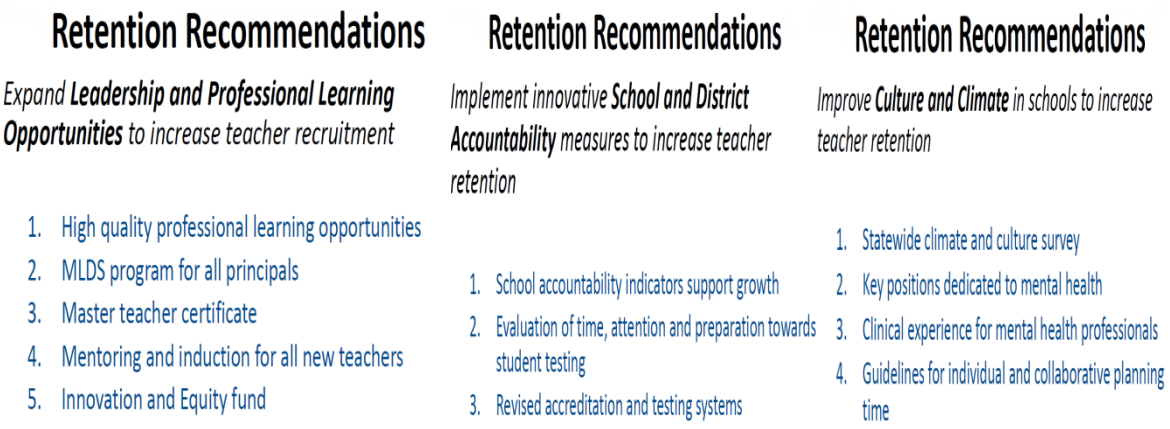
Using the following graphics, Katnik then present the TWOP recommendations:



TOY =Teacher of the Year



Katnik said the time has come to take a meaningful step toward providing adequate compensation for Missouri educators – especially considering that neighboring states (i.e., states that compete with Missouri for teachers) are increasing teacher salaries. He stated that the impact of teacher compensation is key to recruiting and retaining teachers, thus the teacher salary proposal has two targets:

- Adequacy Target
  - Increase salary of all teachers
  - Increase the minimum teacher salary requirement
  - Adjust all teachers to earn the new minimum
- Equity Target
  - Innovation and Equity Fund

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Katnik used the following graphics to describe the proposal:

Katnik said next steps toward implementation include twenty-six (26) strategies with several benchmarks leading to outputs. He said DESE will list individuals responsible with metrics and target dates. In all he indicated the TWOP has ninety (90) action steps and will be implemented over the next two years.

Herschend asked when the SBE would be seeing the action steps of the Outreach Plan presented in formal form. Katnik answered by saying 76 of the 90 action steps will be in place by next year. Herschend encouraged the department to move as quickly as possible to implement the program.

Herschend asked about the suggestion of creating a master teacher certificate and about the possibility of rewarding great teachers, who do not wish to go into administration, with additional compensation. He said rewards will recognize people who do a great job of teaching -- above and beyond the level of their colleagues. Katnik said such a program doesn't exist today. Herschend then suggested he wants to "put an oar in the water" regarding the teacher compensation question in such a way that it would come up as a regular SBE agenda item. He said every three or four years the SBE should be reviewing pay structures for teachers so the state doesn't fall behind and so it can remain competitive with similar states.

Hallquist asked whether "bad" teachers would also get pay raises under the plan. Katnik said that there would be a challenge in preventing all teachers from getting a raise because districts across the state have many evaluation methods/standards.

Shields asked whether a "state stipend" that would accompany particular teacher certifications could be established so teachers with particular certifications would get "X" dollars -- no matter where they work in the state. Katnik said that we already have minimums for master's degrees etc. – so the idea may be possible.

S. Governmental Affairs Update

Michael Harris, Chief of DESE Governmental Relations, presented. Harris referred to a bill-tracking document (pages 2-50) for the 2020 legislative session. He said that similar to past sessions, this session will see proposed legislation on school choice, education savings accounts (ESA), and CTE bills etc. Harris reported that new bills have been filed related to vaping in the schools and incentivizing teachers to take content area classes instead of master's coursework in administration by partially reimbursing teachers for tuition.

Harris specifically called attention to the following bills:

HB 1540, Basye -- Prevents any public school district from prohibiting a parent or guardian from recording any meeting held under the federal Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) or a Section 504 plan meeting (Federal Rehabilitation Act of 1973). Districts may not require parents to provide more than 24 hours notice in order to record said meeting, and no school district employee acting in good faith shall face discharge or discriminations for reporting retaliation, discrimination, or violations of IDEA or Section 504 as a result of these recordings.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

HB 1568, Bailey -- This bill defines "restraint" and "seclusion" and requires school districts to include in policy a prohibition on the use of restraint or seclusion, for any purpose other then the health and safety of students, teachers, and staff members. The bill requires that before July 1, 2021 each school district policy shall include reporting requirements for any occurrence of restraint or seclusion as outlined in the bill. The reporting requirements include parental notification, copy of each report given to DESE, a right to review a report, and file a complaint of dissatisfaction as detailed in bill. The bill also requires DESE to develop recommendations for data collection and reporting on the use of seclusion or restraint and to present those to the SBE for approval. The provisions of the recommendations shall be in the annual budget presented to the legislature and in updates to the Missouri School Improvement Program.

HB 1903, Shields -- This bill allows school districts that share superintendents to receive additional state aid.

SB 528, Cunningham -- Under this act, in any fiscal year in which the total foundation formula appropriation is greater than the amount reimbursed to schools, DESE shall transfer the excess funding to the School Transportation Fund established in this act. This act establishes the "School Transportation Fund" in the State Treasury. The fund shall be administered by the commissioner, and any funds deposited into the fund shall be paid to school districts to provide transportation to students, in addition to state aid currently provided for transportation of students, based on the number of students transported by the district.

SB 830, Cunningham -- SCHOOL INNOVATION WAIVERS (Section 161.214) Under this act, any school intervention team, which shall mean a group of persons representing certain schools as set forth in the act, may submit a state innovation waiver plan to the SBE for certain purposes, including improving student readiness for employment, higher education, vocational training, technical training, or any other form of career and job training, increasing the compensation of teachers, or improving the recruitment, retention, training, preparation, or professional development of teachers. A school innovation waiver shall mean a waiver granted by the State Board to certain schools, set forth in the act, in which such schools are exempt from a specific requirement imposed by current law, or any regulations promulgated by the SBE or DESE. Any school innovation waiver granted to a school district or group of school districts shall be applicable to every elementary and secondary school within the school district or group of school districts unless the plan specifically provides otherwise.

Any waiver granted under this act shall be effective for no longer than three school years, but school innovation waivers may be renewed. No more than one school innovation waiver shall be in effect with respect to any one elementary or secondary school at one time. The SBE shall not authorize the waiver of any statutory requirements relating to teacher certification, teacher tenure, or any requirement imposed by federal law.

VIRTUAL CLASS ATTENDANCE (Section 162.1250) Under current law, for purposes of calculation and distribution of state school funding, attendance of a student enrolled in a district or charter school virtual class shall equal, upon course completion, 94% of the hours of attendance possible for such class delivered in the nonvirtual program in the student's resident district or charter school. Under this act, attendance of a student in such a virtual class shall equal 95% of the hours of attendance possible.

CALCULATION OF AVERAGE DAILY ATTENDANCE (Section 163.018) Under this act, beginning in the 2020-2021 school year, the calculation of a school district or charter school's average daily attendance shall include the attendance hours of pupils that attend a half-day early childhood education program of the district or charter school in the current year. This provision shall only apply to a district or charter school that did not offer an early childhood education program during the 2019-2020 school year.

STUDENT CAREER AND ACADEMIC PLANS (Section 167.903) Current law allows any student, prior to his or her ninth grade year at a public or charter school, to develop a personal plan of study with help from the school's guidance counselors, which shall be reviewed regularly, as needed by school personnel and the student's parent or guardian and updated based upon the needs of the student. Under this act, such students shall be required to develop an individual career and academic plan, rather than a personal plan of study, with his of her school's guidance counselors. Such plan shall be reviewed once per semester by school personnel and the student's parent or guardian.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Each student, prior to the completion of the second semester of his or her twelfth grade year, shall include, as part of such plan, a declaration as to his or her post-secondary plans.

FREE APPLICATION FOR FEDERAL STUDENT AID (Section 167.907) Under this act, no student shall receive a certificate of graduation from any public or private school unless he or she has completed and submitted the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). A student shall be exempt from such requirement if such student submits to the school a written confirmation of a commitment to enlist in the armed forces or a written document or form signed by the student's parent or guardian, attesting that they understand what the application is and have chosen not to file such application. This provision is similar to HB 1349 (2020).

AID FOR CAREER AND TECHNICAL EDUCATION PROGRAMS (Section 167.908) The Department of Higher Education and Workforce Development shall, by rule, establish a procedure for providing the means and capability for high school students enrolled in career and technical education (CTE) programs to complete an application for aid through the United States Department of Labor, Employment and Training Administration. The Department shall work with school districts that deliver CTE programs to educate students on the value of the aid available to them through the federal Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act, and shall meet certain thresholds set forth in the act.

CAREER PATHWAYS SYSTEMS (Section 168.021) Under current law, certificates of license to teach in the public schools shall be granted by the State Board, which shall issue an initial visiting scholars certificate based on verification from the hiring school district that the applicant will be employed as part of a business-education partnership initiative designed to build career pathways systems for students in a grade or grades not lower than the ninth grade. This act repeals the requirement that the hiring school district verify that the applicant will be employed as part of a business-education partnership initiative, but rather requires such district to verify that the applicant will be employed to build career pathways systems for students.

PUBLIC SCHOOL RETIREMENT SYSTEM OF MISSOURI (PSRS) and PUBLIC EDUCATION EMPLOYEE RETIREMENT SYSTEM OF MISSOURI (PEERS) (Section 169.596) Current law provides that a retired certificated teacher receiving a retirement benefit from the PSRS may, without losing his or her retirement benefit, teach full time for up to two years for a school district covered by PSRS, provided that no such retired teacher shall be employed as a superintendent. Current law also caps the total number of such teachers to the lesser of ten percent of the total teacher staff for that school district, or five certificated teachers. Under this act, such teacher may be employed full time for up to four years for a school district covered by PSRS, without losing his or her retirement benefit. This act also repeals the provision prohibiting such teacher from being employed as a superintendent, and repeals the cap on the number of retired certificated teachers that may be employed. Under this act, a retired certificated teacher receiving a retirement benefit from PSRS may only be employed as a superintendent if he or she has been retired for at least twelve months prior to such employment, unless immediate employment is necessary due to death, disability, or termination for cause of the superintendent who held the position being filled. Current law also provides that any person receiving a retirement benefit from the Public Education Employee Retirement System of Missouri (PEERS) may, without losing his or her retirement benefit, be employed full time for up to two years for a school district covered by PEERS, provided that the school district has a shortage of noncertificated employees. The total number of retired noncertificated employees shall not exceed the lesser of ten percent of the total noncertificated staff of the school district, or five employees. This act permits such employee to be employed for up to four years, rather than two. The total number of retired members working for a school district under PSRS or PEERS, including certificated and noncertificated employees, shall not exceed the lesser of ten percent of the total number of employees for that district or ten employees.

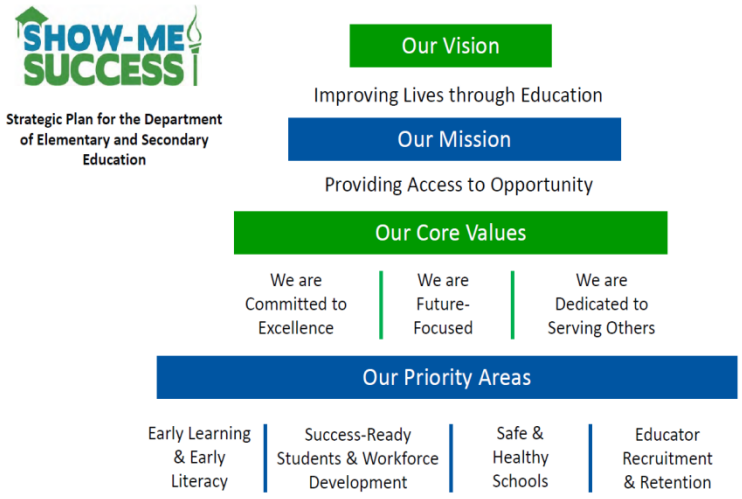
Claycomb requested that DESE testify in support of the shared superintendent bill. He said that the promise of this legislation is that districts and the state can become more efficient while saving a lot of money. Vandeven said that the superintendents' associations wish to make sure that we are not just trying to save money in the superintendent position. She said that we have indicated that DESE intends this legislation as a measure to save money by allowing cost sharing in many school areas and services -- not just by sharing superintendents among districts. Shields added that the intent of the legislation is to try to save money by sharing costs, not by consolidating districts.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Herschend indicated his support for the cost saving/sharing legislation and said he likes the idea of allowing for cost sharing across the board. He said it should be the SBE's position that school districts should be trying to increase efficiency and savings.

T. Update on the Show Me Success Strategic Plan

Pam Thomas, DESE Chief of Strategic Initiatives and Talent Development, led the discussion. Thomas said the Commissioner and Department have been engaged in several initiatives that have influenced the revisions to the vision, mission, core values and goals in the Show Me Success Strategic Plan. She provided the latest graphic to describe the revisions.



Thomas suggested that DESE is planning for upcoming events to promote the dissemination of the revised plan. She asked for further input from the SBE to assist in providing direction for the establishment of goals and measurements. Thomas closed by saying that DESE will be developing measures to determine the success of the Strategic Plan.

While Shields communicated his support for the work, he noted that a "snap shot" document (provided to the members of the SBE) produced for outreach efforts only reports the percentage of students who score in the "advanced" and "proficient" range. He stated that he has previously suggested that because students who are scoring in the "basic" range are not included, we are playing into the perception that too many of our students are not succeeding. Shields added that we get "beat up" by our own reporting as a result. Herschend agreed. He said we present information as a snap shot, when it is really a movie with an ongoing story.

Vandeven indicated that DESE would make efforts to include the percentage of students scoring at the basic level in outreach efforts to achieve a clearer picture of the percentage of students who are achieving at acceptable levels.

X. Licensure

Items in this section focused on issuance of teaching certificates, substitute teaching certificates or disciplining individuals by adverse action with regard to their Missouri teaching certification. The SBE approved the recommendations of DESE officials in each instance.

XI. Closed Session Motion

Lenz read a statement to allow the SBE to enter a closed session meeting and to publicize notice of said meeting. Motions setting a closed session meeting of the SBE and to publicize notice of the closed meeting. Motions approved 6-0.

Subject: 2020 Election Fraud

Dear Representative,

As a resident of the State of Missouri I respectfully request a full forensic audit of our 2020 elections using only IACIS (International Association Of Computer Investigative Specialists) or Sans Institute, following EAC guidelines and for laws to be passed that allows for:
1 day of voting
Voter ID required for all absentee voting
Paper ballots counted with a representative of 3 different political parties counting ballots in their precinct, preferably with cameras live streamed at each counting precinct
Absolutely NO MACHINES to count ballots
No software used to scan people in for voting off the voter registration, paper registration books only.
No ballot/drop boxes allowed unless inside an election facility and available only during the hours they are open for business.

If you don't want to listen to your constituents, then understand that We The People, have the right under our State Constitution to reform it at any time and we will take over our own elections. There are enough disgruntled Missourians willing to step up and do it.

Any Senator or Representative that does not support this or push for it will be primaried.

As I am sure you know the Arizona audit and the Antrim County audit of the tabulators shows that the systems can be connected to the internet. Some systems use a modem and some use a wireless chip card. Matt DePerno of DePernolaw.com has 21 reports on his site showing how the machines can be manipulated to change the votes.

Sidney Powell of DefendingtheRepublic.org has recently uncovered the patents by the DOD that allow for real time monitoring of elections and another patent that allows for setting an end target result of an election.

Here is Dr. Franks break down of the fraud in Missouri's 2020 election:

Here is an interview from many years ago showing that our votes have been being manipulated for years. The interview is about a book written called Vote Scam. The audio is rough at first, but clears up pretty quickly and it runs just under an hour.

RE: Midwestern Higher Education Compact (MHEC) Annual Commission Meeting and Policy Summit November 9-10, 2020

Legislators,

The Midwestern Higher Education Compact (MHEC) was created in the early 1990's when legislation recommended by the Midwestern Legislative Conference (MLC) of the Council of State Governments was enacted in member states. MHEC is funded by member state dues, grants, and income from various MHEC programs. To become members of the compact, the 12 eligible states (i.e., Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota, and Wisconsin) enacted legislation authorizing involvement. Programs and services provided by the Compact are available to all Midwest public and private non-profit institutions of higher education. Additionally, many of the MHEC cost savings programs are also available to K-12 school districts, cities, states, and local governmental entities.

Missouri's MHEC commissioners are: Representative John Black, House Subcommittee on Appropriations – Education, House Higher Education Committee; Dr. Kayla Hahn, Governor's Designee, Policy Director Office of Governor Parson; Dr. Susan L. Thomas, President Truman State University; Commissioner Alternate Ms. Zora Mulligan, Commissioner of Higher Education, Missouri Department of Higher Education. Two vacancies currently exist for Missouri MHEC Commissioners.

As a member of the Midwestern Higher Education Compact (MHEC), Missouri pays $115,000 per year in dues while MHEC estimates that Missouri saved $15,352,492 in 2019-2020 (see MHEC Cost Savings/Business Efficiency Programs, page 2 of the report). Programs are available for property insurance, computer hardware, computer software, student health insurance, and pharmacy benefits.

- Dr. Stephen Moret, President and CEO of the Virginia Economic Development Partnership (VEDP) presented on how Virginia leveraged a performance-based investment in higher education to secure the largest competitive economic development project in U.S. history, while also increasing equitable access to technical education and strengthening Virginia's tech sector statewide. Dr. Moret led Virginia's successful state/local team bid for Amazon HQ2. He shared his perspective on linking jobs and talent. Virginia's actual bid for Amazon HQ2 is available at https://hqnova.com/.
- Master Property Program (MPP) Ms. Jennifer Dahlquist, MHEC Vice President explained that the master property program (MPP) provides comprehensive insurance coverage to over 180 campuses in MHEC member states. She said the MPP currently provides comprehensive property insurance to over 180 campuses with a total insured value of $83 billion. Dahlquist asserted that the MPP is cumulatively saving MHEC member states over $167 million since its inception. Due to completion and other factors She indicated MHEC needs to take the next step in investigating the possibility of creating its own captive to provide more choices of insurance and reinsurance providers as well as new insurance offerings and savings for the MHEC member states. The Commission approved the exploration and feasibility of establishing a MHEC-owned captive.
- Budget Highlights MHEC reported it was projecting a $430,380 carry forward. Upon closure of the FY 2020 fiscal year, but prior to all of the FY 2020 revenue and expenses being reported, MHEC projected a $539,120 carry forward at the August 20 Finance and Audit Committee meeting. Now that all FY 2020 revenues and expenses have been reported, MHEC's FY 2020 Year End budget carry forward shows $750,613 while the prepared audited financial statements show a $400,114 while the prepared financial statements show a $682,007 carry-forward.

- Delay of 1.5% State Commitment Increase to FY23. Due to the pandemic and the resulting economic crisis it has caused -- for FY22 the MHEC Commission approved the waiver of the 1.5% annual increase to the MHEC state compact commitment approved by the Commission at the November 2019 Commission meeting. The waiver is for FY22 only, with the 1.5% annual increase remaining in effect for FY23 and beyond.
- 2020-2021 MHEC Officers The commission approved David Eisler (MI) for the position of MHEC chair, Rick Carfagna (OH) for the position of vice chair, and Devinder Malhotra (MN) for the position of treasurer.
- MHEC Dashboard The MHEC Interactive Dashboard provides data and key performance indicators relevant to the goal of improving educational attainment. The indicators are organized within seven categories: Context, Preparation, Participation, Affordability, Completion, Finance, and Benefits. Several of these areas also portray a subcategory highlighting opportunity and achievement gaps by income, race, and ethnicity. Users may explore a variety of education related questions (e.g., student achievement, graduation rates) in each MHEC state on several levels including employment statistics.
- The pandemic will end, possibly in early 2021 and the question is: What happens next? Susan Grajek, Vice President for Communities and Research at EDUCAUSE suggested scenarios should be high-level views of possible recovery visions and suggested that information technology (IT) will play a pivotal role. Grajek said the high-level scenarios considered by EDUCAUSE constitute three paths for higher education's emergence from the pandemic they are: Restore: Figuring out how to get back to where we were before the pandemic, Evolve: Adapting to the new normal, and Transform: Redefining our institution and taking an active role in creating the innovative future of higher education.
- Election is Over, What's Next for Higher Ed? Dr. Thomas Harnisch, Vice President of Government Relations, State Higher Education Executive Officers (SHEEO) Harnisch discussed President Elect Biden's Education agenda which includes: Debt-Free Community College, Investing in Community College Capacity and Success, Investing in Workforce Training Programs, Tuition-Free Public Colleges (below $125K), Ensuring DREAMers are eligible for financial aid, Student Debt Repayment and Loan Forgiveness Options.
- Midwestern Legislative Roundup. Mr. Mike McCabe, Director, Council of State Governments, Midwest Office presented on the 2020 elections, McCabe stated there were gubernatorial races in 11 states, including just three in Midwest (IN, MO, ND). Legislative races in 44 states and every chamber in the Midwest except the MI Senate, and Ballot more than 120 ballot measures in 35 states; 18 in eight Midwestern states. McCabe said the elections produced no partisan control swings in Midwest with Republicans still in control of 19 of 22 partisan chambers and more than 60 percent of total seats with Minnesota remaining the nation's only divided legislature. McCabe reported no change in gubernatorial mix with three Republican incumbents winning re-election.

RE: Midwestern Higher Education Compact (MHEC)
Annual Commission Meeting November 9-10, 2020

The Annual Commission Meeting and Policy Summit of the Midwestern Higher Education Compact (MHEC) was held November 9-10, 2020 virtually in response to COVID-19 pandemic concerns.

MHEC HISTORY AND OVERVIEW

The Midwestern Higher Education Compact (MHEC) was created in the early 1990's when legislation recommended by the Midwestern Legislative Conference (MLC) of the Council of State Governments was enacted in member states. MHEC is funded by member state dues, grants, and income from various MHEC programs. To become members of the compact, the 12 eligible states (i.e., Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota, and Wisconsin) enacted legislation authorizing involvement. Programs and services provided by the Compact are available to all Midwest public and private non-profit institutions of higher education. Additionally, many of the MHEC cost savings programs are also available to K-12 school districts, cities, states, and local governmental entities.

MHEC offers an array of services to its members, but it is perhaps the cost savings and cost containment functions that offers the most visible and compelling reason for Missouri's participation.

Missouri's MHEC commissioners are: Representative John Black, House Subcommittee on Appropriations – Education, House Higher Education Committee; Dr. Kayla Hahn, Governor's Designee, Policy Director Office of Governor Parson; Dr. Susan L. Thomas, President Truman State University; Commissioner Alternate Ms. Zora Mulligan, Commissioner of Higher Education, Missouri Department of Higher Education.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Day 1: Monday, November 9 MHEC Annual Commission Meeting

Annual Commission Meeting

Agenda

What follows is a SUMMARY of agenda items discussed.

1) Call to Order and Overview of Virtual Meeting Guidelines – Ms. Olivia Madison (IA), MHEC Chair, and Ms. Susan Heegaard, MHEC President

The Annual Commission Meeting and Policy Summit of the Midwestern Higher Education Compact (MHEC) was called to order at 8:32 A.M. on November 9, 2020 by MHEC Chair Ms. Olivia Madison (IA). MHEC President Susan Heegaard opened the meeting by commenting that this year's meeting was originally scheduled to be held in Des Moines Iowa. However, because of the pandemic – Heegaard indicated Zoom is the best way to meet at this time.

Heegaard thanked the 2019-2020 MHEC officers (Chair: Olivia Madison, (IA); Vice Chair: David Eisler, (MI), and Treasurer: Rick Carfagna (OH); Past Chair: Ken Sauer, (IN)) for their hard work and dedication to MHEC during this unusually challenging time.

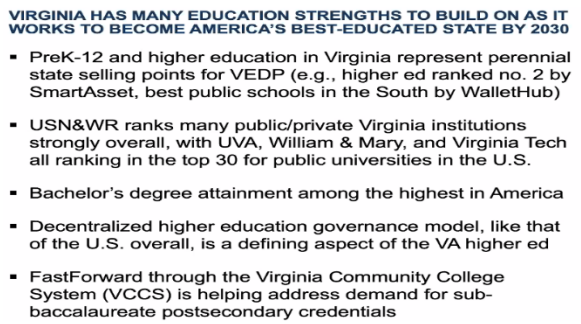
a) Roll Call of States and Introductions of Commissioners Present – Ms. Mary Roberson, MHEC Senior Director of Communications and Marketing

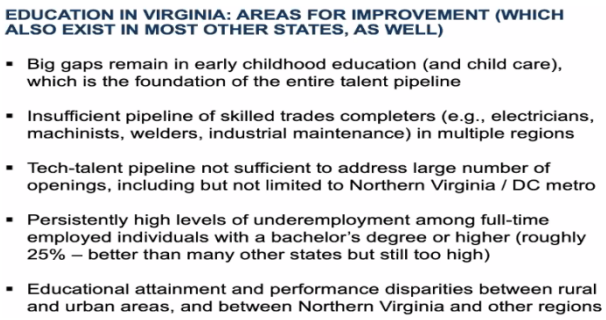
Roberson called the roll for member state attendance. All MHEC states were in attendance and represented.

2) Linking Jobs and Talent – Landing the Amazon HQ2 in Virginia Stephen Moret, President and CEO, Virginia Economic Development Partnership

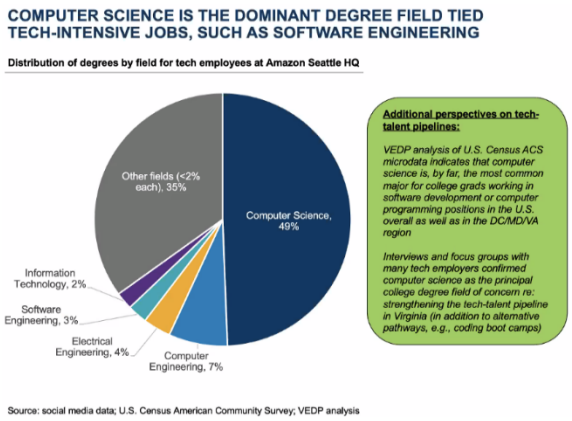
Dr. David Eisler (MI), MHEC Vice Chair introduced Dr. Stephen Moret, President and CEO of the Virginia Economic Development Partnership (VEDP). Moret's presentation focused on how Virginia leveraged a historic, performance-based investment in higher education to secure the largest competitive economic development project in U.S. history, while also increasing equitable access to technical education and strengthening Virginia's tech sector statewide. Dr. Moret led Virginia's successful state/local team bid for Amazon HQ2. He shared his perspective on linking jobs and talent.

Moret told the MHEC commissioners that in 2008, top business/industry site consultants in the U.S. ranked "availability of skilled labor" as the third most important site-selection factor; in 2018, they ranked it number 1. He stated that in 2008, corporate executives in the U.S. raked "availability of skilled labor" as the sixth most important site-selection factor, in 2018 they ranked it no. 1. To describe the labor force in Virginia, Moret provided an overview of the Virginia's educational system strengths and weaknesses. He stated that Virginia's goal is to become America's best educated stated by 2030.





AMERICAN OVERSIGHT



With Virginia's educational system as a foundation for discussion, Moret described Virginia's effort to attract Amazon's HQ2. He stated Amazon indicated that a computer science educated population was of great concern to the company in selecting a site for HQ2. To respond to that challenge, he said Virginia made large investments in computer science (CS) education. He said higher education institutions in Virginia were asked if they were interested in expanding CS programs and if so -- what sort of state support would be needed to achieve such expansions. He emphasized that while graduate degrees are important, the dominant pipeline to computer science careers are bachelor's degrees.

Moret stated that while many states where offering $5-$10 billion or more in various financial incentives, Virginia would not consider that approach. Instead, Virginia pursued a distinctive strategy for HQ2 which he asserted positioned the state's entire technology sector for success. To that end, Moret said Virginia launched several initiatives to grow technology talent and infrastructure.

SETTING THE STAGE: SEPTEMBER 6-7, 2017

September 6, 2017 (the day before)

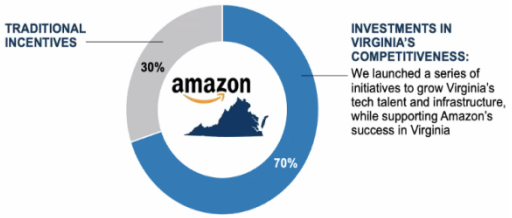
- In Virginia, the state economic development leader (CEO of VEDP) is an ex-officio, voting member of the state higher education coordinating board
- Draft of five-year state economic development plan envisioned tech as the biggest job growth driver, with one constraint – the tech talent pipeline
- Two potential solutions – statewide CS education push (K12 and higher ed) and a new tech campus in Northern Va. – would cost hundreds of millions

September 7, 2017 (HQ2 competition begins)

- Amazon releases RFP launching a competition for the largest competitive, private-sector economic development project in U.S. history
- Top selection criteria: attractive site/building, operating costs, incentives, talent (especially tech talent availability and pipeline), connectivity (e.g., flights, transit, broadband), cultural fit, and quality of life
- VEDP day-one assessment: many competing states will offer $5-10 billion or more in incentives – a sum Virginia would not consider

WE PURSUED A DISTINCTIVE STRATEGY FOR HQ2 THAT WOULD POSITION OUR ENTIRE TECH SECTOR FOR SUCCESS

From the outset, we committed to match the scale and structure of the financial commitment for HQ2 with the ambition of the project through a combination of company commitments and investments in our state and regional competitiveness for all technology firms and corporate headquarters



An integral part of the Virginia strategy to win Amazon HQ2 was investing $1.1. billion in a performance-based technology talent initiative to double the annual number of CS graduates.

VIRGINIA IS INVESTING ~$1.1 BILLION IN A PERFORMANCE-BASED TECH-TALENT INITIATIVE TO DOUBLE ANNUAL CS GRADS (BS+MS)

- Strengthening the K-12 Tech-Talent Statewide
- Statewide community college Tech-Talent Education
- Statewide Bachelor's-Level Tech-Talent Education
- Master's-Level Tech-Talent Education in Northern Virginia
- Tech Internship program for Higher Education Students

To add 32,000 BS/MS grads in CS and related fields over 20 years, Virginia is investing:

- ~$675MM in undergrad education, including 250-300 new faculty lines, startup packages, capital projects (new buildings and labs), and operational support
- ~$375MM in graduate education, including 50-75 new faculty lines, startup packages, capital projects (a new tech campus plus new buildings), and operational support
- $25MM in tech internships/apprenticeships in higher education
- $25MM in K12 computer science education (e.g., professional development, online curricula)

VIRGINIA'S PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS PRODUCE OVER 1,300 BACHELOR'S AND 400 MASTER'S DEGREES IN COMPUTER SCIENCE-RELATED FIELDS

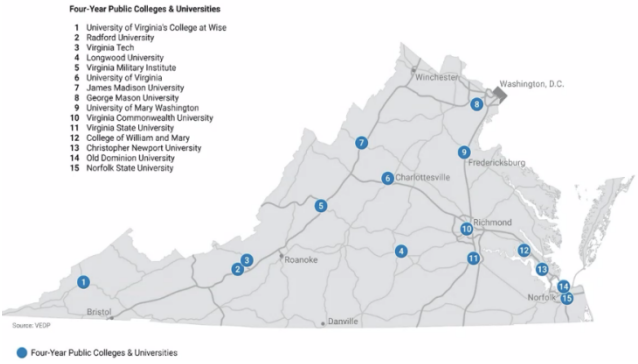
AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Moret told the MHEC commissioners that the vast majority of the initiative is dedicated to producing bachelor's degrees. To add 32,000 BS/MS grads in CS and related fields over 20 years, Virginia is investing in undergraduate education, which included funding for 250-300 new postsecondary faculty lines, new faculty financial startup packages, and capital projects for new facilities and operational support. He said that Amazon told the VEDP that the factors that had the most impact in Virginia's selection as the site for HQ2 was the existing university imperative to produce technology degrees in combination with the 20 year plan to expand computer science graduates.

14 OF 15 PUBLIC UNIVERSITIES IN VIRGINIA ARE PARTICIPATING IN THE COMMONWEALTH'S TECH TALENT INVESTMENT PROGRAM



Moret was careful to emphasize that none of this effort was specialized or customized for Amazon. He said there is no specific training program for Amazon employment nor are graduates required to work at Amazon after graduation. He indicated that Virginia's actual bid for Amazon HQ2 is available at https://hqnova.com/ for inspection.

Moret then turned to Virginia's equity building efforts associated with building and strengthening CS education in the state. He asserted that these efforts to increase equitable access to technical education were also key in the success of attracting HQ2.

EXAMPLES OF EQUITY-BUILDING MEASURES ASSOCIATED WITH COMPUTER SCIENCE EDUCATION IN VIRGINIA

- Strong emphasis on building the K12 pipeline of students prepared to study rigorous computer science programs (e.g., funding for online curricula and professional development)
- Expanded scholarship opportunities for underrepresented student populations (e.g., Virginia Tech)
- Emphasis on transfer programs – community colleges to universities, as well as undergraduate-to-graduate programs
- $3.9 million donation from Amazon (through Amazon Future Engineer) to Code VA to expand computer science access to under served and underrepresented communities

Moret offered advice to the MHEC states regarding what legislatures can do to approach labor force development. Generally, he suggested that new funding can be dedicated to strategic workforce areas that are important now and/or will become important in the future (e.g., commuter science, engineering, health care). He said this requires more focused appropriation decisions. Moret told the MHEC commissioners that bipartisanship was also a key to success. He said that Republicans liked that the effort was performance-based while Democrats liked that additional resources where being dedicated to higher education. Moret also suggested that money going into economic development efforts can be shared in the higher education community for workforce development activities. Moret said that a priority of higher education should be to prevent underemployment through individual student career planning and guidance counseling. Moret ended his comments by listing efforts made by Peter Blake, Virginia's SHEEO to win Amazon's HQ2.

Action Item 1

3. Approval of Agenda - Ms. Olivia Madison (IA), MHEC Chair

Motion to approve the meeting agenda as presented. Motion approved by acclamation.

Action Item 2

4. Approval of Annual Commission Meeting Minutes, November 18-20, 2019 (pp. 7-21) - Ms. Olivia Madison (IA), MHEC Chair

Motion to approve. Motion approved by acclamation.

5. Report of the MHEC Chair – Ms. Olivia Madison (IA), MHEC Chair (p. 23)

Madison indicated she would make brief comments and referred commissioners to her complete written report (page 27). She said she has been was much honored to serve as MHEC Chair and to work in close collaboration with officers – Dr. David Eisler, vice chair; Rep. Rick Carfagna, treasurer; and Dr. Ken Sauer, past chair. She thanked all of the MHEC staff and her fellow commissioners for their outstanding leadership during this "very unusual year."

Madison reported that fortunately, seven of the twelve annual state visits were completed in-person with President Susan Heegaard, Chief Operating Officer and General Counsel Rob Trembath and, as possible, elected officers. She said all 12 state annual visits are now complete, with five of those meetings having been conducted virtually. She indicated that highlights of the visits included showcasing MHEC's new dashboard, comparative data, and important observations and feedback by commissions/alternates and guests. On behalf of the Iowa commissioners and alternates, Madison said we look forward to welcoming the Annual MHEC Executive Committee to Des Moines, Iowa, in June 2021!

6. Report of the MHEC President – Ms. Susan Heegaard, MHEC President

In the interest of time, Heegaard indicated she would make only brief remarks and referred commissioners to her complete written report (pp. 29-31). She asked "Who would have thought a year ago that we would be meeting, shopping, teaching, learning, socializing, worshiping, exercising, and doing almost all things virtually?" Heegaard suggested that for many people in our country, life has become deeply challenging, every single day. From job losses and racial unrest to financial difficulties and illness, these are difficult times. Heegaard then stated that these are also times of opportunity and a chance for us to use this moment to think about how to create a different and better future for our students, families, campuses, communities, and states. Heegaard shared that in her family, they are experiencing change daily. She said my husband and I are both working remotely and that they are the parents of two college students, one a freshman in Wisconsin attending mostly online and the other a junior, living at home, attending remotely in California. While isolating, Heegaard said she believes some of the coping and resilience skills her children are picking up, will serve them well for years to come.

Heegaard said as I finish my second year as MHEC president, I want to share how grateful I am to all of you. A special thanks to our top-notch staff who have adapted to these changes with a positive spirit and strength. She also thanked MHEC officers -- Chair Olivia Madison, Vice Chair David Eisler, Treasurer Rick Carfagna, and Past Chair Ken Sauer. Heegaard ended her remarks by saying the meeting was supposed to be in Des Moines -- but unfortunately due to the pandemic -- we'll delay our visit to that great Midwestern city until June 2021 for our Executive Committee meeting.

7. MHEC Staff Introduction Video – Ms. Susan Heegaard, MHEC President

Heegaard introduced a brief video produced to introduce the MHEC staff (pp. 127-128). In the video Each MHEC staffer introduced themselves and gave brief accounts of the functions they perform. Heegaard commented that higher education is key to a fulfilling life and that each of the MHEC staffers are dedicated to that promise.

8. Unfinished Business - Ms. Olivia Madison (IA), MHEC Chair

Madison requested that commissioners offer information related to any unfinished business. No unfinished business was brought to the attention of the commissioners.

9. New Business

Action Item 3

a) Master Property Program Loss Fund Structure Discussion and Possible Action – Ms. Susan Heegaard, MHEC President, and Ms. Jennifer Dahlquist, MHEC Vice President

Ms. Jennifer Dahlquist, MHEC Vice President explained that the master property program (MPP) provides comprehensive insurance coverage to over 180 campuses in MHEC member states. She said the MPP was created 26 years ago and currently provides comprehensive property insurance to over 180 campuses with a total insured value of $83 billion. Dahlquist asserted that the MPP is cumulatively saving MHEC member states over $167 million since its inception.

Dahlquist told the MHEC commissioners that as the program continues its natural evolution, two levels of risks are driving the need to consider changing the program – risk to the MPP and a related risk to MHEC itself. She indicated that the MPP has experienced some significant losses lately and as a result, the MPP leadership team has encouraged MHEC to examine the program thoroughly. Dahlquist indicated that the examination has focused on the captive layer and various risk financing solutions to meet MHEC's current and future needs.

Dahlquist told the MHEC commissioners that others are entering the insurance marketplace which is creating a situation whereby institutions are choosing other options. She indicated that MHEC really needs to take the next step in investigating the possibility of creating its own captive to provide more choices of insurance and reinsurance providers as well as new insurance offerings for the MHEC member states.

NOTE: Susan Heegaard, MHEC President told those attending the meeting that more detailed information regarding the feasibility of establishing a MHEC-owned captive currently exists. However, due to the competitive and proprietary nature of that information, it will be shared at a later date.

Motion. The Commission approve the MHEC staff, in conjunction with its outside counsel, the MPP Program Administration team, Marsh's captive group, and the MPP chair and vice chair ('MPP Captive Team"), continue the exploration and feasibility of establishing a MHEC-owned captive with the goal of reaching a final recommended course of action which will be shared with the Executive Committee by the end of 2020. Further, the Commission delegate to the MHEC officers the authority to approve the establishment of a MHEC-owned captive following consultation with and recommendation from the MPP Captive Team. Motion carried by acclamation.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

b) Finance and Audit Committee Report – Rep. Rick Carfagna (OH), MHEC Treasurer and Committee Chair

Rep. Rick Carfagna (OH), MHEC Treasurer and Committee Chair referenced the following budget and financial documents - Budget Highlights for FY20 document (page 36), the Budget FY20 Unrestricted Fund Balance spreadsheet (page 37), and the Audit Report documents (pp. 44-61).

1. Budget Highlights for FY20

Rep. Rick Carfagna (OH), MHEC Treasurer and Committee provided an overview of MHEC budget highlights for FY20. He reported:

• MHEC's budget is presented on a cash basis (cash in and cash out); however, MHEC accounting operations and the audit are based on an accrual basis (revenues recognized when invoice is created). This is why the FY 2020 Year-End budget carry over number will differ from the prepared audited financial statements.

• At the June 2020 Executive Committee meeting, MHEC reported it was projecting a $430,380 carry forward. Upon closure of the FY 2020 fiscal year, but prior to all of the FY 2020 revenue and expenses being reported, MHEC projected a $539,120 carry forward at the August 20 Finance and Audit Committee meeting. Now that all FY 2020 revenues and expenses have been reported, MHEC's FY 2020 Year End budget carry forward shows $750,613 while the prepared audited financial statements show a $400,114 while the prepared financial statements show a $682,007 carry-forward.

• The $68,606 difference in carry forward between MHEC's FY 2020 Year End budget and the prepared audited financials can be attributed to a few variances between the budget numbers and the audit numbers:

- o A duplicate health care payment
- o A fiscal year-end audit adjustment
- o A small bad debt write-off

• Consistent with budget plans, MHEC is in the process of filling one full-time position to assist in furthering our policy and research area to ensure that we are meeting the deliverables of MHEC's strategic framework. MHEC will also fill one full-time position that will help in supporting and building out our programs and contract area.

• A significant portion of MHEC's annual expenses are tied to travel for meetings and other convenings. Because COVID-19 disrupted the second half of FY 2020, MHEC had to cancel or postpone a few large end-of-the-year meetings and move instead to virtual meetings. As a result, a portion of the travel related expenses were reallocated to allow MHEC staff to work from home during the pandemic with the remaining travel related budgeted expenses left unspent.

• MHEC still retains the funds from the federal Paycheck Protection Program loan it took out in June and will hold onto it through December 25, at which point the funds will be returned to the Small Business Administration (SBA).

• MHEC is utilizing the funds from the $682,007 surplus for the following:

- o $271,000 used to meet the 6-month operations reserve (a year and half ahead of schedule).
- o $80,694 to cover expenses in the FY 2021 budget,
- o The remainder $330,313 into undesignated funds.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

• While revenues unexpectedly exceeded budget estimates in large part likely due to an increase in technology purchases, we don't know if that will continue or for how long. It is important and fiscally responsible, for MHEC to remain financially stable and able to meet future unexpected needs.

Revenues:

• State Commitments ($1,380,000): All twelve states paid the $115,000 state commitment.

• Insurance Programs ($688,520): MHECare revenue earned $280,328, considerably more than estimated. MHECare revenue is based 100 percent on plan participation and how many students enroll, which can significantly fluctuate from year-to-year. In addition, the MHEC budget is determined prior to the timeline of when campuses make critical decisions regarding their student health plans. The MPP revenue earned $8,282 more than estimated. MPP revenues are agreed upon during the renewal period. If an institution joins the program midway through the coverage period, the program revenues fluctuate.

• Technology Contracts ($1,356,777): MHEC revenues from technology contracts exceeded the budgeted amount by $494,302. MHEC's largest provider Dell, had 3rd and 4th quarter sales that were significantly higher than anticipated, likely impacted by COVID-19 due to increased technology demands for remote work and learning.

• Interest Income ($42,194): During the FY 2020 budget process, estimates were conservative based on the fluctuations of the economy and the market. The end-of-the-year actual numbers came in higher than budget, but lower than FY 2019. In Q3 when the market dropped due to the economic shut down, MHEC's Insured Cash Sweeps (ICS) account interest rate went from 1.5 percent to 0.5 percent, with only one remaining CD open at this time with an interest rate of 0.5 percent.

• Contract Work Income ($36,375) MHEC did not budget for the contract work income as it was unanticipated at the time the FY 2020 budget was developed. These were funds provided for contract work with Credential Engine.

Expenses:

• Consultant Services: The two accounts that make a majority of the expenses in the consultant fees are computer services ($102,307) and general consultant fees ($69,496). Computer services exceeded the budgeted amount by approximately $32,443. One of the reasons computer services is over budget, is due to higher than planned use of the technology consultants. Another factor in exceeding the planned budget in computer services, was the costs incurred in preparation of setting up MHEC employees to work from home. The majority of expenses in the general consultant account are attributed to the technology committee consultant (MHEC did not replace the CIO when he left a little over a year ago, instead filling in some of his job November 2020 Updated Financial Documents 3 responsibilities with the consultant). Finally, staff development funds were not fully utilized in FY 2020.

• The following operations expenses had the greatest variances from the budget:

o Dues and Subscriptions: FY 2019 prepaid expenses were adjusted into FY 2020 during the audit contributing to the year-end total. We also had to reclass a technology membership to this account that was significant.
o Professional fees: MHEC's accounting fees exceeded estimates in FY 2020 because at the beginning of FY 2020 Q3, MHEC brought on an accounting consultant from Robert Half to help cover for the loss of former Director of Finance and Administration Kristin Coffman who passed away in the winter. In March 2020, MHEC hired the consultant as its new Director of Finance and Administration and ended up buying out the consultant's contract from Robert Half.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

o Office Supplies and Equipment: As the pandemic started to spread and MHEC staff moved to working from home, the officers approved a one-time payment to the staff to ensure that they have the technology needs to conduct operations from home.
o Travel and Lodging (Airfare and Hotel): In Q3 and Q4 of FY 2020 there were fewer regional convenings, allowing MHEC to make adjustments in related expenses, resulting in $141,348 under budget.
o Conference and Training (Meals and Entertainment): The expenditure for conference and training was $8,328 under budget due to fewer regional convenings.
o Telephone/Fax/Internet: The actual expense in FY 2020 is similar to FY 2019 by $1,500. We under budgeted in this expense by $6,100. Note: Many of MHEC's expenses are under budget due to COVID-19. Many of the main operations expenses either came to a halt or slowed down at the end of February.

Action Item 4

2. FY20 Audit Report

FY 2020 Audit Report (agenda book, pages 5-27) submitted by Eide Bailly, LLP indicated that overall the Compact's financial condition remains strong.

Motion to accept the audit report (pages 27-32). Motion carried by acclamation.

Action Item 5

3. Investment Policy

Rep. Rick Carfagna (OH), MHEC Treasurer told the commissioners that the intent of the Investment Policy (pp. 67-77) of the Midwestern Higher Education Compact is to define the parameters within which funds are to be managed. Through methods, procedures and practices, the policy formalizes the framework for the Midwestern Higher Education Compact's investment activities that must be exercised to ensure effective and judicious fiscal and investment management of the Midwestern Higher Education Compact's funds. Carfagna said the guidelines are intended to be broad enough to allow the Chief Financial Officer and the President to function properly within the parameter of responsibility and authority, yet specific enough to adequately safeguard the investment assets. He provided a brief overview.

GOVERNING AUTHORITY

The investment program shall be operated in conformance with federal, state, and other legal requirements, including Minnesota state statute section 118A.04 Investments.

SCOPE

This policy applies to activities of the Midwestern Higher Education Compact with regard to investing the financial assets of all funds. In addition, funds held by trustees or fiscal agents are excluded from these rules; however, all funds are subject to regulations established by the state of Minnesota. The covered funds, and any new funds created by the Midwestern Higher Education Compact, unless specifically exempted by the oversight of the Commission and this policy, are defined in the Midwestern Higher Education Compact's Annual Financial Report. Except for funds in certain restricted and special funds, the Midwestern Higher Education Compact commingles its funds to maximize investment earnings and to increase efficiencies with regard to investment pricing, safekeeping, and administration. Investment income will be allocated to the various funds based on their respective participation and in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Motion. The initial Investment Policy be approved by the full commission. Any modifications to that policy thereafter shall be formally approved and adopted by the Finance and Audit Committee of the Midwestern Higher Education Compact. Motion carried by acclamation.

Action Item 6

4. Delay of 1.5% State Commitment Increase to FY23

NOTE: Due to the pandemic situation and the resulting economic crisis it has caused -- for FY22 the MHEC Commission approved the waiver of the 1.5% annual increase to the MHEC state compact commitment approved by the Commission at the November 2019 Commission meeting. The waiver is for FY22 only, with the 1.5% annual increase remaining in effect for FY23 and beyond

Rep. Rick Carfagna (OH) reported that in 1991 when MHEC was established, the annual state compact commitment was $58,000. Over the ensuing 29 years the Commission approved increasing the commitment a total of $57,000, to its current amount of $115,000. Although the average annual increase to the state compact commitment since 1991 is approximately $1,966, the increases have been implemented irregularly, with intervals between requests, ranging from two to nine years, and in varying amounts ranging from a low of $5,000 to a high of $17,000.

Carfagna recounted that during the November 2019 MHEC Commission meeting in Indianapolis, the Commission approved increasing the state compact commitment 1.5% annually beginning in FY22. He said the annual increase is an attempt to provide a more regular, modest, and predictable state commitment. A 1.5% increase would mean the state commitment would increase to $116,725 in FY22, or an increase of $1,725. Additionally, implementing a modest annual increase is consistent with the strategy used by the Southern Regional Education Board (1.5% annual increase on its current $208,508 state commitment) and the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education (2% annual increase on its current $153,000 state commitment).

Carfagna said that for most of the 12 member states of MHEC, FY22 begins July 1, 2021. Carfagna said that given the current pandemic situation, and the resulting economic crisis it has caused, both nationally and across all the MHEC member states, the MHEC officers propose waiving the 1.5% annual increase to the state compact commitment for the FY22. He said this proposed action will not affect future annual increases to the state compact commitment beginning in FY23.

Motion. For FY22, the MHEC Commission waive the 1.5% annual increase to the MHEC state compact commitment approved by the Commission at the November 2019 Commission meeting. The waiver is for FY22 only, with the 1.5% annual increase remaining in effect for FY23 and beyond. Motion carried by acclamation

5. Biennial Budget Discussion – NOTE: No discussion was observed related to this agenda item.

c) Ad Hoc Governance Committee Report – Rep. Barbara Ballard (KS), Committee Chair

1. Executive Committee Membership

Action Items 7-12

The MHEC bylaws give very little guidance around the Executive Committee's size, composition, appointment process, and tenure. The MHEC bylaws empower the Executive Committee to act on behalf of the commission in the interims between commission meetings. This requires some agility on the part of the Executive Committee to convene on fairly short notice and take action. An Executive Committee can also serve as an effective sounding board for the MHEC officers and MHEC staff.

Rep. Barbara Ballard, Chair of the Ad Hoc Governance Committee, said that in the Committee's view, a 24-person Executive Committee, or nearly one half of the full 60 person Commission, serves neither of these purposes very well. She said it is very difficult to coordinate a convening of 24 individuals in a short period of time. It is equally difficult and time consuming to consult with 24 different individuals when looking for the type of advice and counsel generally provided by an executive board. She said inevitably what happens is only a small subset of the Executive Committee is consulted. Therefore, in an effort to make the Executive Committee more agile and responsive to MHEC's organizational needs, the Ad Hoc Governance Committee is recommending that the commission reduce the size of the Executive Committee down from two members from each state to one member from each state. One person serving from each state would also be consistent with the smaller size executive boards of the Southern Regional Education Board (SREB) and the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education (WICHE). In addition, Ballard said in addition to reducing the size of the Executive Committee, the Ad Hoc Governance Committee is recommending the commission put some additional structure and transparency around the Executive Committee membership related to terms of service, Executive Committee member alternates, the role of officers on the Executive Committee and the role of past chairs on the Executive Committee.

NOTE: Due to concerns surrounding possible decreased commissioner engagement, decreasing the diversity and experience of the Executive Committee, and the procedures used for appointment to the Executive Committee, Action Items 7-12 were returned to the Ad Hoc Governance Committee for further consideration. A sample of the conversation around the action items is included below.

Action Item 7. Reduction of Executive Committee Membership. Reduce the size of the Executive Committee down from two commissioners from each state to one commissioner from each state with each Executive Committee member being appointed by the MHEC chair in consultation with the other officers and the MHEC president.

Randolph M. Ferlic, Governor's Designee from Nebraska said he did not agree with the committee recommendation to decrease the size of the executive committee and made a motion to table the action. He said he moved to delay action until further research can be completed to indicate whether the action will actually have the desired effect. Tim Flakoll, North Dakota Governor's Designee sugested cutting the board would decrease the diversity and experience that each commissioner brings to the executive board. He said having two members allows the committee to better share work. Flakoll added that representation from both chambers (house and senate) is important as well as making sure that legislators and the higher education institutions are also represented on the executive council.

In support of reducing the size of the executive committee, David W. Wantz, President and CEO Independent Colleges of Indiana stated that no policy can move forward unless the full MHEC commission is present. Therefore reducing the size of the Executive Committee is not overly consequential. Julie Underwood, Wisconsin Governor's Designee; and Dean of Education University of Wisconsin-Madison voiced her support for reducing the number of commissioners on the executive committee. She indicated that the Ad Hoc Governance Committee had thoroughly examined the issue and that she supports its recommendation.

Lyndon R. Carlson (Commissioner Alternate) Minnesota State Representative said Minnesota, the only state in the union with a divided legislature, might suffer a reduction in the potential for representation if only one member were allowed on the executive committee. He said this would preclude both parties being represented. He said it is important to have a broad base number of individuals represented on the executive committee. Joan Ballweg, State Representative; Member, Assembly Committee on Colleges and Universities, Wisconsin State Legislature said she agreed with the comments on diversity within the executive committee. She said if we go down to one member, maybe it would be better if the members of each state nominated the member. Suzanne Morris, Vice Chair Illinois Community College Board said that as the executive committee has never been unable to function as a result of its size.

Ken Sauer, Indiana Governor's Designee; and Senior Associate Commissioner and Chief Academic Officer, Indiana Commission for Higher Education suggested that it is important to have a high degree of engagement on the part of commissioners and one way to accomplish that is to have as many commissioners as possible to become engaged with the work of the compact. He said he supports the idea of reducing the size of the executive committee but also supports the idea of creating more opportunities for commissioners to become involved in the work of MHEC.

Madison asked that the motion to table the action be withdrawn so that this item can be sent back to the committee. Randolph M. Ferlic of Nebraska withdrew the motion to table and supported sending the item back to committee for further study. Underwood from Wisconsin suggested that two questions be examined. One to investigate the size of the committee and two – to explore how executive committee members will be nominated to the committee.

Action Item 8. Standard Appointment Length and Terms. NOTE: Because this item is directly related to Action Item 7, it was returned to the Ad Hoc Governance Committee for further consideration.

The term of service for each Executive Committee member shall be three years with no term limits.

Action Item 9. Appointment of Executive Committee Alternates. NOTE: Because this item is directly related to Action Item 7, it was returned to the Ad Hoc Governance Committee for further consideration.

Two alternates from each state shall be appointed to the Executive Committee, one legislator and one non-legislator, by the MHEC chair in consultation with the other officers and the MHEC president. The term of service for the Executive Committee alternates shall similarly be three years with no term limits.

Action Item 10. MHEC Officers. NOTE: Because this item is directly related to Action Item 7, it was returned to the Ad Hoc Governance Committee for further consideration.

The four MHEC officers (chair, vice chair, treasurer, and past chair) shall serve on the Executive Committee ex officio (voting) in addition to the 12 state delegate members (making a 16-member Executive Committee) with the officers having all of the same rights as the other members of the Executive Committee.

Action Item 11. Past MHEC Chairs. NOTE: Because this item is directly related to Action Item 7, it was returned to the Ad Hoc Governance Committee for further consideration.

Past MHEC chairs shall no longer be considered ex officio (voting or non-voting) members of the Executive Committee. However, they are free to attend any Executive Committee open meetings. The only exception is for the immediate past chair, who is a member of the Executive Committee by virtue of being an officer.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

2. Commissioner Alternates to the Full Commission

Action Item 13

Rep. Barbara Ballard (KS) recounted that during its June 2019 meeting, the MHEC Executive Committee established an Ad Hoc Governance Committee to explore MHEC approaches to organizational and governance considerations for the future. She said the committee was tasked with taking a more deliberate and focused approach to the establishment and use of commissioner committees with particular focus on governance, nominations (including awards), and other related matters.

Governance Committee Purpose, Meetings and Composition. Ballard said the Ad Hoc Governance Committee recommends that additional work around governance and related matters is needed on an ongoing basis and that the commission would benefit from converting the committee from an ad hoc committee into a standing committee. Ahe added converting the Ad Hoc Governance Committee into a standing committee would provide additional service opportunities for commissioners to expand their impact, engagement, and familiarity with the Compact.

Governance Committee's Purpose: To help the commission take a more deliberate and focused look at MHEC's approach to governance, nominations and other related matters, Ballard said the Governance Committee would act as an advisory committee to the commission, including the MHEC chair and president. It is charged with reviewing and providing guidance on MHEC governance, including governing documents, nominations, and other matters as appropriate.

Governance Committee Meetings: Ballard told the MHEC Commissioners that the committee is expected to meet up to two times per year, or more frequently as circumstances dictate. One committee meeting shall be held at some point in time prior to MHEC's summer commissioner meeting, with the other committee meeting to be held at some point in time prior to MHEC's fall commissioner meeting. Additional meetings may be scheduled at the discretion of the committee chair, the MHEC chair, or the MHEC president.

Governance Committee Composition: The committee shall be comprised of 12 members, one from each compacting state, with each member serving a two-year term. Terms are renewable. Ballard explained the chair of the committee shall be appointed by the MHEC chair, following consultation with the other officers and the MHEC president. The MHEC president and chief operating officer shall serve on the committee as ex officio non-voting members. All commissioner members of the committee are entitled to one vote on any matter coming before the committee. A majority of the voting committee members present shall constitute a quorum. Any question submitted to the committee for a vote shall be determined by simple majority.

Motion. The Commission approve the establishment of a standing Governance Committee which shall provide guidance to the Commission on MHEC governance, nominations, and other matters as appropriate. The Governance Committee shall serve in an advisory capacity to the commission and be responsible for making recommendations to the commission for action, when appropriate. Motion carried by acclamation.

3. Governance Committee as a Standing Committee

Action Items 14-16

d) Nominations and Elections of Officers, Chair, Vice Chair, and Treasurer – Ms. Olivia Madison (IA), MHEC Chair

MHEC's Bylaws, Article III. Officers Section 1. Election and Succession state:

As provided by the compact, the officers of the commission shall include a chair, vice chair, past chair, and a treasurer, all of whom shall be duly appointed commission members. Officers shall be elected by the commission at any meeting at which a quorum is present. The chair, vice chair and treasurer shall serve one-year terms or until their successors are elected by the commission. The vice chair shall succeed to the office of chair upon completion of the chairperson's term of office. The treasurer shall succeed to the office of vice chair upon completion of the vice chair's term of office.

Therefore, upon commission approval, MHEC Chair Olivia Madison (IA) will become past chair, Vice Chair David Eisler (MI) will become the 2020-2021 chair, and Treasurer Rick Carfagna (OH) will become vice chair at the conclusion of the 2020 Annual Commission Meeting.

It is the Commission's policy to take into consideration diversity broadly construed when electing its officers. Additionally, the Commission looks at rotating the position of chair between commissioners from each of the 12 member states and alternating the position of chair between legislators and non-legislators. Minnesota, last having a commissioner serve as chair more than 15 years ago, is one of the next states in the rotation to succeed for an officer position. As such, Chair Olivia Madison, in consultation with the MHEC officers, invited Dr. Devinder Malhotra, chancellor of Minnesota State, to serve as treasurer.

Proposal

Action Item 14: MHEC Chair Election

Motion. Consistent with the MHEC bylaws the commission approve David Eisler (MI) for the position of MHEC chair. Motion carried by acclamation.

Action Item 15: MHEC Vice Chair Election

Motion. Consistent with MHEC bylaws the commission approve Rick Carfagna (OH) for the position of MHEC vice chair. Motion carried by acclamation.

Action Item 16: MHEC Treasurer Election

Motion. The commission approve Devinder Malhotra (MN) for the position of MHEC treasurer. Motion carried by acclamation.

e) Discussion regarding whether to shift timing of Executive Committee Meeting and full Commission Meeting – Ms. Olivia Madison (IA), MHEC Chair

Madison reported that the MHEC commissioners were recently surveyed on shifting the timing of Executive Committee Meeting and full Commission Meeting and the results indicated that many were in favor of moving the full commission meeting to June when the Executive Committee meets. However, she added that there were no resounding or urgent calls to actually make changes to the meeting times. Madison said enough support was indicated by commissioners to make shifting meeting times a question worthy of further consideration. She indicated that if the commission meeting were to be changed to the warm whether months -- the costs associated with the meeting (e.g., lodging and travel) will increase substantially. Madison said that while the discussion will continue, meetings scheduled for 2021will not be effected.

f) Awards Ceremony – Ms. Olivia Madison (IA), MHEC Chair, and Ms. Susan Heegaard, MHEC President

Heegaard, MHEC President, introduced the following individuals who received the Outstanding Service Award to MHEC.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

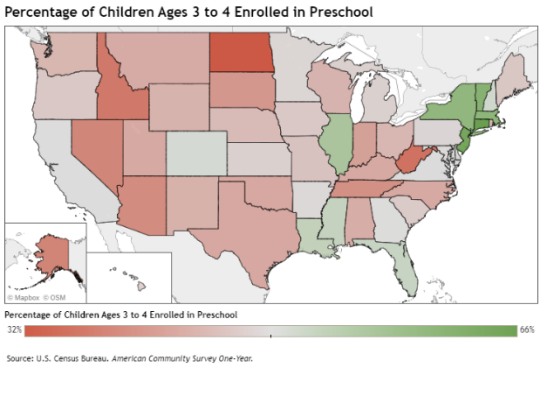
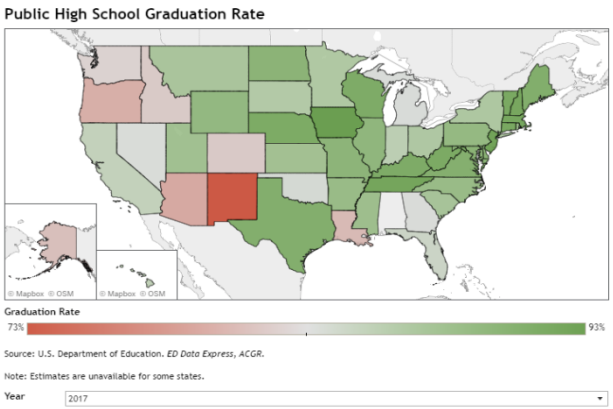
II. Mapping a Path Forward - Using Data to Illuminate Gaps and Identify Opportunities. Ms. Madeline Pumariega, Executive Vice President and Provost, Tallahassee Community College, and Dr. Shaun Williams-Wyche, MHEC Associate Director of Research and Data Analysis

Dr. Shaun Williams-Wyche, MHEC Associate Director of Research and Data Analysis began this presentation by describing some of the features of the newly established MHEC dashboard. He described applications that allow users to explore a variety of education related questions (e.g., student achievement, graduation rates) in each MHEC state on several levels including employment statistics. Williams-Wyche told the MHEC commissioners and guests that the Interactive Dashboard provides data and key performance indicators relevant to the goal of improving educational attainment in the Midwest and across the nation. He explained the indicators are organized within seven categories: Context, Preparation, Participation, Affordability, Completion, Finance, and Benefits. Several of these areas also portray a subcategory highlighting opportunity and achievement gaps by income, race, and ethnicity. For example, the graphics below were created using the dashboard.





Williams-Wyche emphasized that the MHEC dashboard was created to be used by MHEC commissioners. He said the dashboard is a work in progress and that MHEC welcomes the comments of users to improve the dashboard's usefulness and functionality.

Ms. Madeline Pumariega, Executive Vice President and Provost, Tallahassee Community College began her presentation by saying that data is key to states attaining their credentialing goals for their overall populations. She said that understanding the needs of employers and aligning those needs to educational programs is essential to achieving not only economic goals but also social equity goals as well. Pumariega added that in the post-COVID environment, employers are going to be challenged to reimagine how work might look and where it may occur in the future.

Pumariega told the MHEC commissioners and guests that postsecondary enrollment figures during the pandemic have remained relatively stable for 4-year colleges and universities while community colleges are generally experiencing enrolment decreases in the neighborhood of about 10 percent. She suggested that lower community college enrollment -- and ultimately graduates -- will bode poorly for the workforce in the short term.

Pumariega said that the higher educational landscape will be looking at a large demographic flip by 2025 when significantly more non-traditional and under-represented student groups will be participating in higher education. She said the emphasis on inclusion and diversity at the nation's higher education institutions are key to states meeting their credentialing goals (many, including Missouri, have stated goals to have 60 percent or more with degrees or certificates by 2025). Having said that, Pumariega added that we also need to examine whether college is indeed for everyone. She suggested that many students may benefit more high school CTE programs and stackable credential opportunities.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Pumariega asserted that colleges and universities are the workforce engines of communities and in this time of great uncertainty -- we need to ensure educational institutions are meeting the increasing need for credentialing of all kinds. She closed by saying the future of work is now and that we need to look at human traits that cannot be replicated by technology. Pumariega suggested we need to incorporate soft skills within career pathway programs that give students a competitive advantage over machines and technology to be ready for the work of the future.

III. Restore, Adapt, Transform – 2021 Scenarios and Strategies for Postsecondary Success Ms. Susan Grajek, Vice President for Communities and Research, EDUCAUSE

Susan Grajek, Vice President for Communities and Research at EDUCAUSE stated the pandemic will end, possibly in early 2021 and the question is: What happens next? She suggested scenarios should be high-level views of possible recovery visions and suggested that information technology (IT) will play a pivotal role. Grajek said the high-level scenarios considered by EDUCAUSE constitute three paths for higher education's emergence from the pandemic they are:

- Restore: Figuring out how to get back to where we were before the pandemic
- Evolve: Adapting to the new normal
- Transform: Redefining our institution and taking an active role in creating the innovative future of higher education

She offered the graphic below to detail each scenario.

RESTORE	EVOLVE	TRANSFORM
#1. Cost Management Reducing institutional costs and increasing workforce effciency	#1. Student Success Advancing student support services to help students attain academic and career goals	#1. Institutional Culture Contributing to a culture of transformation
#2. Online Learning Strengthening online and hybrid education	#2. Equitable Access to Education Providing technologies, support, and policies for diverse users	#2. Technology Alignment Identifying and applying sustainable digital strategies and innovations
#3. Financial Health Revising budget models and IT governance	#3. Online Learning Progressing from emergency remote teaching to online learning	#3. Technology Strategy Developing an enterprise architecture that keeps pace with strategic change
#4. Affordability & Digital Equity Providing increased support for students' technology needs and enabling technology availability	#4. Information Security Developing a cybersecurity operations strategy	#4. Enrollment & Recruitment Exploring and implementing creative holistic recruitment solutions
#5. Information Security Providing information security leadership	#5. Financial Health Partnering to develop new funding sources	#5. Cost Management Focusing on digital transformation

Grajek said the Restore path suggests what must be done to get back to where we were before the pandemic, She said this will involve

1. Cost Management: Reducing institutional costs and increasing workforce efficiency through process redesign and automation, data and analytics, and other technology solutions

2. Online learning: Strengthening online and hybrid education by providing on-demand support for course development and delivery and advocating for processes, policies, and support structures to increase student and institutional readiness

3. Financial health: Revising budget models and IT governance to preserve critical IT operations and capacities in the face of institutional financial challenges

4. Affordability and digital equity: Providing increased support for students' technology needs and enabling technology availability from anywhere, particularly off campus

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

5. Information security: Providing information security leadership that supports faculty, students, and staff returning to campus, while being budget-conscious and ensuring a safe and secure recovery

Grajek told the MHEC audience that the Evolve path will involve adaptive evolution to meet post-pandemic students where they are. She said this will entail:

1. Student Success: Advancing student support services to help students attain their academic and career goals by integrating data systems, user interfaces, policies, and guided pathways

2. Equitable Access to Education: Providing technologies, support, and policies for diverse users and equitable access to bridge the digital divide and reduce equity gaps

3. Online Learning: Progressing from emergency remote teaching and learning to online learning by advancing best practices in technology-enabled teaching and learning

4. Information Security: Developing a cybersecurity operations strategy that effectively detects, responds to, and mitigates security threats regardless of where students, faculty, and staff are located

5. Financial Health: Partnering with advancement, research, and other institutional areas to develop new funding sources and partnerships

The Transform path is about redefining our institution and taking an active role in creating the new future in higher education. Grajek said this will involve an epigenetic change fueled by technology and characterized by:

1. Institutional Culture: Contributing to a culture of transformation by modeling agility and future thinking when designing IT programs and services

2. Technology Alignment: Identifying and applying digital strategies and innovations that are sustainable, and driven by the institution's ambitions and transformational goals

3. Technology Strategy: Developing an enterprise architecture to enable business outcomes, manage data to enable decision-making and future opportunities, streamline business processes, and enable digital resources to keep pace with strategic change

4. Enrollment and Recruitment: Holistic solutions for recruitment, analytics-based marketing around student career outcomes, technology-enabled transfer agreements and partnerships, and social media to build student communities

5. Cost Management: Digital transformation efforts and IT service delivery, helping the institution maximize value and reduce overhead

Grajek then addressed a more disturbing question: What if the pandemic continues beyond 2021? She suggested that for higher education -- the pandemic reality will become the new normal. She said:

- Provisional practices and protocols will need to be reviewed and upgraded or revised
- We may expect a wave of faculty and staff retirements
- Institutions' local reputations may save – or condemn – them

She said for students and learning it may mean more and more learning experiences and scholarly services will move online -- but as cheaply as possible. Grajek predicted that educational equity initiatives will be incorporated into student success initiatives because helping the students at greatest risk will become even harder. She suggested that institutions will need to use technology in ways that come closest to the impact of campus visits and that online services may expand and improve as reliance on them continues.

Grajek stated that financial challenges will increase and will put pressure on continuing some academic programs. As a result, the academic business model will be in need of transformation to retain financially-strapped students, therefore, government support for higher education may become a make-or-break issue. She suggested that while partnerships and legislative support may increase, the financial problems may exceed the capacity of partnerships – so new funding sources may be needed to make up the difference. She emphasized innovation related to financial health will become essential.

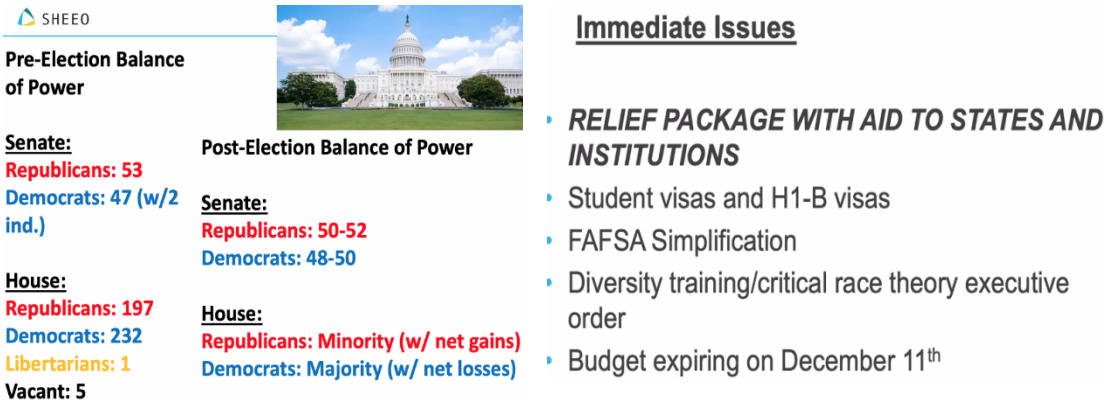
If the pandemic continues past 2021, Grajek predicted that technical debt will grow therefore IT spending will need to focus on the most important services, which may require discontinuing less critical services. Digital transformation efforts will focus on cost reduction and income generation. Grajek suggested resistance to transformation and change may diminish as people experience the pandemic as normal life and once-revolutionary uses of technology will become standard practice. She told the MHEC commissioners that the need for and pace of transformation will accelerate.

IV. Election is Over, What's Next for Higher Ed? Dr. Thomas Harnisch, Vice President of Government Relations, State Higher Education Executive Officers (SHEEO).

Harnisch began his presentation by offering the following graphic to describe the balance of power in the U.S. Congress and the immediate issues that must be addressed.



Harnisch reported that chiefly because of the pandemic, the reauthorization of the High Education Act did not happen. He explained that Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) simplification was part of the reauthorization of the higher education act and at this point there is interest in pulling FAFSA simplification out of the higher education reauthorization bill to consider it as a standalone piece of legislation.

On diversity training and critical race theory Harnisch said that the Biden Administration will likely rescind Trump executive orders that have prohibited these items. He added that the federal budget has expired and the continuing resolution that is allowing the government to function will expire on December 11th, 2020. He said the house and senate have both passed versions of a budget and at this point -- they must negotiate a settlement.

Harnisch then offer and outlook on the 117th Congress. He said if the Senate is controlled by the GOP, it is likely to be gridlock between the Democratic House, GOP Senate, and the Biden White House. He suggested there may be areas of possible bipartisan support for community colleges and workforce development. Harnisch suggested that President Biden will likely use regulatory powers to the extent possible to further his agenda, including in higher education. This will likely mean that Trump-era executive actions and regulations will be reversed.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Reversal of Trump-era Executive Actions

- DACA restoration
- Diversity/Critical Race Theory Executive Order
- Section 117 implementation
- Title IX
- Gainful employment rule
- Borrower defense
- H1 visas
- Lawsuits/investigations against universities
- International students attending college online

Harnisch stated that Biden has an ambitious higher education platform and will likely face pressure to forgive student loans under particular circumstances. He added the higher education act reauthorization is unlikely to be considered in the GOP- controlled Senate. He reported that control of the Senate HELP Committee remains unknown but at this time Sen. Richard Burr (R-NC) is frontrunner.

Harnisch then provided an outline of the Biden higher education agenda.

He said the emails are available at https://sheeo.org/sheeonewsletter-signups/.

V. Midwestern Legislative Roundup. Mr. Mike McCabe, Director, Council of State Governments, Midwest Office

McCabe began his presentation with comments on the economy. He said FY 20 got off to a strong start with the COVID-19 crisis providing the turning point -- causing historic swings in GDP. McCabe recounted that the pandemic caused soaring unemployment followed by a fall rebound (September jobless rates: 3.5% (NE) to 10.2% (IL)). He said the future remains uncertain as the pandemic continues.

McCabe suggested that the fiscal picture going forward will likely be cloudy. He said the pandemic brought about a sudden end to 10-year budget recovery and has created a condition where spending needs grow even as revenues crash. This situation has created daunting budget outlooks with variables like budget adjustments and federal aid to states to consider. McCabe suggested that because the last recovery (i.e., 2008 recession) took such a long time that the continuing pandemic may require a long path to full recovery.

McCabe stated that 2020 legislative sessions were dominated by the COVID crisis which generated new priorities, created extreme operational impacts, and inspired election year dynamics. He said the pandemic response, social justice, and emergency powers/legislative oversight became top issues.

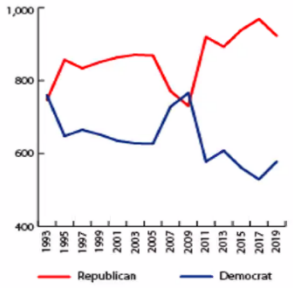
AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

During the 2020 elections, McCabe stated there were:

- Gubernatorial races: 11 states, including just three in Midwest (IN, MO, ND)
- Legislative races: 44 states; every chamber in the Midwest except the MI Senate
- Ballot measures: >120 in 35 states; 18 in eight Midwestern states

He said the elections produced no partisan control swings in Midwest with Republicans still in control of 19 of 22 partisan chambers and more than 60 percent of total seats with Minnesota remaining the nation's only divided legislature. McCabe reported no change in gubernatorial mix with three Republican incumbents winning re-election.

Partisan Composition of Midwestern State Legislatures (1993-2019)



Midwestern State Partisan Control
2021 Legislative Sessions

State	Governor	Governor	House	Senate
Illinois	J.B. Pritzker	D	D	D
Indiana	Eric Holcomb	R	R	R
Iowa	Kim Reynolds	R	R	R
Kansas	Laura Kelly	D	R	R
Michigan	Gretchen Whitmer	D	R	R
Minnesota	Tim Walz	D	D	R
Missouri	Mike Parson	R	R	R
Nebraska	Pete Ricketts	R		NP
North Dakota	Doug Burgum	R	R	R
Ohio	Mike DeWine	R	R	R
South Dakota	Kristi Noem	R	R	R
Wisconsin	Tony Evers	D	R	R

McCabe ended his presentation by listing top issues for legislators in 2021. He suggested the following:

Key Issues – 2021

- Pandemic Response
- Budgets/Taxes
- Social Justice
- Education Funding
- Broadband Access (IN, MI, ND, OH)

Key Issues – 2021

- Corrections/Criminal Justice (ND, OH)
- Others: Pensions, Infrastructure, Marijuana, Ethics, Telemedicine, Sports Betting, . . .

VI. Reflections and For the Good of the Order - Ms. Olivia Madison (IA), MHEC Chair

Madison said it is with excitement that MHEC moves forward with a new chair, Dr. David Eisler (MI). She said MHEC adjusted this year from an in-person commission meeting to a virtual meeting but the commitment to grow and improve higher education is still at the heart of all MHEC efforts. Madison thanked President Heegaard for the video produced by MHEC staffers to describe their duties and responsibilities. She suggested that the video allowed commissioners to see a face and the heart that goes with the each position. Madison thanked the MHEC staff for their financial responsibility and Jennifer Dahlquist, MHEC Vice President, in particular for her presentation on the strength of MHEC Master Property Program (MPP).

Madison stated she remains in awe of all of the ways MHEC supports students and institutions. She said she found instant friends during her years in the Compact and has never met a stranger in MHEC. She thanked Susan Heegaard, President of MHEC, for her excellent leadership, experience, and vision. Madison also recognized Robert Trembath, MHEC Chief Operating Officer and General Counsel for his work and his excellent institutional knowledge of MHEC.

Hello and good day to all,

I am requesting a forensic audit of our states 2020 election now!! I want you to ensure to all constituents/ citizens of MO that our state has a secure and transparent voting system. Also what the hell have you been doing all year?!? As far as I can tell you have done noting to truly protect this state from the Biden administration regarding free speech protections, protection and action against Big tech, protected our borders from allowing illegal immigrants entrance, increased gun rights protections, banning CRT and 1619 propaganda from being taught in schools, universities and businesses, banning mandatory Covid vaccine/proof of vaccine requirements. Nothing that actually protects and ensures ongoing or improved liberties. I was born free and intend to remain as such. I hope you all wish the same for us and yourselves because based on what I have seen steps have been taken, bills written (frankly with too little repercussion if violated like the CRT one), but no actual fulfillment on any of those things have been made into laws but bills just sitting. TAKE ACTION or you may find yourselves not being re-elected. This state is RED and you are the majority MAKE REAL TRUE PROGRESS on these issues NOW!!!! If you feel I am misinformed on your actions then send me a reply on what laws the MO House or Senate

Subject: 2021 Budget

it Good afternoon,

This week, Missouri State Sen. Bob Onder introduced a new Amendment that would allow the Republican Governor to fire any prosecutor—an elected official chosen by the people—and hire his own replacement. The new Amendment to Senate Bill 1 comes in the wake of St. Louis Circuit Attorney Kim Gardner's historic re-election.

That is undemocratic and unacceptable!

We the people will not accept this and it will not be tolerated. Gardner was elected and there is no justifiable evidence for her to be removed from her position.

We demand that the Missouri State Legislature vote against the Amendment to Senate Bill 1, and that Governor Mike Parson, and St. Louis elected officials strongly oppose this un-democratic removal of an elected official today!

Thank you,
Karna Patel

Subject: 2022

Happy holiday,

Midterms under Biden-Harris are a significant challenge for our future.

Some of you may need to be briefed on California's Real ID compliance. It is an improved identity card with a bear accompanying the federal sar in the corner. Knowing Harris was serving California before becoming the first female executive in American history, can we work with other states to place an animal in the corner with the federal star? At the state level, perhaps Missouri can consider a tiger with the federal star? Can that be a part of our future? If you view the back of California's improved Real ID, there's even a stripe like a debit or credit card. Attaching funds to that kind of compliance card could be in the future of our government. Could we accept an animal in the corner for all 50 states?

I am asking to build a list of Missouri mayoral endorsements for 2022. Asking to replace Senator Blunt. He made a wise decision for Missourians by announcing his retirement. We now have plenty of time to find his replacement.

During diversity coursework in 2016, we had a clerk commute from Jeff City to Kansas City each week. Ironically, I was the only student out of 20 who reported on Asian-Americans instead of African-Americans. Simply reveals the real challenges in diversity work. Diversity's media challenge is profound.

However, finding a priority in our youth, what are the appropriate research initiatives for the 50th anniversary of the 26th amendment? You'll need a legislator in DC working on those things. We can learn a lot from that research if it is funded appropriately.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Personally, I will plan to transition to an all-electric vehicle in the next few years. However, that issue has devolved into class warfare, presently. We'll need a DC legislator building affordable options. Amazon was my employer in California. It was when I started in September 2018 that they made a decision globally to increase their minimum wage to $15/hr. This means you can work for them in Germany, Missouri, or California and be paid at least $15/hr. If our federal government passes a new regulation on wages, I will work on filling the gap for Missouri businesses. That is a comprehensive issue. Retraining labor for infrastructure transitions will also have a priority. I'm sure some of you are Missouri business owners. There's even a new idea for that home installation that will need training. Tesla took a lead with the Kansas-Missouri State Line, and we'll need to work on that with our labor market.

Happy holiday.

Sincerely,
Andy Hurla

COMPRESSED: April 13, 2021 State Board of Education (SBE) JCED Report
NOTE: The compressed report provides minimal information on complex issues/policies. To gain reasoning, perspective, and context on items of particular interest, readers are encouraged to reference the full report.

NORMANDY SCHOOLS COLLABORATIVE (NSC): The SBE discussed serious issues within the NSC and will likely hold a special meeting soon to choose from a slate of options for action including removing members from, or adding members to, the SBE appointed Joint Executive Governing Board (JEGB). The SBE lapsed the Normandy School District, effective June 30, 2014. The SBE authorized, by resolution, the establishment of the NSC to be governed by a JEGB appointed by the SBE, pursuant to § 162.081.3(2), RSMo. NSC has either been provisionally accredited or unaccredited since 1996 and the available data indicates a decline in student performance since 2017. The Commissioner reported that there is deep concern within the community regarding district leadership and governance and that the magnitude of the problems have caused the current NSC JEGD to lose the trust of the community.

MAJOR SBE ACTION

Approved renewals for three Kansas City charter schools sponsored by the Missouri Charter Public School Commission (MCPSC). Citizens of the World serves 430 students in grades PK-4 was renewed for a period of five years; Hogan Preparatory Academy, serves 1,058 students in grades PK-12 was renewed for a period of five years. Ewing Marion Kauffman School, serves 1,139 students in grades 5 through 12. The charter met the statutory requirements for an expedited and high quality renewal (i.e., APR scores consistent with a classification of accredited (70%) for three out of the last four years, APR consistent with a classification of high quality (85% or more) for three out of the last four years). Therefore the school's charter was renewed for a 10- year period.

Authorized publication notice of proposed rulemaking to amend 5 CSR 30-640.200, Early Learning Facilities Funding Formula for Lease Agreements. Amendment will clarify qualifications for early childhood facility cost reimbursements. DESE will now reimburse for facility lease agreements for early learning programs and will not reimburse for the purchase, construction, renovation, or lease purchase of such facilities.

Authorized publication notice of proposed rulemaking to amend 5 CSR 30-660.080, Performance Districts. Amendment establishes protocol to determine Performance Districts for years when DESE does not generate an annual performance report (APR) for school districts. In any year in which DESE does not generate an APR, it will utilize the most recent data available for each performance standard to establish an equivalent percentage of points earned for determining Performance District designation.

Authorized publication of an order of rulemaking to rescind 5 CSR 30-660.085, Attendance Hour Reporting. At the January 2021 SBE meeting, it approved for publication a notice to rescind the Attendance Hour Reporting rule, which was established to address attendance reporting during the pandemic. This rule is being rescinded due to a reduced need for special accommodations.

Authorized publication of a notice of proposed rulemaking to amend 5 CSR 20-400.220, Application for a Substitute Certificate of License to Teach. This proposed amendment adds language to the existing rule to allow DESE-approved training as an additional route to obtain a substitute certificate of license to teach. A person with a high school diploma, General Education Diploma (GED) or High School Equivalency Test (HiSET) and who has successfully completed a minimum of twenty (20) clock hours of DESE-approved substitute teacher training that includes professionalism, honoring diversity, engaging students, foundational classroom management techniques, basic instructional strategies, supporting students with special needs, and working with at-risk youth may be granted a substitute Missouri certificate of license to teach.

Approved order of rulemaking to amend 5 CSR 20-100.230, Virtual Instruction Program. Revises the state virtual instruction rule to include additional operating procedures for Missouri Course Access and Virtual School Program (MOCAP) providers including: 1. Progress monitoring will be available to LEAs weekly through a secure online portal, 2. Services will be improved for special education students through increased involvement of the providers' teachers and increased monitoring of accommodations and modifications, 3. Requirements for providers joining the catalog will be more closely aligned regardless of path.

Approved order of rulemaking to adopt Rule 5 CSR 20-100.275, Transfer of Charter Sponsorship. Recently, charters have elected to change sponsoring institutions mid-contract. This proposed rule specifies that a transfer of charter school sponsorship from one approved sponsor to another prior to the expiration of the contract between a charter and its current sponsor may only occur if approved by the SBE. All standards and requirements established in the current charter contract must remain in effect until the scheduled renewal of the charter school, unless the SBE approves any changes. Further, all parties, the charter school and its current sponsor along with the proposed sponsor, must submit a joint application for transfer to the SBE for consideration prior to February 1 to be considered for the following school year. The joint application must include evidence that the applicant has solicited input from and notified students in grades 5-12, parents/guardians, and staff of the request to transfer sponsors at least four (4) months prior to approaching other sponsoring institutions related to potential transfer.

CONSENT AGENDA APPROVALS: Personnel Report, Fiscal Year 2021 Financial Summary, Start Date Exemption for Special School District of St. Louis County Juvenile Courts School.

COVID-19: DESE urges that layered mitigation strategies must remain in place to ensure in-person learning can continue to be provided safely – and with little to no interruption. Those strategies include: Wearing masks consistently, Keeping physical distance, Good hand hygiene, Staying home if you're sick.

A pilot research project conducted by Washington University among others, which included the Rockwood, Pattonville, University City, Springfield, Republic, and Logan-Rogersville school districts examined the impact of school-based mitigation strategies/policies on transmission after a positive case is identified in the school setting finds: 1. Transmission in schools is rare (2%), 2. Only 27% of schools were implementing 6 ft.+ distancing, 3. No transmission among students in modified quarantine (remained in school if identified as a contact but were masked appropriately), 4. No student to teacher transmission.

B. Consideration of Personnel Report

The report (page 2) is an alphabetical listing displaying the title, organization, and action on each employee. It reflects changes from February 1, 2021 – February 28, 2021.

Motion. The Department recommends that the Personnel Report dated from February 1, 2021 – February 28, 2021 be approved as submitted.

C. Fiscal Year 2021 Financial Summary

The Fiscal Year 2021 financial summary provides an updated account of the financial transactions of the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education for the period July 1, 2020 through March 15, 2021. The fund summary (pages 2-3) provides the total appropriation by fund, the amount placed in reserve by the Governor, the obligations for the year, and the ending balance. A multi-page report (4-16) lists the information by line item within each fund. The financial summary illustrates that the Department is spending and operating in accordance with the adopted budget.

D. Consideration of Appointment to the Investment Advisory Committee

The Investment Advisory Committee guidelines previously adopted by the State Board of Education require that the Committee be composed of two members of the State Board other than the President, two professional investors, and one member of the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education other than the Deputy Commissioners. E. Consideration of a Calendar Start Date Exemption for Special School District of St. Louis County Juvenile Courts School

The Special School District of St. Louis County operates the St. Louis County Juvenile Courts School. The Courts School has traditionally operated on a year-round schedule. With the recent change in § 171.031, RSMo, regarding school start date, Special School District has requested that the State Board grant an exemption from this statute in order to start their academic calendar on July 15, for the 2021-22 school year. Approval of the early start date will allow the Courts School to continue the year-round program schedule while maintaining eligibility to claim state aide. This exemption only applies to the Courts School program and this request meets the requirement of highly unusual and extenuating circumstances as noted in statute.

The Department recommends that the Calendar Start Date Exemption Request from the Special School District of St. Louis County be granted.

F. Consideration of Charter School Application Renewal for Ewing Marion Kauffman Charter School – NOTE: Because Ewing Marion Kauffman Charter School has met the statutory requirements for expedited renewal, the renewal motion was placed on the consent agenda.

Charter renewal applications are submitted during the last year of the charter's contract, typically every five years. Section 160.405.9, RSMo, requires the State Board of Education to vote to renew the charter after the sponsor has demonstrated compliance with state and federal law. The Department of Elementary and Secondary Education received a Charter School Renewal Application approved by the Missouri Charter Public School Commission (MCPSC). Ewing Marion Kauffman School, currently serves 1,139 students in grades 5 through 12.

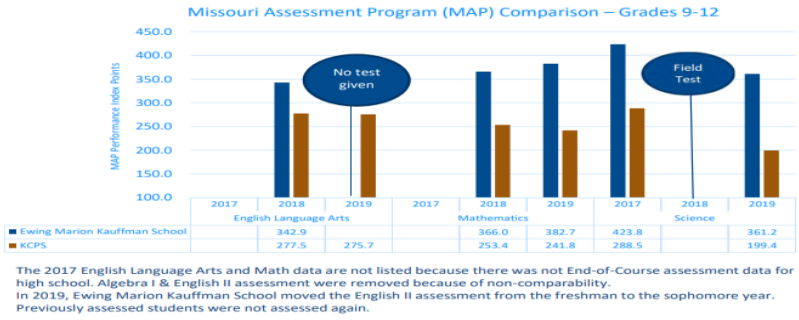
AMERICAN OVERSIGHT



The charter school has requested that MCPSC renew its charter for a term of 10 years beginning July 1, 2021, and ending June 30, 2031. The sponsor has indicated the charter school is in good standing and requests renewal from the State Board of Education.

Ewing Marion Kauffman School has met the statutory requirements for an expedited and high quality renewal:

- APR scores are consistent with a classification of accredited (70%) for three out of the last four years, 160.405.9(2)(d), RSMo
- APR consistent with a classification of high quality (85% or more) for three out of the last four years, § 160.405.9(2)(d), RSMo.

The sponsor has determined that Ewing Marion Kauffman School is in compliance with §§ 160.400 - 160.425, and 167.349, RSMo, and that it is organizationally and fiscally viable as defined by RSMo 160.45.9 (2)(b). The sponsor, MCPSC, recommends a 10-year renewal. This recommendation is based on the sponsor's analysis of a comprehensive body of objective evidence.

Motion. SBE authorize Ewing Marion Kauffman School to continue operations pursuant to the charter renewal granted by MCPSC, effective July 1, 2021, for a 10- year period, per the contingencies outlined in the performance contract.

VII. Items for Action

G. Consideration of a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking to Amend 5 CSR 30 660.095, State Agency Payments to School Districts for Education Services

Kari Monsees, Deputy Commissioner, DESE Financial and Administrative Services, advised this amendment (pages 2-3) moves this rule from the DESE Office of Special Education to the Division of Financial and Administrative Services (FAS). The Division of FAS receives reimbursement applications and processes payments. Additionally, this amendment clarifies eligibility guidelines and reimbursement procedures for publicly placed students.

Motion. SBE authorize publication in the Missouri Register of a notice of proposed rulemaking to amend 5 CSR 30-660.095, State Agency Payments to School Districts for Educational Services, and the State Board finds this proposed amendment necessary to carry out the purposes of §§ 161.092 and 167.126 RSMo. Motion carried 8-0.

H. Consideration of a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking to Amend 5 CSR 30 640.200, Early Learning Facilities Funding Formula for Lease Agreements

Kari Monsees, Deputy Commissioner, DESE Financial and Administrative Services, said the purpose of this amendment is to clarify the qualifications for early childhood facility cost reimbursements. He said DESE will now reimburse for facility lease agreements for early learning programs and will not reimburse for the purchase, construction, renovation, or lease purchase of such facilities. Monsees said DESE uses a formula (page 2) to determine the maximum allowable cost per fiscal year for early learning programs facility lease agreements.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Herschend asked if this change stems from a situation that occurred in Nixa. Monsees answered that it had.

Motion. SBE authorize publication in the Missouri Register of a notice of proposed rulemaking to amend 5 CSR 30-640.200, Early Learning Facilities Funding Formula for Lease Agreements, and the State Board finds this proposed amendment necessary to carry out the purposes of §§ 161.092 and 161.215, RSMo. Motion carried 8-0.

I. Consideration of a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking to Amend 5 CSR 30 660.080, Performance Districts

Kari Monsees, Deputy Commissioner, DESE Financial and Administrative Services, explained the purpose of the current rule is to outline the process to identify Performance Districts as defined in § 163.011, RSMo, and as applied to the foundation formula for funding public schools. Monsees stated the purpose of this amendment is to establish a protocol to determine Performance Districts for years in which the DESE does not generate an annual performance report (APR) for school districts. He said in any year in which the department does not generate an APR, the department will utilize the most recent data available for each performance standard in order to establish an equivalent percentage of points earned for determining Performance District designation. The related calculation (page 2) will establish a proxy for the APR, which DESE can use to identify Performance Districts for the purpose of recalculating the state adequacy target as required by statute.

Shields commented that the rule is the right thing to do -- but it is sort of a big deal because it will impact how the formula works.

Schrag said that she has heard from several districts that they are bit nervous about the rule change. Shields explained that that districts are concerned because changes to the state adequacy target (SAT) will change the way the formula works.

Motion. SBE authorize publication in the Missouri Register of a notice of proposed rulemaking to amend 5 CSR 30-660.080, Performance Districts, and the State Board finds this proposed amendment necessary to carry out the purposes of §§ 161.092 and 163.011, RSMo. Motion carried 8-0.

J. Consideration of a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking to Adopt 5 CSR 30-680.080, School Food Authority Appeal Procedures

Kari Monsees, Deputy Commissioner, DESE Financial and Administrative Services, stated the purpose of this proposed rule (pages 2-5) is to establish the appeal procedures when a school food authority requests a review of a denial of all or part of a claim for reimbursement, or for withholding payment arising from administrative review activity conducted by the DESE under 7 C.F.R. Section 210.18.

Motion. SBE authorize publication in the Missouri Register of a notice of proposed rulemaking to adopt 5 CSR 30-680.080, School Food Authority Appeal Procedures, and the State Board finds this proposed amendment necessary to carry out the purposes of §§161.092 and 178.430. Motion carried 8-0.

K. Consideration of an Order of Rulemaking to Rescind 5 CSR 30-660.085, Attendance Hour Reporting

Kari Monsees, Deputy Commissioner, DESE Division of Financial and Administrative Services, reminded the SBE that during its January 2021 meeting, it approved for publication a notice to rescind the Attendance Hour Reporting rule, which was established to address attendance reporting during the pandemic. No comments were received. Monsees stated this rule is being rescinded due to a reduced need for special accommodations.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Motion. SBE authorize publication in the Missouri Register of an order of rulemaking to rescind 5 CSR 30-660.085, Attendance Hour Reporting, and that the State Board finds the rescission necessary to carry out the purposes of §§ 161.092, 163.021, and 171.031, RSMo. Motion carried 8-0.

L. Consideration of an Order of Rulemaking to Amend 5 CSR 20-400.620, Certification Requirements for Transition Administrator Certificate

Paul Katnik, Assistant Commissioner, DESE Office of Educator Quality, said that the proposed amendment updates the requirements of the Transition Administrator Certificate to include the Missouri Leadership Development System Micro-Credentials. He stated the amendment was approved at the January 2021 SBE Meeting. The public comment period occurred February 16, 2021 – March 18, 2021. He indicated that DESE received eight (8) comments in support of the amendment (pages 2-3) all in favor. Katnik said DESE has a final recommendation that the SBE authorize publication of the revised requirements for the Certification Requirements for Transition Administrator Certificate.

Motion. SBE authorize publication in the Missouri Register of an order of rulemaking to amend 5 CSR 20-400.620, Certification Requirements for Transition Administrator Certificate, and that the State Board finds the proposed amendment necessary to carry out the purposes of §§ 161.092, 168.011, 168.021, 168.071, 168.081, 168.400, 168.405, and 168.409, RSMo. Motion carried 8-0.

M. Consideration of an Order of Rulemaking to Amend 5 CSR 20-400.630, Certification Requirements for Career Continuous Administrator Certificate

Paul Katnik, Assistant Commissioner, DESE Office of Educator Quality, advised that the proposed amendment updates the requirements of the Career Continuous Administrator Certificate to include the Missouri Leadership Development System Micro-Credentials. Katnik said the amendment was approved at the January 2021 SBE Meeting. He stated the public comment period occurred February 16, 2021 – March 18, 2021 and DESE received eight (8) comments in support of the amendment (pages 2-4). Katnik said DESE has a final recommendation that the SBE authorize publication of the revised requirements for the Career Continuous Administrator Certificate.

Motion. SBE authorize publication in the Missouri Register of an order of rulemaking to amend 5 CSR 20-400.630, Certification Requirements for Career Continuous Administrator Certificate, and that the State Board finds the proposed amendment necessary to carry out the purposes of §§ 161.092, 168.011, 168.021, 168.071, 168.081, 168.400, 168.405, and 168.409, RSMo. Motion carried 8-0.

N. Consideration of a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking to Amend 5 CSR 20-400.220, Application for a Substitute Certificate of License to Teach

Paul Katnik, Assistant Commissioner, DESE Office of Educator Quality, explained this proposed amendment adds language to the existing rule to allow DESE-approved training as an additional route to obtain a substitute certificate of license to teach. Katnik said a person with a high school diploma, General Education Diploma (GED) or High School Equivalency Test (HiSET) and who has successfully completed a minimum of twenty (20) clock hours of department-approved substitute teacher training that includes professionalism, honoring diversity, engaging students, foundational classroom management techniques, basic instructional strategies, supporting students with special needs, and working with at-risk youth may be granted a substitute Missouri certificate of license to teach pursuant to the rules promulgated by the SBE.

Katnik recounted that an emergency amendment was approved by the SBE at the August 2020 meeting. Katnik said the SBE voted to withdraw the amendment in November 2020 to allow opportunity to collect performance data on substitute teachers who participated in the online training. He asserted that the data collected demonstrates the positive impact the online training option has had on addressing persistent shortages of substitute teachers.

Schrag and Claycomb congratulated Katnik on the new program.

SBE authorize publication in the Missouri Register of a notice of proposed rulemaking to amend 5 CSR 20-400.220, Application for a Substitute Certificate of License to Teach, and that the State Board of Education finds the proposed amendment necessary to carry out the purposes of §§ 161.092, 168.011, 168.021, 168.071, and 168.081, RSMo. Motion carried 8-0.

O. Consideration of Charter School Application Renewal for Hogan Preparatory Academy

Jocelyn Strand, Coordinator; Rachel Uptergrove, Director of Charter Schools, DESE Office of Quality Schools; Robbyn Wahby, Executive Director, Missouri Charter Public School Commission; Jayson Strickland, Superintendent; and Albert Ray, Vice President Board of Directors/Chair Renewal Committee, Hogan Preparatory Academy presented.

Uptergrove advised that charter renewal applications are submitted during the last year of the charter's contract, typically every five years. She added that section 160.405.9, RSMo, requires the SBE to vote to renew the charter after the sponsor has demonstrated compliance with state and federal law.

Uptergrove reported that DESE received a Charter School Renewal Application approved by the Missouri Charter Public School Commission (MCPSC). She said Hogan Preparatory Academy, Kansas City, currently serves 1,058 students in grades PK-12. Using the following graphics, Uptergrove then described the school's demographics and performance.

Strand noted that there were large capital expenditures due to physical plant loan pay offs. She also noted and that philanthropic efforts from the schools supporters increased tremendously in 2020.

Uptergrove stated that in contemplating a renewal decision a sponsor must consider:

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

• Does the charter's annual performance report equal or exceed the district's report in which the charter school is located three of the last four school years by appropriate grade level configuration?

Uptergrove said the APR data shows progress over the last three years -- but does not equal or exceed the district.

• Is there a positive balance in its operating funds? Is the combined operating balance three percent or greater? Do receipts equal or exceed expenditures for the most recently completed fiscal year?

Uptergrove stated that the charter has met the statutory requirements for fiscal viability.

• Is the charter in compliance with its legally binding performance contract and §§ 160.400 - 160.425, and 167.349, RSMo?

Uptergrove told the SBE that the performance contract set by the charter's previous sponsor, the University of Central Missouri, was not met. However, MCPSC requests renewal from the SBE after its analysis of a comprehensive body of objective evidence, including community and parental support, its mission, and local and state student performance data.

Uptergrove reported that Hogan has requested that MCPSC renew its charter for a term of five years beginning July 1, 2021, and ending June 30, 2026. She said MCPSC has indicated the charter school is in good standing and requests renewal from the SBE. This recommendation is based on MCPSC's analysis of a comprehensive body of objective evidence, including community and parental support, its mission, and local and state student performance data.

Herschend noted that the school's performance has never equaled the performance of the surrounding district (i.e., KCPS). He asked "How in the world can you say that is ok?" Strand responded by saying it is not ok, and that DESE has addressed that concern with the sponsoring agency. Herschend responded by saying "that doesn't fly." Strand stated the renewal recommendation was a hard decision for DESE. She indicated DESE required assurance from the new sponsor, MCPSC, that it would be monitoring the school very closely over the next five years. Herschend stated that this is a song we have heard before – however, improvement is seldom realized. Strand told Herschend MCPSC has required the school to make changes in school's leadership and governance structure. Hallquist said her daughter taught at Hogan and that the difference is night and day after the leadership changes. She added that Wahby has a "very tight leash" over what is expected in performance. Bailey concurred. She reported she has visited the school and has seen significant differences after the governance and leadership changes. However, Bailey added she would like to see them back before the SBE to provide an update after a couple of years. Claycomb asked that a full report be provided to the SBE each of the next two years.

Robbyn Wahby, Executive Director, Missouri Charter Public School Commission (MCPSC), told the SBE that Hogan serves more than a 1,000 students who live in deep poverty and have no viable education options. Wahby stated that the MCPSC thought long and hard about recommending renewal and concluded that with the leadership and governance changes -- the school is creating an accountability culture from top to bottom. Wahby said the whole community is involved in the schools renewal and reported that Hogan is now focused on ensuring that graduates leave the school with viable market value assets (Industry Recognized Crudentials, Duel Credit Coursework, ect.). However, she stated that if Hogan fails to meet the agreed upon targets they will be closed. Wahby said that understanding is included in the written agreement with the school and with DESE.

Jayson Strickland, Superintendent of Hogan Preparatory Academy, explained that 20 percent of graduates are now leaving with duel credit, IRC, or work experience. Herschend asked when he started his administration. Strickland answered by saying two years ago. Herschend stated that in that two-year time frame, the gap between the performance of KCPS and Hogan has not changed. Strickland responded by saying that before the pandemic hit -- the school was monitoring positive trends in performance. He indicated that COVID has been very hard on the students. Wahby added that the MCPSC is seeing increases in the data collected from interim assessments. Hallquist reported that the school's principal has initiated a program to provide real-world learning and that the program has been working to place students in businesses in the community.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Herschend commented that the school would now be unaccredited if it were a public school. He asked Wahby to explain what she will do a year from now if things are not better. Wahby said that the MCPSC has given Hogan clear growth targets and if they miss any one of the targets, they will be put on probations. She said that if they miss more targets – MCPSC will close the school.

Westbrooks-Hodge asked Strickland whether they have a handle on root causes of difficulties so improvement can occur. Strickland answered by saying that frankly, the root cause has been that the students were exposed to a poorly run organization. He stated that if we give the students what they need -- they will rise to the occasion. Westbrooks-Hodge then asked about the teacher improvement plan. Strickland responded by saying that Hogan has a very comprehensive teacher professional development plan. He noted that over the last year – Hogan has discharged a large percentage of the staff so the best talent possible can replace them. Strickland said Hogan has invested heavily in teachers -- and now we are eager to bring teachers back into classrooms so they may implement what they have been taught. Westbrooks-Hodge wished the school good luck and asked the superintendent to speak frequently with Paul Katnik of DESE to improve teacher quality and support at Hogan.

Motion. SBE authorize Hogan Preparatory Academy to continue operations pursuant to the charter renewal granted by MCPSC, effective July 1, 2021, for a five-year period, per the contingencies outlined in the performance contract and the monitoring plan included in the contract. Motion carried 7-1 (Herschend voting no).

P. Consideration of Charter School Application Renewal for Citizens of the World – Kansas City

Jocelyn Strand, Coordinator; and Rachel Uptergrove, Director of Charter Schools, DESE Office of Quality Schools; Martha McGeehon, Deputy Director for Accountability, Missouri Charter Public School Commission; Jon Hile, Executive Director; and Luke Norris, President Board of Directors, Citizens of the World-Kansas City participated in this presentation. Strand reported section 160.405.9, RSMo, requires the SBE to vote to renew the charter after the sponsor has demonstrated compliance with state and federal law. She said DESE received a Charter School Renewal Application approved by the Missouri Charter Public School Commission (MCPSC) for Citizens of the World-Kansas City, which currently serves 430 students in grades PK-4.

Uptergrove told the SBE that the charter school has requested that MCPSC renew its charter for a term of five years beginning July 1, 2021, and ending June 30, 2026. She said the sponsor has indicated the charter school is in good standing and requests renewal from the SBE. Using the following graphics, Uptergrove described the school's performance.

Uptergrove stated that in contemplating a renewal decision a sponsor must consider:

- Does the charter school's annual performance report equal or exceed the district's report in which the charter school is located three of the last four school years by appropriate grade level configuration?

  Uptergrove reported insufficient data exist to determine whether or not the charter equals or exceeds the district.

- Is there a positive balance in its operating funds? Is the combined operating balance three percent or greater? Do receipts equal or exceed expenditures for the most recently completed fiscal year?

  Uptergrove indicated that COTW has a positive operating fund balance of 13.3%. The revenue for this charter exceeded current year expenditures.

- Is the charter in compliance with its legally binding performance contract and §§ 160.400 - 160.425, and 167.349, RSMo?

  Uptergrove stated that the charter is in compliance as determined by the sponsor, MCPSC.

Uptergrove told the SBE that the sponsor, MCPSC, has determined that Citizens of the World is in compliance with §§160.400 - 160.425, and 167.349, RSMo, and determined that it is organizationally and fiscally viable as defined by RSMo 160.45.9 (2)(b). Therefore, MCPSC, recommends a five-year renewal based on the sponsor's analysis of a comprehensive body of objective evidence.

Hallquist commented that the school was originally started by neighbors -- so it is truly a real grass roots school. Luke Norris, President Board of Directors, Citizens of the World said that Citizens of the World originated from the Kansas City Public Schools decision to close the neighborhood school. He said 400 hundred families came together to partner with a school in Los Angles, California based on racial and economic diversity (i.e., Citizens of the World – Los Angles). He said we continue to benefit from that partnership

Herschend noted that the school appears to be doing well according to the little data we have. He suggested the next five years will tell the tale on whether Citizens of the World can continue or not. Herschend stated you have an opportunity to make the school a showcase and for the sake of the kids -- we hope you do.

Motion. SBE authorize Citizens of the World Kansas City to continue operations pursuant to the charter renewal granted by MCPSC, effective July 1, 2021, for a five-year period, per the contingencies outlined in the performance contract. Motion carried 8-0.

NOTE: After the renewal motion carried, the SBE had a general conversation about charter schools.

Shields suggested that one of the challenges in Kansas City is that the law makes it so easy to open a charter school. He said that if you can find a sponsor -- you can have a school. As a result, Shields suggested there are too many schools chasing fewer and fewer students. Herschend agreed. He said there are more charters out there seeking pieces of the same pie and the slices are becoming thinner and thinner. He said the SBE must say, for the record, that there should be some reasonable limitations on charters because there are too few students to support them all. Herschend suggested that this may become a serious challenge to education across this state.

Shields said it is a matter of wise use of resources. Shields suggested the question that probably needs to be addressed is whether there is an actual need for additional schools. He said the healthcare world has a certificate of need that is utilized to prevent two hospitals from locating in a region where each will only run at 50 percent capacity so neither may succeed. Shields suggested the SBE may need to give some thought to determining whether there is an actual need for a charter in a community. Herschend stated that a formula must exist to determine whether a charter school is really needed. Bailey said that the way it is being done now -- we have set up a system where no one can win.

Lenz suggested that determining the actual need for charter schools may be an area where DESE and the SBE can work with the legislature. Vandeven commented she believes it is import to articulate the purpose of charter legislation. She said that some legislators say -- that by simply providing choices -- we are providing completion which will increase quality across all school. She added that there are those who are looking at the quality of all educational options. Vandeven said she asks legislators every time she is in the capitol why they are expanding charter schools. She said they mostly answer by saying -- to increase competition. Bailey said she believes that completion is a driving concept in the legislature, but there is a difference between same team competition versus opposing team competition. She said the opposing team mindset demands that some students will lose. Lenz said the SBE has to be seen as trying to fix this for all students. If not, he suggested the legislature will believe we are not supporting charter schools. Lenz said we need to solve the problem of too many charter schools.

Herschend said the founding idea of charter schools was to encourage innovation and that is not happening. Shields commented that the idea has been that there is a "secret sauce" and that through innovation the charters will find that sauce. However, he noted that high performing charters are the charters with great philanthropic support. He suggested that saying that charters can perform better than the public schools, while having similar funding and having to buy building, isn't realistic. Shields ended the conversation by asking DESE to investigate possible models for determining charter school need.

Q. Consideration of an Order of Rulemaking to Amend 5 CSR 20-100.230, Virtual Instruction Program

Chris Neale, Assistant Commissioner; and Caysie Turner, Administrator of Virtual Learning, DESE Office of Quality Schools presented. Neale said that on December 8, 2020, the SBE approved a notice of proposed rulemaking to amend 5 CSR 20-100.230, Virtual Instruction Program. He stated the proposed amendment (pages 28-32) was open for public comment from January 15, 2021, through March 16, 2021. Neale reported DESE received 78 comments from 21 individuals and organizations during the comment period (pages 13-28). He told the SBE that the proposed amendment revises the state virtual instruction program to include additional operating procedures for Missouri Course Access and Virtual School Program (MOCAP) courseware providers that join the catalog through the local education agency (LEA) partnerships. The amendment also clarifies access requirements for LEAs and providers.

Caysie Turner, Administrator of Virtual Learning, said the purpose of the rule is to revise state virtual instruction rule to include additional operating procedures for MOCAP providers. She said that as a result of the rule making process:

- Progress monitoring will be available to LEAs weekly through a secure online portal
- Services will be improved for special education students through increased involvement of the providers' teachers and increased monitoring of accommodations and modifications

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Requirements for providers joining the catalog (e.g., through the local education agency (LEA) partnerships) will be more closely aligned regardless of path

Turner told the SBE that future work will focus on amending the request for proposal (RFP) procedure to ensure proper student teacher ratios. She said with the large number of schools, program start dates, and the differences between synchronous and asynchronous instruction, an area for future improvements are in aligning MOCAP calendars and school calendars and course pacing solutions. Turner mentioned that future work on reporting will likely include automatic uploading of reports for providers and the provision of customizable reports for LEAs.

Motion. SBE approve the order of rulemaking to amend 5 CSR 20-100.230, Virtual Instruction Program, and that the State Board finds this amendment necessary to carry out the purposes of §§ 161.092 and 161.670, RSMo. Motion carried 8-0.

R. Consideration of an Order of Proposed Rulemaking to Adopt 5 CSR 20-100.275, Transfer of Charter Sponsorship

Chris Neale, Assistant Commissioner; and Rachel Uptergrove, Director of Charter Schools, DESE Office of Quality Schools, led the discussion. Neale stated that in order for charter schools to operate, they must have a sponsoring institution, which may include one of the following:

1. The school board of the district in any district in which sponsoring a charter school is permitted;

2. A public four-year college or university with an approved teacher education program that meets regional or national accreditation;

3. A community college, in the service area of which encompasses some part of the district;

4. Any private four-year college or university with an enrollment of at least one thousand students with its primary campus in Missouri and an approved teacher education program;

5. A two-year private vocational or technical school designated as a 501(c)(3), accredited by the Higher Learning Commission, with its primary campus in Missouri; or

6. The Missouri Charter Public School Commission.

Neale said Section 160.405.1(9), RSMo, provides that a sponsoring institution may grant a charter to the school and the term of a charter is typically five years. He added high-quality charter schools, as defined in § 160.408, RSMo, may receive a charter for a term of ten years and if the school meets the terms of the contract, the sponsor may renew the charter.

Neale recounted that recently, charters have elected to change sponsoring institutions mid-contract. He stated this proposed rule establishes requirements and procedures to transfer charter sponsorship prior to the expiration of a charter contract. He said that in December 2020, the SBE approved the publication of proposed rulemaking to adopt 5 CSR 20-100.275, Transfer of Charter Sponsorship. The notice of proposed rulemaking was published in the Missouri Register on January 15, 2021 (46 MoReg 49-50). Neale told the SBE that the 60-day comment period ended on March 15, 2021 and fifteen (15) comments from various stakeholders (pages 2-4) were received.

Uptergrove told the SBE that 5 CSR 20-100.275 (page 5) specifies that a transfer of charter school sponsorship from one approved sponsor to another prior to the expiration of the contract between a charter and its current sponsor may only occur if approved by the SBE. She said all standards and requirements established in the current charter contract must remain in effect until the scheduled renewal of the charter school, unless the SBE approves any changes. Further, Uptergrove said all parties, the charter school and its current sponsor along with the proposed sponsor, must submit a joint application for transfer to the board for consideration prior to February 1 to be considered for the following school year. The joint application must include evidence that the applicant has solicited input from and notified students in grades 5-12, parents/guardians, and staff of the request to transfer sponsors at least four (4) months prior to approaching other sponsoring institutions related to potential transfer. She then outlined the transition requirements which include:

> (A) All obligations of the previous charter sponsor shall terminate upon the official date of transfer on June 30.
> (B) The receiving sponsor will be responsible for ensuring that all required documents due after the date of transfer are submitted in a timely fashion, including but not limited to, the Annual Secretary of the Board Report and Financial Audit.
> (C) Within thirty (30) days of transfer, the prior charter sponsor shall provide information relevant to the charter school as requested by the proposed sponsor, including, but not limited to assets, student records, and reports.
> (D) The proposed sponsor that seeks to sponsor a transferring school must have met all requirements of the Standards of Charter Sponsorship in its most recent sponsor evaluation.

Hallquist asked whether DESE has the authority to make these changes. Neale said that the DESE legal department has determined that it does.

Herschend asked what happens when a school is underperforming and a sponsor wants out. Uptergrove said this rule makes sure that all parties are involved in any transfer and allows DESE and both sponsors to hold schools to the conditions of the current performance contract. Neale said that at this point, the SBE would have the authority to review the contract and added that if a sponsor removes chartering authority, it would close the school. Herschend asked what would happen if we said no to a transfer request. Neale said he assumes that would mean that the school would close or that the transfer agreements would need to be amended to address deficiencies. Shields commented that what we are trying to eliminate is the ability for schools to shop for sponsors who will hold them to less rigorous standards.

Motion. SBE approve the order of rulemaking to adopt Rule 5 CSR 20-100.275, Transfer of Charter Sponsorship. Motion carried 8-0.

VIII. Items for Discussion

S. Report on COVID-19 Response

Mallory McGowin, DESE Chief Communications Officer, provided the COVID19 health update. She said that existing layered mitigation strategies must remain in place to ensure in-person learning can continue to be provided safely – and with little to no interruption. McGowin said those strategies include:

- Wearing masks consistently
- Keeping physical distance (cohorting & other strategies)
- Reiterate good hand hygiene
- Staying home if you're sick

McGowin reported the state vaccination schedule has finally opened up to everyone.

McGowin repoted that a pilot research project which began in December of 2020 and included the Rockwood, Pattonville, University City, Springfield, Republic, and Logan-Rogersville school districts examined the impact of school-based mitigation strategies/policies on transmission after a positive case is identified in the school setting is now producing findings. She said results include:

- Transmission in schools is rare (2%)
- Only 27% of schools were implementing 6 ft.+ distancing
- No transmission among students in modified quarantine (remained in school if identified as a contact but

were masked appropriately)
 No student to teacher transmission

McGowin then turned to current frequently asked questions (FAQs) and topics of discussion. She said schools are asking:

- Can schools begin to host vaccination events for students age 16+ with the Pfizer vaccine?
- When will schools be able to remove mask mandates?
- What mitigation strategies could be omitted and what should schools plan to keep for 2021-22?

She said schools want to begin planning for the 2021-22 school year and are awaiting further guidance. She indicated that the May DESE webinar will focus on these FAQs. She also mentioned that schools want to know how to best spend money to prevent spread. McGowin said it has been determined that spread from surfaces is much less common than originally thought and that COVID-19 is primarily spread by person-to-person respiration droplets, she therefore suggested that measures to prevent person-to-person spread (e.g., masks, Plexiglas barriers, hand sanitizer) are better things to invest in.

Schrag asked whether there are any financial ramification/penalties if schools choose not to require masks. McGowin said there is no penalty for schools not requiring students to wear masks. She said that more boards of education are voting to rescind certain COVID restrictions however, the Commissioner and Dr. Williams do not believe it is time to do that just yet.

Commissioner Vandeven provided the learning update. She reported that during the summer of 2019, the Commissioner's Education Policy Committee met to develop a set of priority areas and recommendations to serve as a vision for the future of education in Missouri. She said leaders from across the state came together to discuss foundational topics and to identify a series of action steps for each

Vandeven told the SBE to address challenges caused by the pandemic, she has recently revived the Commissioner's Education Policy Committee. She stated the meetings explored both Missouri's assets and existing needs. Vandeven explained there are three primary areas of immediate urgency, which were explored in depth:

1. Learning Attainment
2. School Redesign
3. Educator Workforce

She said committee meetings aimed to shape DESE goals going forward as Missouri works to recover from COVID-19 and build a stronger, more equitable education system.

The Commissioner reported that to support Learning Attainment the Policy Committee had three recommendations: Support Kindergarten Readiness, Create High-Quality, Equitable, Responsive Learning Frameworks, and Address the Digital Divide across Industries and Sectors. She provided the graphics below to describe each recommendation.

Vandeven then described the recommendations for School Redesign. They are: Identify Critical Skills Necessary for College & Career Success, Collaborate with Business & Industry Stakeholders to Identify Skills, and Implement Measures for Centering Equity, Diversity, & SEL Standards. She said that while some students did very well during the pandemic -- many others have not had instruction at all for a year. She said that competency based learning (see recommendation 2) may offer a paths to help students recover. Vandeven added that the business leaders at the table where very helpful during the process and provided much needed insight for workforce needs.

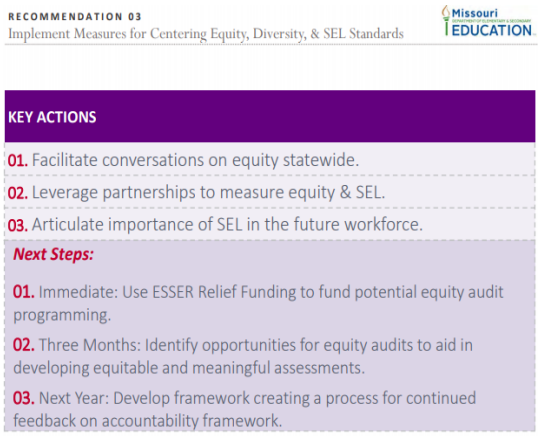
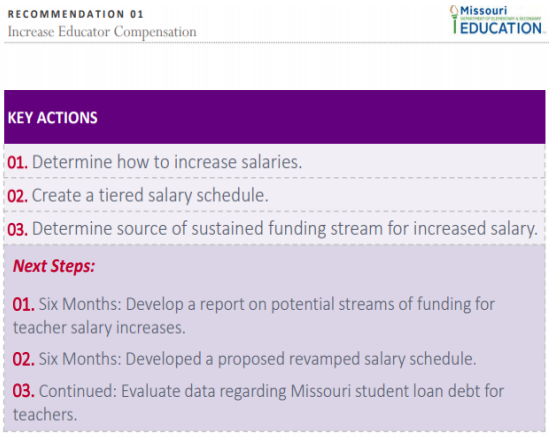
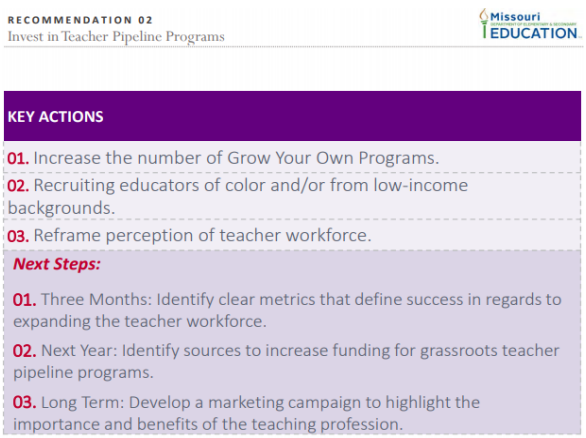
AMERICAN OVERSIGHT



Vandeven stated that the Educator Workforce recommendations (i.e., Increase Educator Compensation, Invest in Teacher Pipeline Programs, and Create Frameworks Promoting Teacher Leadership Opportunities) included reframing the perception of teaching as a critical aspect.





Vandeven ended her presentation by emphasizing that we need to find ways for teachers to advance in the profession without leaving teaching. Vandeven added that prioritizing educators' mental health is of great importance especially right now.

Kari Monsees, Deputy Commissioner, DESE Financial and Administrative Services Monsees provided an update on fundng priograms as a result of the pandemic. He provided the following graphic to descibe the grant program, funds allocated, grant purposes, and curent status.

Monsees said that it appears that the ESSER III funds have a very broad range of uses and that DESE is awaiting appropriations. He stated that out of the roughly $3 billion in ESSER funds, about $300 million are dedicated to state level opportunities. Monsees told the SBE that DESE is investigating ways to use funding for teacher recruitment and retention and that Paul Katnik, Assistant Commissioner, Office of Educator Quality, is working on a wide-ranging group of efforts that can drive recruitment and retention improvement state wide. He said the development process is moving quickly so districts can implement soon.

Herschend asked about follow-up strategies for these immense amounts of money to ensure that they are used effectively. Monsees answered by saying that monitoring measures are required to ensure that programs are effective. Herschend then asked whether there would be an opportunity to move funds if they are not being used effectively. Monsees responded by saying further guidance is needed to answer that question definitively.

Hallquist asked how much more administrative work these fund releases have caused for DESE. Monsees answered by saying that the "rubber band is stretched pretty tight right now," and more support has been needed. He indicated that some of these funds can be used to contract out work or to hire additional hourly staff.

T. Fiscal Year 2022 Budget Report

Jennifer Jordan, Chief Budget Officer, DESE Financial and Administrative Services, provide an FY22 budget update. Jordan reported that the Senate will hold mark-up session next week. Referring to the entire budget spreadsheet document (pages 2-6) Jorden then reported on differences between the governor's recommendations and the house recommendations. Those differences are detailed using the graphics below.

U. Update on Office of Childhood

Pam Thomas, DESE Chief of Early Learning, stated that improving access to high-quality early learning opportunities is one of DESE's strategic priority areas. She reported the new Office of Childhood will include early and extended learning programs within DESE, as well as in the Departments of Social Services and Health and Senior Services. Thomas said the three office transition priorities are to: 1. Maintain essential services and maximize limited resources, 2. Strengthen partnerships between public and private programs, and to 3. Focus on the whole child in terms of safety, health, and education.

Thomas said there are three transition stages necessary for a successful launch of the Office of Childhood (i.e., Planning Phase, Transition Stage, and Implementation). She indicated that the Planning Phase took place during February and March and that it focused on the Office of Childhood's structure, processes, and people. Thomas told the SBE the Transition Phase will focus on process improvement and effective programming. She indicated the Transition Phase began in April and will run through August. Thomas said program outcome measures will characterize the Implementation Phase which she expects to begin in August.

Using the graphics below, Thomas provided a timeline for the transition as well as activities that specific teams have been assigned to accomplish the mission.

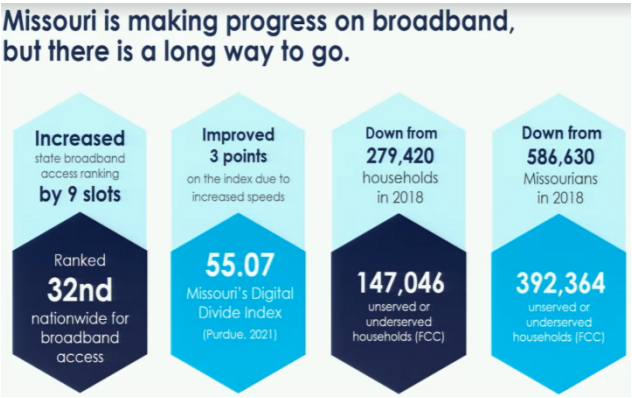
Thomas ended her comments by saying that the Office of Childhood has adopted the tagline "Success at Every Stage." She said over 50 stakeholders provided input in the creation of the tagline. She also thanked all of the Missouri state employees in several agencies that are helping with the transition.

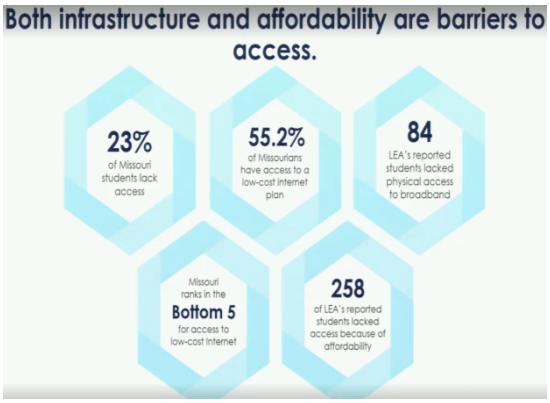
Herschend asked when kids will actually be in school. Thomas answered by saying that children are currently in early education programs. She added that more students will be in classrooms in more schools in accordance with local timelines. Thomas said the immediate goal of the Office of Childhood is to increase the number of students in pre-school programs and to bring enrollment numbers up to pre-COVID levels, then to surpass those levels.

V. Update on Statewide Broadband Plan on Closing the Digital Divide

Jeff Falter, Chief Data Officer, DESE Office of Data System Management; Rob Dixon, Director of Economic Development; and Tim Arbeiter, Director of Broadband Development, Department of Economic Development, presented. Falter said the COVID-19 pandemic has highlighted the digital divide between students having and not having internet access at home. He stated the state is coordinating with various organizations to upgrade the bandwidth in the state to close the digital divide.

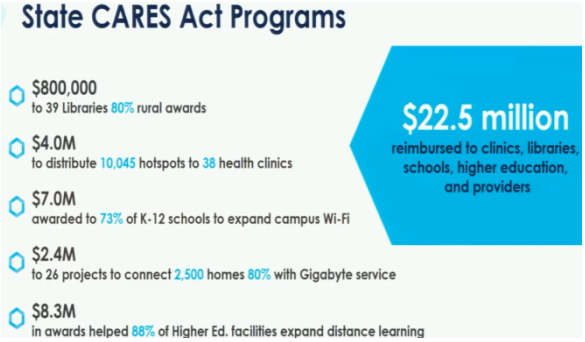
Rob Dixon, Director of Economic Development said broadband internet is infrastructure. He said as we move forward, broadband internet access is a priority for Governor Parson because the state can't advance without it. He presented the following graphics to describe the current broadband situation in Missouri.





Dixon told the SBE that the bottom line message is that there are still large gaps in internet availability, but Missouri has made progress by moving up nine places in state rankings. He said that while Missouri is moving in a positive direction, it is still a hard issue to talk about because so many Missourians do not have access. Dixon said we are proud of the work that has been done but we need to keep working. He said Tim Arbeiter, Director of Broadband Development at the Department of Economic Development is working hard to align the data with need. Dixon stated that COVID has upended the conversation, however, at this point an incredible amount of funding has become available. He then used the following graphic to describe Missouri's broadband plan and process.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT



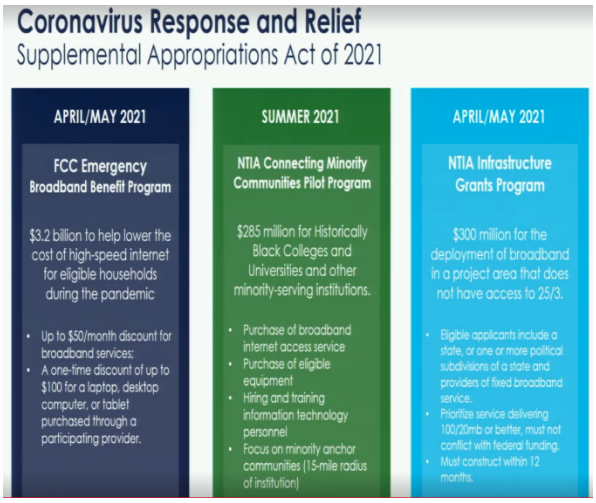
Arbeiter reported that $824 million has been invested through the CARES act and he thanked DESE for expanding wifi opportunities outside of school buildings during the pandemic that helped many people have a connection they would not have had otherwise.

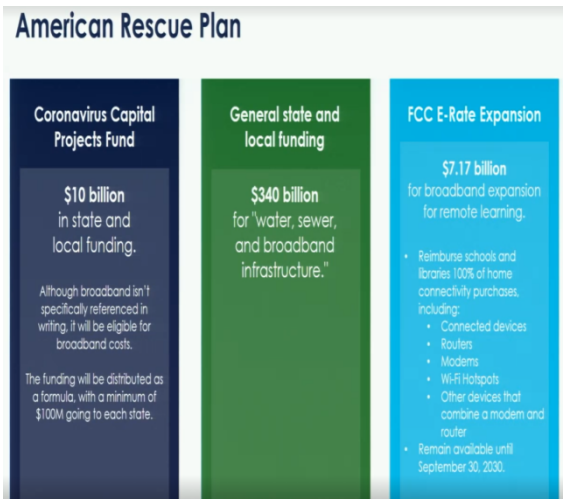
Referring to the graphic titled: State and Federal Broadband Expansion Underway, Arbeiter explained that the color on the map indicates new expansion programs throughout the state to provide new broadband internet connections. He said as you can see, there are many programs currently underway, but there are also many areas that continue to provide challenges.

Westbrooks-Hodge asked, in terms of percentages, how much coverage do we have now, and how much coverage will we have by the end of the year? Arbeiter answered by saying that because these programs have many different timelines – I cannot provide a good estimate on how much will be covered. Westbrooks-Hodge suggested some sort of map overlay to show how many students do not have service. She said that would help the SBE to know what needs to be done.

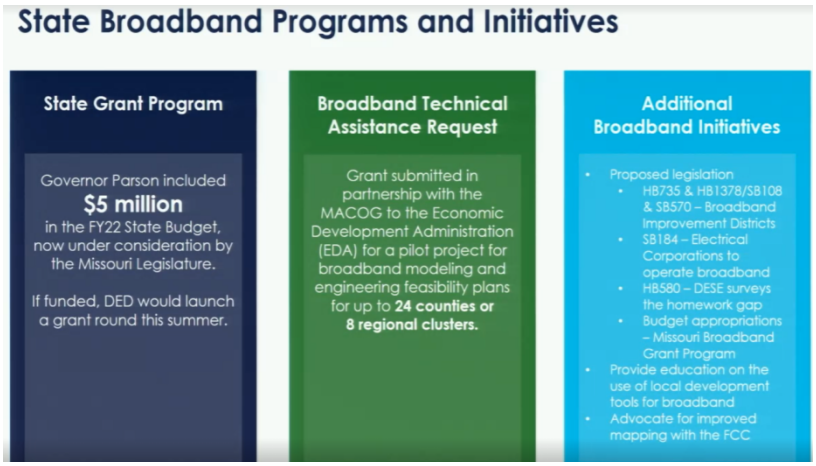
Arbeiter then turned to funding. He said $195 million is coming from the American Rescue plan for internet options. He then presented the following graphics to detail the Corona Virus Response and Relief Supplemental Appropriations Act of 2021 and the American Rescue Plan.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT





Herschend commented he counted eight programs that are all doing something on internet issues. He asked how DED is preventing duplication of efforts. Arbeiter answered by saying that the federal regulations are doing a fairly good job of making sure that programs do not overlap. He added we anticipate guidance around May 10th on what can and cannot be done with this funding and cautioned that the devil will be in the details. Arbeiter said he believes that for home connectivity, the FCC E-Rate Expansion offers the best opportunities for faster connections in many areas of the state. Arbeiter then offered the following graphic to explain the state appropriations process.



Herschend stated that the SBE is interested in the number of households that either have no internet or inadequate access. He asked Arbeiter how close do you believe we are to providing most with access. Arbeiter answered by saying he would be "looking into a crystal ball," but he thought that maybe 50 percent would have better access. He emphasized that the estimate is purely a prediction.

Schrag asked about West Plaines and the areas between Springfield and West Plaines. Arbeiter said that in those spaces --providers report on the number of households that are served. He said that sort of reporting can eliminate areas from consideration for new programs. However, he explained that under new leadership at the federal level, we anticipate that new regulations will open those areas back up for development.

Shields asked what solutions look like for people who live in very remote, hard to reach areas. Arbeiter said DED is working with MU Extension, and regional commissions to decide what can be achieved in the next six months. He added that there are some providers who are putting together grant proposals to reach people in very remote, hard to reach areas. Arbeiter suggested connecting everyone will be a house-by-house endeavor. Dixon added DED expects that news is coming for some areas of the state where we can work with local entities to get down to a house-by-house level. Dixon said DED is trying to get local partners around the table to create strategies to reach people.

Claycomb said that he is concerned that if a teacher has 25 students, and some have no coverage, then the teacher has to figure out how to deal with those who do not have access. He said that we are dealing with for-profit companies and they are indicating that costs for rural internet access may be between $100 and $150 -- an expense which prevents people from affording service even if it is available.

Schrag said some of the electric cooperatives want to provide wifi. She asked whether that is an area that is being opened to serve people who live in rough terrain areas where providers do not want to go. Arbeiter answered by saying that some coops are heavily into providing broadband while others have decided against it. He said from the coop's standpoint, it is the service providers who must put together a grant proposal and that process is not easy.

Herschend asked how many school buildings are served by broadband. Jeff Falter, Chief Data Officer, DESE Office of Data System Management answered by saying the school district buildings are in very good shape. He said that DESE is now primarily concerned about home connections. Falter added that every school now has, or is planning to have, high-speed connections.

Bailey asked how long it will take to implement broadband in individual homes. Arbeiter answered by saying that his best guess is that we are in the three to seven year range for everyone -- but for schools we are looking at about two years. From the standpoint of the state, Arbeiter said DED is being aggressive in making sure that once programs are approved, that construction begins.

Dixon said there is a lot of federal funding that is coming to the state and that DED and DESE is trying to ensure that there is as little duplication of effort as possible. He said we want to continue to work closely with DESE to access these once in a generation funding opportunities. Dixon said the first priority is making sure the funds go the where they are needed as quickly as possible. He then offered suggestions on how education can assist. He said DESE leadership will be needed for guidance and counsel on resource allocation. He also suggested that education institutions can help by:

- Collaborating on other funding sources available to schools and communities.
- Maximizing all funding sources to help address multiple areas in broadband challenges
- School leaders can help with the following:
    - Spread the word on new programs to families
    - Evaluate initiatives undertaken by CARES and reassess, determine local level gaps
    - Be a leader for community and county connectivity strategies

Westbrooks-Hodge said the SBE is concerned about mitigating gaps in service in the short-term until we get the needed infrastructure. Arbeiter said that we need local leaders to take a snap shot of where current gaps exists and provide them for us. He said then we can begin to understand where we can help to close the gaps.

W. Governmental Affairs Update

Michael Harris, DESE Chief of Governmental Relations, discussed filed bills relating to education for the 2021 legislative session. He said with about five weeks remaining, only a small number of bills have crossed chambers. He specifically mentioned:

> HB 349 (Christofanelli) -- Missouri Empowerment Scholarship Accounts Program specifies that any taxpayer may claim a tax credit, not to exceed 50% of the taxpayer's state tax liability, for any qualifying contribution to an educational assistance organization (EAO). Moneys deposited into scholarship accounts shall be used for specified services and fees and each EAO will ensure that grants are distributed in a prioritized order, with students residing in any county with a charter form of government or any city with at least 30,000 inhabitants, having an approved individualized education plan or "IEP" or living in a household whose total annual income meets the income standard for free and reduced price lunches being the first priority. Each EAO shall ensure that student recipients are tested to measure learning gains in math and English, and report these results along with graduation rates, college attendance, and a parental survey as specified in the bill. The bill allows school districts for qualified students that receive a scholarship and leave their resident district to continue to be counted for state aid purposes for 5 years, or until criteria outlined in the bill are met. This provision will end five years after the effective date of the bill.

SB 152 (Hoskins) -- Show Me Success Diploma Program has provisions for the Show Me Success Diploma Program, Information Published on the DESE Website, Competency Based Education, Annexation of School Districts, Gifted Education, Missouri Education Savings Program, Students with Epilepsy and Seizure Disorders, Board of Governors for Missouri Western State University, and Montessori Schools.

HB 543 (Pollitt) -- Public School Open Enrollment Act establishes transfer procedures to nonresident districts for students in public schools. It also allows beginning in the 2022-23 school year any person that owns residential or agricultural real property in any school district, and pays a school tax in that district for the two most recent tax years, to send children to that district.

HB 151 (Shields) – Superintendent Sharing allows a school district that enters into an agreement with another district to share a superintendent to receive an additional $30,000 per year in state aid for up to five years. School Innovation Waivers allow school innovation teams to submit a plan to the SBE for a state innovation waiver for a variety of purposes as outlined in the bill.

HB 228 (Basye) -- IEP Recording bill prevents any public school districts and charter schools from prohibiting a parent or guardian from audio recording any meeting held under the Federal Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) or a Section 504 plan meeting (Federal Rehabilitation Act of 1973).

HB 387 (Bailey) – Behavioral Interventions bill defines "restraint" and "seclusion" and requires school districts, charter schools, or publicly contracted private providers to include in policy a prohibition on the use of restraint and seclusion, including "prone restraint" as defined by the bill, for any purpose other than situations or conditions in which there is imminent danger of physical harm to self or others

HB 733 (Patterson) -- Workforce Development contains provisions for Adult High School daycare programs, School Innovation, minimum requirements for a Career and Technical Education (CTE) Certificate, and establishing the Workforce Diploma Program.

Harris said with 22 legislative days left from 4-13-21, not much movement has occurred.

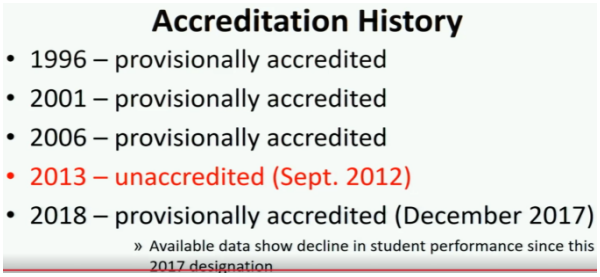
Schrag asked about HB 543. She said she has heard concerns from school leaders in her region about losing students to neighboring districts and being charged more by the receiving district. Harris answered by saying that the bill only allows state funds to follow the student and that the local district is not required to send any local money.

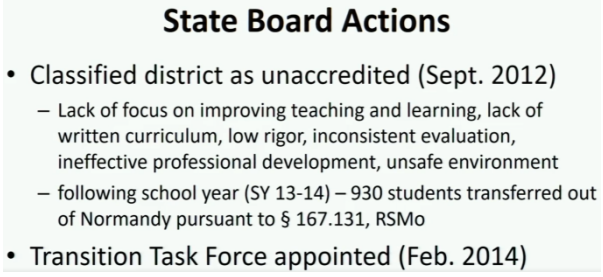
X. Discussion on the Normandy Schools Collaborative

Commissioner Vandeven recounted that on May 20, 2014, the SBE lapsed the Normandy School District, effective June 30, 2014. The SBE authorized, by resolution, the establishment of the Normandy Schools Collaborative to be governed by a Joint Executive Governing Board (JEGB), pursuant to § 162.081.3(2), RSMo. This action was based on the recommendation of the Normandy Transition Task Force. The SBE recertified the Normandy JEGB effective July 1, 2020, with five members serving at the pleasure of the State Board.

Using the graphics below, Vandeven provided a history of accreditation and SBE actions regarding the Normandy School District.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT





Vandeven noted that Normandy has either been provisionally accredited or unaccredited since the inception of MSIP in 1996 and that the available data seem to indicate a decline in student performance since 2017. She added a task force was appointed in February of 2014 to formulate recommendations for improvement. Vandeven stated the task force adopted a resolution to lapse the Normandy School District as of June 30, 2014 and establish the Normandy Schools Collaborative as of July 1, 2014 with an alternative governing structure.

Vandeven told the SBE that at this point, there is deep concern within the community regarding district leadership and governance. She said there is concern with the superintendent, his certification, and some decisions that have been made. She said it is the Joint Executive Governing Board's (JEGB) responsibility to hire a superintendent, and the superintendent they selected is not appropriately certificated as a superintendent in Missouri. She said that fact was known by the members of the JEGB before the superintendent was hired, and there has been some discussion about when he will be properly certified. Vandeven emphasized that to achieve full accreditation -- the district must employ a superintendent who is properly certified. Vandeven said that other districts have hired superintendents who did not possess the proper certification at the time of hire in the past. In that circumstance, DESE typically gives districts two years for the superintendent to obtain a proper certificate.

Vandeven stated that usually what happens in a community when there are problems with the superintendent, is that community members go to the board of education and the board removes the leader or the community votes the board members out. However, because the JEGB is appointed by the SBE, the members of the community are coming to DESE and the SBE. Vandeven said the SBE has a variety of options in this case but she cautioned that because it will be setting a precedent in this situation – actions should be thought through carefully.

Vandeven advised that because the members of the JEGB are appointed, statute allows the SBE to remove the leader of the board, several board members, or the SBE could add members to the board. Vandeven said that if the SBE elects to put a new board in place – it would greatly disrupt the system. She added that DESE is receiving similar comments and concerns about Riverview Gardens – so going forward we wish to approach these situations without causing great disruptions to the districts.

Vandeven said the magnitude of the problems have caused the current Normandy Schools Collaborative JEGD to lose the trust of the community, so what is needed is a long-term strategy for the district and the community. Therefore, she said this item is on the agenda to initiate SBE discussion to inform DESE's action recommendation for the SBE.

Westbrooks-Hodge stated that she was a student at Normandy, is a former member of the JEGB, and continues to live in the community. She emphasized that building trust through transparency should be at the heart of SBE efforts and with that in mind, the students, staff, faculty, and community should be involved in the decision making process. She said without community trust, education transformation is not possible. Westbrooks-Hodge stated that because the district is provisionally accredited we must listen to the members of the Normandy community to make a decision that is in the best interest of the community. She emphasized that the SBE and the Commissioner need to listen to the wishes of the community.

Lenz said Normandy is experiencing financial issues and because the Collaborative has poor relationships with leaders in 24 surrounding communities, the leaders took the unprecedented step of officially opposing a bond levy put forth by the JEGB. Lenz said the community feels that they are not being listened to and that the Normandy administration is moving forward without taking constituents opinions into account. He said the whole situation has become quite convoluted and a lot of emphasis is being placed on the fact that the superintendent does not have a certificate. He said we need to look at how much the JEGB knew and why it decided to hire this particular leader. He said the situation is quite concerning.

Shields said he has heard from many people on this issue and he has become convinced that the SBE must act. He said replacing the members of the JEGB may not be the best option and that the SBE may need to look at the statute to weigh other options. He said there may be other options that we haven't thought of that can improve the district. Having said that, Shields stated it is clear to him that the governing structure must be restored to an elected board of education that the residents can connect with.

Shields shared that he reflected back on his days as a board of education member to give the existing JEGB the benefit of the doubt. He said as a long-time school board member, he remembered times when his board did not have the support of the community. Shields stated there is a reason that we do not allow school board members to be recalled -- because there are times when the board will be at odds with the community. For those reasons, he said he doesn't think the SBE really wants to remove members of the JEGB -- but we might expand the board. Westbrooks-Hodge responded by saying she would be in favor of getting input from the community and superintendent on options. Shields emphasized that he was only expressing his opinion as one member of the SBE. He said expanding the JEGB allows the option of letting the community have more representation while causing a minimum amount of disruption. He said this could be done with an eye toward returning Normandy to an elected board. Shields said one of the people he has in mind to join the JEGB is former SBE member Mike Jones because he trusts his instincts and frankly -- he could let us know exactly what is going on in the district.

Lenz stated it appears that JEGB has not paid attention to important procedures and protocols. Lenz cautioned that everyone is watching what is going on and the JEGB will not get by with doing anything clandestine. He said the SBE needs to know how things became the way they are. Bailey noted that members of the SBE are hearing from other educational leaders in the region who are also concerned about what is happening in Normandy. She said that at a minimum, she wants to encourage the leadership at Normandy to collaborate with other school leaders. Westbrooks-Hodge said because she was once a member of the JEGB, she knows that the situation is more than high-level disagreement and is instead a deep seated belief that this board is not acting in the best interest of the community. She said that people believe that leadership is ignoring the community entirely.

Vandeven stated that the situation is very complex. She said when you are attempting to make real change in a district -- you are going to get significant pushback. However, this case has much deeper elements. She said people have expressed deep concern about trust that might not be overcome. She said students are the ones that are hurt and only about 20 percent of those students are now attending class on a regular basis. Vandeven said something needs to be done to respond to the community members and we need to be thinking about the children in the Normandy Schools Collaborative instead of spending time thinking about adults who are squabbling.

Lenz said we need to do things in a way that will help people work together going forward – or the problem will continue. Shields said that there is such a low level of trust between the parties at this point that the SBE will need to act quickly. Shields suggested that the SBE should conduct a special meeting before May to take action.

Westbrooks-Hodge stated it is important to make these decisions with the input of the community and without the interference of outside entities with their own agendas. Herschend noted that Westbrooks-Hodge has emphasized trust, but for some time now it is clear, that the JEGB and the Normandy community do not trust each other. He said we should not consider returning the district to the control of an elected board until we can have some resolution on this question of trust. Herschend added that he is an advocate of expanding the JEGB sooner than later. He said sooner makes it possible to return this district to local control faster.

Westbrooks-Hodge said that she does not think that that addition of additional board members will solve the issue. She said the community is asking for the explicit removal of the leaders they have identified as the problem. She said that this is something that probably needs to be done sooner than later.

Lenz said he wanted to have an opportunity to have a face-to-face discussion with all SBE members on this issue. Shields indicated that he would do his best to schedule a face-to-face meeting of SBE between now and the regular May meeting for further discussion.

Schrag thanked Westbrooks-Hodge for the time and attention she has spent listening to people in the Normandy community and conveying information to the SBE.

IX. Licensure

Items in this section focused on issuance of teaching certificates, substitute teaching certificates or disciplining individuals by adverse action with regard to their Missouri teaching certification. The SBE approved the recommendations of DESE officials in each instance.

COMPRESSED: April 19, 2021 Career and Technical Education Advisory Council (CTE-AC) Meeting Report

NOTE: The compressed report provides minimal information on complex issues/policies. To gain reasoning, perspective, and context, readers are encouraged to reference the full report.

COVID-19 had a profound impact on CTE causing school facilities to close in March, 2020. Lack of face-to-face instruction resulted in: 1. few if any IRC attainment; 2. fewer placement opportunities for CTE students; 3. less contact of non-traditional students in the second semester; and 4. unfinished learning (programs started – but never completed). 5. Non-attainment of State Determined Performance Levels (see Perkins V State Plan Update below).

Perkins V State Plan Update

The federal government is allowing schools to revise Perkins V Plan State Determined Performance Levels (SDPLs) to help schools avoid writing improvement plans pursuant to federal regulations. COVID resulted in much unfinished learning because programs were started -- but were never completed. This caused the non-attainment of SDPLs set in the original State Perkins V Plan. SDPLs are based on CTE concentrators who have finished school.

Perkins V Plan Change Timeline

March 1-3	Review of the impact of SDPLs
March 4-10	Consider prior year data, range of SDPLs.
March 11-15	Develop realistic adjustments.
	Zoom conference with Secondary stakeholders.
	Zoom conference with Postsecondary stakeholders.
March 16	Revised SDPLs posted for public comment 60 prior to submitting to USDE.
April 17	Closing date for the comment period.
May 6	Develop narrative resulting from comment period, and narrative for supporting SDPL changes.
May 10-13	Review new SDPLs with DESE, OCCR Assistant Commissioner
May 14	Submit revised State Perkins V Plan with new SDPLs and justification statement.
May 21	Deadline for submitting revisions to State Perkins V Plan.

The CTE marketing plan is intended to improve the image and brand of CTE while creating opportunities and pathways for students. Bucket Media of Columbia created a media campaign using programmatic video and audio via Pandora, Facebook and Instagram, Instagram Stories, and Snapchat. The media campaign highlights CTE student success stories and also features business partner testimonials. The goal of all elements of the campaign is to drive users to the DESE CTE website to for more information to increase awareness of CTE.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

I. Welcome

CTE-AC Chair, R.J. Catizon of the St. Louis-Kansas City Carpenters Regional Council opened the meeting at 10:04 A.M. Catizon encouraged members of the CTE-AC to lead by example because CTE-AC members have unique opportunities to mentor and influence the lives of young people. Catizon then introduced Commissioner Vandeven to make for comments.

Commissioner Vandeven stated that it is an exciting time to be in education when there are many challenges and many funding opportunities as well. She said that the State Board of Education (SBE) is very interested in CTE related initiatives and she encouraged members of the CTE-AC to make DESE and the SBE aware of any ideas and insights. She said that the SBE is very interested in whether students are being adequately prepared for college and career. Vandeven then commented that the state has the data capabilities to follow students after program completion to help in determining program outcomes. However, she added that there is always pushback when you are talking about student level data analysis and privacy issues. Vandeven also asked the members of the CTE-AC to think seriously about initiatives to grow the teaching workforce. She suggested that teachers need to be brought to the table to talk about teaching to inform such efforts.

Dr. Tracy Hinds, Deputy Commissioner, DESE Office of College and Career Readiness thanked the members of the CTE-AC for their dedication and hard work. She said the work of the CTE-AC is absolutely vital and necessary for Missouri to move forward.

II. Advisory Council Member Activity Updates (part 1)

Anna Hennes, Program Leader for Real World Learning, Ewing Marion Kauffman Foundation, reported that in the Kansas City region, Real World Learning is working on mapping jobs data and the alignment of Industry Recognized Credentials (IRCs). She added that the Kauffman Foundation is also working on communications micro-credentialing in several areas designed to help candidates' soft skills.

Dave Rockers, Director, Franklin Technology Center, said the year started with all students learning virtually. He stated that at this point, students are mostly back to learning in-person and full-time. Rockers mentioned that while funding opportunities through the CARES act are promising – institutions are faced with challenges in how to spend the money and to use it effectively.

Jonathan Walker, Business, Marketing and Cooperative Education Teacher, Kirksville Area Career Center, reported that the Kirksville Area Career Center has been working with DESE on summer teacher externships. He said teacher externships are combatting the concept that teachers just coming out of college have never done anything but teach. He suggested the program is broadening teacher horizons.

Brian Crouse, of the Missouri Chamber of Commerce said that the Chamber of Commerce governmanetal affairs teams are focused on workforce development issues and on COVID liability issues. He reported that the Chamber is working with DESE in the Kansas City area to add experiential learning experiences to teacher externships so teachers may experience industry on a first-hand basis. Crouse reported that the Chambers Workforce 2030 program will begin soon and he ended his comments by stating the CTE certificate is starting to gain traction in school districts and that more businesses are inquiring about the CTE certificate.

Senator Karla Eslinger of the Missouri Senate introduced herself and told the members of the CTE-AC that she has spent her entire professional career in various roles working to integrate technology into instruction and with CTE programs and issues. She stated that one of the main reasons she pursued elected office was to be a champion for CTE.

Senator Doug Beck of the Missouri Senate said he enjoyed a 34-year career as a pipefitter and currently serves as the President of the Missouri State Building and Construction Trades Council. He said the Missouri State Building and Construction Trades Council is working to bring minorities and women into the building trades. He said the goal is to expand that program statewide.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Valerie Wilson, Manager of CTE Enrollment, Special School District (SSD) of St. Louis County, told the membership that SSD has completed spring advisory committee work on the CTE certificate and IRC information. She said SSD is examining ways to incorporate the CTE certificate into programs and to ensure that it is better recognized by industry.

Jill Williams, Vice President of Workforce Initiatives, Missouri Hospital Association, said that COVID has exasperated healthcare occupation workforce shortages. For that reason and others, she said the Missouri Hospital Association is examining ways to incorporate short-term micro-credentialing as part of training programs for entry level employees. Williams added the Association is also working with DESE and the Missouri Chamber of Commerce to explore ways to increase the number of faculty available to teach in nursing education programs.

Dr. Chris DeGeare, Acting Vice President of Instruction and Chief Academic Officer, Jefferson College, reported Jefferson is struggling with building and maintaining its CTE teaching workforce. He stated that it is especially hard to recruit teachers for the emergency medical technician and paramedic programs. DeGeare stated that the sustainability of CTE programs is based on being able to find people to fill teaching positions. He said he has hope that the CTE marketing program can help. DeGeare said that as yet, stimulus funds cannot be used to address staffing and added that Jefferson College hopes to use stimulus funds to help build and grow the teacher workforce.

Rebecca Bolen, Teacher, Rolla Technical Center told the membership that the Rolla Technical Center is focused on increasing IRCs and stackable credentials.

Henningsen reported on items related to the COVID-19 pandemic. He reminded the members that on March 11, 2020 all school buildings in Missouri were closed due to COVID. On April 9, 2020 Governor Parson announced that all school buildings in Missouri would remain closed for the remainder of year. He said that during the spring/summer, schools served over 11 million meals to students and their families. Henningsen recounted that in fall 2020, schools opened using varied formats and in March 2021 all schools were providing instruction. He offered the following graphic to depict the current situation.

During the pandemic, Henningsen said DESE:

- 8.6 million masks provided to LEAs
- 236,520 Antigen tests shipped to 356 participating LEAs
- Processed 27,000 teacher certificates
- 3,600+ new substitute teachers earned certification through new online program
- Distributing over $300 million in CAREs funding to support schools meeting the needs of students

Henningsen told the CTE-AC that the 2020 pandemic had a profound impact on CTE programs. He offered the following graphic to describe the impact.

Total Industry Recognized Credentials Earned by Career and Technical Education Students

2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020
4,119	6,717	7,222	8,299	8,568	8,736	9,293	5,058

Henningsen said the 2020 decrease was due to schools shutting down last March. Because schools were closed, many CTE programs simply stopped. Henningsen reported that most programs are resuming something like normal operations and that the Career & Technical Student Organizations have resumed state conferences and competitions, albeit in virtual formats.

Mardy Leathers of the Division of Workforce Development asked what specifically caused the reduction of IRCs earned in 2020. Janice Rehak of DESE answered by saying that when schools shut down -- students could not earn IRCs at all. Rehak added that after students graduate, they are in many cases done with anything to do with school, so it was difficult to bring them back to earn credentials. Dave Rockers of the Franklin Technology Center concurred with Rehak. He said that some IRC that just couldn't be done, but some students were tested for performance skills. Chair Catizon said he worked with the IRCs as a proctor for testing. He said he believes that many students did not attend classes and did not participate because the state said that IRC testing wouldn't be required.

IV. Legislative Update

Mike Harris, DESE Chief of Government Relations, briefly reported that with four weeks left of the session -- there will be focus on passing the budget and that not many pieces of legislation related to education had crossed chambers. He did note:

SB 152 (Hoskins) -- Show Me Success Diploma Program has provisions for the Show Me Success Diploma Program, Information Published on the DESE Website, Competency Based Education, Annexation of School Districts, Gifted Education, Missouri Education Savings Program, Students with Epilepsy and Seizure Disorders, Board of Governors for Missouri Western State University, and Montessori Schools. Harris reported that SB 152 and several house bills that are now on the senate side may turn into an omnibus education bill.

Harris also mentioned HB 896 (Black) that requires the SBE, in consultation with the CTE-AC, to develop a statewide plan establishing the minimum requirements for the CTE Certificate. The statewide plan will match workforce needs with appropriate educational resources. Each local school district shall determine the curriculum, programs of study, and course offerings based on the requirements of the statewide plan. DESE is required to convene work groups on an as needed basis from each CTE program area to develop written model curriculum frameworks that may be used by districts. Harris said the bill exempts the efforts from HB 1490 workgroup requirements.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Dan Stroot, Senior Manager at Boeing Defense commented that the amount dedicated to the CTE marketing plan ($50,000) seems low. He asked why so low? Henningsen responded by saying that some previous legislators did not support a more robust marketing budget. He added that CTE is enjoying more support at this time.

Senator Eslinger inquired about major changes related to the reauthorization of Perkins grant. Dr. Roger Barnes, DESE CTE Coordinator, answered by saying the Strengthening CTE for the 21st Century Act requires that a comprehensive local needs assessment be completed which is a major change. He said the comprehensive local needs assessment must tie budget dollars to regional needs. Barnes said new for this year is that schools will need to submit doumentaon to receive the grant. He said the documentation must include quality indicators which are an internal assessment of how programs are performing which amounts to a self-assessment. Barnes said the purpose is to determine whether programs need to make improvements.

Superintendent Sam Duncan of New Madrid County R-1 said his district is trying to improve CTE facilities which date back to the 50s. He said the district passed a bond issue and wrote a grant to increase funding for facilities. However, he noted that about half a million dollars are needed just to apply for a matching grant. He said any help at all for building improvement projects is needed.

VI. Perkins V State Plan Update

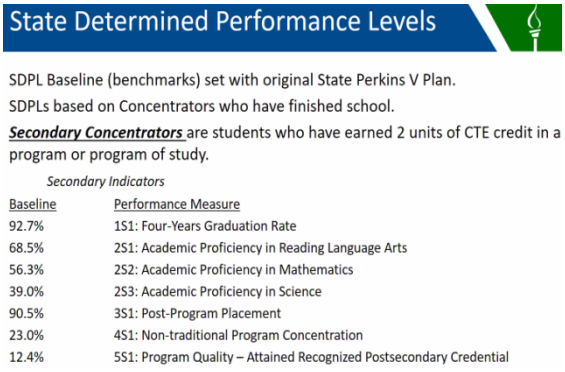
Dr. Roger Barnes, DESE CTE Coordinator, provided the Perkins V State Plan update. Barnes reported the pandemic caused school facilities to close in March, 2020 resulting in lack of face-to-face instruction which resulted in:

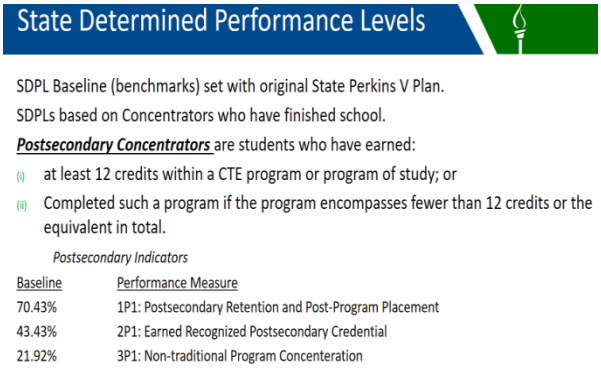
- few if any IRC attainment;
- fewer placement opportunities for CTE students;
- less contact of non-traditional students in the second semester; and
- unfinished learning (Postsecondary).
- pandemic caused non-attainment of State Determined Performance Levels.

Barnes emphasized that COVID resulted in much unfinished learning in that programs were started -- but were never completed (e.g., home building projects, welding projects, culinary arts competitions). On the post-secondary side – Barnes reported that many parents were forced to stop adult education programs to take care of children etc.

Using the following graphics, Barnes returned to pandemic caused non-attainment of State Determined Performance Levels (SDPL). He said that SDPL Baseline (benchmarks) were set with the original State Perkins V Plan. SDPLs are based on CTE concentrators who have finished school. Secondary concentrators are students who have earned 2 units of CTE credit in a program or program of study. Postsecondary concentrators are students who have earned:

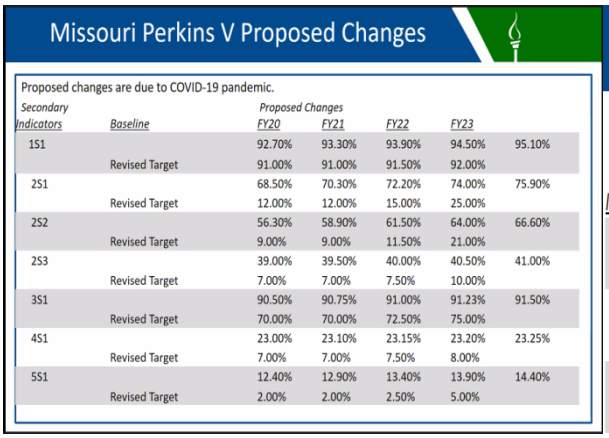
(i) at least 12 credits within a CTE program or program of study; or
(ii) completed such a program if the program encompasses fewer than 12 credits or the equivalent in total.

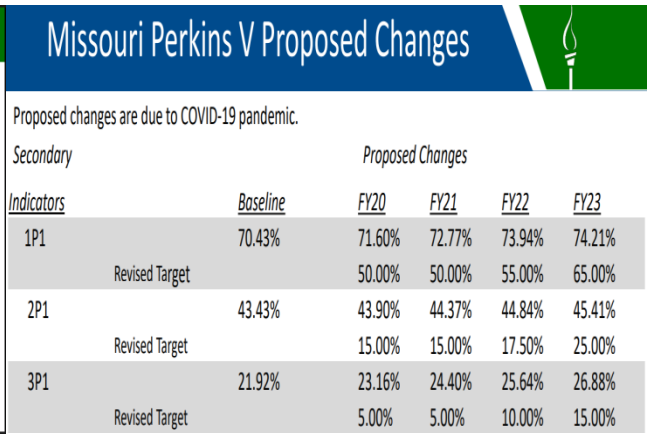




AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

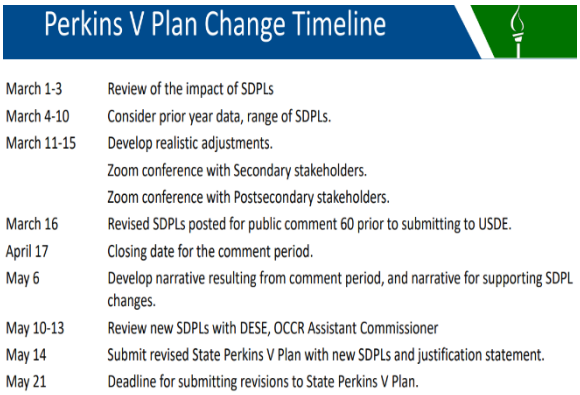
Barnes told the members that revised targets are the result of COVID unfinished learning. He stated that because of COVID, the federal government allowed a waiver not to test students in 2020 and allowed states to adjust baseline levels for student achievement. As a result, Barnes said that for FY21 -- the targets were set very low because for many programs -- the metrics were indeed very low and thus would force schools to write improvement plans pursuant to federal regulations. He said that while the revised targets are very low -- they will build over time.

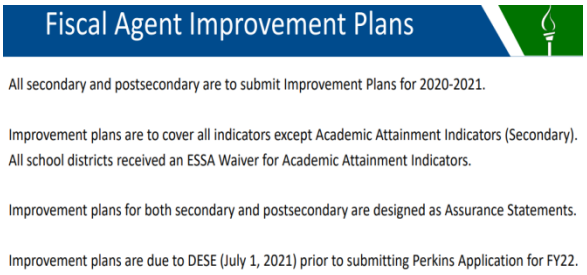




Barnes advised that while some of the performance levels are very low, the federal government has indicated that it is in no position at this time to tell states what these levels should be.

Using the graphic below, Barnes then presented a timeline for changes in the Perkins V Plan





Barnes ended his presentation by stating that all schools will need to write fiscal agent improvement plans for the coming year. He said that DESE has sent a document to all school to suggest improvement areas that can serve as the plan. Barnes said if schools agree and sign the document – the document becomes the improvement plan.

VII. CTE Marketing Update from Bucket Media

Steve Bryant, DESE Missouri Career Pathways Manager, reported that the goal of the CTE marketing plan is to improve the image and brand of CTE in the state while utilizing partnerships to create opportunities and pathways for students. He stated that key measures for the plan's ultimate success will include:

- Increase student enrollment – headcount/percentage
- Increase number of internships, apprenticeships, and other forms of work-based learning
- Increase the number of business partners
- Improve the perception of internal and external stakeholders

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Bryant recounted that a comprehensive survey and focus group plan/process was designed to provide valuable feedback relative to all strategic focus area goals and objectives. He said communications representatives from the Department of Economic Development, Department of Workforce Development, Department of Higher Education, and DESE met with the marketing team to design and implement a cohesive statewide communications and marketing campaign to improve public confidence in CTE programming.

Bryant stated that University of Missouri Extension analyzed the comprehensive survey results (9,654 total responses, 70 percent were from adults) to produce Perceptions of Career & Technical Education: Findings & Action from the 2019 DESE CTE. Findings included:

- Adult respondents do not have a negative perception of CTE, but they perceive that one exists.
    - Many adults do not equate CTE with college; students appear somewhat less certain.
- Students often lack awareness of CTE-related earning and education opportunities.
    - Assumptions about negative perceptions of CTE are more commonly held by adults
- This lack of awareness is found primarily among non-CTE students.

The findings exposed key gaps among adult groups:

- Parents have a broadly positive view of CTE education, but lack knowledge about CTE-related credentials, programs & opportunities.
- Almost 90% of educators agree that CTE exposure should begin before high school, but K8 teachers have relatively less knowledge about CTE-related activities and opportunities.
- Business leaders see a role for industry participation in CTE education, but that desire does not always translate into action (e.g., creating work-based learning opportunities, internships, etc)

Bryant told the CTE-AC that participant comments highlighted accessibility of CTE programs as a key issue, but was not a focus of the survey. Comments indicated that distance, limited time in student's schedules, and capacity issues all impact the ability of students to participate in CTE courses.

Using the results of the comprehensive survey, marketing campaign messaging was targeted at student, parent, and adult audiences. Bryant reported that Bucket Media of Columbia was brought in to create a media campaign using programmatic video and audio via Pandora, Facebook and Instagram, Instagram Stories, and Snapchat. Bryant said that the media campaign will highlight both secondary and post-secondary CTE student success stories. It will also feature business partner testimonials.

Bryant ended his comments by saying video footage is now being edited for release to Bucket Media to conduct and track the campaign. He indicated projected run dates are from February 15 through the end of May.

Scott Kempton of Bucket Media reported on particular elements of the media campaign.

Referring to the figures above, Kempton said that the individual metrics on the effectiveness of the campaigns will increase because the campaign will run through the end of May. He reported said that teens on Pandora clicked on CTE banners 173 times while adults clicked 47 times. He suggested that these are effective ads because they have a call to action (i.e., "clicking" on the banner).

Sam Duncan of New Madrid County R-1 commented that the spots on Pandora really stick with people and that they are well done. Jonathan Walker of the Kirksville Area Career Center asked whether all the clicks have come from Missouri. Kempton answered by saying that the ads are geo-fenced to only reach people in Missouri. He said that Pandora has the ability to target particular areas at a zip code level.

Dan Stroot of Boeing asked how we will know what success looks like. Kempton answered by saying there is no true measurement to know about the success of a particular campaign. He stated that many times it sort of comes down to gut feelings about how awareness levels have been raised. Kempton added that is why you have the campaign on a number of platforms to introduce and reinforce advertising information.

Gabriel George, Bucket Media Director of Digital Marketing, said that Connected TV (CTV) has the ability to target a particular high school student in a particular household. He said that TubiTV and the Discovery Channel have the capability to programmatically insert a very targeted spot. George said since the campaign has launched they have reached 108 thousand unique users an average of three times. He said that the spots are "non-skipable" so most spots complete their run times. George told the CTE-AC that YouTube is also a major force in the advertising campaign and that the video view rate on YouTube is very high. He said for every 100 impressions, 60 percent play through until the end. He then offered the following graphics to detail media campaign efforts on Facebook, Instagram, and Snapchat.

George told the CTE-AC that the goal of all elements of the campaign is to drive users to the DESE CTE website for more information.

Catizon asked what would happen if Bucket Media had $100K more to invest in the media campaign. Kempton said that with $100K, we would not recommend broadcast TV at that price point because we are trying to reach younger people. He indicated that Bucket would probably expand the current campaign with heavier rotations and presence. He said as awareness increases -- searches for people looking to learn about CTE options will increase as well.

VIII. Strategic Plan Sub-Committees Break Out into Sub-Committees

The Strategic Plan Sub-Committees met separately to discuss advancing CTE in Missouri. Each subcommittee reported to the larger CTE-AC about their discussions and ideas.

A. Student Achievement

Bart Washer of the University of Central Missouri reported that the Student Achievement subcommittee discussed several potential performance benchmarks that might be used to gage overall student achievement in CTE programs. Washer added that the subcommittee suggested that real student improvement might achieved through better teacher training, more effective new teacher induction regimens, and/or improved teacher mentorships. He said that improving student achievement is in reality, more likely a combination of improved teacher and student efforts. Washer said that in some cases -- IRCs can serve as benchmarks -- but because not all CTE areas have IRCs, the use of IRCs as benchmarks cannot be a universal solution. Washer indicated that subcommittee discussions will continue.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

B. Marketing, Image and Partnerships

Steve Bryant, DESE Missouri Career Pathways Manager, said the members of the Marketing, Image and Partnerships subcommittee suggested that a better job needs to be done in sharing the CTE marketing campaign with business and industry leaders. He also said the group discussed possible links that might be provided for CTE graduates to form/join Facebook groups so they may communicate with others who would like to join particular CTE programs. Bryant also reported that the subcommittee suggested that the CTE marketing program include parent testimonials to communicate how CTE programs have helped their children. In addition, Bryant said the subcommittee suggested promoting the CTE certificate so it is used more frequently within schools. Further, he said the subcommittee believes that employers are not well aware of the CTE certificate or its value in indicating a candidate's value in the workforce.

C. Business and Financial Operations

Roger Barnes, DESE CTE Coordinator, reported for the Business and Financial Operations subcommittee. Barnes said this subcommittee discussed the possibility of construction dollars becoming available for 50-50 grant matching money. He reported that Representative Black has provided a placeholder in the budget for possible appropriations and so requests can be conveyed to DESE and the legislature. Barnes noted that many communities cannot afford the 50 percent match and he said the subcommittee discussed ways to help. He said that MCCTA did a survey regarding whether districts would take advantage of potential match money if it became available. He said of the 30 career center directors who responded, each said there is a need for the program.

IX. DESE CTE Section Updates – NOTE: No oral presentations were offered for this agenda item. Section updates are available at https://dese.mo.gov/sites/default/files/cte-advisory-council-4.19.21-dese-section-updates.pdf (pages 1-12).

X. Advisory Council Member Activity Updates (part 2)

Erik Montgomery, President, Fuel Marketing Corporation, Vice President, Coastal Energy and FMC Transport reported that Coastal Energy and FMC Transport is introducing first and second graders to the company because they believe that students need earlier introductions to career options. Montgomery said if we can be mentors to kids for longer periods of time -- we believe we can make a difference. He said that the company has found that the graduates they hire lack the soft skills needed for success in the workplace. Montgomery said FMC Transport is now conducting mock interviews to teach students essential soft skills. He added the company sponsors many sports activities and teams but -- the entire team must come to tell us why we should donate to develop presentation skills.

Dan Stroot, Senior Manager, Boeing Defense, stated that while COVID hit Boeing hard, the company was able to hire over 400 new manufacturing workers. He said that Boeing is continuing to go into the schools to do demonstrations and that the company is creating demonstration videos to reach even more students. Stroot said Boeing is continuing the Boeing Dream Plant Program that can lead candidates to full-time employment with Boeing. Stroot reported that Boeing employees are now featured in CTE marketing videos.

William Lowery, Project Executive, Paric Construction, said Paric has been involved with manufacturing PPE through apprenticeship programs in the St. Louis area. He added that Paric employees have been in the elementary and middle schools to encourage young people to come into the construction industry. He said Paric is working to provide a positive image of the construction industry through outreach efforts.

Dr. Sam Duncan, Superintendent, New Madrid County R-1, stated that CTE programs at New Madrid County R-1 are working. Duncan said the district has made connections with local hospitals to provide certified nursing assistant candidates. Duncan reported the district added an electrician program and that that business and industry is waiting to employ New Madrid graduates. He said that people in the community are starting to take positive notice of New Madrid CTE programs and that the programs are real and growing.

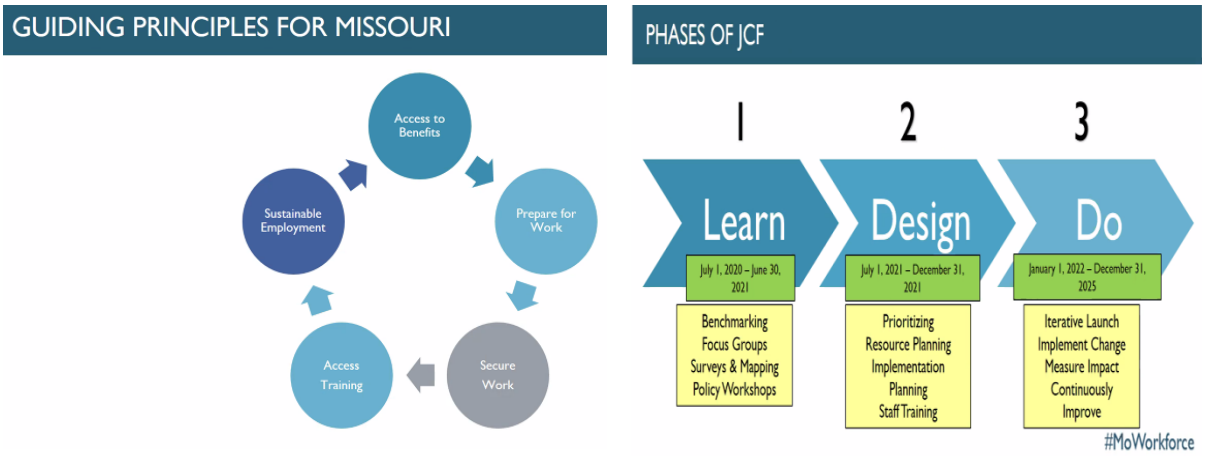
Dr. Mardy Leathers, Division of Workforce Development, reported that apprenticeships and pre-apprenticeships are allowing the Division of Workforce Development to leverage federal funding. He said Missouri currently ranks third in the nation in the number of apprenticeships and that Division of Workforce Development is now investing in pre-apprenticeship programs to help feed the apprenticeship pipeline.

Chrissy Bashore, Director of School Counseling Supports, DESE, said that Missouri Connections is now up and working and that K-12 early career awareness programs will be coming shortly so counselors will be able to train on the new program. Bashore mentioned that School Counseling Supports is working on producing counselor information packets so counselors can become more aware of career opportunities in CTE and the CTE certificate. She said that School Counseling Supports is now focused on the social emotional health of both students and teachers to ensure that the education community can return to school next year in a healthy way.

R.J. Catizon, St. Louis-Kansas City Carpenters Regional Council, told the membership that the Council is looking at any opportunity to get into schools to tell kids about the kinds of training opportunities that exist in carpentry and CTE in general.

XI. Job Centers for the Future

Dr. Mardy Leathers, Director of the Missouri Division of Workforce Development, presented on Job Centers for the Future which he described as a redesign of Missouri job centers to connect people with the public workforce system. He said that the department helps Missourians access benefits and helps them to navigate through the workforce training system. He offered the graphic below to describe system and to depict the phases of development and timeline for the program.



Leathers stated that the Job Centers of the Future (JCF) initiative will compare Missouri to its 14 Midwestern states on key workforce development data elements, workforce strategies, and policies. He said the collection of this information and strategies will inform the JCF taskforce on areas of improvement for Missouri and other policies implemented in the public workforce system.

Leathers reported the initiative will conduct focus groups for each region in four stakeholder areas including: employers, front line workforce staff (state staff and one-stop operator staff), local partner staff, and job seekers. He said these focus groups will inform Missouri's customer journey maps to understand the user experience. Leathers said the initiative will establish a marketing and outreach plan to promote Missouri's job center services to the public. Currently, Leathers indicted there is not a statewide approach to promoting workforce development services and it may be confusing to job seekers and employers regarding what services American Job Centers can provide.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Leathers shared that even through the jobs centers have been opened for in-person service since August, DWD is still serving many clients virtually. Leathers said that the lesson of the pandemic is that we were missing many people who would like to be served -- but who could not be served face-to-face.

Leathers then described next steps. To move toward JCF realization he reported:

- Planning engagement with local communities throughout the summer
  - Key workforce stakeholders and leaders
  - Local Chambers of Commerce
- Designing implementation and process changes in the job centers
  - Analyzing the 70 customer journey maps and considering how to improve
- Analyze our workforce data
  - Consider which policy levers to pull to change outcomes for Missourians

XII. Adult Education and Literacy Update

Megan Wadley of the DESE Office of Adult Education and Literacy (AEL) provided the update. She began her presentation by providing the following graphics to provide overview information. Generally, AEL teaches adults reading, writing, math and/or the English Language to become literate, attain high school equivalency, obtain employment, and become self-sufficient.

Wadley said AEL works because 100% of AEL teachers are certified by DESE and all AEL teachers attend professional development that relates to teaching adults reading, writing, math and/or the English Language. All instruction is research based. Wadley added that AEL classes are designed to teach adult learners at educational levels from preK through 12th grade. She said Individual Learning Plans are created for each student and students progress at their own pace. Wadley stated that students have the opportunity to learn basic literacy skills in the context of their chosen career pathway as well as basic life skills providing real life experience. She then provided the following graphics describing where AEL programs are located.

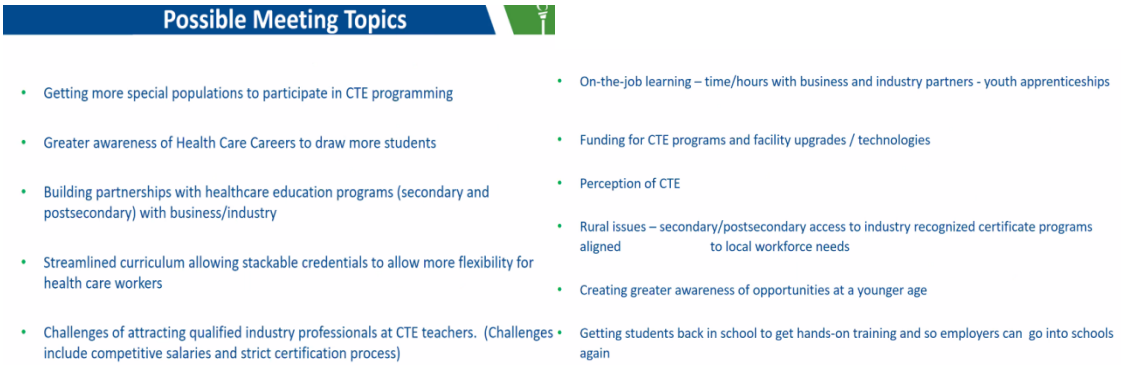
XIII. CTE Advisory Council Presentation to State Board of Education, June 15, 2021

Chair Catizon advised that the CTE-AC will have its annual presentation to the SBE at its meeting on June 15, 2021. He announced that he and CTE-AC Vice Chair Washer will be the presenters.

XIV. Future Topics

CTE-AC Chair Catizon stated that the members of the CTE-AC were recently polled to ascertain possible discussion topics for future CTE-AC meetings. He used the following graphic to present the results of the poll.



- On-the-job learning – time/hours with business and industry partners - youth apprenticeships
- Funding for CTE programs and facility upgrades / technologies
- Perception of CTE
- Rural issues – secondary/postsecondary access to industry recognized certificate programs aligned to local workforce needs
- Creating greater awareness of opportunities at a younger age
- Getting students back in school to get hands-on training and so employers can go into schools again

Catizon asked the members of the CTE-AC to consider the topics and to identify about three that can serve as the basis of focus for the coming year. Several members suggested that funding and funding streams be an area of focus. They said that at this juncture, there may be enough funding through various federal COVID relief bills to buy expensive, much needed, and critical equipment for CTE programs. They suggested that securing appropriations for expensive CTE equipment is very important.

DeGeare of Jefferson College supported raising student awareness of CTE programs at younger ages. He also said that the ongoing costs of expert personnel and the training costs associated with CTE programs need attention to ensure that the innovative work being done can be sustained.

Stroot of Boeing said that tackling the problem of getting more CTE professionals into the classroom is extremely important. He said that without people to teach the programs – they will cease to exist. Wilson of the Special School District concurred and added that SSD often only receives one applicant for any advertised CTE teaching position. She stated that many of those who apply are often close to retirement age, therefore they don't often stay very long. Wilson said we need to attract younger, highly qualified professionals.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Catizon asked that any other comments or suggestions be emailed to him. He indicated that with DESE's help, he would compile the messages and make definitive decisions on topics to explore.

Henningsen of DESE used the opportunity to announce he would be retiring on June 1, 2021 for health and personal reasons.

XV. Adjourn

Catizon adjourned the meeting at 2:55 P.M.

RE: Late Developments in Response to COVID-19 Pandemic,
DATE: April 2, 2020

Dear Legislators,

To help with constituent questions, DESE-Related Coronavirus (COVID-19) Information is being updated regularly as is the DHEWD web page Coronavirus (COVID-19) Resources.

Late information is provided on the following items of wide interest:

I. Cancelled: April 6-7 State Board of Education Meeting.
II. Cancelling Spring 2020 Testing: DESE Action Plans for Districts and Guidance Related to that Decision.
III. Frequently Asked Questions – 2020 Graduating Seniors
IV. Updated Guidance on A+ Eligibility for Postsecondary Students Issued April 1, 2020

VI. Waivers from the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) to Support Schools and Communities in Providing Meals to Children.

I. April 6-7 State Board of Education Meeting cancelled:

This meeting was scheduled to be held in the Jefferson Building April 6-7. At the time of this update, the meeting has not been rescheduled.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

II. Cancelling Spring 2020 Testing: DESE Action Plans for Districts and Guidance Related to that Decision.

DESE applied for the United States Department of Education waiver of required assessments, including the Missouri Assessment Program's (MAP) End-of-Course (EOC), Grade-Level and Alternate (MAP-A) assessments. DESE received final approval of this waiver on March 30, 2020.

DESE officials have examined the impact of cancelling spring 2020 testing and developed the following action plans and guidance related to that decision.

- School Accountability
- Assessments
- Data Availability and Reporting
- Finance
- Graduation Requirements

School Accountability

Federal Identification

The federal waiver of testing included a provision suspending requirements for the identification of schools for Comprehensive and Targeted Support and Improvement. Because Missouri is not scheduled to identify schools based on 2020 data, no change is needed.

MAP-A

Although students were administered portions of the MAP-A test in the fall and spring instructionally embedded windows, testing was not completed. Therefore, no MAP-A scores will be available. The cap of 1% on MAP-A participation was not part of the waiver already approved. Missouri will submit a waiver for this requirement.

Annual Performance Report (APR)

The requirements for most of the annual testing are federal and are used for school identification. The results of the assessments are also used for the Missouri School Improvement Program (MSIP) APR. Because no assessment data will be available and because data used in the College and Career Readiness standard are significantly lacking, no APR will be produced for 2020. Plans are under way to develop the 2021 MSIP 5 APR as well as the first MSIP 6 APR, with consideration for the absence of 2020 assessment data.

Accreditation

Decisions on changes of classification based on improvements in APR scores during the 2020-21 school year will be delayed until the next APR is produced. Decisions on changes of classification based on superintendent certification and non-APR aspects of MSIP 5 (financial stress, statutory compliance, etc.) will be made as usual.

Charter Renewals

Charter schools seeking renewal will be held accountable for: available APR scores prior to 2020, compliance with their performance contacts, fiscal and organizational viability, and governance standards.

Graduate Level-Not-Determined (LND)

DESE has suspended MSIP Graduate LND requirements for students who are high school seniors in school year 2019-20. Seniors graduating without all required EOCs, including Missouri Option and School Flex Program graduates, will not generate a Graduate LND for their district or charter.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Missouri Option

The Graduate LND exemption applies to Missouri Option students. Districts and charters will not be assigned a Graduate LND if a Missouri Option student graduates in spring 2020 without taking all required EOCs.

School Flex Program
The Graduate LND exemption applies to School Flex Program students. Districts and charters will not be assigned a Graduate LND if a School Flex Program student graduates in spring 2020 without taking all required EOCs.

Assessments

Students Enrolled in EOC Classes in 2019-20

If a student was enrolled in a class with a required EOC for the 2019-20 school year, that student will be assigned a special exemption code that will follow them throughout their high school career. The code will stand in place of an EOC score for that class. Those students will not be required to take the EOC for the classes they were enrolled in during 2019-20.

Eighth Grade Algebra I Students

American Government and American History EOC Performance Level Setting

The new American Government and American History assessments were field tested in 2019. The results of the 2019-20 administration, the first operational year of the assessment, were to be analyzed and undergo level setting during the summer of 2020. Because too few tests were administered in the fall of 2019, level setting will be delayed until sufficient data from future administrations are available.

Data Availability and Reporting

Report Card

The waiver for state testing included a waiver of reporting assessment outcomes on the state report card. The state report card using 2020 data, to be published in December 2020, will not include the waived elements.

English Proficiency Assessment (ACCESS)

The ACCESS test window closed in February and testing is complete. Individual Student Reports will be provided to districts.

Finance

Performance Districts and State Adequacy Target (SAT)

DESE is engaged in internal discussions regarding the fall 2021 recalculation of the SAT.

Instructional Decisions

Third Grade Reading

Many schools use locally-selected reading assessments to determine if a student is reading on grade level for the purposes of promotion, retention and remediation decision-making. Some schools have used the MAP Third Grade English language arts assessment for that purpose. Because of the cancellation of spring state assessments, these schools should make plans to use locally-selected assessments for this purpose.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Missouri Course Access and Virtual School Program (MOCAP) Enrollment

During this period of school closure, students may seek enrollment in MOCAP courses or full-time virtual instruction. When making decisions about how to respond to these requests, schools should consider local enrollment policy and whether or not the school is offering a full schedule of instruction. If the enrollment policy limits course enrollments for all courses to specific enrollment periods and if the school is providing a full set of offerings, a change of enrollment may not be advised. If, however, the school is only offering a limited curriculum and the student is requesting enrollment in a way that provides a full education, that request would be in the student's best educational interest.

Graduation Requirements

Units of Credit

The minimum number of credits required for graduation remain at 24. However, the same regulation provides districts with flexibility in how those credits are earned. State Regulation 5 CSR 20-100.190, quoted below, outlines the requirements for graduation.

"(1) High School Graduation Requirements. Twenty-four (24) units of credit are required for graduation. The requirements are stated in terms of the number of units of credit that must be earned in each subject area:

Subject Area	Units of Credit
Communication Arts	4.0
Social Studies	3.0
Mathematics	3.0
Science	3.0
Fine Art	1.0
Practical Arts	1.0
Physical Education	1.0
Health Education	.5
Personal Finance	.5
Electives	7.0
Total Credits	24.0

(2) The minimum high school graduation requirements should focus on competencies and align with the Missouri Learning Standards. The Missouri Learning Standards are located on the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education (DESE) website.

5) Variances and Substitutions. The state minimum graduation requirements cannot be applied with absolute uniformity in every case. Students' individual situations sometimes require consideration of variances and alternatives. If a local board chooses to allow these variances and alternatives, it must do so through officially adopted policies and procedures that will ensure fair and consistent application of its policies."

III. Frequently Asked Questions – 2020 Graduating Seniors

1. Some students on track to graduate this spring have credit deficits that may have been resolved by the end of spring semester. What options are available for granting credit to these students?

- Schools have broad flexibility to grant credit. If a senior can demonstrate competency in the material through examination, projects, etc., schools can grant credit.
- Schools are advised to examine and amend their local policies if needed. These policies should be applied uniformly. Please contact your policy advisors for additional information.
- Schools should review information found in the Graduation Handbook related to proficiency-based credit, waivers and substitutions of academic programs for Career and Technical Education (CTE) programs of study, and substitution of courses to fulfill academic credit requirements with CTE courses.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Additional resources:

• As schools transition to remote instruction, they may want to consider the following options for grading practices.

- Hold Harmless: Grades from the end of the 3rd quarter could go up, but not down. New learning could be used for feedback but won't impact the grade.
- Hold Harmless plus competencies: Grades from the end of the 3rd quarter could go up, but not down. Minimum expectations (meeting certain competencies, power standards, etc.) would have to be met to implement hold harmless.
- Competency-Based or Standards-Based Approach: Implement a grade-less or modified approach for the 4th quarter. Implement a learning contract to individualize learning for students.
- Pass/Fail: Student work would still be accepted and graded, but 4th quarter grades or semester grades would be pass/fail.
- Hybrid: Students/families elect to keep the current grade and work to improve it (Hold Harmless) or receive credit/no credit (Pass/Fail).

2. A few seniors scheduled to graduate this spring still need to complete the requirement for instruction in Personal Finance or assessment of Personal Finance if taken as an embedded credit. What options are available?

• DESE is pursuing a limited statutory waiver for this requirement for 2020 Graduating Seniors who are unable to complete this requirement.

Additional Resources:

• Because student financial literacy is important, some schools may wish to provide additional options for this learning.

- Several MOCAP vendors offer Personal Finance courses.
- Schools can develop self-paced instructional material.
- The National Endowment for Financial Education has a free online Personal Finance course for teens. DESE has not evaluated this course.

3. A few seniors scheduled to graduate this spring still need to complete 30 minutes of instruction in Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation (CPR) Instruction and Heimlich maneuver training as a requirement for graduation (§ 170.310, RSMo). What options are available?

• DESE is pursuing a limited statutory waiver for this requirement for 2020 Graduating Seniors who are unable to complete this requirement.

Additional Resources:

• Like financial literacy, life-saving techniques are important skills. Even with the waiver, some schools may wish to provide additional options for this learning.

- Schools may select videos available on YouTube or other platforms, such as:
  - The ADAM Project, CPR and AED:
    https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=hzZGpmsXR2E
  - Cincinnati Children's, CPR for Children 1-12:
    https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=c7Q1s7ppSwc
  - Mayo Clinic, Heimlich Maneuver for Adults and Infants:
    https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=wVnGWqqe-6M
    https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=lUS4TVzwl9g
- Schools may enroll students in a virtual class through the American Red Cross: https://www.redcross.org/take-a-class/online-safety-classes.
- DESE has not evaluated these courses for content, accessibility or quality.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

4. The majority of students fulfill Missouri and United States Constitution requirements, along with the Citizenship Test, early in their high school career. However, there may be a few graduating seniors that still need to take Missouri and US Constitution (§ 170.011, RSMo.) or Citizenship Tests (§ 170.345, RSMo) to meet the requirements for graduation.

• DESE is pursuing a limited statutory waiver for this requirement for 2020 Graduating Seniors who are unable to complete this requirement.

Additional Resources:
• Becoming a strong and successful citizen is one of the core purposes for public education. Because of this, schools may wish to pursue additional learning opportunities in these areas, even though the requirement is waived.

- ICivics: Teach

Curriculum units tied to civics and American history available for free at: https://www.icivics.org/teachers. Suitable for middle school and high school. With teacher-made modifications, also suitable for grades 3, 4 and 5.

- ICivics: Games

High-quality, high-interest online games tied to many civics topics, 15-30 minutes each, available for free at: https://www.icivics.org/games. Suitable for grades 3-5 with adult support and upper grades for individual student work.

- C-SPAN Classroom

Adaptable lesson plan ideas and support materials useful in civics and history classrooms available for free at: https://www.c-span.org/classroom/. Suitable for grades 3-12.

5. Many secondary students in CTE programs count on having the opportunity to earn a viable credential while still in high school. Industry Recognized Credentials (IRCs) and Technical Skills Assessments (TSAs) are not required assessments, but it is beneficial for students to earn these credentials to assist them in entering the workforce following graduation. What options are available for schools?

• If students have had the requisite training needed to pass the assessment, schools have the flexibility of administering IRCs or TSAs to any eligible student.
• For 2020 graduates, schools may administer IRCs or TSAs through August 31, 2020 (the due date for Perkins V Core Indicators of Performance).
• For students who are not graduating in 2020, schools can administer the IRC or TSA at any time prior to the students' graduation date and report the data on the June core data cycle of that school year.
• Schools must follow testing protocols established by each vendor to assure students earn the credential.
• The June 2019-20 core data reporting cycle will remain open through August 31, 2020 for schools to report information for both 2020 graduates and undergraduates who have earned the IRCs or TSAs prior to that date.
• Schools may use FY20 state and federal CTE funds for IRCs or TSAs administered during FY20; they are permitted to use FY21 state and federal CTE funds for this purpose if administering an IRC or TSA between July 1 and August 31, 2020.

6. Some students enrolled in the Missouri Option Program may have lost their employment or been laid off due to COVID-19. Have these student lost eligibility for the program?

• DESE is suspending this requirement for 2020 Graduating Seniors. A student who was laid off or lost employment due to COVID-19 is still eligible as a Missouri Option student.

7. Some students enrolled in the School Flex Program may have lost their employment or been laid off due to COVID-19. Have these student lost eligibility for the program?

• DESE is suspending this requirement for 2020 Graduating Seniors. A student who was laid off or lost employment due to COVID-19 is still eligible as a School Flex Program student.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

8. With limited HiSET testing availability, what will happen if students do not take the test before June 30?

• DESE has extended the deadline to test until August 31. Students who should have tested by June 30 but successfully complete the test by August 31 will be credited to the prior year for graduation and dropout calculations. While no APR will be calculated based on the current year data, the graduation rate calculations will provide a basis for trend data in future APRs

9. Without the English II EOC and the ACT, can a student earn a Seal of Biliteracy this year?

• DESE has temporarily revised the Seal of Biliteracy English and Language Other Than English (LOTE) requirements for seniors meeting high school graduation requirements in spring 2020.

 Districts may continue to use current portfolio criteria for languages not supported by testing assessed using ACTFL or WIDA performance descriptors. Districts are responsible for finding competent assessors for the portfolios. This may be accomplished virtually.

• In the event that a district is unable to implement the Seal of Biliteracy award this year under the revised criteria, the district may extend the testing window for class of 2020 for one year beyond graduation.

IV. Updated Guidance on A+ Eligibility for Postsecondary Students Issued April 1, 2020

On March 19, 2020, the Missouri Department of Higher & Workforce Development sent guidance related to A+ eligibility for postsecondary students in response to multiple school closures as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic. That guidance included information about how institutions should handle the full-time enrollment and completion requirements. After receiving several questions from institutions and having additional discussions among department staff, DHEWD has determined that initial guidance was insufficient to provide students with the full extent of relief needed in this extraordinary time. As a result, the following guidance supersedes the full-time enrollment and completion requirement guidance issued last week.

Updated Guidance

1. Full-time Enrollment. Students enrolled full-time on the date the institution closed or moved to an alternative delivery method will have met the full-time enrollment requirement for the spring 2020 term.

2. Students enrolled full-time on the date the institution closed or moved to an alternative delivery method will have met the completion requirement for the spring 2020 term.

3. The initial guidance did not directly address this issue but clarification is required. Coursework in which the student was enrolled full-time and which was otherwise eligible for reimbursement on the date the institution closed or moved to an alternative delivery method will be eligible for reimbursement.

This guidance still is temporary and applies only to the 2019-2020 academic year and students' ability to renew the A+ award for the 2020-2021 academic year. For all other academic years, students will be required to meet the A+ Scholarship requirements outlined in Section 160.545, RSMo and the A+ administrative rule, 6 CSR 10-2.190. In addition, the March 19, 2020, guidance related to Grade Point Average remains unchanged: The A+ Scholarship requires a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.5 to renew the award. However, to renew the award in the 2020-2021 academic year, students must only meet satisfactory academic progress as defined by the school by the end of the spring 2020 term. Students who meet the school's GPA requirement for satisfactory academic progress will be eligible to renew the A+ Scholarship, even if the school requires less than a 2.5 GPA.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

The previous guidance is provided below for reference only.

Previous Guidance

> 1. Full-time Enrollment. Schools may use the All Available Hours exception to full-time enrollment for students impacted by closures and/or alternative delivery methods in the spring 2020 term.
> 2. Students must continue to meet the 12 hours per semester, or 90% of the clock hours for the payment period, completion requirement for the spring 2020 term to be eligible for reimbursement in the first 2020-2021 term in which they enroll. However, as a reminder, students who are eligible for the spring 2020 term under the All Available Hours exception are considered to have met this requirement if they complete all of the hours that were available to them.

DHEWD will issue additional guidance if it becomes necessary as this situation unfolds.

V. Bright Flight Eligibility for 2020 Seniors Issued April 1, 2020

In light of the COVID-19 pandemic, ACT and the College Board have made adjustments to their spring 2020 testing schedules. This message provides information about those adjustments and their impact on the Bright Flight Scholarship for 2020 seniors.

ACT has canceled the April 4, 2020, national test dates and is allowing students to register for either the June 13 or July 18, 2020, national test dates in lieu of the April 4 test. The College Board has canceled the March 14 SAT exam and its March 28 make-up exam, as well as the May 2, 2020, exam. It has not yet canceled the June 6, 2020, exam but may do so in the future as it continues to assess the situation. The College Board will provide future testing opportunities to replace any canceled SAT tests but details are not yet available.

The Bright Flight Scholarship requires students to achieve a qualifying ACT of SAT score by the June national test date of their senior year in high school. However, in response to the adjustments made by ACT and the College Board, the Missouri Department of Higher Education and Workforce Development is extending the date on which 2020 seniors may achieve a qualifying ACT score for the Bright Flight Scholarship to the July national test date. The 2020 seniors who achieve a qualifying ACT score on the July national test date and who are otherwise eligible can receive the scholarship. Scores achieved on the July 2020 national test date will also be considered when determining eligibility for this year's sophomores and juniors, as has always been the case.

Accommodations for the 2020 seniors taking the SAT will be announced as information becomes available from the College Board.

As a reminder, the qualifying scores for the 2020 seniors are:

	ACT Composite	SAT Math	SAT Verbal
Top 3%	31	800	780 or above
Top 4th & 5th Percentiles	30	790-799	770-779

In addition, Bright Flight eligibility for 2020 seniors who take the ACT is based on the composite score. However, for those who take the SAT, eligibility is based on the individual math and verbal scores, both of which must meet the thresholds above. Superscores (ACT or SAT) will not be considered for 2020 seniors' Bright Flight eligibility. Qualifying score information for the 2021 seniors is not yet available. In addition, DHEWD is currently reviewing whether ACT's decision to provide an official superscore beginning in September 2020 will affect the Bright Flight Scholarship going forward.

VI. Waivers from the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) to Support Schools and Communities in Providing Meals to Children:

Pursuant to section 2202(a) of the Families First Coronavirus Response Act (the Act) (P.L. 116-127), and in light of the exceptional circumstances surrounding COVID-19, USDA FNS has established the following additional nationwide waivers, available to schools that elect to use them, through June 30 or upon expiration of the federally declared public health emergency:

- Meal Pattern Waiver: Schools may apply here to waive specific meal pattern requirements, as needed, to support access to nutritious meals when certain foods are not available during this emergency.

- Meal Times Waiver: USDA FNS has provided a nationwide waiver to support access to nutritious meals outside of the designated meal periods to minimize potential exposure to COVID-19. No application required.

- Parent/Guardian Meal Pickup Waiver: This waiver allows parents and guardians to pick up meals for their children without the child being present, as long as schools protect the accountability and integrity of the program. No application required.

- Community Eligibility Provision (CEP) Data Waiver: The CEP deadlines are being extended for reporting SY 2019-20 student counts to establish SY 2020-21's identified student percentage for CEP, as well as for the required notifications and CEP election. No application required.

- Activity Requirement in Afterschool Care Waiver: The requirement for an educational or enrichment activity when serving an afternoon meal/snack under the National School Lunch Program (NSLP) or Child and Adult Care Food Program has been waived. This applies to afterschool snacks in the NSLP for schools who currently participate in the Afterschool Snack Program. No application required.

- Waivers of Child Nutrition Monitoring: USDA FNS has issued flexibility to waive certain onsite monitoring requirements for the school meals programs to maintain program integrity and support social distancing while providing meals.

COMPRESSED: April 29, 2021 State Board of Education (SBE) JCED Report
NOTE: The compressed report provides minimal information on complex issues/policies. To gain reasoning, perspective, and context on items of particular interest, readers are encouraged to reference the full report.

NORMANDY SCHOOLS COLLABORATIVE (NSC) FIVE MEMBER JOINT EXECUTIVE GOVERNING BOARD (JEGB) EXPANDED TO SEVEN MEMBERS: In the aftermath of a April 13, 2021 SBE discussion regarding deep concerns that have caused the Normandy community to lose trust in the five member NSC JEGB, the SBE held a special video conference meeting on April 29, 2021 to adopt a proclamation adding two new members (Michael W. Jones and William H. Humphrey) to the SBE appointed JEGB. The SBE lapsed the Normandy School District, effective June 30, 2014. The SBE authorized, by resolution, the establishment of the NSC to be governed by a JEGB appointed by the SBE, pursuant to § 162.081.3(2), RSMo. NSC has either been provisionally accredited or unaccredited since 1996 and the available data indicates a decline in student performance since 2017.

Major provisions of the complete proclamation include:

> The State Board of Education (SBE) has determined that, in order for the Normandy JEGB to be more effective and to provide more leadership in the governance of the district, the number of members should be seven, rather than the current five; and NOW, THEREFORE, we, the members of the SBE, by virtue of the powers vested in the Board by the Constitution and the Laws of the State of Missouri, do hereby direct as follows:
> > That, pursuant to Section 162.081, RSMo, Michael W. Jones of St. Louis, Missouri, is appointed to serve at the pleasure of the SBE as a member of the JEGB.
> > That, pursuant to Section 162.081, RSMo, William H. Humphrey, of St. Louis, Missouri is appointed to serve at the pleasure of the SBE as a member of the JEGB.
> That the JEGB, subject to the advice and oversight of the SBE, shall take those actions necessary for the operation of the Normandy Schools Collaborative. Such actions include, but are not limited to the following:
> > a) Meet within fourteen days of this Proclamation and organize by the election of a president and a vice president; such an election shall also be held annually on or before the fifteenth day of July each year, beginning in 2022; and
> > b) Report to the SBE quarterly regarding the students' progress on academic achievement and other measurable steps the Normandy JEGB has taken in the process toward full accreditation for the district.
> Unless otherwise specified by the SBE, the JEGB shall carry out its duties and operate as a seven-director district as provided by state law. The JEGB shall serve until June 30, 2023, unless extended by the SBE prior to that date, or until the JEGB transitions to a locally elected board, or is dissolved by action of the SBE.

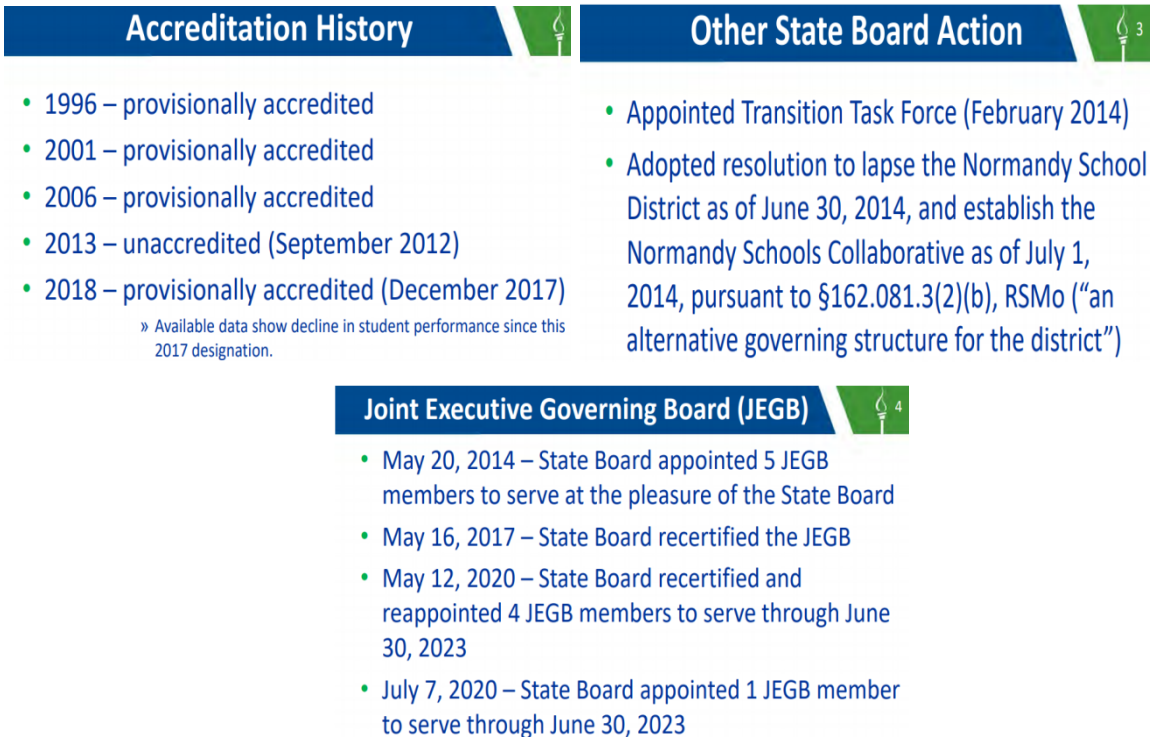
III. Items for Action

A. Consideration of the Joint Executive Governing Board (JEGB).

The Normandy Schools Collaborative (NSC) is currently provisionally accredited, and the Joint Executive Governing Board (JEGB) is charged with providing leadership and governance to set academic achievement expectations and a timeline for reaching full accreditation. The graphics below describe a brief history of DESE and SBE action on the Normandy School District.



Margie Vandeven, Commissioner of Education, recounted the SBE lapsed the Normandy School District on May 20, 2014 effective June 30, 2014. The SBE authorized, by resolution, the establishment of the Normandy Schools Collaborative to be governed by a Joint Executive Governing Board (JEGB), pursuant to § 162.081.3(2), RSMo. Vandeven said that action was based on the recommendation of the Normandy Transition Task Force. She reported the SBE recertified the Normandy JEGB, effective July 1, 2020, with five members serving at the pleasure of the State Board. Vandeven said the purpose of the discussion will be to focus on the current status of the NSC and will culminate with a recommendation to the SBE to provide a successful path forward for the students in the district.

Vandeven referenced a SBE discussion during the April 13, 2021 SBE meeting regarding community trust concerns with the currently seated members of the JEGB. She said that DESE has received 25 letters from various community groups and individuals conveying a number of messages and requests regarding the JEGB including requests for the SBE to return Normandy to an elected board of education (BOE) as soon as possible. Vandeven added that community communications have also requested that the SBE act to remove all members of the currently seated JEGB, or particular members (e.g., JEGB president and vice-president). Vandeven stated that DESE also received letters in support of the JEGB. She said the current Normandy Superintendent provided a letter in support of the JEGB and its currently seated members. Vandeven added that some members of the community have also communicated confidence in the JEGB as currently constituted and asked that the SBE take no action in regard to reconstituting the JEGB. Vandeven also mentioned that DESE has received requests from community members asking that the SBE take action to reconstitute the JEGB by adding new members.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

To address the concerns of the community, Vandeven stated that after considerable deliberation, DESE has prepared two recommendations. The first recommendation is to add two new members to the five member JEGB to make it a seven member board. She said DESE is recommending that former SBE member Michael W. Jones and William H. Humphrey become the sixth and seventh members of the JEGB. Vandeven stated that both are well-respected in the Normandy community for their demonstrated leadership.

- Jones served as a member of the SBE from 2011-2020 and as senior policy adviser to St. Louis County Executive Charlie A. Dooley from 2005-2015. He also served as Executive Director of the Greater St. Louis Regional Empowerment Zone and was Chief of Staff and Deputy Mayor for Development for St. Louis Mayor Clarence Harmon. In the 1980s, Jones was a member of the St. Louis Board of Alderman and was Executive Director of the St. Louis Housing Authority.

- Humphrey is a retired district executive with the Greater St. Louis Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America. He previously served for seven years as a member of the board of education in Normandy, and his two children are Normandy graduates. Humphrey has also been an active member of multiple organizations and boards in the area with a commitment to youth development in his community.

Vandeven announced that DESE's second recommendation is to require the newly constituted Normandy JEGB to meet within 14 days to elect a president and vice-president. Further, the JEGB will be required to hold and annual officer election and must report to the SBE annually about the position and progress of the district.

Claycomb stated he has a great deal of respect for Michael Jones as a former SBE colleague and stated that while he doesn't know Humphrey, he has confidence in the Commissioner's recommendations.

Lenz said he liked the recommendation because he asserted it moves the JEGB to a seven member board. He suggested that a seven member JEGB will make it easier for the board to transition to a seven member elected BOE with staggered terms of service. Lenz stated that he believes it is important for Normandy to transition to an elected BOE as soon as NSC can achieve full accreditation.

Bailey said she agreed with the comments of Lenz and Claycomb. She asserted that adding two well trusted members of the community to the JEGB is a good approach and that the procedure had been well thought out.

Hallquist stated that we currently have a hard working JEGB -- but they do not have the trust of the citizens. Hallquist stated that the SBE must be guided by what is best for children and that adding two well respected community leaders is a good first step. However, she cautioned that the newly constituted JEGB must make every effort to engage with the citizens of the district to build trust.

Schrag said she agreed with Hallquist and that adding two members to the JEGB seems to be the best approach. She said she is concerned that while the SBE has been working with the NSC for twelve years -- students may still not be receiving what they need. Schrag expressed doubt as to whether DESE is fully aware of what actions and approaches may be needed to return the district to fully accredited status and an elected BOE.

Herschend said the SBE continues to talk about the problems and concerns of the JEGB and the adult members of the community while the real concern is the education of 3,000 kids. He suggested that if the newly reconstituted JEGB gets mired in politics -- they will lose sight of the fact that they are in the business of educating students. Herschend said that he wanted to hear frequent reports about the work that the JEGB is doing. He stated that if the people don't trust the board -- then it's over.

Shields made clear that this isn't a state takeover or a state run district. He said that while it is true that the SBE appointed the JEGB – the JEGB runs the district. He said that in moving forward -- work should focus on looking at best practices in transitioning unaccredited districts back to local control after they are able to regain full accreditation because we are better off with elected boards of education. Shields suggested that people in Normandy have assigned motives to members of the currently seated JEGB. He cautioned that while it is easy to suspect what the motives of others may be -- it is really hard to know what they actually are. He said that in the cases of the two newly appointed JEGB members -- we know their interests and motivations are for and about the success of students.

Lenz said he agreed with Herschend about frequent progress reports to the SBE. However, he said the proclamation as presented specifies that reports will occur yearly -- which he said is too long. He asked that the proclamation be amended to change the reporting requirement to every three months. The proclamation was so amended.

Westbrooks –Hodge stated that she wished to echo the sentiments of her fellow board members. She said the care displayed by all SBE members for children statewide -- no matter their zip codes – was apparent. Westbrooks – Hodge said that the recommendation to add two exemplary community leaders to the JEGB is a great first step and will be a bright spot in Normandy's history. Westbrooks –Hodge charged the current board with reorganizing in a way that will allow the new members to bring their leadership and educational expertise to bear. She also asked the new JEGB to "lean into" efforts to include community members as partners in decision making. Westbrooks – Hodge stated the members of the JEGB need to remember that they work for the community -- not the other way around. She added that going forward, the SBE needs to partner with the JEGB and the Normandy community to move to an elected BOE as soon as possible.

Motion. SBE adopt Proclamation Joint Executive Governing Board for the Normandy Schools Collaborative. Motion Carried 8-0.

Commissioner Vandeven thanked the members of the SBE for their efforts and input to support the children in the NSC. Vandeven said that she wanted the SBE to know that many of the same sorts of concerns have surfaced regarding the Riverview Gardens District and that she would be bringing those concerns before the SBE soon.

NOTE: Substantive changes to the existing Proclamation Joint Executive Governing Board for the Normandy Schools Collaborative are detailed below.

> Because the SBE is authorized to determine an alternative governing structure for the Normandy School District, and the State Board of Education has determined that, in order for the Normandy Joint Executive Governing Board to be more effective and to provide more leadership in the governance of the district, the number of members should be seven, rather than the current five; and NOW, THEREFORE, we, the members of the State Board of Education, by virtue of the powers vested in the Board by the Constitution and the Laws of the State of Missouri, do hereby direct as follows:
> > That, pursuant to Section 162.081, RSMo, Michael W. Jones of St. Louis, Missouri, is appointed to serve at the pleasure of the State Board of Education as a member of the Joint Executive Governing Board.
> > That, pursuant to Section 162.081, RSMo, William H. Humphrey, of St. Louis, Missouri is appointed to serve at the pleasure of the State Board of Education as a member of the Joint Executive Governing Board.
> That the Joint Executive Governing Board, subject to the advice and oversight of the State Board of Education, shall take those actions necessary for the operation of the Normandy Schools Collaborative. Such actions include, but are not limited to the following:
> > a) Meet within fourteen days of this Proclamation and organize by the election of a president and a vice president; such an election shall also be held annually on or before the fifteenth day of July each year, beginning in 2022; and
> > b) Report to the State Board of Education quarterly regarding the students' progress on academic achievement and other measurable steps the Normandy Joint Executive Governing Board has taken in the process toward full accreditation for the district.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Unless otherwise specified by the State Board of Education, the Joint Executive Governing Board shall carry out its duties and operate as a seven-director district as provided by state law. The Joint Executive Governing Board shall serve until June 30, 2023, unless extended by the State Board of Education prior to that date, or until the Joint Executive Governing Board transitions to a locally elected board, or is dissolved by action of the State Board of Education.

IV. Adjournment

Shields adjourned the meeting.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

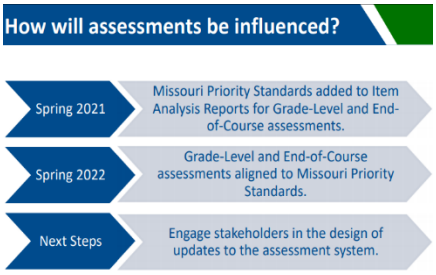
COMPRESSED: May 11, 2021 State Board of Education (SBE) JCED Report
NOTE: The compressed report provides minimal information on complex issues/policies. To gain reasoning, perspective, and context on items of particular interest, readers are encouraged to reference the full report.

SBE ACTION

Authorized the use of the Missouri Priority Standards (MPS) as the basis for the Missouri Assessment Program. The use of the MPS is intended to aid in the acceleration of learning to ensure that students consistently receive grade-level materials, tasks, and assignments along with the necessary structures and supports for students and educators to be successful. Acceleration of learning requires educators to focus on moving forward rather than backward, using scaffolds to fill in only the most critical gaps—not in isolation, but at the moment they are needed within grade-level work. The MPS are not new standards, nor do they represent all the material to be taught. They are a subset of the Missouri Learning Standards (MLS) and represent what students absolutely need to know in order to be prepared for future years. By focusing more attention to priority ideas, teachers and students will be able to connect the content in the MLS to big ideas that support growth in student understanding.

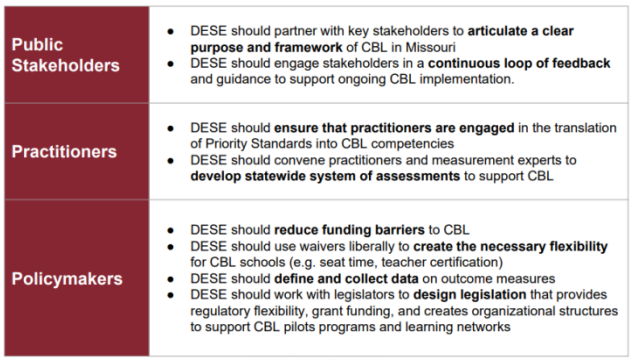


Rescind 5 CSR 20-400.360, Missouri Critical Teacher Shortage Forgivable Loan Program. This rule was originally established in 2001 based on legislative action and expected funding appropriations. In 2012, DESE identified this rule in the 5-year statutory review of administrative rules. The rule was rescinded because the legislature did not authorize funding for this program and repealed the statute authorizing it per § 168.600, RSMo.

CONSENT AGENDA APPROVALS: Personnel Report, Personnel Policies, Investment Transactions by Central Bank for Trust Funds, Fiscal Year 2022 Trust Fund Budgets for the State Board-Operated Schools.

DISCUSSION ITEMS

Competency-Based Learning (CBL) is grounded in the belief that all students can succeed in rigorous learning environments, though they may require varying amounts of time and differentiated support to reach performance goals. Bellwether Education Partners prepared a memo to DESE to inform the adoption of CBL in Missouri. The memo defines competency-based learning (CBL), assesses research literature on whether and how CBL supports students, and draws lessons from how other states have pursued the adoption of CBL and recommends policy changes to support adoption and implementation. The graphic to the left summarizes the recommendations of the Bellwether memo.



AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Bellwether asserts it is important to understand that CBL is a nascent field of research, and the bulk of the research is qualitative, indicates mixed results, and is based on correlational analyses. With those limitations in mind, the research that does exist indicates that exposure to CBL is associated with proficiency gains in math and ELA, improved performance on standardized tests, and better performance on researcher- developed assessments. These outcomes are typically present when the strategies studied include "clarity around academic expectations, competency-based standards, and use of multiple assessment types". Studies that showed negative correlations between CBL and student outcomes often occurred when schools lacked clear definitions and expectations and suffered from uneven implementation. The memo says realizing the benefits of CBL requires thoughtful planning, implementation, and continuous improvement.

COVID-19. Schools which reopened with mitigation strategies in place have seen little transmission in schools. DESE's expectation is that schools will be back in-person, 5-days per week, next fall. This is particularly important because the attendance hour rule created for the 2020-21 school year (AMI-X) is scheduled to expire on July 30, 2021. Case studies and data show in-person learning can be done safely for all students 5 days/week. However, mitigation strategies may be even more important when transitioning from hybrid to full-time in-person to ensure safety as well as staff/student comfort and confidence. DESE recommends that among other mitigation measures, the safest option for re-opening in fall is for students and teachers to continue to wear masks. Very low rates of transmission are observed when masks are worn -- so at this point – DESE is recommending that students wear masks when they return in the fall. Commissioner Vandeven emphasized that DESE is not mandating that any mitigation measures be implemented – DESE is merely recommending that mitigation measures stay in place at this point in time.

Elementary & Secondary School Emergency Relief III (ESSER III) will bring $1,956,529,215 that will allow DESE to support schools in ways it has not been able to before. ESSER funds will allow a $50 million investment in the teacher workforce. DESE is focused on implementing research supported strategies to retain teachers.

III. Minutes of the April 12, 2021 Board Retreat, April 13, 2021 and April 29, 2021, Meetings of the State Board of Education

The minutes of the April 12, 2021 Board Retreat, April 13, 2021 and April 29, 2021, Meetings of the State Board of Education were examined and approved as written. Motion to approve the meeting minutes. Motion carried 7-0.

IV. President's Report

Shields asked the members of the SBE to report their individual activities related to education.

Westbrooks–Hodge stated that she and Lenz toured three St. Louis charter schools (i.e., La Salle Middle School, Grand Center Arts Academy, and St. Louis Language Immersion School). She reported that both she and Lenz were very pleased with how the schools are progressing. Westbrooks–Hodge also reported that she and Lenz attended a meeting of the Joint Executive Governing Board (JEGB) of the Normandy Schools Collaborative. She said the JEGB elected a new president and vice president during the meeting. Westbrooks–Hodge ended her report by saying that she had also visited the Jennings School District.

Schrag said she attended the South Central MASA Superintendents' meeting and had met with the Farmington and Clayton Superintendents of Schools. She said that superintendents are excited and energized about the possibility of funding increases for several programs.

Lenz reported that he had attended St. Louis Public Schools STEM meetings, St. Louis Regional Superintendents meetings, a MSBA Region 7 meeting, a Lindbergh Schools Foundation meeting, a Lindbergh Alumni meeting, and a Character Plus Education meeting. Lenz stated he had toured three St. Louis area charter schools with Westbrooks-Hodge and noted that he was pleased with the growth of the schools since his last visit. Lenz reported that he had attended a Normandy Schools Collaborative Joint Executive Executive Governing Board meeting and that he had the privilege of swearing in former SBE member, Mike Jones, as a member of the JEGB. Westbrooks-Hodge added that she had sworn-in the other newly SBE appointed member of the JEGB -- William H. Humphrey.

Hallquist said she had several phone conversations with principals in the Kansas City area. She said that while the principals are thrilled to have students back in class – some reported that particular students thrived under distance learning. Citing the fact that some students thrived under distance learning, Hallquist said she believes that we need to find alternative models of instruction so all students may thrive.

Bailey said she met with the chairs of several mental health associations to discuss methods to mitigate the student mental health crisis caused by the COVID emergency. She said the participants are attempting to create a comprehensive approach that can ameliorate a great many problems that students are now experiencing.

Claycomb said he had attended the South Central MASA superintendents' meeting. He added that he had attended his grandson's bachelorette ceremony at Jefferson City High School.

V. National Association of State Boards of Education (NASBE) Report

Lenz reported that the NASBE Annual Conference will be held in Phoenix, Arizona, October 6-9, 2021. He also announced that he and Tracy Hinds, DESE Deputy Commissioner of Learning Services, will be presenting a webinar on May 20, 2021 on Missouri's collaborative approach to coordinating summer accelerated learning plans to prepare for the next school year.

Claycomb reported he has volunteered to Chair the NASBE Social Emotional Learning Committee and that Bailey has offered to serve on the Mental Health subcommittee.

VII. Items for Action

E. Consideration of a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking to Rescind 5 CSR 20-400.360, Missouri Critical Teacher Shortage Forgivable Loan Program

Paul Katnik, Assistant Commissioner, DESE Office of Educator Quality explained this rule was originally established in 2001 based on legislative action and expected funding appropriations. He said that in 2012, Department staff identified this rule in the 5-year statutory review of our administrative rules. Katnik said the legislature did not authorize funding for this program and repealed the statute authorizing it per § 168.600, RSMo. He said this action would rescind this rule (page 2).

Motion. SBR authorize publication in the Missouri Register of a notice of proposed rulemaking to rescind 5 CSR 20-400.360, Missouri Critical Teacher Shortage Forgivable Loan Program, and that the State Board finds the proposed rescission necessary to carry out the purposes of § 161.092, RSMo. Motion carried 7-0.

F. Consideration of Missouri Priority Standards

Blaine Henningsen, Assistant Commissioner; Lisa Sireno, Standards and Assessment Administrator; DESE Office of College and Career Readiness, led this discussion.

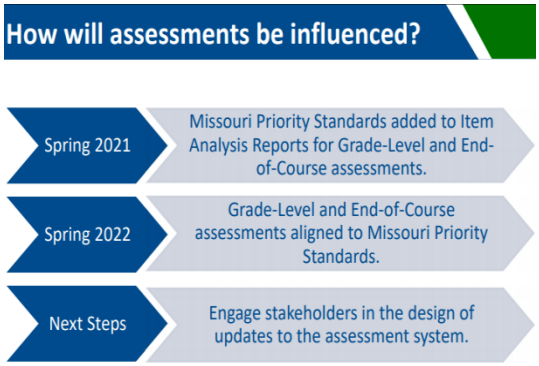
Henningsen told the SBE that acceleration of learning is the instructional practice of ensuring that students consistently receive grade-level materials, tasks, and assignments along with the necessary structures and supports for students and educators to be successful. He said it requires educators to focus on moving forward rather than backward, using scaffolds to fill in only the most critical gaps—not in isolation, but at the moment they are needed within grade-level work. He said the use of priority standards can assist in this approach.

Sireno recounted that DESE presented draft priority standards to Missouri education stakeholders in several virtual meetings in the fall of 2020. She said that stakeholder input helped to create plans to move forward with the project. She said it informed plans to revise the priority standards drafts in mathematics, social studies and English language arts, with science to focus on development of supplemental resources. Sireno stated that in April 2021, there were revisions made to the original drafts and DESE then released priority standards in mathematics, social studies and English language arts based upon information gleaned from two rounds of public comments. Sireno emphasized that priority standards are not new standards, nor do they represent all the material to be taught. She said that priority standards are a subset of the Missouri Learning Standards (MLS) and represent what students absolutely need to know in order to be prepared for future years. Sireno asserted that by focusing more attention to priority ideas, teachers and students will be able to connect the content in the MLS to big ideas that support growth in student understanding.

Sireno told the SBE that the Missouri Priority Standards (MPS) promote equitable access to high-quality instruction; identify what students need to know to be ready for what comes next; and break the cycle of low performance. She emphasized that Missouri education stakeholders contributed to the work, including content experts and numerous Missouri educators from across the state. Sireno explained that the MPS should be used to evaluate rigor, cultural responsiveness, grade- appropriateness, and overall quality of existing curricula. She added that MPS establish connections across domain and grade levels as well as promote understanding of what is necessary to prepare students for their future.

Sireno told the SBE that the assessments will be impacted because the MPS focus attention on the content knowledge necessary for student success in the future by supporting rigorous expectations by targeting content that provides students with the opportunity to demonstrate understanding; and promoting questions that call for students to demonstrate understanding. Sireno referenced the following graphic to describe how assessments will be influenced.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT



Sireno told the SBE that DESE will support educators in implementing the MPS by providing resources and tools including item specifications, supporting standards, and MO LEAP Blocks. She added that professional learning opportunities for teachers will include workshops to be held in May, June and July and that professional learning series workshops will begin this summer.

Shields emphasized that the Missouri State Learning Standards were developed by Missouri educators under the strict standards specified by law. He said the development of the MPS was not "forced out by bureaucrats sitting in the Jefferson building" in a top-down process, rather they were developed by a wide-range of Missouri educators and stakeholders. He emphasized that curriculum decisions to support the learning standards are made at the local level.

Motion. SBE authorize the use of the Missouri Priority Standards as the basis for the Missouri Assessment Program. Motion carried 7-0.

Vandeven used the occasion to announce that Henningsen will retire from DESE on June 1, 2021. She thanked him for his leadership, especially in the area of career and technical education.

VIII. Items for Discussion

G. Report on COVID-19 Response

Mallory McGowin, DESE Chief Communications Officer, presented an overview of DESE's response to COVID-19 in the area of health. McGowin said studies continue to show schools which reopened with mitigation strategies in place have seen little transmission in schools. Mitigation strategies in schools include:

- Use of hybrid learning models
- Mask requirements
- Physical distancing, barriers & cohorting students
- Rigorous cleaning & sanitizing
- Vaccinating staff and students
- Testing: symptomatic & screening/surveillance

McGowin said case studies and data show in-person learning can be done safely for all students 5 days/week. However, mitigation strategies may be even more important when transitioning from hybrid to full-time in-person to ensure safety as well as staff/student comfort and confidence. McGowin emphasized DESE's expectation is that schools will be back in-person, 5-days per week, next fall. She stated that is particularly important because the attendance hour rule created for the 2020-21 school year (AMI-X) is scheduled to expire on July 30, 2021.

To address a safe return to in-person instruction, McGowin said that DESE continues to offer webinars, the latest occurring on May 5, 2021. During the webinar, McGowin said mitigation strategies were discussed and reviewed. McGowin said that the safest option for re-opening in fall is for students and teachers to continue to wear masks. She added that very low rates of transmission are observed when masks are worn -- so at this point – DESE is recommending that students wear masks when they return in the fall. She asserted that we are just not at a point where we can advise schools to relax protocols to pre-COVID levels.

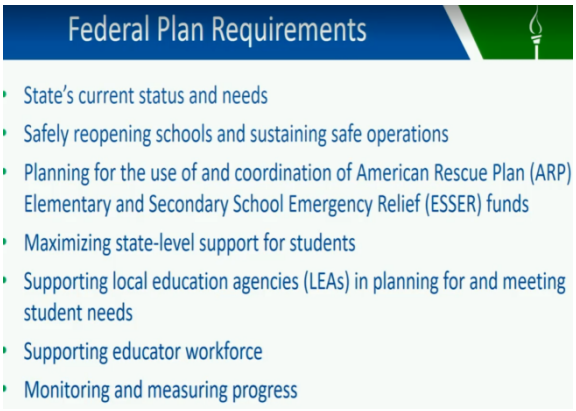
McGowin told the SBE that the Commissioner ended the May 5th webinar by thanking school personnel for their continued use of mitigation strategies. She said we know that school leaders are facing pressure from community members to remove protocols and we encourage school leaders to continue to stand strong in recommending mitigation protocols. Commissioner Vandeven emphasized that DESE is not mandating that any measures be implemented – DESE is just recommending that mitigation measures stay in place at this point in time. Vandeven said that many people are asking about protocols for the fall. She said that things may look very different in the fall -- hopefully much better.

Shields emphasized that vaccinations are not, at this point, required for school attendance and that it is not the SBE's decision to mandate vaccinations for required school attendance. Claycomb said it is important that people understand that DESE is making recommendations – not mandates. McGowin responded by saying that DESE is merely offering guidance on how to best offer in-person instruction.

Chris Neale, Assistant Commissioner, DESE Office of Quality Schools, reported on required Department responses to the Elementary & Secondary School Emergency Relief III (ESSER III) which will bring $1,956,529,215 that he said will allow DESE to support schools in ways it has not been able to before. However, Neale reported that ESSER III has significant and specific planning/reporting requirements which will require significant efforts on the part of DESE and LEAs. Referencing the graphic below, he said DESE must address each of the federal plan requirements.



Neale reported that state educational agencies, like DESE, must use ESSER III funding for specified priorities. They include:

- Instructional
  - Redesign of assessment system
    - Foundations of reading
    - Priority standards
    - Competency-based learning
    - Common formative assessments
  - Leadership development system
  - Reading and math instructional specialists
  - Instructional resources/training
- Educators
  - Recruitment and retention
- Data system
  - Infrastructure upgrade
  - Data quality
  - End user accessibility

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

    - o Interventions
    - o Responsive services

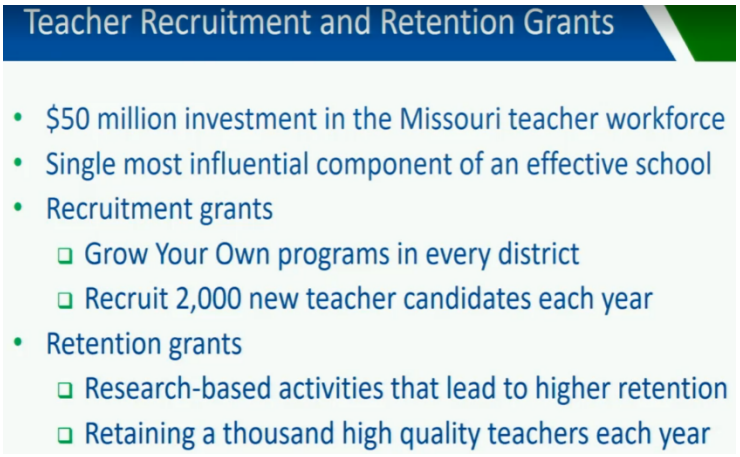
Neale said LEAs will also need to write plans addressing how they will safely reopen which must include mitigation strategies/policies with semi-annual review provisions and public stakeholder input. The LEA plan must also address a continuity of services plan which must include the academic impact of the pandemic as it relates to social, emotional, and mental health needs. He said the plan must also identify students who have been disproportionately affected and students with the greatest loss of instructional time.

Neale told the SBE that DESE will support LEAs by providing consultation on safe return to onsite instruction plans and continuity of services plan. He provided the following graphic to describe the timeline.

Date	Action
March 24, 2021	DESE received first 2/3 of ARP ESSER funds
May 24, 2021	DESE must allocate ARP ESSER funds received on March 24, 2021 to LEAs
June 7, 2021	DESE ARP ESSER State Plan due to USED Extension possible based on state requirements
June 21, 2021	DESE must provide information on its website • numbers of schools in the state providing each mode of instruction, • student enrollment by mode of instruction and disaggregated by subgroup, and • attendance data if available.
June 24, 2021	LEAs must publish Safe Return to In-Person Instruction and Continuity of Services Plan
90 Days after Allocations	LEAs must submit ARP ESSER Plans to DESE

Commissioner Vandeven added that while ESSER funding is the opportunity of a lifetime -- it also represents a significant amount of work in writing the required plans. She tanked Neale for his work.

Paul Katnik, Assistant Commissioner, DESE Office of Educator Quality, reported on DESE initiatives to address teacher recruitment and retention. He said he has heard the concerns of the SBE regarding teacher workforce issues, therefore he said he is pleased to announce that significant financial resources are now available for those purposes.



Katnik said that ESSER funds will allow a $50 million investment in the teacher workforce. He said the funding will provide an opportunity to address teacher shortages in several areas and that DESE is focused on implementing research supported strategies to retain teachers (e.g., stipends for mentor teachers, creating opportunities for national board certification, funding climate and culture surveys, expanding training for teachers to serve the social emotional needs of students, and teacher leadership opportunities). He said improving retention rates by just 10 percent will save over 1,000 teachers per year. He provided the graphic above to describe efforts made possible by the teacher recruitment and retention grants.

Shields stated he is troubled by the idea that there are many people available who just want to teach for a couple of years -- either at the beginning or the end of their careers. He said he would like to see DESE prioritize the notion of teaching as a profession and a full-time, long-time primary career. He said we should support the teaching profession and that building it up is important. Lenz added that we need to look at raising the salaries of teachers. He said that anything we can come up with to move salaries upward is important. Katnik responded by saying that both improve teaching salaries and valuing teaching are needed to improve teacher recruitment and retention efforts.

Using the graphic below, Kari Monsees, Deputy Commissioner, DESE Financial and Administrative Services, reported on the status of COVID relief funding streams.

Grant Program	Funds Allocated	Grant Purposes	Current Status
Elementary & Secondary School Emergency Relief (ESSER)	$192,131,014	COVID Response	$157,519,838 distributed to date
Missouri Student Connectivity - Connections (ESSER & GEER)	$20,399,380	Student Devices	$8,208,816.36 distributed to date
Transportation Supplement (GEER)	$15,258,661	Extra Transportation Costs	$3,453,124 distributed to date
Elementary & Secondary School Emergency Relief II (ESSER II)	$871,172,291	COVID Response	Guidance/Allocations Posted Awaiting Appropriation
Governor's Emergency Education Relief II (GEER II)	$12,141,078	CTE Programs	Awaiting Appropriation
Emergency Assistance for Non-Public Schools (EANS)	$67,550,224	Non-Public School Assistance	Applications Closed 4/30 Awaiting Appropriation
Elementary & Secondary School Emergency Relief III (ESSER III)	$1,956,529,215	COVID Response	Awaiting Appropriation
Emergency Assistance for Non-Public Schools II (EANS II)	$68,641,868	Non-Public School Assistance	Awaiting Grant Award

Monsees told the SBE that DESE is encouraging summer school opportunities and that money will be available for transportation that is not normally available. Monsees reported that many of the COVID relief grants will span multiple years, therefore DESE is making long-term plans for the use of those funds. He added that ESSER III appropriations will likely occur during the legislature's veto session.

Monsees told the SBE that COVID forced many DESE staffers to work remotely and as a result, new ways of working more efficiently have come to light. He said that because DESE has been effectively implementing a distributed teams policy during the pandemic – it may make sense for some people to continue to work remotely. Monsees said that while working from home does present some problems, advantages have also been realized in employee recruitment and space requirements. He said DESE is studying these issues and will have more to say in the coming months.

H. Report on Competency - Based Learning

Tracy Hinds, Deputy Commissioner of Learning Services; and Juliet Squire, partner in the Policy and Evaluation practice at Bellwether Education Partners presented. Hinds began by saying that DESE recognizes that the COVID-19 pandemic affected students to varying degrees across the state. She said that early national research suggests a disproportionate impact on historically underserved student populations. Hinds stated that in response to the recovery challenge, DESE is reviewing various approaches to educating students to get students back on track for grade-level proficiency and long-term success and to continue to support students who have found success in a different learning environment. She said Competency-Based Learning is one strategy under review.

Squire told the SBE that the Aurora Institute found that, "Competency-Based Learning (CBL) begins with the premise that seat time and age-based cohorts are poorly suited to meeting students' individual needs, and that students should instead progress through content based on when they can demonstrate mastery of specific knowledge and skills instead of progressing based on the time spent on particular content. She said that with the support of SchoolSmart KC, Bellwether Education Partners prepared a memo to DESE that is intended to serve as a guide in considering CBL. She said the memo answers three questions:

1. What is CBL?
2. What does the research literature tell us about the impact of CBL on student outcomes?
3. What policies and practices enable and support CBL in meeting students' needs?

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Squire stated that Bellwether has written a memo to inform the adoption of competency-based learning (CBL) in Missouri. She said the memo defines competency-based learning (CBL), assesses research literature on whether and how CBL supports students, especially students who have been historically underserved, and draws lessons from how other states have pursued the adopt of CBL and recommends policy changes to support adoption and implementation. Squire then set about providing answers to the three questions above.

WHAT IS CBL?

Susan Patrick and Eliot Levine from the Aurora Institute, a nonprofit organization that works to advance innovations in student-centered learning, have developed a working definition of CBL. It suggests:

1. Students are empowered daily to make important decisions about their learning experiences, how they will create and apply knowledge, and how they will demonstrate their learning.
2. Assessment is a meaningful, positive, and empowering learning experience for students that yields timely, relevant, and actionable evidence.
3. Students receive timely, differentiated support based on their individual learning needs.
4. Students progress based on evidence of mastery, not seat time.
5. Students learn actively using different pathways and varied pacing.
6. Strategies to ensure equity for all students are embedded in the culture, structure, and pedagogy of schools and education systems.
7. Rigorous, common expectations for learning (knowledge, skills, and dispositions) are explicit, transparent, measurable, and transferable.

Squire said CBL is grounded in the belief that all students can succeed in rigorous learning environments, though they may require varying amounts of time and differentiated support to reach performance goals.

WHAT DOES RESEARCH LITERATURE TELL US ABOUT THE POTENTIAL FOR CBL TO POSITIVELY IMPACT STUNDENT OUTCOMES?

Squire emphasized that it is extremely important to understand that CBL is a nascent field of research, and the bulk of the research is qualitative and based on correlational analyses. With those limitations in mind, Squire indicated the research that does exist indicates that exposure to CBL strategies and approaches is associated with several positive outcomes -- specifically proficiency gains in math and ELA, improved performance on standardized tests, and better performance on researcher- developed assessments. Squire stated that these outcomes are typically present when the strategies studied include "clarity around academic expectations, competency-based standards, and use of multiple assessment types". Conversely, Squire said studies that showed negative correlations between CBL and student outcomes often occurred when schools lacked clear definitions and expectations and suffered from uneven implementation. Squire said that adopting CBL can be a powerful strategy for recovering lost learning during the pandemic, but realizing the benefits of CBL requires thoughtful planning, implementation, and continuous improvement.

Appendix A: Summary of the Research Literature

Title	Authors	Year	Location	CBL Definition	Description / results
Making sense of K-12 competency-based education: A systematic literature review of implementation and outcomes research from 2000-2019 (meta-analysis)	Evans, Landl, & Thompson (Journal of Competency-Based Education)	2020	N/A	CBE — Prioritizes flexible pacing along various pathways and requires students to demonstrate mastery of complex and transferable learning targets before moving on to new material.	Mixed — There is some evidence of a positive relationship between standardized tests and researcher-developed assessments; also evidence of a negative relationship between math scores and student experience.
"In theory it's a good idea": Understanding implementation of proficiency-based education in Maine	Shakman et al. (Education Development Center, Inc.)	2018	Maine	Student-Centered Learning — Has four key principles: competency-based progression, personalization, flexibility in where and when learning takes place, and facilitation of key skills and dispositions such as agency and ownership.	Mixed — This study found a negative relationship between CBL and SAT scores, but a positive relationship between CBL and self-reported student engagement.
Measuring student progress and teachers' assessment of student knowledge in a competency-based education system	Brodersen & Randel (IES & REL Central)	2017	Colorado	CBE — Students are promoted to the next performance level once their teacher determines that they have demonstrated mastery of all the learning targets for a course. Characterized by performance levels (as opposed to grade levels), standard-aligned learning targets, and flexible pacing.	Positive — There is some evidence of learning recovery among students behind grade level; misalignment between competency and state assessment proficiency attributed to teachers' inaccurate assessment of students' knowledge.
Informing progress: Insights on personalized learning implementation and effects	Pane et al. (RAND)	2017	Information not provided	Personalized Learning — Instruction focused on meeting students' individual learning needs while incorporating their interests and preferences. Characterized by tailored supports, competency-based practices, flexible pacing and use of resources, and monitoring of student progress.	Positive — Students across all ability groups exposed to CBL demonstrated raw score growth on NWEA MAP assessments that met or exceeded a comparison group.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

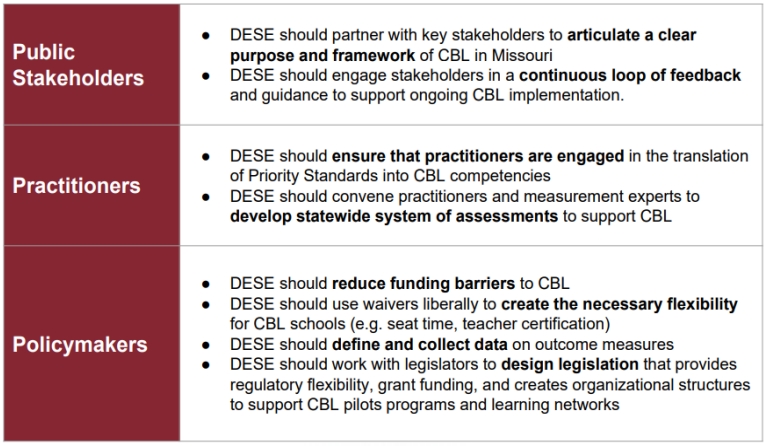
Looking Under the Hood of Competency-Based Education: The Relationship Between Competency-Based Education Practices and Students' Learning Skills, Behaviors, and Dispositions	Haynes et al. (Nellie Mae Education Foundation)	2016	Three unidentified states	CBE — Instruction that places emphasis on what students learn and master rather than how much time they spend in school, characterized by flexible pacing and progression, specific learning targets, competency-based progression, and differentiated supports.	Positive — This study involved 10 urban schools implementing CBL in comparison to 8 other schools serving similar free- or reduced-price lunch populations; findings demonstrated positive nonacademic outcomes (e.g., students' intrinsic motivation) but very different definitions and implementation of CBL.
Continued progress: Promising evidence on personalized learning	Pane et al. (RAND; Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation)	2015	Information not provided	Personalized Learning — This study was most often monitoring student progress, flexible pacing, and tailored (technological) supports. Competency-based instruction was also used but was less common.	Positive — Students in the bottom quartile on the NWEA MAP showed greater gains than a comparison group after two years.
Early progress: Interim research on personalized learning	Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation	2014	Information not provided	Personalized Learning — An approach in which teachers and schools create systems, tools, and methodologies that tailor instruction to the individual needs, skills, and interests of each student (e.g., learner profiles, personal learning paths, competency-based progression, and/or flexible learning environments).	Positive Overall, but Mixed — Students exposed to CBL made greater learning gains on average than comparison groups, but results varied significantly between schools.
Competency-based education in three pilot programs: Examining implementation and outcomes	Steele et al. (RAND)	2014	Colorado; Philadelphia; Texas	CBE — Three defining features in this study: 1) instruction meets students where they are (flexible pacing); 2) students have choices about their learning; and 3) students are evaluated based on their demonstrations of proficiency.	Positive Overall, but Mixed – There is evidence of a positive overall relationship between CBL and performance on state tests but a negative relationship with math scores in some schools; also a positive association with CBL and attendance/promotion.

WHAT POLICIES AND PRACTICES ENABLE AND SUPPORT CBL IN MEETING STUDENTS' NEEDS?

Squire stated that efforts by other states show that a supportive policy environment is critical to getting CBL up and running, but it's only one piece of the puzzle. She said that successful implementation of CBL requires a joint effort on three fronts:

- Public stakeholders: Public education leaders will need to work with policymakers, business leaders, educators, and families to align around a clear vision and purpose for CBL in Missouri. These stakeholders will be critical to ensuring buy-in and ownership of CBL over the long term, especially as it inevitably evolves over time.
- Practitioners: Educators and administrators will do much of the heavy lifting of translating the concept of CBL to fit into Missouri classrooms. This will include defining mastery of learning objectives, building a supportive assessment system, and developing professional learning options to support more personalized instruction in a CBL setting.
- Policymakers: DESE leadership and other state policymakers should provide flexibility from regulations that may inhibit CBL, while also playing a coordinating and convening role. DESE should also take the lead on overseeing data collection, validation, and analysis of CBL pilots and programs across the state. Legislation and funding will be needed to provide some regulatory and financial support for CBL efforts.

Squire offered the graphic below to summarize the recommendations of the Bellwether memo.



Hallquist asked why the study was initiated and what the objective was. She asked whether the underlying premise of the study this is that CBL is the best approach to teaching. Vandeven explained that the study was initiated in response to COVID related learning losses. She said learning loss a result of COVID begs the question of whether age-based cohorts make sense when students will be coming back to school in vastly different places. Vandeven also said that there is also proposed legislation regarding CBL. Squire added the study did not begin with a forgone conclusion about CBL because the research is mixed on outcomes. Moreover, Squire stated that CBL results are very much based on how CBL is implemented.

Claycomb said that as a career and technical educator, he is a strong advocate of CBL. He said he is in favor of continuing to investigate and pursue competency based learning opportunities for students. Hinds concurred saying that competency based learning provides great opportunities for students to demonstrate their interests and learning gains. Lenz stated the thing that scares him most is the transition from the current model to CBL. He said that will be a major obstacle to be overcome. Shields added that we pay schools based on seat-time and that reality will need to be addressed. Westbrooks-Hodge commended the CBL investigation and suggested CBL is the future of education. She said CBL is completely aligned with the corporate world where competency based learning/training is the norm.

Hallquist asked about the practicality of implementing CBL in the current environment. She said that she has recently learned that CBL requires rethinking much of current practice -- but that it can lead to significant learning gains. Hinds answered by saying that CBL is practical -- but it will take a lot of work to align it effectively with the current paradigm. Hinds suggested that multiple stakeholders will need to come together to ensure buy-in.

Vandeven emphasized that transitioning to CBL will be a big mind shift. She suggested that many things may need to change to accommodate CBL including funding based on seat-time and teacher credentialing. Vandeven stated that credentialing may need to be flexible enough for teachers to teach across age cohorts and subject matters. Vandeven said that many teachers are involved in CBL right now because students are in many different places. She said CBL is way past just the delivery of content and requires teachers to understand exactly where students are. She suggested that CBL is not something that can happen overnight across the state and in individual communities -- CBL will take a significant effort in gaining community involvement, understanding, and acceptance.

Shields said this will be a continuing discussion with the SBE, the LEAs, and policy makers as we go forward.

I. Fiscal Year 2022 Budget Report

Kari Monsees, Deputy Commissioner; and Jennifer Jordan, Chief Budget Officer, DESE Financial and Administrative Services provided the report. At the outset, Monsees announced that Jordan will be retiring June 1, 2021. Using a spreadsheet report (see pages 2-5 for the full budget report), Jordon highlighted differences between the TAFP FY2022 and TAFP FY2021 budgets for the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education. To explain the differences she read the comments section on the spreadsheet.

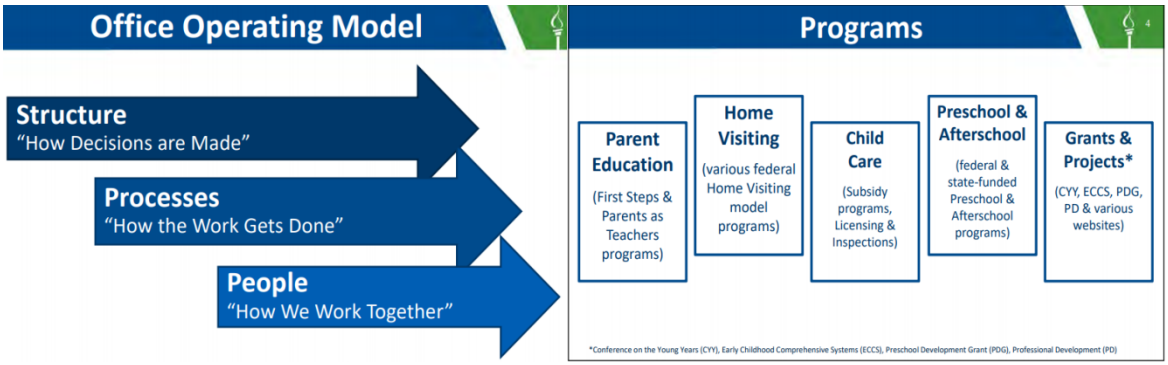
J. Update on Office of Childhood

Pam Thomas, Assistant Commissioner of the Office of Childhood, reported. Thomas said improving access to high-quality early learning opportunities is one of the DESE's strategic priority areas. She indicated the new Office of Childhood includes early and extended learning programs within DESE, as well as, home visiting and child care programs in the Departments of Social Services and Health and Senior Services.

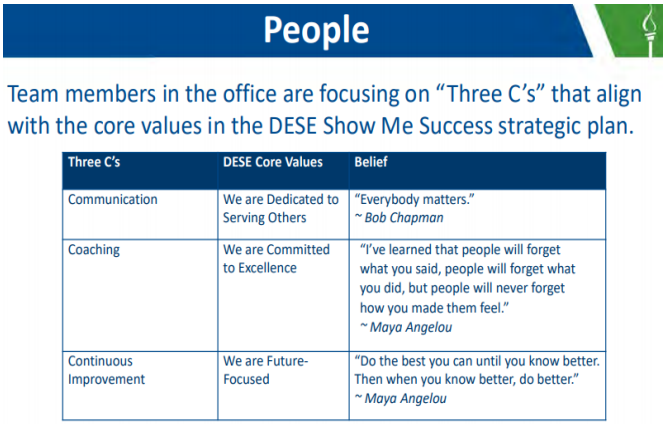
AMERICAN OVERSIGHT



Thomas provided an overview of the office programs and the operating model which she said includes three elements of transition activities (e.g., structure, processes and people) necessary for the successful launch of the Office of Childhood. Under stucture (how decisions are made), Thomas said that the success of the Office of Childhood will depend on building a new leadership team that aligns on a vision and agrees on the path to get there.

In terms of "Processes," Thomas said the team is conducting deep dive discussions with program personnel in all three state agencies to map and align multiple processes to understand how the work gets done. She indicated the team is now analyzing feedback from listening sessions on challenges and ideas for improvement.

Thomas told the SBE that the team is focused on "People" in terms of how everyone works todether. She said team members in the office are focusing on "Three C's" that align with the core values in the DESE Show Me Success strategic plan. She offered the following graphic to illustrate.



Using the graphics below, Thomas provided a timeline for the transition as well as activities that specific teams have been assigned to accomplish the mission.

K. Governmental Affairs Update

Michael Harris, DESE Chief of Governmental Relations, briefly reported on filed bills relating to education for the 2021 legislative session. He said the big news is that HB 349, the education savings account (ESA) bill, was passed. Harris offered highlights.

> The "Missouri Empowerment Scholarship Accounts Program" specifies that any taxpayer may claim a tax credit, not to exceed 50% of the taxpayer's state tax liability, for any qualifying contribution to an educational assistance organization (EAO). The cumulative amount of tax credits issued in any one calendar year begins at $50 million and may be adjusted by the state treasurer annually based upon inflation with a maximum cap of $75 million. EAOs will ensure that grants are distributed in a prioritized order, with students having an approved individualized education plan (IEP) or living in a household whose total annual income meets the income standard for free and reduced price lunches being the first priority. Each EAO shall ensure that student recipients are tested to measure learning gains in math and English, and report these results along with graduation rates, college attendance, and a parental survey as specified in the bill. The state treasurer shall provide this data to the public via a state website after the 3rd year of collection.
> A qualified student may receive a grant to be deposited in the student's Missouri Empowerment Scholarship Account if he or she is a resident of Missouri and resides in any county with a charter form of government or any city with at least 30,000 inhabitants, and has an IEP or has attended a public school as specified in the bill, is entering Kindergarten or first grade, or is attending school for the first time. The bill becomes effective in the fiscal year that the appropriation for pupil transportation under Section 163.161, RSMo., equals or exceeds 40% of the projected amount necessary to fully fund the public transportation state aid. Any year that transportation funding falls below this threshold no new scholarships shall be awarded. The bill allows school districts for qualified students that receive a scholarship and leave their resident district to continue to be counted for state aid purposes for five years, or until criteria outlined in the bill are met. This provision will end five years after the effective date of the bill.

Harris told the SBE that “nothing is off the table” at this point in session and that several bills are “teed up” to become omnibus education legislation vehicles. He said SB 152 has 37 different education provisions and bills in the senate (e.g., HB 228 and HB 624, HB 320) are poised to become education vehicles as well. Shields commented that it seems that almost everything is in play at this point. He added that now that HB 349 has been passed -- many things may now move.

Shields asked about provisions in legislation relating to competency based learning (CBL). Harris said CBL legislation now contains the Show Me Success Diploma (provides alternative pathways to high school graduation), grants for DESE to award to school districts for CBL pilot programs, the competency based education task force to examine CBL, and provisions for funding for competency based education.

IX. Licensure

Items in this section focused on issuance of teaching certificates, substitute teaching certificates or disciplining individuals by adverse action with regard to their Missouri teaching certification. The SBE approved the recommendations of DESE officials in each instance.

SBE ACTION

Authorized The Leadership School to commence operations pursuant to the charter granted by the Missouri Charter Public School Commission (MCPSC) for five years, effective for the 2022-23 school year. The Leadership School is the first charter school to be located outside of the Kansas City or St. Louis City School Districts. The SBE first approved The Leadership School's charter school proposal, for a term of five years on December 17, 2020. The Leadership School anticipated opening within the boundaries of the Normandy Schools Collaborative for the 2021-22 school year. However, to improve enrollment and to ensure the school has a successful start, the MCPSC and The Leadership School Board agreed on April 21, 2021, to amend the charter contract to delay opening until the 2022-23 school year. This change will impact the five-year window previously approved during the December 17, 2020, SBE meeting

Authorized the Missouri Charter Public School Commission (MCPSC) to continue as a sponsor in good standing based on DESE findings that the MCPSC is in material compliance with its sponsorship duties per § 160.400.17, RSMo, and meets the sponsorship standards of 5 CSR 20-100.260.

SBE approved a proposed amendment to 5 CSR 20-100.220, Internet Filtering which updates the rule to include complete references to applicable federal law and provide the standards by which public schools will be held accountable to ensure compliance with state law. The amendment requires public schools that offer public access computers to implement software and/or develop a policy that restricts minors' ability to access pornographic material. Public schools that receive discounts for internet access and internal connections pursuant to 47 U.S.C. section 254(h) and (l) must certify that they are compliant with the Children's Internet Protection Act (CIPA) (47 C.F.R. section 54.520), which requires the public school district or public charter school to have an Internet safety policy.

CONSENT AGENDA APPROVALS: Personnel Report, Appointments to the Missouri Advisory Council of Certification for Educators (MACCE).

DESE will use the remaining 10 percent of the funds to address the impact of COVID-19 through state-level projects and initiatives. The ESSER III Missouri State Plan addresses issues including the educator workforce, committing resources to rigorous learning acceleration, and addressing the digital divide." DESE plans to create teacher recruitment and retention grants for all LEAs, provide increased professional learning resources for educators, and the state's assessment system which will undergo a redesign to bring a greater focus on early literacy, become fully aligned to the priority standards, and to better support learning processes.

The following individuals have been requested to be reappointed for a second term to Missouri Advisory Council of Certification for Educators (MACCE). The recommendations are as follows:

- Missouri Association of School Personnel Administrators (MOASPA) – David Besgrove
- Missouri Community College Association (MCCA) – Nicole Nunn-Faron
- Missouri Association of School Administrators (MASA) – Jason Price

The Department recommends that the State Board of Education approve these appointments as presented.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

D. Consideration of Amended Charter School Application for the Leadership School NOTE: Hallquist requested that this item be removed for discussion

Charter schools may be established in a school district that is unaccredited or in a district that has been classified as provisionally accredited by the State Board of Education and has received scores on its Annual Performance Report (APR) consistent with a classification of provisionally accredited or unaccredited for three consecutive years beginning with the 2012-13 accreditation year.

The Leadership School is the first charter school to be located outside of the Kansas City or St. Louis City School Districts. The Department is responsible for reviewing proposals of charter schools that have been approved by an authorized sponsoring entity. Charter proposals meeting statutory requirements are then recommended for consideration by the State Board of Education.

The State Board of Education approved The Leadership School's charter school proposal, approved by the Missouri Charter Public School Commission (MCPSC), for a term of five years on December 17, 2020. The Leadership School anticipated opening within the boundaries of the Normandy Schools Collaborative for the 2021-22 school year. However, the MCPSC and The Leadership School Board agreed on April 21, 2021, to amend the charter contract to delay the charter school's opening until the 2022-23 school year. This change will impact the five-year window previously approved during the December 17, 2020, State Board of Education meeting. The Department has reviewed the charter contract amendment and determined that the requirements of the law have been met.

Hallquist said she had heard that the school is suffering from low enrollment numbers and asked for an explanation for why the Leadership School's opening was delayed until the 2022-23 school year. Jocelyn Strand, Coordinator, DESE Office of Quality Schools, explained that the school and the sponsor agreed to an amendment that would allow the school time to bolster its enrollment. Vandeven interjected that when we look at charter schools -- a good start is essential for success. Therefore we believe it is important that the school begin with a larger enrollment. Rachel Uptergrove, Director of Charter Schools, DESE Office of Quality Schools said that the delay was due to a combination of several factors but was mostly due to allowing time to increase enrollment to ensure the school has a good start.

Herschend asked what would happen if after a year -- the school is in the same position. He said there should be a hard deadline established for when the school will open.

The Department recommends that the State Board of Education authorize The Leadership School to commence operations pursuant to the charter granted by the Missouri Charter Public School Commission for five years, effective for the 2022-23 school year. Motion carried 8-0.

VII. Items for Action

E. Consideration of Personnel Policy

DESE's complete set of personnel policies was adopted by the SBE on March 21, 2002. Revisions to some policies have been approved in subsequent years. Policy revisions have been reviewed by a committee composed of employees, executive staff, the human resources section, and legal counsel. Policy revisions may become necessary during the year, these changes will be presented to the State Board of Education.

DESE is proposing a new policy (pages 3-13), replacing current Personnel Policies 800-810 Alternate Work Location and 800-820 Telework. The purpose of the policy is to support the recruitment and retention of high quality staff while also supporting Department productivity. The new policy would allow, upon request from the employee and with final approval from management, positions within the DESE to work in either a Hybrid work model (combination of in office and remote locations) or full time remote work setting if specific criteria are met. The policy also includes provisions for temporary telework under certain circumstances. Motion. SBE adopt the personnel policy as presented. Motion carried 8-0.

F. Consideration of Charter Sponsor Evaluation for the Missouri Charter Public School Commission (MCPSC)

Jocelyn Strand, Coordinator; Rachel Uptergrove, Director of Charter Schools, DESE Office of Quality Schools; and Robbyn Wahby, Executive Director of the Missouri Charter Public School Commission, presented. Strand said the Revised Statutes of Missouri § 160.400, requires DESE to evaluate charter sponsors at least every three years. She said charter sponsors are evaluated against six standards found in 5 CSR 20-100.260, Charter Sponsorship Standards. Strand explained that MCPSC is one of nine charter school sponsors in Missouri. At this time, MCPSC has 12 charter schools in its portfolio in Kansas City and St. Louis. She offered the graphic below to describe the schools.

School	City	Current Grade Span	Years in MCPSC
Academy for Integrated Arts	Kansas City	PK-6	2018 - 21
Brookside Charter School	Kansas City	PK-8	2018 - 21
Citizens of the World Kansas City	Kansas City	PK-4, 6-8	2016 - 21

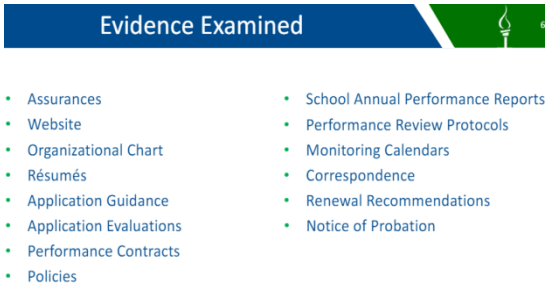
Uptergrove told the SBE that the sponsor evaluation covered the period from July 1, 2017 through June 30, 2020 and offered the following graphics to describe the timeline and the types of data analyzed. She said the evaluation process takes approximately three months.

Time	Activity
March 2021	Sponsor Document Submission
March 2021	DESE Evaluation
April 2021	Preliminary Report and Feedback
May 2021	Additional Documentation
May 2021	Final Evaluation
June 2021	Report to State Board of Education and Commissioner



Uptergrove then summarized the findings of the sponsor evaluation by saying that DESE finds that the Missouri Charter Public School Commission is in material compliance with all six standards within the sponsorship duties per§ 160.400.17,RSMo. She offered the following graphic.

Standard	Status
Standard 1: Sponsor Commitment and Capacity	Meets Standard
Standard 2: Application Process and Decision-Making	Meets Standard
Standard 3: Charter Contract	Meets Standard
Standard 4: Ongoing Oversight and Evaluation	Meets Standard

Addressing the Chair of the MCPSC, Delbert Scott; Herschend suggested that while the Commission has met the written criteria to continue as a sponsor, there are no criteria that speak to the academic success of the charter schools. Herschend said there are charter schools that are now performing at what would be unaccredited levels if they were evaluated as traditional public schools are. He said he believes that charter schools should be held to performance standards that are similar to traditional public schools. Scott answered by saying the main goal of the MCPSC is to ensure every child has a good school to go to. He said that the only way to compare charters and traditional publics is to compare the charter with the local district and more specifically with the area within the local district. Scott emphasized that the MCPSC strives to improve our schools every day. Herschend then asked: When they do not perform what do you do? Scott responded by saying that we provide more oversight – but we do not do the work for them. Herschend suggested that is "a short answer." Responding to Herschend, MCPSC member Alicia Kotarba said we close low performing schools. Herschend then said he is concerned about education not being delivered to the students we are responsible for. He said that unless you take a stand about student performance -- we can have students failing many years of school. Kotarba emphasized that MCPSC is monitoring every school in its portfolio via the individual charter performance contract. Herschend responded by saying that some of your schools are performing outstandingly -- while others are performing at or below the level of the surrounding district.

Lenz said he has found that when a charter school isn't performing – the leadership cites the low performance of the surrounding district. He said that he is aware that when MPCSC schools fail -- it closes the schools. He said he is very proud of the Commission for the approach.

Bailey asked that the MCPSC join the SBE and DESE in its efforts to strengthen and support social-emotional learning in schools.

Shields suggested that the MCPSC portfolio of schools will expand as universities get out of the charter school sponsoring business – which he said he applauds some universities for doing. Shields asserted there should be some notion of just how many charter schools a community can absorb. He said that when too many charters are present in a community, they start to cannibalize each other as well as the surrounding school district. Shields asked whether there will be discussions about the capacity of a community to support charter schools. Scott responded by saying no one forces people to go to charter schools and parents vote with their feet. He said on limiting the number of charter schools in a community -- I don't know how you would set that limit. Shields said he believes there needs to be a hard look at the limits of enrollment. Robbyn Wahby, Executive Director of the MCPSC, said charter school applicants must make the case that there is demand for the school as part of the application process. She said the Commission also holds a public hearing within the community so residents have a chance to say whether they do or do not want a charter school. She said we work with the local community before any decision is made to sponsor a school.

Westbrooks-Hodge said a very deliberate effort exists in the St. Louis region to address the capacity question. She asked whether the MCPSC has been involved in those efforts Wahby responded by saying the MCPSC has not been invited to the table for those conversations and added that she believes there no interest in including the Commission. Scott added that the MCPSC would welcome the conversation. Lenz asked whether capacity conversations have taken place with St. Louis Public Schools. Wahby answered by saying that the Commission has not been invited to participate in those conversations.

Shields said that as the MCPSC portfolio of schools grows, the SBE wishes to maintain a very close relationship. He noted that the MPCSC was the first to create very good school performance contracts and that the commission is doing good work.

Motion. Based on findings that the Missouri Charter Public School Commission is in material compliance with its sponsorship duties per § 160.400.17, RSMo, and meets the sponsorship standards of 5 CSR 20-100.260, DESE recommends that the Missouri Charter Public School Commission be allowed to continue as a sponsor in good standing. Motion carried 8-0.

G. Consideration of a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking to Amend 5 CSR 20-100.220, Internet Filtering

Jocelyn Strand, Coordinator, DESE Office of Quality Schools explained that as part of the 5-year statutory review of administrative rules, DESE staff identified adjustments that needed to be made to appropriately include materials incorporated by reference in 5 CSR 20-100.220, Internet Filtering. She said the proposed amendment to 5 CSR 20-100.220, Internet Filtering (page 2-3), will update the rule to include complete references to applicable federal law and provide the standards by which public schools will be held accountable to ensure compliance with state law.

Among other requirements, Strand said the amendment will require public school districts and public charter schools that offer public access computers, as defined in section 182.825, RSMo, to implement software and/or develop a policy that restricts minors' ability to access pornographic material pursuant to section 182.827, RSMo. She added public school districts and public charter schools that receive discounts for internet access and internal connections pursuant to 47 U.S.C. section 254(h) and (l) must certify that they are compliant with the Children's Internet Protection Act (CIPA) (47 C.F.R. section 54.520), which requires the public school district or public charter school to have an Internet safety policy. Strand added that Public school districts and public charter schools must annually certify to DESE through the Assurance Checklist if they have met either section (1) or (2) of this provision, based on their circumstances.

Motion. 5 CSR 20-100.220, Internet Filtering, and that the State Board finds this proposed amendment necessary to carry out the purposes of §§ 161.092, 182.825, and 182.827, RSMo. Motion carried 8-0.

H. Consideration of an Order of Rulemaking to Amend 5CSR 20-400.500, Application for Certificate of License to Teach

Paul Katnik, Assistant Commissioner, DESE Office of Educator Quality explained that this rule outlines the requirements to obtain a certificate of license to teach. He said the proposed amendment will outline the requirements that must be met in order for a certified teacher to add a Library Media Specialist K-12 certificate. Katnik said the amendment was approved at the March 2021 SBE meeting and that public comment period occurred May 3, 2021 – June 2, 2021. He said DESE received 31 comments (pages 2-3). Of those thirty-one (31) comments, Katnik said twenty-seven (27) comments were in favor of amending the requirements to add a Library Media Specialist K-12 certificate, and four (4) comments were in opposition of amending the requirements to add a Library Media Specialist K-12 certificate.

Motion. SBE authorize publication in the Missouri Register of an Order of Rulemaking to amend 5 CSR 20-400.500, Application for Certificate of License to Teach, and that the State Board finds the proposed amendment necessary to carry out the purposes of §§ 161.092, 168.011, 168.021, 168.071, 168.081, 168.400, 168.405, and 168.409, RSMo. Motion carried 8-0.

I. Consideration of an In Addition for 5 CSR 20-300.120

Margaret Landwehr, DESE Chief Counsel, told the SBE that as a result of the creation of the Office of Childhood, DESE is transferring a rule (i.e., [5 CSR 20-300.120] 5 CSR 25-100.120 Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, Part C2) from the Division of Learning Services, Office of Special Education, to the Office of Childhood effective August 30, 2021.

Motion. SBE authorize publication in the Missouri Register of the In Addition, and that the State Board of Education finds that the In Addition is necessary to carry out the purposes of § 161.092, RSMo. Motion carried 8-0.

J. Consideration of an In Addition for 5 CSR 20-100.310, 5CSR 20-100.320, and 5 CSR 20-100.330

Margaret Landwehr, DESE Chief Counsel explained that because of the creation of the Office of Childhood, the DESE is transferring several rules from the Division of Learning Services, Office of Quality Schools, to the Office of Childhood effective August 30, 2021. She said that effective August 30, 2021, the following rules are transferred to the Office of Childhood.

> [5 CSR 20-100.310]5 CSR 25-100.310 General Provisions Governing Programs Authorized Under Early Childhood Development, Education, and Care
> [5 CSR 20-100.320]5 CSR 25-100.320 Prekindergarten Program Standards
> [5 CSR 20-100.330]5 CSR 25-100.330 General Provisions Governing Programs Authorized Under the Early Childhood Development Act 2

Motion. SBE authorize publication in the Missouri Register of the In Addition, and that the SBE finds that the In Addition is necessary to carry out the purposes of § 161.092, RSMo. Motion carried 8-0.

K. Consideration of a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking to Amend 5 CSR 10-1.010, General Department Organization

Margaret Landwehr, Chief Counsel, advised that this rule (pages 2-3) fulfills the statutory requirements of § 536.023(3), RSMo. She said it describes the organization of DESE, as well as the general methods and procedures by which the public may obtain information and make submissions or requests. Landwehr said this rule is being amended to further describe methods and procedures by which the public may obtain information.

Motion. SBE authorize publication in the Missouri Register of the proposed rulemaking to amend 5 CSR 10-1.010, General Department Organization, and that the SBE finds that the proposed amendment is necessary to carry out the purposes of §§161.092and 536.023(3), RSMo. Motion carried 8-0.

L. Consideration of a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking to Adopt 5 CSR 10-3.010, Access for Inspection of Public Records and Fees for Copying of Public Records

DESE Chief Counsel Landwehr explained this rule (page 2-3) supplements the requirements of Chapter 610, RSMo, and prescribes the process for individuals and organizations to gain access to DESE public records and the fees for copying of those public records. Landwehr said copies of public records shall be provided by DESE and shall be subject to the department's collection of search, research, copy fees, and shipping charges as set forth in section 610.026, RSMo. She added requesters may avoid shipping charges by accepting their records electronically or by picking up their requested documents at the DESE Governmental Affairs Office in Jefferson City. Fees for duplicating other types of records and other formats including electronic data shall be based on the actual cost of search and duplication, or as otherwise provided by section 610.026, RSMo.

Motion. SBE authorize publication in the Missouri Register of the proposed rule to adopt 5 CSR 10-3.010, Access for Inspection of Public Records and Fees for Copying of Public Records, and that the SBE finds that the proposed rule is necessary to carry out the purposes of §§ 161.092 and 610.010–610.030, RSMo. Motion carried 8-0.

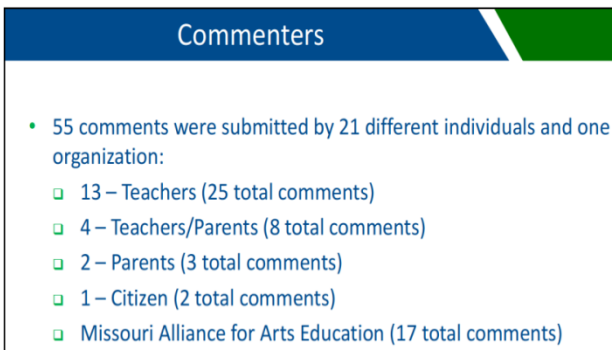
VIII. Items for Discussion

M. Report on the Periodic Administrative Rule Review Pursuant to §536.175, RSMO

Margaret Landwehr, DESE Chief Counsel, recounted that in 2012, the Missouri Legislature passed § 536.175, RSMo, which requires each state agency to review all of its rules, respond to comments received, and answer a series of questions every five years. She reported DESE's first report was submitted in June of 2016 and this second report is due June 30, 2021. Landwehr then reviewed the rule review process, provided an update on the report, and reviewed responses to the comments received by DESE.

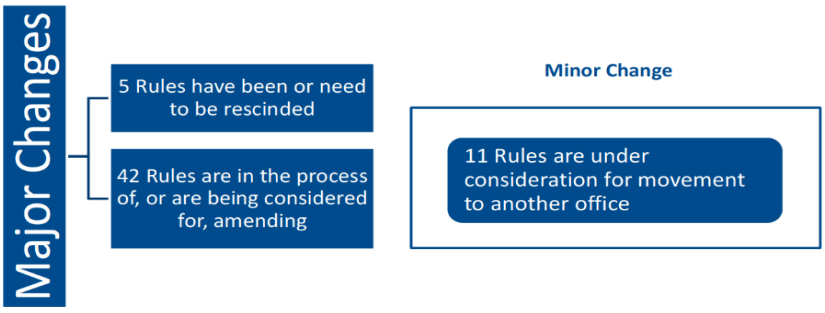
Landwehr said public comments on all DESE rules were received from July 1, 2020 through August 30, 2020. She provided the following graphics to describe the comments.



Landwehr explained that DESE reviewed each rule to determine whether it is obsolete, overlaps, duplicates, or conflicts with other states rules. She added that the review is intended to investigate whether a less restrictive or more narrowly tailored rule is appropriate. Other review determinations include:

- Whether the rule continues to be necessary (is there a need for amendment or rescission)
- Whether incorporated material is still relevant and meets the requirements of statute
- If there is an effect on small business, then whether the existence of the rule is still justified.

Landwehr told the SBE that DESE has 149 rules and that over 30 DESE staffers spent time reviewing. She offered the following graphic to describe changes made as a result of the review.



Shields asked whether a schedule will be created for systematically rescinding rules. Landwehr answered by saying that there is no set schedule at this point. Shields asked that presenting DESE staff should cite § 536.175, RSMo as the reason for rule rescissions in the future for proper context.

N. Report on COVID-19 Response

Mallory McGowin, DESE Chief Communications Officer; DESE Deputy Commissioner Tracy Hinds; DESE Deputy Commissioner Kari Monsees; along with other members of the DESE Executive Leadership Team, presented. McGowin told the SBE that in terms of health, school reopening/operating guidance was updated May 20th. She said the guidance suggested who should be screened for COVID-19 before entering schools, and included recommendations for cleaning/disinfecting hard surfaces. McGowin said state guidance for mask use in schools remains unchanged (per CDC maintaining school guidance) and emphasized that the guidance documents remain just that -- guidance for LEAS. She said the guidance document has been updated six times and that DESE hopes that final guidance will be available before the start of the school year.

Tracy Hinds, DESE Deputy Commissioner, reported on social emotional learning (SEL) initiatives. She said the Fostering Our Best Selves to Build Whole Communities document was developed by a team of school based mental health professional and emphasizes Knowing Myself, Managing Myself, Building Relationships, Understanding Others and Engaging Community. She offered the following graphics to describe each.

Hinds reported that next steps in the Fostering Our Best Selves to Build Whole Communities process in include providing and executive summary, providing an evidence based resource list, and working on secondary social emotional support.

Westbrooks-Hodge commented that the SBE is behind social-emotional learning measures 5000 percent. She suggested the work is important because a number of issues related to social-emotional health are manifesting themselves. She asked Hinds whether teachers are being given resources to help them understand how they can help students in the classroom. Hinds indicated that the work is laying a foundation for both teachers and students.

DESE Assistant Commissioner, Chris Neale reported on the American Rescue Plan (ARP) Elementary & Secondary School Emergency Relief (ESSER) III State Plan. Neale said ESSER III funding is to be dedicated to school reopening and that applications are to be submitted by June 18, 2021. He reported the total Missouri allocation is 1.96 billion dollars (pending inclusion in the state budget) 90 percent of which will be distributed directly to local education agencies (LEAs) to spend on a wide range of allowable uses to respond to COVID-19. He said DESE will use the remaining 10 percent of the funds to address the impact of COVID-19 through state-level projects and initiatives. Neale emphasized that DESE will need spending authority from the legislature for all funds.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Neale stated that DESE actions with regard to ARP ESSER III State Plan is focused on removing barriers to provide instructional flexibility while emphasizing health and safety, the delivery of instruction, and student welfare. He said the ESSER III State Plan will place premiums on the most effective strategies to reopen schools safely, student learning acceleration, and broadband internet availability.

Neale told the SBE that the ESSER III State Plan addresses several priority issues including the educator workforce, committing resources to rigorous learning acceleration, and addressing the digital divide." He indicated that DESE plans to create teacher recruitment and retention grants for all LEAs while also providing increased professional learning resources for educators. Neale said the ESSER III State Plan addresses the state's assessment system which will undergo a redesign to bring a greater focus on early literacy, to become fully aligned to the priority standards, and to better support learning processes. He said teacher retention and attrition statistics have long been a concern and have been exacerbated by the pandemic. Neale provided the following graphics to describe DESE actions under the ESSER III State Plan to address educator workforce, learning acceleration and literacy, and the digital divide.

Shields asked about the possibility of a legislative special session to secure spending authority for the ESSER III funds. Shields encouraged the Commissioner to request that the Governor call for such a special session. Vandeven responded by saying spending authority is needed because the spending timeline for the funding is short.

Shields stated that movement is also needed to address the digital divide. He said that more money is needed to build the system out and that the time for talk has past. Shields said we simply need to spend the money to do it. Lenz asked if DESE is working with other state agencies to combine and multiply efforts to address internet solutions. He said there are many places in urban areas that also do not have adequate service. Westbrooks-Hodge suggested public/private partnerships should be stressed to address the digital divide. She asserted there are many in the private sector who would like to help but do not fully understand the problems. She said if we can electrify America and lay cable across the ocean – why can't we close this digital divide. Claycomb reported that regional planning commissions are starting to do a lot of work to connect rural areas. However, he added that we must keep in mind that private enterprise is in business for profit -- so they must count the number of houses that can potentially be served. He said at this point, rural areas do not have the critical mass of people needed to move the needed change in policy.

Herschend commented that a billion dollars coming into education is awesome. However, he said he prays that we will demand accountability for the funds that will be spent. Herschend asked if there is any opportunity to fund hardship teacher placement incentives so teachers can be placed in districts that have a hard time attracting and holding teachers. He said incenting both quantity and quality of teachers should be high priorities. Neale answered by saying that this is one-time money -- so we have to be careful that it is not used to create ongoing expenses. He also noted that differential teacher pay in Missouri has to be tied to specific work duties which can make the provision of financial incentives challenging. Lenz asked that DESE push legislators to make teacher salaries a priority because we cannot compete with other states that are offering better salaries.

Schrag said superintendents have asked whether the number of hours that retired teachers are allowed to work without losing retirement benefits could be increased. She asserted that many superintendents have indicated that they have retired teachers in their communities that are interested and available to teach. Neale answered by saying that the emergency rule signed by the Governor that waives certain provisions regarding the number of hours retired teachers can teach without losing retirement benefits will end August 31st. He said that if the rule is extended – it is assumed that provision will be extended as well. Herschend asked why there is a restriction on the number of retired teachers who can come back into the system. Neale answered by saying statute is focused on protecting the financial solvency of the retirement system. Herschend suggested that there may be a legislative fix that could be prioritized as a tool to address teacher shortages. Claycomb said that a retired teacher can go back into the classroom right now -- but they cannot go back and continue to draw retirement payments. Shields added that the Governor can provide some temporary flexibility, but going forward, there would need to be legislative solutions because any modification to the retirement rules could damage the fiscal viability of the system.

Referring to the graphic below, DESE Deputy Commissioner Kari Monsees provided an update on COVID relief funds. He reported that ESSER I funds are about 90 percent distributed at this point and that the two-year grants are moving steadily. He said DESE did receive supplemental ESSER II allocations and is working on grant details. He also reported that DESE is distributing funds to non-public schools.

The CTE Advisory Council (CTE-AC) is required to make an annual report to the SBE and the Commissioner of Education regarding the development, implementation, and administration of the state budget for career and technical education. Roger Barnes, Coordinator, Career and Technical Education; DESE Office of College and

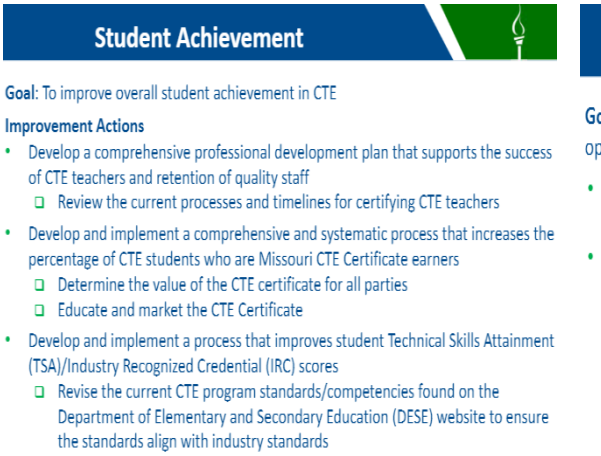
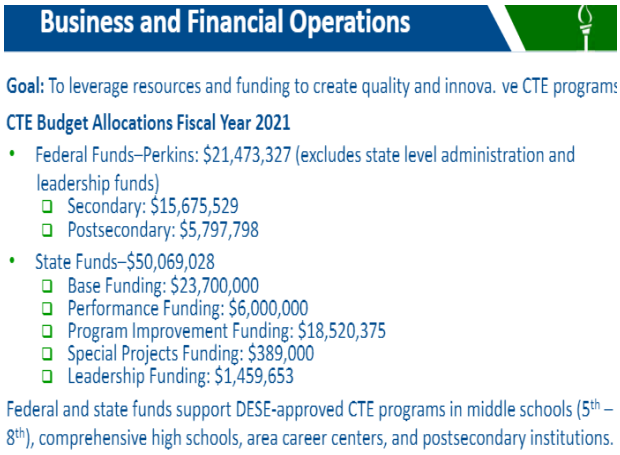
Career Readiness; RJ Catizon, CTE Advisory Council Chair; and Dr. Bart Washer, CTE Advisory Council Vice Chair, presented the annual report.

RJ Catizon noted that there is much practical experience and expertise represented on the CTE-AC. He told the SBE that the CTE-AC strategic plan was approved October 22, 2018 with the vision to create career-ready Missourians and the mission is to provide relevant and meaningful opportunities for students so that they have the skills, knowledge, and experiences necessary to support the needs of business and industry. He said CTE-AC priorities include:

- Student achievement
- Marketing, image, and partnership
- Business and financial operations

Catizon offered the following graphics to describe each strategic priority.





Washer described opportunities and successes as well as challenges during the COVID-19 pandemic. He said COVID19's impact on CTE in Missouri were profound, but CTE programs emerged as being needed more than ever as evidenced by the economy, production, and the current supply chain challenges.

- CTE instructors and administrators (and education in general) found new ways to educate our students.
- New instructional methodologies and skills were developed (.i.e., remote learning through online asynchronous instruction.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Many CTE areas (in society) were deemed “essential” during the pandemic (.i.e., health occupations).
- New CTE opportunities continue evolving in a “digital and virtual” economy.

Washer suggested that challenges include:

- Delivery: Some CTE areas are more conducive to online/virtual learning and instruction than other content areas.
- Learning: Students, student learning/interaction, instruction, and CTE teachers were negatively impacted. Hands-on learning experiences were significantly reduced.
- Student Data: Anecdotal/empirical data are still being analyzed. IRC participation rates were negatively impacted.
- IRC’s earned by CTE Students in 2019 – 9,293
- IRC’s earned by CTE Students in 2020 – 5,058

Washer then made the following recommendations. He suggested that going forward:

- Increase funding for CTE marketing initiatives (50,000 in fiscal year 2021)
- Reinstate CTE construction financing program (from 2009)
  - 50/50 match with local education agencies for new or renovating facilities
- Apply COVID relief funds (e.g., CARES) for students who could not pursue their IRC
- Maintain the Career and Technical Student Organizations (CTSOs) financial operations and resources as they currently exist
- Conduct a follow-up survey of students, parents, educators, and business/employers; replicate the “Perceptions of CTE” survey administered in 2020

Herschend commented the CTE marketing campaign is excellent. He asked how many students are in CTE programs today. Roger Barnes, DESE Coordinator, Career and Technical Education, responded by saying 126,000 individual students in grades 9-12. Herschend suggested that figures be provided that would indicate the number of students who are actually working in the CTE fields for which they have trained. Washer responded by saying that many people just don’t know what they want to do until they are in their late 30s and early 40s. He said that while some students know what they want to do – many train in particular CTE areas but then do not chose to work in those fields.

Lenz commented that there are serious shortages people to do technical work. He suggested that it is important to provide information to students who are interested in entering technical fields because people are needed to do that kind of work.

Westbrooks-Hodge asked how we can help students who are “wandering” with regard to what they wish to do with their lives. Catizon said that he has a strong passion for making students aware of opportunities. He said the carpenters of St. Louis and Kansas City try to embed themselves in apprenticeship programs to help students find careers in carpentry. Catizon added that we can go in front of the students as much as we want -- but we have to continue after graduation. He said we have members that have the heart to stay connected with students and we have to make impressions with students at earlier stages in their lives. Barnes added that the Missouri Connections Career Interest Inventory, available through school counselors, plants seeds to help students understand their interests and their talents.

Claycomb said that regardless of ability -- there is a niche for students to grow in CTE. He said Career and Technical Students Organizations (e.g., FFA, FBLA) are very important in that regard. He said Fordham University found that 90 percent of students who concentrate in CTE go on to graduate high school.

Shields said this topic is very timely because everyone in the business world is experiencing worker shortages. He suggested that the notion among parents is that if you choose to go the CTE route -- you are precluding a degree. Shields stated it is important to let students and parents know it isn’t an either/or situation. Washer responded by saying that parents believe that a college degree is still the best route to prosperity and some of those old stereo types are just not true.

Schrag commented that we sometimes forget that people have different skill sets, talents, and interests. She said that some of the most successful people she knows are people who have gone the CTE route, started businesses, and stayed in their communities to provide jobs and create prosperity.

P. Report on Normandy Schools Collaborative

Margie Vandeven, Commissioner of Education; Marcus Robinson, Superintendent of the Normandy Schools Collaborative; and William Humphrey, Normandy Schools Collaborative Joint Executive Governing Board (JEGB) president led the discussion. Vandeven recounted that on May 20, 2014, the SBE authorized, by resolution, the establishment of the Normandy Schools Collaborative to be governed by a Joint Executive Governing Board (JEGB), pursuant to § 162.081.3(2)(b), RSMo. On April 29, 2021, during a special SBE meeting, the SBE approved a proclamation for the Normandy Schools Collaborative (NSC) designed to provide a successful path forward for the students in the district. Vandeven said that Item 4) b. of the approved proclamation requires quarterly reports to the SBE regarding the students' progress on academic achievement and other measurable steps the Normandy Joint Executive Governing Board (JEGB) has taken in the process toward full accreditation in the district. She said this presentation is the first of these quarterly reports.

Marcus Robinson, Superintendent of the Normandy Schools Collaborative, provided an overview of improvement strategies being implemented at NSC. He stated NSC is now focused on the future and not on what has come before. He said that first and foremost, we are working on providing safe and engaging environments with robust social-emotional wellbeing and trauma informed supports. Robinson said we are training young people to be great students and to be great citizens in the community. Robinson told the SBE that NSC has designed and launched attendance incentives and intervention programming and is connecting students to the wrap around supports that can improve academic success. He emphasized that NSC is establishing a shared vision of excellence for student culture and codifying a consistent behavior management system.

Robinson stated that Normandy is experiencing foundational issues with regard to personnel and human resources and has designed and launched a comprehensive recruitment strategy to attract diverse teacher candidates, with a particular focus on filling hard to serve roles and leveraging partnerships with local and national universities. He said the new HR director is currently working on strategies for teacher recruitment. Robinson indicated that a recent recruitment fair resulted in multiple teacher hires for the 2021-2022 school year. He asserted that the Normandy community is not the same as it was 30 years ago. He said that NSC needs to attract top talent, and retain top talent by supporting social emotional wellbeing, deepening content knowledge and instructional skill, and building a value-based culture.

Robinson reported that NSC is developing a systematic approach to effectively (re)align volunteers and partnerships to support students' attendance, academic and social emotional learning (SEL) needs. Robinson said that the NSC has impactful partnerships to strengthen family community partnerships through tighter coordination and alignment to strategic priorities. He reported that the Director of Community Partnerships and Engagement maintains frequent and ongoing contact with community partners who provide wrap-around services for our students.

Robison told the SBE that the voters of Normandy recently approved a high school construction update. He said NSC voters voted for Proposition V (V for Victory) which addresses the health, safety, and security issues presented by 30 years of deferred maintenance. He said the bond initiative yields almost $29 million in proceeds to address those issues. He stated West Hall is currently undergoing renovations to the cafeteria, all classrooms, a new food service area, and updated Career and Technical Education spaces. Robinson added that by the fall of 2023, Central and East Halls will be completely renovated with updates to all classrooms, labs, and fine and performing arts spaces. A secured campus connector will be added between Central and East Halls to provide a safer and more secure entry to the high school for all of our students.

Robinson then presented graphics depicting student achievement measures. Robinson told the SBE that attendance has been an issue within NSC and the pandemic did not help that situation. He said that district officials were fearful that the loss of connection to school would prove particularly detrimental to student performance, but as the graphics indicate, student achievement remained relatively constant. He noted that NSC students have shown small but measureable improvements in the short time that instructional interventions have been in place.

William Humphrey, Normandy Schools Collaborative Joint Executive Governing Board (JEGB) president stated he made a conscious decision to make an investment in the young people of the school district after his retirement. He said that as president of the JEGB, he will challenge the system to get results. Humphrey said that during his few JEGB meetings, he has had opportunities to have one-on-one meetings with members of the community who have expressed concerns. He stated he has started mending relationships within the community to address those concerns. Humphrey said from the perspective of governance -- he will ask the hardest questions to ensure that NSC does not remain in a poor position.

Shields asked Humphrey about rebuilding relationships with municipal partners. Shields indicated that he has talked to those involved and was able to determine that the relationships were broken. Humphrey responded by saying he has engaged in conversations with the mayors of the NSC municipalities and has told them everyone must push in the same direction. He said he has told them that when students do not attend school -- they cannot learn and that attendance needs to increase. Humphrey emphasized that he is having very candid conversations about the things that need to happen to increase the quality of the schools.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Claycomb asked Robinson about his superintendent certification status. Robinson, who is not yet certified as a superintendent in Missouri, said he is waiting for his dissertation hearing and that once he receives his doctorate, New York will issue him a superintendent certificate. Vandeven added that because Missouri has reciprocity with New York -- once Robinson is certified as a superintendent in New York, he will be certified as a superintendent in Missouri as well.

Hallquist noted that Robinson was brought into NSC because he has a track record of improving other districts. She asked him what two or three things are going to help in Normandy. Robinson answered by saying you have to have a plan and then you have to stick to it. He said that Normandy suffers from a lack of accountability and that culture must come before curriculum. Referring to the fact that students have been caught with loaded weapons at school, Robinson asserted that as long as teachers and students do not feel safe -- learning cannot occur. He said classrooms have to be hallowed ground where teachers feel safe to teach and students feel safe to learn.

Lenz noted that at this point, there are quite a few teacher vacancies in the district. Robinson said that the district is working to reverse a trend that has placed long-term substitutes in the classrooms. He said the district is aggressively recruiting, has had a teacher job fair, and is looking at filling the classrooms with qualified teachers in the fall.

Westbrooks-Hodge commented that as a Normandy graduate and resident of the community -- she is grateful for the work that has been done. She then asked Robinson about remaining gaps and areas where help is needed. Westbrooks-Hodge stated that we, as the State Board of Education, want to know how we can help. Robinson said millions of dollars always help and that NSC needs to increase overall teacher effectiveness and flexibility in seat times can help in achieving that. Westbrooks-Hodge requested that for the next SBE update that Robinson provide explicit ways that the SBE can help. She also asked to hear about the culture at NSC from a teacher's perspective. Westbrooks-Hodge then asked Humphrey how the rest of the JEGB is reacting to the new board culture since new members were added to the JEGB. Humphrey stated that it is important that we set the governance culture right to retain teachers. He indicated that the district would institute employee exist interviews to understand why teachers are leaving so interventions can be designed. Humphrey stated the JEGB is going to institutionalize more robust survey methods to know more about the culture.

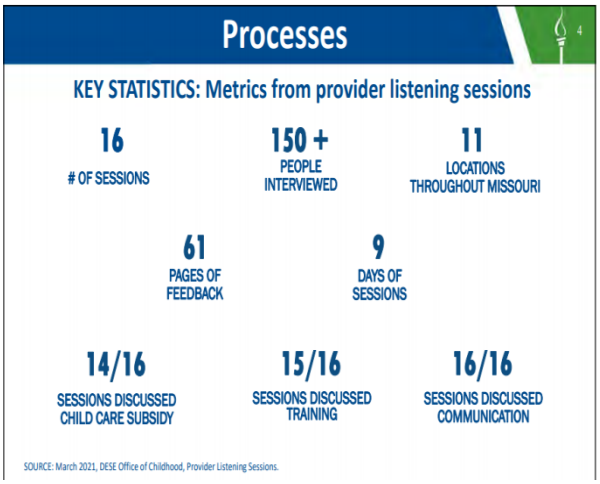
Referring to the large number of improvement programs underway, Herschend asked about a timeline for the district becoming accredited. Robinson said that basically, we have a three-year time frame in mind but we hope that we are looking at accreditation in 24 months. Robinson emphasized this is doable work and suggested that the growth we are going to see in Normandy can help others in doing similar work.

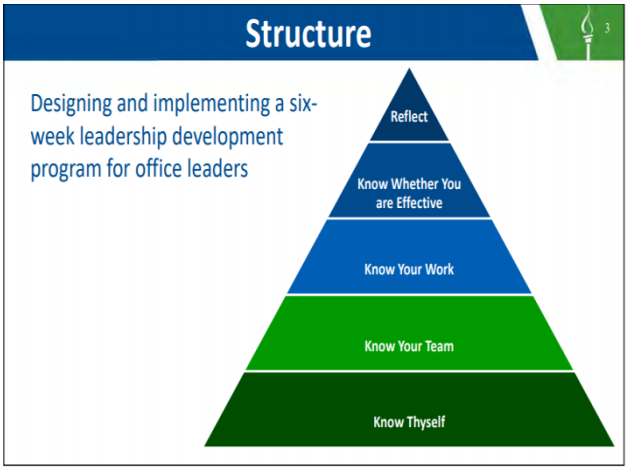
Addressing Robinson, Shields said that finishing his superintendent certification will make things in the NSC a lot better. Shields added that the first priority must be increasing student performance so the district governance may return to a locally elected board. He said he is not sure that the model of appointed boards is the right model for Missouri and the SBE wishes to get back to locally elected school boards.

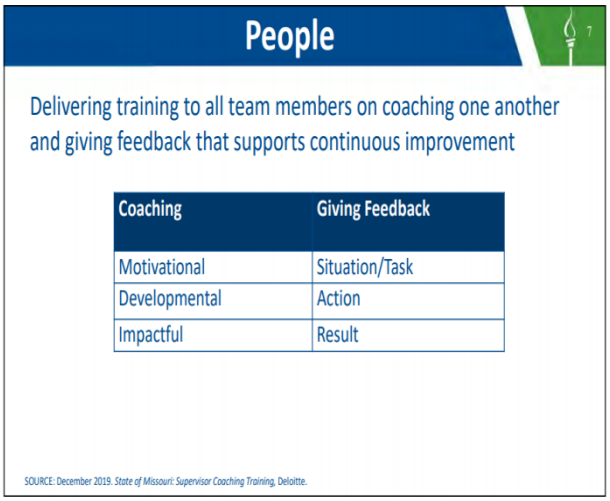
Q. Update on the Office of Childhood

Pam Thomas, Assistant Commissioner of the Office of Childhood provided the update. She reported the Office of Childhood is less than 75 days away from launch. Thomas advised the new office will include early and extended learning programs within the DESE, as well as, home visiting and child care programs in the Departments of Social Services and Health and Senior Services. She then provided an overview of the three elements of transition activities (e.g., structure, processes, and people) necessary for the successful launch of the office. Using the graphics below, she discussed each of the transition activities which include leadership development for all office leaders, provider listening sessions, and delivering training to all team members on continuous improvements.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT







Thomas reported that process recommendations from the provider listening sessions included:

CHILD CARE SUBSIDY
- Reduce paper and manual processes
- Identify a state contact for regions of the state
- Host regular meetings to keep providers informed

TRAINING
- Improve the quality of training
- Connect trainings to school readiness

COMMUNICATION
- Use plain language that is easy to understand
- Provide regular updates, especially before policies change

Thomas reminded the SBE that the Office of Childhood's objectives are to identify what children and families need, provide high-quality services, and evaluate the work to ensure positive outcomes. She emphasized the office is CITIZEN-CENTRIC where children are at the center of what we do. She said the Office is focused on what families need and added that some families just need a bit of information while others need quite a bit more assistance.

Herschend asked about criteria and training for early childhood teachers. Thomas responded by saying that they have started conversations about teachers and teaching but there are no plans as yet for changing teacher certification requirements. Herschend suggested that colleges of education will need to gear up to provide more early education teachers so he encouraged Thomas to look at strategies for early teacher certification. He then asked what the goals are for getting students into classrooms. Thomas answered by saying that enrollment goals are part of the strategic plan. She said that the initial goal is to get enrollment percentages back to pre COVID levels, then to increase enrollment percentages by about five percent each year thereafter.

Herschend noted that many school districts have already put together early childhood programs and he asked how the Office of Childhood is working with those districts. Thomas said that the Office of Childhood will be collecting success stories from school districts to share best practices with other districts that wish to initiate early childhood education programs.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Bailey commented that she appreciates Thomas for knowing and applying theory. She encouraged Thomas to keep up the good work. Schrag added she believes that Thomas is a great strategic thinker. She said that the initiatives of the Office of Childhood will help move Missouri up in the ranking of states.

Lenz said he is extremely excited about the potential offered by the Office of Childhood. He asked how we are going to reach the students that we most need to reach. Thomas answered by saying that serving those students will rely on partnerships with schools and counties so the Office can identify the families with the greatest needs.

Herschend noted that kindergarten is not mandatory in Missouri. He asked Commissioner Vandeven whether making kindergarten mandatory should be part of DESE's legislative agenda. Vandeven said that subject has been under consideration.

R. Governmental Affairs Update

Using the tables below, Michael Harris, DESE Chief of Governmental Relations, reviewed bills which were passed during the 2021 legislative session.

2021 TAFP Legislation

Provision	Sponsor	Description	Bill Number(s)
Empowerment Scholarship Accounts	Christofanelli	This bill creates the "Missouri Empowerment Scholarship Accounts Program" and specifies that any taxpayer may claim a tax credit, not to exceed 50% of the taxpayer's state tax liability, for any qualifying contribution to an Educational Assistance Organization (EAO). The cumulative amount of tax credits issued in any one calendar year begins at $25 million and may be adjusted by the state treasurer annually based upon inflation with a maximum cap of $50 million. A qualified student may receive a grant to be deposited in the student's Missouri Empowerment Scholarship Account if he or she is a resident of Missouri and resides in any county with a charter form of government or any city with at least 30,000 inhabitants, and has an IEP or has attended a public school as specified in the bill, is entering Kindergarten or first grade, or is attending school for the first time. Missouri Empowerment Scholarship Accounts are renewable on an annual basis. Moneys deposited into the account shall be used for specified services and fees, but may not be payments to any person related within the third degree of consanguinity to the qualified student. If a qualified student withdraws from the program, is disqualified from the program, or graduates, the student's account shall be closed and remaining funds shall be returned to the EAO for redistribution to other qualified students. The act creates the Missouri Empowerment Scholarship Accounts Board and limits the number of EAOs to a total of 10.	HB 349 and SB 86
Use of public funds to influence elections	Hegeman	This act prohibits the contribution or expenditure of public funds by any school district or by any officer, employee, or agent of any school district: to support or oppose the nomination or election of any candidate for public office; to support or oppose the passage or defeat of any ballot measure; to any committee supporting or opposing candidates or ballot measures; or to pay debts or obligations of any candidate or committee previously incurred for the above purposes.	SB 86
Joint Task Force on School Bus Safety	Ruth	This bill establishes the "Joint Task Force on School Bus Safety" to study school bus transportation safety in public schools. The Task Force will be comprised of seven members, as set out in the bill. Starting in 2022, the Task Force must meet at least three times annually to develop an annual report analyzing school bus transportation safety in public schools, including analyzing entrance and exit safety, the effectiveness of seatbelts, and other related topics determined by the Task Force chair. The Task Force must submit its report to the Governor and General Assembly by December 31st each year.	HB 661

Seclusion and Restraint in Public Schools	Kelly	This bill defines "restraint" and "seclusion" and requires school districts, charter schools, or publicly contracted private providers to include in policy a prohibition on the use of restraint and seclusion, including "prone restraint" as defined by the bill, for any purpose other then situations or conditions in which there is imminent danger of physical harm to self or others. Any incident requiring restraint or seclusion shall be monitored by school personnel with written observation.	HB 432
Breast Feeding in Public Schools	Kelly	This bill requires DESE to develop a model policy, by January 1, 2022, relating to accommodations for breastfeeding. Public school districts must adopt a written policy by July 1, 2022.	HB 432
IEP or Section 504 Recordings	Kelly	This bill prevents any public school districts and charter schools from prohibiting a parent or guardian from audio recording any meeting held under the Federal Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) or a Section 504 plan meeting (Federal Rehabilitation Act of 1973).	HB 432
Sheltered Workshop Wages	Kelly	This bill directs DESE to permit sheltered workshops to pay disabled persons commensurate wages, defined as wages based on the disabled person's productivity in proportion to the productivity of an experienced non-disabled person in a similar job and that may be lower than the state minimum wage. The sheltered workshop shall provide written assurance to the DESE that such wages shall be reviewed and adjusted periodically and no sheltered workshop shall be permitted to reduce the agreed-upon wage rate for a period of two years after approval without prior authorization from DESE.	HB 432

Montessori Schools	Kelly	This bill changes the definition for a "Montessori school" in Section 210.201 as it applies for Sections 210.201 to 210.257 to either an accredited school or a school maintaining an active school membership with a professional society represented by the Montessori Accreditation Council for Teacher Education.	HB 432
Child Care Facility Inspections	Kelly	Transfers the responsibility for annual health inspections from the Department of Health and Senior Services to DESE for all non exempt child-care facilities with more than six children.	HB 432

The Task Force shall report a summary of its activities and recommendations to the Governor and the General Assembly before August 28th of each year, and shall terminate on December 31, 2023, or may be extended until December 31, 2025, as determined necessary by the Department of Agriculture.	HB 432
Commission on Autism Spectrum Disorders	Kelly	The bill defines "austism spectrum disorder" to be defined by the current Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders. This language removes language establishing a now defunct commission and creates the "Missouri Commission on Autism Spectrum Disorders" to be housed in the Department of Mental Health. This Commission will meet four times a year and will produce an "Autism Roadmap for Missouri." The Autism Roadmap will include: outlined goals including a review of services, identification of needs, and recommendations for improvements. The Commission will be comprised of 25 members as outlined in the bill. The Commission will work in four phases as outlined in the bill and submit a report to the Director of the Department of Mental Health and the Governor upon completion of each phrase. The first phrase shall commence on January 1, 2022, and be completed by December 31st of the same year.	HB 432
Career and Technical Education Standards	Wallingford	The State Board of Education, in consultation with the Career and Technical Advisory Council, shall develop a statewide plan establishing the minimum requirements for a Career and Technical Education (CTE) Certificate. The statewide plan shall match workforce needs with appropriate educational resources. DESE shall convene work groups from each CTE program area. Such work groups shall develop and recommend performance standards or course competencies. DESE shall develop written model curriculum frameworks for CTE programs, which shall not be subject to certain limits on performance standards provided under existing law, as described in the bill.	HB 297

Hallquist commented that as she reads the legislation, she does not think that anything that will improve student outcomes. She stated that she finds that troubling. Herschend said he agreed.

IX. Licensure

Items in this section focused on issuance of teaching certificates, substitute teaching certificates or disciplining individuals by adverse action with regard to their Missouri teaching certification. The SBE approved the recommendations of DESE officials in each instance with one exception. NOTE: On the application of Kelli Colleen Knighton for a Missouri substitute certificate of license to teach, DESE recommended that the State Board of Education approve the application. The members of the SBE DID NOT approve the application by a vote of Yes: 3; No: 5.

COMPRESSED: June 16, 2021 Coordinating Board for Higher Education (CBHE) Meeting Report

NOTE: The compressed report provides minimal information on complex issues/policies. To gain reasoning, perspective, and context on items of particular interest, readers are encouraged to reference the full report.

MAJOR CBHE ACTION

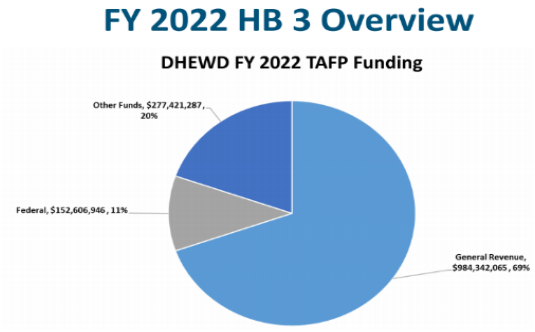
Approved Governor's Emergency Education Relief (GEER) Excels awards (page 31). Award funds projects that will allow institutions to continue to provide educational services to students, support the on-going functionality of the institution, and drive progress toward recovery from the economic impacts of COVID-19. Preliminary request for proposals was issued on March 1 and institutions had until April 1 to submit proposals. DHEWD received 22 applications requesting $19.66 million. $11,999,987 were awarded to 22 institutions.

INFORMATION/REPORTS

New Members of the CBHE. Anne-Marie Clarke serving District 1, Hollie Elliott serving District 4, and Phil Hoffman serving District 6

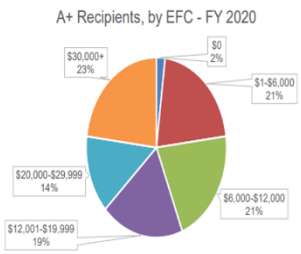
FY 2022 Higher Education and Workforce Development Budget. NOTE update does not reflect actions that the Governor may take in the form of line item vetoes, restrictions, or withholds. FY 2021 Supplemental (HB 15) contains approximately $5.6 million in supplemental appropriations involving higher education, the vast majority of which is funding to support the A+ Scholarship Program.

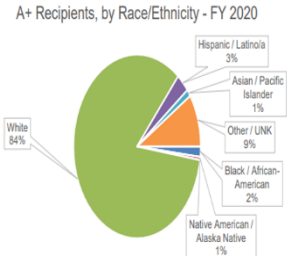
FY 2022 Operating Budget (HB 3) (pages 7-10) – General Assembly appropriated $1.4 billion for higher education institutions, financial aid programs, workforce development, and DHEWD administration for FY 2022. This includes $984,342,065 (up from $844,315,952 in FY 2021) in GR, $152,606,946 (down from $505,750,554 in FY 2021) in federal funds, and $277,421,287 (down from $278,819,330 in FY 2021) in other funds.

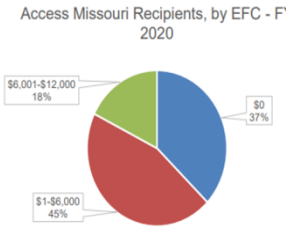


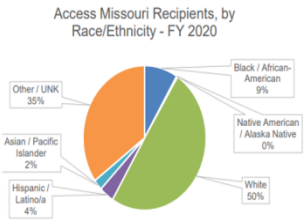
State Student Aid Status Report. By the end of the current academic year, DHEWD will have distributed approximately $133 million in student financial aid to an estimated 63,800 students. The A+ Scholarship Program is projected to distribute about $50 million to approximately 13,800 students. Three year graduation rates for recipients range between 42 and 45 percent for the three most recent cohorts of students, which is roughly double the rate for non-A+ students.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT



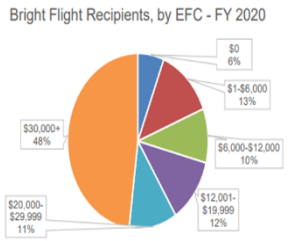


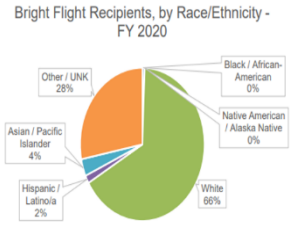


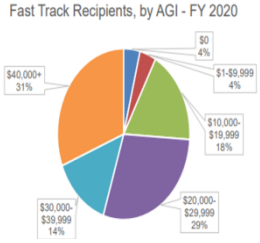


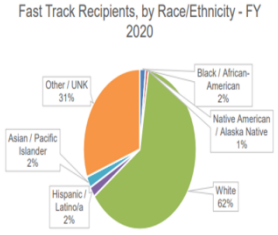
Access Missouri is a need-based program designed to be simple to understand, provide predictable, portable awards, and increase access to the student's school of choice. Eligibility is determined using the Expected Family Contribution as calculated through the Free Application for Federal Student Aid. For FY 2021, the program is projected to distribute approximately $61 million to about 41,300 students. Six year graduation rates range between 55 and 59 percent for the three most recent cohorts of students.

Bright Flight is a merit-based encouraging top-ranked students to attend Missouri postsecondary institutions. For FY 2021, the program is projected to distribute approximately than $19.2 million to about 8,000 students. Six year graduation rates for recipients range between 82 and 86 percent for the three most recent cohorts of students.









Fast Track Workforce Incentive Grant, a new financial aid program for adults beginning with the 2019-20 academic year. Addresses workforce needs by helping adults pursue a certificate, degree, or industry-recognized credential in an area designated as high need. For FY 2021, the program is projected to distribute $1.2 million to about 300 students. 69 percent of the recipients in FY 2020 were female and 31 percent were male. The most popular workforce program areas have consistently been Allied Health (typically about 50 percent) followed by Business/Accounting, Information Technology, and Teacher Education. Because the program is quite new, DHEWD does not have sufficient data to calculate a graduation rate.

DHEWD received requests for waivers of the HESFA penalty provisions from three institutions – Missouri State University (MSU) (pages 3-16), Northwest Missouri State University (Northwest) (pages 17- 29), and the University of Central Missouri (UCM) (pages 30-45). If a public institution desires to increase its tuition above the HESFA approved amount that institution is allowed to seek a waiver of the penalty provisions outlined in the statute. HESFA statutes gives the Commissioner authority to grant or deny all waiver requests. All three proposals are posted online and DHEWD did not received any public comments on any of the proposals. Commissioner Mulligan has approved all three waiver requests.

To overcome barriers to early college opportunities DESE and DHEWD have outlined a potential pilot program, set to begin in January of 2022, based on differential dual credit modalities and testing the modification of student eligibility criteria. Rural regions and low-income areas have difficulties finding and retaining qualified dual credit instructors. As a result, this project will use a co-teaching model between a high school instructor and a college or university faculty member. The postsecondary faculty member will offer instruction two to three times a week, and be the instructor of record, while the high school teacher will assist with assignments, grading, classroom management, etc.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

DHEWD staff will also research potential modified dual credit student placement measures and eligibility requirements based on best practices in other states. DHEWD staff will submit a recommendation to the CBHE in a future meeting regarding placement measures for this pilot program.

Missouri Equitable Access, Success, and Engagement (MoEASE) framework intends to bridge the work of DESE and DHEWD to create a seamless, student-centered PK-20 continuum that improves outcomes and opportunities for all students to achieve success in the classroom and in the workforce. DESE and MDHEWD will lead a series of communities of practice that bring together teams to implement best practices shown to close opportunity gaps within the K12, higher education, and/or workforce development systems.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

D. Consideration of Amended Charter School Application for the Leadership School NOTE: Hallquist requested that this item be removed for discussion

Charter schools may be established in a school district that is unaccredited or in a district that has been classified as provisionally accredited by the State Board of Education and has received scores on its Annual Performance Report (APR) consistent with a classification of provisionally accredited or unaccredited for three consecutive years beginning with the 2012-13 accreditation year.

The Leadership School is the first charter school to be located outside of the Kansas City or St. Louis City School Districts. The Department is responsible for reviewing proposals of charter schools that have been approved by an authorized sponsoring entity. Charter proposals meeting statutory requirements are then recommended for consideration by the State Board of Education.

The State Board of Education approved The Leadership School's charter school proposal, approved by the Missouri Charter Public School Commission (MCPSC), for a term of five years on December 17, 2020. The Leadership School anticipated opening within the boundaries of the Normandy Schools Collaborative for the 2021-22 school year. However, the MCPSC and The Leadership School Board agreed on April 21, 2021, to amend the charter contract to delay the charter school's opening until the 2022-23 school year. This change will impact the five-year window previously approved during the December 17, 2020, State Board of Education meeting. The Department has reviewed the charter contract amendment and determined that the requirements of the law have been met.

Hallquist said she had heard that the school is suffering from low enrollment numbers and asked for an explanation for why the Leadership School's opening was delayed until the 2022-23 school year. Jocelyn Strand, Coordinator, DESE Office of Quality Schools, explained that the school and the sponsor agreed to an amendment that would allow the school time to bolster its enrollment. Vandeven interjected that when we look at charter schools -- a good start is essential for success. Therefore we believe it is important that the school begin with a larger enrollment. Rachel Uptergrove, Director of Charter Schools, DESE Office of Quality Schools said that the delay was due to a combination of several factors but was mostly due to allowing time to increase enrollment to ensure the school has a good start.

Herschend asked what would happen if after a year -- the school is in the same position. He said there should be a hard deadline established for when the school will open.

The Department recommends that the State Board of Education authorize The Leadership School to commence operations pursuant to the charter granted by the Missouri Charter Public School Commission for five years, effective for the 2022-23 school year. Motion carried 8-0.

VII. Items for Action

E. Consideration of Personnel Policy

DESE's complete set of personnel policies was adopted by the SBE on March 21, 2002. Revisions to some policies have been approved in subsequent years. Policy revisions have been reviewed by a committee composed of employees, executive staff, the human resources section, and legal counsel. Policy revisions may become necessary during the year, these changes will be presented to the State Board of Education.

DESE is proposing a new policy (pages 3-13), replacing current Personnel Policies 800-810 Alternate Work Location and 800-820 Telework. The purpose of the policy is to support the recruitment and retention of high quality staff while also supporting Department productivity. The new policy would allow, upon request from the employee and with final approval from management, positions within the DESE to work in either a Hybrid work model (combination of in office and remote locations) or full time remote work setting if specific criteria are met. The policy also includes provisions for temporary telework under certain circumstances. Motion. SBE adopt the personnel policy as presented. Motion carried 8-0.

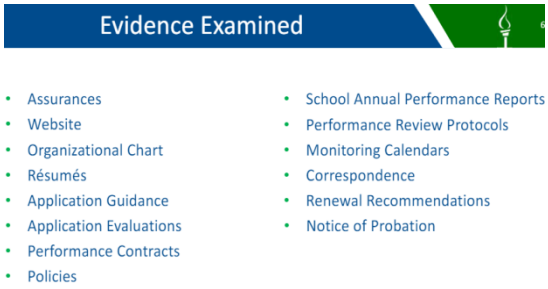
F. Consideration of Charter Sponsor Evaluation for the Missouri Charter Public School Commission (MCPSC)

Jocelyn Strand, Coordinator; Rachel Uptergrove, Director of Charter Schools, DESE Office of Quality Schools; and Robbyn Wahby, Executive Director of the Missouri Charter Public School Commission, presented. Strand said the Revised Statutes of Missouri § 160.400, requires DESE to evaluate charter sponsors at least every three years. She said charter sponsors are evaluated against six standards found in 5 CSR 20-100.260, Charter Sponsorship Standards. Strand explained that MCPSC is one of nine charter school sponsors in Missouri. At this time, MCPSC has 12 charter schools in its portfolio in Kansas City and St. Louis. She offered the graphic below to describe the schools.

School	City	Current Grade Span	Years in MCPSC
Academy for Integrated Arts	Kansas City	PK-6	2018 - 21
Brookside Charter School	Kansas City	PK-8	2018 - 21
Citizens of the World Kansas City	Kansas City	PK-4, 6-8	2016 - 21
DeLaSalle Charter School	Kansas City	9-12	2018 - 21
Ewing Marion Kauffman School	Kansas City	5-12	2019 - 21
Gateway Science Academy	St. Louis	K-12	2018 - 21
Hogan Preparatory Academy	Kansas City	PK-12	2020 - 21
Kairos Academies	St. Louis	6-7	2018 - 21
Kansas City Girls Preparatory Academy	Kansas City	5-6	2019 - 21
University Academy	Kansas City	PK-12	2018 - 21
Atlas Public Schools	St. Louis	K-2	Not Yet Open
The Leadership School	Normandy	K-1	Not Yet Open

Uptergrove told the SBE that the sponsor evaluation covered the period from July 1, 2017 through June 30, 2020 and offered the following graphics to describe the timeline and the types of data analyzed. She said the evaluation process takes approximately three months.

Time	Activity
March 2021	Sponsor Document Submission
March 2021	DESE Evaluation
April 2021	Preliminary Report and Feedback
May 2021	Additional Documentation
May 2021	Final Evaluation
June 2021	Report to State Board of Education and Commissioner



Uptergrove then summarized the findings of the sponsor evaluation by saying that DESE finds that the Missouri Charter Public School Commission is in material compliance with all six standards within the sponsorship duties per§ 160.400.17,RSMo. She offered the following graphic.

Standard	Status
Standard 1: Sponsor Commitment and Capacity	Meets Standard
Standard 2: Application Process and Decision-Making	Meets Standard
Standard 3: Charter Contract	Meets Standard
Standard 4: Ongoing Oversight and Evaluation	Meets Standard
Standard 5: Fiscal Oversight	Meets Standard
Standard 6: Renewal, Replication, Expansion, Revocation, and Closure Decision-Making	Meets Standard

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Addressing the Chair of the MCPSC, Delbert Scott; Herschend suggested that while the Commission has met the written criteria to continue as a sponsor, there are no criteria that speak to the academic success of the charter schools. Herschend said there are charter schools that are now performing at what would be unaccredited levels if they were evaluated as traditional public schools are. He said he believes that charter schools should be held to performance standards that are similar to traditional public schools. Scott answered by saying the main goal of the MCPSC is to ensure every child has a good school to go to. He said that the only way to compare charters and traditional publics is to compare the charter with the local district and more specifically with the area within the local district. Scott emphasized that the MCPSC strives to improve our schools every day. Herschend then asked: When they do not perform what do you do? Scott responded by saying that we provide more oversight – but we do not do the work for them. Herschend suggested that is "a short answer." Responding to Herschend, MCPSC member Alicia Kotarba said we close low performing schools. Herschend then said he is concerned about education not being delivered to the students we are responsible for. He said that unless you take a stand about student performance -- we can have students failing many years of school. Kotarba emphasized that MCPSC is monitoring every school in its portfolio via the individual charter performance contract. Herschend responded by saying that some of your schools are performing outstandingly -- while others are performing at or below the level of the surrounding district.

Lenz said he has found that when a charter school isn't performing – the leadership cites the low performance of the surrounding district. He said that he is aware that when MPCSC schools fail -- it closes the schools. He said he is very proud of the Commission for the approach.

Bailey asked that the MCPSC join the SBE and DESE in its efforts to strengthen and support social-emotional learning in schools.

Shields suggested that the MCPSC portfolio of schools will expand as universities get out of the charter school sponsoring business – which he said he applauds some universities for doing. Shields asserted there should be some notion of just how many charter schools a community can absorb. He said that when too many charters are present in a community, they start to cannibalize each other as well as the surrounding school district. Shields asked whether there will be discussions about the capacity of a community to support charter schools. Scott responded by saying no one forces people to go to charter schools and parents vote with their feet. He said on limiting the number of charter schools in a community -- I don't know how you would set that limit. Shields said he believes there needs to be a hard look at the limits of enrollment. Robbyn Wahby, Executive Director of the MCPSC, said charter school applicants must make the case that there is demand for the school as part of the application process. She said the Commission also holds a public hearing within the community so residents have a chance to say whether they do or do not want a charter school. She said we work with the local community before any decision is made to sponsor a school.

Westbrooks-Hodge said a very deliberate effort exists in the St. Louis region to address the capacity question. She asked whether the MCPSC has been involved in those efforts Wahby responded by saying the MCPSC has not been invited to the table for those conversations and added that she believes there no interest in including the Commission. Scott added that the MCPSC would welcome the conversation. Lenz asked whether capacity conversations have taken place with St. Louis Public Schools. Wahby answered by saying that the Commission has not been invited to participate in those conversations.

Shields said that as the MCPSC portfolio of schools grows, the SBE wishes to maintain a very close relationship. He noted that the MPCSC was the first to create very good school performance contracts and that the commission is doing good work.

Motion. Based on findings that the Missouri Charter Public School Commission is in material compliance with its sponsorship duties per § 160.400.17, RSMo, and meets the sponsorship standards of 5 CSR 20-100.260, DESE recommends that the Missouri Charter Public School Commission be allowed to continue as a sponsor in good standing. Motion carried 8-0.

G. Consideration of a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking to Amend 5 CSR 20-100.220, Internet Filtering

Jocelyn Strand, Coordinator, DESE Office of Quality Schools explained that as part of the 5-year statutory review of administrative rules, DESE staff identified adjustments that needed to be made to appropriately include materials incorporated by reference in 5 CSR 20-100.220, Internet Filtering. She said the proposed amendment to 5 CSR 20-100.220, Internet Filtering (page 2-3), will update the rule to include complete references to applicable federal law and provide the standards by which public schools will be held accountable to ensure compliance with state law.

Among other requirements, Strand said the amendment will require public school districts and public charter schools that offer public access computers, as defined in section 182.825, RSMo, to implement software and/or develop a policy that restricts minors' ability to access pornographic material pursuant to section 182.827, RSMo. She added public school districts and public charter schools that receive discounts for internet access and internal connections pursuant to 47 U.S.C. section 254(h) and (l) must certify that they are compliant with the Children's Internet Protection Act (CIPA) (47 C.F.R. section 54.520), which requires the public school district or public charter school to have an Internet safety policy. Strand added that Public school districts and public charter schools must annually certify to DESE through the Assurance Checklist if they have met either section (1) or (2) of this provision, based on their circumstances.

Motion. 5 CSR 20-100.220, Internet Filtering, and that the State Board finds this proposed amendment necessary to carry out the purposes of §§ 161.092, 182.825, and 182.827, RSMo. Motion carried 8-0.

H. Consideration of an Order of Rulemaking to Amend 5CSR 20-400.500, Application for Certificate of License to Teach

Paul Katnik, Assistant Commissioner, DESE Office of Educator Quality explained that this rule outlines the requirements to obtain a certificate of license to teach. He said the proposed amendment will outline the requirements that must be met in order for a certified teacher to add a Library Media Specialist K-12 certificate. Katnik said the amendment was approved at the March 2021 SBE meeting and that public comment period occurred May 3, 2021 – June 2, 2021. He said DESE received 31 comments (pages 2-3). Of those thirty-one (31) comments, Katnik said twenty-seven (27) comments were in favor of amending the requirements to add a Library Media Specialist K-12 certificate, and four (4) comments were in opposition of amending the requirements to add a Library Media Specialist K-12 certificate.

Motion. SBE authorize publication in the Missouri Register of an Order of Rulemaking to amend 5 CSR 20-400.500, Application for Certificate of License to Teach, and that the State Board finds the proposed amendment necessary to carry out the purposes of §§ 161.092, 168.011, 168.021, 168.071, 168.081, 168.400, 168.405, and 168.409, RSMo. Motion carried 8-0.

I. Consideration of an In Addition for 5 CSR 20-300.120

Margaret Landwehr, DESE Chief Counsel, told the SBE that as a result of the creation of the Office of Childhood, DESE is transferring a rule (i.e., [5 CSR 20-300.120] 5 CSR 25-100.120 Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, Part C2) from the Division of Learning Services, Office of Special Education, to the Office of Childhood effective August 30, 2021.

J. Consideration of an In Addition for 5 CSR 20-100.310, 5CSR 20-100.320, and 5 CSR 20-100.330

Margaret Landwehr, DESE Chief Counsel explained that because of the creation of the Office of Childhood, the DESE is transferring several rules from the Division of Learning Services, Office of Quality Schools, to the Office of Childhood effective August 30, 2021. She said that effective August 30, 2021, the following rules are transferred to the Office of Childhood.

She said it describes the organization of DESE, as well as the general methods and procedures by which the public may obtain information and make submissions or requests. Landwehr said this rule is being amended to further describe methods and procedures by which the public may obtain information.

Motion. SBE authorize publication in the Missouri Register of the proposed rulemaking to amend 5 CSR 10-1.010, General Department Organization, and that the SBE finds that the proposed amendment is necessary to carry out the purposes of §§161.092and 536.023(3), RSMo. Motion carried 8-0.

L. Consideration of a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking to Adopt 5 CSR 10-3.010, Access for Inspection of Public Records and Fees for Copying of Public Records

DESE Chief Counsel Landwehr explained this rule (page 2-3) supplements the requirements of Chapter 610, RSMo, and prescribes the process for individuals and organizations to gain access to DESE public records and the fees for copying of those public records. Landwehr said copies of public records shall be provided by DESE and shall be subject to the department's collection of search, research, copy fees, and shipping charges as set forth in section 610.026, RSMo. She added requesters may avoid shipping charges by accepting their records electronically or by picking up their requested documents at the DESE Governmental Affairs Office in Jefferson City. VIII. Items for Discussion

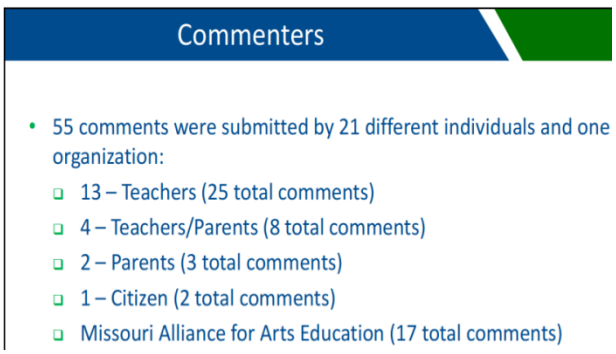
M. Report on the Periodic Administrative Rule Review Pursuant to §536.175, RSMO

Margaret Landwehr, DESE Chief Counsel, recounted that in 2012, the Missouri Legislature passed § 536.175, RSMo, which requires each state agency to review all of its rules, respond to comments received, and answer a series of questions every five years. She reported DESE's first report was submitted in June of 2016 and this second report is due June 30, 2021. Landwehr then reviewed the rule review process, provided an update on the report, and reviewed responses to the comments received by DESE.

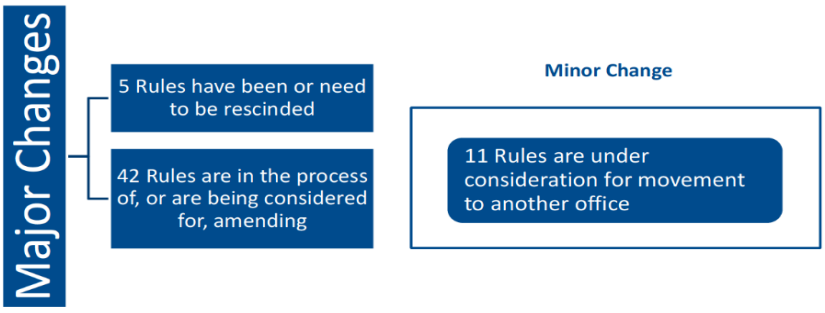
Landwehr said public comments on all DESE rules were received from July 1, 2020 through August 30, 2020. She provided the following graphics to describe the comments.



Landwehr explained that DESE reviewed each rule to determine whether it is obsolete, overlaps, duplicates, or conflicts with other states rules. She added that the review is intended to investigate whether a less restrictive or more narrowly tailored rule is appropriate. Other review determinations include:

- Whether the rule continues to be necessary (is there a need for amendment or rescission)
- Whether incorporated material is still relevant and meets the requirements of statute
- If there is an effect on small business, then whether the existence of the rule is still justified.

Landwehr told the SBE that DESE has 149 rules and that over 30 DESE staffers spent time reviewing. She offered the following graphic to describe changes made as a result of the review.



Shields asked whether a schedule will be created for systematically rescinding rules. Landwehr answered by saying that there is no set schedule at this point. Shields asked that presenting DESE staff should cite § 536.175, RSMo as the reason for rule rescissions in the future for proper context.

N. Report on COVID-19 Response

Mallory McGowin, DESE Chief Communications Officer; DESE Deputy Commissioner Tracy Hinds; DESE Deputy Commissioner Kari Monsees; along with other members of the DESE Executive Leadership Team, presented. McGowin told the SBE that in terms of health, school reopening/operating guidance was updated May 20th. She said the guidance suggested who should be screened for COVID-19 before entering schools, and included recommendations for cleaning/disinfecting hard surfaces. McGowin said state guidance for mask use in schools remains unchanged (per CDC maintaining school guidance) and emphasized that the guidance documents remain just that -- guidance for LEAS. She said the guidance document has been updated six times and that DESE hopes that final guidance will be available before the start of the school year.

Tracy Hinds, DESE Deputy Commissioner, reported on social emotional learning (SEL) initiatives. She said the Fostering Our Best Selves to Build Whole Communities document was developed by a team of school based mental health professional and emphasizes Knowing Myself, Managing Myself, Building Relationships, Understanding Others and Engaging Community. She offered the following graphics to describe each.

Hinds reported that next steps in the Fostering Our Best Selves to Build Whole Communities process in include providing and executive summary, providing an evidence based resource list, and working on secondary social emotional support.

Westbrooks-Hodge commented that the SBE is behind social-emotional learning measures 5000 percent. She suggested the work is important because a number of issues related to social-emotional health are manifesting themselves. She asked Hinds whether teachers are being given resources to help them understand how they can help students in the classroom. Hinds indicated that the work is laying a foundation for both teachers and students.

DESE Assistant Commissioner, Chris Neale reported on the American Rescue Plan (ARP) Elementary & Secondary School Emergency Relief (ESSER) III State Plan. Neale said ESSER III funding is to be dedicated to school reopening and that applications are to be submitted by June 18, 2021. He reported the total Missouri allocation is 1.96 billion dollars (pending inclusion in the state budget) 90 percent of which will be distributed directly to local education agencies (LEAs) to spend on a wide range of allowable uses to respond to COVID-19. He said DESE will use the remaining 10 percent of the funds to address the impact of COVID-19 through state-level projects and initiatives. Neale emphasized that DESE will need spending authority from the legislature for all funds.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Neale stated that DESE actions with regard to ARP ESSER III State Plan is focused on removing barriers to provide instructional flexibility while emphasizing health and safety, the delivery of instruction, and student welfare. He said the ESSER III State Plan will place premiums on the most effective strategies to reopen schools safely, student learning acceleration, and broadband internet availability.

Neale told the SBE that the ESSER III State Plan addresses several priority issues including the educator workforce, committing resources to rigorous learning acceleration, and addressing the digital divide." He indicated that DESE plans to create teacher recruitment and retention grants for all LEAs while also providing increased professional learning resources for educators. Neale said the ESSER III State Plan addresses the state's assessment system which will undergo a redesign to bring a greater focus on early literacy, to become fully aligned to the priority standards, and to better support learning processes. He said teacher retention and attrition statistics have long been a concern and have been exacerbated by the pandemic. Neale provided the following graphics to describe DESE actions under the ESSER III State Plan to address educator workforce, learning acceleration and literacy, and the digital divide.

Shields asked about the possibility of a legislative special session to secure spending authority for the ESSER III funds. Shields encouraged the Commissioner to request that the Governor call for such a special session. Vandeven responded by saying spending authority is needed because the spending timeline for the funding is short.

Shields stated that movement is also needed to address the digital divide. He said that more money is needed to build the system out and that the time for talk has past. Shields said we simply need to spend the money to do it. Lenz asked if DESE is working with other state agencies to combine and multiply efforts to address internet solutions. He said there are many places in urban areas that also do not have adequate service. Westbrooks-Hodge suggested public/private partnerships should be stressed to address the digital divide. She asserted there are many in the private sector who would like to help but do not fully understand the problems. She said if we can electrify America and lay cable across the ocean – why can't we close this digital divide. Claycomb reported that regional planning commissions are starting to do a lot of work to connect rural areas. However, he added that we must keep in mind that private enterprise is in business for profit -- so they must count the number of houses that can potentially be served. He said at this point, rural areas do not have the critical mass of people needed to move the needed change in policy.

Herschend commented that a billion dollars coming into education is awesome. However, he said he prays that we will demand accountability for the funds that will be spent. Herschend asked if there is any opportunity to fund hardship teacher placement incentives so teachers can be placed in districts that have a hard time attracting and holding teachers. He said incenting both quantity and quality of teachers should be high priorities. Neale answered by saying that this is one-time money -- so we have to be careful that it is not used to create ongoing expenses. He also noted that differential teacher pay in Missouri has to be tied to specific work duties which can make the provision of financial incentives challenging. Lenz asked that DESE push legislators to make teacher salaries a priority because we cannot compete with other states that are offering better salaries.

Schrag said superintendents have asked whether the number of hours that retired teachers are allowed to work without losing retirement benefits could be increased. She asserted that many superintendents have indicated that they have retired teachers in their communities that are interested and available to teach. Neale answered by saying that the emergency rule signed by the Governor that waives certain provisions regarding the number of hours retired teachers can teach without losing retirement benefits will end August 31st. He said that if the rule is extended – it is assumed that provision will be extended as well. Herschend asked why there is a restriction on the number of retired teachers who can come back into the system. Neale answered by saying statute is focused on protecting the financial solvency of the retirement system. Herschend suggested that there may be a legislative fix that could be prioritized as a tool to address teacher shortages. Claycomb said that a retired teacher can go back into the classroom right now -- but they cannot go back and continue to draw retirement payments. Shields added that the Governor can provide some temporary flexibility, but going forward, there would need to be legislative solutions because any modification to the retirement rules could damage the fiscal viability of the system.

Referring to the graphic below, DESE Deputy Commissioner Kari Monsees provided an update on COVID relief funds. He reported that ESSER I funds are about 90 percent distributed at this point and that the two-year grants are moving steadily. He said DESE did receive supplemental ESSER II allocations and is working on grant details. He also reported that DESE is distributing funds to non-public schools.

The CTE Advisory Council (CTE-AC) is required to make an annual report to the SBE and the Commissioner of Education regarding the development, implementation, and administration of the state budget for career and technical education. Roger Barnes, Coordinator, Career and Technical Education; DESE Office of College and

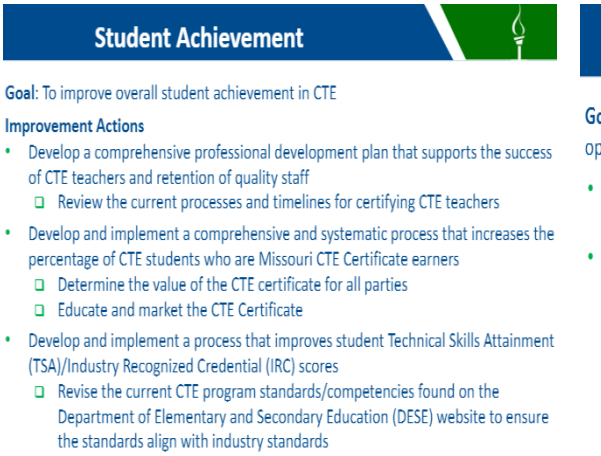
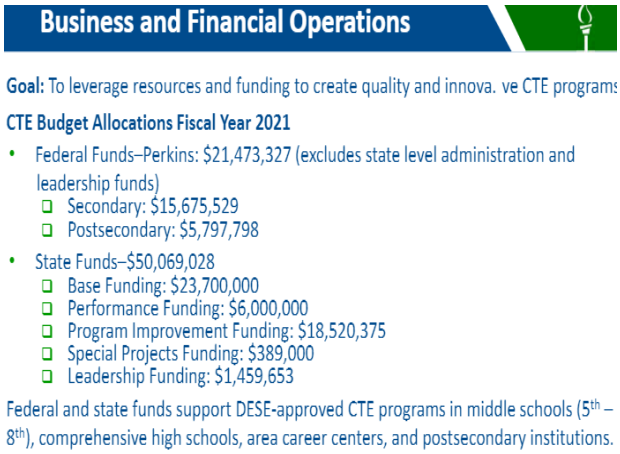
Career Readiness; RJ Catizon, CTE Advisory Council Chair; and Dr. Bart Washer, CTE Advisory Council Vice Chair, presented the annual report.

RJ Catizon noted that there is much practical experience and expertise represented on the CTE-AC. He told the SBE that the CTE-AC strategic plan was approved October 22, 2018 with the vision to create career-ready Missourians and the mission is to provide relevant and meaningful opportunities for students so that they have the skills, knowledge, and experiences necessary to support the needs of business and industry. He said CTE-AC priorities include:

- Student achievement
- Marketing, image, and partnership
- Business and financial operations

Catizon offered the following graphics to describe each strategic priority.





Washer described opportunities and successes as well as challenges during the COVID-19 pandemic. He said COVID19's impact on CTE in Missouri were profound, but CTE programs emerged as being needed more than ever as evidenced by the economy, production, and the current supply chain challenges.

- CTE instructors and administrators (and education in general) found new ways to educate our students.
- New instructional methodologies and skills were developed (.i.e., remote learning through online asynchronous instruction.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Many CTE areas (in society) were deemed "essential" during the pandemic (.i.e., health occupations).
- New CTE opportunities continue evolving in a "digital and virtual" economy.

Washer suggested that challenges include:

- Delivery: Some CTE areas are more conducive to online/virtual learning and instruction than other content areas.
- Learning: Students, student learning/interaction, instruction, and CTE teachers were negatively impacted. Hands-on learning experiences were significantly reduced.
- Student Data: Anecdotal/empirical data are still being analyzed. IRC participation rates were negatively impacted.
- IRC's earned by CTE Students in 2019 – 9,293
- IRC's earned by CTE Students in 2020 – 5,058

Washer then made the following recommendations. He suggested that going forward:

- Increase funding for CTE marketing initiatives (50,000 in fiscal year 2021)
- Reinstate CTE construction financing program (from 2009)
  - 50/50 match with local education agencies for new or renovating facilities
- Apply COVID relief funds (e.g., CARES) for students who could not pursue their IRC
- Maintain the Career and Technical Student Organizations (CTSOs) financial operations and resources as they currently exist
- Conduct a follow-up survey of students, parents, educators, and business/employers; replicate the "Perceptions of CTE" survey administered in 2020

Herschend commented the CTE marketing campaign is excellent. He asked how many students are in CTE programs today. Roger Barnes, DESE Coordinator, Career and Technical Education, responded by saying 126,000 individual students in grades 9-12. Herschend suggested that figures be provided that would indicate the number of students who are actually working in the CTE fields for which they have trained. Washer responded by saying that many people just don't know what they want to do until they are in their late 30s and early 40s. He said that while some students know what they want to do – many train in particular CTE areas but then do not chose to work in those fields.

Lenz commented that there are serious shortages people to do technical work. He suggested that it is important to provide information to students who are interested in entering technical fields because people are needed to do that kind of work.

Westbrooks-Hodge asked how we can help students who are "wandering" with regard to what they wish to do with their lives. Catizon said that he has a strong passion for making students aware of opportunities. He said the carpenters of St. Louis and Kansas City try to embed themselves in apprenticeship programs to help students find careers in carpentry. Catizon added that we can go in front of the students as much as we want -- but we have to continue after graduation. He said we have members that have the heart to stay connected with students and we have to make impressions with students at earlier stages in their lives. Barnes added that the Missouri Connections Career Interest Inventory, available through school counselors, plants seeds to help students understand their interests and their talents.

Claycomb said that regardless of ability -- there is a niche for students to grow in CTE. He said Career and Technical Students Organizations (e.g., FFA, FBLA) are very important in that regard. He said Fordham University found that 90 percent of students who concentrate in CTE go on to graduate high school.

Shields said this topic is very timely because everyone in the business world is experiencing worker shortages. He suggested that the notion among parents is that if you choose to go the CTE route -- you are precluding a degree. Shields stated it is important to let students and parents know it isn't an either/or situation. Washer responded by saying that parents believe that a college degree is still the best route to prosperity and some of those old stereo types are just not true.

Schrag commented that we sometimes forget that people have different skill sets, talents, and interests. She said that some of the most successful people she knows are people who have gone the CTE route, started businesses, and stayed in their communities to provide jobs and create prosperity.

P. Report on Normandy Schools Collaborative

Margie Vandeven, Commissioner of Education; Marcus Robinson, Superintendent of the Normandy Schools Collaborative; and William Humphrey, Normandy Schools Collaborative Joint Executive Governing Board (JEGB) president led the discussion. Vandeven recounted that on May 20, 2014, the SBE authorized, by resolution, the establishment of the Normandy Schools Collaborative to be governed by a Joint Executive Governing Board (JEGB), pursuant to § 162.081.3(2)(b), RSMo. On April 29, 2021, during a special SBE meeting, the SBE approved a proclamation for the Normandy Schools Collaborative (NSC) designed to provide a successful path forward for the students in the district. Vandeven said that Item 4) b. of the approved proclamation requires quarterly reports to the SBE regarding the students' progress on academic achievement and other measurable steps the Normandy Joint Executive Governing Board (JEGB) has taken in the process toward full accreditation in the district. She said this presentation is the first of these quarterly reports.

Marcus Robinson, Superintendent of the Normandy Schools Collaborative, provided an overview of improvement strategies being implemented at NSC. He stated NSC is now focused on the future and not on what has come before. He said that first and foremost, we are working on providing safe and engaging environments with robust social-emotional wellbeing and trauma informed supports. Robinson said we are training young people to be great students and to be great citizens in the community. Robinson told the SBE that NSC has designed and launched attendance incentives and intervention programming and is connecting students to the wrap around supports that can improve academic success. He emphasized that NSC is establishing a shared vision of excellence for student culture and codifying a consistent behavior management system.

Robinson stated that Normandy is experiencing foundational issues with regard to personnel and human resources and has designed and launched a comprehensive recruitment strategy to attract diverse teacher candidates, with a particular focus on filling hard to serve roles and leveraging partnerships with local and national universities. He said the new HR director is currently working on strategies for teacher recruitment. Robinson indicated that a recent recruitment fair resulted in multiple teacher hires for the 2021-2022 school year. He asserted that the Normandy community is not the same as it was 30 years ago. He said that NSC needs to attract top talent, and retain top talent by supporting social emotional wellbeing, deepening content knowledge and instructional skill, and building a value-based culture.

Robinson reported that NSC is developing a systematic approach to effectively (re)align volunteers and partnerships to support students' attendance, academic and social emotional learning (SEL) needs. Robinson said that the NSC has impactful partnerships to strengthen family community partnerships through tighter coordination and alignment to strategic priorities. He reported that the Director of Community Partnerships and Engagement maintains frequent and ongoing contact with community partners who provide wrap-around services for our students.

Robison told the SBE that the voters of Normandy recently approved a high school construction update. He said NSC voters voted for Proposition V (V for Victory) which addresses the health, safety, and security issues presented by 30 years of deferred maintenance. He said the bond initiative yields almost $29 million in proceeds to address those issues. He stated West Hall is currently undergoing renovations to the cafeteria, all classrooms, a new food service area, and updated Career and Technical Education spaces. Robinson added that by the fall of 2023, Central and East Halls will be completely renovated with updates to all classrooms, labs, and fine and performing arts spaces. A secured campus connector will be added between Central and East Halls to provide a safer and more secure entry to the high school for all of our students.

Robinson then presented graphics depicting student achievement measures. Robinson told the SBE that attendance has been an issue within NSC and the pandemic did not help that situation. He said that district officials were fearful that the loss of connection to school would prove particularly detrimental to student performance, but as the graphics indicate, student achievement remained relatively constant. He noted that NSC students have shown small but measureable improvements in the short time that instructional interventions have been in place.

William Humphrey, Normandy Schools Collaborative Joint Executive Governing Board (JEGB) president stated he made a conscious decision to make an investment in the young people of the school district after his retirement. He said that as president of the JEGB, he will challenge the system to get results. Humphrey said that during his few JEGB meetings, he has had opportunities to have one-on-one meetings with members of the community who have expressed concerns. He stated he has started mending relationships within the community to address those concerns. Humphrey said from the perspective of governance -- he will ask the hardest questions to ensure that NSC does not remain in a poor position.

Shields asked Humphrey about rebuilding relationships with municipal partners. Shields indicated that he has talked to those involved and was able to determine that the relationships were broken. Humphrey responded by saying he has engaged in conversations with the mayors of the NSC municipalities and has told them everyone must push in the same direction. He said he has told them that when students do not attend school -- they cannot learn and that attendance needs to increase. Humphrey emphasized that he is having very candid conversations about the things that need to happen to increase the quality of the schools.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Claycomb asked Robinson about his superintendent certification status. Robinson, who is not yet certified as a superintendent in Missouri, said he is waiting for his dissertation hearing and that once he receives his doctorate, New York will issue him a superintendent certificate. Vandeven added that because Missouri has reciprocity with New York -- once Robinson is certified as a superintendent in New York, he will be certified as a superintendent in Missouri as well.

Hallquist noted that Robinson was brought into NSC because he has a track record of improving other districts. She asked him what two or three things are going to help in Normandy. Robinson answered by saying you have to have a plan and then you have to stick to it. He said that Normandy suffers from a lack of accountability and that culture must come before curriculum. Referring to the fact that students have been caught with loaded weapons at school, Robinson asserted that as long as teachers and students do not feel safe -- learning cannot occur. He said classrooms have to be hallowed ground where teachers feel safe to teach and students feel safe to learn.

Lenz noted that at this point, there are quite a few teacher vacancies in the district. Robinson said that the district is working to reverse a trend that has placed long-term substitutes in the classrooms. He said the district is aggressively recruiting, has had a teacher job fair, and is looking at filling the classrooms with qualified teachers in the fall.

Westbrooks-Hodge commented that as a Normandy graduate and resident of the community -- she is grateful for the work that has been done. She then asked Robinson about remaining gaps and areas where help is needed. Westbrooks-Hodge stated that we, as the State Board of Education, want to know how we can help. Robinson said millions of dollars always help and that NSC needs to increase overall teacher effectiveness and flexibility in seat times can help in achieving that. Westbrooks-Hodge requested that for the next SBE update that Robinson provide explicit ways that the SBE can help. She also asked to hear about the culture at NSC from a teacher's perspective. Westbrooks-Hodge then asked Humphrey how the rest of the JEGB is reacting to the new board culture since new members were added to the JEGB. Humphrey stated that it is important that we set the governance culture right to retain teachers. He indicated that the district would institute employee exist interviews to understand why teachers are leaving so interventions can be designed. Humphrey stated the JEGB is going to institutionalize more robust survey methods to know more about the culture.

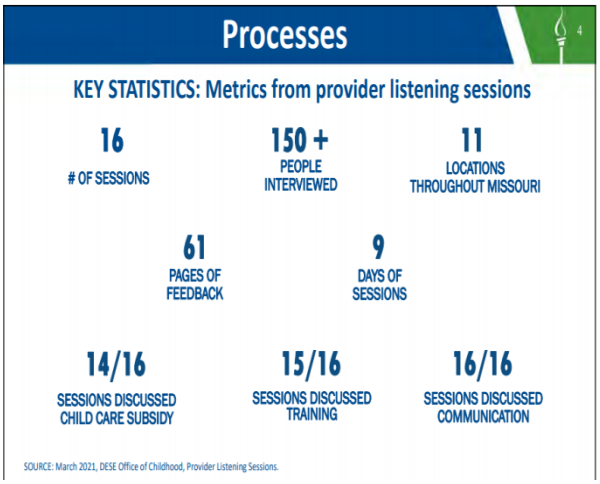
Referring to the large number of improvement programs underway, Herschend asked about a timeline for the district becoming accredited. Robinson said that basically, we have a three-year time frame in mind but we hope that we are looking at accreditation in 24 months. Robinson emphasized this is doable work and suggested that the growth we are going to see in Normandy can help others in doing similar work.

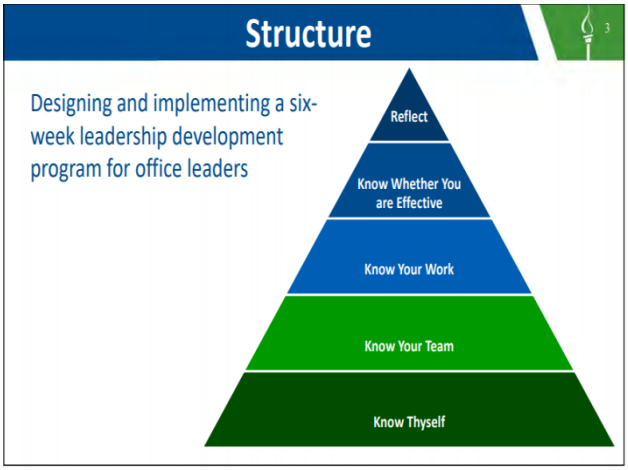
Addressing Robinson, Shields said that finishing his superintendent certification will make things in the NSC a lot better. Shields added that the first priority must be increasing student performance so the district governance may return to a locally elected board. He said he is not sure that the model of appointed boards is the right model for Missouri and the SBE wishes to get back to locally elected school boards.

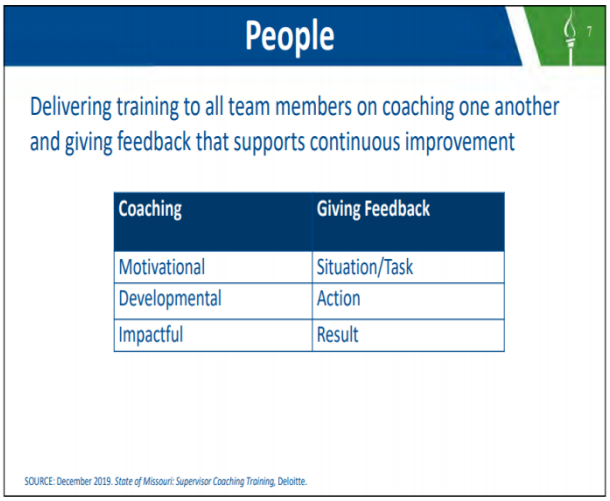
Q. Update on the Office of Childhood

Pam Thomas, Assistant Commissioner of the Office of Childhood provided the update. She reported the Office of Childhood is less than 75 days away from launch. Thomas advised the new office will include early and extended learning programs within the DESE, as well as, home visiting and child care programs in the Departments of Social Services and Health and Senior Services. She then provided an overview of the three elements of transition activities (e.g., structure, processes, and people) necessary for the successful launch of the office. Using the graphics below, she discussed each of the transition activities which include leadership development for all office leaders, provider listening sessions, and delivering training to all team members on continuous improvements.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT







Thomas reported that process recommendations from the provider listening sessions included:

CHILD CARE SUBSIDY
- Reduce paper and manual processes
- Identify a state contact for regions of the state
- Host regular meetings to keep providers informed

TRAINING
- Improve the quality of training
- Connect trainings to school readiness

COMMUNICATION
- Use plain language that is easy to understand
- Provide regular updates, especially before policies change

Thomas reminded the SBE that the Office of Childhood's objectives are to identify what children and families need, provide high-quality services, and evaluate the work to ensure positive outcomes. She emphasized the office is CITIZEN-CENTRIC where children are at the center of what we do. She said the Office is focused on what families need and added that some families just need a bit of information while others need quite a bit more assistance.

Herschend asked about criteria and training for early childhood teachers. Thomas responded by saying that they have started conversations about teachers and teaching but there are no plans as yet for changing teacher certification requirements. Herschend suggested that colleges of education will need to gear up to provide more early education teachers so he encouraged Thomas to look at strategies for early teacher certification. He then asked what the goals are for getting students into classrooms. Thomas answered by saying that enrollment goals are part of the strategic plan. She said that the initial goal is to get enrollment percentages back to pre COVID levels, then to increase enrollment percentages by about five percent each year thereafter.

Herschend noted that many school districts have already put together early childhood programs and he asked how the Office of Childhood is working with those districts. Thomas said that the Office of Childhood will be collecting success stories from school districts to share best practices with other districts that wish to initiate early childhood education programs.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Bailey commented that she appreciates Thomas for knowing and applying theory. She encouraged Thomas to keep up the good work. Schrag added she believes that Thomas is a great strategic thinker. She said that the initiatives of the Office of Childhood will help move Missouri up in the ranking of states.

Lenz said he is extremely excited about the potential offered by the Office of Childhood. He asked how we are going to reach the students that we most need to reach. Thomas answered by saying that serving those students will rely on partnerships with schools and counties so the Office can identify the families with the greatest needs.

Herschend noted that kindergarten is not mandatory in Missouri. He asked Commissioner Vandeven whether making kindergarten mandatory should be part of DESE's legislative agenda. Vandeven said that subject has been under consideration.

R. Governmental Affairs Update

2021 TAFP Legislation

This Commission will meet four times a year and will produce an "Autism Roadmap for Missouri." The Autism Roadmap will include: outlined goals including a review of services, identification of needs, and recommendations for improvements. The Commission will be comprised of 25 members as outlined in the bill. The Commission will work in four phases as outlined in the bill and submit a report to the Director of the Department of Mental Health and the Governor upon completion of each phrase. The statewide plan shall match workforce needs with appropriate educational resources. DESE shall convene work groups from each CTE program area. Such work groups shall develop and recommend performance standards or course competencies. DESE shall develop written model curriculum frameworks for CTE programs, which shall not be subject to certain limits on performance standards provided under existing law, as described in the bill.	HB 297

Hallquist commented that as she reads the legislation, she does not think that anything that will improve student outcomes. She stated that she finds that troubling. Herschend said he agreed.

IX. Licensure

Items in this section focused on issuance of teaching certificates, substitute teaching certificates or disciplining individuals by adverse action with regard to their Missouri teaching certification. i. A+ Dual Credit/Dual Enrollment Administrative Rule

Deputy Commissioner Leroy Wade recounted that during the 2019 session, the General Assembly passed and Governor Parson signed legislation establishing a dual credit/dual enrollment scholarship program linked to the existing A+ program. Although the program was enacted in 2019, the program was not funded until FY 2022.

Wade explained the statute requires the department to establish a procedure for the reimbursement of the cost of tuition and fees for any dual credit or dual enrollment course offered to a student in high school who meets the requirements for A+ eligibility immediately before taking the course. He said the dual credit coursework must be offered by an institution of higher education or vocational or technical school. Private vocational or technical schools must meet certain criteria in order to be eligible. Wade told the CBHE that reimbursements for dual credit or dual enrollment coursework must be made on the basis of financial need.

By department policy established previously, Wade explained dual credit coursework is a college level course taught by a high school instructor to high school students who are simultaneously earning both high school and college credit for the course. Dual enrollment coursework is a college level course taught by postsecondary faculty to high school students who are earning college credit, and may be earning high school credit, for the course.

Wade said that although the statute was drafted with the intent of using excess A+ money to fund the dual credit/dual enrollment scholarship, that approach is considered problematic as the availability of such funds would not be known until payments to all postsecondary A+ students were completed. Under that approach, Wade explained that the dual credit/dual enrollment payment in many instances would not occur until nearly nine months after the cost was incurred. He said that approach is inconsistent with the stated intent of the legislation which is to incentivize students to take dual credit or dual enrollment courses who would otherwise be unable to afford to do so. In recognition of that issue, Wade reported the legislature appropriated $5 million during the 2021 legislative session using a separate appropriation line dedicated to the dual credit/dual enrollment program. Given the difference between the $5 million appropriated and the projected cost of the program at the time of its passage ($9.9 million) and the short time frame for program implementation, Wade stated the decision was made to delay the program start until the spring 2022 semester. In order to have an administrative rule in place in time for that implementation, Wade said DHEWD is seeking Coordinating Board approval now.

Wade explained that because the intent is for this program to closely mirror the existing postsecondary A+ program, the rule retains as much of the existing A+ program's requirements as feasible. Consequently, the draft administrative rule (page 10-13) retains requirements relating to U.S. citizenship, attendance, A+ high school enrollment, grade point average, and the end-of-course mathematics exam requirement. Wade told the CBHE that some of these provisions required modification based on the fact that the recipients for this program will not have graduated from high school.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

To help understand the implementation of the proposed program, Wade outlined the process DHEWD has proposed for application through payment.

> 1. The student will complete an application, which will be available on DHEWD's website, and will submit it to DHEWD for review by the established deadline. The application will collect the family's Adjusted Gross Income information to help DHEWD rank the students by financial need, in accordance with the statutory requirements.
> 2. The high school will provide DHEWD a list of dual credit/dual enrollment students who have met the scholarship's A+ related eligibility criteria (GPA, attendance, good citizenship, End-of-course Exam).
> 3. DHEWD will match the applications received with the high school's list of dual credit/dual enrollment students. Students who have both applied and appear on their high school's verification list will be processed.
> 4. DHEWD will rank the matched students first by Adjusted Gross Income and then by earliest application received date. Students will be awarded in rank order starting with the lowest income until all available funds are expended or all eligible students are accounted for, whichever comes first. Students who cannot be funded initially will be considered if funding remains after the dual credit/dual enrollment providers have completed the final eligibility verification and disbursements have been made to all eligible students.
> 5. DHEWD will provide a certification roster of the potentially eligible students to the dual credit/dual enrollment providers for verification of eligibility and certification of the reimbursement amount.
> 6. In preparing the draft, DHEWD staff solicited comments from several constituent groups. The department received comments from nine individuals, three from the advisory group, five from the Student Financial Aid Committee, and one from department staff. The comments (pages 5-7) are summarized in three categories: Concerns, Recommendations, and Questions.

Wade said that if approved, DHEWD will begin the rule promulgation process by filing the proposed rule with the Secretary of State. The proposed rule will then be published in the Missouri Register and a 30 day public comment period will commence. Once the comment period has closed, the department will file an order of rulemaking, which will include information about comments received and any resulting revisions to the original proposed rule. Wade stated that the rule becomes effective 30 days after it is published in the Code of State Regulations. Wade said that generally the rule making process will take at least six months to complete.

Cornelison inquired about the procedure and information required to confirm student citizenship for program eligibility. Wade said that DHEWD will require flexibility to address issues surrounding citizenship. He indicated that institutions of higher education rely on the FAFSA to verify citizenship, which is not available for this population of high school students. He added that requiring postsecondary institutions to verify this eligibility criterion will create reimbursement delays and will require institutions to notify students of their ineligibility if they do not meet this criterion. Therefore, DHEWD will need to include a procedure for determining citizenship in the rule making recommendation and take all action necessary to make rule changes based on the citizenship status of students. Cornelison directed that DHEWD send any language related to citizenship issues to the members of the CBHE prior to the rule's final approval.

Motion. CBHE direct the Commissioner of Higher Education to take all actions necessary to ensure the attached proposed administrative rule becomes effective as soon as possible. Motion carried 8-0.

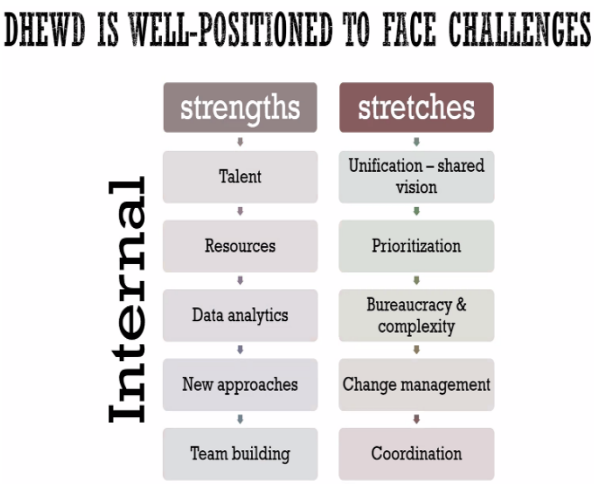
i. Strategic Planning Update from HCM Strategists

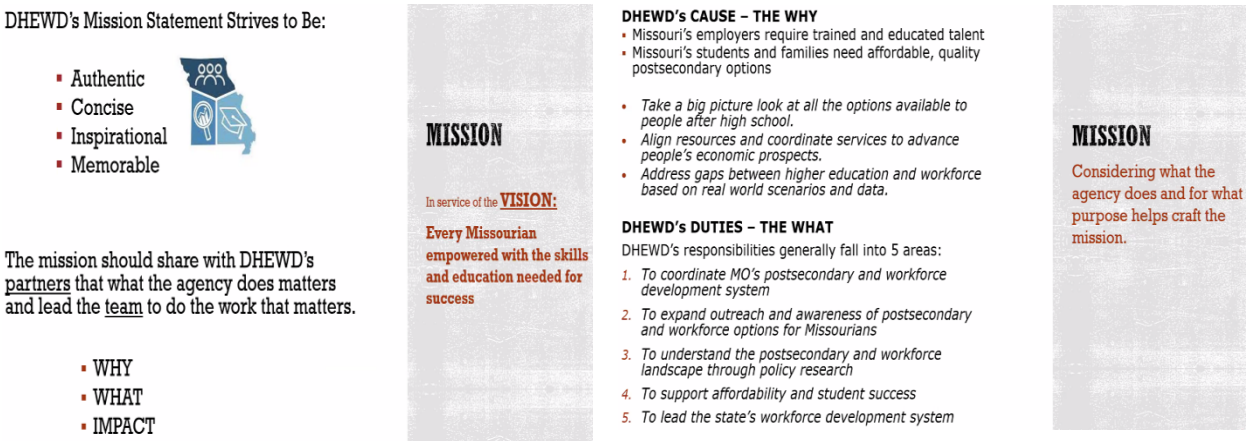
Jimmy Clarke, Senior Director of State Policy; and Rachelle Sharpe, Director of Postsecondary Finance and Affordability at HCM Strategists led an activity to assist the CBHE in developing the context for the new strategic plan, developing a mission statement. Sharpe offered the following graphic to describe Missouri's workforce and the current state of higher education. She noted that while there are some positive trends, there are also persistent challenges.

There is some good news…	However, …
Attainment rate at 53% and wages increase 30% with AA or 2x with BA	Nearly 2/3 of jobs require post-high school and there are shortages in certain fields
Higher labor force participation among those with more education	Declining labor force participation overall and WIOA enrollments lagging
Recent federal and state investments	Lower per FTE funding than most states
Enrollments increased in recent years	Gain erased during pandemic and direct enrollment has declined and FAFSAs are down
MO ranks highly in completions per FTE, improvements in transfer and remediation	Completions have decreased
MO leads in apprenticeships	Growth impacted by COVID



Sharpe told the CBHE that DHEWD is well-positioned to face challenges. Using the graphics above, she listed external and internal departmental opportunities and strengths that should be considered in the development of the strategic plan. Clarke then led the CBHE through a short exercise designed to further develop the strategic plan. He suggested that the members may want to consider the following when formulating the plan.

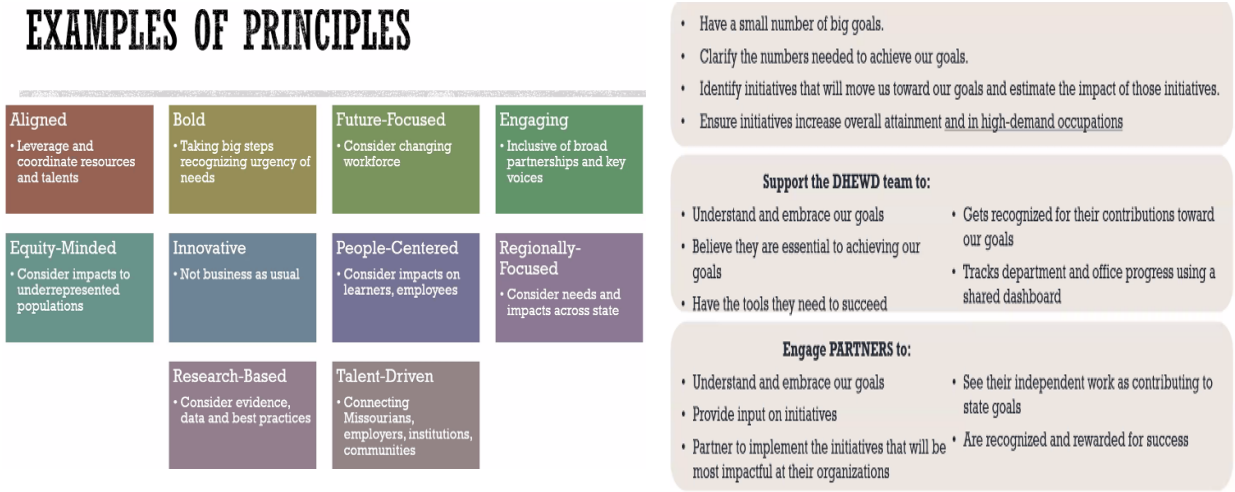
AMERICAN OVERSIGHT



Clarke suggested that mission statements tend to be a bit awkward in wording/language – so for effective communication to the general public -- he asked members of the CBHE to help DHEWD in developing the language as the process moves forward. He asked the members of the CBHE to consider:

- What are some of the core beliefs that should be kept at the fore?
- What is critical to keep top of mind as a guidepost for implementing the strategic plan?
- Considering the higher education and workforce systems what should be central for DHEWD as it engages with other agencies, institutions, non-profit organizations, employers, policymakers, and other partners?

Clarke then provided examples of principles (see below) that may guide the work as the language is developed. In addition, he offered suggestions to clarify and coordinate the process, support the DHEWD team, and to better engage partners.



Sharpe ended the session by saying that HCM strategists will continue to facilitate the strategic planning process by providing information, consulting services, and helping DHEWD to organize outreach and engagement opportunities.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

ii. Update on Stakeholder Outreach and Engagement

DHEWD Chief of Staff Becky Dunn provided information regarding stakeholder outreach and engagement for the strategic planning process. She reported that outreach efforts include the launch of the strategic planning webpage and that DHEWD has implemented an internal communications plan. She offered the following graphic detailing stakeholder engagement efforts.

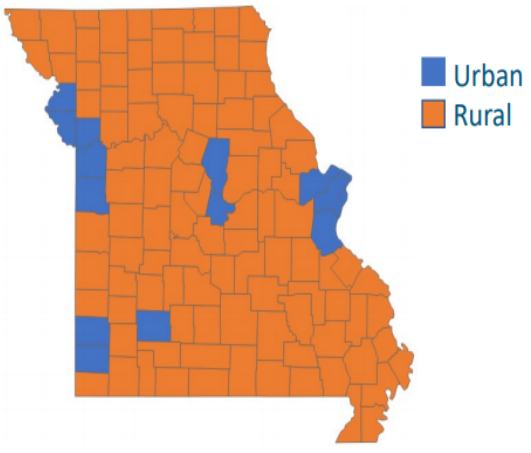
Engagement

- May 17 – Council of Student Affairs Officers
- May 26 – Missouri Chamber of Commerce & Industry
- June 9 – State Workforce Development Board
- June 11 – Missouri Association for Workforce Development
- June 11 – Missouri Scholarship & Loan Foundation
- June 23 – Listening Sessions with colleges and universities
- June 24 – Missouri College Access Network
- June 29 – Department of Economic Development
- July 13 – Leadership Council
- July 13 – Equity Advisory Committee
- July 14 – Commissioner's Advisory Group
- July 14 – Listening Sessions with colleges and universities

Dunn ended her comments by indicating that the department will continue vigorous efforts to gather and include stakeholder comments, concerns, and perceptions in the formulation of the strategic plan.

iii. Rural and Urban Data Breakdown

Using the following graphics, Veronica Gielazauskas, DHEWD Assistant Commissioner for Performance and Strategy, presented graphics to provide a picture of rural and urban similarities and differences with regard to educational and workforce metrics. She said the definition of rural and urban are consistent with the Equity in Missouri report series and based on population density and Census Metropolitan Statistical Areas.



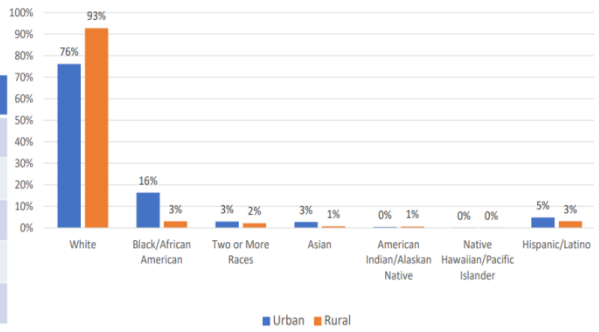
AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Overview

- 6.1 million total population in Missouri

	Urban	Rural
Percent of population	64%	36%
Percent of land area	10%	89%
Percent of employers	60%	40%
Percent of employees	72%	28%
Average wage	$58,193	$43,267

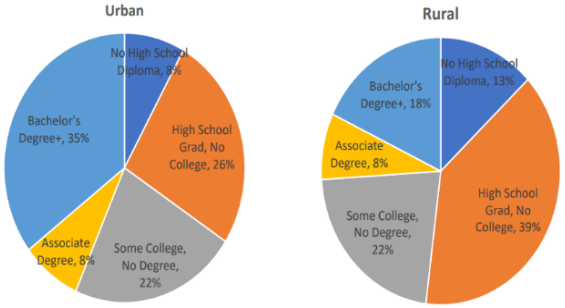
Population by Race and Hispanic Origin



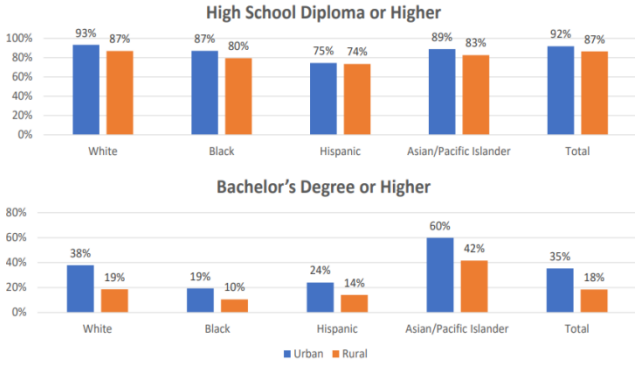
Gielazauskas offered the graphics below to detail educational attainment data. She noted that one of the smallest populations (i.e., Asian/Pacific Islander) has the best statistics regarding the completion of bachelor's degrees or higher, while Black students have the lowest attainment rates both in urban and rural areas of the state.

Education Attainment

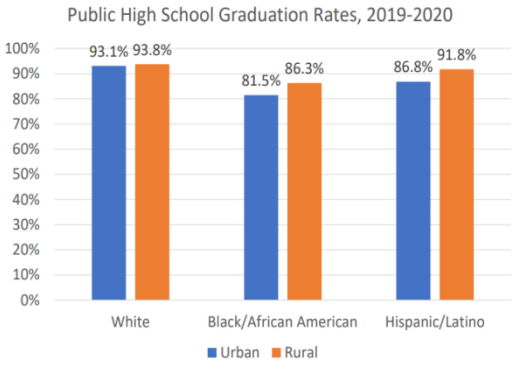
Population Age 25 and over



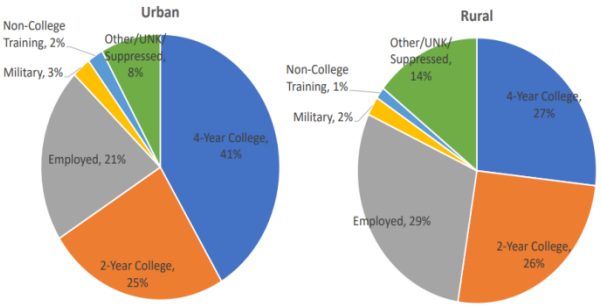
Education Attainment by Race



High School Graduation Rates

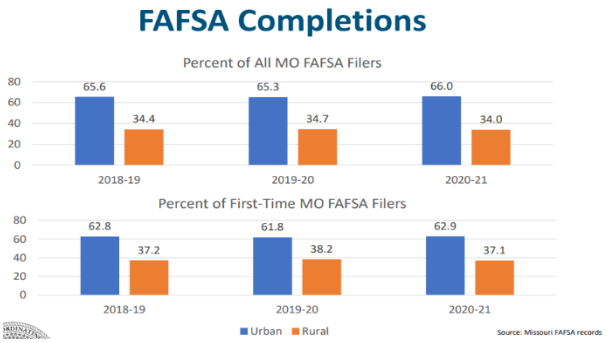


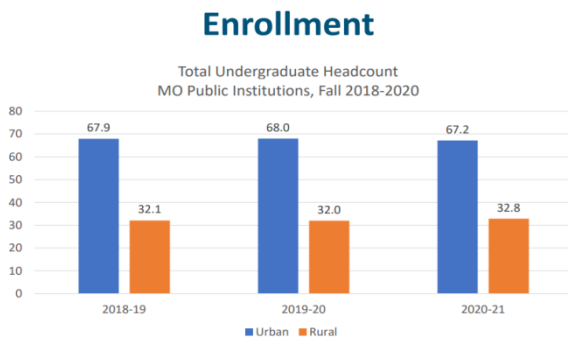
High School Graduate Follow Up

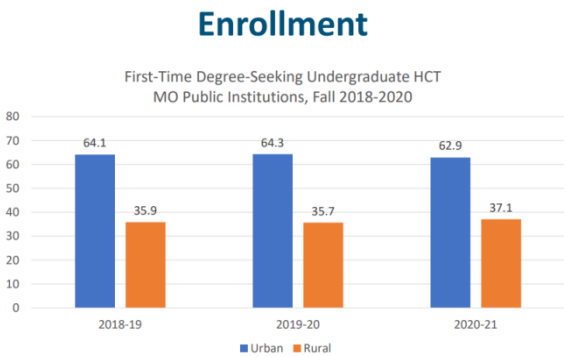


Gielazauskas noted that enrolment as defined by total undergraduate headcount from 2018 to 2020 has decreased slightly with significant differences between the numbers of students from urban and rural areas. The data indicate that students from urban areas are twice as prevalent in Missouri public intuitions of higher education as are students from rural areas.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

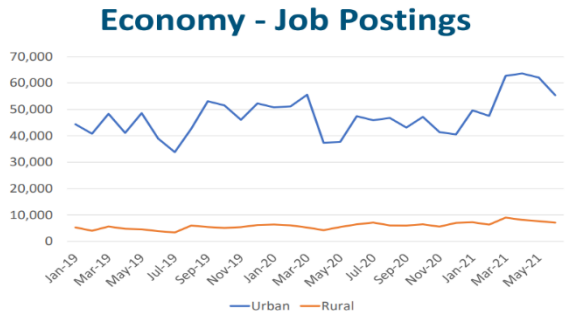






Economy – Current Labor Market

	Urban	Rural
Civilian Labor Force	2,066,143	1,034,433
Unemployed	100,413	44,518
Unemployment Rate – May 2021	4.9%	4.3%
Unemployment Rate – May 2020	10.2%	8.9%



Gielazauskas told the CBHE that unemployment numbers have returned to very low levels post-pandemic throughout the state and that job postings have been increasing. Nodler commented that the average wage statistics (i.e., urban $58,193, and rural $43,267) need to be contextualized by area. He suggested that after such an adjustment the income gap between rural and urban will be significantly less than the data suggests.

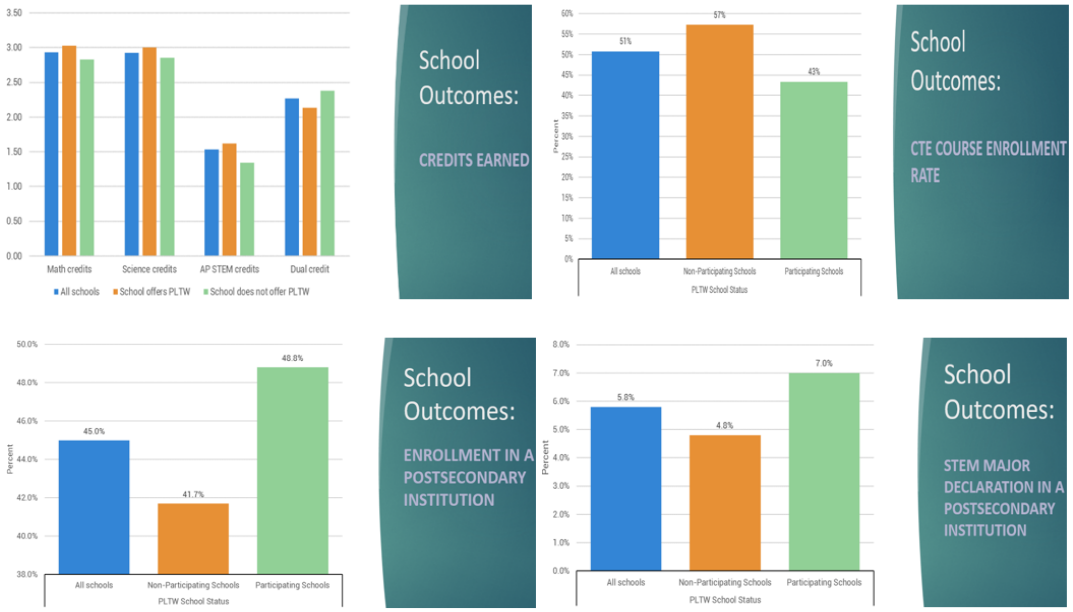
CTE Marketing Videos via Pandora, Facebook and Instagram, Instagram Stories, and Snapchat highlight CTE student success stories. The on-line media outlets have allowed DESE to combine the powerful medium of radio with the niche market targeting. Eight videos have been produced to promote several CTE career areas in Missouri. The goal of the CTE marketing plan is to improve the image and brand of CTE in the state while utilizing partnerships to create opportunities and pathways for students.

The Project Lead the Way (PLTW) and Postsecondary Education study included 145,619 entering high school freshman in AY2013 and AY2014 representing 537 traditional public high schools and charter public high schools. PLTW Pathways for high school include programs for Engineering, Computer Science, and Biomedical Science and that 13% enrolled in at least one PLTW course. Researchers examined differences in student outcomes for those who took PLTW courses vs. those who did not. Among other positive school level findings, the researchers found that in general, students who took PLTW courses had better high school graduation rates, rates of enrollment in postsecondary institutions, and student STEM major declaration.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT



New Teacher Institute (NTI) is designed for individuals from industry who are now choosing to become teachers. NTI is a four-day boot camp for new CTE teachers who are coming into teaching directly from industry. The purpose is to prepare novice teachers for their first day, week and month of school with an eye toward a successful first year. About 100 individuals are currently in NTI.

New Counselor Institute (NCI) is designed for those entering school counseling positions with:

- A Temporary Authorization Certificate
- An Alternative Certification with no or one year of school counseling experience
- Recent graduation from a school counseling master's program and no counseling experience
- No public school experience

The four-day boot camp is designed to increase the effectiveness of new school counselors. A record number new school counselors participated this year and suggested the record number of participants was likely due to the program being offered virtually.

I. Welcome and Introductions

Due to technical difficulties, CTE-AC Chair, R.J. Catizon, called the meeting to order at 10:13 A.M. He welcomed two new Missouri State Representatives to the CTE-AC, Representative Rusty Black and Representative Barbara Phifer.

II. Individual CTE-AC Member Reports – NOTE: Due to technical difficulties, CTE-AC members who participated remotely could not offer reports.

Jonathan Walker, Business, Marketing and Cooperative Education Teacher at the Kirksville Area Career Center reported he would soon assume a teaching position at Culver-Stockton College and as a result will be leaving the CTE-AC.

Senator Karla Eslinger said she is working with Senators and Representatives to provide increased support for Missouri's CTE programs.

Anna Hennes, Program Leader for Real World Learning at the Ewing Marion Kauffman Foundation stated the Foundation she is focused on real world work initiatives. She indicated she would provide more detail in an upcoming agenda item.

Angie Gaines, Interim Vice President of Academic Affairs and Director of Professional Development at the State Technical College of Missouri told the members that State Tech is preparing for face-to-face instruction in the fall and is working to increase enrollment after a downturn during the pandemic.

Chrissy Bashore, Director of School Counseling Supports at DESE stated that mental health issues among students are on the rise in schools. She said she anticipates that most of her team's work will focus on social-emotional learning issues and approaches.

Jill Williams, Vice President of Workforce Initiatives, Missouri Hospital Association reported that because of the pandemic's resurgence -- staffing is a significant problem in Missouri's hospitals. She indicated that staff burnout is a serious issue among staff. Williams told the members that she is working with DESE to create health occupations days to aid in employee recruitment.

Dave Rockers, the Director at Franklin Technology Center stated he has recently retired from his position and will be leaving the CTE-AC. He noted that CTE teacher shortages are a significant issue throughout the state and that attracting new people to teach in CTE areas continues to be a significant concern.

Rebecca Bolen, a teacher at the Rolla Technical Center told the CTE-AC that there is an increasing number of female students who are coming into the construction trades. She added that her students are doing quite well in CTE competitions.

Dan Stroot, Senior Manager at Boeing Defense reported that Boeing is continuing with its pre-employment program in cooperation with St. Louis Community College. He said that the training programs are conducted by Boeing about 10 times per year. Stroot indicated that as senior personnel continue to retire -- there is an increasing need to replace them. For that reason, he reported that Boeing is paying for technical education to increases the pool of qualified candidates. He also commented that the CTE marketing campaign has recently completed spots featuring Boeing employees.

Representative Rusty Black recounted that he was a member of the CTE working group before it became the official CTE-AC. Black said he is very pleased to be on the CTE-AC and that he is looking forward to the work.

Senator Doug Beck shared he has enjoyed a 34-year career as a pipefitter and member of UA Local 562. He currently serves as the President of the Missouri State Building and Construction Trades Council. He said the Missouri State Building and Construction Trades Council is partnering with the MDHEWD to offer registered construction apprenticeship programs. He said the programs are designed to help minorities and women get into the construction trades.

Dr. Bart Washer, Professor and Chair of the School of Professional Education and Leadership at the University of Central Missouri reported UCM is preparing for the upcoming semester. He thanked DESE for its partnership and help in administering the CTE New Teacher Institute. Washer said UCM is teaching new teachers in a boot camp format to address classroom issues because he said we are replacing a number of teachers who are deciding to leave the profession.

R.J. Catizon of the St. Louis-Kansas City Carpenters Regional Council reported the carpenters' union is focused on getting kids skills before they graduate from high school. He asserted that educating students is a challenge every single day -- so he expressed his appreciation for what DESE and schools are doing. Catizon said that generally, CTE programs produce a great bunch of kids every May, however we need a supply of candidates throughout the year. He said the Carpenters Regional Council is growing programs in the St. Louis area so students can be "skilled up" before they go out to work. Catizon said the union has developed great relationships with area employers to ensure that students have a place to work when they are finished with programs.

III. DESE and State Board of Education Reports

Dr. Tracy Hinds, DESE Deputy Commissioner, Division of Learning Services thanked the CTE-AC for their work in preparing students for learning and careers. She noted that the State Board of Education is very pleased with the ongoing work of the CTE-AC.

Using the following graphic, Hinds provided an update on key DESE Office of College and Career Readiness (OCCR) staff. She noted the recent retirement of Assistant Commissioner Dr. Blaine Henningsen and stated his position remains vacant at present.

OCCR RETIREES

Keith Dietzschold promoted to Director, Agriculture, Food & Natural Resources. Keith was a Supervisor, Agriculture, Food & Natural Resources

Turning to Adult Education and Literacy (AEL), Hinds reported that AEL is increasing the number of students in career focused experiences by expanding performance measures for local programs. She indicated that the department is receiving expanded requests from local programs and that current workplace literacy and IET pathways include business, construction, customer service, food service/preparation, information technology, logistics, manufacturing, nursing, and transportation.

Referring to the graphic below, Hinds reported DESE AEL has increased career-focused partnerships through multi-agency cross-training held with Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA) partners that include Department of Higher Education & Workforce Development, Department of Elementary & Secondary Education, Department of Social Services, and the Department of Mental Health. She said the partnerships have improved data sharing and referral discussions with WIOA partners and feature co-location and MOUs with WIOA partner agencies.

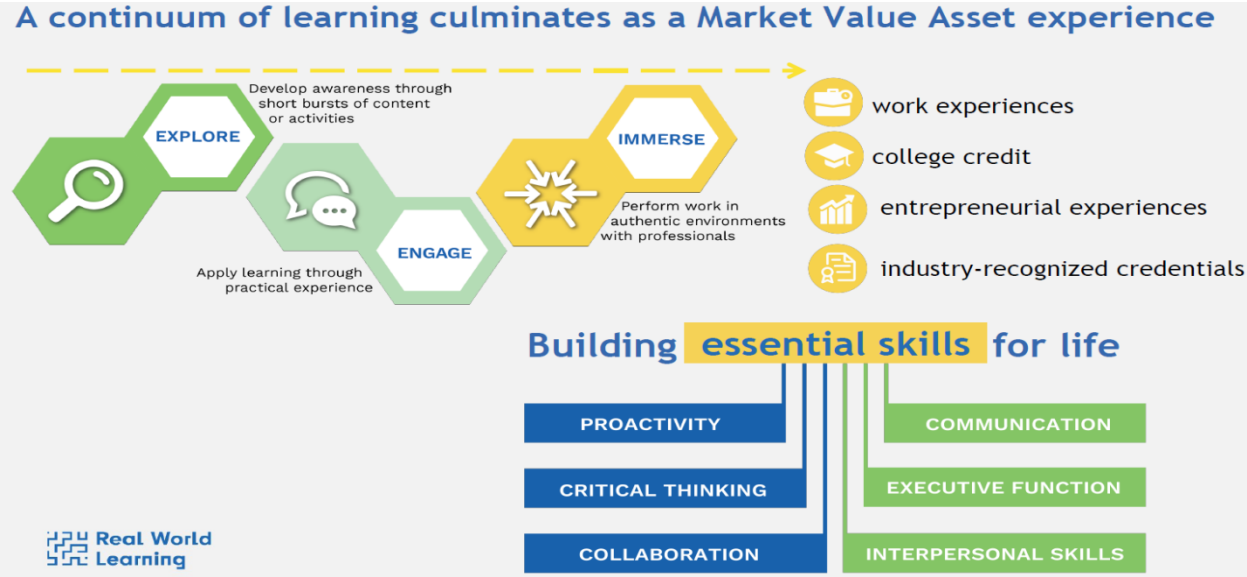
Reporting on the CTE-AC's annual report to the State Board of Education (SBE), Catizon said that the report was well received. He said that the SBE knows the value of CTE and that there are big supporters of CTE among the members of the Board. He reported the SBE members were most impressed with the CTE marketing videos which feature students doing the jobs they trained to do. Catizon stated that pushing out the success stories of students from CTE programs is very important in growing programs across the state.

Washer added that the SBE enthusiastically applauded the efforts of CTE programs. He concurred that the presentation was very well received and he congratulated Catizon for his hard work in creating the presentation. He said the CTE marketing videos are so well done that they leave you wanting more information (see more on CTE marketing in agenda item X. Marketing – CTE Marketing Videos).

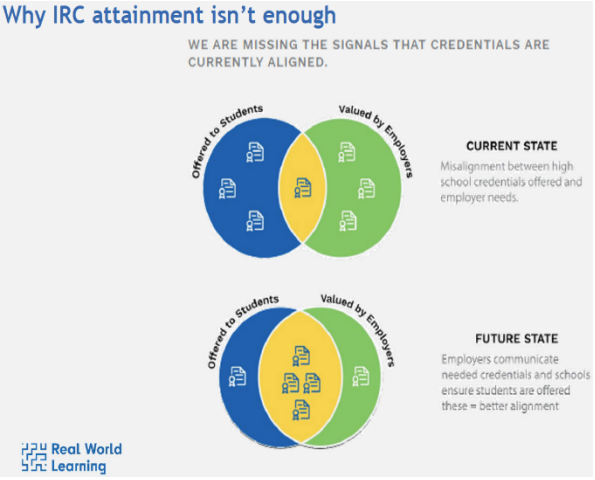
IV. IRC Data

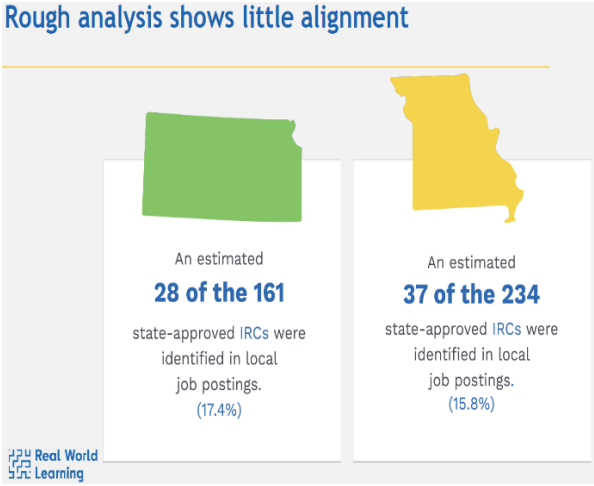
Anna Hennes, Program Leader for Real World Learning at the Ewing Marion Kauffman Foundation, said that by 2030, the common goal should be that all high school students should graduate with market value assets and a diploma that prepares them for learning and work. Because she asserted that, excluding IRCs for the healing arts, business and industry interests have limited or no appreciation/knowledge of some industry recognized credentials (IRCs), the Kaufman Foundation is working to establish a market based valuation for students in the Kansas City region. She offered the following graphic to describe the proposed program.



AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Hennes asserted that aligning credentials is hard because matching credentials from different data sources based on their names is flawed and imprecise. She suggested that the credentials that a state approves for students to pursue is one very small part of moving toward greater credential alignment. She suggested that in that endeavor, employers have a large role to play.





Hennes told the CTE-AC that students need to understand and develop essential skills even if they earn technical credentials that will help them get hired and earn high wages.

Hennes told the CTE-AC that schools in the Kansas City area have endorsed the initiative. She said the initiative is based on a regional framework for a market based evaluation of skills which are aligned to previously vetted IRCs. Hennes suggested data collected by Kauffman indicates that many IRCs are of little value to employers – so Kaufman intends to introduce market based valuations so Kansas City region employers may have recognized measures of candidate capabilities. Hennes then offered recommendations for districts.

• District CTE Directors may want to formally collaborate to understand and align regional IRCs offered, supply, and demand.

• Double-down on competencies and skill development, especially for students in CTE pathways.

• Ask vendors you are working with and state departments of education to issue industry-recognized credentials as Open Badges so students have a lifelong, verifiable, portable, shareable record of their accomplishments.

Washer of UCM commented that it takes years for districts to develop and approve curriculum. He suggested that transitioning to the system suggested by Hennes could present significant challenges.

V. Project Lead the Way Study

Dr. Stacey Preis of Preis Consultants told the CTE-AC that each year, millions of dollars are spent on programs designed to better prepare students for success after graduation because stakeholders wish to know about the outcomes as a result of their investment. She said they wish to know the answers to questions like:

- Do individuals participating in internships have higher rates of employment and wages following graduation compared to individuals who do not participate in an internship? Missouri Chamber of Commerce & Industry
- For students who complete postsecondary STEM programs inside or outside of Missouri, what percentage stay in or return to Missouri to work after graduation? —St. Louis Regional Business Council
- To what extent are individuals working in the industries aligned to their high school experiences and/or postsecondary preparation? —Kansas City Civic Council

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Preis asserted that research using state longitudinal data can help answer those types of questions.

Preis stated that much data already exists (i.e., Workforce Longitudinal Data System -- DHEWD, DOLIR, DOC, + State (K-12) Longitudinal Data System – DESE). However, those data sets exist in isolation. She said what is needed is for DESE data to be integrated and regularly maintained in a complete education-to-workforce data system that will support policy research.

Preis told the CTE-AC that the Project Lead the Way and Postsecondary Education study included 145,619 entering high school freshman in AY2013 and AY2014 representing 537 traditional public high schools and charter public high schools. She explained that PLTW Pathways for high school include programs for Engineering, Computer Science, and Biomedical Science and that 13% enrolled in at least one PLTW course. Preis said the researchers examined differences in student outcomes for those who took PLTW courses vs. those who did not take them. She provided the following graphics to describe selected findings for student outcomes.

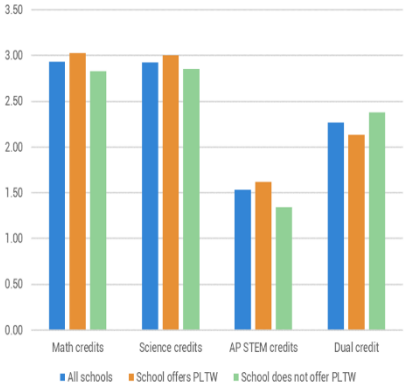
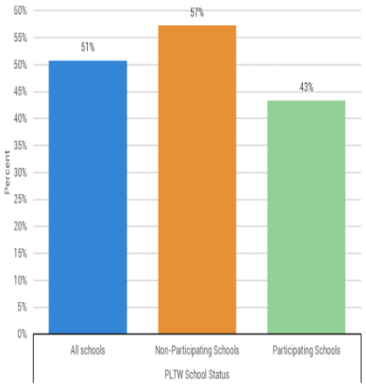
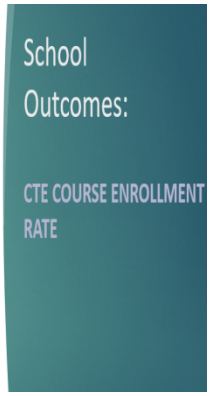
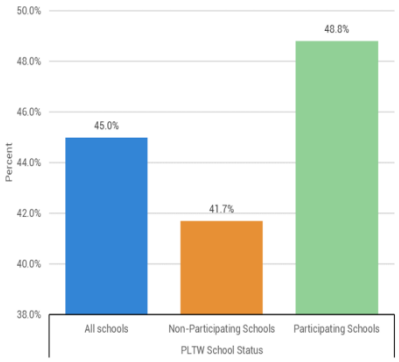
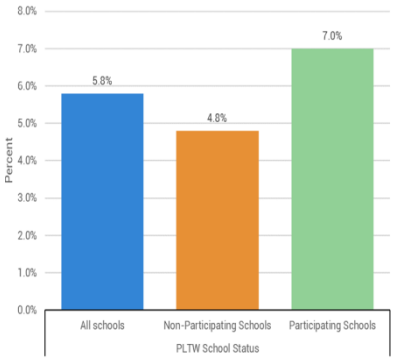
Preis then turn to school outcomes. She provided the following graphics to depict results











Preis said the nest steps in the PLTW study will be to incorporate DHEWD data (Missouri public institutions) to examine postsecondary credential or degree completion by linking workforce data with cohort records to examine employment patterns.

Preis ended her presentation by saying that a fully integrated PK-20 data set would help employers to develop a clearer picture of the future workforce and allow state government to measure return-on-investment for the funding of programs. She added that students would have the ability to see the routes to success for careers and parents could identify preparation pathways and career opportunities for their children. Preis also suggested that a fully linked data set would allow educators to discover how academics and experiences prepare students for success after graduation.

VII. Student Achievement – IRCs, Stackable Credentials & High Demand Occupation List

Using the graphics below, Lori Brown, DESE Coordinator of CTE Curriculum, presented this year's list of High Demand Occupations for the FY23 Enhancement Grant. Brown explained that new additions to the list are in bold type. Others have been lined out and are no longer considered occupations in high demand.

Two earned stackable credentials, in one or more program area, equates to one IRC for Perkins V reporting.

Brown noted that the data reported to DESE indicate that zero students took tests to earn some credentials. However, she added that districts are not required to report the number of students who have taken assessments. In short, she told the CTE-AC that students are indeed taking the exams for these credentials, however they may be uncounted in the data. Catizon agreed. He said he is personally aware of students who have taken assessments that have not shown up in the data.

Beck asked if it would help if reporting were made mandatory. Brown answered by saying that at this point, DESE wishes to keep the reporting of IRC testing voluntary because it provides certain flexibilities.

Eslinger suggested that MSIP 6 could recognize schools for reporting this sort of data. Steve Bryant, DESE Missouri Career Pathways Manager, responded by saying that the idea has been under consideration. Brown added that at this point, MSIP points are only awarded for students taking duel credit, or IRC, or apprenticeships, but not for all three. It was suggested that schools could earn points under MSIP 6 for having students in all categories.

VIII. CTE Certificate and Perkins Update

Dr. Roger Barnes, DESE CTE Coordinator, reported that in 2021 of the 60,000 Missouri graduates 1,335 earned the DESE CTE Certificate. He said that 44 Area Career Centers reported and 2 comprehensive high schools provided data. He suggested that if the CTE Certificate truly constitutes an honor for teachers it will be interesting to see how many will earn the certificate in 2022. He suggested that if the certificate is valued by students and industry, the number of awarded certificates should increase.

Barnes then offered a Perkins V update. He said Missouri's allocation will be $26,273,960 for 107 Perkins Fiscal Agents (i.e., 92 Secondary Schools (57 Area Career Centers, 34 Stand-alone school districts, 1 Charter school) and 15 Postsecondary Institution (14 Community College, 1 State Technical College).

Barnes reminded the CTE-AC members that the Perkins Budget & Applications must include provisions for Special Populations which include:

- Individuals with disabilities
- Individuals from economically disadvantaged families, including low-income youth and adults
- Single parents, including single pregnant women
- Out-of-workforce individuals
- English learners
- Homeless individuals described in section 725 of the McKinney-Vento Act
- Youth who are in, or have aged out of, the foster care system
- Youth with a parent who is a member of the armed forces and is on active duty
- Individuals preparing for non-traditional fields

IX. Financial – Area Career Center Construction and GEER II Funding

Dr. Roger Barnes, DESE CTE Coordinator reported on area career center construction funding opportunities. He noted that Representative Black was instrumental in providing a "place holder" in the budget for this opportunity.

> HB 2 (2021) Legislative language Section 2.116.
> To the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education For the design, renovation, construction, and improvements of career (vocational) technical schools; provided that costs are shared at ratio of fifty percent state and fifty percent local.
> From General Revenue Fund (0101). . . . . ……... . $2,000,000 Funding Opportunities

Barnes stated that this funding was last available in 2009 and $2 million has now been appropriated by the legislature. He reported a survey requesting level of interest among area career center directors found that six indicated no interest, six indicated partial interest, six indicated interest but did not have an approved plan, and ten said they are interested and have the required match as well as an approved plan.

Barnes then turned to the Governor's Emergency Education Relief Fund II (GEER II). He reported that $12 million GEER II funds are available with $6 million for CTE Parent Reimbursement and $5.9 million for the Equipment and Enhancement Grant.

Barnes told the CTE-AC that the guidance document is being developed and will be posted to the DESE Career Education website. He said examples of allowable reimbursable costs are: IRCs, stackable credentials, CTE dual or articulated credit, and DESE approved TSAs. Barnes reported that funds may be phased in over time so schools have until September 2023 to spend the funds. He noted reimbursement funds will be paid to schools, then schools are to reimburse parents.

Barnes indicated that the guidance document is also being developed for the Equipment and Enhancement Grant and will be posted to the DESE Career Education website for the Competitive grant for Missouri's 57 Area Career

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Centers (ACC). Grant funds must enhance or extend ACC capacity to offer training in high-demand occupations. Barnes reported that the maximum grant award is $150,000 and applications must align with high demand occupations. No financial match is required and funds may be phased in over time. Barnes said schools have until September 2023 to spend the funds.

X. Marketing – CTE Marketing Videos

Steve Bryant, DESE Missouri Career Pathways Manager, reported that the goal of the CTE marketing plan is to improve the image and brand of CTE in the state while utilizing partnerships to create opportunities and pathways for students. He stated that key measures for the plan's ultimate success will include:

- Increase student enrollment – headcount/percentage
- Increase number of internships, apprenticeships, and other forms of work-based learning
- Increase the number of business partners
- Improve the perception of internal and external stakeholders

Bryant reminded the CTE-AC that a comprehensive survey and focus group plan/process was designed to provide valuable feedback relative to all strategic focus area goals and objectives. He said communications representatives from the Department of Economic Development, Department of Workforce Development, Department of Higher Education, and DESE met with the marketing team from Bucket Media to design and implement a cohesive statewide communications and marketing campaign to improve public confidence in CTE programming.

Bryant stated that University of Missouri Extension analyzed the comprehensive survey results (9,654 total responses, 70 percent were from adults) to produce Perceptions of Career & Technical Education: Findings & Action from the 2019 DESE CTE-AC.

Bryant reported that Bucket Media of Columbia was brought in to create a media campaign using programmatic video and audio via Pandora, Facebook and Instagram, Instagram Stories, and Snapchat. He said that the media campaign highlights both secondary and post-secondary CTE student success stories and also feature business partner testimonials. Bryant stated that the on-line media outlets have allowed DESE to combine the powerful medium of radio with the niche targeting. He said those tactics resonated particularly well with the teen demographic. Bryant announced eight videos have been produced to promote several CTE career areas in Missouri. Barnes added that the videos are outstanding and are available for school districts to use. He noted that the videos were the brain child of the CTE-AC.

In summary, Bryant indicated the campaign has delivered above average impressions, engagement, and clicks to the website. He said that DESE's recommendation moving forward is that the campaign continue to expand on the tactics used as we feel that we are delivering the message to the right audiences on the right platforms based on performance. However, Bryant indicated that there is definitely room to grow. He suggested that an increased budget will allow for increased frequency with an audience with whom momentum has already been built.

Black suggested that down the line, videos should be created for substitute teachers to show in classrooms to increase awareness among students of CTE options.

Hennes commented on using an outside media production contractor (i.e., Bucket Media). She posited that every program has students who can produce videos and suggested exploring the possibility of having students produce videos for the campaign. She said other entities have created competitions for the creation of videos with good results.

Williams commented that in the hospital industry, if we have a message that we want to get out, we send a package of ready-to-go messages on social media platforms. She suggested that this sort of marketing approach could be used for CTE as well. Williams also noted that while she has been looking for the CTE videos, she hasn't been able to find the videos on-line.

XI. Professional Development – New Teacher Institute & New Counselor Institute

Lori Brown, DESE Office of College and Career Readiness and Rene Yoesel, DESE Coordinator of School Counseling and Adult Education & Literacy reported. Brown stated the New Teacher Institute (NTI) is designed for individuals from industry who are now choosing to become teachers. NTI is a four-day boot camp for new career and technical education teachers who are coming into teaching directly from industry. The purpose of NTI is to prepare novice teachers for their first day, week and month of school with an eye toward a successful first year. Brown stated school district administrative approval is required for all participants. Eligible participants:

- do not have an education degree
- have never taught or have just finished their first year of teaching
- have been hired by a Missouri public school district

Brown said about 100 individuals are currently in the institute. She indicated that the NTI is in need of more candidates so she encouraged members of the CTE-AC to refer interested parties.

Yoesel announced that the New Counselor Institute (NCI) is designed for those entering school counseling positions with:

- A Temporary Authorization Certificate
- An Alternative Certification with no or one year of school counseling experience
- Recent graduation from a school counseling master's program and no counseling experience
- No public school experience

Yoesel said the four-day boot camp is designed to increase the effectiveness of new school counselors. She reported that a record number new school counselors participated this year and suggested the record number of participants was likely due to the program being offered virtually. She said recordings of NCI large group sessions will be used for various recruitment activities because recruitment and retention continue to offer challenges.

XII. Membership Update

Catizon noted that the terms of several CTE-AC members will soon expire. He announced the following member's terms will expire 12/31/2021.

R J Catizon, Dr. Sam Duncan, David Rockers, Dan Stroot, Anna Hennes

Catizon added that the following member's terms expire a year later on 12/31/2022.

Dr. Chris DeGeare, Bill Lowery, Jill Williams

He suggested that if members would like to continue to serve, the possibility exists for serving an additional term if approved by a vote of the CTE-AC.

Barnes suggested that it may be good for members to discuss the possibility of serving another term -- or whether they would like to have their terms expire and be replaced. Barnes said that members may wish to have that discussion among themselves before making a decision.

Catizon said his idea would be for CTE-AC members to be able to serve another term if they would like to. He then asked for opinions. Stroot said he would be more than happy to serve another term on the CTE-AC. Rockers commented that because he is retiring, he believes his position should be filled by a new area career center director. Williams stated that she would support members being able to serve another term if they so desire. Gaines supported the idea of enabling members to serve an additional term. Hennes commented that the CTE-AC may need to look at the ebbs and flows in industry to ascertain whether other members from other industries should be added. Beck commented that he likes what he sees on the CTE-AC and would support additional terms for the sake of institutional continuity.

Motion. Allow members to serve an additional term on the CTE-AC if they so desire. Motion carried unanimously.

Catizon ended the discussion by saying the CTE-AC would move forward with the understanding that those who would like to serve an additional term may do so.

XIII. DESE CTE Director Updates – NOTE: No public discussion was offered for this agenda item. CTE Director Updates were provide to CTE-AC members via written documents available at https://dese.mo.gov/media/pdf/cte-advisory-council-dese-section-updates-072621

Discussion on the Special Administrative Board for the Riverview Gardens School District. Pursuant to Section 162.081, RSMo, on May 20, 2010, the SBE authorized the establishment of a Special Administrative Board (SAB) to provide leadership for the Riverview Gardens School District until June 30, 2013, and appointed three SAB members. In November 2012, February 2016, April 2019, and May 2019, the SBE authorized the continuation/extension of the SAB. The current extension expires June 30, 2022. The SAB has now been in place for 11 years. The district has been provisionally accredited for at least two successive academic years which would allow the SBE to provide for a governance transition pursuant to § 162.083, RSMo. Section 162.081, RSMo (SB 125 in 2013) provides that the SAB not be less than five members with the majority being residents of the district. DESE asserts that among the options the SBE may consider is that it may appoint additional members to the SAB or it may set a final term of office for the members of the SAB and return the district to a locally elected board. DESE suggests that the SBE consider adding two members to the SAB to address governance issues and ultimately set a final term of office for the SAB to facilitate the return to a locally elected board. To expand SAB membership to five members, DESE indicates it will provide two names for State Board consideration in September.

COVID-19 Missouri school reopening and operating guidance was updated on 7/23/21 and again on 7/30/21 to reflect CDC guidance for K-12 schools. The guidance reiterates there are no statewide mandates and that mitigation policies/procedures are established at local level. The guidance promotes vaccination for eligible students/staff as one layer among many layers of protection to help ensure in-person learning can continue uninterrupted.

ESSER III Update the revised state plan was submitted by DESE on August 9 in response to USED feedback. The focuses of the funding is for tutoring, afterschool programming, mitigation, indoor air quality, technology, maintaining/expanding staff, and instructional resources

Pam Thomas, Assistant Commissioner, DESE Office of Childhood, explained this rule was originally established in 2012 based on legislative action and expected funding appropriations. She said the legislature did not authorize funding for this program. This action would rescind this rule.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Motion. SBE authorize publication in the Missouri Register of a notice of proposed rulemaking to rescind 5 CSR 25-100.310, General Provisions Governing Programs Authorized Under Early Childhood Development, Education, and Care, and that the State Board finds the proposed rescission necessary to carry out the purposes of §§ 161.092 and 313.835, RSMo. Motion carried 7-0.

R. Consideration of an Order of Rulemaking to Amend 5 CSR 20-400.220, Application for Substitute Certificate of License to Teach

Paul Katnik, Assistant Commissioner, DESE Office of Educator Quality, told the SBE this proposed amendment adds language to the existing rule to allow department-approved training as an additional route to obtain a substitute certificate of license to teach. He recounted that an emergency amendment was approved by the SBE at the August 2020 meeting. Katnik said the State Board of Education voted to withdraw the amendment in November 2020 to allow opportunity to collect performance data on substitute teachers who participated in the online training. He asserted the data collected demonstrates the positive impact the online training option has had on addressing persistent shortages of substitute teachers. He added public comment was accepted from June 1, 2021, through July 1, 2021 and during that time, DESE received two comments (page 2).

Claycomb commented that providing an additional route to obtain a substitute certificate of license to teach was a controversial move -- however he suggested the move has been an improvement for schools and for students. Schrag added feedback from administrators indicates the new substitutes are even more prepared than those who have the traditional 60 college credit hours. Katnik ended the presentation by saying the data collection component of the program provides opportunity for continuous improvement.

Motion. SBE authorize publication in the Missouri Register of an order of rulemaking to amend 5 CSR 20-400.220, Application for Substitute Certificate of License to Teach, and that the State Board of Education finds the proposed amendment necessary to carry out the purposes of §§ 161.092, 168.011, 168.021, 168.071, and 168.081, RSMo. Motion carried 7-0.

S. Consideration of an Order of Rulemaking to Rescind 5 CSR 20-400.360, Missouri Critical Teacher Shortage Forgivable Loan Program

Paul Katnik, Assistant Commissioner, DESE Office of Educator Quality, explained this rule was originally established in 2001, based on legislative action and funding appropriations. However, the legislature did not authorize funding for this program and repealed the statute authorizing it, § 168.600, RSMo, in 2012. He said staff identified this rule in the five-year statutory review of our administrative rules and this action would rescind this rule. Katnik said the SBE approved the proposed rescission at the May 2021 meeting. Public comment was accepted from June 15, 2021, through July 15, 2021. During that time, there were no comments received.

Hallquist commented that DESE has presented compelling arguments for increasing teachers' salaries. She added that even with the Governor's recommendation to increase teacher salaries -- the legislature did not fund it. Katnik commented that rescinding this rule will have very little impact because the measure was never funded. Lenz suggested that much work needs to be done to increase teacher salaries in the state of Missouri.

Motion. SBE authorize publication in the Missouri Register of an order of rulemaking to rescind 5 CSR 20-400.360, Missouri Critical Teacher Shortage Forgivable Loan Program, and that the State Board finds the proposed rescission necessary to carry out the purposes of § 161.092, RSMo. Motion carried 7-0.

T. Consideration of a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking to Amend 5 CSR 20-400.540, Certification Requirements for Secondary Education (Grades 9-12)

Katnik told the SBE this rule (page 2) establishes the requirements for a Business Education 9-12 certificate. The proposed amendment will combine the course of Implementing Business Education Programs and the course of Coordination of Cooperative Education into one course, Administration of Business and Marketing Education Programs, which will reduce the overlap of topics in the currently required courses.

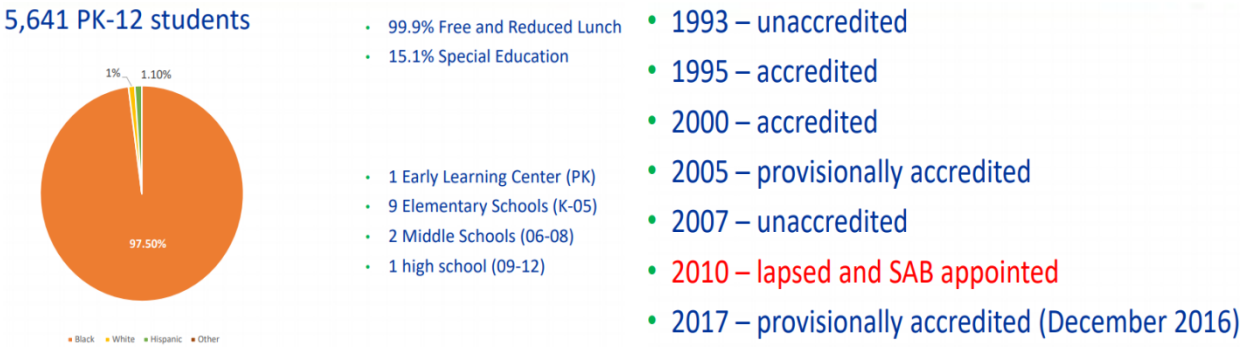
VIII. Items for Discussion

U. Discussion on the Special Administrative Board for the Riverview Gardens School District

Margie Vandeven, Commissioner of Education provided a historic overview of the Riverview Gardens School District. She recounted that pursuant to Section 162.081, RSMo, on May 20, 2010, the SBE authorized the establishment of a Special Administrative Board (SAB) to provide leadership for the Riverview Gardens School District until June 30, 2013, and appointed SAB members – Dr. Lynn Beckwith Jr., Chair; Dr. Mark Tranel, Member; and Ms. Veronica Morrow-Reel, Member. Vandeven stated that Mary F. Oswald replaced Dr. Tranel in 2019 when he requested that his term not be renewed. Vandeven told the SBE that in November 2012, February 2016, April 2019, and May 2019, the SBE authorized the continuation/extension of the SAB. She said the current extension will expire June 30, 2022 and stated the focus of this report is to focus on the status of the district and facilitate discussion of the SBE's role in assisting with a successful path forward for the students in the district.



Vandeven said the district has been provisionally accredited for at least two successive academic years which would allow the SBE to provide for a governance transition pursuant to § 162.083, RSMo. Section 162.081, RSMo (SB 125 in 2013) provides that the SAB not be less than five members with the majority being residents of the district. She said the SAB must reflect the population characteristics of the district and the members must collectively possess strong experience in school governance, management and finance, and leadership. Vandeven also noted that SB 125 provides that the SAB shall appoint a superintendent of schools to serve as the chief executive officer of the school district … and to have all powers and duties of any other general superintendent of schools in a seven-director school district.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Vandeven suggested that among the options the SBE may consider is that it may appoint additional members to the SAB or it may set a final term of office for the members of the SAB and return the district to a locally elected board. Vandeven told the members of the State Board of Education that the SAB has been in place for 11 years and she thanked the members of the SAB for their service. She stated that at this time, DESE suggests that the SBE consider adding two members to the SAB to address governance issues and ultimately to set a final term of office for the SAB to facilitate the return to a locally elected board. To expand SAB membership, Vandeven stated she envisions bringing two names for State Board consideration in September.

Vandeven reported that St. Louis University has been engaged in research to evaluate lessons learned from the SAB process and to help inform the next steps toward returning the district to elected board of education governance. She suggested the transition from an appointed to an elected board will constitute a very significant change and said that a number of community members would like to see a move to a locally elected board. However, she emphasized her biggest immediate concern is that everyone in the district understand that the school doors will be open next week so students, many of whom have not been in school for a year or more, can get back to class.

Lenz said he would support expanding the SAB by two members and recommended that the SBE not transition to an elected board of education until the district and the SAB is functioning smoothly. Westbrooks-Hodge said she believes that a component the move toward an elected board of education should also include the evaluation of student test score data. Vandeven responded by saying that the proficiency rate in the district is low -- but growth has been occurring. She added that through our eyes – it appears the district has become somewhat stagnant in terms of student performance and that proficiency rates are still too low. Lenz stated that the SAB should be working with the superintendent to improve student performance. He suggested that DESE should be providing as much assistance as possible to get student performance to appropriate levels.

Schrag commented she believes that 11 years is a very long time for the members of SAB to serve. She suggested considering term limits for SAB members because she asserted that refreshing the SAB membership might ensure proper function. Vandeven responded by saying that St. Louis University is studying governance issues to help inform board member terms. Shields asked whether the study is only examining the SAB verses an elected board -- or whether it will examine other governance approaches/structures as well. He emphasized he wishes to get to the point where Missouri has no appointed boards. To that end, Shields said he would like to know about best practices for school improvement governance structures so we may provide alternatives to legislators for appointed boards. Lenz added that it is important to provide proven governance alternatives to legislators if we no longer wish to use appointed boards.

Lens suggested that when the SAB is expanded, we should recommend that the new board members undergo special training from MSBA to make sure that we have a functioning school. Vandeven stated that there have been a number of improvements since 2010 and that the district is moving closer to being in a position where it can transition to an elected board.

V. Update on Fiscal Year 2023 Budget Instructions

Kari Monsees, Deputy Commissioner; DESE Financial and Administrative Services provided the update. Monsees reported that Missouri departments may request mandatory new decision items and may request high priority new decision items. He said for high priority items, departments need to first look at existing resources as a funding source. For supplemental requests, Monsees told the SBE that departments may request mandatory supplemental decision items. He said that the instructions require that these requests be limited to essential items that cannot wait until the next fiscal year.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Turning to mandatory items, Monsees indicated the following items are typically considered mandatory:

- Any federal increases
- New federal programs
- Any state/federal match program requirements
- Foundation Formula
- Special Education programs increases mandated by statute or court case

Monsees told the SBE there may be opportunity for new decision items for Fiscal Year 2023. He told the SBE that the following are potential requests for Fiscal Year 2023:

- Foundation Formula
- Foundation Transportation (Lenz noted that in order to teach students, they must be transported to schools. Therefore, fully financing transportation is essential. He suggested that saying that the foundation formula is fully funded is erroneous while transportation remains underfunded)
- Office of Childhood Adjustments
- Early Childhood Special Education
- Vocational Rehabilitation Match (Monsees said that the vocational rehabilitation match requires a state match of 23 percent. To increase the likelihood that this will be funded, Monsees said DESE will be explaining the need and possible benefits of the program so legislators can see the utility in leveraging state funds to receive a large federal infusion.)
- Continuous Improvement Resources (Monsees said this funding would be used for initiatives and interventions to improve districts through MSIP)
- Federal Relief Funds Appropriation Authority (Monsees stated this represents a huge influx of federal dollars)
- Federal Programs Increased Appropriation Authority
- Market Based Salary Adjustment Proposal (Monsees explained DESE is working internally to determine how salaries for DESE personnel can be increased)
- Various Commission Requests (e.g., Charter School Commission requests for additional funding)

Westbrooks-Hodge noted the nationwide shortage of school bus drivers. She asked how funding might be used to improve the situation. Monsees said that increases in transportation funding would make a difference in how districts could pay school bus drivers. Schrag noted that districts are only funded by about a third of the total cost of transportation which is a huge cost to districts and needs to be improved.

Schrag noted that DESE is utilizing additional staff to distribute money from the federal relief funds. Monsees responded by saying that DESE is now using an “all hands on deck approach” which includes some retired DESE staffers to perform part-time work to keep the federal funds flowing out to schools. However, he noted that DESE needs approval from the legislature for additional FTEs in order to increase full-time staffing. Vandeven said that while the DESE staff have been working incredible hours to do the work of distributing federal funds, an ongoing need exists for staff to support verification and follow-ups that are required to receive the federal funds. Vandeven told the SBE that in this the current environment, it is a workers market. To stay competitive with other state agencies and the private sector, Vandeven said DESE will need incentives to attract and retain staff.

Schrag again noted lack of funding for school transportation. She stated there has been a shortfall in transportation funding for a long period of time and asked how can we be that short in transportation funding? Shields responded by saying that historically, when there have been revenue challenges, money has typically flowed toward the foundation formula and that has often come at the expense of the transportation categorical in the budget. Turning to the budget process, Shields said DESE needs to think about identifying priories in an environment of unsure revenue. He observed that at this juncture, state revenues are more fluid than he has ever seen them -- so under these circumstances we need to be able to say that when there is more money, here is how we would like to spend it. He said DESE should follow the budget instructions, but also be able to specify how it would like to use any additional revenue should it become available.

Claycomb commented on bus driver shortages. He said the topic was a major issue at the DESE Administrators' Conference and that it is a problem that needs to be solved. He asserted that those who traditionally drove school buses in the past are not interested in going through today's requirements. He added that there are people who would like to drive -- but regulations do not allow them to use a written pre-trip safety check list and instead must memorize the list. He suggested that is beyond many people. Westbrooks Hodge said in urban areas bus drivers are uncomfortable with unmasked children because they believe their health is at risk. She said the shortage in urban areas has the potential to change the way we deliver education in the fall. Claycomb added that many bus drivers say they have no disciplinary control over students -- which he asserted is a major issue for drivers.

Shields ended the discussion by indicating that the state revenue situation will be interesting over the next several months. He said we will likely see an uptick in state revenue but then as some mandatory tax cuts come to fruition -- we may see the revenues level off and possibly decline.

W. Report on COVID-19 Response

Commissioner Vandeven opened this discussion by saying that while we don't agree on a lot right now, we do agree that students should be back in class and in person. However, the unfortunate thing is that we continue to deal with the COVID-19 pandemic. Vandeven stated that at this point -- the conversation centers on masking in schools but there are no statewide masking mandates -- so masking policies are being developed at the local level.

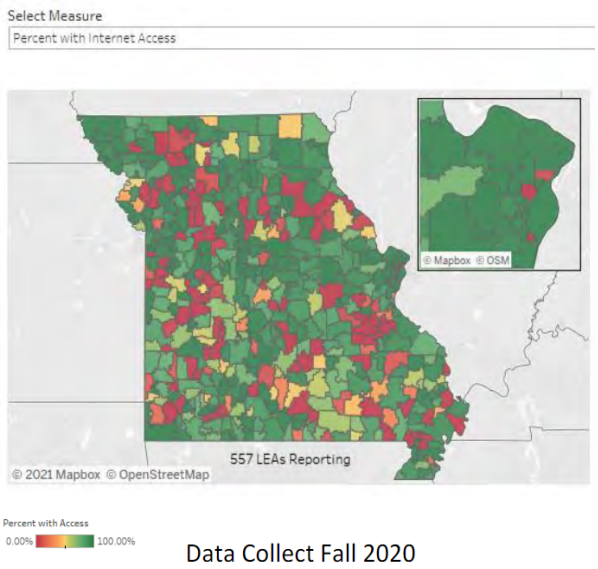
Vandeven reported that Missouri school reopening and operating guidance was updated on 7/23/21 and again on 7/30/21 to reflect CDC guidance for K-12 schools. She said the guidance reiterates there are no statewide mandates and that mitigation policies/procedures are established at local level. Vandeven added that the guidance promotes vaccination for eligible students/staff as one layer among many layers of protection that will help ensure in-person learning can continue uninterrupted.

Vandeven stated COVID-19 testing opportunities continue to be available to public and private K-12 schools. She mentioned ongoing antigen testing programs through DHSS and DESE as well as a new screening testing program through DHSS. Vandeven told the SBE that districts and DESE are hearing many questions about when the vaccination age limit will be lowered. She indicated that at this point -- we do not know. Claycomb commented that he believes strongly in local control where COVID mitigation approaches/policies are concerned.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

DESE Assistant Commissioner, Chris Neale reported on current and planned state initiatives made possible by the American Rescue Plan (ARP) and the Elementary & Secondary School Emergency Relief (ESSER) III State Plan. Neale reported that permission has been sought from USED for a $50 million broadband internet service investment. He said the grant mirrors a current grant program through the Department of Economic Development and that the initiative to bring broad band internet access to as many Missourians as possible aligns with Governor Parson's infrastructure and jobs program objectives.

Shields commented that depending on what Congress does with federal infrastructure legislation, a lot of money may become available for broadband internet expansion. Westbrooks-Hodge asked about planned locations for high-speed internet expansion. Neale said expansion activities will focus on areas of the state where there are no current connections. However, he indicated those areas can be tricky to identify because if only one household is served by high speed service in a census block – then service maps indicate that the whole block is served. Neale said the northeast and southwest corners of the state seem to be areas of greatest need.



Data Collect Fall 2020

Schrag commented that census block service maps do not tell the whole story. She said that service maps generally indicate southcentral Missouri is being served, however the reality is that it is very poorly served or not served at all. She added that initiatives to serve rural areas of the state are very important. Shields said that in his area, some have micro-wave line of sight internet service while others do not have service at all. Lenz stated there are also spots in St. Louis that do not have service. He said that school districts in St. Louis have purchased internet devices for students -- but they are of no use if there is no service.

Neale told the SBE that another $50 million is being requested to address teacher recruitment and retention. He said for the first time in memory and possibly ever – the state is going to invest money to provide allocations to every school district and charter school and to every teacher preparation program to recruit new teachers. Neale indicated the grant application period is now open and the allowable uses for grant funding are all based on research -- so three years from now when the program has run its cycle -- we will have very good information about what works and what doesn't in teacher recruitment and retention. Lenz commented that teacher shortages are very acute in some urban schools. He reported that the Normandy Schools Collaborative will be starting the school year short 20 teachers. Lenz said that it is critical that we do something now because even suburban districts are beginning to experience serious teacher shortages.

Westbrooks-Hodge stated she is concerned there will be 500 hundred different teacher recruitment and retention plans to address a common problem. She suggested it may be possible to lose sight of the overarching problem if we accept 500 different plans for addressing the teacher shortage. Westbrooks-Hodge suggested there may be basic structural levers that need to be pulled to address the problem. She added it looks like we are throwing $50 million at the problem and hoping districts will figure it out for themselves. Kari Monsees, Deputy Commissioner; DESE Financial and Administrative Services, responded by saying that each of the allowable uses for the grant funding is derived from DESE research based on the teacher outreach plan. Paul Katnik, Assistant Commissioner, DESE Office of Educator Quality, added the funding will be based on research based parameters and that plans must address those parameters with consideration for local context.

Neale then turned to literacy improvement efforts. He said DESE is dedicating $14 million to reading and math supports in Regional Professional Development Centers for language and literacy consultants, literacy instruction and intervention mathematics consultants, and math consultants.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Neale told the SBE that $15 million will be dedicated to redesign of the state assessment system. He said the redesign will align assessments with the State Priority Standards and allow for second grade literacy foundation assessments. Neale added that the funding will be used to explore approaches to competency based learning and to support the exploration of adaptive engines to determine whether students are performing above or below grade level. Vandeven explained by providing an example. She said we may have a 5th grade student who is reading at a second grade level -- but current testing does not suggest interventions or exactly how the student is performing.

Neale reported that $11.5 million will be used for a state longitudinal data system upgrade. He said the planned upgrade will include a cloud based warehouse to allow real time analysis. He said DESE wishes to implement data standardization in the areas of common education data standards and secondary course education data standards. Neale suggested this sort of system upgrade will enable valuable real-time data analysis and will be much more user friendly. In terms of reporting, Neale indicated the system upgrade will allow DESE to see, for example, current school enrollment on a daily basis. Vandeven commented that the upgrade is an opportunity to leverage real-time data that parents can access and that DESE can use in seconds. She said this will be a game changer because data dashboards are over -- you need to have real-time data.

Neale told the SBE that there are a number of places in the state that have not held summer school in a number of years. Therefore, to address pandemic related learning losses, he stated that $19.6 million has been targeted for summer school expansion and $19.6 million has been targeted toward extended learning programming. Turning to social-emotional learning (SEL), Neale reported that districts and schools recently responded to a SEL needs survey conducted by DESE. He said the survey results indicated that districts need tools to help them know how to help students and when to help students. He said the SEL tools under consideration may also be used for MSIP school climate and culture surveys. Neale suggested that additional initiatives may be introduced after assessment data is analyzed.

Neale told the SBE there is an unprecedented amount of money coming into the state to address the needs of homeless children and youth. He said $3 million will be available for homeless youth identification tools and regional summits and supports. He also reported that $12 million is available for career and technical education grants to be used for credential reimbursement and high demand occupational program expansion. He said the grants will go to the area career centers so they may expand opportunities in high demand areas. Neale provided the graphic to the left to describe efforts in other grant program areas.

Neale ended his comments by telling the SBE the ESSR III plan was submitted on August 9th in response to USED feedback. He said the focus of the funding will be on tutoring, afterschool programming, COVID mitigation, indoor air quality technology, maintaining/expanding staff, and instructional resources.

Shields asked whether DESE will have the authority to narrow the scope of how schools will spend money. Vandeven said we do not have that authority to tell districts exactly how to spend money but we can get the districts together to provide information on preferred uses and to provide suggestions

Using the graphic below, Kari Monsees, Deputy Commissioner; DESE Financial and Administrative Services, provided an update on the distribution of COVID relief funds.

Monsees reported that DESE has now distributed over $500 million in relief funds -- however, he indicated that five times that amount remains to be distributed – so the work continues.

X. Report on A Path Forward

Paul Katnik, Assistant Commissioner, DESE Office of Educator Quality; and Lisa Scroggs, Director, DESE Office of College and Career Readiness, presented. Katnik said the Path Forward for Teacher Preparation and Licensure in Early Literacy Initiative involves a cohort of six states working to align educator preparation programs (EPP) for early literacy with the science of reading. Katnik said state teams participating in this cohort receive professional development from national experts on how to effect meaningful change that will impact student reading achievement through better teacher preparation. He said the Path Forward assigns a coach with literacy and EPP expertise to each state team to assist in designing a plan to meet the needs of that state's EPPs in integrating the science of reading.

Scroggs presented the following graphics to detail the members of the team and describe the participating states.

Missouri's Team

- Dr. Margie Vandeven
- Dr. Tracy Hinds
- Dr. Paul Katnik
- Lisa Scroggs
- Dr. Beth Kania-Gosche
- Carol Hallquist
- Senator Cindy O'Laughlin (invited)

Participating States

Scroggs stated the program's objectives are to demonstrate a baseline understanding of the science of reading, develop and launch a comprehensive action plan, establish a network of peer states, and to focus intentionally on educator preparation program objectives. She said the team will create the Literacy Fellows and Literacy Council to revise teacher certification rules, provide wide-scale training, and measure teacher candidate competencies.

Katnik reported the Missouri team has attended monthly meetings designed to ensure that all new teachers graduate with the ability to teach the science of teaching. He added that DESE can use the language of the certification rules to help ensure that new teachers do indeed have the skills needed to teach reading. He said that the team is currently in the process of formulating the state plan and intends to have the plan finalized by the October meeting of the SBE.

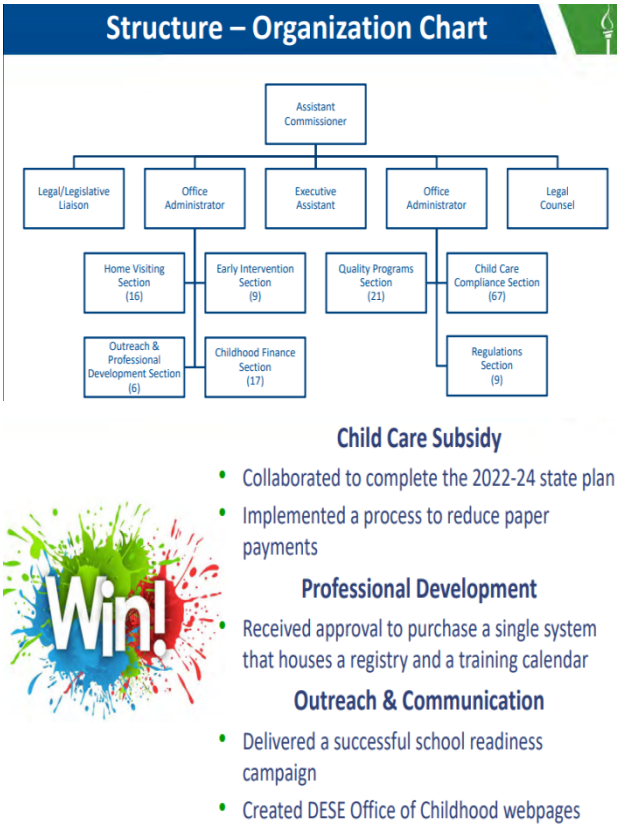
Y. Update on the Office of Childhood

Pam Thomas, Assistant Commissioner, DESE Office of Childhood (OC), said that improving access to high-quality early learning opportunities is one of the Department's strategic priority areas. She said the new Office of Childhood will include early and extended learning programs within DESE as well as home visiting and child care programs in the Departments of Social Services and Health and Senior Services. Thomas said that with 10 days until the official launch of the OC, there are now 151employees. She said the OC is located on the 1st floor of the Jefferson State Office Building and at this point OC has conducted:

- 100 stakeholder presentations
- 26 listening sessions
- 13 transition teams consisting of 93 State of Missouri employees



Thomas reported that OC has collaborated to complete the 2022-24 state plan and implemented a process to reduce paper payments. She said OC received approval to purchase a single system that houses a professional development registry and a training calendar. Thomas told the SBE that OC has delivered a successful school readiness campaign and has completed DESE Office of Childhood webpages.

Thomas provided the graphics to the left to describe the OC organizational structure and what she characterized as "early OC wins." She said OC staffers have been reaching out and participating in activities that aim to help them learn more about one another and the work of the Office of Childhood. She said the activities have included:

- Monthly webinar with questions and answers
- Open House for employees in the Jefferson State Office Building
- Lunch & Learn virtual meetings for policies and travel guidelines
- Weekly staff meetings with new team members
- Friday message with Office of Childhood updates

Hallquist voiced her appreciation for the work that has been done in establishing a great foundation for OC operations. She then asked Thomas when the OC will be able to share working priorities for the office. Thomas answered by saying that team leaders are working on those items and indicated that she will share operational priorities at a fall SBE meeting.

IX. Licensure

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Items in this section focused on issuance of teaching certificates, substitute teaching certificates or disciplining individuals by adverse action with regard to their Missouri teaching certification. The SBE approved the recommendations of DESE officials in each instance.

b. Information

i. Recognition of Outgoing CBHE Member Doug Kennedy

Cornelison thanked former CBHE member Doug Kennedy for his service. Kennedy of Poplar Bluff began his service in December 2013 and served as CBHE Chair from 2018-2020.

ii. Announcement of Plans for December 2021 CBHE Meeting

Cornelison said that the CBHE is planning on convening in-person for the December meeting due to increasing vaccination rates and a generally more favorable health atmosphere. He indicated that the location for the meeting will be determined and announced at a latter date.

iii. Call for Offers to Host the June 2022 CBHE Meeting

Regular meetings of the CBHE generally take place in March, June, September, and December. The June meeting is generally held on a college or university campus. For the June 2021 meeting, the board planned to meet at the University of Missouri-St. Louis, but the meeting moved online because of COVID-19. The CBHE may issue a call for offers to host the June 2022 CBHE meeting or decide to forego the invitation process and meet at UMSL as planned for June 2022. The CBHE will vote to determine the host institution for the June 2022 meeting at their December 8, 2021 meeting.

iv. Chair's Appointment of a Nominating Committee for CBHE Officers

The CBHE bylaws provide that the CBHE chair shall appoint a nominating committee of three members. CBHE chair Joe Cornelison has indicated that he will appoint Shawn Saale, Dudley McCarter, and Anne-Marie Clarke to the nominating committee. The nominating committee will nominate a slate of members to serve as Chair, Vice Chair, and Secretary for the CBHE to vote on at the December meeting. After the report of the nominating committee at the December CBHE meeting, but before the election of the new officers, additional nominations from the floor will be permitted. Cornelison commented that because his term on the CBHE is expired, he has made the committee aware he does not wish to be considered for a CBHE officer position.

v. CBHE Appointment to the MOHELA Board of Directors

Section 173.360, RSMo, requires that a member of the CBHE serve on the board of the Higher Education Loan Authority of Missouri (MOHELA). CBHE chair Joe Cornelison appointed Dudley McCarter to serve as the next CBHE representative. Mr. McCarter will replace Doug Kennedy effective immediately

i. DHEWD Staff Change

Mulligan announced that Becky Dunn, DHEWD Chief of Staff has left the department. She said DHEWD has initiated the interview process and hopes to have a new chief of staff selected very soon.

ii. Commissioner's Report

Commissioner Mulligan reported that DHEWD is now celebrating two years of connecting higher education and workforce development. She enumerated what she described as DHEWD "quick wins."

- June 15, 2019: New department vision statement adopted
- July 1, 2019: First MoExcels grant funds available
- August 28, 2019: Department of Economic Development launches Missouri One Start
- August 28, 2019: New department kickoff
- September 1, 2019: Fast Track launches
- September 26, 2019: Chief Local Elected Officials Summit held
- November 12, 2019: Inter-Agency Committee on Apprenticeships established; Apprenticeship Missouri Playbook released
- December 15, 2020: New department values adopted

Mulligan then turned to DHEWD response to the COVID 19 crisis. She said DHEWD assisted the Department of Labor & Industrial Relations enroll people for unemployment insurance benefits and established a reverse call center to encourage unemployed Missourians to enroll in training. Mulligan reported that DHEWD expanded free online training options, participated in online job fairs, surveyed colleges and universities to identify needs for safe reopen, and convened leaders and emergency responders on campuses to share information and connect with experts. Mulligan also noted that DHEWD partnered to bring social workers to campuses and mentioned that Governor Parson allocated funds to expand child care on campuses.

Mulligan told the CBHE that DHEWD has accelerated an emphasis on equity. She indicated that DHWD has built and funded ladders into apprenticeship programs for diverse Missourians. Other equity related measures include:

- Apprentice Connect (partnership with Missouri Chamber of Commerce & Industry)
- Building Union Diversity program (partnership with SLATE and St. Louis Building & Construction Trades)
- Pre-apprenticeship programs (partnership with Kansas City and St. Louis non-profits)
- Work Able Missouri (partnership with hospitality industry)
- Increased availability and use of disaggregated data
- Began equity series
- Distributed COVID response funds with a formula that included extra weighting for financially needy students
- Internal staff training

Mulligan told the CBHE that DHEWD staff professional development initiatives are paying off. Mulligan reported that staff in the Best Place to Work Steering Committee meet monthly to develop and improve DHEWD's organizational culture. She said each month they hear from an external speaker. And she presented the graphic at left to describe the department's growth. Cornelison commended the Commissioner and the DHEWD staff for their efforts to make the department more effective and a better place to work – especially throughout the pandemic. He said it is very impressive work.

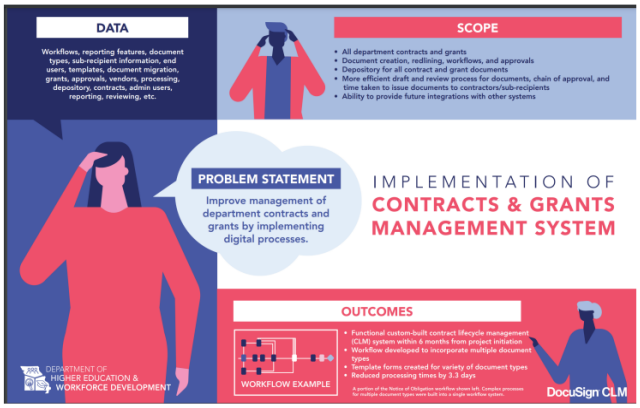
Mulligan then reported on 2021 DHEWD Strategic Placemat Mid-Year Review. She said the placemat has 26 initiatives total (5 themes) and that three initiatives were added mid-year. The Commissioner stated two initiatives completed (7.3 and 11.2), eight initiatives at 50% completion or more and on track, 12 initiatives at 0%-49% and on track, and four initiatives at 0%-24% and in jeopardy of delay.

Using the graphic below, Mulligan described department efforts to improve management of DHEWD contracts and grants by implanting digital processes. She indicated that these processes are intended to apply to all department contracts and grants and the intended outcome to create functional custom-built contract lifecycle management system within six months from project initiation. She said use of such a system can reduce processing times substantially.



Mulligan told the CBHE that her priorities in next six months are to address the American Rescue Plan Act department plan, wrap up the DHEWD strategic plan, and to resolve the Fast Track Workforce Incentive Grant sunset and claw-back issues (DHEWD provided more information on each of those issues in other agenda items

3. Presidential Advisory Committee

a. Action

i. Approval of Higher Education Student Funding Act Rule Revision

Kristin Stokely, DHEWD General Counsel, reported that during the 2021 session, the General Assembly passed and Governor Parson signed House Bill 297 making a variety of changes to legislation impacting higher education institutions. She said one change removed the statutory caps on tuition increase known as the Higher Education Student Funding Act (HESFA). The new legislation removes the tuition caps, leaving only the requirement that institutions notify DHEWD of their upcoming academic year tuition rate by July 1 of each year. Stokely stated the new legislation also added a provision allowing institutions to charge differential tuition.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Stokely advised that DHEWD implements the previous version of HESFA through an administrative rule located at 6 CSR 10-14.010. Due to the changes to the legislation, she said DHEWD must revise the administrative rule. DHEWD staff drafted the administrative rule amendment with input from staff and institutions. Stokely indicated that once it became clear that Governor Parson planned to sign HB 297, DHEWD staff began communicating with all institutions on how to define "differential tuition" as that term is new to the HESFA legislation.

Stokely shared that DHEWD conducted its own research of how "differential tuition" is defined across the country and received feedback from a variety of institutions on how to define it. She said the majority of institutions did not care how DHEWD defined "differential tuition" so long as their current tuition structures were allowed to continue. The remainder of institutions supported defining "differential tuition" as tuition charged at a higher level for certain degree programs.

Based upon the feedback it received, Stokely said DHEWD prepared a draft administrative rule revision and circulated it to the institutions for feedback. Three institutions responded. All three institutions asked DHEWD to clarify that the prohibition on course fees for courses in a "differential tuition" program only applies to courses required as part of the degree program and not electives. She said DHEWD found that request reasonable and incorporated it into the draft rule revision.

Stokely told the CBHE that the draft proposed rule revision (pages 2-9) is the result of several months of collaboration between DHEWD staff and institutions of higher education. If approved, the department will begin the rule promulgation process by filing the proposed rule with the Secretary of State.

Motion. CBHE direct the Commissioner of Higher Education to take all actions necessary to ensure the attached proposed administrative rule becomes effective as soon as possible. Motion carried 9-0.

ii. 2022 Legislative Proposals

Gerren McHam, DHEWD Special Assistant for External Relations stated the Fast Track Workforce Incentive Grant established by § 173.2553, RSMo, is an adult-focused financial aid program enacted by the General Assembly in 2019. The grant addresses workforce needs by helping adults pursue a certificate, degree, or industry-recognized credential in an area designated as high-need. McHam told the CBHE that students can use the award to attend any public or private college or university, or an area vocational-technical school. He said grant recipients must maintain Missouri residency and work in Missouri for three years after graduation to prevent the grant from converting to a loan that must be repaid with interest.

Pursuant to § 173.2553, RSMo, the Fast Track Workforce Incentive Grant will sunset on August 28, 2022, unless it is reauthorized by an act of the General Assembly. McHam said the Joint Committee on Legislative Research—Oversight Division's staff is currently conducting its sunset review of the program and will provide a report with their observations and potential recommendations to Joint Committee lawmakers during the General Assembly's September veto session. He indicated that DHEWD staff propose the following changes to the Fast Track statute:

> Sunset Removal. Section 173.2553.13, RSMo, provides that Fast Track will "sunset automatically after August 28, 2022, unless reauthorized by an act of the general assembly." McHam asserted that uncertainty surrounding Fast Track program's likely reduces participation by (1) causing college personnel to hesitate to promote it and (2) making potential eligible applicants worry that program might end before they are able to complete their education. To be effective, McHam said financial aid programs need to be predictable so recipients have confidence that the funding will be available for the full timeframe of their eligibility.
> Forgivable Loan Removal. Section 173.2553.11(2)(c), RSMo, creates a "clawback provision" that requires Fast Track recipients to live and work in Missouri for at least three years after completing their training or repay some or all of the grant they received. This effectively makes Fast Track a forgivable loan program. McHam reported that in order for the DHEWD to operationalize this requirement, the statute requires prospective Fast Track recipients to complete promissory notes before they begin training (§

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

173.2553.11(2), RSMo). He said these features discourage potential participants from receiving the benefits of the program and create significant administrative burdens for both students and department staff.

McHam stated that based on year-end data for FY 2021, DHEWD received 853 Fast Track applications from eligible individuals. Of those, 760 were certified by the institutions as eligible for payment, which means the student met the eligibility criteria and did enroll in a program and incur tuition costs. Of those, only 311 returned a promissory note and received a payment during the fiscal year. McHam said DHEWD staff believe that the forgivable loan and promissory note requirements contribute substantially to that drop-off. In addition, the administrative burden of administering the forgivable loan requirement is substantial. Since Fast Track is a grant that could convert to a loan, DHEWD is considered a private lender. As such, the department must comply with the federal Truth in Lending Act. Students must also complete a promissory note and the additional paperwork required by federal lending requirements which makes the application and approval process complex. Because of this the barrier, many student decide not to participate in the program.

Apprenticeship Expansion. The cost of apprenticeship programs can be significant, including costs associated with supplies, equipment/tools, and fees. Expanding the Fast Track program eligible entity list to include any entity that provides registered, approved apprenticeship programs, as defined by the U.S. Department of Labor, will expand the number of apprenticeship opportunities that will meet high-demand occupations.

McHam said that if the draft legislation is approved by the CBHE, department staff will continue to work with the Governor's Office to finalize the legislation, identify bill sponsors, and introduce a Fast Track bill during the Second Session of the 101st General Assembly.

Dr. Sue Thomas, President of Truman State University stated the Council on Public Higher Education (COPHE) is very supportive of the proposed changes to the Fast Track program. In addition, she asked that Fast Track be extended for purposes of degree completions that are not in areas of high need. She said that expanding the program to all majors to complete degrees may help to meet Missouri's increasing workforce needs. Cornelison responded by saying Thomas's request makes sense and that the changes she suggests may help move toward the Big Goal of having 60 percent of Missourians possess a postsecondary degree or certificate by 2025. Mulligan said that DHEWD will consider the request and will work with the legislature and the governor's office to explore it more fully. However, she said legislators have competing perspectives on the program that must be considered.

CBHE member Allen Brooks asked about the number of individuals who actually stay in Missouri to live and work for three years after Fast Track completion. Mulligan said that because the program is young, DHEWD does not now have sufficient data on in-state retention to answer that question.

Motion. CBHE approve the draft Fast Track legislation and authorize the department to make any necessary adjustments to the legislation as the bill goes through the review and legislative process. Motion carried 9-0.

i. Reminder Regarding Process for Identifying New PAC Officers

Kristin Stokely, DHEWD General Counsel reminded the CBHE that the Presidential Advisory Committee (PAC) is required by statute. She said the law that established the CBHE in 1973, § 173.005, RSMo, requires the CBHE to meet at least four times a year with an advisory committee that includes representatives of all sectors of higher education. Stokely stated the statute indicates, "The conferences shall enable the committee to advise the CBHE of the views of the institutions on matters within the purview of the coordinating board."

Stokely said the PAC bylaws provide that the PAC chair shall appoint a committee to nominate a slate of officers to serve as PAC chair and vice chair. The PAC votes on the slate at the September meeting. Officers are elected biennially. She said the individuals elected by the PAC for chair and vice chair positions rotate in equitable order among the associations, COPHE, MCCA, and ICUM. Current PAC officers will continue to serve until their successors are elected.

PAC members will vote on the nominations for a new chair and vice chair at their September 2022 meeting. The chair and vice chair will serve for the 2022-2024 term, beginning with the December 2022 CBHE meeting and concluding with the September 2024 CBHE meeting.

ii. Implementation of New Laws

Kristin Stokely, DHEWD General Counsel reported on implementation of bills that were truly agreed and finally passed during the 2021 regular session of the General Assembly.

Stokely said that laws passed that require implementation/action by the Department of Higher Education & Workforce Development:

- House Bill 3 – DHEWD Budget Bill
- House Bill 7 – Departments of Economic Development, Commerce & Insurance, and Labor & Industrial Relations Budget Bill
- House Bill 19 – Capital Projects Budget Bill
- HB 297 – Higher Education Omnibus

Stokely provided a brief description of the major sections of each bill that require implementation:

HB 3

- 3.010 – GEER appropriations for public colleges and universities through DHEWD
- 3.070 – $5,000,000 for A+ dual credit reimbursement
    - o Will work with the financial aid team to determine how to fund 160.545.12.2
- 3.145
    - o Contains nine different appropriations for career and training programs across the state. DHEWD staff are working to determine how best to administer these funds.

HB 7

- Provides $2,000,000 for competitive grants to eligible institutions for nursing programs, not to exceed $150,000 per institution. DHEWD to assist the State Board of Nursing in administering.

HB 19

- 19.160 - $1,500,000 CTE building construction in Ashland (NOTE: This community/institution is not specifically named in the bill. DHEWD staff will work with the Office of Administration to confirm that these are the only potentially eligible recipients).
- 19.165 - $5,000,000 CTE building construction in Perryville (NOTE: This community/institution is not specifically named in the bill. DHEWD staff will work with the Office of Administration to confirm that these are the only potentially eligible recipients).
- 19.215 - $18,000,000 community college deferred maintenance – equal distribution

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- 19.220 - $5,000,000 for Mineral Area College for construction of a technical education and workforce development building

HB 297

- Creates the Students' Right to Know Act – DHEWD must implement putting expanded data online for students to access
- Ends HESFA tuition caps

Stokely explained that a spreadsheet entitled "New Law Implementation Matrix" (pages 3-6) contains further details about implementation of the laws mentioned above. She said that in the coming months, DHEWD will continue to work on implementing the new laws and administering the new budget items.

i. Strategic Planning Update

Commissioner Mulligan reported that in fall 2020, the department discussed beginning a new strategic planning process. In December and January, she said DHEWD conducted best practice research into other states' higher education agency strategic plans. Mulligan said this research informed the development of a planning framework the department is using to move forward.

Mulligan told the CBHE that DHEWD is receiving support through HCM/Lumina Strategy Labs to develop an overarching, multi-year strategic framework that will steer the agency and its initiatives in order to make significant progress toward department goals. In June, the department kicked off the public strategic planning process by engaging stakeholders and partners in a conversation about goals and opportunities for the future with a review of Missouri's overall higher education and workforce landscape, including strengths, weaknesses/threats, and opportunities. Mulligan said that the data focused on the system itself, how to get more people working, and how to help them gain skills and training to be more productive.

Rachelle Sharpe of HCM Strategists said DHEWD is using a process that aligns with the operational excellence model for strategic planning. She said the four components of the process include:

1. Know yourself. Define the vision, mission, principles, and values.
2. Understand state needs. Set big goals and identify indicators.
3. Identify our role. Define the problem and identify the parts of it DHEWD can influence most meaningfully.
4. Set strategy. Identify themes and set targets.

Sharpe stated that work is underway for the first two components of the process.

1. Know yourself. Define the vision, mission, principles, and values.

- An organization's vision statement is an inspirational statement that identifies an ideal future state.

Sharpe said the CBHE adopted the new department vision statement, "Every Missourian empowered with the skills and education needed for success," in June 2019. She said the vision statement is widely used in department signage, performance incentive swag, internal communications, and presentations to external audiences.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Sharpe told the CBHE that a mission statement is a brief description of an organization's fundamental purpose. She said DHEWD's leadership team aspired to create a statement that will energize employees, not include buzzwords or jargon, and be easy to remember. She said the mission statement will also be used in department signage and internal communications, as well in presentations to external audiences. Sharpe said that through interviews with senior staff and discussions with leadership council and board members conducted by HCM Strategists, draft mission statements and guiding principles were shared with all department staff and the board for feedback. Revisions were made to the draft mission statement to reflect feedback.

> "Our people, programs, and partnerships put Missourians on a path to learn, work and prosper."

Sharpe advised that state education agencies' strategic plans sometimes include guiding principles or values. She said these principles or values can guide DHEWD work and help leaders prioritize their activities. Sharpe said the following draft guiding principles and proposed definitions were derived from the same process and conversations that led to the draft mission statement.

> o People-Centered: Engage and connect department teams, partners, institutions, and employers on behalf of Missourians.
> o Equity-Focused: Close educational attainment and workforce participation gaps among key sub-populations.
> o Impact-Driven: Aim for optimal results and continuous improvement across all programs and services.

2. Understand state needs

Sharpe stated that understanding state needs means setting big goals and identifying indicators. Sharpe told the CBHE that metrics are an essential element of an effective strategic plan and DHEWD's strategic plan will include:

A. A big goal, targets, and indicators. Many actors and factors impact indicators, targets, and the big goal, not just the department's work. The big goal and targets are aspirational and represent the state's needs. Targets and indicators will include equity measures.

Sharpe said DHEWD staff are considering the following:

> 1. Big goal: The proposed big goal is, "Best in the Midwest in educational attainment and workforce participation by 2030."

This goal is proposed because it aligns with the state's approach to economic and workforce development, and because the targets associated with the goal are consistent with the old Department of Higher Education's big goal for educational attainment. In addition, the educational attainment goal is similar to the percent of good jobs projected to require some kind of postsecondary credential by 2030. That number is 65 percent.

Mulligan indicated that DHWD staff will invite feedback during the CBHE's September work session and regular meeting. After receiving that feedback, staff will begin to finalize items. She said staff will provide data for indicators and discuss it with the CBHE at a future meeting. If the board is interested in creating a prosperity dashboard, staff will prepare a draft for the board's consideration. In October, Mulligan said the department will work through part three of the framework to identify the department's role, themes, and establish program measures. Mulligan announced a final strategic plan report will be completed in November and presented to the board for approval in December.

i. Missouri Advisory Board of Educator Preparation Nomination

Mara Woody, DHEWD Assistant Commissioner for Postsecondary Policy stated that Section 161.097, RSMo, established the Missouri Advisory Board for Educator Preparation (MABEP) to advise the State Board of Education

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

(SBE) and CBHE in the area of quality educator preparation programs in Missouri. DESE and DHEWD work together to foster meaningful and substantial collaboration among all stakeholders in the interest of improving the quality of educator preparation. 5 CSR 20-400.450 defines the membership structure of MABEP. It is composed of 14 members appointed by the Commissioners and Boards of both departments. MABEP (page 2) meets at least twice annually.

Motion. CBHE approve Dr. Edward Hill (page 3), Harris-Stowe State University, for a public university, to a position on the Missouri Advisory Board for Educator Preparation. Motion carried 9-0.

ii. Missouri State University Proposal to Offer a Doctor of Occupational Therapy

Mara Woody, DHEWD Assistant Commissioner for Postsecondary Policy explained that CBHE has responsibility for coordinating, reviewing, and approving proposed new degree programs per §§ 173.005 and 174.160, RSMo. She said the process for reviewing new degree program proposals is codified in administrative rule 6 CSR 10-4.010 Academic Program Approval.

Woody recounted that in 2017, the CBHE adopted a process for the comprehensive review of new programs that fall outside the parameters of routine and staff review. She said the comprehensive review of a program is triggered by the presence of one or more of the following criteria:

- The institution will incur substantial costs to launch and sustain the program;
- The program includes offering degrees at the baccalaureate level or higher that fall within the Classification of Instructional Program (CIP) code of 14, Engineering;
- The program is outside an institution's CBHE-approved mission, including location-based triggers;
- The program will include the offering of a doctoral degree (applicable only to non-University of Missouri institutions);
- The program will include the offering of an education specialist degree.

The comprehensive review process remains divided into two phases, whereby the institution must receive approval from the CBHE of their Phase I proposal to move to the next phase.

Woody reported that in June 2021, Missouri State University submitted a Phase I comprehensive review proposal for a Doctor of Occupational Therapy (OTD) program (pages 3-166). She indicated the proposed program seeks to offer an online post-professional degree to meet current and future demand particularly in the areas of teaching and administration. Woody stated the program was posted on the department website for public comment for 20 days per the administrative rule and DHEWD received no comments on the proposal.

Woody said DHEWD reviewed the Phase I proposal to determine compliance with the following criteria necessary to either deny the proposal or recommend approval to the CBHE to move to Phase II:

- Verification that collaboration is not feasible after a good faith effort by the proposing institution
- Verification the proposed program does not unnecessarily duplicate an existing program
- Verification the program will contribute to the CBHE's strategic plan to meet statewide needs

Collaboration: Missouri State University provided correspondence from the University of Missouri indicating collaboration for the proposed program was not feasible at this time. Department staff accepted this as appropriate verification of this standard.

Unnecessary Duplication: The Missouri Economic Research and Information Center (MERIC) provided data regarding the number of new OTDs awarded annually, annual job openings, and employment projections in the field. The data indicate Missouri private postsecondary institutions awarded 27 OTDs in 2019; the University of Missouri projects it will be able to award approximately 49 OTDs once that program is fully implemented, resulting in an estimated annual supply of 76 new OTDs by 2026. MERIC staff analyzed the data regarding practitioners and faculty postings for doctorate degree holders. Of the 1,209 job postings in Missouri for occupational therapists, 31% specified education requirements, and 15.6% of those listings required a doctoral degree. Staff extrapolated employers posted positions for 59 OTDs in Missouri for the March 2020 – February 2021 timeframe. As 69% of the job postings did not specify if a doctoral degree was required, the number of open OTD level positions in Missouri may have been higher.

Woody told the CBHE that during this same period, DHEWD staff analyzed data regarding job postings for health specialty faculty. She said Missouri employers posted 217 positions, only 34% of which specified educational requirements. More than 31% of those postings (23 positions) required a doctoral level degree. As with the occupational therapy advertisements, Woody indicated the majority (66%) did not specify the educational level of the open positions and therefore the need for doctoral level faculty may have been higher. She said these projections indicate there were at least 82 job postings in Missouri requiring either an OTD or a doctorate in a health specialty, resulting in an unmet need. Additional analysis of employment projections through 2028 indicate 30 annual openings for OTDs and 172 annual openings for doctoral-level health specialty faculty for a total demand of 202 doctoral practitioners and faculty. Based on this analysis, the department accepted this as appropriate verification of this standard.

Statewide Needs: Based on the analysis by MERIC, the department accepted the above data as appropriate verification of this standard.

Woody said that if approved for Phase II, MSU will convene an external review team to provide an assessment on the institution's capacity to offer the program. Clif Smart, President of Missouri State University, stated the MSU master's program in occupation therapy began 6 years ago and 100 percent of those graduates have passed professional exams and all have been employed within six months. He said MSU is now in very good position to help the state's workforce need for doctor of occupational therapy candidates. Smart stated MSU is very happy with this DHEWD recommendation and looks forward to welcoming the first class next August.

Motion. CBHE approve Missouri State University to move to Phase II of the comprehensive review of the Doctor of Occupational Therapy. Motion carried 9-0.

iii. Updated CBHE-Approved Mission Descriptions – Statewide Mission Changes

Mara Woody, DHEWD Assistant Commissioner for Postsecondary Policy explained that Section 173.030(8) and (9), RSMo, describes the framework by which public institutions may seek a statewide mission. Woody told the CBHE that institutions must receive an initial determination from CBHE that the institution qualifies for a mission change based on its application and CBHE-reviewed implementation plan. Subsequently, Woody shared that the institution must seek approval for a mission change through a resolution of the General Assembly. Finally, Woody stated the CBHE must approve a revised mission description for the institution to include the new statewide mission.

Woody reported that the General Assembly passed, and Governor Parson signed, HB 297, which included statewide missions for three institutions: Harris-Stowe State University (page 2), Northwest Missouri State University (page 3), and Southeast Missouri State University (page 4). She said statewide missions are included as part of each institution's CBHE-approved mission description reflecting the institution's appropriate role and scope within the state's higher education system.

Woody explained that DHEWD staff work with institutions during the five-year mission review process and submit each mission description to the CBHE for approval. Approved mission descriptions include a description of the institution's programs, audiences served, level and type of degrees offered, and other distinguishing factors. She emphasized that institutions may initiate changes to their approved descriptions outside of the five year mission review cycle as necessary such as when an institution receives a new or updated statewide mission, which is a distinguishing factor and may represent a change in audiences served.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Woody said the CBHE-approved mission descriptions serve an important role in the review of proposals for new academic programs. As a consequence, Woody emphasized that it is important any fundamental change to an institution's mission be approved by the CBHE and incorporated into its mission description.

Motion. CBHE approve each institution's updated mission description to include statewide mission verbiage, as presented. Motion approved 9-0.

iv. Metropolitan Community College Redistricting Committee Appointments

Kristin Stokely, DHEWD General Counsel stated that Section 178.820.4, RSMo, requires that "if during the period between publications of decennial census figures the area of a district is increased or decreased, a new plan shall be adopted within one year thereafter or the trustees shall be required to run in the district at large." Stokely stated that Metropolitan Community College (MCC) increased its taxing district during the April 2021 election. As a result, MCC must complete the redistricting process before the April 2022 election. Stokely stated that the redistricting process for MCC is the same as the process for other community colleges with subdistricts, but is occurring on a different timeline due to the fact that MCC expanded its taxing district.

The process provided in statute is as follows:

1. The affected community college district board of trustees must vote to adopt a resolution calling for the formation of a redistricting committee. (§ 178.820.2, RSMo)
2. "Upon adoption of the resolution, the secretary of the board of trustees shall forward a certified copy [of the resolution] to the CBHE with the request that the redistricting committee be appointed in order to divide the community college districts into at least two and not more than six subdistricts for the purpose of electing trustees" (§ 178.820.2, RSMo)
3. The board of trustees appoints three residents within the affected district to the redistricting committee (§ 178.820.2, RSMo)
4. The CBHE appoints three residents within the affected district to the redistricting committee (§ 178.820.2, RSMo)
5. The redistricting committee then meets and adopts a redistricting plan (§ 178.820.2, RSMo)
6. Once the plan is approved by a majority of the redistricting committee, the committee forwards a certified copy, via the board of trustees secretary, to the CBHE for approval or disapproval (§ 178.820.4, RSMo)
7. "The CBHE shall approve any redistricting plan in which the population of any subdistrict divided by the number of trustees to be selected therefrom substantially equals the population of any other subdistrict divided by the number of trustees to be elected therefrom" (§ 178.820.4, RSMo)
8. "If the plan is not approved, then it shall be returned to the redistricting committee for revision and resubmission" (§ 178.820.4, RSMo)

Stokely reported the MCC Board of Trustees adopted a resolution creating the redistricting committee, appointed three members to the redistricting committee, and submitted the names of five individuals for CBHE consideration, of which the CBHE must appoint three to the committee. She said DHEWD staff have reviewed the provided candidates' backgrounds and in the interest of providing as much balance to the committee as possible, and recommends the following individuals for the CBHE's appointment to the redistricting committee:

- Greg Baker (pages 4-6)
- David Disney (pages 13-14)
- Marjorie Williams (page 16)

Stokely reported that after selection of appointees to the redistricting committee today, MCC will work with its vendor to create a redistricting plan. She said MCC will take that plan to the redistricting committee for a vote. Once approved by the redistricting committee, Stokely indicated MCC will submit the plan to the CBHE for approval at or before the March 2022 regular meeting.

Motion. CBHE vote to appoint Marjorie Williams, David Disney, and Greg Baker to the MCC redistricting committee. Motion carried 9-0.

v. Academic Program Actions on Provisionally Approved Programs -- No oral presentation was offered for this item. The information for the following item is reproduced from CBHE Board Book

Section 173.005, RSMo, authorizes the Coordinating Board for Higher Education to approve proposed new degree programs, as well as to collect data on and recommend the consolidation or elimination of programs, in the best interests of the institution and/or state. The CBHE approves new academic programs provisionally for a period of five years, after which time the Department of Higher Education and Workforce Development staff assess the viability of the programs and makes recommendations to the CBHE to approve fully, to not approve, or to review again in two years.

The CBHE awarded provisional approval to the programs in the tables (pages 2-3) in 2014 and 2016. Staff reviewed data related to enrollment, graduation, and staffing as well as a narrative summary by the institution of the program's performance. Staff recommends the Coordinating Board fully approve the programs listed in Table 1. Staff further recommends the Coordinating Board extend provisional approval for an additional two years to the programs listed in Table 2. Table 3 lists programs deleted or inactivated by institutions.

Motion. CBHE fully approve the programs listed in Table 1. Staff further recommends the Coordinating Board extend provisional approval for an additional two years to the programs listed in Table 2. Motion carried 9-0.

b. Information

i. Final Report on Great River Community College District Petition

Mara Woody, DHEWD Assistant Commissioner for Postsecondary Policy stated that CBHE has statutory responsibility under Chapter 178, RSMo, to establish standards for the organization of a community college district. She said the community sponsoring an initiative for a new two-year college must provide evidence meeting CBHE standards that shall minimally include the need within the proposed district, the assessed valuation of the proposed taxing district, and the number of high school graduates sufficient to support the new institution.

Woody reported that the CBHE received a notice in October 2020, from the Committee for Affordable Technical Education, stating a Steering Committee had been formed to organize a new community college district that would encompass the Cape Girardeau 63, the Jackson R-2, and the Perry County 32 public school districts. In order to meet requirements as outlined in 6 CSR 10-6.010, Woody said the Steering Committee contracted with MGT Consulting to conduct an analysis to determine compliance with the six standards for establishment of a new community college district. Those standards are:

1. The initiative originated from the area to be served.
2. There is clear need based on the educational interests of citizens and staffing needs of industry.
3. The proposed district is comprised of one or more public school districts.
4. There is substantive evidence projecting enrollment of at least 1,000 full time equivalent students.
5. The proposed district would be financially viable.
6. A feasibility study is submitted to the CBHE.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Woody told the CBHE that the Committee's Letter of Intent was satisfactory evidence that Standards 1 and 3 were met, and the feasibility study submitted by MGT Consulting (pages -126) satisfies Standard 6. She provided details on unmet standards.

Standard 2 of the administrative rule requires a survey to elicit specific educational services needed by high school students, employers, and representatives of the general public. The Steering Committee and the consulting firm worked with DHEWD to develop the survey (pages 127-175), which was administered in April and May 2021. The standard within the administrative rule requires "[C]lear and convincing evidence of need…" to be established from the survey data. While there are some bona fide needs within the region, such as tractor-trailer truck driving certificates, dental hygienist associate degrees, and construction manager baccalaureate degrees, this survey does not highlight sufficient demand to substantiate the need for the establishment of a new community college. Therefore, Standard 2 was not satisfied.

Woody stated that although the feasibility study does not support the creation of a new community college to meet the highlighted needs, there appear to be gaps in the region that may be filled through additional or enhanced postsecondary services. She said DHEWD, at the direction of the CBHE, may conduct a review of alternatives to provide needed services.

Woody told the CBHE that Standard 4 requires "substantive evidence to project an enrollment of at least one thousand (1,000) full-time equivalent (FTE) students within five (5) years of the initial operation of the new district." MGT Consulting examined population and enrollment trends to assist in the calculation. The data were determined in part on the demand for literacy and adult basic education, customized and contracted training and other non-credit services, and documented demand for educational services "within the proposed district's service area that are not currently within an existing community college district." The firm projected 507 FTE enrollment from within the taxing district in Year 5. Therefore, Standard 4 was not satisfied.

Woody explained there was discussion among Steering Committee representatives, MGT Consulting, and DHEWD staff regarding the projection parameters in light of the fact that Missouri community colleges have taxing districts as well as agreed-upon service areas that cover the entirety of the state. Woody stated the calculation relied solely on population data relevant to the proposed taxing districts rather than a wider delineated service region, which may have impacted the projections.

Standard 5 of the administrative rule requires a calculation of factors related to financial viability including estimated operating costs, tuition and fee income based on enrollment projections, state financial aid to students, local tax levies and property tax income generated from the assessed valuation, and other revenue. The feasibility study did not address financial viability although the survey did indicate a new community college would require a tax levy of at least 10 cents per $100 assessed valuation. As Standard 4 had been deemed unmet, the Steering Committee did not submit its viability calculations to the department. Therefore, Standard 5 was not satisfied.

Based on the results of the feasibility study, the Committee for Affordable Technical Education is formally withdrawing its petition (page 177-178) to form a new community college.

Woody told the CBHE that several issues related to the administrative rule require further review and discussion among stakeholders. She indicated DHEWD staff will facilitate a detailed review of the rule and will provide a recommendation to the CBHE at a future meeting of any necessary revisions to ensure a fair and equitable process is available to communities seeking to establish new public postsecondary institutions. As part of this review, Woody said the department will convene stakeholders, including community and institutional representatives, to identify alternate solutions to help meet regional needs as identified in the feasibility study.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

ii. Update on the Decennial Community College Redistricting Process

Kristin Stokely, DHEWD General Counsel told the CBHE that section 178.820.4, RSMo, requires that, every ten years, after publication of the decennial census figures, each community college districts "which contains more than four hundred fifty thousand residents" complete the redistricting process. Section 178.820.4, RSMo, further provides that if a community college fails to complete the redistricting process within one year of publication of the census figures, all trustees must run "at large." Woody explained the process provided in statute is as follows:

1. The affected community college district board of trustees must vote to adopt a resolution calling for the formation of a redistricting committee within ninety days after publication of the decennial census figures. (§ 178.820.2, RSMo)
2. "Upon adoption of the resolution, the secretary of the board of trustees shall forward a certified copy [of the resolution] to the CBHE with the request that the redistricting committee be appointed in order to divide the community college districts into at least two and not more than six subdistricts for the purpose of electing trustees." (§ 178.820.2, RSMo)
3. The board of trustees appoints three residents within the affected district to the redistricting committee. (§ 178.820.2, RSMo)
4. The CBHE appoints three residents within the affected district to the redistricting committee. (§ 178.820.2, RSMo)
5. The redistricting committee then meets and adopts a redistricting plan. (§ 178.820.2, RSMo)
6. Once the plan is approved by a majority of the redistricting committee, the committee forwards a certified copy, via the board of trustees secretary, to the CBHE for approval or disapproval. (§ 178.820.4, RSMo)
7. "The CBHE shall approve any redistricting plan in which the population of any subdistrict divided by the number of trustees to be selected therefrom substantially equals the population of any other subdistrict divided by the number of trustees to be elected therefrom." (§ 178.820.4, RSMo)
8. "If the plan is not approved, then it shall be returned to the redistricting committee for revision and resubmission." (§ 178.820.4, RSMo)

Stokely said DHEWD staff are working with the impacted community colleges on a plan for completing the redistricting process within the one year statutory timeframe. She said DHEWD staff are working with the impacted community colleges to bring their lists of redistricting committee nominations to the CBHE in December for a vote.

iii. Update on the St. Louis Community College Trustee Appointment Process

Kristin Stokely, DHEWD General Counsel stated section 178.820.6, RSMo, requires that the St. Louis Community College (STLCC) Board of Trustees contain "one at-large member appointed to a six-year term by the CBHE." She said the current CBHE appointed trustee's term expires in April of 2022. As a result, DHEWD must work with STLCC to appoint a community member to the STLCC Board of Trustees. Stokely told the CBHE that the statute (page 2-3) requires that the appointee not be an employee of the community college district, must be a US citizen, 21 years of age or older, and a registered voter of the community college district for one year prior to the appointment. She said when this law was passed in 2015, the DHEWD created a policy for appointing the trustee.

Stokely reported DHEWD staff are working with STLCC to ensure all applications are received and the CBHE votes on the appointee by the March 2022 CBHE meeting. Between October and December of 2021, DHEWD will accept applications for the STLCC appointee using the Department-provided application form (pages 4-10). Stokely said after receipt of all applications, DHEWD staff will conduct interviews of each applicant and bring a recommendation to the CBHE in March 2022.

iv. Overview on the State of Remedial Education

Mara Woody, DHEWD Assistant Commissioner for Postsecondary Policy reported that the Annual Report on The Condition of College and Career Readiness summarizes the efforts of the 25 public postsecondary institutions which offer remedial education to replicate best practices, as required by §173.005.2(7) RSMo and outlined in the Principles of Best Practice in Remedial Education. She said these annual reports highlight changes occurring in Missouri in three key areas: the decline of remediation rates of recent high school graduates, the institutional shift of using multiple measures to assess college readiness and placement in gateway courses, and the change in remediation supports and the impact on student success.

Woody reported that much has changed in remedial education in Missouri since HB 1042 was passed. In 2012, 35.6% of recent public high school graduates required some form of remediation: 30.8% required remedial Math and 14.3% required remedial English. Woody said Black Missourians were overrepresented among students requiring remediation, with 65% of incoming Black students at Missouri institutions being assessed as needing remediation. Woody reported that since the approval for Principles of Best Practice, the state has seen drastic improvement in its remediation rates on all fronts.

Table 1. Remedial Participation of Recent Missouri Public High School Graduates in Public Postsecondary Institutions

Total	35.6%	35.6%	30.8%	28.2%	26.8%	22.8%	21.5%	19.8%	17.3%
Math	30.8%	30.1%	26.2%	23.8%	21.5%	17.6%	17.5%	15.9%	13.1%
English	14.3%	15.5%	12.3%	10.0%	11.4%	10.1%	8.2%	7.2%	6.5%
Reading	9.1%	9.7%	7.6%	6.1%	6.6%	6.0%	5.2%	4.4%	3.7%

Woody told the CBHE that the remediation data for the most recent year available (fall 2020) shows remediation rates reduced by more than half of their 2012 levels (17.3% overall, 13.1% in math, 6.5% in English, and 3.7% in reading). While Black Missourians are still overrepresented among students needing remediation, the remediation rate for this group of students has drastically improved as well, with the overall remediation rate for Black students at 28.2%.

Woody told the CBHE that the use of multiple measures for placement is one of the best practices driving this positive change. Prior to the implementation of Principles of Best Practice, placement in remedial education was based primarily on standardized test scores, particularly ACT subscores. Woody stated that research indicates that basing student course placement, either in gateway courses or remedial sequences, on the results of standardized test scores (an often stressful event that can negatively impact student performance relative to their actual level of content mastery) often leads to students being placed unnecessarily in remediation, and an over-placement of some demographic groups in remedial education.

Woody reported that as of the 2018-19 academic year, all Missouri's public institutions are using multiple measures for placement. Additionally, 16 institutions are reporting the use of more holistic measures for placement such as high school GPA and coursework. Woody said the COVID-19 pandemic has also brought about changes in how institutions choose to place students. ACT requirements have become more flexible at many institutions as a result of the pandemic, which may continue to shift the emphasis away from the ACT as a measure for placement.

Woody stated that the ultimate goal of remedial education is to help students pass gateway, college level courses, and the implementation of corequisite remedial models have shown great success in achieving this goal. Rather than the traditional prerequisite model, which enrolls students in a non-credit bearing course that must be passed prior to taking the gateway course, the corequisite model – also known as just-in-time remediation – enrolls students directly in the gateway course along with instructional supports, similar to a one to two hour credit hour lab section.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Currently, 20 of Missouri's public institutions of higher education offer math corequisite remediation, while 15 institutions offer English corequisite supports.
