Chris, hello! Hey I hope all is going well with you and family. I have an election integrity related request.

I'm participating in a group that is processing election and voter data on a nationwide basis. I'm participating on the Texas team and will be heading up this Texas Team. We're doing the top 10 counties in Texas. We are processing voter poll book data and early vote rosters (EVR data). We're trying to get some funding from some deep pocket people but as of now I'll probably set up a GiveSendGo fund raising campaign to pay for cloud servers, etc. What I need to see if I can get from Collin County is a daily voter poll book file. We are tracking adds and deletes on a daily basis. Especially leading up to an election and then right after an election. I don't expect to find much if anything in Collin county but I would be negligent to not include Collin county in our data processing programs. And the problem with Collin county is I think I can get this data but I have to purchase it on a daily basis. All the other 9 counties have this poll book data available on a daily basis for free. But I think Bruce charges $30 or so for each copy of the voter roll file. In Tarrant CO, we just had to issue a FOIA request.

Just wondering if you can help me out here. Thanks!!!

Thanks!

I asked Bruce about this, Our county doesn't have a program to do that. This is something you probably need to contact your County Commissioners on...or Chris Hill.

Abraham, hey I was wondering if you would be able to make a request to Bruce to get a daily copy of the registered voter file for Collin County. I know I can pay daily to get that but no other county charges for this. I was thinking maybe you could make a request to get this. Maybe on a FTP site or web site from Bruce on a daily basis.

I'm part of a 10 county team in Texas and we have programs to daily track changes in the vote roster as well as the early vote roster (EVR). We don't know if we will find anything but we need to look and see. And we will probably be able to make other uses of the data as well.

Let me know what you think.

Subject: Rosemarie suggested I email you on Election Integrity

Abraham, hello. Congrats on being voted in for County Chair. I was really happy to see this. I could not vote for you because I'm a PCT Captain which really has no status to vote or participate in anything. I'm in Sue Reeves PCT 179.

Rosemarie wanted me to email you and let you know what I've been doing in terms of election integrity.

I've been working on election integrity since Dec 2020 after I saw what happened in the presidential election. I started coming to the CC GOP meetings and signed up in early 2020. Went through training with Terry, etc.

Here are some of the things I have been working on and participating in.

- I have been in IT all of my life and have run and sold IT software companies. Currently operate a small boutique software dev company IWC and product based software company GovEase. I'm an expert in software and databases and technology. I have written and architected many system solutions.
- Went to the Mike Lindell Cyber symposium as a cyber expert. That was an interesting event. Met a lot of people there but the IT aspect of things was a complete bust. Never received any valid PCAP files proving foreign interference in the election. I think Mike Lindell was scammed by a deep state operative and conned into purchasing phony data. But I met with a bunch of state politicians specifically from AZ (Wendy Rogers, etc.) which was productive.
- I'm on the board of a group called CEITX. Citizens for Election Integrity in TX. Most members are in FT Worth and Tarrant County (TC). I've been working on numerous FOIA requests from Heider Garcia in TC and have met with him a few times. We've uncovered some pretty bad things in TC (elections being run over the Internet, etc.).
- In CEITX, we filed a lawsuit against Heider Garcia and TC as he was about to wipe all of his machines and IT infrastructure of ALL electronic data in a new Hart system upgrade. Deleting all data related to 2020 Pres elections. We got a TRO and court order to halt that and had Heider retain all of his data. Servers were set aside and locked up. Now we are working on getting a court order to forensically audit all of those machines. (I made sure Bruce Sherbet was not planning on any software updates on the Collin county side).
- I've met with Rick Barnes GOP chair of Tarrant County. Discussed election integrity with him a few times. He had the same feelings about election integrity as I do. He said that...

nim a few times. Helped them craft their election integrity resolution they passed in their executive committee meeting.

- I've met with the new TX SOS John Scott earlier this month for a breakfast in FT Worth to discuss his 4-county audit and how that will proceed.
- I've gone through election judge training in Collin County but have not volunteered for an election yet. I will do that next election.
- I've sat down with Bruce Sherbet and discussed the election process. He is not too concerned with election integrity. He thinks all is fine.
- Right now I'm working with a high-end data analytics company that Mike Lindell hired to load all voter roll data from multiple states into and perform analysis. We are focusing on the most population dense counties in TX. I'm representing Collin and Tarrant counties for this effort. Working with some people like Alan Vera who has been doing election integrity in Harris County for a LONG TIME. He has some great insights.
- I talked to Dani Bishop a couple months back and she had some great insights into problems in the Collin County voting process.
- I participated a little bit in the CC GOP Tech committee under Dave Stoner but I can't do much anymore since I'm not a PCT chair. It's ok. I have so many pokers in the fire at this point.
- I've met and talked with a number of nationwide personalities on election integrity like Seth Keshel, Dr. Franks, etc. At this time I can't confirm all of their data and analysis but they do have a LARGE number of people listening to them and believing them. And they all say that even Collin County had votes changed from Trump to Biden. They are all on nationwide speaking tours.
- I've been communicating and working with a few chairs in the county that are interested in election integrity. Mike Wallis, Ron Canright, Dani Bishop, etc.

I have not delved into Collin County as much as I have Tarrant County but from what I can see, here are some things I would really like to see:

1. Get rid of Dominion in the suite next to our election office. Even if there is nothing going on here, the optics of this are terrible.
2. Make sure only county personnel are loading V-Drive data into the ESS vote tabulation system. Dani Bishop described a process where the ESS rep performed this task.
3. Enlist more election judges and poll watchers for elections. Also rotate election judges and poll watchers across different locations. Grade election judges on the accuracy of their submitted forms. All ballots accounted for, etc. We audited the Tarrant CO election sheets filled out by election judges and over 70% of the voting locations sheets turned in had gross errors in ballots accounted for.
4. Install cameras and stream the entire election event over the county web site. Allow all citizens to see it.
5. Review ballot and data retention policies. Most election offices do not deem electronic data as being something they need to retain past the 60 day time frame of an election. All data such as USB thumb drives, database backups, reports, etc. should be retained for 22 months at least (just like the paper ballots).
6. The CC GOP should produce some type of report or presentation to voters to insure them that their vote will count. Maybe do this after the state run audit has completed. Re-assure conservative voters that their vote will be counted. And illegal votes will not be.

7. Demand that the paper ballots be audited and re-counted in the 4-county TX audit by the SOS. From talking with John Scott, he does not really believe that paper ballots will need to be re-counted.
8. Purge the Collin County voter rolls of some fraudulent voters. There are a few of these. Not many. But we might as well clean it all up.

In short, 73% of republicans think there was election fraud. And 41% of democrats think there was election fraud. And whether true or not, this topic needs to be dealt with. If it's not dealt with in the 2022 midterms, it will have the effect of suppressing conservative votes like it did in the GA senate runoff elections in Dec 2020.

Thanks!

Chris, hello. As you know I'm deeply involved in election integrity and with the new ruling Ken Paxton made, we have been trying to examine the ballot images from Nov 2020. We are past the 22 month retention period on this so the Paxton ruling is kind of moot on these older ballot images though.

But our problem is what we are getting back from Bruce. He refuses to give us the original ballot images. We received some type of poorly produced copy (see attached example). We requested and have the right to have the original ballot images as produced by the ES&S scanning machines. This really makes the election department look non-transparent and like they have something to hide. There are no identifying marks about the voter on these images. And these have been cleared for PIA by existing Texas Election Law as well as a recent Ken Paxton opinion letter.

The reason for receiving the original ballot images is we are trying to process the images digitally and with this poorly made copy of a copy, we are not able to do that. I think that is the intention here.

Thanks!

The Honorable Matt Krause

Opinion No. KP-0411

Re: Whether a legislator or a member of the public may inspect or obtain copies of anonymous voted ballots (RQ-0424-KP)

Dear Senator Hancock and Representative Krause:

You ask whether a member of the public or a legislator may inspect or obtain copies of anonymous voted ballots.¹ To be clear, you explain that the subject of your inquiry is “anonymous voted ballots” or other voted ballots that have had any voter-identifying data redacted. Krause Letter at 1. You explain that members of the public and individual members of the Legislature desire to audit the results of Texas elections, but election administrators cite section 66.058 of the Election Code as precluding the release of voted ballots. Hancock Letter at 1; Krause Letter at 1. Thus, the question presented is whether the information contained within a voted ballot that has been stripped of any information that could be used to reveal the identity of the voter is public information subject to disclosure.

¹See Letter from Honorable Kelly Hancock, Chair, Senate Comm. on Veteran Affairs & Border Sec., to Honorable Ken Paxton, Tex. Att’y Gen. at 1 (Sept. 28, 2021) (“Hancock Letter”); Letter from Honorable Matt Krause, Chair, House Comm. on Gen. Investigating, to Honorable Ken Paxton, Tex. Att’y Gen. at 1–2 (Aug. 16, 2021) (“Krause Letter”); <https://texasattorneygeneral.gov/sites/default/files/request-files/request/2021/RQ0424KP.pdf>.

To fulfill the Texas Constitution’s mandate that Texas preserve election integrity, the Legislature has designated anonymous voted ballots as election records under the Election Code and has established procedures aimed at both preserving those records and granting public access to them.

Article VI, section 4 of the Texas Constitution provides:

In all elections by the people, the vote shall be by ballot, and the Legislature shall provide for the numbering of tickets and make such other regulations as may be necessary to detect and punish fraud and preserve the purity of the ballot box; and the Legislature shall provide by law for the registration of all voters.

TEX. CONST. art. VI, § 4. This provision requires the Legislature to “pass laws as necessary to deter fraud and protect ballot purity [and] is addressed to the sound discretion of the Legislature.” Andrade v. NAACP, 345 S.W.3d 1, 16 (Tex. 2011) (quoting Wood v. State ex rel. Lee, 126 S.W.2d 4, 9 (Tex. 1939) (quotation marks omitted).

Your question involves access to “election records” which include “anything distributed or received by government under [the Election Code].” TEX. ELEC. CODE § 1.012(d)(1). Voted ballots are expressly designated as “precinct election records.” Id. § 66.002 (defining “precinct election records” as “the precinct election returns, voted ballots, and other records of an election that are assembled and distributed” under chapter 66 of the Election Code (emphasis added)). The Election Code contains provisions aimed at both preserving election records and granting access to review those records. See id. §§ 1.012, 66.058.

To fulfill its constitutional mandate, the Legislature created the position of general custodian of election records and charged that office with, among other things, preserving precinct election records.² See id. §§ 66.001, .058. Subsection 66.058(a) requires “the precinct election records [to] be preserved by the authority to whom they are distributed for at least 22 months after election day.” Id. § 66.058(a); see also 52 U.S.C. § 20701 (establishing 22-month preservation period for election records in certain federal elections). For at least 60 days after an election, voted ballots must be kept in a locked room, in the locked ballot box delivered to the custodian. TEX. ELEC. CODE § 66.058(b).³ On the 61st day, the custodian may require the return of the key that unlocks the ballot box containing voted ballots and may “unlock the ballot box and transfer the voted ballots to another secure container for the remainder of the preservation period.” Id. § 66.058(b)(1), (2).

“Except as permitted by [the Election Code], a ballot box or other secure container containing voted ballots may not be opened during the preservation period.” Id. § 66.058(b-1).

²Depending on the type of election, the general custodian of election records is either the county clerk, the city secretary, or the secretary or presiding officer of a political subdivision’s governing body. TEX. ELEC. CODE § 66.001.

³Due to potential recounts and provisional ballots, the Legislature requires the election record custodian to keep voted ballots secure for the 60-day period. Id. § 66.058(b)

The custodian commits a criminal offense if, during the preservation period, the custodian makes an unauthorized entry into the box or container or “fails to prevent another person from handling the box or container in an unauthorized manner or from making an unauthorized entry into the box or container.” Id. § 66.058(d), (e). If anonymous voted ballots are disclosable public information, then the custodian’s entry into the box to fulfill the state’s disclosure obligations is authorized.

The Election Code designates all election records, including anonymous voted ballots, as public information.

Alongside the goal of ballot preservation, the Election Code also recognizes the importance of granting access to the public to review election records and ensure transparency and confidence in Texas elections. To that end, section 1.012 of the Election Code provides: “Except as otherwise provided by [the Election Code] or [the Public Information Act], all election records are public information.” Id. § 1.012(c). Voted ballots become public information once “the custodian completes the unofficial tabulation of the results for that precinct.” Id. § 66.057(a). “[A]n election record that is public information shall be made available to the public during the regular business hours of the record’s custodian.” Id. § 1.012(a).

Because the Legislature designated anonymous voted ballots as public information and required public access to those records, a custodian’s entry into the locked box for such purposes is an authorized entry under the Election Code.

Section 66.058 recognizes the existence of exceptions that authorize entry into the locked ballot box during the preservation period provided the box or container is relocked or resecured after the authorized purpose has been fulfilled. Id. § 66.058(b-1), (c); see, e.g., id. §§ 213.007 (authorizing the custodian to make ballots available for a recount), 273.042 (authorizing the custodian to make the ballots available to a grand jury for purposes of a criminal investigation). Section 1.012 of the Election Code establishes one such exception by generally requiring the custodian to make election records available to the public, unless such records are expressly excepted by the Public Information Act or the Election Code.⁴ Id. § 1.012(c); see also TEX. GOV’T CODE § 552.006 (providing that the Public Information Act “does not authorize the withholding of public information or limit the availability of public information to the public, except as expressly provided” within the Act).

Subchapter C of the Public Information Act establishes the exceptions to the general rule that public information shall be made available to the public. See TEX. GOV’T CODE §§ 552.101–.162 (“Information Excepted from Required Disclosure”). No section within that subchapter addresses anonymous voted ballots or expressly excepts them from disclosure. Furthermore, no provision in the Election Code designates anonymous voted ballots as confidential or otherwise prohibits their disclosure to the public. By demanding that the public have access to election records, including anonymous voted ballots, the Legislature thereby authorized the election records custodian's entry to the locked ballot box during the 22-month preservation period for such purposes.

⁴Thirty-four years ago, in Open Records Decision 505, a previous Attorney General considered public access to voted ballots under the Public Information Act. Tex. Att’y Gen. ORD 505 (1988) at 1–2. The decision concluded that section 66.058’s prohibition on unauthorized entry into the locked ballot box during the preservation period fell within the Public Information Act’s disclosure exceptions for privileged or confidential information. Tex. Att’y Gen. ORD 505 (1988) at 2–3. However, in-depth review by this office of the issues raised in that decision results in the opposite conclusion. No language in either the Election Code nor the Public Information Act makes the entirety of a voted ballot privileged or confidential. Open Records Decision 505 is therefore overruled to the extent inconsistent with this opinion.

Any personally identifiable information contained in election records that could tie a voter's identity to their specific voting selections must be redacted for purposes of disclosure to protect the constitutional right to a secret ballot in Texas.

While you ask specifically about anonymous voted ballots, it is important to note that Texas law has long established that all elections shall be by secret ballot. Wood, 126 S.W.2d at 9. This requirement of secrecy is mandatory—"that every voter is thus enabled to secure and preserve the most complete and inviolable secrecy in regard to the persons for whom he votes["Id. at 8; Carroll v. State, 61 S.W.2d 1005, 1007 (Tex. Crim. App. 1933) (emphasis added). In order to protect the secret ballot, "[p]ublic policy requires that the veil of secrecy should be impenetrable, unless the voter himself voluntarily determines to lift it["Carroll, 61 S.W.2d at 1008. The right of nondisclosure belongs to the individual voter. See Oliphint v. Christy, 299 S.W.2d 933, 939 (Tex. 1957). Your question appears to acknowledge this requirement by only inquiring about voted ballots that (1) have no information that could be used to identify the voter or (2) have been redacted to exclude any information that could be used to identify the voter. Krause Letter at 1.

Information is excepted from public disclosure under the Public Information Act "if it is information considered to be confidential by law, either constitutional, statutory, or by judicial decision." TEX. GOV'T CODE § 552.101. No statutory provision generally designates election records or their contents to be confidential. However, the right to a secret ballot has been held to protect personally identifiable information contained in election records that could tie a voter's identity to their specific voting selections. See generally Wood, 126 S.W.2d at 9; Carroll, 61 S.W.2d at 1008. Therefore, a court would likely find that personally identifiable information contained in election records that could tie a voter's identity to their specific voting selections is excepted from public disclosure. As a result, such information must be preserved, and the election records custodian must redact such personally identifiable information to protect the constitutional right to a secret ballot in Texas. TEX. GOV'T CODE § 552.007 (providing that a governmental body has no discretion to release information deemed confidential by law). To be clear, the presence of some confidential information on a ballot does not provide a basis to withhold the ballot in its entirety.

The Election Code authorizes the Secretary of State and election records custodians to establish procedures to accomplish the dual priorities of ballot preservation and public access to anonymous voted ballots.

The Secretary of State is the chief elections officer of the state and is required to "assist and advise all election authorities with regard to the application, operation, and interpretation" of the Election Code and any other election laws. TEX. ELEC. CODE §§ 31.001(a), .004(a). In furtherance of the preservation of precinct election records in particular, the Legislature directed the Secretary of State to "instruct the affected authorities on the actions necessary to comply" with section 66.058. Id. § 66.058(h). Thus, the Secretary of State has the authority to instruct elections administrators as to how to comply with both the ballot preservation requirements in section 66.058 and the public access requirements in section 1.012.

With the Secretary of State's oversight, the Legislature expressly authorized the election records custodian to "adopt reasonable rules limiting public access" under section 1.012 to further the purposes of "safeguarding the election records or economizing the custodian's time." Id. § 1.012(b). Pursuant to their respective authority, the Secretary of State and the election records custodians may establish procedures as authorized by law to accomplish the dual priorities of ballot preservation and public access to anonymous voted ballots under the Election Code.

S U M M A R Y

Anonymous voted ballots are election records under the Election Code, and the Legislature has established procedures aimed at both preserving those records and granting public access to them.

Section 66.058 of the Election Code requires the anonymous ballots to be held in a locked ballot box during a 22-month preservation period, with entry only as authorized by the Election Code. Section 1.012 establishes these ballots as public information and requires the election records custodian to make the ballots available to the public. By expressly requiring the custodian to provide public access to such records, the Legislature authorized entry into the locked ballot box for such purpose during the 22-month period. Thus, members of the public and legislators may inspect or obtain copies of anonymous voted ballots during the 22-month preservation period.

Personally identifiable information contained in election records that could tie a voter's identity to their specific voting selections is confidential and excepted from public disclosure. Any confidential information on an anonymous voted ballot must be redacted for purposes of disclosure in order to protect the constitutional right to a secret ballot.

The Election Code authorizes the Secretary of State and election records custodians to establish procedures to accomplish the dual priorities of ballot preservation and public access to anonymous voted ballots.

Judge Chris Hill, hello. I have a salon full of independent salonists (20) that have been out of work almost a month now due to the shutdown. I wanted to see if I could run a plan by you and get permission to open on a limited basis. All of the salonists in this salon rent out single enclosed 10' x 10' rooms from me. They are all independent sole proprietors. ALL 20 of them have been declined any type of financial assistance like TWC unemployment as well as the SBA 10K grant. And a few of them also applied for the PPP and were declined. And NONE of the salonists have received the IRS refund promised either ($1200/$2400 grant). I incidentally applied for the PPP and SBA 10K grant and was also declined due to lack of funds. I was also denied the IRS $1200/$2400 grant.

And at this point, I think we know and understand the real risks associated with this very nasty flu (COVID). It's not the ebola-like virus that will kill millions like we were told in the beginning.

But here is our plan. The outer door of the salon will remain locked and people will be let in by appointment only. I will hire some type of nurse or medical professional to greet each person coming in and take their temperature with a wireless thermometer and then get them to fill out a form with the standard 4 questions about their possible exposure to COVID. If all looks well and they have no temp and they have not been recently exposed to COVID, they we give them a temporary mask and some hand sanitizer and lead them to an empty waiting room where they will wait for their salonist. Chairs in the waiting rooms spaced out 6 feet or more from each other. When the salonist is ready, they can come get the person and give them a haircut, shampoo, etc in their enclosed 10' x 10' room. They will close their door. Each salonist will have a mask and gloves on as we were doing before we were shut down completely. And after the salonist is finished with their customer, they will clean down and wipe down all surfaces with their standard disinfectant of bleach and water mixture and get ready for the next person. The customer once finished will be escorted back out of the front door (which will remain locked). The front door attendant person will wipe down the door handles with disinfectant after each person enters or exits.

I believe this to be an extremely responsible plan for a limited re-opening. And if this is not sufficient please let me know and I can adjust the procedures. And if this is deemed too early to open, I would like to know why this is and when would be an appropriate time to re-open. And what will change between now and that future re-open date.

I will be ok financially but these 20 salonists are the nicest people and so good and down to earth people. Most are very religious. And all are very hard working. They have been doing this all of their life. And they have been totally let down and fallen through the cracks for help and support in this crisis. They are really hurting financially. Some have tried to seek temporary employment at Walmart as stockers but have not been able to get those jobs. Please help them out. I know these people have been deemed non-essential and told they cannot work but if you ask each and every one of them, they think of themselves as being important and essential and they would like to be able to financially survive this crisis.

Sincerely,

Scott Britton, building owner, Galaxy of Salons, Allen TX (near McDermott and 75)
