Chad is wrong. This is a spreadsheet from the NG yesterday —all service members have received pay (the LOA column on the left). They're working on approx. 80 pay issues for inaccurate direct deposit info, check reissue requests, supplemental pay inaccuracy, & overpayment.

RE NG also said they have 99% accuracy on OLS pay

Sat, Jan 15, 8:51 AM

To me, both what the spreadsheet says and what you wrote makes it seem that there are STILL 81 pay issues NOT resolved.
Chad may have the number wrong BUT the information that you all provided to me and that I stated publicly—that all pay issues have been resolved—seems incorrect.

Jordan Hale

Earlier this fall, most pay issues were related to CAPPS (a system the Comptroller administers and state agencies are required to use). State active duty soldiers had to be entered as state employees to get paid. That issue was resolved before Christmas (maybe even before that). We helped make that happen after TMD wasn't getting traction with the CPA. These other issues are human error and are periodically coming up, and may continue to do so as normal agencies sometimes have minor issues. What is included in the 80:

24- paid too little

17- paid too much

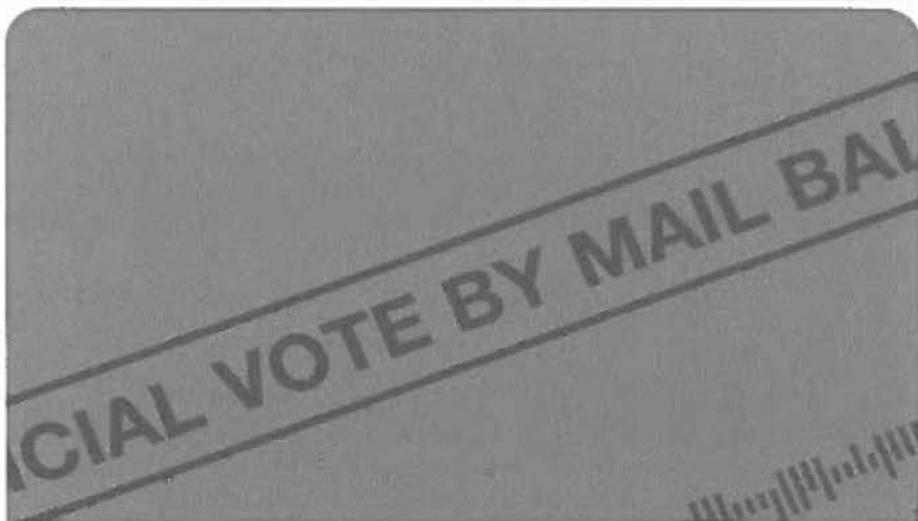

33- the direct deposit form was filled out incorrectly (so soldiers have to receive a paper check until it is resolved)
Paper checks take longer and don't clear as fast as direct deposit

JH

As of today, every soldier has received some payment.

From SOS below:

For SS# - It's only the last 4 for required for the ABBM.

We've provided direction to counties on reviewing applications but some are still rejecting erroneously.

Had you seen the Travis County issue? They decided to flat out reject more than half their applications. Instead of asking for assistance they made a press conference on it.

We've told them that if a DL or SS is linked to their registration file then it should be accepted.

We're providing guidance on this - as well as training. OAG and Legal are reviewing the Advisory that should go out soon.

Update From Oncor

Just fyi we have 1500 workers from 8 states on the way to our service area to get here in advance of the storm to augment our staff so they can be positioned before the storm hits

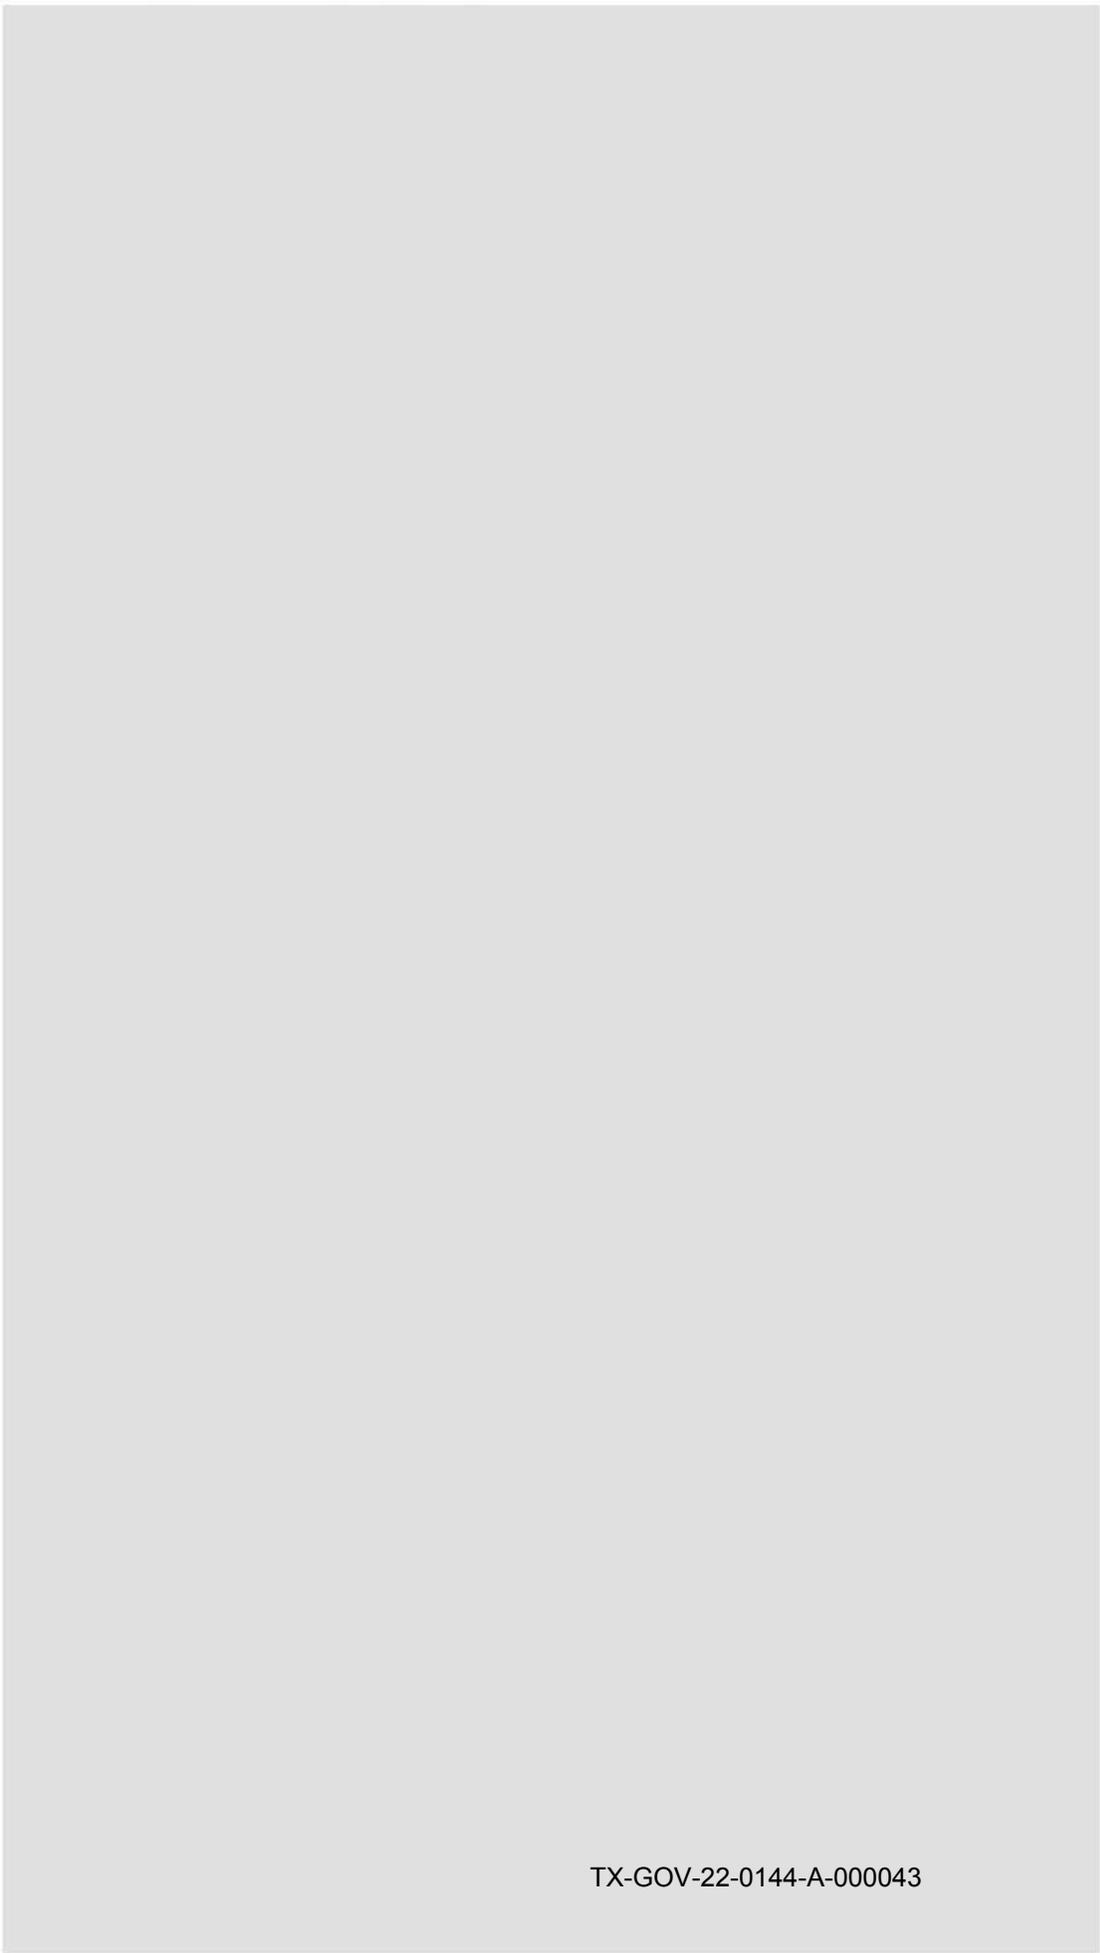

We are trying to message strongly that this event is a storm and that outages happen in ice storms and hurricanes. Storm outages don't mean there are grid problems in other words.

And now it's 10 states we are receiving personnel from in advance of the storm from these states:

Florida, Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, Kentucky and Missouri.

Javaid. This is my very basic understanding of the issues with HB 7.

1. We need HB 7 to mirror the definitions and terms provided by the NRC concerning high level nuclear waste. Calling something HLNW in layman's language is very different than how the NRC defines these waste products.
2. WCS's application to the NRC is for high level waste, spent fuel rods and reactor related greater than class C waste. Our attorney believes it is important to use all three of these descriptors in the Bill.
3. Waste Control Specialist is telling everyone that including the term, reactor related greater than class C in the Bill will prohibit them from having a license to store the existing greater than class C waste they already have stored at their Andrews County facility. I have not be able to run this to ground and get a definitive answer on what they are saying.
4. I do know that WCS has been working with the DOE with an application to not only storage greater than C material at their facility but to permanently dispose of all forms of greater than class C waste in their pits. This includes the transuranic waste that is currently being disposed at the Waste Isolation Pilot Project. This is a very concerning development.

Thanks. I am passing this on to my team. I'm in a meeting right now. I will talk to them about it later. Thanks for your help.
