Attorney General Mark Brnovich Obtains $260,000 for Consumers from Auction Companies

PHOENIX - Attorney General Mark Brnovich announced the resolution of a lawsuit filed against auction companies Auction Nation, LLC (Auction Nation) and Auction Yard, LLC (Auction Yard) and their owners. Consumers will receive $260,000 in restitution as a result of the consent decrees his office (AGO) obtained against Auction Nation and Auction Yard.

"Whether live or online, auction companies conducting business in Arizona must do so with integrity and transparency," said Attorney General Mark Brnovich. "Bidders may face off with each other but should not have to contend with uncover shills and orchestrated house bidding designed to drive up the prices."

The AGO alleged that Auction Nation and Auction Yard routinely engaged in "house bidding," a practice where sellers and auctioneers place bids, typically to raise auction prices up to a "reserve price." A reserve price is the minimum price a seller would accept from a buyer, so if the item does not reach the reserve price, the item does not sell. The AGO also alleged that Auction Nation and Auction Yard often placed multiple bids under multiple bidder numbers in their online auctions, and, in the end, items "sold" to house bidders often were relisted in later auctions.

In addition, the AGO alleged that Auction Nation and Auction Yard's house bidders had the ability to view real bidders' "max bids," a type of bid where bidders set a maximum bid amount and Auction Nation's auction software automatically outbids other bidders until the maximum amount is reached. Meanwhile, many real bidders informed the AGO that they had no idea that house bidding was taking place or that an item had a reserve price. Many real bidders also stated they would have bid differently if they were aware of house bidding, and some would not have bid at all.

The AGO's lawsuit also alleged that prior to December 2018, Auction Nation and Auction Yard engaged in house bidding despite the fact that the user agreement in effect at that time for both sites prohibited house bidding and assured would-be bidders that Auction Nation was not involved in the transactions between buyers and sellers. In December of 2018, after receiving notice of the AGO's investigation, Auction Nation updated the user agreement to disclose that house bidding may take place in Auction Nation and Auction Yard auctions, but many real bidders continued to be unaware of the house bidding.

The AGO filed a lawsuit against with Auction Nation and its owners Brian Long and Gabriel Prado, and Auction Yard and its owner William Russell in December of 2020. Under the consent decrees (pending court approval), Auction Nation will pay $210,000 and Auction Yard will pay $50,000 in consumer restitution.

The consent decrees also require strong injunctive relief whereby the two companies and their owners must provide transparency in their auctions and disclose more prominently that house bidding may take place in auctions with reserve prices, as well as more prominently identify which items have reserve prices. These changes will allow consumers to better understand that house bidding may take place and enable consumers to make an informed decision whether or not to participate in an Auction Nation or Auction Yard auction.

Am I eligible? What should I do?

The AGO has identified approximately 100 consumers eligible for restitution. Any additional consumers who believe they are eligible should file an AGO consumer complaint here or call 602-542-5763.

Senior Litigation Counsel Rebecca Salisbury, Assistant Attorney General Dylan Jones, Assistant Attorney General Joseph Hubble, and Senior Litigation Counsel Kristin Schriner handled this case.

If you believe you have been the victim of consumer fraud, you can file a consumer complaint by visiting the Attorney General's website. If you need a complaint form sent to you, you may contact the AGO in Phoenix at (602) 542-5763, in Tucson at (520) 628-6648, or outside the Phoenix and Tucson metro areas at (800) 352-8431.

Steve was hoping to do the decentralization topic we talked about a few months ago – and discuss how the AG is fighting back against federal overreach. Rather than do this topic on Super Bowl Sunday, we were hoping to move it to Sunday, March 6? Is the AG available on that date instead? So sorry for the change!

BIDEN'S BORDER CRISIS:

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

A high level DHS official tells FOX News there have already been 220,000 known "gotaways" at the US border in the first 4 months of FY22, which is typically the slower months at the border. In the last seven days RGV border agents caught 12 gang members-including seven MS13 members, as well as 6 migrants with criminal records, including convictions for murder and sexual crimes against children. Elsewhere along the border 5 unaccompanied children were abandoned at the river bank in Del Rio (Bill has pics) and thermal imaging was used to catch a group of 50 men dressed in camouflage sneaking across the open desert in the remote Big Bend sector.

How are you? Like Tom said, if you could send over any info about the case that would be great. It's being argued today, correct? If you could send talking points after about how it went, I'd appreciate that!

Also, let me know if there anything else he wants to discuss. I can always be reached at [redacted]. Thanks!

Thanks for the consideration. He would be available Tuesday or Thursday...not sure about Wednesday since that's the day of the arguments.

Thanks for the consideration. He would be available Tuesday or Thursday...not sure about Wednesday since that's the day of the arguments.

Hey Caroline – hope you are having a great week so far!

Checking in to see if we could get AG Brnovich on the show this week; would love to make it happen!

AG Brnovich will be personally arguing a case before the U.S. Supreme Court next week on the Public Charge Rule. This rule ensures that noncitizens are able to financially support themselves in order to become U.S. citizens or to obtain green cards. President Biden abandoned the rule earlier this year, and AG Brnovich stepped in to defend the law. He'd love to preview this case.

He also just filed another lawsuit against this Biden Administration – this time over the minimum wage hike for federal contractors. The AG has been at the forefront of many of the fights against the unprecedented federal overreach coming from the Biden Administration.

AG Brnovich also co-authored this op-ed in the Washington Examiner this week with four of his AG colleagues on the vital role that state attorneys general are playing in pushing back against rampant federal overreach.

Would love to have him discuss any of these issues – or anything else that might come up. As a former gang prosecutor, he has valuable insight on the rampant crime waves that are crippling many communities and law enforcement offices across the nation.

Thanks – as always – for your consideration!

MEDIA ADVISORY - Arizona Attorney General Mark Brnovich Argues at U.S. Supreme Court Tomorrow

Livestream Link Below

PHOENIX -- Arizona Attorney General Mark Brnovich will personally argue

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

(Wednesday) to defend the 2019 Public Charge Rule. The common-sense immigration policy requires certain noncitizens to be responsible, self-sufficient, and contributing members of society in order to obtain green cards. President Biden abandoned the rule last year in a strategic surrender, but General Brnovich's Office stepped in to defend the law.

How to Livestream Arguments

- Arguments will be livestreamed here at 8 AM MST.

What is the Public Charge Policy?

- The Public Charge policy has been part of U.S. Immigration law for more than 100 years. It ensures that certain noncitizens can financially support themselves in order to obtain green cards.

History of Public Charge:

- Federal immigration statutes allow the government to restrict green cards and other visas to certain noncitizens who are "likely at any time to become a public charge." But lawmakers did not define what "public charge" means.
- In the 1990s, the Clinton administration issued guidance that defined "public charge" as someone "primarily dependent on the government for subsistence."
- In 2019, the Trump administration issued a rule clarifying that certain types of public benefits (Medicaid, food stamps, housing vouchers) should be considered in making the public charge determination.
- In March 2021, the Biden administration abandoned the Trump rule.

Main Legal Argument:

- The question the Court is considering is whether a state can step in to

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

as Attorney General Brnovich did with the Public Charge Rule.

Hey Jovian – hope you are doing well!

Wanted to reach out to see if you would be interested at all in having AG Brnovich back on the show next week. He will be arguing in defense of the Public Charge Rule at the U.S. Supreme Court. Bigtime immigration case.

Thanks for the consideration. He would be available Tuesday or Thursday...not sure about Wednesday since that's the day of the arguments.

Hey Caroline – hope you are having a great week so far!

Checking in to see if we could get AG Brnovich on the show this week; would love to make it happen!

AG Brnovich will be personally arguing a case before the U.S. Supreme Court next week on the Public Charge Rule. This rule ensures that noncitizens are able to financially support themselves in order to become U.S. citizens or to obtain green cards. President Biden abandoned the rule earlier this year, and AG Brnovich stepped in to defend the law. He'd love to preview this case.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

He also just filed another lawsuit against this Biden Administration – this time over the minimum wage hike for federal contractors. The AG has been at the forefront of many of the fights against the unprecedented federal overreach coming from the Biden Administration.

AG Brnovich also co-authored this op-ed in the Washington Examiner this week with four of his AG colleagues on the vital role that state attorneys general are playing in pushing back against rampant federal overreach.

Would love to have him discuss any of these issues – or anything else that might come up. As a former gang prosecutor, he has valuable insight on the rampant crime waves that are crippling many communities and law enforcement offices across the nation.

Thanks – as always – for your consideration!

Wanted to reach out to see if you would be interested at all in having AG Brnovich back on the show next week. He will be arguing in defense of the Public Charge Rule at the U.S. Supreme Court. Bigtime immigration case.

Thanks for the consideration. He would be available Tuesday or Thursday...not sure about Wednesday since that's the day of the arguments.

Hey Caroline – hope you are having a great week so far!

Checking in to see if we could get AG Brnovich on the show this week; would love to make it happen!

AG Brnovich will be personally arguing a case before the U.S. Supreme Court next week on the Public Charge Rule. This rule ensures that noncitizens are able to financially support themselves in order to become U.S. citizens or to obtain green cards. President Biden abandoned the rule earlier this year, and AG Brnovich stepped in to defend the law. He'd love to preview this case.

He also just filed another lawsuit against this Biden Administration – this time over the minimum wage hike for federal contractors. The AG has been at the forefront of many of the fights against the unprecedented federal overreach coming from the Biden Administration.

AG Brnovich also co-authored this op-ed in the Washington Examiner this week with four of his AG colleagues on the vital role that state attorneys general are playing in pushing back against rampant federal overreach.

Would love to have him discuss any of these issues – or anything else that might come up. As a former gang prosecutor, he has valuable insight on the rampant crime waves that are crippling many communities and law enforcement offices across the nation.

Thanks – as always – for your consideration!
Daniel

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Some talkers -

Back in April 2021, AG Brnovich led a coalition of 13 states to defend the Public Charge Rule, a federal immigration policy that ensures noncitizens can financially support themselves to become U.S. citizens or obtain green cards.

AG Brnovich believes that The Public Charge Rule is a commonsense immigration policy that ensures people seeking green cards or American citizenship are able to work and financially support themselves.

When other public officials stand down in defending our laws, AG Brnovich has proven that he will lead the charge to uphold the rule of law.

AG Brnovich has filed several lawsuits against the Biden Administration on the issue of border security and immigration.

As a first-generation American, AG Brnovich believes that America will stop being America when people from all over the world want to stop coming here, but that everyone must play by the same rules and the rule of law must be upheld.

That's why AG Brnovich has led the way - not just in his state - but for the country in fighting against the Biden Administration's lawlessness and disregard for the rule of law.

Migrant encounters at the U.S. southern border in January 2022 almost doubled the number of encounters from January 2021, according to a court filing obtained by Fox News. The U.S. Customs and Border Protection reported 153,941 migrant encounters in January 2022. In January 2021, there were 78,414 migrant encounters. The court filing also revealed that 62,573 migrants were released into the United States in January. In December 2021, there were 178,840 migrant encounters and 173,620 in November, according to Customs and Border Protection data. Meantime, Arizona's Attorney General Mark Brnovich is set to argue for the "Public Charge" rule in front of the Supreme Court this Wednesday. This rule ensures that noncitizens are able to financially support themselves in order to become U.S. citizens or to obtain green cards. President Biden abandoned the rule earlier this year, and AG Brnovich has stepped in to try and defend the law.

Hi Peter – hope you are doing well!

Wanted to reach out to see if you had an opening for AG Brnovich next week to discuss an upcoming case at the U.S. Supreme Court that he will be personally arguing on Wednesday. The case involves the Public Charge Rule, which ensures that noncitizens are able to financially support themselves in order to become U.S. citizens or to obtain green cards. President Biden abandoned the rule last year, and AG Brnovich stepped in to defend the law. https://www.azag.gov/press-release/attorney-general-brnovich-statement-scotus-accepting-arizonas-petition-2019-public

Would love to make it happen. I think he would have a window of time on Tuesday (pre-case) or Thursday (post-case).

Thanks!

Some talkers -

Back in April 2021, AG Brnovich led a coalition of 13 states to defend the Public Charge Rule, a federal immigration policy that ensures noncitizens can financially support themselves to become U.S. citizens or obtain green cards.

AG Brnovich believes that The Public Charge Rule is a commonsense immigration policy that ensures people seeking green cards or American citizenship are able to work and financially support themselves.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

When other public officials stand down in defending our laws, AG Brnovich has proven that he will lead the charge to uphold the rule of law.

AG Brnovich has filed several lawsuits against the Biden Administration on the issue of border security and immigration.

As a first-generation American, AG Brnovich believes that America will stop being America when people from all over the world want to stop coming here, but that everyone must play by the same rules and the rule of law must be upheld.

That's why AG Brnovich has led the way - not just in his state - but for the country in fighting against the Biden Administration's lawlessness and disregard for the rule of law.

Also - this is the AG's third argument before the US Supreme Court, which is somewhat unprecedented for an AG. His last argument was last year in the historic election integrity case, Brnovich v DNC, which he won 6-3.

Migrant encounters at the U.S. southern border in January 2022 almost doubled the number of encounters from January 2021, according to a court filing obtained by Fox News. The U.S. Customs and Border Protection reported 153,941 migrant encounters in January 2022. In January 2021, there were 78,414 migrant encounters. The court filing also revealed that 62,573 migrants were released into the United States in January. In December 2021, there were 178,840 migrant encounters and 173,620 in November, according to Customs and Border Protection data. Meantime, Arizona's Attorney General Mark Brnovich is set to argue for the "Public Charge" rule in front of the Supreme Court this Wednesday. This rule ensures that noncitizens are able to financially support themselves in order to become U.S. citizens or to obtain green cards. President Biden abandoned the rule earlier this year, and AG Brnovich has stepped in to try and defend the law.

Hey Nico – hope you are having a great week so far!

Checking in to see if we could get AG Brnovich on the show this weekend; would love to make it happen!

AG Brnovich will be personally arguing a case before the U.S. Supreme Court next week on the Public Charge Rule. This rule ensures that noncitizens are able to financially support themselves in order to become U.S. citizens or to obtain green cards. President Biden abandoned the rule earlier this year, and AG Brnovich stepped in to defend the law. He'd love to preview this case.

He also just filed another lawsuit against this Biden Administration – this time over the minimum wage hike for federal contractors. The AG has been at the forefront of many of the fights against the unprecedented federal overreach coming from the Biden Administration.

AG Brnovich also co-authored this op-ed in the Washington Examiner this week with four of his AG colleagues on the vital role that state attorneys general are playing in pushing back against rampant federal overreach.

Would love to have him discuss any of these issues – or anything else that might come up. As a former gang prosecutor, he has valuable insight on the rampant crime waves that are crippling many communities and law enforcement offices across the nation.

Thanks – as always – for your consideration!

Meantime, Arizona's Attorney General Mark Brnovich is set to argue for the "Public Charge" rule in front of the Supreme Court this Wednesday. This rule ensures that noncitizens are able to financially support themselves in order to become U.S. citizens or to obtain green cards. President Biden abandoned the rule earlier this year, and AG Brnovich has stepped in to try and defend the law.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Hey Nico – hope you are having a great week so far!

Checking in to see if we could get AG Brnovich on the show this weekend; would love to make it happen!

AG Brnovich will be personally arguing a case before the U.S. Supreme Court next week on the Public Charge Rule. This rule ensures that noncitizens are able to financially support themselves in order to become U.S. citizens or to obtain green cards. President Biden abandoned the rule earlier this year, and AG Brnovich stepped in to defend the law. He'd love to preview this case.

He also just filed another lawsuit against this Biden Administration – this time over the minimum wage hike for federal contractors. The AG has been at the forefront of many of the fights against the unprecedented federal overreach coming from the Biden Administration.

AG Brnovich also co-authored this op-ed in the Washington Examiner this week with four of his AG colleagues on the vital role that state attorneys general are playing in pushing back against rampant federal overreach.

Would love to have him discuss any of these issues – or anything else that might come up. As a former gang prosecutor, he has valuable insight on the rampant crime waves that are crippling many communities and law enforcement offices across the nation.

Thanks – as always – for your consideration!

Subject: AG Brnovich this weekend?

Hey Nico – hope you are having a great week so far!

Checking in to see if we could get AG Brnovich on the show this weekend; would love to make it happen!

AG Brnovich will be personally arguing a case before the U.S. Supreme Court next week on the Public Charge Rule. This rule ensures that noncitizens are able to financially support themselves in order to become U.S. citizens or to obtain green cards. President Biden abandoned the rule earlier this year, and AG Brnovich stepped in to defend the law. He'd love to preview this case.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

He also just filed another lawsuit against this Biden Administration – this time over the minimum wage hike for federal contractors. The AG has been at the forefront of many of the fights against the unprecedented federal overreach coming from the Biden Administration.

AG Brnovich also co-authored this op-ed in the Washington Examiner this week with four of his AG colleagues on the vital role that state attorneys general are playing in pushing back against rampant federal overreach.

Would love to have him discuss any of these issues – or anything else that might come up. As a former gang prosecutor, he has valuable insight on the rampant crime waves that are crippling many communities and law enforcement offices across the nation.

Thanks – as always – for your consideration!

Hello Katie,

I'm working on a story about Carvana selling vehicles in Arizona and other states, and failing to provide customers with the titles to those vehicles. Some customers are frustrated by the company's inability to provide the titles in a timely manner.

Would you be able to confirm whether the AG's office is actively investigating any complaints regarding Carvana and title issues?

It's my understanding that under Arizona Revised Statutes 28-4409 – it's illegal to sell a vehicle without having proper title?

I've reached out to ADOT for clarification as well.

Thank you,

AG Brnovich will be personally arguing a case before the U.S. Supreme Court next week on the Public Charge Rule. This rule ensures that noncitizens are able to financially support themselves in order to become U.S. citizens or to obtain green cards. President Biden abandoned the rule earlier this year, and AG Brnovich stepped in to defend the law. He'd love to preview this case.

He also just filed another lawsuit against this Biden Administration – this time over the minimum wage hike for federal contractors. The AG has been at the forefront of many of the fights against the unprecedented federal overreach coming from the Biden Administration.

AG Brnovich also co-authored this op-ed in the Washington Examiner this week with four of his AG colleagues on the vital role that state attorneys general are playing in pushing back against rampant federal overreach.

Would love to have him discuss any of these issues – or anything else that might come up. As a former gang prosecutor, he has valuable insight on the rampant crime waves that are crippling many communities and law enforcement offices across the nation.

Thanks – as always – for your consideration!

Hi Peter – hope you are doing well!

Wanted to reach out to see if you had an opening for AG Brnovich next week to discuss an upcoming case at the U.S. Supreme Court that he will be personally arguing on Wednesday. The case involves the Public Charge Rule, which ensures that noncitizens are able to financially support themselves in order to become U.S. citizens or to obtain green cards. President Biden abandoned the rule last year, and AG Brnovich stepped in to defend the law. https://www.azag.gov/press-release/attorney-general-brnovich-statement-scotus-accepting-arizonas-petition-2019-public

Would love to make it happen. I think he would have a window of time on Tuesday (pre-case) or Thursday (post-case).

Thanks!

Hey Caroline – hope you are having a great week so far!

Checking in to see if we could get AG Brnovich on the show this week; would love to make it happen!

AG Brnovich will be personally arguing a case before the U.S. Supreme Court next week on the Public Charge Rule. This rule ensures that noncitizens are able to financially support themselves in order to become U.S. citizens or to obtain green cards. President Biden abandoned the rule earlier this year, and AG Brnovich stepped in to defend the law. He'd love to preview this case.

He also just filed another lawsuit against this Biden Administration – this time over the minimum wage hike for federal contractors. The AG has been at the forefront of many of the fights against the unprecedented federal overreach coming from the Biden Administration.

AG Brnovich also co-authored this op-ed in the Washington Examiner this week with four of his AG colleagues on the vital role that state attorneys general are playing in pushing back against rampant federal overreach.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Would love to have him discuss any of these issues – or anything else that might come up. As a former gang prosecutor, he has valuable insight on the rampant crime waves that are crippling many communities and law enforcement offices across the nation.

Thanks – as always – for your consideration!

AG Brnovich has said repeatedly that border security is national security.

That's why he has filed numerous lawsuits to hold the Biden Administration accountable to the rule of law and to protect American communities.

The Biden Administration has refused to enforce our laws and protect Americans from the established harms of an open border.

We are seeing these dangers unfolding in American communities on a daily basis because of the Administration's failures.

AG Brnovich has said repeatedly that border security is national security.

That's why he has filed numerous lawsuits to hold the Biden Administration accountable to the rule of law and to protect American communities.

The Biden Administration has refused to enforce our laws and protect Americans from the established harms of an open border.

We are seeing these dangers unfolding in American communities on a daily basis because of the Administration's failures.

Rather than do this topic on Super Bowl Sunday, we were hoping to move it to Sunday, March 6? Is the AG available on that date instead? So sorry for the change!

Wanted to see if we could possibly get AG Brnovich back on the show next week.

Here's the latest that we are working on:

- Arizona AG Brnovich issues legal opinion declaring border crisis 'invasion' under Constitution
- Arizona AG Demands GoFundMe Preserve Documents Related to Removal of Freedom Convoy Fundraiser

He's also arguing before the U.S. Supreme Court in a couple weeks on the Public Charge rule. Would love to preview that.

- AG Brnovich was one of the first state officials in the nation to call on President Biden to replace Secretary Mayorkas: https://www.foxnews.com/politics/arizona-ag-biden-replace-mayorkas-border-numbers (back in August 2021)
- AG Brnovich has repeatedly invited members of the Biden Administration to the border since last spring, including President Biden, Vice President Harris, and Secretary Mayorkas.
- AG Brnovich would love to work with the federal government to secure our border and protect Arizonans.
- Unfortunately, because of the Biden Administration's refusal to uphold the rule of law when it comes to the border, he has been forced to file multiple lawsuits against the Biden Administration on this front.

We would focus on the border crisis, and Mayorkas visit to Yuma Patrol agents.

Hi Elvan – hope your week is going well.

Wanted to let you know about a couple of great developments with cases that AG Brnovich is leading....

The first is with his Big Tech/Google lawsuit that he initiated a couple of years ago. The judge in this case allowed the case to move forward, which is a significant victory in the case:
https://twitter.com/GeneralBrnovich/status/1486020260751093765

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

The second is with the OSHA COVID-19 vaccine mandate. OSHA just announced that it was withdrawing the rule – after AG Brnovich co-led a successful challenge to the U.S. Supreme Court and just co-authored a letter to OSHA demanding this withdrawal. AG Brnovich just penned this op-ed for http://FoxNews.com yesterday on why he has been so active in fighting these mandates: https://www.foxnews.com/opinion/why-states-fighting-bidens-vaccine-mandates-arizona-ag-mark-brnovich

Would love to get him on the show to discuss any of these topics – or anything else. As a former gang prosecutor, AG Brnovich has extensive experience and knowledge to discuss the law and order issues that are facing this nation.

He would also love to discuss the reported meeting with DHS Sec Mayorkas and Yuma Border Patrol agents. https://townhall.com/tipsheet/juliorosas/2022/01/26/audio-recording-of-dhs-sec-mayorkas-disastrous-tense-with-yuma-border-patrol-agen-n2602386

AG Brnovich has been on the frontlines of the border crisis since the beginning of this administration. He called for Sec Mayorkas to be replaced back in August 2021: https://www.foxnews.com/politics/arizona-ag-biden-replace-mayorkas-border-numbers He has repeatedly asked members of the administration to come to the border with him to hear and see the crisis for themselves. He has also filed several lawsuits against this administration to attempt to hold them accountable to the rule of law.

Thanks for your consideration!
Daniel

Subject: Major victories this week for AG Brnovich - Big Tech and OSHA Mandate

Hi Elvan – hope your week is going well.

Wanted to let you know about a couple of great developments with cases that AG Brnovich is leading....

The first is with his Big Tech/Google lawsuit that he initiated a couple of years ago. The judge in this case allowed the case to move forward, which is a significant victory in the case:
https://twitter.com/GeneralBrnovich/status/1486020260751093765

The second is with the OSHA COVID-19 vaccine mandate. OSHA just announced that it was withdrawing the rule – after AG Brnovich co-led a successful challenge to the U.S. Supreme Court and just co-authored a letter to OSHA demanding this withdrawal. AG Brnovich just penned this op-ed for http://FoxNews.com yesterday on why he has been so active in fighting these mandates: https://www.foxnews.com/opinion/why-states-fighting-bidens-vaccine-mandates-arizona-ag-mark-brnovich

Would love to get him on the show to discuss any of these topics – or anything else. As a former gang prosecutor, AG Brnovich has extensive experience and knowledge to discuss the law and order issues that are facing this nation.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

He would also love to discuss the reported meeting with DHS Sec Mayorkas and Yuma Border Patrol agents. https://townhall.com/tipsheet/juliorosas/2022/01/26/audio-recording-of-dhs-sec-mayorkas-disastrous-tense-with-yuma-border-patrol-agen-n2602386

AG Brnovich has been on the frontlines of the border crisis since the beginning of this administration. He called for Sec Mayorkas to be replaced back in August 2021: https://www.foxnews.com/politics/arizona-ag-biden-replace-mayorkas-border-numbers He has repeatedly asked members of the administration to come to the border with him to hear and see the crisis for themselves. He has also filed several lawsuits against this administration to attempt to hold them accountable to the rule of law.

Thanks for your consideration!

Great! We can have him join us from Scottsdale Coveredge.

We will plan on Saturday 1 PM ET for him.

Does he need full make up, or powder touch?

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Hi Elvan – hope your week is going well.

Wanted to let you know about a couple of great developments with cases that AG Brnovich is leading....

The first is with his Big Tech/Google lawsuit that he initiated a couple of years ago. The judge in this case allowed the case to move forward, which is a significant victory in the case:

The second is with the OSHA COVID-19 vaccine mandate. OSHA just announced that it was withdrawing the rule – after AG Brnovich co-led a successful challenge to the U.S. Supreme Court and just co-authored a letter to OSHA demanding this withdrawal. AG Brnovich just penned this op-ed for http://FoxNews.com yesterday on why he has been so active in fighting these mandates: https://www.foxnews.com/opinion/why-states-fighting-bidens-vaccine-mandates-arizona-ag-mark-brnovich

Hey Michael – hope you had a great weekend!

Wanted to check in this week to see if you had any openings for AG Brnovich.

With the Senate Democrats moving to vote on election-related legislation, AG Brnovich has been front and center on this issue. He wrote this op-ed on one of the bills for FoxNews.com and sent a letter to Arizona's-U.S. Senators about S. 1. He also argued (and WON) one of the most consequential election integrity cases in recent history last year – Brnovich v DNC.

As a former gang prosecutor, AG Brnovich has a wealth of knowledge and experience when it comes to the crime wave facing many of our cities across the nation. He would love to discuss this issue and what Arizona is doing to combat these crime waves.

He's also at the front lines of fighting the border crisis and combatting the COVID-19 vaccine mandates.

Thanks so much for your consideration!

AG Brnovich has been one of the leading state officials in pushing back against the lawlessness and overreach of the Biden Administration.

He has sued the Biden Administration on a number of occasions when it comes to their refusal to uphold the rule of law when it comes to the border.

One of those cases will be heard by the U.S. Supreme Court next month. AG Brnovich will be arguing this case personally.

He considers his role as AG to be the first and last lines of defense for Arizona. He is a foremost defender of Arizona's sovereignty and the constitutional liberties of all Arizonans.

His fights in the courtroom are not limited to the border. AG Brnovich was the first state official in the nation to file suit against Biden's unconstitutional COVID-19 vaccine mandates.

He co-led the successful challenge to the U.S. Supreme Court on the OSHA-COVID-19 vaccine mandate.

This is a role that AG Brnovich also filled during the last two years of the Obama Administration.

We're looking forward to having AG Brnovich on the show tomorrow morning. If you could please send over some talking points from him on the latest on the border, human smuggling, the surge of fentanyl coming through, TSA confirming it lets illegal immigrants use arrest warrants as IDs in airports and Biden's anti-mask COVID funding threat that would be appreciated.

I'll send over a finalized list of topics after our morning rundown meeting. If you have any questions, don't hesitate to reach out.

Hi all,

We're looking forward to having AG Brnovich on the show tomorrow morning. If you could please send over some talking points from him on the latest on the border, human smuggling, the surge of fentanyl coming through, TSA confirming it lets illegal immigrants use arrest warrants as IDs in airports and Biden's anti-mask COVID funding threat that would be appreciated.

I'll send over a finalized list of topics after our morning rundown meeting. If you have any questions, don't hesitate to reach out.

Hey Ari – hope you had a great weekend!

Wanted to check in this week to see if you had any openings for AG Brnovich later in the week.

With the Senate Democrats moving to vote on election-related legislation, AG Brnovich has been front and center on this issue. He wrote this op-ed on one of the bills for FoxNews.com and sent a letter to Arizona's-U.S. Senators about S. 1. He also argued (and WON) one of the most consequential election integrity cases in recent history last year – Brnovich v DNC.

As a former gang prosecutor, AG Brnovich has a wealth of knowledge and experience when it comes to the crime wave facing many of our cities across the nation. He would love to discuss this issue and what Arizona is doing to combat these crime waves.

He's also at the front lines of fighting the border crisis and combatting the COVID-19 vaccine mandates.

Thanks so much for your consideration!

Hey Ari – hope you had a great weekend!

Wanted to check in this week to see if you had any openings for AG Brnovich later in the week.

With the Senate Democrats moving to vote on election-related legislation, AG Brnovich has been front and center on this issue. He wrote this op-ed on one of the bills for FoxNews.com and sent a letter to Arizona's-U.S. Senators about S. 1. He also argued (and WON) one of the most consequential election integrity cases in recent history last year – Brnovich v DNC.

As a former gang prosecutor, AG Brnovich has a wealth of knowledge and experience when it comes to the crime wave facing many of our cities across the nation. He would love to discuss this issue and what Arizona is doing to combat these crime waves.

He's also at the front lines of fighting the border crisis and combatting the COVID-19 vaccine mandates.

Thanks so much for your consideration!

Wanted to check in this week to see if you had any openings for AG Brnovich later in the week.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

With the Senate Democrats moving to vote on election-related legislation, AG Brnovich has been front and center on this issue. He wrote this op-ed on one of the bills for FoxNews.com and sent a letter to Arizona's-U.S. Senators about S. 1. He also argued (and WON) one of the most consequential election integrity cases in recent history last year – Brnovich v DNC.

As a former gang prosecutor, AG Brnovich has a wealth of knowledge and experience when it comes to the crime wave facing many of our cities across the nation. He would love to discuss this issue and what Arizona is doing to combat these crime waves.

He's also at the front lines of fighting the border crisis and combatting the COVID-19 vaccine mandates.

Thanks so much for your consideration!

Sounds good! Some talkers –

AG Brnovich was one of the first state officials in the nation to invite VP Harris to the border (and also President Biden): https://www.azag.gov/sites/default/files/2021-04/AZAG%20Brnovich%20Border%20Letter%20to%20VP%20Harris_4_2_21.pdf

This Administration has essentially told our office to pound sand.

We also sent a letter to President Biden this past fall about how this Administration has demoralized our Border Patrol agents: https://www.azag.gov/sites/default/files/2021-11/202110291439.pdf

AG Brnovich continues to call upon the federal government to do its job and secure our border to protect our communities.

In the absence of the federal government fulfilling its responsibility, however, AG Brnovich continues to take action to attempt to hold the Biden Administration accountable to the rule of law.

Hi Daniel,

I was actually going to ask you the same thing! I've only seen the reports from AP and Washington Post, but haven't been able to locate the actual letter. Can you confirm that the Governor did in fact receive such a letter?

And if we could get AG Brnovich's talking points by 7:00pmET, that would be great.

Please don't hesitate to reach out if you have any questions.

Best,
Michael McDonald

Hi Daniel,

It's Lynne here reaching out on behalf of the Fox News Opinion team. Would the AG be willing to weigh in with a short piece about the SCOTUS rulings today on the vaccine mandate? I know he spoke with Martha MacCallum earlier today... We're looking for about 450 to 500 words that we can run tomorrow.

Thanks so much for considering our invitation!

Warmly,

Lynne

Hi Devon – hope you had a great holiday season!

Wanted to reach out to you to see if we could possibly arrange a time for Arizona Attorney General Mark Brnovich to speak with Jason on the podcast. AG Brnovich has been at the top of the spear in fighting back against the Biden Administration's lawlessness at the border and institution of the COVID-19 vaccine mandates. He has a great history/story that serves as the foundation of his tenure as AG. He's one of the few officials in the country who has taken these fights to both the Obama AND the Biden Administrations over the past seven years.

Would love to make something work. Thanks so much for your consideration!

It would be great if he can arrive at the studio at least half hour ahead of the hit time.

Hey Elvan - hope you are doing well!

Wanted to check in first thing this new year to see if we could get AG Brnovich on the show this weekend on Saturday or Sunday. Lots to talk about with the border, and AG Brnovich has led the way on that front. Later next month, he will be arguing an immigration-related case before the Supreme Court: https://www.azag.gov/press-release/attorney-general-brnovich-statement-scotus-accepting-arizonas-petition-2019-public

We also had a great result in one of the COVID-19 vaccine mandate lawsuits that our office is a part of: https://twitter.com/GeneralBrnovich/status/1477368124185858048?s=20

AG Brnovich has also co-led two other lawsuits against the mandates, and the U.S. Supreme Court will be hearing those cases this week. Big week on that front.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Would love to make something work if there's an opening - on these topics or anything else. With his experience as a gang prosecutor before his tenure as AG, he's really up for discussing the law and order issues that are plaguing this nation.

Thank you for your consideration!

21 REPUBLICAN ATTORNEYS GENERAL SEEK CLARIFICATION ON STATE TAX POWERS

Republican attorneys general from 21 states sent a letter yesterday to Treasury Secretary Janet Yellen over concerns about a provision in the $1.9 trillion COVID relief law. The attorneys general want a clarification to make sure the law does not strip states' rights to either increase or lower taxes for their constituents. They are given Yellen until March 23 before they take legal action.

The letter is below and attached.

https://ago.wv.gov/Documents/2021.03.16%20Yellen%20Letter%203-16%20FINAL.pdf?csf=1&e=uVgdGv

Those provisions, found in section 9901 of the Act,1 forbid States from using COVID-19 relief funds to "directly or indirectly offset a reduction in … net tax revenue" resulting from state laws or regulations that reduce tax burdens—whether by cutting rates or by giving rebates, deductions, credits, "or otherwise[.]"2 This language could be read to deny States the ability to cut taxes in any manner whatsoever—even if they would have provided such tax relief with or without the prospect of COVID-19 relief funds.

"We ask that you confirm that the American Rescue Plan Act does not prohibit States from generally providing tax relief through the kinds of measures listed and discussed above and other, similar measures, but at most precludes express use of the funds provided under the Act for direct tax cuts rather than for the purposes specified by the Act."

11 states file motion to intervene in Ninth Circuit case over public charge rule

Bethany Blankley | The Center Square contributor

Mar 12, 2021

(The Center Square) – Eleven states, led by Arizona Attorney General Mark Brnovich, have filed a motion to intervene in a Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals case over challenges to a 2018 public charge rule change that required immigrants coming to the U.S. to prove they could financially support themselves.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

The Biden administration removed the rule change, effective March 9. Subsequently, the Department of Homeland Security announced on March 11 it will no longer apply the rule.

In a statement, it said it had "closed the book on the public charge rule and is doing the same with respect to a proposed rule regarding the affidavit of support that would have placed undue burdens on American families wishing to sponsor individuals lawfully immigrating to the U.S."

Homeland Security Secretary Alejandro N. Mayorkas said DHS would be working "to ensure immigrants and their families have accurate information about our public charge policies. DHS is committed to implementing reforms that improve our immigration system and reduce unnecessary barriers to legal immigration."

Previously, family-sponsored immigrants were required to fill out an affidavit of support, which the DHS also withdrew.

Mayorkas said the 2018 rule "was not in keeping with our nation's values" because, "It penalized those who access health benefits and other government services available to them."

The new DHS policy reverts to a Clinton-era 1999 policy that allowed immigrants to come to the United States and enroll in taxpayer-funded welfare programs.

"Under the 1999 interim field guidance, DHS will not consider a person's receipt of Medicaid (except for Medicaid for long-term institutionalization), public housing, or Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) benefits as part of the public charge inadmissibility determination," the DHS statement reads. Vaccinations and other medical treatments for COVID-19 will also not be considered public charge costs.

But 11 Republican attorneys general disagree. On the same day as the rule change was revoked, they filed a motion to intervene in a case on appeal related to the matter. In their brief, they argue that removing the rule change was a "reckless violation of federal law" that will create "another national crisis" and cost taxpayers and states roughly $1 billion.

Currently, the federal government funds all SNAP food expenses and roughly 50 percent of allowable administrative costs for regular operating expenses. Costs the federal government pays for Federal Medical Assistance Percentages (FMAP) in some U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) programs like Medicaid vary, and the states share a financial burden. Since these rates vary, DHS uses the average FMAP across all states and U.S. territories of 59 percent to estimate the amount of state transfer payments, the brief notes.

Increasing the number of illegal and legal immigrants who can enroll in Medicaid and CHIP would increase the states' spending on these programs and require them to make budget adjustments elsewhere.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

"Admitting aliens into the United States who are not likely to utilize this resource will make this program more accessible to others who are in need," the complaint states.

Attorneys general from Alabama, Arkansas, Indiana, Kansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Montana, Oklahoma, Texas, and West Virginia joined Brnovich's lawsuit.

They argue depriving the states of $1 billion in savings from the previous administration rule change causes them injury and overburdens their already overstretched programs.

Separately, Texas Attorney General Ken Paxton sued after President Joe Biden issued an executive order to freeze deportation policies. A federal judge overruled the president last month, first temporarily pausing Biden's moratorium twice before he ultimately halted it indefinitely.

Arizona and Montana have also challenged the White House's "Interim Guidance" issued last month by the acting director of Immigrations and Customs Enforcement.

In a 2017 Rasmussen Reports national poll of U.S. voters, 62 percent expressed support for the Trump-era rule change. The majority supported barring legal and illegal immigrants from receiving welfare benefits for at least five years. Twenty-six percent opposed it; 12 percent were undecided.

According to the Migration Policy Institute's (MPI) report, "Chilling Effects: The Expected Public Charge Rule and Its Impact on Legal Immigrant Families' Public Benefits Use," 10.3 million out of 22 million foreign nationals in the U.S. are enrolled in at least one taxpayer-funded federal welfare program (Medicaid, TANF or SSI benefits, food stamps and/or Social Security). Children aged 17 and younger account for 54.2 percent of foreign nationals.

Sen. Cassidy: Biden policies 'entirely' to blame for border surge

'You can't help but notice that the administration changes and there is a surge,' Louisiana senator says

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Sen. Bill Cassidy, R-La., blames President Biden for the surge of migrants that have presented a crisis at the U.S. southern border.

February saw the largest number of unaccompanied minors apprehended at the border since May 2019. "Fox News Sunday" host Chris Wallace asked Cassidy to what degree Biden's policies have caused this.

"Empirically it is entirely. You can't help but notice that the administration changes and there is a surge," Cassidy said.
The senator recalled hearing one of Biden's advisers said in Spanish that the border was not closed, only to then say in English that she misspoke.
"I can tell you the Spanish version is being heard, not the English," he said, claiming that this message emboldens people to send their children, even if it means putting them at risk.
"And so when people think they can get in," Cassidy claimed, "they begin sending their unaccompanied child on a trainride across Mexico where she may be kidnapped and trafficked, on the hope that they're going to be waved through at the border."
The Biden administration has refused to characterize the situation at the border as a "crisis," despite calling on the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) to support a "government-wide effort" to house child migrants as numbers continue to spike.

Cassidy said this is evidence that the administration expects the number of unaccompanied children to continue to grow.
"They're sending FEMA for reinforcements -- not for today, not for tomorrow, but for three weeks from now," he said.
Earlier in the interview, Cassidy addressed the issues he has with the $1.9 trillion coronavirus relief package that the Senate passed earlier this month. He asserted that there is too much money going towards goals that are not really about pandemic relief.
"The money that is there for education will be spent in the out years," the senator explained. "That's not related to COVID. If everybody is vaccinated by June then it's clearly not related to COVID."
Cassidy also said that while he and other Republicans support stimulus payments "for people who needed it," the Democrats' bill does much more than that. He noted that stimulus checks are going to people including inmates who do not stimulate the economy and who are already supported by taxpayers.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

AZ-AG-22-0277-A-000565

"That's the sort of thing that should not be included," he said.

As for small businesses, Cassidy claimed that there is still enough money from the last relief bill to go towards the Paycheck Protection Program.

"The dollars are there now for the need which is there now," he said.
