Report: Over 18M Americans have survived cancer

The number of cancer survivors living in the US surpassed 18 million as of January, but significant racial disparities remain in care and survival for patients with common cancers, according to a report from the National Cancer Institute and the American Cancer Society published in CA: A Cancer Journal for Clinicians. Prostate cancer was the most prevalent cancer type in men, accounting for over 3.5 million cases, while breast cancer was the most prevalent among women at over 4 million cases. Full Story: HealthDay News (6/27)

US records decline in COVID-19 cases, deaths

The US seven-day average for newly reported COVID-19 cases dropped 5.6% to 97,430 as of Thursday, while the weekly average for COVID-19 deaths declined by 10.4% to 255 from the prior week, according to the CDC. The seven-day average for COVID-19 hospitalizations rose 1% to 4,375 for the week ending Tuesday, while estimates suggest the Omicron BA.2.12.1 subvariant was involved with 56% of all US COVID-19 cases in for the week ending June 18, while BA.4 and BA.5 accounted for 35% of cases. Full Story: Becker's Hospital Review (6/24)

How Medicare can share data with MA payers

(Pixabay)

The increasing share of Medicare beneficiaries moving to Medicare Advantage makes it crucial for traditional fee-for-service Medicare to make its health data systems interoperable, write policy expert Oliver Kim and Kirk Anderson and David Dodge of Cambia Health Solutions. By allowing Medicare to use existing application programming interfaces that would make data from Parts A and B portable, and creating a new API for Part C data, the CMS "could help ensure a seamless continuity of care." Full Story: Health Affairs (6/24)

How Cigna's Evernorth plans to simplify behavioral care

Cigna's Evernorth unit aims to simplify its behavioral health care services and mitigate barriers to patient care by leveraging all of its resources, including data analytics, telehealth and Express Scripts' massive pharmacy benefit manager, said Doug Nemecek, Evernorth's chief medical officer for behavioral health, during an interview at this year's AHIP conference. An example of simplifying behavioral care is utilizing claims data from its analytics arm to identify a child who will likely get diagnosed with autism, allowing the family to get the child into suitable health care services more quickly, Nemecek explains.

Hi Joe - thanks for sharing this. One thing that I think may draw additional questions is the concept of "severe brain abnormality" and just wonder if it might help to add that extra bit about it excluding such conditions as Down Syndrome... just a thought

David Litvack (DHS), 2022-06-27 10:31:04

Thanks Joe! I think the information looks good. I just went back and looked over our FAQ document, but just want to confirm that all of the information being provided in the proposed instagram has been confirmed and finalized.

Joe Dougherty DHS, 2022-06-27 10:48:03
Hi David, yes, all information was verified and approved.

Tonya, at this time, we would like to leave out information about Down syndrome. I think there's a time for it, but I think we would prefer to be reactive in case those questions come up.

David Litvack (DHS), 2022-06-27 10:51:17
Thank you Joe! I think it would be good to document the requests for information we are getting in case we get any questions from stakeholders on why we are putting this information out there now. I hope that makes sense.

Joe Dougherty DHS, 2022-06-27 10:53:10
Thank you! I will try to chase that down.

Michelle Hofmann, 2022-06-27 12:23:21
Joe...on the 5th graphic regarding contraception, can we anchor to the medical community and state law rather than the medical community alone? In general nothing prevents state law from diverging on recommnedations from the medical community and I think it is important to call out this alignment that currently exists.

The stay delays the need for the infographics. However, if they are needed later, here are my thoughts:

Nate Checketts, 2022-06-27 14:53:37
Graphic 2: I would delete we are bound and obligated by law. We already said we have a defined role in statute. The second sentence makes it sound like our opinion is that we shouldn't be doing what the law is requiring us to do. Better not to sound like we are opining on the law.

Nate Checketts, 2022-06-27 14:54:42
Graphics 3 and 4: Lots of statutory references here but no references. These aren't our interpretations. I would provide the citations.

Nate Checketts, 2022-06-27 14:57:43
Graphic 5: This language is still listed as DRAFT on the FAQ. Did someone from EDO review it and approve it?

Joe Dougherty DHS, 2022-06-27 14:57:45
Thanks, Nate. Since infographics can get bogged down with code citations, we can definitely include the legal reference information in the post copy. Brook and I will continue to wordsmith based on your feedback.

AMCHP Appoints new President of the Board: Belinda Pettiford, formerly Board President-Elect

June 27, 2022

Washington, D.C. – The Association of Maternal & Child Health Programs (AMCHP), a national resource, partner, and advocate for state public health leaders who work and support state maternal and child health (MCH) programs, and others working to improve the health of women, children, youth, families, and communities, today announced that Belinda Pettiford has been named as President of its Board of Directors. Pettiford succeeds Dr. Manda Hall, who became Past-President after serving as President of the board for the past year.

[redacted]

“I feel very privileged to take on this role to continue strengthening AMCHP’s position as a leader in maternal and child health in our country,” said Pettiford. “I look forward to leveraging my background and experience in maternal and child health, my focus on addressing equity and the challenges of communities of color, and my involvement with national boards and strategic planning.”

Pettiford, who has worked for over 30 years in public health, serves as Chief of the Women, Infant, and Community Wellness Section at the North Carolina Department of Health and Human Services. In this capacity, she oversees the state’s maternal health, family planning, preconception health, teen pregnancy prevention, sickle cell, and numerous programs focused on equity in birth outcomes. Pettiford co-chairs the Perinatal Health Committees of the North Carolina Child Fatality Task Force (CFTF), serves on the Secretary’s Advisory Committee on Infant and Maternal Mortality (SACIMM), and is a board member with the National Healthy Start Association.

“Belinda’s long history of leadership for national, state, and local efforts on maternal and child health, coupled with her focus on health equity and her experience serving AMCHP’s board as well as our Workforce Development Committee, makes her an ideal person for this role. I look forward to partnering with Belinda to continue to work towards our mission of protecting and promoting the health and well-being of women, children, youth, families, and communities,” said Terrance E. Moore, Chief Executive Officer of AMCHP.

AMCHP’s Board of Directors is responsible for the association’s property, funds, affairs, and business while helping achieve its mission of protecting and promoting the optimal health of women, children, youth, families, and communities. AMCHP’s board comprises fifteen members, who all hold key positions at the highest levels of maternal and child health and public health nationwide.

Half of Voters Disapprove of Supreme Court Ruling to Overturn Roe v. Wade

The Friday decision paves the way for about half of states to restrict or ban abortion, while liberal states such as California have moved to shore up abortion protections. As the news reverberated over the weekend, abortion providers scrambled to redirect patients who could no longer legally terminate their pregnancies under new state limitations, and Democratic leaders laid out their plans to protect abortion access — though legislative action to establish federal abortion rights is all but dead in the divided Senate. SUBJECT: What's behind the DHHS Guidelines in HIV-1?
FROM: Managed Care News <managedcare_news@newsletter.docwirenews.com>
TO: Heather Borski <hborski@utah.gov>
DATE: 27/06/2022 17:01

This email was funded and developed by ViiV Healthcare.

What do the DHHS guidelines mean in HIV-1 treatment?

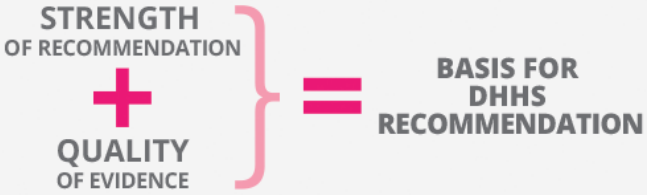
Learn more about DOVATO, a DHHS strongly recommended (AI),* oral, 2-drug STR for most people with HIV-1

Find out

DOVATO is indicated as a complete regimen to treat HIV-1 infection in adults with no antiretroviral (ARV) treatment history or to replace the current ARV regimen in those who are virologically suppressed (HIV-1 RNA <50 copies/mL) on a stable ARV regimen with no history of treatment failure and no known resistance to any component of DOVATO.
The Important Safety Information for DOVATO includes a Boxed Warning for patients co-infected with hepatitis B virus (HBV) and HIV-1. The emergence of lamivudine-resistant HBV and HBV exacerbations have been associated with lamivudine-containing antiretroviral regimens, so all patients with HIV-1 should be tested for the presence of HBV prior to or when initiating DOVATO. The full Important Safety Information and Boxed Warning are below.

[redacted]

"AI" is the strongest rating the DHHS uses when determining which treatments are recommended for people with HIV-1.



DOVATO is a DHHS strongly recommended (AI),* oral, 2-drug STR for most people with HIV-1

Learn more

*Strength of recommendations: A=strong; B=moderate; C=optional. Quality of evidence: I=data from randomized, controlled trials with clinical outcomes and/or validated laboratory endpoints; II=data from well-designed nonrandomized trials or observational cohort studies with long-term clinical outcomes; III=expert opinion.

IMPORTANT SAFETY INFORMATION

BOXED WARNING: PATIENTS CO-INFECTED WITH HEPATITIS B VIRUS (HBV) AND HIV-1: EMERGENCE OF LAMIVUDINE-RESISTANT HBV AND EXACERBATIONS OF HBV

All patients with HIV-1 should be tested for the presence of HBV prior to or when initiating DOVATO. Emergence of lamivudine-resistant HBV variants associated with lamivudine-containing antiretroviral regimens has been reported. If DOVATO is used in patients co-infected with HIV-1 and HBV, additional treatment should be considered for appropriate treatment of chronic HBV; otherwise, consider an alternative regimen.

Severe acute exacerbations of HBV have been reported in patients who are co-infected with HIV-1 and HBV and have discontinued lamivudine, a component of DOVATO. Closely monitor hepatic function in these patients and, if appropriate, initiate anti-HBV treatment.

Contraindications

- Do not use DOVATO in patients with previous hypersensitivity reaction to dolutegravir or lamivudine
- Do not use DOVATO in patients receiving dofetilide

Hypersensitivity Reactions:

- Hypersensitivity reactions have been reported with dolutegravir and were characterized by rash, constitutional findings, and sometimes organ dysfunction, including liver injury
- Discontinue DOVATO immediately if signs or symptoms of severe skin or hypersensitivity reactions develop, as a delay in stopping treatment may result in a life-threatening reaction. Clinical status, including liver aminotransferases, should be monitored and appropriate therapy initiated

Hepatotoxicity:

- Hepatic adverse events have been reported, including cases of hepatic toxicity (elevated serum liver biochemistries, hepatitis, and acute liver failure), in patients receiving a dolutegravir-containing regimen without pre-existing hepatic disease or other identifiable risk factors
- Patients with underlying hepatitis B or C or marked elevations in transaminases prior to treatment may be at increased risk for worsening or development of transaminase elevations with use of DOVATO. In some cases, the elevations in transaminases were consistent with immune reconstitution syndrome or hepatitis B reactivation, particularly in the setting where anti-hepatitis therapy was withdrawn
- Monitoring for hepatotoxicity is recommended

Embryo Fetal Toxicity:

- Assess the risks and benefits of DOVATO and discuss with the patient to determine if an alternative treatment should be considered at the time of conception through the first trimester of pregnancy due to the risk of neural tube defects
- Pregnancy testing is recommended before initiation of DOVATO. Individuals of childbearing potential should be counseled on the consistent use of effective contraception

Lactic Acidosis and Severe Hepatomegaly with Steatosis:
Fatal cases have been reported with the use of nucleoside analogs, including lamivudine. Discontinue DOVATO if clinical or laboratory findings suggestive of lactic acidosis or pronounced hepatotoxicity develop, including hepatomegaly and steatosis in the absence of marked transaminase elevations.

Adverse Reactions or Loss of Virologic Response Due to Drug Interactions with concomitant use of DOVATO and other drugs may occur (see Contraindications and Drug interactions).

Immune Reconstitution Syndrome, including the occurrence of autoimmune disorders with variable time to onset, has been reported with the use of DOVATO.

Adverse reactions

The most common adverse reactions (incidence ≥2%, all grades) with DOVATO were headache (3%), nausea (2%), diarrhea (2%), insomnia (2%), fatigue (2%), and anxiety (2%).

Drug interactions

- Consult full Prescribing Information for DOVATO for more information on potentially significant drug interactions
- DOVATO is a complete regimen. Coadministration with other antiretroviral medications for the treatment of HIV-1 infection is not recommended
- Drugs that induce or inhibit CYP3A or UGT1A1 may affect the plasma concentrations of dolutegravir
- Administer DOVATO 2 hours before or 6 hours after taking polyvalent cation-containing antacids or laxatives, sucralfate, oral supplements containing iron or calcium, or buffered medications. Alternatively, DOVATO and supplements containing calcium or iron can be taken with food

Use in specific populations

- Pregnancy: There are insufficient human data on the use of DOVATO during pregnancy to definitively assess a drug-associated risk for birth defects and miscarriage. An Antiretroviral Pregnancy Registry has been established. Advise individuals of childbearing potential of the potential risk of neural tube defects. Assess the risks and benefits of DOVATO and discuss with the patient to determine if an alternative treatment should be considered at the time of conception through the first trimester of pregnancy or if pregnancy is confirmed in the first trimester
- Lactation: Breastfeeding is not recommended due to the potential for HIV-1 transmission, developing viral resistance in HIV-positive infants, and adverse reactions in a breastfed infant
- Females and Males of Reproductive Potential: Pregnancy testing is recommended before initiation of DOVATO. Counsel individuals of childbearing potential taking DOVATO on the consistent use of effective contraception
- Renal Impairment: DOVATO is not recommended for patients with creatinine clearance <30 mL/min. Patients with a sustained creatinine clearance between 30 and 49 mL/min should be monitored for hematologic toxicities, which may require a dosage adjustment of lamivudine as an individual component
- Hepatic Impairment: DOVATO is not recommended in patients with severe hepatic impairment (Child-Pugh Score C)

Please see full Prescribing Information, including Boxed Warning, for DOVATO.

Top Court Finally Overruled 'Lemon' Test Monday. Or Did It?

Justice Neil Gorsuch's opinion Monday is clear: The landmark First Amendment case known as Lemon v. Kurtzman, which had long plagued religious conservatives, is no longer good law. But no one seems to agree whether the so-called Lemon test even had a pulse before Monday's U.S. Supreme Court decision in Kennedy v. Bremerton School District.

AIS Health Poll: Tell Us What You Think

In May, the federal government approved Virginia's waiver for a state reinsurance program. Do you think other states will implement reinsurance programs this year?

Yes No

Here's what AIS Health Daily readers told us in the last poll

The latest Medicare Trustees report showed that the Hospital Insurance (Part A) trust fund will be depleted two years later than previously projected. Should Congress pursue comprehensive reforms to the Medicare program anyway?

- 93% say yes
- 7% say no

Today's Featured Story

At AHIP Conference, Data Rules and Social Determinants Dominate Conversation
by Peter Johnson

AHIP's annual conference — AHIP 2022, convened in Las Vegas — was the first in-person gathering of the health insurance trade group since COVID-19 arrived in the United States — so the health care professionals who gathered there had even more than usual to discuss. AHIP 2022 featured dozens of panels on a variety of subjects, but two themes stuck out: social determinants of health (SDOH) and the digital transformation wrought by interoperability and transparency mandates.

Payers take on SDOH challenges

[redacted]

- During a panel on addressing SDOH to achieve health equity for plan members, Djinge Lindsay, M.D., director of public health for CareFirst BlueCross BlueShield, said that she had started her career as a primary care clinician. But seeing the same social barriers to good health harm her patients over and over again made her want to seek a big-picture role.
- “One of the realizations for me to want to go into public health is that, in the clinical space, it’s a whack-a-mole game,” Lindsay said. “You tell somebody, ‘Go fill your prescription,’ and they tell you, ‘I don’t have enough money.’ You tell someone to try and get exercise, and try to strategize on ways they can, and they’ll say, ‘The neighborhood I live in doesn’t have any safe spaces or green spaces, and I’m hesitant to walk around by myself.’ I was very acutely aware, early in my medical training, that I can only do but so much through clinical care”
- SDOH-specific programs CareFirst has adopted, Lindsay says, include “assisting people with food access or housing. We’re looking at where our investments are being driven to address the social needs in our community.”
- She cited a community health worker initiative that pairs pregnant people with doulas, who “help you advocate for yourself, help you understand some of these things that your doctors are saying, and why it’s important for you to do certain things during your pregnancy to be healthy.”

Analytics, interoperability and transparency vendors dominate trade show

- With price transparency and interoperability deadlines coming soon, dozens of vendors set up shop at AHIP to convince health plan clients that they were the best option to help carriers implement the regulations — and reap the business opportunities embedded in the vast swath of data that the mandates will open up.
- And health plan professionals were certainly interested. Christi Skalka, a managing director at Deloitte and an expert in price transparency, addressed one of the best-attended sessions at the conference: every seat was filled and several attendees were standing in the back.
- AHIP senior vice president Jeanette Thornton moderated Skalka’s presentation. “How many of you have July 1 on your calendars?” Thornton asked the full capacity crowd. Nearly everyone present laughed or groaned.
- In her remarks, and in a later conversation with AIS Health, Skalka emphasized the importance of the software vendors filling up the exhibition hall. “These third-party disruptors — the regulations are meant to try and use this data to increase disruption, and really shine a light on what’s going on in the pricing world,” Skalka said. Consumer-facing products, in particular, have yet to see a dominant player emerge — what the software business refers to as a “killer app.”
- Skalka said that health care executives understand the importance of the race for a tool that meets consumers’ demands. Deloitte surveyed health plans about price transparency, Skalka explained, and found that “they’re starting to make investments. 76% of the health plan executives we spoke to said they’re going to make investments in technology and analytics to adjust this data and analyze it, which is the primary use case.”

Today's AIS Health Datapoint

Colorado last week received approval from the federal government to launch the “Colorado Option” — a new state-sponsored health plan created by a Section 1332 State Innovation Waiver. The plan will aim to cover about 10,000 people, with the goals of increasing health statewide health coverage and reducing racial and economic disparities. 5,311,686 people currently receive medical insurance benefits in Colorado. 30.2% of those lives are enrolled in Colorado Medicaid.

Voters More Likely to Disapprove of Roe Decision
A new Morning Consult/Politico survey in the wake of the Supreme Court's decision to overturn Roe v. Wade found that 50% of voters disapprove of the ruling and another 40% approve, with opinions largely drawn along partisan lines. Meanwhile, 52% of voters want Congress to pass legislation codifying federal abortion rights granted through Roe — but just 35% think lawmakers will get it done. Read more about the electorate's reaction to the ruling.

Top Stories

- Health and Human Services Secretary Xavier Becerra and Labor Secretary Marty Walsh met with 14 big health insurers and industry groups to ensure they comply with federal rules to offer contraceptives without co-pays, as the Biden administration seeks to strengthen reproductive health protections after the fall of Roe v. Wade. Advocates have accused payers of dodging the birth control coverage rules, and Becerra and Walsh said their departments "may take enforcement or other corrective actions as appropriate." (Politico)

- The Supreme Court ruled that prosecutors must prove that doctors knowingly prescribed drugs in a way that departs from professional norms in order to convict them of unlawful distribution of controlled substances, siding with two doctors accused of running opioid pill mills. The unanimous decision returns the case to an appeals court, but doesn't throw out the physicians' convictions. (Stat News)

- Oklahoma reached a $250 million settlement with drug distributors AmerisourceBergen Corp., Cardinal Health Inc. and McKesson Corp. over their role in the state's opioid crisis, closing the last state lawsuit against all three companies. Oklahoma Attorney General John O'Connor said at least 85% of the money will fund efforts to address addiction in the state. (Reuters)

- The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services launched a new cancer care payment model that seeks to improve treatment coordination and equity, with the voluntary Enhancing Oncology Model set to begin in July 2023 and run through 2028. CMS Administrator Chiquita Brooks-LaSure said the model aims to incentivize cancer providers to offer care "that addresses patients' social needs and improves patient and caregiver support." CORONAVIRUS

[redacted] [redacted]

US grapples with whether to modify COVID vaccine for fall
Lauran Neergaard, The Associated Press
U.S. health authorities are facing a critical decision: whether to offer new COVID-19 booster shots this fall that are modified to better match recent changes of the shape-shifting coronavirus.

Pause in medication would improve Covid jab response for millions, study shows
Clive Cookson, Financial Times
Millions of people worldwide undergoing immune-suppressing treatment would respond much better to Covid-19 vaccines if they took a two-week break from medication immediately after their jab, a UK clinical trial has shown.

America Is Sliding Into the Long Pandemic Defeat
Ed Yong, The Atlantic
In the face of government inaction, the country's best chance at keeping the crisis from spiraling relies on everyone to keep caring.

GENERAL

How the Supreme Court abortion ruling changes health care
Sarah Owermohle and Krista Mahr, Politico
Court and legislative battles will soon begin or amplify. Here are just a few of the immediate and long-term implications of Roe falling.

Anti-abortion centers to grow, wield more influence post-Roe
Kimberlee Kruesi and Leah Willingham, The Associated Press
The facilities, which have been accused repeatedly of deceiving women about their true purpose, are expected to wield even more influence in states where the dwindling number of clinics are now canceling abortion appointments.

Anti-Abortion Movement Faces Divisions in Post-Roe Politics
Gregory Korte and Laurel Brubaker Calkins, Bloomberg
Abortion opponents, having secured their decades-old dream, are finding they don't all agree on what to target next.

What we know — and what we may never know — about why the FDA banned Juul
Nicholas Florko, Stat News
Even some of the nation's top tobacco experts were surprised by the Food and Drug Administration's stated rationale for pulling Juul off the market: It said it had concerns about the company's toxicology data.

Life expectancy for Black Americans continues to lag that of whites, study finds
Berkeley Lovelace Jr., NBC News
While disparities in life expectancy have narrowed over the past three decades, the Covid-19 pandemic has reversed some of that progress.

PAYERS

Will health insurers continue to cover abortion now that Roe has been overturned?
Megan Messerly, Politico
In some states, insurance may cover what is now or about to be an illegal procedure, while other states allow abortion but prohibit Medicaid from covering it except in limited circumstances.

Legality of IRS Plan to Extend Obamacare Subsidies Questioned
Sara Hansard, Bloomberg Law
The IRS lacks the legal authority for its proposal that would expand the number of family members eligible for Obamacare subsidies, opponents of the measure told the agency Monday.

UnitedHealth's Optum looks to cut down on unnecessary lab testing

Optum is launching a new program to help insurers cut down on "unnecessary lab testing," a move it says will save insurers $3 billion annually.

PROVIDERS

Oriana Gonzalez, Axios
Abortion providers in Idaho, Texas and Mississippi have sued state officials to challenge "trigger" laws scheduled to take effect later in the summer that would make nearly all abortions illegal in those three states.

Abortions to Resume in Louisiana, as Trigger Ban Blocked
Mary Anne Pazanowski, Bloomberg Law
Louisiana officials are blocked from enforcing laws totally banning abortion pending a July 8 state court hearing that will delve more deeply into their legality.

End of Roe causes confusion at Michigan's largest health system
Samantha Liss, Healthcare Dive
The confusion in Michigan underscores complexities health systems and providers face as access to abortion will now be decided by each state.

Defining "life-threatening" can be tricky in abortion law exceptions
Tina Reed, Axios
While most state abortion bans include some sort of exception when the life of the mother is at risk, it will fall to doctors to prove whether a patient qualifies in an emergency, or possibly face charges.

Roe Ruling Provokes Biden Team Reminder on Emergency Care Law
Allie Reed and Tony Pugh, Bloomberg Law
Doctors are legally required to stabilize pregnant patients experiencing a miscarriage or other medical emergency—even if a state law prohibits this treatment, an official from the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services said Monday.

American College of Physicians calls US food insecurity a threat to public health
Sharon Udasin, The Hill
Inadequate access to nutrition has become a threat to public health in the U.S., amplifying existing food insecurity and social issues, the American College of Physicians declared on Monday.

Health services M&A slowed in Q1, but rebound anticipated
Susan Kelly, Healthcare Dive
Deal volumes in the health services sector slipped 9% in the first quarter compared to the fourth quarter of 2021, but are still trending above the longer-term average and are expected to bounce back in the coming quarters, according to a mid-year update from PwC.

Weed users nearly 25% more likely to need emergency care and hospitalization
Sandee LaMotte, CNN
Using recreational marijuana is associated with a higher risk of emergency room care and being hospitalized for any reason, a new study has found.

PHARMA, BIOTECH AND DEVICES

CVS and Rite Aid Limit Abortion Pill Purchases as Demand Surges After Roe Ruling
Fiona Rutherford and Allison Nicole Smith, Bloomberg
CVS Health Corp. and Rite Aid Corp. pharmacies are limiting purchases of emergency contraceptive pills as demand for the medication surged following the US Supreme Court decision that struck down the constitutional right to abortion.

U.S. FDA declines to approve Spero's urinary tract infection drug
Amruta Khandekar and Bhanvi Satija, Reuters
The U.S. Food and Drug Administration declined to approve Spero Therapeutics Inc's oral antibiotic drug for the treatment of patients with complicated urinary tract infections, the company said on Monday.

The crisis pregnancy nonprofits are sharpening their digital skills, investing their donations and state funding into outreach on social media, targeting teens and young adults.

Cognito Therapeutics raises $50 million for Alzheimer's treatment tech
Mario Aguilar, Stat News
Cognito Therapeutics has raised $50 million in funding as it seeks to advance treatments for an elusive target: cognitive decline.

CRISPR, 10 Years On: Learning to Rewrite the Code of Life
Carl Zimmer, The New York Times
The gene-editing technology has led to innovations in medicine, evolution and agriculture — and raised profound ethical questions about altering human DNA.

'It's not going to work': Keeping race out of machine learning isn't enough to avoid bias
Katie Palmer, Stat News
As more machine learning tools reach patients, developers are starting to get smart about the potential for bias to seep in. But a growing body of research aims to emphasize that even carefully trained models — ones built to ignore race — can breed inequity in care.

OPINIONS, EDITORIALS AND PERSPECTIVES

America May Soon Have Another Sexually Transmitted Infection
Jay K. Varma, The New York Times
Monkeypox infections are spreading rapidly in many countries, and the United States has, yet again, been caught flat-footed when confronted with another virus.

Thanks to the FDA, Biden's cancer moonshot could succeed
Leana S. Wen, The Washington Post
President Biden's cancer "moonshot" received a big boost from the Food and Drug Administration, thanks to its aggressive actions aimed at curtailing smoking.

Viral reservoirs may explain long COVID symptoms

A study published in the journal PLOS Pathogens found an association between high levels of virus-specific T cells and symptoms of long COVID, suggesting lingering symptoms after the acute phase of COVID-19 could be explained by hidden reservoirs of virus in the body. Researchers found T cell levels were associated with increased inflammation that could explain decreased lung function and persistent symptoms such as chest pain, fatigue and headache. Full Story: Contagion Live (6/25)

Insulin treatment for diabetes tied to fracture risk

A study presented at The Endocrine Society's ENDO 2022 found that patients with diabetes who were treated with insulin had nearly twice the risk of major osteoporotic fractures and over three times greater risk of hip fracture compared with those treated with metformin. However, the increase may be mitigated by treatment with both insulin and metformin, researcher Dr. Sung Hye Kong said. Full Story: Endocrinology Network (6/27)

Expert: Health tech risks creating "digital back doors"

Telehealth, algorithms and interoperability are being adopted by health systems to increase access, quality and efficiency of care, but racial biases risk creating a "digital back door" for Black patients and others from historically excluded groups, worsening already unequal access to health care, writes Kim Gallon, the director of the advocacy group COVID Black. "If health tech is truly committed to accessible digital front doors to health care, it must first acknowledge the digital back doors evident in digital redlining, algorithmic bias, stigmatizing language in EHRs, and other forms of racism that are enabled through how health IT developers and clinicians use and apply digital technologies in health care," Gallon writes. Full Story: STAT (tiered subscription model) (6/24)

Future of office work could include "vertical yacht"

Remote-work trends that have taken hold during the pandemic are likely to last a long time and might become permanent in some sectors, as office occupancy remains less than half the pre-pandemic high. A podcast explores whether remote work has improved or degraded American life and how office work will take shape, including the possibility that offices will have hotel-like amenities or become a "vertical yacht." Full Story: The Ringer (6/17)

How employers can develop a "Mental Health Toolbox"

Katie Urtnowski, vice president of people and culture at CNY Group, explains how companies can use a "Mental Health Toolbox" to create a psychologically and emotionally safe workplace. "By being deliberate about how you create a sense of inclusivity, you are shaping company culture to support positive mental health," Urtnowski writes. Full Story: Training magazine (6/23)

Communicate with employees about pay as inflation rises

To avoid mistrust and workers leaving, be open with employees about the possibility of salary freezes as inflation rises. "Although these conversations are often difficult, employers must be sensitive to employee concerns and work toward ways to remediate inflation fears, even if they don't have the budget to raise salaries," says Tanya Jansen, co-founder of Beqom. Full Story: Inc. Leadership burnout is real and needs more attention

Increasingly gray areas between personal and professional life can lead to high stress and greater risk of burnout, and while focus has heightened on employees who go through excessive stress, burnout among executives still carries a stigma, Samantha Johnson writes. Leaders frequently promote employees' mental health but fail to address their own, Johnson writes. Full Story: The Next Web/Techleap (6/27)

Kanoe Namahoe

Yesterday wore me out. I edited my briefs early in the morning and was on the show floor by 8 a.m. for a media briefing. The rest of the day was a blur of sessions, meetings and perusing the show floor. When I left the conference, I ran back to my hotel to freshen up and then met up with my team for a long, wonderful dinner of crawdad beignets, blackened catfish and a carrot cake at Superior Seafood and Oyster Bar. We wrapped up the night at The Spotty Cat Music Club for some jazz and a nightcap.

I was yawning when I got back to my hotel around midnight, but I felt great. The day was long but productive -- the kind that energizes me for the work I do. I spent my day talking to educators, students and solutions providers about what's happening in schools. Every conversation was different and I had to be on when I was moving from one to another. At one booth, I was talking to students about their entrepreneurship club. At the next booth, I was talking to a STEM teacher about robotics. At another one, I was talking to a vendor about assessment and data.

I loved it.

Days like that get me fired up. Daniel Todd talks about that in today's Leadership & Development story. Todd says, "Employees deeply immersed in their work achieve great things without realizing how many hours have passed." It's true. That work flow is almost intoxicating. It carries me through the day and fuels me with fresh energy -- seriously! -- for every meeting and interaction.

We need that. It's not about emotion. It's about tapping that thing deep in us that rights us -- focuses us -- and enables us to do our best work.

Are your workers deeply immersed in their work? Are they bringing enthusiasm to their activities and tasks? Let me know! And if you enjoy this brief, tell others so they can benefit also.

Hello All,
Just sharing as an FYI - Brown & Peisch (B&P) is Utah Medicaid's external consulting legal firm. One of the things B&P do as part of the contract we have with them, is to periodically send out general legal "advisories" about Medicaid-related issues.

Attached is the advisory we received from B&P today regarding the SCOTUS decision impact on state Medicaid programs.

Voters Mostly Back FDA Bans on Tobacco-Flavored Vapes
Juul Labs Inc. launched into a legal battle with the Food and Drug Administration after regulators ordered the vaping giant's tobacco-flavored products off the U.S. market last week, but a new Morning Consult/Politico survey shows Juul is unlikely to find much sympathy with the electorate. About 2 in 3 voters — including half of voters who vape — are on board with FDA bans on tobacco-flavored vaping products. Read more here.

Top Stories

- Health and Human Services Secretary Xavier Becerra cautioned that there is "no magic bullet" to preserve abortion access after the fall of Roe v. Wade, and said federal officials are still considering their options amid a complex legal landscape and as Democrats call on the Biden administration to do more. For now, Becerra said HHS will ensure federal health insurance programs cover medication abortion in certain cases, and that officials will work with the Justice Department to ensure that women have access to abortion pills in states that look to restrict them. (The New York Times)

- The Biden administration released its plan to combat the monkeypox outbreak, saying it will make 296,000 doses of a monkeypox vaccine available to eligible Americans and prioritize those in the LGBTQ community and people who have been exposed to the virus in states with high infection rates. In the coming months, a combined 1.6 million additional doses will be made available, and Centers for Disease Control and Prevention Director Dr. Rochelle Walensky said the agency plans to offer the shots to a broader group. (Bloomberg)

- The Food and Drug Administration's vaccine advisory group voted 19-2 to recommend that drugmakers update COVID-19 vaccines to target the omicron variant, suggesting the FDA will clear the way for Pfizer Inc.-BioNTech SE and Moderna Inc. to move ahead with their plans to release modified booster shots. The government aims to launch a booster campaign in October. (The Wall Street Journal)

- Government watchdogs told a House panel that Congress should crack down on the Medicare Advantage program, saying the private health plans for seniors sometimes deny access to needed medical care and inflate charges by billions of dollars. The watchdogs said lawmakers should limit home-based health assessments and that the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services should prioritize audits to recoup government overpayments. Texas Abortion Ban Is Halted for Procedures Up to 6 Weeks
Laurel Brubaker Calkins, Bloomberg
A Texas judge temporarily sided with abortion rights advocates that challenged a state law from the 1920s banning the procedure, in the wake of the US Supreme Court's decision last week to overturn Roe v. Wade.

In a doctor's suspicion after a miscarriage, a glimpse of expanding medical mistrust
Eric Boodman, Stat News
There are plenty for whom the doctor's office has long been contested terrain, where you need to watch what you say and keep your guard up, where Black people in pain are dismissed as drug-seeking, where women are told their symptoms are all in their head, where seeking help might get you into more trouble.

Abortion doctors' post-Roe dilemma: Move, stay or straddle state lines
Alice Miranda Ollstein, Politico
Health experts warn that this potential migration could be devastating for patients, leaving them without access to birth control, prenatal care and other reproductive health services.

Physicians face confusion and fear in post-Roe world
Ariana Eunjung Cha, The Washington Post
Some worry gray areas in new abortion bans force a choice between breaking their oath and breaking the law.

Katherine Gilyard, Stat News
The doctor-patient relationship is an important part of helping and healing. But it can be hijacked by racial or other biases that either party holds.

Droga5, Rainn Wilson create a small pet show for Kaytee

(Kaytee/YouTube)

Droga5 created a mockumentary for small pet brand Kaytee, which stars Rainn Wilson as the owner of Kenneth the guinea pig, who he is trying to train to enter the Westminster Kennel Club Dog Show. The humorous video shows Kenneth eventually turned down from the prestigious show but that only prompts Wilson to create his own event, #SmallinShow, which small pet owners are invited to take part in for the chance to win prizes from the brand. Full Story: Ad Age (tiered subscription model) (6/28)

Employers funding abortion travel may face legal risk

(SOPA Images/Getty Images)

Some major companies are saying they'll pay the travel expenses of employees who go to another state for an abortion after the reversal of Roe v. Wade, although experts say employers could face legal risk if they run afoul of varying state abortion laws. A potential defense for such companies is the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974's prohibition against state-imposed requirements for employer-sponsored health plans. Full Story: The Hill (6/28), Reuters (6/27)

THE HR LEADER

Strategies for mentoring an experienced staffer

When mentoring a more experienced employee, help them understand how they can bring their wisdom and self-awareness together to leave a lasting legacy on the organization as well as benefit their own career, writes Alaina Love. "Mentoring an experienced employee means helping them move beyond the pursuit of title and power," Love writes. Full Story: SmartBrief/Leadership (6/28)

Kanoe Namahoe

Mike has been riding for almost two years. In that time, he's owned three different bikes. He just traded in his older bike for an Electra Glide. It's beautiful.

Here's the problem: Despite his experience, Mike rides too slow. When he rides with his club, he routinely falls behind, especially on stretches of road that include turns. It slows everyone down (they ride together for safety). His club brothers know he's struggling with lack of confidence and have tried to help. "You need to ride every day. You need to practice," I heard some of them say. Several have offered to ride with him and give him pointers. Nothing has worked. He continues to ride too slow. It's caused a lot of frustration among the members.

Mentoring someone who has experience in a field can be tough on both sides as we see in today's HR Leader story. What do you teach someone who's been doing that work for an extended length of time? Alaina Love suggests focusing more on gaining insights about them -- self-awareness, professional learning ambitions -- than discussing how-tos with them. That makes so much sense. It meets the mentee where he or she is and helps them truly grow toward bigger roles and successes.

How are you mentoring the experienced workers in your organization? What are you doing to help them advance? Let me know! And if you enjoy this brief, tell others so they can benefit also.

more aid. Federal officials said the agreement gives them the option to buy a total of 300 million shots, including doses for both adults and children. (The Associated Press)

- Democratic leaders have agreed on a plan to lower prescription drug prices for seniors after weeks of private talks between Senate Majority Leader Chuck Schumer (D-N.Y.) and Sen. Joe Manchin (D-W.Va.), people familiar with the matter said, paving the way for Democrats to resurrect their social spending package this summer. The revised proposal would allow the U.S. government to negotiate some drug prices through Medicare beginning in 2023, cap seniors' yearly drug costs at $2,000, expand support for low-income seniors and take steps to prevent the rules from changing if Republicans take control of Congress. (The Washington Post)

- The Department of Health and Human Services released new medical privacy guidelines that aim to protect abortion patients from law enforcement investigations in restrictive states, as the Biden administration scrambles to manage patchwork state abortion laws after the fall of Roe v. Wade. The guidance says that a hospital employee who believes someone had an abortion in a state where it is illegal cannot report that to law enforcement, unless the state specifically requires it. (The Wall Street Journal)

- The Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services moved to require state nursing home inspectors to use these facilities' self-reported staffing data to help identify nursing homes that don't meet federal rules that say registered nurses must be available around the clock. The rule, which goes into effect Oct. 24, will also require nursing homes to have an on-site infection preventionist at least part-time. (Bloomberg Law)

[redacted] Title

Dear Heather,

Last Friday, the U.S. Supreme Court overturned Roe v. Wade, ending 50 years of federal abortion rights. We are saddened and angered by this catastrophic judicial failure. The ruling will jeopardize the health and lives of countless Americans and will have a major impact on a range of other reproductive and health services. THIS IS UNACCEPTABLE.

As we fight back, we need your support. We've been on the front lines of the fight for abortion and reproductive care for almost 60 years. We've worked with key partners to shape policies and practices that protect reproductive health for all individuals and families. We've met again and again with members of Congress and federal policymakers to make sure that public health's voice is heard. We've led calls to action and spoken out against injustice. And in September, we used a friend-of-the-court brief to call on the Supreme Court to reject state-level restrictions on abortions, outlining their danger to health. APHA is and will continue to be a force for change on reproductive health. WE WILL NOT BACK DOWN.

We ask you to support us by providing a monthly or one-time gift to strengthen our critical work in support of reproductive health and reproductive justice. We must stand together today to protect women's health, and tomorrow to protect so many fundamental rights that are on the line.

Donate Now!

APHA has been unequivocal in advocating for an individual's right to control decisions about their reproductive health and we will continue to stand in support of the personal freedom and privacy that comprehensive reproductive health care should provide all Americans, not just those living in certain states.

Please keep an eye out over the coming weeks for follow-up emails on resources, social media shareables and other ways you can get involved and make a difference.

Sincerely,

Governors: Enhanced ACA tax credits should be permanent

A group of 14 Democratic governors sent a letter to Congressional leaders urging them to permanently extend the enhanced Affordable Care Act subsidies created under the American Rescue Plan Act to avert a dramatic hike in premiums and "prevent a disastrous erosion of health insurance coverage." Around 3.4 million Americans could lose health coverage if the enhancements expire this year, according to administration estimates, while the Kaiser Family Foundation expects premiums to jump 53% on average for around 13 million Americans if the enhancements lapse. Full Story: The Hill (6/29), Healthcare Dive (6/29)

Medicaid redetermination, expiring ACA enhancements could affect 2023 premiums

The return of Medicaid eligibility redeterminations and the expiration of enhanced Affordable Care Act premium assistance are expected to drive premium changes for small group and individual health insurance plans for the 2023 plan year, according to a report from the American Academy of Actuaries. People who lose Medicaid coverage as a result of the redeterminations may shift to the individual and group markets, which could reduce premiums and enhance the risk pools, but these changes would not offset the impact of expiring tax credit enhancements. Full Story: Health Payer Intelligence (6/28)

Bipartisan measure would extend financial help for rural hospitals

Sens. Chuck Grassley, R-Iowa, and Bob Casey, D-Pa., are proposing the Rural Hospital Support Act, which would extend the reach of federal financial aid that has been helping rural hospitals stay operational in recent months. "In some cases, the closing of a rural hospital can mean the difference between life and death for people in the surrounding communities," the bill says. Full Story: HealthLeaders Media (6/28)

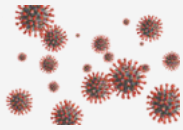
Study links COVID-19 to neurological risks



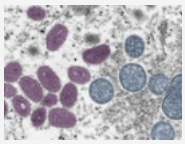
(Pixabay)

A study presented at the 8th European Academy of Neurology Congress found patients who had COVID-19 had a 3.5 times increased risk for Alzheimer's disease and 2.6 times higher risk for Parkinson's disease, compared with those who did not have the virus. Researchers also found that patients with COVID-19 had a 2.7 times higher risk for ischemic stroke and a 4.8 times higher risk for intracerebral hemorrhage. Full Story: Diagnostic Imaging (6/25)

Study: No link between coffee drinking, pregnancy risks

A large genetic study of data from the Coffee and Caffeine Genetics Consortium and other sources, published in the International Journal of Epidemiology, suggests that drinking coffee during pregnancy is not associated with an increased risk of adverse health outcomes. Earlier research had suggested that coffee consumption might raise the risk of stillbirth, preterm birth or miscarriage. Full Story: Healio (free registration) (6/29)

Monkeypox vaccine expansion reaches too few, critics say



(Smith Collection/Gado/Getty Images)

HHS expanded eligibility for the monkeypox vaccine to anyone who believes they have been exposed to the virus, not just those with confirmed cases, but infectious disease experts like Celine Gounder said the virus will continue to spread if the vaccines aren't also made available to people at high risk for infection, such as men who have sex with men. "If we don't start vaccinating more quickly and broadly, we're going to have a very difficult time containing this," Gounder said. Full Story: The New York Times (6/28)

Three policy lessons from the ever-evolving pandemic

Even well-intentioned policies can do harm. Rapid research can inform our actions and safeguard health equity. When the pandemic hit, officials reacted quickly with public health guidelines and policies created with the best evidence we had and with the best intentions in mind. But did they work? While the science was clear on how to fight the virus, there were fewer guidelines in place for how to do it fairly. What we learned is that communities of color suffered greater hardships. We turned to researchers working in the three RWJF signature research programs to find evidence-based answers within policies, practices, and data to help people who have been left behind by many pandemic-era policy decisions.

RWJF statement on reproductive rights

Last week's Supreme Court decision strips women and other pregnant people of their fundamental right to access critical reproductive healthcare. It allows states to assert government control over a person's healthcare decisions. It will solidify and exacerbate persistent health inequities by race,

As a Foundation focused on building a Culture of Health where every person has a fair and just opportunity for health and wellbeing, we believe unequivocally that individuals seeking abortions and other components of reproductive healthcare deserve to be seen, heard, represented, cared for, and supported. Read the full

What High Court Got Wrong In Wash. Nuclear Workers Ruling

The U.S. Supreme Court's unanimous decision in the Hanford nuclear cleanup site case invalidated a Washington state workers' compensation statute by addressing three issues — mootness, discrimination against the federal government, and congressional waiver of immunity — but made errors on all three, says Henry Drummonds at Lewis and Clark Law School.

Good morning.

Please see Rep. Peterson's email, on behalf of the women in the Legislature.

I think in order to get this information to them as quickly as possible, I think we just create a simple spreadsheet that has the name of the program, ages served and a brief summary of the program. I think you can indicate whether it is federal, state or both, in terms of funding. You can see in my email, I told them we would provide the most basic information so we can turn the request around quickly. We can always come back with number of people served and budget, which I suspect will be the next question.

I would like Marc or Paul to take lead on getting this started. I believe Marc is still out this week. I think if we can have this turned around as quickly as possible that would be great. It should not take a ton of work if this gets pushed down to the appropriate staff who know their programs best. We all know why timing is important for them.

Thanks!

Representative Peterson,

Thank you for reaching out to us. Our department does provide programs and resources to women who fit into these categories. We have programs from prenatal through early childhood, as well as programs for families who have children with disabilities.

We are happy to provide this information. For speed, we will simply provide the name of the program and a brief summary. That will allow us to get you the information quickly and then we can provide any additional information that may be helpful. Please let us know when you would like to receive the information. We will have our team begin working on it today.

Utah Department of Health & Human Services

Team update

Dear Team:

Today, the Supreme Court of the United States released a 213-page opinion overturning the 1973 Roe v. Wade decision. With its opinion today, the Supreme Court says that there is no longer a fundamental right to abortion. Decisions about what is and isn't allowed is now up to the states.

Quoting from the intro to the opinion: Abortion presents a profound moral issue on which Americans hold sharply conflicting views. Some believe fervently that a human person comes into being at conception and that abortion ends an innocent life. Others feel just as strongly that any regulation of abortion invades a woman's right to control her own body and prevents women from achieving full equality. Still others in a third group think that abortion should be allowed under some but not all circumstances, and those within this group hold a variety of views about the particular restrictions that should be imposed.

Abortion is by no means a simple issue. Please remember that your co-workers have a range of feelings and personal opinions about this. We need to be extra cautious in the workplace about expressing our personal opinions because there are differing beliefs. As a reminder, you may not use official state resources to express personal views on this decision.
Please be extra sensitive to the thoughts of others, including co-workers. We will continue to monitor employee and building safety.

In official capacities, if you are contacted about the law by partners or the public, please direct inquiries to DHHS@utah.gov. Until we can provide further clarification, please do not engage with the general public about how the law is going to be interpreted.

We are continuing to analyze the potential impacts from the Supreme Court's decision.

Here are the facts we know right now as they pertain to Utah and the Utah Department of Health and Human Services:

- In the 2020 General Session, the Utah Legislature passed SB 174, which we were notified this evening, is now in effect, following a report from legislative general counsel to the Legislative Management Committee.
  - The bill lists some specific responsibilities of DHHS.

And now... the rest of this fabulous, and very late, email!

- Thank you to the 530+ of you who tuned in live to our All Hands Q&A on Thursday. If you missed it, you can watch the replay here.

- This week, we'd also like to make your acquaintance with the Office of Recovery Services, led by the trusty Liesa Stockdale. You might know them as the "child support office," but that's not all they do: https://youtu.be/Q2imWsc7btk

  We are so excited to host a traveling exhibit on Dr. Martha Hughes Cannon at our MASOB and Cannon Health buildings over the next 2 weeks. The exhibit starts this Friday, June 24, through June 30. Then, the exhibit will be moved to the Cannon Health building on July 1, which also happens to be the 165th anniversary of Dr. Cannon's birth AND our new agency's birthday!

  The exhibit will be at the Cannon building until July 8. We will also be holding a media event honoring the life of Dr. Cannon and celebrating the birth of our new agency on July 1 at the Utah Capitol. We are thrilled to begin this new journey with each of you and honor those who have come before us.

- Nate Checketts... thank you!

  With the upcoming merger, comes a handful of leadership changes, including a new role for Utah Department of Health Executive Director Nate Checketts. Under DHHS, Nate will become a department deputy director over our Health Administration section. Recently, Gov. Cox and Lt. Gov. Henderson, recognized Nate for his work to lead the pandemic response while maintaining effective leadership to oversee the management of the Department of Health's responsibilities. They said he is a model public servant reflecting the values of humility, selflessness and steady leadership. Nate is pictured here with his wife, Ginger.

- Congratulations are also in order to Caitlyn Jasumback and Rachelle Boulton! Both were recognized at the Council of State and Territorial Epidemiologists conference. Caitlyn was a finalist for the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation Award for Outstanding Epidemiology Practice in Addressing Racial and Ethnic Disparities for her work "Does Discrimination Influence Prevention Healthcare Among Under Served Population?" Rachelle was awarded CSTE's Distinguished Leader Award. This is a huge honor for both of them!! People from around the nation are envious of our data systems and informatics

- Mental and physical health
  During our all-hands call and during Gov. Cox's employee town hall this week, we received questions about the leave hours that are available for taking care of our mental health. Please take advantage of these benefits.
  - As of Jan. 1, 2022, Gov. Cox granted 4 hours of admin leave to address mental health issues, to be used during the calendar year.
  - Starting July 1, our department will make 4 hours available for the next fiscal year, ending June 30, 2023.
  - We have also worked with Blomquist Hale to hire an individual who can be available to be a mental health resource.
  - Keep in mind that you may also use 4 hours of leave for wellness and health checkups. Please talk to your supervisor before using this leave.
  - Tracy also reminded us that we can use any accumulated sick leave for mental or physical health time off.

S.B. 174 Abortion Prohibition Amendments Now in Effect

[redacted]

[redacted]

SALT LAKE CITY – In accordance with state statute, the Legislative Branch's general counsel determined S.B. 174 Abortion Prohibition Amendments meets the legal requirements to take effect, following the U.S. Supreme Court's ruling regarding abortion.

In 2020, the Utah Legislature passed S.B. 174, prohibiting all elective abortions in Utah, except in rare circumstances involving rape, incest or medical emergency, contingent on the U.S. Supreme Court ruling.

On June 24, 2022, the U.S. Supreme Court issued a ruling that overturned Roe v. Wade, giving states the right to choose their abortion regulations. The U.S. Supreme Court's official opinion was sent to the Legislature's general counsel to determine if Utah's statute may take effect.

Members of the Legislative Management Committee (LMC) have been notified and the bill is now in effect. Utah code is updated to reflect the changes.

Attached is the official communication from the legislative general counsel informing LMC that the bill is in effect. The letter also addresses H.B. 166 (2019) Down Syndrome Nondiscrimination Abortion Act.

Subject: Some pro-life ideas to improve pregnancy related services.
To: Tracy Gruber (DHS) <tracygruber@utah.gov>, nate checketts <natechecketts@utah.gov>

Hi Tracy and Nate -

I hear from Neil Abercrombe that the Governor is interested in doing some things to provide better pregnancy related services to women in light of the trigger law.

It makes sense to me that from a pro-life viewpoint, we as a state ought to be interested in more than just eliminating abortion, but also in making sure that a pregnancy turns out well for her and her child.

If you guys in are sorting through possible policy recommendations, I wanted to put some of my top ones in your hopper for consideration. (And I will, of course, be bringing this up as best I can with my legislative colleages as well)

Here are some things that I think would make things better for women and show actual action on the part of the state to being pro-life for women as they plan for and go through pregnancy and childbirth.

1. Raise the Income eligibility to be covered for pregnancy Medicaid to 200% of the poverty level. Currently women between 138 and 200 may really struggle to get coverage and pre-natal health care.
2. Provide 12 months of post partum coverage. The first year of the baby's life can be very chaotic. Getting health care for herself (including if desired to get back on highly effective birth control) can be impossible if we cut folks off of coverage 60 days after the birth of the child.
3. Cover family planning services up to 250% of the poverty level. This is similar to what was discussed a couple of years back in the legislature for the lower threshold of 100% of the poverty level. The stakes are much higher for a women if abortion is not an option for her, and she is not in a position to care for another child if she does get pregnant, so making it easier for lower income individuals to access birth control would be a good help to them.
4. Provide 12 months of continuous eligibility to children on Medicaid. We have discussed this several times in the legislature, but haven't every quite found the funding. Maybe now is the right time.
5. Apply for the CHIP "unborn child" option. This is for women who are not here legally, but their child when it is born, will be here legally, and entitled to Medicaid services. This allows for coverage during the pregnancy, so the baby has a better chance to be born health.
6. Set a minimum set of services that we want to have available across the state to women who have a substance use disorder. This could include peer support, or home visitation, or coverage of inpatient rehab. Currently the services of this nature that are available are very spotty across the state, mostly just available in Salt Lake County. This item - it we plan correctly - could be funded from the opioid settlement, and so wouldn't have to come from general fund.

I have attached a brief prepared by Dr. Jessica Sanders who is with the family planninc division at the University of Utah. (And I think she has presented at MCAC, so you might already have this.) In it you will see many of these same ideas, as well as some others.

I am not sure how this will play out, but I would love to be involved if we are discussing ways to make our healthcare services better for women surrounding pregnancy and childbirth related issues.

Thanks,

RW

Hi Marc,

Thanks for reaching out to ASTHO on this. I am the Family and Child Health Senior Director, and ASTHO's lead on contraception work with my colleagues (CCed). We are currently wor on this issue with one state, and, several years ago, we worked with several states on implementing their pharmacist prescribing policies.

Implementation has been hard for all states doing this. You are not alone. This may warrant a conversation, but I don't see in the below information is reimbursement, training/credentialing, enrollment processes, pharmacies' policies, and any connection to the public health agency. For example:

- General Questions: What was the rollout process? Did Utah do a pilot in a few sites to work out kinks before rolling out?
- Billing and coding: Payment must work for the program to be successful. Is billing overly burdensome to pharmacists? Have pharmacists successfully been paid or is the payme enough to justify the time?
- Training: Pharmacist certification is a critical piece of the process. I see that Utah uses the Oregon State University comprehensive certification training. How has uptake been going? Are there any pharmacist champions that can increase interest?
    - The Utah Pharmacy Association annual meeting is at the end of the month. It looks like April 29 has a 1-hour refresh session on pharmacist prescribing. Is the health department in contact with the Pharmacy Association? This may be a ripe space for engaging folks who are early adopters and can bring on others. It would be helpful t how the session is attended and the questions people are asking.
- What is the health agency's role in pharmacy prescribing?

There are other considerations as well, but these are some good starting ones. Our team is happy to speak with you or connect you with other states that have done this.

~Ellen

Sean, Russell, and Kimberly -

Please see the attached report from DHHS that was due to SSA by August 1, 2022:

- Net impact to the Spinal Cord and Brain Injury Rehabilitation Fund of implementing cost sharing

The Department has one other report due to SSA in the coming days that is still being finalized:

- Cost to implement a statewide support program, that would qualify for expenditures from the Opioid Litigation Settlement Restricted Account, for pregnant women with substance use disorder to receive various services (August 10)

Good info! I'm going to try and find out who is our department would have the most knowledge/background/involvement with the standing order of pharmacist dispensing, maybe Laurie? I just don't know who was involved in this and where we could find the answers quickly.

Hi Marc,

Thanks for reaching out to ASTHO on this. I am the Family and Child Health Senior Director, and ASTHO's lead on contraception work with my colleagues (CCed). We are currently working on this issue with one state, and, several years ago, we worked with several states on implementing their pharmacist prescribing policies.

Implementation has been hard for all states doing this. You are not alone. This may warrant a conversation, but I don't see in the below information is reimbursement, training/credentialing, enrollment processes, pharmacies' policies, and any connection to the public health agency. For example:

- General Questions: What was the rollout process? Did Utah do a pilot in a few sites to work out kinks before rolling out?
- Billing and coding: Payment must work for the program to be successful. Is billing overly burdensome to pharmacists? Have pharmacists successfully been paid or is the payment enough to justify the time?
- Training: Pharmacist certification is a critical piece of the process. I see that Utah uses the Oregon State University comprehensive certification training. How has uptake been going? Are there any pharmacist champions that can increase interest?
  The Utah Pharmacy Association annual meeting is at the end of the month. It looks like April 29 has a 1-hour refresh session on pharmacist prescribing. Is the health department in contact with the Pharmacy Association? This may be a ripe space for engaging folks who are early adopters and can bring on others. It would be helpful to see how the session is attended and the questions people are asking.
- What is the health agency's role in pharmacy prescribing?

There are other considerations as well, but these are some good starting ones. Our team is happy to speak with you or connect you with other states that have done this.

~Ellen

Thank you Maggie and others. Utah's laws have been on the books for a few years but pharmacists have seen participation as so burdensome that hardly any are willing to participate. Hoping to find examples in other states where the barriers to participation (for both pharmacists and women) is limited (or even non-existent).

I've already reached out to Laurie this morning, I've given her the background and sent her the questions that ASTHO posed. She's going to take a look at the documents and the questions and get back to me. I thought it might be good to have her look at everything we're proposing and get her thoughts but I told her that in particular we need some background on the standing order. Thanks! kb

Thank you Maggie and others. Utah's laws have been on the books for a few years but pharmacists have seen participation as so burdensome that hardly any are willing to participate. Hoping to find examples in other states where the barriers to participation (for both pharmacists and women) is limited (or even non-existent).

Good afternoon everyone,

ASTHO is working with leaders from the National Family Planning & Reproductive Health Association to provide legislative liaisons and public health attorneys from jurisdictions with Roe abortion restrictions and trigger laws information to help protect access to contraceptives and other forms of reproductive healthcare. During this meeting, representatives from NFPRHA will provide insights from a leading family planning physician and one of NFPHRA's policy experts.

An agenda and call coordinates will be sent once the meeting time is confirmed.

Thanks!

Hi Marc,

When you say more time is needed to study cost sharing options, what exactly do you mean? Do you plan to study the issue more? Will you only study more if the subcommittee requests it? How much time and effort would be required to do more study and come to a clearer conclusion? Thanks for the attached report.

Sean, Russell, and Kimberly -

Please see the attached report from DHHS that was due to SSA by August 1, 2022:

- Net impact to the Spinal Cord and Brain Injury Rehabilitation Fund of implementing cost sharing

The Department has one other report due to SSA in the coming days that is still being finalized:

- Cost to implement a statewide support program, that would qualify for expenditures from the Opioid Litigation Settlement Restricted Account, for pregnant women with substance use disorder to receive various services (August 10)

Please let us know if you have any questions.

Hi Marc – Please help with the follow up questions on the attached concurrent prescription report below by the end of Wednesday, August 10th. Thanks for your work o report.

1. 2022 had 1,609 Medicaid clients taking both opioids and benzodiazepines. Statistically speaking how many of these clients will have adverse effects (hospital vis and death)?
2. Does the Department feel like there is nothing more that should be done to reduce the concurrent prescribing rate of opioids and benzodiazepines?
3. Some of the text in the table on page four is cut off as shown in the picture below. Could you please update and resubmit?

Hi Marc,

I would be happy to chat with someone rather than have a written response to the questions below if that is easier. Please provide a response by noon on Thursday, Augu 10th.

1. Where in the report do you analyze Medicaid claim data for two or more concurrent antipsychotic medications?
    a. I only see an analysis of diagnosis codes accompanying antipsychotic medications and a general discussion of prescribing guidelines.

Sean, Russell, and Kimberly -

Please see the attached reports from DHHS due to SSA by August 1, 2022:

- Antipsychotic Use in Serious Mental Illness
- Concurrent Prescriptions for Opioid and Benzodiazepines
- Urine Drug Testing Report

The Department has two other reports due to SSA in the coming days that are still being finalized:

- Net impact to the Spinal Cord and Brain Injury Rehabilitation Fund of implementing cost sharing (August 1)
- Cost to implement a statewide support program, that would qualify for expenditures from the Opioid Litigation Settlement Restricted Account, for pregnant women with substance use disorder to receive various services (August 10)

Please let us know if you have any questions.

Russell -

Jennifer Strohecker is working on a response to your questions on the Medicaid-related reports.

You mentioned August 10th in both of your emails, referencing one to Wednesday and another to Thursday. Could you clarify when you are hoping to have a response?

Hi Marc,

I would be happy to chat with someone rather than have a written response to the questions below if that is easier. Please provide a response by noon on Thursday, August 10th.

1. Where in the report do you analyze Medicaid claim data for two or more concurrent antipsychotic medications?
    a. I only see an analysis of diagnosis codes accompanying antipsychotic medications and a general discussion of prescribing guidelines.

SUBJECT: FEEDBACK NEEDED: Response to LFA Questions regarding LegislativeRequired Reports for SSA - August 1, 2022
FROM: "Marc Watterson (DHHS)" <mwatterson@utah.gov>
TO: "Janae Duncan (DHHS)" <janaeduncan@utah.gov>, "Anna Fondario (DHHS)" <afondario@utah.gov>
CC: "Shari Watkins (DHHS)" <swatkins@utah.gov>, DHHS_EDO <dhhsedo@utah.gov>, Traci Barney <tabarney@utah.gov>, Teresa Brechlin <tbrechlin@utah.gov>

Taking responses from Janae and Anna (as well as IM's) I've put together the following proposed response. OFO has typically taken the lead on responses to LFA Staff so perhaps this is a bit more pointed than a normal response (especially the last paragraph), so you all might want to weigh in on this before we send our official response back...

It is the Department's understanding that cost sharing means:

- "The share of costs covered by your insurance that you pay out of your own pocket. This term generally includes deductibles, coinsurance, and copayments, or similar charges, but it doesn't include premiums, balance billing amounts for non-network providers, or the cost of non-covered services." (Glossary, HealthCare.gov)

With that understanding, because the SCI / BI Rehabilitation Fund in Utah is a payor of last resort, we view the State as already participating in a cost-sharing program. Participants of the SCI / BI Rehabilitation Fund exhaust all cost-sharing options prior to application for the SCI / BI Rehabilitation Funds. As a result, the data elements (unsure what we are referring to here) weren't historically tracked so it is difficult to determine the net impact of these cost-sharing efforts. If the subcommittee intends to look at the impact of the cost-sharing efforts over time, rather than the one-year provided, we will study the issue more. We have built in more measures to look at this over time, so a few years of collecting data would be helpful.

To make sure we are on the same page, could you share with us what the legislature considers to be Cost Sharing? It will be helpful for us all to work from the same definition and understanding of what would or would not constitute cost-sharing under this specific circumstance (SCI / BI Rehabilitation Fund). Is the legislature suggesting that the account be changed to start allowing people who can pay to have preference to the Fund as a potential means of allowing more insured persons to receive rehabilitation services? What effect would this have on those who are least able to pay into the system? Would this not preclude many of them from receiving services as more funds are used to help those with some ability to pay (i.e "cost sharing")?

Overall, the response looks good to me. Adding how we are defining cost-sharing is very helpful context and, hindsight being 20/20, would have been good to add to the report, itself.

I do have a couple of minor edits & thoughts on the last paragraph for your thoughts:

Hi Marc – Please help with the follow up questions on the attached concurrent prescription report below by the end of Wednesday, August 10th. Thanks for your work on the report.

1. 2022 had 1,609 Medicaid clients taking both opioids and benzodiazepines. Statistically speaking how many of these clients will have adverse effects (hospital visits and death)?
2. Does the Department feel like there is nothing more that should be done to reduce the concurrent prescribing rate of opioids and benzodiazepines?

Sean, Russell, and Kimberly -

Please see the attached reports from DHHS due to SSA by August 1, 2022:

- Antipsychotic Use in Serious Mental Illness
- Concurrent Prescriptions for Opioid and Benzodiazepines
- Urine Drug Testing Report

The Department has two other reports due to SSA in the coming days that are still being finalized:

- Net impact to the Spinal Cord and Brain Injury Rehabilitation Fund of implementing cost sharing (August 1)
- Cost to implement a statewide support program, that would qualify for expenditures from the Opioid Litigation Settlement Restricted Account, for pregnant women with substance use disorder to receive various services (August 10)

Taking responses from Janae and Anna (as well as IM's) I've put together the following proposed response. OFO has typically taken the lead on responses to LFA Staff so perhaps this is a bit more pointed than a normal response (especially the last paragraph), so you all might want to weigh in on this before we send our official response back...

It is the Department's understanding that cost sharing means:

- "The share of costs covered by your insurance that you pay out of your own pocket. This term generally includes deductibles, coinsurance, and copayments, or similar charges, but it doesn't include premiums, balance billing amounts for non-network providers, or the cost of non-covered services." (Glossary, HealthCare.gov)

With that understanding, because the SCI / BI Rehabilitation Fund in Utah is a payor of last resort, we view the State as already participating in a cost-sharing program. Participants of the SCI / BI Rehabilitation Fund exhaust all cost-sharing options prior to application for the SCI / BI Rehabilitation Funds. As a result, the data elements (unsure what we are referring to here) weren't historically tracked so it is difficult to determine the net impact of these cost-sharing efforts. If the subcommittee intends to look at the impact of the cost-sharing efforts over time, rather than the one-year provided, we will study the issue more. We have built in more measures to look at this over time, so a few years of collecting data would be helpful.

To make sure we are on the same page, could you share with us what the legislature considers to be Cost Sharing? It will be helpful for us all to work from the same definition and understanding of what would or would not constitute cost-sharing under this specific circumstance (SCI / BI Rehabilitation Fund). Is the legislature suggesting that the account be changed to start allowing people who can pay to have preference to the Fund as a potential means of allowing more insured persons to receive rehabilitation services? What effect would this have on those who are least able to pay into the system? Would this not preclude many of them from receiving services as more funds are used to help those with some ability to pay (i.e "cost sharing")?

Taking responses from Janae and Anna (as well as IM's) I've put together the following proposed response. OFO has typically taken the lead on responses to LFA Staff so perhaps this is a bit more pointed than a normal response (especially the last paragraph), so you all might want to weigh in on this before we send our official response back...

It is the Department's understanding that cost sharing means:

- "The share of costs covered by your insurance that you pay out of your own pocket. This term generally includes deductibles, coinsurance, and copayments, or similar charges, but it doesn't include premiums, balance billing amounts for non-network providers, or the cost of non-covered services." (Glossary, HealthCare.gov)

With that understanding, because the SCI / BI Rehabilitation Fund in Utah is a payor of last resort, we view the State as already participating in a cost-sharing program. Participants of the SCI / BI Rehabilitation Fund exhaust all cost-sharing options prior to application for the SCI / BI Rehabilitation Funds. As a result, the data elements (unsure what we are referring to here) weren't historically tracked so it is difficult to determine the net impact of these cost-sharing efforts. If the subcommittee intends to look at the impact of the cost-sharing efforts over time, rather than the one-year provided, we will study the issue more. We have built in more measures to look at this over time, so a few years of collecting data would be helpful.

To make sure we are on the same page, could you share with us what the legislature considers to be Cost Sharing? It will be helpful for us all to work from the same definition and understanding of what would or would not constitute cost-sharing under this specific circumstance (SCI / BI Rehabilitation Fund). Is the legislature suggesting that the account be changed to start allowing people who can pay to have preference to the Fund as a potential means of allowing more insured persons to receive rehabilitation services? What effect would this have on those who are least able to pay into the system? Would this not preclude many of them from receiving services as more funds are used to help those with some ability to pay (i.e "cost sharing")?

Hi Marc,

My original question was just to clarify what you said about in the cost sharing report about needing more time. You stated: “Do you know if the legislature is interested exploring the program allowing people who can pay to have preference to the Fund as a potential means of allowing more insured persons to receive rehabilitation servi Would the legislature like to study what effect this would have on those who are least able to pay into the system and on those currently receiving services under the pay of last resort policy?” I had originally thought that this was what we were going to answer with this report. We can see next week at the Social Services meeting if there any more interest in more study. Thanks for your time.

Hello Russell,
the Medicaid report on Antipsychotic Medications was written in response to a report published by the Office of Health Care Statistics on October 31, 2021, presented May 18, 2022 to the Health and Human Services Interim Committee and at the direction of the Legislature. (See: https://health.utah.gov/wp-content/uploads/UDOH-OHCS-Waste-Calculator-Report-FINAL-10.31.21.pdf)
In response to your question: I did update the Antipsychotic Medications report to include a hyperlink to this original report published by the Office of Health Care Statistics. In this report, the Office of Health Care Statistics reports their outcomes of using the health waste calculator to identify potentially wasteful healthcare expenditures, specifically noting their findings around 2 or more antipsychotic medications. The Department did not do any additional analysis on the claims data on use of 2 or more antipsychotic medications. I hope this answers your question.

See updated report attached.

Please let me know if you have any questions.
Thanks,
jen

Hi Marc,

I would be happy to chat with someone rather than have a written response to the questions below if that is easier. Please provide a response by noon on Thursday, August 10th.

1. Where in the report do you analyze Medicaid claim data for two or more concurrent antipsychotic medications?
    a. I only see an analysis of diagnosis codes accompanying antipsychotic medications and a general discussion of prescribing guidelines.

Hi Marc,
I realized I responded to Russell directly on the AP email but thought I'd share my responses with you and others on this one so you could weigh in on my response, if desired.

1. 2022 had 1,609 Medicaid clients taking both opioids and benzodiazepines. Statistically speaking how many of these clients will have adverse effects (hospital visits and death)?

Response:
Below are two citations which address rates of harm/death from concurrent opioid and benzodiazepine use.
This data is presented in addition to the statistic presented in the report that showed the death rate from combined opioid and benzodiazepine use was 10 times higher than that with opioids alone. (See: https://academic.oup.com/painmedicine/article/17/1/85/1752837

-The CDC published a report on opioid/benzo hospitalizations and death. From this, "Benzodiazepines were involved in 6,982 (16.8%) of 41,496 overdose deaths during January 2019 - June 2020 reported by 23 states, with opioids involved in 6,384 (91.4%) benzodiazepine deaths."
See: https://www.cdc.gov/mmwr/volumes/70/wr/mm7034a2.htm#:~:text=Benzodiazepines%20were%20involved%20in%206%2C982,6%2C384%20%2891.4%25%29%20benzodiazepine%20deaths

-A study published in the British Medical Journal found the following among 315,428 privately insured people aged 18-64 who filled at least one prescription for an opioid. Findings: Compared with opioid users who did not use benzodiazepines, concurrent use of both drugs was associated w/ an increased risk of ER visit or inpatient admission for opioid overdose...elimination of concurrent opioid and benzodiazepine use would reduce ER visits and inpatient admissions for opioid overdose by 15%. (see: https://www.bmj.com/content/356/bmj.j760)

2. Does the Department feel like there is nothing more that should be done to reduce the concurrent prescribing rate of opioids and benzodiazepines?

Response: The Department does believe that state mandated prescriber requirements when co-prescribing opioids and benzodiazepines would have a great impact, statewide, on reducing rates of opioid and benzodiazepine related harm. These provider requirements may include: checking the controlled substance database, documentation of counseling for risks of respiratory depression, prescribing of naloxone, coordinating with other prescribers, and documented attempts at deescalation / deprescribing of either the opioid or benzodiazepine. These are not Medicaid driven recommendations, but must be implemented statewide to change the provider responsibility when prescribing and managing individuals who receive both opioids and benzodiazepines.

Sean, Russell, and Kimberly -

Please see the attached reports from DHHS due to SSA by August 1, 2022:

- Antipsychotic Use in Serious Mental Illness
- Concurrent Prescriptions for Opioid and Benzodiazepines
- Urine Drug Testing Report

The Department has two other reports due to SSA in the coming days that are still being finalized:

- Net impact to the Spinal Cord and Brain Injury Rehabilitation Fund of implementing cost sharing (August 1)
- Cost to implement a statewide support program, that would qualify for expenditures from the Opioid Litigation Settlement Restricted Account, for pregnant women with substance use disorder to receive various services (August 10)

Please let us know if you have any questions.

Hi Marc,
I realized I responded to Russell directly on the AP email but thought I'd share my responses with you and others on this one so you could weigh in on my response, if desired.

1. 2022 had 1,609 Medicaid clients taking both opioids and benzodiazepines. Statistically speaking how many of these clients will have adverse effects (hospital visits and death)?

Response:
Below are two citations which address rates of harm/death from concurrent opioid and benzodiazepine use.
This data is presented in addition to the statistic presented in the report that showed the death rate from combined opioid and benzodiazepine use was 10 times higher than that with opioids alone. (See: https://academic.oup.com/painmedicine/article/17/1/85/1752837

-The CDC published a report on opioid/benzo hospitalizations and death. From this, "Benzodiazepines were involved in 6,982 (16.8%) of 41,496 overdose deaths during January 2019 - June 2020 reported by 23 states, with opioids involved in 6,384 (91.4%) benzodiazepine deaths."
See: https://www.cdc.gov/mmwr/volumes/70/wr/mm7034a2.htm#:~:text=Benzodiazepines%20were%20involved%20in%206%2C982,6%2C384%20%2891.4%25%29%20benzodiazepine%20deaths

-A study published in the British Medical Journal found the following among 315,428 privately insured people aged 18-64 who filled at least one prescription for an opioid. Findings: Compared with opioid users who did not use benzodiazepines, concurrent use of both drugs was associated w/ an increased risk of ER visit or inpatient admission for opioid overdose...elimination of concurrent opioid and benzodiazepine use would reduce ER visits and inpatient admissions for opioid overdose by 15%. (see: https://www.bmj.com/content/356/bmj.j760)

2. Does the Department feel like there is nothing more that should be done to reduce the concurrent prescribing rate of opioids and benzodiazepines?

Response: The Department does believe that state mandated prescriber requirements when co-prescribing opioids and benzodiazepines would have a great impact, statewide, on reducing rates of opioid and benzodiazepine related harm. These provider requirements may include: checking the controlled substance database, documentation of counseling for risks of respiratory depression, prescribing of naloxone, coordinating with other prescribers, and documented attempts at deescalation / deprescribing of either the opioid or benzodiazepine. These are not Medicaid driven recommendations, but must be implemented statewide to change the provider responsibility when prescribing and managing individuals who receive both opioids and benzodiazepines.

I hope you are well.
Please see below for responses to your questions on concurrent opioids and benzodiazepines. Additionally, see the updated report (attached). Please let me know if you have any additional questions.

These are not Medicaid driven recommendations, but must be implemented statewide to change the provider responsibility when prescribing and managing individuals who receive both opioids and benzodiazepines. The Department would be happy to meet with Legislators to discuss this and other ideas to promote clinically appropriate and safe prescribing of these medications.

Eric Tadehara (DHHS) Brent Kelsey DHS Tonya Hales (DHHS) Nate Checketts (DHHS) have joined the conversation, `2022-08-15 09:50:37`

Marc Watterson (DHHS), `2022-08-15 09:51:18`

Brent and Eric - unless I missed them somewhere I cannot find slides to send to SSA for the follwoing items:

Marc Watterson (DHHS), `2022-08-15 09:51:34`

*Opioid Settlement Fund Recommendations from Social Services

Marc Watterson (DHHS), `2022-08-15 09:51:49`

*Mental Health and Youth in Rural Utah, What Programs and Funding Exist for Them? Ages 3-21

Marc Watterson (DHHS), `2022-08-15 09:52:32`

My notes indicate that you had hoped to prepare 3-4 slides each to help with the discussion for the two items

Eric Tadehara (DHHS), `2022-08-15 09:56:20`

ooops, i will share

Eric Tadehara (DHHS), `2022-08-15 09:56:22`

i thought i didd

Marc Watterson (DHHS), `2022-08-15 10:08:09`

Please send over ASAP. LFA is waiting for us to send over all materials. Thanks!

Marc Watterson (DHHS), `2022-08-15 10:08:38`

I have the one for "Pregnant Women with SUD", just not the other two.

Nate Checketts (DHHS), `2022-08-15 10:20:29`

Eric, can you reshare those slides with me? I have not looked at them yet.

Eric Tadehara (DHHS), `2022-08-15 11:01:29`

[redacted]

i've been trying to share them and it's not working. let me know if this work: [redacted]

Eric Tadehara (DHHS), 2022-08-15 11:02:25

i had to makee a new copy, i hope this one works, i was getting a corrupted file error before

Marc Watterson (DHHS), 2022-08-15 11:03:30

Yes, I am able to access the Rural Mental Health slides you just shared

Eric Tadehara (DHHS), 2022-08-15 11:04:58

thanks, brett peterson asked me to put the slides 4/5 for JJYS

Marc Watterson (DHHS), 2022-08-15 11:07:25

Eric, any update on the slides for:
*Opioid Settlement Fund Recommendations from Social Services

Brent Kelsey DHS, 2022-08-15 11:09:54

Because we are not actually presenting, i am not sure where this discussion will go. We have our previous slide decks that contain our previous recommendations. Not sure sending slides in response to questions we don’t know is the best strategy

Marc Watterson (DHHS), 2022-08-15 11:15:14

This is what is the notes for this agenda item from LFA:

Marc Watterson (DHHS), 2022-08-15 11:15:16

Need specific recommendations with funding amounts. What is the process to propose funding requests from this funding source?

Brent Kelsey DHS, 2022-08-15 11:16:17

I thought we were told at the legislative prep meeting that this agenda item had changed and that Russell was now presenting?

Marc Watterson (DHHS), 2022-08-15 11:16:43

You are correct

Brent Kelsey DHS, 2022-08-15 11:17:01

Do we know what he is presenting?

Marc Watterson (DHHS), 2022-08-15 11:40:06

I have messaged him and asked.

Marc Watterson (DHHS), 2022-08-15 11:40:09

We'll just need Nate to review the Rural Mental Health

Brent Kelsey DHS, 2022-08-15 11:40:44

Thanks.

Marc Watterson (DHHS), 2022-08-15 12:09:12

No need for slides for Opioid Settlement

Marc Watterson (DHHS), 2022-08-15 12:10:33

"DHHS just should be available for questions. I will prepare a summary of the task force recommendations provided in June (posted online as 4a under afternoon meeting"

Marc and Paul,

The following agendas and outlines for September and October are based on direction from the committee chairs but are still subject to final approval. However, we don't expect an significant modifications.

We've listed DHHS as a presenter in several cases, with the hope the department will be available. As usual, where the department is not listed as a presenter, it would still be much appreciated if individuals with relevant expertise were on hand to address questions that may come up (e.g., with respect to Rep. Lesser's two Medicaid coverage bills — Item 7 in September).

The October will likely have other items added to the end of the agenda, perhaps addressing healthcare reform.

Seth will get with you to discuss in more detail what the chairs are hoping to accomplish with Agenda Item 2, Site Visit to Tooele Human Services – Follow-Up. He or I will also get with about Item 8, Medicaid – Mental Healthcare for Adults.

SEPTEMBER

Marc and Paul,

The following agendas and outlines for September and October are based on direction from the committee chairs but are still subject to final approval. However, we don't expect any significant modifications.

We've listed DHHS as a presenter in several cases, with the hope the department will be available. As usual, where the department is not listed as a presenter, it would still be much appreciated if individuals with relevant expertise were on hand to address questions that may come up (e.g., with respect to Rep. Lesser's two Medicaid coverage bills — Item 7 in September).

The October will likely have other items added to the end of the agenda, perhaps addressing healthcare reform.

Seth will get with you to discuss in more detail what the chairs are hoping to accomplish with Agenda Item 2, Site Visit to Tooele Human Services – Follow-Up. He or I will also get with you about Item 8, Medicaid – Mental Healthcare for Adults.

Marc Watterson (DHHS) Paul Ray (DHHS) have joined the conversation, 2022-09-13 10:29:30

Jennifer Strohecker (DHHS), 2022-09-13 10:29:37

hi Marc and Paul- hello!

Jennifer Strohecker (DHHS), 2022-09-13 10:30:07

i am reviewing the interim meeting agenda for next Wed and have some questions on the Prescription Drugs and also Pregnancy Postpartum Coverage.

Jennifer Strohecker (DHHS), 2022-09-13 10:30:25

Can you share what we have with Healthcare Reform - Prescription Drugs and if that is something I need to present on?

Jennifer Strohecker (DHHS), 2022-09-13 10:30:48

Also..what are you looking for on the pregnancy postpartum coverage?

Marc Watterson (DHHS), 2022-09-13 11:01:51

On the pregnancy piece, a lawmaker is simply presenting their bill. We should have someone there to help answer questions if they are directed to the Department. But no need for us to prepare a presentation.

Marc Watterson (DHHS), 2022-09-13 11:02:47

The prescription drugs piece is similar. A lawmaker will be bringing up and discussing the issue. We just need a staff member present who can help answer questions.

Jennifer Strohecker (DHHS), 2022-09-13 11:06:06

Jennifer Strohecker (DHHS), 2022-09-13 11:06:07

thank you

Jennifer Strohecker (DHHS), 2022-09-13 11:06:19

can i be present virtually? I am out of town at a conference

Marc Watterson (DHHS), 2022-09-13 11:06:26

If you go online you'll actually see that they have draft legislation prepared for those two topics. If SME staff can read through those and either summarize feedback or be ready to discuss that would be perfect.

Marc Watterson (DHHS), 2022-09-13 11:06:28

Marc Watterson (DHHS), 2022-09-13 11:06:38

Yes, virtual will be just fine

Jennifer Strohecker (DHHS), 2022-09-13 11:06:50

great,,,,,That is good thank you

Paul Ray (DHHS), 2022-09-13 11:06:54

The pregnancy bill is from Rep. Lesser wanting a Medicaid waiver to extend Medicaid benefits to 200% FPL for new mothers for postpartum coverage. (2022 HB220)

Marc Watterson (DHHS), 2022-09-13 11:07:47

I've already communicated to Eric and Brent but you might want to follow up with them on the Receiving Centers piece. They need to have a presentation prepared for that.

Marc Watterson (DHHS), 2022-09-13 11:08:28

Jennifer Strohecker (DHHS), 2022-09-13 11:50:06

yes thank yoU!

Paul Ray (DHHS), 2022-09-13 13:52:01

The prescription bill is Rep. Wards. It's the PEHP discount program for insulin and EpiPens.

Jennifer Strohecker (DHHS), 2022-09-13 13:54:06

Ok so do I need to be present for that?

Paul Ray (DHHS), 2022-09-13 13:55:10

I wouldn't think so.

Jennifer Strohecker (DHHS), 2022-09-13 13:56:00

Not necessarily present- but it’s not Medicaid.
Thank you

Paul Ray (DHHS), 2022-09-13 13:56:56

Definitely not Medicaid!!

Jennifer Strohecker (DHHS), 2022-09-13 14:05:28

thank you.

- For those reports that do not have a google doc included, these reports are due to EDO no later than this FRIDAY, September 23 (to give EDO at least one week for review).

As a reminder, these reports are legislatively required. Some of them are recurring reports that have individual citations in code. Other reports are required as intent language passed in various budget bills this year.

If you feel you were incorrectly identified as being responsible for the report, please send a message to me, your ELT-level supervisor, and the staff member you feel should be responsible.

Please make these a priority so we can meet these legislative deadlines.

EDO -

Below is a table of the latest batch of Legislative Required Reports. Please conclude your review by COB next Friday (September 30th) so I can turn them into the legislature on time.

We are still waiting for the links to three reports. I have Cc'd those staff and their immediate supervisors so they can reply to this thread with those links once they are ready for EDO review. The three reports are:

- The Legislature intends that the Department of Health and Human Services report by October 1, 2022 to the Social Services Appropriations Subcommittee on the cost and likely impact of suggested interventions to reduce the number of sudden unexplained infant deaths.
- The Legislature intends that the Department of Health and Human Services report by October 1, 2022 to the Social Services Appropriations Subcommittee on options to expand Medicaid Graduate Medical Education funding by reviewing what other states have done on: (1) How many settings in Utah other than hospital settings that could be eligible?, (2) What new providers of third party match not currently participating could qualify?, (3) Estimates of costs for new match money where General Fund match would be required and options for related programs where match might be transferred, and (4) interest of new third party match providers in participating.
- Violent incidents and fatalities involving substance abuse; drug overdose deaths; and recommendations for prevention

SUID Legislative Report

[redacted]

Violent incidents and fatalities involving substance abuse; drug overdose deaths; and recommendations for prevention
The legislative report under 26-7-14 is required every other year starting in 2021. The last report was for 2021 so the next report is not due until 2023. Additionally, there is no new information to provide from the last report. I have attached the report that was submitted last year, below.

It's Friday and we are a mere 6 months from Christmas Eve. You're welcome.

Today is also National Food Truck Day, a great choice for date night.

Be in the Know

- The Supreme Court ruled 6-3 on Thursday that New York's concealed carry licensing regime, a century-old law which requires anyone who wants to carry a concealed handgun outside his home to demonstrate a special need for self-defense, is unconstitutional and violates citizens' Second Amendment rights.
- The Supreme Court also ruled 6-3 on Thursday that citizens cannot file a civil action lawsuit and seek damages under U.S. Code Section 1983 in the event a police officer fails to inform them of their Miranda rights.

Rapid Roundup

- This weekend's air show at Hill Air Force Base is expected to draw 500,000+ people, 5703 designs were submitted as Utah searches for a new flag, fireworks restrictions are in place as we heard towards July, and Rudy Gobert scrubs the Utah Jazz from his Instagram page 😟

Owens backs bipartisan, bicameral agreement to extend school and summer meals for kids

Rep. Burgess Owens (UT-04), Ranking Member of the Subcommittee on Early Childhood, Elementary, and Secondary Education, co-sponsored the Keep Kids Fed Act, legislation to help schools weather learning disruptions, supply chain challenges, and four-decade high inflation through targeted and temporary aid. (Read More)

Senate passes Romney-backed bipartisan Safer Communities Act

By a vote of 65-33, the Senate passed the Bipartisan Safer Communities Act —legislation to bolster public safety and prevent tragedies before they occur, including through substantial investments in mental health, school safety, and state-led crisis intervention programs. U.S. Senator Mitt Romney (R-UT) was part of a bipartisan group of 20 members to sign on to the proposal on June 12. The legislation now goes to the House of Representatives for consideration. Congressman Blake Moore's provisions included in the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2023

Early Thursday morning, the House Armed Services Committee (HASC) passed the National Defense Authorization Act (NDAA) for Fiscal Year 2023, and Congressman Blake Moore fought to successfully include many sponsored provisions in the passed legislation.

"During a time of economic uncertainty and global geopolitical instability, the House Armed Services Committee carefully put together a defense authorization bill that will improve our defense systems and the lives of our servicemembers," said Congressman Blake Moore. (Read More)

Senate passes Lee's FORMULA Act

The US Senate unanimously passed a modified version of the Fixing Our Regulatory Mayhem Upsetting Little Americans (FORMULA) Act introduced by Sen. Mike Lee (R-UT). The FORMULA Act was created to combat domestic baby formula shortages and bolster the supply chain to help American families feed their babies. Recent shortages come in the immediate aftermath of a recall and temporary closure of a major American formula factory, but highlight systemic weaknesses in this vital supply chain. Due to the disruption, families in Utah and across the nation are struggling to feed their babies. This modified version of Lee's FORMULA Act will lift substantial tariffs on the importation of baby formula and reduce the costs borne by retailers trying to keep their shelves stocked. Good Morning ELT,

We've heard concerns around safety at some of our DHHS locations, especially in light of the SCOTUS decision around Roe V. Wade. Please know that we have connected with the Department of Public Safety on these concerns. The intelligence that DPS has gathered indicates that any activity around this decision is looking to be held at the capitol. If they get word of a change they will let us know. Also, if we see anything, please let Tyson Walker know immediately. He has a direct connection with DPS to get a team sent to our facilities for security. Additionally, we've let our security companies know to be aware of anything unusual and to report.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Thanks,

Nate

SUBJECT: Fireworks, spotlighting service, and more
FROM: Office of Gov. Spencer Cox <govcomm@utah.gov>

Happy Friday from #OneUtah, a weekly update from the office of Gov. Spencer J. Cox. Here's your recap of what we did this week, what's on the horizon, and more. Reply to this email with any questions or suggestions regarding the newsletter. And thank you for subscribing!

Vote!

We encourage every eligible voter to cast their ballot in the Tuesday, June 28 primary election. Your vote is your voice. So please vote and help us shape our great state. If you have any questions, visit vote.utah.gov.

Fireworks safety

We met with firefighters and local officials to encourage Fire Sense as we head into fireworks season. Current drought conditions have made Utah a tinderbox and fire danger is extremely high statewide. In fact, 100% of the state is in drought and 83% of the state is in extreme drought or worse.

Firework sales begin today. If you choose to use fireworks this summer, please be smart and safe about it. Remember:

- Only use fireworks only during legal times and designated holidays.
- Keep a fire extinguisher and water nearby.
- Use fireworks away from dry grass — and never use them on state and federal lands, and all private lands outside cities and towns; and.
- Use extreme caution when lighting aerial fireworks.

You can always find the latest on fireworks safety and local restrictions at firemarshal.utah.gov/department-services/fireworks/.

We know that wildfires from fireworks are preventable. Last year, Utahns used good Fire Sense and cut human-caused wildfires by 51% — that's more than 500 fires that never started. As we gear up for summer celebrations, let's all stay vigilant and use good Fire Sense.

The Supreme Court's ruling

This administration has been dedicated to giving a voice to the most vulnerable in our society, including the unborn. We wholeheartedly support today's Supreme Court ruling and are encouraged to see abortion law will be left to elected state representatives.

As pro-life advocates, this administration is equally committed to supporting women and families in Utah. We all need to do more to support mothers, pregnant women, and children facing poverty and trauma.

Working together to keep Americans safe

We're heartbroken by recent gun violence, and we are committed to helping make a change.

We're proud to join a bipartisan group of governors who are coming together to make recommendations and identify solutions that give state and local leaders effective tools designed to stop mass shootings and instill confidence in our communities and schools.

Every state is unique, but we can all agree that there are common sense ways to keep our schools and communities safe in a manner consistent with the demands of the American people. Stay tuned for updates.

Recognizing Utah's Spirit of Service

Like so many Utahns, we know how important it is to give back, which is why we're thrilled to introduce the awardees of the inaugural Governor's Spirit of Service Awards. Out of more than 100 nominations, this year we honored:

- Cristina Diaz de Leon, who created Rancho Market COVID-19 vaccine clinics, advanced inclusion and cultural celebrations, empowered youth, led out on service projects, and strongly believed in "meeting people where they are". Unfortunately, she passed away from lung cancer on Jan. 22, 2022, and her family accepted the award in her honor.
- Artes de México en Utah, which creates cultural awareness, provides diverse perspectives, builds understanding and cross-cultural competence, helps the Latino-Hispanic youth connect with their roots and be proud of their multicultural heritage.

- The Little Lambs Foundation for Kids, which provides comfort kits for children placed into foster care, emergency shelters, and escaping domestic violence, Northern Utah's only direct service diaper bank, has distributed over 1.75 million diapers to Utah families.

Opening Utah’s new state corrections facility

This week marked a big moment for the Department of Corrections and Utah as we celebrated the largest construction project in our state’s history: We officially cut the ribbon at the new Utah State Correctional Facility. We're proud of this effort to provide a safe and secure facility that's also conducive to recovery and rehabilitation.

What makes this building different? There's increased programming space for education, vocational training, and treatment; greater access to medical care and resources; and improved working environments for staff.

We applaud the individuals who have dedicated more than five years to this project: Jerry Jensen; Bryan Taylor; Capt. Matthew Coates; Lt. Bisera Habibija;

Lt. Michael Millward; Elizabeth Brown; Steven Turley; and Mike Ambre.

We'd also like to thank the dedicated Department of Corrections staff. Corrections is not an easy career. It can be dangerous and thankless — and it can mean long hours. But it's a vital part of keeping us all safe. Inmates will be moving to the new facility from the Draper prison site in the coming weeks.

CDC authorizes COVID vaccines for children

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention issued recommendations for vaccinating children 5 years of age and younger against COVID-19, which clears the way for the nearly 241,000 Utah children to get vaccinated!

Additionally, the FDA has authorized both the Pfizer and Moderna mRNA vaccines for use with all ages (6 months and older) eligible for COVID-19 vaccinations. Previously, only the Pfizer vaccine was available for children younger than 18.

Vaccines for this youngest age group are on the way. According to the Utah Department of Health and Human Services, providers have already ordered 32,300 doses of the vaccines.

Providers such as local health departments, select pharmacies, and doctor's offices are offering vaccinations to the youngest Utahns over the next several days to weeks. For more information visit www.coronavirus.utah.gov/vaccine/ or call the COVID-19 hotline at 1-800-456-7707.

Good government in action

The town of Lynndyl in Millard County now has water, thanks to the quick action of state and local officials. Lynndyl has two wells powered by pumps. The state allocated $1.75 million to help the town build new drinking water infrastructure, but before that could happen, the pumps failed yesterday afternoon. The water shortage was not due to drought.

When the Department of Environmental Quality and Department of Public Safety got word, they reached out to work with Lynndyl and Delta City officials to expedite hauling water into the town and to see if the pumps could be fixed.

By 9 p.m., water was on the way with LiquaDry from the neighboring town of Abraham hauling water to Lynndyl. DEQ helped install a new pump and ensured the water was safe to drink.

In the meantime, the Governor's Office of Economic Opportunity is working with Millard County to secure $113,000 in emergency funds to keep the water flowing until the grant money comes through.

"After talking with Gov. Cox last night, everything ran more smoothly," Lynndyl Mayor Briar Proctor said. "A huge thank you to the surrounding cities, the state and everyone who helped us. It's been an overwhelming amount of help."

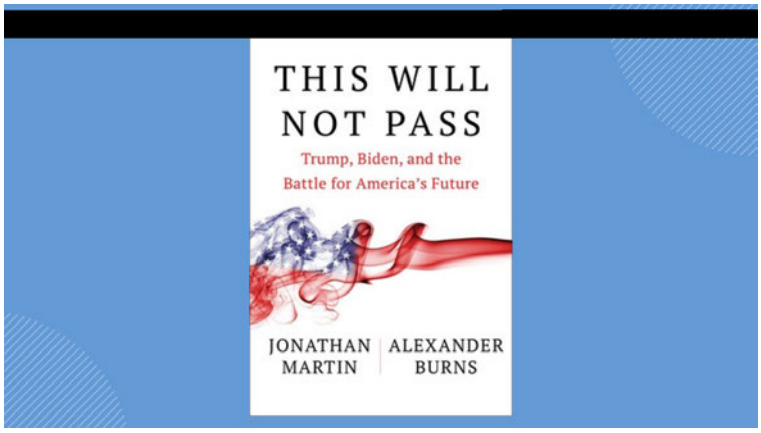
We're grateful to DEQ, DPS, Go Utah, Delta City, Lynndyl City, LiquaDry and Millard County for coordinating so quickly and efficiently to make sure this town of 120 has water. This is good government in action!

State flag design preview

We're excited by the enthusiasm around a new state flag! Lt. Gov. Henderson and members of the Utah State Flag Task Force got a sneak peek of some of the 5,000 flag designs that have been submitted by the public..

Finalists were not selected at the preview event.

The new state flag aspires to reflect on Utah's past while uniting us with new symbolism and a shared identity. Learn more about the process and timeline here.



A discussion about America's future

We're looking forward to our discussion with author Jonathan Martin about his book, "This Will Not Pass."

The book explores how both of our political parties confronted a series of national traumas, including the coronavirus pandemic, the January 6 attack on the Capitol, and the political brinksmanship of President Biden's first year in the White House.

Join us for this free event at the Hinckley Institute of Politics at the University of Utah on Thursday, June 30, at 6:30 p.m. Hope to see you there!

Supporting local: Red Iguana 2

This week we were able to stop by Red Iguana 2 for a quick – and delicious — lunch. We especially loved the puntas de filete and queso.

The Cardenas family has proudly served the Salt Lake Valley since 1965, and we're sure they'll be satisfying hungry patrons for decades to come. We're always happy to see small family businesses thriving. Let us know what your favorite local restaurant is here!

Meeting with faith leaders

Faith leaders are a central part of the fabric of our community. This week we met with 31 different faith leaders from across the state of Utah.

Faith groups strengthen and illuminate our relationship with a higher power, but they also maintain cultural traditions, reinforce moral values and create community. We can't thank each of them enough for their guidance, goodness, and charity.

Roe v Wade overturned

In a 6-3 vote, the U.S. Supreme Court has overturned the 50-yr old law that legalized abortion in all 50 states, saying it was up to each state to create their own laws governing abortion.

In his concurring opinion, Justice Clarence Thomas said the court should also revisit Griswold v. Connecticut, a 1965 decision that declared married couples had a right to contraception; Lawrence v. Texas, a 2003 case invalidating sodomy laws and making same-sex sexual activity legal across the country; and Obergefell v. Hodges, the 2015 case establishing the right of gay couples to marry. Then, he said, after "overruling these demonstrably erroneous decisions, the question would remain whether other constitutional provisions" protected the rights they established.

Utah's trigger law allows abortions only if the mother's life is at risk, if the pregnancy was a result of rape or incest, or if two physicians who practice "maternal fetal medicine" both determine that the fetus "has a defect that is uniformly diagnosable and uniformly lethal or ... has a severe brain abnormality that is uniformly diagnosable." It will not go into effect until legislative general counsel certifies the Supreme Court's decision.

Statements on today's ruling

Gov. Cox and Lt. Gov. Henderson issue joint statement on U.S. Supreme Court ruling

"This administration has been dedicated to giving a voice to the most vulnerable in our society, including the unborn. We wholeheartedly support this Supreme Court ruling and are encouraged to see abortion law will be left to elected state representatives.

As pro-life advocates, this administration is equally committed to supporting women and families in Utah. We all need to do more to support mothers, pregnant women, and children facing poverty and trauma."

Sen. Romney statement on Supreme Court decision

"The sanctity of human life is a foundational American principle, and the lives of our children—both born and unborn—deserve our protection. I support the Court's decision, which means that laws regarding abortion will now rightfully be returned to the people and their elected representatives."

Senator Mike Lee's statement on Dobbs decision

"The national nightmare of Roe has ended. The Supreme Court of the United States has overturned the wrongly decided Roe v. Wade and Planned Parenthood v. Casey.

"While the 63 million lives lost to abortion since Roe can never be reclaimed, we can take heart that the Supreme Court has recognized that Roe v. Wade and its progeny belong next to Plessy v. Ferguson and Dred Scott v. Sandford in the anticanon of Supreme Court history. I have never been prouder to have clerked for Justice Alito or the Supreme Court of the United States.

"I pray for national unity and for the safety of the justices of the Supreme Court who, in regard to this case, have faced unprecedented attacks. I thank God that the people of Utah and the United States are now free to enact protections for life and human dignity."

Rep. Curtis reacts to Supreme Court ruling am proud to witness today's Supreme Court ruling in favor of human life. I welcome the overturning of Roe v. Wade and appreciate that state policy makers can now enact laws that align with their values. Personally, I believe these laws should include the preservation of life, but I also appreciate that this ruling allows elected officials, closer to the people, to draft laws that align with their state's moral views. We must, at a federal, state and local level, adopt policies that support children in foster care systems, ensure easy and affordable access to contraception, and provide robust resources for women with unplanned pregnancies,.

While I see this ruling as a cause for celebration, I am also cognizant of those who feel differently. As this difficult debate continues, I implore all Americans at all levels of government to use this opportunity to learn from one another, treat each other with compassion, and find ways to work together to solve our differences rather than push one another away.

Rep. Blake Moore on SCOTUS decision

"I am thrilled with today's Supreme Court ruling overturning Roe v. Wade. States like Utah have been given back their right to protect the lives of millions of children and support expecting mothers. This is a monumental day in our nation's history."

Alliance for a Better Utah statement on Supreme Court decision

In response to the Court's opinion, Chase Thomas, executive director for Alliance for a Better Utah, issued the following statement:

"While we were warned this was coming, the Supreme Court's unprecedented elimination of constitutional rights today is still staggering and upsetting. For nearly fifty years, Utahns and Americans have relied on the protections of Roe and Casey to make personal medical choices impacting their own lives and their families. It is alarming that these personal choices have been stripped from individuals and are now placed in the hands of our state's GOP supermajority, which has not only been hostile toward abortion access but also indifferent toward the needs and rights of women in general.

"Let's be clear. Abortion has always existed and will continue to exist, despite its legal status nationally or here in Utah. We must work to support and lift up all those who are grieving and impacted by this decision today, especially those impacted most—marginalized individuals in our communities, people of color, and those with lower-incomes.

"This is not the end. The fight for freedom is constantly shifting and evolving, but we cannot surrender. We were set back a few steps—or decades—today, but we'll continue advocating for a better future, one where every Utahn can safely and freely have access to comprehensive reproductive healthcare."

Alliance for a Better Utah will be joining with Utahns and allied organizations to rally against and protest this decision this evening at 7:00pm at the Utah State Capitol Building and invite all to join us. We also encourage Utahns to support organizations that have been and will continue to work tirelessly to support reproductive freedom for those in our communities, including Planned Parenthood, the Utah Abortion Fund, and so many others.

Utah Democratic Party statement on Supreme Court decision in Dobbs v. Jackson

This morning, the Supreme Court announced its decision in Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization. This decision, which matches a draft opinion leaked last month, has effectively overturned Roe v. Wade, invalidating the landmark decision that has made safe, legal abortion the law of the land for nearly 50 years. This ruling leaves decisions about women's reproductive freedom in the hands of state legislatures. That means that, in Utah, abortion is now essentially outlawed thanks to a bill passed by the GOP supermajority in 2020, which, when triggered by a Supreme Court decision like the one announced today, makes abortion illegal in almost all cases.

Utah Democratic Party Chair Diane Lewis released the following statement in response: "This decision is earth-shattering for women across the country, especially in states like Utah, where extremist Republicans have meticulously put in place extremely restrictive abortion bans, plotting for exactly this moment. Let's be clear: such personal and intimate decisions as the choice to have an abortion should be between a woman, her family, and her doctor, and they should not involve the agenda of radical politicians. (Read More)

Ally Isom's statement on Supreme Court decision on abortion

"There is nothing more sacred than life. As the mother of four and grandma to five, I am pro-life. I am also pro-consent, pro-family planning, pro-responsibility and pro-compassion. This is a complex subject for every woman, which is exactly why we need more women in the United States Senate. At minimum, we should do more to prevent unwanted pregnancy in the first place and the law should allow the termination of a pregnancy when a mother's health is endangered, or when a woman or child is sexually assaulted. Every pregnancy is a unique experience for that woman. We must do more to support women and children, while ensuring fathers are also involved and responsible for their children."

Tina Cannon statement on Supreme Court decision to overturn Roe v Wade

The Supreme Court Decision regarding Roe v. Wade is the news the pro-life movement has been fighting for and eagerly anticipating for nearly 50 years. This is a win for the sanctity of life. Over two dozen states will now be abortion free due to trigger laws and state constitutional laws...

This news brings great responsibility to those who stand to protect the lives of the unborn. We must fund pregnancy resource centers, we must work nonstop to help women facing an unplanned pregnancy and do not know where to turn. We must support policies to aid families, not tear them apart.... (Read More)

Sen. Dan McCay's responds to U.S. Supreme Court abortion ruling

"I'm encouraged that after nearly 50 years since the ruling of Roe v. Wade, we are finally recognizing and acknowledging the scientific facts of the matter – that a fetus is a human life. By recognizing this truth, we can take steps to overcome our nation's greatest atrocity and find better ways to support both mothers and children. Now is the time to unite to provide resources and educate about alternative options readily available, such as adoption. I remain steadfast in being unapologetically pro-life and in my support for mothers, families and children."

President Stuart Adams on US Supreme Court decision on abortion

"Today is a monumental victory for human life. Protecting those who cannot defend themselves is an obligation and duty we must all take upon ourselves. The Declaration of Independence clearly states we have a right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, a promise the U.S. Supreme Court upheld today.

“My commitment to life does not end at birth. Every mother and child, regardless of age, health or dependency, deserves protection, respect and opportunity. It is imperative that we enhance resources, including eliminating barriers surrounding adoption and financial and material support to help mothers and children.”

HHS IEA
Office of Intergovernmental and External Affairs

Dear Emma,

FACT SHEET:

President Biden Announces Actions In Light of Today's Supreme Court Decision on Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization

Today, President Biden announced actions that his Administration is taking to protect women who will face the grave consequences of today's Supreme Court decision. This decision expressly took away a Constitutional right from the American people that it had recognized for nearly 50 years – a woman's right to choose, free from government interference.

This decision will have devastating consequences in the lives of women around the country.

The President made clear that the only way to secure a woman's right to choose is for Congress to restore the protections of Roe as federal law. Until then, he has announced two actions the Administration is taking to protect women.

Protecting the Right to Seek Medical Care

As the Attorney General made clear, women must remain free to travel safely to another state to seek the care they need.

A person has the right to travel between states for whatever reason they want – it is no one else's business – especially the government's. If a woman lives in a state that restricts abortion, the Supreme Court's decision does not prevent her from traveling from her home to a state that allows it.

[redacted]

If any state or local official tries to interfere with women exercising this basic right, the Biden Administration will fight that deeply un-American attack.

Protecting Access to Medication

The President directed the Secretary of Health and Human Services to protect women's access to critical medications for reproductive health care that are approved by the Food and Drug Administration—including essential preventive health care like contraception and medication abortion.

More than 20 years ago, the FDA approved mifepristone to safely end an early pregnancy; this drug is also commonly used to treat miscarriages. The American Medical Association and the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists wrote to President Biden and Vice President Harris, asking the federal government to protect access to this care. In the face of threats from state officials saying they will try to ban or severely restrict access to medication for reproductive health care, the President directed the Secretary of Health and Human Services to identify all ways to ensure that mifepristone is as widely accessible as possible in light of the FDA's determination that the drug is safe and effective—including when prescribed through telehealth and sent by mail.

It's the last Monday in June and it's National Sunglasses Day.

Today is the LAST DAY to have your primary ballot postmarked. You can drop it off at a polling collection location until 8 pm tomorrow and you can vote in person tomorrow if you'd like.

Be in the Know

- On Friday, the US Supreme Court overturned Roe v Wade, sending the decisions on laws regarding abortion back to the states. Judge Clarence Thomas used his concurrence to call for the Court to reconsider all of the Court's substantive due process precedents, including Griswold [contraception], Lawrence [sodomy], and Obergefell [same-sex marriage].” After overruling those “erroneous” decisions, Thomas wrote, the court could determine whether the rights established in those cases are located elsewhere in the Constitution.
  There was a special edition of the Utah Policy newsletter sent Friday afternoon with an initial roundup of news stories and reactions. If you missed it, you can read it here. The trigger law in Utah went into effect Friday evening.

- The bipartisan Safer Communities Act has been signed into law after passing the US House on Friday in a 234-193 vote. No Utah Congressmen voted for the bill. The legislation will implement stricter background checks for gun purchasers under age 21, provide incentives for states to adopt “red flag” laws, block domestic abusers in dating relationships from owning or buying guns until five years pass without further disqualifying convictions, and appropriate funding for mental health and school safety measures.

Gov. Cox appoints Rep. Joel Ferry as the new executive director of the Utah Department of Natural Resources

Gov. Spencer Cox announced Rep. Joel Ferry will be joining his administration as director of the Department of Natural Resources. This appointment is subject to approval from the Utah Senate.

“From water conservation to air quality to public lands, Joel has been an effective voice for wise stewardship of the rich natural resources in our state,” Gov. Cox said. “His legislative experience as well as his foundation as a farmer and rancher will help shape our vision around natural resources and I'm grateful he's willing to take on this new challenge." (Read More)

Gov. Spencer J. Cox names Rick Westmoreland to 2nd District Juvenile Court

Gov. Spencer J. Cox has appointed Rick Westmoreland to fill Judge Michelle Heward's vacancy on the 2nd District Juvenile Court. The governor's nominations are subject to confirmation by the Utah Senate.

"Rick's experience as both a prosecutor and defense counsel will serve him well as he joins the 2nd District Juvenile Court bench," Gov. Cox said. "We're grateful for his continuing commitment to public service."

Westmoreland currently serves as specialty court division chief in Davis County Attorney's Office, acting as a prosecutor of all types of criminal felony and misdemeanor cases in Utah State District Court, a position he's held since 2004. Prior to his current position, he worked as adjunct professor in criminal justice at Weber State University in Ogden. He also worked as an adjunct professor in the master's program of nursing teaching compliance in patient care. (Read More)

Utah Senate requests public comment on Judicial Nominee

The Utah Senate Judicial Confirmation Committee is seeking public comment on attorney Rick Westmoreland, who Governor Spencer J. Cox appointed as a judge for the 2nd District Juvenile Court.

Those who desire to comment should contact the Utah Senate Judicial Confirmation Committee at the Office of Legislative Research and General Counsel, by 5:00 p.m. Monday, July 11, 2022, at the Utah State Capitol, House Building, Suite W210, PO Box 145210, Salt Lake City, Utah 84114-5210. All statements should include the respondent's name, telephone number and mailing address.

The Senate Judicial Confirmation Committee plans to hold a public hearing, then issue a recommendation to the full Senate. If confirmed by the Senate, Westmoreland will fill the vacancy left by the retirement of Judge Michelle E. Heward on August 1, 2022. The 2nd Juvenile District includes Weber, Davis and Morgan counties.

WGU and BYU-Pathway Worldwide announce scholarship and student transfer collaboration to improve lives through education

Western Governors University (WGU) and BYU-Pathway Worldwide announced a collaboration that provides access to additional degrees for BYU-Pathway students, alumni, and employees. The agreement establishes seamless transfer processes for individuals enrolling at WGU from BYU-Pathway – and helps them map a straightforward path toward select bachelor's and master's degree programs offered by the online, nonprofit university.

In addition to clear-cut transfer processes, WGU has established the Pathway to WGU Scholarship. BYU- Pathway students who have at least completed PathwayConnect or the first year, as well as currently employed staff members, are eligible to apply for this scholarship. Valued at up to $4,000, this award will make it easier for students and staff to enroll with WGU and earn a respected, career-ready degree. (Read More)

UCAIR donates hundreds of smart thermostats to SLCo program to reduce emissions, improve air quality

The Utah Clean Air Partnership (UCAIR) generously donated 200 smart thermostats to Salt Lake County's Green & Healthy Homes Initiative, which serves low- to moderate income families with health conditions worsened by their home environment. Hundreds of Salt Lake County homes will soon reduce their emissions and improve health conditions for those housed.

"Air quality continues to be at the front of Utahns minds," said Kim Frost, Executive Director of UCAIR. "We are thrilled to partner with Maverik and Big West Oil to provide smart thermostats to Utah households that experience greater effects of air pollution. With the implementation of energy efficient technology, such as smart thermostats, we will see benefits to our air shed." (Read More)

It's Wednesday and we have a two-fer: It's National Camera Day and National Waffle Iron Day, so go ahead and grab a pic of your breakfast food.

Be in the Know

- It was a very good night to be an incumbent in Utah. Senator Mike Lee and Reps. Moore, Stewart, Curtis and Owens all won their primaries by healthy margins. All the votes for Becky Edwards and Ally Isom combined would not have been enough to defeat Lee. A few incumbents have lost their seats, most notably Utah County Attorney David Leavitt, Senator Gene Davis and Rep. Kelly Miles. Some races are not yet decided.

- In D.C., explosive testimony from Cassidy Hutchinson, former personal assistant to Trump's chief-of-staff, has rocked the political world. She gave sworn testimony of plates thrown at walls, a president who told his Secret Service he was the f'ing president and to take him to the Capitol because the mob wasn't there to hurt him, then lunging at the driver when he was told no. Trump and his supporters immediately began attacking Hutchinson, but Sarah Matthews, former deputy secretary and Trump 2020 spokeswoman tweeted "Anyone downplaying Cassidy Hutchinson's role or her access in the West Wing either doesn't understand how the Trump WH worked or is attempting to discredit her because they're scared of how damning this testimony is."

Rapid Roundup

- The Utah Jazz have made an offer to Will Hardy to become the new head coach, Gov. Cox nominates Judge Jill Pohlman to the Utah Supreme Court, Colorado Rep. Lauren Boebert, who won her primary last night, says she's 'tired of this separation of church and state junk,' Turkey lifts its objections to Sweden, Finland joining NATO, Ghislaine Maxwell is sentenced to 20 years in prison, and finally, a very happy 15th birthday to the iPhone.

Situational Analysis | June 30, 2022

It's Thursday and National Meteor Watch Day. If the skies are clear tonight, take a look!

Be in the Know

- Three years ago, Native Americans in Oklahoma rejoiced when the Supreme Court ruled that the eastern half of Oklahoma is on tribal land, and that the state could not bring criminal prosecutions for crimes on Native American land without the consent of the Native American tribes. But on Wednesday, the court narrowed that decision, and dramatically increased the power of states over Native American tribes, prompting an angry dissent from Justice Neil Gorsuch, the author of the 2019 decision, and an ardent proponent of Native American rights.
- Speaking of the Supreme Court, today is Justice Breyer's last day and Justice Jackson's first. He will retire at noon and swear in Ketanji Brown Jackson immediately afterward.

Utah Foundation: Despite booming economy, analysis shows Utah community quality of life in decline

Today, the Utah Foundation releases The 2022 Utah Community Quality of Life Index: Is a Booming Economy Making Life Better? The report focuses on community quality of life – based on a survey where Utahns rate their communities on a series of 20 factors. In this report, the Utah Foundation discusses the results of the 2022 survey, compares 2022 data with previous years, analyzes responses by population group, and suggests targeted ways that policymakers might improve quality of life in Utah communities.

Since 2011, the Utah Foundation has measured community quality of life with the Index five times. In 2022, the Community Quality of Life Index stands at 64 out of a possible 100 points, making this year the clear low mark. (Read More)

Utah Inland Port Authority statement on Utah Supreme Court ruling

The Utah Inland Port Authority (UIPA) is pleased with today's decision by the Supreme Court of Utah to affirm in part the Third District Court's previous ruling rejecting Salt Lake City's legal challenges to the creation of the UIPA.

UIPA will continue to support the State of Utah in challenges related to the tax provisions of the Utah Inland Port Authority Act. The Port Authority will also continue to fulfill the charge of the Utah Legislature by providing smart, sustainable, and equitable logistics solutions for all of Utah. UIPA is committed to future-proofing Utah's link in the global supply chain, modernizing logistics to safeguard Utah's natural beauty and reduce risk, and improving quality of life by enhancing community livability.

Following today's #SCOTUS decision in Oklahoma v. Castro Huerta, here is Cherokee Nation Principal Chief @ChuckHoskin_Jr's full statement.

Statement from Cherokee Nation Principal Chief on Supreme Court Decision in Oklahoma v. Castro Huerta

"With today's decision, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled against legal precedent and the basic principles of congressional authority and Indian law. During arguments, Justice Gorsuch asked if the Court would 'wilt today because of a social media campaign' – it is unfortunate that the answer appears to be yes. The dissent today did not mince words – the Court failed in its duty to honor this nation's promises, defied Congress's statutes, and accepted the "lawless disregard of the Cherokee's sovereignty."

While we are disappointed in this ruling, it does not diminish our commitment to meeting our public safety responsibilities and to protecting Oklahomans on our reservations and across the state. Tribal and federal jurisdiction remain unchanged by this decision, but the need to work together on behalf of Oklahomans has never been more clear.

Also unchanged is the affirmation of our reservation and our sovereignty. Despite the Oklahoma governor's lies and attacks, the Court has refused to overturn the McGirt decision. As we enter a chapter of concurrent jurisdiction, tribes will continue to seek partnership and collaboration with state authorities while expanding our own justice systems. We hope that with these legal questions behind us, Governor Stitt will finally lay his anti-tribal agenda to rest and come to the table to move forward with us – for the sake of Oklahomans and public safety."

- Cherokee Nation Principal Chief Chuck Hoskin Jr.

Welcome to July and National Grilling Month! It's also National Hot Dog Month 🌭 and National Ice Cream Month. 🍦

Enjoy your long weekend as we celebrate Independence Day. Here's a list of events that might pique your interest and a list of fireworks restrictions. Have fun, don't burn the state down and Utah Policy will be back in your inboxes on Tuesday.

Be in the Know

- The Supreme Court ruled 6-3 on Thursday that Obama-era Environmental Protection Agency regulations limiting coal plant emissions overstepped its authority. President Joe Biden called it a “devastating decision that aims to take our country backwards," while leaders in Utah applaud the decision. Jennifer Napier-Pearce, Cox’s senior communications adviser, said the governor is “thrilled” with the decision. “We believe that states are best situated to develop ways to reduce emissions, and we’ve been successful in doing so."
- The Court also ruled 5-4 yesterday that the Biden administration can end the Trump-era Migrant Protection Protocol—or “Remain in Mexico” policy—which required asylum seekers arriving at the United States’ southwestern border to wait in Mexico for their claims to be processed.
- Finally, U.S. consumer spending is cooling, decreasing 0.4 percent month-over-month in May, after increasing by 0.3 percent each of the two months prior. And, global markets wrapped up their worst first half of a year since 1970 yesterday, with the S&P 500 falling 21 percent through Thursday from the beginning of 2022.

Rapid Roundup

- USC and UCLA are leaving the PAC-12, Yellowstone is reopening the entire park this weekend, record-high gas prices aren't projected to stop Americans from traveling for the Independence Day holiday weekend, meanwhile, Delta pilots picket across the country, and, mortgage rates dropped slightly to 5.70%.

Is this meant to be a complete list of available resources for pregnant individuals or parents with newborns? Families with children of any age?

There are definitely resources missing, but I'm not sure what the goal of this document is. I know Marc you mentioned wanting to share this with legislators and constituents.

DCFS worked with 211 Utah to create a website with parent resources, including crisis nurseries, respite care, etc. https://uw.org/211/family-strengthening/

Was this a legislative request? I want to be able to efficiently support you all on Tuesday, especially with the deadline. Any clarity will help me put something together, and loop in DCFS if needed for assistance. Thank you!

Sorry for the weekend e-mail, but I thought I better e-mail since your goal is to complete this document by COB Tuesday.

One program I did not see listed is the Newborn Safe Haven Program. This program is currently run out of PAE. DCFS plays a significant role once a parent leaves a newborn at a hospital (or other designated location).

Do we want to add this program to the resource list?

[Heather - are you aware of any programs with the Division of Population Health that may need to be included here? I am not sure if Janae has already reviewed this document, but thought I would start by asking you]

This was the legislative request and yes, it should be as comprehensive as possible. I told Rep. Peterson we would have it for her early this week. She made the request on June 23 so this should be ready to be send soon. Thank you!

Tracy,

The Republican women in the legislature have been discussing how we best support women prior to a pregnancy, through a pregnancy, and after they give birth. We were hoping you could help us highlight existing programs the state provides for these scenarios. We do not want to duplicate existing services and we want to amplify what already exists. If you also have observations about where you see gaps, we would welcome your thoughts. I have copied the Republican women, and would ask you to reply all.

Thank you, we appreciate your help.

There are definitely resources missing, but I'm not sure what the goal of this document is. I know Marc you mentioned wanting to share this with legislators and constituents.

DCFS worked with 211 Utah to create a website with parent resources, including crisis nurseries, respite care, etc. https://uw.org/211/family-strengthening/

Was this a legislative request? I want to be able to efficiently support you all on Tuesday, especially with the deadline. Any clarity will help me put something together, and loop in DCFS if needed for assistance. Thank you!

Sorry for the weekend e-mail, but I thought I better e-mail since your goal is to complete this document by COB Tuesday.

One program I did not see listed is the Newborn Safe Haven Program. This program is currently run out of PAE. DCFS plays a significant role once a parent leaves a newborn at a hospital (or other designated location).

Do we want to add this program to the resource list?

[Heather - are you aware of any programs with the Division of Population Health that may need to be included here? I am not sure if Janae has already reviewed this document, but thought I would start by asking you]

Subject: Some pro-life ideas to improve pregnancy related services.
To: Tracy Gruber (DHS) <tracygruber@utah.gov>, nate checketts <natechecketts@utah.gov>

Hi Tracy and Nate -

I hear from Neil Abercrombe that the Governor is interested in doing some things to provide better pregnancy related services to women in light of the trigger law.

It makes sense to me that from a pro-life viewpoint, we as a state ought to be interested in more than just eliminating abortion, but also in making sure that a pregnancy turns out well for her and her child.

If you guys in are sorting through possible policy recommendations, I wanted to put some of my top ones in your hopper for consideration. (And I will, of course, be bringing this up as best I can with my legislative colleages as well)

Here are some things that I think would make things better for women and show actual action on the part of the state to being pro-life for women as they plan for and go through pregnancy and childbirth.

1. Raise the Income eligibility to be covered for pregnancy Medicaid to 200% of the poverty level. Currently women between 138 and 200 may really struggle to get coverage and pre-natal health care.
2. Provide 12 months of post partum coverage. The first year of the baby's life can be very chaotic. Getting health care for herself (including if desired to get back on highly effective birth control) can be impossible if we cut folks off of coverage 60 days after the birth of the child.
3. Cover family planning services up to 250% of the poverty level. This is similar to what was discussed a couple of years back in the legislature for the lower threshold of 100% of the poverty level. The stakes are much higher for a women if abortion is not an option for her, and she is not in a position to care for another child if she does get pregnant, so making it easier for lower income individuals to access birth control would be a good help to them.
4. Provide 12 months of continuous eligibility to children on Medicaid. We have discussed this several times in the legislature, but haven't every quite found the funding. Maybe now is the right time.
5. Apply for the CHIP "unborn child" option. This is for women who are not here legally, but their child when it is born, will be here legally, and entitled to Medicaid services. This allows for coverage during the pregnancy, so the baby has a better chance to be born health.
6. Set a minimum set of services that we want to have available across the state to women who have a substance use disorder. This could include peer support, or home visitation, or coverage of inpatient rehab. Currently the services of this nature that are available are very spotty across the state, mostly just available in Salt Lake County. This item - it we plan correctly - could be funded from the opioid settlement, and so wouldn't have to come from general fund.

I have attached a brief prepared by Dr. Jessica Sanders who is with the family planninc division at the University of Utah. (And I think she has presented at MCAC, so you might already have this.) In it you will see many of these same ideas, as well as some others.

I am not sure how this will play out, but I would love to be involved if we are discussing ways to make our healthcare services better for women surrounding pregnancy and childbirth related issues.

Thanks,

RW

Situational Analysis | July 6, 2022

A happy Wednesday to you. Today is International Kissing Day so pucker up.

Speaking of kissing, a big congrats to Speaker Brad Wilson's daughter Liz on her recent engagement!

Be in the Know

- Did you see the picture of the small boy being circulated on Monday after the parade killings in Highland Park, Illinois, saying he had been separated from his parents? That little's boy's name is Aiden McCarthy and he was alone because both of his parents were shot and killed. His father died shielding Aiden. He has been reunited with his grandparents.

- The 22-year-old suspected shooter was charged with seven counts of first-degree murder yesterday, Lake County State's Attorney Eric Rinehart promised Tuesday that dozens more charges would be sought. In spite of prior suicidal and homicidal threats in which police confiscated 16 knives, a dagger and a sword, he was able to legally purchase 5 guns, including the assault rifle used in the attack.

Rapid Roundup

- The University of Utah is being recruited by the Big 12, a snake caused a power outage in South Weber, the UHP reported 5 fatalities over the Fourth of July weekend, July 4th fireworks set nearly 3 dozen dumpsters, yards, brush ablaze in Southern Utah, and a 76 million-year-old dinosaur is set to be auctioned off.

Situational Analysis | July 7, 2022

It's already Thursday and today is World Chocolate Day. What a great day!

Be in the Know

- Gallup is out with its annual look at Americans' confidence in various institutions, and … it's bad. No institution say improvement and 11 of the 16 researched saw significant declines. "This year's poll marks new lows in confidence for all three branches of the federal government—the Supreme Court (25%), the presidency (23%) and Congress (7%)," Jeffrey Jones writes. "Five other institutions are at their lowest points in at least three decades of measurement, including the church or organized religion (31%), newspapers (16%), the criminal justice system (14%), big business (14%) and the police. … Americans' confidence in institutions has been lacking for most of the past 15 years, but their trust in key institutions has hit a new low this year."

- Bye, bye Boris. The scandal-ridden British prime minister Boris Johnson announced he would step down - after he was abandoned by most of his Conservative lawmakers. Some 50 of his Cabinet ministers resigned en masse and even those closest to him told him it was time to go. "I want you to know how sad I am to be giving up the best job in the world. But them's the breaks," he said. Ukraine advisor Mykhailo Podolyak thanked him for supporting Ukraine, while Russia rejoices over his downfall. He will stay on until a replacement is chosen.

Rapid Roundup

- Officers are asking the public NOT to search the area where Dylan Rounds may have disappeared from, motorcycle fatalities increase on Utah roads, a 100-year-old veteran of WWII said through tears that the America they fought for has "gone down the drain," Elon Musk reportedly had twins with a top exec at one of his companies last year, weeks before he and his official girlfriend had their second child, and finally, the story of Fred the mastodon who died looking for love - apparently in all the wrong places.

SUBJECT: Re: Question: Postpartum Resources
FROM: "Laurie Baksh (DHHS)" <lbaksh@utah.gov>
TO: Marc Watterson <mwatterson@utah.gov>
CC: Noel Taxin <ntaxin@utah.gov>, Lynne Nilson <lpnilson@utah.gov>

Hi Marc - My responses in blue text

Do you know if insurance companies are required to provide coverage for postpartum depression?
To the best of our knowledge, insurance companies are not required to cover treatment for postpartum depression. I would verify this with the Department of Insurance.

Is DFH or DPH doing any education on postpartum depression?
Yes. The Maternal and Infant Health Program has a maternal mental health specialist who works to educate on the signs and symptoms of postpartum depression and resources for care. We have Instagram and Facebook pages to provide education to the public. We also host the maternal mental health referral network (https://maternalmentalhealth.utah.gov/) to link those in need of perinatal mental health services to providers with specialized training. Additionally, we have just developed a maternal mental health toolkit that we will be launching in the coming weeks.

Are there any limitations to current coverage/education you feel may need to be addressed?
There are several states who have policies surrounding establishment of a statewide perinatal psychiatric consult service. This allows for peer to peer consultation for providers to get advice on diagnosis, treatment, and medication management for their pregnant/postpartum patients. (https://www.postpartum.net/professionals/state-perinatal-psychiatry-access-lines/). We would like to see something like this in Utah.

Working to increase the number of mental health providers in Utah, including those trained in perinatal mental health, would be a benefit. All of Utah's counties are health professional shortage areas for mental health: https://ruralhealth.health.utah.gov/wp-content/uploads/2022/03/OPCRH-MH-HPSA-3.21.2022.pdf

Another item on our wish list would be implementation of a telephone triage and referral network (warmline) for the public and providers. A comprehensive statewide database, along with a trained patient triage warmline (a weekday, 9-5 phone line), could effectively support a woman experiencing perinatal mental health issues who need everything from information on a local support group to immediate psychiatric help. A warmline, with someone ensuring that the severity of the case matches the services provided can also be where providers could refer patients confidently once a patient has been screened.

We also have recommendations for prevention that have been developed by our maternal mortality review committee. We looked at recommendations made surrounding cases where there was a mental health condition noted and these included:

- Payers and policy makers should find ways to expand options (ex. expand telehealth and fund more local clinics) for behavioral health care in rural areas so that distance isn't a barrier to care.
- Governments and/or health systems should create mental health/substance use treatment facilities that specialize in perinatal women.

Please let me know if you need further information.

Thanks,
Laurie

Situational Analysis | July 8, 2022

It's Friday and National Freezer Pop Day. Those darn things were the cause of an early parenting fail when my first toddler kept asking for "Razor Ducks, Razor Ducks!" I had no idea what he was talking about and he was very sad. Days later, I worked out that he was trying to say "freezer sticks." Sigh.

Be in the Know

- Powerful former Prime Minister of Japan, Shinzo Abe, was assassinated while giving a speech in Nara, Japan. He was shot from behind minutes after starting his speech and was airlifted to a hospital, but arrived without vital signs and never regained them. "Shocked" and "saddened," world leaders reacted to the attack. Even Iran called it an "act of terrorism."

- 300 Ukrainian refugees are making their way to Utah and they need support. Catholic Community Services is helping with "case management, employment services, health services, and education for their children" and are looking for volunteers as well as donations of furniture, household items, laptops and more. News Releases

Members selected for Romney Wildland Fire Commission

U.S. Senator Mitt Romney (R-UT) welcomed an announcement made by the Departments of the Interior, Agriculture, and the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) of the selection of members to serve on the Wildland Fire Mitigation and Management Commission, which Romney negotiated and secured in the Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act. Modeled after Romney's Wildland Fire Mitigation and Management Commission Act, the wildland fire commission is tasked with forming federal policy recommendations and strategies on ways to better prevent, manage, suppress and recover from wildfires.

Two Utahns were named to the Commission: Kathy Holder, who currently serves as Utah's State Hazard Mitigation Officer, as well as the Mitigation and Recovery Section Manager for the Utah Division of Emergency Management and Bill Cox, a rancher and County Commissioner for Rich County, as an alternate for local representation. Rep. Stewart defunds the Wuhan Institute of Virology

The House Committee on Appropriations voted to advance a budget that would defund research labs in adversarial countries, including China, Russia, North Korea, and Iran. The legislation would include defunding the Wuhan Institute of Virology (WIV), which many believe is the origin point for COVID-19.

Rep. Chris Stewart (R-UT) – a member of both the House Committee on Appropriations and the House Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence – introduced the amendment that is responsible for defunding these unaccountable, foreign research labs. (Read More)

Situational Analysis | July 11, 2022

It's Monday, National 7-Eleven Day, and Governor Spencer Cox's birthday 🥳

Be in the Know

- 🔥 There are wildfires burning all over the West. One in Yosemite National Park doubled in size over the weekend and is threatening 500+ giant sequoias. The fire was zero percent contained as of Sunday. 8000+ acres are burning around Fillmore, Utah, in a human-caused fire, the Jacob City Fire by Tooele was also caused by humans and a new fire broke out in Parley's Canyon this morning. Be careful out there.

- President Joe Biden signed an executive order on Friday aimed at protecting abortion access after the Supreme Court overturned Roe v. Wade. The order is primarily symbolic: It won't override red-state restrictions, and its myriad provisions range from creating an interagency task force, to convening volunteer lawyers, to launching outreach efforts, to safeguarding access to certain abortion pills, to requesting the Federal Trade Commission chair strengthen privacy protections.

My preference would be for us to have one representative from DHHS. Do we know if this is a statutory requirement that DOH and DHS have a representative? If it's statutory, we need to let Marc Watterson (cc'd) know so that we can have the code changed to only specify the DHHS ED or designee. I don't think we need two representatives. Craig can represent the department as my designee. However, if the code requires one from DOH and one from DHS, Craig can serve as well as Al.

Since this overlaps with the Healthcare Administration Section, I cc'd Nate.

Please let me know what we find out and how I can support. I think someone needs to get in touch with USBE as soon as possible to let them know that we are comfortable with Craig serving while we try to sort out the legal requirements.

Hi Brook -

I am reaching out to you for help because we have been attempting to contact someone from DOH to be a part of the Underage Drinking Prevention Program Advisory Council as described in 53G-10-406(5). The statute requires USBE to include "the executive director of the Department of Health or the executive director's designee" as a part of the council. I am wondering if you can help us identify who at DHHS may be able to fulfill this requirement for us and help us contact them.

By way of background and context, the Botvin LifeSkills Training program was selected as the approved Underage Drinking and Substance Abuse Prevention program, and since that five-year contract will end June 30, 2023, the Utah State Board of Education is getting ready to put out another Request for Proposals (RFP). In preparation for the RFP process, we would like to bring the Underage Drinking Prevention Program Advisory Council together this summer so we can gather their input for the RFP.

USBE's Substance Use Prevention Specialist, Clarissa Stebbing (who is cc'd on this email), has reached out several times to different people in DOH trying to contact someone to fulfill this requirement and has not received any responses. She is trying to get the council put together so that she can get a summer meeting on the council members' schedules and move forward with the new RFP. We would like to be able to identify who is going to be on the council by the end of the week, if possible.

We are also wondering, now that UDOH and DHS have merged, do you think we still need to have someone who was part of UDOH as a participant on the council or can Craig Povey (who has already agreed to participate) serve as the representative for both roles?

Feel free to contact us with any questions or forward this email to someone who may be more appropriate to help us with this. I am just not sure who else to reach out to at this point. I would generally reach out to the DHS Education Liaison, but I have heard that the person that was formerly in that position has since left. Thanks in advance for any help you can provide.

Statue actually requires that we have four representatives on the Council:

(b)the executive director of the Department of Health or the executive director's designee;
(c)the director of the Division of Substance Abuse and Mental Health or the director's designee;
(d)the director of the Division of Child and Family Services or the director's designee;
(e)the director of the Division of Juvenile Justice Services or the director's designee;

It appears that the statute ((5)(a-g)) purposefully created the Advisory Council in a way that had a majority of the members with expertise in Underage Drinking and Substance Abuse Prevention. If we were to consolidate these four into just one, it would disrupt the make-up of the body and leave Superintendents and State School Board members without the full scope of subject matter experts statute tries to create.

I have added David and Heather to this thread to get their thoughts. It seems like Al's group has focused specifically on preventing maternal alcohol consumption. I'm not sure if that is the best fit as the aim of this Advisory Council is to help give input as the Program is taught to kids three different times:

- 4th or 5th grade
- 7th or 8th grade
- 9th or 10th grade

I'll let David and Heather chime in to see if Al or another staff from the "health prevention" side might be a best fit as the Executive Director's designee.

Thank you for the email and I'm sorry for the delayed response.

My preference would be for us to have one representative from DHHS. Do we know if this is a statutory requirement that DOH and DHS have a representative? If it's statutory, we need to let Marc Watterson (cc'd) know so that we can have the code changed to only specify the DHHS ED or designee. I don't think we need two representatives. Craig can represent the department as my designee. However, if the code requires one from DOH and one from DHS, Craig can serve as well as Al.

Since this overlaps with the Healthcare Administration Section, I cc'd Nate.

Please let me know what we find out and how I can support. I think someone needs to get in touch with USBE as soon as possible to let them know that we are comfortable with Craig serving while we try to sort out the legal requirements.

Hi Tracy!

I received this request from USBE. The executive director of the UDOH needs to either attend or designate someone to attend.

Craig PoVey, who manages the SHARP survey, has agreed to attend to represent DHS when we were previously split. I would recommend Leah Colburn from the OSUMH also attend as she supports youth and parents substance abuse programs. I'm happy to respond, but wanted to forward this along. I'm not sure if deputy directors wanted to attend, or if you wanted to keep it at the program level.

Thanks!

Hi Brook -

I am reaching out to you for help because we have been attempting to contact someone from DOH to be a part of the Underage Drinking Prevention Program Advisory Council as described in 53G-10-406(5). The statute requires USBE to include "the executive director of the Department of Health or the executive director's designee" as a part of the council. I am wondering if you can help us identify who at DHHS may be able to fulfill this requirement for us and help us contact them.

By way of background and context, the Botvin LifeSkills Training program was selected as the approved Underage Drinking and Substance Abuse Prevention program, and since that five-year contract will end June 30, 2023, the Utah State Board of Education is getting ready to put out another Request for Proposals (RFP). In preparation for the RFP process, we would like to bring the Underage Drinking Prevention Program Advisory Council together this summer so we can gather their input for the RFP.

USBE's Substance Use Prevention Specialist, Clarissa Stebbing (who is cc'd on this email), has reached out several times to different people in DOH trying to contact someone to fulfill this requirement and has not received any responses. She is trying to get the council put together so that she can get a summer meeting on the council members' schedules and move forward with the new RFP. We would like to be able to identify who is going to be on the council by the end of the week, if possible.

We are also wondering, now that UDOH and DHS have merged, do you think we still need to have someone who was part of UDOH as a participant on the council or can Craig Povey (who has already agreed to participate) serve as the representative for both roles?

Feel free to contact us with any questions or forward this email to someone who may be more appropriate to help us with this. I am just not sure who else to reach out to at this point. I would generally reach out to the DHS Education Liaison, but I have heard that the person that was formerly in that position has since left. Thanks in advance for any help you can provide.

Jen Plumb statement on Senate District 9 primary victory

"I am deeply honored to be the choice of the voters of Senate District 9. Running a spirited campaign, I had the privilege of speaking to voters in every corner of our district, learning what they want and need to create the Utah that they want to live in. After the General Election in November, I believe that I am ready to deliver.

"My sincerest gratitude to my opponent, Senator Derek Kitchen, who has made his voice — loud and proud — known throughout the Capitol. His input and action for our district have been a critical part of making Utah a better place, and I look forward to working with him to engage voters through the November election. I am excited to follow in his footsteps in delivering for Senate District 9 voters. (Read More)

It's Friday and half-way through July. Crazy! Today is National Gummi Worm Day - time to make "dirt" pudding cups.

Be in the Know

- Jennie Taylor and her seven children will be moving into a new home soon. The family of the former mayor of North Ogden, Brent Taylor, who was killed in action in Afghanistan in 2018, had the home built for them by Nilson Homes, Have A Heart, and many other donors. Jennie calls it "so much more than a house. This, to me, is symbolism of God's hand and Brent's hand continuing in our lives," she said. Since Brent's death, Jennie created the Major Brent Taylor Foundation, serves as Utah's Civilian Aide to the Secretary of the Army and co-hosts the "Relentlessly Resilient" podcast with Michelle Scharf.

Gov. Spencer Cox applauds approval of Uinta Basin Railway

Utah Gov. Spencer Cox is elated by today's news that the U.S. Forest Service has authorized the Uinta Basin Railway. This approval allows the Uinta Basin Railway proposal to continue to move forward, connecting the eastern part of Utah with national rail networks.

"This is a huge victory that will get Utah energy to market faster, more cleanly, more safely, and will help the economies of eastern Utah," said Gov. Cox. "State and local governments, the Ute Tribe, energy producers and rail companies have been making the argument for decades that improved access to the outside world will help the Basin diversify its economy. Without a doubt, this infrastructure will improve economic opportunities for individuals, families and businesses. We're excited to see the potential of this region unleashed." (Read More)

It appears that the statute ((5)(a-g)) purposefully created the Advisory Council in a way that had a majority of the members with expertise in Underage Drinking and Substance Abuse Prevention. If we were to consolidate these four into just one, it would disrupt the make-up of the body and leave Superintendents and State School Board members without the full scope of subject matter experts statute tries to create.

I have added David and Heather to this thread to get their thoughts. It seems like Al's group has focused specifically on preventing maternal alcohol consumption. I'm not sure if that is the best fit as the aim of this Advisory Council is to help give input as the Program is taught to kids three different times:

Craig PoVey, who manages the SHARP survey, has agreed to attend to represent DHS when we were previously split. I would recommend Leah Colburn from the OSUMH also attend as she supports youth and parents substance abuse programs. I'm happy to respond, but wanted to forward this along. I'm not sure if deputy directors wanted to attend, or if you wanted to keep it at the program level.

Thanks!

Hi Brook -

I am reaching out to you for help because we have been attempting to contact someone from DOH to be a part of the Underage Drinking Prevention Program Advisory Council as described in 53G-10-406(5). The statute requires USBE to include "the executive director of the Department of Health or the executive director's designee" as a part of the council. I am wondering if you can help us identify who at DHHS may be able to fulfill this requirement for us and help us contact them.

By way of background and context, the Botvin LifeSkills Training program was selected as the approved Underage Drinking and Substance Abuse Prevention program, and since that five-year contract will end June 30, 2023, the Utah State Board of Education is getting ready to put out another Request for Proposals (RFP). In preparation for the RFP process, we would like to bring the Underage Drinking Prevention Program Advisory Council together this summer so we can gather their input for the RFP.

USBE's Substance Use Prevention Specialist, Clarissa Stebbing (who is cc'd on this email), has reached out several times to different people in DOH trying to contact someone to fulfill this requirement and has not received any responses. She is trying to get the council put together so that she can get a summer meeting on the council members' schedules and move forward with the new RFP. We would like to be able to identify who is going to be on the council by the end of the week, if possible.

We are also wondering, now that UDOH and DHS have merged, do you think we still need to have someone who was part of UDOH as a participant on the council or can Craig Povey (who has already agreed to participate) serve as the representative for both roles?

Feel free to contact us with any questions or forward this email to someone who may be more appropriate to help us with this. I am just not sure who else to reach out to at this point. I would generally reach out to the DHS Education Liaison, but I have heard that the person that was formerly in that position has since left. Thanks in advance for any help you can provide.

Tracy -

I am just reviewing this now.

Based on the statute and the DHHS organizational chart, I would recommend that we designate Craig Povey as your designee (since prevention is a part of the Office of Health Prevention & Promotion) and request that Brent Kelsey participate or designate someone from the Office of Substance Abuse & Mental Health (perhaps, Leah Coburn as Brook recommended). What I like about Brook's suggestion is it can help ensure a connection between prevention of substance use and treatment.

Just my immediate thoughts.

I am just reviewing this now.

Based on the statute and the DHHS organizational chart, I would recommend that we designate Craig Povey as your designee (since prevention is a part of the Office of Health Prevention & Promotion) and request that Brent Kelsey participate or designate someone from the Office of Substance Abuse & Mental Health (perhaps, Leah Coburn as Brook recommended). What I like about Brook's suggestion is it can help ensure a connection between prevention of substance use and treatment.

Just my immediate thoughts.

It appears that the statute ((5)(a-g)) purposefully created the Advisory Council in a way that had a majority of the members with expertise in Underage Drinking and Substance Abuse Prevention. If we were to consolidate these four into just one, it would disrupt the make-up of the body and leave Superintendents and State School Board members without the full scope of subject matter experts statute tries to create.

I have added David and Heather to this thread to get their thoughts. It seems like Al's group has focused specifically on preventing maternal alcohol consumption. I'm not sure if that is the best fit as the aim of this Advisory Council is to help give input as the Program is taught to kids three different times:

- 4th or 5th grade
- 7th or 8th grade
- 9th or 10th grade

I'll let David and Heather chime in to see if Al or another staff from the "health prevention" side might be a best fit as the Executive Director's designee.

My preference would be for us to have one representative from DHHS. Do we know if this is a statutory requirement that DOH and DHS have a representative? If it's statutory, we need to let Marc Watterson (cc'd) know so that we can have the code changed to only specify the DHHS ED or designee. I don't think we need two representatives. Craig can represent the department as my designee. However, if the code requires one from DOH and one from DHS, Craig can serve as well as Al.

Since this overlaps with the Healthcare Administration Section, I cc'd Nate.

Please let me know what we find out and how I can support. I think someone needs to get in touch with USBE as soon as possible to let them know that we are comfortable with Craig serving while we try to sort out the legal requirements.

Hi Brook -

I am reaching out to you for help because we have been attempting to contact someone from DOH to be a part of the Underage Drinking Prevention Program Advisory Council as described in 53G-10-406(5). The statute requires USBE to include "the executive director of the Department of Health or the executive director's designee" as a part of the council. I am wondering if you can help us identify who at DHHS may be able to fulfill this requirement for us and help us contact them.

By way of background and context, the Botvin LifeSkills Training program was selected as the approved Underage Drinking and Substance Abuse Prevention program, and since that five-year contract will end June 30, 2023, the Utah State Board of Education is getting ready to put out another Request for Proposals (RFP). In preparation for the RFP process, we would like to bring the Underage Drinking Prevention Program Advisory Council together this summer so we can gather their input for the RFP.

USBE's Substance Use Prevention Specialist, Clarissa Stebbing (who is cc'd on this email), has reached out several times to different people in DOH trying to contact someone to fulfill this requirement and has not received any responses. She is trying to get the council put together so that she can get a summer meeting on the council members' schedules and move forward with the new RFP. We would like to be able to identify who is going to be on the council by the end of the week, if possible.

We are also wondering, now that UDOH and DHS have merged, do you think we still need to have someone who was part of UDOH as a participant on the council or can Craig Povey (who has already agreed to participate) serve as the representative for both roles?

Feel free to contact us with any questions or forward this email to someone who may be more appropriate to help us with this. I am just not sure who else to reach out to at this point. I would generally reach out to the DHS Education Liaison, but I have heard that the person that was formerly in that position has since left. Thanks in advance for any help you can provide.

This was the last email about the HB2 funds, we still don't know if the report in HB2 Item 80 is to guide the RFP or not. Here is the language
The Legislature intends that the Department of Human Services report back to the Social Services Appropriation Subcommittee no later than August 10, 2022 on how much it would cost to implement a statewide support program, that would qualify for expenditures from the Opioid Litigation Settlement Restricted Account, for pregnant women with substance use disorder to receive the following services:
(1) a licensed social worker to help connect women with state services they are determined to need and are eligible to receive;
(2) a peer support program; and
(3) home visitation services through the child's first birthday.
The Legislature further intends that the performance measures by which the program would be measured would include the following:
(1) the rate of a diagnosis of neonatal abstinence syndrome at the time of delivery in the areas where the program has been implemented; and
(2) the number of NICU days related to any substance use disorder in the areas where the program has been implemented.

We can't spend the money over multiple years without intent language. We could set it up as a signer year contract with an option to extend and ask for the language next session. It sounds like there is a willing sponsor already.

Hi Sean,

Just wanted some clarification on some intent language. In HB 2 Item 84, there is an appropriation from the Opioid Restricted Fund of $2.8M. It is our understanding that the intent is that this is for supporting pregnant moms with substance use disorders. In HB 3 Item 245, there is intent language for this directing a competitive process for disbursing the funds. I'm wanting to make sure that intent language in the Bill of Bills is intended for this funding as we are reading it.

Thanks,

Nate

I am just reviewing this now.

Based on the statute and the DHHS organizational chart, I would recommend that we designate Craig Povey as your designee (since prevention is a part of the Office of Health Prevention & Promotion) and request that Brent Kelsey participate or designate someone from the Office of Substance Abuse & Mental Health (perhaps, Leah Coburn as Brook recommended). What I like about Brook's suggestion is it can help ensure a connection between prevention of substance use and treatment.

Just my immediate thoughts.

Statue actually requires that we have four representatives on the Council:

(b)the executive director of the Department of Health or the executive director's designee;
(c)the director of the Division of Substance Abuse and Mental Health or the director's designee;
(d)the director of the Division of Child and Family Services or the director's designee;
(e)the director of the Division of Juvenile Justice Services or the director's designee;

It appears that the statute ((5)(a-g)) purposefully created the Advisory Council in a way that had a majority of the members with expertise in Underage Drinking and Substance Abuse Prevention. If we were to consolidate these four into just one, it would disrupt the make-up of the body and leave Superintendents and State School Board members without the full scope of subject matter experts statute tries to create.

I have added David and Heather to this thread to get their thoughts. It seems like Al's group has focused specifically on preventing maternal alcohol consumption. I'm not sure if that is the best fit as the aim of this Advisory Council is to help give input as the Program is taught to kids three different times:

- 4th or 5th grade
- 7th or 8th grade
- 9th or 10th grade

I'll let David and Heather chime in to see if Al or another staff from the "health prevention" side might be a best fit as the Executive Director's designee.

My preference would be for us to have one representative from DHHS. Do we know if this is a statutory requirement that DOH and DHS have a representative? If it's statutory, we need to let Marc Watterson (cc'd) know so that we can have the code changed to only specify the DHHS ED or designee. I don't think we need two representatives. Craig can represent the department as my designee. However, if the code requires one from DOH and one from DHS, Craig can serve as well as Al.

Since this overlaps with the Healthcare Administration Section, I cc'd Nate.

Please let me know what we find out and how I can support. I think someone needs to get in touch with USBE as soon as possible to let them know that we are comfortable with Craig serving while we try to sort out the legal requirements.

Hi Brook -

I am reaching out to you for help because we have been attempting to contact someone from DOH to be a part of the Underage Drinking Prevention Program Advisory Council as described in 53G-10-406(5). The statute requires USBE to include "the executive director of the Department of Health or the executive director's designee" as a part of the council. I am wondering if you can help us identify who at DHHS may be able to fulfill this requirement for us and help us contact them.

By way of background and context, the Botvin LifeSkills Training program was selected as the approved Underage Drinking and Substance Abuse Prevention program, and since that five-year contract will end June 30, 2023, the Utah State Board of Education is getting ready to put out another Request for Proposals (RFP). In preparation for the RFP process, we would like to bring the Underage Drinking Prevention Program Advisory Council together this summer so we can gather their input for the RFP.

USBE's Substance Use Prevention Specialist, Clarissa Stebbing (who is cc'd on this email), has reached out several times to different people in DOH trying to contact someone to fulfill this requirement and has not received any responses. She is trying to get the council put together so that she can get a summer meeting on the council members' schedules and move forward with the new RFP. We would like to be able to identify who is going to be on the council by the end of the week, if possible.

We are also wondering, now that UDOH and DHS have merged, do you think we still need to have someone who was part of UDOH as a participant on the council or can Craig Povey (who has already agreed to participate) serve as the representative for both roles?

Feel free to contact us with any questions or forward this email to someone who may be more appropriate to help us with this. I am just not sure who else to reach out to at this point. I would generally reach out to the DHS Education Liaison, but I have heard that the person that was formerly in that position has since left. Thanks in advance for any help you can provide.

It's Tuesday and it's National Urban Beekeeping Day. We don't have bees but our neighbors do and those little flying friends they love our milkweed and our lavender.

And, happy 29th anniversary to Utah's Lt. Governor Deidre Henderson and Utah's Second Gentleman, Gabe.

Be in the Know

- Hundreds of people have reportedly died as a record-setting heat wave - and wildfires - sweep across Europe. In Portugal, temperatures hit 117°. The UK declared a national emergency as airport runways melted and train speeds limited over fears of buckling tracks as it reaches the hottest day on record after more than 360 years of measuring. Many public buildings, including hospitals, have no air conditioning.

Rapid Roundup

- U.S. Blue Angels names first female pilot in squad's history, Ukraine's First Lady is in Washington for high-level meetings, Toys 'R' Us is coming back - inside Macy's department store and the health benefits of eating chocolate (no, really!).

Curtis and Jayapal introduce bipartisan bill to save lives from gun suicide

Last week, Congressman John Curtis (UT-03) and Congresswoman Pramila Jayapal (WA-07) introduced a bipartisan bill aimed at combatting gun suicides. The Preventing Suicide Through Voluntary Firearm Purchase Delay Act would curb gun suicides by allowing people to voluntarily enroll themselves onto a "do not sell" list, preventing them from purchasing a gun later on to harm themselves or others should they experience a mental health emergency. This legislation is modeled after similar legislation implemented in many states—including Utah. (Read More)

It appears that the statute ((5)(a-g)) purposefully created the Advisory Council in a way that had a majority of the members with expertise in Underage Drinking and Substance Abuse Prevention. If we were to consolidate these four into just one, it would disrupt the make-up of the body and leave Superintendents and State School Board members without the full scope of subject matter experts statute tries to create.

I have added David and Heather to this thread to get their thoughts. It seems like Al's group has focused specifically on preventing maternal alcohol consumption. I'm not sure if that is the best fit as the aim of this Advisory Council is to help give input as the Program is taught to kids three different times:

- 4th or 5th grade
- 7th or 8th grade
- 9th or 10th grade

I'll let David and Heather chime in to see if Al or another staff from the "health prevention" side might be a best fit as the Executive Director's designee.

Thank you for the email and I'm sorry for the delayed response.

My preference would be for us to have one representative from DHHS. Do we know if this is a statutory requirement that DOH and DHS have a representative? If it's statutory, we need to let Marc Watterson (cc'd) know so that we can have the code changed to only specify the DHHS ED or designee. I don't think we need two representatives. Craig can represent the department as my designee. However, if the code requires one from DOH and one from DHS, Craig can serve as well as Al.

Since this overlaps with the Healthcare Administration Section, I cc'd Nate.

Please let me know what we find out and how I can support. I think someone needs to get in touch with USBE as soon as possible to let them know that we are comfortable with Craig serving while we try to sort out the legal requirements.

Craig PoVey, who manages the SHARP survey, has agreed to attend to represent DHS when we were previously split. I would recommend Leah Colburn from the OSUMH also attend as she supports youth and parents substance abuse programs. I'm happy to respond, but wanted to forward this along. I'm not sure if deputy directors wanted to attend, or if you wanted to keep it at the program level.

Thanks!

Hi Brook -

I am reaching out to you for help because we have been attempting to contact someone from DOH to be a part of the Underage Drinking Prevention Program Advisory Council as described in 53G-10-406(5). The statute requires USBE to include "the executive director of the Department of Health or the executive director's designee" as a part of the council. I am wondering if you can help us identify who at DHHS may be able to fulfill this requirement for us and help us contact them.

By way of background and context, the Botvin LifeSkills Training program was selected as the approved Underage Drinking and Substance Abuse Prevention program, and since that five-year contract will end June 30, 2023, the Utah State Board of Education is getting ready to put out another Request for Proposals (RFP). In preparation for the RFP process, we would like to bring the Underage Drinking Prevention Program Advisory Council together this summer so we can gather their input for the RFP.

USBE's Substance Use Prevention Specialist, Clarissa Stebbing (who is cc'd on this email), has reached out several times to different people in DOH trying to contact someone to fulfill this requirement and has not received any responses. She is trying to get the council put together so that she can get a summer meeting on the council members' schedules and move forward with the new RFP. We would like to be able to identify who is going to be on the council by the end of the week, if possible.

We are also wondering, now that UDOH and DHS have merged, do you think we still need to have someone who was part of UDOH as a participant on the council or can Craig Povey (who has already agreed to participate) serve as the representative for both roles?

Feel free to contact us with any questions or forward this email to someone who may be more appropriate to help us with this. I am just not sure who else to reach out to at this point. I would generally reach out to the DHS Education Liaison, but I have heard that the person that was formerly in that position has since left. Thanks in advance for any help you can provide.

Looking back at the original email request from USBE, it looks like they were looking to get the name/contact info specifically for the individual listed as the "DOH Director or Designee". It sounds like that person is going to be Craig PoVey.

I would assume since USBE only inquired about that one position that they already have others identified to fill the other three roles from DHHS? Jenny, I think you are good to go with reaching out to USBE and letting them know that Craig PoVey will be the DOH designee.

(b)the executive director of the Department of Health or the executive director's designee; (Craig PoVey)

the DHHS ED or designee. I don't think we need two representatives. Craig can represent the department as my designee. However, if the code requires one from DOH and one from DHS, Craig can serve as well as Al.

Since this overlaps with the Healthcare Administration Section, I cc'd Nate.

Hi Brook -

I am reaching out to you for help because we have been attempting to contact someone from DOH to be a part of the Underage Drinking Prevention Program Advisory Council as described in 53G-10-406(5). The statute requires USBE to include "the executive director of the Department of Health or the executive director's designee" as a part of the council. I am wondering if you can help us identify who at DHHS may be able to fulfill this requirement for us and help us contact them.

By way of background and context, the Botvin LifeSkills Training program was selected as the approved Underage Drinking and Substance Abuse Prevention program, and since that five-year contract will end June 30, 2023, the Utah State Board of Education is getting ready to put out another Request for Proposals (RFP). In preparation for the RFP process, we would like to bring the Underage Drinking Prevention Program Advisory Council together this summer so we can gather their input for the RFP.

USBE's Substance Use Prevention Specialist, Clarissa Stebbing (who is cc'd on this email), has reached out several times to different people in DOH trying to contact someone to fulfill this requirement and has not received any responses. She is trying to get the council put together so that she can get a summer meeting on the council members' schedules and move forward with the new RFP. We would like to be able to identify who is going to be on the council by the end of the week, if possible.

We are also wondering, now that UDOH and DHS have merged, do you think we still need to have someone who was part of UDOH as a participant on the council or can Craig Povey (who has already agreed to participate) serve as the representative for both roles?

Feel free to contact us with any questions or forward this email to someone who may be more appropriate to help us with this. I am just not sure who else to reach out to at this point. I would generally reach out to the DHS Education Liaison, but I have heard that the person that was formerly in that position has since left. Thanks in advance for any help you can provide.

I am just reviewing this now.

Based on the statute and the DHHS organizational chart, I would recommend that we designate Craig Povey as your designee (since prevention is a part of the Office of Health Prevention & Promotion) and request that Brent Kelsey participate or designate someone from the Office of Substance Abuse & Mental Health (perhaps, Leah Coburn as Brook recommended). What I like about Brook's suggestion is it can help ensure a connection between prevention of substance use and treatment.

Just my immediate thoughts.

- The House voted 267-157 on Tuesday—with support from all Utah House members, plus another 43 Republicans and all Democrats—to pass the Respect for Marriage Act, which would repeal the 1996 Defense of Marriage Act and require all states to recognize same-sex and interracial marriages if the marriage was valid in the state in which it originally occurred. Democrats have argued the legislation is necessary after Justice Clarence Thomas signaled in his Dobbs concurrence last month a desire to revisit Obergefell v. Hodges.

The most severe of six flaws found is a hardcoded password that can be used to gain complete control of any GPS tracker, access to vehicles' real-time location and past routes, and remotely cut off fuel to vehicles, even while they are in motion. wide
- America's deadly epidemic: violence against women. In 2019, nine out of 10 murdered women were killed by men they knew, according to the Violence Policy Center. In nearly two-thirds of those cases the women were wives or other intimate partners of the men. Often, such killings follow years of abuse, raising questions about how police, courts and society at large support women. Black women and girls were murdered at a rate more than twice as high as white women and girls.

Curtis votes in favor of the Respect for Marriage Act

Following the House vote today on the Respect for Marriage Act, Representative John Curtis (UT-03) released the following statement:

The majority opinion of the Supreme Court clearly stated that the Court has no intention of reversing any decisions respecting the right to marriage in the Constitution. That said, I also understand how important codifying these protections are to many Utahns. I do not believe the federal government should infringe upon an individual's decision about who they wish to marry.

Sen. Lee continues to fight inflation

Sen. Mike Lee (R-UT) sought passage of his Preventing Runaway Inflation in Consumer Expenditures (PRICE) Act as a part of his continued effort to counter rising inflation. Utah families are feeling the pains of inflation more acutely than those from almost all other states. This week's Consumer Price Index grew beyond expectations placing inflation at a staggering 9.1% nationally. Sen. Lee's PRICE Act would require a three-fifths supermajority vote in the Senate to pass new spending measures when inflation is deemed to be above 3% nationally. This bill constitutes a pillar of Lee's detailed plan to fight inflation. Government spending, especially deficit spending, is considered a major contributor to inflation. (Read More)

Situational Analysis | July 21, 2022

It's Thursday and National Junk Food Day. So many options....

Be in the Know

- As Utah gears up to celebrate a (very hot) Pioneer Day weekend, have some fun with Utahisms. Do you "fill" sick? Or fish in a crik? Or do you swallow the "t" in mountain? Many of our quirky expressions and pronunciation comes from the early Pioneers, it turns out. BYU linguistics professor David Eddington sorts fact from fiction regarding these “Utah” terms in his recently published Utahisms: Unique Expressions, Inventions, Place Names & More. For example, pronouncing that southern Utah town "Hur-ah-kun" reflects the pioneers British origins and Spanish "Fark" reflects the Irish heritage. The word "scones" instead of "fry bread" is unique to Utah.
- Speaking of pioneers, a new database of newspaper advertisements appearing in the Women's Exponent, the preeminent woman’s newspaper published in Salt Lake City from 1872 to 1914, give a glimpse into women's lives on the frontier. For example, one can find ads for a single bottle of tonic to cure diabetes, cancer, ulcers and dizziness, raisins and currants for Christmas mince meat pies, and midwifery courses taught by a certified female doctor, only $30 a term. One of the most avant-garde advertisements ran for almost a decade: a Zion's Bank ad encouraging women to open their own accounts, under their own control, decades before national laws were passed allowing women to do so. The ads were signed by the president of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (who also served as the bank president.)

Rapid Roundup

- Pleasant Grove, Cedar Hills and American Fork residents warned about another mountain lion following attack on dog, windows broken overnight at 8 Latter-day Saint meetinghouses in southern Utah, a large power outage is affecting thousands of Pleasant Grove residents this morning, and a Utah paramedic returns from a volunteer medical mission in Ukraine.
- As we enter the harvesting season in Ukraine, food shortages could be an issue. USU graduate research fellow Hayden Jensen explains how CRISPR gene editing in agriculture could help alleviate some of the shortage issues.

Romney: We must ensure the world understands Russia's malevolence

At a hearing on the global food security crisis and the U.S. response,U.S. Senator Mitt Romney (R-UT) pressed USAID Administrator Samantha Power and UN Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield on whether the United States and other nations are sufficiently stepping in to solve the food crisis being created by Russia and its blockade on Ukraine. He called out Russia's malevolence toward Ukraine and other nations and urged the need to communicate Putin's disinformation to the world. (Read/Watch More)

Rep. Stewart introduces bipartisan search and rescue bill

Today, Reps. Chris Stewart (R-UT) and Ed Case (D-HI) introduced the Public Lands Search and Rescue Act of 2022. The program is intended to help with "remote search and rescue." (Read More)

Romney, colleagues introduce reforms to the Electoral Count Act of 1887

Today, after months of bipartisan negotiations, led by U.S. Senators Susan Collins (R-ME) and Joe Manchin (D-WV), U.S. Senator Mitt Romney (R-UT) and his colleagues introduced two proposals which include legislation to reform and modernize the outdated Electoral Count Act of 1887 to ensure that the electoral votes tallied by Congress accurately reflect each state's vote for President.

"From the beginning, our bipartisan group has shared a vision of drafting legislation to fix the flaws of the archaic and ambiguous Electoral Count Act of 1887," the senators said in a joint statement. "Through numerous meetings and debates among our colleagues as well as conversations with a wide variety of election experts and legal scholars, we have developed legislation that establishes clear guidelines for our system of certifying and counting electoral votes for President and Vice President. We urge our colleagues in both parties to support these simple, commonsense reforms." (Read More)

Sen. Lee fights Biden's war on energy

Sen. Mike Lee (R-UT) stood against high energy prices today in asking the Senate to pass his bill reaffirming the law to limit the President's authority to delay or forgo legally required sales of energy leases on federal land. Sen. Lee was joined in this effort by Sen. Rick Scott (R-FL) and Sen. Dan Sullivan (R-AK). Utah is currently facing some of the highest gas prices in the nation with an average price over five dollars a gallon. (Read/Watch More)

You might have already heard about this, but CMS did release a statement a few weeks ago regarding trigger laws in states surrounding abortion. ASTHO shared this with me today:

https://www.cms.gov/newsroom/press-releases/statement-cms-administrator-chiquita-brooks-lasure-access-reproductive-health-care

It sounds like ASTHO is also talking about bringing states together with trigger laws to discuss a number of different issues (i.e. Medicaid, medications, etc.). Hopefully you are also hearing from ASTHO staff that may be working with State Medicaid Directors.

Situational Analysis | July 22, 2022

We made it to Friday of another long weekend! Be safe, be cool, have fun. My husband and I will spend the weekend replacing kitchen cabinets and countertop in our son and daughter-in-laws home and will be thankful for air conditioning the entire time.

Be in the Know

- Despite desperate pleas from aides, allies, a Republican congressional leader and even his family, Donald Trump refused to call off the Jan. 6 mob attack on the Capitol. In last night's Jan. 6 committee hearing, audio was played of Gen. Mark Milley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, reacting with surprise to the former president's reaction to the attack. "You're the commander-in-chief. You've got an assault going on on the Capitol of the United States of America. And there's Nothing? No call? Nothing Zero?" Milley said. At the Capitol, the mob was chanting "Hang Mike Pence," testified Matt Pottinger, the former deputy national security adviser, as Trump tweeted that Pence was a coward. Meanwhile, recordings of Secret Service radio transmissions revealed agents at the Capitol trying to whisk Pence to safety amid the mayhem and asking for messages to be relayed telling their own families goodbye because they did not know if they would live to see the end of the day. In the early evening of Jan. 6, after hours of rioting, Mr. Trump had only one thing to say: "Mike Pence let me down."

University of Utah Research Park passes committee

Sen. Mike Lee's (R-UT) University of Utah Research Park Act passed the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee today with a bipartisan vote. This bill would preserve the University of Utah's nearly 600-acre research park and avoid possible action by the Bureau of Land Management to repurpose the land. Research Park is a center for research and development serving both the University and the local workforce. Research Park is situated on a parcel of land which was transferred to the University by the Bureau of Land Management in 1968. Sen. Lee's bill would remove an encumbrance from that land patent to ensure Research Park remains productive and thriving. The bill is now eligible for consideration by the full Senate. (Read More)

It's Monday and National Hot Fudge Sundae Day. Or, if you wait outside a few minutes, you can enjoy your chocolate milk....

Also, happy Pioneer Day to those still celebrating.

Be in the Know

- Utah's Tony Finau wins PGA Tour's 3M Championship with a tournament-record five-shot comeback. Finau made four birdies on the back nine at TPC Twin Cities in Blaine, Minn., to overtake former BYU golfer Scott Piercy for his third tour win
- Russian military forces launched missiles at the southern Ukrainian port of Odessa over the weekend, just one day after Russia and Ukraine signed an agreement—brokered by Turkey and the United Nations—to alleviate global food shortages by reopening blockaded Ukrainian ports and allowing grain exports to flow again. "That's all you need to know about deals with Russia," Estonian Prime Minister Kaja Kallas said.

Rapid Roundup

- Holly Mullen returns to journalism as the Salt Lake Tribune's Innovation Lab editor, a federal move to make daylight savings time permanent hits a brick wall in the House, a neighbor's firework catches Magna home on fire, missing Layton man's truck found by Ariz. border, family fears foul play, motorcyclist on I-15 dies after being rear-ended by Tesla reportedly on autopilot, and those unusual lights in Utah's night sky? Not UFOs. Probably.

Situational Analysis | July 27, 2022

Good Wednesday morning to ya. It's National Crème Brûlée Day, a dessert that looks fancy, tastes amazing and is super easy to make.

Be in the Know

- Previously undisclosed emails provide an inside look at the efforts by advisers to President Donald J. Trump to reverse his election defeat in the weeks before the Jan. 6 attack. “We would just be sending in ‘fake’ electoral votes to Pence so that ‘someone’ in Congress can make an objection when they start counting votes, and start arguing that the ‘fake’ votes should be counted,” Jack Wilenchik, a Phoenix-based lawyer who helped organize the pro-Trump electors in Arizona, wrote in a Dec. 8, 2020, email to Boris Epshteyn, a strategic adviser for the Trump campaign. In a follow-up email, Mr. Wilenchik wrote that “‘alternative’ votes is probably a better term than ‘fake’ votes,” adding a smiley face emoji. US Attorney General Merrick Garland calls the Justice Department's Jan. 6 probe the 'most wide-ranging investigation in its history" and does not rule out criminal charges for Donald Trump.

Rapid Roundup

- A fire broke out inside the Orem LDS temple that is still under construction, the body of a missing Layton man is found in Arizona, Buzz Aldrin's Apollo 11 moon jacket sells at auction for an astronomical $2.8M, only 31 new emojis will be introduced this year (down from 300+ in 2020), and RIP to the Choco Taco.

Stigma Around Substance Use During Pregnancy: A Louisiana Response

States Leverage COVID-19 Relief Funding to Improve Accessibility for

[redacted]

Opioid use disorder during pregnancy contributes to maternal death and poor birth outcomes. Although prenatal care can reduce these effects, pregnant individuals may delay care due to concerns about stereotyping and stigmatizing by providers.

Joseph Kanter, MD, MPH, (SHO-LA) and Amy Ladley, PhD, discuss Louisiana's approach to reducing stigma and fears of criminalization around opioid use in pregnant and postpartum individuals, and the importance of partnerships. Learn more in this new episode of the Public Health Review podcast.

People with Disabilities

This week, we are commemorating 32 years of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) opening access to employment, transportation, housing, public accommodations, and governmental programs for people with disabilities. In addition to the federal law, a majority of states have enacted laws protecting the rights of people with disabilities.

Learn more about how states have used COVID-19 funding to improve care and accommodations for people with disabilities in this week's Health Policy Update.

It's Friday and National Lasagna Day. Party party 🎉 🥳

Be in the Know

- Erica Glenn spent the summer in Poland and has experienced first-hand the collective PTSD of Polish citizens whose parents and grandparents experienced Russia's "freeing" them from Nazis by razing cities to the ground. It's because of that collective memory, however, that Poland flung open their doors to Ukrainian refugees from the beginning of the war. “We are trying to do for Ukraine what no one did for us during World War II,” said one of her guides.
- Meanwhile, 40 Ukrainian prisoners of war were killed and 75 wounded when a missile strike hit the prison where they were being held. Russia says Ukraine did it and Ukraine says Russia shelled the prison to eliminate evidence of war crimes. Another strike hit Mykolaiv and a Russian soldier castrated a Ukrainian solder with a box cutter, filmed it and shared it. Horrifying.

Romney outlines his vision for the future of conservative family policy

Thursday, in a speech at the American Enterprise Institute (AEI), U.S. Senator Mitt Romney (R-UT) outlined his vision for how public policy can best support American families. He then sat down with AEI President Robert Doar to discuss his recently proposed Family Security Act 2.0, which aims to reform existing, complex federal programs into one straightforward pro-family, pro-life, and pro-work benefit. Romney proposes new data agency for the protection of public health

Romney's Center for Public Health Data would establish an early warning system for infectious disease

U.S. Senator Mitt Romney (R-UT) proposed a new data agency to improve access to impartial and objective public health data that would bolster our infectious disease intelligence and preparedness. This data already exists in electronic forms across laboratories, clinics, and hospitals, but is incomplete and fragmented across the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) and is not shared quickly enough to drive decision making. The Center for Public Health Data (CPHD) would aggregate this existing data to make it more accessible in real time. A two-pager of the proposal can be found here. (Read More)

Senate passes Romney, Stewart, Owens, Curtis bill to save Utah's Great Salt Lake

The Senate passed the Great Salt Lake Recovery Act, legislation introduced by U.S. Senator Mitt Romney (R-UT) to study historic drought conditions and protect the long-term health of the Great Salt Lake in Utah. Earlier this month, the Great Salt Lake dropped to its lowest level on record for the second time in a year, posing a threat to Utah's environment and economy. Representatives Chris Stewart (R-UT), Burgess Owens (R-UT), and John Curtis (R-UT) lead the companion legislation in the House. (Read More)

Owens introduces bipartisan resolution honoring victims of the Munich Massacre

Ahead of the 50th Anniversary of the Munich Massacre, Reps. Burgess Owens (UT-04), Brad Sherman (CA-30), and Shontel Brown (OH-11) today introduced a bipartisan House Resolution calling for a moment of silence in Congress and at all future Olympic Opening Ceremonies in honor of the eleven Israeli athletes who were brutally murdered by a group of Palestinian terrorists at the 1972 Summer Olympics in Munich.

"During the 1972 Summer Olympics in Munich, eleven Israeli athletes were brutally murdered by 'Black September,' a group of Palestinian terrorists," said Rep. Owens. "As we approach the 50th anniversary of the Munich Massacre, I am humbled to join Reps. Sherman and Brown to honor the victims of this dark day. Throughout history, the unifying power of sports and peaceful competition has brought us together. Now more than ever, we must fight all forms of terrorism, antisemitism, and hate." (Read More)

Lee amendments bolster child online safety

During a markup focused on protecting children's online privacy, Sen. Mike Lee (R-UT) offered thirteen amendments, nine of which the Senate Commerce Committee adopted. Lee's amendments were adopted as part of Sen. Blumenthal's (D- CT) and Sen. Blackburn's (R-TN) Kids Online Safety Act (KOSA) and provide additional regulatory safeguards and protections for children online. Sen. Lee voted in favor of pushing KOSA out of committee while noting the work still needed to improve the bill. (Read/Watch More)

SUMMARY OF COMMUNITY CONVERSATIONS

In the spring of 2022, the Utah Women & Leadership Project convened 11 community conversations with women of color in Utah, and this report summarizes what Pacific Islander (PI) women shared at two of these gatherings. Additional background information and research methods can be found here. This summary of select findings complements this research snapshot.

MOST PRESSING ISSUES

1. Education and career
2. Belonging
3. Health

EDUCATION AND CAREER

Expand horizons: While there is a cultural emphasis on education, there is also expectation from both inside and outside the culture that PI students will pursue sports during their education. This limits personal expectations and goals since they see themselves only in athletic contexts. As one participant stated, "I didn't know Polynesians could be anything other than football or volleyball players until I met more who were doing everything else." Lack of information can be a barrier to choosing more skilled professions, with participants saying, "Educational leaders talk about keeping students of color on the path, and I come from people who don't even know that path exists. How do we get these kids to know that there are options, starting when they are young? They need somebody they trust who has access to resources."

Need for representation: Participants believe that lack of cultural representation and support in school prevents students from dreaming big. As one stated, "The education piece fails from the beginning as they don't see themselves represented in other students, educators, or support groups. Our children cannot get to the next level because nobody represents them, nobody includes them." Another said, "Our kids don't talk about careers because people don't talk to them about careers. They don't want to take advanced classes because nobody looks like them in those classes. They don't understand the options they have to pay for a good education." As one woman added, "Our children are taught they're not good enough, so my daughter doesn't see herself as part of that advanced group." Yet when the situation is ideal, "It's amazing what people can do when they feel comfortable."

Cultural skills advantage: PIs should capitalize on their innate cultural skills, such as bringing people together and valuing the collective over the individual, which benefit many professions. One participant said, "Compassion is in Polynesians' DNA, therefore they are great healthcare workers. Compassion is 90% of the job." Another expanded, "It's against our nature to be cutthroat and competitive, and I encourage everyone to bring their true selves to whatever position they're in. Don't table who you are, your ability to care, or your ability to build bridges, because that's what our culture is. It's about community, the village, the tribe. It's why I think it's so hard for our kids to assert themselves, and it's hard for us as professionals. Infiltrate, push that culture of love, of Aloha, of caring, of speaking up for youth. Your purpose is to culturize every position you touch in any place that you're in." The untapped leadership potential is vast. another participant stated: "I don't see us in the decision-making process like where budget decisions are made. But we have so much to contribute because we're group thinkers and we want to see the group succeed."

BELONGING

Utah needs to maintain the momentum: Continue unconscious bias training and diversity, equity, and inclusion efforts. Bias is perpetuated generationally; training needs to start early and become embedded. For example, one woman described a recent experience where her professionally in-demand husband showed up for an in-person job interview: after looking at him, the interviewer said the professional position was closed, but that a warehouse position was open. The attendee was surprised that such discrimination still happens: "Is there actual lawful redress? Is there really equal

Take protective measures against mosquito bites

Salt Lake City—Even though no human cases of West Nile virus in Utah have been reported to date, the Utah Department of Health and Human Services says the virus has been found in mosquito pools in Davis, Salt Lake, and Uintah counties. That means the risk of West Nile virus spreading to humans still exists.

West Nile virus is spread by mosquitoes and can cause illness in people and animals. While most people who get infected with West Nile virus will have no symptoms, some develop symptoms similar to the flu, including fever, headache, body aches, nausea, or rashes. In a small number of cases, people can develop a severe form of the virus, which can result in hospitalization and death. Symptoms of the severe form of West Nile virus include high fever, severe headache, stiff neck, disorientation, and confusion. If you are experiencing symptoms, contact a healthcare provider immediately.

“West Nile virus has an annual presence in Utah and it isn’t going away," according to Hannah Rettler, Utah Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) vector borne/zoonotic epidemiologist. “Now is a good time to protect yourself from mosquito bites and work to eliminate mosquito breeding sites around your home," adds Rettler.

Take these simple precautions to avoid mosquito bites and reduce your risk for infection:

- Wear long-sleeves, long pants, and socks while outdoors and use an insect repellent with 20%-30% DEET, which is safe to use during pregnancy. Repellents are not recommended for children younger than two months of age.
- The hours from dusk to dawn are peak biting times for many mosquitoes. Consider rescheduling outdoor activities that occur in the evening or early morning.
- Mosquitoes lay their eggs in standing water. Remove any puddles of water or standing water including in pet dishes, flower pots, wading and swimming pools, buckets, tarps, and tires.
- Report bodies of stagnant water to your local Mosquito Abatement District (MAD). Visit http://www.umaa.org/ for a list of MADs.
- Keep doors, windows, and screens in good condition and make sure they fit tightly.
- Consult with an immunization travel clinic before traveling to areas that may have mosquito-borne illness such as Zika or dengue and take the necessary precautions.

West Nile virus surveillance will continue into early fall. You can find an updated weekly report at https://epi.health.utah.gov/west-nile-virus-reports/. For more information about West Nile virus, call your local health department or visit https://epi.health.utah.gov/west-nile-virus/.

Eric -

Just checking in on the status of the following legislative required report. I have down in our records (DHHS Legislative Items Due_2022) that Brent asked you to take the lead on this specific report.

As a reminder, EDO would like at least one week prior to the due date to review the report and provide feedback. Please share the report with me and Shari when it is ready for EDO review.

Thanks!

HB 2, Item 80:

The Legislature intends that the Department of Human Services report back to the Social Services Appropriation Subcommittee no later than August 10, 2022 on how much it would cost to implement a statewide support program, that would qualify for expenditures from the Opioid Litigation Settlement Restricted Account, for pregnant women with substance use disorder to receive the following services: (1) a licensed social worker to help connect women with state services they are determined to need and are eligible to receive; (2) a peer support program; and (3) home visitation services through the child's first birthday. The Legislature further intends that the performance measures by which the program would be measured would include the following: (1) the rate of a diagnosis of neonatal abstinence syndrome at the time of delivery in the areas where the program has been implemented; and (2) the number of NICU days related to any substance use disorder in the areas where the program has been implemented.

It's Tuesday and National Ice Cream Sandwich Day. Mmmm.

Also, a major crash on I-15 in Davis County is causing major backups this morning. Hydroplaning in standing water is suspected. Be careful out there!

Be in the Know

- President Joe Biden announced Monday that the United States killed al-Qaeda leader Ayman al-Zawahiri, who helped plan the Sept. 11, 2001 attacks. U.S. officials said Zawahiri died in a CIA drone strike on his Kabul safe house Saturday night. Zawahiri had been in hiding for years and the operation to locate and kill him was the result of "careful patient and persistent" work by the counter-terrorism and intelligence community, a senior administration official told reporters. “Justice has been delivered, and this terrorist leader is no more,” Biden said.

Utah's fertility rate continues to drop, now fourth highest in the nation

Utah's declining fertility rate made state headlines in 2016 when it no longer ranked highest in the country. Since then, Utah's total fertility rate of 1.92 births per woman has declined nationally from highest to fourth highest, with rates in South Dakota (1.98), Nebraska (1.94), and North Dakota (1.93) exceeding Utah's. The latest figures are summarized in the latest research brief from the Kem C. Gardner Policy Institute, which shows the Beehive State's decline mirroring a decadal decline in fertility in every U.S. region, state, and Washington, D.C. The Intermountain West and Pacific divisions experienced the sharpest declines. (Read More)

Subject: Legislative Required Reports for SSA - August 1, 2022

Sean, Russell, and Kimberly -

Please see the attached reports from DHHS due to SSA by August 1, 2022:

- Antipsychotic Use in Serious Mental Illness
- Concurrent Prescriptions for Opioid and Benzodiazepines
- Urine Drug Testing Report

The Department has two other reports due to SSA in the coming days that are still being finalized:

- Net impact to the Spinal Cord and Brain Injury Rehabilitation Fund of implementing cost sharing (August 1)
- Cost to implement a statewide support program, that would qualify for expenditures from the Opioid Litigation Settlement Restricted Account, for pregnant women with substance use disorder to receive various services (August 10)

Please let us know if you have any questions.

Eric -

Just checking in on the status of the following legislative required report. I have down in our records (DHHS Legislative Items Due_2022) that Brent asked you to take the lead on this specific report.

As a reminder, EDO would like at least one week prior to the due date to review the report and provide feedback. Please share the report with me and Shari when it is ready for EDO review.

Thanks!

HB 2, Item 80:

The Legislature intends that the Department of Human Services report back to the Social Services Appropriation Subcommittee no later than August 10, 2022 on how much it would cost to implement a statewide support program, that would qualify for expenditures from the Opioid Litigation Settlement Restricted Account, for pregnant women with substance use disorder to receive the following services: (1) a licensed social worker to help connect women with state services they are determined to need and are eligible to receive; (2) a peer support program; and (3) home visitation services through the child's first birthday. The Legislature further intends that the performance measures by which the program would be measured would include the following: (1) the rate of a diagnosis of neonatal abstinence syndrome at the time of delivery in the areas where the program has been implemented; and (2) the number of NICU days related to any substance use disorder in the areas where the program has been implemented.

Situational Analysis | August 3, 2022

It's Wednesday and National Watermelon Day. Besides just eating it plain, one of our favorite recipes is cubed watermelon, lime juice and fresh mint. Also delicious when adding feta cheese. 🍉

Be in the Know

- Voters in Kansas resoundingly rejected a proposed amendment to their constitution that would have specified that there was no explicit right to an abortion. That change would have allowed Kansas lawmakers to pass a total abortion ban.
- Speaking of abortion, the Justice Department filed a lawsuit Tuesday challenging Idaho's near-total abortion ban. The lawsuit—the Department's first abortion litigation since the Supreme Court overturned Roe v. Wade earlier this summer—alleges that the Idaho law's narrow life-of-the-mother exception conflicts with federal law requiring hospitals to provide life-saving treatment.
- The Senate voted again and passed a bill expanding health benefits for veterans exposed to toxic burn pits, sending it to President Joe Biden's desk. Republicans had reversed their support and stonewalled its passage last week, crediting their opposition to discretionary spending objections. Democrats and advocates accused them of withholding the money in retaliation for the Democrats' newly-announced reconciliation spending package. Senators Lee and Romney remained no votes.
- House Speaker Nancy Pelosi landed in Taiwan yesterday, becoming the highest-ranking United States politician to visit the island since the 1990s. She reiterated that the US will not abandon Taiwan, even as China saber-rattles. China considers the self-governed island part of its territory and announced plans for live-fire military exercises surrounding the island once Pelosi leaves. It also announced import bans on citrus and some fish products from Taiwan. Taiwan expects increased 'psychological warfare' after Pelosi visit.

Utah Foundation wins top awards for policy research

Last week, the Utah Foundation was honored with several awards from the Governmental Research Association, a national association of governmental research professionals. The GRA presented the awards at its 109th annual conference and meeting, hosted by the Economy League of Greater Philadelphia.

The Utah Foundation's honors were as follows:

- Communications Category, Best Video: The Missing Middle of the Housing Market
- Most Distinguished Research Award, State Government Issue: Going for the Green: How Utah Can Thrive in the New Climate Economy
- Most Effective Education Awards, Local Government Issue: Middle Housing Study

"These awards offer hard evidence of the staffs' determination to ensure that this is among the most effective governmental research organizations in the nation," said Utah Foundation Chair Art Turner. "But, more importantly, the awards highlight projects designed to serve Utahns and assist decision makers."

Utah's multiracial resident population added most residents between 2010 and 2020

Utah's multiracial (two or more races) resident population added the most residents and was the fastest-growing racial or ethnic group regardless of Hispanic or Latino origin between 2010 and 2020, according to a report from the Kem C. Gardner Policy Institute. The report uses the 2020 census redistricting data to provide insights into Utah's multiracial population, including ethnicity, youth and adult populations, and where people live.

Considering race alone without ethnicity, the multiracial (two or more races) population increased by 276% since 2010 in the United States and 269% in Utah. Utah's multiracial population growth ranked 13th fastest in the nation. This increase accounted for an additional 203,495 Utahns and drove approximately 40% of the decade's statewide growth. Western Governors University celebrates its 88th commencement this weekend in Salt Lake City

Western Governors University (WGU) will celebrate its 88th commencement in the university's 25-year history at Vivint Arena in Salt Lake City on Saturday, August 6th. A total of 1,368 graduates who have earned their bachelor's and master's degrees will participate in the ceremonies.

WGU is committed to serving nontraditional students, which is reflected in Saturday's graduating class, with approximately 55% of participants coming from one or more of the following historically underserved populations: first-generation college students, students of color, rural residents, and/or low-income earners. Graduates earned degrees in business, education, information technology, and health professions, including nursing. Many work full time and raise families while completing their programs. (Read More)

Romney comments on Democrats' reconciliation package

"If you have been paying attention to the news lately, you've see that there is a piece of legislation that is going to be done by reconciliation in Washington, called the Inflation Reduction Act. By the way, if you believe it's going to reduce inflation, I have a bridge in Brooklyn I'll sell you. This is not about inflation reduction, this is all about Democrats spending on things they want to spend money on. I'm not going to support it. I don't think any Republicans are going to support it. Why is that? Well, it's another taxing and spending bill. And specifically, there are a number of things they are going to do that I think are pretty harmful." (Read/Watch More)

Romney calls on Defense Department to complete report on U.S. competition with China

U.S. Senator Mitt Romney (R-UT) called on Defense Secretary Lloyd Austin to complete the mandatory, comprehensive reports comparing U.S. military spending with Chinese and Russian military investments required by a provision that Romney secured in the FY2021 National Defense Authorization Act (NDAA). Given that China and Russia do not report their military spending in the same way the United States does, this report will help the U.S. understand the actual purchasing power of China and Russia and inform decisions regarding how we should invest in defense capabilities. Maggie -

Utah currently has a law in place that allows for women 18+ to access contraception but it is a bit of an administrative nightmare.

Do you know of any states that are operating this successfully? Have they run into issues with pharmacies being willing to participate? Liability for those that sell or prescribe?

Any help you and my counterparts could offer would be appreciated!

Good morning,

Yesterday Marc and I met to discuss the ask of utilizing its comprehensive list of policies that are family friendly to develop a proposal for a package of policies. Yesterday afternoon Tracy informed me that the plan is for her and some of the senior leadership to meet with the LG on 8/15 (Tracy is that right?) to review the list so the timeline for getting this done is a bit more accelerated than I thought. Marc and I had discussed having a draft ready in a few weeks.

Tracy you also mentioned we need to touch base and understand what the LG's Office is working on. I'm looking for a time tomorrow, would 3-3:30 work for everyone or maybe 4:30-5:30? I can't see everyone's calendars.

I was planning on creating a templated document for us to work on together (I'll do that today) based on an outline we brainstormed yesterday. Here's the outline, would love feedback:

Thinking about families throughout the continuum starting with pregnancy and working through the family timeline. Each broader theme will have a desired result attached and the following elements:

1. What is the desired result?
2. What currently exists?
3. What needs to be fixed? What barriers exist? What policies need to change?
4. Statistical data

The broader themes:

1. Preventing unwanted pregnancies
2. Improving access to efficient adoption services (Marc I added this to the list I don't think we discussed yesterday)
3. Supporting pregnant women
4. Increasing economic supports for families
5. Increasing access to parenting support for families

Within each of the broader themes we'd focus on 1-2 policy recommendations, here's some examples we brainstormed yesterday (there are a lot of other areas we can focus on but these are some ideas):

1. Preventing unwanted pregnancies
    1. Focus on contraceptive access
        1. Understanding and removing barriers with regards to the standing order (Marc and I looked briefly at the standing order requirements and it seems obvious now why pharmacies don't want to engage but I'll do a bit more digging, turns out the standing order requires quite a bit of monitoring and evaluation from pharmacists including administering a self-assessment tool, and continued reviews at 3 months, 12 months, 24 months, 36 months, and 48 months). Here's a link to the standing order https://health.utah.gov/wp-content/uploads/ContraceptiveStandingOrderFINAL.pdf and here's a link to the approved self-assessment tool from DOPL https://dopl.utah.gov/pharm/hormonal_contraception_questionnaire.pdf. Apparently pharmacies can create their own but it has to be approved by us and I'm not sure what the mechanism/process in place is for pharmacies to get that approval?
2. Improving access to efficient adoption services
    1. Need to do more research on this issue but possibly providing more financial assistance
3. Supporting pregnant women
    1. Extending Medicaid postpartum coverage to pregnant women between 138% and 200% FPL to 12 months (this has been proposed in the past and there's lots of information out there from us and other states, I suggested we bring in Nate and Jen to talk this through)
4. Increasing economic supports for families
    1. Increasing incentives for child support compliance
    2. There are a lot of other policies to review and choose from
5. Increasing access to parenting support for families
    1. Expanding outreach and education on programs that exist such as parenting classes, home visiting opportunities, early childhood development programs, etc. . .

Colorado's Suicide And Overdose Prevention Strategy

Suicide and overdose are among the top 10 leading causes of death in the United States. Addressing these complex issues requires cross-sector partnerships. This video highlights the Colorado National Collaborative, an innovative effort that brings national, state, and local partners together to mitigate risk factors and build protective factors associated with suicide and overdose.

Learn how this collaborative framework is improving prevention efforts in Colorado and how a similar collaborative approach might benefit other states.

Policies

Obesity is on the rise throughout the United States, and with it increased risk for diabetes, heart disease, stroke, and cancer.

While there is no single approach to reducing obesity, a significant piece of the puzzle is healthy eating and increasing access to healthy foods. States have identified different strategies to implement healthy eating approaches and reduce obesity at the school and community levels, as well as through food labeling at grocery stores and food markets.

Learn more about these strategies in this week's Health Policy Update.

Sean, Russell, and Kimberly -

Please see the attached report from DHHS that was due to SSA by August 1, 2022:

- Net impact to the Spinal Cord and Brain Injury Rehabilitation Fund of implementing cost sharing

The Department has one other report due to SSA in the coming days that is still being finalized:

- Cost to implement a statewide support program, that would qualify for expenditures from the Opioid Litigation Settlement Restricted Account, for pregnant women with substance use disorder to receive various services (August 10)

Please let us know if you have any questions.

Good morning,

Yesterday Marc and I met to discuss the ask of utilizing its comprehensive list of policies that are family friendly to develop a proposal for a package of policies. Yesterday afternoon Tracy informed me that the plan is for her and some of the senior leadership to meet with the LG on 8/15 (Tracy is that right?) to review the list so the timeline for getting this done is a bit more accelerated than I thought. Marc and I had discussed having a draft ready in a few weeks.

Tracy you also mentioned we need to touch base and understand what the LG's Office is working on. I'm looking for a time tomorrow, would 3-3:30 work for everyone or maybe 4:30-5:30? I can't see everyone's calendars.

I was planning on creating a templated document for us to work on together (I'll do that today) based on an outline we brainstormed yesterday. Here's the outline, would love feedback:

Thinking about families throughout the continuum starting with pregnancy and working through the family timeline. Each broader theme will have a desired result attached and the following elements:

1. What is the desired result?
2. What currently exists?
3. What needs to be fixed? What barriers exist? What policies need to change?
4. Statistical data

The broader themes:

1. Preventing unwanted pregnancies
2. Improving access to efficient adoption services (Marc I added this to the list I don't think we discussed yesterday)
3. Supporting pregnant women
4. Increasing economic supports for families
5. Increasing access to parenting support for families

Within each of the broader themes we'd focus on 1-2 policy recommendations, here's some examples we brainstormed yesterday (there are a lot of other areas we can focus on but these are some ideas):

1. Preventing unwanted pregnancies
    1. Focus on contraceptive access
        1. Understanding and removing barriers with regards to the standing order (Marc and I looked briefly at the standing order requirements and it seems obvious now why pharmacies don't want to engage but I'll do a bit more digging, turns out the standing order requires quite a bit of monitoring and evaluation from pharmacists including administering a self-assessment tool, and continued reviews at 3 months, 12 months, 24 months, 36 months, and 48 months). Here's a link to the standing order https://health.utah.gov/wp-content/uploads/ContraceptiveStandingOrderFINAL.pdf and here's a link to the approved self-assessment tool from DOPL https://dopl.utah.gov/pharm/hormonal_contraception_questionnaire.pdf. Apparently pharmacies can create their own but it has to be approved by us and I'm not sure what the mechanism/process in place is for pharmacies to get that approval?
2. Improving access to efficient adoption services
    1. Need to do more research on this issue but possibly providing more financial assistance
3. Supporting pregnant women
    1. Extending Medicaid postpartum coverage to pregnant women between 138% and 200% FPL to 12 months (this has been proposed in the past and there's lots of information out there from us and other states, I suggested we bring in Nate and Jen to talk this through)
4. Increasing economic supports for families
    1. Increasing incentives for child support compliance
    2. There are a lot of other policies to review and choose from
5. Increasing access to parenting support for families
    1. Expanding outreach and education on programs that exist such as parenting classes, home visiting opportunities, early childhood development programs, etc. . .

I received this response from my contact at Krogers, I can tell you that I've known people personally who've contacted some Smith's in the past year and were told that they must have an initial prescription first before Smith's will refill. It sounds like that might be due to some internal communication issues.

Hi Krisann,

Here you go:

1. Does Krogers participate in this program? Yes
2. Why or why not? We recognize the importance of access to contraception for our patients. Our general stance is to support our pharmacists in practicing at the top of their license wherever possible and appreciate the fact that pharmacists are allowed in the state of Utah to provide this service.
3. Are there barriers that the State could help address? There are a few significant barriers to our ability to offer this service. I am not sure how the state may be able to assist, but the main barriers are listed here:
    a. Payment for the consultation. Patients must pay for the service out of pocket since insurance companies don't recognize pharmacists as providers. This particularly becomes an issue when pharmacists assess a patient and identify that the patient must be referred. Then either the pharmacist has provided the service up to that point for free or the patient pays for the assessment only to leave without a prescription, having to go to a different provider.
    b. Due to other priorities, our organization has not really promoted the service through our normal marketing channels. To be honest, pharmacy usually gets limited marketing support in general and it's usually focused on more established services like vaccines. We rely on word of mouth to spread awareness that the service is available, which is not very effective.
    c. As with many industries and especially in healthcare, our pharmacies are suffering from staffing shortages and high turnover. Mostly pharmacy technicians but also pharmacists. This, coupled with the COVID vaccine demand, and looking ahead to flu vaccine season/COVID boosters, capacity is a concern.

I hope this helps. I'd be happy to discuss further.
Thanks,
Jaime

Hi Jaime,

I hope all is well with you, I am working on a project for Department leadership unrelated to COVID and I'm wondering if you could provide me some insight for Krogers regarding a particular issue.

It's related to the Utah Statewide Standing Order Pharmacist Dispensing of Hormonal Contraception and Utah Hormonal Contraceptive Self-Screening Questionnaire. I have just a few questions I'm hoping you can respond to:

1. Does Krogers participate in this program?
2. Why or why not?
3. Are there barriers that the State could help address?

Any other information or perspectives you have related to this issue would be greatly appreciated! I'm hoping you can respond by early next week if possible?

Good morning! It's Monday and National Sneak Some Zucchini Into Your Neighbor's Porch Day. One year, after an abundance of zucchini, I tried canning some zucchini jam - 0/10, do not recommend.

Be in the Know

- The Senate on Sunday passed the $750 billion Inflation Reduction Act in a 51-50 party-line vote, with Vice President Kamala Harris breaking the tie. If it passes in the House as expected, it would spend some than $370 billion over 10 years for climate change policies, including tax credits for electric vehicles. It would also allow Medicare to negotiate the prices of some drugs, add a 15 percent minimum tax on large companies, and spend $80 billion to expand the Internal Revenue Service.

Chair Diane Lewis released the following statement:

"First of all, I would like to state plainly and clearly that harassment of any kind has absolutely no place in our party, and those who engage in it should face the consequences. The leadership of the Utah Democratic Party stands with those who have spoken out about their experiences, and we believe that there should be a full investigation of sexual harassment of any kind within our party. Nobody should be able to get away with misconduct, especially not those in power, and I stand unequivocally with anyone who has faced harassment." (Read More)

President J. Stuart Adams issued the following statement in regards to sexual harassment allegations made by a former intern against Sen. Gene Davis:

"Wednesday evening, I learned about the allegations concerning Sen. Davis from an online post made by a former intern. The entire Senate and I take these comments seriously. After reviewing recommendations from the legislative general counsel and human resource administrator, I have directed an independent investigation be initiated to evaluate these allegations. The Senate condemns and does not tolerate workplace harassment. It has no place in any political, professional or personal setting." (Read More)

Owens, Lieu introduce the Trafficking Survivors Relief Act of 2022

Today, Reps. "The Inflation Reduction Act would make vital and historic investments in America's future. The jobs this legislation will create alone is enough to get excited about, but the impact it will have in addressing the impacts of climate change is unprecedented. The U.S. Senate's vote today to advance this legislation is a critical first step in safeguarding our future."

"The Inflation Reduction Act would make a historic investment in clean energy and reducing emissions. Major independent analysis has found that Senate's Inflation Reduction Act would reduce America's greenhouse gas emissions by 40% by 2030, while also boosting energy security and helping to shield American consumers from volatile energy prices. Utah's growing clean energy and energy efficiency businesses are in great position to use these important investments to create jobs and new projects in communities throughout our state." (Read More)

Lee denounces so-called "Inflation Reduction Act"

Sen. Mike Lee denounced Senate Democrat's passage of the so-called Inflation Reduction Act. The bill spends hundreds of billions of dollars and raises taxes at a time when inflation has grown to 9.1% nationally and nearly 15% in Utah.

Democrats passed President Biden's legislation through what's known as the budget reconciliation process, meaning the bill could pass with a simple majority rather than the sixty votes customarily needed to advance legislation.

The non-partisan Joint Committee on Taxation estimates that the Inflation Reduction Act will raise taxes by $313 billion over the next ten years. The Penn Wharton budget model broke this down and concluded that this bill has no deficit reduction until at least 2027. (Read More)

Romney on passage of yet another partisan and reckless spending bill

U.S. Senator Mitt Romney (R-UT) today released the following statement after the Senate Democrats' unilaterally passed the Inflation Reduction Act—yet another reckless taxing-and-spending spree being touted as "anti-inflation" legislation:

"In March of last year, the Democrats passed their $1.9 trillion American Rescue Plan. Predictably, it contributed to the inflation we are seeing today. Americans are falling further and further behind as they face skyrocketing prices on everything from food to energy and medicines. Today, Democrats returned to their same tired playbook to raise taxes, spend more money, and expand the size of government. Every single Republican senator fought to stop their one-sided, partisan bill. Democrats called it an act to combat inflation. It does the opposite." (Read More)

Lee laments Democrat's rejection of PILT amendment

Sen. Mike Lee (R-UT) lamented the rejection of his amendment to the so-called Inflation Reduction Act that would have instituted a supplemental PILT payment over the next ten years.

In Utah, the federal government owns 66.48% of the total land. Payments in Lieu of Taxes (PILT) are federal payments to local governments designed to offset losses in property taxes due to nontaxable federal lands within their boundaries. However, these payments are far lower than what local governments could expect to collect in property taxes. To regard PILT payments as tax equivalents in Utah cities, they would need to be 262 times larger. Sen. Lee's amendment would have increased PILT payments by nearly 10%. Due to the unprecedented inflation caused by the Biden administration, local governments need this forgone revenue more than ever. (Read More)

Hello Krisann,
Thank you for the outreach. We are live with pharmacist based prescribing of hormonal contraceptives in many states and our teams have a roadmap to expansion. We are currently not live in Utah since we cannot leverage our universal digital tool for the patient assessment.

Other states permit our clinical teams to create a digital assessment form that incorporates all of the questions that would be part of the state form and transfers them over to our digital tool. We understand that this action is not allowed in Utah, which has impeded our ability to provide this service.

I am out-of-office this week as well, and I would happily wish to connect and see if we can rectify this matter upon my return.
Sincerely,
John

Hi Marc, my understanding is that since the SCI / BI Rehabilitation Fund is a payor of last resort, primary instances when cost-sharing occurs in Utah:

1. Medicaid / Medicare (as a result of job loss / insurance due to the injury)
2. Out-of-pocket

Typically participants of the SCI / BI Rehabilitation Fund exhaust all cost-sharing options prior to application for the SCI / BI Rehabilitation Funds. As a result, the data elements weren't historically tracked so it is difficult to determine the net impact of these cost-sharing efforts. If the subcommittee intends to look at the impact of the cost-sharing efforts over time, rather than the one-year provided, the program will study the issue more.

Cc'ed Teresa and Traci for additional input.

Hi Marc,

When you say more time is needed to study cost sharing options, what exactly do you mean? Do you plan to study the issue more? Will you only study more if the subcommittee requests it? How much time and effort would be required to do more study and come to a clearer conclusion? Thanks for the attached report.

Please see the attached report from DHHS that was due to SSA by August 1, 2022:

- Net impact to the Spinal Cord and Brain Injury Rehabilitation Fund of implementing cost sharing

The Department has one other report due to SSA in the coming days that is still being finalized:

- Cost to implement a statewide support program, that would qualify for expenditures from the Opioid Litigation Settlement Restricted Account, for pregnant women with substance use disorder to receive various services (August 10)

Hi Krisann,

Here you go:

1. Does Krogers participate in this program? Yes
2. Why or why not? We recognize the importance of access to contraception for our patients. Our general stance is to support our pharmacists in practicing at the top of their license wherever possible and appreciate the fact that pharmacists are allowed in the state of Utah to provide this service.
3. Are there barriers that the State could help address? There are a few significant barriers to our ability to offer this service. I am not sure how the state may be able to assist, but the main barriers are listed here:
    a. Payment for the consultation. Patients must pay for the service out of pocket since insurance companies don't recognize pharmacists as providers. This particularly becomes an issue when pharmacists assess a patient and identify that the patient must be referred. Then either the pharmacist has provided the service up to that point for free or the patient pays for the assessment only to leave without a prescription, having to go to a different provider.
    b. Due to other priorities, our organization has not really promoted the service through our normal marketing channels. To be honest, pharmacy usually gets limited marketing support in general and it's usually focused on more established services like vaccines. We rely on word of mouth to spread awareness that the service is available, which is not very effective.
    c. As with many industries and especially in healthcare, our pharmacies are suffering from staffing shortages and high turnover. Mostly pharmacy technicians but also pharmacists. This, coupled with the COVID vaccine demand, and looking ahead to flu vaccine season/COVID boosters, capacity is a concern.

I hope this helps. I'd be happy to discuss further.
Thanks,
Jaime

Hi Krisann,

Here you go:

1. Does Krogers participate in this program? Yes
2. Why or why not? We recognize the importance of access to contraception for our patients. Our general stance is to support our pharmacists in practicing at the top of their license wherever possible and appreciate the fact that pharmacists are allowed in the state of Utah to provide this service.
3. Are there barriers that the State could help address? There are a few significant barriers to our ability to offer this service. I am not sure how the state may be able to assist, but the main barriers are listed here:
    a. Payment for the consultation. Patients must pay for the service out of pocket since insurance companies don't recognize pharmacists as providers. This particularly becomes an issue when pharmacists assess a patient and identify that the patient must be referred. Then either the pharmacist has provided the service up to that point for free or the patient pays for the assessment only to leave without a prescription, having to go to a different provider.
    b. Due to other priorities, our organization has not really promoted the service through our normal marketing channels. To be honest, pharmacy usually gets limited marketing support in general and it's usually focused on more established services like vaccines. We rely on word of mouth to spread awareness that the service is available, which is not very effective.
    c. As with many industries and especially in healthcare, our pharmacies are suffering from staffing shortages and high turnover. Mostly pharmacy technicians but also pharmacists. This, coupled with the COVID vaccine demand, and looking ahead to flu vaccine season/COVID boosters, capacity is a concern.

I hope this helps. I'd be happy to discuss further.
Thanks,
Jaime

Hi Jaime,

I hope all is well with you, I am working on a project for Department leadership unrelated to COVID and I'm wondering if you could provide me some insight for Krogers regarding a particular issue.

It's related to the Utah Statewide Standing Order Pharmacist Dispensing of Hormonal Contraception and Utah Hormonal Contraceptive Self-Screening Questionnaire. I have just a few questions I'm hoping you can respond to:

1. Does Krogers participate in this program?
2. Why or why not?
3. Are there barriers that the State could help address?

Any other information or perspectives you have related to this issue would be greatly appreciated! I'm hoping you can respond by early next week if possible?

Hello Nate,
thanks for passing along the question.
A couple of items:
1. Medicaid does not reimburse for pharmacist consultative services.
2. Medicaid does reimburse for MTM (medication therapy management) services as of July 2022. A pharmacist could do an MTM consult on an individual receiving OCP's and be reimbursed for a consult.
3. As part of HB178 where pharmacists could consult (no reimbursement) and prescribe with HB178, there are 3 pharmacists registered with Medicaid as providers now.

Hope this helps. I can supply more info if needed.
Thanks
Jen

Hi Marc, my understanding is that since the SCI / BI Rehabilitation Fund is a payor of last resort, primary instances when cost-sharing occurs in Utah:

1. Medicaid / Medicare (as a result of job loss / insurance due to the injury)

[redacted]

2. Out-of-pocket

Typically participants of the SCI / BI Rehabilitation Fund exhaust all cost-sharing options prior to application for the SCI / BI Rehabilitation Funds. As a result, the data elements weren't historically tracked so it is difficult to determine the net impact of these cost-sharing efforts. If the subcommittee intends to look at the impact of the cost-sharing efforts over time, rather than the one-year provided, the program will study the issue more.

Hello to Tuesday. It's a day that deserves celebration: National Book Lovers Day. Two of my summer favorites were "The Warmth of Other Suns" by Isabel Wilkerson and "The Woman They Could Not Silence" by Kate Moore. What's one of the best books you've read recently? I'd love to know.

Be in the Know

- We lost two more icons. 😢 Olivia Newton-John passed away at age 73, after a multi-decade battle with breast cancer. From 1973-1983, she was one of the world's most popular entertainers, with 14 top-ten singles, 4 Grammy's and of course, starred in "Grease," setting a fashion trend of leather pants, big hair and big hoop earrings. David McCullough, best-selling author and historian, died at age 89. Zions Bank to celebrate the reopening of the "building shipped by mail"

After two years of extensive renovations, Zions Bank will celebrate the re-opening of its historic Parcel Post Bank with a ribbon cutting and community celebration on August 12 at 1:30 pm in Vernal.

Known as the "building shipped by mail," the Parcel Post Bank garnered national attention while it was being built in 1916. Vernal businessman William H. Coltharp found that he could ship the bricks by U.S. mail for less than half the price of sending them by freight wagon. He shipped 80,000 individually wrapped bricks, packed in 50-pound bundles, by parcel post 407 miles from Salt Lake City through Mack, Colorado to Vernal. The shipment overwhelmed the U.S. Postal Service, prompting new postal regulations nationwide. "It is not the intent of the United States Postal Service that buildings should be shipped through the mail," U.S. Postmaster General Albert S. Burleson wrote. (Read More)

Report shows more Utah children are struggling with anxiety or depression

Children in the United States are facing an unprecedented mental health crisis, according to a new 50-state report from the Annie E. Casey Foundation. The 2022 KIDS COUNT® Data Book reports that nationwide, children were more likely to experience anxiety and/or depression during the first year of the COVID-19 crisis than in previous years: Nearly 12% (11.8%) of children ages 3 to 17 experienced anxiety and/or depression in 2020, compared to 9.4% in 2016. Currently, 7.3 million children in this age group reportedly experienced these mental health challenges in the first year of the COVID pandemic – an increase of 1.5 million children (26%) in just four years.

This mental health crisis has also hit children of color, as well as children who identify as LGBTQ+, harder than their peers. Among high school-aged children, 12% of Black students, 13% of students of two or more races, and 26% of American Indian or Native Alaskan students attempted suicide, compared with 9% of high school-aged kids overall. A staggering 23% of LGBTQ+ high school students report attempting suicide, compared to 6% of their non-LGBTQ+ peers. (Read More)

Owens introduces bill to empower parents to solve the learning loss crisis

Rep. Burgess Owens (UT-04) introduced the Raising Expectations with Child Opportunity Vouchers for Educational Recovery (RECOVER) Act to empower parents to solve the learning loss crisis facing today's students. As of May, states and school districts had yet to spend 93% of the education funding allocated to them under the Democrats' American Rescue Plan Act. The RECOVER Act would allow states and school districts to use those unspent funds to issue Child Opportunity Scholarships directly to parents. (Read More)

HB 2, Item 80:

The Legislature intends that the Department of Human Services report back to the Social Services Appropriation Subcommittee no later than August 10, 2022 on how much it would cost to implement a statewide support program, that would qualify for expenditures from the Opioid Litigation Settlement Restricted Account, for pregnant women with substance use disorder to receive the following services: (1) a licensed social worker to help connect women with state services they are determined to need and are eligible to receive; (2) a peer support program; and (3) home visitation services through the child's first birthday. The Legislature further intends that the performance measures by which the program would be measured would include the following: (1) the rate of a diagnosis of neonatal abstinence syndrome at the time of delivery in the areas where the program has been implemented; and (2) the number of NICU days related to any substance use disorder in the areas where the program has been implemented.

Hi Krisann,
We do not prescribe birth control at any of our locations in Utah. The main reason for this is that we do not currently have the capability to do medical billing for payment. I believe we are doing a pilot project on it in Idaho in order to determine if it makes sense for us to invest in new software to bill for these services. However, we do not have plans to extend the pilot anytime in the near future.

Thank you Jen! I have a follow up question based on my conversation with Walgreens, when billing MTM would the pharmacy have to have the ability for medical billing through a claim or can they bill that through normal pharmacy billing procedures? That has also been cited as a barrier by two of the major chain pharmacies.

Hello Nate,
thanks for passing along the question.
A couple of items:
1. Medicaid does not reimburse for pharmacist consultative services.
2. Medicaid does reimburse for MTM (medication therapy management) services as of July 2022. A pharmacist could do an MTM consult on an individual receiving OCP's and be reimbursed for a consult.
3. As part of HB178 where pharmacists could consult (no reimbursement) and prescribe with HB178, there are 3 pharmacists registered with Medicaid as providers now.

Hope this helps. I can supply more info if needed.

Hi Krisann,

Here you go:

1. Does Krogers participate in this program? Yes
2. Why or why not? We recognize the importance of access to contraception for our patients. Our general stance is to support our pharmacists in practicing at the top of their license wherever possible and appreciate the fact that pharmacists are allowed in the state of Utah to provide this service.
3. Are there barriers that the State could help address? There are a few significant barriers to our ability to offer this service. I am not sure how the state may be able to assist, but the main barriers are listed here:
    a. Payment for the consultation. Patients must pay for the service out of pocket since insurance companies don't recognize pharmacists as providers. This particularly becomes an issue when pharmacists assess a patient and identify that the patient must be referred. Then either the pharmacist has provided the service up to that point for free or the patient pays for the assessment only to leave without a prescription, having to go to a different provider.
    b. Due to other priorities, our organization has not really promoted the service through our normal marketing channels. To be honest, pharmacy usually gets limited marketing support in general and it's usually focused on more established services like vaccines. We rely on word of mouth to spread awareness that the service is available, which is not very effective.
    c. As with many industries and especially in healthcare, our pharmacies are suffering from staffing shortages and high turnover. Mostly pharmacy technicians but also pharmacists. This, coupled with the COVID vaccine demand, and looking ahead to flu vaccine season/COVID boosters, capacity is a concern.

I hope this helps. I'd be happy to discuss further.
Thanks,
Jaime

Sounds good, thanks! Just for context when we met last night (you might be able to tell from the document) we decided we should have three approaches, 1) An all-in comprehensive cover everything 2) A more moderate but still aggressive approach (this includes all the items that Paul, Marc, and I reviewed and think could be politically/legislatively viable), and 3) A moderate approach that includes a subset of option 2 but likely far less expensive.

Expanded access to contraception has proved to be a very deep rabbit hole, as described in the document despite past legislative efforts to encourage easier access through pharmacies there are a lot of barriers we've identified, some of which may be easier fixes such as the bureaucratic requirements the State has imposed. However, we will need our SMEs like Jen S., Dr. Hofmann, folks at DOPL, and others to weigh in on what the rationale was/is behind all of them.

The reimbursement issue for pharmacies/pharmacists for the evaluation and monitoring pieces are a big issue and not easily solved. It's not only that many insurers don't cover the evaluation cost (although Medicaid will for pharmacist prescriptions) it's also that pharmacy billing systems are not set up to bill for medical claims (which these are) and there seems to be a serious lack of understanding and awareness of these options overall. We're not sure what the fixes are or should be, and evaluating the total cost to the state may be tricky since I doubt we'll directly pay pharmacies to update their systems, although we could look at something like a tax incentive to encourage pharmacies to participate and update their billing systems. At any rate, we definitely need more time to study this, consult with the SMEs, and come up with solid proposals.

Thank you!

Situational Analysis | August 12, 2022

It's Friday and for many Utah students, the last weekend of summer vacation. Make it a good one!

Also, can you believe it's already been a year since Britney Spear's father said he would step down as her conservator? Time flies.

Be in the Know

- The FBI searched Trump's home to look for nuclear documents and other items, sources told the Washington Post. Attorney General Merrick Garland said he could not discuss the investigation on Thursday. However, in a public statement at the Justice Department, he announced he had personally authorized the decision to seek court permission for a search warrant. He asked a judge to unseal the search warrant for former president Trump's Mar-a-Lago home. Trump said he will not oppose the release of documents related to the search and in fact, called for their immediate release.

Rapid Roundup

- $20,000 prize in next Utah treasure hunt, the NBA has retired Bill Russell's #6 league-wide, a first, high school football season is here and Desert Hills beat Brighton in the opener, and Salt Lake County unveils newly renovated building for runaway, homeless youth.

Political marketers have a lot on their plate, which is why our team at Effectv put together Best Practices for Political TV Advertising Success. Learn how to maximize your impact on TV, effectively target different audiences, and connect with a local expert to develop your 2022 strategy in Utah.

SUBJECT: How SDOH impacts asthma and maternal health
FROM: Angie Grover <angie@metop.io>
TO: mwatterson@utah.gov
DATE: 16/08/2022 05:47

Hi Marc,
Does your organization try to leverage data to drive decisions and programs related to social determinants? Most healthcare organizations have the best intentions but the efforts are siloed or reliant on a few busy data analysts.

The new reality is that is doesn't have to be that way. Data doesn't have to be a limited resource. Getting insights doesn't have to be dependent on data scientists.

Here are 2 real-world examples of data in action solving for social determinants:

- Asking about asthma admissions: Finding the root cause of asthma admissions at a large metropolitan hospital meant using community data in new ways. Health system executives were asking, "With a strong, clinical program, what could be causing costly Emergency Department visits from uninsured patients for asthma?"

- Prioritizing pregnant mothers' health: Improving outcomes for both pregnant mothers and their babies required combining community data with a health plan's patient knowledge to determine how to best alleviate barriers to a healthy pregnancy and reduce NICU stays for babies.

Are you interested in learning how to take a similar approach and tackle some of your SDOH priorities? Schedule a strategy session today.

Situational Analysis | August 17, 2022

It's Wednesday and National Nonprofit Day. So many good ones to donate to and volunteer with.

Be in the Know

- Liz Cheney lost her primary but says she's not done yet. "Our work is far from over," she said in her concession speech. "I have said since Jan. 6 that I will do whatever it takes to ensure Donald Trump is never again anywhere near the Oval Office — and I mean it." Her opponent, Harriet Hageman went from being a never-Trumper who warned that if Mr. Trump became president, the GOP would be stuck with "somebody who is racist and xenophobic" to an election denier who won Trump's endorsement - and the election.

Rapid Roundup

- We did it! Salt Lake City set a new all-time record for number of days hitting at least 100° in a single year - 22. The National Weather Service notes that between 1991 and 2020, SLC averaged only eight 100° or higher days.

News Releases

Utah's direct selling industry anchored over 38,000 jobs, made up over 70% of non-gold exports in 2020

Utah's established direct selling industry anchored over 38,000 well-paying jobs and added significantly to state and local tax revenues as part of its 2020 statewide economic impacts, according to a first-of-its-kind report from the Kem C. Gardner Policy Institute.

"Utah is a global hub for the direct selling business model," said Levi Pace, Gardner Institute Senior Research Economist and lead author of the study. "The industry comprises 91 direct selling companies and 66 key suppliers. Ten of these Utah-based direct selling companies provided more than $10.3 billion in goods and services to their customers around the world, 6.1% of industry sales from all states and countries." Utah Foundation: Utah building code upgrades would yield better air quality into the future the Utah Foundation releases To a Higher Standard: Building Codes, Improved Efficiency and Air Quality in Utah. Utah has kept up to date on commercial building code standards, but it has maintained older residential building standards that fall short of more efficient building practices. The report explores possible new standards with an eye toward air quality, examining costs and benefits.

Utah Foundation President Peter Reichard said the rapid pace of new development offers the opportunity to promote greater air quality stewardship. Builders may play an important part in a cleaner air Utah. "If we build with higher efficiency now, it will pay dividends into the future," Reichard said. "New construction is an important front in Utah's ongoing offensive against poor air quality." (Read More)

Utah Democrats applaud signing of historic Inflation Reduction Act

This afternoon, President Biden officially signed the Inflation Reduction Act into law. This is a historic win for families across the country and our state.

This bill will take important action to cut costs, reduce inflation, lower the price of prescription drugs, and fight back against the climate crisis, all while bringing down the deficit. (Read More)

Salt Lake County Housing Trust Fund takes next step

Yesterday afternoon, the Salt Lake County Council took a critical step in moving forward its $20 million investment in affordable housing, made possible through the American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA). The Council approved eight members of the Salt Lake County Housing Trust Fund Advisory Board (HTFAB) to oversee the program.

“More affordable housing is desperately needed,” Salt Lake County Mayor Jenny Wilson said. “There are way too many hard-working households that are left behind because of skyrocketing home prices, rising rents, and declining options. This board of experts will support solutions to increase affordable housing.” (Read More)

Situational Analysis | August 18, 2022

It's Thursday and National Fajita Day. Seems like a good day to celebrate.

On a somber note, our condolences to the family of John English, a long-time Utah politico who died unexpectedly late Monday night. He will be deeply missed.

Be in the Know

- The Utah Supreme Court has its first-ever female majority as the Utah Senate unanimously confirms Jill Pohlman. “I am honored and deeply humbled by this historic appointment to the Utah Supreme Court,” Justice Jill Pohlman said after her confirmation. She joins Justice Diana Hagen, who was confirmed earlier this year, Justice Paige Petersen, Justice John Pearce and Chief Justice Matthew Durrant.
- A nonprofit called RIP Medical Debt, founded by two ex-debt collectors who used to chase down patients who couldn't afford their bills, buys up unpaid hospital bills from low-income patients — and then clears it. It has wiped out $6.7 billion in debt so far.
- Former Vice President Mike Pence asked fellow Republicans to tone down their anti-FBI rhetoric. “Calls to defund the FBI are just as wrong as calls to defund the police,” he said. He also said that the American people had a right to know what happened on Jan. 6, 2021 and that “In the months and years ahead, I’ll be telling my story even more frequently than I have."

Rapid Roundup

- Little League will get rid of bunk beds at World Series after Utah boy’s head injury, Utahns can digitize their IDs and driver licenses this Friday, a fifth set of human remains found at Lake Mead, and LeBron James just signed a 2-yr, $97.1 million deal with the Lakers. 😮

State Policies to Improve Youth Mental Health and Reduce Suicides

The COVID-19 pandemic negatively impacted youth and could have long-term consequences for their mental health. States have many strategies to choose from to improve youth mental health and reduce suicide. Providing them with access to needed mental healthcare and connections to trusted adults have been shown to improve mental health and reduce suicide risk.

Learn more about state strategies to improve youth mental health and reduce suicides in this week's Health Policy Update.

Situational Analysis | August 19, 2022

It's Friday and it's National Potato Day. Boil them, mash them, stick 'em in a stew...

More somber news: Lt. Governor Henderson lost her cousin to domestic violence this week. 😟 Our deepest condolences on this unspeakable tragedy.

Be in the Know

- The Gary R. Herbert Institute for Public Policy opened officially at UVU yesterday. Former Governor Herbert was praised by UVU President Astrid Tuminez, who described the close relationship Herbert had with UVU beginning in its Technical College days. Current Governor Spencer Cox praised Herbert for his example in setting Utah up as a state that welcomes refugees and that treats people with kindness. Herbert said "We have a responsibility to make sure that our young people are given good instruction, being taught good principles and values, so they can become the leaders of tomorrow that they're going to be." This policy institute is set up to do just that.

Rapid Roundup

- Another 100° day in Salt Lake City (that makes 24 this summer), former Vice President Mike Pence will speak at UVU in September, a disturbing find in a Yellowstone hot spring, and championship mullets? It's a thing.

Gov. Spencer Cox appoints new energy advisor and director of Office of Energy Development

Utah Gov. Spencer Cox has tapped Duchesne County Commissioner Gregory Todd as his new energy advisor and director of the Office of Energy Development, an agency within the Department of Natural Resources.

"Greg's extensive experience in both the energy sector and public service make him well suited for this role in our administration," Gov. Cox said. "We look forward to his leadership in making sure Utahns have secure, affordable and sustainable sources of energy." (Read More)

Utah Democrats demand Rep. Ferry's resignation and removal from ballot

The Utah Democratic Party and Joshua Hardy, candidate for House District 1 in the state legislature, yesterday called on Rep. Joel Ferry to resign his seat in the legislature and have his name removed from the ballot. Currently, Mr. Ferry is Acting Director of the Utah Department of Natural Resources and a state representative. This is a clear violation of the Utah Constitution.

"Mr. Ferry is clearly no longer eligible to serve in the legislature since he accepted Gov. Cox's appointment and began to work for DNR," said Mr. Hardy. (Read More)

Prevent Child Abuse Utah releases statement about child abuse reporting

The State of Utah's child abuse reporting law mandates who must report– not who can't. When made in good faith, a report of child abuse or suspected child abuse is always legal.

“Keeping children safe is the responsibility of the entire community. Many denominations choose to report abuse even where Utah law does not require it.”, Laurieann Thorpe, Executive Director, Prevent Child Abuse Utah.

Prevent Child Abuse Utah invites all religious organizations to review their canon law, church doctrines and practices and change any that suggest clergy or volunteers serving in positions of authority, not report child abuse. (Read More)

Happy Friday from #OneUtah, a weekly update from the office of Gov. Spencer J. Cox. Here's your recap of what we did this week, what's on the horizon, and more. Reply to this email with any questions or suggestions regarding the newsletter. And thank you for subscribing!

A reminder about mental health

If you or someone you know is struggling with thoughts of suicide, please reach out. Talk to someone you trust, call 988, or use the SafeUT app, a state-funded crisis chat and tip line, which experts say is saving the lives of at least two Utah students per day.

Help is available, and we need you here.

And if you – or someone you know – fear for your safety due to stalking or intimate partner violence, please contact the statewide domestic violence info line at 1-800-897-5465 for help, including counseling, shelter, transportation, and other services.

Honoring a mentor, friend, and leader

It was a great honor to be part of the opening of Utah Valley University's first and only public policy institute which is named for an outstanding mentor, friend, and governor, Gary R. Herbert.

The Herbert Institute will be a center where UVU students can learn about this great leader and what good government looks like.

Congratulations to President Astrid Tuminez for her visionary effort to create a place where the next generation of Utah's policy leaders can gather, hear from diverse thought leaders, and learn about what makes Utah and our country great. And to Gov. Herbert: Congratulations on this monumental achievement. Your legacy of good governance and public service will benefit UVU and the state of Utah for years to come.

Meeting with GoUtah and local business leaders

The Go Utah Board promotes and encourages economic opportunity for all Utahns and the state's commercial, financial, industrial, agricultural, and civic welfare. This week we were happy to join their board on two trips to Utah businesses.

First we met with Entrata, the leading operating system for multifamily communities worldwide. We discussed housing and growth in our state, Entrata's community service, and more. We look forward to visiting again soon!

We also toured the Rio Tinto Kennecott mine, a world-class, integrated copper mining operation and major employer in Utah. We appreciate Rio Tinto Kennecott's commitment to supporting and participating in the state's economic growth, environmental protection, and community support!

Staying focused on families and children in Utah

We're staying focused on families and children in Utah. On Wednesday, Lt. Gov. Deidre Henderson chaired the Governor's Early Childhood Commission with leaders from across state government. We're happy to report the commission is laser-focused on coordinating and streamlining support services and bolstering resources for families with young children, including with the DHHS Office of Early Childhood.

Thanks to the commission for doing such important work for the Beehive State.

We're also re-examining some of the policies and ideas that we think can make Utah an even better place to live and raise a family. Stay tuned!

PBS Utah Monthly News Conference

This week we answered questions at the PBS Monthly News Conference in a live exchange with reporters. Here are a couple topics we discussed:

Q: With school starting, how are we making schools safer?
A: The SafeUT app, while mainly used for helping with students' mental health, can also be used for school safety. It gives kids and parents the ability to anonymously connect with law enforcement to report any type of bullying or suspicious behavior. We've received close to 300 tips over the past year — some of which pointed to potential violence — so we're glad law enforcement could step in and intervene early.

Over the summer, the Utah Department of Public Safety has also been working very closely with school districts, the state superintendent, and the state school board to make sure everyone is implementing safety measures in every one of our schools. They've checked to make sure everyone is using proper training and that the schools' ingress and egress are figured out in a way that will add additional safety. We also have resource officers in many of our schools that are available to help with any issues that may arise in schools.

Q: What's your take on the energy provisions in the Inflation Reduction Act?
A: It's closer to a better approach. We have a unique opportunity in Utah to seek out an all-of-the-above energy approach that will ultimately lead to much better outcomes, and we appreciate the emphasis on both sides of the energy ledger. There's tremendous potential in Utah for solar, wind, geothermal, hydrogen, and more.

However, the most important thing that can come out of this legislation wasn't actually in the legislation — we're told part of the deal to get that legislation passed is permitting reform. The National Environmental Protection Act has unfortunately prevented, slowed down, or increased the cost of big projects that we know would have a good impact on the environment. Here in Utah we've seen NEPA slow down transmission lines. As we're trying to electrify things we do, like driving, we need to be able to transmit electricity, and in Utah it can take seven to 10 years to get these projects off the ground.

We care about the climate and about reducing emissions, but we must find ways to greatly increase the speed at which we're able to build these transmission lines.

You can watch the press conference in its entirety here.

Discussing the Utah way, conservation, and more

We also joined Washington Post reporter Jacqueline Alemany for a live discussion. Here's a look at a few of the questions we answered:

Q: How are you protecting the Great Salt Lake?
A: Historically, the state of Utah had a "use it or lose it" mentality. We changed that mentality in the state and set aside $40 million to purchase water rights from holders which allows farmers and ranchers to keep their water in the streambed. That is going to have a tremendous effect on the Great Salt Lake water levels.

We are using some great nonprofits to help us with preserving waterways and improving animal sanctuaries. We are also doing a significant amount of work to remove invasive species, which will leave more water in the stream and the Great Salt Lake.

We are also working with the federal government. There has been legislation run by members of Congress from the state of Utah with support from leadership in both parties to help us get some resources here as well as the Army Corps of Engineers who will help us understand what is happening with the lake and what we can do to save it.

Q: Why are Utahns able to compromise on such difficult issues?
A: Utahns are great at this. There are so many areas where we are not that far apart, and either side being willing to compromise a little bit would solve 90% of our problems and build bonds that bring Republicans and Democrats together.

Q: How are you addressing systemic issues that are tied in to abortion care?
A: One is trying to prevent unwanted pregnancies as much as possible. Access to contraception is one area that we can do more.

Supporting mothers, especially single mothers, who are living in poverty through access to child care and making health care more available is another aspect we are looking at as a state.

In addition, we are looking at ways to hold men more accountable. We recently passed a policy change that prohibited the procurement of hunting and fishing licenses for those men who are behind in their child support payments and we have seen that be successful.

I am hoping we have several policy proposals passed in the Legislature that will show that we do care about all life — life in the womb but especially life after birth and the women who are far too often bearing the responsibility of caring for these children.

Addressing drought in the West

We're continuing to share ways in which the state is working to conserve water and plan for a drier future. This week, we're talking about cross-state collaboration.

One-third of Utahns rely on the Colorado River for drinking water, and the river is a major contributor to the state's $189 billion economy. When it comes to resources like the Colorado River, Utah must work with neighboring states to preserve and protect water.

This is especially urgent given that far more Colorado River water is being used, especially by the Lower Basin states, than is available due to the current drought and climate change impacts. Recent estimates based on last year's use show the Lower Basin and Mexico are using about 10 million acre-feet, the Upper Basin states are using about 3.5 million acre-feet and the available flow is only around 6.3 million acre-feet.

We're all going to have to cut back. But Lower Basin states use more than twice the water than Upper Basin states, so it makes sense that the greatest cuts should be shouldered by the Lower Basin.

We support long-term reductions in use over short-term fixes if we are truly going to sustain the system. Utah, along with the other Upper Basin states, will continue to do our part to conserve and bring solutions to the table.

Read more about how we're addressing drought in the West here.

Closing a chapter in Utah history

For 71 years, the Draper prison served the people of Utah as a facility focused on keeping us safe. But over the years, we developed better ways to secure those who were paying their debt to society while at the same time teaching them to rebuild their lives and find a productive future on the outside. The transfer to the new State Correctional Facility in Salt Lake will fulfill this new mission more fully.

This week we were able to recognize those who made the transfer of 2,464 incarcerated individuals possible. We were also able to honor Gov. Gary Herbert for his initiation and support for the prison movement from day one.

The Draper Prison Chapel will be preserved in recognition of its significance in the lives of many Utahns. As we close this chapter, we acknowledge the former Draper Prison and look forward to the future.

Rock imagery sites in Utah preserve important messages of the past. Familiar symbols etched into colorful rock formations communicate messages from early Native Americans intended for their posterity.

These tips will help you appreciate rock imagery locations respectfully and in the interest of preservation.

Spotlighting Utah's 'Spirit of Service'

In our inaugural Governor's Spirit of Service Award Ceremony, we recently recognized the outstanding service that Utahns are doing throughout the state. Each week, we'll highlight one of these unsung heroes. This week, we're highlighting the Ruff Haven Crisis Sheltering Center.

Ruff Haven Crisis Sheltering Center works to prevent individuals from having to surrender their pets by providing shelter when someone is experiencing a crisis, temporary hardships, medical emergencies and more.

Read more about Ruff Haven Crisis Sheltering Center and the other honorees here.

It's Thursday and National Banana Split Day. Also, only 4 months left until Christmas Day!🎄

Be in the Know

- Utah is suing the federal government over Bears Ears and Grand Staircase-Escalante, saying that President Joe Biden has violated the Antiquities Act. “These public lands and sacred sites are a stewardship that none of us take lightly. The archeological, paleontological, religious, recreational, and geologic values need to be harmonized and protected. Rather than guarding those resources, President Biden’s unlawful designations place them all at greater risk,” says a statement about the lawsuit. The lawsuit has opposition from a number of groups, including tribal coalitions. “The tribes have been working for decades and really centuries to protect these lands, and it looks like we’ll have to continue that fight,” said attorney Matthew Campbell of the Native American Rights Fund.

Rapid Roundup

Utah challenges unlawful designation of National Monuments

Today, Utah Attorney General Sean D. Reyes filed a lawsuit in the U.S. District Court for the District of Utah against President Biden's unlawful designation of the Bears Ears and Grand Staircase-Escalante National Monuments.

"These public lands and sacred sites are a stewardship that none of us take lightly. The archeological, paleontological, religious, recreational, and geologic values need to be harmonized and protected. Rather than guarding those resources, President Biden's unlawful designations place them all at greater risk...A congressional solution would be the more effective path for the conservation and management of Utah lands..." Hart has served as deputy director of the Utah Governor's Office of Economic Opportunity (Go Utah) since March 2017 and was formerly a member of the UIPA board. He was selected from a list of several qualified candidates by the current board. Hart will begin working to fulfill the Port Authority's mission of providing smart, sustainable, and equitable supply chain solutions on September 12, 2022. (Read More)

Salt Lake remains second highest metro for home price increases

Most Western metros see price decreases from June to July. The Federal Reserve increased interest rates four times in five months (March, May, June and July) in part to slow inflation. That seems to be having an impact in the housing market. Mortgage rates are the highest they've been since 2009, and U.S. year-over-year home price appreciation peaked at 17.3% in March, falling to 13.7% by July.

While home price appreciation is slowing, the Salt Lake City metro area remains second highest in the nation from June to July. This is unusual for the West, given that eight of the 10 metros with the largest decrease in appreciation are our western neighbors. (Read More)

Bipartisan bill introduced to shine light on demands of Hong Kong authorities and protect Hong Kongers

This week, Congressman John Curtis (R-UT) and Congressman Scott Peters (D-CA) introduced the bipartisan Hong Kong Business Integrity and Transparency Act to establish regular reporting on instances where Hong Kong authorities demand data, content takedowns, or assistance with law enforcement from U.S. companies.

Hong Kong after the 2020 National Security Law is no longer the global business city it once was. We have already seen authorities increasing demands from U.S. businesses to comply with data disclosure laws that mirror the laws of the mainland, said Curtis. The Hong Kong Business Integrity and Transparency Act will establish transparency on what information the government of Hong Kong is requesting so that we can protect not only businesses but also protect Hong Kongers. (Read More)

Lee opposes plan to cancel student debt

Sen. Mike Lee (R-UT) opposes President Biden's plan to cancel a portion of federal student debt. Lee offered the statement below following the plan's announcement.

"President Biden's plan to cancel student debt is yet another reckless spending policy during a period of dangerous inflation. This plan will hurt everyone, including those the policy purports to help. Canceling debt will do little to ease America's economic burden and will instead fuel inflation, increase the cost of education, and further the divide between the rich and poor. This sets a dangerous precedent and misleads future borrowers who presume additional forgiveness is inevitable."

Situational Analysis | August 30, 2022

It's Tuesday and National Grief Awareness Day. At some point, we will all experience grief - being supported through those dark days can make all the difference.

Be in the Know

- The pandemic was hard on kids on more than one way. Earlier this month, The Journal of Pediatrics published the results of a study showing a massive spike in Type 2 diabetes. A typical year sees 5% growth in cases, but in the first year of the pandemic, there was a 77% increase. Black and Hispanic children are disproportionately represented. The authors of the study have several hypotheses about why: Preliminary research shows that COVID-19 itself might heighten the risk for developing diabetes, but there are other possible contributors as well, including increased stress, decreased exercise, decreased healthy eating, poor sleeping habits, depression and anxiety, which can also increase the risk.

Rapid Roundup

- People under 21 banned from buying canned whipped cream in New York; best spots to check out in Utah this Labor Day weekend; the Artemis I launch was scrubbed at the last minute; Serena Williams wins her first match at the US Open; Madam C.J. Walker, the daughter of slaves and America's first female self-made millionaire, is now a Barbie.

DOPL responds to op-ed on licensing ex-offenders

by Zach Whitney

Last week Utah Policy published an opinion piece claiming that Utah's professional licensing boards discriminate against ex-offenders. This claim is baseless and ignores critical facts that show state lawmakers and the Division of Professional Licensing (DOPL) have made several significant efforts over the past several years to reduce barriers and open opportunities for Utahns with criminal histories.

In the 2019 general legislative session lawmakers passed HB 90, which provided an application process whereby ex-offenders can determine if their criminal history would disqualify them from licensure if all other requirements are met. This step helps ex-offenders definitively know whether they're eligible for licensure before they spend the time and money fulfilling license requirements and going through the application process. DOPL has reviewed 24 criminal history determination applications so far this year. In addition to receiving an answer as to whether or not a person's criminal history would disqualify them from licensure, applicants receive resources and additional information on steps they could take to potentially qualify for licensure in the future....

Additionally, in the 2020 legislative session lawmakers passed SB 201. This bill specifically requires DOPL to make individual considerations based on several factors before they're able to deny an applicant based on their criminal history. Among these factors are the time that has elapsed since conviction, the applicant's participation in any rehabilitation programs, and testimonials provided by the applicant. This requirement ensures applications for ex-offenders are considered case by case....

We are committed to working with lawmakers and trade associations to update licensing requirements to be relevant to today's standards. In fact, that's one thing the Office of Professional Licensure Review will be specifically looking at cleaning up. (Read the full response on Utah Policy)

Here are some of the negative consequences that we have been made aware of.

The federal Parent Worksheet forms do not include birth weight in lbs. and oz. on the parent worksheet. The weight of the baby in grams comes from the delivery record. The grams are converted to lbs and oz by nursing staff after the grams are recorded. If the ounces are over .5 some, not all, hospitals round up to the next ounce.

Because the new Parents' Worksheet doesn't have a question for the parents to enter what they were told for the child's birth weight the birth registration clerks are going strictly by what the grams convert to. If the parents get the birth certificate and the weight doesn't match what they remember being told they want this corrected. The parents then must contact the hospital and ask them to correct the "mistake". This takes time for both the VR staff and the hospital staff and is frustrating for the parents.

There are other double checks that were included in the previous Parents Worksheet - sex, where the baby was born, the name of the facility, and birth attendant are no longer on the Parent Worksheet.

When the baby is born before reaching the hospital the place of birth and the attendant is not in the facility records and the information may not be recorded for the medical portion of the birth registration. We have researchers who need this information for their work and it is not available as it has been in the past. I received this email from Dr. Erin Clark, MD, Associate Professor and Division Chief, Maternal-Fetal Medicine and Program Director, Maternal-Fetal Medicine Fellowship recently.

"In brief, our ability to track maternal and neonatal outcomes by birth location and our resultant ability to respond to this data with safety initiatives has been jeopardized. Our entire mission at UWNQC is to keep mothers and babies as safe as possible in the State of Utah. We have defined best practices for birth certificate data capture on birth location, providing a model for other states (and what we hoped would eventually lead to changes to the national birth certificate). Without this data, our biannual report on birth outcomes by birth location will not be possible. And, the work of the UWNQC Out-of-hospital Birth Committee to promote safe pregnancy care and hospital transfers will be negatively impacted. We hope to continue this critical work and would love a chance to discuss the issues at hand."

Dr. Clark is referring to questions that are not found on the Federal Mother's Worksheet or the Facility Worksheet about home births and transfers to hospitals after a home birth. These questions are now marked optional and so they are not getting the data they once received. I will be meeting with their group to discuss the difference they are seeing in the data.

I expect to have other researchers contact me for similar reasons. The Maternal Child Health program is beginning a study on the non-responsiveness to the optional questions on the Parents' Worksheet as a part of the State Systems Development Grant report.

There may be more that I'm not thinking of right now but this gives you an idea.

Thanks,
Linda

Linda,

There are a few privacy related improvements on the form that we will be highlighting. These include:

- Minimization of data collected. DHHS decreased the amount of data collected by almost 50%.
- Improved clarification to ensure the public is aware of what information is Required or Optional to provide.
- Improved clarification of under which authority/law the data is being collected.
- Clarification of how long the data is retained.

My privacy group is required to create an annual report for the Judiciary Interim Committee that includes privacy improvements that state agencies have made during the year. We plan to highlight the changes DHHS made to the new Parent's Worksheet to Register Birth Information form. Do you have a copy of the old form that we can use in our appendices to make the comparison of changes easier to see? I have also attached the most recent copy of the new form that I have. Can you confirm that this is up-to-date and, if not, can you send me the updated form?

Situational Analysis | Sept 1, 2022

Welcome to September! Among many designations, it's National Self-Care Awareness Month, Pulmonary Fibrosis Awareness Month, and National Suicide Prevention Month.

Be in the Know

- Governor Cox nominated Alex Goble to serve as a judge in the Sixth District Juvenile Court. Goble then withdrew from the race for San Juan County Attorney - but, as Daniel Woodruff reports, he was running unopposed. The interim county attorney, Brittney Ivins, will be running a write-in campaign and has officially filed the paperwork to do so. If no one else files to be a write-in candidate by September 6th, she only needs one vote to win. And who says local politics is boring??

- President Joe Biden will give a prime-time speech tonight on the "battle for the soul of the nation." The speech is scheduled to begin at 6 pm MDT, and will be given outside Independence Hall in Philadelphia.

Rapid Roundup

- .Serena Williams 🐐 beats the number 2 seed to reach the third round of the US Open; UDOT's on board with a gondola in Little Cottonwood Canyon; an RV was brazenly stolen out of storage area in Eagle Mountain; a Lehi teen becomes rock star when he drums with The Killers; StoryCorps is coming to Utah and, "The Rings of Power" premieres on Amazon today. Woot!

The Hinckley Report, PBS Utah's weekly political roundtable, returns Sept. 9 at a new time, 7 p.m. Hosted by Jason Perry and produced in partnership with the Hinckley Institute of Politics on the University of Utah campus, the program provides insight and analysis of the most pressing political issues facing our state.

Utah Civic Learning Collaborative releases report with recommendations to improve civics education in Utah

The Utah Civic Learning Collaborative (UCLC) released a report, CIVICS EDUCATION POISED FOR INNOVATION: LISTENING TOUR FINDINGS. In collaboration with the Utah State Board of Education, the UCLC interviewed more than 400 teachers and administrators to learn about current approaches, barriers to civic teaching, and what educators need to expand their efforts.

"Educators take the historical 'civic mission of schools' very seriously," said report author Judi Hilman; "but many struggle to make time for civics in the face of competing pressures, like the need to boost achievement in areas that are regularly tested like reading and math." The report describes a consensus on the need for guidance on how to discuss current events and issues that matter to students. "No matter what they do, even meeting core standards for teaching about slavery, teachers feel like they are under constant scrutiny," adds Hilman, "They want clarity and leadership from administrators around fostering civic skills like civil dialogue." First human case of West Nile virus confirmed in Utah for 2022

Continue to take precautions against mosquito bites

Salt Lake City—Public health officials confirmed the first positive human case of West Nile virus (WNV) in Weber Morgan Health District about a month after WNV was found in mosquitoes in Utah, with two additional suspect human cases currently under investigation in Weber and Uintah counties. The person is a male resident of the Weber-Morgan Health district, between the ages of 65 and 84. He is hospitalized with neuroinvasive West Nile virus. In 2021, there were 28 reported human cases of West Nile virus in Utah, including 3 deaths.

In addition to the confirmed human case, as of September 1, 2022, 73 positive mosquito pools have been identified across the state in Davis, Salt Lake, Tooele, and Uintah counties, as well as two positive horses in Uintah County.

Hannah Rettler, vector-borne/zoonotic epidemiologist with the Utah Department of Health and Human Services says, “Mosquito season isn’t over and Utahns should continue to protect themselves from mosquito bites.” Rettler continues, “Many more Utahns could become ill with West Nile virus if they don’t take precautions to protect themselves from mosquito bites.”

To protect yourself:

- Use insect repellent when you go outdoors. Repellents containing 20% to 30% DEET are recommended and safe to use during pregnancy. For more information about insect repellents, visit the EPA information page. Always follow label directions.
- Limit outdoor activities from dusk to dawn, when mosquitoes are most active.
- Wear long pants, long-sleeved shirts, and socks in areas where mosquitoes are active. Spray clothes with insect repellent for extra protection.

To reduce mosquitoes around your home:

- Mosquitoes lay their eggs in standing water so eliminate pools of water as much as possible. Empty water from pet dishes, flower pots, wading pools, backyard ponds, buckets, tarps, tires, and puddles at least once a week.
- Report bodies of stagnant water to your local mosquito abatement district (MAD). Visit http://www.umaa.org/ for a list of MADs.
- Keep doors, windows, and screens in good condition and make sure they fit tightly.

Rettler says most people infected with West Nile virus don’t have symptoms. About 20% of infected people will have flu-like symptoms, while fewer than 1% develop a serious, potentially deadly illness. People who are aged 60 years and older and those with certain medical conditions are at greater risk of serious illness. See a healthcare provider if you develop symptoms of West Nile virus including high fever, severe headache and stiff neck, disorientation, and confusion.

Since surveillance began in 2003, an average of 25 human cases of West Nile virus have been confirmed In Utah each year, with a wide range between 1 and 158 cases.

Good morning,

If I'm understanding correctly I started an overview sheet in the Legislative Review Template where we can link to all of the policy recommendations, I left some of the information I had for contraception access and linked to both the contraception access legislative review sheet and the Increasing Coverage sheet that Nate linked to but it doesn't have any more detail behind the other proposals yet and I'd need help filling all of that out. Is this what you had in mind Tracy?

It seems like a good idea to add this to the Family Friendly Policy list. I am adding Krisann here as I am a little anxious about which documents to add it to since there seems to be multiple documents and I want to make sure it gets to the right place. I, also, think it's a good idea to discuss this with the LG on the 20th as she was the senate sponsor of the house bill that required parental consent (which may or may not be indicative of strong feelings about parental consent).

Do we want to ask Laurie to complete a legislative review sheet for the idea of amending state law?

Below is information and suggestions from Maternal & Child Health in response to the request from the Office of Congressman Blake Moore regarding changes necessary to allow Utah to receive Title X funds. While MCH did not offer specific language they did highlight the two areas in federal code that have prohibited Utah from receiving Title X funds that would need to be amended. MCH, also, provided information on changes that could be made in State code to allow for an exemption to the parental consent law in narrow cases where Title X funding is being utilized; including some example language from Texas.

As I am still trying to understand the basics of this issue, please let me know how you all would like to proceed in reaching-out to the Congressman's office.

David -

There are two possible approaches to Congressman Moore's request. A federal statute change or a change at the state level. For a federal statute change to be "enacted", as we understand it, would require an actual act of congress. The specific federal code that would need to be addressed, and that applies here, is the Public Health Service Act, 42 CFR Part 59 Subpart A (https://www.ecfr.gov/current/title-42/chapter-I/subchapter-D/part-59/subpart-A). It states:

Another part of the federal code states this -

> (b) To the extent practical, Title X projects shall encourage family participation.[3] However, Title X projects may not require consent of parents or guardians for the provision of services to minors, nor can any Title X project staff notify a parent or guardian before or after a minor has requested and/or received Title X family planning services.

The Title X philosophy (and in federal code) highly encourages the inclusion of parents/guardians in these important life decisions, but minors will not be turned away at a Title X funded facility.

We do not have specific language to suggest regarding changes to this section of federal statute.

In the August 2020 letter denying Utah's waiver request, from the Deputy Assistant Secretary, Office of Population Affairs to Dr. Joseph Miner, it stated "The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) is unable to grant this request for a waiver. This requirement for provision of confidential contraceptive services is statutory and, thus, HHS does not have the authority to provide such a waiver." A second idea would be to add language to this section of the Public Health Service Act that would allow the Federal Department of Health and Human Services to grant waivers requested by states.

For Utah -
There is a way to allow Title X funds into the state without changing the Utah parental consent law. We explored this option when we were tentatively offered Title X funds in 2020, but were not granted the "waiver" we requested, and were not able to receive the funds (Please refer to HB377, legislation passed in 2020).

When notifying leadership of the denial of Utah's waiver request, we put forward another suggestion for the Utah legislature and executive leadership to consider. Other states receiving Title X funds with similar parental notification or consent laws suspend state law for Title X funds only. A thorough example is one from Texas, who created an exemption to their parental notification law.

> (2) HHSC may distribute funds for medical, dental, psychological, or surgical treatment provided to a minor only if consent to treatment is obtained pursuant to Family Code Chapter 32. In the event that compliance with this subsection would result in the loss of Federal Funds to the state, HHSC may modify, or suspend this subsection to the extent necessary to prevent such loss of funds, provided that 45-day prior notification is provided to the Governor and the Legislative Budget Board.

Language such as this would allow for minors to be served without consent if federal funding would be in jeopardy. Guidance given by the Texas Department of Health specifies:

> … providers and their parent organizations may serve clients who are funded through sources outside of the Health and Human Services Commission (HHSC). When requirements differ, policies and procedures concerning services for programs administered by HHSC must be distinguished from those governing family planning services provided through other contracts or funding sources, such as Title X*.*

For Utah this type of approach could be taken. Another approach to consider would be to allow an exemption for Title X funds only.

Please let me know if you have any follow up questions.

Thank you,
Laurie, Lynne and Nickee

David -

There are two possible approaches to Congressman Moore's request. A federal statute change or a change at the state level. For a federal statute change to be "enacted", as we understand it, would require an actual act of congress. The specific federal code that would need to be addressed, and that applies here, is the Public Health Service Act, 42 CFR Part 59 Subpart A (https://www.ecfr.gov/current/title-42/chapter-I/subchapter-D/part-59/subpart-A). It states:

> § 59.5(a) What requirements must be met by a family planning project
> (4) Provide services in a manner that does not discriminate against any client based on religion, race, color, national origin, disability, age*, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, sex characteristics, number of pregnancies, or marital status.*

> § 59.10 Confidentiality
> (b) To the extent practical, Title X projects shall encourage family participation.[3] However, Title X projects may not require consent of parents or guardians for the provision of services to minors, nor can any Title X project staff notify a parent or guardian before or after a minor has requested and/or received Title X family planning services.

The Title X philosophy (and in federal code) highly encourages the inclusion of parents/guardians in these important life decisions, but minors will not be turned away at a Title X funded facility.

We do not have specific language to suggest regarding changes to this section of federal statute.

In the August 2020 letter denying Utah's waiver request, from the Deputy Assistant Secretary, Office of Population Affairs to Dr. Joseph Miner, it stated "The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) is unable to grant this request for a waiver. This requirement for provision of confidential contraceptive services is statutory and, thus, HHS does not have the authority to provide such a waiver." A second idea would be to add language to this section of the Public Health Service Act that would allow the Federal Department of Health and Human Services to grant waivers requested by states.

For Utah -
There is a way to allow Title X funds into the state without changing the Utah parental consent law. We explored this option when we were tentatively offered Title X funds in 2020, but were not granted the "waiver" we requested, and were not able to receive the funds (Please refer to HB377, legislation passed in 2020).

When notifying leadership of the denial of Utah's waiver request, we put forward another suggestion for the Utah legislature and executive leadership to consider. Other states receiving Title X funds with similar parental notification or consent laws suspend state law for Title X funds only. A thorough example is one from Texas, who created an exemption to their parental notification law. (https://www.lbb.texas.gov/Documents/GAA/General_Appropriations_Act_2020_2021.pdf (see page 190/II-70, section 79(a)(2))

> (2) HHSC may distribute funds for medical, dental, psychological, or surgical treatment provided to a minor only if consent to treatment is obtained pursuant to Family Code Chapter 32. In the event that compliance with this subsection would result in the loss of Federal Funds to the state, HHSC may modify, or suspend this subsection to the extent necessary to prevent such loss of funds, provided that 45-day prior notification is provided to the Governor and the Legislative Budget Board.

Language such as this would allow for minors to be served without consent if federal funding would be in jeopardy. Guidance given by the Texas Department of Health specifies:

> … providers and their parent organizations may serve clients who are funded through sources outside of the Health and Human Services Commission (HHSC). When requirements differ, policies and procedures concerning services for programs administered by HHSC must be distinguished from those governing family planning services provided through other contracts or funding sources, such as Title X*.*

For Utah this type of approach could be taken. Another approach to consider would be to allow an exemption for Title X funds only.

Please let me know if you have any follow up questions.

Thank you,
Laurie, Lynne and Nickee

Marc -

My recollection is that the current draft of the legislative review sheet from Laurie & Lynne recommends that we do not submit a grant application because we are not eligible due to the state's parental consent requirement. Maybe we just need to ask that the legislative review sheet be rewritten to incorporate potential changes to state statute based on what Laurie provided last week in response to Congressman Moore's request.

There are two possible approaches to Congressman Moore's request. A federal statute change or a change at the state level. For a federal statute change to be "enacted", as we understand it, would require an actual act of congress. The specific federal code that would need to be addressed, and that applies here, is the Public Health Service Act, 42 CFR Part 59 Subpart A (https://www.ecfr.gov/current/title-42/chapter-I/subchapter-D/part-59/subpart-A). It states:

> § 59.5(a) What requirements must be met by a family planning project
> (4) Provide services in a manner that does not discriminate against any client based on religion, race, color, national origin, disability, age*, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, sex characteristics, number of pregnancies, or marital status.*

Another part of the federal code states this -

> § 59.10 Confidentiality
> (b) To the extent practical, Title X projects shall encourage family participation.[3] However, Title X projects may not require consent of parents or guardians for the provision of services to minors, nor can any Title X project staff notify a parent or guardian before or after a minor has requested and/or received Title X family planning services.

The Title X philosophy (and in federal code) highly encourages the inclusion of parents/guardians in these important life decisions, but minors will not be turned away at a Title X funded facility.

We do not have specific language to suggest regarding changes to this section of federal statute.

In the August 2020 letter denying Utah's waiver request, from the Deputy Assistant Secretary, Office of Population Affairs to Dr. Joseph Miner, it stated "The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) is unable to grant this request for a waiver. This requirement for provision of confidential contraceptive services is statutory and, thus, HHS does not have the authority to provide such a waiver." A second idea would be to add language to this section of the Public Health Service Act that would allow the Federal Department of Health and Human Services to grant waivers requested by states.

For Utah -
There is a way to allow Title X funds into the state without changing the Utah parental consent law. We explored this option when we were tentatively offered Title X funds in 2020, but were not granted the "waiver" we requested, and were not able to receive the funds (Please refer to HB377, legislation passed in 2020).

When notifying leadership of the denial of Utah's waiver request, we put forward another suggestion for the Utah legislature and executive leadership to consider. Other states receiving Title X funds with similar parental notification or consent laws suspend state law for Title X funds only. A thorough example is one from Texas, who created an exemption to their parental notification law. (https://www.lbb.texas.gov/Documents/GAA/General_Appropriations_Act_2020_2021.pdf (see page 190/II-70, section 79(a)(2))

> (2) HHSC may distribute funds for medical, dental, psychological, or surgical treatment provided to a minor only if consent to treatment is obtained pursuant to Family Code Chapter 32. In the event that compliance with this subsection would result in the loss of Federal Funds to the state, HHSC may modify, or suspend this subsection to the extent necessary to prevent such loss of funds, provided that 45-day prior notification is provided to the Governor and the Legislative Budget Board.

Language such as this would allow for minors to be served without consent if federal funding would be in jeopardy. Guidance given by the Texas Department of Health specifies:

> … providers and their parent organizations may serve clients who are funded through sources outside of the Health and Human Services Commission (HHSC). When requirements differ, policies and procedures concerning services for programs administered by HHSC must be distinguished from those governing family planning services provided through other contracts or funding sources, such as Title X*.*

For Utah this type of approach could be taken. Another approach to consider would be to allow an exemption for Title X funds only.

Please let me know if you have any follow up questions.

It seems like a good idea to add this to the Family Friendly Policy list. I am adding Krisann here as I am a little anxious about which documents to add it to since there seems to be multiple documents and I want to make sure it gets to the right place. I, also, think it's a good idea to discuss this with the LG on the 20th as she was the senate sponsor of the house bill that required parental consent (which may or may not be indicative of strong feelings about parental consent).

Do we want to ask Laurie to complete a legislative review sheet for the idea of amending state law?

The landscape has changed since this language was added to state code. She may be supportive of this adjustment.

Good Morning Tracy & Nate -

Below is information and suggestions from Maternal & Child Health in response to the request from the Office of Congressman Blake Moore regarding changes necessary to allow Utah to receive Title X funds. While MCH did not offer specific language they did highlight the two areas in federal code that have prohibited Utah from receiving Title X funds that would need to be amended. MCH, also, provided information on changes that could be made in State code to allow for an exemption to the parental consent law in narrow cases where Title X funding is being utilized; including some example language from Texas.

As I am still trying to understand the basics of this issue, please let me know how you all would like to proceed in reaching-out to the Congressman's office.

David -

There are two possible approaches to Congressman Moore's request. A federal statute change or a change at the state level. For a federal statute change to be "enacted", as we understand it, would require an actual act of congress. The specific federal code that would need to be addressed, and that applies here, is the Public Health Service Act, 42 CFR Part 59 Subpart A (https://www.ecfr.gov/current/title-42/chapter-I/subchapter-D/part-59/subpart-A). It states:

> § 59.5(a) What requirements must be met by a family planning project

> § 59.10 Confidentiality
> (b) To the extent practical, Title X projects shall encourage family participation.[3] However, Title X projects may not require consent of parents or guardians for the provision of services to minors, nor can any Title X project staff notify a parent or guardian before or after a minor has requested and/or received Title X family planning services.

The Title X philosophy (and in federal code) highly encourages the inclusion of parents/guardians in these important life decisions, but minors will not be turned away at a Title X funded facility.

We do not have specific language to suggest regarding changes to this section of federal statute.

In the August 2020 letter denying Utah's waiver request, from the Deputy Assistant Secretary, Office of Population Affairs to Dr. Joseph Miner, it stated "The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) is unable to grant this request for a waiver. This requirement for provision of confidential contraceptive services is statutory and, thus, HHS does not have the authority to provide such a waiver." A second idea would be to add language to this section of the Public Health Service Act that would allow the Federal Department of Health and Human Services to grant waivers requested by states.

For Utah -
There is a way to allow Title X funds into the state without changing the Utah parental consent law. We explored this option when we were tentatively offered Title X funds in 2020, but were not granted the "waiver" we requested, and were not able to receive the funds (Please refer to HB377, legislation passed in 2020).

When notifying leadership of the denial of Utah's waiver request, we put forward another suggestion for the Utah legislature and executive leadership to consider. Other states receiving Title X funds with similar parental notification or consent laws suspend state law for Title X funds only. A thorough example is one from Texas, who created an exemption to their parental notification law. (https://www.lbb.texas.gov/Documents/GAA/General_Appropriations_Act_2020_2021.pdf (see page 190/II-70, section 79(a)(2))

> (2) HHSC may distribute funds for medical, dental, psychological, or surgical treatment provided to a minor only if consent to treatment is obtained pursuant to Family Code Chapter 32. In the event that compliance with this subsection would result in the loss of Federal Funds to the state, HHSC may modify, or suspend this subsection to the extent necessary to prevent such loss of funds, provided that 45-day prior notification is provided to the Governor and the Legislative Budget Board.

Language such as this would allow for minors to be served without consent if federal funding would be in jeopardy. Guidance given by the Texas Department of Health specifies:

> … providers and their parent organizations may serve clients who are funded through sources outside of the Health and Human Services Commission (HHSC). When requirements differ, policies and procedures concerning services for programs administered by HHSC must be distinguished from those governing family planning services provided through other contracts or funding sources, such as Title X*.*

For Utah this type of approach could be taken. Another approach to consider would be to allow an exemption for Title X funds only.

Please let me know if you have any follow up questions.

Thank you,
Laurie, Lynne and Nickee

David -

There are two possible approaches to Congressman Moore's request. A federal statute change or a change at the state level. For a federal statute change to be "enacted", as we understand it, would require an actual act of congress. The specific federal code that would need to be addressed, and that applies here, is the Public Health Service Act, 42 CFR Part 59 Subpart A (https://www.ecfr.gov/current/title-42/chapter-I/subchapter-D/part-59/subpart-A). It states:

> § 59.5(a) What requirements must be met by a family planning project

> § 59.10 Confidentiality
> (b) To the extent practical, Title X projects shall encourage family participation.[3] However, Title X projects may not require consent of parents or guardians for the provision of services to minors, nor can any Title X project staff notify a parent or guardian before or after a minor has requested and/or received Title X family planning services.

The Title X philosophy (and in federal code) highly encourages the inclusion of parents/guardians in these important life decisions, but minors will not be turned away at a Title X funded facility.

We do not have specific language to suggest regarding changes to this section of federal statute.

In the August 2020 letter denying Utah's waiver request, from the Deputy Assistant Secretary, Office of Population Affairs to Dr. Joseph Miner, it stated "The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) is unable to grant this request for a waiver. This requirement for provision of confidential contraceptive services is statutory and, thus, HHS does not have the authority to provide such a waiver." A second idea would be to add language to this section of the Public Health Service Act that would allow the Federal Department of Health and Human Services to grant waivers requested by states.

For Utah -
There is a way to allow Title X funds into the state without changing the Utah parental consent law. We explored this option when we were tentatively offered Title X funds in 2020, but were not granted the "waiver" we requested, and were not able to receive the funds (Please refer to HB377, legislation passed in 2020).

When notifying leadership of the denial of Utah's waiver request, we put forward another suggestion for the Utah legislature and executive leadership to consider. Other states receiving Title X funds with similar parental notification or consent laws suspend state law for Title X funds only. A thorough example is one from Texas, who created an exemption to their parental notification law. (https://www.lbb.texas.gov/Documents/GAA/General_Appropriations_Act_2020_2021.pdf (see page 190/II-70, section 79(a)(2))

> (2) HHSC may distribute funds for medical, dental, psychological, or surgical treatment provided to a minor only if consent to treatment is obtained pursuant to Family Code Chapter 32. In the event that compliance with this subsection would result in the loss of Federal Funds to the state, HHSC may modify, or suspend this subsection to the extent necessary to prevent such loss of funds, provided that 45-day prior notification is provided to the Governor and the Legislative Budget Board.

Language such as this would allow for minors to be served without consent if federal funding would be in jeopardy. Guidance given by the Texas Department of Health specifies:

> … providers and their parent organizations may serve clients who are funded through sources outside of the Health and Human Services Commission (HHSC). When requirements differ, policies and procedures concerning services for programs administered by HHSC must be distinguished from those governing family planning services provided through other contracts or funding sources, such as Title X*.*

For Utah this type of approach could be taken. Another approach to consider would be to allow an exemption for Title X funds only.

Please let me know if you have any follow up questions.

Thank you,
Laurie, Lynne and Nickee

My recollection is that the current draft of the legislative review sheet from Laurie & Lynne recommends that we do not submit a grant application because we are not eligible due to the state's parental consent requirement. Maybe we just need to ask that the legislative review sheet be rewritten to incorporate potential changes to state statute based on what Laurie provided last week in response to Congressman Moore's request.

I, also, think it's a good idea to discuss this with the LG on the 20th as she was the senate sponsor of the house bill that required parental consent (which may or may not be indicative of strong feelings about parental consent).

Do we want to ask Laurie to complete a legislative review sheet for the idea of amending state law?

Situational Analysis | Sept 7, 2022

It's Wednesday and National Salami Day. Good times.

Be in the Know

- A New Mexico judge cited insurrection in barring a county commissioner from office and rules that he must immediately be removed from office. District Court Judge Francis Mathew ruled that Couy Griffin, an Otero County commissioner, is now disqualified from holding public office because he violated Section 3 of the Fourteenth Amendment by participating in the Jan. 6 siege. "He took an oath to support the Constitution of the United States ... [and then] engaged in that insurrection after taking his oath," Judge Mathew wrote.

Situational Analysis | Sept 9, 2022

It's Friday and National Teddy Bear Day - it seems particularly appropriate today to honor a bear named Paddington.

Also, a very happy 98th birthday to Russell M. Nelson, president of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Be in the Know

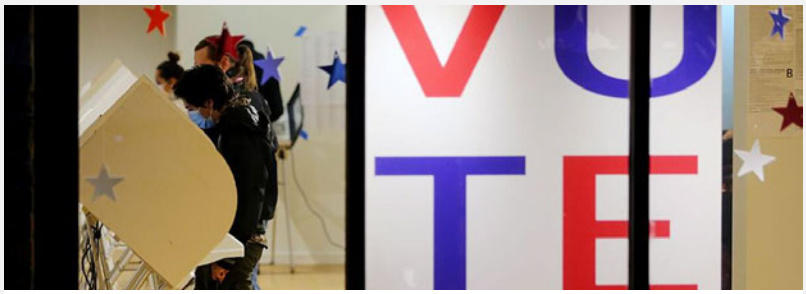
- Queen Elizabeth II died yesterday at age 96. She was England's longest serving monarch, having been on the throne a full 70 years. She served with 15 Prime Ministers, beginning with Winston Churchill. Her final public act was formally appointing new Prime Minister Liz Truss on Tuesday. “In a world of constant change, she was a steadying presence and a source of comfort and pride for generations of Britons, including many who have never known their country without her,” President Joe Biden and First Lady Jill Biden said in a statement. Her oldest son is now

King Charles III and is wife Camilla is the Queen Consort. He will address a nation in mourning later today.

- ABC4 is teaming up with local leaders and community members calling upon Utahns to aid in the ongoing crisis, asking for donations of bottled water as part of a local water drive. Donations may be made at ABC4 Utah's studios at 2175 West 1700 South, Salt Lake City, or you may click here to donate to a GoFundMe set up by conservationist and entrepreneur Jeremy Roberts to deliver drinking water to Jackson, Mississippi.

Rapid Roundup

- The Salt Lake City Greek Festival begins today and runs through the weekend; the Queen is remembered fondly by Utah Brits; Salt Lake City airport still growing; the Hinckley Report with Jason Perry returns tonight at 7 pm; our National Day of Service is tomorrow and Sunday marks the 21st anniversary of the 9/11 attacks. Have a great weekend.



Historic Summer for Politics

After a historic summer, the Hinckley Report returns with analysis of the 2022 primary elections. Doug Wilks, Maura Carabello, and Glen Mills join host Jason Perry on The Hinckley Report this Friday at 7:00 pm to discuss the outcomes, and how major decisions in Washington, D.C. are impacting Utahns.

Delta Technical Center teacher named 2023 Utah Teacher of the Year

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Sydnee Dickson today named Chad Warnick, an agriculture, biology, leadership, and communications teacher at the Delta Technical Center in the Millard School District, as 2023 Utah Teacher of the Year.

Warnick, of Delta, was presented with a check for $10,000 and will compete with his state fellow teachers of the year in a national competition. He will participate in a number of state and national leadership opportunities. (Read More)

Utah Democrats officially file lawsuit to remove Joel Ferry from November ballot

Today, the Utah Democratic Party officially announced that it has filed a lawsuit in federal court to remove Joel Ferry from the general election ballot in House District 1.

After Ferry was appointed by Gov. Cox to lead the Department of Natural Resources, he refused to give up his seat in the legislature, unconstitutionally serving in both the Executive and Legislative branches for months before finally resigning under pressure. However, he still remains on the ballot in HD-1, even though he clearly has no intention of serving his community in the House if re-elected. (Read More)

Situational Analysis | Sept 14, 2022

It's a lovely fall Wednesday morning and it's National Parents Day Off. Hahahaha. 😂 😂

Be in the Know

- The US House of Representatives on Tuesday approved by voice vote legislation eliminating the statute of limitations for victims of child sex abuse to file civil claims, sending the bill—which passed the Senate unanimously in March—to the White House for President Biden's signature. There is currently no statute of limitations for criminal child sex abuse charges, but minors who suffer must file federal civil claims before they turn 28 years old or before 10 years have passed since the abuse occurred.
- GOP Sen. Lindsey Graham introduced legislation on Tuesday that would institute a federal ban on doctors performing abortions after 15 weeks of gestation, stunning his Senate GOP colleagues. Senate Minority Leader Mitch McConnell indicated he wouldn't bring the legislation up for a vote if Republicans retake the Senate, telling reporters he thinks most Republicans "prefer that this be dealt with at the state level."

Rapid Roundup

- Ken Starr dies at 76; Flamin' Hot Cheeto pretzels and other "delicacies" at the State Fair; 150 million yr-old vomit; Lehi removing hundreds of trees in multiple neighborhoods; pit bull shot and killed after it attacked a girl in a Macey's parking lot; and amazing fungi emerge after southern Utah rains.

Trail Mix

Director Jenny Rees, who oversees the Department of Government Operations, joins me to share her trail from her first job (ear piercing/jewelry sales), to phlebotomy to tech to elected office and now director over nine divisions in state government. She's also not a big trail mix fan - except for one part.

The Hinckley Report, PBS Utah's weekly political roundtable, airs Fridays at 7PM. Hosted by Jason Perry and produced in partnership with the Hinckley Institute of Politics on the University of Utah campus, the program provides insight and analysis of the most pressing political issues facing our state.

Utahns' well-being drops in 2022

Today, the Utah Foundation released The 2022 Utah Personal Quality of Life Index: Is the Well-Being of Utahns in Decline?

The report focuses on personal quality of life – based on a survey where Utahns rate their well-being on a series of seven factors. In this report, the Utah Foundation: compares 2022 data with the 2018 iteration of the survey; analyzes responses by population group; compares Utahns' personal quality of life with their community quality of life; and suggests targeted ways that policymakers might improve quality of life for Utahns.

In 2022, the Personal Quality of Life Index stands at 76 out of a possible 100 points. This is a decrease from 82 points in 2018. (Read More)

Situational Analysis | Sept 15, 2022

It's Thursday and National Online Learning Day. Utah is lucky to have great options at all levels of education.

Be in the Know

- Retail sales rose 0.3% in August, showing the resilience of US consumers. Retail spending encompasses spending on goods such as furniture, cars and groceries and are not adjusted for inflation. Jobless claims fell to 213,000, the lowest since the end of May. Economists say companies are hoarding workers after experiencing difficulties hiring in the past. Food prices, however, are rising at the fastest pace in 40 years.

Rapid Roundup

- Utah drivers are the most confrontational in the nation, according to a Forbes Advisor study; adult bullying; genealogy - for your historic home; billionaire no more - Patagonia founder literally gives away the company to fight climate change; and the Mountain West Conference Commissioner is stepping down.

Inflation and the Midterms

Inflation is still dominating national headlines. Ben Winslow, Heidi Hatch, and Jay Evensen join host Jason Perry on The Hinckley Report this Friday at 7:00 pm to discuss how this will impact the upcoming midterm elections. Plus, Utah's governor joins the fight against student loan forgiveness.

SL Chamber to recognize organizations elevating best practices of diversity & inclusion in Utah

Utah's business and community leaders will honor local organizations that lead in equality, diversity and fairness during Utah's Business Diversity Summit, part of the One Utah Summit Series. These organizations were nominated by community members and are leading actions to remove barriers, improve the working experience and engagement level of employees, and foster a sense of belonging where individuals can be their authentic selves and have a voice in the organization. Utah's Business Diversity Summit will take place on October 28, 2022, at the Salt Lake City Marriott Downtown at City Creek. (Read More)

Congressman Blake Moore introduces the Pharmacist Conscience Protection Act

Today, Congressman Blake Moore (R-UT) introduced the Pharmacist Conscience Protection Act alongside Congressman Earl L. "Buddy" Carter (R-GA) and Congresswoman Diana Harshbarger (R-TN) to protect pharmacists' conscience rights when choosing whether to fill prescriptions for elective abortions.

This bill, co-sponsored by 26 House Republicans, comes after the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) issued guidance warning pharmacists that they may be in violation of federal civil rights laws if they do not fill such prescriptions. (Read More)

Foreign Relations Committee approves Romney measure on passport agencies

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee voted to approve the Taiwan Policy Act of 2022 and the Department of State Authorization Act of 2022, legislation to offer support for Taiwan and provide authorities for State Department operations, respectively. Following the Committee's business meeting to consider the legislation, U.S. Senator Mitt Romney (R-UT) released a statement regarding his measure to create a report on the geographical diversity of the United States' passport agencies. In a letter to Secretary Blinken, Romney previously urged the State Department to improve their passport services by opening a passport agency in Salt Lake City. (Read More)

A Q&A with Anne Zink, ASTHO's New President

ASTHO is thrilled to welcome Anne Zink, MD, FACEP as our new president. Zink is a practicing emergency room physician and serves as the chief medical officer for the Alaska Department of Health.

In a conversation with ASTHO, she spoke about her hopes for the future of public health and her goals as president. Zink plans to focus her presidency on improving health information systems to empower the public, healthcare providers, and the public health workforce with the tools and information they need to promote individual and population health. Get all the details in this Q&A.

Leveraging State and Federal Policy to Reduce Maternal Illness and Death

There are significant disparities in pregnancy-related outcomes in the United States. The U.S. maternal mortality rate is higher than many other high-income countries and severe maternal morbidity continues to rise. Additionally, many people of color experience higher maternal mortality when compared to their white counterparts.

With many of these deaths considered preventable, state and federal policymakers are taking steps to improve health outcomes for pregnant people. Learn how in this week's Health Policy Update.

THIS WEEK'S HIGHLIGHTS

ASTHO Welcomes Its 80th President | On Sept. 13 at ASTHO's annual Assembly of Members meeting, Anne Zink, MD, FACEP (SHO-AK) began her term as the 80th president of ASTHO. She succeeds Nirav Shah, MD, JD, (SHO-ME) who has held the position since January 2021. We thank Dr. Shah for his service and leadership during one of the most difficult challenges public health has faced, and we look forward to Dr. Zink's term as president. Learn more in our latest press release.

ASTHO Names New Board Leadership | Also this week, ASTHO announced its other newly elected leaders, including Steven J. Stack, MD, MBA, (SHO-KY) president-elect, and Scott Harris, MD, MPH, (SHO-AL) secretary-treasurer. Visit here to learn more about ASTHO's leadership and governance.

Inaugural DELPH Cohort Graduates | The Diverse Executives Leading in Public Health (DELPH) program, co-created by ASTHO and the Satcher Health Leadership Institute at Morehouse School of Medicine, celebrated the graduation of its first cohort at ASTHO's 2022 Fall Leadership Summit. Sixteen scholars completed a 10-month long program focused on fine tuning their leadership skills, expanding their public health network, and connecting with colleagues focused on growth. Meet the graduating class and learn more about their accomplishments in the DELPH Magazine now.

New Article in the American Journal of Public Health | ASTHO and the University of Washington co-authored a new article on the growing climate crisis and what it will take to get state and territorial health agencies ready to respond to the effects of climate change on public health. Check out the full article for more.

Public Health Stretched Thin | ASTHO CEO Michael Fraser spoke with The Nation's Health about the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic on the regular functions of healthcare and public health, outside of managing the pandemic itself. Many critical functions were set aside and public health is racing to make up for lost time. Learn more about COVID-19's "health debt" now.

It's Friday and the weekend is looming. It's National Play-Doh Day - remember eating some as a kid? Just me? (Once I became a parent, it was banned in my house for many years because Play-Doh and carpet don't mix well. It's allowed again now that the carpet is gone...)

Also, Happy Constitution Day tomorrow!

Smith's donates thousands of meals to students in need

To help meet the food needs of students, Salt Lake Education Foundation with Smith's Food & Drug is providing over 4,000 meals to feed young people in need who may be food insecure or negatively impacted as a result of inflation and the lingering effects of the COVID-19 pandemic.

Approximately 1 in 9 children in Utah struggle with hunger and are unable to concentrate, have poor attendance and suffer anxiety. These students often fall behind academically, drop out before graduation, exhibit behavior problems and experience substance abuse issues. (Read More)

Owens introduces the EXPORT Act

Rep. Burgess Owens (UT-04) introduced the EXPORT Act of 2022 to level the playing field for small businesses, entrepreneurs, and innovators to compete internationally. The legislation, originally introduced in the 115th Congress by late Sen. Orrin Hatch and former Rep. Mia Love, corrects an oversight in financial regulation by amending the Commodity Exchange Act to allow small state-regulated non-bank businesses to be exempted from overly burdensome Commodity Futures Trading Commission's (CFTC) regulations. The legislation will expand access to financial services for small businesses and entrepreneurs, while still maintaining proper oversight and mitigating systemic financial risk. (Read More)

Senator,

We need to correct the number of women that would be impacted by this proposal. The total estimated cost is still correct; however, our analyst missed a portion of the information when he pulled the estimated number of women impacted by the change.

The correct figures

8,900 women in total per year:

- 2,000 women would gain new coverage
- 2,000 women would stay on the pregnant woman program instead of moving to adult expansion
- 4,900 women would stay on the pregnant woman program instead of moving to another non-expansion program

We wanted to make sure you had the correct numbers and apologize for the error.

Thanks,

Nate

Of that number, 1600 normally qualify to continue coverage and 1,700 would be discontinued. With extension of coverage to 12 months, the remaining 1,700 that would have lost coverage will now maintain that coverage.

Two Utah schools named 2022 National Blue Ribbon Schools

U.S. Secretary of Education Miguel Cardona today recognized 297 schools as National Blue Ribbon Schools for 2022, including two schools in Utah. The recognition is based on a school's overall academic performance or progress in closing achievement gaps among student subgroups. Secretary Cardona made the announcement during his Road to Success Back to School bus tour.

The Utah schools named as National Blue Ribbon Schools were:

Last week, the Utah Democratic Party officially filed a lawsuit in federal court, asking a judge to issue an injunction requiring the Lieutenant Governor's office to remove Joel Ferry from the ballot in House District 1 due to his ineligibility to serve. On Monday, Judge Parrish decided to not rule on the Utah Constitution and Utah law, deferring to her former colleagues in the Utah Supreme Court.

"We are not giving up fighting for the rights of voters in HD-1 to choose their own representative instead of having their legislator picked by a small group of party insiders," said party Chair Diane Lewis. "That means the next step is to take our case to the Utah Supreme Court, asking them to rule on the LG's decision to certify Mr. Ferry." (Read More)

Sarah,

I wanted to send you this one-pager from the House Ways and Means Committee regarding MIECHV Reauthorization. The language will likely be introduced in the committee today (Monday) and will be marked up by the committee by Wednesday at the earliest. I received this through the Association of State and Tribal Home Visiting Initiatives (ASTHVI). We were told that we can share it with folks in and outside of our agency, but that it shouldn't be shared on social media or with the press until the bill is introduced today.

While I can't do any advocacy work, I can certainly send along this information I received late last week from the Home Visiting Coalition Steering Committee: For those interested in advocacy on the legislation, two things are helpful at this time:

- Share your support! The Ways and Means Committee is collecting letters of support to help build momentum before a likely markup of the bill next week. You can see examples of endorsement letters from HVC Steering Committee members here:
  - Home Visiting Coalition
  - American Academy of Pediatrics
  - Association of Maternal & Child Health Programs
- Urge Ways and Means Members to co-sponsor the bill! The Committee is currently accepting original co-sponsors for the bill. Please reach out today to offices with whom you have a relationship to urge their co-sponsorship.

There are a lot of interesting changes being proposed in this reauthorization, with the most notable being the match requirement. It's not yet clear if this match requirement will need to be new or can be from any current funding. Let me know if you have any questions about any of this. I'd be happy to keep you in the loop if you're interested. As an FYI, I also included Mykio in the conversation here, so she can stay in the loop!

Thanks!
Elizabeth

Hi Sarah,

We have a few ways to define "high needs families". For current state funding, we use the term "Families at Risk," which is defined as clients who qualify for WIC, TANF, CHIP, or Medicaid and meet model eligibility requirements regarding pregnancy and the family having a child age 2 or younger (this is because the original legislation was crafted around NFP).

The definition for our federal funds is a lot more complex. Here's an excerpt from one of our policies for our subrecipients regarding eligibility:

I. Enrollment for all families must be voluntary and include:
- A pregnant woman.
- A child younger than kindergarten entry; and/or

II. Families may be enrolled according to a tiered system based on the number of Eligibility Criteria (number of Parent As Teachers (PAT) stressors) and income (% of Federal Poverty Level). The following table outlines the tiered system:

% of Federal Poverty Level	Number of PAT Stressors That Must be Met by Family
At or below 100% of the Federal Poverty Level	0–Families qualify for services based on income alone
At or below 185%	1 (must have 1 stress factor in addition to low-income)
186% - 250%	2 (must have 2 stress factors other than income)
251% - 300%	3 (must have 3 stress factors other than income)

[redacted]

% of Federal Poverty Level	Number of PAT Stressors That Must be Met by Family
At or below 100% of the Federal Poverty Level	0–Families qualify for services based on income alone
301% and above	Does not qualify

III. All families must meet at least one (1) of the following PAT Eligibility Criteria or stressors, which include any of the following:
- Child abuse/neglect
- Child with disability or chronic health condition
- Death in immediate family
- Foster care or other temporary caregiver
- High school diploma equivalency not attained
- Housing instability
- Intimate partner violence
- Low income (at or below 185% of the Federal Poverty Level)
- Military deployment
- Parent incarcerated during child's lifetime
- Parent with disability or health condition
- Parent with mental health issues
- Recent immigrant or refugee family
- Substance use disorder
- Very low birth weight and preterm birth
- Young parents (under the age of 21)

IV. Priority shall be given to families that meet at least one (1) of the following MIECHV Eligibility Criteria:
I. Low income (at or below 100% of the Federal Poverty Level)
II. Pregnant and under the age of 21
III. History of child abuse or neglect, or history of interactions with child welfare services
IV. History of substance abuse or in need of substance abuse treatment
V. Tobacco use
VI. Low student achievement
VII. A child with developmental delays or disability
VIII. A household member who is serving or has served in the U.S. armed forces

V. If the Home Visiting Program has an open caseload for enrollment, priority shall be given to those who meet multiple MIECHV Eligibility Criteria. Additionally, priority may be given to families experiencing multiple stressors, as defined by the PAT home visiting model. Families experiencing multiple PAT Eligibility Criteria or stressors shall always be given priority over families experiencing only a single PAT stressor identified.

As for the current need and the gap, I'll just take a cut at poverty--not figuring in all of these over factors. I did some back of the envelope calculations here based on 2020 ACS data and information I received today regarding MIECHV authorization. There are approximately 3,679,064 children under the age of 5 living in poverty in the U.S. According to the Congressional Research Service, 0.63% of those children live in Utah.This means there are approximately 23,178 children in Utah under the age of 5 living in poverty. With what we're currently able to serve (611 families), we're probably only serving 2.6% of the families in need--assuming only one child per household. However, because home visiting is a long-term intervention, families only have to qualify (or meet this definition) at the time of enrollment. Ideally, we should see changes to income and stressors over time, which would actually increase the need.

As for the cost, I have an estimate based on a per family rate for PAT and NFP, but these should probably be adjusted based on inflation, as I've heard from each of our subrecipients that the current funding levels are insufficient without pulling in local funding (usually county tax dollars):

- PAT: $5,880 per family
- NFP: $6,935 per family

Then our rate at the state is approximately $139,142 for each staff person that we need to run the program. If we expand to each of the LHDs, I would say we would need at least 3 more people on my team.

Obviously serving each and every child accounted for in these calculations could not happen. If we could reach, at minimum, 10% of these children (2,317), I'd say we'd be doing a great job in Utah! The cost of that would probably be around $15.5 million (total, so an increase of about $12 million annually). This would need to be scaled up over time to make sure that we're able to provide adequate support and training for all involved, and to do the work to build a strong referral and connection network.

I'd also suggest keeping an ear to the ground regarding MIECHV reauthorization (it expires on September 30th). I'm not sure what will happen with that, but it's currently our largest funding source, so it warrants some attention!

I'm including Noël here. So she can stay in the loop on our conversation. She's had quite a few conversations about expansion, so she might have additional pieces to add here.

If you are on this email you have either been identified as:

1. Responsible for writing a report; or
2. Responsible for reviewing a report

The following reports are due to the Legislature by October 1, 2022:

- For those reports ready for EDO review, a google doc link has been included.

- For those reports that do not have a google doc included, these reports are due to EDO no later than this FRIDAY, September 23 (to give EDO at least one week for review).

As a reminder, these reports are legislatively required. Some of them are recurring reports that have individual citations in code. Other reports are required as intent language passed in various budget bills this year.

If you feel you were incorrectly identified as being responsible for the report, please send a message to me, your ELT-level supervisor, and the staff member you feel should be responsible.

Please make these a priority so we can meet these legislative deadlines.

Here is the link for the NEW DHHS Legislative Report Template

- Report Templates: Click on "File" the third option down is "Make a Copy". This will allow you and your team to make a copy while preserving the template.

These are just the reports that OLA has taken the lead on. DFA has another list of required reports they are responsible for
