Below is the information about the I-69 Alliance Executive Committee call tomorrow. This is the monthly call and it will provide a good update on our activities and project status.

Also, below are some highlights about the I-69 developments in Laredo over the past several years as a result in part to the work of the Alliance.

We have seen steady progress on the buildout of I-69 West in Laredo during the past few years.

2014 - I-69W west of I-35 was signed and added to Interstate Highway System

2018 - TxDOT selects US 59 from Laredo to Houston as one of four key corridors to get special emphasis in the Statewide and Rural Connectivity Program. The goal of this program is to develop these corridors to a minimum of four-lane divided standard. In the case of I-69 incremental projects are being designed and right-of-way acquired for future expansion to interstate standard.

2020 - Work was completed on the I-69 crossing of I-35 and the Union Pacific tracks, extending east two miles to International Blvd.

2022 - Commission reconfirms focus on development of US 59 - Laredo to Houston

2024 - Groundbreaking for the $344 million project to convert US 59 section of the Laredo Loop boulevard to interstate standard

2024 - Completion of two additional direct connectors in the I-69W – I-35 interchange.

Webb County Projects in the new 2026 UTP (expected to be approved by the Texas Transportation Commission in August):

1. Conversion of US 59 near the Laredo Airport to interstate – est. $37.3 million (in 4-year STIP)
2. Conversion of US 59 from Airport to Saunders/US 59 interchange – est. $79.6 million (in STIP)
3. Construction of final 3 direct connects at I-69W/I-35 interchange – est. $93.5 million (in STIP)
4. Widening of 19 rural miles of US 59 starting at the Laredo Loop – est. $346 million (2030-2035)

A Resolution Supporting the Future Interstate Highway Formula Program

WHEREAS, the United States economy must have the world's pre-eminent surface transportation system; and

WHEREAS, the Future Interstate Highway Formula Funding Program will establish a predictable and stable level of federal funding to support development of congressionally authorized Future Interstates, including I-69 in Texas, and will address the need to focus federal transportation funding on projects that provide national benefit; and

WHEREAS, the Formula Funding Program will provide needed investment in the next generation of the Interstate Highway System to keep pace with growing population and efficient freight movement demands; and

WHEREAS, the purpose of the Interstate Highway System is to provide a safe, efficient, and high-capacity roadway network for the movement of people and goods; and

WHEREAS, highways meeting interstate standards substantially enhance safety for the traveling public while also addressing emergency evacuation needs; and

WHEREAS, the purpose of Future Interstate Highways is to expand and enhance the national transportation network by identifying and developing key corridors that will eventually meet full Interstate Highway standards, with the goal of supporting 1) National Connectivity; 2) Freight and Economic Development; (3) Cross-Border Trade and International Commerce; 4) National Defense; 5) Emergency Evacuation; and 6) Transportation Modernization; and

WHEREAS, there is currently no dedicated federal funding to plan and construct Future Interstate Highways; and

WHEREAS, international trade has grown from $39 billion in 1956 to $5.8 trillion in 2023, an increase of 14,700 percent in 67 years, an average annual growth of 219.4 percent; and

WHEREAS, entry into NAFTA (1994) and now USMCA (2020) strengthened trade with Mexico and Canada and as a result land ports of entry became critical -- especially for energy, agriculture, and auto parts trade across North American corridors; and

WHEREAS, initially trade across the United States moved primarily east-west and the original Interstate Highway System was built to serve the east-west movement; and

WHEREAS, today the United States, Canada, and Mexico are each other's largest trade partners for oil, energy, automobiles, electronics, and agricultural goods—and it is common for materials to be procured from one country, produced into goods in a second, and then marketed and sold in a third; and

WHEREAS, the nation's shift from manufacturing-based economy to services and technology; a significant rise in consumer spending, e-commerce, and just-in-time logistics. This growth in freight further highlights that highways are critical for supply chains; and

WHEREAS, despite the authorization of a 40,000-mile Interstate Highway System by Congress in 1944 and the initial designation of 37,700 miles in 1947, the total constructed mileage has significantly fallen short of long-term national mobility demands; and

WHEREAS, by 1960, over 10,000 miles were completed, followed by rapid expansion to 20,000 miles by the mid-1960s, 30,000 miles by 1970, and 40,000 miles by 1980, with 92% of the system completed by 1986; and

WHEREAS, incremental additions brought the system to approximately 42,700 miles in the 1990s, 46,747 miles by the early 2000s, and over 48,000 miles in the 2020s; and

WHEREAS, the modest mileage growth of interstate highways over the past four decades reflects the need for renewed federal commitment to expanding and modernizing the Interstate System to meet 21st-century transportation, economic, and security challenges.

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Directors of the Alliance for I-69 Texas that:

The Alliance for I-69 Texas supports the proposal to include the Future Interstate Highway Formula Program in the next federal surface transportation authorization bill whereby federal taxpayers' funds are used for the national interest, ensuring a strong Federal role in surface transportation. Interstate Highways were developed as a national interest and Future Interstate Highways should be the same.

ADOPTED AND APPROVED this _____ day of _____, 2025.

Judge Sydney Murphy, Chairman of the Board
Alliance for I-69 Texas
County Judge of Polk County, Texas

Below is the information about the I-69 Alliance Executive Committee call tomorrow. This is the monthly call and it will provide a good update on our activities and project status.

Also, below are some highlights about the I-69 developments in Laredo over the past several years as a result in part to the work of the Alliance.

We have seen steady progress on the buildout of I-69 West in Laredo during the past few years.

2014 - I-69W west of I-35 was signed and added to Interstate Highway System

2018 - TxDOT selects US 59 from Laredo to Houston as one of four key corridors to get special emphasis in the Statewide and Rural Connectivity Program. The goal of this program is to develop these corridors to a minimum of four-lane divided standard. In the case of I-69 incremental projects are being designed and right-of-way acquired for future expansion to interstate standard.

2020 - Work was completed on the I-69 crossing of I-35 and the Union Pacific tracks, extending east two miles to International Blvd.

2022 - Commission reconfirms focus on development of US 59 - Laredo to Houston

2024 - Groundbreaking for the $344 million project to convert US 59 section of the Laredo Loop boulevard to interstate standard

2024 - Completion of two additional direct connectors in the I-69W – I-35 interchange.

Webb County Projects in the new 2026 UTP (expected to be approved by the Texas Transportation Commission in August):

1. Conversion of US 59 near the Laredo Airport to interstate – est. $37.3 million (in 4-year STIP)
2. Conversion of US 59 from Airport to Saunders/US 59 interchange – est. $79.6 million (in STIP)
3. Construction of final 3 direct connects at I-69W/I-35 interchange – est. $93.5 million (in STIP)
4. Widening of 19 rural miles of US 59 starting at the Laredo Loop – est. $346 million (2030-2035)

A Resolution Supporting the Future Interstate Highway Formula Program

WHEREAS, the United States economy must have the world's pre-eminent surface transportation system; and

WHEREAS, the Future Interstate Highway Formula Funding Program will establish a predictable and stable level of federal funding to support development of congressionally authorized Future Interstates, including I-69 in Texas, and will address the need to focus federal transportation funding on projects that provide national benefit; and

WHEREAS, the Formula Funding Program will provide needed investment in the next generation of the Interstate Highway System to keep pace with growing population and efficient freight movement demands; and

WHEREAS, the purpose of the Interstate Highway System is to provide a safe, efficient, and high-capacity roadway network for the movement of people and goods; and

WHEREAS, highways meeting interstate standards substantially enhance safety for the traveling public while also addressing emergency evacuation needs; and

WHEREAS, the purpose of Future Interstate Highways is to expand and enhance the national transportation network by identifying and developing key corridors that will eventually meet full Interstate Highway standards, with the goal of supporting 1) National Connectivity; 2) Freight and Economic Development; (3) Cross-Border Trade and International Commerce; 4) National Defense; 5) Emergency Evacuation; and 6) Transportation Modernization; and

WHEREAS, there is currently no dedicated federal funding to plan and construct Future Interstate Highways; and

WHEREAS, international trade has grown from $39 billion in 1956 to $5.8 trillion in 2023, an increase of 14,700 percent in 67 years, an average annual growth of 219.4 percent; and

WHEREAS, entry into NAFTA (1994) and now USMCA (2020) strengthened trade with Mexico and Canada and as a result land ports of entry became critical -- especially for energy, agriculture, and auto parts trade across North American corridors; and

703-963-3822 ▯ E-mail: Jennifer@jgshepard.com ▯ www.i69TexasAlliance.com

WHEREAS, initially trade across the United States moved primarily east-west and the original Interstate Highway System was built to serve the east-west movement; and

WHEREAS, today the United States, Canada, and Mexico are each other's largest trade partners for oil, energy, automobiles, electronics, and agricultural goods—and it is common for materials to be procured from one country, produced into goods in a second, and then marketed and sold in a third; and

WHEREAS, the nation's shift from manufacturing-based economy to services and technology; a significant rise in consumer spending, e-commerce, and just-in-time logistics. This growth in freight further highlights that highways are critical for supply chains; and

WHEREAS, despite the authorization of a 40,000-mile Interstate Highway System by Congress in 1944 and the initial designation of 37,700 miles in 1947, the total constructed mileage has significantly fallen short of long-term national mobility demands; and

WHEREAS, by 1960, over 10,000 miles were completed, followed by rapid expansion to 20,000 miles by the mid-1960s, 30,000 miles by 1970, and 40,000 miles by 1980, with 92% of the system completed by 1986; and

WHEREAS, incremental additions brought the system to approximately 42,700 miles in the 1990s, 46,747 miles by the early 2000s, and over 48,000 miles in the 2020s; and

WHEREAS, the modest mileage growth of interstate highways over the past four decades reflects the need for renewed federal commitment to expanding and modernizing the Interstate System to meet 21st-century transportation, economic, and security challenges.

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Directors of the Alliance for I-69 Texas that:

The Alliance for I-69 Texas supports the proposal to include the Future Interstate Highway Formula Program in the next federal surface transportation authorization bill whereby federal taxpayers' funds are used for the national interest, ensuring a strong Federal role in surface transportation. Interstate Highways were developed as a national interest and Future Interstate Highways should be the same.

ADOPTED AND APPROVED this _____ day of _____, 2025.

This presentation offers a multidimensional analysis, drawing on diverse methodologies and indicators to capture the full picture of our interdependence. The key insight: this is not just a trade relationship, but a sophisticated co-production system that strengthens both economies and anchors North American competitiveness. In this context, it becomes clear that not all trade deficits are created equal.*

Things to Know Before You Go: Mexico

Health Insurance Card and Medical Info

- Take your health insurance card and a list of any medications and their dosages. Please also carry your doctor's contact information if you have any serious medical issues.
- The phone number to report emergencies in Mexico is "911." It is best to seek the assistance of a Spanish speaker to place the call, although English-speaking operators may be available.
- Mexican facilities often require payment "up front" before providing medical care, and most hospitals in Mexico do not accept U.S. health insurance.

Passport

- A valid passport is required to enter Mexico.
- The Mexican government only requires that your passport must be valid during the entirety of your trip.
- Please carry a copy of your passport information with you in case of loss or theft.

Smart Traveler Enrollment Program (STEP) & Emergency Contact List

The Smart Traveler Enrollment Program (STEP) is a free service to allow U.S. citizens and nationals traveling abroad to enroll their trip with the nearest U.S. Embassy or Consulate: https://step.state.gov/step/. Please also provide an emergency contact to the trip organizers.

Weather

In Monterrey, the summers are long, hot, and muggy; and it is partly cloudy year-round. Daily high temperatures are around 93°F, rarely falling below 85°F or exceeding 100°F. The highest daily average high temperature is 95°F.

Electronics

The electric current throughout Mexico is the same type used in the US and in Canada: 110 volts, 60 cycles. Some electrical outlets at older hotels are still of the two-prong type, in which case an adapter would be required.

Cell Phones

Roaming costs for cell phones can be considerable. Please check with your cell phone provider to see if roaming charges apply, as well as potential travel packages.

Finances

- Call Your Bank: Before you leave, notify your bank, credit card company, and other financial institutions that you are traveling abroad. This may prevent fraud detection units from denying what might seem like suspicious financial activity.
- Currency: The currency of Mexico is the peso (sign: $; code: MXN). The peso divides into 100 centavos, represented by "¢".
    - 1 US Dollar = 19.57 Mexican Pesos (as of April 24, 2025)
    - 100 Mexican Peso = 5.11 US Dollars (as of April 24, 2025)

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- ATMs - Automatic Teller Machines:
ATMs are found throughout Mexico and enable you to draw funds from your bank account if it is affiliated to the Star, Cirrus, Global Access, Explore or Maestro systems. Please note there may be the exchange rate conversion applied. Mexican pesos are the only funds dispensed. ATMs are now prevalent at airports, most upscale hotels and resorts, and major markets.

Tipping

- It is customary to tip between 15-20% of the total bill at restaurants. Some restaurants add a service charge (propina) of around 15%. At bars in Mexico, tips are usually between 10-20 pesos per drink or 15-20% of the total bill. Taxi drivers do not expect tips, but if they help with luggage, a tip of 20-30 pesos is appropriate.
- In Mexican restaurants, it is customary for the server to bring the credit card terminal to you to swipe your card in front of you. If they do not, ask them for the "terminal".
- Many porters and parking attendants don't receive a salary and live on tips only.

Useful Travel Apps

- Tripit – email travel plans to plans@tripit.com and they will make an itinerary for you that includes places to visit, weather, vehicle rental, transportation, and restaurants. You are also able to input flight information. www.tripit.com
- Converter+ – unit converter with extensive list of currencies and units
- iTranslate or Google Translate – translation app with dictation instead of typing text and text to speech capability. You may also copy, email, message, tweet and WhatsApp translated text directly from the app.
- WhatsApp, Signal, Skype, Viber, KakaoTalk – apps for free messaging, voice (Skype, Viber, WhatsApp), and video (WhatsApp, Skype) communication when you are connected to WiFi.
- TinyScan – app for quickly scanning documents to your device with sharable capability

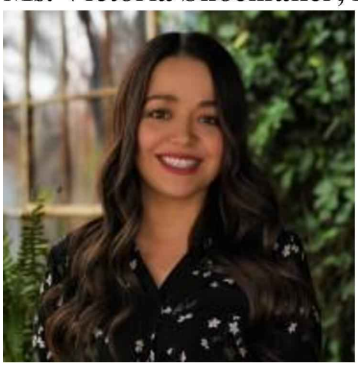
Mayors named in alphabetical order of city name:

The Honorable John Cowen, Mayor of Brownsville

Mayor John Cowen Jr. is the 31st Mayor of Brownsville, Texas, elected in 2023. A lifelong Brownsville resident and businessman, Mayor Cowen has been a strong advocate for economic development, infrastructure, and regional collaboration. Prior to becoming mayor, he served as a city commissioner and was recognized for his work in fiscal accountability and transparent governance. With a background in finance and international trade, he brings private-sector experience to public service, championing initiatives that position Brownsville as a hub for innovation and cross-border opportunity.

The Honorable Dr. Victor Treviño, Mayor of Laredo

Dr. Victor Treviño, Mayor of Laredo, is a physician and longtime public health advocate who was elected in 2022. Prior to his election, he served as the city's Public Health Authority, guiding Laredo through the COVID-19 pandemic with science-based leadership. A native of Laredo, Dr. Treviño has dedicated his career to community wellness, preventive care, and health education. As mayor, he has focused on improving public health infrastructure, advancing economic development, and fostering cross-border partnerships with Mexico to strengthen the region's binational ties.



The Honorable Ron Nirenberg, Mayor of San Antonio

Mayor Ron Nirenberg is the Mayor of San Antonio, Texas, first elected in 2017 and now serving his fourth term. Under his leadership, San Antonio has seen significant investment in infrastructure, housing, workforce development, climate resilience, and international engagement. Mayor Nirenberg graduated summa cum laude from Trinity University and received a Master's Degree in Communication magna cum laude from the University of Pennsylvania. During his tenure he has prioritized equity, civic participation, and economic innovation. He previously chaired the Sister Cities International Board and has positioned San Antonio as a global city, while remaining deeply focused on neighborhood needs and inclusive growth.

Mexico Briefing

CITY OF SAN ANTONIO TEXAS

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT
GLOBAL ENGAGEMENT

History and Culture

Mexico has a complex history encompassing ancient cultures, such as the Mayan and the Aztec civilizations. The European discovery of the Americas brought invasion and three centuries of colonization by Spain. On September 16, 1810, Friar Miguel Hidalgo initiated the war for independence under the banner of Mexico's patron, the Virgin of Guadalupe. Mexican sovereignty was consummated after 11 years in the form of a short-lived Mexican Empire (1821-1823) that stretched from California and Texas in the north to Costa Rica in the south.

Today, the country is a federal republic, containing 31 states and 1 federal district (Mexico City). The president is the chief of state and the head of government and appoints the cabinet. However, the appointment of attorney general, head of the Bank of Mexico, and senior treasury officials need the Senate's consent. Presidents are elected by a popular vote for a 6-year term. Mexico still has governance problems and struggles with illicit drug trade, crime corruption, and water border disputes with the U.S.

Geography

Mexico has two major peninsulas, the Yucatán in the southeast and Baja California in the northwest. The high Mexican Plateau forms the core of the country and is enclosed by mountain ranges: the Sierra Madre Occidental, the Sierra Madre Oriental, and the Cordillera Neo-Volcánica. The last has the country's highest peak, the volcano Citlaltépetl, which reaches 18,406 ft (5,610 m).

Economy

According to the World Bank, Mexico has the highest per capita income in Latin America and is firmly established as an upper middle-income country. Since the economic debacle of 1994-1995, the country has made an impressive recovery, building a diversified economy and improving infrastructure. Mexico has a mixed economy based on agriculture, manufacturing, and the extraction of petroleum and natural gas. About one-eighth of the land is arable; major crops include corn, wheat, rice, beans, coffee, cotton, fruits, and vegetables. Mexico is the world's largest producer of silver, bismuth, and celestite.

Mexico has a free-market economy with a mixture of modern and outmoded industry, increasingly dominated by the private sector. According to Goldman Sachs, Mexico will have the 5th largest economy in the world by 2050. However, Mexico still needs to overcome many structural problems as it strives to modernize its economy and raise living standards. Income distribution is very unequal, with the top 20% of income earners accounting for around 50% of income.

Mexico has 13 free trade agreements with 50 countries, however, more than half of its trade is still done with the United States. Mexico has also greatly increased the number of engineers and skilled laborers graduating from its schools, taking manufacturing market share back from Asia; and attracting more global investment than ever in autos, aerospace and household goods. Mexico is the largest North American car-producing nation, recently surpassing Canada and the U.S.

Market Opportunities

Mexico's geographic proximity to the United States has propelled the maquiladora industry near the U.S.-Mexico border and currently gives U.S. businesses an alternative to Asian manufacturing and opportunities to sell into the supply chain. Some of Mexico's most promising sectors include agribusiness, auto parts & services, energy, franchising, housing & construction, packaging equipment, plastics and resins, security & safety equipment and services, technology sectors, transportation infrastructure equipment and services, and travel & tourism services.

US-Mexico Economic Relations

The scope of relations between the United States and Mexico is broad and goes beyond diplomatic and official relations. It encompasses extensive commercial, cultural, and educational ties. On July 1, 2020, the U.S., Mexico, and Canada signed an updated trade agreement, the USMCA. Mexico is currently our second largest goods trading partner. Today about 1.6 million U.S. citizens live in Mexico, and Mexico is the top foreign destination for U.S. travelers.

Mexico City Briefing

Mexico City is the capital and largest city of Mexico and the most populous city in North America. It is considered one of the most important cultural and financial centers in the world.

History & Culture

The city was first built by the Aztecs in the early 14th century and was named Tenochtitlán. The city was renamed Mexico City when it was rebuilt after the Spanish conquest. It served as the political, administrative, and financial center of the Spanish empire. It is the oldest capital city in the Americas.

Mexico City is located in a basin known as the Valley of Mexico, built on the dried bed of Lake Texcoco. Mountains surround the city, with the 17,877-foot active Popocatépetl Volcano nearby. The city modernized rapidly during the end of the 19th century due to having the best infrastructure in the country, the largest consumer market, and a well-trained labor force.

Education

Home to the National Autonomous University of Mexico (UNAM) – ranked globally as the 146th best university in the world and its main campus is recognized as a World Heritage site. The university produces 35% of all research publications in Mexico and has a campus in San Antonio.

Tourism

- Three main futball teams are based out in Mexico City: Los Pumas, Cruz Azul, and Club America.
- The Zócalo (central plaza) is the largest square in the world and the city's main historic district.
- Paseo de la Reforma is a major shopping street, modeled after Champs-Elysees in Paris.
- Zona Rosa is home to deluxe hotels, historic landmarks, and the city's finest restaurants.

Government

The 1917 constitution designated Mexico City as part of the national government and originally had no elected mayor or legislature and relied on the national congress to make fiscal and social policy. In 1980s, activists rallied against this policy and in 1996, the mayor of Mexico City became an elected position. The Mayor of Mexico City has the ability to appoint the city's attorney general and chief of police, control the budget, and relies less on congressional approval. This change prompted an administrative

Economy

Over 20 million people live in the Metropolitan Area of Mexico City (MAMC), making it the largest urban agglomeration in the Western Hemisphere, the largest Spanish-speaking metro globally, and the third largest metropolitan area in the world. Mexico City is ranked as the eighth–richest urban agglomeration in the world after Tokyo, New York, Los Angeles, Chicago, Paris, London and Osaka/Kobe. The city is responsible for generating 15.8% of Mexico's GDP and the metropolitan area accounted for about 22% of the country's GDP.

The Economist Intelligence Unit ranks Mexico City 71st in its Global City Competiveness Index. Globalization and World Cities Research Network classifies Mexico City as an Alpha global city, ranked 20th in the world. FDI Intelligence – a division of Financial Times Ltd– ranked Mexico City 7th in terms of future economic potential. Mexico City ranked 3rd in FDI Intelligence's Latin American State of the Future study for 2018/19.

Trade liberalization, most significantly the ratification of NAFTA in 1994, led to deindustrialization in the city. As industry and manufacturing spread throughout the country, especially to the northern border towns and the "maquiladoras," Mexico City experienced a rapid shift to a more service-oriented economy.

The region is the national leader in all professional services. Approximately, 63 percent of its GDP is accounted for by the service sector. Many of the manufacturers throughout the country rely on the Mexico City agglomeration for professional and business services.

The three Mexican firms in the Fortune Global 500 – Pemex, America Movil, and CFE – are all headquartered in the region. There is also high presence of foreign multinationals. General Motors, Daimler-Chrysler, Ford, and Nissan are leading exporters in the country. Although their production facilities are spread throughout the northern states, their headquarters are based in Mexico City. Nine out of the top 10 and 56 out of the top 100 exporting companies have their headquarters in Mexico City.

The Bolsa Mexicana de Valores (The Mexican Stock Exchange) is located in Santa Fe.

Informal sector plays a significant role in the city's economy with thousands of unlicensed vendors selling goods in the streets daily.

Monterrey City Briefing

History & Geography:
Monterrey, city, capital of Nuevo León state, northeastern Mexico. At an elevation of about 1,765 feet in the west-central part of the state. Monterrey sprawls over the semiarid floodplain of the Santa Catarina River, which spills eastward from the flanks of the Sierra Madre Oriental.

Monterrey, the third-largest metropolitan area in Mexico and the country's ninth-largest city, sits at the foothills of the Sierra Madre Oriental in northeast Mexico. Monterrey is two hours south of the Texas border and is known as "The City in the Mountains."

Monterrey 's metropolitan area has 13 municipalities: Apodaca, Cadereyta Jiménez, El Carmen, García, San Pedro Garza García, General Escobedo, Guadalupe, Juárez, Monterrey, Salinas Victoria, San Nicolás de los Garza, Santa Catarina y Santiago.

The city was founded in 1596 by Diego de Montemayor and the area became an important business center in the years after the Mexican War of Independence.

Culture
Monterrey is often called the most "Americanized" city in Mexico and is considered a "Beta World City" due to its cosmopolitan and competitive nature.

Monterrey's Macroplaza is the world's fourth-largest public square, and it includes gardens, monuments, the city's Government Palace, the 70-meter-high Lighthouse of Commerce, and a massive fountain called Fuente de la Vida.

The Parque Ecológico Chipinque, home to exotic birds and wildlife, is one of Nuevo Leon's most enchanting natural attractions and the most easily accessible part of the Cumbres Monterrey National Park. It includes a vast network of hiking and mountain biking trails, an astronomical observatory, a butterfly farm, and several natural lookout points. The Parque Fundidora is an urban sustainable park located inside the former Monterrey Foundry Property. It includes a convention center, hotel, ice rink, extensive walking tracks, one artificial lake, playgrounds, and the Centro de las Artes CONARTE (Council for the Culture and Arts of Nuevo León) museum.

Economy
Monterrey stands out with a level of GDP per capita close to 34 000 USD, 30% higher than in Mexico City – the second Mexican metropolitan area in terms of GDP per capita (OECD, 2020)

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Monterrey is considered the most important financial and industrial center, as well as the must port of entry for the commercial exchange between the Northeastern Region of México and the United States. The core of Monterrey's economy focuses on metals, glass, cement, and ceramics. Much new technology and innovation initiatives cater to these sectors, as well as to engineering and design.

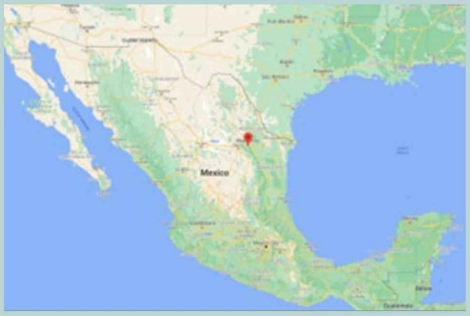
The recent economic boom in steel production, cement, glass, and auto parts has led to higher per capita incomes throughout the city. A major part of this milestone is derived from the fact that trade between Mexico, the United States, and Canada has tripled since the implementation of NAFTA in 1994.

Often called the "Industrial Heart of Mexico," Monterrey is home to over 13,000 manufacturers who produce 9.4% of Mexico's manufactured products.

An important industrial and business center, Monterrey is home to a myriad of Mexican companies such as CEMEX, Vitro, OXXO, Grupo Avante, Grupo Bimbo, BMW de Mexico, Cuauhtémoc Moctezuma Brewery and Heineken, Ocresa, Mercedes Benz Mexico, and more.

Monterrey also is home to foreign companies including Siemens, Whirlpool, Samsung, Gamesa, LG, Toyota, Teleperformance, Dell, Nokia, Boeing, General Electric, British American Tobacco, and more.

Five airlines have their operational bases and headquarters in Monterrey, Volaris, Aeroméxico Connect, VivaAerobus and Magnicharters. In addition, Monterrey is the second most important city for Aeroméxico's operating routes.



Monterrey is also known for its top ranking public and private universities such as the Universidad Autónoma de Nuevo León, the Universidad Regiomontana, the Universidad de Monterrey, and the Instituto Tecnológico y de Estudios Superiores de Monterrey (or Tec de Monterrey), which is a private university that has been ranked by the Reader's Digest AC Nielsen Survey as the top university — public or private —in all Mexico. The university's educational network boats 33 campuses and exchange agreements with more than 400 universities worldwide.

Government

Municipalities are governed by an elected Presidente Municipal (Mayor) for a period of three years and the City Council is integrated by the mayor, the regidores, and the síndicos. Regidores represent the community and define policies, while síndicos oversee defending city interests and monitoring treasury.

Country Facts

- Capital: Mexico City (Ciudad de Mexico or CDMX)
- Language: Spanish
- Government Type: Federal Republic
- Population: 128,932,753 (2020)
- Area: 761,600 sq miles

Government Structure

- Mexico's government structure is modeled after the US to some degree. Mexico follows the tenets of Federalism. The government is also divided into three branches; Executive, Legislative and Judiciary.
- Executive:
  - The executive may veto a law that is passed in the legislature, it may be overridden, but it is not constitutionally possible that a bill passed by congress will become a law without the president's approval.
  - Bills proposed by the executive take precedent over all other bills.
  - The constitution gives the president the power to issue fundamental rules that have the same authority as a law.

Government Structure

- Legislative
  - Legislative power falls to the Congress, officially the Congreso de la Unión, which is bicameral, meaning it has two houses within it. These houses are the Senate and the Chamber of Deputies, or the Senado de la República and the Cámara de Diputados, There are 500 representatives in the Chamber of Deputies, elected every three years, and 128 representatives in the Senate, who each serve six years.
  - The powers of the congress include the right to pass laws, impose taxes, declare war, approve the national budget, approve or reject treaties and conventions made with foreign countries, and ratify diplomatic appointments.
- Judiciary
  - Composed of the supreme court, federal courts and state courts
  - The judiciary is headed by the Supreme Court, or the Suprema Corte de Justicia de la Nación. Mexico's Supreme Court has 11 judges, who are appointed by the president for a maximum of 15 years but then must be approved by Congress.
  - Law is based on Spanish Civil Law and Common Law

State and Local Government

State Government

- There are 32 states in Mexico, including the capital Mexico City. Governors of these states are directly elected to six-year terms.
- Each state has its own constitution with the right to legislate and levy taxes and modeled on the national charter.
- Just like federal government , State government also incorporates the Executive, the Legislative and the Judicial branches with same functions of these three but at the state level.
- States contain municipalities of vastly different sizes (altogether some 2,411 of them), but Mexican municipalities are more like what in the United States are called counties.

State and Local Government

Municipal Government

- The basic unit of Mexican government is the municipality (municipio), more than 2,000 of which are legally in existence.
- Municipal governments, headed by a mayor or municipal president (regente) and a municipal council (ayuntamiento), are popularly elected for three-year terms.
- Article 115 of the 1917 constitution proclaims the autonomy of local governments according to the principle of the free municipality (municipio libre).

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Meeting and Greeting

- In Mexico, if you are invited to someone's home, wait to be introduced by the host.
- In a more public area with many people, it is acceptable to introduce yourself.
- Social status is important in Mexico

Meeting and Greeting

- Mexicans generally use two surnames. The first surname listed is from the father, and the second surname listed is from the mother. When speaking to someone. use his or her father's surname: Sr. Garcia Perez can also be Sr. Garcia
- A married woman will add her husband's father's name to the end of her name, usually shown as de (name) when written. This woman would be formally addressed as Señora de (name).
- In speaking to this same married woman less formally, you would simply say Señora (name).

Handshake Tips in Mexico

- Men shake hands upon meeting and leaving and will wait for a woman to be the first to offer her hand.
- It is usual to shake hands and touch an arm.
- With further acquaintance, it is common to have a hug with a clap or padding on the back
- A hug with a woman may include a kiss on one cheek.

Business Card-Giving

- Anticipate - have enough cards for all situations.
- Note the way you should present the card and not to deal cards out.
- Translate and print in other language on other side of business card.

10

Business Card Receiving

- Observe courtesy in receiving a card
- Read it and then put it away.
- Use of professional titles: Lic. Ing. Dr.

11

Names and Titles

- In Mexico, the use of professional titles before a name is standard. It is respectful to observe
  - Licenciado or Licenciada
  - Ingeniero or Ingeniera
  - Arquitecto or Arquitecta
  - Contador or Contadora
- Do not use first names initially unless you are introduced on a first name basis.

12

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Punctuality

- Punctuality means different things in different cultures.
- In Mexico, it is not expected for someone to arrive exactly on time at someone's house. Best policy to follow is a 30 minute rule.
- Traffic is a big problem, specially in cities like Mexico City.
- The stated time on invitations is not always followed.
- Be on time for a business meeting but don't be surprised if your counterpart runs late.
- It is expected that higher level executives may arrive later than you. Avoid showing your annoyance!

13

Conversation Tips

- It is acceptable to talk about culture, arts, sports (mostly soccer)
- Mexicans can be very self critical and opinionated about their own government and political situation at hand, but a foreigner must be sensitive about what they say.
- Unless you are closely acquainted, stick to more neutral topics to avoid offending anyone unintentionally.
- Expect to answer questions about your personal background, family and life interests.

Phone Courtesy

- Don't be offended when someone answers their cell phone even though they are in a meeting or at a lunch with you.
- Cell phones are extensively used in Mexico and very often the ringers are not left in silent mode.

Public Behavior in Mexico

- It is common to use a "psst-psst" sound to catch another's attention in public. This is not considered rude.
- Awareness of how each individual fits into each hierarchy--be it family, friends or business. It would be disrespectful to break the chain of hierarchy.
- The family is at the center of the social structure - Paternalistic structure translates into business world.

Business Etiquette

- The right connections facilitate business success, and this is very true regarding Mexico.
- Face-to-face meetings are preferred over telephone, letters or e-mail.
- Dress code in business:
  - Men should wear conservative, dark colored suits
  - Women should wear business suits or conservative dresses.

17

Expectations

- Do not expect to get results at a first meeting. Relationship building is very much a part of dealing within the Mexican business sector.
- Building trusting relationships is the first step.
- Friendship is usually the foundation for business deals and investments

18

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Dining

- Always keep your hands visible when eating. Keep your wrists resting on the edge of the table
- When you have finished eating, place your knife and fork across your plate with the prongs facing down and the handles facing to the right. It is polite to leave some food on your plate after a meal.
- Do not sit down until you are invited to and told where to sit.
- Before everyone starts eating is proper to say “provecho”

Toasting

- It is common for the host to make the first toast or “un brindis”.
- The traditional toast in Mexico is Salud
- In a social situation, you will note it is usually the men who make the toast and not their wives.
- If invited to someone’s house, a bottle of wine would be a nice gift.

20

Tipping in Mexico

- In Mexico, tipping is an important part of the culture, and it is important to have plenty of small change to tip when necessary.
- Tipping varies between 10% - 20% although the more expensive restaurants that provide excellent service are commonly given 15%-20%
- Many porters and parking attendants don’t receive a salary and live on tips only. Be sensitive to this!
- When paying with American Express cards in Mexico, it is the usual practice for the waiter to bring a mobile card transaction unit to the table and the guest can choose what percentage to use for tip by selecting it in the menu.

Giving and Receiving Gifts

- If invited to someone’s house, do take a gift of flowers or sweets/chocolates.
- Avoid giving yellow flowers especially marigolds as they are associated with death.
- Gifts exchanged should be opened immediately and acknowledged enthusiastically irrespective of how you feel about the gift.

Shopping Tips

- Shopping formal stores versus markets and booths.
- Bargaining is part of many cultures. Mexico is one of those countries, but the bargaining takes place in markets or with street vendors.
- Be aware not to insult the vendor by lowering the price too much!

23

Memo for the South Texas Mayors Delegation and San Antonio Mayor's Office

Date: May 5, 2025
To: Mayor Ron Nirenberg and participating South Texas mayors
From: Mayors Migration Council
Subject: Preparation for Meeting with Governor Clara Brugada (Mexico City)

Background and Opportunity

Your visit to Mexico City comes at a key moment for city leadership on migration in the Americas. Mexico City's newly elected Head of Government, Governor Clara Brugada, is positioning the city as a national leader on migrant inclusion and progressive urban policy. This meeting is an opportunity to deepen cross-border cooperation and exchange experiences on local strategies for managing migration and promoting inclusion, especially among cities with direct exposure to border dynamics.

The Mayors Migration Council (MMC), which is supporting this meeting, is a mayor-led initiative that helps cities shape national and international migration policy through direct city diplomacy. The MMC supports a global coalition of cities committed to inclusive migration governance and has worked closely with mayors across the U.S. and Latin America. In January, the MMC attended the U.S. Conference of Mayors in Washington, D.C., where we met with the Mayor of Brownsville and other border city leaders. We have also recently engaged with the mayors of El Paso and Ciudad Juárez in binational conversations to better understand local experiences at the border.

This meeting between South Texas mayors and Mexico City leadership forms part of that larger effort to connect city leaders across the hemisphere and ensure they have the tools, visibility, and partnerships to lead migration policy from the ground up.

Overall, this meeting is first and foremost a chance to engage directly with Governor Clara Brugada and learn about Mexico City's evolving approach to migrant inclusion and urban social policy. It also offers an opportunity to highlight your own leadership at the U.S.–Mexico border and share practical lessons from your cities. While San Antonio is a founding city of the Mayors of the Americas Task Force on Migration, all participating cities—Brownsville, Harlingen, Laredo, and Mission—bring critical experience to this dialogue. The conversation may also open the door to future engagement in the MMC's broader work with cities across the hemisphere.

Why This Meeting Matters for South Texas

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Mexico City is relaunching its Padrón de Huéspedes, a local ID initiative for residents without formal documentation, and considering the establishment of Centros Multiservicios, which are centralized spaces offering multiple city services to migrants. These efforts reflect a growing recognition of the municipal role in managing migration and building social cohesion. Cities across the South Texas delegation have faced similar challenges, from pressure on shelter systems to rising political tensions at the national level.

Your delegation brings deep experience navigating the operational, humanitarian, and political dimensions of migration at the U.S.–Mexico border. Each city has distinct tools, histories, and partnerships, and this meeting is an opportunity to share those local innovations while learning from Mexico City's evolving approach.

Suggested Discussion Points

- The political climate and border narratives: Mayor Nirenberg has been vocal in opposing tariffs and the politicization of border cities. All of your cities are operating in a politically charged national environment, where state and federal policies often shift. This could include discussing public narratives and advocacy positioning on migration in today's challenging national and regional contexts to identify areas where the participating cities align.
    - Governor Brugada has also taken a strong position against xenophobia and will likely appreciate an honest exchange about navigating political headwinds while protecting community cohesion.
    - It is worth noting the difference between the Mexican and U.S. scenarios, where Governor Brugada is closely aligned with President Claudia Sheinbaum as part of the governing Morena party. This alignment across city and federal levels in Mexico offers a rare window for strengthened coordination on migration and social policy.

- Shared city leadership: This meeting can serve as a platform to show that cities across borders are not waiting for national gridlock to clear—they are leading. The delegation could express support for Mexico City's new migrant ID or jointly call for more recognition of cities' roles. Photos or shared statements could help communicate this collaboration to broader audiences in both countries.

Other areas of interest with a more technical focus could include:

- Civil society partnerships: An area of particular interest for Governor Brugada's team. South Texas cities have built strong partnerships with nonprofit, church-based, and local community organizations to support migrant reception and integration. In San Antonio, the city contracts trusted partners like Catholic Charities and RAICES to operate the Migrant Resource Center. Close coordination with shelters, churches, and other cross-border groups has been essential. Mexico City may benefit from hearing about your models for working with civil society under operational stress.

- Service delivery under pressure: South Texas cities have played critical roles in ensuring humane reception and public order. Many South Texas cities have had to step in with shelter, food, and transportation support when federal systems were stretched. These efforts parallel Mexico City's own experiences and may open the door for deeper technical exchange.
- Municipal IDs and local access models: San Antonio's Enhanced Library Card serves as a functional municipal ID, providing access to city services. Mexico City is relaunching its own local ID and could benefit from your implementation lessons, especially on documentation, trust-building, and use within city systems. Other cities in the delegation may wish to discuss interest in or barriers to pursuing similar models.

About the Mayors of the Americas Task Force on Migration

Mayor Nirenberg represents San Antonio as a founding member of the Mayors of the Americas Task Force on Migration. Launched by the MMC in September 2024, the Task Force brings together six mayors/cities (Bogota, Cali, San Antonio, Denver, Mexico City, Ciudad Juárez) to shape a shared political and advocacy agenda on migration.

The Task Force is focusing on two central priorities:

- Advancing legal pathways for migration across the Americas
- Expanding economic inclusion of migrants in urban communities

The goal is to develop a practical and ambitious city-led roadmap that cities across the hemisphere (including border cities in the U.S.) can use to advocate, act, and collaborate. While the Task Force includes a small number of cities, it is designed to generate ideas and tools that will benefit a broader coalition of municipal leaders.

Key moments this year:

- March 12, virtual: City Leads met as a group for the first time.
- June 10, Bogotá: Mayors scheduled to meet to endorse the Advocacy Agenda and advance city-to-city projects.
- End of year: Mayors participate in a major global conference to announce the Task Force's efforts publicly.

A more detailed update on the status of the Task Force is available here.

Good Morning,

We have an important hotel update for Monterrey.

The State of Nuevo Leon Economic Development has secured us a good rate at the Hotel Safi, which is a much lower price than the JW Marriott. Our International Affairs Office has submitted the names of all attendees in our group, so each person will have a reservation for a standard king size room. As soon as we receive confirmation numbers, we will send to the group so that each city can move forward with submitting payment information.

Hotel SAFI Metropolitan
Av. Lázaro Cardenas 2400, Valle Oriente, 66260 , San Pedro Garza García

Sales Contact: Tania Ortiz Ortiz, +52 81 1476 5553 (Whatsapp) rp6@safihotel.com

Special hotel rate using special rate code: Economía

- Standard King size room = $2,950 Mexican Pesos (Approximately $144 USD) The room price includes breakfast
- Double King size room (2 people) = $3,200 Mexican Pesos (Approximately $156 USD) The room price includes breakfast

Thank you and have a great day.

	• Welcome by Carlos Garcia, President of Am Cham Mexico City and Senior Vice President Commercial Operations for Latin America and Director General of Valero Mexico • Presentation by Pedro Casas Ala Triste, CEO & Executive Vice President of AmCham entitled: "A co-production system: value added of Mexico in the US" Discussion follows with participation by visiting delegates and attendees Overview: Analysis of the Mexico–United States Trade Relationship: A Co-Production System To truly grasp the depth of U.S.-Mexico trade integration, we must move beyond the surface-level arithmetic of trade balances—beyond deficits and surpluses. This presentation offers a multidimensional analysis, drawing on diverse methodologies and indicators to capture the full picture of our interdependence. The key insight: this is not just a trade relationship, but a sophisticated co-production system that strengthens both economies and anchors North American competitiveness. In this context, it becomes clear that not all trade deficits are created equal.
	AMERICAN CHAMBER OF COMMERCE OF MEXICO For over 108 years, AMCHAM has long served as a dynamic bridge between U.S. and Mexican businesses, powered by a shared vision of a more competitive, innovative, and prosperous North America. Our members—leaders of major corporations with operations in Mexico, including both U.S. companies and Mexican firms embedded in cross-border supply chains—are united by a deep commitment to the success of this strategic relationship. With a network of over 1,500 companies representing 21% of Mexico's GDP and generating millions of jobs, AMCHAM is a vital force for strengthening regional security, the rule of law, and economic resilience. By promoting global best practices, advancing fair and open trade, and supporting stronger labor standards, AMCHAM champions the kind of investment that transforms markets and uplifts communities. AmCham Ave - Paseo de la Reforma 295 Piso 3

Good Morning,

We have an important hotel update for Monterrey.

The State of Nuevo Leon Economic Development has secured us a good rate at the Hotel Safi, which is a much lower price than the JW Marriott. Our International Affairs Office has submitted the names of all attendees in our group, so each person will have a reservation for a standard king size room. As soon as we receive confirmation numbers, we will send to the group so that each city can move forward with submitting payment information.

Hotel SAFI Metropolitan
Av. Lázaro Cardenas 2400, Valle Oriente, 66260 , San Pedro Garza García

Sales Contact: Tania Ortiz Ortiz, +52 81 1476 5553 (Whatsapp) rp6@safihotel.com

Special hotel rate using special rate code: Economía

- Standard King size room = $2,950 Mexican Pesos (Approximately $144 USD) The room price includes breakfast
- Double King size room (2 people) = $3,200 Mexican Pesos (Approximately $156 USD) The room price includes breakfast

Thank you and have a great day.

	• Welcome by Carlos Garcia, President of Am Cham Mexico City and Senior Vice President Commercial Operations for Latin America and Director General of Valero Mexico • Presentation by Pedro Casas Ala Triste, CEO & Executive Vice President of AmCham entitled: "A co-production system: value added of Mexico in the US" Discussion follows with participation by visiting delegates and attendees Overview: Analysis of the Mexico–United States Trade Relationship: A Co-Production System To truly grasp the depth of U.S.-Mexico trade integration, we must move beyond the surface-level arithmetic of trade balances—beyond deficits and surpluses. This presentation offers a multidimensional analysis, drawing on diverse methodologies and indicators to capture the full picture of our interdependence. The key insight: this is not just a trade relationship, but a sophisticated co-production system that strengthens both economies and anchors North American competitiveness. In this context, it becomes clear that not all trade deficits are created equal.
	AMERICAN CHAMBER OF COMMERCE OF MEXICO For over 108 years, AMCHAM has long served as a dynamic bridge between U.S. and Mexican businesses, powered by a shared vision of a more competitive, innovative, and prosperous North America. Our members—leaders of major corporations with operations in Mexico, including both U.S. companies and Mexican firms embedded in cross-border supply chains—are united by a deep commitment to the success of this strategic relationship. With a network of over 1,500 companies representing 21% of Mexico's GDP and generating millions of jobs, AMCHAM is a vital force for strengthening regional security, the rule of law, and economic resilience. By promoting global best practices, advancing fair and open trade, and supporting stronger labor standards, AMCHAM champions the kind of investment that transforms markets and uplifts communities. AmCham Ave - Paseo de la Reforma 295 Piso 3

Good Morning Andres and Roger,

I am following up on my phone call. As of yesterday, the SAFI hotel made us aware that the hotel accommodations have not yet been finalized. Can you please reconfirm Mayor Cowen and Mayor Trevino's attendance? Additionally, can you let us know if you all have any logistical questions?

Thank you both and have a great day.

Victoria

Good Morning,

We have an important hotel update for Monterrey.

The State of Nuevo Leon Economic Development has secured us a good rate at the Hotel Safi, which is a much lower price than the JW Marriott. Our International Affairs Office has submitted the names of all attendees in our group, so each person will have a reservation for a standard king size room. As soon as we receive confirmation numbers, we will send to the group so that each city can move forward with submitting payment information.

Hotel SAFI Metropolitan
Av. Lázaro Cardenas 2400, Valle Oriente, 66260 , San Pedro Garza García

Sales Contact: Tania Ortiz Ortiz, +52 81 1476 5553 (Whatsapp) rp6@safihotel.com

Special hotel rate using special rate code: Economía

- Standard King size room = $2,950 Mexican Pesos (Approximately $144 USD) The room price includes breakfast
- Double King size room (2 people) = $3,200 Mexican Pesos (Approximately $156 USD) The room price includes breakfast

Thank you and have a great day.

	• Welcome by Carlos Garcia, President of Am Cham Mexico City and Senior Vice President Commercial Operations for Latin America and Director General of Valero Mexico • Presentation by Pedro Casas Ala Triste, CEO & Executive Vice President of AmCham entitled: "A co-production system: value added of Mexico in the US" Discussion follows with participation by visiting delegates and attendees Overview: Analysis of the Mexico–United States Trade Relationship: A Co-Production System To truly grasp the depth of U.S.-Mexico trade integration, we must move beyond the surface-level arithmetic of trade balances—beyond deficits and surpluses. This presentation offers a multidimensional analysis, drawing on diverse methodologies and indicators to capture the full picture of our interdependence. The key insight: this is not just a trade relationship, but a sophisticated co-production system that strengthens both economies and anchors North American competitiveness. In this context, it becomes clear that not all trade deficits are created equal.
	AMERICAN CHAMBER OF COMMERCE OF MEXICO For over 108 years, AMCHAM has long served as a dynamic bridge between U.S. and Mexican businesses, powered by a shared vision of a more competitive, innovative, and prosperous North America. Our members—leaders of major corporations with operations in Mexico, including both U.S. companies and Mexican firms embedded in cross-border supply chains—are united by a deep commitment to the success of this strategic relationship. With a network of over 1,500 companies representing 21% of Mexico's GDP and generating millions of jobs, AMCHAM is a vital force for strengthening regional security, the rule of law, and economic resilience. By promoting global best practices, advancing fair and open trade, and supporting stronger labor standards, AMCHAM champions the kind of investment that transforms markets and uplifts communities. AmCham Ave - Paseo de la Reforma 295 Piso 3

Good Morning Andres and Roger,

I am following up on my phone call. As of yesterday, the SAFI hotel made us aware that the hotel accommodations have not yet been finalized. Can you please reconfirm Mayor Cowen and Mayor Trevino's attendance? Additionally, can you let us know if you all have any logistical questions?

Thank you both and have a great day.

Good Morning,

We have an important hotel update for Monterrey.

The State of Nuevo Leon Economic Development has secured us a good rate at the Hotel Safi, which is a much lower price than the JW Marriott. Our International Affairs Office has submitted the names of all attendees in our group, so each person will have a reservation for a standard king size room. As soon as we receive confirmation numbers, we will send to the group so that each city can move forward with submitting payment information.

Hotel SAFI Metropolitan
Av. Lázaro Cardenas 2400, Valle Oriente, 66260 , San Pedro Garza García

Sales Contact: Tania Ortiz Ortiz, +52 81 1476 5553 (Whatsapp) rp6@safihotel.com

Special hotel rate using special rate code: Economía

- Standard King size room = $2,950 Mexican Pesos (Approximately $144 USD) The room price includes breakfast
- Double King size room (2 people) = $3,200 Mexican Pesos (Approximately $156 USD) The room price includes breakfast

Thank you and have a great day.

	• Welcome by Carlos Garcia, President of Am Cham Mexico City and Senior Vice President Commercial Operations for Latin America and Director General of Valero Mexico • Presentation by Pedro Casas Ala Triste, CEO & Executive Vice President of AmCham entitled: "A co-production system: value added of Mexico in the US" Discussion follows with participation by visiting delegates and attendees Overview: Analysis of the Mexico–United States Trade Relationship: A Co-Production System To truly grasp the depth of U.S.-Mexico trade integration, we must move beyond the surface-level arithmetic of trade balances—beyond deficits and surpluses. This presentation offers a multidimensional analysis, drawing on diverse methodologies and indicators to capture the full picture of our interdependence. The key insight: this is not just a trade relationship, but a sophisticated co-production system that strengthens both economies and anchors North American competitiveness. In this context, it becomes clear that not all trade deficits are created equal.
	AMERICAN CHAMBER OF COMMERCE OF MEXICO For over 108 years, AMCHAM has long served as a dynamic bridge between U.S. and Mexican businesses, powered by a shared vision of a more competitive, innovative, and prosperous North America. Our members—leaders of major corporations with operations in Mexico, including both U.S. companies and Mexican firms embedded in cross-border supply chains—are united by a deep commitment to the success of this strategic relationship. With a network of over 1,500 companies representing 21% of Mexico's GDP and generating millions of jobs, AMCHAM is a vital force for strengthening regional security, the rule of law, and economic resilience. By promoting global best practices, advancing fair and open trade, and supporting stronger labor standards, AMCHAM champions the kind of investment that transforms markets and uplifts communities. AmCham Ave - Paseo de la Reforma 295 Piso 3

This presentation offers a multidimensional analysis, drawing on diverse methodologies and indicators to capture the full picture of our interdependence. The key insight: this is not just a trade relationship, but a sophisticated co-production system that strengthens both economies and anchors North American competitiveness. In this context, it becomes clear that not all trade deficits are created equal.*

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

	American Chamber of Commerce of Mexico For over 108 years, AMCHAM has long served as a dynamic bridge between U.S. and Mexican businesses, powered by a shared vision of a more competitive, innovative, and prosperous North America. Our members—leaders of major corporations with operations in Mexico, including both U.S. companies and Mexican firms embedded in cross-border supply chains—are united by a deep commitment to the success of this strategic relationship. With a network of over 1,500 companies representing 21% of Mexico's GDP and generating millions of jobs, AMCHAM is a vital force for strengthening regional security, the rule of law, and economic resilience. By promoting global best practices, advancing fair and open trade, and supporting stronger labor standards, AMCHAM champions the kind of investment that transforms markets and uplifts communities. AmCham, Ave Paseo de la Reforma 295 Piso 3

The company's Mexican operations are headquartered in Mexico City and Monterrey, overseeing a network that spans key industrial and port cities such as Querétaro, San Luis Potosí, Monterrey, Mexico City, Guadalajara, Puebla, Veracruz, Lázaro Cárdenas, Altamira, and Tampico.* In 2025, CPKC announced a $240 million investment in Mexico, focusing on infrastructure projects in Nuevo León, San Luis Potosí, and Guanajuato, including the development of bypass tracks to enhance freight movement efficiency.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

TX-MAYOR-26-0492-A-001252

	A notable development is the completion of the Patrick J. Ottensmeyer International Railway Bridge over the Rio Grande, connecting Laredo, Texas, and Nuevo Laredo, Tamaulipas. This $100 million bridge doubles the freight capacity at North America's busiest rail border crossing, facilitating increased trade between the U.S. and Mexico. CPKC's "Mexico Midwest Express" (MMX) service offers expedited intermodal transportation between Chicago and central Mexico, with a transit time of approximately 98 hours, enhancing supply chain efficiency for cross-border trade. Additionally, CPKC is participating in Mexico's Interoceanic Corridor project, aiming to establish a rail link between the Pacific and Gulf coasts, further integrating Mexico's transportation infrastructure. The company is also engaging with the Mexican government to explore the feasibility of introducing passenger rail services on its freight network, reflecting a commitment to diversified rail operations in the country. Through these initiatives, CPKC is strengthening its role in Mexico's transportation sector, supporting economic growth, and enhancing connectivity across North America. José Carral Room El Club de Industriales Andrés Bello No. 29 Local 29 Polanco V Sección, Miguel Hidalgo, Polanco

Things to Know Before You Go: Mexico

Health Insurance Card and Medical Info

- Take your health insurance card and a list of any medications and their dosages. Please also carry your doctor's contact information if you have any serious medical issues.
- The phone number to report emergencies in Mexico is "911." It is best to seek the assistance of a Spanish speaker to place the call, although English-speaking operators may be available.
- Mexican facilities often require payment "up front" before providing medical care, and most hospitals in Mexico do not accept U.S. health insurance.

Passport

- A valid passport is required to enter Mexico.
- The Mexican government only requires that your passport must be valid during the entirety of your trip.
- Please carry a copy of your passport information with you in case of loss or theft.

Smart Traveler Enrollment Program (STEP) & Emergency Contact List

The Smart Traveler Enrollment Program (STEP) is a free service to allow U.S. citizens and nationals traveling abroad to enroll their trip with the nearest U.S. Embassy or Consulate: https://step.state.gov/step/. Please also provide an emergency contact to the trip organizers.

Weather

In Monterrey, the summers are long, hot, and muggy; and it is partly cloudy year-round. Daily high temperatures are around 93°F, rarely falling below 85°F or exceeding 100°F. The highest daily average high temperature is 95°F.

Electronics

The electric current throughout Mexico is the same type used in the US and in Canada: 110 volts, 60 cycles. Some electrical outlets at older hotels are still of the two-prong type, in which case an adapter would be required.

Cell Phones

Roaming costs for cell phones can be considerable. Please check with your cell phone provider to see if roaming charges apply, as well as potential travel packages.

Finances

- Call Your Bank: Before you leave, notify your bank, credit card company, and other financial institutions that you are traveling abroad. This may prevent fraud detection units from denying what might seem like suspicious financial activity.
- Currency: The currency of Mexico is the peso (sign: $; code: MXN). The peso divides into 100 centavos, represented by "¢".
  - 1 US Dollar = 19.57 Mexican Pesos (as of April 24, 2025)
  - 100 Mexican Peso = 5.11 US Dollars (as of April 24, 2025)

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- ATMs - Automatic Teller Machines:

ATMs are found throughout Mexico and enable you to draw funds from your bank account if it is affiliated to the Star, Cirrus, Global Access, Explore or Maestro systems. Please note there may be the exchange rate conversion applied. Mexican pesos are the only funds dispensed. ATMs are now prevalent at airports, most upscale hotels and resorts, and major markets.

Tipping

- It is customary to tip between 15-20% of the total bill at restaurants. Some restaurants add a service charge (propina) of around 15%. At bars in Mexico, tips are usually between 10-20 pesos per drink or 15-20% of the total bill. Taxi drivers do not expect tips, but if they help with luggage, a tip of 20-30 pesos is appropriate.
- In Mexican restaurants, it is customary for the server to bring the credit card terminal to you to swipe your card in front of you. If they do not, ask them for the "terminal".
- Many porters and parking attendants don't receive a salary and live on tips only.

Useful Travel Apps

- Tripit – email travel plans to plans@tripit.com and they will make an itinerary for you that includes places to visit, weather, vehicle rental, transportation, and restaurants. You are also able to input flight information. www.tripit.com
- Converter+ – unit converter with extensive list of currencies and units
- iTranslate or Google Translate – translation app with dictation instead of typing text and text to speech capability. You may also copy, email, message, tweet and WhatsApp translated text directly from the app.
- WhatsApp, Signal, Skype, Viber, KakaoTalk – apps for free messaging, voice (Skype, Viber, WhatsApp), and video (WhatsApp, Skype) communication when you are connected to WiFi.
- TinyScan – app for quickly scanning documents to your device with sharable capability

Mexico Briefing

CITY OF SAN ANTONIO TEXAS

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT
GLOBAL ENGAGEMENT

History and Culture

Mexico has a complex history encompassing ancient cultures, such as the Mayan and the Aztec civilizations. The European discovery of the Americas brought invasion and three centuries of colonization by Spain. On September 16, 1810, Friar Miguel Hidalgo initiated the war for independence under the banner of Mexico's patron, the Virgin of Guadalupe. Mexican sovereignty was consummated after 11 years in the form of a short-lived Mexican Empire (1821-1823) that stretched from California and Texas in the north to Costa Rica in the south.

Today, the country is a federal republic, containing 31 states and 1 federal district (Mexico City). The president is the chief of state and the head of government and appoints the cabinet. However, the appointment of attorney general, head of the Bank of Mexico, and senior treasury officials need the Senate's consent. Presidents are elected by a popular vote for a 6-year term. Mexico still has governance problems and struggles with illicit drug trade, crime corruption, and water border disputes with the U.S.

Geography

Mexico has two major peninsulas, the Yucatán in the southeast and Baja California in the northwest. The high Mexican Plateau forms the core of the country and is enclosed by mountain ranges: the Sierra Madre Occidental, the Sierra Madre Oriental, and the Cordillera Neo-Volcánica. The last has the country's highest peak, the volcano Citlaltépetl, which reaches 18,406 ft (5,610 m).

Economy

According to the World Bank, Mexico has the highest per capita income in Latin America and is firmly established as an upper middle-income country. Since the economic debacle of 1994-1995, the country has made an impressive recovery, building a diversified economy and improving infrastructure. Mexico has a mixed economy based on agriculture, manufacturing, and the extraction of petroleum and natural gas. About one-eighth of the land is arable; major crops include corn, wheat, rice, beans, coffee, cotton, fruits, and vegetables. Mexico is the world's largest producer of silver, bismuth, and celestite.

Mexico has a free-market economy with a mixture of modern and outmoded industry, increasingly dominated by the private sector. According to Goldman Sachs, Mexico will have the 5th largest economy in the world by 2050. However, Mexico still needs to overcome many structural problems as it strives to modernize its economy and raise living standards. Income distribution is very unequal, with the top 20% of income earners accounting for around 50% of income.

Mexico has 13 free trade agreements with 50 countries, however, more than half of its trade is still done with the United States. Mexico has also greatly increased the number of engineers and skilled laborers graduating from its schools, taking manufacturing market share back from Asia; and attracting more global investment than ever in autos, aerospace and household goods. Mexico is the largest North American car-producing nation, recently surpassing Canada and the U.S.

Market Opportunities

Mexico's geographic proximity to the United States has propelled the maquiladora industry near the U.S.-Mexico border and currently gives U.S. businesses an alternative to Asian manufacturing and opportunities to sell into the supply chain. Some of Mexico's most promising sectors include agribusiness, auto parts & services, energy, franchising, housing & construction, packaging equipment, plastics and resins, security & safety equipment and services, technology sectors, transportation infrastructure equipment and services, and travel & tourism services.

US-Mexico Economic Relations

The scope of relations between the United States and Mexico is broad and goes beyond diplomatic and official relations. It encompasses extensive commercial, cultural, and educational ties. On July 1, 2020, the U.S., Mexico, and Canada signed an updated trade agreement, the USMCA. Mexico is currently our second largest goods trading partner. Today about 1.6 million U.S. citizens live in Mexico, and Mexico is the top foreign destination for U.S. travelers.

Mexico City Briefing

Mexico City is the capital and largest city of Mexico and the most populous city in North America. It is considered one of the most important cultural and financial centers in the world.

History & Culture

The city was first built by the Aztecs in the early 14th century and was named Tenochtitlán. The city was renamed Mexico City when it was rebuilt after the Spanish conquest. It served as the political, administrative, and financial center of the Spanish empire. It is the oldest capital city in the Americas.

Mexico City is located in a basin known as the Valley of Mexico, built on the dried bed of Lake Texcoco. Mountains surround the city, with the 17,877-foot active Popocatépetl Volcano nearby. The city modernized rapidly during the end of the 19th century due to having the best infrastructure in the country, the largest consumer market, and a well-trained labor force.

Education

Home to the National Autonomous University of Mexico (UNAM) – ranked globally as the 146th best university in the world and its main campus is recognized as a World Heritage site. The university produces 35% of all research publications in Mexico and has a campus in San Antonio.

Tourism

- Three main futball teams are based out in Mexico City: Los Pumas, Cruz Azul, and Club America.
- The Zócalo (central plaza) is the largest square in the world and the city's main historic district.
- Paseo de la Reforma is a major shopping street, modeled after Champs-Elysees in Paris.
- Zona Rosa is home to deluxe hotels, historic landmarks, and the city's finest restaurants.

Government

The 1917 constitution designated Mexico City as part of the national government and originally had no elected mayor or legislature and relied on the national congress to make fiscal and social policy. In 1980s, activists rallied against this policy and in 1996, the mayor of Mexico City became an elected position. The Mayor of Mexico City has the ability to appoint the city's attorney general and chief of police, control the budget, and relies less on congressional approval. This change prompted an administrative

Economy

Over 20 million people live in the Metropolitan Area of Mexico City (MAMC), making it the largest urban agglomeration in the Western Hemisphere, the largest Spanish-speaking metro globally, and the third largest metropolitan area in the world. Mexico City is ranked as the eighth–richest urban agglomeration in the world after Tokyo, New York, Los Angeles, Chicago, Paris, London and Osaka/Kobe. The city is responsible for generating 15.8% of Mexico's GDP and the metropolitan area accounted for about 22% of the country's GDP.

The Economist Intelligence Unit ranks Mexico City 71st in its Global City Competiveness Index. Globalization and World Cities Research Network classifies Mexico City as an Alpha global city, ranked 20th in the world. FDI Intelligence – a division of Financial Times Ltd– ranked Mexico City 7th in terms of future economic potential. Mexico City ranked 3rd in FDI Intelligence's Latin American State of the Future study for 2018/19.

Trade liberalization, most significantly the ratification of NAFTA in 1994, led to deindustrialization in the city. As industry and manufacturing spread throughout the country, especially to the northern border towns and the "maquiladoras," Mexico City experienced a rapid shift to a more service-oriented economy.

The region is the national leader in all professional services. Approximately, 63 percent of its GDP is accounted for by the service sector. Many of the manufacturers throughout the country rely on the Mexico City agglomeration for professional and business services.

The three Mexican firms in the Fortune Global 500 – Pemex, America Movil, and CFE – are all headquartered in the region. There is also high presence of foreign multinationals. General Motors, Daimler-Chrysler, Ford, and Nissan are leading exporters in the country. Although their production facilities are spread throughout the northern states, their headquarters are based in Mexico City. Nine out of the top 10 and 56 out of the top 100 exporting companies have their headquarters in Mexico City.

The Bolsa Mexicana de Valores (The Mexican Stock Exchange) is located in Santa Fe.

Informal sector plays a significant role in the city's economy with thousands of unlicensed vendors selling goods in the streets daily.

Monterrey City Briefing

History & Geography:
Monterrey, city, capital of Nuevo León state, northeastern Mexico. At an elevation of about 1,765 feet in the west-central part of the state. Monterrey sprawls over the semiarid floodplain of the Santa Catarina River, which spills eastward from the flanks of the Sierra Madre Oriental.

Monterrey, the third-largest metropolitan area in Mexico and the country's ninth-largest city, sits at the foothills of the Sierra Madre Oriental in northeast Mexico. Monterrey is two hours south of the Texas border and is known as "The City in the Mountains."

Monterrey 's metropolitan area has 13 municipalities: Apodaca, Cadereyta Jiménez, El Carmen, García, San Pedro Garza García, General Escobedo, Guadalupe, Juárez, Monterrey, Salinas Victoria, San Nicolás de los Garza, Santa Catarina y Santiago.

The city was founded in 1596 by Diego de Montemayor and the area became an important business center in the years after the Mexican War of Independence.

Culture
Monterrey is often called the most "Americanized" city in Mexico and is considered a "Beta World City" due to its cosmopolitan and competitive nature.

Monterrey's Macroplaza is the world's fourth-largest public square, and it includes gardens, monuments, the city's Government Palace, the 70-meter-high Lighthouse of Commerce, and a massive fountain called Fuente de la Vida.

The Parque Ecológico Chipinque, home to exotic birds and wildlife, is one of Nuevo Leon's most enchanting natural attractions and the most easily accessible part of the Cumbres Monterrey National Park. It includes a vast network of hiking and mountain biking trails, an astronomical observatory, a butterfly farm, and several natural lookout points. The Parque Fundidora is an urban sustainable park located inside the former Monterrey Foundry Property. It includes a convention center, hotel, ice rink, extensive walking tracks, one artificial lake, playgrounds, and the Centro de las Artes CONARTE (Council for the Culture and Arts of Nuevo León) museum.

Economy
Monterrey stands out with a level of GDP per capita close to 34 000 USD, 30% higher than in Mexico City – the second Mexican metropolitan area in terms of GDP per capita (OECD, 2020)

Monterrey is considered the most important financial and industrial center, as well as the must port of entry for the commercial exchange between the Northeastern Region of México and the United States. The core of Monterrey's economy focuses on metals, glass, cement, and ceramics. Much new technology and innovation initiatives cater to these sectors, as well as to engineering and design.

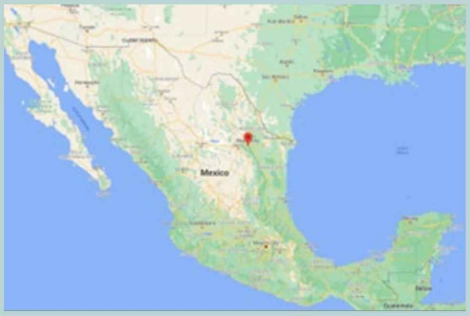
The recent economic boom in steel production, cement, glass, and auto parts has led to higher per capita incomes throughout the city. A major part of this milestone is derived from the fact that trade between Mexico, the United States, and Canada has tripled since the implementation of NAFTA in 1994.

Often called the "Industrial Heart of Mexico," Monterrey is home to over 13,000 manufacturers who produce 9.4% of Mexico's manufactured products.

An important industrial and business center, Monterrey is home to a myriad of Mexican companies such as CEMEX, Vitro, OXXO, Grupo Avante, Grupo Bimbo, BMW de Mexico, Cuauhtémoc Moctezuma Brewery and Heineken, Ocresa, Mercedes Benz Mexico, and more.

Monterrey also is home to foreign companies including Siemens, Whirlpool, Samsung, Gamesa, LG, Toyota, Teleperformance, Dell, Nokia, Boeing, General Electric, British American Tobacco, and more.

Five airlines have their operational bases and headquarters in Monterrey, Volaris, Aeroméxico Connect, VivaAerobus and Magnicharters. In addition, Monterrey is the second most important city for Aeroméxico's operating routes.



Monterrey is also known for its top ranking public and private universities such as the Universidad Autónoma de Nuevo León, the Universidad Regiomontana, the Universidad de Monterrey, and the Instituto Tecnológico y de Estudios Superiores de Monterrey (or Tec de Monterrey), which is a private university that has been ranked by the Reader's Digest AC Nielsen Survey as the top university — public or private —in all Mexico. The university's educational network boats 33 campuses and exchange agreements with more than 400 universities worldwide.

Government

Municipalities are governed by an elected Presidente Municipal (Mayor) for a period of three years and the City Council is integrated by the mayor, the regidores, and the síndicos. Regidores represent the community and define policies, while síndicos oversee defending city interests and monitoring treasury.

Country Facts

- Capital: Mexico City (Ciudad de Mexico or CDMX)
- Language: Spanish
- Government Type: Federal Republic
- Population: 128,932,753 (2020)
- Area: 761,600 sq miles

Government Structure

- Mexico's government structure is modeled after the US to some degree. Mexico follows the tenets of Federalism. The government is also divided into three branches; Executive, Legislative and Judiciary.
- Executive:
  - The executive may veto a law that is passed in the legislature, it may be overridden, but it is not constitutionally possible that a bill passed by congress will become a law without the president's approval.
  - Bills proposed by the executive take precedent over all other bills.
  - The constitution gives the president the power to issue fundamental rules that have the same authority as a law.

Government Structure

- Legislative
  - Legislative power falls to the Congress, officially the Congreso de la Unión, which is bicameral, meaning it has two houses within it. These houses are the Senate and the Chamber of Deputies, or the Senado de la República and the Cámara de Diputados, There are 500 representatives in the Chamber of Deputies, elected every three years, and 128 representatives in the Senate, who each serve six years.
  - The powers of the congress include the right to pass laws, impose taxes, declare war, approve the national budget, approve or reject treaties and conventions made with foreign countries, and ratify diplomatic appointments.
- Judiciary
  - Composed of the supreme court, federal courts and state courts
  - The judiciary is headed by the Supreme Court, or the Suprema Corte de Justicia de la Nación. Mexico's Supreme Court has 11 judges, who are appointed by the president for a maximum of 15 years but then must be approved by Congress.
  - Law is based on Spanish Civil Law and Common Law

State and Local Government

State Government

- There are 32 states in Mexico, including the capital Mexico City. Governors of these states are directly elected to six-year terms.
- Each state has its own constitution with the right to legislate and levy taxes and modeled on the national charter.
- Just like federal government , State government also incorporates the Executive, the Legislative and the Judicial branches with same functions of these three but at the state level.
- States contain municipalities of vastly different sizes (altogether some 2,411 of them), but Mexican municipalities are more like what in the United States are called counties.

State and Local Government

Municipal Government

- The basic unit of Mexican government is the municipality (municipio), more than 2,000 of which are legally in existence.
- Municipal governments, headed by a mayor or municipal president (regente) and a municipal council (ayuntamiento), are popularly elected for three-year terms.
- Article 115 of the 1917 constitution proclaims the autonomy of local governments according to the principle of the free municipality (municipio libre).

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Meeting and Greeting

- In Mexico, if you are invited to someone's home, wait to be introduced by the host.
- In a more public area with many people, it is acceptable to introduce yourself.
- Social status is important in Mexico

Meeting and Greeting

- Mexicans generally use two surnames. The first surname listed is from the father, and the second surname listed is from the mother. When speaking to someone. use his or her father's surname: Sr. Garcia Perez can also be Sr. Garcia
- A married woman will add her husband's father's name to the end of her name, usually shown as de (name) when written. This woman would be formally addressed as Señora de (name).
- In speaking to this same married woman less formally, you would simply say Señora (name).

Handshake Tips in Mexico

- Men shake hands upon meeting and leaving and will wait for a woman to be the first to offer her hand.
- It is usual to shake hands and touch an arm.
- With further acquaintance, it is common to have a hug with a clap or padding on the back
- A hug with a woman may include a kiss on one cheek.

Business Card-Giving

- Anticipate - have enough cards for all situations.
- Note the way you should present the card and not to deal cards out.
- Translate and print in other language on other side of business card.

10

Business Card Receiving

- Observe courtesy in receiving a card
- Read it and then put it away.
- Use of professional titles: Lic. Ing. Dr.

11

Names and Titles

- In Mexico, the use of professional titles before a name is standard. It is respectful to observe
  - Licenciado or Licenciada
  - Ingeniero or Ingeniera
  - Arquitecto or Arquitecta
  - Contador or Contadora
- Do not use first names initially unless you are introduced on a first name basis.

12

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Punctuality

- Punctuality means different things in different cultures.
- In Mexico, it is not expected for someone to arrive exactly on time at someone's house. Best policy to follow is a 30 minute rule.
- Traffic is a big problem, specially in cities like Mexico City.
- The stated time on invitations is not always followed.
- Be on time for a business meeting but don't be surprised if your counterpart runs late.
- It is expected that higher level executives may arrive later than you. Avoid showing your annoyance!

13

Conversation Tips

- It is acceptable to talk about culture, arts, sports (mostly soccer)
- Mexicans can be very self critical and opinionated about their own government and political situation at hand, but a foreigner must be sensitive about what they say.
- Unless you are closely acquainted, stick to more neutral topics to avoid offending anyone unintentionally.
- Expect to answer questions about your personal background, family and life interests.

14

Phone Courtesy

- Don't be offended when someone answers their cell phone even though they are in a meeting or at a lunch with you.
- Cell phones are extensively used in Mexico and very often the ringers are not left in silent mode.

15

Public Behavior in Mexico

- It is common to use a "psst-psst" sound to catch another's attention in public. This is not considered rude.
- Awareness of how each individual fits into each hierarchy--be it family, friends or business. It would be disrespectful to break the chain of hierarchy.
- The family is at the center of the social structure - Paternalistic structure translates into business world.

Business Etiquette

- The right connections facilitate business success, and this is very true regarding Mexico.
- Face-to-face meetings are preferred over telephone, letters or e-mail.
- Dress code in business:
  - Men should wear conservative, dark colored suits
  - Women should wear business suits or conservative dresses.

17

Expectations

- Do not expect to get results at a first meeting. Relationship building is very much a part of dealing within the Mexican business sector.
- Building trusting relationships is the first step.
- Friendship is usually the foundation for business deals and investments

18

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Dining

- Always keep your hands visible when eating. Keep your wrists resting on the edge of the table
- When you have finished eating, place your knife and fork across your plate with the prongs facing down and the handles facing to the right. It is polite to leave some food on your plate after a meal.
- Do not sit down until you are invited to and told where to sit.
- Before everyone starts eating is proper to say “provecho”

Toasting

- It is common for the host to make the first toast or “un brindis”.
- The traditional toast in Mexico is Salud
- In a social situation, you will note it is usually the men who make the toast and not their wives.
- If invited to someone’s house, a bottle of wine would be a nice gift.

20

Tipping in Mexico

- In Mexico, tipping is an important part of the culture, and it is important to have plenty of small change to tip when necessary.
- Tipping varies between 10% - 20% although the more expensive restaurants that provide excellent service are commonly given 15%-20%
- Many porters and parking attendants don’t receive a salary and live on tips only. Be sensitive to this!
- When paying with American Express cards in Mexico, it is the usual practice for the waiter to bring a mobile card transaction unit to the table and the guest can choose what percentage to use for tip by selecting it in the menu.

Giving and Receiving Gifts

- If invited to someone’s house, do take a gift of flowers or sweets/chocolates.
- Avoid giving yellow flowers especially marigolds as they are associated with death.
- Gifts exchanged should be opened immediately and acknowledged enthusiastically irrespective of how you feel about the gift.

Shopping Tips

- Shopping formal stores versus markets and booths.
- Bargaining is part of many cultures. Mexico is one of those countries, but the bargaining takes place in markets or with street vendors.
- Be aware not to insult the vendor by lowering the price too much!

23

Memo for the South Texas Mayors Delegation and San Antonio Mayor's Office

Date: May 5, 2025
To: Mayor Ron Nirenberg and participating South Texas mayors
From: Mayors Migration Council
Subject: Preparation for Meeting with Governor Clara Brugada (Mexico City)

Background and Opportunity

Your visit to Mexico City comes at a key moment for city leadership on migration in the Americas. Mexico City's newly elected Head of Government, Governor Clara Brugada, is positioning the city as a national leader on migrant inclusion and progressive urban policy. This meeting is an opportunity to deepen cross-border cooperation and exchange experiences on local strategies for managing migration and promoting inclusion, especially among cities with direct exposure to border dynamics.

The Mayors Migration Council (MMC), which is supporting this meeting, is a mayor-led initiative that helps cities shape national and international migration policy through direct city diplomacy. The MMC supports a global coalition of cities committed to inclusive migration governance and has worked closely with mayors across the U.S. and Latin America. In January, the MMC attended the U.S. Conference of Mayors in Washington, D.C., where we met with the Mayor of Brownsville and other border city leaders. We have also recently engaged with the mayors of El Paso and Ciudad Juárez in binational conversations to better understand local experiences at the border.

This meeting between South Texas mayors and Mexico City leadership forms part of that larger effort to connect city leaders across the hemisphere and ensure they have the tools, visibility, and partnerships to lead migration policy from the ground up.

Overall, this meeting is first and foremost a chance to engage directly with Governor Clara Brugada and learn about Mexico City's evolving approach to migrant inclusion and urban social policy. It also offers an opportunity to highlight your own leadership at the U.S.–Mexico border and share practical lessons from your cities. While San Antonio is a founding city of the Mayors of the Americas Task Force on Migration, all participating cities—Brownsville, Harlingen, Laredo, and Mission—bring critical experience to this dialogue. The conversation may also open the door to future engagement in the MMC's broader work with cities across the hemisphere.

Why This Meeting Matters for South Texas

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Mexico City is relaunching its Padrón de Huéspedes, a local ID initiative for residents without formal documentation, and considering the establishment of Centros Multiservicios, which are centralized spaces offering multiple city services to migrants. These efforts reflect a growing recognition of the municipal role in managing migration and building social cohesion. Cities across the South Texas delegation have faced similar challenges, from pressure on shelter systems to rising political tensions at the national level.

Your delegation brings deep experience navigating the operational, humanitarian, and political dimensions of migration at the U.S.–Mexico border. Each city has distinct tools, histories, and partnerships, and this meeting is an opportunity to share those local innovations while learning from Mexico City's evolving approach.

Suggested Discussion Points

- The political climate and border narratives: Mayor Nirenberg has been vocal in opposing tariffs and the politicization of border cities. All of your cities are operating in a politically charged national environment, where state and federal policies often shift. This could include discussing public narratives and advocacy positioning on migration in today's challenging national and regional contexts to identify areas where the participating cities align.
    - Governor Brugada has also taken a strong position against xenophobia and will likely appreciate an honest exchange about navigating political headwinds while protecting community cohesion.
    - It is worth noting the difference between the Mexican and U.S. scenarios, where Governor Brugada is closely aligned with President Claudia Sheinbaum as part of the governing Morena party. This alignment across city and federal levels in Mexico offers a rare window for strengthened coordination on migration and social policy.

- Shared city leadership: This meeting can serve as a platform to show that cities across borders are not waiting for national gridlock to clear—they are leading. The delegation could express support for Mexico City's new migrant ID or jointly call for more recognition of cities' roles. Photos or shared statements could help communicate this collaboration to broader audiences in both countries.

Other areas of interest with a more technical focus could include:

- Civil society partnerships: An area of particular interest for Governor Brugada's team. South Texas cities have built strong partnerships with nonprofit, church-based, and local community organizations to support migrant reception and integration. In San Antonio, the city contracts trusted partners like Catholic Charities and RAICES to operate the Migrant Resource Center. Close coordination with shelters, churches, and other cross-border groups has been essential. Mexico City may benefit from hearing about your models for working with civil society under operational stress.

- Service delivery under pressure: South Texas cities have played critical roles in ensuring humane reception and public order. Many South Texas cities have had to step in with shelter, food, and transportation support when federal systems were stretched. These efforts parallel Mexico City's own experiences and may open the door for deeper technical exchange.
- Municipal IDs and local access models: San Antonio's Enhanced Library Card serves as a functional municipal ID, providing access to city services. Mexico City is relaunching its own local ID and could benefit from your implementation lessons, especially on documentation, trust-building, and use within city systems. Other cities in the delegation may wish to discuss interest in or barriers to pursuing similar models.

About the Mayors of the Americas Task Force on Migration

Mayor Nirenberg represents San Antonio as a founding member of the Mayors of the Americas Task Force on Migration. Launched by the MMC in September 2024, the Task Force brings together six mayors/cities (Bogota, Cali, San Antonio, Denver, Mexico City, Ciudad Juárez) to shape a shared political and advocacy agenda on migration.

The Task Force is focusing on two central priorities:

- Advancing legal pathways for migration across the Americas
- Expanding economic inclusion of migrants in urban communities

The goal is to develop a practical and ambitious city-led roadmap that cities across the hemisphere (including border cities in the U.S.) can use to advocate, act, and collaborate. While the Task Force includes a small number of cities, it is designed to generate ideas and tools that will benefit a broader coalition of municipal leaders.

Key moments this year:

- March 12, virtual: City Leads met as a group for the first time.
- June 10, Bogotá: Mayors scheduled to meet to endorse the Advocacy Agenda and advance city-to-city projects.
- End of year: Mayors participate in a major global conference to announce the Task Force's efforts publicly.

A more detailed update on the status of the Task Force is available here.

Re: Akin's Report of Activity for September 2025

In September, Congress returned from recess focused on the September 30 deadline to fund the federal government. However, On October 1, the government officially entered a shutdown after Congress failed to pass full appropriations for Fiscal Year 2026 or a Continuing Resolution. Akin analyzed the landscape of appropriation bills, agency nominations, and the National Defense Authorization Act, while monitoring agency action relating to grant opportunities and announcements from the Make America Health Again Commission. Additionally, Akin has supported the City of Laredo in developing strategies to address concerns about the stray animal population at the city, state, and federal level.

Congressional Updates

During the government shutdown, Congressional leaders remain divided on extending the enhanced Affordable Care Act subsidies, the absence of which is expected to result in the loss of coverage and significant premium increases for the marketplace when open enrollment for next year begins on November 1.

The National Defense Authorization Act is in the annual process of providing funding for the U.S. military. The House passed its version on September 10 by a vote of 231-196 (H.R. 3838). The Senate continues to consider its version (S.2296), which includes 878 amendments The Senate NDAA could advance without a preceding Senate vote to be reconciled in conference with the House-passed version of the NDAA.

At the state level, the Hidalgo County Commissioners Court unanimously agreed to join a 287(g)-program agreement with Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) to detain immigrants. This will become effective on January 1, 2026, after a new Texas state law, Senate Bill 8, requires every Texas county with a population of 100,000 people or more to join the 287(g)-program or potentially face court sanctions.

Administration Update

On September 30, the White House announced its first most-favored-nation (MFN) agreement with Pfizer. The announcement came just days after President Trump posted on Truth Social that, effective October 1, a 100% tariff on brand-name and patented pharmaceutical products would be imposed unless a company is building its manufacturing plant in the U.S. As of this date, the 100% tariff has not been effectuated. The President signed two immigration

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Executive Orders establishing the "Gold Card" Visa Program and charging a $100,000 fee for H-1B visas. President Trump also spoke at the United Nations General Assembly in New York City.

Agency Updates

Department of Health and Human Services

On September 30 the Administration for Community Living (ACL) announced $50 million in grants to 59 recipients across the nation to strengthen existing programs that protect the health of seniors and support caregivers.

On September 22, President Trump and HHS Secretary Kennedy announced actions to address autism, including an FDA label update for leucovorin to treat speech-related deficits associated with autism spectrum disorder, coverage through Medicaid, and new NIH research trials. The FDA began the process of updating acetaminophen labeling to address potential risks in pregnancy, while encouraging cautious clinical use.

On September 15, the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) released application details for the $50 billion Rural Health Transformation Program included in the One Big Beautiful Bill Act (OBBBA). The program allocates $10 billion each year for a five-year period. 50% of the fund will be distributed equally amongst all approved states and the other 50% will be allocated based on application factors including rural population, the proportion of rural health facilities, and hospital needs. State applications are due November 5, and CMS will announce awardees by December 31, 2025. States will submit one application for the five-year period.

On September 9, the Make America Health Again (MAHA) Commission released a strategy to end childhood chronic disease and additional initiatives, following Executive Order 1421. Some areas of interest for the City of Laredo include the EPA and USDA assessment of water contaminants, CDC recommendations regarding fluoride and PFAS, and initiatives to improve the quality of food care for veterans and improving Medicaid quality and care delivery.

On September 4, HHS expanded access to more affordable catastrophic health coverage through its new hardship exemption guidance. The updated guidance will streamline coverage for consumers who are ineligible for advance payments of the premium tax credit (APTC) or cost-sharing reductions (CSRs) and will take effect on November 1.

Department of Transportation

The Department of Transportation (DOT) announced the Federal Railroad Administration's (FRA) FY 2024-2025 Notice of Funding Opportunity (NOFO) for the National Railroad Partnership Program. It allocates more than $5 billion in funding for projects that enhance safety on intercity passenger rail networks. Applications are due on January 7, 2026.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Department of Commerce

On September 29, President Trump issued a Proclamation, following a Department of Commerce Section 232 investigation, imposing a 10% tariff on imports of softwood timber and a 25% tariff on upholstered wooden products, kitchen cabinets, and vanities. Beginning on January 1, 2026, tariffs on upholstered wooden products will increase to 30% and tariffs on kitchen cabinets and vanities will increase to 50%. Additionally, on September 25, the President announced a 25% tariff on trucks, truck parts, and derivatives.

On September 24, the Department of Commerce initiated a Section 232 investigation into imports of personal protective equipment, medical consumables, and medical devices. The probe could impose higher tariffs on products like surgical masks, N95 respirators, gloves, needles, wheelchairs, hospital beds, and devices like pacemakers, insulin pumps, and heart valves. On the same day, Commerce initiated a second Section 232 investigation into robotics and industrial machinery, including industrial equipment controlled by a computer. Public comments for this investigation are due by October 17.

Department of Energy

On October 2, 2025, the Department of Energy (DOE) announced the termination of 321 financial awards supporting 223 projects, citing inadequate documentation, poor economic viability, and insufficient energy or national security benefits. The cancellations, totaling approximately $7.56 billion, follow a Secretarial Memorandum issued in May that required case-by-case reviews of awards made during the Biden-Harris administration. Notably, the California and Pacific Northwest hydrogen hubs are among the projects to lose funding.

Department of Housing and Urban Development

On September 30, the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) extended the compliance deadline for the National Standards for Physical Inspection of Real Estates (NSPIRE) rule to October 1, 2026. The exention applies to Community Planning and Development (CPD) programs, including Emergency Solutions Grants (ESG), Continuum of Care (CoC), HOME Investment Partnerships, and the Housing Trust Fund (HTF).

Department of Agriculture

On September 23, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) announced a three-point plan to support American agricultural producers and exporters. The plan includes launching the America First Trade Promotion Program in 2026, funded by $285 million allotted in the One Big Beautiful Bill Act. USDA will also launch a trade mission targeting reciprocal trade deal countries for new market access opportunities and revitalize the GSM-102 credit guarantee program to reduce the financial risk of lenders and expand into international markets.

MEMORANDUM

October 8, 2025

To: The City of Laredo

From: Akin Gump Strauss Hauer & Feld LLP

Re: Overview of Federal Government Operations During a Government Shutdown

With the start of fiscal year (FY) 2026 on October 1, 2025, the U.S. government officially shut down after operating under a "clean" continuing resolution (CR) passed on March 14, 2025 (P.L. 119-4). This CR funded most federal programs and activities at FY2024 levels and expired on September 30, 2025. In order to avoid a lapse in government funding and prevent a shutdown, Congress must pass a CR, an appropriations package, or all 12 individual appropriations bills by September 30, 2025 the eve of the new FY. The ongoing government shutdown, which has entered its eighth day with congressional negotiators at a standstill, impacts all federal agencies, as the House and Senate have yet to present a single FY2026 appropriations bill to the President for his approval.

This memorandum provides an overview of the current appropriations status in Congress, insights into shutdown dynamics and ongoing escalations amidst negotiations, and a summary of operations across various federal agencies, with a focus on the following:

- U.S. Department of Commerce (DOC)
- U.S. Department of Defense (DOD)
- U.S. Department of Energy (DOE)
- U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS)
- U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS)
- U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD)
- U.S. Department of Justice (DOJ)
- U.S. Department of Transportation (DOT)
- U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA)

I. Appropriations Status Update

As previously mentioned, Congress has multiple options to prevent a government shutdown—passing a CR, an appropriations package, or all 12 individual appropriations bills by September 30, 2025—and is making progress toward finalizing the latter despite the ongoing shutdown.

The House and Senate have already moved to conference on three bipartisan negotiation bills: the FY2026 Military Construction and Veterans Affairs, Agriculture, and Legislative Branch Appropriations Acts. These bills are expected to be bundled into a "minibus" and attached to any viable measure to reopen the government. The bipartisan nature of the minibus is a positive sign that the regular appropriations process, despite the government shutdown dynamics, is taking on a bipartisan tone and bodes well for the nine remaining appropriations bills coming together. Moreover, Senate Leader John Thune (R-SD) has also expressed interest in bundling the Defense and Labor-HHS-Education bills into the next minibus. While this progress is promising, processing all 12 appropriations bills is unlikely to be the turnkey solution to ending the government shutdown.

FY2026 Appropriations Status Table
Appropriations Bill	Status in House	Status in Senate
Agriculture-FDA*	Committee Approved (35 to 27)	Committee Approved (27 to 0)
Commerce-Justice-Science	Committee Approved (34 to 28)	Committee Approved (19 to 10)
Defense	Passed House (221 to 209)	Committee Approved (26 to 3)

National Security-State	Committee Approved (35 to 27)	TBA
Transportation-HUD	Committee Approved (35 to 28)	Committee Approved (27 to 1)

Appropriations Acts with an asterisk (*) have been conferenced by the House and Senate and consolidated into a "minibus."

II. Shutdown Dynamics, Negotiations, and Escalations

With all 12 appropriations bills unresolved amid the government shutdown, Democrats and Republicans have proposed competing short-term funding measures. However, neither has secured enough support to reach the President's desk. Both of the following measures have thus far undergone five rounds of votes but have failed:

- House-Passed GOP Funding Bill: The House Republican-led proposal, the Continuing Appropriations and Extensions Act, 2026 (H.R. 5371), is a "clean CR" that would extend government funding through November 21, without policy changes, maintaining FY2025 funding levels for federal agencies and programs while also extending several expiring authorities. These include critical health, flood insurance, counter-drone, and veterans' programs. The House passed the bill on September 19, by a 217 to 212 vote, but has thus far failed to gain traction in the Senate, attracting minimal Democratic support.

- Stalled Senate Democratic Funding Bill: Senate Democrats countered with an alternative proposal, the Continuing Appropriations and Extensions and Other Matters Act, 2026 (S. 2882), which would fund the government through October 31. Beyond maintaining government operations, the Democratic proposal seeks to extend the enhanced Affordable Care Act (ACA) premium tax credits enacted in the 2021 American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA; P.L. 117-2) that are set to expire at year-end, reverse Medicaid cuts enacted under the One Big Beautiful Bill Act (OBBBA; P.L. 119-21), and address the Trump administration's spending rescissions. The bill continues to lack sufficient support in the Senate.

At the heart of the shutdown impasse are the enhanced ACA subsidies. Democratic leaders are pushing to make these subsidies permanent through any government funding bill, aiming to resolve the issue before the subsidies expire on December 31. These subsidies, estimated to cost $350 billion over a decade, have been labeled by Republican leadership as a nonstarter, refusing to address Democratic healthcare priorities through a stopgap measure. Despite holding a Republican trifecta—control of the House, Senate, and White House—Republicans would still require Democratic support to overcome the 60-vote threshold typically needed to pass spending bills in the Senate. This also provides an opportunity for Democrats to exert leverage in funding talks.

Hours into the government shutdown, however, Russell Vought, Director of the White House Office of Management and Budget (OMB), announced via social media that the administration would halt $18 billion in infrastructure funding for projects like the Second Avenue Subway and Hudson Tunnel, pending a review of Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) practices. Vought also announced the termination of 321 financial awards, worth $7.56 billion, supporting 223 projects, with cuts largely targeting energy projects in Democratic-led states. Democrats have criticized these actions as politically motivated and aimed at pressuring their party during the shutdown. In addition, Vought further threatened mass firings, or reductions in force (RIFs), across the federal workforce in a memo, a move echoed by President Trump, who stated they would also target "Democrat agencies" for cuts.

In terms of where things currently stand, negotiations continue at the leadership level, but little progress has been made. The Senate is poised to vote for the sixth time on the two competing proposals, though, at this juncture, neither is expected to pass. As negotiations drag on, there are rumors that OMB may begin issuing RIF notices to furloughed employees this week. Additionally, furloughed federal employees are expected to miss their first paycheck at the end of this week, while active-duty military members will start missing theirs mid next week. The missed paychecks may serve as a turning point in negotiations, combined with potential RIFs, making the situation "more real" for negotiators and potentially pushing them to reach a resolution.

III. Agency Shutdown Plans and Continuing Operations

Federal agencies operate under the Anti-Deficiency Act (ADA), which prohibits spending or dispersing funds without Congressional appropriations. Consequently, all non-essential government functions are suspended until appropriations, or a stopgap measure is enacted. Agencies prioritize activities that ensure human life safety and property protection. Before a shutdown, agencies develop contingency staffing plans to outline which activities will continue and which will halt. Below is a summary of these activities by federal agency.

A. U.S. Department of Commerce

Department of Commerce functions and activities that can continue during a lapse in appropriations include those funded by other resources, expressly authorized by law, impliedly authorized, necessary for the President's constitutional duties, or related to emergencies where delaying would significantly compromise safety or property protection. Below is an overview of the Department's ongoing essential activities during the government shutdown, along with information on the cessation of its non-essential functions.

- Bureau of Industry and Security (BIS): BIS continues essential functions related to national security, such as enforcing export controls, implementing executive orders on cybersecurity and Information and Communications Technology and Services (ICTS) supply chain protection, and maintaining information technology (IT) infrastructure and data security. Key leadership positions, including those of the Under Secretary and Deputy Under Secretary, remain active to provide oversight and support for these critical activities. Also, during a shutdown, the Office of Assistant Secretary for Export Administration (OAS-EA) reviews and processes emergency license applications, drafts regulations to support U.S. and allied military activities, manages chemical weapons inspections, and conducts Section 705 activities for national defense and infrastructure needs. In addition, the Office of Strategic Industries and Economic Security (SIES) maintains industrial base assessments through reimbursable agreements. The Office of Assistant Secretary for Export Enforcement (OAS-EE) continues its law enforcement functions, including monitoring and opening investigations, reviewing intelligence and export transactions, and providing analytical support to prevent illegal exports.

- Census Bureau Operations: The U.S. Census Bureau will suspend most of its activities, including data collection and analysis, except those necessary to protect data and infrastructure. The Bureau will use carryover balances to continue critical activities necessary for the 2026 Census Test, ensuring the 2030 Census remains fully scoped and on time.

- Economic Analysis and Development: Most services provided by and activities of the Bureau of Economic Analysis (BEA), the Economic Development Administration (EDA), and the Minority Business Development Agency (MBDA) will be halted.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- International Trade Services: The International Trade Administration (ITA) continues to operate essential functions to ensure the safety and continuity of critical services. In addition, the ITA continues to provide sector-, country-, economic-, and trade law-specific expertise for activities deemed necessary for national security. This includes responding to requests from other agencies and the Office of the Secretary, including but not limited to bilateral and multilateral trade consultations, policy deliberations, and negotiations. Additionally, ITA's import licensing activities related to steel and aluminum mill imports into the U.S. are excepted as necessary to protect national security and domestic markets.

- The National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST): NIST maintains essential operations to support critical infrastructure, including the national timing and synchronization systems. Other essential activities include maintaining and monitoring reactor operations, protecting research equipment and facilities, and normal operations for the CHIPS Program Office (CPO) and the CHIPS Research and Development Program Office (CRDO) using CHIPS Act funding. The agency will also continue programs funded by sources other than annual appropriations, including disaster response, investigations, and certain international standards activities.

- The National Technical Information Service (NTIS): The NTIS will maintain operations without reducing staffing for up to five days, but the continuation of projects for other federal agencies depend on those agencies' decisions. If the NTIS revolving fund balance reaches a minimal level, an orderly shutdown will begin. First Responder Network Authority (FirstNet) will also continue operations to support first responders.

- The National Telecommunications and Information Administration (NTIA): The NTIA, as the agency principally responsible for advising the President on communication policy, will continue to manage the federal use of spectrum and promote the stability and security of the Internet's domain name system.

- U.S. Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO): The USPTO will furlough most employees but retain minimal staffing to protect intellectual property (IP) rights and ensure the safety of life and property. Key functions that will continue include processing new patent applications, issuing foreign filing licenses, maintaining IT and network security, providing legal support for ongoing litigation and emergency functions, managing critical trademark and patent trial proceedings, and ensuring financial and administrative integrity. The Office of Patents will focus on mission-critical IP protection and national security reviews, and the Office of Trademarks will maintain technical and IT support for legal obligations. The Office of Policy and International Affairs will monitor international IP activities, and the Office of the Chief Administrative Officer will handle human capital and emergency operations. The Patent Trial and Appeal Board and Trademark Trial and Appeal Board will manage ongoing contested cases and emergency motions.

- Weather, Water, and Climate Observations and Warnings: The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) will continue to provide critical weather, water, and climate observations, predictions, and warnings to ensure public safety and support critical infrastructure. Non-essential research and measurement services will be suspended.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

B. U.S. Department of Defense

During a government shutdown, the DOD will continue activities funded with any available budgetary resources that have not lapsed (e.g., funds made available in the OBBBA), as well as excepted activities such as those necessary for the safety of human life and the protection of property. During a government shutdown, the DOD will continue the following critical activities and functions:

- Acquisition and Logistic Support: The DOD continues essential contracting and logistics activities, including contract administration and payment for contracts funded with prior year funds, in support of excepted activities. The DOD also procures and distributes essential supplies, such as clothing, food, and medical supplies, as authorized by the Feed and Forage Act.

- Contracts: Contractors can continue services under pre-existing contracts up to the limit of obligated funds, regardless of whether they support excepted activities. New contracts, renewals, or funding increments are prohibited unless they support excepted activities. Contracts not supporting excepted activities may be terminated or halted if additional funding or oversight by furloughed employees is needed. The DOD can enter new contracts for supplies and services essential to excepted activities, but only if delaying poses an imminent risk to human life, property, or national security. The Defense Secretary can also authorize contracts for covered items under the Feed and Forage Act.

- Education and Training: Education and training necessary to participate in or support excepted activities will continue. In addition, DOD Education Activity's (DoDEA) educational activities for the regular school year will continue.

- Military and Civilian Personnel: Active-duty military personnel, including those in the reserve component, will continue to report for duty and perform their assigned tasks, both excepted and non-excepted, as long as no new obligations are incurred. Reserve component personnel on Active Guard Reserve (AGR) duty will also continue their authorized duties, but other reserve personnel can only be ordered to active duty for national security or disaster response. Civilian personnel, including military technicians, will be furloughed unless they are essential for excepted activities.

- National Security: The DOD continues critical national security operations, including authorized military operations, training exercises, and intelligence activities. Essential functions such as command and control, communications, and intelligence surveillance and reconnaissance remain operational to support national security requirements. Additionally, recruiting activities and operations necessary for maintaining operational readiness continue uninterrupted, as well as activities necessary to carry out or enforce treaties and other international obligations.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Moreover, as of September 2025, the DOD prioritizes securing the U.S. Southern Border, maintaining operations in the Middle East, advancing the Golden Dome for America project, performing depot maintenance, continuing shipbuilding, and producing critical munitions in its guidance for continuing operations during a funding lapse. Efforts supporting these priorities may occur during a lapse when resourced with funds that remain available, such as those from the OBBBA. Leaders will evaluate activities to determine if they are "excepted" based on safety, property protection, or the necessity implied by other excepted activities.

C. U.S. Department of Energy

In the event of a lapse in appropriations and the exhaustion of available balances, a small staff in the DOE's sub-agencies will support functions related to the safety of human life, the protection of property, and the President's constitutional duties, including the planning and preparation of the FY2027 budget. After the exhaustion of available balances, those activities not related to the preservation of life and property, unnecessary to the discharge of the President's constitutional power, not funded by other than annual appropriations, or not otherwise expressly authorized by law will cease.

In addition, during a government shutdown, the National Nuclear Security Administration (NNSA) continues essential functions to protect human life and property, focusing on nuclear weapons maintenance and security, non-proliferation activities, and naval reactor support, especially for activities funded by the OBBBA. Only excepted personnel oversee critical operations involving nuclear materials and unique equipment to ensure safe shutdown decisions. The Bonneville Power Administration operates normally as a self-funded entity, with its employees' compensation financed outside of annual appropriations. Other Power Marketing Administrations (PMAs) (Southeastern, Southwestern, Western Area) also continue essential functions, such as directing power to utilities and repairing transmission systems, to safeguard life and property.

D. U.S. Department of Health and Human Services

During a government shutdown, HHS prioritizes human life and property protection by maintaining essential activities under ADA authority. Key operations that will continue include disease outbreak monitoring, Medicare and other mandatory health program payments, and other critical functions supported by prior year appropriations, mandatory appropriations, and user fees. HHS will continuously review its resources and legal flexibilities to minimize the impact of the lapse on public health and safety. During a government shutdown:

- Administration for Children and Families (ACF): ACF will continue operating the Unaccompanied Alien Children program, supporting disaster recovery funded by supplemental disaster appropriations, and running the Federal Parent Locator Service. Previously awarded grants can remain operational, but most ACF programs will lack funding for new awards or ongoing support for active grants.

- Administration for Community Living (ACL): ACL will continue activities funded by carryover funding from the Medicare Improvements for Patients and Providers Act (MIPPA) and the Health Care Fraud and Abuse Control (HCFAC) wedge. Staff will also perform reimbursable

work related to managed care consumer information and assistance and continue promoting community living for people with disabilities of all ages and older adults. During the shutdown, ACL would not be able to award 15 state formula grants.

- Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality (AHRQ): AHRQ will continue activities funded by the Patient-Centered Outcomes Research Trust Fund (PCORTF), which focuses on building data capacity for patient-centered outcomes research to inform and support healthcare decisions. Oversight of AHRQ's appropriated activities, such as extramural research grants, contracts, tool creation, and dissemination, will cease.

- Advanced Research Projects Agency for Health (ARPA-H): ARPA-H will continue all its activities during a lapse of appropriations, supported by carryover balances from its three-year appropriations in FYs 2024 and 2025.

- Administration for Strategic Preparedness and Response (ASPR): ASPR will continue to support public health and medical emergency responses, critical interagency support requests, and National Special Security Events (NSSEs) to provide lifesaving and life-sustaining care. ASPR's regional offices will maintain jurisdictional connectivity to address federal medical requests, and retained staff, and U.S. Public Health Service (USPHS) Commissioned Corps officers will ensure that small medical teams and equipment can be deployed if needed. ASPR staff will continue monitoring public health and medical emergencies, maintaining detection, warning, and notification capabilities through the HHS Secretary's Operations Center (SOC). They will also continue negotiating, awarding, and managing critical contracts for medical countermeasures (MCM) and other threats, including Chemical, Biological, Radiological, and Nuclear (CBRN) preparedness. During a shutdown, the Office of Health Care Readiness halts federal oversight and management of cooperative agreement programs, including reviewing progress reports, performance data, and processing funding approvals. Data collection, validation, and analysis for recipient performance measures are also paused, along with recipient and partner engagement activities like newsletters, calls, and conference speaking engagements. The Office of Planning and Exercises stops conducting required evaluations and reporting on preparedness and response activities.

- The Biomedical Advanced Research and Development Authority (BARDA): BARDA plans to use two-year appropriated funds to maintain operational staffing for up to five months. Despite this, a funding lapse could result in insufficient resources to fund procurement and service contracts, potentially leading to the loss of products or manufacturing capacity for entire product lines.

- Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC): The CDC and the Agency for Toxic Substances and Disease Registry (ATSDR) will continue responding to urgent disease outbreaks and supporting programs such as the President's Emergency Plan for AIDS Relief (PEPFAR), the World Trade Center (WTC) Health Program, the Energy Employees Occupational Illness Compensation Program Act (EEOICPA), and the Vaccines for Children (VFC) program. During a shutdown, however, the CDC and ATSDR will suspend several non-essential activities. Subject matter experts (SMEs) will not provide guidance to state and local health departments on programs like opioid overdose prevention, HIV prevention, and diabetes prevention. Public communication about important health information will cease, and ongoing public health research and risk factor investigations will be suspended. Responses to public inquiries about health matters will be halted, and surveillance data analysis for reportable diseases will be paused. Additionally, grant funding announcements will not be prepared, compressing the application timeline for state and local health departments and universities.

- Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS): CMS will continue the Medicare Program, Health Care Fraud, and Abuse Control (HCFAC), and Center for Medicare and Medicaid Innovation (CMMI) activities. CMS will also fund Medicaid for the first quarter of FY2026 and maintain staff to make payments for the Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP). Federal Marketplace activities, including eligibility verification, will continue using carryover user fees. CMS, however, will suspend activities such as routine Health Care Facility Survey and Certification, including recertification and initial surveys, and less serious complaint investigations. Policy and rulemaking processes will likely face delays due to limited staff, and contract oversight for major contractors like Medicare Administrative Contractors and the Medicare Call Center will be largely halted. Additionally, outreach and education activities, as well as beneficiary casework services, will cease or slow down.

- Food and Drug Administration (FDA): The FDA will continue activities funded through carryover user fees and other non-lapsed funding. This includes the regulation of human and animal drugs, biosimilar biological products, medical devices, and tobacco products. The FDA will also maintain operations related to detecting and responding to public health emergencies, managing recalls, mitigating drug shortages, and addressing outbreaks of foodborne illness and infectious diseases. Additionally, the FDA will continue surveillance of adverse event reports, review of import entries for potential risks, for-cause and certain surveillance inspections, regulatory testing, and criminal enforcement and civil investigations. While the shutdown happens, the FDA would pause or delay many activities, including accepting new drug, generic drug, biological product, biosimilar, animal drug, and medical device submissions that require user fees. The Human Drugs Program would halt most activities related to unapproved prescription drugs, except those necessary to address imminent threats to human life. The Animal Drugs and Foods Program would stop pre-market safety reviews of novel animal food ingredients, and the Human Foods Program would reduce food safety efforts to emergency responses and safety surveillance. Regulatory testing for medical products would be limited to imminent threats, and longer-term policy and research efforts, including regulatory science research and national and global health security initiatives, would be curtailed.

- Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA): HRSA will continue to oversee activities funded through mandatory funding, advance appropriations, prior year carry-over funds, and user fees. These include certain direct health services and programs such as Health Centers, the Ryan White HIV/AIDS Program (Parts A and B), Ending the human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) Epidemic, Teaching Health Center Graduate Medical Education, Family to Family Health Information Systems, and the National Health Service Corps. The National Practitioner Databank will also continue to be overseen using existing user fee balances. During the shutdown, however, HRSA would delay activities such as the Vaccine Injury Program (VCIP), information technology (IT), and administrative contracts, drafting and posting FY2026 new funding opportunities (NOFOs), reviewing applications for discretionary funded programs, and staffing activities related to certain litigation and programs in maternal health, health workforce, and behavioral health.

- Indian Health Service (IHS): The IHS has received advance appropriations for FY2026, ensuring that the majority of IHS-funded programs will remain funded and operational. The IHS will continue to fund and operate the majority of its programs, including the provision of care by the IHS, Tribal Health Programs, and Urban Indian Organizations, as well as facilities construction projects supported by previously appropriated funds.

- National Institutes of Health (NIH): NIH activities will continue to center on ongoing operations at its biomedical research hospital, the NIH Clinical Center, to maintain the safety and continued care of its patients. NIH will provide basic care services to protect the health of NIH animals and retain staff to safeguard ongoing experiments or operations, and facilities and infrastructure. During a shutdown, the NIH will halt grant peer review meetings, advisory council meetings, the issuance of new awards, and program/grant management activities. New patient admissions, except for medically necessary cases, and the initiation of new protocols at the NIH Clinical Center will also be paused. Basic and translational research, training of graduate students and postdoctoral fellows, scientific meetings, travel by NIH scientists, some veterinary services, and scientific equipment services will not continue.

- The Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA): During a shutdown, SAMHSA will continue substance use and mental health programs, including Disaster Behavioral Health response teams, the Disaster Distress Helpline, and the 988/Suicide Lifeline. SAMHSA will also maintain the Treatment Services Locator, Treatment Referral Line, and Suicide and Crisis Line. Most prior-year grants, such as the 988 and Behavioral Health Crisis Services program, State Opioid Response Grant program, and Mental Health and Substance Use Block Grants, will remain funded. During a shutdown, SAMHSA will not continue new grant activities, including support for new grantees and responses to grant recipient requests. Summary statements for unfunded grant applications will be delayed, and the release of NOFOs for FY2026 will be postponed.

E. U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS)

During a government shutdown, DHS prioritizes essential activities to ensure nation safety and security. With over 249,000 employees continuing their duties, DHS maintains critical operations such as law enforcement, drug interdiction, border security and irregular migration management, processing passengers and inspecting cargo, counterintelligence, and disaster relief, among other essential activities. While the government is shutdown:

- Disaster Relief Fund Operations: The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) ensures the Disaster Relief Fund remains operational to provide aid in the event of a disaster.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Drug Interdiction: U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) and U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) will continue to interdict illegal drugs and other contraband at the border and within the United States.

- Intelligence Gathering: The Office of Intelligence and Analysis (OIA) continues to gather and analyze intelligence to support national security and law enforcement agencies.

- Law Enforcement Operations: The CBP continues border patrols and immigration law enforcement, while ICE maintains operations to investigate and enforce immigration and customs laws. Additionally, the Transportation Security Administration (TSA) continues screening passengers and baggage at airports to ensure the security of air travel.

- Maintaining Counter-Terrorism Watches: The agency maintains counter-terrorism watches, intelligence gathering, and dissemination in support of terrorist threat warnings.

- Managing Irregular Migration and Immigration Services: CBP and ICE process and manage irregular migration, including detaining and removing individuals who pose a threat to national security or public safety. Fee-funded activities such as those funded by the Immigration Examinations Fee Account, will also continue.

- Processing Passengers and Inspecting Cargo: CBP will continue to process passengers and inspect cargo at ports of entry to ensure national safety and security.

F. U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD)

During a government shutdown, HUD continues essential activities that support national economic stability and the welfare of its tenants. Key ongoing activities include supporting the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) insured mortgage portfolio and Ginnie Mae's secondary mortgage market operations, operating most annual grant programs with previously obligated funding, and continuing programs addressing imminent threats to HUD tenants' and children's health and welfare. Monthly subsidy programs, including public housing operating subsidies, housing choice voucher subsidies, and multifamily assistance contracts, will continue as long as funding remains available. However, these programs risk running out of funding during an extended shutdown. During the shutdown, however, nearly all of HUD's fair housing activities will cease. Other essential activities that continue during a shutdown at the agency include:

- Construction Inspections: Limited construction inspections and processing of construction draws to address imminent threats to life and property.

- Disaster Recovery Assistance Programs: The Office of Community Planning and Development (CPD) will continue Disaster Recovery Assistance Programs, which are funded through multi-year or no-year appropriations. In addition, in the event of a natural disaster that has occurred before or during the lapse in appropriations, public housing authorities (PHAs) would be able to apply for funding for emergencies and non-Presidentially declared disasters.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Environmental and Safety Inspections: Conducting necessary environmental assessments, lead-based paint inspections, and lead hazard control work plans.

- Fund Disbursement: Managing the disbursement of previously obligated funds for public housing, Indian programs, and Section 8 tenant-based rental assistance.

- Investigations and Oversight: The Office of the Inspector General will investigate matters posing a threat to safety or property.

- Legal Support: The Office of General Counsel will provide legal advice for emergency situations and facilitate orderly shutdown and resumption processes.

G. U.S. Department of Justice (DOJ)

During a government shutdown, the DOJ continues essential activities to ensure public safety and protect property. These include operations funded by permanent or carryover appropriations, activities with express legal authority, functions necessary for government operation, and those related to the President's constitutional duties. Specifically, ongoing criminal trials, civil litigation with statutory deadlines, national security investigations and prosecutions, and essential law enforcement functions such as fingerprint identification, gun checks, and fugitive apprehension remain active. Additionally, certain grant programs and support services continue to operate. Civil and appellate cases may proceed if a court denies a request for a continuance and training for new employees in emergency positions may also continue if a delay would compromise emergency functions. Due to the DOJ being comprised of components with a broad array of national, security, law enforcement, and criminal justice system responsibilities, the agency maintains a high percentage of its activities and employees as essential.

H. U.S. Department of Transportation (DOT)

The DOT Shutdown Plan outlines which functions will remain active to safeguard public safety, maintain critical infrastructure, and support national economic stability. Programs funded by multi-year appropriations or user fees will continue, while activities dependent on annual appropriations, such as certain regulatory, administrative, and research functions, will be paused until funding is restored. During the government shutdown:

- The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA): The FAA will maintain air traffic control services, including the hiring and field training of air traffic controllers. The FAA will also continue to operate and maintain navigational aids and other facilities, conduct airport inspections, manage existing airport development grants, approve passenger facility charges, and provide airport planning and environmental services funded by the Airport Improvement Plan (AIP) contract authority. Additionally, the FAA will issue airworthiness directives, perform airmen medical certifications, and conduct certification activities for commercial airplanes and engines. Facility security inspections, hazardous materials safety inspections, and commercial space launch oversight and licensing will also continue. During a government shutdown, the FAA would stop activities like aviation rulemaking, conducting random drug tests for non-safety employees, planning for continued operations, analyzing air traffic performance, and handling investment and financial planning, among other activities.

- Highway and Transit Operations: During a government shutdown, all operations of the Federal Transit Administration (FTA) and Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) will continue as normal, funded by multi-year and supplemental appropriations. For the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA), General Fund activities will continue with multi-year funding from prior-year appropriations and supplemental appropriations. All activities and personnel funded by the Highway Trust Fund or the supplemental appropriations from the Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act (IIJA; P.L. 117-58) will also continue.

- Pipeline and Hazardous Materials Safety Administration (PHMSA): Pipeline safety activities continue with funding from sources other than annual appropriations. This includes investigating hazardous materials accidents, conducting safety inspections, enforcing regulations to address imminent hazards, and issuing emergency approvals and permits. In addition, payments for Emergency Preparedness Grants and certain legal services also continue, along with activities funded by the IIJA.

- Railroad Safety Inspections and Investigations: The Federal Railroad Administration (FRA) continues key safety and oversight activities. The Office of Railroad Safety maintains accident and incident investigations, issuing Emergency Orders and Safety Advisories to ensure compliance with federal safety laws. Inspectors remain on railroad property to proactively identify and address safety hazards. In addition, the Office of Railroad Development and other FRA offices keep essential staff working on activities funded by the Oversight account, including financial assistance programs, legal advice, IT support, and data management. During a shutdown, the FRA suspends several non-essential activities, including core agency functions, contracts and purchases, new research and development projects, and rulemakings.

- Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration (FMCSA): During a government shutdown, FMCSA operations continue as normal, funded by the Highway Trust Fund and fees collected from its Licensing and Insurance (L&I) and Drug and Alcohol Clearinghouse (DACH) programs. The agency's obligation levels are set according to the IIJA.

- Maritime Administration (MARAD): During a shutdown, MARAD continues essential activities to protect human life and government property. The U.S. Merchant Marine Academy stays open, prioritizing academic instruction, midshipmen safety, and asset protection. Emergency and disaster assistance, ship disposal programs, national security vessel operations, and key maritime security programs remain active. Data center and cybersecurity functions continue, and staff oversee critical infrastructure and grant programs, including those funded by the IIJA.

I. U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA)

During a government shutdown, the EPA continues several critical activities to ensure safety and protect property. These include safeguarding EPA land, buildings, and equipment; preserving ongoing research; conducting law enforcement and criminal investigations; providing emergency and disaster assistance; and maintaining Superfund response work where an imminent threat to human life exists. The agency also sustains laboratory operations, emergency response readiness, legal counseling, and timely payments to contractors and grantees for essential functions. Exempted activities funded by the IIJA, the Clean Ports program from the Inflation Reduction Act (IRA; P.L. 117-169), Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act (FIFRA), Pesticide Registration Improvement Act (PRIA) fees, and the Superfund Tax continue.

However, several activities at the EPA will come to a halt during a shutdown. These include issuing new grants and interagency agreements, updating the EPA website, and conducting research and publishing results unless essential. Non-imminent Superfund site activities, civil enforcement inspections, and the issuance of permits, guidance, regulations, and policies will also stop unless necessary for excepted or exempted activities. Approvals of pending state requests, such as authorized state-issued EPA permits, State Implementation Plans (SIPs), Total Maximum Daily Loads (TMDLs), and Water Quality Standards, will be suspended.

Akin

MEMORANDUM

October 8, 2025

To: The City of Laredo

From: Akin Gump Strauss Hauer & Feld LLP

Re: Overview of Federal Government Operations During a Government Shutdown

With the start of fiscal year (FY) 2026 on October 1, 2025, the U.S. government officially shut down after operating under a "clean" continuing resolution (CR) passed on March 14, 2025 (P.L. 119-4). This CR funded most federal programs and activities at FY2024 levels and expired on September 30, 2025. In order to avoid a lapse in government funding and prevent a shutdown, Congress must pass a CR, an appropriations package, or all 12 individual appropriations bills by September 30, 2025 the eve of the new FY. The ongoing government shutdown, which has entered its eighth day with congressional negotiators at a standstill, impacts all federal agencies, as the House and Senate have yet to present a single FY2026 appropriations bill to the President for his approval.

This memorandum provides an overview of the current appropriations status in Congress, insights into shutdown dynamics and ongoing escalations amidst negotiations, and a summary of operations across various federal agencies, with a focus on the following:

- U.S. Department of Commerce (DOC)
- U.S. Department of Defense (DOD)
- U.S. Department of Energy (DOE)
- U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS)
- U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS)
- U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD)
- U.S. Department of Justice (DOJ)
- U.S. Department of Transportation (DOT)
- U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA)

I. Appropriations Status Update

As previously mentioned, Congress has multiple options to prevent a government shutdown—passing a CR, an appropriations package, or all 12 individual appropriations bills by September 30, 2025—and is making progress toward finalizing the latter despite the ongoing shutdown.

The House and Senate have already moved to conference on three bipartisan negotiation bills: the FY2026 Military Construction and Veterans Affairs, Agriculture, and Legislative Branch Appropriations Acts. These bills are expected to be bundled into a "minibus" and attached to any viable measure to reopen the government. The bipartisan nature of the minibus is a positive sign that the regular appropriations process, despite the government shutdown dynamics, is taking on a bipartisan tone and bodes well for the nine remaining appropriations bills coming together. Moreover, Senate Leader John Thune (R-SD) has also expressed interest in bundling the Defense and Labor-HHS-Education bills into the next minibus. While this progress is promising, processing all 12 appropriations bills is unlikely to be the turnkey solution to ending the government shutdown.

FY2026 Appropriations Status Table
Appropriations Bill	Status in House	Status in Senate
Agriculture-FDA*	Committee Approved (35 to 27)	Committee Approved (27 to 0)

Appropriations Acts with an asterisk (*) have been conferenced by the House and Senate and consolidated into a "minibus."

II. Shutdown Dynamics, Negotiations, and Escalations

With all 12 appropriations bills unresolved amid the government shutdown, Democrats and Republicans have proposed competing short-term funding measures. However, neither has secured enough support to reach the President's desk. Both of the following measures have thus far undergone five rounds of votes but have failed:

- House-Passed GOP Funding Bill: The House Republican-led proposal, the Continuing Appropriations and Extensions Act, 2026 (H.R. 5371), is a "clean CR" that would extend government funding through November 21, without policy changes, maintaining FY2025 funding levels for federal agencies and programs while also extending several expiring authorities. These include critical health, flood insurance, counter-drone, and veterans' programs. The House passed the bill on September 19, by a 217 to 212 vote, but has thus far failed to gain traction in the Senate, attracting minimal Democratic support.

- Stalled Senate Democratic Funding Bill: Senate Democrats countered with an alternative proposal, the Continuing Appropriations and Extensions and Other Matters Act, 2026 (S. 2882), which would fund the government through October 31. Beyond maintaining government operations, the Democratic proposal seeks to extend the enhanced Affordable Care Act (ACA) premium tax credits enacted in the 2021 American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA; P.L. 117-2) that are set to expire at year-end, reverse Medicaid cuts enacted under the One Big Beautiful Bill Act (OBBBA; P.L. 119-21), and address the Trump administration's spending rescissions. The bill continues to lack sufficient support in the Senate.

At the heart of the shutdown impasse are the enhanced ACA subsidies. Democratic leaders are pushing to make these subsidies permanent through any government funding bill, aiming to resolve the issue before the subsidies expire on December 31. These subsidies, estimated to cost $350 billion over a decade, have been labeled by Republican leadership as a nonstarter, refusing to address Democratic healthcare priorities through a stopgap measure. Despite holding a Republican trifecta—control of the House, Senate, and White House—Republicans would still require Democratic support to overcome the 60-vote threshold typically needed to pass spending bills in the Senate. This also provides an opportunity for Democrats to exert leverage in funding talks.

Hours into the government shutdown, however, Russell Vought, Director of the White House Office of Management and Budget (OMB), announced via social media that the administration would halt $18 billion in infrastructure funding for projects like the Second Avenue Subway and Hudson Tunnel, pending a review of Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) practices. Vought also announced the termination of 321 financial awards, worth $7.56 billion, supporting 223 projects, with cuts largely targeting energy projects in Democratic-led states. Democrats have criticized these actions as politically motivated and aimed at pressuring their party during the shutdown. In addition, Vought further threatened mass firings, or reductions in force (RIFs), across the federal workforce in a memo, a move echoed by President Trump, who stated they would also target "Democrat agencies" for cuts.

In terms of where things currently stand, negotiations continue at the leadership level, but little progress has been made. The Senate is poised to vote for the sixth time on the two competing proposals, though, at this juncture, neither is expected to pass. As negotiations drag on, there are rumors that OMB may begin issuing RIF notices to furloughed employees this week. Additionally, furloughed federal employees are expected to miss their first paycheck at the end of this week, while active-duty military members will start missing theirs mid next week. The missed paychecks may serve as a turning point in negotiations, combined with potential RIFs, making the situation "more real" for negotiators and potentially pushing them to reach a resolution.

III. Agency Shutdown Plans and Continuing Operations

Federal agencies operate under the Anti-Deficiency Act (ADA), which prohibits spending or dispersing funds without Congressional appropriations. Consequently, all non-essential government functions are suspended until appropriations, or a stopgap measure is enacted. Agencies prioritize activities that ensure human life safety and property protection. Before a shutdown, agencies develop contingency staffing plans to outline which activities will continue and which will halt. Below is a summary of these activities by federal agency.

A. U.S. Department of Commerce

Department of Commerce functions and activities that can continue during a lapse in appropriations include those funded by other resources, expressly authorized by law, impliedly authorized, necessary for the President's constitutional duties, or related to emergencies where delaying would significantly compromise safety or property protection. Below is an overview of the Department's ongoing essential activities during the government shutdown, along with information on the cessation of its non-essential functions.

- Bureau of Industry and Security (BIS): BIS continues essential functions related to national security, such as enforcing export controls, implementing executive orders on cybersecurity and Information and Communications Technology and Services (ICTS) supply chain protection, and maintaining information technology (IT) infrastructure and data security. Key leadership positions, including those of the Under Secretary and Deputy Under Secretary, remain active to provide oversight and support for these critical activities. Also, during a shutdown, the Office of Assistant Secretary for Export Administration (OAS-EA) reviews and processes emergency license applications, drafts regulations to support U.S. and allied military activities, manages chemical weapons inspections, and conducts Section 705 activities for national defense and infrastructure needs. In addition, the Office of Strategic Industries and Economic Security (SIES) maintains industrial base assessments through reimbursable agreements. The Office of Assistant Secretary for Export Enforcement (OAS-EE) continues its law enforcement functions, including monitoring and opening investigations, reviewing intelligence and export transactions, and providing analytical support to prevent illegal exports.

- Census Bureau Operations: The U.S. Census Bureau will suspend most of its activities, including data collection and analysis, except those necessary to protect data and infrastructure. The Bureau will use carryover balances to continue critical activities necessary for the 2026 Census Test, ensuring the 2030 Census remains fully scoped and on time.

- Economic Analysis and Development: Most services provided by and activities of the Bureau of Economic Analysis (BEA), the Economic Development Administration (EDA), and the Minority Business Development Agency (MBDA) will be halted.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- International Trade Services: The International Trade Administration (ITA) continues to operate essential functions to ensure the safety and continuity of critical services. In addition, the ITA continues to provide sector-, country-, economic-, and trade law-specific expertise for activities deemed necessary for national security. This includes responding to requests from other agencies and the Office of the Secretary, including but not limited to bilateral and multilateral trade consultations, policy deliberations, and negotiations. Additionally, ITA's import licensing activities related to steel and aluminum mill imports into the U.S. are excepted as necessary to protect national security and domestic markets.

- The National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST): NIST maintains essential operations to support critical infrastructure, including the national timing and synchronization systems. Other essential activities include maintaining and monitoring reactor operations, protecting research equipment and facilities, and normal operations for the CHIPS Program Office (CPO) and the CHIPS Research and Development Program Office (CRDO) using CHIPS Act funding. The agency will also continue programs funded by sources other than annual appropriations, including disaster response, investigations, and certain international standards activities.

- The National Technical Information Service (NTIS): The NTIS will maintain operations without reducing staffing for up to five days, but the continuation of projects for other federal agencies depend on those agencies' decisions. If the NTIS revolving fund balance reaches a minimal level, an orderly shutdown will begin. First Responder Network Authority (FirstNet) will also continue operations to support first responders.

- The National Telecommunications and Information Administration (NTIA): The NTIA, as the agency principally responsible for advising the President on communication policy, will continue to manage the federal use of spectrum and promote the stability and security of the Internet's domain name system.

- U.S. Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO): The USPTO will furlough most employees but retain minimal staffing to protect intellectual property (IP) rights and ensure the safety of life and property. Key functions that will continue include processing new patent applications, issuing foreign filing licenses, maintaining IT and network security, providing legal support for ongoing litigation and emergency functions, managing critical trademark and patent trial proceedings, and ensuring financial and administrative integrity. The Office of Patents will focus on mission-critical IP protection and national security reviews, and the Office of Trademarks will maintain technical and IT support for legal obligations. The Office of Policy and International Affairs will monitor international IP activities, and the Office of the Chief Administrative Officer will handle human capital and emergency operations. The Patent Trial and Appeal Board and Trademark Trial and Appeal Board will manage ongoing contested cases and emergency motions.

- Weather, Water, and Climate Observations and Warnings: The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) will continue to provide critical weather, water, and climate observations, predictions, and warnings to ensure public safety and support critical infrastructure. Non-essential research and measurement services will be suspended.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

B. U.S. Department of Defense

During a government shutdown, the DOD will continue activities funded with any available budgetary resources that have not lapsed (e.g., funds made available in the OBBBA), as well as excepted activities such as those necessary for the safety of human life and the protection of property. During a government shutdown, the DOD will continue the following critical activities and functions:

- Acquisition and Logistic Support: The DOD continues essential contracting and logistics activities, including contract administration and payment for contracts funded with prior year funds, in support of excepted activities. The DOD also procures and distributes essential supplies, such as clothing, food, and medical supplies, as authorized by the Feed and Forage Act.

- Contracts: Contractors can continue services under pre-existing contracts up to the limit of obligated funds, regardless of whether they support excepted activities. New contracts, renewals, or funding increments are prohibited unless they support excepted activities. Contracts not supporting excepted activities may be terminated or halted if additional funding or oversight by furloughed employees is needed. The DOD can enter new contracts for supplies and services essential to excepted activities, but only if delaying poses an imminent risk to human life, property, or national security. The Defense Secretary can also authorize contracts for covered items under the Feed and Forage Act.

- Education and Training: Education and training necessary to participate in or support excepted activities will continue. In addition, DOD Education Activity's (DoDEA) educational activities for the regular school year will continue.

- Military and Civilian Personnel: Active-duty military personnel, including those in the reserve component, will continue to report for duty and perform their assigned tasks, both excepted and non-excepted, as long as no new obligations are incurred. Reserve component personnel on Active Guard Reserve (AGR) duty will also continue their authorized duties, but other reserve personnel can only be ordered to active duty for national security or disaster response. Civilian personnel, including military technicians, will be furloughed unless they are essential for excepted activities.

- National Security: The DOD continues critical national security operations, including authorized military operations, training exercises, and intelligence activities. Essential functions such as command and control, communications, and intelligence surveillance and reconnaissance remain operational to support national security requirements. Additionally, recruiting activities and operations necessary for maintaining operational readiness continue uninterrupted, as well as activities necessary to carry out or enforce treaties and other international obligations.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Moreover, as of September 2025, the DOD prioritizes securing the U.S. Southern Border, maintaining operations in the Middle East, advancing the Golden Dome for America project, performing depot maintenance, continuing shipbuilding, and producing critical munitions in its guidance for continuing operations during a funding lapse. Efforts supporting these priorities may occur during a lapse when resourced with funds that remain available, such as those from the OBBBA. Leaders will evaluate activities to determine if they are "excepted" based on safety, property protection, or the necessity implied by other excepted activities.

C. U.S. Department of Energy

In the event of a lapse in appropriations and the exhaustion of available balances, a small staff in the DOE's sub-agencies will support functions related to the safety of human life, the protection of property, and the President's constitutional duties, including the planning and preparation of the FY2027 budget. After the exhaustion of available balances, those activities not related to the preservation of life and property, unnecessary to the discharge of the President's constitutional power, not funded by other than annual appropriations, or not otherwise expressly authorized by law will cease.

In addition, during a government shutdown, the National Nuclear Security Administration (NNSA) continues essential functions to protect human life and property, focusing on nuclear weapons maintenance and security, non-proliferation activities, and naval reactor support, especially for activities funded by the OBBBA. Only excepted personnel oversee critical operations involving nuclear materials and unique equipment to ensure safe shutdown decisions. The Bonneville Power Administration operates normally as a self-funded entity, with its employees' compensation financed outside of annual appropriations. Other Power Marketing Administrations (PMAs) (Southeastern, Southwestern, Western Area) also continue essential functions, such as directing power to utilities and repairing transmission systems, to safeguard life and property.

D. U.S. Department of Health and Human Services

During a government shutdown, HHS prioritizes human life and property protection by maintaining essential activities under ADA authority. Key operations that will continue include disease outbreak monitoring, Medicare and other mandatory health program payments, and other critical functions supported by prior year appropriations, mandatory appropriations, and user fees. HHS will continuously review its resources and legal flexibilities to minimize the impact of the lapse on public health and safety. During a government shutdown:

- Administration for Children and Families (ACF): ACF will continue operating the Unaccompanied Alien Children program, supporting disaster recovery funded by supplemental disaster appropriations, and running the Federal Parent Locator Service. Previously awarded grants can remain operational, but most ACF programs will lack funding for new awards or ongoing support for active grants.

- Administration for Community Living (ACL): ACL will continue activities funded by carryover funding from the Medicare Improvements for Patients and Providers Act (MIPPA) and the Health Care Fraud and Abuse Control (HCFAC) wedge. Staff will also perform reimbursable

work related to managed care consumer information and assistance and continue promoting community living for people with disabilities of all ages and older adults. During the shutdown, ACL would not be able to award 15 state formula grants.

- Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality (AHRQ): AHRQ will continue activities funded by the Patient-Centered Outcomes Research Trust Fund (PCORTF), which focuses on building data capacity for patient-centered outcomes research to inform and support healthcare decisions. Oversight of AHRQ's appropriated activities, such as extramural research grants, contracts, tool creation, and dissemination, will cease.

- Advanced Research Projects Agency for Health (ARPA-H): ARPA-H will continue all its activities during a lapse of appropriations, supported by carryover balances from its three-year appropriations in FYs 2024 and 2025.

- Administration for Strategic Preparedness and Response (ASPR): ASPR will continue to support public health and medical emergency responses, critical interagency support requests, and National Special Security Events (NSSEs) to provide lifesaving and life-sustaining care. ASPR's regional offices will maintain jurisdictional connectivity to address federal medical requests, and retained staff, and U.S. Public Health Service (USPHS) Commissioned Corps officers will ensure that small medical teams and equipment can be deployed if needed. ASPR staff will continue monitoring public health and medical emergencies, maintaining detection, warning, and notification capabilities through the HHS Secretary's Operations Center (SOC). They will also continue negotiating, awarding, and managing critical contracts for medical countermeasures (MCM) and other threats, including Chemical, Biological, Radiological, and Nuclear (CBRN) preparedness. During a shutdown, the Office of Health Care Readiness halts federal oversight and management of cooperative agreement programs, including reviewing progress reports, performance data, and processing funding approvals. Data collection, validation, and analysis for recipient performance measures are also paused, along with recipient and partner engagement activities like newsletters, calls, and conference speaking engagements. The Office of Planning and Exercises stops conducting required evaluations and reporting on preparedness and response activities.

- The Biomedical Advanced Research and Development Authority (BARDA): BARDA plans to use two-year appropriated funds to maintain operational staffing for up to five months. Despite this, a funding lapse could result in insufficient resources to fund procurement and service contracts, potentially leading to the loss of products or manufacturing capacity for entire product lines.

- Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC): The CDC and the Agency for Toxic Substances and Disease Registry (ATSDR) will continue responding to urgent disease outbreaks and supporting programs such as the President's Emergency Plan for AIDS Relief (PEPFAR), the World Trade Center (WTC) Health Program, the Energy Employees Occupational Illness Compensation Program Act (EEOICPA), and the Vaccines for Children (VFC) program. During a shutdown, however, the CDC and ATSDR will suspend several non-essential activities. Subject matter experts (SMEs) will not provide guidance to state and local health departments on programs like opioid overdose prevention, HIV prevention, and diabetes prevention. Public communication about important health information will cease, and ongoing public health research and risk factor investigations will be suspended. Responses to public inquiries about health matters will be halted, and surveillance data analysis for reportable diseases will be paused. Additionally, grant funding announcements will not be prepared, compressing the application timeline for state and local health departments and universities.

- Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS): CMS will continue the Medicare Program, Health Care Fraud, and Abuse Control (HCFAC), and Center for Medicare and Medicaid Innovation (CMMI) activities. CMS will also fund Medicaid for the first quarter of FY2026 and maintain staff to make payments for the Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP). Federal Marketplace activities, including eligibility verification, will continue using carryover user fees. CMS, however, will suspend activities such as routine Health Care Facility Survey and Certification, including recertification and initial surveys, and less serious complaint investigations. Policy and rulemaking processes will likely face delays due to limited staff, and contract oversight for major contractors like Medicare Administrative Contractors and the Medicare Call Center will be largely halted. Additionally, outreach and education activities, as well as beneficiary casework services, will cease or slow down.

- Food and Drug Administration (FDA): The FDA will continue activities funded through carryover user fees and other non-lapsed funding. This includes the regulation of human and animal drugs, biosimilar biological products, medical devices, and tobacco products. The FDA will also maintain operations related to detecting and responding to public health emergencies, managing recalls, mitigating drug shortages, and addressing outbreaks of foodborne illness and infectious diseases. Additionally, the FDA will continue surveillance of adverse event reports, review of import entries for potential risks, for-cause and certain surveillance inspections, regulatory testing, and criminal enforcement and civil investigations. While the shutdown happens, the FDA would pause or delay many activities, including accepting new drug, generic drug, biological product, biosimilar, animal drug, and medical device submissions that require user fees. The Human Drugs Program would halt most activities related to unapproved prescription drugs, except those necessary to address imminent threats to human life. The Animal Drugs and Foods Program would stop pre-market safety reviews of novel animal food ingredients, and the Human Foods Program would reduce food safety efforts to emergency responses and safety surveillance. Regulatory testing for medical products would be limited to imminent threats, and longer-term policy and research efforts, including regulatory science research and national and global health security initiatives, would be curtailed.

- Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA): HRSA will continue to oversee activities funded through mandatory funding, advance appropriations, prior year carry-over funds, and user fees. These include certain direct health services and programs such as Health Centers, the Ryan White HIV/AIDS Program (Parts A and B), Ending the human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) Epidemic, Teaching Health Center Graduate Medical Education, Family to Family Health Information Systems, and the National Health Service Corps. The National Practitioner Databank will also continue to be overseen using existing user fee balances. During the shutdown, however, HRSA would delay activities such as the Vaccine Injury Program (VCIP), information technology (IT), and administrative contracts, drafting and posting FY2026 new funding opportunities (NOFOs), reviewing applications for discretionary funded programs, and staffing activities related to certain litigation and programs in maternal health, health workforce, and behavioral health.

- Indian Health Service (IHS): The IHS has received advance appropriations for FY2026, ensuring that the majority of IHS-funded programs will remain funded and operational. The IHS will continue to fund and operate the majority of its programs, including the provision of care by the IHS, Tribal Health Programs, and Urban Indian Organizations, as well as facilities construction projects supported by previously appropriated funds.

- National Institutes of Health (NIH): NIH activities will continue to center on ongoing operations at its biomedical research hospital, the NIH Clinical Center, to maintain the safety and continued care of its patients. NIH will provide basic care services to protect the health of NIH animals and retain staff to safeguard ongoing experiments or operations, and facilities and infrastructure. During a shutdown, the NIH will halt grant peer review meetings, advisory council meetings, the issuance of new awards, and program/grant management activities. New patient admissions, except for medically necessary cases, and the initiation of new protocols at the NIH Clinical Center will also be paused. Basic and translational research, training of graduate students and postdoctoral fellows, scientific meetings, travel by NIH scientists, some veterinary services, and scientific equipment services will not continue.

- The Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA): During a shutdown, SAMHSA will continue substance use and mental health programs, including Disaster Behavioral Health response teams, the Disaster Distress Helpline, and the 988/Suicide Lifeline. SAMHSA will also maintain the Treatment Services Locator, Treatment Referral Line, and Suicide and Crisis Line. Most prior-year grants, such as the 988 and Behavioral Health Crisis Services program, State Opioid Response Grant program, and Mental Health and Substance Use Block Grants, will remain funded. During a shutdown, SAMHSA will not continue new grant activities, including support for new grantees and responses to grant recipient requests. Summary statements for unfunded grant applications will be delayed, and the release of NOFOs for FY2026 will be postponed.

E. U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS)

During a government shutdown, DHS prioritizes essential activities to ensure nation safety and security. With over 249,000 employees continuing their duties, DHS maintains critical operations such as law enforcement, drug interdiction, border security and irregular migration management, processing passengers and inspecting cargo, counterintelligence, and disaster relief, among other essential activities. While the government is shutdown:

- Disaster Relief Fund Operations: The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) ensures the Disaster Relief Fund remains operational to provide aid in the event of a disaster.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Drug Interdiction: U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) and U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) will continue to interdict illegal drugs and other contraband at the border and within the United States.

- Intelligence Gathering: The Office of Intelligence and Analysis (OIA) continues to gather and analyze intelligence to support national security and law enforcement agencies.

- Law Enforcement Operations: The CBP continues border patrols and immigration law enforcement, while ICE maintains operations to investigate and enforce immigration and customs laws. Additionally, the Transportation Security Administration (TSA) continues screening passengers and baggage at airports to ensure the security of air travel.

- Maintaining Counter-Terrorism Watches: The agency maintains counter-terrorism watches, intelligence gathering, and dissemination in support of terrorist threat warnings.

- Managing Irregular Migration and Immigration Services: CBP and ICE process and manage irregular migration, including detaining and removing individuals who pose a threat to national security or public safety. Fee-funded activities such as those funded by the Immigration Examinations Fee Account, will also continue.

- Processing Passengers and Inspecting Cargo: CBP will continue to process passengers and inspect cargo at ports of entry to ensure national safety and security.

F. U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD)

During a government shutdown, HUD continues essential activities that support national economic stability and the welfare of its tenants. Key ongoing activities include supporting the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) insured mortgage portfolio and Ginnie Mae's secondary mortgage market operations, operating most annual grant programs with previously obligated funding, and continuing programs addressing imminent threats to HUD tenants' and children's health and welfare. Monthly subsidy programs, including public housing operating subsidies, housing choice voucher subsidies, and multifamily assistance contracts, will continue as long as funding remains available. However, these programs risk running out of funding during an extended shutdown. During the shutdown, however, nearly all of HUD's fair housing activities will cease. Other essential activities that continue during a shutdown at the agency include:

- Construction Inspections: Limited construction inspections and processing of construction draws to address imminent threats to life and property.

- Disaster Recovery Assistance Programs: The Office of Community Planning and Development (CPD) will continue Disaster Recovery Assistance Programs, which are funded through multi-year or no-year appropriations. In addition, in the event of a natural disaster that has occurred before or during the lapse in appropriations, public housing authorities (PHAs) would be able to apply for funding for emergencies and non-Presidentially declared disasters.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Environmental and Safety Inspections: Conducting necessary environmental assessments, lead-based paint inspections, and lead hazard control work plans.

- Fund Disbursement: Managing the disbursement of previously obligated funds for public housing, Indian programs, and Section 8 tenant-based rental assistance.

- Investigations and Oversight: The Office of the Inspector General will investigate matters posing a threat to safety or property.

- Legal Support: The Office of General Counsel will provide legal advice for emergency situations and facilitate orderly shutdown and resumption processes.

G. U.S. Department of Justice (DOJ)

During a government shutdown, the DOJ continues essential activities to ensure public safety and protect property. These include operations funded by permanent or carryover appropriations, activities with express legal authority, functions necessary for government operation, and those related to the President's constitutional duties. Specifically, ongoing criminal trials, civil litigation with statutory deadlines, national security investigations and prosecutions, and essential law enforcement functions such as fingerprint identification, gun checks, and fugitive apprehension remain active. Additionally, certain grant programs and support services continue to operate. Civil and appellate cases may proceed if a court denies a request for a continuance and training for new employees in emergency positions may also continue if a delay would compromise emergency functions. Due to the DOJ being comprised of components with a broad array of national, security, law enforcement, and criminal justice system responsibilities, the agency maintains a high percentage of its activities and employees as essential.

H. U.S. Department of Transportation (DOT)

The DOT Shutdown Plan outlines which functions will remain active to safeguard public safety, maintain critical infrastructure, and support national economic stability. Programs funded by multi-year appropriations or user fees will continue, while activities dependent on annual appropriations, such as certain regulatory, administrative, and research functions, will be paused until funding is restored. During the government shutdown:

- The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA): The FAA will maintain air traffic control services, including the hiring and field training of air traffic controllers. The FAA will also continue to operate and maintain navigational aids and other facilities, conduct airport inspections, manage existing airport development grants, approve passenger facility charges, and provide airport planning and environmental services funded by the Airport Improvement Plan (AIP) contract authority. Additionally, the FAA will issue airworthiness directives, perform airmen medical certifications, and conduct certification activities for commercial airplanes and engines. Facility security inspections, hazardous materials safety inspections, and commercial space launch oversight and licensing will also continue. During a government shutdown, the FAA would stop activities like aviation rulemaking, conducting random drug tests for non-safety employees, planning for continued operations, analyzing air traffic performance, and handling investment and financial planning, among other activities.

- Highway and Transit Operations: During a government shutdown, all operations of the Federal Transit Administration (FTA) and Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) will continue as normal, funded by multi-year and supplemental appropriations. For the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA), General Fund activities will continue with multi-year funding from prior-year appropriations and supplemental appropriations. All activities and personnel funded by the Highway Trust Fund or the supplemental appropriations from the Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act (IIJA; P.L. 117-58) will also continue.

- Pipeline and Hazardous Materials Safety Administration (PHMSA): Pipeline safety activities continue with funding from sources other than annual appropriations. This includes investigating hazardous materials accidents, conducting safety inspections, enforcing regulations to address imminent hazards, and issuing emergency approvals and permits. In addition, payments for Emergency Preparedness Grants and certain legal services also continue, along with activities funded by the IIJA.

- Railroad Safety Inspections and Investigations: The Federal Railroad Administration (FRA) continues key safety and oversight activities. The Office of Railroad Safety maintains accident and incident investigations, issuing Emergency Orders and Safety Advisories to ensure compliance with federal safety laws. Inspectors remain on railroad property to proactively identify and address safety hazards. In addition, the Office of Railroad Development and other FRA offices keep essential staff working on activities funded by the Oversight account, including financial assistance programs, legal advice, IT support, and data management. During a shutdown, the FRA suspends several non-essential activities, including core agency functions, contracts and purchases, new research and development projects, and rulemakings.

- Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration (FMCSA): During a government shutdown, FMCSA operations continue as normal, funded by the Highway Trust Fund and fees collected from its Licensing and Insurance (L&I) and Drug and Alcohol Clearinghouse (DACH) programs. The agency's obligation levels are set according to the IIJA.

- Maritime Administration (MARAD): During a shutdown, MARAD continues essential activities to protect human life and government property. The U.S. Merchant Marine Academy stays open, prioritizing academic instruction, midshipmen safety, and asset protection. Emergency and disaster assistance, ship disposal programs, national security vessel operations, and key maritime security programs remain active. Data center and cybersecurity functions continue, and staff oversee critical infrastructure and grant programs, including those funded by the IIJA.

I. U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA)

During a government shutdown, the EPA continues several critical activities to ensure safety and protect property. These include safeguarding EPA land, buildings, and equipment; preserving ongoing research; conducting law enforcement and criminal investigations; providing emergency and disaster assistance; and maintaining Superfund response work where an imminent threat to human life exists. The agency also sustains laboratory operations, emergency response readiness, legal counseling, and timely payments to contractors and grantees for essential functions. Exempted activities funded by the IIJA, the Clean Ports program from the Inflation Reduction Act (IRA; P.L. 117-169), Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act (FIFRA), Pesticide Registration Improvement Act (PRIA) fees, and the Superfund Tax continue.

However, several activities at the EPA will come to a halt during a shutdown. These include issuing new grants and interagency agreements, updating the EPA website, and conducting research and publishing results unless essential. Non-imminent Superfund site activities, civil enforcement inspections, and the issuance of permits, guidance, regulations, and policies will also stop unless necessary for excepted or exempted activities. Approvals of pending state requests, such as authorized state-issued EPA permits, State Implementation Plans (SIPs), Total Maximum Daily Loads (TMDLs), and Water Quality Standards, will be suspended.

Re: Akin's Report of Activity for September 2025

In September, Congress returned from recess focused on the September 30 deadline to fund the federal government. However, On October 1, the government officially entered a shutdown after Congress failed to pass full appropriations for Fiscal Year 2026 or a Continuing Resolution. Akin analyzed the landscape of appropriation bills, agency nominations, and the National Defense Authorization Act, while monitoring agency action relating to grant opportunities and announcements from the Make America Health Again Commission. Additionally, Akin has supported the City of Laredo in developing strategies to address concerns about the stray animal population at the city, state, and federal level.

Congressional Updates

During the government shutdown, Congressional leaders remain divided on extending the enhanced Affordable Care Act subsidies, the absence of which is expected to result in the loss of coverage and significant premium increases for the marketplace when open enrollment for next year begins on November 1.

The National Defense Authorization Act is in the annual process of providing funding for the U.S. military. The House passed its version on September 10 by a vote of 231-196 (H.R. 3838). The Senate continues to consider its version (S.2296), which includes 878 amendments The Senate NDAA could advance without a preceding Senate vote to be reconciled in conference with the House-passed version of the NDAA.

At the state level, the Hidalgo County Commissioners Court unanimously agreed to join a 287(g)-program agreement with Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) to detain immigrants. This will become effective on January 1, 2026, after a new Texas state law, Senate Bill 8, requires every Texas county with a population of 100,000 people or more to join the 287(g)-program or potentially face court sanctions.

Administration Update

On September 30, the White House announced its first most-favored-nation (MFN) agreement with Pfizer. The announcement came just days after President Trump posted on Truth Social that, effective October 1, a 100% tariff on brand-name and patented pharmaceutical products would be imposed unless a company is building its manufacturing plant in the U.S. As of this date, the 100% tariff has not been effectuated. The President signed two immigration

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Executive Orders establishing the "Gold Card" Visa Program and charging a $100,000 fee for H-1B visas. President Trump also spoke at the United Nations General Assembly in New York City.

Agency Updates

Department of Health and Human Services

On September 30 the Administration for Community Living (ACL) announced $50 million in grants to 59 recipients across the nation to strengthen existing programs that protect the health of seniors and support caregivers.

On September 22, President Trump and HHS Secretary Kennedy announced actions to address autism, including an FDA label update for leucovorin to treat speech-related deficits associated with autism spectrum disorder, coverage through Medicaid, and new NIH research trials. The FDA began the process of updating acetaminophen labeling to address potential risks in pregnancy, while encouraging cautious clinical use.

On September 15, the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) released application details for the $50 billion Rural Health Transformation Program included in the One Big Beautiful Bill Act (OBBBA). The program allocates $10 billion each year for a five-year period. 50% of the fund will be distributed equally amongst all approved states and the other 50% will be allocated based on application factors including rural population, the proportion of rural health facilities, and hospital needs. State applications are due November 5, and CMS will announce awardees by December 31, 2025. States will submit one application for the five-year period.

On September 9, the Make America Health Again (MAHA) Commission released a strategy to end childhood chronic disease and additional initiatives, following Executive Order 1421. Some areas of interest for the City of Laredo include the EPA and USDA assessment of water contaminants, CDC recommendations regarding fluoride and PFAS, and initiatives to improve the quality of food care for veterans and improving Medicaid quality and care delivery.

On September 4, HHS expanded access to more affordable catastrophic health coverage through its new hardship exemption guidance. The updated guidance will streamline coverage for consumers who are ineligible for advance payments of the premium tax credit (APTC) or cost-sharing reductions (CSRs) and will take effect on November 1.

Department of Transportation

The Department of Transportation (DOT) announced the Federal Railroad Administration's (FRA) FY 2024-2025 Notice of Funding Opportunity (NOFO) for the National Railroad Partnership Program. It allocates more than $5 billion in funding for projects that enhance safety on intercity passenger rail networks. Applications are due on January 7, 2026.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Department of Commerce

On September 29, President Trump issued a Proclamation, following a Department of Commerce Section 232 investigation, imposing a 10% tariff on imports of softwood timber and a 25% tariff on upholstered wooden products, kitchen cabinets, and vanities. Beginning on January 1, 2026, tariffs on upholstered wooden products will increase to 30% and tariffs on kitchen cabinets and vanities will increase to 50%. Additionally, on September 25, the President announced a 25% tariff on trucks, truck parts, and derivatives.

On September 24, the Department of Commerce initiated a Section 232 investigation into imports of personal protective equipment, medical consumables, and medical devices. The probe could impose higher tariffs on products like surgical masks, N95 respirators, gloves, needles, wheelchairs, hospital beds, and devices like pacemakers, insulin pumps, and heart valves. On the same day, Commerce initiated a second Section 232 investigation into robotics and industrial machinery, including industrial equipment controlled by a computer. Public comments for this investigation are due by October 17.

Department of Energy

On October 2, 2025, the Department of Energy (DOE) announced the termination of 321 financial awards supporting 223 projects, citing inadequate documentation, poor economic viability, and insufficient energy or national security benefits. The cancellations, totaling approximately $7.56 billion, follow a Secretarial Memorandum issued in May that required case-by-case reviews of awards made during the Biden-Harris administration. Notably, the California and Pacific Northwest hydrogen hubs are among the projects to lose funding.

Department of Housing and Urban Development

On September 30, the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) extended the compliance deadline for the National Standards for Physical Inspection of Real Estates (NSPIRE) rule to October 1, 2026. The exention applies to Community Planning and Development (CPD) programs, including Emergency Solutions Grants (ESG), Continuum of Care (CoC), HOME Investment Partnerships, and the Housing Trust Fund (HTF).

Department of Agriculture

On September 23, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) announced a three-point plan to support American agricultural producers and exporters. The plan includes launching the America First Trade Promotion Program in 2026, funded by $285 million allotted in the One Big Beautiful Bill Act. USDA will also launch a trade mission targeting reciprocal trade deal countries for new market access opportunities and revitalize the GSM-102 credit guarantee program to reduce the financial risk of lenders and expand into international markets.

MEMORANDUM

October 8, 2025

To: The City of Laredo

From: Akin Gump Strauss Hauer & Feld LLP

Re: Overview of Federal Government Operations During a Government Shutdown

With the start of fiscal year (FY) 2026 on October 1, 2025, the U.S. government officially shut down after operating under a "clean" continuing resolution (CR) passed on March 14, 2025 (P.L. 119-4). This CR funded most federal programs and activities at FY2024 levels and expired on September 30, 2025. In order to avoid a lapse in government funding and prevent a shutdown, Congress must pass a CR, an appropriations package, or all 12 individual appropriations bills by September 30, 2025 the eve of the new FY. The ongoing government shutdown, which has entered its eighth day with congressional negotiators at a standstill, impacts all federal agencies, as the House and Senate have yet to present a single FY2026 appropriations bill to the President for his approval.

This memorandum provides an overview of the current appropriations status in Congress, insights into shutdown dynamics and ongoing escalations amidst negotiations, and a summary of operations across various federal agencies, with a focus on the following:

- U.S. Department of Commerce (DOC)
- U.S. Department of Defense (DOD)
- U.S. Department of Energy (DOE)
- U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS)
- U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS)
- U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD)
- U.S. Department of Justice (DOJ)
- U.S. Department of Transportation (DOT)
- U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA)

I. Appropriations Status Update

As previously mentioned, Congress has multiple options to prevent a government shutdown—passing a CR, an appropriations package, or all 12 individual appropriations bills by September 30, 2025—and is making progress toward finalizing the latter despite the ongoing shutdown.

The House and Senate have already moved to conference on three bipartisan negotiation bills: the FY2026 Military Construction and Veterans Affairs, Agriculture, and Legislative Branch Appropriations Acts. These bills are expected to be bundled into a "minibus" and attached to any viable measure to reopen the government. The bipartisan nature of the minibus is a positive sign that the regular appropriations process, despite the government shutdown dynamics, is taking on a bipartisan tone and bodes well for the nine remaining appropriations bills coming together. Moreover, Senate Leader John Thune (R-SD) has also expressed interest in bundling the Defense and Labor-HHS-Education bills into the next minibus. While this progress is promising, processing all 12 appropriations bills is unlikely to be the turnkey solution to ending the government shutdown.

FY2026 Appropriations Status Table
Appropriations Bill	Status in House	Status in Senate

Appropriations Acts with an asterisk (*) have been conferenced by the House and Senate and consolidated into a "minibus."

II. Shutdown Dynamics, Negotiations, and Escalations

With all 12 appropriations bills unresolved amid the government shutdown, Democrats and Republicans have proposed competing short-term funding measures. However, neither has secured enough support to reach the President's desk. Both of the following measures have thus far undergone five rounds of votes but have failed:

- House-Passed GOP Funding Bill: The House Republican-led proposal, the Continuing Appropriations and Extensions Act, 2026 (H.R. 5371), is a "clean CR" that would extend government funding through November 21, without policy changes, maintaining FY2025 funding levels for federal agencies and programs while also extending several expiring authorities. These include critical health, flood insurance, counter-drone, and veterans' programs. The House passed the bill on September 19, by a 217 to 212 vote, but has thus far failed to gain traction in the Senate, attracting minimal Democratic support.

- Stalled Senate Democratic Funding Bill: Senate Democrats countered with an alternative proposal, the Continuing Appropriations and Extensions and Other Matters Act, 2026 (S. 2882), which would fund the government through October 31. Beyond maintaining government operations, the Democratic proposal seeks to extend the enhanced Affordable Care Act (ACA) premium tax credits enacted in the 2021 American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA; P.L. 117-2) that are set to expire at year-end, reverse Medicaid cuts enacted under the One Big Beautiful Bill Act (OBBBA; P.L. 119-21), and address the Trump administration's spending rescissions. The bill continues to lack sufficient support in the Senate.

At the heart of the shutdown impasse are the enhanced ACA subsidies. Democratic leaders are pushing to make these subsidies permanent through any government funding bill, aiming to resolve the issue before the subsidies expire on December 31. These subsidies, estimated to cost $350 billion over a decade, have been labeled by Republican leadership as a nonstarter, refusing to address Democratic healthcare priorities through a stopgap measure. Despite holding a Republican trifecta—control of the House, Senate, and White House—Republicans would still require Democratic support to overcome the 60-vote threshold typically needed to pass spending bills in the Senate. This also provides an opportunity for Democrats to exert leverage in funding talks.

Hours into the government shutdown, however, Russell Vought, Director of the White House Office of Management and Budget (OMB), announced via social media that the administration would halt $18 billion in infrastructure funding for projects like the Second Avenue Subway and Hudson Tunnel, pending a review of Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) practices. Vought also announced the termination of 321 financial awards, worth $7.56 billion, supporting 223 projects, with cuts largely targeting energy projects in Democratic-led states. Democrats have criticized these actions as politically motivated and aimed at pressuring their party during the shutdown. In addition, Vought further threatened mass firings, or reductions in force (RIFs), across the federal workforce in a memo, a move echoed by President Trump, who stated they would also target "Democrat agencies" for cuts.

In terms of where things currently stand, negotiations continue at the leadership level, but little progress has been made. The Senate is poised to vote for the sixth time on the two competing proposals, though, at this juncture, neither is expected to pass. As negotiations drag on, there are rumors that OMB may begin issuing RIF notices to furloughed employees this week. Additionally, furloughed federal employees are expected to miss their first paycheck at the end of this week, while active-duty military members will start missing theirs mid next week. The missed paychecks may serve as a turning point in negotiations, combined with potential RIFs, making the situation "more real" for negotiators and potentially pushing them to reach a resolution.

III. Agency Shutdown Plans and Continuing Operations

Federal agencies operate under the Anti-Deficiency Act (ADA), which prohibits spending or dispersing funds without Congressional appropriations. Consequently, all non-essential government functions are suspended until appropriations, or a stopgap measure is enacted. Agencies prioritize activities that ensure human life safety and property protection. Before a shutdown, agencies develop contingency staffing plans to outline which activities will continue and which will halt. Below is a summary of these activities by federal agency.

A. U.S. Department of Commerce

Department of Commerce functions and activities that can continue during a lapse in appropriations include those funded by other resources, expressly authorized by law, impliedly authorized, necessary for the President's constitutional duties, or related to emergencies where delaying would significantly compromise safety or property protection. Below is an overview of the Department's ongoing essential activities during the government shutdown, along with information on the cessation of its non-essential functions.

- Bureau of Industry and Security (BIS): BIS continues essential functions related to national security, such as enforcing export controls, implementing executive orders on cybersecurity and Information and Communications Technology and Services (ICTS) supply chain protection, and maintaining information technology (IT) infrastructure and data security. Key leadership positions, including those of the Under Secretary and Deputy Under Secretary, remain active to provide oversight and support for these critical activities. Also, during a shutdown, the Office of Assistant Secretary for Export Administration (OAS-EA) reviews and processes emergency license applications, drafts regulations to support U.S. and allied military activities, manages chemical weapons inspections, and conducts Section 705 activities for national defense and infrastructure needs. In addition, the Office of Strategic Industries and Economic Security (SIES) maintains industrial base assessments through reimbursable agreements. The Office of Assistant Secretary for Export Enforcement (OAS-EE) continues its law enforcement functions, including monitoring and opening investigations, reviewing intelligence and export transactions, and providing analytical support to prevent illegal exports.

- Census Bureau Operations: The U.S. Census Bureau will suspend most of its activities, including data collection and analysis, except those necessary to protect data and infrastructure. The Bureau will use carryover balances to continue critical activities necessary for the 2026 Census Test, ensuring the 2030 Census remains fully scoped and on time.

- Economic Analysis and Development: Most services provided by and activities of the Bureau of Economic Analysis (BEA), the Economic Development Administration (EDA), and the Minority Business Development Agency (MBDA) will be halted.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- International Trade Services: The International Trade Administration (ITA) continues to operate essential functions to ensure the safety and continuity of critical services. In addition, the ITA continues to provide sector-, country-, economic-, and trade law-specific expertise for activities deemed necessary for national security. This includes responding to requests from other agencies and the Office of the Secretary, including but not limited to bilateral and multilateral trade consultations, policy deliberations, and negotiations. Additionally, ITA's import licensing activities related to steel and aluminum mill imports into the U.S. are excepted as necessary to protect national security and domestic markets.

- The National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST): NIST maintains essential operations to support critical infrastructure, including the national timing and synchronization systems. Other essential activities include maintaining and monitoring reactor operations, protecting research equipment and facilities, and normal operations for the CHIPS Program Office (CPO) and the CHIPS Research and Development Program Office (CRDO) using CHIPS Act funding. The agency will also continue programs funded by sources other than annual appropriations, including disaster response, investigations, and certain international standards activities.

- The National Technical Information Service (NTIS): The NTIS will maintain operations without reducing staffing for up to five days, but the continuation of projects for other federal agencies depend on those agencies' decisions. If the NTIS revolving fund balance reaches a minimal level, an orderly shutdown will begin. First Responder Network Authority (FirstNet) will also continue operations to support first responders.

- The National Telecommunications and Information Administration (NTIA): The NTIA, as the agency principally responsible for advising the President on communication policy, will continue to manage the federal use of spectrum and promote the stability and security of the Internet's domain name system.

- U.S. Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO): The USPTO will furlough most employees but retain minimal staffing to protect intellectual property (IP) rights and ensure the safety of life and property. Key functions that will continue include processing new patent applications, issuing foreign filing licenses, maintaining IT and network security, providing legal support for ongoing litigation and emergency functions, managing critical trademark and patent trial proceedings, and ensuring financial and administrative integrity. The Office of Patents will focus on mission-critical IP protection and national security reviews, and the Office of Trademarks will maintain technical and IT support for legal obligations. The Office of Policy and International Affairs will monitor international IP activities, and the Office of the Chief Administrative Officer will handle human capital and emergency operations. The Patent Trial and Appeal Board and Trademark Trial and Appeal Board will manage ongoing contested cases and emergency motions.

- Weather, Water, and Climate Observations and Warnings: The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) will continue to provide critical weather, water, and climate observations, predictions, and warnings to ensure public safety and support critical infrastructure. Non-essential research and measurement services will be suspended.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

B. U.S. Department of Defense

During a government shutdown, the DOD will continue activities funded with any available budgetary resources that have not lapsed (e.g., funds made available in the OBBBA), as well as excepted activities such as those necessary for the safety of human life and the protection of property. During a government shutdown, the DOD will continue the following critical activities and functions:

- Acquisition and Logistic Support: The DOD continues essential contracting and logistics activities, including contract administration and payment for contracts funded with prior year funds, in support of excepted activities. The DOD also procures and distributes essential supplies, such as clothing, food, and medical supplies, as authorized by the Feed and Forage Act.

- Contracts: Contractors can continue services under pre-existing contracts up to the limit of obligated funds, regardless of whether they support excepted activities. New contracts, renewals, or funding increments are prohibited unless they support excepted activities. Contracts not supporting excepted activities may be terminated or halted if additional funding or oversight by furloughed employees is needed. The DOD can enter new contracts for supplies and services essential to excepted activities, but only if delaying poses an imminent risk to human life, property, or national security. The Defense Secretary can also authorize contracts for covered items under the Feed and Forage Act.

- Education and Training: Education and training necessary to participate in or support excepted activities will continue. In addition, DOD Education Activity's (DoDEA) educational activities for the regular school year will continue.

- Military and Civilian Personnel: Active-duty military personnel, including those in the reserve component, will continue to report for duty and perform their assigned tasks, both excepted and non-excepted, as long as no new obligations are incurred. Reserve component personnel on Active Guard Reserve (AGR) duty will also continue their authorized duties, but other reserve personnel can only be ordered to active duty for national security or disaster response. Civilian personnel, including military technicians, will be furloughed unless they are essential for excepted activities.

- National Security: The DOD continues critical national security operations, including authorized military operations, training exercises, and intelligence activities. Essential functions such as command and control, communications, and intelligence surveillance and reconnaissance remain operational to support national security requirements. Additionally, recruiting activities and operations necessary for maintaining operational readiness continue uninterrupted, as well as activities necessary to carry out or enforce treaties and other international obligations.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Moreover, as of September 2025, the DOD prioritizes securing the U.S. Southern Border, maintaining operations in the Middle East, advancing the Golden Dome for America project, performing depot maintenance, continuing shipbuilding, and producing critical munitions in its guidance for continuing operations during a funding lapse. Efforts supporting these priorities may occur during a lapse when resourced with funds that remain available, such as those from the OBBBA. Leaders will evaluate activities to determine if they are "excepted" based on safety, property protection, or the necessity implied by other excepted activities.

C. U.S. Department of Energy

In the event of a lapse in appropriations and the exhaustion of available balances, a small staff in the DOE's sub-agencies will support functions related to the safety of human life, the protection of property, and the President's constitutional duties, including the planning and preparation of the FY2027 budget. After the exhaustion of available balances, those activities not related to the preservation of life and property, unnecessary to the discharge of the President's constitutional power, not funded by other than annual appropriations, or not otherwise expressly authorized by law will cease.

In addition, during a government shutdown, the National Nuclear Security Administration (NNSA) continues essential functions to protect human life and property, focusing on nuclear weapons maintenance and security, non-proliferation activities, and naval reactor support, especially for activities funded by the OBBBA. Only excepted personnel oversee critical operations involving nuclear materials and unique equipment to ensure safe shutdown decisions. The Bonneville Power Administration operates normally as a self-funded entity, with its employees' compensation financed outside of annual appropriations. Other Power Marketing Administrations (PMAs) (Southeastern, Southwestern, Western Area) also continue essential functions, such as directing power to utilities and repairing transmission systems, to safeguard life and property.

D. U.S. Department of Health and Human Services

During a government shutdown, HHS prioritizes human life and property protection by maintaining essential activities under ADA authority. Key operations that will continue include disease outbreak monitoring, Medicare and other mandatory health program payments, and other critical functions supported by prior year appropriations, mandatory appropriations, and user fees. HHS will continuously review its resources and legal flexibilities to minimize the impact of the lapse on public health and safety. During a government shutdown:

- Administration for Children and Families (ACF): ACF will continue operating the Unaccompanied Alien Children program, supporting disaster recovery funded by supplemental disaster appropriations, and running the Federal Parent Locator Service. Previously awarded grants can remain operational, but most ACF programs will lack funding for new awards or ongoing support for active grants.

- Administration for Community Living (ACL): ACL will continue activities funded by carryover funding from the Medicare Improvements for Patients and Providers Act (MIPPA) and the Health Care Fraud and Abuse Control (HCFAC) wedge. Staff will also perform reimbursable

work related to managed care consumer information and assistance and continue promoting community living for people with disabilities of all ages and older adults. During the shutdown, ACL would not be able to award 15 state formula grants.

- Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality (AHRQ): AHRQ will continue activities funded by the Patient-Centered Outcomes Research Trust Fund (PCORTF), which focuses on building data capacity for patient-centered outcomes research to inform and support healthcare decisions. Oversight of AHRQ's appropriated activities, such as extramural research grants, contracts, tool creation, and dissemination, will cease.

- Advanced Research Projects Agency for Health (ARPA-H): ARPA-H will continue all its activities during a lapse of appropriations, supported by carryover balances from its three-year appropriations in FYs 2024 and 2025.

- Administration for Strategic Preparedness and Response (ASPR): ASPR will continue to support public health and medical emergency responses, critical interagency support requests, and National Special Security Events (NSSEs) to provide lifesaving and life-sustaining care. ASPR's regional offices will maintain jurisdictional connectivity to address federal medical requests, and retained staff, and U.S. Public Health Service (USPHS) Commissioned Corps officers will ensure that small medical teams and equipment can be deployed if needed. ASPR staff will continue monitoring public health and medical emergencies, maintaining detection, warning, and notification capabilities through the HHS Secretary's Operations Center (SOC). They will also continue negotiating, awarding, and managing critical contracts for medical countermeasures (MCM) and other threats, including Chemical, Biological, Radiological, and Nuclear (CBRN) preparedness. During a shutdown, the Office of Health Care Readiness halts federal oversight and management of cooperative agreement programs, including reviewing progress reports, performance data, and processing funding approvals. Data collection, validation, and analysis for recipient performance measures are also paused, along with recipient and partner engagement activities like newsletters, calls, and conference speaking engagements. The Office of Planning and Exercises stops conducting required evaluations and reporting on preparedness and response activities.

- The Biomedical Advanced Research and Development Authority (BARDA): BARDA plans to use two-year appropriated funds to maintain operational staffing for up to five months. Despite this, a funding lapse could result in insufficient resources to fund procurement and service contracts, potentially leading to the loss of products or manufacturing capacity for entire product lines.

- Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC): The CDC and the Agency for Toxic Substances and Disease Registry (ATSDR) will continue responding to urgent disease outbreaks and supporting programs such as the President's Emergency Plan for AIDS Relief (PEPFAR), the World Trade Center (WTC) Health Program, the Energy Employees Occupational Illness Compensation Program Act (EEOICPA), and the Vaccines for Children (VFC) program. During a shutdown, however, the CDC and ATSDR will suspend several non-essential activities. Subject matter experts (SMEs) will not provide guidance to state and local health departments on programs like opioid overdose prevention, HIV prevention, and diabetes prevention. Public communication about important health information will cease, and ongoing public health research and risk factor investigations will be suspended. Responses to public inquiries about health matters will be halted, and surveillance data analysis for reportable diseases will be paused. Additionally, grant funding announcements will not be prepared, compressing the application timeline for state and local health departments and universities.

- Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS): CMS will continue the Medicare Program, Health Care Fraud, and Abuse Control (HCFAC), and Center for Medicare and Medicaid Innovation (CMMI) activities. CMS will also fund Medicaid for the first quarter of FY2026 and maintain staff to make payments for the Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP). Federal Marketplace activities, including eligibility verification, will continue using carryover user fees. CMS, however, will suspend activities such as routine Health Care Facility Survey and Certification, including recertification and initial surveys, and less serious complaint investigations. Policy and rulemaking processes will likely face delays due to limited staff, and contract oversight for major contractors like Medicare Administrative Contractors and the Medicare Call Center will be largely halted. Additionally, outreach and education activities, as well as beneficiary casework services, will cease or slow down.

- Food and Drug Administration (FDA): The FDA will continue activities funded through carryover user fees and other non-lapsed funding. This includes the regulation of human and animal drugs, biosimilar biological products, medical devices, and tobacco products. The FDA will also maintain operations related to detecting and responding to public health emergencies, managing recalls, mitigating drug shortages, and addressing outbreaks of foodborne illness and infectious diseases. Additionally, the FDA will continue surveillance of adverse event reports, review of import entries for potential risks, for-cause and certain surveillance inspections, regulatory testing, and criminal enforcement and civil investigations. While the shutdown happens, the FDA would pause or delay many activities, including accepting new drug, generic drug, biological product, biosimilar, animal drug, and medical device submissions that require user fees. The Human Drugs Program would halt most activities related to unapproved prescription drugs, except those necessary to address imminent threats to human life. The Animal Drugs and Foods Program would stop pre-market safety reviews of novel animal food ingredients, and the Human Foods Program would reduce food safety efforts to emergency responses and safety surveillance. Regulatory testing for medical products would be limited to imminent threats, and longer-term policy and research efforts, including regulatory science research and national and global health security initiatives, would be curtailed.

- Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA): HRSA will continue to oversee activities funded through mandatory funding, advance appropriations, prior year carry-over funds, and user fees. These include certain direct health services and programs such as Health Centers, the Ryan White HIV/AIDS Program (Parts A and B), Ending the human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) Epidemic, Teaching Health Center Graduate Medical Education, Family to Family Health Information Systems, and the National Health Service Corps. The National Practitioner Databank will also continue to be overseen using existing user fee balances. During the shutdown, however, HRSA would delay activities such as the Vaccine Injury Program (VCIP), information technology (IT), and administrative contracts, drafting and posting FY2026 new funding opportunities (NOFOs), reviewing applications for discretionary funded programs, and staffing activities related to certain litigation and programs in maternal health, health workforce, and behavioral health.

- Indian Health Service (IHS): The IHS has received advance appropriations for FY2026, ensuring that the majority of IHS-funded programs will remain funded and operational. The IHS will continue to fund and operate the majority of its programs, including the provision of care by the IHS, Tribal Health Programs, and Urban Indian Organizations, as well as facilities construction projects supported by previously appropriated funds.

- National Institutes of Health (NIH): NIH activities will continue to center on ongoing operations at its biomedical research hospital, the NIH Clinical Center, to maintain the safety and continued care of its patients. NIH will provide basic care services to protect the health of NIH animals and retain staff to safeguard ongoing experiments or operations, and facilities and infrastructure. During a shutdown, the NIH will halt grant peer review meetings, advisory council meetings, the issuance of new awards, and program/grant management activities. New patient admissions, except for medically necessary cases, and the initiation of new protocols at the NIH Clinical Center will also be paused. Basic and translational research, training of graduate students and postdoctoral fellows, scientific meetings, travel by NIH scientists, some veterinary services, and scientific equipment services will not continue.

- The Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA): During a shutdown, SAMHSA will continue substance use and mental health programs, including Disaster Behavioral Health response teams, the Disaster Distress Helpline, and the 988/Suicide Lifeline. SAMHSA will also maintain the Treatment Services Locator, Treatment Referral Line, and Suicide and Crisis Line. Most prior-year grants, such as the 988 and Behavioral Health Crisis Services program, State Opioid Response Grant program, and Mental Health and Substance Use Block Grants, will remain funded. During a shutdown, SAMHSA will not continue new grant activities, including support for new grantees and responses to grant recipient requests. Summary statements for unfunded grant applications will be delayed, and the release of NOFOs for FY2026 will be postponed.

E. U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS)

During a government shutdown, DHS prioritizes essential activities to ensure nation safety and security. With over 249,000 employees continuing their duties, DHS maintains critical operations such as law enforcement, drug interdiction, border security and irregular migration management, processing passengers and inspecting cargo, counterintelligence, and disaster relief, among other essential activities. While the government is shutdown:

- Disaster Relief Fund Operations: The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) ensures the Disaster Relief Fund remains operational to provide aid in the event of a disaster.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Drug Interdiction: U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) and U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) will continue to interdict illegal drugs and other contraband at the border and within the United States.

- Intelligence Gathering: The Office of Intelligence and Analysis (OIA) continues to gather and analyze intelligence to support national security and law enforcement agencies.

- Law Enforcement Operations: The CBP continues border patrols and immigration law enforcement, while ICE maintains operations to investigate and enforce immigration and customs laws. Additionally, the Transportation Security Administration (TSA) continues screening passengers and baggage at airports to ensure the security of air travel.

- Maintaining Counter-Terrorism Watches: The agency maintains counter-terrorism watches, intelligence gathering, and dissemination in support of terrorist threat warnings.

- Managing Irregular Migration and Immigration Services: CBP and ICE process and manage irregular migration, including detaining and removing individuals who pose a threat to national security or public safety. Fee-funded activities such as those funded by the Immigration Examinations Fee Account, will also continue.

- Processing Passengers and Inspecting Cargo: CBP will continue to process passengers and inspect cargo at ports of entry to ensure national safety and security.

F. U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD)

During a government shutdown, HUD continues essential activities that support national economic stability and the welfare of its tenants. Key ongoing activities include supporting the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) insured mortgage portfolio and Ginnie Mae's secondary mortgage market operations, operating most annual grant programs with previously obligated funding, and continuing programs addressing imminent threats to HUD tenants' and children's health and welfare. Monthly subsidy programs, including public housing operating subsidies, housing choice voucher subsidies, and multifamily assistance contracts, will continue as long as funding remains available. However, these programs risk running out of funding during an extended shutdown. During the shutdown, however, nearly all of HUD's fair housing activities will cease. Other essential activities that continue during a shutdown at the agency include:

- Construction Inspections: Limited construction inspections and processing of construction draws to address imminent threats to life and property.

- Disaster Recovery Assistance Programs: The Office of Community Planning and Development (CPD) will continue Disaster Recovery Assistance Programs, which are funded through multi-year or no-year appropriations. In addition, in the event of a natural disaster that has occurred before or during the lapse in appropriations, public housing authorities (PHAs) would be able to apply for funding for emergencies and non-Presidentially declared disasters.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- Environmental and Safety Inspections: Conducting necessary environmental assessments, lead-based paint inspections, and lead hazard control work plans.

- Fund Disbursement: Managing the disbursement of previously obligated funds for public housing, Indian programs, and Section 8 tenant-based rental assistance.

- Investigations and Oversight: The Office of the Inspector General will investigate matters posing a threat to safety or property.

- Legal Support: The Office of General Counsel will provide legal advice for emergency situations and facilitate orderly shutdown and resumption processes.

G. U.S. Department of Justice (DOJ)

During a government shutdown, the DOJ continues essential activities to ensure public safety and protect property. These include operations funded by permanent or carryover appropriations, activities with express legal authority, functions necessary for government operation, and those related to the President's constitutional duties. Specifically, ongoing criminal trials, civil litigation with statutory deadlines, national security investigations and prosecutions, and essential law enforcement functions such as fingerprint identification, gun checks, and fugitive apprehension remain active. Additionally, certain grant programs and support services continue to operate. Civil and appellate cases may proceed if a court denies a request for a continuance and training for new employees in emergency positions may also continue if a delay would compromise emergency functions. Due to the DOJ being comprised of components with a broad array of national, security, law enforcement, and criminal justice system responsibilities, the agency maintains a high percentage of its activities and employees as essential.

H. U.S. Department of Transportation (DOT)

The DOT Shutdown Plan outlines which functions will remain active to safeguard public safety, maintain critical infrastructure, and support national economic stability. Programs funded by multi-year appropriations or user fees will continue, while activities dependent on annual appropriations, such as certain regulatory, administrative, and research functions, will be paused until funding is restored. During the government shutdown:

- The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA): The FAA will maintain air traffic control services, including the hiring and field training of air traffic controllers. The FAA will also continue to operate and maintain navigational aids and other facilities, conduct airport inspections, manage existing airport development grants, approve passenger facility charges, and provide airport planning and environmental services funded by the Airport Improvement Plan (AIP) contract authority. Additionally, the FAA will issue airworthiness directives, perform airmen medical certifications, and conduct certification activities for commercial airplanes and engines. Facility security inspections, hazardous materials safety inspections, and commercial space launch oversight and licensing will also continue. During a government shutdown, the FAA would stop activities like aviation rulemaking, conducting random drug tests for non-safety employees, planning for continued operations, analyzing air traffic performance, and handling investment and financial planning, among other activities.

- Highway and Transit Operations: During a government shutdown, all operations of the Federal Transit Administration (FTA) and Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) will continue as normal, funded by multi-year and supplemental appropriations. For the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA), General Fund activities will continue with multi-year funding from prior-year appropriations and supplemental appropriations. All activities and personnel funded by the Highway Trust Fund or the supplemental appropriations from the Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act (IIJA; P.L. 117-58) will also continue.

- Pipeline and Hazardous Materials Safety Administration (PHMSA): Pipeline safety activities continue with funding from sources other than annual appropriations. This includes investigating hazardous materials accidents, conducting safety inspections, enforcing regulations to address imminent hazards, and issuing emergency approvals and permits. In addition, payments for Emergency Preparedness Grants and certain legal services also continue, along with activities funded by the IIJA.

- Railroad Safety Inspections and Investigations: The Federal Railroad Administration (FRA) continues key safety and oversight activities. The Office of Railroad Safety maintains accident and incident investigations, issuing Emergency Orders and Safety Advisories to ensure compliance with federal safety laws. Inspectors remain on railroad property to proactively identify and address safety hazards. In addition, the Office of Railroad Development and other FRA offices keep essential staff working on activities funded by the Oversight account, including financial assistance programs, legal advice, IT support, and data management. During a shutdown, the FRA suspends several non-essential activities, including core agency functions, contracts and purchases, new research and development projects, and rulemakings.

- Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration (FMCSA): During a government shutdown, FMCSA operations continue as normal, funded by the Highway Trust Fund and fees collected from its Licensing and Insurance (L&I) and Drug and Alcohol Clearinghouse (DACH) programs. The agency's obligation levels are set according to the IIJA.

- Maritime Administration (MARAD): During a shutdown, MARAD continues essential activities to protect human life and government property. The U.S. Merchant Marine Academy stays open, prioritizing academic instruction, midshipmen safety, and asset protection. Emergency and disaster assistance, ship disposal programs, national security vessel operations, and key maritime security programs remain active. Data center and cybersecurity functions continue, and staff oversee critical infrastructure and grant programs, including those funded by the IIJA.

I. U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA)

During a government shutdown, the EPA continues several critical activities to ensure safety and protect property. These include safeguarding EPA land, buildings, and equipment; preserving ongoing research; conducting law enforcement and criminal investigations; providing emergency and disaster assistance; and maintaining Superfund response work where an imminent threat to human life exists. The agency also sustains laboratory operations, emergency response readiness, legal counseling, and timely payments to contractors and grantees for essential functions. Exempted activities funded by the IIJA, the Clean Ports program from the Inflation Reduction Act (IRA; P.L. 117-169), Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act (FIFRA), Pesticide Registration Improvement Act (PRIA) fees, and the Superfund Tax continue.

However, several activities at the EPA will come to a halt during a shutdown. These include issuing new grants and interagency agreements, updating the EPA website, and conducting research and publishing results unless essential. Non-imminent Superfund site activities, civil enforcement inspections, and the issuance of permits, guidance, regulations, and policies will also stop unless necessary for excepted or exempted activities. Approvals of pending state requests, such as authorized state-issued EPA permits, State Implementation Plans (SIPs), Total Maximum Daily Loads (TMDLs), and Water Quality Standards, will be suspended.

MEMORANDUM

October 8, 2025

To: The City of Laredo

From: Akin Gump Strauss Hauer & Feld LLP

Re: Overview of Federal Government Operations During a Government Shutdown

With the start of fiscal year (FY) 2026 on October 1, 2025, the U.S. government officially shut down after operating under a "clean" continuing resolution (CR) passed on March 14, 2025 (P.L. 119-4). This CR funded most federal programs and activities at FY2024 levels and expired on September 30, 2025. In order to avoid a lapse in government funding and prevent a shutdown, Congress must pass a CR, an appropriations package, or all 12 individual appropriations bills by September 30, 2025 the eve of the new FY. The ongoing government shutdown, which has entered its eighth day with congressional negotiators at a standstill, impacts all federal agencies, as the House and Senate have yet to present a single FY2026 appropriations bill to the President for his approval.

This memorandum provides an overview of the current appropriations status in Congress, insights into shutdown dynamics and ongoing escalations amidst negotiations, and a summary of operations across various federal agencies, with a focus on the following:

- U.S. Department of Commerce (DOC)
- U.S. Department of Defense (DOD)
- U.S. Department of Energy (DOE)
- U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS)
- U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS)
- U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD)
- U.S. Department of Justice (DOJ)
- U.S. Department of Transportation (DOT)
- U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA)

I. Appropriations Status Update

As previously mentioned, Congress has multiple options to prevent a government shutdown—passing a CR, an appropriations package, or all 12 individual appropriations bills by September 30, 2025—and is making progress toward finalizing the latter despite the ongoing shutdown.

The House and Senate have already moved to conference on three bipartisan negotiation bills: the FY2026 Military Construction and Veterans Affairs, Agriculture, and Legislative Branch Appropriations Acts. These bills are expected to be bundled into a "minibus" and attached to any viable measure to reopen the government. The bipartisan nature of the minibus is a positive sign that the regular appropriations process, despite the government shutdown dynamics, is taking on a bipartisan tone and bodes well for the nine remaining appropriations bills coming together. Moreover, Senate Leader John Thune (R-SD) has also expressed interest in bundling the Defense and Labor-HHS-Education bills into the next minibus. While this progress is promising, processing all 12 appropriations bills is unlikely to be the turnkey solution to ending the government shutdown.

FY2026 Appropriations Status Table
Appropriations Bill	Status in House	Status in Senate

II. Shutdown Dynamics, Negotiations, and Escalations

With all 12 appropriations bills unresolved amid the government shutdown, Democrats and Republicans have proposed competing short-term funding measures. However, neither has secured enough support to reach the President's desk. Both of the following measures have thus far undergone five rounds of votes but have failed:

- House-Passed GOP Funding Bill: The House Republican-led proposal, the Continuing Appropriations and Extensions Act, 2026 (H.R. 5371), is a "clean CR" that would extend government funding through November 21, without policy changes, maintaining FY2025 funding levels for federal agencies and programs while also extending several expiring authorities. These include critical health, flood insurance, counter-drone, and veterans' programs. The House passed the bill on September 19, by a 217 to 212 vote, but has thus far failed to gain traction in the Senate, attracting minimal Democratic support.

- Stalled Senate Democratic Funding Bill: Senate Democrats countered with an alternative proposal, the Continuing Appropriations and Extensions and Other Matters Act, 2026 (S. 2882), which would fund the government through October 31. Beyond maintaining government operations, the Democratic proposal seeks to extend the enhanced Affordable Care Act (ACA) premium tax credits enacted in the 2021 American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA; P.L. 117-2) that are set to expire at year-end, reverse Medicaid cuts enacted under the One Big Beautiful Bill Act (OBBBA; P.L. 119-21), and address the Trump administration's spending rescissions. The bill continues to lack sufficient support in the Senate.

At the heart of the shutdown impasse are the enhanced ACA subsidies. Democratic leaders are pushing to make these subsidies permanent through any government funding bill, aiming to resolve the issue before the subsidies expire on December 31. These subsidies, estimated to cost $350 billion over a decade, have been labeled by Republican leadership as a nonstarter, refusing to address Democratic healthcare priorities through a stopgap measure. Despite holding a Republican trifecta—control of the House, Senate, and White House—Republicans would still require Democratic support to overcome the 60-vote threshold typically needed to pass spending bills in the Senate. This also provides an opportunity for Democrats to exert leverage in funding talks.

Hours into the government shutdown, however, Russell Vought, Director of the White House Office of Management and Budget (OMB), announced via social media that the administration would halt $18 billion in infrastructure funding for projects like the Second Avenue Subway and Hudson Tunnel, pending a review of Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) practices. Vought also announced the termination of 321 financial awards, worth $7.56 billion, supporting 223 projects, with cuts largely targeting energy projects in Democratic-led states. Democrats have criticized these actions as politically motivated and aimed at pressuring their party during the shutdown. In addition, Vought further threatened mass firings, or reductions in force (RIFs), across the federal workforce in a memo, a move echoed by President Trump, who stated they would also target "Democrat agencies" for cuts.

In terms of where things currently stand, negotiations continue at the leadership level, but little progress has been made. The Senate is poised to vote for the sixth time on the two competing proposals, though, at this juncture, neither is expected to pass. As negotiations drag on, there are rumors that OMB may begin issuing RIF notices to furloughed employees this week. Additionally, furloughed federal employees are expected to miss their first paycheck at the end of this week, while active-duty military members will start missing theirs mid next week. The missed paychecks may serve as a turning point in negotiations, combined with potential RIFs, making the situation "more real" for negotiators and potentially pushing them to reach a resolution.

III. Agency Shutdown Plans and Continuing Operations

Federal agencies operate under the Anti-Deficiency Act (ADA), which prohibits spending or dispersing funds without Congressional appropriations. Consequently, all non-essential government functions are suspended until appropriations, or a stopgap measure is enacted. Agencies prioritize activities that ensure human life safety and property protection. Before a shutdown, agencies develop contingency staffing plans to outline which activities will continue and which will halt. Below is a summary of these activities by federal agency.

A. U.S. Department of Commerce

Department of Commerce functions and activities that can continue during a lapse in appropriations include those funded by other resources, expressly authorized by law, impliedly authorized, necessary for the President's constitutional duties, or related to emergencies where delaying would significantly compromise safety or property protection. Below is an overview of the Department's ongoing essential activities during the government shutdown, along with information on the cessation of its non-essential functions.

- Bureau of Industry and Security (BIS): BIS continues essential functions related to national security, such as enforcing export controls, implementing executive orders on cybersecurity and Information and Communications Technology and Services (ICTS) supply chain protection, and maintaining information technology (IT) infrastructure and data security. Key leadership positions, including those of the Under Secretary and Deputy Under Secretary, remain active to provide oversight and support for these critical activities. Also, during a shutdown, the Office of Assistant Secretary for Export Administration (OAS-EA) reviews and processes emergency license applications, drafts regulations to support U.S. and allied military activities, manages chemical weapons inspections, and conducts Section 705 activities for national defense and infrastructure needs. In addition, the Office of Strategic Industries and Economic Security (SIES) maintains industrial base assessments through reimbursable agreements. The Office of Assistant Secretary for Export Enforcement (OAS-EE) continues its law enforcement functions, including monitoring and opening investigations, reviewing intelligence and export transactions, and providing analytical support to prevent illegal exports.

- Census Bureau Operations: The U.S. Census Bureau will suspend most of its activities, including data collection and analysis, except those necessary to protect data and infrastructure. The Bureau will use carryover balances to continue critical activities necessary for the 2026 Census Test, ensuring the 2030 Census remains fully scoped and on time.

- Economic Analysis and Development: Most services provided by and activities of the Bureau of Economic Analysis (BEA), the Economic Development Administration (EDA), and the Minority Business Development Agency (MBDA) will be halted.

- International Trade Services: The International Trade Administration (ITA) continues to operate essential functions to ensure the safety and continuity of critical services. In addition, the ITA continues to provide sector-, country-, economic-, and trade law-specific expertise for activities deemed necessary for national security. This includes responding to requests from other agencies and the Office of the Secretary, including but not limited to bilateral and multilateral trade consultations, policy deliberations, and negotiations. Additionally, ITA's import licensing activities related to steel and aluminum mill imports into the U.S. are excepted as necessary to protect national security and domestic markets.

- The National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST): NIST maintains essential operations to support critical infrastructure, including the national timing and synchronization systems. Other essential activities include maintaining and monitoring reactor operations, protecting research equipment and facilities, and normal operations for the CHIPS Program Office (CPO) and the CHIPS Research and Development Program Office (CRDO) using CHIPS Act funding. The agency will also continue programs funded by sources other than annual appropriations, including disaster response, investigations, and certain international standards activities.

- The National Technical Information Service (NTIS): The NTIS will maintain operations without reducing staffing for up to five days, but the continuation of projects for other federal agencies depend on those agencies' decisions. If the NTIS revolving fund balance reaches a minimal level, an orderly shutdown will begin. First Responder Network Authority (FirstNet) will also continue operations to support first responders.

- The National Telecommunications and Information Administration (NTIA): The NTIA, as the agency principally responsible for advising the President on communication policy, will continue to manage the federal use of spectrum and promote the stability and security of the Internet's domain name system.

- U.S. Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO): The USPTO will furlough most employees but retain minimal staffing to protect intellectual property (IP) rights and ensure the safety of life and property. Key functions that will continue include processing new patent applications, issuing foreign filing licenses, maintaining IT and network security, providing legal support for ongoing litigation and emergency functions, managing critical trademark and patent trial proceedings, and ensuring financial and administrative integrity. The Office of Patents will focus on mission-critical IP protection and national security reviews, and the Office of Trademarks will maintain technical and IT support for legal obligations. The Office of Policy and International Affairs will monitor international IP activities, and the Office of the Chief Administrative Officer will handle human capital and emergency operations. The Patent Trial and Appeal Board and Trademark Trial and Appeal Board will manage ongoing contested cases and emergency motions.

- Weather, Water, and Climate Observations and Warnings: The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) will continue to provide critical weather, water, and climate observations, predictions, and warnings to ensure public safety and support critical infrastructure. Non-essential research and measurement services will be suspended.

B. U.S. Department of Defense

During a government shutdown, the DOD will continue activities funded with any available budgetary resources that have not lapsed (e.g., funds made available in the OBBBA), as well as excepted activities such as those necessary for the safety of human life and the protection of property. During a government shutdown, the DOD will continue the following critical activities and functions:

- Acquisition and Logistic Support: The DOD continues essential contracting and logistics activities, including contract administration and payment for contracts funded with prior year funds, in support of excepted activities. The DOD also procures and distributes essential supplies, such as clothing, food, and medical supplies, as authorized by the Feed and Forage Act.
