Subject: NEW CLI Report: Online Abortion Drug Sellers Violating U.S. Law and FDA Safety Limits

Esteemed Attorneys General,

I'd like to share a new resource with you that may serve as a detailed, insider look at the nefarious world of selling abortion drugs online.

The Charlotte Lozier Institute (CLI), our education and research arm, released a new report that discovered many online abortion drug sellers are violating U.S. laws, exceeding FDA safety limits, and selling unapproved and misbranded drugs to U.S. consumers.

Some of the most shocking findings of the report were multiple domestic online abortion providers openly boasting that they provide abortion pills in all 50 states and over a dozen foreign providers shipping abortion drugs not approved by the FDA without any ID check. In addition:

- Eight online-only organizations are violating pro-life state laws by shipping abortion drugs into those states
- Of online abortion drug sellers within the formal U.S. healthcare system that publicly report the gestational age at which they will ship abortion drugs, only 19% complied with the FDA's requirement to not ship the drugs after 70 days' gestation. This means 64 sellers violated the FDA's safety limit
- Of 28 websites the FDA sent abuse letters to in 2019, 10 are still active and breaking federal law by selling unapproved and misbranded abortion drugs to U.S. women
- And much more detail in the report...

Here is the CLI press release with a link to the study: https://lozierinstitute.org/new-cli-report-online-abortion-drug-sellers-violating-u-s-law-and-fda-safety-limits/

I hope that this thorough review can help you in your work to identify bad actors and enforce your state laws on abortion drugs.

Sincerely,

Sue Liebel
