Goal is to get 100 units to theater directly. 3 more FLDS units to the EOC for testing and deployment as necessary.

So totals would:

28 are en route from Cape to staging area in Lee. We need 72 more there for first rollout.

We need 200 more units on staging pending successful rollout of the first 100.

We need 3 more to Tallahassee for FLDS testing, training, and rollout with travelers who need them going to the field and back.

Morning, all -

Thanks for the partnership. Here's the latest.

- The first 16 Starlink kits (1 high power and 15 standard) arrived yesterday with FDEP (Roger L.).
- 30 high power Starlink kits will arrive to FDS today (Keith P). We are shipping another 75 to arrive to FDS no later than Tuesday, and are trying to pull this into Monday.
- The state is paying for the hardware, and SpaceX is donating service for these units for the month during recovery efforts.
- Our Comms Director, James Gleeson (cc'd), spoke with Taryn at EOG earlier this AM to coordinate messaging.
- Our network team can speak with the FDS network team today to coordinate deployment.

Please let me know how else we can assist in the meantime.

Thanks,
Mike

DEO and Space Florida are collaborating regarding press release/something official and they will ask the LG for help if needed.

Note for all, per Jeremy, the delivery might be Saturday at the EOC in Tallahassee, rather than Friday, so that detail is up in the air.

Let's focus on the press release though and a tweet from Elon as a couple immediate deliverables.

Morning, all -

Thanks for the partnership. Here's the latest.

- The first 16 Starlink kits (1 high power and 15 standard) arrived yesterday with FDEP (Roger L.).
- 30 high power Starlink kits will arrive to FDS today (Keith P). We are shipping another 75 to arrive to FDS no later than Tuesday, and are trying to pull this into Monday.
- The state is paying for the hardware, and SpaceX is donating service for these units for the month during recovery efforts.
- Our Comms Director, James Gleeson (cc'd), spoke with Taryn at EOG earlier this AM to coordinate messaging.
- Our network team can speak with the FDS network team today to coordinate deployment.

Please let me know how else we can assist in the meantime.

Thanks,
Mike

Hey Savannah – thanks for reaching out! We are launching a mission to space about once every six days from Florida, so plenty of opportunities to see a mission fly if ever of interest! Our next milestone mission with a VIP guest program will be sending NASA astronauts to the International Space Station in late September / early October. It was great to host the Governor at our very first crew launch in May 2020!

We are also planning to conduct a Starship launch from Florida in early 2023. Starship will be the largest, most powerful rocket ever flown, and we will certainly invite the Governor to join for our VIP viewing event for that once we have a firmer date.

Goal is to get 100 units to theater directly. 3 more FLDS units to the EOC for testing and deployment as necessary.

So totals would:

28 are en route from Cape to staging area in Lee. We need 72 more there for first rollout.

We need 200 more units on staging pending successful rollout of the first 100.

We need 3 more to Tallahassee for FLDS testing, training, and rollout with travelers who need them going to the field and back.

Morning, all -

Thanks for the partnership. Here's the latest.

- The first 16 Starlink kits (1 high power and 15 standard) arrived yesterday with FDEP (Roger L.).
- 30 high power Starlink kits will arrive to FDS today (Keith P). We are shipping another 75 to arrive to FDS no later than Tuesday, and are trying to pull this into Monday.
- The state is paying for the hardware, and SpaceX is donating service for these units for the month during recovery efforts.
- Our Comms Director, James Gleeson (cc'd), spoke with Taryn at EOG earlier this AM to coordinate messaging.
- Our network team can speak with the FDS network team today to coordinate deployment.

Please let me know how else we can assist in the meantime.

Thanks,
Mike

Connecting everyone here, so we can streamline any further Space X updates with all who are helping on the same communication.

DEO and Space Florida are collaborating regarding press release/something official and they will ask the LG for help if needed.

Note for all, per Jeremy, the delivery might be Saturday at the EOC in Tallahassee, rather than Friday, so that detail is up in the air.

Let's focus on the press release though and a tweet from Elon as a couple immediate deliverables.

Morning, all -

Thanks for the partnership. Here's the latest.

- The first 16 Starlink kits (1 high power and 15 standard) arrived yesterday with FDEP (Roger L.).
- 30 high power Starlink kits will arrive to FDS today (Keith P). We are shipping another 75 to arrive to FDS no later than Tuesday, and are trying to pull this into Monday.
- The state is paying for the hardware, and SpaceX is donating service for these units for the month during recovery efforts.
- Our Comms Director, James Gleeson (cc'd), spoke with Taryn at EOG earlier this AM to coordinate messaging.
- Our network team can speak with the FDS network team today to coordinate deployment.

Please let me know how else we can assist in the meantime.

Thanks,
Mike

Hey Savannah – thanks for reaching out! We are launching a mission to space about once every six days from Florida, so plenty of opportunities to see a mission fly if ever of interest! Our next milestone mission with a VIP guest program will be sending NASA astronauts to the International Space Station in late September / early October. It was great to host the Governor at our very first crew launch in May 2020!

We are also planning to conduct a Starship launch from Florida in early 2023. Starship will be the largest, most powerful rocket ever flown, and we will certainly invite the Governor to join for our VIP viewing event for that once we have a firmer date.
